Bomb Blasts British Parliament

Nuclear Aid Promised To Israel

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — The United States today promised Israel the same help in developing nuclear power that it plans to give Egypt and reaffirmed its commitment to long-term arms shipments to the Jewish state. President Nixon made the announcement in a joint communique with Israeli Premier Yitzhak Rabin in Jerusalem, then flew to Amman for talks with King Hussein. The American President arrived on the last stop of his five-nation Middle East tour to the tightest security he has encountered in any Arab country. Nixon and Rabin said their two governments "will negotiate an agreement on cooperation in the field of nuclear energy, technology and the supply of fuel from the United States under agreed safeguards. "This agreement will in particular take into account the intention of the government of Israel to purchase power reactors from the United States" to provide electricity for Israel's rapidly growing economy, the communique said. Israel has had an agreement with the United States covering joint nuclear research for the last 15 years, and the communique said a provisional agreement would be made this month "on the further sale of nuclear fuel to Israel." The wording of the communique paralleled that of one three days ago in which Nixon announced in Cairo the United States would supply nuclear reactors and fuel to Egypt for peaceful purposes. The agreement had been forecast earlier today at a news conference by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. Kissinger also sought to quiet suspicions in Israel and the U.S. Congress that the Egyptians would use the American nuclear aid to produce nuclear weapons. He said the U.S. government would "make doubly sure there aren't any loopholes" in its agreement with Egypt. The secretary said there never were any such questions about the similar agreements the United States has with about 30 other nations until India set off its first nuclear explosion last month. But Kissinger said India's nuclear program was aided by Canada, and Canada's safeguards are (See NIXON Page 2A)

11 Persons Hurt As Fire Sweeps Ancient Chapel

LONDON (AP)—A bomb believed set by Irish terrorists exploded in an annex of the House of Commons during the morning rush hour today, setting Parliament on fire and injuring 11 persons, officials said. There was considerable damage to Westminster Hall, oldest of the buildings in Westminster Palace, which houses Parliament. It was the first such attack since Guy Fawkes' abortive gunpowder bomb plot in 1604. Shortly before today's explosion a man with an Irish accent telephoned the Press Association, Britain's domestic news agency, to warn that a bomb would go off in the House of Commons in six minutes. Scotland Yard's bomb squad was racing to the building when they heard the blast. Stained Glass Undamaged. Windows at the front of the hall were blown out, but the giant stained-glass windows at the other end appeared undamaged. However, it was feared there was considerable damage to the hall's unique 13th century timber roof. A police spokesman said the bomb fractured a gas main and started a fire that sent flames shooting high above the 14th century St. Stephen's Chapel, near Westminster Hall. Dense smoke enveloped Big Ben for a time. The police said the bomb went off near a ground-floor canteen adjacent to the hall. More than a dozen fire engines fought the blaze as hundreds of persons stopped on their way to work to watch. The fire was reported under control an hour after the bomb blast. 15-20 Pounds Of Explosive. One police explosives expert told a member of Commons the bomb contained between 15 and 20 pounds of explosive material. Members of Parliament stood in pools of water amid a tangle of fire hoses and gazed in dismay at the fire damage. David Steel, a member of Commons from the Liberal party, said there has been concern for some time about security for the Palace of Westminster. WAITING ON SEVERAL CUSTOMERS— Bandits Rob Midland Store Second Time In Two Weeks

The 7-Eleven food store at Neely Street and Midland Drive was held up Sunday night, the second time in two weeks, and this time the robbers waited on several unsuspecting customers for about 45 minutes. Police have asked that anyone waited on by a male clerk in that store between 7:30-8:15 p.m. contact detectives to give information concerning the robbers. The store was supposed to have been staffed by a woman clerk at that time. Several persons, who heard about the robbery this morning, called police headquarters before noon. The robbers, who were described as nervous and having a hard time opening the cash register, shortchanged some of the customers, police were told. The clerk, Euzella Hines, said she was behind the counter when a man walked in, a stocking over his head, and pointed a gun at her. Officers believe this may be the same man who held up the store late June 1 and got away with about $100. This time the men got about $55. The man told her to go into the restroom and take off her 7-Eleven jacket, which she did. She said she knew there was a second person in the store because she could hear the cash register opening, but she saw him only once, that time through the mirror in the restroom. At one point while she was being held captive, the clerk locked the restroom door from the inside. But one of the robbers told her that if she did not unlock (See BANDITS Page 2A)

Losing Candidate Files Contest In Upton Runoff

RANKIN — Walter Campbell Jr. of McCarney, who was defeated for the Upton County judge nomination in the June 1 Democratic runoff, has filed suit in the 112th District Court here charging voting irregularities. Judge Charles Sherrill of Oona has set the case for trial Monday in the Upton County Courthouse here. Campbell was defeated 595-590 by Mrs. Jack (Peggy) Garner, also of McCarney. Campbell and his attorney, S. A. Middlebrook of San Angelo, allege that several voters in the runoff election are not citizens of this country. Forty-one voters have been subpoenaed for the Monday trial. Middlebrook said this morning 15 of those persons will be presented as witnesses, while 26 will be asked to show proof of citizenship to the court. Since there is no Republican candidate in the November election for the Upton County judgeship, being vacated by Judge Allen Moore, the winner of the Democratic primary is assured election in November. Tied In May Primary. Mrs. Garner tied with Campbell in the May primary for the court position and then defeated him in the second race by a three-vote margin, 593-590. Last week, Campbell asked for a ballot recount. The recount improved the winning margin of Mrs. Garner by another two votes, 595-590. Upton County Clerk Sybil Browning noted this morning that to avoid another costly election, if ineligible voters are found, she "will try to get a court order to have the stubballot boxes opened and eliminate the unqualified ballots." An examination of any unqualified ballots, to determine who received the votes, may show that there will be no need for another election, the clerk pointed out. Compliments Mrs. Garner. Campbell said this morning, "I feel that the election was of an exemplary nature and run on a completely up and up basis." He said there was no complaint on his part of the actions of Mrs. Garner whom he described as an excellent and honest person. Campbell said that he and his attorney felt that due to ignorance of the law, a number of voters were not qualified to take part in the election and that these ineligible votes could possibly make the difference in his effort to win the election. Attorney Warren Burnett of Odessa is representing Mrs. Garner.

Tribunal Sends Texas Gas Rate Case Back For Review

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Power Commission scored a victory today in the Supreme Court in its effort to revive an order setting natural gas rates for the Texas Gulf Coast producing area, second-largest in the United States. A U.S. Circuit Court had rejected the commission's proposal to reward producers for developing new reserves and channeling more gas into the interstate market. Last week, however, the Supreme Court upheld a similar plan by the commission in a case involving natural gas from southern Louisiana. In today's order, the Supreme Court sent the Texas case back to the lower court to be decided in the light of its Louisiana decision. The FPC order in October 1971 established areawide rates for gas at the wellhead. About 12 per cent of natural gas in interstate pipelines comes from the area. Most major oil companies were parties to the suit.

Red China Explodes Nuclear Test In Air

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India said China carried out a nuclear test above ground today in an explosion equivalent to one megaton of TNT. The Indian Atomic Energy Department said the test was held in the Lop Nor region of western China and was picked up by the department's monitoring stations. China made no immediate announcement of a test, which would be the first since it set off a hydrogen bomb in the atmosphere almost a year ago on June 27, 1973. India set off its first nuclear test May 18 and as a result Canada suspended nuclear aid to India. The reported Chinese and French explosions, coming on top of the Indian test, create a sensitive background for the atomic aid agreement reached between the United States and Egypt and Israel during President Nixon's Middle East trips. While the United States stressed that the development (See CHINA Page 2A)

Impeachment Inquiry Nearing End

By JOHN BECKLER WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee is nearing the end of its impeachment inquiry, with only about five of the original 55 allegations against President Nixon still under active examination. The Watergate cover-up, Nixon's taxes and charges that the administration used the Internal Revenue Service for political purposes are the major areas still under review. The cover-up inquiry stems from the break-in two years ago to day of Democratic National Committee headquarters in the Watergate building complex. Use of wiretaps in domestic surveillance remains a concern for a sizeable number of committee members, and the search for a link between Nixon's decision to raise milk prices and campaign contributions by the dairy industry awaits the testimony of former White House aide Charles W. Colson. Some members still question the legality of the secret bombing of Cambodia ordered by Nixon, but a majority appears convinced it is not an impeachable offense. The presentation of evidence is expected to conclude this week with a wrap-up of the cover-up and an examination of Nixon's income-tax payments in 1969-72. Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., has scheduled closed hearings for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and said he will meet at night, if necessary, to conclude them this week. Dozens of allegations announced as under investigation last March were dropped without any evidence even being presented, and many others were given only a passing glance. Meanwhile, former Deputy Atty. Gen. William D. Ruckelshaus said Sunday there are other surprises ahead in the Watergate scandal. Ruckelshaus, who was fired from the Justice Department Oct. 20 after refusing to fire Archibald Cox as special prosecutor, was interviewed on CBS' "Face the Nation" program. He did not reveal what future Watergate developments could be expected, but said: "There is information that I'm aware of that has not yet become public" or perhaps been brought before the impeachment inquiry. In the same interview, Ruckelshaus said he believes Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger should be cleared in the wiretapping controversy. He said his familiarity with the case tended to confirm Kissinger's explanation of his role in the wiretapping. Most of the items eliminated from the committee's inquiry dealt with charges that the administration promised favorable treatment by government agencies to campaign contributors and used illegal campaign tactics in the 1972 elections. The reduction of charges under investigation indicates only a few proposed articles of impeachment will be before the committee when it begins deliberating them in about two weeks. The most likely charge it will have to vote on will be one of obstruction of justice in connection with the Watergate cover-up. Presidential conduct in the IRS and wiretapping phases of the inquiry is expected to be included in a proposed broad charge involving abuse of the powers of office. The possible impeachable offenses that could result from the tax and dairy matters are fraud and bribery. Nixon's refusal to comply with committee subpoenas could furnish grounds for an additional article of impeachment and also will be taken into consideration by the members when they vote on other articles. The end of the evidentiary phase of the investigation will clear the way for committee decisions on three important questions: Calling of witnesses, presentation of Nixon's defense (See PROBE Page 2A)

Widely Scattered Showers Fail To Dispel Texas Heat

Aside from a mixture of thunderstorms and showers in the Panhandle-Plains sector, skies were clear across Texas and the weather was on the warm side in most areas again today. Light, scattered showers fell Sunday afternoon in Midland County, with .03 inch recorded at the National Weather Service at Midland Air Terminal. Light rain also fell southeast of Midland near the Midkiff area and south of the city near the Upton-Midland county line. The forecast for the Tall City through Tuesday calls for little change in temperatures, with the high each day expected in the upper 90s, and the low in the upper 60s. The maximum temperature here Sunday was 97 and this morning's low was 68. A weak cool front breaking up across the north part of the state was blamed for the few patches of unruly weather this morning. It also held temperatures down a bit in the Panhandle. The early morning marks ranged from 61 degrees at Dalhart in that section up to 77 at Galveston on the coast, The Associated Press reported. Forecasts called for more of the same—a few afternoon and evening thundershowers over northern areas and clear to partly cloudy weather elsewhere with no letup in the heat.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries announced today it has decided to continue its freeze on oil prices for three more months. WASHINGTON (AP) — Herbert W. Kalmbach, once President Nixon's family lawyer and a major fund raiser in the 1968 and 1972 presidential campaigns, was sentenced today to at least six months in prison for violations of federal election laws. JERUSALEM (AP)—Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger left for Ottawa today after refusing to soften his threat to resign unless allegations that he lied about his involvement in White House wiretapping are proved false.

Nixon Promises Israel Nuclear Aid

not as good as those of the United States.

Administration officials say the question of whether the new agreements are subject to Senate confirmation is being studied.

The United States helped Israel build a five-megawatt research reactor in 1959 south of Tel Aviv and signed an agreement then to cooperate in the research program. Israel has a second reactor on the Negev Desert that can produce plutonium.

The Israeli government has denied repeatedly that it is producing nuclear bombs or warheads. But foreign experts are convinced Israel's scientists and engineers could manufacture nuclear weapons speedily if ordered to do so.

Nixon, meanwhile, told Israel it must be prepared to compromise further in Middle East peace efforts if it is to avoid another war with the Arabs.

In a lengthy toast at the conclusion of a state dinner in Jerusalem Sunday night, he praised the Israelis for their courage in the four wars they have fought with the Arabs in the last quarter of a century.

But "it also takes courage, a different kind of courage, to wage peace," the President said. "It requires risks, just as war requires risks, and the stakes are high, just as the stakes in war are high."

The alternative is "another war and another one, and each one, of course, is terribly costly . . . particularly to this nation."

Nixon flew to Israel from Damascus, where he and President Hafez Assad announced the resumption of Syrian-United States diplomatic relations, which Syria broke during the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

Of the seven Arab nations that broke with the U.S. then, only Iraq has not restored the ties.

The American President in his farewell remarks to the Syrians did not second Assad's call for Israel's withdrawal from all occupied Arab lands and "the restoration of Palestinian rights." Instead he said, as in the other Arab capitals he has visited, that the problems of the area are complicated and the United States is "relentlessly committed" to finding a solution.

Nixon, the first American president to visit Israel, received a warm official welcome on his airport arrival, and an estimated 100,000 persons cheered him along the road to Jerusalem.

The President, his wife and Kissinger called on former Premier Golda Meir at her home, and then Nixon and Kissinger met with Mrs. Meir's successor, Premier Yitzhak Rabin, and members of his government.

Kissinger reviewed Nixon's visits to Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Syria and told the Israeli leaders the U.S. efforts to improve relations with those countries present no danger to Israel.

Nixon emphasized this in his speech Sunday night, declaring: "Under no circumstances will the fact that the United States is seeking a better relationship with some of Israel's neighbors mean that our friendship or support for Israel . . . is any less."

He said Israel's security must never be endangered and the four Arab-Israeli wars were necessary "in order to see that this state survived."

Nixon spends tonight in Jordan, the fifth and last stop on his Middle East tour. En route back to Washington, he will spend Tuesday night in the Azores, the Portuguese islands in the mid-Atlantic, for his first meeting with the leader of the recent Portuguese revolution, President Antonio de Spinoia.

Combs' Attorney Will File Appeal

An attorney for Stephen Max Combs, convicted killer of Vickie Bernethy, gave notice of appeal this morning after Judge Perry Pickett overruled a motion for new trial in Midland's 142nd District Court.

Combs received formal sentencing this morning to 15 years in prison, a term handed down by a jury here last month.

Miss Bernethy was stabbed to death and her body found in the closet in Combs' bedroom July 16, 1970. He was indicted two months later and spent about 1 1/2 years under psychiatric treatment at Rusk State Hospital.

A Midland County jury declared him sane in May 1972, thus clearing the way for his murder trial, which was held two months later.

The jury in that trial found him guilty and assessed a 25-year prison term.

Pickett denied a defense motion for a new trial the following month, but about a year later, in May 1973, after reviewing briefs in the case, changed his ruling and ordered another trial.

The second trial was held last month, that jury assessing the 15-year prison term.

Combs was represented by Midland attorneys Vann Culp and Bill Smith in his first trial and by Smith and Emmett Colvin of Dallas in the second one.

Dist. Atty. Jim Mashburn prosecuted during both trials.

Streaker Delivers Theme, Exhibits 'Contrite Attitude'

The LHS student who "streaked" through the Midland High commencement ceremonies last month appeared in Midland Municipal Court this morning to turn in the theme assigned by Judge Bill Alders.

Alders told the boy to report to the city attorney Tuesday and, following a discussion with the prosecutor, the court will impose sentence.

The judge released this statement: "The written report submitted by the defendant demonstrated three things: (1) acknowledgement of the illegality of the conduct, (2) a contrite attitude for having committed the act, and (3) a willingness to accept punishment for the incident."

"The report was well written and showed that a great deal of thought had gone into its preparation."

"The purpose behind requiring it was to determine why the defendant had committed the act and whether he would be inclined to do so again."

"His report indicates that he sincerely regrets what he did and that, in the future, he will respect the moral code of society, not only by obedience to the law but also by honoring the standards of conduct which society values."

Shaw was driving one of the cars and Lewis was driving the other. Jackson was a passenger in Lewis' vehicle, Patrolman Bill Morgan reported.

Damage to both vehicles was extensive.

Three persons were injured in a two-car collision at Jackson and New York streets about 9 p.m. Sunday and two remained hospitalized this morning.

Burnell Jackson, 18, of 1206 E. Jax St. was in satisfactory condition in the intensive care unit at Midland Memorial Hospital this morning. He is being treated for internal injuries and broken ribs.

Robert Lewis Jr. 18, of 406 S. Clay St., was reported in satisfactory condition with internal injuries.

Raymond Lee Shaw, 43, of 709 S. Jackson St. was treated at Midland Memorial and was released.

Oil Price Decision Near

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Representatives of the world's leading oil exporting nations neared a decision on oil prices today amid reports they would continue a freeze on the posted prices for the next three months.

However, the representatives of the 13 nations in the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Companies were reported still discussing a proposed tax increase that could raise the price of gasoline in the United States 2 or 3 cents a gallon.

The ministers met for three hours Sunday night, and Iran's finance minister, Dr. Jamshid Amouzegar, said they were near a final agreement.

OPEC's secretary-general, Abderrahman Khene, said the ministers would meet again today.

The proposal was a compromise between a demand by Saudi Arabia, the world's biggest oil exporter, to roll back prices and the other 12 OPEC members, which favor some form of price hike.

Under OPEC rules, any policy decision must have unanimous approval. Both Venezuela and Iran were outspoken in opposing the Saudi move for price cuts.

Even if the ministers make no change in the posted price, an artificial figure on which the exporting states calculate their taxes and royalties, conference sources said they may approve an increase in their tax rates.

Either increase would cost the consumers money.

OPEC froze posted prices in January and extended the freeze for three months in March. Before the freeze, prices quadrupled in a year's time to $11.65 a barrel, bringing the cost of Persian Gulf crude to the oil companies to approximately $7.

The three-day OPEC meeting, which began Saturday, heard an appeal for some form of price relief from Guyana's foreign minister Shridath Ramphal, speaking on behalf of nonaligned, underdeveloped nations. He told newsmen he had offered specific ideas on how the OPEC countries could help the developing nations with their balance of payments problems caused by high oil prices.

Washington (AP) — The Supreme Court today refused to review the bribery conviction of former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner Jr. and his argument that he could not be indicted while sitting as a federal judge.

The court declined without comment to interfere with the decision of the U.S. Circuit Court in Chicago upholding the convictions of Kerner and Theodore J. Isaacs, former Illinois director of revenue. Justice Thurgood Marshall took no part in the case.

Both Kerner and Isaacs had appealed the conviction.

Kerner argued in part that the Constitution prohibits the indictment and trial of a federal judge prior to his removal from office by impeachment.

Platform Blast Toll Up To Seven

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Two more bodies were recovered today, bringing to seven the number of known victims in an explosion and flash fire aboard an offshore oil and gas platform in the Gulf of Mexico.

Identities of the two bodies were not known at once.

Twelve men were on the Chevron Oil Co. rig near the mouth of the Mississippi River at the time of the blast Saturday. A company spokesman said seven jumped or were knocked into the 40-foot-deep water. The other five suffered burns.

One body, that of Chevron construction foreman E. C. Davison, 56, of Mandeville, was found in the water Saturday.

Three bodies picked up Sunday by search boats were identified as J. J. Toups, 28, of Cut Off, a Chevron pumper gauger; Robin W. Normand, 19, of Gretna, a Chevron roustabout, and Larry M. Katrincik, 22, of New Orleans, an employee of Harvey Industries Inc., a welding firm working on the platform.

The fifth body also had not been identified.

Without specifying incidents, Saxbe said the operation "meant that (Hoover) was taking active measures to stop the violence on campus and the racist activities and what he considered Communist activities."

Asked if the operation involved improper conduct, the attorney general replied: "I'm afraid so."

Saxbe was interviewed on the NBC radio program, "Speaking Freely."

Midland Youth Accidentally Shot

Steven Wayne Brosig, 18, of 3106 Barkley St. was shot accidentally in the left leg shortly before 5 p.m. Sunday and was reported in satisfactory condition this morning in Midland Memorial Hospital.

Brosig told Det. Sgt. Gib Roch that he dropped his loaded .22-caliber pistol on a concrete floor at his home and it discharged, the bullet striking him in the leg above the knee.

He stripped the cord from around his mattress and tried to hang himself in his cell but that failed. Then he set his blanket on his mattress afire.

The mattress is fire resistant and would not flamp up, but it did smolder for some time. A large hole was burned in it.

Jailers noticed smoke coming from under the door of the cell and discovered the fire.

Lujan was taken to the hospital at 8:55 p.m.

Ivey said there probably will be no complaints filed in connection with the damage to the mattress and blanket. He said Lujan is expected to be turned over to Border Patrol personnel who will begin department procedures against him.

Greenwood Lions Receive Charter

The new Greenwood Lions Club — the ninth in Midland County — received its charter at a ladies-night banquet held Saturday in the Greenwood School Cafeteria.

The charter was presented by Tom Nipp, governor of District 3-A1, Lions International. He is a member of Midland's Westside Lions Club.

Mayor Cecil Bridges of Stanton, a past district governor, was master of ceremonies.

Saxbe Says FBI Probably Indulged In Improper Acts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe says he has assigned a Justice Department committee to look into FBI counterintelligence practices "that were just not right."

"I expect to take it before Congress and to tell Congress exactly what happened," Saxbe said Sunday in disclosing the investigation of the counterintelligence program approved by late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Without specifying incidents, Saxbe said the operation "meant that (Hoover) was taking active measures to stop the violence on campus and the racist activities and what he considered Communist activities."

Asked if the operation involved improper conduct, the attorney general replied: "I'm afraid so."

Mrs. Parr's Rites Today

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Jody Martin Parr was to be interred in Corpus Christi today five days after she took her own life during a long and bitter divorce action against her husband, Duval County Judge Archer Parr.

Funeral services were scheduled for 1 p.m., conducted by evangelist Lester Roloff, himself a controversial figure in South Texas. He has been involved in a legal battle to keep his South Texas children's homes from state regulation.

Mrs. Parr, an attractive 40-year-old blonde, shot herself in the head early Thursday morning at her Corpus Christi home after she apparently spent the night writing letters to friends and relatives. Most of the notes were pleasant, some even lighthearted and encouraging.

In one of the letters, released by her lawyer after her death, Mrs. Parr told Roloff, "Don't stop praying for me. I need all the help I can get, and I believe you have a straight line."

Mrs. Parr had been twice jailed and twice freed on contempt of court charges connected with the property settlement in her divorce. One of her lawyers, Jack Pope Jr., later said she had been the victim of "official oppression."

Her suicide was the third misfortune to befall the politically powerful Parr family in recent months. Archer Parr has been sentenced to 10 years in prison on federal perjury conviction. His uncle, George Parr, nicknamed the "Duke of Duval," was found guilty earlier this year of federal income tax evasion.

In several of her letters Mrs. Parr indicated she approved of the investigations which led to the charges against her husband and his uncle. To one friend she wrote, "Duval County has always thought it was above the law."

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the seventh in a 10-part series designed to make it a safer summer. Summer is a time of fun—and potential danger—for kids. The articles offer sound advice on how to avoid danger—and what to do if accidents happen.

By DAVID HENDRIN
NEA Science Editor

When a child scrapes or skins his knee or other part of his body, gently clean the area with soap and water. Apply a sterile dressing, bandage or film-type gauze pad (which will prevent the dressing from sticking to the wound).

If a child gets a small cut, here is what to do:

1. Wash the cut with clean water and soap (or let cut bleed freely for a few moments to clean itself).
2. Hold the cut under running water for a few moments.
3. Apply sterile dressings as described above for scrapes. (The American Medical Association does not recom-

Here's How To Stop Bleeding

ment use of antiseptics for minor cuts and scrapes.) If the cut is larger and spurts blood or bleeds for a long time, prompt medical attention is needed.

Here is the correct first aid for severe bleeding:

1. Keep the wound clean.
2. Try to stop the bleeding by applying direct pressure. Put a clean cloth or gauze dressing directly on top of the wound and press firmly (keep dirty fingers away). Unless there are broken bones you should elevate the bleeding part to above the level of the heart. Keep your mouth away from cuts.
- (Tourniquets are not recommended by physicians in cases of severe bleeding other than amputations or crushed and mangled limbs.)
3. Treat for shock.
4. Contact a physician or police or rush the patient to a hospital.

Butcher's Mustache Tops

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Jay Nestle, a Colorado butcher who must be careful not to let his 24-inch handlebar mustache interfere with his work, is the winner of the second annual International Father's Mustache Competition.

Nestle said he plans to let his mustache grow until 1976, when Colorado celebrates its centennial. He estimates that by that time his mustache will have reached 36 to 40 inches.

So far, he has been able to cope with his extra-long handlebar while working at Chuck's Quality Meats in Broomfield, Colo.

"It hits the saw once in a while, but not the blade," Nestle said. "It interferes more with recreation than with work."

Nestle, 36, was invited to take part in the contest Sunday after his photograph appeared in a local newspaper.

There were about 40 contestants.

Nestle says he spends about 10 to 15 minutes a day on the mustache, and about three hours at least twice a week to shampoo and wax it.

His mustache also was awarded a first place in the "most kissable" category by Susan White, a local television personality.

Prizes also were awarded for the most fatherly, droopiest, most struggling, most bristly, most villainous, most debonair and bushiest mustaches.

Rain Hits Some Sectors

By The Associated Press

Heavy rain drenched parts of the middle and southern Atlantic Coast states today while unseasonably cool temperatures chilled the Midwest.

A downpour of nearly 4 inches hit Fort Bragg, N.C., during the night. More than an inch fell at Charlottesville, Va., Brunswick, Maine, and Dulles Airport outside Washington.

Although fair weather prevailed over most of the nation, temperatures dropped considerably below normal from the Great Lakes states to the Ohio and Missouri rivers. Sunday's 57-degree high at South Bend, Ind., was the coolest maximum reading ever recorded for the date.

Smithsonian Sells 'Shoo Bird' Device

WASHINGTON (AP) — S. Dillon Ripley, chief executive of the Smithsonian Institution, says migrating birds can be kept away from picture windows by using a "Shoo Bird," a silhouette of a falcon diving toward its prey.

Sold only in the Smithsonian's museum shops, the device reportedly will frighten migrating birds and reduce the number that might kill themselves by flying into a glass window or wall. Local birds visiting a feeder, however, will become accustomed to the silhouette.

Guru's Boat Back In Dealer's Hands

DENVER (AP) — Guru Maharaj Ji's 22-foot cabin cruiser is back in the hands of the boat dealer.

Followers of the 16-year-old religious leader gave him the boat as a wedding gift last month, but couldn't find a bank that would lend them the rest of the purchase price.

The purchasers put down $2,000 in cash. The balance was $7,300, according to the manager of the firm that sold the boat. "But their bank wouldn't give them a loan on the boat and neither would ours," said Bud Trent.

Judge Earns Stars!

U.S. District Judge Robert R. Merhige Jr. of Richmond, Va., has ruled that prayer is not necessarily dangerous!

This represents a somewhat changed attitude from some of his previous rulings, as well as of some other judges in the last several years.

Judge Merhige has ruled that prayers properly may be said at a high school graduation ceremony. He thus has earned stars in his crown.

The judge, in his ruling, noted that a few moments devoted to prayer at the ceremony created no significant threat to the separation of church and state. He explained that since there was no "calculated religious indoctrination," the invocation and benediction could not violate the Supreme Court's school prayer decisions.

His wise, just ruling undoubtedly was pleasing to a vast majority of Americans.

The strange thing about this, however, is that Judge Merhige is the one who handed down the historic Richmond school integration ruling of 1972.

You may recall that in that instance, he ordered the merger of the Richmond school district with two adjoining districts. He attempted in that case to override not only the state law but the United States Constitution as well. If his ruling had held, vast fleets of buses would have been required to transport thousands of pupils. Other school districts also would have been affected similarly.

Fortunately, however, the U.S. Supreme Court in a 4-to-4 decision, allowed a U.S. Appeals Court overruling of Merhige's order to stand.

In yet another case, Merhige ordered the director of the Virginia Division of Corrections to pay three former inmates $21,365 in damages on their complaints against being disciplined.

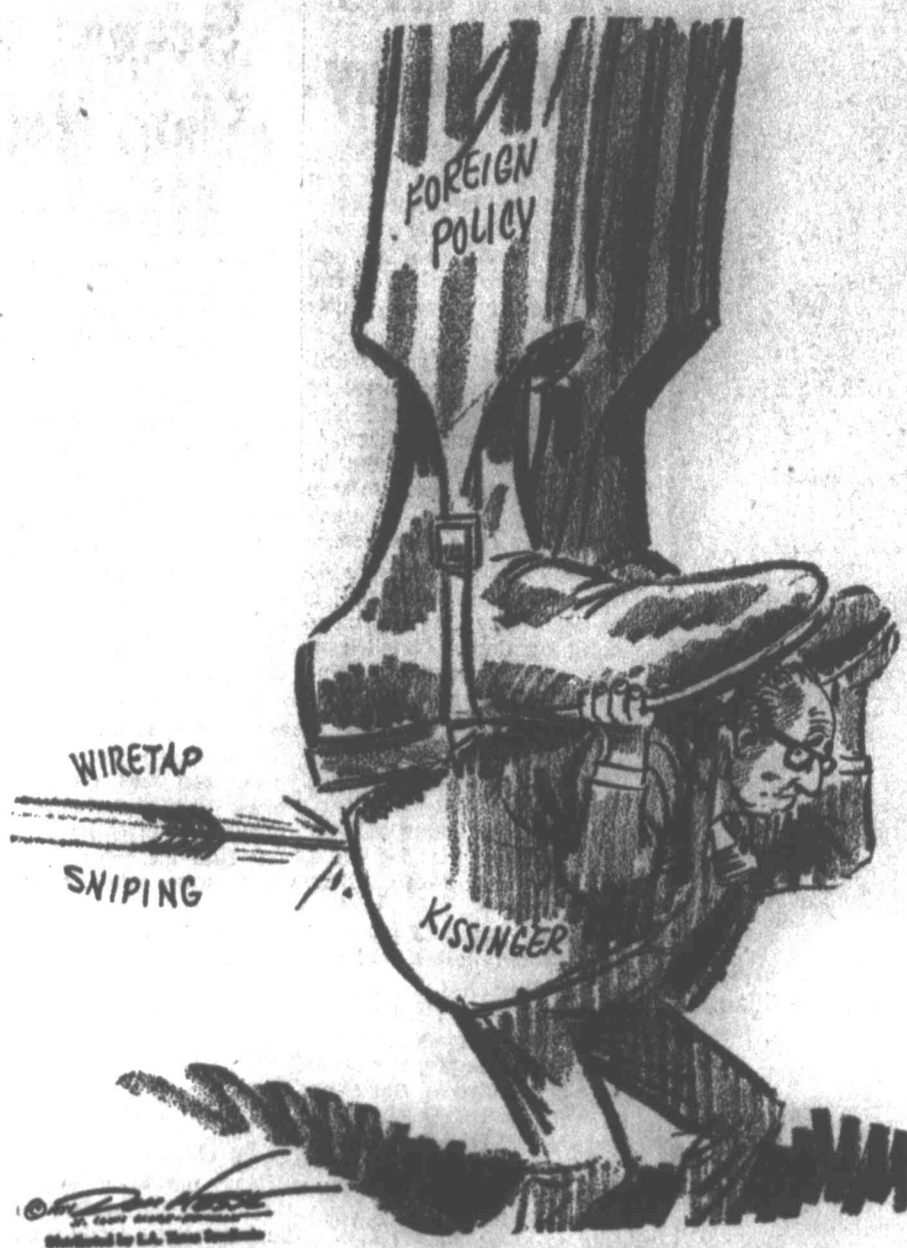

He also ruled that Virginia drug laws, since they describe marijuana as a narcotic, were unconstitutional. This ruling was overturned by the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

All this makes one wonder what change came over the judge in making his prayer ruling. Perhaps he has become more mature in the last year or so. It could be that his judgment has become more balanced with the years. Or perhaps someone's prayers were answered.

It is possible that his prayer ruling may be appealed, but regardless of the eventual outcome, Judge Merhige must be credited with making a sensible decision in this case.

Prayer is fundamental in the life of this great nation. It is hoped that other judges will accept Judge Merhige's viewpoint relating to prayer at school and other public functions. Prayer should be encouraged at every opportunity!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson Says: Here's the story of the man behind the diplomatic mask.
WASHINGTON — Henry Kissinger's startling outburst in Salzburg, Austria, where he responded to wiretap charges with a show of hurt and anger, gave the world a glimpse behind his diplomatic mask.

For the secretary of State is not always the charming witty man of the world who embraces his enemies and achieves the impossible peace. Those who know him have discovered under the suave exterior a petulant man, a restless friend and a resourceful enemy.

Perhaps the State Department superstar should be reduced to human dimensions. He spends most of his time in the pressure cooker. When his nerves are ragged, Kissinger's face reddens, his German accent thickens, and the expletives fly like shrapnel.

During his rages, he has hurled objects, sometimes at his underlings. One former aide recalls ducking a book that came flying across the room. Another said he never saw Kissinger throw anything heavier than a pad of paper at a staff member.

His temper, however, is an uncertain Vesuvius. More often, he is soft-spoken. He avoids confrontations, prefers to communicate with his staff through memos.

Those who have labored for him describe him as brilliant if domineering. It took all his diplomatic skills and manipulative talents to produce the Syria-Israeli truce. For 24 days, he shuttled between Damascus and Jerusalem.

He kept up intensive, daily negotiations, providing exactly the right combination of firmness and friendliness. Many times, the negotiations came close to a blow-up. But the Kissinger magic prevailed.

He expected to come home to a hero's welcome. Instead, he was asked questions about his role in a White House wiretap operation. Suddenly in Salzburg, he trembled with a wrath he no longer could hold back. And for the first time, the world saw a Kissinger only a few intimates had known.

THE PRIVATE HENRY: Before Henry Kissinger stepped upon the world stage, he became fascinated with the life and style of another German refugee: Prince Klemens Wenzel Nepomuk Lothar von Metternich. The prince was the architect of the Balance of Power system and a central figure in the first half of the 19th century.

Metternich was also a dashing figure in Vienna in the bygone days when diplomats wore wigs and courted the gay waltzes of string bands. He was as interested in the bedchambers as he was in the council chambers.

miration for Nixon, that brought Kissinger to the White House. "I had never met him when he offered me this job," recalls Kissinger. "I was astonished. After all, he was acquainted with the unfriendly and unsympathetic attitude I had always assumed towards him."

POWER BEGAT POWER: But Kissinger understood that the President was the source of political power. Drawing from this source, Kissinger gathered power to himself. As a recognized expert on foreign affairs, he was able to capture Nixon's attention from the beginning.

By dint of long hours and deep thinking and demanding staff work, Kissinger came up with a strategy for every crisis. He presented Nixon with a penetrating two-inch-thick review of the Vietnam War, for example, within a few days after the new President moved into the White House.

The two men drew close together. "I like the President," says Kissinger, "I agree with him. We've gone through all this . . . like two men in a foxhole . . . It's almost irrelevant whether we like each other. It's like asking me whether I like my arm. We have no disagreement over anything central or basic. No disagreement over policy. We're too close for that."

Footnote: My associate George Clifford spoke to Miss Hartman, who confirmed the incident of the fast passport. She did not, however, go to London but said she will join the Prince in Paris if she can get time off from the White House.

LEON DENNEN— Is U.S.-Soviet Detente For Real? Good Question

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There is much to be said for the Nixon-Kissinger policy of detente. Especially in the nuclear age, as Winston Churchill once said, diplomatic "jaw-jaw" always is better than "war-war."

But what price detente?
For close to six decades, the West has been puzzled about the true nature of Soviet foreign policy, more often than not because Moscow intentionally compounds the confusion. Has the Kremlin's policy changed? Is East-West reconciliation really looming on the horizon? How do the Soviet leaders see detente?

A clear answer to these questions was given by V.N. Iagodin, a high-ranking Kremlin official, while his chief, Leonid Brezhnev, was selling detente in the United States last year.

To assuage the misgivings of Communist bureaucrats about detente, he reminded them of Karl Marx's statement that "in politics you may conclude alliances with the Devil if you are certain you can cheat the Devil."

Is it in the role of a capitalist "Devil" that President Nixon will be given the red-carpet treatment in Moscow?

Is it, in fact, in the role of "capitalist devils" eventually to be cheated that American bankers, industrialists and businessmen — ever eager for profits and lucrative trade — are now being lured to Russia?

American businessmen do not want to see trade, investment and "coproduction" opportunities in the Soviet Union, involving many billions of dollars, go by default to West Germany, Japan and other competitors.

But what price are they prepared to pay for such "opportunities"? Have they calculated the risks?

Indeed, what guarantee do American businessmen have that the next generation of Russia's Marxist-Leninist leaders will not tire of trade, credit negotiations and arms limitation talks and, like Stalin, decide once again to expropriate the "capitalist blood suckers"?

The Soviet leaders, to their credit, never have disguised their view of detente. They have made it repeatedly and abundantly clear that detente, as they see it, is a tactical, temporary expedient — a phase in the conflict they are waging against democratic society — to be transgressed or repudiated when it no longer serves their political, military and economic purposes.

The current spate of summit meetings and fancy dress conferences on arms limitations, European security and mutual balanced force reduction in Europe leaves the analyst of Soviet affairs with a sense of deja vu. So what else is new?

A review of Soviet foreign policy since Lenin seized power in 1917 shows that the "conference note" has been played in a variety of different chord combinations — from stonewall anti-Americanism to a harmonious pan-European peace and disarmament motif.

The siren call for detente is a staple in Russia's diplomatic bag of tricks. This writer has reported on nine detente conferences in the past two decades, including the Eisenhower-Khrushchev Geneva summit meeting in 1955 which proclaimed eternal "Mir i Druzba" (Peace and Friendship) and the Eisenhower-Khrushchev summit meeting in Paris four years later which ended in bitterness and acrimony.

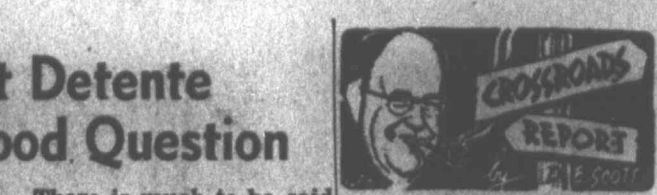

Not even the Kremlin's permission to manufacture Pepsi Cola in Russia by an American company is as revolutionary an event as it is generally assumed by wishful thinkers.

How many Americans, for instance, know that in the early 1930s Russians could drink freely all cola drinks — with or without vodka? How many know the "Fordizatsia" (mass production patterned on Ford's assembly line) was the most popular word in the Russian dictionary?

Then, as now, American

TIMELY QUOTES

"The troubled economy can be turned around completely by getting Watergate behind us . . . by getting this man behind us . . . by getting him out of the White House."
—AFL-CIO leader George Meany urging union members to support impeachment proceedings against President Nixon.

Dear Editor:
I see where Mr. Kissinger got accused by a semi-seditionary news organ of having some "high" government officials wiretapped while trying to find a diplomatic secrets leaker.

"Wiretap" is a dirty word nowadays, and the act is execrated as a vile invasion of a citizen's right to be a traitor, spy, thief, rat, etc., if he so leans.

And logic says anybody who gets in a tizzy about wiretapping is one who would be in trouble if his wires got tapped.

ROD McLEISH DESCRIBES— The Upside Down World Of Mr. Nixon's Washington

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The other day three Washington reporters who have worked on the Watergate crisis since its beginning were having a quiet lunch together. As they were finishing a convicted felon walked over to their table, chatted amiably for a few minutes and left.

The felon was a former high-ranking official of President Nixon's re-election campaign who has been found guilty and who now awaits sentencing. The subject of his conversation was the relative merits of two federal prisons — one of which shortly will be entertaining him.

It was one of those bizarre happenings which now are the commonplace of life in Mr. Nixon's Washington. The days are filled with controversial legal wrangles by and against the great magisterial office once occupied by Jefferson, Lincoln and Roosevelt.

The argument of serious Constitutional scholars focuses

Cotton Spinning Plant To Be Built At Lamesa

LAMESA — Plans for the construction of a new cotton spinning plant here have been announced by representatives of Feather Fabrics Inc. (FFI) of Lubbock at a news conference here.

The plant will be a joint venture between a Holland-based firm, Nijverderal-Ten Cate, and private investors.

Paul Cook, FFI president, said the target date for the start of plant construction is July 1975, with completion in March 1976. Plant operation, will begin four to six months later.

FFI, which has a similar installation in Lubbock, will make an initial investment of about $5 million in the plant and equipment.

There will be 40-45 people employed in the initial stage, with an expected increase to 85 after completion of the plant's second stage. The operation could eventually employ as many as 250.

According to Cook, the first stage of the plant will be a yarn-spinning operation which will utilize 2,000 spinning units. The spinning units initially will use 20,000 bales of cotton a year. The first stage will cover 50,000 square feet, with subsequent growth to be in multiples of that number.

The second stage, which Cook said could be operational in 1979, will be a weaving operation. The third stage, which could be in operation by 1981, will be a fabric finishing operation.

The open-end spinning process will utilize short staple and low micronaire cotton produced in the Lamesa area.

Cook pointed out that there is "quite a demand for the type of yarn we will be producing. There should be a good market for it for the next three to 10 years."

The Lamesa Industrial Foundation, which offered FFI a 25-acre site with options on 30 additional acres, will finance the construction and will guarantee rail sidings and utilities to the site.

Escaped Killer, Sought For Month, Shot, Nabbed After Idaho Rampage

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (AP) — A convicted killer who left prison last month on a four-hour social pass was shot and captured after police say he seized three vehicles and a total of five persons Sunday.

Carl C. Bowles, 33, was shot in the stomach by a policeman as he stood knee-deep in the Spokane River near this northern Idaho town. He was in critical condition today after undergoing 5 1/2 hours of surgery.

Bowles had been the subject of a two-state search since he left the Oregon State Penitentiary May 17 under a temporary leave program for inmates and visited a woman at a motel in Salem, Ore.

Harry Button, chief criminal investigator for the Kootenai County sheriff's office, said Bowles was charged Sunday with escape and faced other possible charges.

Button said Bowles seized a mobile home, a car and a motorcycle Sunday and forced five persons to accompany him in his bid for freedom.

All were released unharmed, although an elderly couple was "slapped around a bit," another deputy said.

Before his escape, Bowles was serving two concurrent life terms stemming from a similar violent spree in 1965 in Nevada.

He was convicted of fatally shooting a deputy sheriff and abducting the California finance director, Hale Champlin, his wife and infant daughter, who were released unharmed.

Circuit Judge Edwin Allen, who sentenced Bowles in 1965, recommended that at no time should Bowles be considered for parole. Police said his record dated back to a truancy charge at age 12. He was convicted later of burglary, escape, assault and auto theft.

On May 17, James Muranaka, a counselor, escorted Bowles from the prison to a motel for a visit with Joan Coberly, 24, of Monrovia, Calif. The official returned later to find the two were gone.

Warden Hoyt Cupp of Oregon State Penitentiary said he authorized the pass because he felt Bowles was on the road to rehabilitation.

Oregon Gov. Tom McCall, who suspended Cupp after the escape, said he would not fire the warden because no one was hurt seriously.

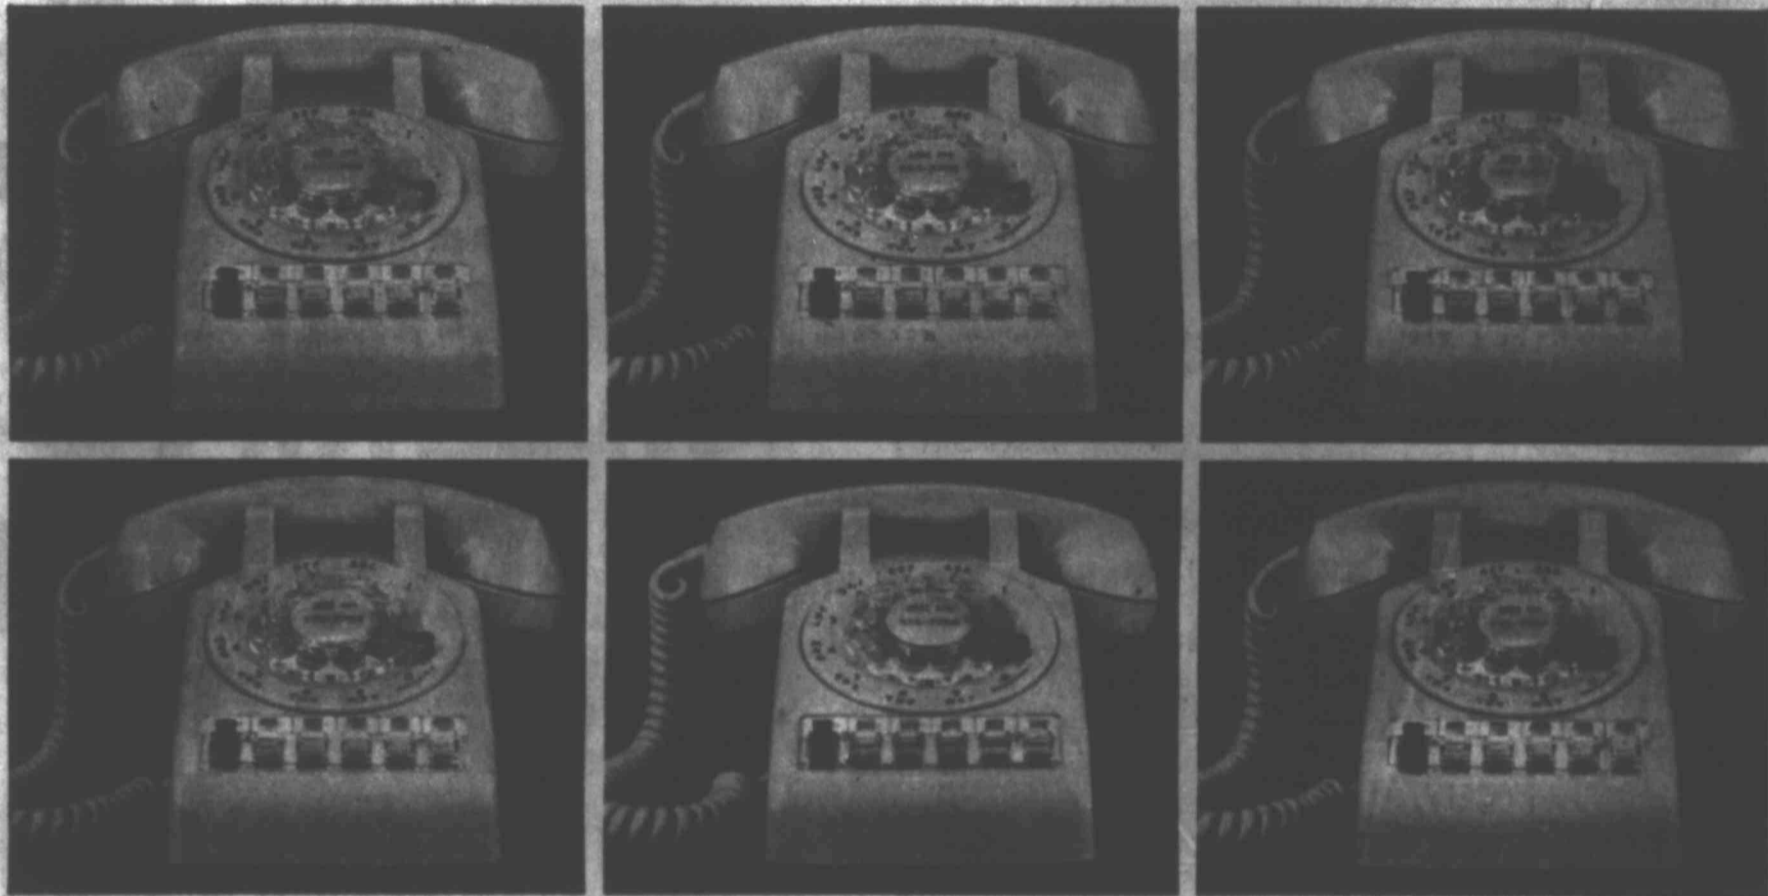

McCall has said of 30,108 prisoners granted leaves last year, only 0.3 per cent failed to return to custody.

Cupp pledged Sunday night, "We will do anything in our power to make sure a thing like this does not happen again."

Midland Wins Fourth Straight Over Travelers

MANY DISAPPOINTMENTS— Player Is Prophet During Tourney

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — Gary Player proved to be a prophet.

"This will be a week of disappointment," the South African predicted five days ago when he took the lead in the first round of the United States Open Golf Championship.

"There will be many, many disappointments for many,"

many people," he said.

It was the most accurate statement of the week.

Player, the gentlemen rancher from Johannesburg, didn't get past second base in his bid for a home run of golf—winning the Masters, U.S. Open, British Open and PGA titles all in one year.

NEW U.S. OPEN CHAMPION—

Irwin Takes Crown

By WILL GRIMSLEY
MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — Ladies and gentlemen, introducing the new Open golf champion of the United States: Hale Irwin.

"I am not a birdie machine like Jack Nicklaus and Tom Weiskopf," said the clerkish-looking, 29-year-old from Joplin, Mo., after scoring one of the biggest surprises in the 83-year history of America's premier golf championship Sunday.

Birdies Hard

"I like courses where pars and birdies don't come easy. I just plug along and wait for others to make mistakes. I have something the others don't have and I hope to capitalize on it."

"That was a big tournament—winning it does a lot for my ego. But I'm not going to change. There will be a reckoning, a re-evaluation. Now that I've won one, I want to do something bigger. Like two major championships.

"Nicklaus has won 14. That's not a bad goal, is it?"

Patience and a low key defensive attitude enabled Irwin to survive while the greatest champions of the game struggled vainly and even collapsed in a four-day wrangle with a 6,961-yard monster called Winged Foot.

Wins By Two

Irwin's final round 73 for a 72-hole total of 287, seven over par, was two strokes better than a second longshot, Forrest "Fuzzy" Fezler, who fired 70 for 289, with Bert Yancey and Lou Graham, following with 290.

Player and other titans of the game? Palmer, 44, starting the final round three shots off the lead, had seven bogeys and a single birdie for a 76. He finished at 292, tied with Jim Colbert, the 54-hole leader, young Tom Watson, who blew to a 79.

The reigning Masters champion, Player, who led after 18 and shared the lead at 36, never found the track and finished at 293. Nicklaus rallied with a last round 69 but posted 294, 14 over par, saying, "It's a great course, I just never got to playing well."

The defending champion, Johnny Miller, who electrified the game with a record 63 in winning a year ago at Oakmont, Pa., closed with a 77 for 302. Five former champions didn't survive the cut.

Only two players broke 290 and only 25 were able to beat 300.

Plays It Cozy

Irwin played it cozy—never fretting, never fussing, never going in front until the ninth hole of the final round when he rolled in a weaving snake of 40 feet.

"That was the putt that turned it in my direction," he said.

Irwin's victory, with a first prize of $35,000 and perhaps a million in ancillary proceeds, came as no surprise to him. His only other tour victories were the Heritage Classic in 1972 and 1973.

"I had a dream about three weeks ago that I would win the Open," he told skeptical newsmen. "It's the Gospel truth. I told my wife, Sally, about it but I wouldn't dare tell anybody else."

The winner and new champion ... Hale Irwin shows evident joy

Victoria In 7-3 Triumph

By The Associated Press

Victoria hung a 7-3 defeat on San Antonio in a battle of Texas League front runners Sunday night.

On other fronts, Shreveport downed El Paso 3-2, Midland ipped Arkansas 7-6 and Amarillo beat Alexandria 5-1.

The Victoria Toros and San Antonio Brewers still lead the East and West divisions, respectively, but the triumph served to pull the Toros within 4 1/2 games of the Brewers in the won-lost columns. A three-run homer by Rich Miller backed Victoria pitcher Nino Espinoza, the winner, while loser Erich Raich fisted in a bid for his fourth straight shutout.

Wayne Tyrone doubled, Jerry Tabbed clubbed his 12th home run of the season and Joel Green singled Bill Proese home for the season's first home run in 1950-51, and youngsters Forrest Fezler and Tom Watson, often challengers but never winners on the pro tour, all were bitterly disappointed.

Sneed, winner of more than 100 tournaments in his career but never champion of the Open, didn't even get started. He qualified to compete but withdrew before play began with a bad back. Palmer, 44, charged, to the cheers of his army, through three rounds. He was only three strokes off the pace after 18 holes and was in a four-way tie for the lead after 36. He still was only three in back of the leader starting the final round. But the Open champion of 1960 bogeyed seven holes and birdied only one.

Shreveport's victory was its fifth in six games against El Paso. The Captains, attack was led by Kent Jacobsen, with three singles, and Rick Oliver, who had two RBI doubles and a single that scored the decisive run. Winner Roger Alexander gave up nine hits but worked out of two late-inning jams.

Amarillo southpaw Kyle Hypes, now 4-5, gave up a home run to Mark Rhea for the first hit of the game, but he got back on top and surrendered only two more hits to claim the decision over the Alexandria Aces.

Lindsey blew his top at plate umpire Tex Moritz over the game-ending call and did everything but hit the arbitrator before cooler heads intervened.

Arkansas took a 6-4 lead in the eighth when Jerry Mumphrey led off with a single and came around on hits by Doug Clark and Tom Zimmer, so things looked bleak for the Cubs who were trying to square the season's series at 6-6 when they came in to bat in the eighth.

Tyrone, whose two-run homer after a triple by Jose Ortiz in the fourth had given Midland a 2-1 lead, doubled down the right field line and Jerry Tabbed tied it at 6-6. That brought Mike Prolly out of the bullpen to relieve Larry Volkening, the Odessa College pitcher who had beaten Midland earlier in the eight-game series.

Bill Droese singled up the middle and was forced at second on Bill Bright's attempted sacrifice. Clancy walked and then Green lined his single to left to bring Bright home from second.

Mike Ford's run-scoring single in the second gave Arkansas a 1-0 lead and then Tyrone's low-trajectory liner to left put Midland ahead in the fourth. It was Wayne's 10th homer of the season and seventh in the just-ended homestand.

A four-run sixth gave Arkansas a 5-2 lead with Mike Vall, an unpopular replacement for outfielder Mike Potter, winning some friends among his teammates with a three-run homer to right. Potter, who was sent down to Class A ball after Friday's game to make room for Vall, had been Arkansas' best hitter in the series and it was not a popular move among the Travelers.

In the home sixth, Bright doubled with two out and then Clancy put Midland back in the game with his first homer as a Cub, a two-run blast to left, to leave Midland down 5-4. Clancy knew it was gone the moment he made contact and was in his home-run trot three strides from the plate.

CUB BRIEFS — The Midland Cubs are off today and open a four-game series in San Antonio Tuesday, returning home Friday for a weekend series with Amarillo. . . . Cub players were taking advantage of their day off today for the club's golf tournament at Hogan Park. . . . Bill Bright and Jerry Tabb were regarded as the pre-tourney favorites. . . . Drilco Night Sunday featured a Slow Pitch Softball hitting contest and Midland Cub pitcher Dvain Fraizer won it by knocking one up against the Pepsi sign in left. . . . Chicago toyed with the idea of converting the southpaw into an outfielder last fall. . . . Randy Wilson and Don Haney were second and third in the contest. . . . Three hits Saturday night put Jose (Pepe) Ortiz over the .330 mark. . . . Wayne Tyrone has hit two home runs in a game three times this season with Arkansas, Alexandria and El Paso all victims at Cubs Stadium. . . . Ortiz has a six-game hitting streak going. . . . Sunday's crowd was the seventh over-1,000 in the last 14 home dates, which includes one six-game losing string and 14 home dates, which includes one five out of six slump. . . .

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Darrell Porter broke his favorite pair of glasses, but more significantly the Milwaukee Brewers broke a six-game losing streak Sunday night.

"Losing is always tough, period," said Milwaukee Manager Del Crandall following the Brewers' 4-3 victory over the Texas Rangers. "But what makes it worse, though, is that these guys really want to win. They had gotten tight and were definitely pressing. We got some breaks tonight, but breaks even out and don't make the difference in being a consistent winner."

The breaks Crandall referred to were a pair of late-inning Ranger errors, one by right-fielder Jeff Burroughs and one by second baseman Dave Nelson. Both led to one run.

That was enough to make a winner out of Jim Colborn, 3-3 and a loser out of David Clyde, 3-3.

"I think I'm over the hump now," said Colborn, who was a Archbold Stadium.

Archbold Stadium, home for the Syracuse University football team, was opened in 1907.

Tyrone, Tabb Spark Cubs To 7-6 Victory

By TED BATTLES

Drilco staged a Slow Pitch Long Ball contest before Sunday night's Texas League game and the Midland Cubs joined in the spirit of the occasion by belting out three home runs for a 7-6 victory over the Arkansas Travelers before 1,211 fans.

In fact, seven of the Cubs 12 hits in the come-from-behind victory were for extra bases as Midland won its fourth straight.

Wayne Tyrone, Steve Clancy and Jerry Tabb all connected for two-run homers, but it was a single by Joel Green that capped a three-run rally in the last of the eighth and gave Midland its margin of victory.

In fact, it was the second straight game in which the former University of Miami, Fla., infielder drove in the winning run.

Bull Schultz came in relief of starter Mike Weiss to chalk up his sixth win of the season, but when the U. Miami, O., southpaw developed a finger blister, Paul Zhan came on to pitch the ninth.

Zhan nailed it down, but not without a scare. The Travelers had the tying and winning runs on first and third when Zhan got Joe Lindsey on a called third strike.

Lindsey blew his top at plate umpire Tex Moritz over the game-ending call and did everything but hit the arbitrator before cooler heads intervened.

Arkansas took a 6-4 lead in the eighth when Jerry Mumphrey led off with a single and came around on hits by Doug Clark and Tom Zimmer, so things looked bleak for the Cubs who were trying to square the season's series at 6-6 when they came in to bat in the eighth.

Tyrone, whose two-run homer after a triple by Jose Ortiz in the fourth had given Midland a 2-1 lead, doubled down the right field line and Jerry Tabbed tied it at 6-6. That brought Mike Prolly out of the bullpen to relieve Larry Volkening, the Odessa College pitcher who had beaten Midland earlier in the eight-game series.

Bill Droese singled up the middle and was forced at second on Bill Bright's attempted sacrifice. Clancy walked and then Green lined his single to left to bring Bright home from second.

Mike Ford's run-scoring single in the second gave Arkansas a 1-0 lead and then Tyrone's low-trajectory liner to left put Midland ahead in the fourth. It was Wayne's 10th homer of the season and seventh in the just-ended homestand.

A four-run sixth gave Arkansas a 5-2 lead with Mike Vall, an unpopular replacement for outfielder Mike Potter, winning some friends among his teammates with a three-run homer to right. Potter, who was sent down to Class A ball after Friday's game to make room for Vall, had been Arkansas' best hitter in the series and it was not a popular move among the Travelers.

In the home sixth, Bright doubled with two out and then Clancy put Midland back in the game with his first homer as a Cub, a two-run blast to left, to leave Midland down 5-4. Clancy knew it was gone the moment he made contact and was in his home-run trot three strides from the plate.

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Darrell Porter broke his favorite pair of glasses, but more significantly the Milwaukee Brewers broke a six-game losing streak Sunday night.

"Losing is always tough, period," said Milwaukee Manager Del Crandall following the Brewers' 4-3 victory over the Texas Rangers. "But what makes it worse, though, is that these guys really want to win. They had gotten tight and were definitely pressing. We got some breaks tonight, but breaks even out and don't make the difference in being a consistent winner."

The breaks Crandall referred to were a pair of late-inning Ranger errors, one by right-fielder Jeff Burroughs and one by second baseman Dave Nelson. Both led to one run.

That was enough to make a winner out of Jim Colborn, 3-3 and a loser out of David Clyde, 3-3.

"I think I'm over the hump now," said Colborn, who was a Archbold Stadium.

Archbold Stadium, home for the Syracuse University football team, was opened in 1907.

Quarry, Frazier Bout Today

Odds makers Calling Garden Bout Even

NEW YORK (AP) — The two-round title loss to George Foreman and the rematch loss to Ali. The win during that span was a 13-round decision over European champion Joe Bugner.

Quarry, a Californian fighting out of New York, has won six straight since ending a brief retirement about 17 months ago, for a 38-4 record, with 29 knockouts.

Frazier, who earned about $5.5 million for his two fights with Ali, is guaranteed $400,000 against an option of 40 per cent of all income. Quarry is guaranteed $225,000 against 25 1/2 per cent.

The fight is scheduled to start at 9 p.m. CDT, at the first half of a national closed-circuit television card, followed by the 15-round light heavyweight title match between champion Bob Foster and Jorge Aruanda in Albuquerque, N.M. Frazier weighed in Sunday at 212 pounds, three pounds more than the former world champion weighed when he lost a unanimous 12-round decision to Muhammad Ali Jan. 28. Quarry came in at 197 1/2 pounds less than he weighed when he got off the floor to knock out Joe Alexander May 8.

In 1969 Quarry tried to outslug Frazier, then recognized as champion by six states, and was stopped in seven rounds.

"There's a lot of speculation that I'm gonna fight that way again," said Quarry who at 29 appears to be fighting better than he ever has. "But I'm not going to try to outslug him this time."

"I don't see any changes in Jerry," said Frazier. "When a man gets hit he goes back to doing what he ordinarily does." The 30-year-old Frazier is out to prove that he has not lost the power and fury that made him a champion. If he cannot make his point, his career probably is finished.

Frazier has a record of 20 pro victories, 25 by knockout, and two losses. The two losses came his last three fights—the Wicks Good Luck Charm Sidney Wicks played 60 games for UCLA's basketball team in 1970-71. The UCLA men all but three of them.

Reds Blank Phillies

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

Clay Carroll has finished a lot more games than he's started, but he may get a chance to close the gap.

"I have to give a lot of consideration to starting him," Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson said Sunday after Carroll got a last-minute starting call when Roger Nelson developed shoulder problems while warming up. Carroll teamed with Pedro Borbon to pitch the Reds to a seven-hit 5-0 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers thumped Tom Seaver and the New York Mets 7-1, the St. Louis Cardinals downed the Atlanta Braves 6-3, the Pittsburgh Pirates vacated the East Division cellar by edging the San Francisco Giants 4-3, the Montreal Expos outslugged the San Diego Padres 9-4 and the Chicago Cubs topped the Houston Astros 3-1 in 10 innings.

Carroll, 4-1, set a National League record of 27 saves in 1972 and was making only his third start in 551 major league appearances. He pitched eight innings of six-hit ball before giving way to Borbon.

"I had to take myself out after the eighth," Carroll said. "I guess I used some muscles I haven't used in a long time. I knew I had to pace myself. I don't care when I pitch. I think I hear down harder as a reliever, but I just want to work. I'm a surprise when I'm not pitching."

Designers T. Mike 1 Andy Messersmith pitched a five-inning and Jimmy Wynn triggered a five-run uprising with a seventh-inning triple, sending Seaver to his sixth loss in nine decisions.

Cardinals 6, Braves 3
Ted Simmons drilled a three-inning single in the seventh inning and St. Louis added three decisive runs in the ninth on a base-loaded walk to Ted Simmons and Joe Torre's two-run single. Darrell Evans led off for the Braves in the sixth on a solo homer off winner Lynn McGlothin.

Pirates 4, Giants 3
Jim Rhee survived a three-run first inning and went on to pitch a five-inning hitting the Pirates out of the East Division cellar for the first time since April 25. They are one game ahead of the Mets and seven behind the Phillies.

Expos 9, Padres 8
Willie Davis homered with one out in the ninth to tie the score and Ken Singleton walked and scored on Ron Fairly's double.

AL ROUNDUP—Sudakis Paces Yankee Victory

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer

It took a blind man to get Bill North and Reggie Jackson together again. It was a meeting Oakland's feuding sluggers could have done without.

Bill Sudakis happens to be legally blind, with 20-400 vision in both eyes. But the bespectacled infielder is the New York Yankees' hottest hitter at the moment.

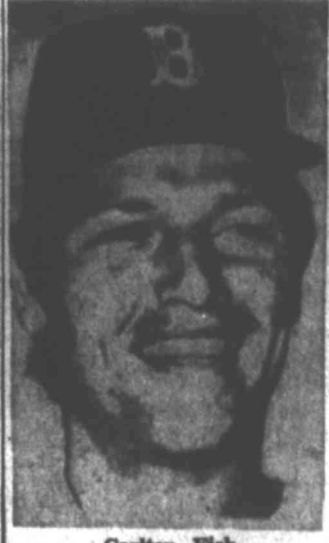

He hit a pinch-double to right-center field in the seventh inning to drive North and Jackson together and drive in the tying run. Then, in the ninth, he shoved home an insurance run with a sacrifice fly to seal the Yankees' 5-3 victory Sunday.

In other American League games, Chicago belted Baltimore 9-1, Detroit edged Kansas City 3-2 in 11 innings, Boston overhauled California 7-4, Milwaukee downed Texas 4-3 and, in a doubleheader, Minnesota blanked Cleveland 3-0 before the Indians rebounded to win the nightcap 3-1.

North, Oakland's starting center fielder, and Jackson, who started in right field, collided attempting to catch Sudakis' soft seventh-inning liner. Both players lay motionless for several minutes. North was knocked unconscious and had to leave the game.

"I understand they've been trying to keep those two guys apart," Sudakis cracked, referring to their recent clubhouse flatfight, reportedly precipitated by Jackson's chewing out of North for not hustling.

"I respect them," Sudakis added. "They may not be the best of friends but, on the field, they're teammates. They're professionals. I don't think they've let that bother them."

Chicubs Topple Houston

CHICAGO (AP) — "I turned the right way, the ball went the wrong way," explained Rick Monday, who made a circus catch with the bases loaded in the top of the 10th inning, then tripled and scored the winning run in the Chicago Cubs' 3-1 triumph over Houston.

With the bases loaded and two outs Sunday, Lee May had a Burt Hooton knuckle-curve to left-center field and Monday, appearing to have turned the wrong way, made a diving one-handed catch.

TRACK & FIELD

A fuller explanation.

To indicate the possible overall significance of each newly discovered field onshore or offshore, AAPG uses the following system:

- An "A" field contains over 50 million recoverable barrels of oil or 300 billion cubic feet of recoverable gas.
- "B" indicates 25-50 million barrels of oil or 150-300 billion cubic feet of gas.
- "C" means 10-25 million barrels of oil or 60-150 billion cubic feet of gas.
- "D" means 1-10 million barrels of oil or 6-60 billion cubic feet of gas.
- "E" means less than one million barrels of oil or less than 6 billion cubic feet of gas.
- "F" means the well is abandoned within one year, although it was initially completed as a producer.

The first four are defined by the AAPG as "significant." "E" fields often are economically marginal. Some might make money. Others won't.

It depends on the cost of developing the field, the kind of crude oil involved, the availability of transportation to bring the crude to a refinery. And it also depends on the price of crude oil. The "1 in 60" ad referred only to domestic new-field wildcat drilling which resulted in "A," "B," "C" and "D" fields.

Now that we've defined some of the terms of the trade, let's put the definitions to use.

Original estimates of field size often change as development wells are drilled. At 3 and 6-year intervals after discovery, the AAPG reclassifies new fields since more knowledge is available and estimates are more reliable. During the most recent five-year period for which the AAPG has reclassified its original field-size estimates (1965-1969), there were 28,765 new-field wildcat wells drilled in the United States. Of these 472 were judged by AAPG to have found fields classed as "A," "B," "C," or "D." This comes out to 1 in 60.9.

Again, this doesn't mean that only 472 new fields were discovered. It only means that 472 were "significant." It also doesn't mean that every company had a "1 in 60" record. Some did better, some did worse. What we're talking about is industry-wide drilling of domestic new-field wildcats.

This ad may have told you more about the oil industry than you really wanted to know, but drilling for oil is a very complicated business.

Delegates Resume Shaping Of Local Government Article

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Constitutional Convention delegates began work today on the Local Government Article with the old controversy over home rule charters for counties expected to start all over again.

Delegates were scheduled to convene at 2 p.m.

A special meeting of the Local Government committee has been held to hear the Official Style and Drafting Committee report on the convention's action in tentatively approving the Local Government Article. The style and drafting group, which is supposed to put each article in its final shape for the new constitution, said it was uncertain of the convention's intent about home rule charters for counties. Most cities have had the power to adopt self-rule charters for many years but counties are still considered extensions of state government.

Previously the convention adopted one provision saying the governing body of each county was the county commission, headed by the county judge, and another provision letting voters give the commission power to enact ordinances. Then the convention tacked on a separate submission item that would let voters decide whether a county could adopt a home-rule charter.

The style and drafting committee said the various provisions produced a conflict and the committee itself would take no position. Instead it recommended at least four alternatives to be presented to the full convention.

The alternatives included omitting the separate submission altogether, redrafting it to make it a "limited home-rule authority" with the county commission still able to pass ordinances, or provide that any charter adopted would not affect the present government body or change the jobs of present county officers.

From The Easy Chair

by Hines

Today our bedrooms have become more than just a room for sleeping. Quite often we like to retreat to this private part of the house and read or relax with a good stereo album. It then becomes important that we furnish our bedrooms with more than just a bed, chest or dresser. We need comfortable chairs for lounging, with a table and lamps for good lighting. We may also wish to include a desk or writing table.

Not only our furnishings, but our windows and how we treat them should be given careful consideration. Many people sleep during the day and need to have the bedrooms darkened. Today there are many new linings that completely cut out light. Or we might use tie backs with a decorative pull down shade done in the same fabric as the draperies or bedspread.

Whether it's furniture for your bedroom, draperies for your windows, carpet or accessories for your entire house MOFFATT CARPETS furnishes the home complete and our home planning experts are always happy to help with any decorating problem you may have.

We always sleep well at Hines-Wood Upholstery Co., 5109 Andrews Hwy. We do the finest quality upholstery work at the most reasonable prices. Call 694-8891 for a free estimate in your home.

Flag Desecration Charges Dropped

DALLAS (AP) — Four years ago a Southern Methodist University student displayed a United States flag bearing a peace symbol. He was handed a 10-year probation sentence on a conviction for flag desecration.

Last year, the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals reversed the conviction because of what it ruled were "repeated improper questions and arguments" from Dist. Atty. John Stauffer.

Last Friday, State District Court Judge R. T. Seales dismissed all charges against David Renn, now 24. The action came four years to the day after Renn's controversial protest of the Vietnam war.

Renn's lawyers said that under the 1973 Texas penal code it is not a crime to display a flag bearing a peace symbol instead of stars.

WORKMEN REMOVE 'GIFTS'—Workmen in hip boots remove large bronze lotuses from a pool in front of the Department of Water and Power office building in Los Angeles. The 15-foot sculptures were brought in early last Friday and placed in the pool by Wade Cornell, a sculptor from Oxnard, Calif., and three barefoot friends. They told a worried night watchman the monstrosities were a gift to the people of Los Angeles and the department. (AP Wirephoto.)

ON JUNE 17 TWO YEARS AGO—

Burglary Kicked Off Watergate Scandals

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG WASHINGTON (AP) — Police Sgt. Paul Leeper drew his gun and jumped onto a desk in Democratic National Committee headquarters.

"I looked over this glass partition. There were five men standing in front of a desk with their hands either raised above their heads or at least shoulder-high wearing blue surgical gloves."

"We ordered them out from behind the desk and lined them up along the wall, facing the wall, hands on the wall, feet spread apart and at that time I informed them who we were, they were under arrest for burglary and advised them of their rights."

It was a heady time for Richard Nixon, who was relaxing that weekend in Key Biscayne, Fla. Earlier that year he had made his historic trip to China and he had every reason to be confident that the following November he would win a second four years in the presidency.

Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell had taken command of the President's re-election campaign and was in Los Angeles. The campaign treasury was overflowing.

The Democrats seemed certain to nominate Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, whom both Nixon and Mitchell were convinced would be their easiest opponent. That is, unless McGovern proved a stalking horse for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, the Democrat they feared the most.

Not even the break-in at Democratic party headquarters ruffled the outward calm of the Nixon campaign. "A third-rate burglary" not worth commenting on, said presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

But as time passed that calm facade would crack, widen and reveal far more of the secrets of the Nixon administration than the burglars had succeeded in disclosing about the Democrats.

June 17, 1972, would become the most easily remembered date of Richard Nixon's presidency—and by the first anniversary of the break-in, no one was calling it a third-rate burglary.

Daytime TV Star Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., was starring on daytime television as chairman of the Senate Watergate committee hearings. Archibald Cox, the crewcut Yankee law professor with a fondness for bow ties, was the special Watergate prosecutor. And most of the men who had held the real power during the first Nixon administration had resigned, such as H. R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman and former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst. But one, former White House counsel John W. Dean III, had been fired.

Dean had a story to tell. Eight days after that first anniversary, he settled into the Watergate committee spotlight and in flat, unemotional tones related his belief that one of those who had conspired to cover up that involvement of Nixon campaign officials in the Watergate break-in was the President himself.

Declined Invitations But how to prove whether Dean's story was true or false? The President declined invitations from Ervin and Cox to tell his side of the story. Testimony from Nixon loyalists conflicted with Dean's.

And then Alexander P. Butterfield told the Watergate committee of the existence of the White House taping system. Thus began the battle of subpoenas. It quickly became clear that Cox, a former solicitor general and legal scholar, represented the chief threat to the President's determination to guard the confidentiality of his discussions with aides.

Prosecutor Fired Finally, on Oct. 26, 1973, after Cox had obtained two court rulings upholding his right to subpoena presidential tapes, Nixon fired the special prosecutor.

Within days, White House aides conceded they had misjudged the possible public reaction. Thousands of telegrams had poured into Washington demanding Nixon's impeachment. Three days after the firing, Nixon agreed to turn over the subpoenaed tapes.

But the impeachment process had begun. It was spurred on by the disclosure that two of the subpoenaed conversations did not exist and that a third was marred by an 18½-minute erasure that had wiped out the only discussion of Watergate.

A new special prosecutor, Leon Jaworski, took over. In March 1974, grand juries returned the major Watergate indictments. Facing criminal charges were those familiar names: Haldeman, Ehrlichman, Mitchell and former White House special counsel Charles W. Colson. With all his one-time closest advisers under indictment, the President suddenly appeared vulnerable.

The House Judiciary Committee joined the special prosecutor in demanding access to White House files. After a period of cooperation, the President drew the line. He had turned over the material needed for the full story of Watergate. He would turn over no more.

But Jaworski and Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., chairman of the Judiciary Committee, didn't let up in their demands. In a dramatic bid to quiet their demands, Nixon released edited transcripts of 44 presidential conversations, giving them not only to Jaworski and Rodino but to the general public.

However, the transcripts gave a picture of a President who had sought to "keep the lid on the bottle," to contain the Watergate investigations. His position on the payment of hush money proved ambiguous. It often came across as a bitter and cynical man who yearned for a chance to retaliate against political opponents.

But had the President broken the law? Had he done anything that could be considered grounds for impeachment? Unanswered Questions

On the second anniversary, those were unanswered questions. And because they were unanswered, they overshadowed all the other questions of guilt or innocence that would be decided in the courts.

But there was one certainty. John Dean was a poor prophet when he told the President Feb. 28, 1973, that the Watergate break-in would end up "in the fuzzy pages of the history books."

Republican Committee Spends Thousands On Mail Campaign

By DICK BARNES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although Republican Chairman George Bush said he was disturbed by portions of President Nixon's taped Watergate conversations, the GOP National Committee paid more than $10,000 to finance a massive White House mail campaign circulating a favorable interpretation of the transcripts.

Party headquarters has regularly processed and paid for White House mailings to interested groups and communications media. The transcript material was by far the most massive this year.

William J. Baroody Jr., special consultant to the President who deals with outside organizations, directed that a 15-page packet be sent to more than 28,000 persons from more than 40 mailing lists maintained by the GOP.

They ranged from leaders of veterans organizations to Chamber of Commerce officials; from 1972 Nixon campaign workers to members of the Teamsters union executive board.

The mailing included the text of Nixon's April 29 address in which he said he would give edited transcripts, but not original tapes, to the House impeachment inquiry.

segments tended to support Nixon.

A party official said there was no special discussion about the massive mailings and that they were sent out routinely, as were 37 other mailings for the White House this year.

Though most of the mailings Clawson and Baroody ordered this year have dealt with Nixon programs in such areas as energy, some concerned Watergate and related affairs.

One dealt with the ITT and milk investigations, another a speech by Vice President Gerald R. Ford strongly supporting Nixon. Three included articles from publications defending Nixon, two contained texts of White House briefings related to Watergate and another distributed a favorable public opinion poll.

Early in the first Nixon administration it was decided that the party would pay for such mailings to avoid any criticism that political material was being sent at government expense.

The party operates its own print shop, so precise costs for the mailings are not calculated.

Postage alone for the transcript material mailings, however, would have been more than $10,000. Paper and envelope costs as estimated by a GOP staff worker would have exceeded $1,500.

The GOP keeps name and address mailing lists in such categories as editors of daily papers, medical directors of insurance companies, religious leaders, heads of leading transportation companies, chairmen of university departments of sociology and black contacts.

One list of 292 persons could be considered a status symbol. It is entitled: Business-Community leaders—"Movers and Shakers."

Southern Presbyterians Pick Black Georgian As Moderator

By GEORGE CORNELL
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A black Georgia pastor is the new Southern Presbyterian moderator, the first of his race to win the top post in the denomination's 113-year history.

The Rev. Dr. Lawrence Wendell Bottoms was elected Sunday night in a three-way contest with two white clergymen at the start of the annual governing assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.

A mainly white body, it emerged from the slavery issues of the Civil War. It has about 900,000 members in 16 southern and border states of whom only about 7,000 are black.

Dr. Bottoms, 66, of Atlanta, called his election "a breakthrough ... in a changing South."

The assembly greeted his victory with standing applause.

He won a majority of 234 votes on a first ballot, to 121 1/2 for the Rev. Dr. Kenneth G. Phifer of New Orleans and 52 1/2 for the Rev. Dr. Albert J. Kissling of Jacksonville, Fla.

Dr. Bottoms is the pastor of an integrated congregation in suburban Decatur, the Oakhurst Presbyterian Church.

A tall, graying man, Dr. Bottoms has held numerous de-nominal posts, represented his church in ecumenical councils and previously was the first black moderator of the regional Kentucky Synod and local Louisville Presbytery in 1963.

He "would be beautiful even if he weren't black," said the Rev. John B. Danhoff of Dallas, who nominated Dr. Bottoms for the top denominational office.

Dr. Bottoms told an impromptu news conference afterward he favors a projected plan for reunion with the United Presbyterian Church, a national body of 3 million, from which it broke away in 1861.

Carnival Ride Kills Woman, Hurts 11 Others

BOSTON (AP) — A woman was killed and 17 other persons were injured when a spinning carnival ride malfunctioned, hurling the riders as far as 50 feet away.

A spokesman at Massachusetts General Hospital said Mary Pero, 20, of Cambridge died at a hospital of internal injuries suffered in the accident, which marred Bunker Hill Day festivities Sunday in the Charlestown section of Boston.

Police said the ride, called "The Hurricane," suddenly increased speed, throwing a group composed mostly of youngsters to the ground. Most of the youths who were tossed from their seats landed on the grass nearby.

Australia Protests French Nuclear Test

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — France today set off the first explosion in its 1974 nuclear test series in the South Pacific, the Australian government reported.

The prime ministers of Australia and New Zealand protested.

The French government refused comment. It never announces the individual tests but said earlier this month this year's series would be the last conducted in the atmosphere.

The Australian government said a nuclear device was set off today over the Mururoa Atoll, the French test site about 1,000 miles southeast of Tahiti.

Senate Kicks Off Debate On Possible Tax Reforms

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is opening debate on whether to cut income taxes for individuals and increase levies on corporations and the wealthy.

Although such legislation must originate in the House, the Senate has decided to jump into the floor debate on the issue by attaching an amendment to a House-passed bill that would increase the national debt limit temporarily to $490 billion.

This bill was chosen since the legislation must be sent to President Nixon before June 30, when the debt ceiling would drop from $475.7 billion to $400 billion.

The House, with a full schedule of bills for floor consideration this week, will give its principal attention to its Judiciary Committee's inquiry into possible impeachment of Nixon.

The Senate leadership expects the tax debate to continue all week.

The major tax-cut proposal offered by Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., with many co-sponsors, would provide $6.6 billion of tax relief. It would allow taxpayers an $825 personal exemption for each dependent, instead of the present $750, or, alternatively, a $190 tax credit. In addition, it would provide government payments of up to $400 a year for low-income families.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., Finance Committee chairman, supports the amendment and predicts its passage. Administration officials have predicted a presidential veto.

Two Women Die In Road Accident

SAN ANGELO — A young Sterling City woman, Maria Delalus Medina, 19, and Mrs. Robert J. Tindall, 51, of San Angelo were killed in a head-on collision about 3 p.m. Sunday southeast of here near Vick.

Department of Public Safety officers who investigated the accident, said each of the women were alone in their automobiles.

Mrs. Tindall, was a noted San Angelo artist and wife of a longtime San Angelo clothier.

Long says he doubts that a veto could be overridden, but predicts a White House-congressional "severe confrontation" before the debt limit issue finally is settled.

Nixon has said any major tax cut could be highly inflationary. Its sponsors assert it is needed to prevent economic stagnation and to give consumers some more buying power to offset the rapid recent price rises.

Various liberals also plan to offer tax-reform amendments, including one to repeal the 22 per cent oil and gas depletion allowance.

Long opposes such repeal and said Sunday its demise would result in higher prices for home heating oil and gasoline. He said on NBC-TV's "Meet the Press" that repeal would discourage U.S. oil companies from providing more petroleum products.

But Long said he favors removing benefits from foreign oil, which he said was selling for $10 a barrel.

Some oil state senators have indicated they may filibuster against removal of the depletion allowance. They say this tax benefit is essential if the United States is to make any progress toward energy self-sufficiency.

For Contributions
The Molson Prize of the Canada Council is for contributions to the arts, social sciences or humanities or to national unity. The value of the prize is $15,000 and three prizes are awarded each year.

lam of Australia said the new tests were of deep concern to his government because they would result in radioactive fallout on Australian territory. He said the French statement that these would be the last atmospheric tests was a step in the right direction, but that the French government has not given his government "any satisfactory commitment that further atmospheric tests will not be held."

New Zealand's Prime Minister Norman E. Kirk said he had told his ambassador in Paris to file a strong protest. And Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau of Canada criticized nuclear explosions in the atmosphere, saying in a speech: "There is no need for any country to develop a nuclear explosive competence." He apparently was referring also to India, which set off its first nuclear blast on May 18.

A senior Australian official said intelligence sources informed the government of the French blast and the report had been double-checked.

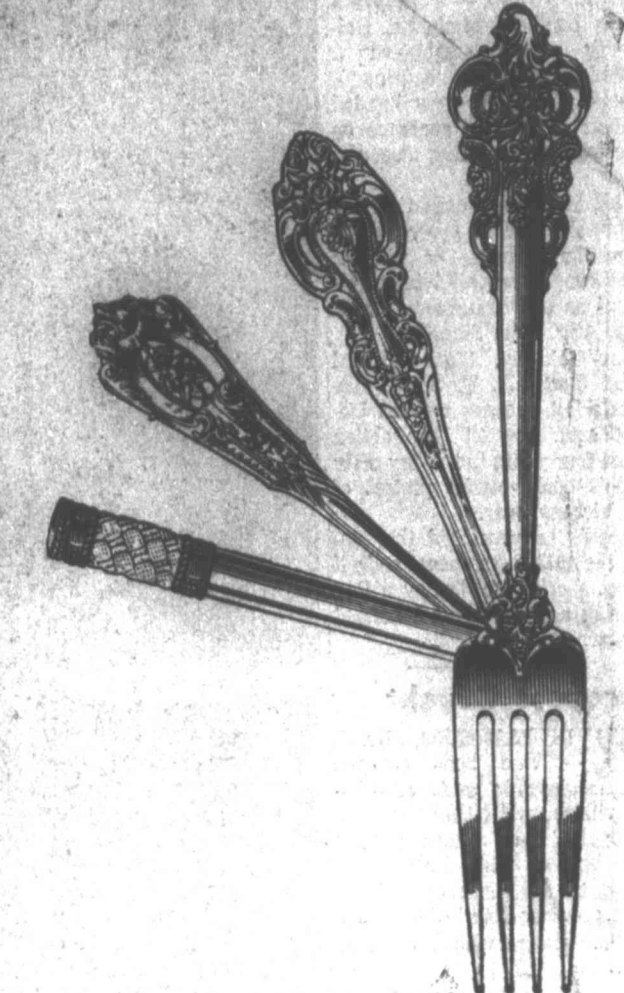

The Atomic Energy Commission in Washington had no immediate comment.

The tests have caused disension within the three-week-old government of new French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing, fired publisher Jean-Jacques Servan-Schreiber from his cabinet for publicly criticizing the decision to go ahead with the tests.

The French have barred shipping from a 60-mile danger zone around Mururoa. But there has been no word of any invasion by yacht loads of antinuclear demonstrators that usually accompanies the tests.

The French set off five low-yield explosions in the 1973 series that ended last September. They were reported to have been small atomic bombs to be used as triggers for the French hydrogen bomb expected to be operational by 1976.

France now has set off 53 nuclear devices in the atmosphere since its first explosion in the Sahara on Feb. 13, 1960. Engineers are now drilling tunnels at Mururoa and neighboring Fangatafa Atoll in preparation for underground testing.

Are you ready for this one?

The picture was posed. But suppose along with us that it had not been.

Of course, you'd call a doctor for the boy. Perhaps an ambulance. But what would you do in the meanwhile?

Have you the first aid equipment you may need? The American Red Cross and the American Safety Council can recommend to you a list of bandages of various shapes and sizes, and the material from which to make others, along with first-aid equipment, and some useful small tools. They can also suggest, if your doctor approves, some over-the-counter medications. And the chances are good that your own family doctor will be glad to talk the subject over with you.

The point is to be prepared to cope with those emergencies with which the average person can cope.

On an equally important subject, what have you done to prevent the accidents in the home from occurring in the first place? Have you added non-skid strips and grab-bars in the bathtub and shower? Made sure there are no loose rugs on slick floors? Absolutely separated anything flammable from all flames? Learned from your fire department how to store small amounts of gasoline safely?

Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans cover medical expense injuries to its members, whether at home or somewhere else. But as People Helping People, we'd much prefer to help keep you from getting hurt.

Why don't you get in touch with us now, while good health coverage is on your mind. Look up Blue Cross and Blue Shield in your Yellow Pages, then give us a ring. We offer a great range of excellent coverages, for groups and individuals. Give us a call.

It costs nothing to talk it over, and it can save a great deal of worry later on.

Disposal Sites For Industry Waste Tend To Make Trouble

By LEE JONES
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Over the past three years more than half of Texas' commercial disposal sites for industry's unwanted sludges, acids and poisons have been trouble spots at least once.

These records are subjects of some interest in view of the controversies over two proposals to bury industrial wastes in landfills near Groesbeck and Three Rivers.

State Water Quality Board records show 21 permits have been granted to operate solid and liquid disposal sites. These range from pits to injection wells to sophisticated salvage and treatment facilities.

Sites Well Designed
"The industrial solid waste sites you now have are well designed, well located and supervised by relatively competent people," said Hugh Yantis, the Water Quality Board's executive director.

Eleven sites, including some of the most elaborate, have occasionally been problems. There have been lawsuits, court judgments, citizen complaints and criticism by board technicians.

In addition to the commercial sites, about 140 industries dispose of their own wastes on their own property with a minimum of regulation. Yantis said the board requires this be done "in a workmanlike, neat manner and not grossly offensive." In exempting such sites from the commercial registration requirements, the legislature "went to great lengths to avoid—'meddling,' let's call it," Yantis said.

One commercial site is operated south of Corpus Christi by International Pollution Control (IPCI), a subsidiary of the Petroleum Corp. of St. Louis. IPCI has both a sanitary landfill and a disposal well and handles oily wastes and solids.

IPCI's backlog of wastes attracted notice from the board staff in December. Its file includes a memorandum from L.B. Griffith of the field support staff.

Accept Overload
"Our experience in other districts also indicates that in this type of business, the operators are very reluctant to turn down a 'front door' profit and therefore accept more than they can handle. It sounds like it will take IPCI almost three years to catch up on the surplus they have already accumulated and for which they have already been paid," Griffith wrote.

Bio Ecology Systems of Grand Prairie, which specializes in treating or incinerating wastes before burying them, has emerged as a major critic of landfill operations.

J.P. Larcott, the company's vice president, contends the board will take a step backward if it approves the landfill proposals before it.

Technology Is There
"The technology is there and the economics are feasible to actually detoxify this stuff and return it to nature in basic form," Larcott said.

His own firm has been in trouble with the board, and paid a $1,000 civil penalty in June 1973 after an oil spill polluted over a mile of Mountain Creek, which borders the plant on three sides.

Yantis calls Bio Ecology's plant "probably the poorest located. They have had flooding. We told them to dike and dike and dike... I wonder if we should have let them build there. They are having an awful hard time financially. They have a poor record of compliance."

Application Bitterly Opposed
Bio Ecology bitterly opposed a permit application by another Dallas-area firm, Metroplex Sanitation, to use part of the Cleburne city dump for burial of paint sludges, solvents and resins and threatened to shut its own gates if the permit were approved.

Metroplex, owned by former Water Quality Board lawyer Stephen Rosenthal, mixed its operations with Cleburne's municipal trash. But the State Health Department ended that arrangement after fires and explosions occurred at the dump in October. It said the industrial wastes, apparent source of the fires, should be buried in a landfill approved by the board.

Metroplex obtained a temporary permit and dug its own trench at the dump site.

On one occasion, Bio Ecology reported to the board, Metroplex violated its temporary permit by dumping several drums of cyanide in the trench. Board files contain no further evidence of this, however.

Five days before a scheduled May 21 hearing on a permanent certificate for Metroplex, the firm withdrew its application and Cleburne took it over. Board files indicate the city has not yet decided whether to pursue it.

A firm that Yantis calls "highly sophisticated and very selective," Rollins Environmental Services of Deer Park, was assessed $24,000 in civil penalties by a judge in March. The attorney general had filed suit at the request of Yantis, who said the firm had dug disposal pits without board approval and had allowed barrels of waste material to accumulate.

Another court order, this one obtained by the Texas Air Control Board in December, assessed $50,000 in penalties against Renner Inc., a Jefferson County operation owned by Browning-Ferris Industries.

The district court in Beaumont also ordered Renner not to accept any inorganic materials unless they could be deodorized. It also instructed the company to remove oily materials from a pond at its site.

One company with a relatively clean file is Texas Ecologists Inc. which operates a reclamation, salvage, incineration and landfill site four miles south of Robstown.

A farmer in the area, however, complained that "I have had to postpone working in the fields due to the terrible odor."

Cameramen Play Where's Laura Jo?

LONDON (AP) — While Prince Charles played polo, cameramen played Where's Laura Jo?

"You don't think I'd be fool enough to bring her here," the 25-year-old heir to the British throne told photographers Sunday.

The attention centers around Laura Jo Watkins, blonde daughter of American Rear Adm. James Watkins. She has been in London for a week at Charles' invitation.

She came to England from California to accompany Charles to a ball given by U.S. Ambassador Walter Annenberg. Neither attended the dance, however, because of official mourning after the death of Charles' great uncle, the Duke of Gloucester.

U.S. Embassy officials said on Sunday that Miss Watkins was still in England but they declined to disclose her whereabouts or her plans. She and the prince met when he visited San Diego earlier this year.

These were among the victims:

David Solis, 23, of Fort Worth was shot and killed Sunday night during an argument at a residence, police reported. They held three men for questioning.

Carolyn C. Lohring, 29, died in a two-car crash at a Dallas intersection Sunday evening. Officers said one of the vehicles ran a stop sign.

Gunfire killed David McCoy, 25, Sunday night in the Dallas suburb of Garland. Police held a woman.

Raymond Renteria, 29, of Elgin was killed Saturday night when hit by a car on Interstate 35 north of Austin.

C. L. Claben, 49, died early Sunday when his bed in a semi-private room at Houston's Ben Taub Hospital caught fire. Another patient in the room was rescued.

Joseph Smith Jr., 11 died in a fire at his family's Dallas apartment about midnight Saturday. His parents and two other children escaped injury. Damage to the apartment complex was estimated at $15,000.

CHANTILLY, France (AP) — The filly Highclere got a pat on the head from somebody special after winning a $140,000 race here—Queen Elizabeth II.

The queen also happens to own Highclere, a filly that won the Prix de Diane by two lengths Sunday.

The queen is making her first visit to France since a 1972 state visit.

Teresa Anne Jones, 13, was hit by a car and killed Saturday as she crossed a firm road after delivering a letter at a mailbox across from her home near Stephenville.

Virgil C. Reynolds, 27, of Comanche was killed and Leroy Adams, 25, also of Comanche, was injured Friday night in a one-car accident near that West Central Texas town.
