Guerrillas Kill Three Israelis

Terrorists Say Attack Reaction To Nixon Visit

TEL AVIV (AP) — Three Arab guerrillas wearing long hair and gaudy headbands to look like hippie-style foreign volunteer workers slipped across the Lebanese border today, and killed three women and wounded three men in an Israeli farming settlement, officials said.

They said an off-duty paratrooper killed two of the terrorists, and the third blew himself up with his own explosives.

In Beirut, the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine—General Command—claimed responsibility for the attack and said the raid was "our reaction to the Nixon visit to the Arab world." But it said the attack was launched from "some base within Israeli territory" and not from Lebanese soil.

Nixon traveled to Alexandria, Egypt today, and the Arab commando assault came three days before his visit to Israel. It brought the number of terrorist victims in Israel to 49, including 31 children, in the past two months.

Semi-official Lebanese sources in Beirut said Israeli border artillery pounded the south Lebanese village of Ebles Sake near the Israeli border in an apparent reprisal for the raid.

The Israeli state radio put the number of terrorists at four, but the northern commander, Maj. Gen. Raphael Eytan, said the remains of the terrorists' bodies were so badly blasted that the exact number could not definitely be confirmed.

Eytan said two of the terrorists were gunned down by armed civilian members of the kibbutz, and the others "apparently blew themselves up" with grenades or explosives before Israeli troops stormed a honey processing factory seized by the terrorists.

One of the women killed in today's raid was a volunteer from New Zealand, said residents of Shamir, who kept her (See GUERRILLAS Page 2A)

Storms Swat West Texas

Dousing rains flooded streets in places and tornado funnels flitted across several West Texas areas during still another night of wild weather.

Odessa bore the brunt of several squall lines which buffeted a large section of West Texas with rain, hail, high winds and reports of tornadoes.

The roof of the Montgomery Ward store in Winwood Mall in Odessa caved in during the storm, three mobile homes were overturned and several persons were stranded in their cars by high water.

Storms practically surrounded Midland Wednesday night but none of the violence reached the city. Most points around the Tall City reported about .20 inch of rain overnight while the official gauge at the National Weather Service at Midland Air Terminal caught .24 inch.

In other cities in the Midland area, Crane had almost two inches of rain, high winds and lightning which caused electrical interruptions for a time. Lightning also hit a tank battery south of Crane.

Rankin reported about .70 inch of rain during a noisy storm but no damage. Andrews had .77 inch of rain and some pebbled hail while Stanton and Big Lake reported only showers.

Storms dumped a half inch of rain on Robert Lee while Sterling City had .75 inch in a short downpour. Pecos had marble sized hail but only .1 inch of rain.

But most of the "action" was in Odessa where residents braced for a storm after it was reported that a tornado was sighted northwest of Kermit about 8 p.m. No damage or injuries were reported there but CONCRETE KITE — What may appear to be a giant kite is actually a 32,000-pound precast concrete section of the entrance portico covering being fitted at the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Library and Hall of Fame under construction south of Midland. The job of casting is said to be a "first" due to the curve and weight of the sections.

7,500 Flee Deadly Fumes In Oklahoma

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Of from their homes at nearby fields estimated that 5,000 to 7,500 persons were evacuated northward from a train derailment.

About 1,000 persons had been evacuated from Norman on Wednesday night. Moore, a community of 24,700, is just north of Norman, which has about 32,000 residents.

More than 125 persons, most of them law enforcement officers, firemen and other workers at the wreck, were treated at hospitals for effects of the gas, phosphorus trichloride.

Most of those affected complained of nausea, burning lungs, watering eyes and skin irritation.

The gas began seeping from tanks in one of the 35 train cars when the Santa Fe train, carrying 76,000 pounds of the chemical derailed Wednesday evening.

Effects of the gas "would be the equivalent of breathing hydrochloric acid," said Moore Asst. City Manager Zach Taylor. "It blisters the lungs, primarily, and extended exposure in high concentrations is fatal."

All 35 cars, including three engines, were thrown off the tracks.

Cleveland County Sheriff Bill Porter said the derailment was caused by a section of tracks that had been knocked out by heavy road equipment.

None of the crewmen was injured.

The fumes were able to penetrate the gas masks of several workers and they were rushed to a hospital. All were reported in stable condition.

Tinker Air Force Base was sending six special suits with self-contained breathing apparatus for the workers to use.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

DALLAS (AP) — Messenger delegates to the Southern Baptist Convention (SBC) reaffirmed today their belief in "the sanctity of human life" and adopted a resolution reflecting a middle ground between abortion on demand and the view of abortion as murder.

AUSTIN (AP) — Constitutional Convention delegates voted overwhelmingly today to submit to the voters a proposal that would allow future legislatures to make massive changes in the present state constitution if the new one is rejected.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals reversed today a lower court order which freed former Army Lt. William L. Calley Jr. on bail.

Wholesale Prices Climb

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite falling farm and food prices, widespread increases on a broad range of industrial products pushed wholesale prices up sharply again in May, the government said today.

The Labor Department reported that wholesale prices rose a seasonally adjusted 1.3 per cent last month, about the same as the rates in March and April but not as much as in the December-February period.

Unadjusted, the increase last month was 1.5 per cent.

Prices for farm products, processed foods and feeds fell 2.1 per cent in May, the third consecutive monthly decline.

Bob Boydston for insecticides. Industrial commodities were up 2.7 per cent. Consumer finished goods rose six-tenths of one per cent.

The rise in the industrial prices was described by the government as "substantial and widespread." It seems to promise for consumers a continuation of double-digit inflation for at least the next few months since higher wholesale prices usually are quickly reflected at the retail level.

However, the decline in wholesale food prices frequently is not passed on to consumers in full as middlemen seek to retain profits.

Higher prices for metals, fuels, machinery and chemicals accounted for nearly three-fourths of the rise in industrial products last month, the government said.

The decline in farm products was led by lower prices for livestock, eggs, milk, fibers and grains.

North Pecos Draws Strike

D. B. Baxter of Midland completed No. 1 Yeager, a Fusselman detrital gas-condensate discovery, in North Pecos County, nine miles southwest of Imperial.

Calculated, absolute open flow was for 884,000 cubic feet of gas per day, with gas-liquid ratio of 65,500-1. Gravity of the condensate was 29 degrees.

Production was through perforations at 5,070-5,087 feet, in 5 1/2-inch casing seated at 5,192 feet, total depth. The plugged-back depth is 5,170 feet. The pay section had been treated with 100 gallons of acid.

The strike spots 600 feet from northwest and southwest lines of section 48, block 10, H&GN survey.

WT Sectors Draw Sites For Ventures

Wildcats have been scheduled in Ector, Andrews and Runnels counties.

Cities Service Oil Co. accounted for the deepest, a 10,000-foot Ector County venture, seven miles west of Odessa. It is No. 2-Q Cowden.

Location is 1,600 feet from south and 1,900 feet from west lines of section 9, block 43, T-2-S, T&P survey, 1 1/2 mile southeast of a Pennsylvanian discovery.

Andrews Test

Tom L. Ingram of Roswell, N.M., intends to drill No. 1 Silver as a 3,500-foot wildcat in Andrews, in the shallow Fuhrman-Mancho field.

Location is 1,200 feet from north and west lines of section 12, block A-42, PSL survey, eight miles southwest of Andrews.

Runnels Try

North American Exploration Co. of Abilene plans a 3,000-foot searcher in Runnels, 12 miles east of Ballinger. It is No. 2 Brookshire.

It spots 800 feet from north and 1,800 feet from east lines of section 30, GH&H survey, abstract 1213, 1/4 mile north of Gardner production in the Hollow Creek area.

H&R Oils Inc. of Dallas will drill No. 1-1 Fowler & Holiday Unit, a 4,100-foot probe in Runnels, 1/2 mile north of the opener of the two-well H&R-Hovork (upper Capps) gas field.

Drill site is 1,850 feet from south and 2,600 feet from west lines of John H. Willis survey 514, 5 1/2 miles southeast of Ballinger.

Terry, Garza Searchers Set

Exploration has been slated for Terry and Garza counties.

J. M. Wellborn of Lubbock slated No. 1 J. E. Eddins as an 11,000-foot wildcat, probably for tests of the Fusselman, in east Terry County.

Location is 600 feet from north and west lines of section 4, AB&M survey, eight miles east of Brownfield and five miles south of the Mound Lake (Fusselman) field.

Garza Venture

Covina Oil Corp., Midland, will drill No. 1 Justice, an 8,200-foot wildcat, in Garza County.

Location is 600 feet from north and west lines of section 4, AB&M survey, eight miles east of Brownfield and five miles south of the Mound Lake (Fusselman) field.

FPC Says Shortage Of Gas To Worsen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Power Commission says several areas of the country will soon be seriously short of natural gas and the shortage may become a "severe crisis" in the next five years.

FPC Chairman John N. Naskas said Wednesday New England, Appalachia, the Great Lakes, the Northern Plains and the Southeast are among the regions which will experience major gas shortages during the coming year.

White House Concession May Speed Trial For Ehrlichman

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge apparently has decided that a White House concession on executive privilege may enable John D. Ehrlichman to face an early trial in the Ellsberg break-in case.

After two weeks of legal drama, which cast doubts on whether Ehrlichman would stand trial at all, U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell appears to have struck a last-minute agreement with President Nixon over access to White House files.

Ralph Plugs Ted Kennedy

AUSTIN (AP) — Former Sen. Ralph Yarborough made it clear today he thinks Sen. Edward Kennedy, of Massachusetts can win the Democratic nomination with or without the help of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas.

Both Kennedy and Bentsen have been considered presidential nominees possibilities and recently there has been talk in Washington of a possible Kennedy-Bentsen ticket, with the Texas as the vice-presidential candidate.

WHITE HOUSE LAWYER— Buzhardt Suffers Apparent Seizure

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House counsel J. Fred Buzhardt, one of President Nixon's closest advisers in the Watergate case, was hospitalized early today with a suspected heart seizure, a spokesman at Fairfax Hospital in suburban Virginia said.

Buzhardt, 50, was admitted to the hospital with chest pains at 12:23 a.m. Hospital spokeswoman Peggy Pond said Buzhardt was thought to be suffering from myocardial infarction, which she defined as "a clot in the heart muscle."

Cambodian Prime Minister Resigns

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Prime Minister Long Boret submitted his resignation to President Lon Nol Thursday, a source close to the president reported.

The premier has been under fire from members of his cabinet for his handling of a student demonstration last week during which the education minister and his deputy were killed. Six ministers tendered their resignations, and refused Lon Nol's request that they remain in office until September.

New Housing Bill Would Hand Reins To Cities, States

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $10-billion community development and housing bill, which shifts much of the decision-making to the cities and states, has won overwhelming approval from the House Banking Committee.

House action is anticipated by late next week. The bill acted on by the committee Wednesday would shift emphasis from federally subsidized construction of houses for the poor and home-ownership programs for lower income recipients to a new leased housing program.

Minimum rents required for poor tenants in the leased housing units would be at least 20 per cent of their income.

The current public housing program has no minimum rent provision and committee members said public housing authorities are being driven into deep debts because operating costs are soaring but many tenants pay no rent.

Porter Confirmed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today confirmed the nomination of Robert W. Porter as judge of the U.S. District Court of North Texas.

He was the recipient Wednesday of a national "Achievement" award, presented by Junior Achievement for outstanding service.

Moore maintains offices in Commercial Bank Tower in Midland.

He is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, American Society for Metals, American Society of Tool & Manufacturing Engineers, American Petroleum Institute, American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors, and Presidents Association. He is a member of the First United Methodist Church of Midland.

He was awarded a "Citizen for Service" in 1964 by the American Petroleum Institute and a "Meritorious Service Award" in 1960 by the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors. Six patents have been granted to him on oilfield tools.

Reports On Wiretaps Said Sent Directly To Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reports on wiretaps placed on government officials and newsmen went directly to President Nixon, according to a source familiar with the surveillance program.

The source told The Associated Press that FBI summaries of the material overheard on the taps were hand-carried to the White House and delivered to the President and to Henry A. Kissinger.

Some committee members said they were given documents that showed Kissinger initiated wiretaps.

Kissinger responded at a news conference in Salzburg, Austria, Tuesday that "innuendoes which now imply that new evidence contradicting my testimony (before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee) has come to light are without foundation."

The taps were begun in May 1969, and in June 1970 the FBI was ordered to deliver the summaries to H. R. Haldeman, then White House staff chief, rather than to Nixon and Kissinger, then the President's national security adviser.

The wiretaps, placed on 13 administration officials and four newsmen in an effort to discover the source of leaks of classified information, were an issue at confirmation hearings on Kissinger's nomination to be secretary of State.

He urged that committee to reopen hearings on the matter and threatened to resign if the issue is not resolved.

Within hours, the Washington Post published an FBI memorandum dated May 13, 1973, which said: "It appears that the project of placing electronic surveillance at the request of the White House had its beginning in a telephone call to Mr. J. Edgar Hoover on May 9, 1969, from Dr. Henry A. Kissinger."

But the source interviewed by The Associated Press said his knowledge of the wiretapping program seemed to agree with Kissinger's version—that Kissinger basically had a passive role, primarily naming individuals who had access to leaked material.

From then on, he said, he received only those reports Sullivan said contained "information of sufficient gravity."

In a statement issued May 22, 1973, Nixon said that at a time when the administration was engaged in sensitive foreign policy negotiations "news accounts appeared in 1969 which were obviously based on leaks—some of them extensive and detailed—by people having access to the most highly classified security materials."

Nixon said he authorized the wiretap program to try to determine the source of the leaks.

The source said it was unusual for a President to receive wiretap information on an investigation in progress.

In his May 22 statement, Nixon never mentioned personally receiving wiretap summaries, but said information obtained was "made available to senior officials responsible for national security matters..." He said targets of the investigation were determined by Hoover, Kissinger and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, who personally approved each tap.

PBRPC Hikes Pay Of Top Executive, Other Employees

Executive Director Ernie Crawford of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission received a $4,800 pay hike Wednesday, and other employees of the PBRPC are in line for 10 per cent merit pay raises on Crawford's approval, following action on the 1975 fiscal budget by PBRPC directors.

Crawford now will draw a $26,800 a year salary from the commission. His last year's salary was $20,200.

The budget calls for PBRPC revenues to hit a total of $402,635 for fiscal 1975 while total expenditures amount to a predicted $364,433. Estimated unappropriated surplus monies for the fiscal year will total $38,202.

Major business acted on by the directors included two applications from Midland and Odessa concerning the 701 Urban Planning Assistance program.

Midland urban planner Walter Ashby was on hand to outline the city's program for the next fiscal year. He told directors of the PBRPC Midland had several projects to undertake during the year including a management service study to facilitate the work activities of the city planning operation for the next three years. Ashby said his department was involved in the research for adequate planning data to assist Midland's future growth.

He told of a land use survey of housing and community development which is under way, and reminded the directors of the increasing costs of building residential structures. The urban planner told the board that his 701 application was necessary because of the need to conduct studies that might support the planning theory that multifamily units will be the answer of future building cost problems.

Application Okayed

The directors okayed Midland's 701 application after hearing how past monies received were used by the city planners here. Mention was given to the municipal garage study which is in its initial stage.

Midland's total 701 Urban Plan calls for an expenditure of $45,000 with the city's share of the costs amounting to some $15,000. Ashby said that in contrast to about $70,000 spent in 1969 for Midland's master plan, is rewriting and updating that planning instrument at a total cost of not more than

The directors also heard Odessa's Inspection Department head John Phipps outline that city's 701 Plan for the coming year and approved it on first reading. Cost figures for the Odessa plan were the same as for Midland's.

Phipps noted that Odessa interest centered on one special project dealing with mobile home owners living in both the city and county. Phipps called attention to the need for a traffic flow study within the city to effect better safety measures and money savings for the city.

The Odessa urban proposal also included sections concerning intergovernmental service, housing and community development, law enforcement and natural resource and water development.

The approval of Midland's Independent School District's Head Start program and the early screening, diagnosis and treatment programs were both given by PBRPC board members.

Royce Austin, director of the Midland Head Start program, gave details of the two programs stating that $86,000 of federal money went into the nine-month operation while local money amounted to $47,507. He noted that $5,000 was the total cost of running the medical screening for Midland four-year-olds who were under the poverty guidelines. He said the total number of these children was 140.

Both Midland and Odessa colleges received approval by the board for emergency medical service training programs on condition that the proposed plans be endorsed by the PBRPC medical advisory council. The course is designed to alleviate the shortage of trained emergency medical technicians to operate ambulances. Texas so that they might set up practice here.

Board members also have approval of a resolution calling for a Chicano counselor and Year 75 Manpower Plan for the follow-up aide to be used at the Big Spring State Hospital in the treatment of alcoholism.

Rounding out the meeting were approval of the Fiscal Year 75 Manpower Plan for the Permian Basin Region and the setting of July 17 as the date for the commission's semiannual general membership meeting. The membership gathering will be held at the Couden Club in Big Spring.

Davy Crockett Descendant Dies
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — David W. Crockett, 74, great-grandson of one of the heroes of the Alamo, died Monday. His great-grandfather, Davy Crockett, came to Texas from Tennessee and died in 1836 when a Mexican army under Gen. Santa Anna defeated Texas forces at the Battle of the Alamo.

Midland College Receives Grant For Scholarships

Midland College will receive $11,397 from the Supplementary Educational Opportunity Grant (SEOG) program of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Congressman George Mahon's office announced Wednesday.

The SEOG is a scholarship for needy students, Bill Burns of the financial aids office said. He said the program selects on need only and the student would only have to meet the college's entrance requirements to be eligible for the scholarship. Burns said the funds would enable the college to grant 25-30 students aid for one year. Interested students can contact him at the school's financial aids office.

C. C. Dakil, dean of students, said the college received $3,000 more than they did last year from the program.

Probation Urged In JP Courts

By BO BASKIN

Legislation designed to give violators of the law "a second chance" will be introduced at Texas Girls State, under way this week at Seguin, by Midlander Becky Ellis.

Miss Ellis, a Lee High School senior, will present the legislation which was drafted by Municipal Court Judge William B. Ahders. The bill proposes that the Justice of the Peace and municipal courts be given the right to grant probation for any first offense misdemeanor wherein the maximum punishment is $200 fine.

Judge Ahders explained the rationale for Miss Ellis' bill by saying that the municipal court and the JP courts were the only courts of law which could not grant probation.

"Consequently, when a young person goes into a department store and steals a 20-cent item, he commits an offense of moral turpitude which cannot be probated. The offense will create a black mark on his record which quite possibly will be a handicap later on in life," Judge Ahders said.

According to the proposed legislation, however, the offender would be assessed a fine of up to $200 and at the court's discretion, placed on probation.

The bill states that during the probationary period, the court would take advantage of the professional assistance of state agencies, professional people and local groups who have experience in furnishing programs that have proven to be of value in rehabilitating people who have had problems brought about by emotional, physical or other causes.

If the offender were to demonstrate good behavior throughout the probation period, the offense would be stricken from the record and the fine dropped.

Such a probationary right has been exercised for some time in Midland. Traffic violations can be absolved by attending traffic school classes which emphasize safety, while drunkenness can be absolved by seeking the help of a local agency designed to combat alcohol problems. Both programs are part of Judge Ahders' policy in which there is more emphasis placed upon rehabilitation than on punitive measures.

Judge Ahders, who says he got many of his probationary ideas from programs in municipal courts in Illinois and Michigan, said, "I'm not primarily interested in whether or not the offender pays a fine. My primary concern is that the person gain some sort of experience which will prevent him from committing similar and perhaps even more serious offenses later on."

As Miss Ellis put it, "It's a way of forgiving, a way of giving someone a second chance."

Jobs For Women Are Increasing In Air Force

RANDOLPH AFB, Tex. (AP)

— There is a significant increase this year in jobs for enlisted women, according to officials at the U.S. Air Force Recruiting Service headquarters here, who have announced that the Air Force has openings for 77,882 men and women for the new fiscal year starting July 1.

The fiscal year 1975 goal for enlisted women is 10,000, a 25 per cent increase over last year, and half of the new enlistees will be recruited for technical jobs such as jet engine mechanics, electricians, missile mechanics and heating systems specialists.

Air Force recruiters will be looking for 1,328 officer candidates with college degrees. There are openings for 956 men and 372 women to enter Officer Training School for Air Force Commissions.

Initial indications are that the Air Force will admit 1,500 personnel with prior military service if they meet the requirements of age and possess a skill that is in demand.

There are openings for 899 general duty nurses, an increase of about 200. The increase in opportunities for Air Force nurse duty stems from a relatively new program of using them as Nurse Practitioners, a role in which they assume more responsibility to help ease the workload of physicians.

U.N. Keeps Creating Acronyms

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Staring into his alphabet soup in the U.N. cafeteria the other day, one diner said to another, "This must be where the United Nations gets the letters for all those acronyms. It makes up for new operations."

The latest acronym to come out of the pot is "UNDOF," for the new U.N. Disengagement Observer Force being deployed in the Syria-Israeli buffer zone in the Golan Heights.

The initials in such a combination are not pronounced one after another but spoken as a single word.

Accordingly, care must be taken not to produce the wrong combination. There was some panic at an advance report, which turned out to be false, that the new operation would be the U.N. Disengagement Observer Group, or UNDOG. If there is anywhere that "dog" is a bad word, it is the Middle East.

There have been similarly strange though not quite so embarrassing U.N. acronyms. What was known as the U.N. Relief Office in Dacca, or UNROD, until the United Nations recognized Bangladesh, thereafter had to become the U.N. Relief Operation in Bangladesh, or UNROB.

One acronym has outlived the name it was created to convey. UNICEF came into use as the symbol for the U.N. Children's Emergency Fund. When the name was changed to just U.N. Children's Fund, the old initials were kept because they had become so well known around the world.

Mobil To Keep Role In Saudi, Chairman Says

NEW YORK (AP) — International oil companies will still have a role to play in Saudi Arabia despite the government's takeover of 60 per cent of the Arabian-American oil company, the chairman of Mobil Oil says.

"Mobil hopes to continue contributing to the economic development of Saudi Arabia both within Aramco and outside that company," Rawleigh Warner Jr. said following Monday's announcement that the Saudi ownership share will jump from 25 per cent to 60.

Aramco said the switch in ownership control will be retroactive to Jan. 1 this year. The announcement made no mention of the amount of compensation to be paid to the four American oil companies who had previously owned 75 per cent of the company, the world's largest producer of oil. The four are Mobil, Standard of California, Texaco and Exxon.

Warner would not go beyond the Aramco announcement, saying that details of the of the interim agreement would be discussed with Saudi Arabia in July.

In an interview just before the takeover announcement, Warner had said that changes in the relationship between the American owners and Saudi Arabia would be "pretty fundamental." He said that in the future international oil companies such as Mobil will have less control over production of foreign oil and increasingly become buyers and marketers of it.

"Yes, we will be a buyer of oil," he said. "I recognize that in the future we are not going to make as much profit per barrel of oil as we've made in the past. We're going to have to make more money out of the marketing and refining and transportation end of our business."

He said that only the international oil companies have the expertise necessary to find, produce and market oil. Because of this, these companies will continue to be active in producing countries, Warner said.

Diplomas May Be Collectors' Items

MONMOUTH, Ore. (AP) — Sixty-five Oregon College of Education graduates have been told their diplomas may be collectors' items.

Because of a typographical error, 140 "bachelor of science" degrees were printed. Seventy-five students who earned "bachelor of science" degrees and did not attend commencement exercises will receive corrected versions.

Teacher Switches To Auto Mechanic

PACIFIC PALISADES, Calif. (AP) — Laana Fishman, a 30-year-old graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles, switched her job from teaching to working in a garage as an auto mechanic.

Asked why she made the switch, she said, "Maybe it was the excitement of doing something different, of changing my life so radically. The reasons are obscure."

Mrs. Fishman learned her auto mechanic skills in the adult education program at a high school, at Santa Monica Community College and at National Technical Schools in Los Angeles.

"I enjoyed it thoroughly and decided pretty early on that I was going to become an auto mechanic," she said.

Mrs. Gagnon was commended for "diligence, dedication and shrewd detective work."

Tv Cartoons Feature Males

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Television cartoons are sexist — Olive Oyl, Popeye's girl friend and Wilma, Fred Flintstone's spouse, both play inferior roles on American television, says Emory University sociologist Richard Levinson.

Levinson studied cartoons shown on local channels and found that males outnumbered females on the shows by a ratio of 3 to 1 and "males were shown in a greater number and variety of roles."

Roles most frequently made available to the female are the positions of secretary, teacher, entertainer, or witch, tasks traditionally stereotyped as female, he said.

Men, on the other hand, he said, have role opportunities which "appear unlimited from fruit vender to king." He said males compiled a total of 85 different occupations while women came through with 19.

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren
Husband Wants Wife To Pose In The Nude

DEAR ABBY: I am approaching 40 and so is my wife. We've been married for 22 years. Like most couples our age, our sex life isn't what it used to be. My wife can take it or leave it. I'm no sex maniac, but I'm not exactly dead yet.

Last Christmas the wife gave me a Polaroid camera, and just for the heck of it, she let me take some pictures of her in the bedroom, unclothed. That's when I discovered those pictures really turned me on.

Now, all of a sudden the wife tells me she is no striptease model, and she doesn't want to pose for any more pornography. I say it's not pornography as long as we're married because I'm the only one who sees those pictures.

We are both born-again Christians. I'd like your opinion. Am I kooky or not?

AN ALCOHOLIC? That's a tough one to answer because there is no absolute definition of an alcoholic. But here's a partial checklist drawn up by The National Council on Alcoholism:

Do you drink heavily after a disappointment or a quarrel? Did you ever wake up the morning after to discover you couldn't remember part of the evening before even though you didn't pass out?

Do you try to have a few extra drinks when others will not know? Have you often failed to keep a promise to yourself about controlling or cutting down on your drinking?

If the answer is "yes" to any one of the above questions, you have a problem. And the best solution for that kind of problem begins with one telephone call — to Alcoholics Anonymous. They're in your telephone book. It's your move.

SHUTTERBUG

DEAR SHUTTER: Not kooky, just a little far out. Whatever you do behind closed doors that is mutually agreeable is all right! I'm sold. Now all you have to do is sell the wife.

DEAR ABBY: I am so upset, I don't know what to do anymore. I've called the police, military base, chamber of commerce, the base chaplain and three lawyers. As I write this I am crying and have a knot in my throat.

I've been married to a serviceman for 15 years and now he is involved with a red-headed woman who works where he works. (He got her the job.) He picks her up and drives her home, and I see him only when he comes here to change his clothes.

He has told me he doesn't love me any more and as soon as he can afford it he will officially divorce me. He's even tried to push me at me. I am so hurt I could die!

I would do away with myself, if I didn't have five kids who need me. When I complain about the way he treats me, he beats me up. I know you'll think I'm crazy, but I still love him and want to know how I can get him back.

CONFIDENTIAL TO H. IN OMAHA: I don't recommend marrying a man for his money. You may have to divorce him to get it.

Miss Jackson, Skyler Lange Married In Home Rites

Arrangements of spring flowers in pink, yellow and white were used in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young, 1700 Community Lane, for the marriage Saturday of Betty Lynne Jackson and Skyler Dale Lange.

The double ring ceremony was performed at 8 p.m. by the Rev. J. B. Stewart, associate minister at the First United Methodist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Jackson, 4514 Roosevelt St., Mrs. Grace Marshall of Brownwood and Bobby D. Lange, 205 Waverly St.

Jay Jackson, brother of the bride, ushered.

Honor attendants were Gary Lange, brother of the bridegroom, and Keety Kinston. She wore a floor-length dress in apricot color and carried a nosegay of yellow daisies.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length gown of white crepe with full lace sleeves and lace trimmed, three-tiered skirt. The veil of lace, held by a tiara, was fingertip length. She carried a bouquet of white spring flowers.

A reception in the Young home followed the ceremony.

E. W. Novak of Shreveport, La., grandfather of the bride, was among the guests from out of the city.

The couple is at home at Valencia Villa Apartments. She is a graduate of Lee High School.

Shower Honors Bride-Elect

A recent miscellaneous bridal shower in the parlor at the First Baptist Church named as guest of honor Holly Heinemann, bride-elect of Jeffery Halle.

Mrs. Lloyd Lowe and Mrs. D. A. Holland were the hostesses. Mrs. L. L. Williams and Debbie Holland were the co-hostesses.

The honoree received a gift and corsage from Mrs. Lowe and Mrs. Holland.

A special guest was Mrs. John Greene of Irving, mother of the prospective bridegroom.

Senior Student Notary Public

MANCHESTER, Ohio (AP) — Linda Copelin, an 18-year-old Manchester High School senior, has become the youngest notary public in Summit County.

"I'm really honored," Miss Copelin said, "I thought 'Wow, I'm the youngest.' I never thought I'd be in the news for anything."

She said it was not too difficult to become a notary public. First she had to study a booklet on the rules and then she went to the Akron Bar Association and took an essay test.

Mr. and Mrs. Linnon S. Barron

Couple Honored On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Linnon S. Barron were honored recently with a reception by their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Tiesman, at the home on England Drive.

The guests of honor, who were married June 7, 1924, in Edom, were observing the golden anniversary of their marriage.

Mrs. Barron is the former Ruth Cates of Edom.

The couple has resided in Midland 17 years. He has served as pastor of Valley View Baptist Church nine years. He formerly pastored churches in Van Zandt County and in Poyote.

The couple's only grandchild, Penelope Ann Tiesman, presided at the guest register. Sisters and sisters-in-law of Mrs. Barron were in the house party.

The serving table, laid with white linen, had a center arrangement of yellow carnations and baby's breath in a tall crystal compote. Appointments were in crystal and gold. Doves and gold roses decorated the white, three-tiered anniversary cake.

Guests attending from out of the city included Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Cates, Tyler; Mrs. Hoyett McCloud, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Culver and daughter, Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cates, Fort Stockton; Mr. and Mrs. Preston McWhorter; Mr. and Mrs. Randall Jackson and family, Abilene, and Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Compton of Hamlin.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Satin Shoes Face Another Color Lift

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Editor/Author

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — I had satin shoes dyed yellow to go with my dress for a recent wedding. I would like to know if there is a simple and inexpensive way I could now dye them dark brown. — CINDY.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is that I find nothing more infuriating than driving round and round in a crowded shopping center parking lot and finally spot what seems to be a vacant space and then find a motor bike right in the middle of it. Why cannot cyclists be required to park in spots too small for cars such as by buildings, flower beds, posts, etc.?

Those who do not seem to have 20 minutes to spare for exercises in the morning should do them during commercial breaks when watching television in the evening. — MRS. H.O.N.

DEAR POLLY — Mrs. C.M. wrote that she was unable to buy a new rubber gasket for her pressure cooker. Mike is also an older model but recently when I needed a new gasket my husband took the old one to the hardware store. Even though the model numbers are now changed he was able to get one to fit. — VIRGINIA.

DEAR POLLY — My answer is for Mrs. C.M. who cannot find a replacement for her pressure cooker rubber gasket. My wife had the same problem so what I did was to open a discarded tire inner tube. Measure the largest diameter of the gasket ledge on the rim of the pot with a ruler. Focus an ordinary school compass, with a red colored pen in the holder, to exactly half this distance. Draw a circle on the flattened tube. Next measure the width of the actual gasket ledge (usually about 1/4-inch) and shorten the compass stroke by the amount of this measurement. Draw the inner circle. With sharp scissors carefully cut out the gasket and you will have a rubber one good for at least another year and maybe more. — RAYMOND.

DEAR READERS — I have not done this since I do not use a pressure cooker but it sounds logical if one is very precise about measurements (including the thickness) and is sure of a GOOD TIGHT FIT. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer concerns those roller type lint removers for which one can buy refills. My sewing area has red carpet and threads and ravelings stick to it so badly I had to hand pick them off. Girls, I thought of using my roller

Goes Long Way
Hamburger treats are a wonderful way to make a little meat go a long way. Spread one tablespoon of your favorite bread stuffing between two thin hamburger patties. Pinch edges together all the way around to hold in the filling. Pan fry as usual. The stuffing seasons the meat making it go much farther, and at the same time, keeps it medium done and juicy in the center.

Luncheon Held By Newtimers Club

Bridge games and a luncheon were held Tuesday by the Midland Newtimers Club in the Elks Club.

Bridge winners were Mrs. Ed Hodges, first; Mrs. Jim Coler, second, and Ione Dorsey, third.

The club meets during the summer on the second and fourth Tuesdays. Newcomers are invited to be guests of the club twice before deciding on regular membership. Reservations may be made with Mrs. W. A. Gillett, 694-7136.

Wear Better

Straight bindings will wear better if they are cut crossways on material. If you cut bindings on the vertical grain of the cloth, the weaker warp threads are placed so they have to take the greater usage and since these threads are thin, they break down quickly.

Congress, White House Don't Appear To Be In Hurry For Judgment

By WALTER R. MEARS
(An AP News Analysis)

WASHINGTON (AP) — Neither Congress nor the White House appears to be in any rush for judgment on the impeachment of President Nixon, and each blames the other for delaying the process.

So, while a congressional committee investigates the issues, there is cloakroom discussion and speculation about the politics of the case and the timetable for action. In an election year, politics and timing are intertwined.

It is evident that a Senate impeachment trial, if it comes to that, will coincide with the fall congressional election campaign.

One White House official contended that is what Nixon's critics have wanted all along to have the Watergate issue peak while voters are deciding between Republican and Democratic candidates in the Nov. 5 elections.

The counter-argument in Congress is that the White House is stalling the impeachment proceedings by withholding evidence, and by pressing the House Judiciary Committee to summon witnesses for public testimony.

There is congressional speculation that Nixon strategists might seek to delay any Senate vote until after the elections, on the theory that, freed of election pressures, some Republicans might more easily be won to the President's defense.

A White House official denied there is any such plan, saying the President simply wants to make his case and put it to a House vote.

Such a vote is unlikely before August, and if a House majority then favored impeachment, the case would go to the Senate for a trial that might start shortly after Labor Day.

A Senate source said that on such a timetable, a verdict could be rendered during the current session of Congress, although probably not before the elections. It would take a two-thirds vote in the Senate to convict and thus oust him.

If a post-election vote might work to the President's advantage, a delay into 1975 likely would hurt his cause, since Democrats are expected to increase their Senate majority. But at this point, politicians are in uncharted territory. Impeachment is not an issue they have encountered before.

The Judiciary Committee is aiming for a July 15 windup of its inquiry, although some members think it will take longer, and such deadlines have been slipping since April 30.

While a presidential aide accused Democrats of trying to string out the process, he also said White House lawyers want a chance to call witnesses and present briefs setting forth the Nixon defense before the proceedings are ended.

Nixon asked the House panel to call "live witnesses who can place the existing evidence in perspective, and subject them to cross-examination under oath" in his latest refusal to yield subpoenaed White House material. That drew criticism from Republicans as well as Democrats.

The committee's 17 Republicans agreed unanimously that, in view of Nixon's refusal to deliver more materials, witnesses should be called to testify.

While the committee has said Nixon's refusal to supply more tapes and documents slowed its inquiry, the President contends a request from the panel doesn't automatically make something into evidence.

DA Says Some Deputies To Be Granted Immunity If Bribery Information Provided In Bonds Case

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said Wednesday that in all probability some Dallas County Sheriff's deputies may be granted immunity from prosecution if they provide bribery information.

The Department of Public Safety is investigating the bail bond irregularities in the sheriff's office, as is a court of inquiry.

Dallas County Sheriff Clarence Jones has told his deputies who have information to give it to the DPS, but it was reported some deputies are reluctant to come forward for fear their jobs would be in jeopardy.

However, a spokesman for Sheriff Jones, Charles Coleman, said the sheriff "is not urging his deputies to come forward to him. He's urging them to come forward to the DPS investigators."

"They (DPS) are not coming to the sheriff with their information and we in all likelihood will not even be aware of the avenues that the DPS and the district attorney's office are traveling," Coleman said.

One deputy who has come forward publicly is one of those suspended by Jones. V. C. Damron told WFAA-TV Wednesday he gathered information in undercover work in the bail bond section and turned a report over to the current chief of that section, Capt. Rosemary Allen, in April.

Capt. Allen has denied seeing any such report but did say Damron told her he had proof of bail bond irregularities, such as bribes and forgeries of documents, and that he named names.

Whitley Sessions, the special prosecutor for the court of inquiry looking into the bail bond practices, said he believes there was such a report and that Damron wrote it.

The court is in recess until June 21 but could reconvene earlier if any deputy decides to testify.

Damron said he would be willing to testify and take a lie detector test to back up what he has told the television sta-

Baylor, A&M To Head Up New VA Medical School Program

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M and the Baylor College of Medicine have a new feather in their caps today after the Veterans Administration chose them to head up a new medical school program.

The two universities and three VA hospitals — in Waco, Temple and Marlin — will share in the $9.6 million program.

The money will be used to educate doctors and personnel in health related fields, but not for construction.

Another feature is that students will complete their medical training in six years instead of the customary eight.

This is to be accomplished by students, studying two years of pre-clinical medicine at A&M at the start of what would be their junior year, and then spending two years in clinical study at the three veterans hospitals mentioned.

The Baylor School of Medicine is expected to give A&M guidance and expertise.

The Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System selected A&M to apply to VA for the new program under the Health Manpower Training Act of 1972.

The grant hinges on assurances from accrediting agencies that the program is acceptable to them, an A&M spokesman said.

VA Administrator Donald Johnson said $2.4 million will be available the first year, and the A&M spokesman said the program should start next fall.

The $9.6 million will be spread over seven years and used to provide faculty, staff and equipment.

Colleges in South Carolina, Ohio, Tennessee and West Virginia received similar grants from VA.

Jeweler Charged In Sale Of Gems Stolen In Dallas

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal grand jury has indicted a Chicago jeweler on charges of illegally selling about $80,000 in gems stolen last February in Dallas.

Adolph Lewin, president of the Universal Gem and Jewelry Co., was named Wednesday in a three-count indictment handed down in U.S. district court.

The indictment accuses Lewin of obtaining jewels worth $75,000 that were stolen from a jewelry salesman's hotel room in Dallas. He also allegedly acquired a $3,500 watch stolen at the same time from the hotel room of entertainer Liberace.

The indictment charges Lewin, 56, who gained possession of the gems in April, with operating his firm "for the sole purpose of engaging in an illegal racketeering activity."

Government lawyers requested a restraining order to prevent Lewin from selling company assets until the charges are resolved.

Zionist Leader Dies In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Nathaniel S. Rothenberg, 61, a Zionist leader who negotiated the first $15-million loan for Israel from U.S. banks, died Tuesday.

He was counsel for B'Nai Zion, the American Fraternal Zionist organization which he headed from 1956 through 1969.

What To Do If Breathing Should Stop

CRITIC'S NOTE: This is the first in a 20-part series designed to make it a safe summer. Summer is a time of fun—and potential danger—for kids. The articles offer sound advice on how to avoid danger—and what to do if accidents happen.

By DAVID HENDRIN
NEA Science Editor

If a child stops breathing, and you are nearby, here is what to do: (And do it immediately. Do not delay even to phone for help, loosen clothes, remove wet clothes or move the child to another location. The most important thing is to get air into the child's lungs.)

1. Turn child on his back.
2. Quickly remove any foreign matter from the mouth by turning head to side and using your fingers.
3. Put one of your hands under the child's neck and the other under his chin. Pull chin upward and tilt head back to assure open air passages to the lungs.
4. Place your mouth tightly over the child's mouth and nose. In the case of an older child or adult, put your mouth tightly over the victim's mouth and pinch his nostrils shut.

5. Breathe into the child's mouth and nose until you see his chest rise.

6. Remove your mouth and listen for the sound of returning air. If you don't hear this, recheck the victim's chin and head position. If you still don't get an air exchange turn the child on his side and slap him on the back between the shoulder blades to dislodge any foreign matter that may be in the throat. Clean out mouth again.

7. Repeat the breathing. For a small child take relatively short breaths and repeat about 20 times per minute. For an adult breathe vigorously about 12 times each minute.

8. Continue mouth-to-mouth breathing until: The child begins breathing on his own, OR for at least four hours, OR until patient is pronounced dead by a doctor.

Writers Complete First Draft Of New State Constitution

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Constitutional Convention delegates concentrated on grammar today.

The legislator-delegates finished the first draft of a new Texas constitution Wednesday, finally approving 117-45 a judiciary article which they had rejected twice previously.

With that done, the schedule called for work to begin on recommendations by the Style and Drafting Committee to change some wording in the proposed constitution. These changes are not supposed to alter the meaning of the language which has been adopted.

The committee has prepared polished versions of the articles on voter qualifications and elections, methods of amending the constitution and the bill of rights.

Prominent in the judiciary article which was adopted Wednesday was a little more security for county judges and the limited right of prosecutors to appeal rulings in criminal cases.

The compromise article says the legislature "may"—rather than "shall"—create circuit courts (today's county courts at law).

Several rural, West Texas county judges lobbied successfully for defeat of the first version because they feared it eventually would reduce their power to try contested cases and would give that power to the new circuit courts.

Under the new language, however, the legislature can still do what the county judges feared—take away some of their jurisdiction.

The judiciary article requires circuit court judges to be lawyers. Only 70 of the 254 county judges are lawyers, and those 70 would have the option of becoming circuit court judges or continuing as presiding officer of the county commissioners court, which takes up an estimated 90 per cent of their time now.

Under the compromise, the state could appeal a ruling by a trial court that a criminal law is unconstitutional. It also could appeal decisions by a court of appeals in a criminal case, but the supreme court could refuse to consider the case.

Another provision allows the Texas Supreme Court, which will be merged with the Court of Criminal Appeals, to divide itself to hear criminal cases. At least five judges would have to hear each case.

Man Wins Shot At U.S. House Seat With $3,100, Used Car

HUMBOLDT, S.D. (AP) — In this era of costly political campaigns, Larry Pressler has managed to win his first step toward the U.S. House with $3,100 and a second-hand car.

A Rhodes scholar and son of a small-time farmer, Pressler netted 51 per cent of the vote in a three-way Republican runoff last week.

He'll meet two-term incumbent Democrat Frank E. Denholm, one of the state's two representatives, in the November general election.

"I have no campaign staff at all, nor any prospect of getting any," the slim, 32-year-old Pressler said in an interview. "I don't even have any campaign headquarters, except my parents' living room." They farm 160 acres just south of here.

He visited close to 100 towns during his five weeks of campaigning across the eastern third of the state, putting 4,000 miles on the used car he picked up for $700 last spring.

Pressler, who was graduated from Harvard Law School in 1971 after studying at Oxford University in England, quit a $25,000-a-year job with the State Department in Washington, D.C., to make his congressional bid.

"I got fed up with the Washington bureaucracy," he said. "I'm too independent a spirit." Records show that most of the $3,100 Pressler spent on the primary campaign went for meals, motels and gasoline. Half the money was his own, half contributions from friends.

He says congressional races cost as much as $250,000 these days, although in the Midwest they're generally in the $60,000 to $100,000 range. He said he'd like to have $20,000 to $30,000 for his fall battle with Denholm.

But even that might be a problem. He said he has only about $4,000 in savings and he's not sure the state Republican party is fully behind him because he said he would vote for impeachment of President Nixon. "That's because it's the only way he can exonerate himself," he explained.

Also, there's the fact that he was a Democrat as recently as 1968, changed to an independent in 1971 and then to a Republican only a few days before filing his nominating petitions.

But Pressler says he'll not apologize for his political convictions at an earlier age and is proud to be a Republican now. He stressed congressional reform and tax changes to benefit the wage-earner in the primary.

There's no doubt of Pressler's enthusiasm. The morning after the June 4 primary election, he was shaking hands with workers at a Sioux Falls meat-packing plant. At 5:15 a.m.

ROTC Cadet Dies Of Brain Damage

LAWTON, Okla. (AP) — A high school student from Dallas, Tex., has died from brain damage suffered June 3 when he almost drowned, Army officials reported Wednesday.

Officials at Ft. Sill said James Pitts was pulled unconscious from Lake Elmer Thomas. He was swimming with other ROTC cadets attending a weeklong training session at Ft. Sill.

Prolonged lack of oxygen to the brain was cited as the cause of death by military authorities.

GRANDDAUGHTER OF ILLITERATE SLAVE— Woman Keeps Promise To Graduate—At Age 72

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — The granddaughter of an illiterate slave will keep a promise to her grandmother years ago when she graduates Friday from Fresno City College at 72. "It's always been my dream," said Cora Lee Johnson. "I always wanted to go to school because my grandmother, she was a slave and didn't get to go."

So Mrs. Johnson says she promised her grandmother that she would get as much education as she possibly could. But the dream and the promise had to wait while the native of Hattiesburg, Miss., raised nine children, five of whom earned college degrees. Picking up in 1972 where she left off decades ago could have been a problem, but Mrs. Johnson says it didn't take her long to catch on again—"Even though I didn't go to school, I was always studying."

She says that at her age, education is aimed not at a better job but at personal fulfillment.

Armed with her two-year degree in sociology from Fresno City College, Mrs. Johnson says she now plans to complete work on a bachelor's degree at Fresno State University.

"I like dealing with people. I have always had an incentive to learn," she says. "I've always been curious about philosophical questions."

Of her fellow students, most young enough to be her grandchildren, she said, "They are just wonderful, much better than people my age. They have life in the right perspective. They see a person as a person."

Mrs. Johnson, who calls her black skin a "badge of distinction," says racial issues have changed since she last attended school.

"In my day you were white and I was black. There was a difference. That's not so today. We should be the best we can be—whether black or white."

How do her children take the idea of their mother going to college?

"They think I'm bullheaded, but they know I've always wanted to go," she said. "I think they're all proud of me."

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Former Minneapolis policeman Ward Canfield, who was shot and run down in the street by criminals 17 years ago, has pinned his old badge No. 442 on his son.

Gregory Canfield, 23, who was graduated from the community services officer program recently, was only six when his father was disabled. The elder Canfield had 49 operations, including removal of a knee cap and amputation of a leg, and has spent more than two years in hospitals.

Nevertheless, Gregory Canfield said he has wanted to be a policeman as long as he can remember.

Israel, Worried Over U.S., Arab Relations, To Welcome President

By MARCUS ELIASON
(An AP News Analyst)

JERUSALEM (AP) — The Israelis will greet President Nixon next week as one of their best friends, but they are apprehensive about the effect on them of the new Arab-American rapprochement.

Henry A. Kissinger's adroit diplomacy has not only disengaged the warring Middle East armies—it has revolutionized America's standing in the Arab world.

The grass-roots fear in Israel is that the Jewish nation will have to pay for this new standing in the form of territorial and diplomatic concessions to the Arabs.

"Why else does Egypt suddenly love Nixon?" one Israeli argued. "Because it knows that only Nixon can squeeze concessions out of us."

A senior Israeli official, sounding more reserved, said the new friendship between the United States and the Arabs "might cause difficulties for us, but in the final summary it is a positive development."

"I'd rather have America giving the Arabs military aid than the Soviets," he added.

Relations between the U.S. and Israeli governments have blossomed anew since Nixon took office. But now "a new chapter has begun," the official said, "and it is not yet clear where we are going."

Differences may arise, he continued, especially over Washington's reported wish to have Israel negotiate directly with Palestinian leaders. The Israeli government refuses to deal with those it refers to as "terrorists."

"But we have a vital interest in continuing relations with the U.S. government," he added. "For us, President Nixon's visit is an outstanding event."

The government is readying a mammoth welcome for Nixon, the "first U.S. president to visit us in 2,000 years," one cabinet official said jokingly.

Officials are showering the local newspapers with glowing summaries of U.S.-Israeli relations during Nixon's administration. Bright lights are being strung along the route the President will take from the airport to Jerusalem.

School authorities promise a large turnout of flag-waving children. Police say that despite the massive security net around the President, "We have made sure the crowds will be able to actually see him."

Thieves Make Off With Her Plants

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Joanna Williams, 78, didn't know the identity of the pretty green plants she so carefully tended. But police say they bet the person who stole them did.

"I was just waiting for them to bloom to find out what they were when someone stole all of my plants," Mrs. Williams said Wednesday after learning she had been a marijuana farmer.

Mrs. Williams said the plants were left behind by a young tenant who moved.

Hitler, Lenin Documents Fail To Sell At Auction

NEW YORK (AP) — A deuce signal by Adolf Hitler making him absolute ruler of Germany and a Lenin letter denouncing anti-Semitism failed to find buyers at an autograph auction.

The two documents were part of the collection of Harry J. Sonneborn, founder and past president of McDonald's hamburger restaurant chain. The almost 500-piece collection brought $314,450.

High price for the Sotheby Parke-Bernet auction was $12,000 for a signed first edition of George Washington's farewell address, announcing his retirement from public life in 1796.

The Hitler decree was expected to bring at least $15,000 and the Lenin letter, at least $10,000. Bidders on each failed to reach the reserve price, a gallery spokesman said.

Senators Sponsor Resolution Praising Kissinger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirty-two senators are co-sponsoring a Senate resolution praising Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger as a patriotic American "whose integrity and veracity are above reproach."

The bipartisan group includes four members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which Kissinger has asked to determine whether he lied last September about his role in national security wiretapping.

Kissinger said this week that he will resign if attacks on his integrity are not cleared up.

"I certainly hope he doesn't resign," Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., said today.

Sparkman, a senior member of the committee, was one of the initial co-signers of a handwritten resolution of confidence in Kissinger presented to the Senate Wednesday by Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala.

Kissinger told the committee last September his role in the wiretapping of government officials and newsmen was limited to identifying persons with access to information of the type leaked.

However, news reports have told of a larger Kissinger role in the wiretapping.

Also Wednesday, a former Kissinger aide filed suit against him, Nixon and other officials, accusing them of ordering illegal wiretaps on his telephone.

The suit filed by Anthony Lake alleges top members of the administration ordered installation of "electronic devices and surveillance equipment" on his telephone after he resigned from the National Security Council staff in 1970.

The civil suit is similar to one filed by Morton Halperin, also a former member of Kissinger's staff who says his phone was tapped.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Foreign Relations Committee, beginning the review requested by Kissinger, sent a letter to Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe asking for documents relating to the wiretaps.

West Point Graduate Lets Grades Slip To Claim 'Class Goat' Title, Win $827

OTTERBEIN, Ind. (AP) — An Army cadet who graduated last in his class at the U.S. Military Academy says he let his grades slide on purpose to claim the title of class "Goat" and win $827.

"I figured you might as well be known for graduating at the bottom as just be somebody else," said David L. Burget, now a second lieutenant who plans to make the Army his career.

Burget, 22, finished with the lowest grade index of the 826 cadets graduating at West Point last week, with just slightly over a D-average.

The class goat traditionally receives one dollar from each cadet above him, and Burget says he will use the $827 to finance a vacation to Pao Pao, in the South Pacific.

Burget, of Otterbein, was appointed to the academy in 1970. He said it occurred to him about two years ago that he might be near the tail end of his class.

"Two colonels in one department really chewed me out because I was getting low grades and they took it as a personal affront. If I had admitted that I was dropping my grades I wouldn't have graduated," he said.

He said he was second from the bottom when the first semester began this year, but shortly after grabbed last place and managed to keep it through the second semester despite a few close calls.

He said he even had to let his grades in his best subject, physics, dip during the last two weeks of his final semester "so I wouldn't ruin my average."

"I didn't do it to try to degrade the academy. It was just a challenge to me to do it and that's why I did it."

Was he aware of any class goat who later became a general? "Yeh, one, George Custer."

$3.3 Billion NASA Funds Bill Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration will have $3.3 billion to spend during the fiscal year beginning July 1 as a result of the House's authorization.

The House passed a compromise bill Wednesday which had been approved by the Senate May 30. The bill will be sent to the White House.

NASA had requested $19 million more than was included in the final bill. The space flight operations program was cut by $10 million although it did receive $13.3 million.

Other major items include $286 million for lunar and planetary exploration, $250 million for tracking and data acquisition, and $905 million for the space shuttle.

The U.S.-Soviet Apollo-Soyuz test program was reported to be going so well that funds for it could be cut by $5 million.

The House-Senate conference committee that drafted the compromise bill recommended a similar reduction in funds for development, test and mission operations. The committee said supporting activities at the Mississippi Test Facility should not be affected by the reduction.

The bill approved the full requests for tracking and data acquisition and the lunar and planetary exploration program.

Since the bill passed Wednesday sets NASA maximum expenditures, later appropriations legislation will set actual expenditures.

Smalltimers Work To Squeeze Out Every Drop Of Oil

By MIKE COCHRAN
ALBANY, Tex. (AP) — Across the windswept ranchlands of West Texas and in oil patches around the country, ancient and discarded equipment being jury-rigged to squeeze another pint of oil from the ground in these days of oil shortages.

These are the stripper well operations performing on a shoestring the jobs that major oil companies hire thousands to do.

Usually working seven days a week, they may reap less than a barrel of crude oil per well a day.

Not Smalltime
They appear at first glance to be "smalltime." But stripper wells produced 412 million barrels of oil last year, or 12.6 percent of domestic output.

"In the wintertime, when my son is in school, my wife runs the machines and I do the breaking out and other stuff," says Carl Schkade, typical of this hardy breed of oil operators.

"The majors couldn't operate anything like this . . . Stripping is pretty much a family deal."

Schkade, 44, his wife, Marilyn, and their son, 17, are in effect, an oil company. The Schkades and others like them are their own drillers, pipefitters, haulers, riggers, welders and bookkeepers frequently nursing back to life abandoned wells which the major companies have plugged as unprofitable.

A stripper is one that pumps 10 barrels or less of oil per day. The energy crunch and the escalating price of oil have made them more attractive than ever to the small timers.

Under federal regulations, wells shut down prior to 1971 and reopened within the last few months qualify as "new oil," which sells for about $10 a barrel.

Compared with the old price of $3 to $4 a barrel, the new price made stripper wells profitable overnight provided operators didn't have to drill too deep to restart the flow.

Carl Schkade owns an interest in some 80 such wells of which more than 50 are in the field he was working one sultry, windy afternoon recently.

These 50-plus wells, once forsaken, pump an average of three-quarters of a barrel per well, he said.

That's roughly a gross of $450 daily.

Mrs. Schkade, besides keeping books, often works side-by-side with her husband and usually rides herd alone on four family-owned wells at nearby Baird.

She also finds time to coach a softball team, teach a Lutheran Sunday School class and look after the four children: David, valedictorian of his graduating class; Carolyn, 20, bound for The University of Texas; Karen, 11; and James, 8.

Pulling Pipe
This day, Schkade, pronounced "Scottie," and David were pulling pipe with the reluctant aid of a 1946 truck and a pipe-pulling unit running on a 1934 flathead Ford motor.

The grimy, grunting relic, last licensed in 1966, is fairly typical of the makeshift equipment in stripper operations. There are patches on top of patches on some equipment.

"I'd trade this whole mess for one well that would make the same amount of oil," Schkade said. "I'd get four times as much profit with considerably fewer headaches."

But, he said, "with the price we're getting for stripper oil now, I'm making a little money. Before the price increase, I was making wages—now I'm making a little extra . . ."

"The reason we got our own pulling unit and everything out here is because if you don't do it yourself, you just don't make a profit."

"Sometimes I get Sunday evenings or Saturday evenings off, but I got to come out here at least twice a day every day," he said.

Schkade flashes anger when he discusses those in Congress and elsewhere who would cut the price of oil or eliminate the 22 per cent depletion tax allowance.

"I don't think we're getting too doggone much considering the expense and labor for what we're doing," he asserted. "I'll bring anybody out here and let him work for one week and see if he still thinks we're getting too much for stripper production . . ."

"And I say this, if they're gonna cut depletion out, the situation is going to be worse than it's ever been in history, because it's going to wipe out the small operators."

Schkade, who has spent 24 years in what he calls the "oil patch," said he never has considered a different job.

"I guess I'd rather be out here on an old spudder trying to find some new production. It's just like a gold hunter, a prospector. You get a kick out of thinking, 'This time I'm gonna hit and make some money,'"

"So you stay in there and fight it, and maybe some day you'll get one good well . . ."

FAMILY AFFAIR — Carl Schkade, 44, and his wife Marilyn of Albany, top photo, are shown pulling rods on an oil well that has been plugged and abandoned by a major oil company because it no longer was profitable to operate. Below, Schkade and sons James, 8, and David, 16, measure pipe they will need in their operations. The family seeks out old wells and reworks them to squeeze out what little oil is left. ## West Germany Arrests Palestinian Student, Charges Bombings Planned

SAARBRUECKEN, West Germany (AP) — A Palestinian student has been arrested and charged with planning to attack the Israeli airline El Al and the stadium in which the World Cup soccer championships begin today.

Willy Noss, a spokesman for the state prosecutor's office, refused to give details about the student. He said authorities today were investigating whether he had accomplices.

Noss said the young man was arrested near Saarbruecken University after he was suspected of having "planned disturbances the nature of which are yet unknown."

He said the student was charged with participation in a criminal association and with planning attacks on a plane and the office of El Al Airlines, the Israeli Embassy in Bonn and one of the World Cup soccer stadiums.

Because of the terrorist attack on the Israeli team that marred the 1972 Olympics in Munich, strong police guards were assigned to the nine stadiums in various cities in which the soccer matches will be played.

No Israeli team is entered. But in West Berlin, where Chile's team is to play, somebody exploded a bomb outside the door of the Chilean consulate, slightly injuring Consul Hans Betzold and three other persons. The bomb also did considerable damage to the building in which the consulate is located.

Southern Baptist Unit To Tackle Abortion Issue

DALLAS (AP) — Delegates to the Southern Baptist Convention (SBC) conference here today with the discussion of a resolution on abortion.

A resolution and a motion dealing with the subject were expected to be brought up to the floor early by the Committee on Resolutions.

The Rev. Hugh Lindquist, pastor of Bethel Baptist Church of Oklahoma City, submitted one of the resolutions asking the SBC "to encourage all Southern Baptist pastors and church congregations to preach and teach against the crime of abortion."

"I also move that we go on record as being opposed to abortion for any reason, and that we go on record favoring a constitutional amendment to the United States Constitution forbidding abortion," he told the nearly 18,000 delegates.

Another motion on the subject was submitted by the Rev. Robert Holbrook, pastor of First Baptist Church of Hallettsville, Tex. He asked the SBC to "instruct the Christian Life Commission to prepare and distribute to the churches and membership updated materials on abortion, presenting the issue from all perspectives with a proportionate balance given to the arguments both for and against abortion."

On Wednesday, delegates defeated several motions — including recommendations by the Christian Life Commission — dealing with freedom for women.

Led by a conservative section, they voted to table the commission's recommendations that urged Baptists to encourage women "to achieve their God-intended potential."

The commission also urged that Southern Baptists commit themselves to work against covert and overt discrimination of women inside and outside the churches.

Another commission recommendation calling for an amendment of a by-law to establish that at least one-fifth of all members of SBC boards be women failed to get the required two-thirds majority.

The vote against the recommendations dealing with women and the church was interpreted as a reaction against a possible move to have the SBC recognize women ministers.

The question of ordination of women was sent back to the local churches when delegates voted against an amendment that would have prohibited the SBC boards from recognizing women ministers.

It is estimated that there are between 15 and 30 women ministers in local Baptist churches throughout the United States.

In other action Wednesday, the members approved a resolution encouraging SBC boards and committees to give minority groups a fair representation.

The resolution had been presented by Charles Engelman, of Menlo Park, Calif., who said he was not advocating a quota system. "It is a question of fairness," he said.

The convention later voted down a resolution asking that minority groups make up at least ten per cent of the members of all SBC boards.

It also ended a debate over the role and structure of evangelism by tabling a motion to establish a separate commission on evangelism.

The Rev. Frank Minton, pastor of the Far Hills Baptist Church of Dayton, Ohio, had offered the motion saying that it would give higher status and visibility to the program of evangelism.

"Evangelism is the heartbeat of the Southern Baptist Convention," he said.

Another resolution approved Wednesday dealt with a favorite Baptist target, liquor. It called on members of the SBC "to urge elected representatives in Congress to initiate and support legislation to ban the advertising of alcoholic beverages on television and to require the labeling of alcoholic beverages as potentially dangerous to the health and safety of the users."

The resolution was the result of two separate proposals submitted by Carbon Sims of Monticello, Ark., and Mrs. Josie Montgomery of Wilmington, N.C.

The resolutions approved by the SBC are not binding on affiliated churches.

Delegates elected the Rev. Stewart B. Simms, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Greer, S.C., first vice president of the SBC.

Simms defeated Mrs. Robert Fling of Pleasantville, N.Y., and a former president of the Southern Baptist Women's Missionary Union.

Three other convention officers were re-elected. They are Clifton Allen of Winston-Salem, N. C. recording secretary; W. Fred Kendall of Nashville, registration secretary; and Forster Routh of Nashville, treasurer.

FDA Proposes Rule On Nutritional Enriching Of 'Empty Calorie' Foods

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration has proposed a new rule for nutritional enriching of candy bars, puddings and other "empty calorie" foods.

However, FDA Commissioner Alexander Schmidt also said Wednesday the agency is setting forth guidelines to "prevent an irrational nutritional horsepower race" among food manufacturers.

"These guidelines will assure that nutrition labeling is not exploited or abused by those who would seek to gain unfair promotional advantages or promote a worthless food as something it is not," he told a news briefing.

Schmidt said some 70 new federal rules on nutritional quality and labeling are designed to address the world's growing reliance on fabricated rather than natural foods.

The FDA said it would allow fortification of foods under the following conditions:

—To make "empty calorie" foods more valuable provided that, if a manufacturer chooses this option, he adds protein and specific amounts of 19 vitamins and minerals.

—If it is covered by a so-called "recipe" rule, as with iron-enriched bread, or a nutritional guideline for classes of foods, such as hot and cold breakfast cereals.

—To make a substitute food nutritionally equivalent to the food it is designed to replace, such as imitation orange juice.

—To restore nutrients lost in processing, as with dehydrated potatoes which lose most of their vitamin C content.

Another motion on the subject was submitted by the Rev. Robert Holbrook, pastor of First Baptist Church of Hallettsville, Tex. He asked the SBC to "instruct the Christian Life Commission to prepare and distribute to the churches and membership updated materials on abortion, presenting the issue from all perspectives with a proportionate balance given to the arguments both for and against abortion."

On Wednesday, delegates defeated several motions — including recommendations by the Christian Life Commission — dealing with freedom for women.

Led by a conservative section, they voted to table the commission's recommendations that urged Baptists to encourage women "to achieve their God-intended potential."

The commission also urged that Southern Baptists commit themselves to work against covert and overt discrimination of women inside and outside the churches.

Another commission recommendation calling for an amendment of a by-law to establish that at least one-fifth of all members of SBC boards be women failed to get the required two-thirds majority.

The vote against the recommendations dealing with women and the church was interpreted as a reaction against a possible move to have the SBC recognize women ministers.

The question of ordination of women was sent back to the local churches when delegates voted against an amendment that would have prohibited the SBC boards from recognizing women ministers.

It is estimated that there are between 15 and 30 women ministers in local Baptist churches throughout the United States.

In other action Wednesday, the members approved a resolution encouraging SBC boards and committees to give minority groups a fair representation.

The resolution had been presented by Charles Engelman, of Menlo Park, Calif., who said he was not advocating a quota system. "It is a question of fairness," he said.

The convention later voted down a resolution asking that minority groups make up at least ten per cent of the members of all SBC boards.

Austerity Program Unveiled In France

PARIS (AP) — President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing unveiled an austerity program Wednesday night to combat inflation and improve the balance of payments deficit caused by higher oil prices.

The president in a televised address to the National Assembly would be asked to approve a tax hike on higher incomes, increased interest rates for savings accounts, a one-time-only increase in company taxes, a $500 million cut in government spending for 1974 and higher gasoline prices, with the extra revenue to be used to lower the cost of public transport.

Giscard said the economy should be back on the rails by the end of 1975, and improvement should be evident by the end of this year.

The president said the payments deficit is now running to $400 million a month and inflation is at an annual rate of 19.2 per cent, one of the highest such rates among the nine nations of the European Common Market.

He said the austerity plan should balance the foreign trade account by the end of next year and reduce the inflation rate.

The measures will be accompanied by social reform proposals to be announced next week.

In a bid to avoid alienating the powerful trade unions, the new tax hike is highest for families now paying taxes of more than $8,000 a year. They will pay 15 per cent more this year, with some of it recoverable in 1975.

The question of ordination of women was sent back to the local churches when delegates voted against an amendment that would have prohibited the SBC boards from recognizing women ministers.

It is estimated that there are between 15 and 30 women ministers in local Baptist churches throughout the United States.

In other action Wednesday, the members approved a resolution encouraging SBC boards and committees to give minority groups a fair representation.

The resolution had been presented by Charles Engelman, of Menlo Park, Calif., who said he was not advocating a quota system. "It is a question of fairness," he said.

The convention later voted down a resolution asking that minority groups make up at least ten per cent of the members of all SBC boards.

It also ended a debate over the role and structure of evangelism by tabling a motion to establish a separate commission on evangelism.

The Rev. Frank Minton, pastor of the Far Hills Baptist Church of Dayton, Ohio, had offered the motion saying that it would give higher status and visibility to the program of evangelism.

"Evangelism is the heartbeat of the Southern Baptist Convention," he said.

Another resolution approved Wednesday dealt with a favorite Baptist target, liquor. It called on members of the SBC "to urge elected representatives in Congress to initiate and support legislation to ban the advertising of alcoholic beverages on television and to require the labeling of alcoholic beverages as potentially dangerous to the health and safety of the users."

Tower To Speak At Webb Ceremony

BIG SPRING — U.S. Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., will be the featured speaker at graduation ceremonies for Class 74-06 of the 78th Flying Training Wing at Webb Air Force Base at 6 p.m. Saturday.

The class will include the 10,000th flight student to be graduated at Webb. Base authorities said one student would be named as the 10,000th student at the graduation.

Tower is to arrive at the base at 1 p.m. and will hold a 20-minute press conference immediately afterwards.

Besides Tower, other dignitaries to attend include Brig. Gen. Stanley Umstead and Col. Andrew W. Atkinson.

The day's activities will include an open house for the public to view an aircraft display in front of the base operations building from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Negro Named To National SBC Office

DALLAS (AP) — Officials said the Rev. Charles M. King of Frankfort, Ky., is the first Negro to be chosen a national officer of the Southern Baptist Convention.

The Rev. Mr. King, 70, pastor of the Corinthian Baptist Church in Frankfort, was elected second vice president at the annual assembly Wednesday night. Formerly he was first vice president of the Kentucky Baptist Convention.

His church is affiliated jointly with the Kentucky Baptist Convention and the General Association of Baptists in Kentucky, a statewide body of black Baptists.

The Rev. Mr. King holds a master of arts degree in education from the University of Cincinnati and is a graduate of Fisk University in Nashville, Tenn.

He has served as chaplain for the Kentucky General Assembly, the state's legislature.

The Rev. Mr. King defeated Olin Starnin, pastor of Swopes Park Baptist Church in Kansas City, Mo., in a run-off election.

84 Oil, Gas Projects Scheduled To Drill In Permian Basin Areas

Operators filed applications last week for 84 projects for oil and gas in the Permian Basin of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico.

Included in the count were 19 exploratory tests and 65 field projects.

Two weeks ago, the total number of tests planned was 89.

Texas Railroad Commission District 8, with offices in Midland, was the leader in development well applications received, while District 7-C, headquartered in San Angelo, topped the list in wildcats, with seven. Twenty-eight pool projects were planned in six District 8 counties.

South Plains areas accounted for three ventures and Southeast New Mexico, five.

Feller To Appear Here

When Hall of Fame pitcher Bob Feller comes to Cubs Stadium for a personal appearance between games of Saturday's doubleheader with Arkansas, we don't know what kind of a show he'll have, but he had a pretty good one during a 17-year major league career.

Anyone with a little age behind them can relate the story of the 17-year-old aspirin thrower signed off a Van Meter, Iowa, farm by the Cleveland Indians back in 1936.

He was assigned to Fargo-Moorhead of the old Northern League but refused to report, so the Indians brought him up to the major league club.

It didn't take him long to prove his point. He whiffed 17 to tie a major league record against the old Philadelphia Athletics in September 1936 on the way to a 5-3 season in an abbreviated rookie season.

As an 18-year-old, he was 9-7, but showed promise of things to come when he fanned 18 of the powerful Ted Williams, Don DiMaggio, Bobby Doerr, Joe Cronin Boston Red Sox in August, 1937.

By 1938, his biggest foe was wildness. Feller led the league in strikeouts (208) on the way to a 17-11 record, but also led the league in walks (240). However, his feat of blazing his high hard one past 18 Detroit Tigers set a major league single-game knockout record.

By 1939, as a 20-year-old, he blossomed into greatness at an age when most current standouts are worrying about how they'll fare against Southern California in the College World Series.

Feller won 24 and lost nine and again led the league in walks and strikeouts as well as innings pitched.

3 No-Hitters, 12 1-Hitters

Feller opened the 1940 season by pitching an Inaugural Day no-hitter against the Chicago White Sox, the only opening day no-hitter in history. That year Rapid Robert won 27 games and led the American League with a 2.02 earned-run average.

Feller pitched two more no-hitters, against the Yankees in 1946 and against the Tigers in 1951.

Perhaps even more amazing than the three no-hitters was his 12 one-hitters.

In a career stretched from 1936 to 1956, Feller won 266 games and lost 166. Pretty good, but imagine what he would have achieved if he hadn't run off to the Navy two days after Pearl Harbor and lost four of his most productive years.

In the three seasons before WW II, he won more than 25 games per year and upon his return from 44 months in the South Pacific fighting, he averaged more than 20 wins for the next three years. The hitch probably cost Feller another 100 victories.

Inevitably the 100 mph fast ball deserted Feller in the later stages of his career, but by then he had become a pitcher in the true sense of the word.

He proved this in 1951 when his 23-8 season was the best in the majors, although he had only 95 strikeout victims.

If there was one major disappointment for Feller, it was his failure to win a World Series game in the Indians' two appearances in the fall classic.

His best chance came against the old Boston Braves in the controversial opener of the 1948 series.

It was 6-0 in the eighth inning and catcher Phil Masi was at second base, marveling at the size of the crowd. Shortstop Lou Boudreau slipped in behind him and took Feller's pick off throw. Masi looked out to every one but the umpire. Masi came home seconds later on a single by Tommy Holmes, one of two hits Feller gave up.

State Crown To Monterey

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Lubbock Monterey and South Grand Prairie are the new state champions in their respective divisions in high school baseball.

Lubbock Monterey gained its AAAA crown Wednesday by defeating Spring Woods, 4-2.

South Grand Prairie crushed Mercedes in a rain-plagued game, 9-1, to win the AAA title.

Sophomore Richard Bowles of Monterey slugged a pinch-hit home run in the bottom of the sixth to score three runs and give his team the winning margin. Lubbock pitcher, Scott Gardner, allowed Spring Woods only six hits.

Wednesday night, and that moved the Travelers within half a game of first place Victoria in the East division of the Texas League.

In other games, Shreveport overpowered El Paso 10-6, Victoria edged San Antonio 9-8 in 10 innings and Amarillo defeated Alexandria 5-2.

A 10-minute eighth inning brawl highlighted the El Paso-Shreveport game. El Paso players objected to the Captains' Ken Barker throwing pitches close to the batters' heads.

Shreveport batters collected 12 hits.

Victoria came from behind in the bottom of the 10th to score two runs on a double by Greg Harta. The Toros' Brock Pemberton continued his heavy hitting, going three-for-five and driving in four runs.

Amarillo called on reliever Dave Heaverlo for his fifth appearance in four days to save Amarillo's lead. Heaverlo retired all eight batters in his two and two-thirds innings of relief.

BY TED BATTLES

Although the brooding heavens threatened to dump its stored up contents on Cubs Stadium at any minute, it turned out to be just an empty threat as Midland and Arkansas got in both ends of their Texas League doubleheader Wednesday night and both were dandy games. Only trouble was the St. Louis Cardinal farmhands from Little Rock came off 5-3 winners both times.

In both cases, Midland frittered away 2-0 leads and the double setback marked the third straight game the Cubs

Cubs, Travs Play Ladies Night Games

CUB BRIEFS — Don Schroeder, 9-3, and lefty Dave Gelsel will go for Midland in tonight's Cubs Stadium twin-bill while Ron Selak, 5-3, and Doug Capilla, 2-3, will toil for Manager Jack Krol's Travelers.

After tonight's games, Midland second baseman Bill Huisman will leave the team to fulfill a two-week military obligation. Although Bill is enjoying his best season in Organized Ball, he's not worried about losing his batting touch. "About the only ball I'll get to play is softball. We won the championship last year. The layoff hasn't hurt me the last two years. One thing about it, you second game loss. "We had our chances, but didn't take advantage of them."

Slump Dogs Palmer As Open Begins

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — Arnold Palmer lashed into a drive on the 448-yard finishing hole at Winged Foot and typically almost lost his balance as he followed through on his violent swing.

"Oooh!" chorused the sizeable gallery around the 18th tee. "Yeah! Yeah!" came the roar from down the fairway.

When Palmer reached his ball he found himself 10 to 20 yards behind his companions in the practice round—Tom Weiskopf, Bert Yancey and Tony Jacklin, all of whom comfortably reached the green in two.

Using a wood, Palmer hit the ball fat, picking up a divot, and watched the ball fall some 40 yards short of the green. His shoulders slumped. He muttered something under his breath. Then he tossed his club toward his bag in disgust.

"Kinda fat on that fairway shot," commented a friend.

"Fat, hell," blurted Palmer. "I almost struck oil."

It's been this kind of year, you might say almost this kind of a decade, for the onetime miracle charger from Latrobe, Pa., whose birdsie finishes in the late 1950s and early 1960s sent golf into a heady, multi-million-dollar spiral from which it is still spinning—and from which others are still profiting.

"Sure, I got discouraged at times," the gray, 44-year-old four-time Masters winner said afterward. "But I always feel that some day I'm going to put everything together again."

"If I didn't think I could still win, I'd never pick up a bag of clubs in a big tournament again."

Fractured Rib Sidelines Sam

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — The U.S. Open jinx has slapped old Sam Snead down again—and in a tragic fashion.

The 63-year-old Virginian, one of the game's immortals, turned up with a mysterious fractured rib on the eve of the 74th Open, starting today at the Winged Foot Club and had to withdraw.

"I don't know how it happened," Snead, oldest man ever to qualify for the event, said after undergoing tests at the United Hospital in nearby White Plains.

"My left side started bothering me at the Kemper Open in Charlotte a couple of weeks ago. Then the pain became worse in practice here but I didn't think anything about it until my final practice round."

Snead played nine holes in one-over-par and then went to the locker room in pain. Friends took him to the hospital.

"I was afraid at first it might be a heart attack," he said. "It hurt like hell. I couldn't even get my sweater off."

At the hospital X-rays showed Snead had a broken rib on the left side.

"The same thing happened about 10 years ago in California," he said, "only it was on the right side."

Snead had been playing so well in practice that Bill Campbell, former U.S. Walker Cup captain and a close friend from Huntington, West Va., said he thought Sam had the best chance to win here.

"I've never played better before an Open," said Snead, who was preparing for his 31st Open test. "I had practice rounds of 70, 71 and 70."

Snead has won 154 tournaments, including three Masters and three American PGAs.

Actress' Former Husband Sues Her, Current Spouse

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Patty Duke's former husband, Joseph P. Stinch, has filed a $2 million slander suit against her and her current husband, John Astin, on the ground they falsely stated Stinch stole Miss Duke's money.

Stinch, 34, a financial adviser from Dallas, Tex., is presently on $7,500 bail awaiting trial on charges that he embezzled about $30,000 from Miss Duke while he managed her finances.

Stinch's lawyer, G. Dona Hobart, contended in a suit filed Wednesday that repeated public statements by Miss Duke and Astin accusing Stinch of embezzling her money were false, defamatory, malicious and damaging to Stinch's business reputation.

Valery Panov, Wife Get Visas To Leave Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Former Kirov Ballet star Valery Panov got the last of the visas required before he and his ballerina wife Galina can emigrate to Israel. He said they hoped to leave Friday.

Panov, a Jew, was dismissed from the Kirov in March, 1972, after he petitioned for permission to emigrate.

Asked about a last-minute demand from the Soviet government that his mother-in-law sign a statement that she needs no financial support from the couple, Panov said he was worried but didn't think it would prevent their departure.

Larissa Ragozina had opposed the emigration to Israel of her daughter, who is not Jewish.

Panov came from his home in Leningrad on the overnight train and went to the Dutch and Austrian embassies for the required stamps on his Soviet exit papers.

At the Dutch Embassy, which handles Israeli affairs, the 35-year-old dancer was issued the Israeli entry visa within 10 minutes. The couple has been waiting 26 months for permission to emigrate.

Panov said they hoped to fly Friday morning from Leningrad to Berlin, then to Vienna and continue on to Israel. They will go to London and the United States after a few weeks' rest, he said, "to thank all the people who have given me their support."

He said he was considering several offers, including one from the San Francisco Ballet. He said it would take him four months to get into condition to dance well.

Janet Kruskamp

Museum To Hold One-Woman Show

West Coast artist Janet Kruskamp will open a one-woman show of paintings at the Museum of the Southwest this weekend.

The show, which officially opens Saturday, will have a preview between 7 and 9 p.m. Friday in the museum's Turner Memorial Gallery, 1705 W. Missouri St. The artist will be present and the public is invited to meet her.

Miss Kruskamp, of Los Gatos, Calif., paints with both affection and understanding, the people and places around her — a kind of social statement on the positive side of life. Her paintings are executed in depth or with "magic realism," and tend to reveal the true beauty of commonplace objects that many people pass by and never see. They offer the viewer a moment in time.

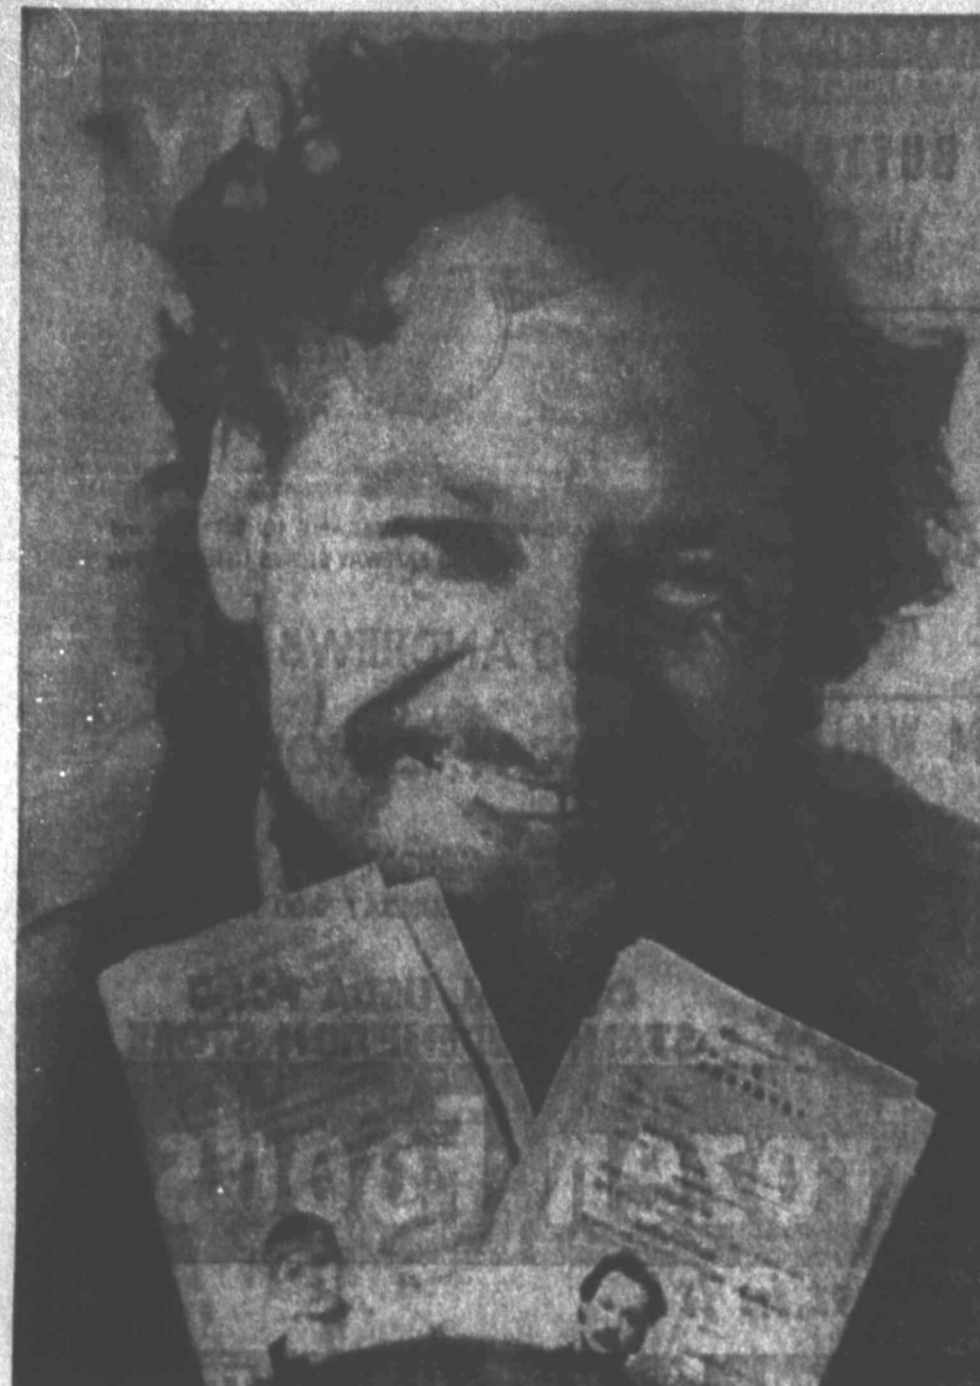

She is listed in Who's Who in American Art, the International Directory of Artists, and in the Dictionary of the West & Midwest, the Dictionary of International Biography, Who's Who in American Women, and World Who's Who of Women.

Miss Kruskamp has exhibited works in one-woman shows and group exhibits both in the U.S. and in Europe. Numerous awards won by Miss Kruskamp include the Grand Prize in the 1973 Grand Galleria National Art Competition in Seattle, Wash. She had an exhibition of her work which closed last week at a Seattle museum. Her work is represented in public and private collections throughout the United States and abroad.

Miss Kruskamp admits, "I am a realist in the traditional sense." Of her work, Bernard Gauthron of La Revue Moderne in Paris, said, "...It is the simple life, the terrace of a village cafe, life in the countryside, the fruit hampers. A simple but vibrant style of painting, and with beautiful color!"

The Museum of the Southwest is open weekdays between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m., and between 2 and 5 p.m. each Sunday. Admission is always free.

HE'S GOT HIS WALKING PAPERS — Ballet dancer Valery Panov smiles over Soviet exit visas for himself and his wife in Moscow. The Panovs, who have been trying for 26 months to leave the Soviet Union for Israel, were suddenly ordered this week to leave by Friday. Panov says he wants to go to England and the U.S. to thank all those who supported his efforts. (AP Wirephoto by cable from Moscow.)

Midland Group Okayed By State

The American Revolution Bicentennial Commission of Midland has been formally approved as a Texas Bicentennial Community, and its application was immediately forwarded to Washington D.C. for review by the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration.

The approval was announced by Joe Dominey, chairman of the Midland group. "The next step is for the national bicentennial administration to review our plans for commemorating America's Bicentennial, and hopefully, grant us endorsement as a National Bicentennial Community," Dominey said.

"We have been working since the first of the year on this application, which was forwarded to the Texas ARBC last month." Dominey said the Midland organization numbers more than 50 persons and is organized into working committees. He added that anyone with ideas concerning the celebration of the Bicentennial are invited to join and participate.

"We are planning projects and events in three broad categories — Heritage '76, Festival U.S.A. and Horizons '78. These commemorations of our past, celebrate our present and provide lasting achievements for the future," Dominey stated.

He added that a few substantial projects have been reviewed and approved by the Midland Bicentennial projects committee and are being recommended to the community at large.

"Our local board of directors met May 6 to consider these applications which had been submitted to the projects committee, chaired by Manuel Carasco," he said. "We approved them with the assurance that the bicentennial commission will support the sponsoring organizations in gaining support from the public, government agencies, and other entities."

The projects include: —The restoration of the Taylor Brown-Sarah Dorsey House at 213 N. Weatherford St. reputedly Midland's oldest house. The project is sponsored by the Midland County Historical Society, which hopes to raise $10,000 to complete the project.

—A City of Midland Bicentennial Park, sponsored by the Breakfast Optimist Club, which proposes a 20-acre lake, park, golf course, picnic area, recreational vehicle park, city zoo and large oil derrick tower to be constructed west of the city between US 80 and IH 20. The project is contingent on approval of the city council, with matching funds to be requested from the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, U.S. Department of Interior.

—Landscaping and beautification of the grounds of the new Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Library and Hall of Fame, co-sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Midland Society of University Women. The project calls for providing plantings, trees, fountains, necessary curbs and other landscaping at the Museum's building site on IH 20.

—An antique doll exhibition and demonstration at the Museum of the Southwest, sponsored by the Doll Club of the Permian Basin. Members would display dolls dressed in period clothing, and provide demonstrations of handcrafted dolls in Colonial days shown in miniature room settings.

"These are just a few of the things that are being planned. The Museum of the Southwest, the Midland Community Theatre, the Midland-Odessa Symphony and several other organizations are planning specific events or projects," Dominey said.

Syl Johnson To Headline Soul City Show

Syl Johnson will be the headline in a show scheduled Saturday night at Midland's Soul City.

Tickets are being sold in advance, at $3.50 each, at Univac Liquors here and in Odessa at High Style Fashions. Tickets will be priced at $4 each at the doors Saturday night.

Johnson, widely-known for such hits as "Get Ready," "Anyway the Wind Blows" and "Back For the Taste of Your Love," will be featured with a band and a group of entertainers. The show will begin at 9:30 p.m.

Country Singer's Wife Dies In Fire

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Firemen found Alberta McEnery, 34, wife of a well known country and western singer, burned to death in her home Wednesday night.

Her husband, Red River Dave McEnery, did not return until after the blaze was out. Firefighters said the house was enveloped in flames by the time they arrived. They estimated damage at $35,000.

London Gives Bolshoi Very Mixed Reactions

LONDON (AP)—The Bolshoi Ballet opened a six-week engagement in London Wednesday night to hostile demonstrations, a cheering audience and adverse reviews.

The audience gave the dancers a 10-minute ovation at the end of the performance.

Man, Wife Named Champ Loudmouths

LONDON, England (AP)—Michael Featherston and his wife, who run a pub on the Yorkshire coast, have been judged the world's loudest mouths.

Competing Wednesday in the "Second World Shouting Championships," Mrs. Featherston let loose a 108.7-decibel yell to retain the woman's title she won last year.

Her husband was the loudest of the male competitors with 110 decibels. But he missed the 113-decibel mark set by the winner last year, a fisherman.

French President Turns Tour Guide

PARIS (AP)—President Valery Giscard d'Estaing turned tour guide Wednesday, showing a 10-year-old schoolgirl around the presidential palace for more than an hour.

The girl, Blandine Jannet, wrote the president asking him to help her write a school paper on the 18th Century Elysee Palace.

Center Of Texas Good Vacation Spot

Abundant family entertainment for Texans stretches down the center of the state, an easy ride from the Fort Worth-Arlington complex to Austin and the Hill Country.

The distance from Tarrant County to the state capital, 193 miles, some cars can drive it on a tank of gasoline, observing today's 55 m.p.h. speed limit.

It's not only a sound vacation idea, says J. Fike Godfrey of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, but it's a fuel-saver that aids the Texas tourist industry.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe notes that more than 600,000 Texans are employed in the state's $2.2 billion tourist business.

The area to the north, from Gainesville near the Red River to Jacksboro, features the old Butterfield Trail Route. And a train for vacationers, the Firefly, crosses the sometimes rugged terrain between Bridgeport and Fort Richardson at Jacksboro.

The Fort Worth area has Six Flags Over Texas, in its 13th season; Seven Seas, in its third; Lion Country Safari, Texas Rangers baseball, and the newest sight worth seeing: the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport, the world's largest.

Arts enrich Fort Worth through the Amon G. Carter Museum of Western Art, Kimbell Art Museum and the Fort Worth Art Museum. For theater, there's Casa Manana.

Eighty-seven miles south along IH 35 is Waco and Fort Fisher, home of Company F of the Texas Rangers. The fort is a replica of one established in 1837 and is the site of the Homer Garrison Memorial Texas Ranger Museum.

Austin, 106 miles farther, can be explored for its own beauty or serve as a jumpoff for the Hill Country or the Highland Lakes, both to the west.

Scenery comes in many forms in Austin, much of it historical: The 46-acre capital grounds; French Legation, built in 1841; the home of writer "O. Henry," a resident from 1885-88, and the newest and most popular attraction, the Lyndon B. Johnson Library.

The LBJ Ranch and National Historic Site is just over an hour's drive west of Austin, near Stonewall. Horse-drawn vehicles are used for visitors.

Hill Country memories last longer after detours through the small towns, some of them German in origin, with their reputations for tasty, solid food.

National Ballet Halts Operations

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Ballet, this city's only major resident professional dance troupe, suspended operations Wednesday, citing a $300,000 deficit.

Inflationary production costs and a lack of community support were given as the reasons for the demise of the dance troupe, which was founded 12 years ago. It has presented more than 1,000 performances in 275 cities and was considered one of the few important dance companies in the country outside of New York.

Navy Secretary, Admiral Differ On Women's Roles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Navy J. William Middendorf says the legal ban against assigning women to combat should be removed if women are to be admitted to the U.S. Naval Academy.

However, testifying Wednesday before a House Armed Services subcommittee, Middendorf said he himself wouldn't welcome the move.

By contrast, Vice Adm. William P. Mack, superintendent of the academy, said he sees no problem with allowing women in combat.

Middendorf, Mack and other Navy officials appearing before the panel said they would oppose admitting women to Annapolis unless the law barring combat roles for women is changed, because it would necessitate different training and curriculum revisions at the academy.

The issue over opening U.S. services academies to women was raised elsewhere on Capitol Hill Wednesday when the House passed a bill to permit a top Laotian general's son to attend West Point.

Reps. Pat Schroeder, D-Colo., and Charles H. Wilson, D-Calif., objected that foreign students should not be permitted to attend U.S. service academies when women aren't allowed.

Paul Hanssen Exhibiting Works At Theatre Centre

Paintings by Midlander Paul Hanssen make up the current gallery display at Theatre Centre during the run of Midland Community Theatre's "Dr. Cook's Garden."

The Sara Levin suspense drama goes into its second weekend with a performance at 8:30 p.m. Friday, followed by a Saturday performance beginning at the same hour. Seat reservations for the two presentations may be made through the theatre box office, 682-2544. The play will run through June 22.

Hanssen, a seven-year resident of Midland, had a one-man show last summer at Commercial Bank & Trust Co., and a similar exhibit early this spring at Midland Woman's Club. He and his wife, Bonnie, are the parents of two teen-age daughters, Paula and Heidi.

Flag Day Concert To Start Summer Symphony Season

A Flag Day program of "pops" numbers will be presented Friday evening in Wadley Barron Park to initiate the seventh season of the Tall City Summer Symphony.

The volunteer orchestra, under the baton of James Gambino, will present four concerts in the current season, concluding with a special patriotic program on July 4, which will feature a chorus as well as the orchestra.

The concerts are presented free to the public under auspices of the City Parks and Recreation Department. All programs will be in Wadley-Barron Park, West Cuthbert and North A streets.

Following Friday's opening concert, a second concert is scheduled next Tuesday night to be followed by a third event on June 25, and the final program on July 4. All will begin at 8 p.m. Persons are invited to bring picnic suppers to the park if they desire. They also should provide themselves with chairs or blankets on which to sit.

A Grand Old Flag, Indeed!

"Flag Day" will be observed Friday in Midland and across this great nation.

The observance ranks as one of the most significant and, as such, it merits the interest and attention of all citizens of the United States of America.

Yet, all too many of us neglect to show our respect for Old Glory on this or other occasions. It isn't that most citizens are lacking in respect for the flag, but they get so wrapped up in other things that they take for granted the flag and the very nation which it represents.

Well, Flag Day 1974, presents a marvelous occasion to give serious thought to this Grand Old Flag and just what it means to us as individuals.

To make the observance really meaningful, it behooves each of us to fly Old Glory at our homes, public buildings and places of business. This is an excellent means of participating in the observance of Flag Day.

Thinking back, the public display of flags here on Flag Day last year was somewhat disappointing, and it is hoped that this will not be the case this year. This depends on the individual.

It is noted that some Midlanders fly their flags every day of the year, and this is a great tribute to flag and country.

No red-blooded American can stand before Old Glory unfurled in the breeze without experiencing a real thrill and a tremendous sense of pride in the Flag of the United States of America.

Certainly, it's a display of patriotism... and there is nothing wrong in being patriotic. There never has been anything wrong with it.

In fact, a good strong dose of patriotism just might be the very thing needed to remedy America's ills. Flag Day will be a most appropriate occasion to give it a try.

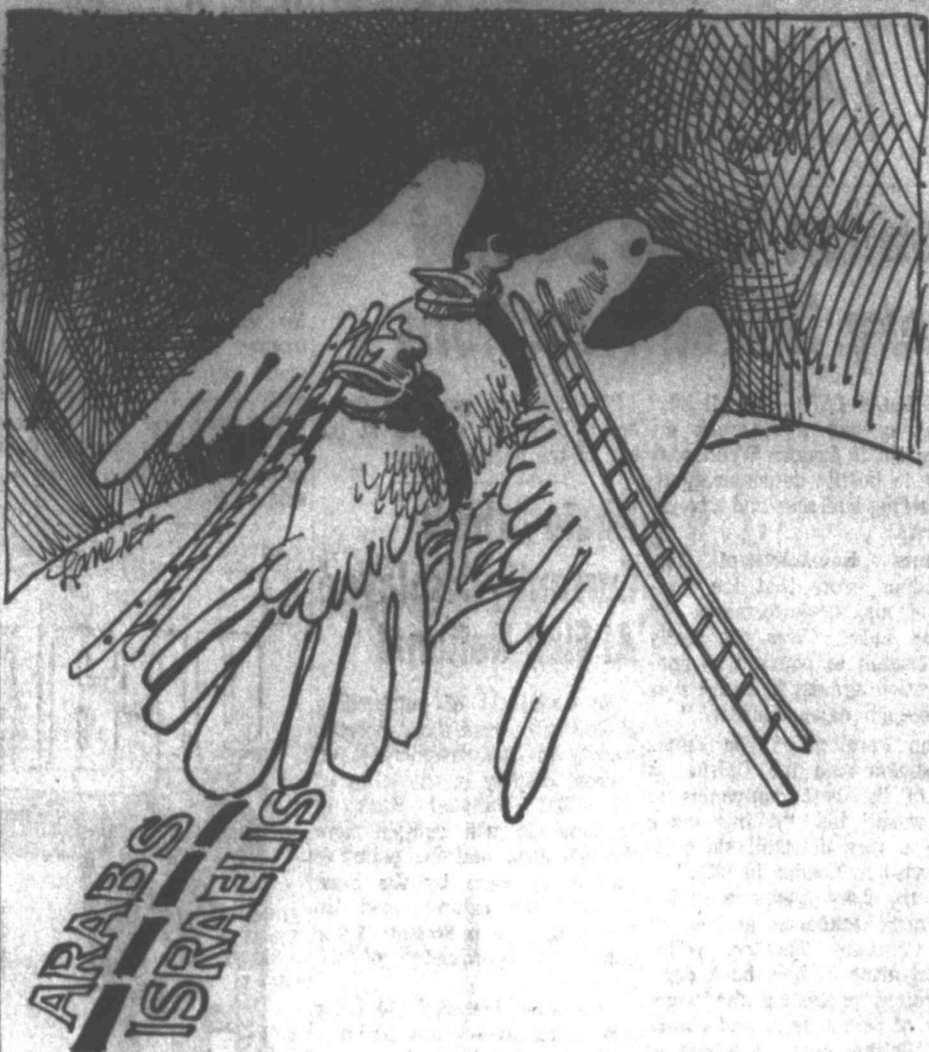

Flag Day is an occasion when Americans stand in reverence before the Star Spangled Banner... the grand old high-flying flag which, as the song goes, is "... the emblem of the land I love, the home of the free and the brave."

It also is a time when some thought should be given to the proper display of Old Glory. This also is something which should be discussed with our youngsters, so that they may have this knowledge early in life.

And in the Spirit of 1776, let us honor America by pledging allegiance to the flag:

"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson Says: Foreign aid facts are startling in nature.

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger put his prestige on the line last week to sell Congress on another $4.2 billion foreign aid bill. This staggering outlay is "essential," he pleaded, to maintain peace in the Middle East and Southeast Asia.

Maybe so.

But for a quarter of a century, we have watched the dollars rain on the just and the unjust alike. The foreign aid program has produced the greatest financial fallout of all time. We decided to measure its dimension, if we could, going back to the end of World War II.

We interviewed key officials, reviewed the public record and examined some classified documents. Here are our startling findings:

— Since 1946, the American taxpayers have given or loaned a mind-boggling $164 billion to their neighbors around the world. We traced economic payments to 132 nations and military aid to 31 nations. We didn't bother to compute the additional U.S. millions that were funneled to needy nations through international organizations.

Of the $164 billion, only a paltry $15 billion has been repaid. Uncle Sam didn't expect to get back $127 billion, which was disbursed as outright gifts. A little more than $22 million is still on the books, as unpaid debts.

On the home front, meanwhile, crime ran rampant, black ghettos were burned, drug addiction became epidemic, thousands died from cancer and heart disease. These problems would be less troublesome today, undoubtedly, had they received the same attention we gave foreign nations.

— The United States still is pumping millions, incredibly, into the oil-rich countries which have shown their gratitude by seeking their American customers through inflated oil prices. Excluding Russia and Canada, which got no foreign aid, the top nine petroleum-producing countries have collected $5.6 billion from the U.S. Treasury since 1946.

— The United States still is supporting opposing sides in almost a dozen wars since World War II ended. Uncle Sam sided both sides, for example, when Nicaragua invaded Costa Rica in 1955; when Honduras and Nicaragua battled over their borders in 1967; when Morocco and Spain fought over Spanish Morocco in 1968; when France and Tunisia collided during the 1961 Biafra Crisis; when India invaded the Portuguese colony of Goa in 1962; and when Indonesia invaded Malaysia during the early 1960s.

— The Pentagon gave massive doses of military aid to India and Pakistan, whose armies used U.S. weapons to fire at one another in 1965. American military assistance went to both Arabs and Israelis before they clashed in 1967 and again in 1973; to India and Pakistan before the 1971 Bangladesh war; and to both El Salvador and Honduras during their "soccer war" of 1969.

— For all the talk of rapprochement, the Cold War scarcely has subsided. Most nations still receive military assistance from either the United States, Russia or China. This is frankly described by Pentagon people as part of the world power play. Or as one expert put it, "we want to win friends and influence people."

Classified documents refer to military aid as necessary for U.S. security.

— American aid bolsters some of the world's most repressive

$327 million in loans and grants, of which King Faisal still owes Washington $50 million. Iran has received a staggering $2.1 billion in American aid during the postwar years. Yet the shah, aloof in a sea of palaces, jewels and cash, has an outstanding debt of $250 million.

— Millions of American aid dollars have been used, not to feed the poor, heal the sick and arm the troops, but to line the pockets of the privileged, potentates and petty dictators.

— America's unprecedented generosity has brought more grumbling than gratitude. Our Latin American neighbors have received $12.5 billion, yet they constantly complain that Uncle Sam neglects them.

The Arabs have raised a howl over U.S. support of Israel. The truth is that Israel has received $2.7 billion in American aid while her Arab enemies have collected $2.9 billion.

The European countries, which the United States rescued from the ashes of war with the Marshall Plan, have gotten $38 billion since World War II. The French, sternly looking down their nose upon Washington, received $2.3 billion.

The American people have been the most generous in history, but they might be excused if they should now ask themselves whether it was worth it.

— The United States still is pumping millions, incredibly, into the oil-rich countries which have shown their gratitude by seeking their American customers through inflated oil prices.

— The United States still is supporting opposing sides in almost a dozen wars since World War II ended.

— The Pentagon gave massive doses of military aid to India and Pakistan, whose armies used U.S. weapons to fire at one another in 1965.

DON OAKLEY 'Milk Deal' Exceeds Routine Dirty Politics

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It very well may be that when the book is closed on the presidency of Richard M. Nixon, the worst stain on its pages will not be the Watergate break-in and subsequent coverup but what has come to be called "the milk deal."

Watergate conceivably may be dismissed, as many Americans seem willing to do, as nothing more than dirty politics as usual — well, perhaps a little dirtier than usual, but not substantially different from other things that have happened in the past.

However, President Nixon's decision to raise milk price supports in 1972 was something that very directly affected every American, of whose interests the President is supposed to be the chief guardian.

A lengthy draft report prepared by the staff of the Senate Watergate committee after a year's investigation charges that when the President ordered the increase he was aware that the milk producers had pledged a $2-million contribution to his re-election campaign and that moreover he "ignored the opinion of every agricultural expert in his administration."

Conspicuously implicated in the report, says, "cost the government and the consumer hundreds of millions of dollars."

John Connally, then secretary of the Treasury, also has been implicated in the affair, allegedly receiving $10,000 from the milk producers to use his influence with the administration.

The report rebuts President Nixon's "white paper" of last year in which he defended his action on the grounds that a Democratic Congress was holding "a gun to his head" in the form of threatened legislation that would have allowed an even higher price ceiling.

There was not that much pressure on Capitol Hill, contends the report, and in any event, the administration ordered increase was higher than anything proposed in Congress.

At best, it was a lame excuse from a President who at the time had an 11-3 record of having his vetoes upheld by Congress.

By all rights, the very suggestion that the milk producers were prepared to contribute lavishly to his campaign fund ought to have quered their request in the President's eyes from the start.

This is something that a man concerned about his image, let alone the welfare of the people, should not have wanted to touch with a 10-foot pole.

No one has charged the President with crudely accepting an outright bribe from the milk industry. This is an exceedingly gray area, and such a charge would seem to be more difficult to prove even than his involvement in the Watergate coverup.

Parasitic Concerns Again, it appears to have been a case of the President, and his advisors, believing that the re-election of Richard Nixon was the paramount concern, overriding all other considerations.

A contribution of $2 million was not to be rejected out of hand, and if it could be rationalized as serving the longrange welfare of the country by preserving the President in office, then an increase in the price of milk was little enough for the country to pay.

And again, unfortunately, the White House is withholding tapes and other documents that might help clarify the matter.

DOG BITES ARE COSTING

THE CONSUMER ALERT— Selection Of Reliable, Licensed Company Urged

By JOHN L. HILL Texas Attorney General AUSTIN — Many people who plan to move do so in the summer. If you're one of those who will be packing up and heading for new territory soon, be sure you select a reliable moving company to transport your belongings.

Because whether it's a cut-glass punch bowl or a well-used tricycle, your household goods probably would be hard to replace.

Attorneys in our Consumer Protection Division warn that some "hot haulers," or illegal moving companies, are in operation and that dealing with them could result in some problems.

For one thing, many of the illegal movers cannot or do not offer proper insurance for your goods.

For another thing, consumers who unwittingly deal with a bootleg moving company possibly could be liable for prosecution under the Motor Carrier Act, enforced by the Texas Department of Public Safety.

There are three classes of moving companies: (1) unregulated ones that can move goods from their base city to another; (2) companies licensed by the Texas Railroad Commission to move goods anywhere within the state; and (3) companies licensed by the Interstate Commerce Commission to move goods between states.

Spokesmen for the Railroad Commission say that many interstate movers have Texas representatives who also are licensed as intrastate movers themselves.

If you plan to move from Wichita Falls to El Paso, for example, you will need a company licensed by the Railroad Commission as an intrastate carrier. Picking a company from the telephone book, as many people do, is no guarantee that you'll get a properly licensed mover.

The best way is to check with the Railroad Commission to see if the movers you are interested in are listed as certified companies or as designated agents for such companies.

In order for a company to be certified, it must prove the need for increased service. Public hearings are held and, if the need is demonstrated, a permit can be granted by the Railroad Commission.

Crossroads Report

Dear Editor: I see where a senator by the name of Muskie is all stirred up because some local-type governing bodies take their "revenue-sharing" federal hand-out and use it to cut their community taxes.

It appears to be The Great One's conviction that any duly ordained tax-raising group that lowers taxes is committing the Unpardonable Sin.

Which, if true, gives us questionably-saved Nobodies the assurance that if we do go to Hell, the same bunch of consecrated tax-raisers won't be there to work on us.

Fish Come Back

LONDON (AP) — Pollution in the Thames has been reduced so much since 1971 that 70 species of fish have returned to the river. They include sea trout, eel, flounder and lampreys. Lord Grensford told the House of Lords Tuesday. He said there are more cleanup plans in the works, but it is too soon to predict if salmon will ever be able to live in the river again.

win with the ace and lead the queen of hearts. South would duck that trick and make his three notrump on the nose.

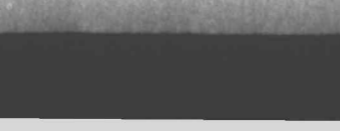

A duplicate player might also try that play, but a top expert would try for four notrump since four spades would be bid and make at many tables.

Therefore, our top expert would forget about safety. He would win the first heart and promptly lead the jack of diamonds for a finesse.

It would succeed and then the combination of the successful finesse and a good break would leave him with four diamonds, four spades, two hearts and a top score.

DOG BITES ARE COSTING

THE CONSUMER ALERT— Selection Of Reliable, Licensed Company Urged

By JOHN L. HILL Texas Attorney General AUSTIN — Many people who plan to move do so in the summer. If you're one of those who will be packing up and heading for new territory soon, be sure you select a reliable moving company to transport your belongings.

Because whether it's a cut-glass punch bowl or a well-used tricycle, your household goods probably would be hard to replace.

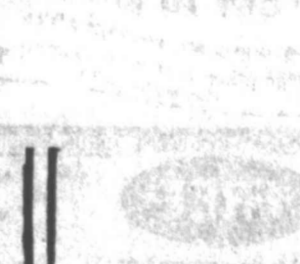

Attorneys in our Consumer Protection Division warn that some "hot haulers," or illegal moving companies, are in operation and that dealing with them could result in some problems.

For one thing, many of the illegal movers cannot or do not offer proper insurance for your goods.

For another thing, consumers who unwittingly deal with a bootleg moving company possibly could be liable for prosecution under the Motor Carrier Act, enforced by the Texas Department of Public Safety.

There are three classes of moving companies: (1) unregulated ones that can move goods from their base city to another; (2) companies licensed by the Texas Railroad Commission to move goods anywhere within the state; and (3) companies licensed by the Interstate Commerce Commission to move goods between states.

Wife Of New Portugal Chief Can't Speak Out

By FENTON WHEELER
Associated Press Writer
LISBON, Portugal (AP) —
"In Portugal now, four million women have the right to speak out. One does not and it's me," says Mrs. Palma Carlos, wife of the country's new premier. She adds: "You can hardly hit the premier with women's lib when he comes home from a hard day at office." But few if any women in Portugal today have better qualifications to speak out on women's rights than the 70-year-old writer-lawyer. For years she has been fighting for those rights, a tiny ripple in a sea of superstition. In another place and another time, perhaps Elina Guimaraes, her maiden and professional name, might have become a Portuguese Golda Meir or Indira Gandhi.

The daughter of former Premier Vitorino Guimaraes, she began at age 7 by writing on her toys: "Women should vote." Since then she has written more than 100 newspaper articles on women's rights, or the lack of them in Portugal. She and Palma Carlos were married in 1928. "I am a feminist," says Mrs. Palma Carlos. "I have been for 60 years. As a simple citizen I could say anything I liked, as the wife of the premier I am restricted." The mother of two grown sons, Mrs. Palma Carlos says she will not use her new position to encourage women's liberation or to try to influence her husband. "We respect each other's views. He knows what I think. But I would not dream of asking him what as premier he has done about women's liberation. It would be an intrusion." Nevertheless, she has firm ideas on what changes for women should be included in the new Portuguese revolution. Divorce, a revolution all by itself in Catholic Portugal, should be permitted if both people want it, Mrs. Palma

Carlos says. She is against abortion as "infanticide—I oppose it as I do the death penalty, there is no right to take human life." Portugal law, she adds, needs to be enforced for a change to rid the country of widespread prostitution and child labor abuses. But she says she will not take an active part in seeking reform affecting women.

Troubles Holding Convention In Life Of Broker

NEW YORK (AP) — Trouble is something you seldom get just a little of. When it arrives in your life you may expect more to follow until troubles are holding a convention in your life. Ask a stock broker.

The comptroller of the currency, James E. Smith, has just ruled that banks can continue to offer securities to their customers, in direct competition with brokers, who already feel they are at the bottom of a heap.

It would take too long to list these difficulties, but they include a loss of customer confidence and business, high interest rates that draw money from the market, and a general inability to remain consistently profitable.

The latest action, therefore, seems like just another problem piled upon the others, but it may be far more than that. It pits two entire industries against each other, and there is no question which is stronger. Banking is.

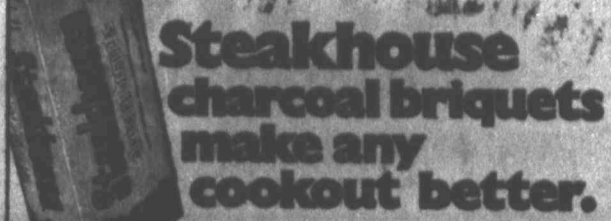

Banks have the assets, the flexibility, the marketing power, the personnel, the accounting techniques, the outlets. Far more important, they already have the customers. Almost everyone uses a bank.

How simple it is therefore, for a bank that already provides a dozen customer services to simply offer another one, as some already have. How simple to transfer $50 from the checking account to the stock account.

The brokers, on the other hand, don't have nearly the marketbasket of products or the financial power of the banks, although this perhaps geographically, brokers are not a critical criterion.

Lions Hear International Director

The United States was founded on a belief in God, and it will remain great only as long as that belief is retained and maintained, members of the Midland Downtown Lions Club were told at their Wednesday noon meeting in the American Legion Hall.

The speaker was Everett J. "Ebb" Grindstaff of Ballinger, a director of Lions International, a past governor of this Lions district, and a director of the State Bar of Texas.

He was introduced by Carl O. Hyde, a member and past president of the Downtown club, and also a past district governor.

"Our country became great because of people who were willing to serve others and to accept responsibilities," Grindstaff said.

A welcome change also is noted in this respect, he explained. He said that in troubled times, people still must have faith in God and in their country and that faith can come only from one place, from inside the individual.

"Contemporary man, with all the mechanical and technical advancements of the age, still must fall back on the natural resources which have been provided by God," the Ballinger attorney and civic and church leader said.

"Faith in individual initiative on the part of some of our great Americans of the past has been responsible for many of the things we are inclined to take for granted today."

Lions Club members in America and around the world, the speaker said, are involved in worthwhile projects designed to help others. He said Lions at the local level must make certain that new members become involved in club projects, making them aware of the fact that they are needed, wanted and are welcome. He said retention is a major problem in service organizations.

"The more we put into Lionism, the more we will get out of it," Grindstaff said. He said also that Lionism in America must strive to restore complete faith in the nation and in individual initiative. He again stressed the fact that faith can be restored only from within. "Meanwhile, give of yourself to your fellow man," Grindstaff concluded.

Second Honeymoon Death Defendant Free On Bond

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The second of two San Antonio men charged in a New Orleans hit-and-run killing was free on $20,000 bond Wednesday.

Claudius James Gesick, 26, indicted June 6 for the murder of his bride of two weeks, spent only three hours in the custody of sheriff's deputies after his Wednesday surrender.

The surrender followed from New Orleans of a warrant for Gesick's arrest.

Samuel Corey was freed Tuesday on a $50,000 bond in connection with the Jan. 16 death of Mrs. Patricia Ann Gesick. Corey spent one night in jail waiting for a hearing at which the $250,000 bond was reduced.

A similar hearing was held for Gesick shortly after his surrender in the court of Justice of the Peace Mike Hernandez.

Gesick took the stand and testified he has only $50 to his name, no job, no real estate and no collateral. He requested a bond of $15,000.

Gesick last month posted a $5,000 bond on a bigamy charge resulting from his short marriage to Mrs. Gesick.

Rosary Tonight For Mrs. Goulet

Rosary for Mrs. Henry (Betty) Goulet, 47, will be said at 8 p.m. today in the Newgate W. Ellis Chapel. Mass will be read at 10 a.m. Friday in St. Ann's Catholic Church. Entombment will be in Valhalla Mausoleum.

Mrs. Goulet died Tuesday in an Odessa hospital after a short illness.

Pallbearers will be Thomas P. Ingram, John Reid, Les Weatherall, Richard Vivion, Beckman Saums and Charles W. "Bill" Smith.

Honorary pallbearers will be C. R. Heringway, Billie Gilbert, Punk Bridgeman, Cay Atchison, Bill Casstevens, John Ryan, Howard "Rocky" Ford, all of Midland, and Sam Bishop of Casper, Wyo.

P. B. Hart, 68, Dies At Odessa

ODESSA — P. B. Hart, 68, died Wednesday in an Odessa hospital.

Services are pending at Hubbard-Kelly Funeral Home.

Born June 6, 1906, in Dickens County, he was married to Pearl Wallace on Sept. 19, 1936, at Pecos. He was a retired building contractor. He came to Odessa in 1938.

Survivors include the widow; a son, Dr. Roy H. Hart of Odessa; three sisters, Mrs. May Nell and Mrs. Hubbard Leverett, both of Odessa and Mrs. Arlie Dean of Hereford, and two grandchildren.

Midlanders' Kin Dies; Rites Held

WINTERS — Mrs. Walter Neely, about 65, daughter of Mrs. T. A. Lindsey and sister of Mrs. Bell Manning, both of Midland, died Wednesday afternoon at Vernon.

Services were to be held at 2 p.m. today in Vernon. Interment was to be in a Vernon cemetery.

Other survivors include the husband, two sons and a brother.

Expense Up To $40 Billion For Proposed Health Plans

BOSTON (AP) — A national health insurance plan covering hospital and outpatient bills could cost from $3 billion to $18 billion a year, says a study by the Rand Corp.

The study says a conservative cost estimate of a full-coverage plan paying all the bills for hospital and ambulatory services, such as that in clinics and doctors' offices, would be from $3 billion to $18 billion.

If a plan were enacted calling for users to pay a flat 25 percent of their expenses through coinsurance with the national plan covering the rest, the estimate says the cost would be between $3 billion and $7 billion.

It said an even more extensive program including such services as drugs and dental care could push the costs to $30 billion for the coinsurance plan and $30 billion for full coverage.

Health insurance plans being considered by Congress carry estimates up to $40 billion.

The Rand report, published today in the New England Journal of Medicine, comes from a two-year study conducted by Dr. Joseph P. Newhouse and Dr. Charles E. Phelps, senior economists at Rand, and Dr. William B. Schwartz, physician-in-chief of the Tufts-New England Medical Center in Boston.

The report from Rand, a private, nonprofit institute in Santa Monica, Calif., avoided identifying or discussing any specific proposal before Congress.

Mrs. Hazel Molinar Dies; Services Set

Mrs. Hazel W. Molinar, 58, died Wednesday in a Midland nursing home.

Rosary will be said at 8 p.m. today in Thomas Funeral Home. Mass will be read at 3 p.m. Friday in Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church. Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery.

She was born Dec. 17, 1917, at Terlingua and had lived in Midland 26 years.

Survivors include five sons, Ernest Molinar, Rudy Molinar, Joe Molinar, Edward Molinar, all of Midland, and James Molinar of Seminole; seven daughters, Mrs. Ida Robledo, Mrs. Hazel Velardo, Mrs. Gloria Sanchez, Silvia Molinar, Mrs. Beatrice Munoz, Mrs. Bertha Salgado, all of Midland, and Mrs. Olivia Martinez of Weatherford, two brothers, three sisters, 30 grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

As for further additions, she said, "We were surprised and happy with these. But I really think five is plenty."

TWO SETS OF QUADS—California Women Hit Birth Jackpot

POMONA, Calif. (AP) — 27, had given birth to quadruplets until after her four special deliveries had arrived.

A spokesman for Pomona Valley Community Hospital said three of the Struve babies were in fair condition and one was in poor to fair condition. They were born two months prematurely.

The Montemayor quads were born two weeks prematurely. All were in good condition.

Mrs. Struve and her husband, Richard, 32, a junior high school teacher, are also the parents of a 23-month-old son Scott.

As for further additions, she said, "We were surprised and happy with these. But I really think five is plenty."

The 28-year-old elementary school teacher said she didn't know that Mrs. Montemayor,

Economist Says Corporate Profits Overestimated

NEW YORK (AP) — Almost everyone overestimates corporate profits, said Carl Madden, chief economist of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Poll results support his contention. One study showed that people believe the average manufacturer earns 26 per cent on sales, after taxes, when the actual profit last year was 4.7 per cent.

Madden blames journalists for some of the misunderstanding, but there is also reason to suspect that many corporate officers, who brag about their profits to some audiences, and scale them down to others.

Speaking to investment analysts, an executive is inclined to emphasize profitability. But for other audiences he may stress rising labor and material costs.

An extreme example of the dichotomy is that of a large corporation that recently declared a regular quarterly dividend, based on what it told shareholders was a solid profit for the year. But it reported a loss to the Internal Revenue Service.

Profits aren't simply explained. They may seem high in one quarter because they were depressed the quarter before. They may be due to extraordinary conditions that won't recur. They may indeed be huge, but only because the company is too.

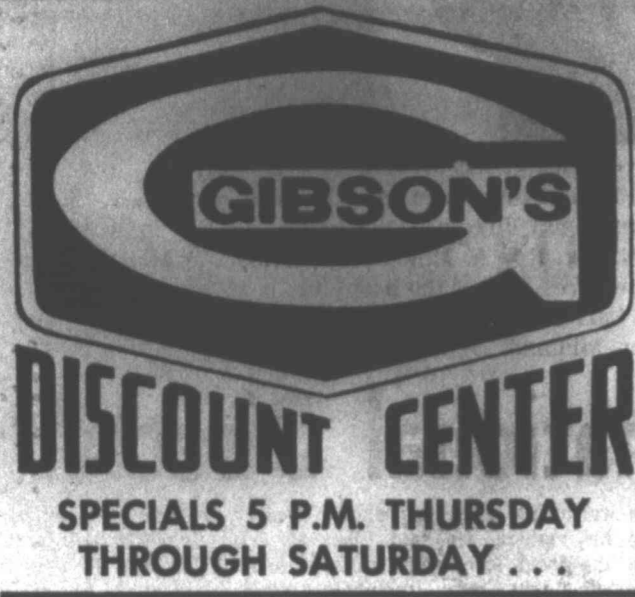

But what seemed to bother Madden most as he talked prior to addressing The Conference Board, is that no matter what business does today, somehow a goodly number of people will categorize it as inimical to the public interest.

The air, he said, is "filled with conspiratorial philosophy that thinks business is a ripoff when really it is an engine of everyone's wellbeing."

Madden asked, how many of them know that among the 500 largest industrial concerns, as measured by Fortune Magazine, 21 companies showed a net loss on their sales. "Compare that with the 28 per cent profit estimate in the survey."

Why are businessmen suspect, he asked rhetorically? "People forget that business is creative. Actors, dramatists and writers are creative," he said, "but the guy who produces a $100 calculator somehow isn't."

Suggesting that journalists contribute to the misunderstanding, Madden asked, how many of them know that among the 500 largest industrial concerns, as measured by Fortune Magazine, 21 companies showed a net loss on their sales. "Compare that with the 28 per cent profit estimate in the survey."
