Three Areas Get Locations For Explorers

Sterling, Edwards and Reagan counties drew sites for ventures. The Sterling Co., Midland, accounted for exploration in Sterling County. Plans have been made to re-enter and deepen to 9,000 feet at No. 1 Reed, 7,200-foot failure, 14 miles northwest of Sterling City.

Originally drilled by Shaheen & Son, Abilene, it was plugged and abandoned June 4, 1969.

R spots 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 97, block 2, H&TC survey, abstract 127, 1 1/2 mile southwest of the depleted one-well Reed-Sterling (Wichita-Albany) field.

Skelly Oil Co. plans No. 1 Yarga, an 11,000-foot wildcat, in Edwards County, 20 miles southwest of Rockspings.

Drill site, four miles southeast of a 10,500-foot failure, is 5,061 feet from north and 1,422 feet from east lines of section 16, block V-11, A. Garcia survey. There is no nearby production.

Tesoro Petroleum Corp., San Antonio, will drill No. 3-B University as a 3,500-foot prospector in Reagan County, about 15 miles east of Rankin.

Drill site, a northeast twin to a Dean producer in the Big Lake field, is 1,990 feet from south and west lines of section 1, block 8, ULS. It is about 1 1/2 mile northeast of the Tesoro South (Grayburg) field, but separated by failures.

Loving Prospector Continues Testing

Clayton Williams Jr. Fort Stockton, No. 1 Gtaga, Loving County Ellenburger prospect, two miles northwest of the Vermojo (Fusselman and Ellenburger) gas field, flowed gas through the separator on a 3/4-inch choke, at the rate of 3.4 million cubic feet daily.

Flow was through perforated interval at 21,163-21,597 feet, which had been fractured with 45,000 gallons. It flowed fracture fluid along with the gas at the hourly rate of 10 barrels.

Testing continued, with 487 barrels of fracture fluid remaining. Earlier, it flowed to pits 16 1/2 hours on 1-inch to 3/4-inch chokes, no gauge reported.

Perforations earlier had been reported erroneously as being from 19,067-21,797 feet.

The well spots 650 feet from southwest and 1,815 feet from southeast lines of section 86, block 1, W&NW survey, three miles east of Mentone.

Zone Confirmed In Borden Field

The Fluvanna, Southwest field of Borden County gained its second upper Strawn well and 1/2-mile north extension to that horizon with completion of James P. Dunigan, Abilene, No. 2 M. A. Parks.

The 24-hour flowing potential was for 234 barrels of 40.4-gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 725-1. Production was through a 18-64.

Housing Board Reactivated Here

The Midland Housing Authority was reactivated today with the announcement by Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. of appointments to fill vacancies on the housing board.

The vacancies have existed since last fall when the previous members resigned after federal Housing and Urban Development (HUD) officials canceled a low-rent housing proposal because of conflicts between

Offensive By IRA Feared In England

LONDON (AP) — Senior Scotland Yard officials fear the bombing of historic Westminster Hall may be the start of a major summer offensive by the Irish Republican Army in England.

Police officials told the Times of London they believed the blitz would be aimed primarily at government buildings and political figures.

Police sources said the IRA's Provisional wing, the branch that is fighting a guerrilla war in Northern Ireland, is believed to have stockpiled explosives in preparation for a new terrorist offensive.

Detectives questioned dozens of workmen, many of them transient Irishmen, in their search for the terrorist who planted the 20-pound bomb that exploded during the rush hour Monday morning in the Palace of Westminster, home of the British Parliament.

The bomb damaged the 97-year-old Westminster Hall, one of Britain's most historic buildings; injured 11 persons and started a gas fire that did extensive damage in an office annex.

Police believe the bomber may have posed as a workman. An underground garage is (See BRITISH Page 2A)

Lebanon Targets Blasted

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Israel air force jets bombed and strafed Arab guerrilla targets in southeastern Lebanon today, five days after terrorists struck an Israeli kibbutz in northern Israel, the military command announced.

A communique said the raids began at 3:10 p.m. Israeli time, only minutes before President Nixon flew out of Amman, Jordan, ending his tour of the Middle East.

The attacks were on an area known as "Fatahland," just north of the Israeli border in the shadow of Mt. Hermon. The command said its aircraft returned safely.

Four Arab terrorists slipped across the border from Lebanon last Thursday and killed three women at the Shamir Kibbutz communal farm near the Golan Heights. The Arabs also were killed.

Israeli retaliatory raids generally follow closely such guerrilla raids, but the Tel Aviv command apparently held off because of Nixon's presence in the area.

Israeli Information Minister Abaron Yariv admitted Monday that Nixon's visit was "a factor" in Israel's refraining from immediate reprisal raids. The Arab terrorist attack came shortly after Nixon was cheered by enthusiastic throngs on his arrival in Cairo, Egypt.

The Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, which claimed credit for the attack, called it "our reaction to the Nixon visit to the Arab world." A guerrilla spokesman said in Beirut, Lebanon, "that is how every Arab should receive Nixon, the chief imperialist in the world." The attack had no effect on Nixon's tour.

State Pounded By Storms, Twister

One tornado struck a glancing blow at the town of Memphis, injuring a woman, and others spun close to several North Texas towns in the state's latest rash of rough weather during the night and early today.

Vicious thunderstorms, often packing hail, roared through other sections from the northeast part of the Texas Panhandle into East Texas. Official observers blamed a weakening cool front which lay along a line linking Childress, Fort Worth and Lufkin near dawn. The mercury climbed to the century mark in the Tall City Monday and forecasters at the National Weather Service at Terminal said similar highs are expected today and Wednesday.

The low tonight should be in the lower 70s, the weathermen said. The low this morning in Midland was 72. The Memphis twister struck near the north edge of town, where it wrecked an 18-foot trailer home occupied by Mrs. James Montgomery, 72, of Sentinel, Okla., who has been living in the Texas city temporarily while her husband repairs roofs riddled in a recent hail-storm.

Although one of Mrs. Montgomery's arms was nearly severed, a hospital attendant said doctors hoped to save it and her condition was good. The twister inflicted light damage to two other trailers and the owner's home in a park where they were quartered.

Winds of tornado funnels being sighted 6 miles northeast of Greenville in Northeast Texas and at Leonard and Wolfe City in the same area was relayed by the National Weather Service. None apparently touched ground.

Prior to the Memphis tornado, 15 counties in the Texas Panhandle had been placed under a tornado watch in force until 1 a.m.

Hail up to the size of marbles fell around Perryton and elsewhere in the Panhandle, on each side of a line from north-west of Fort Worth to Waxahatchie and from near Denton toward Tyler. Winds gusts as high as 50 miles per hour at Perryton.

By early morning skies outside the storm belt were mostly cloudy in the Texas Panhandle (See TWISTER Page 2A)

Rules Prohibiting Sex Discrimination In Schools Announced

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare announced today controversial rules prohibiting sex discrimination in the nation's schools, from kindergarten through college.

Authorized by a two-year-old federal law, the proposed regulations are designed to assure equal treatment for female in admissions, athletics, housing, financial assistance, extracurricular activities and employment.

They would require coeducational physical education classes and outlaw different dormitory curfews for girls, as well as most single-sex scholarships.

Shirking two of the most sensitive issues, however, HEW said the rules would not jeopardize major, revenue-producing college sports such as football and would not attempt to deal with the problem of students in textbooks.

Institutions found in violation could lose their federal aid or be sued by the Justice Department.

The regulations, promised to Congress more than a year ago, are open for public comment until Oct. 15. An HEW official said they probably would not be enforced to any great extent this coming school year, but instead would serve as general guidelines.

HEW said the regulations in final form and any changes will need to be approved by the President.

Most of the ground rules for the regulations were spelled out in 1972 education legislation, but HEW was given the task of interpreting and implementing the law among more than 15,000 public elementary and secondary school districts and 4,000 colleges and universities.

Nixon Ends Tour Of Middle East

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—President Nixon ended his tour of the Middle East today with a promise of continued military and economic assistance to Jordan and an invitation to King Hussein for talks in Washington on "the strategy of future efforts to achieve peace" between the Arabs and Israel.

The President left Amman for an overnight stop in Portugal's Azores islands in mid-Atlantic. He will hold talks there Wednesday with the leader of Portugal's revolution, President Antonio de Spinoza, before returning to Washington.

A joint Jordanian-American statement issued in Amman said Nixon and his royal host at the last stop on his five-nation Mideast swing discussed a whole range of issues and would resume their talks in Washington "at an early date."

Hussein and his wife, Queen Alyia, visited the United States last in March. The statement promised a "special effort" by the U.S. government to assist Jordanian economic development and to "play a strong role in maintaining Jordan's military strength."

"It was agreed that a joint Jordanian-U.S. commission will be established at a high level to oversee and review on a regular basis the various areas of cooperation... in the fields of economic development, trade, investments, military assistance and scientific, social and cultural affairs."

While Nixon and the king conferred this morning, Mrs. Nixon visited the Roman ruins at Jerash, 20 miles north of Amman. She told newsmen accompanying her that the President's peace initiatives will be successful, because the Arab leaders he has talked to "know that war takes money away from the people."

Hussein hailed Nixon's "journey for peace" in a banquet toast Monday night but cautioned that "the final goal is still many milestones away."

Hussein said withdrawal of Israeli forces from some of the Jordanian territory captured in 1967 should be the next step and was "an essential prerequisite to any permanent settlement."

The king said he hoped this disengagement of Israeli and Jordanian forces along the Jordan River could be accomplished "with the strong and friendly hand of America," an indication that he would welcome a Jerusalem-Amman diplomatic shuttle by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Echoing what Nixon's hosts in Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Syria had told him, Hussein also called for Israeli withdrawal from all occupied Arab territory, restoration of Arab sovereignty over the Arab sector of Jerusalem, and recognition and restoration of the "legitimate rights of the Palestinian people" to return to their homeland and determine their own future.

He said the regulations would not be enforced to any great extent this coming school year, but instead would serve as general guidelines.

HEW said the regulations in final form and any changes will need to be approved by the President.

Most of the ground rules for the regulations were spelled out in 1972 education legislation, but HEW was given the task of interpreting and implementing the law among more than 15,000 public elementary and secondary school districts and 4,000 colleges and universities.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

SAN ANGELO (AP)—A deputy federal marshal today walked into a meeting of the San Angelo City Commission and served the mayor and two of the commission members with citations naming them as defendants in a federal court suit for refusing to seat a telephone company worker elected to the commission.

AUSTIN (AP)—Delegates to the Texas Constitution Convention refused today to submit to Texas voters a plan which would let counties completely reorganize their government. The 86-to-69 vote today confirmed a previous decision to let counties have only limited home-rule power.

State Oil Allowable Set Full Once More

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Chairman Jim Langdon of the Texas Railroad Commission advised oilmen today that the United States is a "very long way" from providing enough oil to serve the nation.

Langdon noted at a statewide oil allowable hearing that this country imports 1.5 billion barrels of crude oil each year.

The commission ordered 100 per cent production for Texas for July—the 28th consecutive month of wide-open production.

Langdon said the United States needed to "double and redouble" its efforts to achieve "self-sufficiency" in supplying its own oil.

Major purchasers of Texas crude oil asked for 3,843,362 barrels a day in July, a decrease of 36,087 from June.

Thirteen of the major buyers sought the same amount of oil next month as in June, and Exxon cut its nomination by 49,000 barrels a day.

E. A. Clark of Exxon said it had been able to obtain the extra 50,000 or so barrels a day this month only through foreign sources.

As usual the East Texas and Kelly-Snyder fields were restricted to 85 per cent production.

Nominations by major buyers of Texas oil for July, in barrels per day, with changes from June in parentheses:

Tax Cut Facing Filibuster Snag

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of a major tax cut and tax reform proposal have a potential filibuster under way that could keep the tax issue from coming before the Senate.

Sponsors of the tax legislation, meanwhile, were maneuvering to attach the tax proposal to the debt increase bill.

The opponents managed their parliamentary advantage as debate opened on the bill Monday, when Sen. James R. Allen, D-Ala., obtained the Senate floor and held it until adjournment. He retained the floor when the Senate convened today.

This maneuver so far has blocked Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and other liberals from bringing the tax cut, tax reform amendment to the Senate floor.

Questioned by Kennedy, Allen would not say when he would give up the floor.

Kennedy said a cloture petition to shut off a potential filibuster might be filed if Allen does not relent. If cloture is being built in the area, and security was reported to have been relaxed for the workmen.

"This place is like Liberty Hall," said one worker. "No one asks for passes, and many people don't even have one."

Meanwhile in Northern Ireland, a 30-year-old policeman was killed when a parcel he found in an alley in Lurgan, 25 miles southeast of Belfast, exploded in his face. Terrorists also hijacked two cars, loaded them with bombs and held a woman passenger from each hostage, while the drivers were forced to drive the bombs to their destination.

Parents Say They Withheld Insulin From Diabetic Son

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Barstow parents withheld insulin from their dying diabetic son because they thought the medication would invite "the demon back into him" and displease God, the boy's mother has told police.

Tape-recorded police interviews with Alice Parker, 29, and her husband, Lawrence, 34, were played at their Superior Court trial here Monday. The Parkers are accused of involuntary manslaughter and child abuse in the death of their 11-year-old son, Wesley.

The Parkers have said they threw away Wesley's medication, believing God had cured their son during a faith healing. After his death in August 1973, the Parkers refused to bury his embalmed body, saying they believed God would bring Wesley back to life.

The turbulent weather capped a warm day which saw temperatures soar as high as 103 degrees at Wink in West Texas. By early this morning the range still was from a warm 80 at Galveston on the coast down to 64 at Dalhart in the Panhandle, according to the Associated Press.

Forecasts held out prospects for partly cloudy skies and no letup in the summery heat for most sections and widely scattered showers and thunderstorms in North Central and Northeast Texas.

House Judicial Panel Enters Last Week Of Evidence Phase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee has entered the final week of examining evidence in its impeachment inquiry, still undecided about what comes next.

The committee returned to the Watergate cover-up when it resumed its closed session today, concentrating on the establishment of the special Watergate prosecutor's office.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., hopes that will have been gathered by Thursday or Friday and is planning to devote the following week to the unresolved questions.

FIVE BODIES FOUND IN HOME— Police Try To Solve Deaths Of Chicago Suburban Family

PARK RIDGE, Ill. (AP) — Authorities are trying to piece together the final hours of a family neighborhood described as close-knit, quiet and unassuming before death entered a neat suburban home.

Raymond A. Fuchs, 46, a purchasing agent for a small electronics manufacturer; his wife Ruth, 48; their daughter, Linda, 14, and son Scott, 18, were found slain Monday in the basement of their brick ranch-style house in this well-to-do suburb northwest of Chicago.

FWA Body Unidentified

A fifth, badly burned body found in the kitchen of the home by firemen called to extinguish a blaze matched the description of the family's eldest son, Jeffrey, 18, but remained unidentified.

Firemen said they had not determined the cause of the fire, but a fire official said it may have been started to cover up the slayings.

"It could be the body in the kitchen is also the person who started the fire," said Anthony Sciarra, deputy coroner of Cook County. "We definitely have a homicide in regard to the persons in the basement."

Fire Starts In Basement

Fire Chief Norman Brown said the blaze apparently started in the basement, where gas and oil cans also were found, he said.

Nevertheless, Sciarra said none of the bodies found in the basement appeared to have been burned.

The body of Mrs. Fuchs was found with her hands bound to a wash tub, said Sciarra. Linda's body lay next to her mother's.

The mother suffered a wound near the head and the daughter received two wounds on either side of the head. Sciarra did not describe the wounds.

A bloodied kitchen knife which could have been used as a weapon was found nearby, Sciarra said.

Scott's body was found in another part of the basement. His hands were tied behind his back with a rope running around his neck, Sciarra said. Fuchs was found near his younger son. He was not bound.

NATO Chief Opens Meet With Words Of Caution

By ENDRE MARTON

OTTAWA (AP) — NATO Secretary-General Joseph M. A. H. Luns opened the 25th anniversary session of North Atlantic alliance foreign ministers today with a warning against overoptimism about the benefits of detente with the Soviet Union.

The Soviets consider detente a "one-way process serving the exclusive interests of the Soviet Union," Luns said and cautioned that despite Western desires detente has not already been achieved.

"The reality is (that) detente is not yet an established fact," Luns said. "It is simply the goal of our policies and hopes."

The delegations from the 15 member nations assembled in Canada's Parliament for a brief public session and to hear speeches by Luns, Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau and James Callaghan, Britain's foreign secretary, Callaghan is the current president of the NATO council.

After the speeches, the ministers and their aides were to begin two days of deliberations devoted to East-West relations. They are expected to approve a carefully worded declaration pledging the Atlantic allies to consult and cooperate in a spirit of partnership.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger arrived just before midnight Monday from President Nixon's tour of the Middle East.

The new NATO "Declaration of Principles" defines the principles on which the 25-year-old alliance should proceed, now that the threat of Communist aggression has receded and is no longer such a unifying force.

The declaration will be signed by President Nixon and the other government heads of the alliance nations at a meeting in Brussels June 28, the day before Nixon begins his visit to the Soviet Union.

Kennedy Declares Public To Decide On Chappaquiddick

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says the public will decide whether the Chappaquiddick incident will have any effect on his political future.

"These are questions that would have to be decided by the people themselves, and as long as I remain in elective office they will have that opportunity to express whatever view they have on it," he said.

A car driven by Kennedy plunged into water on Chappaquiddick Island in 1969, and Mary Jo Kopechne, a passenger, drowned.

It "is a very emotional, personal tragedy to me and to the Kopechne family, and it's one that I live with each day and I regret very deeply. But there is really nothing other than indicating that sense of concern that I can really add," the Massachusetts Democrat said.

Kennedy's comments came in an interview Monday on radio station WEEI.

Citizens Savings' Branch Office Application Okayed

AUSTIN — The Texas Savings and Loan Department formally has approved the application of Citizens Savings & Loan Association of Midland for a branch office at the northeast corner of West Wadley Avenue and North Garfield Street in Midland's Oakridge Square Shopping Center.

W. Sale Lewis, Savings and Loan commissioner, said, however, opening of the office must be delayed until time for appeal of the order expires on June 27.

Citizens Savings last week broke ground for a new home office building at the corner of Whitney Street and Andrews Highway.

23 Crossover Complaints Filed

AUSTIN (AP) — Representatives of two Travis County Young Democrats organizations filed complaints Monday against 23 voters alleged to have crossed party lines between the May 4 and June 1 primaries.

Justice of Peace Jim McMurtry said he would not issue arrest warrants but would send the 23 persons certified letters summoning them to appear in court July 9 to answer the charges.

Dallas County Starts Collecting 2-Year-Old Bond Forfeitures

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas County has begun collecting $160,000 in two-year-old bail bond forfeitures from a New Jersey insurance firm, the Dallas News reported today.

Individuals in the sheriff's office and the district attorney's office have blamed each other for not collecting the money sooner from International Fidelity Insurance Co. of Newark, N.J.

A spokesman for the office of Sheriff Clarence Jones said, "I believe the district attorney's office would have to file a suit against a company in New Jersey."

Wilson Johnson, assistant district attorney who negotiated a settlement with the New Jersey firm, said his office "never had any responsibilities with respect to execution because that's just the sheriff's deal."

The county recently collected $80,000 from the company after it agreed to relax efforts that had forced the firm temporarily to stop doing business in Texas.

International Fidelity has promised to pay the remaining $80,000 in three monthly payments beginning July 1.

District Clerk Bill Shaw moved to collect the forfeitures last March, two years after the sheriff's office had asserted it could find no Texas property to foreclose. The State Insurance Board then moved to suspend International Fidelity's right to do business in Texas.

The News quoted company president Phil Kovitz as saying he had not known about the judgments against his firm until Dallas County complained to the insurance board.

John G. Foley, New Jersey's chief insurance examiner, said he was puzzled why International Fidelity could not pay the $160,000 in cash. He was quoted by the News as saying, "They have a surplus of $1,165,676 and total assets of $3,964,000. We are a little disturbed about the news that they didn't pay (before the settlement). They tell us it was all a mistake."

MINIMAL EFFECT ON OIL CONSUMERS— OPEC To Increase Royalty Rates

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — The world's major oil exporting nations have agreed on a 2 percent increase in royalty rates that should have a minimal effect on consumers.

The increase announced Monday by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries after a three-day meeting in the Ecuadorian capital is about 11 cents a barrel or a quarter of a cent a gallon.

With the royalty increase, the 13-nation meeting agreed to continue for another three months its freeze on posted prices put into effect last January.

Saudi Arabia, the biggest exporter, had proposed lowering prices while the other 12 OPEC members advocated some form of increase, either in the posted price or in taxes, to keep pace with inflation.

Saudi Arabia dissociated itself from the royalty increase, officially to await the outcome of its negotiations to take over more stock in the Arabian American Oil Co.

A spokesman said the countries voted for the nominal increase partly as a warning that OPEC would take tougher action unless the industrialized nations bring their galloping inflation under control.

That inflation stems in part from the quadrupling of oil prices by OPEC last year. But prices have been frozen since the first of the year and will now remain so through Sept. 30.

Royalty rates among OPEC members now vary between 12 1/2 and 16 percent. The conference statement said the increase was decided on as a first step toward uniformity.

In countries where the royalty rate already is 16 percent, such as Venezuela, the government will raise taxes to get an equivalent amount, the statement said.

Arabian light crude, a commonly used oil benchmark, has a posted price of $11.65 a barrel and a royalty rate of 13 1/2 percent. The posted price is an artificial price on which the oil-exporting countries calculate their tax take. The 2 percent increase would raise royalties by 23 cents to $1.69. But because the royalties and 16 cents-a-barrel production costs are subtracted from the posted price before calculating the taxes, the net increase works out to only 10 to 11 cents.

The total government take on taxes and royalties has been $7 a barrel. The oil companies have been selling the oil for $9 to $9.50 a barrel.

Kissinger Critic Draw Sharp Attack By Vice President

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford, in his sharpest attack so far on critics of Henry A. Kissinger, says the secretary of State is being sabotaged with "innumerable and backbiting."

"Many of you are presidents of corporations," Ford said Monday in an address to the Grocery Manufacturers of America. "How would you feel if you were doing the very best for your company in labor-management negotiations... and some dissident stockholder spread ugly, untrue and dishonest rumors about you throughout your marketing area?"

"I don't think you'd like it," Ford told the grocery executives. "And I can understand Kissinger's disgust with those who behind his back, spread stories challenging his integrity."

Ford has criticized members of the House Judiciary Committee who have publicly said FBI records show Kissinger initiated wiretaps on government employes and newsmen.

Southwest, Idaho Blistered By Heat; Northeast Cool

By The Associated Press

Unseasonably cool weather hung to the Northeast part of the nation today while blistering heat seared Idaho and the Southwest.

Over all, fair skies were widespread, marred only by widely scattered rainfall.

The mercury sizzled up to 105 Monday at Boise, Idaho, to set a June 17 record there. Daytime temperatures have exceeded 95 in Boise for a week with unseasonably warm weather the rule from the Pacific to the Rockies.

In contrast, eastern sections of the country again were on the cool to chilly side with readings in the 50s and occasional 40s common overnight.

Thundershowers sprinkled northern New England, southern Florida, the Missouri-Arkansas and Oklahoma-Texas borders and the southern Cascade Mountain range in the Pacific Northwest.

Wind gusts reached 64 miles per hour during a thunderstorm at La Junta, Colo.

Cloudy weather with occasional rain persisted in the eastern Great Lakes region.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 42 at Phillipsburg, Pa., to 94 at Needles, Calif.

U.S. Judge Woodward Lowers Boom On Weekend Motel 'Bird'

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Jack Bradley has been sentenced to two more years in prison, and this time U.S. District Court Judge Halbert Woodward guaranteed his cell will have bars on the windows.

Bradley, 30, was sentenced Monday to two years in the penitentiary for serving part of a four-month jail sentence on weekends in a motel at Lawton, Okla.

Bradley, from Tulsa, Tex., was convicted here last November on charges of making false statements to acquire loans. He was sentenced to 20 months probation and four months in a "jail-type institution."

However, Judge Woodward gave Bradley permission in February to serve his term only on weekends at the county jail in Lawton, Okla. He would get credit for three days in jail by reporting at 5 p.m. each Friday and checking out at 8 a.m. each Monday.

Bradley testified Monday he began checking into a motel rather than the jail after the first weekend when he made several good friends among jailers and deputies.

He said he checked into the motel so his son wouldn't have to see him in jail. He also contended that other jails in the area practiced the motel arrangement.

Judge Woodward, however, refused to accept that explanation. "I don't buy your explanation that they opened the door and said, 'Mr. Bradley, walk out,'" the judge said.

He said Bradley made the motel arrangement "in complicity" with jail officials.

Bradley testified he gave the jailers two sides of beef but planned to bill them later for the meat.

Senate Unit Eyes Privacy Legislation To Protect Public Against Data Banks

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 1.35 billion pieces of information about American citizens have been collected in information data banks by 84 federal agencies, Congress has been told.

The statistics were contained in a 4,000-page report released today as the Senate Constitutional Rights subcommittee started work on privacy legislation.

"The most significant finding is that there are immense numbers of government data banks, littered with diverse information on just about every citizen in the country," subcommittee Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said of the report.

The subcommittee says it is attempting to protect individual privacy against undue encroachment by data banks maintained by federal, state, local and commercial agencies.

"As each new data bank is created and each additional bit of personal information is recorded, that precious sphere of privacy in which an individual can do as he pleases without outside interference is slowly but surely whittled away," Ervin said in a prepared opening statement.

The survey said there were at least 856 federal data banks, of which 86 per cent are computerized. It said the great majority were established without legislative authority.

The report also said about 20 data banks are concerned primarily with negative information, including agency blacklists, intelligence and civil disturbance files.

Ervin called for legislation to include these safeguards:

- Explicit legal authority for the creation of each data bank as well as legislative approval for each decision to computerize files.

- Continued legislative control over the purposes, content and uses of government data systems.

BUT COMPROMISE NOT ANY CLOSER—

Nixon Convinces Arabs Of Neutrality

By HOLGER JENSEN
(An AP News Analysis)
AMMAN, Jordan (AP) —

President Nixon has convinced four Arab leaders of his active neutrality between Israel and the Arabs, but he does not appear to have brought them closer to a compromise with Israel.

The American chief executive was told peace will never come to the Middle East without major concessions which Israel so far won't make—withdrawal from all territory captured from the Arabs, including Old Jerusalem, and restoration of Palestinian "rights."

Nixon earned praise from the Arabs and displeasure in Israel for the new era of good will that is opening up between the United States and the Arab world. But he found no softening in Arab conditions for a lasting peace.

The message was the same in Cairo, Jiddah, Damascus and Amman. Nixon admitted he had no solutions in his briefcase, but promised to use Washington's influence to maintain momentum for a settlement.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat talked of removal of Israeli forces from the Sinai Peninsula and of settling the Palestinian question.

King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, who considers himself the protector of Islam's holiest shrines, spoke of returning Jerusalem to Arab sovereignty. Syria's President Hafez Assad stressed that military disengagement in the Golan Heights must be only a "first step toward... Israel's withdrawal from all occupied Arab territory and securing the national rights of the Palestinian people."

And King Hussein of Jordan asked Nixon to press for immediate Israeli withdrawal from the Jordan Valley, to create a six-mile demilitarized zone along the Jordan River similar to those separating Israeli forces from the Egyptian and Syrian armies on the Suez canal and the Golan Heights. Hussein also outlined his ideas for a Palestinian solution: To let the 640,000 Palestinians on the West Bank of the Jordan and the Gaza Strip. Nixon's constant references to the "new element in Arab-American friendship" symbolized by his Middle East tour resulted in hostile Israeli newspaper editorials. They complained of his agreement to sell Egypt nuclear reactors and fuel

Only Two Of Six States Take Advantage Of Special Federal Disaster Grants

WASHINGTON (AP) — In which include loans and such direct assistance as rent-free housing and unemployment compensation.

States must meet 25 per cent of the grant costs, the federal government the remaining 75 per cent.

Only Arkansas and Oklahoma have joined the program. The governors of Missouri, Illinois, Minnesota and Kansas, which all were declared disaster areas last week, have not said whether their states will take part.

The governor of each state was informed of the law's provisions, including the retroactivity feature, when President Nixon signed it May 22.

Officials at the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration view the grant program as just one factor in the various forms of aid available to disaster victims.

The assistance administration sets up special centers in disaster areas to receive applications for the grants and various other programs provided by the new law.

According to John Coleman, an agency spokesman, 352 applications for the grant program were received within the first few days after Oklahoma was declared a disaster area by President Nixon on June 10. But Bob Blair, another agency spokesman, says the number of days or weeks between the time an application is submitted and a check is handed to the victim cannot be predicted because various factors weighing individual needs and damages must be considered.

Commission Stays Ban On Fireworks 30 Days

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans can enjoy the patriotic and deafening boom of firecrackers this Fourth of July after all.

The government just asks that you be careful.

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission voted 5-0 Monday, just six hours before its midnight firecracker ban was to have taken effect, to grant Chinese and U.S. fireworks firms a public hearing on their objections.

That stays the ban, new safety standards and labeling for other types of fireworks at least 30 days.

"The commission has not made any determination of the merits of the issues raised," a spokesman said. "It has only determined that objections meet the legal test to require a hearing."

Fireworks manufacturers and traders from Taiwan, Macao, Hong Kong and Oklahoma had complained that the proposed federal crackdown might stick them with $50 million worth of newly banned hazardous substances.

They argued in a petition submitted last Friday that the hazard of at least some small firecrackers could be reduced to "acceptable levels," and that certain other legal requirements of the law had not been met in the commission's proposed actions.

The commission estimated that 6,000 persons were treated in hospital emergency rooms for fireworks-related injuries last year. It concluded that while new performance standards could make most fireworks, including some rockets safer, there appeared to be no way to improve firecrackers short of a ban.

Commissioner Barbara Franklin said the proposed ban, even though stayed, "heightened peoples' awareness of firecrackers" through the widespread publicity it received.

"We've done as much as we can for this Fourth of July," she said.

The proposed regulations were opposed by a segment of the $100-million-a-year industry supplying two-thirds of the rockets and one-third of the firecrackers sold in the United States. The domestic segment of the industry, the American Pyrotechnics Association, whose members do not make firecrackers, supported the proposed ban.

Hawaii was twice rebuffed in its requests for an extension of the public comment period. The state attorney general, acting governor and chamber of commerce argued that firecrackers play an important role in Chinese-American religious and cultural celebrations.

Mr. McKinley Said Highest Garbage Dump On Continent

MT. MCKINLEY NATIONAL PARK, Alaska (AP) — Mountaineers returning from climbing Mt. McKinley say it's the highest garbage dump on the North American continent.

Peter Blewett, a novice Anchorage climber, returned recently from his first ascent on the peak and said he saw a rolled-up mattress in the snow with an empty beer can perched on top.

"It does ruin the aesthetic experience." A team of Swiss climbers returned two weeks ago with similar complaints.

The problem stems from the strenuous work of climbing at higher altitudes. Mountaineers lighten their loads by discarding what they no longer need. Cleanup crews say they find gas cans, food, paper, boots, skis, ropes, snowshoes and tents.

First Lady Joins Israeli Children

JERUSALEM (AP) — Pat Nixon, vetoing Israeli security agents' attempts to shoo away excited youngsters, joined on Monday a circle of school children who waved American flags and shouted "Nixon" and "shalom."

The First Lady was out sightseeing on the last day of President Nixon's visit to Israel when she stopped at Kibbutz Qiryat Anavim in the Judean Hills seven miles west of here.

She said it was her first visit to a kibbutz, a communal farm settlement.

Anti-Crime Council

Aroused citizens in Oklahoma have formed an anti-crime group, with the idea of becoming personally involved in the fight against the growing menace to public safety.

An aroused citizenry could be the answer to many of the problems of this nature confronting the nation today. The new Anti-Crime Council of Oklahoma, Inc., has as its founders a number of prominent Oklahomans, leaders in civic, business and political fields.

The anti-crime group reportedly does not intend to become a posse in any sense of the word. Rather, it plans to reinforce the proper law enforcement agencies, while at the same time attempting to create a public awareness of the importance of respect for the law.

The lack of discipline among the youth of Oklahoma is said to be the first concern of the anti-crime group. An effort will be made to reach them through an educational-type program.

Oklahoma apparently is experiencing an unusual wave of crime, which is said to be of epidemic proportions.

Discussing the atmosphere which has created the wave of crime, Joseph Best of Tulsa, vice president of the anti-crime group, is quoted as saying, "Our present work-knee age of permissiveness has bred gangs of terrorists in Oklahoma and over the nation who flaunt their violence and disrespect for all law. Every legal means available must be put to use now to make our streets, homes, and persons safe in Oklahoma."

Organized efforts by citizen groups certainly can be effective in Oklahoma, Texas, or wherever.

Citizen involvement can work wonders, and it is fitting that residents of neighboring Oklahoma should band together to preach the gospel of law and order and to support law enforcement in general.

Kind, Helpful Patrolman

A state highway patrolman who apparently had completed his day's work and was headed home, happened upon a major automobile accident on Midkiff Street, just off Golf Course Road in Midland late one afternoon recently.

He was on the ground promptly, rushing to the aid of the injured persons.

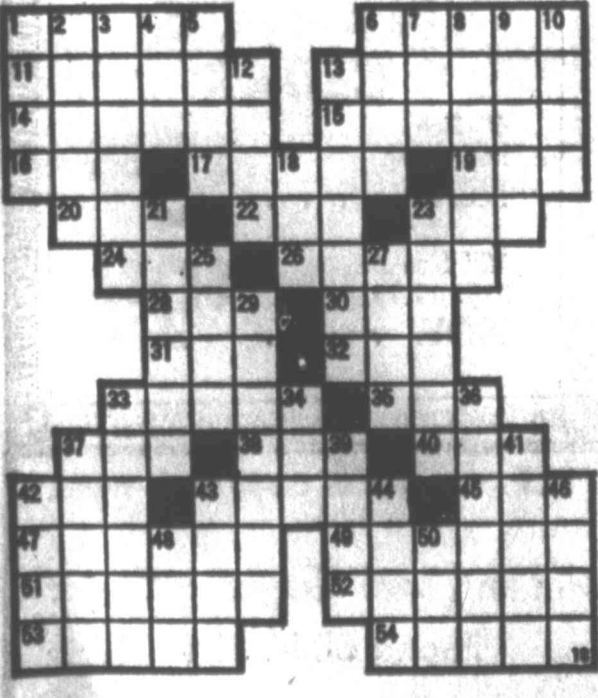

"He showed great compassion to those who were hurt," a Midland woman said in relating to the editor the incident which she had observed.

"He was just as kind as could be to the victims. He was efficient, displaying tremendous skill in first aid. It was an outstanding performance on his part."

"I don't know who the patrolman was," she added, "but he merits commendation."

'Wonder How Kissinger Is' At Economics?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson Says: A new grave could mean a broken law.

WASHINGTON—With actor Robert Redford as the chief pallbearer and tv cameras deployed to record the tender scene, the last remains of legendary mountain man and Indian fighter Jeremiah Johnson were laid to rest the other day at Old Trail Town, Wyo.

Warner Bros., which is now massively promoting the Redford movie about Jeremiah Johnson, happily provided the tv networks with film clips. Thus, a nationwide television audience was treated to a Redford portrayal of the old Indian killer, as his moldy bones were lowered into their new grave.

There was one problem, which never was mentioned in all the publicity. The removal of Jeremiah Johnson's bones from a less glamorous veteran's grave, apparently was quite illegal.

The idea of relocating his mortal remains originated with some students at the Parkview Junior High School in Lancaster, Calif., which is 50 miles by freeway from the Warner Bros. lot.

They discovered that Jeremiah, whose real name was John Johnston, had been buried around the turn of the century in a Los Angeles veteran's plot. They decided that the old "liver eater," as he was known in the Wild West, would be happier buried among the mountains of Wyoming than the freeways of Los Angeles.

The students presented their proposal to the Veterans Administration, which agreed to the transfer of Jeremiah's remains to the locale of his legendary exploits.

"Real Historic Thing" Rufus Wilson, the VA cemetery boss, explained to us that the decision was "a real historic thing." Allegations of commercialism, he said, were unfounded.

The celebrated reburial was challenged, nevertheless, by Rep. John Melcher, D-Mont., who told us the Justice Department informally had advised him that the project appeared to violate regulations.

The national cemetery regulations state that burials are deemed to be "permanent and final." Disinterment is allowed only for "cogent reasons including a court order or the written consent of all close living relatives."

After Melcher raised his objections, Wilson agreed to put a hold on the project. But the following day, he changed his mind and authorized the disinterment. He said the regulations had been interpreted incorrectly.

Congressional experts fear the case could set a bad precedent. "Under (Wilson's) interpretation of the rules," said one aide, "the next thing we'd expect the Chamber of Commerce of General Pershing's home town asking for his bones to be dug up."

Footnote: A spokesman for Warner Bros. denied that the movie makers promoted Jeremiah Johnson's reburial, calling the event a "fluky publicity break." As for Robert Redford, he lives in the mountains and has a genuine interest of his private talks with the President, because he probably used "the most embarrassing language" of any senator on the White House tapes.

If his conversations were released, said the candid Goldwater, "I would be sorely tempted — although I would try to resist to vote (against the White House) on that basis alone."

SENATE WHISPERS: There have been whispers in the Senate cloakroom that, if too many embarrassing tapes are subpoenaed at an impeachment trial, the President may release some of his taped conversations with individual senators.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., acknowledged that he could be hurt by the release of his private talks with the President, because he probably used "the most embarrassing language" of any senator on the White House tapes.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: The House impeachment staff still is relying upon the investigations of others to build the case against President Nixon. House investigators haven't gotten around themselves to interviewing some of the key Watergate figures. The staff has placed great stress upon the White House tapes, including those President Nixon still is refusing to hand over.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS: The phrase "a war to end war" was popularized by President Woodrow Wilson, but was originally coined in 1914 by English novelist H.G. Wells. The World Almanac notes, which followed World War I in 1919, shook Wells' faith in the inevitable progress of man, causing him to proclaim that man's future would be "a race between education and catastrophe."

Henry Kissinger: Cool Look At Red-Hot Issue

WASHINGTON (NEA) — "Why are you trying to destroy your government?"

That question was put to me by overseas telephone recently by a wise and immensely informed European. The question related to what the speaker saw as a concerted press and political attempt to nail President Nixon for the Watergate crimes and cover-up.

That question is being asked today with increased emphasis in the context of what seems to be an attempt to gun down Secretary of State Henry Kissinger in the midst of his efforts to defuse the Middle East and achieve meaningful detente with Russia.

To this observer in the nation's capital, who has spent a lifetime in highly competitive journalism, the hunt for Kissinger's scalp by some members of the press is an irresponsibility bordering on insanity considering the catastrophic risk involved in Kissinger's failure.

The distinguished liberal columnist, Marquis Childs, condemns these elements as follows:

"The assumption of some reporter-commentators who direct their fire at Kissinger is that diplomacy should be treated like a police beat. You score if you get the bad guys and you better believe there aren't any good guys."

Childs, like others with whom I have discussed this crisis of press responsibility, believes some journalists are guilty of "dangerous distortion" of their function.

Any close student of present-day trends in reporting sees clear evidence of a struggle within the field. A large number of men and women are coming into news reporting seeing it as an opportunity to attack what they regard as evil and to "improve" society, in their opinion, by turning out the rascals. The impartiality of yesterday's generation of reporters which we labeled "objectivity" is hooted as dated dictum.

There is a covert alliance between these young hotheads of the newsroom and the junior aides, lawyers of congressional committees, offices of prosecutors and government departments. This was acknowledged by two reporters who were awarded the Pulitzer Prize for their Watergate disclosures, Woodward and Bernstein, who told of receiving their invaluable leads from an official source to whom they gave the name "Deep Throat." Even the traditional sanctity of the grand jury chamber has been violated in this pursuit of subjective scoops.

Now it is Henry Kissinger at the pinnacle of his Midwest success, who is forced to flee the journalistic wolf pack. Almost alone in Washington it had seemed he was immune to the poisonous atmosphere that had seeped whole salutes of offices in the White House.

One can only deplore Kissinger's ill-timed threat to resign, delivered in Salzburg, Austria, in the midst of his trip with President Nixon to consolidate the Middle East cease-fire.

Time will tell whether the secretary, in the context of agonizing leaks involving national security in 1969, actually ordered wiretaps on subordinates or, as he has testified before Congress, merely assisted an investigation he welcomed.

A very wise former diplomat (who by coincidence received his early grounding as a great newspaper correspondent) believes that whatever Kissinger's role the event was completely subordinate to the importance of his present role, a role upon which the fate of us all may hang.

He sees us as thrust to a national mood to "put down our heroes." He believes there are some now in government or recently in it so jealous of Kissinger's success that the leaks to the press which blew this situation into another "scandal" might actually have emanated from the Nixon entourage. As a close observer of Kissinger at work, this individual ardently wishes he had kept his cool in Austria, hard as it might be for the secretary to do so given his extreme press provocation and the incredible strain under which he must be operating.

His advice to both Kissinger and the press is: "For God's sake — and the nation's — cool it!"

POLLY'S POINTERS

Mirror, Mirror Go On The Wall?

By POLLY CRAMER

Newspaper Writers Association

DEAR POLLY — I removed a large heavy mirror (45 x 50-inch) from an old vanity dresser and would now like to fix it so I can hang it on the wall. It has 1/2-inch thick wood backing fastened with two grips at each end. I call them staves and two are vertical, screwed to the wood back and about two-thirds as long as the mirror. How do I convert this to a wall mirror? Should I glue the wood back on or would that affect the mirror? It does not have a frame so would it be possible to hang the mirror? — SALLY.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with the small tea or water pots used in restaurants. It is almost impossible to pour water out of them without spilling some. The spouts on those metal pots are so poorly designed. Also I am very annoyed when I see waitresses setting tables in restaurants and handling silverware by the ends used for eating. This is most unsanitary. — KATE.

DEAR POLLY — Roger wanted to know how to keep cats out of his garden. They are using it for a litter box. Lay chicken wire over the garden space and plant the seeds in the wire openings and that should keep them out since they cannot scratch in the small areas of the openings. Good luck — this is working for me. — MARY D.

DEAR POLLY — I do hope Roger who has trouble with cats in his vegetable garden likes oranges. We solved this problem by cutting up orange skins and scattering them all around. I think it is the oil in the rinds that cats dislike and this certainly will not harm them. — MRS. J.K.

DEAR POLLY — Roger who has trouble with cats in his garden should sprinkle mothballs generously in the garden and they will keep away not only the cats but rabbits, too. We found this most effective. — HELEN.

DEAR POLLY — So many women are now enjoying making quilts that will eventually be heirlooms and may add further to this pleasure by making matching pillowcases and even decorate sheets with the same motif. Even when making a quilt from a kit it is often possible to retrieve pieces from the clippings to use for this. The quilt design will be greatly reduced for use on linens. The honoree's chosen colors of blue and white were featured in the decorations.

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren

Poetry Is Fine, But It's Not Edible

DEAR ABBY: I dropped out of high school to be married. I am now 30, divorced, and have three children. We are totally dependent on welfare.

If I went to work I could earn $1.90 an hour as a motel maid, but here is my dilemma: I attend (but am not enrolled in) the poetry workshops of two colleges in my city. My teachers say I am very talented, and they urge me to stay with writing poetry. I have been published in some of the best literary magazines in the nation, and have had some very encouraging letters from editors, although they haven't paid me anything. My ambition is to become a major poet.

I have spent two years in therapy, but I can't psychoanalyze away my need to write poetry.

Now I must make a choice between my children's physical needs and what my family calls my "selfish ambition."

I welcome your advice.

POOR, SCORNED AND TORN DEAR P. S. AND T.: Since you are able to work I think you should get off welfare. That's your poetry has netted you only non-edible letters of encouragement. I advise you to get a paying job, and write poetry in your spare time.

mate above all others because your mate will be your lifelong companion. Well, I am not married yet, but I think my girlfriend will expect me to go to her first, and my mother will expect me to go to her first.

I love them both very much and wouldn't want to hurt either one, so whose arms do you recommend?

SAILOR

DEAR SAILOR: Since you aren't married yet, I'd suggest you greet your mother first. But once you take a mate, mate, she comes first!

CONFIDENTIAL TO "A FRENCH-SPEAKING ITALIAN IN ROME": The French have a phrase for it: "Il n'y a pas les femmes froides, mais les hommes maldroit." Which means, "There are no frigid women, only clumsy men."

Gloria Bradford Shower Honoree

A bridal shower was held recently in the home of Mrs. W. R. Roy, 5201 Thomason Drive, in honor of Gloria Bradford, bride-elect of Tommy D. Thornton.

Miss Bradford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Bradford of Menard, and Thornton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Thornton of 1405 S. Jefferson St., will be married July 13 in Menard.

Co-hostess to the party was Mrs. Donny Thornton. She and Mrs. Roy were assisted by Rhonda Rigby and Kim Rigby.

Cousages were presented to the honoree, her mother, the mother of the bridegroom-to-be and his grandmother, Mrs. Ruby Finley.

Walgreens DRUG STORES

DEAR ABBY: I am interested in the strange case of the woman who went to confession and was upset by the priest who confessed his own troubles to her. Even stranger was your advice that the priest should see a doctor!

So, here's the situation: If a woman confesses to a priest, she's religious; but if a priest confesses to a woman, he's sick.

My God, Abby, if that's the best you can do, you should quit. Why didn't you simply advise the poor fellow to go to another priest and confess.

INFIDELO

DEAR INF.: The priest didn't merely "confess" to a woman — He broke down and wept — and to a parishioner who had come to HIM to confess yet. (This is healthy?)

True, another priest might have relieved the first priest's guilt by hearing his confession, but only a doctor can diagnose and treat one for an emotional disturbance, which appears to be the case here.

DEAR ABBY: I am a sailor who will be going on leave soon. I expect to be met at the airport by my parents and my girlfriend. My problem is I don't know whose arms I should go to first. It will be a year and six months since I have been home.

DEAR POLLY — I do hope Roger who has trouble with cats in his vegetable garden likes oranges. We solved this problem by cutting up orange skins and scattering them all around. I think it is the oil in the rinds that cats dislike and this certainly will not harm them. — MRS. J.K.

DEAR POLLY — So many women are now enjoying making quilts that will eventually be heirlooms and may add further to this pleasure by making matching pillowcases and even decorate sheets with the same motif. Even when making a quilt from a kit it is often possible to retrieve pieces from the clippings to use for this. The quilt design will be greatly reduced for use on linens. ## Garden Center Directors Meet

The board of directors of Lancaster Garden Center-Museum of the Southwest met Monday in the center, with 11 representatives of Tejas, Pyracantha, Yucca, Sand and Seed and Midland Garden Clubs attending.

Mrs. Ray Diemer, coordinator, member of Tejas Garden Club, presided. She read a thank you letter from Mrs. J. A. VanAulen, who has resigned from the board, and announced the garden center will be open from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 to 3 p.m. weekdays during the summer months.

The Seminole Garden Club will be the guest of the center and museum today, it was announced.

Plans were announced for a seminar to be held from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. July 1 in the center. "Come and Go, Insects and Diseases" will be the theme of the meeting, which will be open to the public. William S. Peavy of Fort Stockton, area horticulturist with the Texas Extension Service, and Charles Green, Midland County extension agent, will conduct the seminar.

The directors voted to have a garage sale flea market Aug. 2-3 in the Park Center YMCA.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. S. N. McDuffey of 2509 Neely St. were honored recently by their children with a reception in the parlor of the First Baptist Church. The couple was married June 17, 1949, in Eastland and has resided in Midland 22 years. White linen covered the serving table, which was centered with an arrangement of white roses and baby's breath.

Exercise Classes Scheduled By Y

The Central YMCA will have women's exercise classes from 12 noon to 1 p.m. Tuesdays and Wednesdays, beginning today.

The Tuesday class will feature exercise dancing, a form of exercise choreographed to modern music designed to improve cardio-vascular fitness as well as tone the entire body. Special spot reducing exercises will be included in the Wednesday class.

Dressing rooms and showers will be available.

The classes are designed for working women, but are open to all women. Additional information may be obtained by dialing 682-2551.

Meeting Held By HD Council

The Midland County Home Demonstration Council met recently in the office of Pauline McWilliams, extension agent, for a business session, with Mrs. Alvey Bryant, chairman, presiding.

Mrs. W. B. Stanley of the Prairie Lee HD Club and Mrs. O. R. Phillips of the Westside HD Club were elected as delegates to the Texas Home Demonstration Association convention to be held in Amarillo in September. Mrs. Linnie Curtis of the Valley View HD Club was named alternate delegate.

Reports were given on programs on "Quick Dessert" and "Keeping Food Safe," presented by Miss McWilliams; luncheons; talk — slide presentation on Israel by Pearl Watson and "show and tell."

Persons wishing information about home demonstration clubs may contact Mrs. Bryant, 684-7043, or Miss McWilliams, 682-9481, Extension 67.

Perennial Club Reports Meeting

The Perennial Garden Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Kay Sprecher, 1808 W. Michigan St., for a business session with Hazel Lyles, president, presiding.

Miss Lyles appointed Mrs. Sprecher, Mrs. Neta Stovall and Mrs. O. J. Hughey to the nominating committee.

Mrs. Stovall presented an illustrated program on gladiolus, discussing the history, varieties, planting instructions and care of the plant, which is the club's flower.

The next meeting will be July 9 in the home of Mrs. Hughey, 1228 Franklin St.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Tuesday, June 18, the 160th day of 1974. There are 196 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1815, the British and the Prussians defeated Napoleon in the Battle of Waterloo in Belgium.

On this date:

In 1778, in the Revolutionary War, Colonial forces entered Philadelphia as the British withdrew.

In 1812, the United States declared war against Britain.

In 1940, during World War II, the Germans captured the French port of Cherbourg.

In 1953, Egypt was proclaimed a republic, and Premier Mohammed Naguib became the first president.

In 1958, there was a controversy in Washington about gifts received by White House executive assistant Sherman Adams.

In 1961, three princes of Laos, meeting in Zurich, Switzerland, agreed to form a coalition government to unite the war-ridden kingdom.

Ten years ago: The U.S. Supreme Court held unconstitutional a federal statute depriving naturalized citizens of citizenship if they returned to the land of their births for three years.

Five years ago: North Vietnamese forces in South Vietnam attacked two American installations near the Laos and Cambodia borders but were hurled back with heavy losses.

One year ago: The U.S. Senate Watergate committee suspended its hearings for the duration of talks in Washington between President Nixon and Soviet Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev.

Today's birthdays: Actor and director Richard Boone is 57. Paul McCartney, formerly of the Beatles is 32.

Thought for today: Two things are bad for the heart—running up stairs and running down people.—Bernard Baruch. American businessman and statesman, 1870-1965.

South Texas Judge Rapped By Minister

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — A controversial evangelist criticized a South Texas judge Monday during funeral services for Mrs. Jody Martin Parr.

The Rev. Lester Roloff made the critical remark during the funeral for Mrs. Parr, 40, the estranged wife of Duval County Judge Archer Parr. Mrs. Parr died last Thursday of a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Mrs. Parr had recently been jailed on two occasions by District Court Judge Magnus Smith of Edinburg of contempt of court charges. The contempt charges resulted from a lengthy, bitter divorce proceeding. The Texas Supreme Court had freed Mrs. Parr both times she was jailed.

Note Speaks Bitterly
In a note written shortly before her death, Mrs. Parr spoke bitterly of Judge Smith. Relatives and friends made caustic remarks concerning the judge after the funeral. One person claimed the judge would deny a motion for Mrs. Parr and then turn and wink or smile at Judge Parr.

During his sermon, the Rev. Dr. Roloff said, "The next judge she stands before, she'll get justice and mercy."

Noting that Mrs. Parr wrote numerous letters and notes during the night before her death, the minister said, "She closed out her life encouraging and trying to help others."

The minister said he last talked to Mrs. Parr in the Jim Wells County jail at Alice less than a week before her death. He said the two of them went into a small room and prayed. Parr Not Present

Quoting Mrs. Parr as saying, "I'm sick of it all," the minister said, "The only thing she had to lean on was her relationship with Christ."

"She was not bitter and she was not unkind. She had learned a lesson rather late in life," he continued.

During the 30-minute sermon, the minister never once used the name "Parr." On one occasion he called her "Little Jody," recalling that he first met her when she was 10 years old.

Judge Parr did not attend the funeral.

Convention Wages Home Rule Battle

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Constitutional Convention delegates return to the county home rule battle today with county courthouse sentiments running strong against any efforts to change their present methods.

Legislator-delegates tabled 80-71 late Monday a "pure" home rule charter amendment that would let voters of a county decide what form of government the county should have, including whether county officials should be appointed or elected and what length terms they would serve.

Other Amendments

Several other amendments on county home rule charter elections were pending today.

"I know that some county judges don't like this and some sheriffs don't like it," said Rep. James Kaster, D-El Paso, "But let's give the people a chance to say if they like it." He said Texas cities had had the power since 1912.

Sen. Tom Creighton, D-Mineral Wells, claimed Kaster's amendment was "just a power grab" and "if this is adopted we would be taking on every courthouse in Texas."

County Officials Win Round

Earlier, county officials, who have exercised their power several times during the convention, won another round when an amendment was adopted 88-42 to provide a constable for every justice precinct in the state.

The amendment replaces a provision that the convention approved some time ago giving a county commission power to hire one or more constables in each county.

Another amendment was approved 86-27 giving the legislature power to provide for the collection of taxes by political subdivisions. "This means that the 3,300 agencies we have collecting taxes now could be consolidated into 254 tax collection offices, one in each county," said Rep. Wayne Pevete, D-Orange.

AAA Survey Shows Most Texans Speed

HOUSTON (AP) — A survey by the Texas offices of the American Automobile Association Monday revealed that most Texans are coming close to obeying the 55-miles-per-hour speed limit imposed to save gasoline.

Using a City of Houston radar unit, the AAA Monday checked 1,488 cars on U.S. 29, a four-lane, divided highway.

The AAA found that 62 per cent of the vehicles clocked were exceeding the 55 m.p.h. limit. However the average of the speeding vehicles was 60 m.p.h.

Texas highway patrolmen seldom give tickets to motorists for speeding unless they are exceeding the limit by more than 3 m.p.h.

The AAA found that more passenger cars than trucks were going faster than the speed limit and more women than men were speeding.

Of the 1,171 males checked, 58 per cent were speeding. But of the 295 females, 78 per cent were going faster than the limit.

The survey revealed 70 per cent of all passenger cars were speeding, compared with 58 per cent of pickup trucks and 43 per cent of large commercial trucks.

Ford Says He's 'Instant' Veep

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — "I happen to be the nation's first instant vice president," said Gerald R. Ford in telling the Grocery Manufacturers of America on Monday of an affinity for the makers of instant coffee, instant tea and instant oatmeal.

"I only hope that I prove to be as pure, as digestible and as appetizing to consumers who did not have a chance to shop around for other brands of vice president when I was put on the market," he added.

Two Presbyterian Groups Hold Joint Meet On Unification

GEORGE W. CORNELL
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Presbyterians, divided North and South since the Civil War, today headed into a series of joint sessions aimed at healing their century-old split.

"We have learned that 113 years of separation have not succeeded in producing two different kinds of Presbyterianism in this country," said a foreword to a 126-page draft proposal for reunification.

"We have a common heritage and a genuine unity of faith and life. . . . We are convinced that full union alone is appropriate and necessary. . . . We have discovered how much we need each other."

If approved then by the assemblies, it still would have to be ratified by local units to be put into effect.

It was the first joint convocation of the two governing assemblies since 1913, when they met together in Atlanta, but at that time there was no plan, or inclination, for reunion. Moderators of both denominations, the United Presbyterians' Rev. Dr. Clinton W. Marsh, Omaha, Neb., and the Southern church's Rev. Dr. Lawrence W. Bottoms of Atlanta, foresaw reunification.

Used Jumbo Jet Will Ferry Space Shuttle On Earth

Involved in the joint meetings, the first held in 50 years, were delegates to the governing assemblies of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S., a Southern body, and the United Presbyterian Church, a denomination with members throughout the nation.

United Presbyterians number about 3 million and the Southern body about 900,000.

It reunited, the new church would have about 4 million members, making it the fourth-largest Christian body in the country, next to the Roman Catholic, Southern Baptist and United Methodist churches.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Johnson Space Center announced Monday it has scrapped plans to fly the planned space shuttle in the earth's atmosphere and instead will piggyback it around the country on a second-hand Boeing 747.

Originally it was planned for the orbiter, scheduled to become operational about 1980, to be equipped with six airplane type engines to fly itself between launching and landing sites.

But the JSC said the jumbo jet, which it will buy from American Airlines for $16 million, will be used to save money.

The space shuttle will still use its rocket engines on flights into space, perform its mission, then fly back to earth for a landing much like an airplane.

Plans now call for the orbiter to take off and land at Cape Canaveral but the Boeing jet will be used to fly it back and forth to Palmdale, Calif., for refurbishing between space flights.

Pamela Britton Dies Of Cancer

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Ill. (AP) — Pamela Britton, who played the title role in the "Blondie" television series and was a regular on "My Favorite Martian," died Monday of cancer. She was appearing at the Arlington Park Theatre with Don Knotts in the play "The Mind with the Dirty Man."

Herbert W. Kalmbach, President Nixon's personal attorney for four years, will begin serving a prison sentence of at least six months July 1.

The 15th Watergate figure to go to jail, Kalmbach was sentenced on federal charges Monday, the second anniversary of the June 17, 1972, Watergate break-in.

Kalmbach, 52, pleaded guilty Feb. 25 to a felony and a misdemeanor for violating federal campaign laws during the 1970 congressional elections.

In return for his plea and a willingness to testify in court, the special Watergate prosecutor agreed not to prosecute Kalmbach on his admitted role in raising $220,000 for the original Watergate defendants and in other related political activities.

U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica sentenced him to six to 18 months on the felony count and a concurrent six months for the misdemeanor plus a fine of $10,000.

The maximum sentence Kalmbach could have received was two years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

He is to report in two weeks to a federal minimum security prison, most likely the prison farm at Lompoc, Calif.

Keep Drugs Beyond Reach Of Children

Medicine is not candy, never call it that to entice a child to take it. Remember that cough syrups look like soft drinks and many coated medicine tablets look like candy-coated chocolates. Children's aspirin has a candy flavor so children will take it more easily. But make it clear to youngsters that this is medicine, not candy. A bottle of 50 children's aspirin tablets can kill a child.

Keep aspirin and all other chemicals and medications out of a child's reach, even if the bottles have "safety caps."

Illegitimates Win Portion Of Late Picasso's Estate

AIX-EN-PROVENCE, France (AP) — Maia Widmaier, eldest of Pablo Picasso's three illegitimate children, has won a share of the late painter's estate.

An appeals court judgment formally recognized her Monday as Picasso's daughter under a recent French law giving such offspring an automatic share in any inheritance. Mrs. Widmaier, 39, was born of Picasso's affair with Marie-Therese Walter.

The court previously recognized the claims of Picasso's two other illegitimate children, Claude, 26, and Paloma, 26, born of the painter's relationship with Françoise Gilot.

Each is entitled to half as much of the estate as Picasso's only legitimate offspring, Paulo, 32. His widow, Jacqueline, is entitled to half the inheritance and the children share the remainder.

Picasso's estate is estimated at worth more than $100 million.

Six Nations Now In 'Nuclear Club'

NEW YORK (AP) — Since the first time, before dawn in the desert near Alamogordo, N.M., on July 16, 1945, man has triggered perhaps 800 nuclear explosions.

And, in that time, the peaceful application of nuclear energy has led to 46 licensed nuclear power plants in the United States, providing 6.3 per cent of the total U.S. capacity, and a good deal of controversy on safety and environmental effects.

The Atomic Industrial Forum, an industry organization, says there are hopes for some 220 power plants in this country by 1984. Abroad, some 30 countries are committed to nuclear power, with plans for another 300 power plants, it said.

In the 29 years since the first man-made nuclear explosion in history, five nations have joined the "nuclear club"—having exploded a nuclear bomb: The Soviet Union, the United Kingdom, France, the People's Republic of China and now India.

The most recent nuclear test explosions, by China and France on Monday, were part of a recent rush of news about nuclear power. President Nixon announced on his tour of the Middle East that the United States will help both Egypt and Israel develop nuclear power for peaceful purposes.

And the atmospheric tests followed India's controversial first test of an underground nuclear device last May 18 and Soviet Party Chief Leonid I. Brezhnev's assertion that his nation is ready to extend the test ban agreement with the United States to include underground tests.

The two great powers have banned atmospheric tests, but France and China have refused to join the international nuclear nonproliferation pact that became effective in 1970.

The Atomic Energy Commission scorecard of admitted tests shows 946 by the United States, 136 by the Soviet Union (plus 88 recordings of seismic soundings suggesting underground tests), 26 by the United Kingdom, 16 by China including the most recent and 48 by the French (actually 58 now) and one by India. There also were the two atomic bombs the United States dropped on Japan during World War II.

The Atomic Energy Commission, to foster international development of atomic energy expressed in the "Atoms for Peace" proposal of President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1951, since has entered into development agreements with 22 countries.

Fees Reinstated At Camping Sites

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Forest Service says that beginning this weekend, campers using many facilities in national forests will be charged fees ranging from $1 to $4 a day.

The agency announced Monday that the fees, suspended by Congress in 1973 and later reinstated, will go into effect June 22 at approximately 2,000 of the 5,000 camping grounds operated by the Forest Service.

Special Lecture on MIND CONTROL AND ESP
DEVELOP YOUR PSYCHIC ABILITIES-ESP POWERS
OVER 300,000 GRADUATES

Recently, many national publications featured articles about SILVA MIND CONTROL®. These articles, along with many others, discuss how thousands of people across the country have learned through MIND CONTROL® to use more of their mind and to productively develop the vast hidden potential that lies within every human being. Some of these articles report the amazing results of how MIND CONTROL® students have learned to totally relax, improve concentration, memory, break bad habits and increase productivity and creativity, and yes — function psychically — by learning to develop and put to practical use the E.S.P. that we all naturally possess.

30 YEARS OF RESEARCH
The Institute of Psychokinetology under the direction of Jose Silva, began their research in MIND CONTROL® in 1944 to see if it was possible to increase an individual's IQ factor. Amazingly, Silva discovered that not only could IQ be increased, but a person trained in this technique could even control the thought process to such an extent that it could be applied to practical advantage. The implications of this breakthrough were staggering. In-depth studies also revealed that anyone with a normal mental aptitude could develop so-called ESP and clairvoyance when trained in the MIND CONTROL® method. In 1968, the institute decided to release their findings to the general public. Techniques have been researched and refined to where only 40 to 48 hours of class time are required to learn the SILVA MIND CONTROL® method.

Saxbe Says Nixon Wrong To Tell Aides About Jury Probe

By JEFFREY MILLS
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe says President Nixon was wrong to tell aides about secret grand jury proceedings on Watergate. Saxbe Monday defended Aast. Atty. Gen. Henry Petersen's actions in discussing with Nixon the grand jury investigation into the Watergate break-in. Saxbe said he believes Petersen would not have discussed the case with Nixon if he had known "that it was thereafter immediately discussed with numerous people and leaked all over." The attorney general was interviewed by columnist George Will for a program produced by the National Public Affairs Center for Television. Will asked him: "Who was doing something wrong?" Saxbe answered: "Well, the President in discussing this grand jury material with Mr. Haldeman and Mr. Ehrlichman, or whoever came in the office." Former top Nixon aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman now are under indictment in the Watergate cover-up. Petersen headed the original Watergate investigation before a special prosecutor was appointed. The transcripts of White House conversations released by the White House show Petersen frequently went to the President's office to discuss the investigation. The transcripts also show that Nixon passed

County Tax Board Meets Wednesday

The county board of equalization will meet Wednesday and Thursday to handle disputes over valuations on county tax rolls. Wednesday will be devoted to matters relating to personal and real property and Thursday will be for oil and gas property matters. Anyone who feels that his property has been wrongly assessed has the right to a hearing before the board of equalization, which for the county is composed of the county judge and the four county commissioners. Tax Assessor-Collector Elmo Lineberger and members of his staff will be on hand to discuss the matters with the property owners before the issues is taken before the board. In the past, most problems have been solved in the discussion with Lineberger and few persons appear before the board. The board will meet in Room 211 of the Permian Building, Texas and Big Springs streets, at 9 a.m. Wednesday and Thursday.

Public Facility Ruling Won't Have Much Impact On Segregated Private Schools In Southern States

By BILL HENDRICK
 ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A Supreme Court ruling that segregated private schools no longer can be given exclusive use of public recreation facilities apparently will have little impact in the South, where many whites fled to the suburbs years ago to avoid integration. Most education officials polled after the ruling said such schools have their own facilities and that public ones are not needed. And some such schools, formed originally as tools of segregation, have now relaxed their policies and claim any child is welcome. Dis-hard segregationists said they didn't need public facilities for their schools and wouldn't use them if they did. The Supreme Court upheld on Monday a district court ruling banning segregated schools in Montgomery, Ala., from using city football stadiums, baseball diamonds or basketball courts for official games. But the high court failed to rule on whether the segregated academies could use other public facilities such as zoos, museums and parks and sent that matter back for the district court to decide. George W. Shannon, editor of the segregationist magazine, "The Citizens," in Jackson, Miss., said the Citizens Council academies have been denied exclusive use of public facilities but that is pupils do make trips to public parks and zoos. "They can go to parks or the Jackson zoo if they want to," Shannon said. "A representative of the (Ku Klux) Klan or

Public Facility Ruling Won't Have Much Impact On Segregated Private Schools In Southern States

Jefferson City, Mo., officials said the same applied in most cases. In some areas, such as Oklahoma City, "white flight" merely involved whites moving to the suburbs where children attended predominantly white public schools. Private schools did not spring up by the hundreds as in the South. The impact of the ruling will be felt in some areas, however, Dr. Lyman Ginger, Kentucky superintendent of public instruction, said private schools have used public school facilities and that 12 to 15 private high schools would be affected. And in Charlotte, N.C. The Rev. W. Jack Hudson of the Northside Christian School said: "As taxpayers we should have the right to use them (public recreational facilities) and do not feel we should be excluded because we are a private Christian school. I don't feel that we should be made second-class citizens because we want a better education for our children."

Signs Seen Livestock Being Held Back In Selected Market Areas

By The Associated Press
 The meat industry, described as demoralized by sales losses, showed some signs at the start of the week that livestock were being held back in selected market areas. Spokesmen for some Midwestern markets said Monday that cattle and hog supplies were down. However, the Agriculture Department said total slaughter figures indicated no significant holdback by farmers. Many industry officials said it would take several more days to determine whether a withholding action, called in hopes of driving up depressed prices, was really being applied. The action is seen as a temporary tactic as the livestock industry presses the government for loan guarantees and reimbursement of import quotas to ease an economic situation described by one feedlot operator as "a bloodbath." John McGregor, owner of one of Washington's largest feedlots, said he will not withhold cattle, calling the withholding effort a move "by men without much more to lose. Our goal is to be one of the survivors." Bill Marshall, supervisor of the Kansas City livestock market, said a check of 11 Midwest operations indicated the number of cattle Monday was almost 50 per cent below the total of last week. A U.S. Agriculture Department spokesman in Omaha, Neb., said only 3,000 cattle were offered at the market on Monday, compared with 6,500 or 7,000 on a normal Monday. Elsewhere, receipts were lighter than normal at several stockyards. The call to withhold the meat from market came out of a meeting in Nebraska over the weekend in which cattle feeders agreed not to sell steers of 1,300 pounds or less for under 40 cents a pound. Many cattlemen refused to support the plan, and reports

Galveston Fire Destroys Cotton, Rice, Fertilizer

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A massive fire that destroyed cotton, rice and fertilizer on two Port of Galveston piers Monday night still burned today. Acting Lt. Johnny Cannatella of the Galveston Fire Department said no official damage estimate had been made but expected damages of at least $2 million or $3 million. The blaze began about 10 p.m. Monday night and quickly spread to a general alarm fire in an area about the size of three city blocks. One warehouse containing baled cotton was destroyed. Several other warehouses sustained heavy damage. Cannatella said the fire scene "looked like a complete disaster area" shortly after the blaze was reported. Two crews of firemen escaped injury but lost their water hoses to the rapidly advancing flames when they were forced to withdraw, Cannatella said. Several ships berthed near the fire on piers 37 and 38 reportedly received minor damage from the flames. Cannatella said the fire was out of control about two hours.

Y Camp's Starting Date Is Moved Up

The starting date for Camp Westomp, Midland YMCA's Day Camp, has been moved back to June 24 in an effort to provide more time for enrollments. Enrollments will be taken for either one or two weeks. The basic two-week sessions will be scheduled from June 24 - July 5 and July 8 - July 19. Interested persons may contact the YMCA to arrange for any one-week session as well as bus service. "Camp Westomp provides an enjoyable and exciting camping experience for youngsters from 6 through 12 years of age," said John McVicker, community program director. Activities such as archery, hiking, nature study and swimming are part of the camp as well as the overnight campout and the chance for campers to cook their breakfast the following morning. ## Faint Signs Of Interest Rate Decrease Spurs Rally

BY JOSE FRYER
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Faint signs of a downturn in some short-term interest rates fed the stock market's current optimism today, bringing prices back from early morning lows.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up 0.99 at 303.62. Shortly after opening, the blue-chip indicator was off more than 2 points in a carry-over of Monday's 9.46 decline.

Declines last week advanced 2 to 1, however, among 1,456 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was light.

Brokers say investors remained obsessed with high interest rates and their effect on corporate performance and the economy as a whole. However, they note some optimism: several commercial paper companies, including the Federal National Mortgage Association, announced a reduction in short-term notes.

Building Housing U.S. Offices May Be Contaminated

DALLAS (AP) — Government officials today investigated a federal office building air-conditioning system after confirming Monday it may be contaminated with a fungus responsible for serious illnesses of two persons and abnormal lung changes in eight others.

The downtown building houses 2,000 federal employees and offices of Sen. John Tower, D-Tex., and Rep. Jim Collins, R-Tex.

Building manager Herbert Hamilton confirmed the Center for Communicable Diseases in Atlanta has been investigating the air-conditioning system for months. Two employees have an allergic reaction known as hypersensitivity pneumonitis, he said.

Hamilton said a similar fungus infection has been reported in Milwaukee, Wis.

Delegates Arriving In Caracas For Law Of Seas Conference

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Delegates from most of the world's nations were pouring into Caracas today, hoping to lay the groundwork for a global treaty regulating use of the oceans.

More than 3,000 official representatives and 2,000 special observers were expected by Thursday, when the 10-week United Nations Law of the Sea Conference opens.

The massive agenda includes territorial limits, exploitation of undersea mineral deposits and pollution of the seas and oceans. Even the most optimistic delegates and U.N. officials do not expect a treaty to come out of the meeting; another conference is almost certain in 1975 in Vienna.

This meeting is expected to pit the United States, Soviet Union and other major maritime powers against the non-maritime and Third World nations including China seeking a measure of control over international shipping passing through straits along their shores, particularly military vessels, territorial protected fishing limits and other matters.

Voting procedures must be decided first. The big power fear decision by simple majority would enable the Third World to thwart their plans for use of the seas. The United States wants decisions by a two-thirds majority.

Both superpowers are concerned about the future of the world's straits and demand that those narrow sea lanes remain open to international shipping as they have for thousands of years.

China is expected to oppose that because the Russian merchant ships and navy must pass through certain straits to reach open seas.

A confrontation between the United States and South American nations is likely over the limit on territorial waters to protect coastal fishing grounds. West Coast tuna fishermen oppose the 200-mile limit South American nations want, and the U.S. government has said it would agree to a 12-mile limit to replace the old 3-mile limit. But Massachusetts fishermen, backed by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, favor the 200-mile limit because it would protect them from foreign competition off their coast.

In Washington Monday, Ambassador John R. Stevenson, special presidential representative and head of the U.S. delegation to the meeting, said the U.S. will suggest that fisheries and establishment of an international authority over the ocean deep sea bed be given priority.

It was staked as a wildcard and drilled to 8,500 feet, with 7-inch casing seated at 8,465 feet.

The upper Strawn opener, Danigan No. 1 M. A. Peirce et al, drilled Dec. 19, 1973, for 253 barrels of 41-gravity oil through a 12-64-inch choke and perforations at 7,289-7,292 feet.

No. 1 Neblett, one mile north, gauged a daily pumping potential of 37.06 barrels of oil and two barrels of water daily. Gravity of the oil was 40.2 degrees and gas-oil ratio was 370-1. Production was through perforations at 6,955-6,966 feet, which had been acidized with 1,000 gallons and fractured with 8,000 pounds.

Both wells originally had been scheduled as wildcats.

The Earnest re-opener, William M. Fuller No. 1 Roger B. Mize, drilled Sept. 25, 1973, for 71 barrels of 41.5-gravity oil per day, through perforations at 6,881-6,934 feet.

Crane Well Tests In Ellenburger

Gulf Oil Corp. No. 1-NZ State, fourth Silurian well and location south extension to that pay in the Crane County part of the McElroy, North field, has assured production as a location south extension to Ellenburger production in the field, with the flowing of 389.55 barrels of oil and 14.45 barrels of water in 24 hours.

Flow was through a 24-64-inch choke and perforations at 11,922-11,854 feet, which had been acidized with 7,500 gallons. Testing continued.

It was completed from the Silurian for 280 barrels of oil per day, through perforations at 10,934-11,013 feet.

Location is 660 feet from north and 467 feet from east lines of section 24, block 30, ULS, eight miles north of Crane.

West Martin Area Steput Planned

KCM Co. of Midland choke No. 3 Mabee as a 1/2-mile south steput to the three-well Ellenburger sector of the Leacoff multizone field of West Martin County.

U.S. Accuses Cong, Hanoi Of Refusing To Honor Cease-Fire

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The United States accused North Vietnam and the Viet Cong today of refusing to honor the 17-month-old Vietnam cease-fire and trying to conquer South Vietnam by military force.

A strongly worded U.S. Embassy statement said the Hanoi regime continues to ship "massive quantities of war materiel and thousands of their young men into the South, both in obvious violation" of the Vietnam peace agreement.

It claimed 66,243 North Vietnamese and 17,979 South Vietnamese soldiers have been killed and 175,000 have been wounded on both sides since the cease-fire was signed in January 1973.

The South Vietnamese government "has been ready for all these months to make the cease-fire effective... Yet the North Vietnamese have continued and stepped up their military attacks... and are still trying unsuccessfully to conquer the people of South Vietnam by pure military force," the embassy said.

In Cambodia, a government force driving north along Highway 5 toward Oudong, the provincial capital lost in mid-March, was reported to have advanced more than a mile and trapped a large Khmer Rouge force 16 miles north of Phnom Penh.

The military command in Phnom Penh reported its forces have evacuated more than 5,000 of the 25,000 civilians who have been trapped in the besieged Longvek base, two miles north of Oudong, for 2½ months.

Rites Set Today For Mrs. Belknap

Services were to be held at 4 p.m. today in the First Presbyterian Church Chapel for Mrs. Marion (Dorothy) Belknap, 48, who died in a Midland hospital Monday after a long illness.

The Rev. Homer C. Akers, pastor of the Church of the Good Shepherd at Sonora, was to officiate. Interment was to be in Resthaven Memorial Park under the direction of the Newbie W. Ellis Chapel.

Mrs. Belknap was born Feb. 21, 1926, at Texline and was reared at Seminole. She married Mr. Belknap April 22, 1944, at Seagraves. They moved to Midland in 1951.

Survivors include the husband, a son, three daughters, her mother, two brothers, five sisters and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. today in the Kiker-Seale Funeral Home with interment in Sunset Memorial Gardens in Odessa.

Other survivors include the widow, three daughters, two other brothers, five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Judge Brimberry Dies After Seizure

COLORADO CITY — Judge William A. Brimberry, 73, brother of Midlander H. T. Brimberry, died Sunday after suffering an apparent heart seizure.

Judge Brimberry was married to Evelyn Briggs, Aug. 6, 1937, in Midland.

Funeral services were to be at 2 p.m. today in the Kiker-Seale Funeral Home with interment in Sunset Memorial Gardens in Odessa.

Other survivors include the widow, three daughters, two other brothers, five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals has dismissed the government's appeal of a Midland federal court ruling in a gambling case which pended here for more than a year.

The action followed the government's notice of withdrawal from the appeal, filed last week, and the 5th Circuit's dismissal order was received Monday by the federal clerk's office here.

U.S. Dist. Judge D. W. Suttle had ruled here this spring that the case would be dismissed because the government would not name an informant.

The case was brought to court through the indictments of seven men: Charles Ray Hendrix, Harold Gene Madison, Harry Krist and Lonnie L. Jones of Midland; Paul Hynes, Harvey and Clarence A. Johnson Jr. of Odessa; and Lyle Clifton Saunders of Monahans.

Each of the men was charged with conducting the conspiracy to conduct illegal bookmaking operations.

Hendrix, Madison and Harvey also were charged with conducting an illegal poker game operation and Hendrix was further charged with transmitting wagering information interstate and, in a separate indictment, with possession of a firearm not registered to him.

In his dismissal order, Suttle threw out all the allegations but the firearms indictment against Hendrix. It is pending.

Mrs. Pospichal Dies At Ballinger

BALLINGER — Mrs. Anton (Julia Sophia) Pospichal, 89, of Rowena, mother of Esther Krizan of Midland, died Monday in a Ballinger hospital.

Rosary was at 8:30 a.m. today in Allen Davis Funeral Chapel. Additional services will be at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday in the Evergreen Cemetery at Rowena.

Other survivors include a son, three other daughters, three brothers, a sister, 16 grandchildren, 21 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Herschel Kistner Dies In Illinois

NEWTON, ILL. — Herschel Kistner, father of former Midland, Tex., resident Jim Kistner, died at his home here Saturday night.

Funeral services will be held in Newton Wednesday under direction of the Buchanan Funeral Home.

Jim Kistner is a former longtime employe of The Midland Reporter-Telegram and now resides in Houston.

C. D. Jones, 68, Dies; Rites Slated

LAMESA — Carey David Jones, 68, of Lamesa, died Monday afternoon in his home following a short illness.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the first United Methodist Church of Lamesa. Interment will be in Lamesa Memorial Park under the direction of Branon Funeral Home.

A native of Navarro County, Jones had lived in Dawson County 38 years. He was a retired farmer.

Survivors include his widow; a son, Reid Jones of Dallas; a daughter, Mrs. Jerita Harper of Snyder; two sisters, Mrs. Nealle Wilson of Paducah and Mrs. Faye Goree of Plainview; and two grandchildren.

Killed In Arkansas

WARREN, Ark. (AP) — State police said Manuel Roca-montes, 24, of San Antonio, Tex., was killed Monday when he was struck by a pickup truck on Arkansas 189 near here.

Appellate Court Denies Calley Bid To Remain Free

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — It took a federal appeals court just three hours to deny a request to allow William L. Calley Jr. to remain free while lawyers appeal an order returning him to military custody.

J. Houston Gordon, an attorney for the former Army lieutenant, filed the request with the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Monday morning. The motion was coupled with a lengthy legal brief asking the court to reconsider its decision ordering Calley's bail revoked.

The three-judge panel that ordered Calley back into military custody turned down the request to allow him to remain free and denied another request for a rehearing.

Meanwhile, Calley remained free while the decision ordering his return to custody lay on the desk of U.S. District Court Judge J. Robert Elliott of Columbus, Ga.

Elliott's signature is required on the order before the military can again take custody of Calley, who was convicted in 1971 of murdering at least 22 civilians at My Lai during the Vietnam war.

MH-MR Unit Hires Six New Workers

Six new employees were hired at the monthly meeting of the board of trustees of the Permian Basin Community Centers for Mental Health and Mental Retardation Monday.

The board added two trainers, two evaluators and one counselor for the Community Living-Evaluating Workshop (CLEW) Center while naming a community service aide for the CARE Center.

A ten per cent cost of living salary increase was approved effective Sept. 1.

The board also received the proposed budget requests for the next biennium which will be acted on next month and heard a report on public communications set up by the centers.

SEVEN BOARD MEMBERS RE-ELECTED—Red Cross Awards Presented

Seven board members were re-elected and a number of service awards were made Monday night at the annual meeting of the Midland County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Re-elected to the board for three-year terms were Louis A. Bartha, H. W. "Hy" Davidson, Jesus Morales, Mrs. Robert B. Morris, Ray P. Moody, Mrs. Georgia Reeves and James L. Roberts.

Moody is disaster chairman for the chapter and Roberts is first aid chairman.

Maurice G. Cole, chairman of the board, presented a five-year service pin to Mrs. Robert B. Morris, who aided in the organization and is now chairman of the Red Cross Junior and Senior Auxiliary working in Midland nursing homes. Cole also presented awards to other auxiliary members: Mrs. E. L. Galyard, five-year service pin; Mrs. Ruby Richardson, 500-hour certificate and three-year tab, and Mrs. Angeliue Winkler, 100-hour certificate and one-year service tab.

Cathy Henry, Brenda Wallace and Angela Wade, members of the junior auxiliary organized last year, were awarded caps for more than 50 hours of volunteer service.

Mrs. Mary Louise Russell and Mrs. Ellna Willingham received 30-year service pins from Mrs. Ervin C. Philpy, nursing chairman. Mrs. Dorothy Haden was awarded a 15-year service pin and Mrs. M. E. Waddell a five-year pin. All are Red Cross nurses.

Mrs. Glen Carnett, water safety chairman, presented five-year service pins to water safety instructors Sandra Burke, Jerry Halton, Karen King, Lynda Sperry and Gilbert Tompson. Paul Stueckler, Lee High coach, was awarded a 10-year service pin.

James L. Roberts, first aid chairman, presented 25-year service pins to Marvin Beauchamp and Corbie Friday. Ike Fitzgerald and Richard Bivens were awarded 20-year pins. Sgt. James Davidson and Lt. Charles R. Vines got 10-year pins and Cecil Burger, Louis Letimer, Leroy Ledford and Robert L. White, five-year pins. All are active first aid instructors.

A special certificate "in grateful appreciation for a decade of constructive leadership and outstanding personal service" was presented to board chairman Cole by Emil C. Schweitzer, manager of the West Texas Division of the American Red Cross. Cole has been a director here since 1964 and is recognized as one of the outstanding first aid instructor trainers in West Texas.

4 key points presented in the Dale Carnegie Management Seminar

1. How to coordinate and dovetail the efforts of all personnel — so that team effort and a concerted plan of action result.
2. How to solve problems and make decisions with "built-in" evaluation criteria—to make sure decisions are profitable.
3. How to build men—spur them on to peak achievement—assure growth and progress, prevent stagnation.
4. How to make people accountable for results—how to appraise performance.

These are some of the key points of the 36 separate principles of effective management taught in the Dale Carnegie Management Seminar. These principles are designed for easy learning and immediate application.

Smokin' Joe Frazier Eliminates Jerry Quarry In Fifth Cut Above Left Eye Sinks Challenger

By ALEX SACHARE
NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Frazier came out smokin' Monday night, blasted his way back into the heavyweight title picture and cast a giant shadow over Jerry Quarry's dream of ever wearing that coveted crown.

"I wanted the public to see that I'm going back to being the old Smokin' Joe," said Frazier, moments after stopping Quarry at 1:37 of the fifth round of their scheduled 12-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

"All the things they said I couldn't do, I did tonight," Frazier said. "I really felt good—just like my old self."

It was the old Smokin' Joe, the aggressive battler with the devastating left hook, but with some new wrinkles—an effective right hand, some pesky jabs, a smothering defense. And he proved that the new Quarry was little more dangerous than the old one, whom Frazier beat in seven rounds five years ago.

A cut above the left eye, opened by Frazier early in the fifth round, led referee Joe Louis—the former king of the heavyweights—to stop the fight. But even without the cut, there was little doubt the fight belonged to Frazier.

"Everything I worked so hard for just didn't work," said a disconsolate Quarry, who needed 15 stitches to close the cut above his left eye and three stitches to bind a smaller wound above his right eye. "I just didn't have any strength, nothing."

"I had a very long elusive dream," Quarry said of his quest for the heavyweight title. "I'm not sure I can make it now."

Quarry had six straight knockouts since ending a brief retirement 18 months ago. But Frazier was another matter, thanks largely to the ex-champ's manager, Eddie Futch, who designed the varied attack Frazier used so effectively.

"I've got to give all the credit to Eddie," said Frazier, who weighed 212 pounds to 197½ for Quarry. "He brought what was in me out again."

"We worked on Joe's right hand, because I thought we would catch Jerry off-guard," said Futch, explaining the presence of the unexpectedly effective right in the Frazier arsenal. "We knew Jerry would be looking for a left-hook attack."

The victory provided for Frazier a decisive answer to critics who claimed that his hard-fought victory in the first Muhammad Ali fight had taken too much out of him. Those critics pointed to his second-round knockout at the hands of George Foreman in Jamaica Jan. 22, 1973, and his loss to Ali one year later, as evidence of his deterioration.

But against Quarry, Frazier showed he still had that pow-

"I keep telling people that I can box," said Frazier. "They said no—but I showed them tonight that I can. They said I can't hit with my right hand—I showed them differently."

Frazier was in command from the start, witnessed by a Garden crowd of 14,611, producing a gate of $517,006.03.

The fight was the first half of a national closed circuit television doubleheader. In the second bout, Bob Foster successfully defended his light heavyweight title with a draw against Jorge Ahumada in Albuquerque, N.M.

Frazier clearly won the first two rounds despite being hit by a hard—but accidental—low blow with 30 seconds to go in the opening round. Frazier grimaced in pain and walked to a corner, but Quarry quickly apologized and Louis motioned for the bout to continue.

The first really decisive punches of the fight came about 2½ minutes into the third round, when Frazier connected with a right to the body and followed with a left hook to the head that turned Quarry sideways.

Frazier pounded away in the fourth, flooring Quarry with a mighty left hook to the stomach at the closing bell. Quarry took a count of five before rising.

The fifth round was all Frazier. He left Quarry helpless. After opening the cut over Quarry's left eye, Frazier motioned to Louis to stop the fight, but the referee let the boxers continue for another 30 seconds before calling a halt.

"Joe (Louis) should have stopped it sooner; if not Joe, then the people in Jerry's corner," said Frazier. "I could see how badly he was cut."

Louis defended his actions: "The cut wasn't as big as Joe thought it was. In another half-minute it was bigger, and that's why I stopped it."

Louis and judge Jack Gordon scored each of the first four rounds for Frazier, while judge Artie Aidala had it 3-0-1. The Associated Press gave all four rounds to Frazier.

Today, the two 30-year-old heavyweights find themselves headed in opposite directions.

Quarry, thwarted in his comeback effort, is once again the bridesmaid, stopped short of his goal.

He evaded saying whether he will retire after the fight, although his wife Charlie indicated he would "be coming back."

Frazier looks ahead to a brighter picture—and the crown now worn by George Foreman, who defends it against Ali in September in Zaire.

Said Frazier, looking to a possible bout with the winner: "I want another shot at that title—as soon as possible."

Joe Louis Likes Fight

By DICK JOYCE
AP Sports Writer

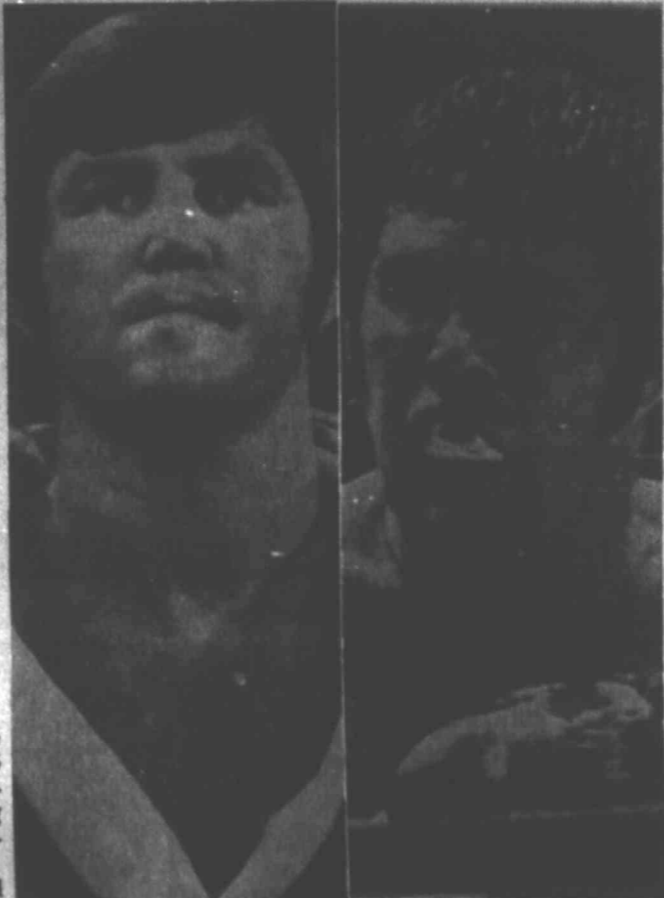

NEW YORK (AP) — The fight had been over for about 15 minutes and the 60-year-old referee sat on a bench in Dressing Room 11 at the end of the corridor in Madison Square Garden.

"It was a good fight," said Joe Louis, who once reigned heavyweight boxing as the Brown Bomber. He stuffed his referee shoes—just worn in the Joe Frazier-Jerry Quarry heavyweight bout Monday night—into a small shopping bag.

He had just worked the bout, which he stopped at 1:37 of the fifth round. Frazier had battered Quarry, who was hurting and bleeding from a cut around the left eye.

Earlier in that round Frazier had signaled Louis to halt the bout as Quarry groped and bled from the cut. But Louis disregarded Frazier's plea. Frazier then finished off the Californian.

"The cut wasn't as big as Joe (Frazier) thought it was," said Louis in his quiet manner. "In another half-minute it was bigger and that's why I stopped it."

AHUMADA COMES OUT WITH DRAW—Foster Retains Title

By JAC KSTEVENSON
ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Left-hooking Jorge Ahumada, a solid little boxing bull from Argentina, remains convinced he should be the light heavyweight champion today. "I am the champ and I'll come back to Albuquerque again to prove it," declared a bloody and bruised challenger, who came out with only a draw in 15 rounds against home town hero Bob Foster.

So Foster retained the title, his 14th successful defense of the 175-pound crown. It was the first draw in his professional career, dating back to 1961.

Referee Jimmy Cleary ruled for Ahumada 145-142 under the 10-point must system under which the winner of a round collects 10 points and the loser nine or less.

Judge Tim Keleher saw it 148-143 for Foster and judge Stan Gallup scored 144-144. All three officials are from Albuquerque. The Associated Press scored it 145-144 for Foster.

Ahumada, 173½ and 5-foot-10, lacked 5½ inches in height and five inches in reach against his 35-year-old foe, who weighed in at 174.

So Ahumada followed a strategy of bullying in and swinging left hooks that often found their mark to the head or body. Foster's best was his jab and trainer Billy Edwards kept up an incessant shout of, "Jab, jab, jab, jab, jab," and "Watch out for the hook."

In the 10th round Ahumada hit Foster with a low left, doubling the champ over. The referee gave him a minute to recover and took away a point. He then told judge Keleher what he had done but said it would be the judges' discretion whether they followed suit.

Keleher did but the other judge didn't.

"I thought it was an accidental low blow and it had nothing to do with my scoring," said Gallup, the third judge.

In many boxing jurisdictions, if a referee feels a low blow was intentional he inflicts a point penalty and instructs the judges to do the same.

A draw decision in a championship fight leaves the title with the champion.

The fight drew announced crowd of 11,093 to the University of New Mexico Arena. It was the second part of a nationally televised closed circuit show that started with Joe Frazier's fifth round knockout of Jerry Quarry in New York.

While Ahumada, 28, clamored for a rematch, Foster's manager, Lou Viscusi, said nothing was settled yet but both John Conteh of Great Britain and Victor Galindez of Argentina were at the fight.

Either could get the next shot at Foster and Conteh appears to have the best chance.

Is There A Merger?

NEW YORK (AP) — Is the National Basketball Association finally about to merge with the rival American Basketball Association?

"There is a minimal possibility that such a procedure will take place before the week is over," said NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy Monday, adding, "I don't think it is a strong possibility."

Kennedy, attending the opening of the week-long NBA meetings, was trying to squelch a flurry of rumors about a possible merger, which he said may have been started by the ABA.

The NBA was not expected to discuss the merger situation formally until Wednesday or Thursday. The ABA was scheduled to meet Thursday and Friday in Louisville.

Kennedy said Herman Sarkowsky, owner of the Portland Trail Blazers, had been meeting with ABA officials periodically over the past few months. Sarkowsky heads the NBA's Legislative Committee—the group in charge of the league's merger negotiations.

Under a possible merger deal, six ABA teams—New York, Kentucky, Indiana, San Antonio, Denver and Carolina, which would shift to Cincinnati—would pay an indemnity to join the NBA.

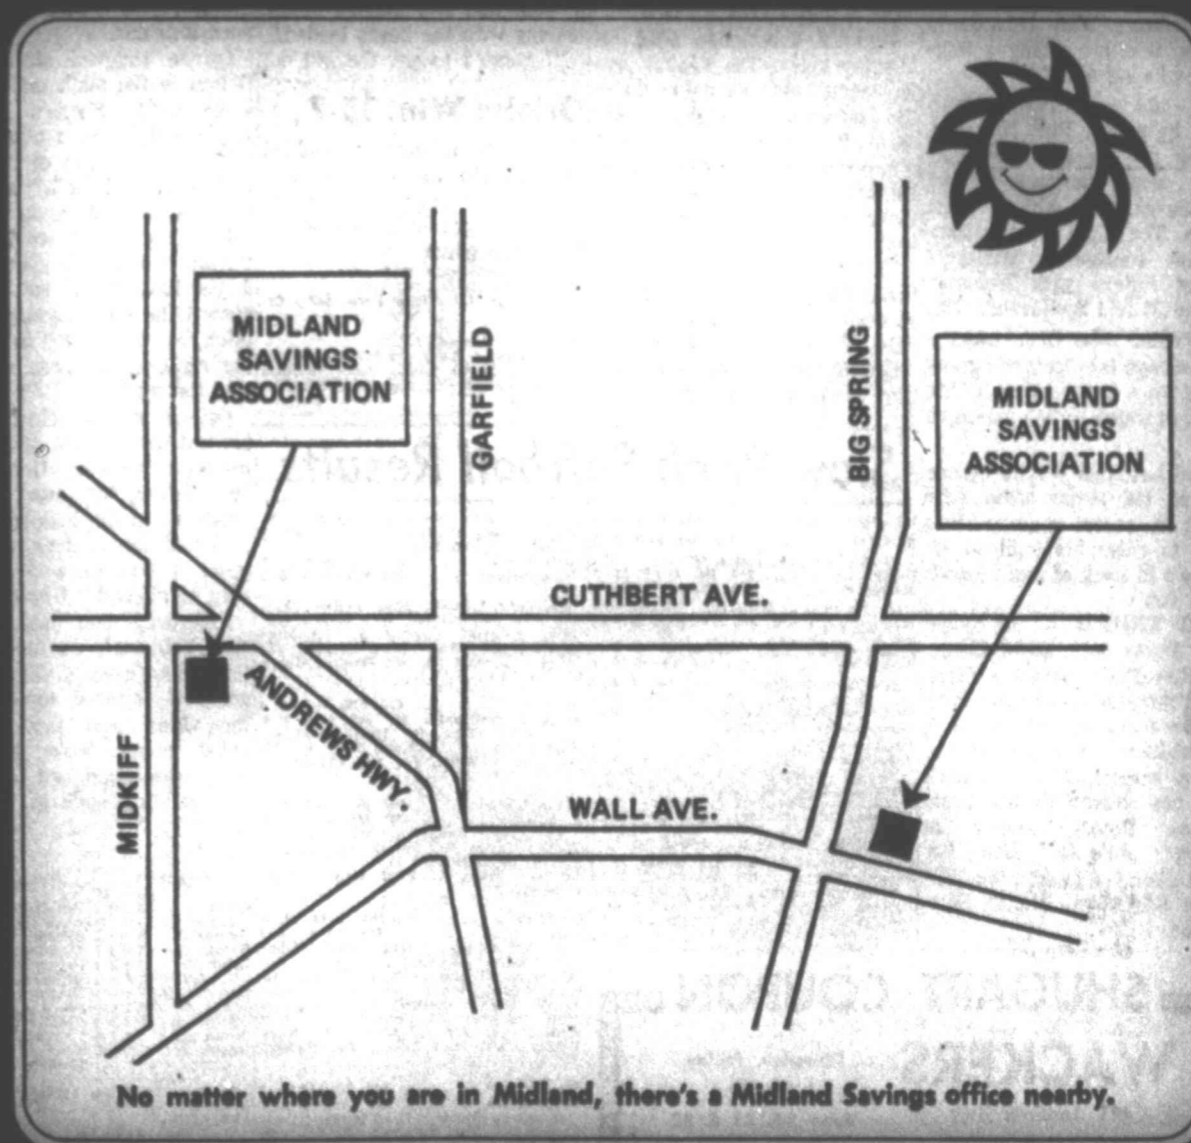

ABA teams in Memphis, San Diego, Utah and financially troubled Virginia, already taken over by the league, would be dropped before the merger.

A tentative plan for the 1974-75 season would have the former ABA teams competing among themselves under the NBA flag as a separate division—likely with their own playoffs, too. The NBA's regular season schedule already has been drawn up.

Fourteen of the 18 NBA owners would have to approve a merger.

Kennedy said no "accommodation" is possible without congressional legislation or approval of a federal judge because of current antitrust laws.

Women Stars To Perform

HOUSTON (AP) — Women athletes one-upped the men Monday with the announcement of a women's superstar competition which will hand out more prize money than the male competition. Sidney Shienker, executive vice president of the Astro-dome Corp., and Larry King, co-publisher of Women Sport magazine, made the announcement of the competition, which will feature total prize money of $150,000. The event is patterned after a similar event held yearly in Florida which offered $138,000 to competitors. The winning Ms. in the Women's Sports championships, to be staged at the Astrodome, will pocket $50,000. Kyle Rote Jr. won this year's men's event and took home $53,000. # All-America Hope

Barnes Hoping For Shot At Quarterback

By MIKE COCHRAN LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Texas Tech's Joe Barnes is hoping to parlay the Coaches All-America football game Saturday night into a shot at quarterback for the Chicago Bears. "I feel like I have a really good game here they might give me the chance to play quarterback," he said. "They keep telling me there is hope because evidently the Bears are not pleased with what they've got... they had a 3-11 record last year and that's not too good. They are really unhappy about something." Though he was the premier quarterback in the Southwest Conference, and the star of Tech's Gator Bowl victory over Tennessee, Barnes was drafted by the Bears as a running back. Such a move was even more ironical since neither of Chicago's two quarterbacks, sophomore Bobby Douglas and backup Gary Huff, has performed consistently well. Barnes, however, is not the drop back passer preferred by most pro teams, choosing instead to hurt on sprints and play action maneuvers. He will be sharing quarterback duties for the West team with Jesse Freitas of San Diego State, a sharp-shooter in the pro image who led the nation in both passing and total offense last season. "They will use me quite a bit on the sprints and the running game and Jesse on the passing game," Barnes said of West Coach Barry Switzer of Oklahoma and his assistants. The 14th annual summertime classic will be televised nationally from Jones Stadium, the scene of most of Barnes' collegiate heroics. The swift, 5-11, 200-pound Barnes, a consensus All-SWC choice, was an explosive on the ground as through the air in leading Tech to an 11-1 season. "I was not ecstatic about the Bears picking him as a potential running back. "Actually, at the camp I went to they had me playing...

NFL Strike Looms With Rebel Players

ATLANTA (AP) — Bill Curry, president of the National Football League Players Association, saying there is no way out of a strike, has accused the NFL owners of employing "union-busting tactics." Curry, a center with the Houston Oilers who lives in Atlanta, said Monday, "Obviously, the owners' tactic is to use rookies in the exhibition games and force us to our knees. It is a union-busting tactic, and we don't think it will work." The NFL Management Council announced Sunday that all clubs had sent letters to rookies asking them not to join the players' association until the present negotiations had been settled. Curry said in response: "I see a strike and, yes, the wheels are in motion. The best way to avoid a strike is to be prepared for one." The NFLPA is contacting all rookies in an effort to convince them not to cross picket lines. The NFLPA broke off negotiations last week with the owners. The players want more of a voice in league matters and want an end to the rule which calls for the commissioner to name compensation for teams signing players playing out their option.

DIAL DIEFFELBERGER— Want To Chat With Aaron?

By WILL GRIMSLEY NEW YORK (AP) — If you want to chat with Hank Aaron and the home-run king's phone doesn't answer, ask the operator to connect you with "A. Dieffelberger." That's just one of the pseudonyms the Atlanta Braves' star slugger uses to protect the privacy that has become a fragile commodity since he replaced the late Babe Ruth as the greatest home-run hitter of all time. Aaron currently is the most sought-after athlete in the world—more than Joe Namath, more than Jack Nicklaus, more than O.J. Simpson. "The pressure has let down some but still is pretty heavy," Aaron said on his first visit to New York since he set the all-time record with his 715th home run in Atlanta on April 8. "Understand, I appreciate all this attention, but I am 40 years old and I am still trying to play baseball. I have to have a certain amount of rest. I can't do everything people want me to do." For instance, today is "Hank Aaron Day" in New York. The Atlanta outfielder had to be up early in his best bib-and-tucker, rush down to City Hall, ride a bubble car in a motorcade to the Harlem and receive the city's highest award—the Gold Medal—from Mayor Abe Beame. It has been the same at Los Angeles, San Francisco, Chicago—wherever the great man has played. Demands on his time have grown to tremendous proportions. Some 54,000 turned out in Los Angeles to honor him. The Braves checked into their midtown hotel headquarters shortly after noon Monday. The lobby was swarming with youngsters clutching pencils and pads, men with briefcases wanting to make business deals and characters who insisted they came to give Aaron an award. To guard Hank's privacy, the star player is registered under his own name and also in another room under a fictitious name. The Aaron phone never answers while Aaron relaxes in another room, the number of which only he and perhaps a couple of others—Mathews and Davidson—know. This was a clever device which the late Babe Ruth used in his halcyon days. The Bambino would go into a city, register at perhaps four hotels and stay at none. Even his teammates didn't know. Monday evening, when time came for the team to board the bus to go to Shea Stadium, Aaron was whisked down a back elevator and rushed out of the hotel through a kitchen door.

Brazil To Face Scotland

By COLIN FROST Associated Press Writer FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Defending champion Brazil faced the moment of soccer truth in its 1974 World Cup campaign today with a crucial match against high-riding Scotland. Both Brazil and Scotland are likely to make changes from the sides which opened the tournament. Despite his previous acceptance of a draw, Zagallo knows only a victory can guarantee a second round berth—and that means his club will have to attack. He may bring in Edu, the brilliant left wing protégé of the now retired Pele. Scotland will play without veteran Denis Law, the Manchester City striker who at 34 is near the end of a fine career. That could mean 90 minutes of playing time for Coventry City's Tommy Hutchison, used as a substitute in the Zaire match. Today's other games were both in Group 1, where East Germany and West Germany top the standings with a victory and two points apiece. The West Germans, hot favorites to win the World Cup on their own territory, were expected to win easily over Australia at Hamburg. The East Germans were to meet Chile in Berlin. Chiefs Win, 5-4 Buster Davidson, with last-out relief help from Todd Rodes, pitched a three-hitter as the Midland Police Chiefs defeated the West Side Optimist Club, 5-4, in a Western Sophomore League baseball game at Meier Field, Monday night.
