

Positive Thinking

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Be Calm And Self-Assured

You never need to be afraid of situations or of your ability to cope with them; to come through successfully, you can always be calm and self-assured. And as you do so you will constantly improve your performance. It's the people who are full of self-doubt who panic and freeze and who come up with an inferior demonstration.

I am writing this column in London for here in the British Capital I have witnessed several exciting examples of people who knew how to be calm and self-assured. One was Dame Edith Evans, one of the great actresses of our time, who is now about 84 years old. She was appearing at the famous Haymarket Theatre.

First were shown film clips of her outstanding roles during her career, which dates back to around 1912. Then to tumultuous applause she herself came on stage, an elderly lady with white hair and a slight stoop in her walk. She was appearing not in a play but was billed to give "an evening of entertainment." And the entertainment consisted only of readings.

But she held the audience spellbound, absolutely enthralled. The crowd moreover was over fifty per cent young people and actually they were the most enthusiastic of all. They were shouting "Bravo" to a lady old enough to be their grandmother, or even great-grandmother, a square, a traditionalist, obviously establishment, and yet they went for her and how!

Well Dame Evans (Dame in Britain is the equivalent of being knighted "Sir") was the complete master of the situation.

She believed in herself, in her own talent and the people loved her. It was an unforgettable demonstration of the ability to be calm and self-assured.

Another night I went to a performance by the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra in the Royal Festival Hall, a huge modern concert auditorium seating some four thousand music lovers, and with their real or assumed critical sense they can be a tough audience.

The conductor was a very young man with a full shock of shoulder-length black hair. And he was the third substitute for two famous conductors who strangely enough one after the other had taken ill, so young Hans Vonk was the pinch hitter.

During the concert the shaggy haired young director welcomed to the stage a pianist, Sir Clifford Curzon, his hairless pate shining in the spotlights.

Watching the young pinch-hitting conductor and the aged pianist, one realized again the power that can come to a human being when one has learned to be calm and self-assured.

Naturally, you have to have something real to support self-assurance. You must have what it takes to handle situations but once you can honestly believe in yourself as a prepared person, then go to it. Be calm and self-assured and perform with all you've got.

Tornadoes Kill 17 In Two States

Speeders Beware: Someone May Be Watching From Above

By GEORGE MASSEY
West Texas drivers might be in for a surprise during the next few weeks as the Texas Department of Public Safety takes to the air in an all-out effort to slow down traffic on Interstate 20.

If you're traveling the interstate highway and think you hear a gigantic truck approaching from the rear but fail to sight one, look up. It may be Lt. Kenneth Blanchard, DPS helicopter pilot, hovering above putting a stopwatch speed check on your car.

According to Capt. Hugh Shaw of the Midland-based regional DPS office, the helicopter, which flies out of Midland Regional Air Terminal, is assigned to work the interstate highway from El Paso to Abilene for the next several weeks. Although the helicopter does not always work traffic related situations, the DPS spokesman noted, that it has been pressed into service because of a large and growing number of complaints being filed concerning speeders on the highway.

Shaw said the helicopter presently is getting about 20 hours of flying time each week, and is able to fly routine missions of about four-hour spans before refueling is necessary. The captain explained that in normal traffic work on the highways, the helicopter will work a traffic sector for about an hour and a half. He said that the state average for citations issued for that period of time usually would run about 25 or 30.

In its traffic check procedure, the pilot of the helicopter uses white slash marks painted on the shoulders of the highway 800 feet apart to assist the clocking of car speeds. As a car passes one of the marks an observer in the helicopter starts his stopwatch and clicks it off as the car passes the next white mark. The observer then checks a chart which shows how fast the car is traveling by the number of seconds required to travel the marked 800 feet.

According to the DPS chart, it takes ten seconds to travel the 800 feet at 60 miles per hour. Travel much faster than that, and the next thing you may see is a blinking red light. The helicopter observer keeps an eye on the vehicle being clocked while the chart work. (See SPEEDERS Page 10A)

200 Hurt In Kansas, Oklahoma

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Tornadoes slashed across Oklahoma and Kansas on Saturday, killing 17 persons and injuring more than 200. Six persons were killed and about 100 injured when twisters whipped through Emporia, Kan., population 21,000.

The twisters struck first at Oklahoma City, and in the next six hours hopped eastward to Tulsa, 100 miles away.

Five persons were killed and more than 100 injured in Drumright, Okla., a community of 2,000 persons 43 miles west of Tulsa. Three persons were killed in Tulsa, three drowned in flooding caused by the storm in eastern Oklahoma, and 16 were injured in Oklahoma City.

In Emporia, 100 miles north of Tulsa, the funnel clouds hit a mobile home park, an industrial park and a shopping center.

The twisters struck the industrial park first, hitting a Dolly Madison cake factory and a mobile home factory shortly after 6 p.m. CDT, and then moved on to the 2-year-old Flint Hills Shopping Center where 30 businesses were left in ruins.

Next a tornado crashed through the Lincoln Village Trailer Court, overturning all but two of the 100 trailers.

Most of the Emporia dead were in the mobile homes. Ninety-seven persons from the Emporia area were admitted or treated and released at local hospitals.

"Some of those homes were shredded like confetti," an Emporia spokesman said after visiting the trailer park.

Storms Pound North Texas

Thunderstorms pounded North Central Texas Saturday as more were forecast for that area and Northeast Texas. Some sections of the state were placed under flood warnings because of Friday's torments.

Flooding occurred Saturday night in low areas along the Gulf Coast where tides were running two to three feet above normal.

Strong winds circulated in West Texas around a low pressure area, with gusts of 40 m.p.h. and more. Sand was kicked up in some places, causing a drop in visibility to a half mile at Lubbock in the early afternoon.

Winds gusting to 40 miles per hour spoiled many Midlanders' weekend plans Saturday.

Weather forecasters at Midland Regional Air Terminal are predicting more blowing sand today on the heels of a dry cool front that passed through the major portion of West Texas Saturday. Winds should diminish to 15-25 m.p.h. with the passing of the frontal activity. Weathermen said that a noticeable change in wind direction, from Saturday's southerly winds to a predicted direction from the north and west, should show up today.

The frontal activity that filled West Texas skies with sand and blew away any chance of precipitation for the Midland area, was triggered by an extremely large low pressure system hovering over the greater portions of the central states. However, by the time the cool air mass reached far West Texas no moisture was left in the scattering cloud masses.

Saturday's high in Midland was 98 degrees, while a low of 72 was recorded. Today's high should reach only the mid-90s and drop during night into the lower 60s.

Meanwhile, the adjoining states of Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana were undergoing even more severe weather, according to the Associated Press.

The Weather Service advised citizens during the morning to watch for tornadoes in the south Plains, the southern Panhandle (See STORMS Page 10A)

Low Unemployment Mirrors Healthy Basin Economy

By BRUCE CAMPBELL
Midland - Odessa's unemployment rate is almost half the national average, latest figures from the Texas Employment Commission indicate.

While the nation suffered through a five per cent unemployment rate in April, only 2.6 per cent of area job seekers were out of work during the same time.

And the TEC's Area Manpower Review said local economic conditions are considered stable and improving as employment continues to expand from moderately to significantly in a number of business categories.

Ed Miller, manager of the Midland office of the TEC, attributes the healthy state of the local economy to increased activity in the oil industry and the efforts of community booster groups.

"We have a healthy industrial climate," Miller said. Efforts toward diversification of industry has paid off. There is more drilling activity in the Permian Basin than there has been in many years. Several manufacturing firms have moved in primarily through the efforts of the Midland Area Sales Team, the Industrial Foundation and the Chamber of Commerce. "I don't anticipate any significant drop," he added.

In the petroleum industry, new hirings have exceeded layoffs and transfers.

The report noted a boom both in new industries and construction projects in Midland, citing a $2.8 million bid which was awarded for the construction of three new buildings on the Midland College campus, remodeling of the county courthouse and the additional landscaping of the new Post Office-Federal Building complex.

Also mentioned were the work on the new Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. building, a small office building and a small retail establishment.

Midlanders will see bids taken for the new Midland National Bank building in the next few months as well as the construction of a 150-room Hilton Inn. Three small industries have signed leases or purchased land in the Midland Industrial Park. The city also will be the site of a $1-million duplex addition and of continued expansion at Oak Ridge Square, a major retail development.

"Midland is a town that has capital and progress," Miller said of the construction rise. "The fact that Midland is progressive and is interested in development shows up well when they're talking to industrial prospects."

"Enthusiasm generates," Miller added, "and in the last 10 years, Midland has become enthusiastic about Midland."

Unlike many areas, returning veterans, women and minority groups have had fairly good success finding jobs in Midland, Miller said.

By federal law, Miller's office is required to give veterans first priority for jobs. Miller said his office was able to refer 461 out of 524 veterans who came to the TEC for supportive services although several expressed interest in returning to school instead of finding employment after their discharges. This does not include veterans who found jobs through other employment services or on personal initiative.

"Most employers are pretty good in giving veterans work," Miller said. "They'll assist the veteran in any way possible."

We're primarily interested in returning him to the industrial world."

The oil industry is a big plus for returning vets, Miller said. "Right now any person who's healthy and willing to work can find a job in the oil industry," Miller said. "It's hard work but it's rewarding financially. The attitude towards the returning vet here has been very good."

Out of the 1,730 job seekers in April, 570 were women. Miller, while saying it "depends on her skills," feels the job market is ripe for women locally.

"Women have a much better chance of advancement than they ever had here in Midland," (See BUSTLING Page 10A)

U.S., Saudi Arabia Sign Economic Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States signed Saturday a wide-ranging economic agreement with Saudi Arabia designed to help the oil-rich but feudal monarchy move into the industrial 20th century.

Beginning next month, teams of American businessmen, scientists, educators and agricultural experts will shuttle off to the Persian Gulf to expand production of fertilizer, establish university science courses, and otherwise assist "in the realization of Saudi aspirations."

A joint statement signed by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Prince Fahd, interior minister and likely successor to King Faisal, also promises to keep the Saudi armed forces up to date. State Department officials said U.S. survey teams already in the kingdom are likely to forward specific military requests from Faisal. One item may be phantom jets.

These officials said Washington is prepared to work out similar economic alliances with other Arab countries. Egypt already is a candidate and Jordan was said to be a potential one.

The agreement made no mention of oil and the boycott Saudi Arabia and other Arab producers imposed against the United States last year.

Cut In Beef Imports Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vari- dropped nearly 35 per cent since last summer. Agriculture Committee, have told Nixon that, because prices have dropped and supplies increased, there is no need for unlimited imports.

Imports may, in fact, drive some cattlemen out of business, they say.

But George Hoffman, an Agriculture Department economist specializing in livestock developments, said that limiting imports could in the long run harm cattlemen by bringing up retail prices and angering consumers.

A meat boycott by consumers in April 1973 brought about retail price controls that were not lifted until last September. However, when they were lifted, farmers flooded the market with beef they had withheld during the controls, causing a further price reduction.

Several congressmen, including Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., chairman of the House

Delegates Refuse To Put Amendment On School Busing In New Constitution

(Related Story Page 7B)
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Constitutional Convention delegates refused 61-60 Saturday to put a school busing amendment in the new state constitution.

Temper flared as the emotion-laden issue finished off the convention's first Saturday work day. There was one scuffle at the speakers stand and sergeants-at-arms were called on several times to seat milling and shouting delegates.

Other firecracker votes, before the convention finally recessed until Monday, included:

—Tabled on non-record vote an effort to add a provision saying that no "newsperson" shall ever be required to disvulge a news source.

—Tabled on voice vote a proposal to allow state credit to be used in constructing a deep-water port.

—Refused 121-30 to put in the new constitution a requirement that all state and local government purchasing be done on competitive bids.

—Settled an argument between the convention and Gov. Dolph Briscoe by adopting 117-14 a provision that says no appointive officer may continue in office beyond Dec. 31 of the year during which his term expires. Previously the convention said an officer had to leave office when his term ended.

The school busing argument provided an uproarious climax for a work session that had been confused and hectic throughout.

Republican Rep. Larry Vick, Houston, offered the amendment, saying it was co-signed by 47 other delegates. "It's very simple. You know what it's about and you are either for or against it," Vick said.

The proposed amendment said in its entirety: "The right of students to attend the public school nearest their place of residency shall not be denied or abridged for reasons of race, color, national origin, religion or sex."

Bail Set At $1 Million For Kidnap Suspects

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bail of $1 million has been set for each of three young suspects in the kidnaping of the wife of the president of the Food Fair supermarket chain. The three are charged with abducting Mrs. Annette Friedland, 43, from her posh suburban Gladwyns, Pa., home and demanding $60,000 in ransom from her husband, Jack Friedland, 48.

The suspects are all from Philadelphia. One, Frank Wyatt Jr., 18, the son of a city police sergeant and an office clerk for Food Fair, was arrested Thursday.

Wallace J. Beckett Jr., 21, and Carl L. Bradford, 19, were arrested Friday.

They were charged under state statutes with kidnaping, extortion, terrorist threats and other offenses.

"This caps the investigation of the Friedland kidnaping," said FBI agent Richard J. Baker.

Mrs. Friedland was abducted at gunpoint Thursday as she worked in her garden. Her four-year-old son and a 74-year-old gardener were left bound back-to-back in the Friedlands' modern mansion.

Her husband was contacted by the abductors and delivered $60,000 as instructed. Within a few hours of her abduction, Mrs. Friedland was released in South Philadelphia.

Wyatt was apprehended almost immediately in the same area and was found with money concealed in his coat, police said.

Asst. Dist. Atty. William T. Cannon said no federal charges were filed because there was no interstate travel and the abduction did not last more than seven hours.

Bradford's mother, Mrs. Mary Bradford, insisted her son "wasn't out of the house all day Thursday. The neighbors know that."

Breaking into tears several times while talking to a local reporter, Mrs. Bradford said Carl is on the dean's list at Howard University, where he is a sociology major. "He just finished two years at Howard, two good years," she said.

Two Hurt Slightly In Two-Car Crash

Two cars were damaged heavily in a collision at Marienfeld and Wall streets about 6:40 p.m. Friday and two persons received minor injuries, according to police.

Drivers of the vehicles were Mary Colleen Fuglar, 18, of 2308 Cloverdale Road and Charles Edward Phillips, 48, of Irwin.

Phillips received slight injuries, as did a passenger in Miss Fuglar's car, Kathleen Ferrell, 18, of 700 S. Big Spring St. Neither was taken to a hospital from the scene.

Patrolman R. M. Roberts said Miss Fuglar was headed north on Marienfeld Street and the Phillips car was going east on Wall Street when they collided in the intersection.

Both cars continued moving and hit other objects on the southeast corner. Miss Fuglar's car struck a fire hydrant and Phillips' vehicle hit a street sign and an outdoor advertising sign.

Residence Heavily Damaged By Blaze

The residence of Paul Morris, 1400 E. Missouri St., was heavily damaged by fire about 2 p.m. Friday.

One bedroom and its contents were destroyed. There also was fire damage in the hall and heat and smoke damage throughout the one-story frame home.

Nine firemen answered the call and stayed at the scene for more than an hour, pumping water for 30 minutes.

The cause of the blaze is under investigation by the fire marshal's office but it was believed Saturday that it may have been started by an electrical short in the air conditioner.

Twister Rips Small Sector In Amarillo

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — A tornado caused extensive property damage but no injuries in a three-block area in the northeast section of Amarillo Friday night, officials said.

Authorities said at least two buildings were completely destroyed while numerous other businesses received heavy damage when the tornado swept down on a shopping area.

Power lines in the northeast section were ripped away, leaving the area without power temporarily.

High winds and a 12-minute hail storm accompanied the tornado. The winds blew down trees and knocked out home windows.

An eyewitness said 30 mobile homes were destroyed in a sales lot.

It was reported that the winds blew away part of the roof at the Amarillo air terminal and heavy rains caused flooding in the terminal's basement.

The temperature in the Panhandle city dropped into the 50s as the storm passed through the city.

Three Men Arrested, Charged In Slaying

Santos Hinojos Duran, 32, of 1610 N. Edwards St. became the county's fifth homicide victim of the year during the early hours Saturday when he apparently was beaten to death on a cafe parking lot at 804 S. Terrell St.

Three men were arrested within hours after the slaying and have been charged with first degree murder.

They are Rudy Hernandez Sanchez, 26, of 1908 Hudson St.; his brother Manuel Hernandez Sanchez, 23, of 103 Cherry Lane; and Baltimore Arocha Ruiz, 27, of 1609 W. Griffin St.

They remained in custody late Saturday in lieu of $25,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace John Biggs.

Biggs pronounced Duran dead at the scene and ordered an autopsy. He is withholding a ruling until results are available.

A witness, who said he was held at rifle point while the beating occurred, told police that Duran had had an argument with Manuel Sanchez and Ruiz at the Jamaica Club about two hours before the slaying, which occurred about 2:30 a.m.

Police learned of the murder when someone called headquarters about 2:45 a.m. and said there was a man bleeding profusely on the cafe parking lot.

When officers arrived and could find no signs of life in Duran, they called for detectives and an ambulance.

After talking with witnesses, police learned the names of the three suspects and obtained arrest warrants from Biggs.

The Sanchez brothers were arrested at their homes within 20 minutes of each other between 7-8 a.m. and Ruiz was arrested at work about 8 a.m.

Police said Rudy Sanchez had no police record but the other two have prior arrests.

Services are pending for Duran at Thomas Funeral Home.

He was born at Roscoe on Nov. 1, 1921, and had lived in Midland for the last 13 years.

Survivors include eight daughters, Mrs. Lupe Reyes and Mrs. Carmen Perales, both of Midland; Mrs. Dora Melendez of Plano; Mrs. Encarnacion Riveria of Dallas; Miss Mary Ann Duran, Miss Anita Duran, Miss Lourdes Duran and Miss Leana Duran; six sons, Able Duran of Houston, Santos Duran Jr. of Ft. ### MOMENT OF TRUTH

The situation is this. Husband is transferred to a new job in another state. The family decides to sell their home. If it is not sold prior to the husband's departure, should the wife and children remain behind or accompany him to the new location and try to sell an empty house?

Speaking as a Realtor — not a marriage counselor — I must advise that the choice will be a matter of finance versus emotions. Why?

Experience shows that an empty house is tougher to sell and brings less money. A house devoid of furniture loses its charm and appearance of livability. Scars and blemishes show up. Empty rooms look smaller without furniture.

On the average, an empty house will bring about 5 to 6 per cent less. In some cases, discounts of up to 10 per cent are not unusual. Also, selling time is longer for an empty house despite the paradox that the buyer can move in almost immediately.

Youths Help Build Siberian Railroad

MOSCOW (AP) — Thousands of Soviet young people have poured into eastern Siberia to help build the Baikal-Amur railway mainline which will stretch 1,920 miles through virgin territory.

The railroad will run from a station on the bank of the Lena River in eastern Siberia to the city of Komsomolsk-on-Amur in the extreme southeast of the Soviet Union, near the Chinese border.

Its path will take it through mountains and forests and over rivers north of Lake Baikal.

The railway will facilitate the development of natural resources and the creation of new industrial centers and agricultural regions in eastern Siberia and the Far East.

The first detachment of young builders is making its first cutting in a virgin forest near the Siberian river of Tayura.

The young people were called to work by the 17th Komsomol Congress in April.

Texas Traffic Deaths Down 27 Per Cent

AUSTIN (AP) — Traffic deaths are down 27 per cent from 1973, when Texans were still whizzing along at 70 miles per hour and gas was relatively cheap and abundant.

The Texas Department of Public Safety reported Saturday that 1,030 persons have died so far this year in traffic accidents, compared with 1,413 for the same period of 1973.

Fatal accidents are down 23 per cent, from 1,164 a year ago to 901 for the first five months and one week of 1974.

Lack Of Money Kills Scientific Journal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A highly respected scientific journal with a 100-year ancestry and published by the Agriculture Department has been canceled because of money and printing problems.

The final issue of Agricultural Science Review, published by the department's Cooperative State Research Service, was distributed to newsmen Friday.

Roy L. Lovorn, administrator of the agency, said in a foreword that an explanation of the magazine's demise "is obviously in order." He said the basic reason was economics.

Disabled Soldier Is Living Scar In South Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — In a country at war, nothing is tossed aside faster than a tank that won't run, a gun that won't shoot or a plane that won't fly — unless it's a soldier who can't fight any more.

Vietnam's rice paddies and hilltops are rusting graveyards for thousands of castoff metal eyesores abandoned in the heat of battle and left to fester in the sun and bleed into the earth.

But the disabled South Vietnamese veteran, like his American counterpart, is a living scar, a man with a broken body and a worried mind.

The Ministry of Veterans Affairs says there are about 100,000 disabled former soldiers in South Vietnam, while the country's largest disabled veterans association estimates there have been 200,000 since 1954.

American and ministry officials say that since the Jan. 28, 1973, ceasefire, more than 2,000 men have been disabled every month.

One out of five young men who march off to war in this country comes home permanently injured.

The government gives more money to the badly disabled veteran than to a healthy soldier of the same rank still on active duty. If, as a second lieutenant, he earned $17 monthly but now has a 50 per cent disability, he will receive $8.50 for himself, $1.75 for his wife, $1.75 for each child, a rice allowance, free housing benefits, lifetime medical care for himself and his family, job preference and education benefits for his children. The higher the disability, the better the benefits.

But in today's crumbling economy, that's barely enough to survive.

Blind Woman Wouldn't Give Up Job For World

By BO BASKIN
"I wouldn't give it up for the world."
That is the attitude Kay Stephens, 24, takes toward her new job at the new U.S. Post Office in Midland.

Her job, however, is not like the jobs of others who work in the federal complex located at Wall and Main streets. Unlike most of the people in the building who are employed by the federal government, Miss Stephens is independent. Also unlike the other people in the building, Miss Stephens is blind.

Miss Stephens and James Deal, 61, are participants in the Business Enterprises Program, a brainchild of the State Commission for the Blind. The program seeks to provide blind persons with a means of earning their livelihood independently.

Miss Stephens' enterprise consists of a refreshment-newstand in the huge lobby of the post office, whereas Deal's business consists of a coffee shop-snack bar on the first floor of the Federal Office Building. All equipment and initial merchandise for both ventures were provided by the state commission. All then was turned over almost entirely to the blind managers. The managers are required to pay a small maintenance fee for the use of the business, but the profits otherwise are their own.

Miss Stephens and Deal both serve a multitude of functions in their respective businesses. They are, of course, the sales clerks who wait on the customers who frequent the stands during the day. Because they cannot see, they have had to memorize where each product is stored. When memorizing becomes too tedious a task, as it does with the 26 brands of cigarettes, Miss Stephens uses the Braille identification on the edge of the cigarette shelf to distinguish between brands. In accepting money, small change can be identified by touch, but only $1 bills can be accepted because the blind clerks cannot distinguish between the different values of paper currency. Miss Stephens and Deal also must serve as stock clerks and as financial accountants for their businesses. They order all of their merchandise, and they maintain both daily and monthly records for their businesses. While Miss Stephens types her reports out in Braille, Deal types his out on a regular typewriter. According to D. E. McCullough, the commission's area business supervisor, Deal does so almost flawlessly.

Jamaica Quadruples Taxes For Aluminum Ore Mining

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—In a move expected to increase the price of all aluminum products, Jamaica has quadrupled the money it charges foreign companies to mine bauxite, aluminum's raw material.

Senators in this Caribbean island nation, the world's largest bauxite-producing country, approved the higher charges Friday. The House of Representatives passed them Tuesday and they will take effect after the formality of an approval by the governor general.

Most of Jamaica's bauxite is mined by six foreign companies: Aluminum Co. of America, Alcan Aluminum Ltd. of Canada, Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical, Reynolds Metals and Alpart — a consortium of An-open for only about three weeks. Miss Stephens says that she "expects success" in her business venture. Deal explains, "The old customers keep coming back and their numbers should grow when all of the offices in the Federal Office Building are filled and when the federal court opens up." Ken Franks, an employee of the Internal Revenue Service, said, "The stands are so handy they are real time-savers."

Both Miss Stephens and Deal are appreciative of the opportunity that the stands have given them. Deal explains that those who own their own businesses are much more independent than are blind people who have other types of jobs.

"This program has a great advantage in that while the state helps us get off the ground by doing most of the initial funding, it is still up to us to make it go. I wanted to get something I could build; this job gives me a real challenge."

Miss Stephens, a long-time Midlander and a graduate of Lee High School, says she feels lucky to have her new job, and from all indications, the people who work around her and who have come to know her seem to feel equally lucky to have her working in the new post office. Ontee Johnson, a n-employee of General Service Administration, describes her as "very nice" while Irene Gisco, an employee of Nash Janitorial Service, says, "Everybody seems to like her; they holler at her as they walk by."

Even though they have worked in their new businesses for only a few weeks, Miss Stephens and Deal seem to have captured the hearts of some of the people who frequent the new Federal Office Building and Post Office. As Franks put it, "Seeing somebody try to succeed even though they cannot see is an inspiration to me and to everybody else. All these people want is a chance. If they are given that chance, they can feel important, and they are important."

PREPARING A SNACK — James Deal, left, and Kay Stephens, right, work behind a snack bar in the new Federal Office Building and Post Office. Both Miss Stephens and Deal are blind and are participating in the State Commission for the Blind's Business Enterprises Program.

Pilot Says Hostages To Be Released

CALGARY, Alta. (AP) — Ethiopian guerrillas holding four Americans and two Canadians have plans to release the hostages, according to a Canadian helicopter pilot who was freed by the guerrillas Friday.

In a telephone interview Friday from Addis Ababa, Grant Wyatt said he was told by the Eritrean guerrillas who captured him and Deborah Dortsch, 24, of Freehold, N.J., that Mrs. Dortsch will be released "when demands for medical aid and equipment are met."

Wyatt said the five other hostages are being held by a different guerrilla unit within the Eritrean Liberation Front, a group fighting to make Ethiopia's northern province of Eritrea independent.

The five are Powers William Cayce, 36, of Plainview, Tex.; Motta Paula, 52, an American with landed immigrant status in Canada; John W. Rogers of the United States; Don Wederfort, 27, of Calgary, and Cliff James, also a Canadian.

"The group I was with said they (the five other hostages) were being well treated and will be released," Wyatt said.

The five were on a mission for Tenneco Inc. of Houston, Tex. and were captured March 26 when their helicopter went down. Tenneco contacted the guerrillas and dispatched a helicopter to pick up the hostages on May 27.

But the second helicopter also fell into guerrilla hands at Ghinda, near the Eritrean capital of Asmara. Wyatt, 30, a pilot for CanWest Aviation Ltd. of Calgary, was captured and the American Embassy in Addis Ababa said a Dutch nurse aboard the chopper, Anna Stickwerda, 34, was killed.

Tenneco said last Saturday that it had broken off talks with the guerrillas because of the fate of the second helicopter.

Body of Missing Dallas Executive Found In Woods

DALLAS (AP) — Medical examiners still were trying to determine Saturday the cause of death of Dan Burney, 47, a top Dallas executive whose decomposed body was found Friday.

Officers still held Paul Edward Johnson under $100,000 bond. He was released from prison last July and was arrested a week ago when discovered driving Burney's company-owned car.

Amateur Radio Club Sets Field Day On Monday

Robert G. McCuiston, regional geophysicist for Forest Oil Corp., will discuss "Better Contest Operating" in a program for the Midland Amateur Radio Club at 8 p.m. Monday.

Police Sgt. William King, who notified the widow of the discovery, said, "She was upstairs with the family priest when we got here. She was crying but not hysterical... and wanted to know how her husband died."

Burney's car was spotted in a housing complex a week ago by a patrolman who paid a lead 50 cents to go to the car and record the registration number.

Officers staked out the car and arrested Johnson when he drove away with a woman and child. Officers said he had been staying with the woman, Burney's keys were found in her apartment. She was released.

Park officials cleared the park of the 4,500 visitors about 15 minutes after the threats were made.

"I won't stay here an hour longer than I have to," the former Kirov ballet star said, adding that he got the official word during a 15-minute session in the office of a Lt. Col. Pliagrinas.

"Pliagrinas read me a statement which said my wife and I had been given permission for exit to Israel," shopping," Panov said. He said immediately afterward, Panov warned him not to proceed any further with a proposed East-West scientific seminar he has organized for July.

Panov said he went to a clinic where his wife, a ballerina, was being examined.

"Galina didn't believe it was true," he said. "I also have difficulty believing it."

Panov said officials told him he could pick up the travel documents Monday at the passport office in Leningrad. "I am very excited, very emotional," he said.

But the news for Jewish physicist Alexander Voronel was not so good. His wife said he was detained for several hours Saturday and authorities warned him not to proceed any further with a proposed East-West scientific seminar he has organized for July.

She said one officer quoted a Western newspaper interview with the president of Tel Aviv University who reportedly said the seminar should draw attention to the plight of Russian Jewish scientists. She said the officer told Voronel "he should know if that behavior could lead to a crime."

The two-story office is headquarters for Hughes' old motion picture business.

Advance word that the authorities had changed their minds was carried by Panov's brother Alfred. Having heard rumors that permission was possible, the brother took the phone call from the Lithuanian Interior Ministry summoning the ballet star for an immediate audience downtown.

"Alfred found me in a store shopping," Panov said. He said immediately afterward, Panov warned him not to proceed any further with a proposed East-West scientific seminar he has organized for July.

Armed Forces Fighting Back From 'Low' Following War In Vietnam

By JOHN WHEELER
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The U.S. Army slipped into trouble before the last battle flags were furled and the final troops withdrawn from Vietnam.

In January 1973, as the draft was ending and the truce was announced, only four of the Army's 13 divisions at home and abroad were rated combat ready. Just five years earlier, eight combat divisions had been stationed in Vietnam alone.

The Army's fighting spirit had been eroded by the growing unpopularity of Vietnam, by an epidemic of heroin addiction, by race conflict, by a decline in discipline so serious that knifings, muggings and theft were commonplace on Army bases.

And the Pentagon had made a decision in 1971 which at first added to the Army's troubles. The decision was to rebuild the Army with volunteers. There wasn't much choice. The number of draftees was declining and the end of the draft was anticipated.

The Navy and Air Force also were to be volunteer forces, but they had never been as draft-dependent as the Army.

Trying to lure recruits, the Army changed its approach in 1971. Instead of making young GIs adjust to Army ways, the Army adjusted to the whims of its enlistees. The motto, "To day's Army wants to join you, set the tone.

The new country club atmosphere only sent morale tumbling further, especially among career officers and noncoms.

"Vietnam damn near destroyed the Army," said one senior officer with five rows of combat ribbons from two wars. "Then the Pentagon fell all over its feet pandering to the kids and damn near finished the job."

"I don't know which made me madder," a jaw-jawed first sergeant said, "not winning in Vietnam or coming home to run an outfit I wouldn't want to go into combat with against Boy Scouts."

Surprisingly, many of the recruits also were dissatisfied with the new Army. Surveys made by the Pentagon and individual military commands found that the GIs considered their training too soft. Men in combat units wanted programs that would make them tough professionals, the surveys found.

"We just weren't operating on the same frequency," a unit commander said in an interview, one of a number conducted recently with officers and enlisted men. "We put beer in the barracks to please the kids. They didn't want it. We started by handling them as if they might break. They didn't want that either. They resented the attitude and wanted — no, demand — that we treat them as responsible, adult soldiers."

So the Army changed again, this time with more success.

The change came in October 1972. Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, back from Vietnam, had just succeeded Gen. William C. Westmoreland as Army chief of staff. The draft ended eight months later, on July 1, 1973.

Abrams toughened basic and combat training and insisted on discipline during duty hours. But off duty, civilian freedoms are the rule: no reveille, no KP, no need for passes to get off base, no hassle with angry sergeants inspecting barracks.

"No matter what they say, the volunteer Army is working," said Lt. Gen. Bernard Rogers, Army deputy chief of staff for personnel. "It's not going to work. It's working right now."

Other top officers are optimistic, but less so. Lt. Col. Ron Watts, a two-tour Vietnam veteran, now a 1st Division battalion commander at Ft. Riley, Kan., says: "We're not out of the woods yet. It needs two or three years. For sure, the way the new Army started off, it never would have made it. It was too permissive... but that is gone now in this battalion."

At Ft. Bragg, N.C., home of the 82nd Airborne Division,

Spec. 4 David Clark, serving of support troops. But that depends on enlistments. They are lagging in infantry, artillery and armor units, which were eight per cent below authorized quotas on March 31. Over-all, the Army was only 2,000 men — less than one per cent — below its authorized level of 786,000.

The short-fall was 30,000 men on Jan. 1 when the Army's authorized strength was 802,000. That was cut as part of a gradual reduction to convert the armed forces of Vietnam days to a peacetime military.

The Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines now total 2,182,000, compared with 3,548,000 men and women in uniform in 1968.

Recruiters visiting high school and college campuses throughout the country say they've been helped by a change in public sentiment away from the anti-militarism of the Vietnam war years.

The radical spirit among the young seems to have waned, Army spokesmen report, and the questions asked of recruiters are the right ones, from the Army's viewpoint: "What do you offer in the way of pay, education, security and life style?"

The divisions stationed in the States appear to be shaping up fastest in the new Army. Seven have combat-ready status and appear, according to Army statistics, less affected by the crime, drug and race problems still in evidence in Europe, where four divisions are stationed.

FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS Dirt, Squirt & Quirt

Searing heat and parching winds continued to place high stress on crops and rangeland in the West Texas area during the last week. Dryland crops in many areas of Midland county are deteriorating rapidly, according to Charles Green, county extension agent. Sprinkler irrigation water being applied to young cotton is causing burning as the evaporative action of the dry winds concentrates salinity effects. Pastures are also drying rapidly and a turn-around in the weather is sorely needed to brighten agricultural prospects.

All cattle under two years of age should be vaccinated for blackleg every year. Green advises livestockmen. Blackleg is a disease which is usually fatal to young cattle and while the incidence has been relatively low in West Texas there have been increased problems and some losses from the disease in recent years. The death or lameness of the best young calf in a herd often signals an outbreak of the disease.

The most common sign that an animal has the disease is a swelling of the heavy muscles in the hip and shoulder. Blackleg has been around for a long time and seems to show up wherever cattle are raised. It is caused by bacteria which are usually ingested with feed. The infection ends up in the heavy muscles of the animal, where it causes great damage and forms large quantities of gas in the tissues. When pressure is applied to the affected area, the gas in the tissues makes a crackling sound, like paper being crumpled.

An animal which has died from blackleg has a characteristic posture. Because of the terrific swelling soon after death, the animal has its legs extended and stiff like a sawhorse. Once animals are stricken with the disease, they usually die in 12 to 48 hours.

The disease can be prevented by vaccination with a bacterin made from the organism which causes the disease. Since animals under two years of age are the ones usually affected, they are the ones which should be vaccinated. Although annual vaccination means that some animals be vaccinated more than once, this will not hurt the animals and will keep resistance at a high level, Green notes.

Many home gardeners have been dismayed to note tomato vines that appear healthy and vigorous are not setting fruit in recent weeks. While several conditions may cause this, the greatest cause of tomato blossom shedding is a combination of high temperatures, high light intensity and dry atmospheric conditions.

Two effects of high temperature on most garden varieties seriously limits fruit production. The first is that temperature approaching 90 degrees effectively prevents pollination, hence no fruit develops. The second is pollen sterility which occurs at temperatures above 90. Light intensity interacts with temperature so that while full sunlight is not detrimental to growth and fruit development at the lower temperatures of spring and fall, it is increasingly so as temperatures rise in the summer.

The effect of high light intensity is primarily one of reducing vegetative growth. The leaves become twisted, the growing tips are more or less dormant and few flowers are produced at this time.

Choice of variety is important in getting summer tomato fruit set, for some have more tolerance for heat than others. Among the varieties sold commercially, the larger-fruited varieties such as Marglobe and Rutgers are generally more affected by summer conditions, while the smaller-fruited varieties such as Porter and Summer Prolific have more tolerance.

In West Texas, Plainsman, Red Cloud and Firesteel have been developed with heat tolerance. The very small, cherry-type varieties such as Red Cherry, Tom Thumb, Patio and Saladette have a high degree of tolerance to the adverse conditions of West Texas summers.

Two other methods can be employed to help alleviate the problem. Shading tomato plants with cheese cloth or slats may help lower the light intensity and temperature to result in increased fruit set. Also the application of a growth regulator such as Sure-Set and Blossom-Set, can help prevent shedding of flowers and stimulate fruit development. The fruits produced by such applications are frequently seedless. The larger-fruited varieties usually respond all summer. A combination of shading and growth regulator is better than either alone.

Chances Grow Slim Watergate Timetables Will Be Met

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chances are growing increasingly slim that the Watergate timetables established by federal judges and congressional leaders are going to be met.

Both major Watergate trials now are threatened with long delays. And the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment inquiry, already behind schedule, hasn't yet set-he is considering issuing a contempt citation as a result of President Nixon's refusal to let a defense lawyer accompany his client on an examination of White House files. The conflict between Gesell and the President could delay the start of the Plumbers trial now scheduled for June 17.

Gesell said recently that if the trial doesn't get under way on schedule it could be delayed as much as a year.

—The Supreme Court has agreed to hear arguments on July 8 on whether President Nixon has a right to withhold material subpoenaed as evidence in the cover-up trial, scheduled to start Sept. 9. A court decision could take something even the White House concedes is a strong possibility, there would follow a highly publicized debate in the House. Defendants in the cover-up trial would probably claim some of the evidence would prejudice potential jurors against them.

The publicity could force an order to postpone the trial. More likely to force a postponement would be a Supreme Court decision which upheld the subpoena but permitted the President's lawyers to claim that some of the material was not relevant.

But probably the greatest potential for delay would be any move to call President Nixon as a witness. That was made more likely by the disclosure that he had been named an unindicted co-conspirator. It also almost certainly would be resisted by Nixon.

Threats Of Price Rollbacks, Higher Taxes Cloud Independents' Outlook

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas independent oil operators are happier these days but say the encouraging trends of recent months are being threatened at the congressional level.

Higher crude oil prices have pushed Texas oil and gas explorations to their highest level in a decade.

France To End Test Explosions

PARIS (AP) — President Valery Giscard d'Estaing said Saturday France will end its controversial atmospheric nuclear tests in the Pacific after a final series of tests in the near future.

Giscard d'Estaing said, "The development of the nuclear defense program is sufficiently advanced to permit France to pass on to the stage of underground tests as soon as the test series foreseen for this summer is completed."

Penny Campaign Apparently Working

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's get-out-the-penny drive to ease a shortage of the copper coin seems to be heading for success, Mint Director Mary T. Brooks says.

The first full week of the campaign showed signs that people are beginning to return to circulation some of the estimated 30 billion pennies they have squirreled away in jars and dresser drawers, Mrs. Brooks reported Friday.

which hit hardest at the domestic independent producer and royalty owner," Christmann says.

"The question we're asking is which measure adopted or under consideration by Congress has assisted in any way with the job of insuring America's energy sufficiency."

independent Petroleum Association of America.

Speakers at Tuesday's concluding session include John C. Sawhill, the new FEO administrator, and Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

But the congressional proposals the independents fear include crude oil price rollbacks, the elimination of oil's depletion tax allowance, and enactment of a "windfall profits" tax.

Such subjects, therefore, will dominate discussions Monday and Tuesday at the annual policy meeting of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Association.

John J. Christmann of Lubbock, chairman of the association's national energy policy committee, says the proposals actually are aimed at international oil companies but that independent operators would be the major victims.

Independents drill about 80 per cent of the nation's exploratory wells and operate about 80 per cent of the stripper or marginal wells.

"In an effort to 'get at' the major international oil companies, Congress has consistently offered measures

He added that virtually all measures being considered by Congress are calculated to head off the self-sufficiency objectives of President Nixon's Project Independence.

Policy committee reports are to be received by the independents Monday, along with a presidential report by George Mitchell of Houston.

New officers and committee-men will be elected at the 11 a.m. Monday general session.

Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen will receive the annual TIPRO recognition award at the Monday noon luncheon.

Then the independents will move into a series of discussions on government relations, producer operations, banking and shortages of drilling rigs and steel goods.

Participants in the discussions are to include Duke Ligon, an assistant administrator of the Federal Energy Office, and John Miller of Allegan, Mich., president of the In-

Jury Selection Due In Dr. Leigh Case

Despite defense efforts to get the case dismissed, jury selection is scheduled in federal court here Monday for the drug dispensing trial of Dr. Henry Thomas Leigh of Andrews.

Dr. Leigh, a medical doctor, is accused in an eight-count indictment of illegally prescribing medicine for undercover state and federal officers.

During a pending motions hearing which began Thursday afternoon and ended Friday afternoon, defense attorneys said they would prove entrapment.

They also sought dismissal of the case, saying that the law covering unlawful drug dispensing by prescription exempts physicians and that the indictment alleges conflicting violations.

The upcoming trial of Leigh will be based on the third indictment in this case.

He first was indicted in March 1973 but a second indictment was returned in October that year to correct technical problems with the first one.

In February 1973 the second indictment was dismissed — because of incorrect wording.

The government appealed the dismissal ruling of U.S. Dist. Judge D. W. Suttle to the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals, which ruled in Suttle's favor.

Following that, the grand jury indicted Leigh last March — returning the third indictment in this case. The first one still is pending.

Several petit juries, which will hear civil and criminal cases to be tried this session, will be selected Monday and one will hear the Leigh case.

Some observers said the Leigh trial could begin as early as Monday afternoon.

'LIKE A GOOD VICE PRESIDENT SHOULD'

Ford Won't Sit Down, Shut Up

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford said Saturday he has been getting advice in letters, telegrams, receptions and shouts in hotel lobbies to stop traveling so much and holding so many news conferences.

"In short, why don't I sit down and shut up like a good vice president should," Ford said in a commencement address at Utah State University.

He said he has been asked "if I must make speeches and permit press questions wherever I go, why do I uphold the President one day and the next day side with the Congress, which is deliberating his impeachment?"

Seeking Compromise

He said the answer is that he believes it his duty to try and help find a compromise on the nagging issue of Watergate.

"Why is it so surprising that I sometimes voice the viewpoint of the legislative branch of which I was a part for a quarter century, and at other times see things much the same way as the chief executive, who chose me, my friend for the same span of years?"

"In all those years, I have never seen a controversy in which one side was all wrong and the other 100 per cent right," he said.

Remains Own Man

The vice president said, "So long as I can contribute to the climate of reason and truth in this country, I will remain my own man, fly my own course and speak my own convictions."

He said he has been traveling so much — visiting 34 states so far — because he feels he should listen to the opinions around the country and not only to "the strident voices on the banks of the Potomac."

"It is not so much what I am telling the American people, but what they are telling me," he said.

In a news conference in Raleigh, N.C., Friday, Ford said it is debatable, but that if President Nixon were held in contempt of court, "it can be interpreted in the minds of some, I assume, as an impeachable offense."

The vice president said the question can be argued both ways and "I would not pass judgment on it at this point."

U.S. District Court Judge Gerhard Gesell told the Nixon lawyer, James D. St. Clair, in Washington Friday that he might start contempt proceedings against the President if time to study it.

The vice president also defended the President's refusal to turn more Watergate tapes over to the House impeachment inquiry and efforts to overturn a subpoena by Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski for more tapes.

Ford said Nixon and his lawyer have the right to use "any appropriate legal methods" to determine proper.

Ford said he does not consider the Watergate grand jury naming the President as an undicted coconspirator in the Watergate cover-up "anything but a serious matter."

Strauss Announces Telethon To Raise Cash For Democrats

DALLAS (AP) — National Democratic Chairman Robert Strauss Friday announced a 21-hour national fund-raising telethon for late this month which, he said, will portray politics "as a noble profession."

Strauss said the telethon will begin at 9 p.m. on June 29. He made the announcement at a news conference in which he also criticized "apologists" of the Watergate scandal who, he said, excuse the political abuses because "everybody does it."

"The thing that offends me most about this thing," Strauss said, "was the attempt by people around the White House to say 'forgive us'—everybody does it."

"That," he added, "is an outright lie."

The Democratic leader said CBS television will carry the telethon which he described as "the longest, most expensive show in television history."

He said the telethon, billed as "Answer America," will take "what we believe to be the story of American politics to the American people."

Strauss said he hopes the telethon will pay for the party's national convention. "Before, we have always gone to the corporate interests in the selling of ads to finance the convention. That wasn't good politics, but it was legal."

It will be the party's third national telethon. The two previous events raised about $2 million each. Strauss said the goal of the June 29 program is $5 million.

Chilcoat Attending CD Training Course

DENTON — W. J. Chilcoat, Midland City-County Civil Defense coordinator, has joined more than 20 other top civil defense officials from Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, New Mexico and Arkansas participating in an intensive two-week career development training course here running through Friday.

The program is being held at the Defense Civil Preparedness Agency's (DCPA) Region Five headquarters.

The course is similar to the second of a four-phase curriculum offered at DCPA's Staff College in Battle Creek, Mich.

The course schedule focuses attention on the local civil defense coordinator's role as a public official. The participants are studying and analyzing governmental structure, program management, budgeting, social systems and social actions.

He said he has been traveling so much — visiting 34 states so far — because he feels he should listen to the opinions around the country and not only to "the strident voices on the banks of the Potomac."

Bustling Economy Keeps Midland Jobless Rate Low

Miller added 36.1 per cent of the city's labor force is female, compared to 35 per cent nationally. Some local plants such as Levi's use women predominantly.

"Because of inflation a lot of housewives seek work to improve their standard of living," he said.

The TEC manager feels inflation won't hurt the Midland employment rate unless "something happens in the oil industry."

One out of every four unemployed workers in Midland will be a member of a minority group but Miller said "we're probably doing better in this area than any other."

"There are two main reasons why this is so," Miller said. "First, Midland is one of the headquarters of the oil industry and the Office of Economic Opportunity required them to have an Affirmative Action Plan to hire minorities, and they have made a considerable effort to hire the disadvantaged.

"As far as discrimination goes, you don't find very much of it in Midland," he continued. "People around here seem to have a moral obligation to a person willing to work. We've come a long, long way in this respect."

Miller said the Midland Human Relations Council has helped the TEC in finding jobs for minorities and has set up a board to air minority problems.

He noted many minority members have trouble meeting job requirements although Miller said "it gets better every day."

When job requirements are the roadblock, TEC service representatives often talk to prospective employers to see if the standards could be lower or a training program established so the job seeker could meet the requirements.

Miller said the TEC has been successful in the latter adding his organization is aided by the Midland Area Sales Team and the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission in this respect.

He noted Drilco has set up several training programs and the TEC was able to persuade the federal government to set up a machinist training course at Midland College. It currently is training 20 Midlanders.

Because of "a very bad shortage" of truck drivers, a truck driving course was set up at the college.

Miller feels that Midland College should help trim the unemployment figure through training programs.

"The vocational training program is coming along fine," he said. I think it could be one of the better ones in the country." He noted Midland "prides itself" on college preparatory courses in high school but only 30 per cent of students graduate from colleges.

He said 95 per cent of disadvantaged workers go into training programs and 90 per cent are able to graduate and go on to better jobs.

Part of the training program is the Neighborhood Youth Corps, which trains mostly students from 16 to 21 years of age. (Of the 43 involved in Midland, only five are not in school). These trainees are placed in job stations where Miller said an employer "can look at a person before he starts a job."

Because of the summer slowdown, Miller predicts the unemployment rate would increase to 3.3 per cent in July. The TEC's Workarama program tries to find jobs for students in the summer. "We have two people here working on nothing but that," Miller said.

Co-sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, the two groups distribute job information to young people under 18. "We tell them where the jobs are but most of them find jobs on their own," he said. "This way a young person learns to sell himself to an employer."

"The employe also learns his responsibilities to an employer," Miller added about the program. "It gives him an idea about what the work world is about and what he might or might not want to do for a career."

He said the college student "probably has the least trouble" because "he seems to have more contacts."

"A lot of oil companies hire them in hopes they will work for them when they graduate," he said. Miller added several companies have interns for the summer.

The report predicted a possible shortage of petroleum professionals in the 1980s. Miller said many college graduates with teaching certificates come to Midland only to find an overabundance of teachers in the area.

Thirty-five per cent of job seekers are 45 or over and Miller said some have trouble finding work.

"A lot of them have skills that are no longer needed," he said. "And some are retirees looking for a new field." He added retirement policies do hurt some applicants but he "doesn't think" there's an age discrimination problem locally.

The TEC was able to help 297 out of 499 45-or-over job seekers, which doesn't include those finding jobs on their own. He is enthusiastic about new "job banks" which are located in Midland (at the TEC), Odessa and San Angelo. At a job bank, job information is available every day on microfilm. "An applicant can look over the possible jobs every day and hopefully he can pick his own job," Miller said.

"Here we take orders from both applicants and employers and try to match them up," he added.

Miller said Midland's unemployment had dropped from 3.8 per cent to 2.6 in the four years he's been at the TEC.

He added both Lubbock and Austin had lower unemployment figures than Midland but that "we are certainly not the highest." Laredo has the highest unemployment in the state with 15.4 per cent of the labor force out of work.

LEAVES MONDAY— Nixon Names Party For Mid-East Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon named the official party for his Middle East journey Saturday as aides rushed arrangements for what they said "will be far more than a ceremonial or goodwill trip."

Nixon embarks Monday morning on the 10-day, 14,700-mile trip that will carry him first to Austria for a rest stop, then to Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Syria, Israel and Jordan.

Before he departs, Nixon is expected to address a luncheon of the Committee for Fairness to the Presidency today, a group supporting his effort to blunt Watergate-inspired impeachment moves.

As expected, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger headed the official Middle East party disclosed by White House officials.

Other members are Nixon's top two aides, Alexander M. Haig Jr. and Ronald L. Ziegler; Maj. Gen. Brent Scowcroft, his deputy assistant for national security affairs; Alfred Atherton, assistant secretary of State for the Middle East, and the U.S. envoys to the countries he will be visiting.

As Nixon spent Saturday at his fog-shrouded Camp David retreat studying a set of black-bound briefing books, more details emerged on his precise itinerary and schedule.

In Salzburg, Austria, the President will meet with Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreisky on Tuesday.

He flies Wednesday to Cairo, where he will meet for the first time with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat. Before leaving Egypt on Friday, the President and his entourage plan to visit the Mediterranean seaside resort of Alexandria, perhaps traveling from Cairo by train.

Storms—

In the afternoon, the Weather Service issued a watch advisory for severe thunderstorms on a 120-mile stretch from Brownwood to Wichita Falls. Other storms were forecast for parts of Central Texas.

Forecasts for today were for quite cooler air to spread into the northwest portions of the state, according to the Associated Press.

Heavy rains, mostly Friday, caused flood warnings on several rivers, mostly in Northeast Texas.

An exception in location was a warning of flooding on the North Canadian River above Lake Meredith in the Panhandle. Rains of up to five inches in New Mexico Friday night and Saturday sent the stream on the rise. Citizens with livestock or other property in low areas were advised to protect them.

In East Texas, flooding occurred on the Sulphur River from Hagansport to near Naples. A strong rise occurred on the Red River. Minor flooding was expected on the upper Sabine from near Emory to near Mineola.

Other streams in the region were bank full. These rises were set off by very heavy rains in North Central and Northeast Texas mostly Friday. Heaviest rains reported were 6.83 inches at Linden and 5.45 inches at Naples.

Rains of two, three and four inches were frequent from about Fort Worth east into Arkansas.

Meanwhile, Southeast Texas in the Golden Triangle region was having wind and high water troubles.

Gusts reached 40 m.p.h. at the Jefferson County Airport and the Coast Guard station at Sabine Pass.

Tides in the Sabine Pass and Lake Sabine area were two feet above normal with waves five to six feet.

MODEL AIRPLANE BUFFS — Joe Bowman, left, and Jim Phillips, both of Oklahoma City, are two of the contestants in the West Texas Regional Model Airplane Championships being conducted in Hogan Park this weekend. Saturday's contests were postponed by high winds. Sponsors hoped that events could be flown today beginning at 10 a.m.

Car Museum Owner Pays Out $106,000 For '30 Duesenberg

HOUSTON (AP) — A California car museum owner plunked down $106,000 Saturday for a 1930 Duesenberg and said he hopes never to pay that much again.

Jack Passey Jr., who owns 55 other antique and classic cars stored at his museum in Freedom, Calif., bought the automobile in spirited bidding as Judge Roy Hofheinz disposed of his auto and music machine collection.

"Do I look like I'm in love with it," said Passey standing by the car after his winning bid. "I am. I really wanted to buy this for a lot less but I had to have it."

The Californian said he expected the car to go for about $85,000. Sotheby Parke Bernet Inc., the New York art auctioneer who held the sale, had said they expected the car to sell for between $50,000 to $60,000.

The second highest price paid of the 60 vehicles sold was $47,000 for a sporty 1913 Mercer Raceabout. It went to David Alfonso of Arcobio, Puerto Rico, a collector who said he was buying it with several other persons.

Music Devices Sold Also sold were 39 mechanical music devices, ranging from a small player piano which went for $170 to a giant 1920 Wurlitzer 180 Concert Band Organ, which stands about eight feet high and is about 20 feet long.

That was bought by Houston collector Alan Bies, 25, who said it was going into his collection in a converted garage behind his home.

In all, the crowd of about 250 bidders paid $890,000 for the mostly unrestored cars and music machines owned by Hofheinz, who is the owner of the Houston Astros baseball team as well as an amusement park and other interests.

A Hofheinz executive said the Judge, a name Hofheinz has carried since he was county judge here, originally planned to have an old car and music machine museum at his Astroworld amusement park.

"But he suffered a stroke and was unable to complete it," the executive said.

Freight Train Hits, Kills Woman

HOUSTON (AP) — A Southern Pacific freight train struck and killed a woman running across the tracks Saturday, just north of the downtown area, police said.

They identified the victim as Ruby Hernandez, 29, of Houston. Officers said the engineer told them he saw the woman just before the engine struck her but was unable to stop.

Her parked car was found a block away.

like wrecks with parts piled inside and dust covering their peeling paint. But their condition didn't deter the eager crowd, one of which also snapped up for $600 the 1961 Cadillac the judge used when he was mayor of Houston.

But the bidding for the Duesenberg was most dramatic. It opened for $50,000, went up in $5,000 jumps to $100,000, then slowly inched forward in $1,000 and $500 hikes until Passey won.

With a huge grin on his face, Passey personally guided the car as it was wheeled off the auction platform.

It was noted that the helicopter traffic operation has one drawback in that the local unit is not equipped for routine night patrol. Shaw said cars would handle nighttime traffic control, but warned that the helicopter would be pressed into service for emergency night operations.

Speeders Beware: DPS May Be Watching Above

(Continued From Page 1A) speeding, and gives a description to the waiting patrol car. The helicopter and patrol unit keep in radio contact until the speeder has been stopped, in order that no mistake is made in getting the right auto.

According to the DPS, no radar is used by the ground units as a general rule while working with a helicopter, and as many as five patrol units may assist one helicopter.

Shaw reported that last Thursday a section of IS 20 between Midland and Odessa was worked by the department helicopter, and that within an hour and 20 minutes 29 traffic citations had been issued. He said this was a normal figure, and that 50 per cent of the tickets went to out-of-state drivers.

Meanwhile, there was no immediate word on political negotiations in Paris between the South Vietnamese and Viet Cong which were called off in mid-April.

No Immediate Progress Seen In MIA Search

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam and the Viet Cong cautioned on Saturday against expectations of immediate progress in military negotiations they will resume on implementing a true cease-fire and search for more than 1,000 missing American servicemen.

The Viet Cong delegation to the two-party Joint Military Commission announced in their first news conference in two months they had agreed to a South Vietnamese proposal to return to the conference table on Tuesday.

But Col. Vo Dong Giang, deputy chief of the Viet Cong delegation, said, "The progress of the meetings will depend on the attitude of the other side."

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, chief spokesman for the Saigon military command, said: "The meeting does not mean any progress right away. We have had meetings for nearly 500 days and did not get anywhere."

The meetings have been suspended since May 10. Meetings of the Joint Military Team, also including the United States and North Vietnam and charged with arranging for gathering information on the missing in action and repatriation of remains of the dead, have been suspended since May 30.

Meanwhile, there was no immediate word on political negotiations in Paris between the South Vietnamese and Viet Cong which were called off in mid-April.

Tornadoes—

Gov. David Hall's office reported the five deaths in Drumright, and the Highway Patrol and Civil Defense said more than 100 persons were injured, many of them elderly residents of the Drumright Nursing Home.

The storm hit Drumright at 5:01 p.m. EDT, striking first at a fashionable residential area and then at the nursing home.

"The hospitals are overloaded and we have a good many bleeders," said one official in Drumright.

A Creek County sheriff's spokesman said the western half of the town was "nearly wiped out."

Power was out in the town. Emergency generators, portable lights and drinking water were dispatched from Tinker Air Force Base at Oklahoma City.

Winds Aid Blaze Which Razes Home

High winds were a major factor Saturday as units from Midland's Central Fire Station took 63 minutes to quell a raging fire shortly after 3:30 p.m.

When firemen arrived at the scene, a wood-frame storage house was sending black smoke swirling into the sky from behind the Herman Wortham residence at 305 S. Lincoln St.

Firemen said the blaze was apparently the result of an old couch being set on fire by children who were playing with matches. According to fire reports, the couch had been set ablaze during the morning, but was extinguished by Wortham's 18-year-old son. It was thought that the youth had completely killed the fire, but apparently the couch was still smoldering Saturday afternoon.

The three-room facility, which was used for storage only, was a total loss, and several sections of fence surrounding the back of Wortham's property went up in flames also. Winds continued to push the blaze across the alley before firemen could control the fire, and heavy damage resulted to yet another storage shed at the rear of 302 S. Tilden St.

Wooden fences were destroyed by the fire along the rear and sides of houses at 302 and 304 S. Tilden as the winds, gusting upward to 45 miles per hour, hampered efforts of firefighters.

Thief Steals Crutches Of Crippled Girl, 3

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 3-year-old girl, crippled by a birth defect, has lost her only means to walk. A thief stole a case containing her crutches and leg braces.

Lupe Manjerres was fitted with the braces last Christmas and had been walking in them until they were stolen May 27.

Lupe's therapist, Tina Navarrete, of the Los Angeles County Crippled Children's Service, said Friday that the thief had retarded the girl's progress. "It's set us back by at least a month in helping her get used to the braces," Miss Navarrete said.

Plan To 'Politicize' Executive Branch Revealed By Panel Staff

WASHINGTON (AP) — A secret program for federal agencies to use their power to help re-elect President Nixon appears to have violated several laws, a Senate Watergate committee staff report says.

The report termed the 1971 "Responsiveness Program" as "among the potentially most dangerous activities discovered" by the committee.

A copy of the 140-page draft report, submitted by the staff for the senators' consideration, was obtained by The Associated Press. Committee chief counsel Samuel Dash and assistant counsel James Hamilton drafted the report. The program "appears no less than a concerted and concealed endeavor 'to politicize' the executive branch to insure that the administration remained in power," the report said.

"In fact, the planning and implementation of the responsiveness plan may rise to the level of a conspiracy to interfere with the lawful functioning of government, conduct prosecutable . . . as a conspiracy to defraud the United States at that term has been interpreted by the Supreme Court."

The report recommended prosecution of a number of Nixon administration officials in connection with allegations in the report but no individuals were named.

Much of the Responsiveness Program concentrated on traditionally Democratic minorities including blacks, Spanish-speaking and the poor who were in a position to receive benefits from a variety of government programs, the report said.

Nixon campaign officials on the re-election committee staff reviewed and exercised some influence over at least $60 million in federal grants to Spanish-speaking persons alone, the report said.

Central Market System To Give Small Investors Chance At Bargains

WASHINGTON (AP) — Planners are finishing work on the first phase of a system which would give small investors access to bargains in the stock markets.

Until now, the bargains have been wolfed up by the big traders with the resources or the savvy to go looking for them.

For example, a typical small investor dealing in Syntax stock one day last week would have had to pay as much as $4,837.50 for 100 shares on the American Stock Exchange.

But if the investor had bought on the Midwest Stock Exchange, the most he would have paid would have been $4,800. Chances are slim that the small investor would have even known about the better price available.

For one thing, brokers registered with one of New York's major stock exchanges are prohibited by exchange regulations from dealing on a regional market or the over-the-counter market in a stock listed on one of the New York exchanges.

Secondly, it takes too long for a broker to check the nation's stock markets for the best price on a small, 100-share transaction. To change this, the Securities and Exchange Commission is counting on a new central market system, which has been two years in gestation since the commission first formally proposed it. In its final form, it would be one national electronic stock market.

The first phase of the central market, consolidated tapes carrying stock prices from every exchange in the country, is to operate experimentally this fall, with final implementation in February.

Central Market System To Give Small Investors Chance At Bargains

The regional and major exchanges have their doubts about the system, but to the Securities and Exchange Commission the central market should help make the markets more attractive to the small investor.

Small investors have become so disenchanted with the market that institutional investors such as pension funds, mutual funds and bank trust departments now account for 70 per cent of the dollar volume on the New York Stock Exchange, compared to 34 per cent in 1961.

"The market is not going as smoothly as it used to," sums up Commissioner Philip A. Loomis Jr. Often, he says, the institutions have wound up on the same side of the market, trying to sell stock nobody wants to buy.

The situation has evolved as business has developed an enormous appetite for money to expand. Estimates of the need over the next decade run as high as $3.3 trillion, according to the New York Stock Exchange.

The exchange fears that during the transition period to the new stock market system, big traders will resort to individual trading to avoid the exchanges.

Shortly after the consolidated tapes are set to go, brokers' fixed commission rates on smaller trades are scheduled to give way to negotiated rates. That could impel brokers to follow traders away from the exchanges, the New York Stock Exchange worries.

The regulations are moving cautiously, however. The nuts and bolts planning for the composite tapes is run by the Securities Industry Automation Corporation, which is jointly owned ## by the American and New York stock exchanges.

The consolidated tapes will consist of two networks, one tape carrying the prices of American-listed stocks and the second carrying the prices of New York-listed stocks.

These tapes are to be governed by six representatives of the various exchanges and over-the-counter dealers.

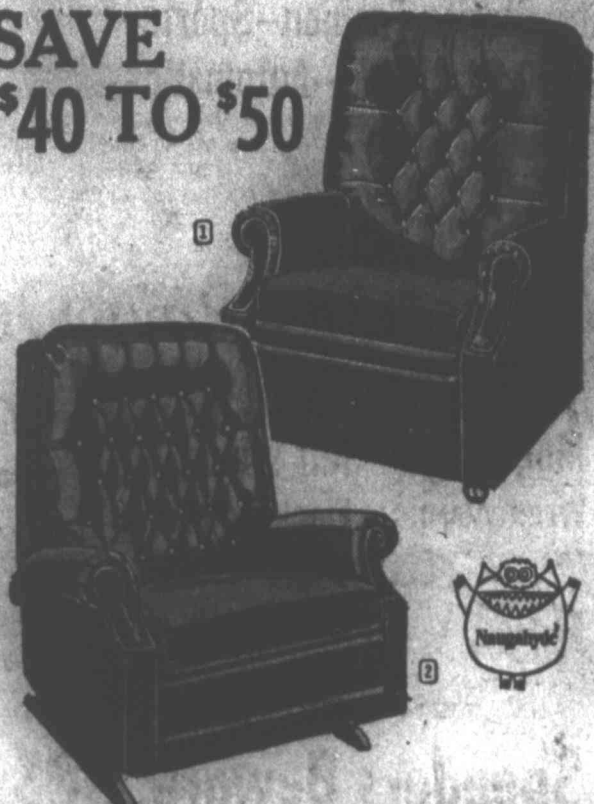

Decisions yet to be made include the hour the consolidated tapes will be run and what stocks other than the ones listed on the two major exchanges will be included.

Also to come is a further refinement of the system so that a broker can consult an electronic terminal to get an instant quote on a stock in any market.

About the time that system is available, the SEC intends to protect "limit orders," under which an investor agrees to buy or sell only if a stock hits a certain price. Large individually negotiated trades at prices higher or lower than market can get around these limit orders now by going to a regional stock exchange. The SEC wants the public given first preference on all trades anywhere in the nation.

Southern Baptists Gather Facing Racial, Women's Rights Decisions

By ROBERT E. FORD
DALLAS (AP) — The advance guard was rolling into Dallas Saturday for the massive Southern Baptist Convention, concerned this year with women's rights, race and social justice.

Sessions beginning Tuesday can be expected to arouse storms, for Southern Baptists believe turning the other cheek is a great idea provided it doesn't compromise their religious or moral principles, about as diverse as the 12 million membership.

Whatever the convention decides will be only advisory. Individual churches are a law unto themselves, and even persons in each church are accountable only to God, not the congregation.

An instance is that of women ministers and deacons. It is almost certain to be a tempestuous issue, although some churches already permit them.

The convention president, Dr. Owen Cooper, Yazoo City, Miss., said earlier he can almost guarantee that one of the "messengers" — delegates — will offer a resolution against women serving as clergy.

The convention's Christian Life Commission proposes that

Neuropsychiatric Conference Set At Big Spring

BIG SPRING — The third annual Neuropsychiatric Conference, sponsored by the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, will be held at Big Spring State Hospital Tuesday. The opening address will be by Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent of the hospital, beginning at 8:30 a.m. Registration will be immediately before that time.

Featured at the conference will be some of the nation's leading authorities on treatment programs for geriatric patients, alcohol and drug abusers and children and adolescents with emotional problems.

Scheduled speakers are Dr. Raymond Harris, chief of cardiology, St. Peter's Hospital, Albany, N.Y.; Dr. John Goodman, assistant professor of psychiatry, University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston; and Dr. Jamie Quintanilla, director of Kilgore Children's Psychiatric Center and Hospital, Amarillo.

The conference is open to area physicians, nurses, nursing home administrators, as well as personnel from MH-MR centers, outreach and out-patient clinics, and persons in allied health fields. Attending physicians will receive six hours credit in the American Academy of Family Physicians' continuing education program. Nurses will receive seven hours of elective credit as approved by the Texas Nurses Association.

The Nursing Home Administrators licensing board has approved it for 6 1/2 hours of continuing education credit.

women make up one-fifth of the elected members of boards, agencies and committees by 1980.

Cooper predicted it may be another decade before the convention is prepared to accept "with great feeling" quotas for women.

The president noted that "The majority membership in (Baptist churches) are women, but the minority runs the outfit."

The Christian Life Commission urges in recommendations to the convention that agencies seek in assignment and employment "to communicate the conviction that racism is theologically untenable, politically destructive and fatally dehumanizing."

Bicycle-Car Crash Injures Boy, 11

An 11-year-old bicyclist was taken to a doctor's office for treatment following a 6:10 p.m. Friday collision of his bike and a car at the intersection of Gulf Street and an alley east of L Street.

He is Michael Wesley Feldt of 1606 Gulf St.

Driver of the car was Susan Shepard Kerr, 38, of 2203 Boyd St.

Patrolman Johnny Thompson said the bicycle was headed south in the alley and the car was driving west on Gulf Street when the bike entered the street in the path of the car.

Child, 2, Falls From Moving Auto

Two-year-old Melissa Sanderson was treated at Midland Memorial Hospital Friday and released after she fell out of a car as it was making a left turn at Front and H streets.

Anita Sanders Sanderson, 24, of 1408 W. Washington St., mother of the child, was driving the car and Melissa was in the front seat.

As the vehicle made the turn, the child leaned against the door handle, the door opened and Melissa fell out, Patrolman Perfecto Flores reported.

Baptists to work for racial justice in education, health care, housing, consumer concern and participation in politics.

The commission also would have the convention support tax reforms to close loopholes for the rich and remove heavy taxes from the poor and "near poor." It wants development of a family support plan to "abolish the evils of the welfare system."

Another expected proposal is to change the convention's name to something other than "southern" since it operates worldwide.

Vice President Gerald Ford will address a 7 a.m. breakfast Friday. Noted evangelist Billy Graham will attend—he belongs to the 18,000-member First Baptist Church of Dallas.

Messengers will number 15,000, representing 12,297,346 Baptists in 34,665 churches. It is the largest non-Catholic Christian denomination in the world.

Other thousands will be attending satellite conferences starting today.

The pleated organza trim encircled the A-line skirt which flowed to a short train. A cap of Cluny lace with band and streamers of satin ribbon held the three-tiered veil of illusion. She carried a cascade of white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath, interspersed with flowers in rainbow colors, matching the bouquets carried by her attendants.

Susan Howard was the maid of honor. Joan Gilliam of Idalou and Brooke Hodges, sister of the bride, were the bridesmaids. Mrs. Rych Hodges was the bridesmatron for her sister-in-law.

They were dressed identically in formal-length three-tiered gowns of blue dotted Swiss. Cluny lace accented the puffed sleeves of the Empire bodices. Their headpieces were fashioned of baby's breath and mixed flowers in rainbow colors. Each carried a wicker basket filled with flowers matching their headpieces.

The best man was Terry Claiborne, brother of the bridegroom. Groomsmen, who also served as ushers, were Roger Snellman, Lakewood, Colo.; Jerry Cloud, Odessa, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Rych Hodges, brother of the bride.

A reception was held in the church parlor. Members of the house party were Mrs. Jerry Cloud, Odessa, Jan McKinney, El Paso, Caryl Hallman, Betty Witt, Lisa Owen and Penny Brum.

The couple will live here following a wedding trip. The bride attended Texas Tech University two years and is employed by the Parks and Recreation Department of Midland. The bridegroom, graduate of Colorado School of Mines, Golden, is a petroleum engineer for Henry Engineering.

WEIGHING 20 OUNCES AT BIRTH— Tiny Tasha Hudson Departs Army Hospital With Parents

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—English baby weighing 10 ounces at birth survived, says the 1974 Guinness Records book. "I was teaching right up to the day Tasha was born," said Mrs. Hudson, who had elementary school pupils. She said she knew of no incident or complications which could have caused the premature birth. Mrs. Hudson had been pregnant only about 24 weeks when Tasha was delivered in the early morning hours. Normal gestation is 38 to 42 weeks. "We've been waiting a long time for this day, but we knew smallest newborn infants to survive in the United States. An the hospital for their home in nearby Schertz, Tex. Lt. Col. Melvin Baden, chief of newborn service at Brooke's, said, "Instantly after Tasha's birth, doctors and nurses began meeting the intricate respiratory and metabolic needs to keep her alive, despite the almost 100 per cent mortality rate she faced."

Eight days after the birth, doctors performed open chest surgery to close permanently a fetal channel connecting the aorta to the pulmonary artery. In full-term babies, the channel normally closes naturally. A hospital spokesman quoted the chief of thoracic surgery as saying it was the first time in his memory "that so critical an operation has been successfully performed on such a tiny patient."

About half the staff of the Brooke newborn unit accompanied the Hudsons down the hospital elevator and out the door as they left. Mrs. Hudson carried Tasha and her husband clutched a patchwork quilted puppy, a gift from a nurse, which was almost as big as the infant.

DEAR ABBY: I am an experienced secretary and bookkeeper who quit work to have a family. My children are in school all day now and I want to get a part-time job.

DEAR ABBY: I went with a beautiful 22-year-old girl for eight months. (I'm 28.) She came on like a lily white touch-me-not virgin. She even slapped my face once, when I let my hands get too familiar with her. I never came right out and asked her if she was a virgin because from her actions I was sure she was. I was so glad she had "saved herself" for marriage because that was the one thing I wanted in a wife.

DEAR ABBY: How much time should a wife give her husband to make up his mind between her and the other woman?

Isometric Exercises Termed Dangerous For Many Persons

DALLAS (AP)—Isometric exercises—a popular form of in-place exercise in recent years—may turn persons with high blood pressures into muscular, good looking corpses, according to two Texas doctors.

The two doctors, Jere H. Mitchell and Norman M. Kaplan of The University of Texas Health Science Center at Dallas, presented their findings on exercise and high blood pressure during a symposium sponsored by The University of Texas and the University of Oklahoma.

Dr. Mitchell is professor of medicine and physiology. The doctors, however, noted that they were referring specifically to the isometric or "Charles Atlas" static type of exercise—tensing muscles against fixed objects—and not to "dynamic" exercise which includes jogging, swimming, bicycling, rowing and rhythmic calisthenics.

Dr. Mitchell said that research at the Dallas Health Science Center and other medical reports indicate that the marked increase in pressure created by isometric exercises could produce cerebral hemorrhage or failure of the left ventricle of the heart in patients with high blood pressure.

Volume Load
The difference between dynamic and static exercise, Dr. Mitchell said, is that while dynamic exercise produces primarily a volume load on the heart, static exercise produces mostly a pressure load. He said that during the performance of muscular exercise, the heart and the vascular system undergo important adaptive changes, but the exact nature of the changes depends to a large extent on the specific nature of the exertion.

High blood pressure, Dr. Kaplan said, leads to heart diseases that kill 3,000 persons a day in the United States, and the wrong kind of exercise may be responsible for a lot of those deaths.

"Dangerous Thing"
"It takes very little actual pressure against a fixed object to increase the blood pressure," Dr. Kaplan said. "A person with high blood pressure with very little effort can have his pressure increase by 30 points (mercury millimeters) and that is a dangerous thing," he said.

Kaplan and Mitchell pointed out that research indicates that "dynamic exercises"—the kind of exercise where you sweat—"may have therapeutic benefits."

"It actually decreases your blood pressure," Dr. Kaplan said.

From Soviet Union—
Kissinger Cites Drop
In Emigration Of Jews

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of Jews permitted to leave the Soviet Union has dropped sharply in recent weeks, and continued congressional pressure may be the reason, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger says.

Jewish emigration totaled about 35,000 last year but figures for May indicate a falloff of about 25 per cent, Kissinger told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Friday.

He concurred with a suggestion by Sen. George McGovern, D-S. D., that the drop in exit visas may have been a Russian reaction to efforts in Congress to tie improved trade conditions to liberalized emigration policies.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., has led a campaign for an emigration amendment in the administration's trade bill and has picked up 77 co-sponsors in the Senate. Most members of the House have taken a similar stand.

In Geneva, Switzerland, the Intergovernmental Committee on European Migration reported that Jewish emigration from the Soviet Union to Israel for the first five months of 1974

Houston Company
Files Bankruptcy

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Heritage Communities of America Inc., a Houston-based firm, filed a bankruptcy petition in federal court here Friday asking that it be allowed to reorganize its operation.

The company, which according to the petition owns nearly 1,900 acres in Comal County near New Braunfels, originally filed the petition in Houston, but it was transferred to the Western District of Texas.

Heritage listed its land as its "sole asset" and as its liabilities two promissory notes totaling nearly $2 million.

A Houston federal judge granted a request by Heritage that it be given time until a "workable plan for the sale or refinancing of the property can be had to equitably and reasonably pay all lienholders."

Patricia Denounces Family As 'Pigs'

William A. Johnson

Departing Official Raps Two-Level Oil Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — A departing federal energy expert says the Nixon administration's crude oil price controls produced windfall profits, "political wheeling and dealing" and oil industry cheating.

The broadside against the administration's two-level price control was a parting shot from William A. Johnson, key energy policy analyst for former energy chief William E. Simon. Johnson was interviewed Friday on his last day at the Federal Energy Office.

Johnson was asked to explain why the administration authorized a dollar-a-barrel price increase for "old" domestic oil production last December, despite staff reports that it would cost consumers some $3 billion a year without aiding in petroleum shortages.

The increase, Johnson said, was intended as only the first step in closing the price gap between the price-controlled "old oil" and uncontrolled "new oil" brought into production since 1972.

This two-level system had served the purpose of encouraging new oil exploration and development, "but it has become a horrendously serious political problem," Johnson said.

"All sorts of groups are trying to get $5.25 (price-controlled) oil. The temptation for political wheeling and dealing is enormous," said Johnson, who claimed he had no major role in the price decision.

"We have a system that encourages cheating," Johnson added.

Johnson's blast at the program followed the circulation, by consumer advocate Ralph Nader, of staff reports to the Cost of Living Council which provided the groundwork for December's old-oil price increase.

The studies indicated that this price increase would not increase production from existing wells and wouldn't significantly reduce demand.

The council staff said a one-dollar increase would, like any increase, be an "arbitrary" choice and would cost the public some $256 million a month.

By that reckoning, the Dec. 19 price increase may already have turned some $1.4 billion of the consumer's money into oil industry windfall profits.

It's so hard to explain what it was like watching our comrades die... Miss Hearst said, "It made me mad to see the pigs looking at our comrades' weapons, to see them holding Cujo's .45 and his watch, which was still ticking. He would have laughed at that. I died in that fire on 54th Street, but out of the ashes of it I was reborn. I know what I have to do. My comrades didn't die in vain."

Wolfe's charred body was found in the burned house after the shootout along with the body of Donald "General Field Marshal Cinque" DeFreeze and four women SLA soldiers.

There was no definite confirmation that the Cujo Miss Hearst spoke of was Wolfe.

In Emmanus, Pa., Wolfe's father said he was told that his son was known to SLA members as Cujo. Earlier he said without qualification that Cujo was his son.

In the tape, Miss Hearst denied speculation by her father, newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst, that she had been brainwashed by the SLA.

"While I have no death wish," Miss Hearst said, "I have never been afraid of death. For this reason, the brainwash-duress theory of the pig Hearst has always amused me."

"It is very precious to me, but I have no delusions that going to prison would keep me alive, and I would never choose to live the rest of my life surrounded by pigs."

She said she had been taught "to shoot first and make sure

Kidnap Conspiracy Indictment Charges Bobby Joe Keesee, 40

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A self-styled soldier of fortune, who once tried to defect to Cuba and later spent three years in a North Vietnamese prison camp, was charged with conspiring to kidnap a U.S. diplomat in Mexico.

Bobby Joe Keesee, 40, of Huntington Beach, Calif., was named Friday in a five-count federal grand jury indictment accusing him of planning and taking part in the March 22 kidnaping of John S. Patterson, 31, was assigned to Sonora, Mexico, two months earlier as American vice consul for farm affairs. Authorities say he was last seen leaving his office in Hermosillo and entering a car with an unidentified man.

A note was found tucked under the consulate door the next day. Ransom notes demanding $500,000 were received by the consulate and Patterson's wife, authorities said.

Keesee was not charged with kidnaping because the abduction occurred outside the United States, a federal official said.

The charges include conspiracy to kidnap, interstate and foreign travel to promote an unlawful activity and mailing threatening communications.

Several Trips To Mexico

Friday's indictment alleged that Keesee made several trips to Mexico with Greg Curtis Fielden, 25, of Orange County, Calif., to plan the kidnaping. Fielden was named as an unindicted co-conspirator.

Keesee first came into the news when he deserted his Army post at Ft. Huachuca, Ariz., in 1962 and turned up in Cuba in a rented airplane, seeking political asylum.

He was deported and served two years in a U.S. prison for interstate transportation of a stolen car. At his trial, he claimed he had been on a mission for the Central Intelligence Agency, a story the CIA denied.

Taken Prisoner, Released

In September 1970, Keesee, a civilian employe in Vietnam, landed on a North Vietnamese beach in a hijacked charter plane from Thailand.

He was apparently taken prisoner but the North Vietnamese didn't list him as a prisoner of war until two days before his release with other POWs in March 1973.

Keesee, who was jailed in Santa Ana, Calif., recently on charges of mailing an extortion letter in the Patterson case, will be transferred here this week, a spokesman for the U.S. attorney's office said.

Three Groups Ask Probe Of VA Hospital At Waco

FORT WORTH (AP) — One local veterans group and two national service organizations are calling for a congressional investigation of the Veterans Administration hospital in Waco.

The Tarrant County Veterans Council joined representatives of the American Legion and Disabled American Veterans in seeking a probe of alleged cases of neglect and ineffective treatment of mental patients at the facility.

Senators' Help Sought

A Fort Worth American Legion officer said he has sought support from U.S. Sens. Lloyd Bentsen and John Tower of Texas and three congressmen from this area.

A local DAV representative said the DAV's national headquarters has been documenting complaints about medical treatment of mentally ill patients. The Fort Worth Star-Tele-gram recently reported a series of violent incidents involving mentally ill veterans upon their release from the VA hospital.

The newspaper quoted Dr. Thomas V. Frank, chief of staff for the 1,100-bed facility, as saying physicians at the hospital are "not really concerned about those cases."

Frank said he believes a person does not have to remain hospitalized until he is absolutely cured of his mental illness, the newspaper reported.

It said also that VA staffers, including at least one physician, contend the hospital administration pressures doctors to release mental patients prematurely to allow bed space for incoming patients.

False Alarm Alerts Israeli Border Town

TEL AVIV (AP) — When the alarm flashed from frontier army units to police posts, every school in the ancient hilltop town of Safad closed and children were kept home.

"Terrorists in the area," the alarm signaled Friday.

Security forces conducted a thorough search and police patrolled the town. No gunmen were spotted and by noon the military command reported all was clear in Safad — the hometown of 22 school children who died during an Arab terrorist attack in the nearby village of Maalot last month.

Afflicted By Anxiety

The false alarm was typical of the anxiety afflicting Israeli parents and security officials since the massacre at Maalot and the April slaughter of 16 civilians by Arab guerrillas in the border town of Qiryat Shmonah.

"It is like the early days of the 1950s when terrorists were operating in the country and crossing from Jordan or Gaza," said an aide to retired Premier Golda Meir. "Only these days the terrorists are better trained than before, and prepared to die as suicide squads."

Since the Maalot bloodbath, Israeli security forces have killed nine terrorist infiltrators crossing from Syria and Lebanon, and captured five more alive.

Israeli schools are the main centers of anxiety. School authorities in dozens of places have hired private security guards, and enlisted parent volunteers as additional watchmen. Tel Aviv has budgeted $250,000 to erect security fences around schools.

Most Israeli schools have had guard fences and security regulations for years. But until the recent massacres, anti-terrorist measures were largely neglected.

The professionals are augmented by a newly organized force of civilian volunteers, most of them assigned to patrol the streets at night, carrying rifles or pistols.

Man Shot Fatally By Intruders

HOUSTON (AP) — Neville Eugene Richardson, 31, a restaurant cashier, was shot to death early Saturday by two men and a woman who forced their way into his apartment.

Police said a witness told them the trio demanded $100 from the victim. The shooting occurred, the witness said, when Richardson pulled a pistol and one of the men shot him once in the chest with another pistol.

Former Milk Co-Op Employee Tells Of Destroying Records

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Joe G. Murphey, a former employe of the Associated Milk Producers, Inc., has told lawyers that he destroyed some records of the AMPI office in Little Rock during the spring of 1971.

Murphey said the papers he burned related to his field activities—or to information that could have affected antitrust suits against AMPI now pending—but not to any political activities of the dairy cooperative.

Murphey's statement is part of the files of the Wright, Lindsey and Jennings law firm in Little Rock. The files were used to compile a report primarily on past AMPI political activities for the current AMPI Board of Directors.

Antitrust Case Evidence

Both the 157-page report and 1,185 pages of notes are evidence in the antitrust case brought by the federal Justice Department.

Murphey told Edward L. Wright Sr. on Dec. 1 about his role in the file destruction.

Murphey told Wright: "It was I who told Heinie (E. C. Heinger) and Peter (Colvin A. Peterson Jr.) of Watson, Ess, Marshall & Enggas, Kansas City, Mo., about my having destroyed the records."

Heinger is a Kansas City, Mo., attorney for AMPI.

In Spring Of 1971

"Some time in the spring of 1971, I can't be specific about the date, I was told 'to destroy any incriminating evidence in the files in Little Rock.' For the life of me, I can't remember whether Dave Parr, Tom Townsend or one of the secretaries told me to do this; I wish I could remember, but I don't want to say specifically under the circumstances and possibly do someone an injustice."

Both Parr and Townsend were AMPI employes in Arkansas. Parr has refused to talk with reporters since he pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court here Jan. 11 to a charge of conspiracy in connection with an illegal corporate political donation. Townsend could not be contacted for comment.

"I really didn't know what might be considered 'incriminating, but at any rate, it is my recollection that I went through the files at the old (CAMPA) Central Arkansas Milk Producers Association division of AMPI office on Fobbing Road in Little Rock and pulled out all memoranda from me to Dave about my activities in the field."

"I destroyed these papers by burning them in the incinerator in back of the office."

"I can say definitely that the papers I destroyed related exclusively to my field activities and not political contributions or money passing in any form."

"I don't recall ever having reported to Dave just what papers I destroyed or even that I had in fact burned some."

Murphey said the memoranda he destroyed were from himself to Parr and were concerned solely with his dealings with Mountain Empire Dairy-men's Association of Denver, Colo., and Western Colorado Milk Producers Association of Grand Junction, Colo., "both of which we were trying to induce to merge with AMPI."

"It is possible," he added, "I also burned memoranda on my discussions with Farmers Dairy of El Paso, Tex., but I'm sure about the other two. None of these three ever merged into AMPI."

Medical Research Bill Conferees Gain Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — An arid, retarded, and recommend whether the law should be broadened to protect human subjects in privately sponsored research.

An investigation also would be undertaken into behavior-modifying psychosurgery performed on prison inmates.

The compromise bill also provides for granting of research training awards to medical scientists in return for their pledge to repay the government in the forms of research, teaching or medical practice.

The conferees approved a report Thursday after reconciling House and Senate bills in meetings held over a six-week period. The final language hasn't been drafted.

Among other provisions, the legislation calls for creation of an 11-member commission to make a comprehensive study of the ethical, social and legal implications of medical research.

The commission, composed of experts chosen by the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, would have as a major assignment a four-month study of the nature of the necessity for research on live fetuses.

During that period, the government would be forbidden to conduct or support research on a living fetus before or after an induced abortion except to assure its survival.

The commission also would study ways of obtaining informed consent from research subjects, particularly children, prisoners and the mentally ill.

Indicted Official Not Allowed To Testify

CONROE, Tex. (AP) — Montgomery County Commissioner James H. Calfee, 40, indicted last week, has been refused permission to testify before the grand jury that returned the indictment.

Calfee was named in indictments charging him with receiving stolen property and with missing county property.

D & D members will entertain their bosses and wives and other honored guests at the event. Sponsor will be Howard A. Slack, vice president for public affairs for Atlantic Richfield Co. at Los Angeles. The His Group of Midland First Baptist Church will sing under the direction of David Campbell. Slack has worked for Atlantic Richfield since joining the North American producing division as a senior research scientist in 1965. He was promoted to major research physicist in 1966, and in 1967 he became director of seismic improvement research. He advanced to the post of assistant chief geophysicist in the exploration department and

Eddy Sector Gains Cisco, Aloka Pays

Southern Union Production Co. of Dallas filed No. 2 Shelby-Federal, and Eddy County, N.M., Cisco gas strike, 15 miles southwest of Lake Wood.

Calculated, absolute open flow was 17 million cubic feet of gas per day, producing through perforations at 7,834-7,856 feet, which had been acidized with 200 gallons.

Drilled to 7,975 feet, it is plugged back to 7,965 feet, in 4 1/2-inch casing seated at 7,970 feet.

Location is 1,900 feet from south and 2,220 feet from west lines of section 12-22a-24e, one mile northwest of a shut-in Aloka discovery, and 3 1/2 miles southeast of Cisco gas production in the Indian Basin field. The firm's No. 1 Shelby-

ARCO Pipe Line Proposes Doubling Alaskan Capacity

LOS ANGELES — ARCO Pipe Line Co. has proposed to the other participating companies in the Trans-Alaska Pipeline System that the capacity of the system be increased to 1.2 million barrels per day from the initial design capacity of 600,000 barrels per day. Completion date of the expanded capacity would depend on the availability of materials and manpower, a spokesman said. Under the terms of the proposal, ARCO Pipe Line Co., a subsidiary of Atlantic Richfield Co., would elect to take a 21 per cent interest in the expanded Trans-Alaska Pipeline System rather than its present 28.08 per cent interest, said the spokesman.

The proposal was made, the spokesman added, to provide for more economical operation of the system and to give ARCO Pipe Line Co. additional capacity for meeting estimated transportation needs of shippers. The pipeline will be a common carrier.

The ultimate design capacity of the 766-mile pipeline, extending from Prudhoe Bay to the southern Alaska port of Valdez, is 2 million barrels per day.

Basin Petroleum Forms Subsidiary

Midlanders Testify In Washington On Need For Depletion Allowance

Representatives of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association testified before the Senate Finance Committee in Washington, D.C., Thursday and warned that tampering in any way with the oil depletion allowance would constitute a serious and costly error for the country.

Charles Fraser, senior vice president of The First National Bank of Midland, and Loyd G.

Whitley, vice president of the Midland-based Adobe Oil and Gas Corp., were two of 16 witnesses presented under the auspices of the Independent Petroleum Association of America. Bill Rudder of Midland represented the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association.

Upon his return Friday, Fraser said a good representation of the committee was on hand when testimony regarding the depletion allowance began, but by the time PBPA witnesses were called, only the chairman, Sen. Russell Long, D-La., was in the room.

Sen. Dewey F. Bartlett, R-Okla., was the lead-off witness and made a strong appeal for depletion allowance in behalf of the petroleum industry. Noting that he represented the largest oil bank in the Permian Basin, Fraser said in his testimony that First National of Midland "already has taken a much more conservative approach to oil loans than we have in the past" because of possible adverse legislation.

Using a small independent as an example, Fraser said, "I estimate we would only lend $80,000 against a $110,000 request; thus his borrowing capacity has dropped by $30,000. This would, in turn, take $30,000 out of our local exploration and development effort."

Fraser said many argue that the depletion allowance "ends up in the hip pocket of the oil producer and that each oil producer gears his activities to take maximum advantage of the tax law for his personal gain."

"Based upon experience with many oil producers of all sizes the general utilization of depletion allowance has been for the repayment of bank indebtedness rather than for the purchase of certificates of deposit, race horses, yachts, etc.," Fraser said.

Fraser said the oilman traditionally stretches his bank credit to the limit and commits himself to a repayment schedule which includes not only depletion but also depreciation allowances. "Any reductions in these allowances will merely inhibit his ability to repay debt and therefore limit his availability of capital," Fraser told the committee.

In his testimony, Whitley said that Adobe Oil and Gas would have completed 4.7 fewer wells in 1973 if percentage depletion had not been available. "Since the average independent is approximately 1/12th the size of Adobe, we can surmise that their drilling would be reduced by approximately four-tenths of a well."

"On applying this to 10,000 independents throughout the United States, this would have the effect of reducing the number of wells drilled in search and production of oil by 4,000 per year," Whitley said.

Pointing out that the oil finder in the U.S. has no means to pass on additional costs, Whitley said that considering the fact that drilling and completion costs have risen from 50 to 80 per cent since mid-1973, "it is reasonable to assume that the actual reduction in the number of wells drilled could conceivably exceed the 4,000 figure and that the cumulative effect of the abolition of depletion allowance could be disastrous for the domestic producing industry."

Whitley said the time lag between now and when substitute energy sources can be developed to meet the needs of the nation have not been estimated accurately. "Surely, in the interim period, every incentive available and within reason should be employed to stimulate United States domestic production."

"Two beneficial tax incentives that have worked in the past and acknowledged as necessary by Congress are percentage depletion and write-off of intangible drilling and development costs. Any tampering with these provisions will hamper the independent oil people's efforts and will prove to be a very sad mistake," Whitley said.

TEXACO PRESENTS $2,000 CHECK — Dr. William A. Kennedy, head of the Department of Petroleum and Mining Engineering at New Mexico Institute of Mining & Technology, Socorro, N.M., accepts a $2,000 check from Texaco being presented by Charles H. Moore, assistant division engineer, Midland Division, Midland, Tex. The check from Texaco represents half of a two-year $4,000 grant to pay student salaries on research projects being carried out by the petroleum engineering department.

CLARKE AREA SUPERINTENDENT— Amoco Realigns Andrews Hobbs Producing Offices

HOUSTON — Amoco Production Co. has announced managerial changes and realignment of administrative duties for the company's Hobbs, N.M., and Andrews, Tex., production offices effective Aug. 1.

Tom C. Borland, division production manager, has named Alex Clarke Jr. of Midland as area superintendent for the consolidated operation to be known as the Andrews area.

W. A. Kimbrough was named assistant area superintendent; P. A. Carnes, area engineer, and C. H. Jackson, area administrative supervisor.

Amoco will expand its office space at 301 N. Main St., in Andrews to administer the 18-county Andrews area, Borland said. The present Andrews staff will be increased by about a dozen persons to handle the expanded area.

Amoco will relinquish its leased space in the Bel Aire shopping center in Hobbs and will move to a smaller office building elsewhere in Hobbs to accommodate area foreman O. R. Williams and his operations there.

Amoco's area office at Farmington, N.M., will not be affected. That office handles the company's oil activities in the Four Corners area.

Borland said Amoco projects an active producing and drilling program for eastern New Mexico and currently has six rigs working in the area. He said that Andrews is closer to the bulk of the activity in the 18-county area. Amoco operates an extensive secondary and tertiary oil recovery program in Andrews, Dawson and Martin counties in Texas.

Clarke began his career with Amoco in the Hastings field after receiving his degree in petroleum engineering from Texas A&M University in 1960. He advanced through a series of engineering jobs in Texas before moving to Midland in 1966.

He is active in the Society of Petroleum Engineers, API, Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, and on the executive committee of the New Mexico Oil and Gas Association. Amoco Production Co. is the second largest producer of oil in Texas, number one producer in the Permian Basin and a leading producer in New Mexico.

Oil, Gas Journal Foresees No Shortage This Summer

TULSA — U.S. drivers should have plenty of gasoline to last them the vacation period, the Oil and Gas Journal said in its June 3 issue.

In fact, said the Journal, the oil industry is entering the heavy vacation motoring season with larger gasoline inventories than last year. Fuel demand generally is expected to be about the same as a year ago. And the improved supply outlook may even permit a moderate increase in driving.

One observer, John Lichtblau of Petroleum Industry Research Foundation Inc., says a demand increase of about 2.5 per cent can be accommodated without significant gasoline shortages developing.

However, predictions of hiked gasoline supply are contingent on two vital aspects: That American motorists don't go on a driving binge and that imports of crude and products aren't restricted severely, as was the case during the wintertime Arab oil embargo. Most observers believe any reimposition of the Arab embargo unlikely, said the Journal.

Economists who are members of the supply and demand committee of the Independent Petroleum Association of America also report supply of gasoline should be adequate this summer. Furthermore, they expect 1974 gasoline demand to decline by .7 per cent and forecast only a modest summer growth.

Oil Reference Books Available

HOUSTON — Plifier Petroleum Publications of Houston has announced availability of a series of oil reference volumes, Petroleum Reviews, on West Texas counties.

The volumes were published during the years 1953-1963 from records and hearing files of the Texas Railroad Commission in Austin. Illustrations include logs of pay zones of discovery wells and subsurface structure maps of producing zones.

Due to the energy crisis, Petroleum Reviews are in demand for basic research and many West Texas areas with potential production are getting another look by the operators.

Group I of Petroleum Reviews consists of 22 books covering 1,485 fields in 38 counties of West Texas from 1930-1963. The set is available from the publisher, 6204 Stanford St., Houston.

WASHINGTON OIL— FPC Says Gas Outlook Very Bleak

By CLYDE LA MOTTE
Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent
WASHINGTON — Drastic changes are needed if the nation's gas supply situation is to improve in the decades immediately ahead.

That's the loud and clear message in a chapter of a national survey by the Federal Power Commission released late last week. Other chapters are being released over the next week or two and the full report will then be available.

The chapter the commission made public last week is a preliminary draft of projections of future domestic natural gas supplies. It is called a preliminary report because the commission itself has not given it final approval.

Technicalities aside, the report makes it evident that if the nation continues to do things as they are being done now regarding natural gas supplies, supply will fall steadily and the present shortages will be greatly intensified.

For instance, assuming no change in present conditions, the report anticipates that gas supply available for consumption in 1990 will amount to only 14.1 trillion cubic feet. Gas consumption in 1970 was 22.8 trillion cubic feet.

The report includes four forecasts for the 1970-1990 period, each based on a different set of conditions.

The most pessimistic forecast, under Case I's "do nothing" approach, is the 14.1 trillion cubic feet mentioned above.

The most optimistic forecast, Case IV, projects a 1990 supply of 44 trillion cubic feet, but the report stresses that such a happy ending to the natural gas story is highly unlikely.

The more conservative forecasts, taking the middle ground between all-out pessimism and all-out optimism, are made under Case II and Case III conditions. The report states that a Case II prediction of a 1990 supply of 25 trillion cubic feet is "reasonably assured" while a Case III projection of 31.5 trillion cubic feet is considered "obtainable."

The "reasonably assured" Case II supply of 25 trillion cubic feet would leave little room for increased use over the 1970 level of 22.8 trillion cubic feet. It should be underscored that estimates of undiscovered gas (Continued On Page 3C)

Basin Rotary Tally Shows Slight Drop

A slight decrease in active rotaries working in the Permian Basin Empire of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico was reported in Reed Drilling Equipment's weekly survey. The count for last week was 231 units.

Although the count was down 15 rigs from the 246 rotaries in the two-state area two weeks ago, it is an increase of 23 over the 198 rigs working in the area in a like week a year ago.

Railroad Commission District 8, Midland, led in the count with 101 rigs working in that area; RRC District 5-A, Lubbock, had 33; RRC District 7-C, San Angelo, had 27, and Southeast New Mexico had 62 active rotaries.

Still leading in the county-by-county tabulation, with 36 units was Eddy County, N.M.

Upsurge In Domestic Drilling Finding New Production Areas

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — There is indication a substantial increase in domestic drilling activity is successfully finding a larger number of new crude oil and natural gas producing areas.

The American Petroleum Institute has reported that wildcat exploratory drilling tests outside proven productive areas or in previously nonproductive geological horizons found 435 new sources of oil or gas production in January-March compared with 334 the same-year earlier period.

The International Association of Drilling Contractors has reported that May was the 11th consecutive month in which the number of active rotary rigs employed in drilling for oil or gas exceeded year-earlier levels. The association noted that the margin of growth was significantly larger the last eight months of the 14-month period.

"This encouraging development improves the prospects that the shortage of domestic supplies of these fuels may be alleviated to some degree in the years ahead," said Warren L. Baker, executive vice president of the contractor group.

"An average of 1,381 rotary rigs was active during the first five months of 1974, contrasted with 1,083 for the same months of 1973, and up from only 867 in 1971."

May had an average of 1,416 active rotary rigs, 34.5 per cent above the same month last year and 58.4 per cent above May, 1971.

"In contrast with a year ago, active rigs in April were up 40 per cent, March 31 per cent, February 17 per cent, and January 13 per cent," Baker said. The Institute's January-

March drilling report indicates heavy emphasis on wildcat operations for new natural gas production.

"There have been 173 new oil producing sources discovered in 1974, up 11 from the 162 in the same 1973 quarter," Baker said. "New natural gas sources have made a significant advance, rising to 263 in 1974 compared with only 162 in 1973."

The combined total of 435 new sources of production resulted from the drilling of 1,987 exploratory wells, compared with 1,805 in 1973.

"It is interesting to note that only 78.2 per cent of the exploratory tests drilled so far in 1974 failed to find either oil or natural gas production," Baker said. "This is substantially better than the industry's 10-year average of having 82 per cent of (Continued On Page 3C)

Midland Lock, Safe Co. Moves Into New Location

Midland Lock and Safe, 611 N. Big Spring St., invites old and new customers to visit its new location and see the large stock of high security locks. The new location has ample parking space and is conveniently located on the corner of North Big Spring and West Louisiana streets.

Times have changed from when you felt secure with a small lock, according to L. G. Simmons, owner of Midland Lock and Safe. Burglars have become more sophisticated in breaking and entering, but many robberies taking place could have been stopped by a more sophisticated security system, Simmons maintains.

Time works against the robber, Simmons continued. When he must figure out combinations or when noise draws attention to him, he is deterred. The robber wants to get in, get out and not be seen or heard and do it as quickly and quietly as possible. Consequently, a good enough lock where the noise factor and time factor is against him, will cause him to think more than once before he even attempts to enter.

Make life hard for burglars and life safer for you, your home or business. The many brands of high security locks carried makes it possible for the concerned people at Midland Lock and Safe to help you fight crime.

They have the experience and equipment to install the locks, taking full advantage of wood and steel to obtain maximum strength. This can be a relatively inexpensive endeavor and can be suited to your needs.

Also available to customers of Midland Lock and Safe are hardware items often needed in the home or the business. They have fireproof safes and money chests, as well as metal card files for storing important papers inside your safe.

Fight crime. With your help, the concerned people at Midland Lock and Safe can discourage burglars. Take your security needs to an old reliable lock, safe and key establishment that is named after your city, Midland Lock and Safe Company now at the new address, 611 N. Big Spring St.

A re-entry project originally drilled by Getty Oil Co. as No. 1 Wilson, and plugged by that firm in 1968 at 8,020 feet, was deepened to 10,786 feet by Southern Union and has 4 1/2-inch casing seated at 10,508 feet.

Prior to completion from the Atoka, it also tested through Strawn perforations at 9,094-9,100 feet, flowing at the maximum rate of 350,000 cubic feet per day before the section was squeezed.

Location is 2,310 feet from north and 990 feet from east lines of section 13-22s-24e, 18 miles northwest of White City.

West Sterling Gets Two Test Locations

Stoltz, Wagner & Brown of Midland will drill two prospectors in West Sterling County.

No. 1-24 Glass, an 8,000-foot test, spots 1,320 feet from north and east lines of section 24, block 32, T-5-S, T&P survey, 18 miles southwest of Sterling City and eight miles northwest of the recently opened Conger (Canyon) gas field.

No. 1-18 Hilderbrand spots 3 1/2 miles northwest of the Conger field, 1,320 feet from north and east lines of section 18, block 31, T-5-S, T&P survey, 12 miles southwest of Sterling City.

New Pay Opened In Kent Sector

Marshall R. Young Oil Co., Fort Worth, completed as a Strawn "C" discovery in the spires field of Kent County, No. 1-LeRoy Spires III, Trust 12 miles southwest of Clairmont.

Daily flowing potential was for 137 barrels of oil per day, gravity 37.3 degrees, and 29 barrels of gas.

Drilling—Sun High Bidder On 87,345 Acres

Because of improved conditions for domestic production, the supply and demand committee of the Independent Petroleum Association of America has boosted its forecast for 1974 domestic production of crude oil and condensate to an average of 9,067,000 barrels a day. This will be below 1973 average, but the committee earlier had forecast a decline of 190,000 barrels a day.

"The long lead time needed to develop hydrocarbon reserves and the limitations of drilling equipment and manpower will preclude a large, immediate increase in domestic crude oil production," the committee said. "Moreover, the uncertainties of government actions on price controls and taxes are delaying some undertakings."

Baker said the present higher levels for drilling activity can be maintained or expanded unless some of the tax, price control, and other regulatory measures now being considered by Congress are enacted.

"Rig activity during the last seven months of 1974 is likely to stay above 1,400 rotary rigs," he said. He added there is a strong chance the year's rig activity can exceed 1973 by 18 per cent.

"Given favorable conditions, the desire to drill for oil and natural gas is likely to increase further," Baker said. "Some 475 new drilling rigs are expected to be put into service by contractors during 1974, 1975 and 1976."

Trunkline Gas Advances $73 Million To Independents

HOUSTON (AP) — Trunkline Gas Co. has announced it is advancing about $73 million to independent producers for natural gas reserves from three offshore Louisiana blocks.

The announcement said commercial volumes of gas have been discovered on blocks 268 and 269 and that exploratory drilling is in progress on block 261.

The advance payment agreements were made in return for commitments to sell 60 per cent of the natural gas produced from Smith Marsh Island blocks 268, 269 and 261.

Receiving advances were Placid Oil Co., Ashland Oil Inc., Highland Resources Inc., Hamilton Brothers Oil Co., Hamilton Brothers Exploration Co., Hamilton Brothers Petroleum Corp., Kewanee Oil Co., Hunt Industries, and Hunt Petroleum Corp.

The producers paid a total bonus of $256 million for the tracts in federal lease sales in 1972 and last March. Trunkline anticipates production from the blocks by the second quarter of 1975.

Washington Oil—

resources are only guesses, so even the conservative estimates made under Case II and Case III are by no means a certainty. For example, the estimates include areas such as the U.S. Atlantic offshore and Alaska's Continental Shelf. Obviously, until some test wells are drilled to explore and develop those areas, no one knows how much gas or oil they contain, certainly not in commercially producible quantities.

What the chapter of the report does not discuss, but what also obviously will have a big impact on future domestic energy production—including natural gas and gas substitutes—is the political and economic situations in the years ahead.

Thus, current efforts to end percentage depletion immediately or, at best, phase it out over a period of three to five years obviously will slow down domestic activity. The continuing refusal of Congress to eliminate wellhead price ceilings on natural gas sold in interstate commerce is another indication that the nation won't start moving any time soon toward maximum development of the resources it does have. In a sense, Congress is taking a Case I "do nothing" stance at this point.

Rate of development of petroleum resources on the Alaskan North Slope will depend on how soon pipelines will be built, and at this stage a final decision on a natural gas pipeline system from that area to the U.S. is years away from start of construction.

What is going to be needed, the report states, even if the modest forecast of Case II (25 trillion cubic feet by 1990) is met includes successful leasing and development of prospective offshore areas and development of a commercial application of either nuclear stimulation or massive hydraulic fracturing for production of natural gas from "tight" formations. Preferably, of course, both nuclear stimulation and hydraulic fracturing would be brought into the picture.

The report mentions several alternatives to increased development of conventional supplies. These include gas from coal, from oil shale and from organic wastes. However, it is anticipated that only gas from coal is likely to enter the picture to any great extent by 1990.

Even the development of gas from coal is going to depend to a large extent on the availability of process technology, water supply, capital, the productivity of the mining industry and, perhaps most important of all, legislation to set the stage.

As it is now, with the stiff opposition to strip mining of coal, the opposition to development of Atlantic offshore

Lear Organizes Drilling Subsidiary

DALLAS — Lear Petroleum Corp. of Dallas has announced that it proposes to become actively engaged in the oil and gas drilling business with the formation of a new subsidiary, Trinity Drilling Co. Inc.

Lear has purchased four rotary drilling rigs and a rig under construction together with related equipment and vehicles from Drilling & Exploration Co. Inc. of Oklahoma City. The consideration paid was an undisclosed amount of cash and the assumption of indebtedness of the seller totaling approximately $1.4 million.

The new subsidiary plans to become actively engaged in the contract drilling business in the Southwest, primarily for other operators and to a lesser extent for the parent company.

Gulf Refining Co. Staffers Celebrate Work Anniversaries

Service anniversaries have been announced for two employees in the West Texas operations of Gulf Refining Co. J. R. Jernigan, chief engineer at the Monahans Station, observed his 40th anniversary with the company Tuesday, and M. G. Cardwell, Midland district electrician, Saturday completed 25 years with the company.

Both Jernigan and Cardwell were presented service award and an emblem.

Jernigan joined Gulf in the Shreveport, La. division, transferring to the Ranger station in February, 1960. Later that year he moved to the Crane station and was given the Monahans assignment in April, 1967.

Cardwell joined the firm in the Fort Worth division and transferred to the coastal division later in 1949. He returned to the Fort Worth division in 1950, and moved to Midland district in 1958.

Florida Gas Makes Texas Discovery

WINTER PARK, Fla. — Florida Gas Co. has announced that its wholly-owned subsidiary, Florida Gas Exploration Co., has made a gas discovery in southern Texas approximately 85 miles northeast of Corpus Christi. It is the third gas discovery announced by Florida Gas during 1974.

The well, the No. 1 Charley Jacobs, is located on a block of approximately 2,700 acres in the East Golieth area of Victoria County. Drilled to a total depth of 9,515 feet, it was completed in the Wilcox sand through perforations at 8,786-8,800 feet. On test through a 14-64-inch choke, the well flowed at a rate of 3.2 million cubic feet of gas and 51 barrels of condensate per day. Gravity of the condensate was 49.2 degrees.

The nearest significant production is about two miles northwest in the Helen Golieth Field.

Florida Gas Exploration in New Orleans is operator and, together with its three equal partners, MAPCO Inc. and subsidiaries of American Express Co. and Barber Oil Corp., owns 100 per cent of the working interest in the discovery well. Florida Gas plans additional drilling in the near future to delineate and develop the new gas reserves.

Wyoming Well Tests Entrada Gas

FORT WORTH — Brady Unit Well No. 1A, located approximately four miles northeast of the Brady Field in Sweetwater County, Wyo., has tested gas from the Jurassic Entrada formation. It was announced by Roger S. Plummer, Jr., president of Champlin Petroleum Co. The productive Entrada formation, which was unproductive in the Brady Field, brings to five the number of producing formations within the Brady (deep) unit. Other producing formations are Weber, Phosphatic, Nugget and Dakota. Perforations from 11,662 feet to 11,668 feet in the middle of the 47 foot Entrada pay interval produced gas gaged at 14 million cubic feet per day.

C&K Earnings Up In First Quarter

C&K Petroleum, Inc. reported net income of $629,000 for the first quarter of 1974, as compared with $192,000 for the first quarter of 1973, periods ending March 31.

Earnings per common share for the quarter in 1974 were 36 cents, compared with .06 cents in 1973.

Average number of shares outstanding March 31 were 2,335. The company has reported an increase of 10 per cent in oil production and 41 per cent increase in gas production over 1973.

Marchem Company May Be Acquired By Research Fuels

HOUSTON — Directors of Research Fuel Inc. have approved in principle the acquisition of Marchem Resources Inc., Frank K. Cahoon of Midland, chairman of the Houston-based energy service and marketing company, announced.

Marchem is a manufacturing operation furnishing products and services to the hydrocarbon processing industry.

A major portion of Marchem capital stock is owned by Robert A. Hansen, who is also president of Research Fuels. Three other RFI shareholders also have small equity holdings in Marchem.

"We have successfully entered into energy product manufacturing with our station equipment devices, which were developed for RFI by former Marchem personnel," said Cahoon. "From here we intend to continue looking for other manufacturing operations where we can use our particular expertise in strong market areas of the hydrocarbon industry."

According to Cahoon, Marchem would be acquired for RFI stock with consideration to be based on an independently appraised value.

'M' System Thanks R-T With Cake

The Reporter-Telegram was the grateful recipient Friday afternoon of a huge, beautifully decorated cake, measuring 240 newspaper column inches in size, presented by "M" System Food Stores.

Presentation of the delicious cake was in connection with the 50th anniversary observance of the San Angelo-based "M" System, which now has three Midland stores.

"Thanks To All Of You At The Reporter-Telegram For

Your Support During Our Golden Anniversary" was the wording on the cake, done in colorful, tasty icing substance.

The cake was made and baked at the "M" System Bakery, 3421 W. Illinois St., in Dellwood Plaza.

It was prepared on special order of Oscar Tumlinson, district supervisor for the food stores.

The first store in the "M" System chain was opened by Arch Lewis at San Angelo in June 1924. The chain now includes 17 modern supermarkets, and its own merchandise distribution center, covering a broad expanse of West Texas.

The first Midland store was opened in December 1958.

Publisher James N. Allison cut the first slice of the anniversary cake, which, after consuming a generous "sample," he declared "super delicious."

Reporter-Telegram staff members took it from there.

Boardings Set Record During May

Just as has been the case throughout 1974, airline boardings at Midland Air Terminal set a record for May.

Col. Wilson H. Banks, director of aviation, reported that total boardings for last month totaled 16,675, or 3,356 more passengers than the same month of 1973.

The total included 15,532 boardings on Continental Airlines and 1,143 for Texas International Airlines.

The increase of passengers over last year continues to mount with every month. So far this year, boardings total 65,826 which is 13,304 more passengers than the 72,524 reported for the first five months of last year.

A breakdown shows 69,932 passengers so far this year for Continental Airlines and 15,896 for Texas International.

Three College Buildings Lead Permits To Almost $3 Million Total For Week

City building permits totaled a whopping $2,967,000 last week with construction projects for Midland College leading the way.

It was the second highest weekly total of the year and brought the 1974 construction total for the Tall City to $19,640,132. At this time last year, building permits were only $7,940,000.

The college construction, including three new structures, will carry a building cost of $2,306,000. Right behind the new additions to Midland College was a permit for the construction of a new Citizens Savings & Loan Association building. Area Builders was awarded the contract and took out a permit for $310,000. Groundbreaking is scheduled for the Citizens Savings building at 10 a.m. Monday at its Whitney Street and Andrews Highway site.

Midland will also be getting a new addition to the Gibson's Discount Center at 3111 W. Cuthbert St. A permit listing the new addition of 20,000 square feet showed construction costs at $180,000.

A permit in the amount of $90,000 was issued to the McDonald's Restaurant chain for the building of a new business at 1111 Andrews Highway.

Two permits for new residential construction were issued during the week totaling $65,000 in building costs. The first went to R & R Construction for a duplex unit to be built at 2305 Fiare St. at a total of $30,000 while the second was issued to

Midland Realtor Initiates New Home Buyer Protection Plan

Midland Realtor Don Harvey announced Friday what he called "the first significant" consumer plan for homes sold in the area.

Harvey said he has chosen Palace Guard, a one-year prepaid maintenance service contract on major mechanical systems of a home, as a home buyer protection plan.

"I want to restore buyer confidence and seller credibility in the resale home market using private enterprise to solve the dilemma created by the implied warranty doctrine without governmental interference," said Harvey about his reasons for choosing the protection plan.

Harvey, a strong critic of governmental consumer programs, added, "The National Association of Home Builders has responded to the new consumer awareness, the court pressures, and the pending legislation by adopting a warranty plan for new home construction as an alternative to governmental dictum.

"I strongly believe any time the government gets involved in something it will really get fouled up," he continued. "This is one time for private industry to get in and do the job."

Harvey said Palace Guard, a subsidiary of American Homeowners Association, Inc., "was the best plan" for the Midland area because the plan was all inclusive, no pre-inspection, no deductible, no service calls to home owner, no limits of liability, and no red-tape. A toll free number puts the home owner in touch with Palace Guard directly.

He claimed consumer awareness is now in a new philosophy of "what the buyer expects in the market place."

"This philosophy is also creating an awareness of what the seller can expect in the market place," he said. "It is called caveat venditor — let the seller beware."

"In 21 states, court interpretation and legislation is now asserting on the seller and their representatives an implied warranty of that item sold. The buyer now has the right to expect that the object which he purchases should work or function in a normal fashion.

"If there is a discoverable defect within a reasonable period of time, the seller is to correct the defect or the contract under the object purchased is rescindable."

He added that Sens. Charles Percy, R-Ill., and Phillip Hart, D-Mich., along with consumer advocate Ralph Nader are "the main thrust behind this sweeping change on a national scale."

He said Hart's truth in housing bill "would change the industry overnight."

Palace Guard spokesman Gene Preuss said the service is renewable after the first year and that it's a "service contract" and not insurance. He added it would cost homeowners a flat $300 charge for homes $36,000 or under and for homes over $36,000 an additional $7 for every additional $1,000 cost would be charged.

He said the program has "been successful" in other areas where it has been initiated.

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of articles designed to make it a safer summer. Summer is a time of fun — and potential danger — for kids. The articles offer sound advice on how to avoid danger — and what to do if accidents happen.)

By DAVID HENDRIN

Your home may be a death trap for children. Accidents kill more children between the ages of 1 and 14 than any disease.

You can accident-proof your home with very little effort. During summer months pay particular attention to the pool, patio and garden.

Forbid use of portable electric appliances within 10 feet of the pool.

Be aware of the danger spots in a pool's wiring. These include filter pump motor, filter, time clock, pool cleaning equipment, electrically operated pool covers and heating equipment.

Be sure your pool area is properly fenced. Dozens of children die each year in backyard drownings.

Don't let children swim when overtired, overheated or just after eating.

Discourage horseplay in the pool and patio area.

Be sure to have the proper life preserving equipment in and around your pool.

Play it safe in barbecuing. Keep children away. Use gloves or potholders.

If your house has a raised deck, be sure that its sides are safe and youngsters cannot fall through or over them.

Do not overload decks. They can, and have, collapsed, resulting in tragic loss of lives.

Make sure that playground equipment is safe and sturdy. No rust or sharp edges allowed.

Banker Sometimes Invests $200 Million In Day For Employer

By ED DE MOCH
CHICAGO (AP) — Jim McCormick makes about $20,000 a year, but he has the authority to invest $200 million any day for his employer without anyone's permission.

McCormick, 27, is head of Continental Illinois National Bank & Trust's money market. He deals in fixed-income, short-term IOUs or other valuables, such as bonds—issued by banks, corporations and various government bodies.

On any given day, his department will buy or sell $100 million or $200 million worth of these money-market instruments for the nation's ninth largest commercial bank. The bank's entire bond department buys and sells more than $1 billion worth any day.

The same institutions that use the market as buyers also use it to sell IOUs. The market is primarily a place for them to put a large amount of cash to work for them for a short period of time. IOUs have a life span of from one day to one year, but most are for 90 days and less.

For McCormick, the money market "is the only place where the action is." He came to the bank from Miami University of Ohio four years ago.

At Miami, he obtained bachelor's and master's degrees in business administration. For a year, he worked as a trainee in the bank's bond department, then turned to specialization and the money market. Recently he was named a second vice president.

From an airy, well-lit room on the fifth floor of the huge bank building in Chicago's financial district, McCormick directs operations of a staff of about a dozen men and women. While he generally deals in many millions of dollars each day, the size does not disturb him.

Whether he deals in $100 million or $200 million "it's just more zeroes," he said.

Ma Bell Wants To Raise Pay Phone Call Rates

NEW YORK (AP) — Tourists in Louisiana may be surprised to learn the dime they deposited for a pay phone call was a nickel too much. And phone booths don't make change.

Travelers at the Dallas-Fort Worth regional airport have been known to respond angrily upon discovering a pay phone call costs a quarter.

The two areas represent the apparent extremes in a nation full of phone companies beginning to raise the prevailing 10-cent rate for local pay phone calls, a rate that has endured nearly everywhere for more than 20 years.

The first statewide 20-cent pay phone rate went into effect May 15 in North Carolina. Requests are pending in several other states.

When Ma Bell seeks an increase, so normally do the more than 1,700 independent phone companies, the largest of which is General Telephone & Electronics Corp.

A General Telephone & Electronics subsidiary, General Telephone Co. of the Southwest, has the 25-cent rate at the Dallas-Fort Worth airport and at 15 communities in the metropolitan areas of the two cities and of Houston. Texas is the only one of the 50 states where phone rates are set by municipal policy.

Hawaiian Telephone Co., another GTE subsidiary, is seeking increases to 15 or 20 cents on various of the islands.

Why do the phone companies want to do away with the dime rate?

Simply because pay phone calls "cost more to carry through than is paid," says Robert D. Lilley, president of AT&T.

AT&T subsidiaries have rate-increase requests pending in Nebraska, Iowa, Oklahoma, Utah, Minnesota and Colorado. Other Bell companies either have been turned down for rate increases by state public utility commissions or are considering submitting the requests.

South Central Bell, however, has lost to the Louisiana Public Service Commission in its fight to retire the nation's last five-cent phone call.

The commission approved a 10-cent rate in 1952 but ordered a rollback five years later, leaving the Bayou State with a rate first established 68 years ago in New York.

More Baptists, By Far!

Southern Baptists really are amazing in many ways—membership, evangelism, financial support, religious leadership, benevolent causes, mission work and many other areas...

Strength in numbers alone makes the denomination most influential.

A recent study, said to be the most comprehensive of United States church membership in the last 20 years, reveals that membership in Southern Baptist churches is by far the largest of any denomination in the Lone Star State.

In Texas, according to the study, more than 50 per cent of the population in 137 of the state's 254 counties are members of the Southern Baptist denomination.

Roman Catholics, incidentally, are the second largest denominational group in Texas. In 42 counties, the population is more than 50 per cent Roman Catholic.

It is interesting to note that Loving County is the only one listed in which no denomination has at least 25 per cent population representation.

But back to the Baptists, the First Church of Dallas and its renowned pastor, Dr. W. A. Criswell, most often are out in front in newsworthy activities and achievements.

Take Dr. Criswell's recent precedent-shattering announcement as an example. The noted clergyman said he will return "every penny" he has received in salary since becoming pastor of the 18,000-member congregation 30 years ago.

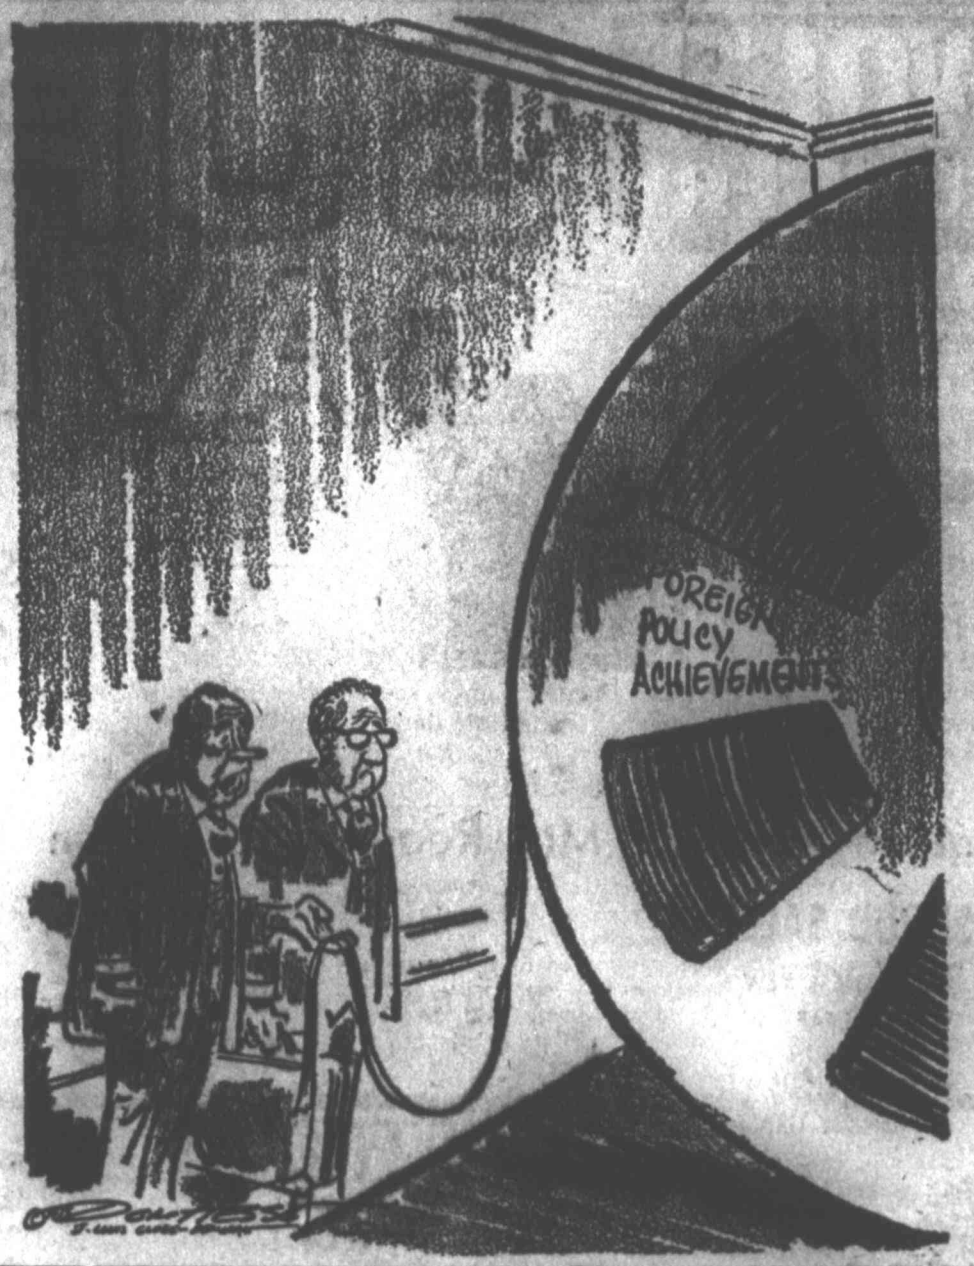

"I feel I want to give back to the church everything that it has given to me so that when I meet the Lord I can say I did all of my work freely," he said.

The Dallas church has also announced a massive, multimillion-dollar expansion program which includes a bridge building over a street, connecting two existing buildings of the church plant, which already fills four blocks of downtown Dallas.

The congregation has approved a plan to raise $1 million a year for five years, above its regular generous giving, to support and improve the existing church plant.

Other denominations may not always agree with Baptist doctrine or theology, but they admire and respect the manner in which Southern Baptists get things done.

RAY CROMLEY President's Economists Receive Failing Grade

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Nixon has sent to Congress the program his chief economic advisers have developed for attacking inflation and unemployment. It is shockingly sterile.

The nation has a major need today for rapid expansion of conventional and nuclear power plants, increased exploratory drilling for oil, increased production of equipment to mine more coal more efficiently...

High interest costs discourage the installation of energy-saving devices by that myriad of small and medium-sized industries which produce many of this nation's breakthroughs in research and new products.

Scarce, expensive money also drives to the wall, or at best makes life extremely difficult for, that multitude of small and medium-sized industries which produce many of this nation's breakthroughs in research and new products.

The added cost of high-priced money can be expected to hamper the President's $19 billion program for encouraging home building—for it will tend to drive the cost of houses out of sight, and tend to dry up mortgage funds as rapidly as the government pumps new "low interest" money into the system.

The President's Council of Economic Advisers, however, theorizes tight money will cure inflation by squeezing out of the market. As competitors for credit intensify, these advisers say, the "less credit-worthy borrowers" tend to be crowded out or become unable to pay the high interest rates.

But this assumes false some relationship between the worth of an industrial or commercial project and the ability to borrow in a tight market at disastrously high rates.

The U.S. uses 25 per cent of its energy for transportation, 18 per cent for heating and 16 per cent for process steam.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor: I see where police officers in numerous places are getting sued for vast sums by people claiming violation of their "rights" while being arrested for some crime.

Lawsuits usually pay better than other methods of robbery and the lawyer-accomplices, get more of the proceeds, so they promote it more vigorously.

And any day the legal leeches will be encouraging lawsuits by suing against winning users, claiming damages to their rights, to keep money they personally worked for, so the lawyers can get all of it.

DON OAKLEY Case Of The Missing Expletives 'Discussed'

WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Nixon's use of deleted expletives in the White House transcripts has drawn comment by spokesmen from both the spiritual and the secular worlds, from the sacred and the profane.

First was John McLaughlin, a Jesuit priest on the White House staff whom some reporters have dubbed the President's resident exeget.

"I see profanity as a form of emotional drainage," said the good father. "Use of a profanity of release." Used as an escape valve for the tremendous pressure at the top, this kind of cursing was "good, valid, sound."

Now comes a University of Wisconsin professor who says President Nixon is a "typical American" when it comes to swearing.

Reinhold A. Aman, an assistant professor of German who considers himself an expert on swearing, says he "reads the whole (expletive deleted) thing" (the transcripts) and found that the President "acted like anyone else. He has to get rid of his emotional steam. He could have kicked Pat or started a war, or he could have sworn."

Americans will be happy to know that they have as Commander in Chief a regular fellow who swears rather than kick his wife or call out the Marines.

Dry cleaning substation, office, auto repair shop, but terminal, monument sales, parking lot, beauty shop, small stores or shops, fast food service, open-air market, drive-in bank, laundromat, mobile homes sales, used car lot, convenience food market.

It would seem that very little emotion was expressed at all, by any of the participants. Rather, they cold-bloodedly discussed "options" and "scenarios." Far from signifying explosions of presidential wrath, the deleted expletives attributed to Mr. Nixon seem to have been almost neutral, all-purpose adjectives—so far as can be determined from reading the transcripts rather than hearing the actual tapes.

The conversations recorded in the Oval Office were little different from the kind that can be heard in any military barracks where a small number of stock expletives are used routinely and incessantly as a

GOP Candidates To Stay Independent Of White House

By DAVE GOLDBERG
Associated Press Writer

Six times in this second year of Watergate, voters have elected congressmen in normally Republican districts and five times they have elected Democrats. The Republicans who are trying again say this time they'll stay independent of the White House.

There would be no useful purpose in inviting him back now," says James Sparling, who invited President Nixon to campaign with him last spring in a Congressional district that Republicans normally win but which Sparling lost to Democrat Bob Traxler. Four of the five Republican losers are running again in November and so is the one winner, Rep. Robert Lagomarsino of California. None want any help from the White House and most say they'd be happier if Watergate would just go away.

But all are planning their campaigns on the assumption it won't.

"It would be helpful, yes," Sparling says when asked if he would prefer Vice President Gerald R. Ford to Nixon as President.

"I really don't know what may happen regarding Watergate, a lot could happen. I'm hopeful things will be cleared up by then," says Harry Fox, who lost to Democrat John P. Murtha in a western Pennsylvania race to fill a vacancy by the death of Republican Rep. John P. Saylor. Ford visited the district on Fox's behalf.

Here is a rundown on the other four districts:

—Michigan 5th: Democrat Richard Vander Veen defeated Republican Robert Vander Laan in a special election to fill the seat Ford vacated when he was appointed vice president. Vander Laan has decided to run for re-election to the Michigan State Senate and the Republican candidate this fall is expected to be Paul Goebel Sr., an insurance man and Kent County Commissioner.

—Ohio 1st: Willis D. Gradison, a former Cincinnati City Councilman lost to Democrat Thomas Luken for the seat left vacant when Rep. William Keating resigned to become publisher of the Cincinnati Enquirer. The district that had gone Democratic previously only in years when there were national Democratic landslide. There will be a rematch in November.

—California 13th: Lagomarsino defeated a field of seven Democrats and avoided a runoff by getting 53 per cent of the vote. But his predecessor, the late Rep. Charles Teague carried the district in 1972 with more than 70 per cent of the vote, and he will be forced to run in a district that has been reappointed to include more Democrats.

James Loeb, the top Democratic vote-getter, will be Lagomarsino's opponent in November. Loeb has tried to characterize Lagomarsino as a Republican loyalist like former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman.

California 6th: John Burton, a Democratic state Assemblyman, was elected last Tuesday by getting a bare majority of 50 per cent over the combined vote of seven rivals. Burton, whose brother Phillip represents a neighboring district, will fill the seat vacated by Republican William Maillard, who was appointed by Nixon as the ambassador to the Organization of American States.

Burton will run again in November in a reappointed district more Democratic voters. His opponent will be Thomas Caylor, a Republican who ran a distant second. The district includes part of San Francisco and Marin County, across the bay.

Tornado Damage In Arkansas May Reach $20 Million

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) Chief Dave Parkman. Damage caused by Thursday night's tornado which killed two persons here was estimated at between $10 and $20 million Saturday by Police.

The search for other possible victims of the tornado ended Saturday. Electrical power in much of the city was still out. Policeman Ralph Dye of Forrest City said police feel no more victims will be found.

Portuguese, Rebels Slated To Resume Peace Negotiations

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—The Foreign Ministry said Saturday that cease-fire talks between the Portuguese government and rebels in Portuguese Guinea will resume in London next Thursday. But the guerrillas have threatened to call the talks off.

The guerrilla threat was made by Aristides Pereira, the leader of PAIGC — the African party for the independence of Guinea-Bissau and the Cape Verde Islands. He charged Friday that a force of mercenaries was en route to the territory in ships and planned to seize Bissau, the capital, with the help of black Portuguese army units.

Pereira warned that there would be no talks if the mercenaries set up a sham independent state under their own control.

Meanwhile, the president of the Mozambique Liberation Front — FRELIMO — said today that his party had had "fruitful" talks with the Portuguese in Lusaka, Zambia. Arriving in Dar es Salaam, Tanzania, after the negotiations, Samora Machel said he believed the talks enabled the Portuguese to see FRELIMO's "political leadership capacity."

The two sides agreed in principle to meet again in Lusaka in early July in an attempt to find a formula to end the 10-year war in Mozambique.

Portugal's extreme left Saturday accused the government of fascism and oppression following the arrest of a leftist newspaper editor.

The government said Jose Luis Saldanha Sanches was arrested by military police but did not specify the charge against him.

But government sources said Sanches, a member of the leftist Portuguese Revolutionary Proletarian party, was accused of violating military law in the party organ, "Popular Struggle," by urging Portuguese troops in Africa to desert.

It was the first time a leftist has been reported arrested on a political charge since the overthrow of the old right-wing regime April 25.

Credit Temporarily OK'd For Selling Of Condominiums

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission moved Friday to temporarily permit the use of credit to sell condominiums and other forms of contract securities.

Condominiums sold in resort areas are the most popular form of the securities. Buyers ordinarily use the units for limited periods and the developer manages the property, rents out the units and pays dividends to the owners.

Investment in such activities as cattle feeding also are covered by contract securities.

The Federal Reserve Board last December proposed a rule to permit the sale of investment condominiums on a cash-only basis. Securities laws generally consider it a conflict of interest for someone who underwrites a security to also extend credit to sell it.

The SEC proposed, however, that condominiums are a special case and entitled to an exemption. It asked the Federal Reserve to delay its cash-only rule, which was to take effect June 21.

With BOB TIEUEL

From a Black Point of View:
"Let me control the headlines, and I shall not care who controls the editorials." Frederick T. Burchall—N.Y. Times.

According to Robert Hargreaves in his new book: "Superpower," a portrait of America in the 1970s, "No country on earth boasts a press as theoretically free and unfettered as the United States." Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter once pointed out that freedom of expression is the wellspring of American civilization. It has been the protector of the nation's democracy, the guardian of its liberties, the chief safeguard against the abuse of political power.

Tieuel

Indeed, reporters, columnists, editors and other newsmen who staff America's newspapers today—are privileged as a result to work in the most open society in the world. They of course grumble, like newsmen everywhere, that the real centers of decision-making are growing more and more remote, that politicians and officials recently have become more hostile to press proddings, that the people's right to know, of which they are the guardians, is being eroded by the vast machinery of modern political news-management, and that under the Nixon administration, the press has been forced to engage in a fight to maintain its basic freedoms as intense as any since the Bill of Rights was first ratified.

Liberties Intact

While there is some validity to all of these complaints, believes Hargreaves, it is still true that the fundamental liberties of the press remain, if not unmolested, at least intact, even under a president who has evinced more hostility towards the newsgatherers than any that has occupied the White House since Herbert Hoover.

He quotes Ralph Nader: "Who do they think gets cheated, diseased, crippled if not the minorities and the poor?" Nonetheless, Nader's consumer movement has been notably unsuccessful in recruiting blacks, for instance, and his Raiders, almost all of them, are products of expensive private schools and the most elite eastern universities, perhaps because they have the time and the money to fight corruption and unfair dealings in high places.

In his chapter on "Race—Still the American Dilemma," he quotes Kenneth Clark, black educator who in 1973 said: "Racial injustice is as American as apple pie. But so is the struggle against it."

Randy Crumley To Do Research Under NSF Grant

LUBBOCK — Randy Crumley of Midland is one of nine Texas Tech University students who have been selected to conduct guided research or independent study this summer under grants awarded by the National Science Foundation (NSF).

He is one of more than 1,300 top college students throughout the country participating in NSF's Undergraduate Research Participation (URP) program.

A junior electrical engineering-physics major, Crumley will do his research on the measurement of energy transfer to a plasma.

The URP projects are designed to improve college instruction by demonstrating the teaching effectiveness that results from placing major responsibility for learning upon the student. URP attempts to achieve this by supporting apprentices in scientific research.

Participants will receive stipends of $80 per week for the 12-week summer projects.

Trevor Homer Cops British Amateur

By NOEL HUGHES
MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — Trevor Homer of England held off the late charge of American Jim Gabrielsen and won the coveted British Amateur Golf Championship 2-up in the 36-hole final Saturday.

Victory came with a double bogey six for Homer at the last hole, where Gabrielsen took a horrendous seven.

Homer, a 6-foot-3 company director who also won this tourney in 1972, grabbed the lead at the first hole over Muirfield's strangely windless 6,862-yard, par-71 links.

Gabrielsen, a 33-year-old insurance broker from Atlanta, made a big effort after the final turn for home but despite pulling even at the 33rd hole, the American Walker Cup golfer could not maintain his charge.

Gabrielsen had overcome the howling winds which had battered Muirfield most of the first five days of the tourney with a superb combination of solid drives and pin-point putts. But on the calm final day, his putting let him down.

"It was hard to finish like that," said a smiling Gabrielsen, who took a horrible triple bogey at the last hole after pulling his six-iron into a big bunker.

"It's a great hole," he said. "Maybe it will give me nightmares for a few years. Trevor played a very steady game."

"It was a great match right through to the last hole," said the Briton, who also was in a sand trap there and took four to get on the green. "What a shame it ended that way."

For Homer, 30, it was his second victory over Gabrielsen. In the third round of the British Amateur at Carnoustie, Scotland in 1971, the Englishman scored a 2 and 1 triumph.

Homer did not play exceptionally well this time, but kept calm even when Gabrielsen made his big charge.

Gabrielsen started badly in the morning round when he was bunkered at the first hole for a bogey five. But most of the drama came over the last nine holes.

Gabrielsen overhit his putt to go three down with a bogey at the 28th. Then the American began a big charge.

He took the 29th with a putt from 15 feet for a par four and the 361-yard 30th, where he had a birdie three with Homer in bunker trouble.

At the short 31st, Gabrielsen's tee shot put him 12 feet from the pin. Homer was 30 feet past the cup in a tricky position. But this time, the American needed two putts and the hole was holed.

After they halved the 32nd with par fours, Gabrielsen got even for the first time in the match at the 33rd, where he hit the back of the green and got down in par four. Homer bogeyed it.

That was Gabrielsen's last gasp.

At the short 34th, Homer went one up again with a par three. Gabrielsen was too strong through the green, came back to within 15 feet from the

Lubbock Star List Growing

LUBBOCK — Lynn Swann, All-American flanker for the University of Southern California, heads a list of five more players signing their contracts for the Coaches All-America Game scheduled here June 22.

The newest additions to the all-star roster leaves only two vacancies to be filled before the squads for both the East and West are completed. Two spots are open on Coach Barry Switzer's West team and game officials said the players will be named in the next few days.

Signing in with Swann for the West team were TCU's star defensive tackle Charlie Davis and Ozell Collier, defensive back from Colorado.

Inking to play for Coach Johnny Majors' East eleven were Jim Bucknorn, defensive lineman, Pittsburgh; and Mark Gefert, linebacker, Purdue.

Swann, a three-year starter, was a consensus All-America selection in 1973 and caught 42 passes for 714 yards and six touchdowns, averaging 17 yards per grab. He set a USC career reception record with 96. He was drafted in the first round by the Pittsburgh Steelers.

A 6-0, 180-pounder, Swann played on USC's National Championship team in 1972, catching six passes for 108 yards and one touchdown in the Trojans' Rose Bowl victory over Ohio State.

Tickets are on sale at nine locations in Midland. The Midland Chamber of Commerce has obtained 5,000 tickets for the game, all located on the west side of the stadium. A percentage of the ticket sales will be allocated to the Lee High School Choir to help defray expenses to Vienna, Austria, later this summer. All tickets are priced at $7.

With the assistance of the Lee Choir Boosters, tickets will be available at Commercial Bank & Trust Co., First National Bank, Midland National Bank and Western State Bank.

Tickets will also be available at Gibson's, Skaggs-Albertson, and Walgreens. Stadium Sports Center and the Midland Chamber of Commerce also have tickets.

The Lee Choir will perform at halftime of the nationally-televised game, under the direction of Henry Sellers.

New Information Threatens To Reopen Rice Owl Probe

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
 AP Sports Writer
HOUSTON (AP) — Southwest Conference President J. Neils Thompson of The University of Texas at Austin says new information could reopen the league's investigation of Rice University's football program.

Thompson's comment came Friday after author Giles Tippetpe broke his silence on his controversial book "Saturday's Children" in which he said former Owl linebacker Rodrigo Barnes was paid $100 per week while playing at Rice.

Tippetpe's book, written after following the Rice football team through the 1971 season, led to an SWC investigation but the SWC said early this year it found no wrongdoing at Rice.

"I think we'd want to look at this (Tippetpe's) allegations and statements and I think I would ask the committee responsible for this investigation to give it further consideration," Thompson said.

"This doesn't mean necessarily that we would reopen it," Thompson said. "If there is new information however, there is nothing to prevent us from looking at it again."

Tippetpe maintained silence throughout the SWC's investigation. "I'm a writer, not a stooge for the SWC," he said. "I don't think it's my duty to expose these deeds."

"I don't really care if a college player is being paid or not. But then they got into something that is important to me. They challenged my integrity as a writer. It cost me about six weeks of my time and several thousand dollars to defend myself."

Tippetpe said he probably would testify if the SWC reopened its investigation.

After the book was published, Barnes, now with the Dallas Cowboys, filed a $250,000 libel suit. Barnes' attorneys dropped the suit Wednesday.

While Tippetpe said he may file a counter-suit, Barnes continued to deny any wrongdoing while at Rice.

"He (Tippetpe) had the opportunity since last October and hasn't proven anything," Barnes said. "I didn't receive money to play football. I'm saying he's a liar and he can't prove anything."

Tippetpe said he wasn't "real thrilled with the way this whole thing turned out."

Tippetpe said he and his attorney Lavern Harris of Kerrville spent a lot of time preparing their defense.

"We can prove everything that was said in the book," Tippetpe said. "So if anybody else wants to take us on, we're ready."

Tippetpe said he had not made a final decision concerning a counter-suit. "It might be more trouble and effort than I'd want to spend," Tippetpe said. "I'm seriously considering it just to give Mr. Barnes a little more trouble than he'd like."

Homers, Lolic Sink Angels, 5-2

DETROIT (AP) — Willie Horton and Jerry Moses belted two-run homers and Mickey Lolic hurled a seven-hitter for his seventh consecutive complete game to lead the Detroit Tigers to a 5-2 victory over the California Angels Saturday.

Horton's homer, his 14th of the season, gave the Tigers a 2-0 lead in the first inning of the nationally televised baseball game. It followed a single by Al Kaline off Frank Tanana.

California's rookie starter, 4-7, was chased in the seventh when he walked Marvin Lane with one out, gave up Moses'

Yankees Slug Minnesota, 3-1

NEW YORK (AP) — Chris Chambliss capped a three-run eighth inning with a two-run single and the New York Yankees held on for a 3-1 victory over the Minnesota Twins Saturday.

Vic Albury, 2-4, had a four-hit shutout going into the eighth inning. But the Yanks loaded the bases on Roy White's single, a sacrifice, Bobby Murcer's single and a walk to Lou Piniella before Thurman Munson lined a run-scoring single to right, chasing Albury.

Tom Burgmeier took over and, after getting Graig Nettles on a grounder that produced a forceout at the plate, Chambliss drove in what proved to be the winning run with his two-run liner to left.

Sparky Lyle replaced winner Pat Dobson, 4-8, at the start of the ninth and gave up a single to Larry Hise, a walk and a run-scoring single to Eric Soderholm before getting Steve Brye on a grounder to short for the final out.

Fumbling Giants Lose To Pirates

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Fumbling San Francisco made five errors and Doc Ellis and Bruce Kison combined for a seven-hitter, giving Pittsburgh a 5-2 victory over the Giants to snap the Pirates' five-game losing streak.

Ellis, posting his first victory since April 24, needed last-out help from Kison after the Giants loaded the bases on two walks sandwiched around Dave Kingman's single.

Doubles by Richie Zisk and Manny Sanguillen, a single by Mario Mendoza and a pair of errors put Pittsburgh on top 2-0 against Tom Bradley, 6-5, in the second inning.

Two errors by Bradley and Gene Clines' single gave the Pirates an unearned run in the fifth and they scored again in the sixth on singles by Zisk and Rennie Stennett and an RBI grounder by Sanguillen which first baseman Ed Gooden bobbled. Ed Kirkpatrick hit his first home run of the season in the ninth.

Ellis, 2-5, was nicked for a fourth-inning run on a walk, a wild pitch attempt and Gary Thomasson's double. Kison wild-pitched the Giants' final run home in the ninth.

Starnes, Bramlett In MTC Finals

CLUTCH HOMERS IN THE NINTH— Cubs Yank One Out, 9-8

Outfielder Bill Droegge
...supplies game decider

By TED BATTLES

The way things have been going for the Midland Cubs lately, it looked as though they'd just blown another ball game after Mike Ivie's awesome three-run homer to cap a four-run ninth, gave the Alexandria Aces an 8-6 lead.

But the Cubs sent 1,287 fans home happy by rallying for three runs in the ninth to pull it out on a two-run homer by Wayne Tyrone that tied it and Bill Droegge's one-out homer that gave Midland a 9-8 Texas League win at Cubs Stadium.

"Just as I hit my homer for my mother and my girl," Tyrone said. Both were in the stands watching. Wayne's towering drive hit halfway up on the light pole in left. On board at the time was Brock Davis, who had opened the decisive ninth with a single to right.

"I was just glad I could contribute," said the veteran centerfielder the Cubs recently acquired from Hawaii. Brock had two hits for the night.

Droegge's third homer came after Jose Ortiz had lined out to third baseman Uly Wilson, who instinctively grabbed the whistler in self defense.

Before the game, Alexandria manager Jackie Brandt was remarking that Droegge just didn't seem to be getting around on the ball the way he had last year, but the St. Louis red-head hit the ball hard two times Friday only to be robbed once by third baseman Wilson in the fifth.

Left-hander Budd Schultz, who came on in relief of Gary Jung in the sixth, got the win, to square his record at 5-5.

"All of a sudden I can't lose in Midland," Budd grinned after the game. Schultz won his third straight here after going three months without a win in Midland.

"I'm 4-1 since I went on relief and have an earned-run average of something like 1.50, but it's tough getting your rhythm sometimes. Like tonight, it was the first time in six days that I'd worked and there were times when I couldn't get the ball over."

Ivie's homer in the ninth carried some 300 feet over the centerfield fence. "And the thing that impressed me most was that he shattered his bat when he hit it," Schultz said.

After that starter Greg Zell gave up only three hits until relieved with two out in the eighth.

Alexandria crept back into contention when Duane Larson homered off Jung in the ninth and then Marc Rhea tripled and scored on an infield out.

After Jerry Turner's single and Ivie's double produced a run to start the sixth, Schultz relieved Jung and after giving up a run-scoring single to Scott Brown got Mike Dupree on a double play ball to end the threat, but the Aces were only one down 5-4.

Miami Defeats Harvard In College Series Play

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Big Eight Conference champion Oklahoma took advantage of a flurry of walks, errors and Pat Sullivan's single Friday night and romped to a 10-1 victory over Northern Colorado in the College World Series.

Top-rated Miami of Florida used its speed and a home run by Vaughn Flick to score a 4-1 win over Harvard in the other opening night game.

Third-rated Oklahoma, 43-6, used two Northern Colorado errors, an infield out and Sullivan's single to take a 2-0 lead in the second inning.

The Sooners broke the game open with a three-run third and a five run fourth in which four runs were walked in and a fifth scored on a passed ball.

Junior left-hander Stan Meek held Northern Colorado, 31-12, to four hits and an unearned run before leaving after seven innings. Meek ran his record to 10-1.

Miami, 49-9, ranked No. 1 with Texas in the final poll by Collegiate Baseball newspaper, took the lead in the first on a single by Orlando Gonzalez, his 56th stolen base of the season, and a single by Manny Trujillo.

A solo home run by Flick, a designated hitter, added a run in the fourth. A single by Jim Corista, a stolen base and Gonzalez' single made it 3-0 in the fifth.

Harvard, 31-10, scored its only run in the sixth on a double by Joe Mackey and Dave St. Pierre's triple. Miami came back in the last of the inning with its final run on a pair of walks, a fielder's choice and a single by Wayne Krenchick.

Donald Leads Broward— OC Second In JC Golf

LEHIGH ACRES, Fla. (AP)—Florida's Broward Community College Central came from behind to win both the individual and team titles in the National Junior College Golf Championship, leaving Odessa College of Texas in second place in both categories.

Mike Donald, 18, took the individual title with a six-under-par 282, pacing Broward to a record 72-hole team total of 1,163 Friday on Mirror Lakes Country Club's par-72, 7,100-yard course.

Broward's total bettered by five strokes the mark Miami Dade North of Florida set on the same course in 1972. It gave Broward a five-stroke team victory over Odessa, which finished at 1,167.

Mike Podolak of Odessa, who led with sub-par scores for the first three rounds, jumped to a 78 Friday and took second place in the individual competition, five strokes back of Donald at 287. Bruce Johnson of Lake County, Ill., birdied four of the last five holes to finish third at 289.

John Adams, Midland, Tex., finished out of the top 10 after contending at the end of 36 holes. Adams played for Broward.

College of Lake County, finished third in the team event at 1,178, followed by Brevard, 1,183; Valencia Junior College, Fla., 1,184; Alexander City Community College, Ala., 1,200; McLennan Junior College, Tex., 1,203 and Temple College, Tex., 1,210.

Toros Divide With Diablos

In Texas League action Friday, Victoria and El Paso split a doubleheader with Victoria taking the first game, 5-4, and the Diablos nailing the second by a lopsided 5-0 score. Shreveport edged San Antonio 10-9 in a game cut to six innings by rain.

Rain postponed the Arkansas-Amarillo contest.

In Shreveport, the Captains' Dave Lindsey came through with a ninth inning solo homer against San Antonio that gave reliever Dennis Yard his first victory of the season.

Victoria scored three runs in the bottom of the first inning to jump into the lead on the Diablos. Nardi Contreras retired the last seven batters he faced to gain his third win. League leading home run hitter Dan Briggs hit his 12th homer of the year for the Diablos.

El Paso came back in the second game to score its winning run in the top of the ninth on a triple by Oriand Ramirez and a single by Marty Friedman. Jaquatin Quintana controlled the Toros to gain his sixth win against three losses.

'Dr. Cook's Garden' Valiant Attempt, But Doesn't Make It

"Dr. Cook's Garden," which opened Friday night at Theatre Centre, is the first suspense drama there in several years — the first since "Wait Until Dark" about three seasons back.

Unfortunately, "Dr. Cook's Garden" does little to help the cause of suspense drama or, for that matter, of drama in general. It is not a very good play.

I was living in New York when "Dr. Cook's Garden" opened — and closed again in short order — in the mid-1960s, and I recall wondering vaguely what was wrong with this show that caused it to fold despite the lustre of its star performers.

Burt Ives and the up-and-coming young Kier Dullea. Talky, Slow Moving. Now I know.

Here is a play both in terminably talky and slow moving, with little action and much that is implausible. So what do you do, if you're a community theater director and cast?

You do the best you can with it, obviously, although the best simply may not be enough to raise it all the way out of its doldrums. I think Midland Community Theatre assistant director Tom Mikotowicz and his cast attempt valiantly to make the play interesting and entertaining (although I cannot agree with some of the director's methods of accomplishing this aim) but that is not enough to make the show come alive — at least, it wasn't on opening night.

It is no pleasure to find fault with a show, be assured. How much more pleasant it is to report good things than bad. But in "Dr. Cook's Garden" found little to be joyous over, even less to praise.

Hope For Later. However, one can hope that opening night lags and lapses will not mar subsequent performances.

Perhaps cast members will have learned their lines, improved their projection and, in general, polished their characterizations to the point where at least they are credible and credible, even though the play is not. By all means, go and see "Dr. Cook's Garden" for yourself and if you enjoy it, well and good. You may then call me a mean old man if you like!

I won't go into the story except to state that it concerns an idealistic young doctor, played by David Barlow, who visits his home town after a long absence and uncovers some startling secrets of his old friend and mentor, Dr. Cook, the town's only physician, played by Marvin Weiss.

Fisicky Doctor. Now, Dr. Cook is finicky about two things, the plants that grow in his garden and the people who populate "his town." While his methods of controlling the weeds in his garden are conventional, his methods of dealing with the town populace are distinctly unconventional, not to mention bizarre. And thereby hangs this rather melodramatic tale.

Supporting roles in the play are taken by Helen Weiss as the old doctor's housekeeper; Patti Lanford as his office nurse, and John Chain as his gardener.

The most natural and relaxed performer in the opening performance was Mrs. Weiss, who was entirely believable as a no-nonsense Vermontian convinced that her town is indeed uniquely blessed. Despite some rather exaggerated arm-waving, Mrs. Weiss was poised and assured in her role, and some of her bits of stage business added immeasurably to a good characterization.

Less finely-honed but nevertheless creditable were the performances of the nurse and the gardener. They can and will,

I believe, delineate their roles more sharply as the show progresses.

Because Barlow and Weiss have the greatest responsibility in the show, they also have the greatest margin for error, and the flaws in their opening night performances I found most disturbing. It was not only muffed lines and unsatisfactory projection but a kind of overall uncertainty about what their respective characterizations demanded that prevented either from being totally convincing. However, I believe both actors have the potential for creating solid characterizations out of this particular chaos.

Set Seems Right. Director Mikotowicz set of a small-town doctor's cluttered, crowded reception room and office seemed right. Background music for the production was disturbing; I thought it intruded too much on the performance, and tried a trifle too hard to tell me when I should be chilled by suspense or horrified by dialogue. I found myself resisting it heartily. The highly-stylized fight sequence of the two doctors was resistable, too, even though I can appreciate the reason for staging it in this matter.

"Dr. Cook's Garden" is scheduled for presentation Friday and Saturday nights through June 22. Contact the Theatre Centre box office, 682-2544, for seat reservations for all performances.

Bill Introduced Giving All Workers Living Cost Raises

WASHINGTON (AP) — American workers' wages would be boosted dollar for dollar with the increase in the cost of living, under a bill introduced by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield.

Mansfield said Friday his measure was not meant to be a cure-all for inflation, but rather a point of discussion "so that this most pervasive national problem can be given the attention at the highest levels that it so rightly deserves."

Under the proposal, every worker covered under the Social Security system would be eligible for automatic cost-of-living raises at least once a year.

The raises would be computed on the basis of increases in the government's Consumer Price Index. Mansfield's bill provides no method of regulating prices.

Mansfield noted that inflation rate increased at an annual rate of 14.2 per cent during the first three months of 1974.

"If the present trend continues, Americans will have to make twice what they are making today in 1980 just to keep even," he said.

Santa Fe Opera 'Ranch' Bustling Center Of Activity

SANTA FE, N.M. — The Santa Fe Opera is in the throes of final preparations for the opening of 18th annual season, now less than a month away.

The opera "ranch" a few miles north of the New Mexico capital is abuzz with activity as costumers, set and scenery builders and — certainly not least — singers, all correlate their efforts toward the July 5 gala opening which will offer a revival of one of the most popular works in the SFO repertoire, "La Boheme," by Puccini.

And this pre-season rush extends to the SFO box office, where advance sales of tickets for all performances of the five operas in this season's lineup are running well ahead of last year. Some performances already are virtually sold out.

Other Offerings

The 1974 season will offer, in addition to "Boheme," performances of Mozart's "Magic Flute," Offenbach's "The Grand Duchess of Gerolstein" and Alban Berg's "Lulu," plus three performances of a Baroque opera, "L'Ecisto," by Francesco Cavalli. The latter work, which has not had public performances since 1642, is being mounted as SFO's traditional "premiere" production. The production will be a new performing version by Raymond Leppard, who is well-known for his realizations of operas of the Baroque period.

The SFO's roster of performers for its onrushing season includes such Santa Fe favorites as Donald Gramm, Richard Stilwell, Rita Shane, Jean Kraft, Ragnar Ulfung, William Lewis, Brent Ellis, Don Garrard and Douglas Perry. New to the SFO stage this season will be a number of other artists, including young English mezzo Ann Howard, Metropolitan Opera basso Fernando Corena and English counter-tenor James Bowman.

The July 5 season-opener, "Boheme," is a revival of last year's highly-acclaimed production. Additional performances of the opera are scheduled for July 10, 13 and 20, and Aug. 3, 13, 17 and 22.

Mozart's "Magic Flute" will have its first performance July 6, and additional performances at intervals throughout the season.

The third production of the season, "The Grand Duchess of Gerolstein," will bow on July 19, with six additional performances scheduled in July and August.

Representing the 20th century in the SFO's season lineup will be Berg's "Lulu," which addresses its American premiere at the Metropolitan Opera in 1963. The opera will open July 26, with three additional performances scheduled in August.

"L'Ecisto," the Baroque opera being given its American premiere at Santa Fe this season, will have three performances in August, toward the end of the season. The cast of "L'Ecisto" will include George Shirley, Ellen Shade, Judith Forst, Don Garrard, Brent Ellis, Barrie Smith, James Atherton and James Bowman.

The complete schedule of 1974 season performances is obtainable from the Santa Fe Opera at P.O. Box 2408, Santa Fe, N.M. 87501. Mail orders of tickets for the performances may also be sent to that address.

JULY 14-20 — Southwestern U Sets Choral Music Institute

GEORGETOWN — Southwestern University is announcing its annual Choral Music Institute.

The event will take place July 14-20 in the Alma Thomas Fine Arts Center on the Southwestern University campus. Intended for singers of various ages, from those of junior high school level to those seeking college or university undergraduate or graduate credit, the institute will be under direction of the Rev. Roger Deschner, an ordained Methodist minister who serves as director of music for the First United Methodist Church at Houston. He has been dean and a frequent faculty member of the UMC Texas Conference Choir Clinic and also has directed music at many regional and national United Methodist meetings.

Clinician for the institute will be Dr. B. R. Henson, professor of music and director of choral activities in the University of Oklahoma School of Music. Prior to his appointment at OU, this Southwestern University alumnus was head of choral activities and vocal music education at Texas Christian University, Fort Worth. Henson is a former director of the chorale of the Midland-Odessa Symphony orchestra. The cost of the institute will depend on what type of academic credit, if any, the student desires. Additional information on the institute is available from the Vice President for University Relations, Southwestern University, Georgetown 78626.

Midland Youths Touring Romania

COLLEGE STATION — Numerous public tours, the Midlanders Phil M. Evans and Kevin L. Hinds are among the Singing Cadets of Texas A&M University currently on a concert tour of Romania.

The 17-member Singing Cadets organization departed in late May for the three-week "Ambassador for Friendship" tour, which will include a dozen major concerts and numerous impromptu songfests in the Eastern European country. The tour, arranged at the invitation of Romanian Ambassador to the U.S. Corneliu Bodgan, began in Bucharest. Features to the tour include a visit to the town of Brasov and its famous Black Church, as well as a trip to villages in the Transylvanian Alps and the Carpathian Mountains and a tour to the Black Sea coast. The ensemble expects to sing before Romanian President Nicolae Ceausescu.

At a recent Uvalde concert, Gov. Dolph Briscoe made the Singing Cadets "Ambassadors for Goodwill." Well known in Texas through Claws Are Functional All cats, from tabbies to tigers, have claws that hook to needle-sharp points and compress to razorlike edges on each side — perfect tools for cutting and gripping.

"Science Of Sound" Shows Scheduled Here This Week

Imagine blind people "speed bearing" recorded books — at 400 words per minute. This and other developments in the communications field will be presented by Roy Wickerham, science demonstrator for Southwestern Bell, when he meets with members of the Midland Kiwanis Club, the Village Kiwanis Club and the Midland Jaycees this week. The program, titled "The Science of Sound," traces the research by Bell System scientists in their effort to improve the telephone industry. "Wickerham will discuss a recent Bell invention that allows the blind to hear recorded books at a rate equal to what most sighted people can read," said Royce Brookmole, Southwestern Bell district manager for Midland.

"He will also demonstrate some of the principles of sound transmission, using telephone equipment as well as some of the latest inventions," Brookmole added. Brookmole said the program will also outline developments in computer speech and the recording industry. Wickerham has 15 years of technical experience and periodically visits Bell Laboratories to keep informed of technical advances.

'Edgar Allen Poe' One-Man Show Set

LUBBOCK — "Edgar Allen Poe: A Condition of Shadow," a one-man show by Jerry Rockwood which has been described as "neither a reading nor a play in the conventional sense, but an exciting kind of theater revealing character through action," will have a Lubbock presentation this week.

Rockwood, who brings 25 years of stage and tv experience to the role, is to present his unique characterization of the noted American author in a performance at 8:15 p.m. Thursday in University Center Ballroom on the Texas Tech University Campus. Tickets, priced at $2 for the general public, $1.50 for Tech faculty and $1 for Tech students, may be purchased in advance at the University Center box office or at the door before performance time.

All the material in "A Condition of Shadow" comes from Poe's writings — his stories, poems, letters, essays and even the marginal notes that provide insight into the nature of the brilliant, and often erratic, author of such works as "Tamberlane" (1827), "The Murders in the Rue Morgue" and the award-winning "The Gold Bug" (1843). Using these sources and a minimum of makeup, Rockwood seeks to create an in-depth portrait of both the man and the artist, revealing the agonizing conflicts of Poe's personality, his egomania and frustrations as well as his tortured visions and little-known humor. Rockwood holds the Barrie Theatre Award for acting and, in addition to featured and supporting roles on major tv networks, he has toured with the national company of "Teahouse of the August Moon" and performed extensively in summer stock. He also has performed at the Cleveland Playhouse, the Washington Shakespeare Festival and with the Equity Theatre, Theatre East and New Dramatists groups.

Midlander To Take Part In Research

LUBBOCK — Midlander Stephen L. Williams will participate in research on the animal life of the Adriatic islands and parts of Yugoslavia beginning July 1. Williams, a Texas Tech University graduate student, will join another Tech graduate student, two Tech scientists and a group of Yugoslavian biologists in the field and laboratory study. The study is funded by a $40,167 grant from the Smithsonian Institution and the Yugoslavian government.

Turner Graduates With Honors GALESBURG, ILL. — Andrew Turner of Midland, Tex., graduated cum laude at the 129th commencement exercises of Knox College here June 2.

PROPS FOR SHOWS — Roy Wickerham displays two of the props for his new show, "The Science of Sound." The Gallows phone was one of the earliest telephones. The special softball emits a beeping tone, which allows blind children to play the game.
