Dunlop Says Congress Aggravating Inflation

By R. GREGORY NOKES
WASHINGTON (AP) — John T. Dunlop, the government's outgoing price controller, says Congress is aggravating inflation by pursuing inconsistent economic policies. As an example he cites proposals to aid the beef industry.

He said there is special irony in this because Americans already have shown they are unwilling to buy large quantities of beef at current prices. "It's time Congress stopped its month-to-month changing of economic policy," Dunlop said in an interview.

On the one hand, Congress is demanding that the administration restrain inflation, Dunlop said, while on the other it is considering guaranteed loans and import quotas for the beef industry to keep meat prices from falling.

Dunlop, who will be 60 next month, will cease being director of the Cost of Living Council when it formally goes out of business on June 30. He plans to return to Harvard University where he is a professor of economics, but he will serve as part-time adviser to White House economic coordinator Kenneth Rusk.

Dunlop made clear he feels both Congress and the administration should do more to combat inflation, which has resulted in consumer price increases of 10.7 per cent in the last 12 months.

Use of fiscal and monetary policies alone by the administration will be inadequate because of political considerations, he said.

Congress, on the other hand, must settle on a economic policy and stick to it, Dunlop said. A year ago Congress was demanding a price freeze, he said, while now it opposes a much less restrictive price restraint program.

"What the country needs are long-run policies on which decisions of business and collective bargaining can be made," he added.

He emphasized there are no easy answers to inflation and that it can be brought under control only over a long period of time.

Among other points he made: —Some of the achievements of the 2½-year-old wage and price control program, particularly in health costs and construction wages, already are being undone in the seven weeks since the program expired.

U.S. Students Are Declining In Science Test Achievement, Education Unit Says

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Sixteen years after Soviet space travel led the United States into a major push for science education, the nation's students are declining in science test achievement, a national education group says.

The National Assessment of Education Progress, a project of the Education Commission of the States, said at its annual meeting here that an early report on a second round of science testing shows that:

—On exercises used at ages 9, 13 and 17 years; —At the three school-age levels, size of the decline in overall performance was between one and two percentage points.

Project chairman Robert H. McBride, president of the Delaware Board of Education, said that 100,000 youngsters were tested in the second science assessment.

Half of the questions were repeated from the first assessment in 1969-70, and it is from those questions that the finding of declining achievement is made, McBride said. He said the percentage of decline was high enough to be beyond the margin of error computed for the analysis.

"Since we are reporting the declining achievement, it wouldn't be appropriate for us to try to say what caused it," McBride said.

"We do know from professional school applications that there is less interest in engineering and medicine than a few years ago," he added.

In the report, released Friday during the commission's annual meeting here, the group said that almost half a million students have participated in the assessment project since 1969.

By 1975, they will have been tested in 10 learning areas. Findings in such areas as social studies, reading and writing already have been announced.

Earlier this year, the commission reported that there is less interest in engineering and medicine than a few years ago.

Texas Jacobsen Trial Postponed

DALLAS (AP) — The trial of Jake Jacobsen, a figure in the Watergate case, was delayed Friday from July 1 until Sept. 23 on the request of both prosecution and defense.

The delay granted by U.S. District Court Judge Robert Hill was caused by the illness of a witness, Morgan Pierce of Austin, who is recovering from a heart attack.

Jacobsen is accused of misapplying $25,000 in funds of a San Angelo savings and loan association.

Earlier this past week in Washington an informed source said Jacobsen is prepared to plead guilty to a reduced charge of bribery in another case if the San Angelo case against him is dropped.

The source said Jacobsen, in return for dismissal of the San Angelo case, will testify that former Texas Gov. John Connally took $10,000 in two installments for help he gave Associated Milk Producers Inc. on milk price supports. The milk group was a client of lobbyist Jacobsen.

Jacobsen was indicted on seven counts of misapplying funds from the First Savings and Loan Association of San Angelo. Former Austin businessman Ray Cowan was indicted with him.

Jury selection was to begin July 1 with testimony to start July 8.

Jacobsen has been charged in Washington with perjury but that indictment, later dismissed, can be resurrected.

Girl, 16, Injured In Two-Cycle Crash

A 16-year-old girl was admitted to Midland Memorial Hospital Friday afternoon following a two-motorcycle collision on Andrews Highway near the Tarleton Street intersection.

She is Julie Rogers of 3919 W. Illinois St., reported in satisfactory condition Saturday.

She was a passenger on a motorcycle driven by Lonnie Malcom Johnson, 18, of 307 Thornridge St. The other motorcycle was driven by Ronald Dean Scott, 18, of 719 Ruby St.

Johnson and Scott received minor injuries. They were treated at the emergency room and released.

Both vehicles were going east on Andrews Highway in the inside lane when Johnson started to turn left. Scott's motorcycle was so close that the two collided when Johnson began his turn, Patrolman Perfecto Flores reported.

Two Hurt Slightly In Two-Car Crash

Two persons received minor injuries about 10:45 p.m. Friday when two cars collided at the intersection of Illinois and Upland streets.

They are Rodney Keith Cox, 18, of 3300 Parkland St., driver of one of the vehicles, and Alfred Dudenhoeffer, 19, of 1703 W. Ohio St., a passenger in a car driven by Brenda Lee Osborn, 17, of 2413 Stanolind St.

Cox was treated at Midland Memorial Hospital and released. Patrolman Perfecto Flores said Dudenhoeffer did not seek treatment immediately.

Richard B. Michael of 719 Sinclair St. was admitted for observation of a head injury.

He went to Midland Memorial Hospital after the accident and stayed there until being transferred Saturday morning.

Driver of the station wagon was Bette Poff Koen, 30, of 806 Harvard St.

Three Men Charged In Apparent Swindle Try

Three men have been charged in connection with what appeared an attempted swindle of an 81-year-old Midland man.

Johnny James Doss, 23, of Marshall has been charged with gambling promotion. Justice of the Peace Robert Pine set bond at $10,000 and Doss remained in city jail Saturday in lieu of bond.

The other two men—William Shelly and Phillip Perkins—have been charged with misdemeanor theft. They were arrested at Colorado City and Saturday were in custody at Big Spring.

Doss was arrested in connection with a similar incident at Big Spring earlier in the week and Marshall officials have placed a "hold" on him.

Shelly and Perkins were charged in connection with the taking of a watch and ring from the victim, Ed C. Bartlett of Route 1.

Police said Bartlett had been playing a gambling game called "three-card Monty" with Shelly and Perkins. This is a game similar to the shell trick: One person has to find the red card laid top down with two black cards.

He is reported to have won about $20,000 in the game.

When the game was over, the two men are reported to have told Bartlett they would pay the debt if he could prove that he had the money to have paid them if they had won.

Shelly and Perkins stayed in the car when they took Bartlett to the bank. They held his watch and ring as security while Doss, who was supposed to be a disinterested third party, went into the bank with him to get the money.

Bartlett was going to cash a check for $20,000 to show his good faith, but Doss told him to make it for $12,000.

The teller became suspicious when Bartlett wanted to withdraw such a large sum and contacted the supervisor. He called Lt. Victor Kuykendall, of this year. This is the first time it has been filed in Midland County.

Kuykendall called police. When officers arrived, they arrested Doss. But Shelly and Perkins got away, heading east on U.S. 60.

Midland police sent out a message to other agencies to pick up the two men if they were found.

The gambling promotion charge is a new one, a felony included in the penal code which went into effect at the first called Lt. Victor Kuykendall, who was working an off-duty job at the bank.

FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS — Dirt, Squirt & Quirt

Drought conditions continue to slow progress of crops, even irrigated, and ranges are burning in most areas of Midland County, county agent Charles Green reports. Dry winds are intensifying the effects of the dry weather and the lack of deep moisture reserve means that unless some more moisture is received, crop and grass production will be severely limited this season. The depressed livestock market is intensifying the problems of livestock producers who are faced with the prospect of having to sell as they run out of feed.

harvested acreage and production of early harvested crops for Texas and for each county. This is a cooperative effort of USDA's Statistical Reporting Service and the Texas Department of Agriculture.

The amount and timing of watering can make the difference in the flavor and texture of home-grown vegetables. Young vegetables need more frequent watering due to their limited root system. But as the crops develop, watering according to the nature of the soil can solve a multitude of problems.

Sandy soils need watering much more often than clay soils. To determine when the garden needs watering, look not only at the surface but feel and look at the soil one to two inches below the surface. If the soil is too dry to ball readily in the hand when squeezed, additional water is needed.

Vegetables from home gardens taste better if they're harvested at the proper time. Wash vegetables after gathering and put them in the refrigerator if they're not to be cooked immediately. Under normal conditions, most vegetables will deteriorate in quality and nutritive value. Pick sweet corn when kernels are fully formed but tender and milky. The sugar in the kernels rapidly turns to starch and the sweetness is lost. Pick snap or string beans when the pods snap readily. Gather lima beans while still green and the end of the pod is spongy.

Nearly July, more than 24,000 Texas farmers will receive an acreage and production questionnaire from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Information from this survey will be used to determine Installing an additional bathroom or even a sink can be an expensive proposition if there are no existing pipes, drains and vents in the location you have selected. Why? Putting in long new runs of pipe, knocking out and later patching holes in walls and ceilings, involves considerable work. You can make life easier — and less costly — if you locate new outlets so the fixtures can be tied into existing supply pipes, drains and vents.

The ideal way to do this is to place a new bathroom or sink back-to-back with an existing bathroom. This way, both sets of fixtures can be connected to the same pipes by short spurs. The next best solution is to place the new bathroom beside an old one or directly above or below it.

Wait! This expansionist thinking indicates your family is outgrowing its present home. It might be wiser to consider buying a larger home and save yourself the money and inconvenience.

Stormy Weather Surrounding Nation's 25-Year-Old Cloud-Seeding Program

EDITOR'S NOTE: Some scientists say weather modification studies now in progress might lead to a new era in environmental control. They claim federal interest in such studies for weather applications of weather change has declined.

By FRANK CAREY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Stormy political weather is swirling around the nation's 25-year-old cloud-seeding and related programs aimed at large-scale tampering with the weather.

Scientists say there are promising leads in the quest to enhance rainfall wherever and whenever it's needed — and to "tame" hurricanes, Great Lakes snowstorms, hailstorms and lightning.

But they say the federal budget doesn't provide enough money for faster research. The National Academy of Science, among others, says $50 million annually should come from the U.S. government for weather modification.

The Nixon administration budgeted $19.5 million in fiscal 1973 and reduced this to $15.3 million in fiscal 1974. For the budget period starting July 1, the proposed amount is $15.4 million.

Dr. Ronald Lavoie, director of the division of weather modification for the Commerce Department's National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), put it this way:

"Progress has been slow, but it has to be slow because of the very nature of the problem, including the high variability of natural weather which necessitates repeating experiments many times (to rule out the effects of chance).

"Money always helps, certainly, but in some cases, progress has been restricted by the need for developing certain instruments . . ."

So far, Dr. Lavoie adds, significant successful results have been demonstrated in only two kinds of situations.

One is the ability to clear so-called "cold fog" from airports during wintertime in Midwestern and Western states. This is to be distinguished from the more prevalent "warm fog" which weather modifiers have so far found tough to dispel.

The other is its ability to increase the snowpack in mountainous areas of the West by seeding winter storms peculiar to the mountains. This increases springtime run-off to the Colorado and other rivers, which in turn provides increased water for irrigation and for power company reservoirs. Most research for this program was done by the Bureau of Reclamation under Project Skywater.

Lavoie says there is pretty good evidence from studies in the Western United States, Israel and Australia that rainfall from certain other types of winter storms can be enhanced through cloud seeding. This offers an additional potential boon for power company reservoirs.

But he adds that the toughest kind of cloud seeding to evaluate is that designed to increase rain from summer shower clouds — the rainfall farmers and ranchers in the arid Western and Southwestern states depend upon.

Sharp criticism of government policy on weather modification's peaceful applications has come from two sources. The National Advisory Committee on Oceans and Atmosphere (NACOA) and a special panel on weather and climate modification of the prestigious National Academy of Sciences (NAS) have accused the government of penny-pinching, foot-dragging and a lack of central strategy in conducting weather research.

Both groups have urged "stronger and more unified federal programs" and raising annual funding to at least $50 million through 1980.

New research, they say, could identify capabilities and limitations of cloud seeding techniques as well as develop technology for mitigating severe storms.

A key spokesman for both groups, Dr. Thomas Malone of Butler University, Indianapolis, told a House science subcommittee that the government has done little in response to such recommendations.

Malone added: "A new urgency now supports the recommendations that NACOA has made on weather modification. Events of recent months have served to underscore the need to increase worldwide agricultural productivity."

"The importance of (rainfall) augmentation to agricultural output makes a compelling case for definitive experiments to remove any ambiguity over the effects of cloud seeding."

"Miracle Cure"

5,000 Year Old Chinese Health Remedy Found

PEKING (Special) — Health researchers in China have uncovered an amazing rare old Chinese herb remedy that possesses spectacular healing qualities and reportedly has been used for 5,000 years to cure or give relief to a host of the most common illnesses suffered by mankind. Dramatic claims are being made that this "miracle herb" called ginseng, may actually hold the key to a longer healthier life. Indeed, there is one historical case of a user living to be 256 years old.

Helps Many Illnesses

Like acupuncture, the many healing properties of this remarkable herb were once considered "folklore and superstition" but modern researchers around the world are suggesting that it may actually regulate many of the body's processes to increase SEXUAL potency, help heal ULCERS, relieve ARTERITIS, check grayning or loss of HAIR, improve DIGESTION, slow down ARTERIOSCLEROSIS, relieve ASTHMA, overcome FATIGUE, improve DIABETIC conditions, relieve inflammation of the URINARY TRACT, help chronic INSOMNIA, relieve BACKACHES and PAINS, and generally improve your health by increasing your body's potential to heal itself.

Safe, No Side Effects

Ginseng is not a drug, but an herb or vegetable that is extremely rich in vitamins and minerals. What's more, this amazing natural remedy is completely safe and non-toxic with no side effects. Unfortunately, high-grade ginseng is in short supply, and brokers and processors around the world are bracing themselves for a "run" on the market as the herb's purported "near miraculous" healing properties become more widely known to the general public.

Now Available in U.S.

Now you can get a generous 30-day supply of this amazing natural remedy direct from a major supplier by sending only $10.00 in check, cash or money order to Health Laboratories, Dept. 70, Box 2142, Palm Springs, Calif. 92562. This wonder herb is said to have helped millions of other people and it may help your health problem too. Isn't it worth a try? Adv.

MIAMI (AP) — If you see a white and yellow cockatoo dancing, whistling and impersonating an angel, call Cecelia Evans. She's offering a $1,000 reward for the return of Pupshin, a cockatoo she says was birdnaped.

"I put him in his cage to go to sleep and he said, 'I love you, Mommy,' and I said, 'I love you, too.' And four hours later he was gone," Mrs. Evans said Friday.

She said Pupshin danced, whistled and did tricks. "When I'd say, 'Make like an angel,' he'd spread his wings apart," she said.

She said she acquired the bird about five years ago in Australia.

"I've been so upset by all of this," she added. "It's like losing a member of the family."

Autopsy Not Expected Until Monday In Death Of Wealthy Oilman, Wife

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — An autopsy is not expected until Monday in the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Burns, found shot to death in their high-security home Friday.

Burns, 53, an oilman, was believed one of the wealthiest men in the Southwest, although this was difficult to determine because of his extreme secrecy about his business and private life.

Burns was found shot twice in the head and once in the arm as he lay pajama-clad in the master bedroom.

His wife, 50, was lying in a second bed, a pistol wound in the stomach.

They were found by servants and were believed to have been dead about 12 hours.

Police clamped unusual secrecy on the investigation, even warning ambulance and morgue attendants not to talk.

Police said only that they found a pistol near the twin beds.

The house is almost burglar proof, set on a six-acre estate surrounded by a high wall and patrolled by sentry dogs.

An alarm system signals occupants of the house and a private security agency anytime the house is touched from the outside, police said.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Monday at the First Presbyterian Church with interment at Wichita Falls.

Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Becky Phillips of Dallas, and three sons, Bobby, Brad and Bill, all also of Dallas. Mrs. Burns additionally is survived by a sister, Mrs. Marilyn Ruffe of Torrance, Calif.

Burns was a noted hunter and sportsman and had given large sums to Southern Methodist University at Dallas, from which he was graduated.

He was a director of the Wichita Falls First National bank and a regent of Midwestern University in Wichita Falls. He served on the executive board of the North Texas Oil and Gas Association.

SMU Music Dean Takes New Post

DALLAS (AP) — Dr. Eugene Bonelli, head of Southern Methodist University's music school, has been named dean of the University of Cincinnati's Conservatory of Music. SMU announced this weekend.

Bonelli came to SMU in 1969 from Del Mar College in Corpus Christi where he was chairman of music.

"ADOPT" CROWS — In an unusual start to their vacation, Jeffrey Plaus, 10, and Larry Steinder, 14, of Springfield, Mass., have — sort of — adopted a pair of homeless fledgling crows, too big for their nest, but not yet strong enough for flight. The crows, which will perch anywhere on their masters without being asked, hop along where the boys go, knowing well the hands that feed them. (AP Wirephoto.)

Bilingual Workshop Slated Monday Through Friday

Emerson School will host a bilingual workshop Monday through Friday, with 55 teachers and teacher aides attending from as far away as Abilene and Presidio.

Manuel Carrasco, director of elementary education for the Midland Independent School District, said the workshops were proposed by state senate Bill 121 which required school districts to provide bilingual instruction in any school that has 30 or more students needing special instruction in English.

The workshop is a progressive step for both Texas and Midland, Carrasco said.

Monday, community and parental involvement, along with materials, will be discussed while Tuesday's topic will be instruction in the child's first language (Spanish).

Methods and techniques for the child's second language (English) will be examined Wednesday while on Thursday, culture and the pupil-teacher interaction will be discussed. The workshop will close Friday with lectures on classroom management and materials to be used in the program.

Consultants from the West Texas Educational Center will speak as will representatives from both Midland and Odessa schools.

Lee Senior Will Live In Finland As Foreign Exchange Student

By BRUCE CAMPBELL

Berry Spears, a senior at Lee High School, will leave Monday for a two month stay in Joensuu, Finland as a part of the Youth for Understanding Committee, a teenage foreign exchange program.

"I hope to meet other people and see what they live like," said Spears about his upcoming journey. "I want to know what they think about us."

Spears was selected for the program last November by a committee headed by Mrs. LaVerne Saunders. He learned he was Finland bound in February and got his family assignment last month.

The Midland youth will live with what he called "a real normal family" during his stay in Finland. "My Finnish father is a headmaster at the school while my mother is a school health nurse," he said. The family also includes a 16-year old boy and a 9-year old girl.

Although the Youth for Understanding is a foreign exchange program, Spears won't attend school there because classes are out for the summer.

"I'll probably be traveling with my family since about is out," Spears said. "It's a part of the program to live with a family and be as much a part of it as you can."

He has had written correspondence with the Finnish family since last month.

Spears, who likes the outdoors, added he was looking forward to moving in with his new family.

"They live 100 yards from a river and 500 yards from a lake," he said. "There are trees all over and wild animals all around the house."

The family also has a summer cottage.

He said he wants to visit other countries as well and is especially looking forward to a boat trip to Leningrad in July.

"That's going to be the highlight of the trip," Spears said. "It's going to be an experience I'll never forget. Not too many people have an opportunity to see it."

Spears, who also plans a trip to Denmark, during his European stay, said it was not difficult to arrange the trip to Leningrad which will take a week by boat.

"All American foreign exchange students that want to and are able can go," he said. "My trip was arranged by the Finnish government through the Soviet government."

He hopes his trip is more than just a sight seeing adventure.

"I am looking forward to coming back (to Midland) and destroying myths we have about other people," Spears said. "And I'm looking forward to telling my friends about it."

He said the trip is "more extracurricular" but that he hopes to get some college credits out of it.

"I'll get to know other people and their reactions," he pointed out. "It will be a different kind of atmosphere for me and hopefully I'll get to know how to deal with people internationally," Spears, who hopes to become a corporate lawyer, said.

Spears has been studying his summer home by reading books and looking at pictures and is impressed with Finland.

"It's a beautiful country," he said. "I don't know what it reminds me of but it's just beautiful. It's green and the hottest it will get will be 70 degrees."

He doesn't expect too much difficulty in adjusting to the environment but is taking a jacket. "It might seem cold to me when it really isn't," he smiled.

English is spoken in his Finnish home but Spears said he hopes to "pick up some Finnish" during his stay. He added he knows that his "father" and "brother" can speak English and thinks his "mother" can.

Spears is expected to arrive in Joensuu Wednesday. He will fly to Dallas from Midland and then to Detroit. There, he will take a non-stop flight to Copenhagen where he will catch a flight to Helsinki. From Helsinki he will reach his final destination by train.

Youth Arrested In Connection With Theft Here

A 17-year-old Midland boy was arrested in connection with an auto theft early Saturday and was released to his attorney a few hours later.

A complaint is expected to be filed Monday.

Sam Conner and his wife Sue heard a noise in the garage of their home, 1417 W. Pine St., about 3 a.m. and, when they checked, they saw their pickup truck being backed out of the driveway into the street, they told officers.

They shouted at the driver, who jumped from the truck, abandoning it in the street, and fled on foot.

Mrs. Conner chased the youth and Conner called police.

Mrs. Conner said she had seen an outside light go out at a house on Pecan Street and heard the door of the home close.

Officers went to the house and talked with a youth who fit the description of the one who had tried to take the Conners' vehicle.

He returned to the Conner home with officers and Mr. and Mrs. Conner identified him as the one who had been in their truck.

Midland College Creates Academy

Midland College officials have announced the creation of a truck driving academy, with an organizational meeting set July 6.

The academy will be one of two schools of this nature offered by Texas colleges and is intended to be one of the most complete in the United States, Jack Martin, communications officer said.

The course will last approximately six weeks and students will receive 240 hours of instruction. At the end of the sessions, students will be qualified for all types of activities relating to the trucking industry, including over the road truck driving.

Applicants must be at least 18 years old and be eligible for a commercial operators license in Texas.

The truck driving academy recently received full accreditation by the Texas Education Agency and will be staffed by qualified persons within the trucking industry.

Tuition costs will be $300 per session. Interested persons are urged to contact the registrar at Midland College.

Arabs Inject Mideast Conflict Into Sea Conference

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Arab delegates introduced the Middle East conflict into the international sea conference Friday, saying they will demand admission of the Palestine Liberation Organization as the 149th conference participant.

A spokesman for the Israeli delegation protested the decision, reached by about 30 Arab delegations after Friday's routine general session. They decided to call for PLO's admission as official observers when the conference resumes after the weekend.

Arab sources said a representative of Yasir Arafat, the PLO leader, was already in Caracas and in contact with their delegates.

"This is a sea conference," the Israeli delegate said. "It's inconceivable that a terrorist movement which throughout its existence has used the weapons of indiscriminate murder, atrocity and sabotage in pursuit of its objectives should be permitted to take part in the conference and to say how governments should conduct themselves."

The United States delegation had no comment, but a high U.S. delegate said there would have to be some "consultations."

The conference, with all but two of the world's nations participating, was in its second session Friday. It concentrated on preparatory items before tackling the main agenda, which will deal with all aspects of the oceans. Absent were Taiwan and North Vietnam.

The conference has agreed to try to conduct discussion and debate on an informal basis rather than adhere to strict parliamentary rules.

Voting on provisions of the anticipated sea treaty itself is still an issue, with some Third World countries favoring a simple majority basis, the United States a two-thirds majority and the Soviet Union a nine-tenths majority.

Ussery Gets Nurses, Employers Together For Talks On Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The nation's top labor mediator called both sides together Saturday in a two-week strike by 4,000 registered nurses against 42 hospitals and clinics.

William Ussery, director of the Federal Mediation Service, flew here from Washington Friday after hospitals reported danger of a crisis resulting from the nurses' abandonment of emergency rooms and intensive care units.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the striking California Nurses Association warned that "the potential is there for a very long strike unless we get our demands."

"The nurses started out strong and they're getting firmer every day," said Eric Poole of the union, which called a strike June 7 against 28 hospitals and 14 clinics from San Jose to Sacramento.

Bargaining talks on the strike issues — which include wages, pensions and working conditions — broke off at midweek after the two sides said they were making no progress.

On Wednesday, in what hospital officials claim was an unprincipled escalation, nurses walked out of many emergency rooms and intensive care units which they had agreed to staff during the dispute.

"Doctors and licensed vocational nurses are having to work long hours to keep these special services going," said Larry Corbett, a spokesman for Associated Hospitals, one of three private hospital groups affected by the strike.

Children's Hospital in Oakland reported it had transferred 50 of its 82 patients because it was unable to provide adequate nursing care.

Poole said the nurses pulled out of special services only because the hospitals were violating their agreement to cancel routine surgery during the dispute.

AUSTIN — The application of MGF Oil Corporation, Midland, to sell $250,000 in securities in Texas has been granted by the State Securities Board.

The application was among six granted by the board in the last two weeks. The amount involved totaled $9,965,653.

Nine applications for permits to sell $37,837,250 in securities in Texas were filed with the board during the same period.

Midlander Places In Speech Event

Diane Wemple of Midland placed seventh in dramatic interpretation at the National Speech Tournament held on the SMU campus last week.

Miss Wemple qualified for the event — which drew 700 entrants from 49 states — by winning the Texas Forensic League tournament earlier this year. She has won three state titles — in dramatic interpretation, poetry reading and editorial writing.

A recent graduate of Midland High School, Miss Wemple is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Wemple.

Lutheran District Chief Re-Elected

DALLAS (AP) Dr. Carl A. Heckmann of Austin fought off the only challenge in his 11 years as president to win re-election Friday by the Texas district of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod.

Dr. Heckmann, who described himself as a conservative in theology and a moderate in administration, was challenged by the Rev. Arthur E. Graff of Servin, a candidate of the conservatives of his district.

Heckmann won 267 to 206.

Colson Said Nixon Alerted In January '73

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles W. Colson has told the House Judiciary Committee he alerted President Nixon both in January and February of 1973 to high-level complicity in the Watergate affair.

Nixon repeatedly has insisted that his first such revelations were presented by John W. Dean in their conversation of March 21, 1973.

Colson's warnings were addressed specifically to the involvement of John N. Mitchell and Jeb Stuart Magruder, according to virtually identical accounts of his testimony published Saturday by syndicated columnist Jack Anderson and the New York Daily News.

Committee officials would neither confirm nor deny the newspaper accounts of Colson's interview with the panel's counsel a week ago. But Colson's attorney and former law partner, David I. Shapiro, confirmed that "it's all there" in the published reports.

In what Anderson described as a draft of Colson's statements, the former special counsel to Nixon said that in January of last year "I determined it my responsibility to express to the President my belief that certain persons in the campaign organization, namely Messrs. Mitchell and Magruder, must have been involved in the Watergate."

"I told the President that whoever it was who had ordered the Watergate had ill-served him. I did not discuss any specific information about Mitchell, Magruder or other because frankly I had no other evidence."

"On Feb. 14, I told the President that I thought whoever was involved at the Committee for the Re-Election in ordering or authorizing the Watergate would eventually be exposed. I told the President specifically that I thought John Mitchell had to accept the responsibility, that the facts would in due course come out."

"I recall that the President recalled my precise words: 'Are you suggesting that John Mitchell be held responsible or be made a scapegoat? Mitchell has, after all, sworn he was not involved. I want to get to the bottom of Watergate, but I cannot ask a possibly innocent bystander to be a scapegoat.'"

Colson is almost certain to be called before the full panel to repeat his testimony.

Colson was sentenced Friday to one to three years in prison and fined $5,000 for a 1971 scheme to defame Daniel Ellsberg. He told the court that his acts in that case followed repeated and specific suggestions from Nixon.

U.S. Presbyterians Launch Churchwide Study On Merger

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Southern Presbyterians today launched a process designed to reunite them with a sister denomination of the North from which they divided in the Civil War.

The governing assembly of the Presbyterian Church U.S. (Southern) authorized a preliminary churchwide study of a draft plan for merger with the United Presbyterian Church, a national body.

In the closing session of the week-long assembly, the Southern Church delegates acted without dissent to relay the plan to local churches for two years of intensive study.

Finally, the plan will go back before the assembly for a legislative decision, likely in 1976.

Similar procedures are due in the United Presbyterian Church, whose concurrent meeting here goes on through next Wednesday.

It has about 2.5 million members throughout the country, while the southern branch has 900,000 in 16 southern and border states.

Heart Association Wins Top Award

FORT WORTH — The Midland County Heart Association was honored Saturday with a "Heart and Torch Award" at the 1974 Annual Assembly meeting here of the American Heart Association, Texas Affiliate.

The award is for achieving the highest per capita giving for any city in Texas for the 1974 Heart Fund Drive.

Mrs. Robert Stewart accepted the award for the Midland unit. It was presented by Mrs. Norma Wright, chairman of the awards committee of the American Heart Association, Texas Affiliate.

Other Midlanders attending the meeting were Van Culp, Harry W. Clark and Mrs. Reid Caskey.

The Heart Association's Dwight E. Eisenhower Award, for outstanding contributions to the association, was presented to Mrs. Luci Johnson Nugent.

Threat Emplies Wilco Building

Approximately 1,000 persons working in the 23-floor Wilco Building, Midland's tallest, were evacuated shortly after 2:30 p.m. Friday when an office secretary in the building was warned that a bomb would go off at 3:15.

The secretary immediately relayed the warning to the Midland Police Department. Ten detectives and policemen rushed to the building.

A police spokesman said the evacuation was orderly.

"We did our best to check the entire building in the short time we had," one of the detectives said. "When 3:15 arrived and nothing happened, the workers started going back into the building."

Gunners Sink, Damage Vessels In Big Convoy

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Insurgent gunners opened fire on a 20-vessel convoy seven miles from Phnom Penh on Saturday in their most damaging attack in more than a year, port sources said.

The informants said the rebels sank a rice barge, disabled a freighter and damaged two others, and killed two sailors and wounded two guards.

The attack, which occurred when the six-ship and 14-barge convoy was within sight of Phnom Penh's waterfront, sank one river barge carrying more than 2,000 tons of American rice for the capital.

Another freighter with unknown cargo was disabled and tugboats were moving downriver to tow it into port, the sources said. Two other freighters were also hit, suffering "some damage."

The Mekong River is Phnom Penh's lifeline for supplies being shipped into the capital because all roads leading to the provinces have been cut for more than six months.

In another development, informed sources said Lt. Gen. Sosthene Fernandez, the commander of Cambodia's armed forces, is one of 17 generals to be retired in the near future for corruption or incompetence.

Also included on the list is Maj. Gen. Thapara Ngin, who was recently named to Premier Long Boret's 17-man cabinet as second deputy premier, defense minister and minister of veterans, invalids, widows, orphans, public works and post and telecommunications.

The sources said U.S. Ambassador John Gunther Dean has been urging a weeding out of generals in the armed forces since his arrival in Phnom Penh more than two months ago.

Arrest Of Jews Said Political Blackmail

MOSCOW (AP) — Security police were holding about 40 Jews in six Soviet cities Saturday in a drive to prevent protests during President Nixon's visit, Jewish sources said.

Three Moscow Jews termed the arrests "shameless blackmail of American public opinion."

"The responsibility for such blackmail should be laid on the Soviet and American governments," declared Mikhail Agursky, Vitaly Rubin and Inessa Axelrod in an open appeal to the U.S. Congress.

More than a dozen Jews were picked up in Moscow Thursday and Friday and the others were from five cities with large Jewish populations: Leningrad, Odessa, Kishinev, Kiev and Vinnitsa.

The sources said many more have been questioned and warned against protests. They said more arrests were possible before Nixon's arrival Thursday for a week-long visit.

Most of the detainees have unsuccessfully sought permission to emigrate to Israel and have been active in protesting Soviet emigration practices.

No new arrests were reported Saturday and one prominent activist, Alexander Voronel, was released Saturday evening.

Voronel, a scientist who is organizing an unofficial seminar with Western scientists on July 1, was detained Friday and again Saturday.

Other well-known activists still in custody were Alexander Lerner, David Azbel and Leonid Talpin.

Some Jewish activists have claimed that Nixon's commencement speech at the U.S. Naval Academy, where he indicated that emigration was an internal Soviet affair, encouraged the current crackdown.

The Jewish community here largely credits American public and congressional pressure for the thousands of emigration permits already granted.

Most Jewish activists maintain that only strong pressure — like the congressional efforts to tie trade concessions for Russia to liberalized emigration policies — will bring about further emigration concessions.

Autopsy Ordered In Mystery Death Of Abilene Man

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — A young Abilene couple told officers Saturday that they took a nap in their car and awoke to find a companion dead on the highway, apparently struck by a car.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Marsh of Abilene told investigators that they and Richard Glenn Barker, also of Abilene, were returning from a LaBock club Friday night and stopped beside the highway to sleep.

California Bar Chief Says Nixon Case Complicated

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — President Nixon's case is so complicated it probably will be the last decided in a California Bar investigation of seven lawyers involved in Watergate, the bar president says.

"His case is much more complicated," Seth Hufstader of Los Angeles told newsmen Friday. The investigation could lead to disbarment proceedings.

"The evidence is scattered all over, among various committees and prosecutors. A lot of it simply is not available," he said.

"I think it will be a while before a determination is made as far as the President is concerned."

However, Hufstader said he expected action in the near future on convicted dirty trickster Donald Segretti and former presidential attorney Herbert W. Kalmbach.

The others under investigation are former presidential aide John D. Ehrlichman, Gordon Strachan, Frank DeMarco and Robert Mardian. All are licensed to practice law in California.

Machine Program Will Boost Midland's Economy

to do something that would pay them more."

Those with a work history get a stipend from the government.

The course runs six months and students are instructed eight hours a day. If the student has progressed enough after five months they would be put on a job with school supervision.

Both Box and Taylor emphasized that the training course would not make the students apprentices in industry but would prepare the prospective worker for further training.

"We're not saying we'll turn out the machinists," Box said. "But we can turn out machine operators who'll assist industry the first day on the job. He can handle the job at the entry level but it will be up to him (and industry) to polish his skills."

"All we're trying to do is supply industry with the needed personnel," he added. "As a community college we're providing training for people to enter industry and to supply industry itself."

The Occupational and Technical dean noted that graduates will be able to manufacture simple parts but just that. He said it takes seven years to finish an apprenticeship as a tool and dye apprentice.

"Our purpose is to give them the basic skills. A company can give them additional training and lead them to better work," Taylor said.

He said it takes five years for a trainee to become a skilled machinist but that he felt vocational education of this type would give trainees a head start on others.

"It's almost impossible to pick somebody off the streets to do the work our trainees will be able to do," he said.

Taylor said the training is a simulation of an actual company. The class members alternate at foreman and station head "to learn the pressures of being the boss," he noted.

Box said, "It's necessary to show interest" in vocational education and feels there's a need for a "redirection of education" concerning the technical fields.

"There's nothing wrong with Midland being a white collar town," he said. "But I can't see why we can't have both (white and blue collar)."

The vocational educator added there was a stigma about technical vocation areas.

"A lot of parents want their children to be doctors and lawyers but not everyone is cut out for that," Box said. "There are a lot of jobs in industry that someone would have a satisfying experience with the world of work."

Box added that the intelligence of the blue collar worker should not be underestimated compared to the white collar worker.

"Both require intelligence, a different kind of intelligence," he said. "The whole thing amounts to people having to learn all of their lives. Just because a man doesn't have a whole lot of formal education doesn't mean he's not educated."

Box praised the support the program has received from local merchants who have helped the college raise $200,000 for equipment at the training center.

Singling out DeLco which has supplied some of the freight for the school's program, the Chamber of Commerce, the four Midland banks and Texas Electric Service Co. Box said "People in this town are unique. They're willing to help you in any way they can. When you're ready to do something they're ready to help."

The Midland public school system will operate a similar course next year, which pleased Box.

"Dr. Mailey (school superintendent James) really has given us tremendous help in initiating the program," he said.

Other similar programs can be found in Odessa and San Angelo.

Singer-Writer Leaves Opry

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Country music singer-writer Tom T. Hall has resigned from the Grand Ole Opry, saying his band wasn't allowed to use trumpets, drums and violins. The Opry moved from downtown Nashville this spring into a $10 million glass, brick and steel, ultra-modern auditorium with an inaugural performance attended by President Nixon. But Hall, a member of the Opry since 1971, complained in his letter of resignation sent June 10 that the Opry's policy on the use of some instruments has not kept up with the times. Opry manager Hal Durham confirmed Hall's resignation Saturday but said he had not had a chance to discuss it with Hall, who last appeared on the Opry stage June 7.

Museum Of Southwest Offers Diverse Exhibits

Midland's Museum of the Southwest currently is offering two diverse exhibits to city residents and visitors here. The first exhibit, titled "Our Only World," contains more than 100 color photographs by some of the nation's leading photographers which portray the nature and scope of America's environmental crisis and the efforts being made to cope with that crisis. The second show at the museum is an exhibition of paintings by West Coast artist Janet Kruskamp. The artist, who paints with affection and understanding the people and places around her, reveals in her work the true beauty of many commonplace objects which most people ignore, or never notice. Critics have said of her paintings that they "offer the viewer a moment in time."

'Sugar' Is Fort Worth Attraction

FORT WORTH — "Sugar," a new-from-Broadway musical based on a movie comedy classic, is the current attraction at Casa Manana here. The zany musical opened last Monday at Fort Worth's theater. In-the-round as the third offering of the new summer season. Performances will continue through the coming weekend. Based on the famous 1969 Billy Wilder motion picture, "Some Like It Hot," which starred the late Marilyn Monroe, the stage version closely follows the movie plot: Two down-and-out musicians are inadvertent witnesses to the infamous 1931 St. Valentine's Day massacre and, to avoid being annihilated because they know too much, don female garb and join an all-girl band headed for Miami. One of them falls in love with Sugar, (the Marilyn Monroe film role) while the other becomes the reluctant love object of a rich but aged yachtman. As fans of the movie will recall, the incidents resulting from these situations are frequently hilarious. In the current Casa Manana production, Broadway actress Joy Garrett (a Fort Worth prod-

Theatre Of Big Bend Opens Season With Farcical Tragedy

ALPINE — The 1974 season of the Theatre of the Big Bend opened Thursday night and will continue through Aug. 16. The Theatre of the Big Bend, sponsored by Sul Ross State University in cooperation with Alpine and other Big Bend area communities, will offer performances Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights each week. Admission to all performances is free, although voluntary contributions will be welcomed.

Leading off the season are a farcical tragedy, "The Death and Life of Sneaky Fitch," by James L. Rosenberg, and a comedy, "The Secret Affairs of Mildred Wild," by Paul Zindel. The two will play in rotation through the remainder of June. Then on July 4, another comedy, "The Tunnel of Love," by Joseph Fields and Peter de Vries, will begin performances, alternating with the first two.

The fourth production of the season, "The Skin of Our Teeth," by Thornton Wilder, enters the repertory on July 11, rotating with the first three plays until the fifth and final production, "The Servant of Two Masters," begins performances on July 25. The latter play is by Carlo Goldoni.

"The Death and Life of Sneaky Fitch" is a play full of hilarious and ironic twists on the myth of the Old West. The production features Jim Carpenter of Las Cruces, N.M., as the ne'er-do-well Sneaky Fitch. The play is directed by Dr. James Maloon, managing director of the theater. "The Secret Affairs of Mildred Wild" is a new comedy by playwright Paul Zindel, Pulitzer Prize-winning author of "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds." The new play is about a woman whose dream life consists of personal versions of old movie plots and situations. The production here, directed by Johnny Martin of Alpine, features Jo Gallagher Green as Mildred. The staff for the 1974 season includes Dr. Maloon, who is chairman of the speech-drama department of Sul Ross State University, as managing director; Hugh C. Johnston III of Uvalde, as technical director, assisted by Stephen Maher of Alpine; Cassandra Carpenter of Las Cruces, N.M., as costumer, and Joan Johnston, Jo Gallagher Green and Johnny Martin, as directors of the three other productions this season.

Children's Repertory Group Holding Workshop

SNYDER — The new Children's Repertory Company of Western Texas College has set up shop in Santa Fe, N.M., for a three-week children's theater workshop in conjunction with the Santa Fe Parks and Recreation Department.

WTC students who make up the company are Julie Jones of Abilene and Paula Baldwin, Retha Boyd, Karen Hardy, Barry Rinker and Emmalie Sleeper, all of Snyder. Faculty sponsors are Charles Holland, drama director at WTC, and Mike Thornton, WTC art instructor.

"Everything about this workshop offers our students valuable experience and training," Holland points out. "Everybody is involved with the creative dramatic sessions and is participating in the presentation of 'Rumpelstiltskin.' This will give the students first hand experience at being 'traveling players.'"

Members of the company are contributing a variety of talents to the project. Miss Boyd was named WTC's Best Actress for 1973-74, and Rinker was named Best Supporting Actor. He has been offered the position of technical director at WTC for the 1974-75 school year. Miss Baldwin has worked with children teaching acrobatics and dancing, and appeared in two productions at WTC last spring. Miss Hardy was involved in the painting of sets and program designs for WTC productions during the past year. Miss Jones has been selected to receive a WTC drama scholarship for the fall semester. Miss Sleeper, a spring graduate of Snyder High School, was active in drama and speech activities at SHS and received a WTC drama scholarship recently.

Doll Collecting Program Slated

A program on doll collecting will be presented by Mrs. Vernon L. Allman of Midland at the Museum of the Southwest this afternoon.

The 3:30 p.m. event is the second in a series of "Shop Talk" programs sponsored by the Shop of the Southwest in the museum, 1706 W. Missouri St.

The program is intended to create or stimulate interest in doll-collecting as a hobby and to make the public aware of the aids to doll collecting available in the Shop of the Southwest.

Mrs. Allman is a member of the Permian Basin Doll Club, the United Federation of Doll Clubs and the National Association of Miniature Enthusiasts. She is an active worker in the Sunday School department of Crestview Baptist Church, serves as historian of the PTA of Robert E. Lee High School, and works in the Scouting program here. In addition to doll collecting, her hobbies include making and furnishing doll houses in 1-inch to 1-foot scale.

Today's program will be open to the public without charge.

Diamond M Open To Public Today

SNYDER — Snyder's widely-known Diamond M Museum will be open to the public between 2 and 5 p.m. today in conjunction with the Texas Cowboy Artists Association's exhibit and sale in Scurry County Coliseum here.

The Diamond M Museum houses one of the finest collections of Western paintings and sculpture in the entire Southwest.

The annual show and sale of cowboy art will be open to the public in the county coliseum between 2 and 5 p.m. today. Many of the exhibiting artists will be present.

Truman Sports Complex

The $71 million Harry S Truman Sports Complex in Kansas City is the site of the world's only side-by-side baseball and football stadia. The American League Royals play in the 42,000-seat Royals Stadium and the 78,000-seat Arrowhead Stadium is home to the Chiefs, former Super Bowl champs.

IN CLASSIC COMEDY — Ritch Brinkley will be seen as the "Imaginary Invalid" when Moliere's classic comedy of that title opens at the Globe of the Great Southwest Tuesday night. Brenda Nickerson, left, has the role of the saucy housemaid, Toinette. The comedy is one of three productions in the Globe's 1974 Summer Festival which opened this weekend.

Moliere Play Slated

ODESSA — The Permian Basin's fifth annual Summer Shakespeare Festival opened at night. The two productions will then play in rotation until July 11, when the third offering of the festival, Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," enters the performance schedule.

The second attraction of the new season, Moliere's classic comedy masterpiece, "The Imaginary Invalid," centers around Argon, a man in excellent health who becomes a hypochondriac after letting himself be persuaded by his doctors that he has a vast array of ailments.

Guerrillas Free U.S. Missionary Nurse In Ethiopia

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — A 24-year-old pregnant American missionary nurse was freed by anti-government guerrillas Saturday and said she felt fine after her four-week ordeal.

Deborah Dortzbach of Freehold, N.J., walked alone into Massawa, a Red Sea port 450 miles north of Addis Ababa and telephoned her husband, Karl, also a missionary. Hours later, the couple was reunited and went into seclusion.

"I'm all right. I feel fine," Mrs. Dortzbach, now in her sixth month of pregnancy, told a pilot who flew her to Asmara, the capital of northern Eritrea province, for the reunion.

She said her faith had kept her going during 27 days in the wilderness as a hostage of the Eritrean Liberation Front.

No reason was given for her release. The guerrillas are still holding three Americans and two Canadians kidnaped during an oil exploration mission in Eritrea three months ago.

Mrs. Dortzbach, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. William W. Mull of Freehold, was abducted May 27 from a mission hospital at Ghinda, about 25 miles from Asmara. The guerrillas also took a Dutch nurse, Anna Stickwerda, 54, and shot her to death nearby.

The guerrillas have been fighting for Eritrean independence for the past 10 years.

Reliable sources said the guerrillas had asked for $250,000 ransom, then scaled down the demand to $25,000.

The sources said the guerrillas eventually abandoned the money request and asked negotiators for medical supplies to counter cholera reported spreading in Eritrea.

Missionaries had closed at least five hospitals in Eritrea in an effort to bring pressure on the guerrillas.

Ford Suggests Third Party Listen To Tapes, Make Unbiased Transcript

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford suggested Saturday that an independent third party might listen to the Watergate tapes and make an unbiased transcript of their contents.

While ruling himself out of such a job, Ford said an independent listener could iron out alleged discrepancies between the transcripts released by the White House and those developed by the House Judiciary Committee, which is conducting impeachment hearings on President Nixon.

"Perhaps we have to have a third or neutral party take the tapes and get transcripts from them," Ford told a news conference here, where he is spending a golfing weekend.

"I can't tell you how it would work, but I don't think it's an impossible task to undertake.

"I'm sure there can be, if we look around hard enough, someone who would do it as an independent objective observer."

The New York Times reported Friday that Judiciary Committee transcripts of some of the Watergate tape recordings differ extensively, and in many cases significantly, from the edited versions made public by the White House.

Words, phrases and sometimes whole sections of conversations contained in the committee transcripts are missing.

AMERICAN CLASSIC— Fezler Captures Tournament Lead

By BOB GREEN
AKRON, Ohio — Forrest Fezler, the runner-up in the U.S. Open just last weekend, swept by the faltering front runners with a two-under-par 68 and assumed control of the thirddround lead in the $170,000 American Golf Classic.

Reggie Jackson
Key base hit

"I can't believe it," Fezler said. "I really can't believe it. I'd just bogeyed No. 8 when the rains came and I knew I was gonna bogey No. 9 and I was hoping they'd call it off," the 24-year-old Fezler said.

He put together a 54-hole total of 208, two under par for three trips over the famed Firestone Country Club course, a 7,180-yard links made even longer and tougher by a heavy rainstorm that forced a 37-minute suspension of play midway through the round.

Fezler, a shy, slope-shouldered man with a flowing blond mustache, owned a one-shot advantage over Jim Jamieson and Tom Kite going into today's last round in the chase for a $34,000 first prize.

Kite, a tour sophomore, matched par 70 and Jamieson Those three were the only ones in the surviving field of 70 able to break par for three rounds. Fezler and Kite have never won and Jamieson has taken but one tour title.

Jaunty Jerry McGee and Ray Floyd, who shared the second-round lead, dropped back. McGee bogeyed four of his last six holes—the last coming after national television coverage has out away—for a 74.

Fezler was two shots back when Saturday's round began under gloomy, gray, threatening skies.

He threw a three iron to within three feet of the cup for a birdie on the sixth, but bogeyed the eighth from a bunker to go back to even par for the round.

He got his drive in a fairway bunker when the rains held up play and he was hoping the whole round would be washed out. When play resumed he made the bogey he anticipated—then began his charge.

He ran home a 20-foot birdie putt on the 10th hole and scored from 15 feet on the next hole.

He bogeyed the 13th from the rough but got the stroke back with a 10-12 foot birdie putt on the 14th. The key to his round—and the one that got him the lead—was a delicate little pitching wedge third shot over the pond that guards the front of the 615-yard 16th hole.

He put it about two inches out, tapped in and had the lead.

After Joe Rudi was walked intentionally to load the bases, Gene Garber replaced Spittorff and walked Tenace on a full count pitch.

The A's took the lead with two unearned runs in the third inning. Angel Mangual singled and, with one out, Bill North was safe on an error by shortstop Fred Patek, who dropped a double-play toss from second baseman Cooke Rojas.

Bert Campaneris doubled to score Mangual, and North scored on a sacrifice fly by Bando.

The Royals tied it up in the fourth. Rojas singled and Amos Otis doubled. Rojas scored on a wild pitch by winner Ken Holtzman, 8-8, and a single by Jim Wohlford scored Otis.

Also in the lineup, are Stan Smith, the 1972 victor and seeded fourth this time, and Jan Kodeš, the mercurial Czech, who won last year. He's seeded sixth.

Jimmy Connors, who shares the No. 1 ranking with Smith in the United States is seeded third, but some observers rate the 22-year-old lefty as the man to beat.

Then there is the effervescent Iie Nastase who defended the French and Italian titles this year and lost both to Borg. The talkative Romanian is aching for revenge at Wimbledon.

Borg has won 18 straight matches since Newcombe beat him in the World Championship Tennis finals in Dallas.

But the streak came to a crunching halt one week before Wimbledon when the young Swede was shot out of the first round of the John Player Tournament at Nottingham by self-exiled Czech Milan Holecck.

Miss Evert, a losing finalist in 1973, has Ms. King as her most serious competition—unless third seeded Australian Evonne Goolagong, 22, is back to the form that won her the crown in 1971.

This is the way British bookmakers rate the players:

Newcombe is a 5-2 favorite to take the men's prize. Smith and Nastase are rated 4-1, with Borg 6-1 and Connors 8-1.

Ms. King is the 11-8 favorite in women's singles. Miss Evert is 5-2, Miss Goolagong 4-1, with Briton Virginia Wade next best at 12-1 and American Rosie Casals 14-1.

Young Net Stars Enter Wimbledon

By NOEL HUGHES

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Two exciting teen-agers, American Chris Evert and Swedish Bjorn Borg, bring a breath of youth into the ivy-clad walls of Wimbledon this week.

"Little Chrissie," a big girl now at 19, and Borg, the 18-year-old blond bombshell, have set the tennis world talking by winning the singles titles at Rome and Paris.

Miss Evert is seeded No. 2 in the women's singles behind defending champion Billie Jean King. Borg, who faces an incredibly difficult task is placed in the No. 5 spot among the men.

The old guard is at Wimbledon in full strength, aiming to keep out those precocious youngsters.

Top-seeded among the men is John Newcombe of Australia. Newcombe won the title in 1967, 1970 and 1971 but was prevented from competing the next two years because of disputes between controlling groups and a players' boycott.

Also in the lineup, are Stan Smith, the 1972 victor and seeded fourth this time, and Jan Kodeš, the mercurial Czech, who won last year. He's seeded sixth.

Jimmy Connors, who shares the No. 1 ranking with Smith in the United States is seeded third, but some observers rate the 22-year-old lefty as the man to beat.

Walk Gives Oakland Win

OAKLAND (AP) — Gene Tenace drew a bases-loaded walk in the ninth inning to force home the tie-breaking run and give the Oakland A's a 3-2 victory over the Kansas City Royals Saturday.

Sal Bando doubled off the left field fence to lead off the ninth off Paul Spittorff, 7-7, and Reggie Jackson sent him to third with a single to left.

After Joe Rudi was walked intentionally to load the bases, Gene Garber replaced Spittorff and walked Tenace on a full count pitch.

The A's took the lead with two unearned runs in the third inning. Angel Mangual singled and, with one out, Bill North was safe on an error by short-

Bert Campaneris doubled to score Mangual, and North scored on a sacrifice fly by Bando.

Walk Gives Oakland Win

OAKLAND (AP) — Gene Tenace drew a bases-loaded walk in the ninth inning to force home the tie-breaking run and give the Oakland A's a 3-2 victory over the Kansas City Royals Saturday.

Sal Bando doubled off the left field fence to lead off the ninth off Paul Spittorff, 7-7, and Reggie Jackson sent him to third with a single to left.

After Joe Rudi was walked intentionally to load the bases, Gene Garber replaced Spittorff and walked Tenace on a full count pitch.

The A's took the lead with two unearned runs in the third inning. Angel Mangual singled and, with one out, Bill North was safe on an error by shortstop Fred Patek, who dropped a double-play toss from second baseman Cooke Rojas.

Bert Campaneris doubled to score Mangual, and North scored on a sacrifice fly by Bando.

The Royals tied it up in the fourth. Rojas singled and Amos Otis doubled. Rojas scored on a wild pitch by winner Ken Holtzman, 8-8, and a single by Jim Wohlford scored Otis.

Also in the lineup, are Stan Smith, the 1972 victor and seeded fourth this time, and Jan Kodeš, the mercurial Czech, who won last year. He's seeded sixth.

Jimmy Connors, who shares the No. 1 ranking with Smith in the United States is seeded third, but some observers rate the 22-year-old lefty as the man to beat.

Then there is the effervescent Iie Nastase who defended the French and Italian titles this year and lost both to Borg. The talkative Romanian is aching for revenge at Wimbledon.

Borg has won 18 straight matches since Newcombe beat him in the World Championship Tennis finals in Dallas.

But the streak came to a crunching halt one week before Wimbledon when the young Swede was shot out of the first round of the John Player Tournament at Nottingham by self-exiled Czech Milan Holecck.

Miss Evert, a losing finalist in 1973, has Ms. King as her most serious competition—unless third seeded Australian Evonne Goolagong, 22, is back to the form that won her the crown in 1971.

This is the way British bookmakers rate the players:

Newcombe is a 5-2 favorite to take the men's prize. Smith and Nastase are rated 4-1, with Borg 6-1 and Connors 8-1.

Ms. King is the 11-8 favorite in women's singles. Miss Evert is 5-2, Miss Goolagong 4-1, with Briton Virginia Wade next best at 12-1 and American Rosie Casals 14-1.

There is a long reading ledger than 1936. The 30-game records earned that first puzzled us.

After All These Years, Feller Not Balky Kid

There is far more interesting reading in the Bob Feller ledger than the first entry in 1935. The later ones tell of 20-game seasons, strikeout records set and league-leading earned-run-averages, but that first one in 1935 always puzzled us.

As each year's records were added to the ledger throughout his career, the first one remained the same. "Signed with Fargo Moorhead (Northern League), but did not report. Sold to New Orleans (Southern Assn.), but did not report. Sold to the Cleveland Indians."

The impression lingered through the years of a balky, snot-nosed kid who figured he knew more than his bosses. Years of curiosity finally got the best of us, so we asked the Hall of Fame pitcher about it when he was in Midland last week.

We were unexpectedly rewarded with an interesting yarn.

"What happened was that C. C. Slapnicka, Cleveland's super scout, came to Des Moines, then in the old Western League, to scout a pitcher named Claude Passeau. He got to talking to some of the umpires and told him he should go up to Van Meter to see a fastball pitcher in a state sandlot tournament.

"The pitcher, it turned out, was me, and Slapnicka finally gave in and came to Van Meter."

As it turned out, Slapnicka never did get back to Des Moines to see Passeau, who turned out to be an All-Star caliber pitcher in the National League a few years later.

Slapnicka liked what he saw in the youngster who was only a high school junior.

"Back in those days, the major league clubs had to buy their players from the minor leagues. That's how the minors made their money."

Feller explained, "I was signed and assigned to Fargo-Moorhead and then New Orleans, and they were paid $7,500. I never left Cleveland. It was all paper work and, I might add, highly illegal.

"In fact, that was about the time Judge Kennesaw Mountain Landis, then the commissioner of baseball, got wind of such transactions and freed some 180 players in the Detroit organization. And there were others who were made free agents."

Feller continued, "Landis was going to make me a free agent and I could have signed with the Boston Red Sox for $200,000, but the Cleveland people had been so good to me that my folks threatened to bring suit, if I had been made a free agent. That was the last thing Landis wanted, so he took no action in my case."

Feller had been destined to finish the season in semipro ball, but Cleveland was experiencing a bad year and figured it had nothing to lose by bringing Feller up. "Just to see what he could do in the majors."

Feller didn't waste much time in convincing the Cleveland brass that he could pitch, and win, in the majors, posting a 5-3 record late in the season and striking out 16 Philadelphia Athletics in one game.

Since he still had a year to go in high school, Cleveland arranged for a tutor so he could keep up with his studies.

So the mystery of many years, the one we thought we knew the answer to, was solved, dispelling the impression that Feller strong-armed his way into the majors as a 17-year-old with anything other than his pitching talents.

HUNTING and FISHING

Representatives of a national sportsman's magazine seeking information on striped bass at Lake E. V. Spence last week apparently picked a good week for it.

Doyle Graham, Sweetwater, had a 11 1/2-lb. specimen hit a top water lure, an unusual development since most of the strippers have been hooked in deeper water. Graham couldn't overpower his fish, finally wore it down.

There were numerous other reports of strippers in the 8-10 lb. class during the week. White bass catches had a mild resurgence, but black bass and channel cat fishing appeared on the ascendancy.

Reports from the lake included:

Charley Bundrick, Midland, 8-lb. striper, 10 channel cat to 4 1/2 lb., and a 6 1/2-lb. blue cat; Jake Eckert, Midland, 14 blacks to 5 lb.; Curtis Duncan and Dennis McCampbell, Midland, two blacks to 2 lb.

Florida Bass In Texas

Nine Texas lakes have been stocked with some $16,000 fingerling and fry Florida bass during the first full year of hatchery production by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Growing to lunker size in Florida, the bass are being experimentally released in selected public waters in Texas to see if they will reach similar trophy proportions in this state.

Fingerlings were placed in Lakes Benbrook, Calvaras, Halbert, Houston County, Mexia and Wimsboro. Fry went into New Martin Creek.

"Florida bass hold promise for Texas waters," said TPWD biologist Bob Chew.

"But until this year our efforts were toward rearing broodfish to increase hatchery production of fish."

"Lakes stocked this year were selected to give us a cross-section of differing waters to help evaluate the bass' potential in varied habitats."

Beware of Oleander

Those long, slender shoots from the oleander plant are tempting when you're looking for a stevier for your weiner roast but using them could be a fatal mistake.

The oleander is a deadly poisonous plant. There have been several instances of death to persons who contaminated their food with oleander skewers.

It is one of several poisonous plants in Texas which can kill you, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials.

Here are a few plants to watch for:

—The horsetail, a primitive, rush-like plant found in swamps and stream beds which is also known as the scouring rush, pipes, joint grass or foxtail. Although this plant is not likely to be eaten by humans, the young shoots have been mistaken for wild asparagus.

—Fly poison, a plant which is sometimes mistaken for the wild onion because of its multi-layered bulb. Found in deep East Texas in sandy bogs and open woods, this extremely toxic plant lacks an onion-like smell. Hands should be washed thoroughly after handling this plant because of the possibility of poisoning yourself by touching hands to your mouth.

—Death Camass, another plant which can be mistaken for the wild onion but which also lacks the characteristic smell of onions. This plant can be found all over Texas in sandy pinewoods and bogs, limestone gravels, meadows and prairies. It has a potent alkaloid which causes vomiting, diarrhea and death in many cases.

Carol Mann LPGA Czar

New York (AP)—Carol Mann wears a number of hats on and off the golf course, the two most important of which are the "hat" as President of the LPGA and the "hat" as a top LPGA player.

And the fact that the bubbling Miss Mann, all 6'3" of her, currently ranks fourth on the all-time LPGA money list... only "gimme" a putt away from third... and ranks fourth on the 1974 money list, gives an indication of how well she can separate her "on course" activities with her "off course" duties. To date, in 1974, Miss Mann has won $138,177.00, to run her career total to $339,030.81, only $10,894 behind Sandra Haynie's third place career total of $349,915.

Carol has been successful in her dual role because she has a great ability to concentrate on the project at hand... either business or golf... While putting the other completely out of mind. She endeavors to discuss only her golf game before or during her round, but will discuss organizational problems and affairs after play. As part of her plan, Miss Mann has made it a rule not to hold any LPGA general membership meetings during the week before tournament play starts so that the players can concentrate on their games during the tournament proper.

Miss Mann is well on her way toward breaking her own personal one year career earning record of $49,152.00 she set in 1969, while winning eight tournaments. She collected ten tour victories in 1968, which was worth $45,921.00, and with more than twenty events remaining in '74, she has earned a cool $38,177.

One victory that Miss Mann would treasure, especially in this dual-role year, would be to win the $50,000 LPGA Championship which is underway at Pleasant Valley Country Club in Sutton, Mass. This is one major title she has not collected during her career that includes 34 victories, including the 1965 US Women's Open.

For the first time in LPGA history, the winner of the 1974 Championship will be receiving the newly-acquired LPGA trophy, an antique sterling silver cup, valued at more than $5,000 at the conclusion of play.

It just might be that Carol Mann, the President, might be presenting the cup to Carol Mann, the Player, when the event ends today.

ABA Plans Expansion for '75-76 Slate

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Trustees of the American Basketball Association ended a marathon meeting late Friday with the announcement that the league would continue with 10 teams next season and expand to at least two other cities no later than 1975-76.

Commissioner Mike Storen told a news conference the ABA will have teams in Los Angeles and St. Louis by 1975-76 and would add a franchise in Cincinnati within one year if the Kentucky Colonels of the ABA are not playing in the Ohio City at that time.

Storen said the Memphis franchise may be purchased by a group which wants to operate the team in the Tennessee city, or, if that isn't possible, would seek to relocate it. He didn't name the group.

Storen also said a "very responsible group" has given the league a $500,000 deposit on the Carolina franchise, but did not name the group.

Storen said that the Carolina franchise would be moved to one of three locations which he did not specify.

The commissioner confirmed the sale of the Virginia Squires to financial investors in Virginia, headed by "Bob House" and investor John Bernhart.

Wake Forest Freshman Cops NCAA Golf Championship

SANTEE, Calif. (AP) — Wake Forest freshman Curtis Strange eagled the final hole with a seven-foot putt Saturday for a one-stroke victory in the 77th annual National Collegiate Athletic Association Golf Championship.

The eagle gave Strange an even-par 72 and a four-day total of 282, six under par, but abled him to slip past two University of Florida golfers, Phil Hancock and Gary Koch, each of whom finished a shot behind.

Strange hit a one-iron second shot to the 540-yard, par five 18th to set up his winning putt which curled all the way around the cup before dropping.

Koch and Hancock each had a final round 71s. It was the second straight year that Koch finished second in the NCAA, but abled him to slip past two University of Florida golfers, Phil Hancock and Gary Koch, each of whom finished a shot behind.

Georgia's Bill Kratzert was fourth, getting a 66 for a 285. Strange had a 65 Friday which tied the NCAA low-round record and get him back into the race for the title.

Evert John Player Winner By Beating Virginia Wade

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP) — Christ Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. beat Britain's Virginia Wade 7-5, 6-4 in the final of the $25,000 John Player women's tennis tournament.

Miss Evert, seeded second at Wimbledon, made a solid week-long preparation in the modest tournament with some smooth victories.

Against Miss Wade, Britain's top player, Miss Evert won seven games in a row to come back from 2-5 down in the first set and lead 3-0 in the second.

Then a grim-faced Miss Wade tied it at 4-4 before Miss Evert broke serve again to clinch the match.

Smith Beats Soviet John Player Net Crown To American

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP) — Big Stan Smith of the United States, fighting his way back to form, beat Soviet ace Alex Metreveli 6-3, 1-6, 6-3 Saturday and won the $100,000 John Player Tennis Tournament.

Smith overcame a deficiency in his service midway through the match in registering a morale-boosting victory just in time for Wimbledon, which begins its two-week run Monday.

"I may not have looked too good out there," conceded Smith, the 1973 Wimbledon champion, "but I put it down to feeling a bit tired and Metreveli is always a hard player to beat."

In racing to a 5-0 lead in the first set, Smith appeared at the top of his game. But the tall American, who has been below his peak recently, suddenly began struggling.

He held on grimly to take the first set after four set points, but that signaled Metreveli's recovery and he took the second set, with Smith looking worried as he served nine double faults.

As quickly as he lost his touch, Smith found it again. He punched home his service with renewed accuracy and power, and with a couple of good passing shots, the American was in control after breaking Metreveli for 2-0 in the decisive third set.

Smith, the No. 4 seed at Wimbledon, confessed he had not really wanted to play in the John Player event but was pressed into service by the Association of Tennis Professionals.

Most of the leading men stars took part in the John Player tournament. Among the early losers were Wimbledon top seed John Newcombe of Australia, second-seeded Ilie Nastase of Romania and Jan Kodeš, the 1973 Wimbledon winner from Czechoslovakia.

U.S. junior champion Billy Martin of Palos Verdes, Calif., started the comeback after the Americans fell behind 2-0.

Martin beat Kjell Johansson 6-1, 6-4, then Alex Mayer of Wayne, N.J., defeated Leif Johansson 6-3, 6-2.

Everything binged on the final doubles match, in which Sweden brought in international star Bjorn Borg as a partner for Kjell Johansson against Martin and Mayer.

Grich Sparks Win Orioles Trip Brewers, 7-2

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Bobby Grich knocked in three runs with a double and a sacrifice fly Saturday, powering the Baltimore Orioles to a 7-2 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Ross Grimsley, 8-7, scattered seven hits for his third consecutive victory.

The Orioles broke a 2-2 tie in the fifth inning after Mark Belanger beat out a bunt to ward first and continued to second on George Scott's wild throw to loser Kevin Kobel, 3-6, covering first. Belanger took third on an infield out and scored on Grich's fly ball.

Baltimore added a pair of insurance runs in the seventh on two walks and Grich's double into the left field corner and two more in the ninth on Tommy Davis' single.

The Orioles took a 1-0 lead in the second on the first of Jim Fuller's two doubles, a single by Brooks Robinson and an error by right fielder Bobby Mitchell.

The Brewers went ahead 2-1 in the third on a single by Don Money and Robin Yount's second major league home run.

His first, also off Grimsley, beat the Orioles 3-2 April 13. The Orioles tied the score in the fourth on Fuller's second double and a single by Earl Williams.

Terps Offer Policy To Lure 6-11 Cager

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — Lefty Driesell, University of Maryland basketball coach, said he will look into the legality of obtaining a $1 million insurance policy for high school basketball star Moses Malone. In a telephone interview late Friday, Driesell said: "If it's okay, I'll help him get the policy. I know the rules and I know that no one can put up the money (needed for the policy). I don't intend to do anything illegal."

Star-News sports writer Morris Seigel said in a column that Malone had demanded to be insured for $1 million against injuries for the time he is at the university, as protection for a subsequent professional career. Seigel said the university had agreed to arrange a loan for Malone so he may pay premiums on such a policy, estimated by Lloyd's of London at between $5,000 and $10,000 a year.

The newspaper quoted Atlantic Coast Conference Commissioner Bob James as saying that ACC rules prohibit the University of Maryland, or any of its officials, from co-signing the note or suggesting to the bank that if Malone doesn't pay off, the university or its friends will guarantee payment.

SMITH PRIMED AND READY— Wimbledon Next

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP) — Stan Smith, the 1972 Wimbledon champion from Sea Pines, S.C., defeated Alex Metreveli of Russia Saturday 6-3, 1-6, 6-3 to capture the $100,000 John Player Tennis Tournament. Smith, seeded No. 4 at next week's Wimbledon showdown, had to come back from a bad slump midway through Saturday's match to nail down the $18,500 first prize in this last major tuneup. The powerful American, who shares the No. 1 United States ranking with Jimmy Connors, began as if he would sweep Metreveli away in short order. Smith won the first five games, all of them inside of 15 minutes. Then his game drifted. He hung on to win the first set 6-3, but Metreveli took advantage of Smith's service problems to race to a 5-0 lead in the second set as Smith served nine double faults. In the deciding set, Smith rallied. He won the first three games and held the Russian player off the rest of the way. The match lasted 78 minutes.

Dierker In Top Form

HOUSTON (AP)—Pitcher Larry Dierker, who has not lost since May 14, ran his earned run average to 1.87 over the last 35 innings, the Astros veteran has permitted only 20 hits and two earned runs, good for a .51 ERA.

Dierker pitched 8 1/3 innings Friday night as the Astros beat the San Diego Padres, 2-0. "Larry could have nine or 10 wins this season with a little luck," said Gomez. "Whenever he pitches, our hitting is inconsistent."

All the Padre hits were singles. No San Diego runner reached third base and just two advanced as far as second.

Dierker contributed two hits to the Astros seven hit attack against looper Bill Greif, 3-10, and two relievers.

Dierker doubled off Greif in the third inning and came home on singles by Greg Gross and Roger Metzger.

The Astros added their other run in the sixth on Mill May's triple and Doug Rader's single.

The save was the fourth for Scherman, tops among Houston relievers.

M-CUBS' EIGHT-GAME STREAK ENDS—

Amarillo Brings Rain, 13-6

by TED BATTLES

A little rain must fall in each life, although some West Texans wonder about the veracity of this adage at times, and after eight straight wins, perhaps Midland's Cubs were due for some. Still, with 1,471 fans on hand to welcome the Bruins home for a four-game event at San Antonio, Friday's 13-6 Texas League loss to Amarillo was untipely at best.

The Cubs simply didn't get the pitching to stay in the game as the Glassa scored in seven of the nine innings for its fourth win in 13 games against Midland.

Big Springs R. J. Englert led the 19-hit Amarillo attack with a five-for-five night to ignite most of the rallies. First baseman Tony Pepper, who is on a hot hitting streak, and third baseman Tommy Smith did the rest.

Pepper poked out his ninth homer, a solo job to right in the fourth, and cracked two doubles to knock in four runs. Smith had two singles and a double to plate five teammates with his seventh and ninth inning singles, accounting for two runs each.

Kyle Hypes, a lean 6-4 lefthander, got credit for the win, going seven innings before being relieved after Wayne Tyrone's leadoff single in the eighth.

Bill Droege, with a triple, his fourth homer, a single, two rbi and several tough catches in left panned the Cubs while rookie shortstop Mike Sember made an auspicious debut with Midland, by going three-for-three.

Sember, the Chicago Cubs' second round draft choice, reports to Midland from Tulsa University and will replace veteran shortstop Ken Skotkiewicz, who has been promoted to the AAA Wichita club.

Mike Weig, 5-4, took the loss, but the Cubs were still in it until he left railing 4-3 after a 2-3 inning. The Giants snatched necessary Bob Ott and Francisco Lopez for 11 hits and nine runs the rest of the way.

FRIDAY'S TEXAS LEAGUE—

The Associated Press

Friday night, Amarillo jumped on Midland 13-6 while Arkansas finished off Shreveport 10-2. Victoria went crazy in the fourth inning, grabbing three runs on four hits led by Carlos Segrado's homer.

Pitchers were dime a dozen, with two Alexandria substitutions in the eighth. Jay Franklin sank with the loss while being faced with two on and no outs in the eighth inning.

In other Texas League action, Victoria put in game with Alexandria on cruise control, driving off with a 3-2 win and raising the record to 37-27 for the season as the east division leaders.

History Of Depletion Allowance Outlined By Veteran Geologist

By W. FLOYD WRIGHT

All people in the Permian Basin, as well as throughout the nation, should be interested individually and collectively in a comprehensive energy policy designed to assure the United States future supplies of both oil and gas directed to providing sufficient domestic energy at reasonable prices for the years ahead.

Unfortunately, however, many congressmen are trying to enact laws which leaders of the petroleum industry feel will seriously affect progress which has provided the impetus to this vital segment of the economy for many years and hamper exploration and development for a long time to come.

The brunt of attack in the nation's capital has been directed to a tax provision in the law called depletion allowance. This provision is at the heart of independent oil operators' efforts to remain in the industry as they try to conduct drilling programs which probably account for at least 75 per cent of all the exploratory wells drilled in the nation.

What Does It Mean?

Why is this provision so essential to the health and stabilization of one of the most critical industries in America? What does oil depletion allowance really mean? To most people outside the petroleum industry, the term either is not understood at all, or only vaguely.

Depletion allowance has to do with the extraction of minerals, the most important of which is petroleum. Oil and gas are exhaustible resources. When removed, they cannot be replaced.

This differs from the agricultural industry, for example, where crops may be regrown and harvested year after year. A petroleum reservoir can produce its minerals only once. After the supply is gone, the producer must search for new prospective drilling areas and the major discovery cost remains in the business. He has depended upon the depletion allowance income tax provision to regain in part or in whole his capital investment in order to branch out in his efforts to locate new deposits.

History Reviewed

A history of this feature, depletion, is of much interest to the student, and the importance of this income tax provision long has been recognized as fundamental to evaluation and progress. Courts of law for decades have recognized the principle. Income tax authorities also have assented by allowing percentage depletion as a deduction in calculating taxable profit.

When did the practice originate? According to a study made by the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, the practice can be traced back to March 1, 1913, up to the beginning of World War I, when income tax rates did not exceed 2 per cent for corporations or 7 per cent for individuals in the highest bracket. In framing legislation to implement the first income tax law, Congress found that defining "income" proved to be a problem. It was fairly easy to determine what constituted income of a salaried worker or a wage earner, but oil and gas production presented a problem.

The basic problem was one of distinguishing between "capital" and "income" in computing the tax, and one of the most important aspects of the problem related to depletion—the gradual exhaustion of the resource. Congress passed a law that limited the oil operator's tax deduction to 5 per cent of the gross value of the production for the year. The deduction during the life of the property was not to be greater than the original cost of the property, or the market value as of March 1, 1913.

In the Revenue Act of 1916, Congress changed the 5 per cent limitation in the case of oil and gas wells to a reasonable allowance for actual reduction in flow. The capital to be recovered was not to exceed the larger of the "capital originally invested" or the March 1, 1913, "fair market value."

To compute the depletion deduction, it was necessary to estimate the amount of oil remaining in a property, divide this estimate into the larger of the two capital measures, and multiply by the number of barrels produced during the taxable year.

Serious Problem

A serious problem arose. The fair market value of an oil property very often has no relation to its original cost. A resource may have, or can acquire, value far in excess of the cost of the discovery. The total discovery cost of a wildcat well, for example, might be several hundred thousand dollars, but its actual value once discovered could be many times that amount, and the discoverer actually could sell the property for a higher amount if he did not wish to operate it.

The Revenue Act of 1918 took this conflict into account and extended the application of fair market value as a basis for depletion of newly discovered oil and gas wells. Disposition continued, however, between the oil operator and the Internal Revenue Service as to what constituted "fair market value."

In 1928, Congress passed a Revenue Act which set the guidelines of oil depletion allowance which remained in effect for several decades. The House Ways and Means Committee agreed to recommend 25 per cent gross income as a proper income tax depletion deduction for all oil and gas while the Senate advocated 30 per cent. A compromise set the rate at 37 1/2 per cent. The act provided that the oil operator would be allowed to deduct 37 1/2 per cent of his gross income from a property during the year with the restriction that it could not exceed 50 per cent net income on the property. This procedure greatly simplified matters and continued to operate smoothly for the benefit of the oil producer until an act of Congress in 1969 which lowered the provision to the present 22 per cent. Benefits Independent

We should keep in mind that the depletion allowance provision has kept the independent operator in business by providing him a return of capital to be utilized in exploring for new oil reservoirs and that he accounts for at least three-fourths of all the new discoveries made in the United States. We also should be aware that he pays a large proportion of his net income to the IRS in taxes just like the rest of us do.

Unless he is assured of the economic incentives necessary to allow him to explore for petroleum reserves, America could find itself without assurance of adequate reserves, not only now but in the future.

The final report in this series will give industry, business and political leaders the opportunity to express their views about the critical problems facing the petroleum industry.

WASHINGTON OIL—

Depletion May Survive Latest Attack

By CLYDE LA MOTTE
Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent

WASHINGTON — There are indications now that petroleum's percentage depletion is going to survive after all.

For a time it seemed likely that a phasing out of the tax provision was almost a certainty. Then a drive developed to end it immediately, backdated to last Jan. 1.

However, the momentum for an instant death for percentage depletion began to lose ground in the House. As a result, attention then shifted to the Senate, where anti-oil forces were being geared up to attempt the same thing.

Last week the effort in the Senate—an effort to tack a depletion-ending amendment on the debt ceiling bill—got bogged down in parliamentary procedures and, at week's end, seemed to have failed. If so, the argument will now revert to the original plan to phase out percentage depletion over a three-year or five-year period.

There is an increasing possibility that even that drive may falter and that the current rate of 22 per cent may survive. There are several reasons why this is so.

For one thing, domestic independent producers have begun to get across the idea that any public reaction to the profits of the major international oil companies should not result in penalties for wildcaters in Texas, Oklahoma and elsewhere. Yet, they point out, it would be the U.S. wildcatter who would be hardest hit by doing away with the depletion provision.

Also, the Nixon administration's line of reasoning that the U.S. consumer is better off if domestic supply is built to the point that Middle East producing nations cannot dictate price and other terms of supply apparently has begun to register on some members of Congress.

Finally, quite a few members of Congress began to be concerned over the short-circuiting of normal committee procedures on Capitol Hill.

What was happening was that rules and procedures were being stretched out of shape by those who were trying to rush through a provision to kill percentage depletion immediately.

For example, the House Ways and Means Committee is by law the starting point for any tax measure. In this instance, the committee had included in its tax "reform" bill a provision (Continued On Page 3C)

According to Reed Drilling Equipment's weekly survey, there were 230 active rotaries working in the two-state area of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico last week.

A decrease of 16 from the count of 246 units reported two weeks ago, it is an increase of 21 rotaries over the 209 rigs which were working in the area about this time last year.

Eddy County, N.M., again led the count with 26 rigs working. Pecos County recorded 21, Lea Louis D. Griffin, Monahans and A. C. Dillard of Crane have worked for Gulf 20 years; Others are Van D. Voss Sr., Midland, 25 years; H. P. Lieb, Odessa, 20 years; Carroll D. Simpson Sr., Midland, 15 years and James C. Kruse, Midland, 10 years.

Griffin, lease operator in the Monahans area joined Gulf at Wickett and has spent his tenure in field operations in the Wickett-Monahans vicinity.

Dillard presently is instrument man in the Crane area. He has worked in various field operations in the Crane locality during his employment with Gulf.

Voss, accounting clerk in the Odessa-Goldsmith area office, joined the firm as a general clerk in pipeline operations of Gulf Refining Co., at Roscoe. He filled assignments in Colorado City and Odessa, and in 1960, was transferred to the Midland district office of the exploration and production departments as senior clerk. He moved to the Odessa area and was promoted to senior accounting clerk in 1970, and achieved his present classification in July, 1973.

Exxon Executive Says World Oil Balance At 'Knife Edge'

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP) — Randall Meyer uses the term "knife edge" when he talks about the current worldwide petroleum supply situation.

"We are near that knife edge where a situation very evenly balanced could flip either way," says Meyer, president of Exxon Co. USA.

Meyer says the balance amounts only to a very few percentage points.

"There appears to be physical producing capacity and at least at present a willingness on the part of the producing countries to allow oil to be produced such that it exceeds worldwide demand somewhat but not by very much," he said.

"But one of the reasons that worldwide supplies have become adequate is in many countries of the world the significantly higher prices, plus their monetary problems, are causing them to have to cut back on consumption."

He added that such a situation, coupled with a temporary slowdown in the economy in many areas of the world, has resulted in a significant slowdown in worldwide petroleum demand growth.

"Now that translates into adequate imports being available to the United States to fill up our refining system if we need those imports and want to go after them," he said.

Meyer described U.S. refining capacity for this year as appearing adequate although not significantly long.

"Before we had the embargo, we did see a situation in which we actually were consuming more products or were on the verge of consuming more products than we had refining capacity to make in this country," he said.

"Now because demand has slackened in this country for a variety of reasons it looks like refining capacity will be adequate this year because refiners have gone out and added about six or seven per cent to capacity in the last 12 months."

Meyer indicated the narrow but adequate supply situation also would exist should the Federal Energy Office start dismantling, as Exxon has suggested, its petroleum price controls and allocation programs and permit the forces of a free market to take over.

"A free market, and that is what we are saying we are ready for, means at least a modest surplus of supply over demand," he said.

Meyer warned, however, that any talk about surplus supplies should not be interpreted as meaning there is plenty of room for everyone to go out and forget about the con-

'SMALL STEP, RIGHT DIRECTION'— Industry Says Government Should End Gas Regulation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Power Commission has almost doubled the producer price for new natural gas, a move likely to gradually increase costs to consumers.

Spokesmen for the oil and gas industry expressed dissatisfaction at Friday's action, saying the government should get out of gas regulation entirely.

Industry spokesmen said the FPC's new nationwide producer price of 42 cents per thousand cubic feet, replacing area rates averaging around 23 cents, is not nearly enough to cover their costs and stimulate further exploration and production.

At Houston, a spokesman for Texas independent oil and gas operators says the order setting a 42-cent ceiling price on "new" natural gas sold in interstate commerce "is a small step in the right direction."

However, George Mitchell, president of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Association, said Friday the action is totally inadequate.

"How is 42-cent gas going to compete with gas sold intrastate at $1 to $1.25?" Mitchell asked.

"The action is totally inadequate to get the job done for increasing natural gas supplies and it means Congress must move forward," he said.

Shell Oil Co. released a statement in Houston saying the 42-cent rate was not as high as the company would have liked.

"But Shell is pleased by the FPC's adoption of a single uniform national rate for interstate sales of natural gas, although it comes about a year later than expected," the Shell statement said.

The FPC said it wanted to set a price high enough to increase the gas supply but low enough to protect the consumer.

The commission did not estimate the impact upon consumers of its sharp price hike, but a study issued by the oil industry last August indicated the impact on household gas bills should be gradual and fairly mild.

The study, prepared by the consulting firm of Foster Associates for the American Petroleum Institute, estimated a 45-cent new-gas price would lead to household gas bills ranging from 6 to 16 per cent higher by 1980.

In dollars per year, the largest predicted increase would be $27.12 in the East North Central region. The study said the smallest increase in gas bills would be $14.50 by 1980 in the West South Central region.

The Foster study was used by the oil and gas industry in its effort to convince Congress it should end federal regulation over interstate sales of natural gas at the producer's level.

The FPC has been regulating natural gas producer prices for the past 20 years, since the Supreme Court assigned it the task.

The American Petroleum Institute issued a statement Friday saying that 20 years was long enough.

"While we welcome this more realistic price level," said an API spokesman, "we still contend that the government should get out of the business of price-fixing on natural gas at the wellhead."

Swafford, prior to joining the Perry organization, served with Atlantic Richfield Co., Celanese Plastics Corp., and, for the past two years, with the Renner Polymer plant in Odessa.

North Sea Well Completion Told

STAMFORD, Conn. — Completion of a North Sea exploratory well, listed at the rate of 2,300 barrels of oil per day, has been announced for Conoco, Britain's National Coal Board and Gulf Oil Corp. Conoco is operator for the group.

The well is about 85 miles northeast of the Shetland Islands in the British sector of the North Sea. The location is about 100 miles from the Halibut group discovery well and confirms the extension of the Thuleia field into Conoco-NCB-Gulf territory.

The Conoco test was made through a 7-inch choke from the upper portion of the middle Jurassic sand.

conservation habits learned over the past year.

"It doesn't mean we can go back and that everybody can do all of the things we were doing before," he said.

"If we were back on the same historic trend in terms of worldwide and U.S. growth in demand for petroleum we would still be short of petroleum supplies."

He said conservation still is a must.

"I emphasize that we think the supplies are adequate based on the way the economy in this country is operating and based on the way people are consuming petroleum, but if we were to go back to the kind of growth we had up until last year we would revert to a very tight situation," he said.

Meyer said it was encouraging that reports from the recent meeting of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries indicate only a modest increase in foreign oil costs.

"If there is no further general increase in the governments take for the cost of foreign crude, the majority of the increases already have been passed on to consumer under present price controls," he said.

But this does not mean, he added, there will be no more gasoline price increases.

"The portion of domestic crude in every domestic refinery is going down because domestic production is declining," he said.

"So all refiners have to proportionally depend more and more on higher cost foreign oil and to that extent the costs will be passed on."

Parker Drilling To Work On Pipeline

TULSA — Parker Drilling Co. will be involved in two areas of the construction of the Alyeska Pipeline, according to R. L. Parker, president.

In one area, Parker has received an order from Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. to build six vibro-percussion rotary drilling units which Alyeska will buy for its own use. In the other area, a joint venture company, in which Parker is a participant, has been selected by the H. C. Price pipeline construction group for a phase of the work on the 152-mile spread that the Price group will build. No dollar value was disclosed for the work involved in either area.

Hamon Takes Over Stonewall Project

Jake L. Hamon, Dallas, intends to take over operations at the former Estes Engineering Co. No. 1 Green, previously slated as a 5,500-foot Ellenburger wildcat in Stonewall County.

Hamon will plug back from total depth of 4,688 feet, to 3,200 feet for completion attempt in the Tannahill, at the project to be designated No. 3A Green.

It will be a replacement for his No. 3 Green, one location to the southeast, which is one of two Tannahill wells in the Gloria Gap, West field.

Test site is 2,175 feet from south and 1,287 feet from east lines of section 15B, block D, H&TC survey, eight miles north of Aspermont.

to phase out percentage depletion.

But this did not satisfy some liberal members of the House, who wanted to wipe the provisions off the books completely and immediately. They circulated a petition which would have put pressure on the House Rules Committee to waive the long-standing practice of sending a tax bill to the House floor for vote without amendment. And they specified that under such a waiver, the proposed amendment would be the one ending percentage depletion.

This effort was thwarted when Rep. Wilbur Mills (D-Ark.) shifted his stance and pulled the bill back to the committee rather than letting it go to the floor.

That is when the liberals turned their attention to the Senate and the possibility of adding the "reform" provision to the debt ceiling bill.

It may still work, but last week's developments indicated that it will not.

For one thing, there is concern that President Nixon might veto the debt ceiling bill if such a rider is included. More important, as mentioned above, there seemingly was increasing resistance to the short-circuiting of normal procedures.

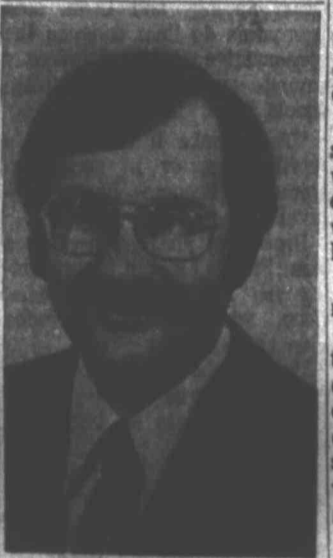

Individual members of Congress are well aware that if ordinary procedures are ignored in one situation, this increases the likelihood that they will be ignored in others. The end result could be there would be little pattern of procedure left.

Atop that is the nagging

Alice Ann Brown, Michael Cunningham Pledge Vows In Double Ring Rites

Marriage vows were pledged here Saturday by Alice Ann Brown and Michael Jay Cunningham. Mr. and Mrs. Victor G. Brown, 2400 Boyd St., and Mr. and Mrs. A. Jay Cunningham of Big Spring are the parents of the couple.

The Rev. Jerry R. Tompkins of Austin performed the double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. in Trinity Presbyterian Church.

Golden candelabra with salad greens flanked by pedestaled urns holding white gladiolus, white daisies and baby's breath enhanced the bridal scene. Mrs. Joe B. Koenig, organist, and Janet Pritzell, soloist, provided the music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of pure silk peau de soie and Alencon lace. Pearl and crystal-ed clusters detailed the re-embroidered Alencon lace overlay on the fitted Empire bodice. The lace patterns created the sculptured scooped neckline and shoulder cap over the slender tapered sleeves. Scattered and re-embroidered Alencon appliques touched the sleeves above lace cuffs and enhanced the front of the traditionally contoured A-line skirt with scalloped lace at the hemline. Set in back panels of graduated fullness fell into a chapel-length train which had scattered Alencon motifs. Falling softly around the gown was a shaped train-length mantilla edged with identical scalloped re-embroidered lace and applique motifs. She carried a cascade of white orchids, stephanotis, Hahn's ivy and gypsophila atop a Bible.

Chris Proctor and David Pickle, both of Big Spring, and Dick Craple of Lubbock ushered. Prior to the ceremony wedding scrolls were distributed by Charles Brown Jr. of Alta Loma, Calif.

Mrs. Warren Bright of Houston, cousin of the bride, was the matron of honor and Marilyn Cunningham of Big Spring, sister of the bridegroom, was the bridesmaid. The bridesmatrons were Mrs. Todd Fields and Mrs. Jack Cope of Lubbock and Mrs. Pat Guthrie of Ardmore, Okla.

The attendants were dressed alike in apricot organza over peau satin. The carved Empire bodices had ruffled edged scoop necklines. An organza ruffie encircled the hemlines, complemented by organza sashes at the waistline. Their headpieces were beige straw picture hats banded in apricot ribbon. Each carried a nosegay of apricot, yellow and white daisies with ivy and baby's breath.

Amanda Brown, niece of the bride, was the flower girl, Lara Cunningham of Big Spring, sister of the bridegroom, and Michelle Brown, niece of the bride, carried the rice bags, which were fashioned of satin roses.

James Cunningham of Big Spring served his brother as best man. The groomsmen were Charles V. Brown of Alta Loma, brother of the bride, Robin Hoover, Big Spring, Phil Houchin of Seminole and Morrison Brown.

The following paragraphs are excerpts from a letter, written by a Hockaday resident student, which appeared in the Clarendon Press, Clarendon, Texas.

My life beyond my family is centered around the Hockaday School. Hockaday is my school and my friends. And what elements are there in the life of a sixteen-year-old girl besides her education, her friends, and her family? ... They (my parents) deserve so much happiness. They are such big people and so unselfish.

That last statement erases a lot of my previous accusations concerning their selfishness. I was so convinced that they were sending me away to school for self-centered reasons. I thought they wanted to get me out of their way. Was I ever mistaken! Only after experiencing life at Hockaday can I realize how much my parents really do love me. They love me so much that they LET me take advantage of the opportunities here. And they sacrifice so much so that I can continue this living, learning, loving experience.

Quarter Really Expensive Item

PAPILLION, Neb. (AP) — A trained coin in the living room of the Dale Jarvis home is quite a neighborhood conversation piece.

The quarter was taken out by surgery from the stomach of son Kenneth, 9, after he had swallowed it.

"The quarter cost us $2,000," Mrs. Jarvis said. "So it is the most expensive item in the room."

Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, Is Honeymoon Destination

Linda Levon Hancock and John Howard Garner were united in marriage here Friday in the chapel of the First Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hancock, Route 2, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Garner of McCamey are the parents of the couple.

The Rev. Elbert L. Smithen Jr. of Bellview Baptist Church performed the 6 p.m. double ring ceremony. Music was provided by Mrs. Robert Janssen, organist, and Rhonda Lody, soloist.

A rainbow candelabrum adorned with jade foliage and white tapers formed the background for the ceremony. It was flanked by a pair of spiral candelabra with the foliage and white tapers. Hurricane candles in shades of pink decorated the family pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, was formally gowned in a princess silhouette of silk organza and Cluny laces. Ruffled Cluny filled the high stand-up neckline, created the cuffs of the fitted lace sleeves and outlined an exaggerated bell-shaped lace yoke. Bridal pearls traced the lace designs on center front of the yoke and the full length of the sleeves. Slender contoured princess line panels fell into bouffant fullness sweeping to the back in a chapel-length train. Applied Venise lace motifs enhanced the flared skirt above the deep lace hemline flounce.

Her headpiece was a large braid picture hat with rows of identical ruffled Cluny and train-length tiers of silk illusion flowing around the gown, which was designed by the bride and her mother.

The bridal bouquet was a symphony cascade of gardenias, pink Sensation roses, stephanotis and gypsophila atop a white Bible.

Attendants to the bride carried shaded pink gladiolus with pink rose centers.

Jeffery Sims of Pecos, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was the best man and Linda Rathjen the maid of honor. She wore a floor-length gown in shades of pink floral Oriental silk featuring an Empire waist encircled by hot pink satin ribbon, which flowed to a gathered ruffle flounce at the hemline of the A-line skirt. The halter bodice was finished with self covered buttons. A sheer capelet of the material covered her shoulders. She wore a pale pink picture hat with ruffle of hot pink Oriental silk overlay on the brim and banded in hot pink ribbon.

The bridesmaids, dressed identically to the maid of honor, were Jay Jaye Kinnison and Susijac Garner of McCamey, sister of the bridegroom. The hats worn by the bride's attendants were designed and made by Mrs. Hancock.

Tammy Koonce was the flower girl and Tom Vern Dwyer the ring bearer. The ushers were Mark West, Garden City, Tom Magee, Ken Woodruff and Rance Green, Jerry and Phillip Hancock, brothers of the bride, were the groomsmen.

A reception was held in the church parlor. Marilyn Dwyer registered the guests. Others in the house party were Mrs. Jim Franklin, Mrs. Vern Dwyer, Mrs. Duane Magee, Mrs. Howard Crouch, Mrs. Jeffrey Sims, sister of the bridegroom, Diane Magee and Leanne Maboe.

Computer Says Woman Is Dead

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—To her amazement, Geraldine Herring recently discovered that she had "died" more than two years ago.

The discovery came when she took an examination to renew her driver's license. The examiner fed her information into a computer, scanned the reply, and said, "I'm sorry to tell you this, but you're dead."

The computer advised that Geraldine Herring had died March 13, 1972.

"The examiner called Tallahassee and told me to come back," she said. "I hope they get it cleared up. It's kind of uncomfortable being dead."

Women To Make Business Better

NEW YORK (AP) — Women executives are now few but there will be many more in the next decade and they probably will make business a better world.

So predicts "Women: Opportunity for Management," a special study recently published by the Presidents Association, an organization of the American Management Association. It was prepared by Caroline Bird, feminist author of "Born Female" and "Everything a Woman Needs to Know to Get Paid What She's Worth."

"When there are substantially as many women as men in management, everyone will be freer to do his or her own thing," she says. "Both work schedules and career leaders will be more diverse when women occupy a larger proportion of policy-making jobs."

Carolyn Baker Becomes Bride Of Gregory Euston

LUBBOCK — The marriage of Carolyn Ann Baker and Gregory Chisholm Euston, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Euston of 1706 Community Lane, Midland, was solemnized at 8 p.m. Saturday in Ford Memorial Chapel of the First Baptist Church. The Rev. H. F. Scott read the double ring rites.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Baker of Glenns Ferry, Idaho.

The couple will reside here at 2301 9th St., Apartment 12, following a trip to Acapulco, Mexico. The bride, a graduate of Texas Tech University, is employed by Hillcrest Country Club as assistant tennis coach.

Guests were escorted by Steve and Stan Baker, brothers of the bride; Mike Hartley, El Paso, and Edward Invernarity of San Antonio. The groomsmen were Bill Newbort, Bob Nesbit and David Workman.

Ned Rollins was the best man, and Mrs. Ray Bryan Tilly III was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Cheri Montgomery, Jeanne Moore and Cari Meador.

Mr. Baker presented his daughter in marriage. She wore a floor-length dress of white silk organza and Venise lace veiled over pants de soie. Lace formed a circular pattern on the sheer high yoke neckline and short sleeves. The Empire bodice and pyramid skirt were enhanced by lace scrolls and unpressed pleats, which swept to a wide chapel train. Her veil cascaded from a matching eelot framing the chapel-length English net veiling.

Mrs. Gregory C. Euston

The reception was held in the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Meador.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Covey and Mrs. W. H. May, grandparents of the bride.

The bridegroom's parents entertained with the rehearsal dinner in Lubbock Country Club.

Number of WACs Is On Increase According To Director Of Corps

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The number of females in the armed services is on the increase, according to Brig. Gen. Mildred Bailey, director of the Women's Army Corps.

"We plan to quadruple the number of women in the Army," she said. "We expect to have 50,000 active and 25,000 in reserves by July, 1979."

"Marriage is not as difficult as it once was for a woman with a military career," added the general, who was on a Midwestern tour. "We are assuring married couples that they can have a family and a military career. They won't be separated any more than a couple in which only one is military personnel."

There are now only 48 job classifications in the Army in which women are not permitted, and nine of these are under study for possible change, she said.

"We are moving women out of stereotyped roles," General Bailey said. "We have jobs in all areas to fill. Many women who inquire about military service ask only about medical and administrative areas. We want to re-educate their thinking."

Mayors Gather Without Chicago's Daley

By BILL STALL
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The 42nd annual meeting of the U.S. Conference of Mayors will get under way Monday without the dean of the nation's big city chief executives, Richard J. Daley of Chicago.

Daley, 72, is recuperating at a Michigan resort following a mild stroke May 6 and subsequent corrective surgery June 2.

Gene Russell, a spokesman for the conference, said he believes it is the first yearly meeting of the organization that Daley has missed since he became mayor of Chicago in 1955.

The first formal business Saturday was preliminary consideration of 44 resolutions proposed by member mayors. About 350 mayors were expected to attend the five-day meeting.

In their completed form, the resolutions will go before the full conference for adoption Wednesday. Several of them urge Congress to act on legislation considered vital to the cities.

Daley had sent advance word that he hoped to attend this year's conference, but his office advised conference leaders Friday he would not be able to come.

In Chicago, a Daley aide said the mayor was "in very good health" but that he probably would stay in Michigan through the coming week.

Even without Daley, long considered one of the nation's most politically powerful chief executives, this year's conference is drawing more than usual political attention. It will provide a showcase for four of five mayors who are seeking U.S. Senate seats in the fall.

They are Republicans Ralph J. Perk of Cleveland, E. J. Garofalo of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Richard G. Lugar of Indianapolis, Ind., and Democrat Lee Alexander of Syracuse, N.Y.

A fifth mayor running for the Senate, Democrat Peter F. Flaherty of Pittsburgh, sent word from attending.

Speakers at general conference sessions starting Monday include California Gov. Ronald Reagan; Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex.; former Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson; and Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal.

Nixon administration representatives at the conference will be Russell E. Train, administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, and Secretary James T. Lynn of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Twenty-four game and food booths will be operated by Bandollers, opening at 6 p.m., and all proceeds will go to band activities. Joe Mills is carnival chairman.

FOOD FOR PEACE CUT— House Leaves Food Stamps For Strikers In Money Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A striker still could get food stamps but the stamps would be banned for some college students if a House-passed money bill becomes law.

The $13.4 billion agriculture, environmental and consumer protection appropriations bill would also cut back aid for South Vietnam and Cambodia under the Food for Peace program.

The controversial legislation was sent to the Senate after passing the House 278 to 16 Friday night.

The House voted three times last year for a ban on food stamps for strikers but the Senate later rejected the idea.

Rep. William Dickinson, R-Ala., tried again Friday night, saying "the present policy of allowing food stamps to strikers is contrary to good business and common sense and should be abolished." The House rejected his amendment 169 to 147.

Later, by 195 to 123, the House approved an amendment by Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., designed to bar food stamps for any college student aged 18 or over who is claimed by his family as a dependent child for federal income tax purposes.

By a vote of 65 to 51, the House accepted an amendment by Rep. James P. Johnson, R-Colo., which would set a $42.5-million ceiling per country on funds for Food for Peace program sales of surplus agricultural commodities under agreements involving foreign currencies and dollars on credit terms.

Rep. James W. Symington, D-Mo., said South Vietnam is getting an estimated $250 million and Cambodia about $168 million under this feature of the over-all Food for Peace program during the fiscal year ending this month. The Nixon administration sought $160 million for South Vietnam and $77 million for Cambodia the upcoming fiscal year.

The bill would provide $13.405 billion for the agencies involved — Agriculture Department, Environmental Protection Agency, Food and Drug Administration, FTC and related activities — for the fiscal year starting next month. The Nixon administration sought $13.432 billion. The agencies got $10.586 billion for the present fiscal year.

Senate Completes Congressional Action On Budget Reform Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has unanimously approved and sent to President Nixon legislation giving Congress a larger role in setting federal spending priorities.

The President is expected to sign it even though he objects to provisions limiting his power.

Houston Boosts Teacher Salaries

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston School Board has approved a 10 per cent pay hike for teachers, the largest pay raise in the board's history.

The raises, announced Friday, amount to a $1,910 a year increase for all teachers except the beginning teacher, whose pay will be boosted from $7,200 to $7,900 next year.

to impound funds voted by Congress.

The Senate passed the budget reform bill Friday by 75-0 vote.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., manager of the bill, asserted, "This is the most important piece of legislation I have worked on in the 20 years I have been in Congress."

But two other sponsors, Sens. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., said that while the machinery could be extremely valuable, it would work only if senators and representatives would make sacrifices to see that it did.

Congress now acts on spending issues within the framework of the President's budget and through 14 separate appropriations bills which are not ted together in any systematic way.

The reform bill would require Congress to adopt its own budget each year by May 15, with a spending ceiling.

It would then have four months in which to approve all the money bills. If Congress exceeds its ceiling in acting on all money bills, there would have to be adjustments through cutbacks in programs, new taxes or changes in the ceiling.

The fiscal year would begin Oct. 1, starting in 1976, instead of the present July 1, in order to allow time for the new schedule to work.

Handicapped Boy Walks 10 Miles To School Party

MILLBURN, N.J. (AP) — Scott Beverly didn't want to skip his birthday party, but he missed his school bus.

The 9-year-old Plainfield, N.J., youth, who is deaf, solved the problem by walking the 10 miles to the Millburn Avenue School for the Hearing Handicapped on Friday, following the winding route used by the school bus.

Five hours after starting out, the exhausted youngster arrived at the school to find his classmates, who had planned an observance of his birthday, leaving.

Scott started crying, but principal Jean Schmidt saved the day by taking the boy out for lunch and ice cream.

New U.S.-European Air Fare Hike Seen

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Air travelers between the United States and Europe, already hit with three fare hikes this year, face an additional 5 per cent increase.

Transatlantic carrier members of the International Air Transport Association (IATA) broke a months-long deadlock Friday and voted to ask affected governments for the fare boost, effective Aug. 1.

The price of the least expensive round-trip fare from New York to London, for example, would rise to $434 on a scheduled line during the peak summer months.

Representatives of about 40 airlines attending the IATA's North Atlantic Passenger-Transfic Conference here said they needed the boost to offset rising fuel prices.

Earlier this year, the carriers won increases totaling 17 per cent, including boosts of 6 per cent and 7 per cent to reimburse them for more expensive fuel.

The five per cent increase would apply to fares to Canada but not to eastbound flights originating from that country, an IATA spokesman said.

The carriers also agreed Friday to seek a 4 per cent increase for flights between Europe and Africa and between Central and South America and a 3 per cent increase for the same routes to and from Mexico.

Chrysler Joins New Price Boost

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. has become the second U.S. auto maker to raise car and truck prices to cover increased shipping costs, tacking on an average $10.08 to its price tags.

Chrysler's action on Friday followed a similar move by Ford Motor Co., which boosted its prices an average $10.45 Thursday.

General Motors Corp. said it would not raise prices immediately but is expected to pass increased freight costs on, too.

The auto makers said the price increases were a simple pass-through of a 10 per cent boost in rail freight rates which took effect Thursday.

Paul Dean

Midland Youth Texas Champion Cutting Horse Rider

Winning the Texas cutting horse rider championship is becoming almost a family tradition for the sons of Dr. and Mrs. Thurston Dean of Midland. Paul Dean, a Midland High School senior, recently was named Texas' top cutting horse rider at the State Championship High School Rodeo in Hallettsville. He was riding Mr. P Kay. Paul's brother, John, a MHS sophomore, placed fourth. Both youths qualified for the national championships at Tomah, Wis., Aug. 5-11. In 1973, Ted Dean—now a sophomore pre-vet student at Texas A&M—was the state champ, and Paul placed fourth. Jimmy Reno of Simonton, formerly of Midland, placed second in the cutting horse event this year.

Signs Indicate Special Session On School Finance

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe's aides insist he remains undecided, but signs kept popping up last week that he would call a special legislative session to help school districts meet their rapidly rising costs.

Lobbyists, sometimes the best sources of Austin political intelligence, insist that he will.

Sen. A. M. Aikin, D-Paris, dean of the legislature and co-sponsor of the public school finance system that has been in effect for 25 years, said he talked with Briscoe Thursday. "He told me he had no intention of calling a session until after the (constitutional) convention is over. What he had in mind was to get something out of the (legislative) leadership that they wouldn't try to re-structure the education program but just pass something of an emergency nature," Aikin said. Briscoe, he said, would want any special session limited to emergency relief for school districts, junior colleges, state employees and retired teachers hit hard by inflation. There could be another subject, however, if the House Energy Crisis Committee can find a way for the legislature to force down soaring electricity rates in some cities.

Rep. Jon Newton, D-Beeville, committee chairman, said Briscoe told him "he would call a special session to deal with this problem if we could find a workable solution that would provide immediate relief."

agreement that lawmakers would not seize on a special session to pass additional bills. "If he got that assurance, I feel certain he will call a session for those purposes," the source said.

House Speaker Price Daniel

Jr. said, however, that neither Briscoe nor any of his aides "has mentioned a special session to me or my leaders at all."

Another legislator said Briscoe was troubled by the plight of the Laredo Independent School District, which faces a $700,000 deficit next school year.

"He wouldn't want to be the first governor who had a school district close its doors," the lawmaker said.

Inflation has eroded the 6.8 per cent to 18.2 per cent raises state employees received last year. Their raises at the start of the next fiscal year, Sept. 1, are only 3.4 per cent—far below today's 10-plus per cent inflation rate.

The money's there—an estimated surplus of $315 million or more.

But Briscoe has promised no new taxes next year, and that surplus might be necessary to keep his promise. "If the thing ever gets going, the entire surplus could be wiped out. And he can't afford that—not if he is going to avoid a tax bill next year," said one senator.

The governor is expected to make his decision soon—one aide guessed it would come within two weeks. It might be tied to adjournment of the Constitutional Convention, which must end July 30, but could shut down earlier—Daniel is pressing for a July 15 closing date. School districts must finish their budgets by Aug. 20.

"I think the whole contingency he is looking at right now is when we finish. If we go to July 30, he won't call one but if we end early . . ." said a legislator who had just talked with some Briscoe staffers.

Commercial Feeder Says Grass-Fed Beef Talk Actually Costly Delusion

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — A commercial feeder who fattens 20,000 steers a year says it is a delusion to talk about abolishing the commercial feedlot and relying on grass-fattened beef.

Texas Gasoline Supplies Adequate

HOUSTON (AP) — The Texas Division of the American Automobile Association says fewer than one per cent of the state's service stations are out of gasoline.

A survey released by the association Friday showed only 11 per cent were on a quota basis, the lowest percentage in months. One third of the stations surveyed were open on Sundays.

Prices averaged 51.2 cents a gallon for regular brand and 55.1 for premium.

The AAA said Houston has the highest prices in Texas, averaging 51.7 cents for regular and 55.6 for premium.

The survey showed another shortage at service stations—radiator coolants.

they are accustomed to," said Dale Smith Jr. of Springfield. "It will be tough and stringy, and it will be higher priced than grain-fed beef."

Smith has feedlots in Missouri, Iowa and Ohio. He made his comments in an interview which covered the crisis in the cattle industry because prices for live animals will not cover the cost of buying and fattening them.

"Without feedlots which fatten beef on grain, people will starve," Smith said.

"It takes a year to 18 months from birth to slaughter for a feedlot steer. But it takes four years to grass-fatten a steer. And then he's not really fat."

"If a cowman has to fatten out his steers on grass he will have to cut his herd to 25 per cent of what he now carries, and this means the supply of beef would be reduced accordingly."

Industry In Danger
Smith said the cattle industry is in danger of being destroyed because of low prices for live animals.

"Once it is gone, how are people going to like eating milk or corn instead of tender beef?" Smith asked. It's a pretty dry diet, I think. We cannot sell all of our grain overseas," Smith said economic conditions in the cattle industry right now are impossible, and if it is destroyed the price of beef eventually will be higher.

"I can visualize steers selling off grass at $1 a pound, and it won't be fit to eat," Smith said. "All segments of the industry are operating on slim profits at best. If the working man wants to go back to $1.25 an hour wages, then we could go back to 25-cent cattle. I would hate to see this happen."

In the meantime, meat retailers in Springfield said it takes about three weeks for lower prices at the supermarket to catch up with breaks in live prices. They reported the demand for meat is good and picking up because of lower prices.

Jack Farmer, operator of a Springfield locker plant, said the demand for beef is increasing daily. His cut, packaged, wrapped and frozen beef sells for 84 cents a pound, down from a recent 98 cents.

"We are selling some grass-fed beef for 77 cents, but I don't recommend it," Farmer said. "It's not tender beef like the other we sell."

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren

Parents Demand She Entertain Them

DEAR ABBY: My parents live in a small apartment near us. They feel lonely and neglected, and complain constantly that friends and relatives visit them only as a duty, and not very often. They are critical, quarrelsome and have no interests beyond their aches and pains and being entertained.

I've tried to interest them in senior citizen groups, but because some of their members smoke, play cards and are Democrats, my parents couldn't mingle with them.

I visit my parents every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. I take them grocery shopping, to the doctor and out for lunch once a week. I have them to my home for dinner every Sunday and Thursday. I even do their laundry!

The problem is, they are not satisfied, and let us know about it in no uncertain terms. We've had several heart-to-heart talks with them, but they still think we are selfish for not spending more time with them.

When I'm not with them, they phone, and if I am not home, they get furious, and I get bawled out like a child for "running around all day."

I am 57 years old, and have worked for 41 years, and I am tired of running myself ragged trying to please them. Any suggestions?

RUN RAGGED

DEAR RUN: The problem isn't THEM; it's the way you react to them. As long as you know you are doing all you can for them, there is no reason to feel guilty. None at all!

DEAR ABBY: I am a bartender in a small town and quite often a customer will say, "If anyone calls asking for me, say I'm not here, and if they ask if I've been here, say you haven't seen me."

Abby, when I lie, as I often do, it goes against my conscience, but I lie anyway because I don't know how to get around it. Is there a way I can keep from lying without losing customers?

HONEST BARTENDER DEAR HONEST: Probably not. Bartenders, like doctors and priests, are expected to keep confidences.

DEAR ABBY: My cousin had her first baby, so the other night we went to her home to see the new baby. There were lots of other relatives there.

This cousin kept looking at her watch because she had to feed the baby at 8 p.m. She could hardly wait to unbutton her blouse right in front of everybody. Then she said, proudly, "This is the first time I've ever had such a nice breast," and without even putting a blanket or diaper or anything around the baby, she proceeded to nurse him. Both breasts were exposed the whole time, which was not necessary. Some of the men went into the kitchen right away, and a couple of the younger kids got so embarrassed they also left.

I know there is nothing nasty about the human body, or nursing a baby, but what do you think of a woman who would take advantage of a situation like that to show off?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: Same as you. It's disgusting. I'd also feel sorry for her.

CONFIDENTIAL TO T. M.: When someone starts out with, "It's not the money, it's the principle of the thing," it's usually the money.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this newspaper. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Teachers Complete Title I Workshop

"It was one of the best received workshops we've ever had," said Lois Rogge, coordinator of Elementary English in the Midland school system, about a Title I workshop which was completed last week at Emerson Elementary School.

From 25 to 60 teachers attended the three-week workshop which consisted of sessions in reading, early childhood development, the use of teacher aids and music and arts.

Miss Rogge said the emphasis of the workshop was to train reading teachers and teacher aides in Title I schools which deal with economically disadvantaged students. Kindergarten reading programs were also included and other classroom teachers to hear consultants from various universities and colleges in the state.

The teachers also prepared materials for classroom use.

"We're very enthusiastic about the materials," Miss Rogge said. "There was a good deal of intake of new ideas."

The new materials included individual reading methods through games, manipulating material from young children and to help to prepare students to become better readers through visual and auditory perception.

"It will help the teacher know more about the human element of education," she said. "It will get the child more involved and motivated in instructional activities."

Lecturers at the workshop included Dr. Frank Guszak of The University of Texas, Dr. A. Eugene Howard of Stephen F. Austin University, Mrs. Peggy Solberg of Tarrant Junior College and Dr. Don Miller and Dr. Bob Ihinger of the University of Texas of the Permian Basin.

The workshop's purpose is to improve and enforce reading in Title I schools and to deal with early childhood problems, Miss Rogge said.

Miss Rogge added she felt the consultants were well received and that the workshop accomplished its goal of improving Title I teacher training concerning reading.

Constitution Delegates End Scrap With Briscoe

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas delegates basked in the blessings of today of Gov. Dolph Briscoe for their work on a proposed new state constitution.

The convention resumes Monday afternoon with a next-to-final consideration of the Executive Article that concerns mostly the powers of the governor.

Friday, the convention approved the Legislative Article on third reading. The key vote was a 105-67 that knocked out a previously approved section enabling two-thirds of the House and Senate to call themselves into special session. This had been a big complaint of Briscoe.

Briscoe also won another point Friday when the convention struck a provision without objection, that would allow the legislature to override a gubernatorial veto of a bill passed during a previous session.

After the Friday session Briscoe issued a statement saying he was "very pleased with the action of the convention. They took care of the points I body of the constitution now stands I can support it. I don't agree with everything that's in it, but I doubt if anybody could."

Previously Briscoe said he wanted to support a new constitution but he did not want to commit himself until he saw the final draft.

The convention Friday also approved a provision to be submitted separately from the main constitution that would put a $8,750 ceiling on annual salaries for the legislature. Another separate submission, approved 70-59, would give House members four-year terms.

Other major changes of the Legislative Article would call for annual legislative sessions of 140 days on odd-numbered years and 90-days on even-numbered years; let the legislature convene itself in special session to consider gubernatorial vetoes by three-fifths vote of each house, and permit tax bills to be originated in either the House or Senate.

Ulster Freedom Fighters Ask For Northern Ireland Peace

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Ulster Freedom Fighters, a Protestant band blamed by the British for some of the murders in Northern Ireland's sectarian war, asked Saturday for an end to the violence in the province.

"Northern Ireland is now entering a period where the absence of violence is essential and we think the people should be given the chance to think clearly about the future," the group said in a statement distributed by the Ulster Defense Association.

Little is known about the outlawed Ulster Freedom Fighters. The British army has accused the band of several assassinations, but some Protestant militants have insisted the Freedom Fighters do not exist and that the murders were actually committed by British provocateurs.

The Ulster Defense Association, largest of the Protestant paramilitary organizations, said it had been contacted by the Freedom Fighters and asked to put out the statement. "Like everyone else, they have had enough of the violence and, if after elections it is found the people can work together, they will be as happy as anyone," a UDA spokesman said.

Militant Protestants in the province are agitating for new elections to replace the coalition government of moderate Protestant and Roman Catholic Irish Republicans.

Leaders of the Protestant paramilitary groups met last Monday to consider proposing a cease-fire to the largely Catholic Irish Republican Army, which is battling to oust the British from Ulster and to unite the province with the Irish Republic.

But the Freedom Fighters were not represented at the meeting. Attending were the recently legalized Ulster Volunteer Force, the Red Hand and the UDA.

The East Belfast branch of the UDA, however, rejected the truce Wednesday, saying: "In our view, any talks with either wing of the IRA would be a betrayal of Protestants and our heritage."

Meanwhile, a policeman was shot dead in the Crumlin Road area of Belfast, the 10th police officer to be killed in the province this year. Another policeman and a civilian were wounded.

Jury selection in the drug case against Andrews physician Henry Thomas Leigh will begin Monday morning in federal court following the empaneling of new petit and grand juries at 10 a.m.

Only two other matters had been scheduled for this week, as of Friday, thus leaving the week open for Dr. Leigh's trial.

The other two matters are set for 4:45 p.m. Tuesday. One is an arraignment for Clint A. Thomas, 18, of Odessa and the other is sentencing of Michael Edward Perkins, 23, of 1900 E. Garden City Highway.

A jury convicted Perkins June 14 of possessing a sawed-off shotgun and U.S. Dist. Judge D. W. Suttle will pronounce sentence Tuesday. He was indicted in March.

Thomas was named earlier this month in a three-count indictment charging possession of stolen mail and forgery and passing of a government check.

The case against Leigh has been pending about two years and, in that time, three indictments have been returned, two to correct technicalities.

He is accused of eight counts of unlawfully prescribing drugs for state and federal undercover officers.

His attorneys said during a recent pretrial hearing that they plan to use entrapment by the officers as a defense.

Texas Road Deaths Down 27 Per Cent AUSTIN (AP) — Texas traffic deaths this year are 27 percent below 1973, the Department of Public Safety reported Saturday.

To date this year, the DPS said, there have been 1,129 persons killed in Texas roadway accidents compared to 1,546 last year for the same time.

"What riles me is that doctors now charge twice as much for the same advice they gave us 10 years ago!"

Texas Hurricane History Dates Back To Jean Lafitte

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

One of the biggest jokes a hurricane ever played—and hurricanes usually aren't funny at all—was one which temporarily did in Texas' most famous pirate, Jean Lafitte.

This was the state's first hurricane to reach the history books and it occurred in 1818.

What happened was that Lafitte, who sent a number of ships to the bottom in his time, lost four ships himself in the hurricane. Big joke on him.

This was at Galveston where the hero of sorts had established his base after helping Andy Jackson win the Battle of New Orleans Jan. 8, 1815.

It is ironic that the scene of this minor disaster was the site of the nation's worst. This one was the Galveston hurricane of 1900. Somewhere between 8,000 and 8,000 persons died in that one.

What brings this to mind is that the hurricane season has just begun. It is from June 1 to Nov. 30, although some have sneaked in both earlier and later.

The residents of Galveston on that disastrous day in 1900 had no advance notice.

Some survivors later related that they didn't like the color of the sea. It was green, one said. Another called it blood red. A few squalls preceded the big one. These were the only warnings.

Anyone along the coasts these days, should have weeks of being frightened to death by daily reports of a storm's approach. The United States has just put up a weather satellite which will spy on the disturbances from the time they are just a rain shower until they hit some coast.

Predicting has become sort of a science, aided first by radar and now by the satellite 22,000 miles high over Brazil.

Some hurricanes are sneaky. They don't always start far out shore.

One of the devious ones was Debra in 1959 which formed just off Freeport-Galveston instead of far away at sea. There was no warning. Damage amounted to $6 million, and 20,000 structures were destroyed or damaged.

The editorial writers blistered the ears of the weathermen for that one, but the forecasters said there isn't anything they can do when a baby is born on their doorstep.

No one has found a way to stop them.

There was a big project for a few years whereby planes would fly through the hurricane and seed her with silver iodide crystals.

This was expected to modify the hurricane and cause it to lose power. There was no visible effect and the project was dropped this year for the Atlantic, Caribbean and Gulf of Mexico.

Hurricane power is awesome. One hurricane in one hour produces more energy than all the electric plants in the U.S. can provide in 50 years.

Soon as we figure out a way to put a hurricane in our gas tank, we can tell those oil-rich Mideast sheiks to take a long running jump into a sand pile. No more of this nice guy stuff.

Dr. John F. Griffiths of Texas A&M University, the state meteorologist, says 67 hurricanes have hit the Texas coast since poor Lafitte had his little trouble.

Dr. Griffiths relates that Texas hurricanes have cost more than 8,000 lives and resulted in monetary losses of more than one trillion dollars.

But the good news: In the hundred years ending in 1970, there were 58 years when none hit our precious shores.

The only defense against them is to flee the coast ahead of them, and such flights have been credited with the relative low loss of life in Texas in recent years.

Scientists are not certain what causes hurricanes. Many believe the cause is connected with the heating of the ocean sea water as the sun moves north in summer.

They also note that a ridge of high pressure generally stretches across the Caribbean during the summers. It is called the Bermuda High or Ridge.

When the ridge slides south, it more or less stops hurricanes before they can amount to anything much. When it slides north, it opens the gate.

If you are a woman and want to become famous—or notorious—by having a hurricane named for you, you'll have to wait until after 1960 to get your name on the list, for they all have been picked through that year.

Even that grand old name of Mary doesn't get a spot until 1977, and then she is 13th on the list. If we have that many hurricanes, it will be a very, very bad year indeed.

The reason they are given names, says the Weather Service, is that this is easier than designating them by longitude and latitude which change minute by minute.

Don't know why they're given girls' names. Maybe it's because they sound better than Herman or Charles or Percival.

They're called hurricanes on the Atlantic side and typhoons on the Pacific side.

North of the equator they turn counterclockwise. South they turn clockwise.

The same thing happens when you let the water out of the wash basin. It swirls counterclockwise north of the equator. It's clockwise south of the Equator.

Ringing The Bell

with BOB TIEUEL

The Black Experience: "87 Years Behind The Black Curtain," an Autobiography by Dr. Richard R. Wright Jr., published 1965. Bishop of African Methodist Episcopal Church. Excerpts follow:

"The Book Concern of the A.M.E. Church was the oldest incorporated business conducted by black Americans. It was established by the first General Conference in 1816 and in 1817 published the first book of the 'Doctrine and Discipline of the African Methodist Episcopal Church.' It was founded and organized to bring a revenue from the sale of literature and books in order to help retired preachers, widows and orphans, yet no man in the 158 years the book concern has existed, was ever elected to the management who had business training, including me. . . In 1855, eight years before the emancipation of the slaves, it was incorporated."

"I was among the first of the college-educated sons of the first generation of educated free black Americans, and I have been a part of four generations who acquired, during this time, 20 A.B.s, 13 A.M.s, two Ph.D.s one M.D. and five other degrees.

I lived before there were electric lights, trolley cars, telephones in my town, when nobody ever thought of an automobile, and called a man crazy who admitted the possibility of an airplane. I have seen my country grow from 40 million to 190 million, and the population of those of African descent from 4 1/2 million to 22 million, not including an estimated 15 million who 'pass for white.' I have seen many theories about black Americans explode, and many superstitions gradually pass away.

"There are probably more than 50,000 churches in the U.S.A. led by 40,000 black American preachers. (1965). They have between 12 and 15 million church members, 8 million Sunday school scholars and young people's society members. They have a million choir members and 3 to 5 million officers and members of auxiliaries. . . They conduct schools, colleges, hospitals, and their missions are the largest black American international contacts with Africa and the rest of the outside world. . . They serve as employment agencies, newscenters, platforms and forums for every sort of enterprise and cause for the advance of black American."

According to a report in the Texas College Alumni Newsletter, the Gilmer Chapter, under the direction of Mrs. Thelma Owens and the Cherokee County (Texas) Chapter under leadership of Mrs. Portia Hooper, obtained better than 100 per cent of their quotas for the last three years, with the Amarillo chapter doing it last year. The Amarillo leadership is under the direction of John A. Jackson, cited as "a most active civic, religious and educational leader in his community" and has been awarded "the most Outstanding Alumni Award for 1974." Founders Day at Texas College in Tyler will be observed March 16, 1975, and will feature the classes of the '50s. Hope to make it, guys and gals. You too!

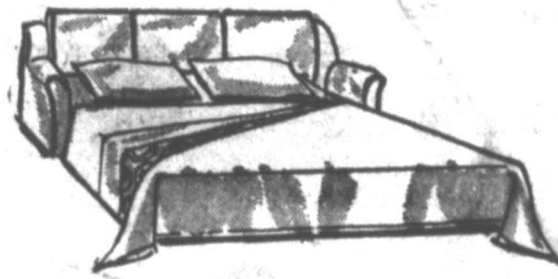

The Mary Hill Davis State Mission Offering (Southern Baptist Convention) named in honor of a Dallas physician's wife, is promoted each fall by the Women's Missionary Union. The record $1 million raised in 1973 was distributed for scholarships to Latin America and black students on Baptist campuses, resort areas, special projects such as ministering to street people of Dallas and Houston and the River Ministry.

A number of bellringers have written us concerning the increasing number of black youth engaged in dope- and alcohol-related crimes in West Texas and Southeastern New Mexico. A special grand jury on the problem has been called in Ector County to deal with the problem. In recent interviews with many of our black and brown youth, we have found a sense of hopelessness and despair among them over the fact they have been unable to find gainful employment. Of course there is a small minority that is "looking for work" and hoping they don't find it. Black church leaders should look into the problem.

Until later, Peace, and be a good neighbor. They come in all colors.
