Summit Talks Shift To Yalta

Nixon, Brezhnev Ink New 10-Year Economic Accord

YALTA, U.S.S.R. (AP)—President Nixon and Leonid Brezhnev flew from a drizzle in Moscow to the sunshine of the Black Sea Saturday to continue their nuclear arms talks in the shadow of the place famous for its controversial World War II diplomacy.

Crowds larger than those that welcomed Nixon to Moscow turned out to greet the two leaders with wild flowers and bunches of greenery.

Before leaving the capital, the two leaders signed a new 10-year economic agreement. Brezhnev, the President and Mrs. Nixon flew aboard the Soviet equivalent of Air Force One to Simferopol Airport, then drove some 85 miles to a sea-side home on the edge of Yalta. Large Crowds Everywhere Crowds were heavy near every population center along the one-hour and 35-minute drive. Many women held bunches of wild flowers aloft and some men waved branches of greenery plucked from nearby fields. The big turnout here in the Crimea was in sharp contrast to largely deserted streets Nixon saw on leaving Moscow in a light rain Saturday morning. Nixon arrived Thursday to be welcomed by about 10,000 flag-waving Muscovites. Sunshine and Ukrainian Communist party chief Vladimir Shcherbitsky welcomed the Nixons at the airport, where they got into a motorcade of more than 50 cars for the drive to Yalta.

Neighboring Villages
 The Nixons and Brezhnev are occupying neighboring buff-colored villas on the side of a steep hill stretching down to the sea.

The 10-year economic agreement signed at a Kremlin ceremony was forecast long before Nixon left Washington by Treasury Secretary William E. Simon.

Largely worked out at a two-day Washington meeting of the American-Soviet commercial commission last month, the accord aims at encouraging long-term expansion of trade between the two countries to the benefit of both.

For example, some areas of the Soviet Union have abundant raw materials for the production of aluminum and needed electric power resources less costly than in the United States.

Favored Nation Status
 American-Soviet trade last year totaled $1.4 billion, a considerably higher level than before Nixon and Brezhnev moved decisively toward a relaxation of tensions two years ago.

In announcing the agreement, the White House said the Nixon administration "remains fully committed" to bringing into force a 1972 summit accord on trade by pushing for congressional authority to grant the Soviet Union non-discriminatory tariff treatment, otherwise known as most favored nation status.

The 1972 agreement has been blocked by Senate critics of Soviet policy on Jewish emigration and the treatment of dissidents. Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., is a leading figure in this group.

Careful Screening
 The White House also emphasized that the latest agreement "does not represent any change in the existing system of carefully screening all transactions to insure that U.S. goods and technology will be exported solely for peaceful purposes."

Neither President Nikolai V. Podgorny nor Premier Alexei N. Kosygin made the flight to Yalta, famed for a 1945 meeting of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Josef Stalin and Britain's Winston Churchill that led to agreements long challenged by Nixon and other Republicans.

Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger came along. Gromyko and his wife arrived at the Moscow airport too late to board the Brezhnev-Nixon plane and instead flew (See SUMMIT Page 2A)

South Texas Cities Have Cool Nights

Texas skies remained generally fair Saturday and temperatures were moderate for summer after a chilly morning.

Light showers fell on the mountains of West Texas but gave no indication of moving off the hills.

The mercury climbed to the 87-degree mark at Midland Air Terminal Saturday, and the National Weather Service there predicted highs today and Monday in the middle 90s. The low tonight in the Tall City should be in the middle 60s. The Saturday low was 63.

Several South Texas cities set records for low temperatures for the date Saturday.

Six in Row At Houston
 Victoria reported a low of 68, breaking the old record of 68 set in 1921. Houston's low of 59 made the sixth consecutive day of record low temperatures for those dates. San Antonio recorded its fifth morning in a row of record minimums.

Beaumont and Port Arthur reported 63 degrees, a record for June 29, while Del Rio set a record for the date at 65.

The state's highest temperature Saturday was 101 at Wink, Dalhart and El Paso. The Associated Press reported. Alpine, Childress and Wichita Falls reported 100-degree maximums, while Amarillo and Lubbock had 96.

Isabel Peron

Isabel Peron Takes Over All Presidential Powers

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)— Vice President Isabel Peron took over as acting president Saturday so that her husband could continue medical treatment for a serious ailment.

Peron, elected president in September in a dramatic return after 18 years' exile, was ordered to take "absolute rest" while doctors treated what they said was infectious bronchitis with heart complication.

The 78-year-old president transferred the mandate during a cabinet meeting at his official mansion in the Buenos Aires suburb. He remains as president but his wife has his full powers until he takes them back.

Isabel, an attractive 43-year-old former dancer, with no previous political experience, ran the country under a similar mandate for two days when Peron took brief trips to neighboring Uruguay and Paraguay.

She announced the step over television, with her face an emotionless mask, her chestnut hair swept up in an elegant bouffant.

"I have assumed this extraordinary responsibility under the upright inspiration of General Peron. I call for the solidarity of Argentines and ask God for his protection," she said.

Armed forces and opposition leaders called for universal support of the constitution, which allows Mrs. Peron to assume the mandate, but there was little immediate public reaction.

SHE LIKES OUTDOORS — Mrs. Gloria Marker takes a water meter reading for the City of Midland. She is the first woman meter reader in the history of the City Water Department. The 28-year-old Midlander said that if she had to stay behind a desk all day, she would "go mad."

Mother Of Two Reads Meters For City

By GEORGE MASSEY
 Gloria Marker is a part 50-pound, 4-foot 10-inch mother of two children — and she's a water meter reader for the City of Midland.

The fact that she is the first woman meter reader the city has ever had doesn't mean, however, that she is a women's liberator.

"I don't like to be classified as a women's liberator," she says. "I just want to be classified as a woman, and be allowed to work to the limits of my capacity."

But the tanned and sprightly Mrs. Marker did admit that "most girls are now interested in more than just getting married after high school. They're more career minded than the group of girls I graduated with in 1963."

The career Mrs. Marker had in mind, however, was not that of secretary, nurse or clerk. "I wanted to work outdoors," she said, which led her to try to break into formerly all-male job bastions.

Mrs. Marker was graduated from Midland's Lee High School and then moved to Farmington, N.M.

She lived in Farmington for about eight years before deciding to move back to Midland. While in New Mexico, she grew tired of being a cashier at a Farmington restaurant and decided to take a shot at becoming a heavy truck driver. She was given a chance to try out for a truck driving job, but she was cut short of her goal when the family moved to Midland.

Upon arrival here, Mrs. Marker thought about doing some road construction work, but gave up the idea because the men in charge were going to make her flag-waver. She wanted to drive the road grading and paving equipment.

Then three months ago, she landed a job with the Midland Parks and Recreation Department's maintenance crew her out of the labor field, then perhaps some education would get her into a more acceptable position. She took a trade school course where she learned the technique of gas welding. But she was cut short of her goal when the family moved to Midland.

Upon arrival here, Mrs. Marker thought about doing some road construction work, but gave up the idea because the men in charge were going to make her flag-waver. She wanted to drive the road grading and paving equipment.

Then three months ago, she landed a job with the Midland Parks and Recreation Department's maintenance crew which mows grass, trims hedges and raises lawns in the parks across the city.

She said the parks job satisfied her, but like most workers she also wanted to move up to a better paying and more demanding job. She had heard through the grapevine that a position was available in the water meter reading department and she took her application to city hall for review.

Later Bill Tutsch, meter department supervisor, approved her application for transfer. She was given a course in methods used by the department and started at a salary equal to that of the men in the department.

Mrs. Marker said, "The job is hard, and I've enjoyed it. But I've talked to a lot of women and they think I'm crazy."

She said that unless other women really loved to be outdoors several hours a day, she would not advise that they apply for such a job.

Mrs. Marker doesn't have a city regulation uniform as yet, but said she would be glad to wear one if the city can find one small enough.

And what does Mrs. Marker do for entertainment? "Just spend some time with my children," she asserts. She also collects antique glass articles and plays the guitar.

Massive Colombian Slide Leaves At Least 200 Dead

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—The earth began to rumble like when thousands of horses gallop on the range. I felt myself sink up to my waist. Something hit me on the head, and I lost consciousness.

That was all Mauricio Forian, a Colombian peasant, remembered of a massive Andean landslide Friday that authorities said killed more than 200 persons.

Gen. Jose Jaime Rodriguez, Colombia's Civil Defense director, said Saturday that 90 bodies had been recovered and 100 persons hospitalized. "We'll never know exactly the number of victims of this national tragedy," Rodriguez said, but "if the information we possess is correct, we would calculate the number of dead would rise to more than 300."

Rescue workers were digging for bodies under the threat of more slides, beneath shifting masses of rocks and mud. Rodriguez said the avalanche, about 95 miles east of Bogota on the road to Villavieja, buried more than 20 vehicles, including six loaded buses.

Communications with Villavieja, capital of the state of Meta, remained cut off Saturday.

Witnesses said the cascading earth and rocks, which covered more than 800 yards of the twisting highway, pushed around tractors and other heavy equipment like toys. It pitched many into a ravine known as Quebradablanca, or White Gully, and posed a threat of floods by damming a river at the bottom of the ditch.

AFTER RAIL WRECK— Explosions Rattle Area In East Texas

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (AP) — Several cars of a 40-car Southern Pacific freight train derailed just south of this East Texas city Saturday night and at least one car believed loaded with toxic chemicals exploded, sending flames as high as 300 feet.

The explosion occurred shortly after 8 p.m. six miles south of this city. There were no reports of injuries, but the fire department and state police ordered evacuation of residents in the rural area surrounded by tall pines.

A spokesman for Southern Pacific said in Dallas that the cars contained "some kind of chemical." Fire department officials in Nacogdoches described it as toxic. Police closed off Highway 59 two miles from the scene.

The explosion shattered some windows in downtown Nacogdoches, a city of 18,500. A newsmen said he saw two homes two miles from the scene with windows shattered.

The original explosion was followed by at least two lesser blasts. Witnesses said thick black smoke could be seen for miles. Fire officials said all members of the train crew were accounted for.

Democrats Kick Off 21-Hour Telethon To Pay 1968 Debts

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
 AP Political Writer
 The Democrats sought to build a 1974 campaign war chest and pay off more of their lingering 1968 debt in a 21-hour fund-raising telethon starting Saturday night.

The rest will go to the Democratic National Committee, which still owes $2.5 million from the 1968 campaign.

Party officials indicated in advance they did not intend to devote any time to discussion of the House impeachment proceedings against President Nixon.

The program, most of it originating live from Los Angeles, started at 9 p.m. CDT over the CBS television network. It will run until 6 p.m. CDT today.

After paying the $2.5 million cost of the program, party leaders hoped to raise more than $2 million from their third telethon in three years.

Two-thirds of the profits will go to state party organizations for the fall congressional and gubernatorial campaigns.

DALLAS (AP) — Texas was scheduled for nine 10-minute segments Saturday and today in the big, 21-hour Democratic Telethon aimed at raising campaign money and to pay off debts.

The Texas portions originate in the Fairmont Hotel in Dallas. Sixteen state television stations were carrying the program.

Starting at 8 p.m. Saturday, it was to end at 6 p.m. today, Texas time.

About 1,000 volunteers throughout Texas manned about 350 telephones in the selected cities, taking pledges and comments. There was a bank of 100 telephones in Dallas.

Before the telethon began, Texas party officials hoped to raise $110,000 plus $50,000 expenses for the state. Two-thirds of the funds will remain in Texas.

Last year, the Texas Democrats got $300,000 when they were allotted only half the proceeds.

Banned from the program are politicians who have opposition in November. The schedule called for appearances by Sen. Lloyd Benenson, Secretary of State Mark White, state Democratic Chairman Calvin Guest, Houston Mayor Fred Hofheinz, Texas members of the National Democratic Committee, county chairmen, state senators and representatives.

Stations carrying the show include KOSA, Odessa-Midland.

House Judiciary Members Obsessed With Deadline?

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG

WASHINGTON (AP) — At times it seems the House Judiciary Committee is drafting a new calendar rather than deciding whether there are grounds for impeaching President Nixon.

the end of its crucial initial phase — the factual presentations by both the impeachment staff and by President Nixon's defense attorney.

Editorial cartoonists have portrayed the impeachment inquiry as a snail or a sloth, creeping toward a decision, its pace characterized by its three-days-a-week schedule.

Republicans cried foul and claimed they had been done by a partisan power play. But Rodino was only doing what comes naturally in Congress and every member of the committee knew it.

Visual Spectacular Promised

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va. (AP) — After a week of poor weather, the space agency began launching 54 research rockets Saturday, with some of the missiles promising a visual spectacular for the East Coast.

The two Saturday night shots were scheduled for 9:06 and 9:26, and the one this morning was set for 4:35, EDT.

Conditions were not ideal for Saturday's first launchings in the 24-hour series. Clouds still held tightly to the isolated base on the edge of the Atlantic.

Other rocket shots were being monitored by a two-man team of scientists flying above the clouds in a small jet plane jammed with electronic gear.

The two leaders drove here from Simferopol over a broad highway that wound between farmlands and villages at the start, then crossed the Crimean mountains at an ear-popping height and skated down to the sea through vineyards, orchards and a game preserve that once was the private hunting ground of Russian czars.

The President and Mrs. Nixon settled down in an eight-bedroom guesthouse belonging to the Soviet state. It can be reached only by a narrow drive featuring multiple hairpin turns.

Mrs. Bresnizer, who has been illing for some time, did not accompany her husband to Yalta.

Man Discovered Beaten, Incoherent

Robert Rodriguez of 385 W. College St. was found beaten and incoherent in the 500 block of North Terrell Street about 6:40 a.m. Saturday.

Police said he probably had been robbed.

He was listed in satisfactory condition Saturday night in Midland Memorial Hospital, where he was being treated for three broken ribs, multiple bruises and swelling of the head and face.

Police received a call from a man who lived in the area and went to the scene to find Rodriguez sitting on the curb.

Rodriguez could not remember what had happened or how he got there. His pockets were empty and he told officers he had had a wallet containing $50 or $60.

Winters School Chief, Daughter, Wife Die In Crash

ABILENE — The school superintendent at Winters, his wife and daughter were killed in a three-vehicle collision at U.S. 277 and Farm Road 89 in Taylor County shortly before 2 p.m. Saturday.

Gerald Walton Shelley, 51, of Winters was driving the family car. He and his daughter, Sherri Ann Shelley, 16, were dead at the scene and his wife, Barbara Shelley, 45, was dead on arrival at Hendrick Memorial Hospital here.

The two men in a tractor-trailer rig were treated and released from Hendrick Memorial. The other vehicle was parked.

Weicker: Nixon, Aides Violated Constitution Over 170 Times

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and his chief aides violated the Constitution at least 170 times, abusing every one of its principal provisions, Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., contended Saturday in a final summation of Watergate evidence.

"Evidence presented to this committee can and will demonstrate every major substantive part of the Constitution was violated, abused and undermined during the Watergate period," Weicker said in presenting his own 145-page report on the findings of the Senate Watergate committee.

Weicker submitted 17 recommendations to end political abuses. Many of them are more restrictive or far-reaching than those to be proposed by the full committee whose own report will be issued July 8.

Firings Wave Hits Council of Churches

NEW YORK (AP) — A wave of top-echelon firings at the National Council of Churches has sent reverberations through member denominations and left the ousted executives stunned and puzzled.

Most of the dismissals, involving five of the Council's long-time top executives, were ordered by Dr. Claire Randall, the Council's new general secretary and the first woman to become its chief administrator. The indicated objective was to centralize direction in her office.

Midland Man Hurt In Cycle Accident

John E. Smith, 41, of 3339 W. Shannon St. was listed in guarded condition late Saturday following a motorcycle accident on the parking lot of 619 W. Wall St.

The accident occurred shortly after 5 p.m.

Smith was taken to Midland Memorial Hospital for emergency treatment and then transferred to Odessa's Medical Center Hospital for treatment of a head injury.

He was admitted there and put under the care of a neurosurgeon.

Smith's son had just bought the trail bike and Smith was trying it out, Patrolman Bill Morgan said. It went out of control and skidded 15 feet on its side with Smith still on it.

Oil Firms' Actions Irk FEA

CAREFREE, Ariz. (AP) — The reported pushing by oil companies to have their dealers sell more gasoline displeases the federal government but there is little that can be done to stop it, an administration energy official says.

Roger Sant, assistant administrator-designate of the Federal Energy Administration, said Friday: "We're not happy about it and have let them (the oil companies) know it." The oil companies' campaign conflicts with the administration's conservation program, he added.

Most In West

Sant made the comments at a joint news conference with Secretary of Commerce Frederick Dent at the Arizona Symposium on Energy, Environment and Growth.

On Thursday, an Associated Press spot check showed that most of the pressure for increased gasoline sales was coming in the West, with some in the Midwest and South.

East Coast stations said they get all the gasoline they can sell and were under no pressure to increase sales.

They gave investigators the license number and a description of the vehicle. Officers checked the registration of the car and discovered it belonged to a black man.

They were looking for two white men, so they put the information aside to be investigated later, thinking that the license number they had been given was wrong.

When all other leads had been followed, Det. Sgt. Jim McFadden checked with the owner of the car.

The owner said he had loaned Smith the car to go to the bank on the day of the robbery.

Det. Sgt. Gib Roch said that Smith is believed to be the man who entered the store first—stocking over his head and a gun in his hand—and ordered Mrs. Hines into the restroom.

The June 16 robbery was the second within a week at the 7-Eleven.

The preceding weekend a lone gunman with a stocking over his head forced another clerk to re-open the store as she was closing up and took about $100 from the safe.

That case remains under investigation.

Three-year-old Malcolm Douglas Gatewood of 202 N. Adams St. was treated at Midland Memorial Hospital Saturday and released after being struck by a vehicle on Florida Street near its intersection with Weatherford Street.

Bobby Fischer Resigns World Chess Championship In Anger

NICE, France (AP) — The International Chess Federation refused Saturday to change its world title rules to suit Bobby Fischer, but sent him a cable suggesting that he reconsider his resignation and defend his crown.

The federation's general assembly brushed aside pleas from American chess officials and voted to confirm its rules for the 1975 world championship tournament. Fischer's objections to the rules led him to resign the title on Friday.

The assembly voted 35-17 not to reopen discussion on the rules for Fischer's title defense.

The Soviet bloc and most of Western Europe were in the majority against such countries as the United States, Canada, Spain, Chile, and Israel.

In the cable to Fischer, who is reportedly in the Los Angeles area, the federation said: "Your professionalism, competitive spirit and outstanding skill have thrilled all in the years you fought to obtain the world championship. The International Chess Federation's general assembly asks that you reconsider the possibility of defending your title under the conditions agreed here. Only by such a defense can you demonstrate to the world your true qualities."

Officials said the assembly approved an earlier version of the cable that included a clause giving Fischer 90 days to make up his mind. But at the end of the session, some delegates had second thoughts and it was decided to delete the deadline.

Smuggling Case Halted As Mistrial

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Absence of two witnesses resulted in a mistrial of a gigantic weapons smuggling case this weekend, and prosecutors were pondering Saturday whether they can get a new trial.

On trial were Richmond C. Harper, millionaire Eagle Pass, Tex., rancher and banker, and several others.

The government at first said only the weapons were to be smuggled to a Latin American country, then seemingly reluctantly admitted they believed the munitions were headed for Cuba.

Seizure At Shreveport
The case began with the confiscation of a large amount of explosives and detonators at the Shreveport, La., airport.

A second Texan was charged but will be tried separately because of illness. He is Marion Hagler, also of Eagle Pass.

U.S. District Court Judge Herbert Christenberry said the absence of two principals prevented the defendants from receiving a fair trial.

The missing are Mexicans Jaime Fernandez, named a co-conspirator but not indicted, and Francisco "Paco" Flores, who was indicted.

On Defense Motion
Fernandez refused to come to the United States to testify and Flores could not be found.

The mistrial ruling came on a motion by Ralph Brewer, a lawyer representing airline pilot Adler B. Seal, one of three Baton Rouge men charged.

The other defendants are Murray Morris Kessler of Brooklyn, N.Y., described as having links with an organized crime; James M. Miller Jr., a Baton Rouge pilot, and Joseph Mazzuca, a Baton Rouge salesman.

Earlier testimony indicated Fernandez was involved in the smuggling scheme when it came under investigation and became an informer in return for freeing a friend from prison.

24-HOUR FLAG FOR LEGION — The Auxiliary of the Woods W. Historians Recall Another Yalta Almost 30 Years Ago

By STEPHENS BROENING
YALTA, U.S.S.R. (AP) — President Nixon is in Yalta almost three decades after he started building a political career on the ruins of agreements President Franklin D. Roosevelt made here.

Roosevelt had planned for the Big Three meeting at Yalta, held as World War II waned, to assure a stable postwar world and favor the growth of democracy in countries freed from Nazi occupation. He failed.

Later Called 'Sellout'
The wartime summit of Roosevelt, Britain's Winston Churchill and Soviet dictator Joseph Stalin gained infamy in postwar America as a symbol of what young Republicans like Richard Nixon, then a congressman from California, and Sen. Joseph McCarthy called a sellout and proof that Communists do not keep their promises.

Western historians are divided, but they generally agree that this analysis was at least partly correct.

The "sellout" charge derived from secret agreements Roosevelt made with Stalin to bring the Soviet Union into the war against Japan. Some argue the concessions were necessary.

The accusations of Russian duplicity stemmed from Stalin's almost immediate violation of the Big Three declaration on a liberated Europe which "guaranteed" democratic governments on the continent.

Roosevelt's long-time adviser Adolph Berle met the President on his return from Yalta and said he was disturbed by terms of the Crimean summit.

"I didn't say it was good, Adolph," Roosevelt told Berle. "I said it was the best I could do."

When Roosevelt arrived in the Crimea Feb. 3, 1945, there were three main problems on his mind: Final agreement on organizing the United Nations, Russian entry into the Asian war and a formula for assuring non-Communist participation in a government of Poland, which already had been overrun by the Red Army. Stalin offered "concessions" on the United Nations: he would not insist on a veto for procedural questions in the Security Council and he reduced his demands on the number of seats the Soviet Union would require in the General Assembly from 16 to 3. The Big Three agreed.

Before First A-Bomb
On the war in Asia, Roosevelt's Yalta adviser and Russian language interpreter Charles Bohlen wrote in his memoirs that the American President wanted to hold Stalin to his promise that Russia would attack Japan "once Germany was finally defeated."

This was before the United States had tested its first atomic bomb, and Roosevelt's military advisers feared another 18 months of war with Japan.

With Soviet entry, Bohlen wrote, F.D.R.'s chiefs of staff believed that 200,000 American casualties could be avoided.

Stalin knew his price. He said he must have the southern part of Sakhalin Island, seized by Japan in 1904; the Kurile Islands that Japan obtained by treaty in 1875; a warm-water port in the Far East, and joint control with China of the Chinese-owned Manchurian Railroad.

Conditions Accepted

Houstonians Line Up For Cheap Gas

HOUSTON (AP) — Long lines of motorists seeking gasoline have just about disappeared from service stations here except at one independent station.

Motorists line up for a block during the 25 to 30 hours a week the Texgas service station is open, seeking to buy regular at 37.5 cents a gallon and premium at 39.5.

It's a company-owned station. The 24 other Texgas stations here are operated by dealers and prices are higher—39.5 for regular and 41.5 for premium.

The American Automobile Association reported Friday that the average regular price in Houston was 50.7 cents and premium was 54.5 cents per gallon.

Publicity Brings Headaches
"We really don't want any publicity on this, really. It just gives us headaches," said James Stout, who heads sales for the stations.

How does Texgas do it?
"We have a unique problem," Stout says.

Texgas is owned by a firm that drills its own wells in Southwest Louisiana, "the cheapest crude in the United States," Stout said.

The crude is refined at the company's own small refinery at Winnie, between Houston and the Louisiana border.

"Our prices were low when this so-called crisis came on, so because of the regulations they have stayed low," Stout said. "Lines are a block and longer now and we are only open 25 to 30 hours a week, so we don't care for any more people knowing about us."

Ex-Dallas Police Officer Charged In Extortion Try

FORT WORTH (AP) — Raymond Edwin Kossa, former Dallas policeman, has been charged with attempting to extort $350,000 from Six Flags over Texas, the state's No. 1 tourist attraction in number of visitors.

Kossa was picked up Friday as he sought to obtain the money, FBI agents testified.

Kossa was taken before U.S. Magistrate Patrick Mulloy who set bond at $100,000.

Joe Myers, FBI agent in charge in Fort Worth, said at the arraignment that Kossa's fingerprints were on poorly made explosive devices found in the park June 7 when a similar extortion attempt was made.

The park was cleared that day but not Thursday when the latest extortion attempt was made.

School's Migrant Child Program Called Success In City

By BRUCE CAMPBELL
 "A migratory child is a child who has moved with his family from one school district to another during the last year in order that a parent or other member of his immediate family might secure employment in agriculture or in related food processing activities."

This is the United States Office of Education's definition of a migrant child.
 But there's more to the problems of educating a migrant child than the definition would indicate. The wording fails to include that only 10 per cent of migrant children graduate from high school because education in migrant homes is often a financial sacrifice.

It also fails to note many migrant children have to start school late because of the planting season and leave early. Some can attend a particular school only for a few days because of the constant moving process.

The Midland Independent School District began the migrant child project two years before it was initiated by the regional educational center. The program has met some handicaps since its conception in 1964 but Peyton Cook, director of Community and People Services for the school district, feels the program has been a success in the Tall City.

"We have made tremendous progress," Cook said. "There's no question that these youngsters are farther ahead than their counterparts were 10 years ago. There are more kids in school and parental involvement has increased."

The program is divided into two classes, 4-year-old age group program for migrant children and a kindergarten to the eighth grade project.

Cook estimates the school system had 615 students in the kindergarten to eighth grade program, while 82 participated in the 4-year-old project which is similar to Project Head Start. The system is expected to receive $250 per child next fall because of the number of children enrolled in May. Cook said this was the maximum amount a district could receive and added the system "might get a whole lot less."

He said the number of students participating in the program varies because of the moving process. "Some pupils go almost the whole year while others just two days," Cook said.

Federal monies fund the program through the states. Most of the smaller schools receive their funds through the regional educational centers but Midland receives its monies directly from Austin. Parental permission is required for a student to participate in the program. Cook said this can be a problem at times because "there's a lot of confusion between migrant and immigrant."

"Instead of selling words, we try to sell them on the services they wouldn't have otherwise," Cook said. "It's an enrichment program and not a supplementary program."

He added "one of the big advantages here" is having a bilingual aide program.

"There's somebody in class to explain problems to the child," said Cook. "This gives teachers additional time to put in reading, language developments and language arts."

Eighteen teacher aides participated last school term. Another advantage, he added, is that the system has additional instructors as resource teachers.

"This is a big plus in oral language development," Cook said. "I'm convinced oral language development must come before reading. You have to learn the language before you can read it."

Cook noted that language development "means as much in the eighth grade as it does in the first."

He said the 4-year-old student here is "higher" than the national average but Cook has higher goals in mind.
 "We hope (along with other programs) we can produce the number of graduates roughly equal to any segment of the national population," he said.

WHAT ABOUT LAST SUMMER? 'Poor Cleo' Happy Now

VICTORIA, Tex. (AP) — Poor, beat-up Cleo has a happy home today with regular meals each two months, warmth and possibly some love from her own kind.

But did she leave behind her a lot of babies in the attic of the Milton Ray Waitshies home? Is she pining for them? Those questions are as far from answered as the one about where Cleo spent the past year.

Boa Constrictor
 Milton Ray Waitshies and his father, Henry, know absolutely where she was three weeks ago. Mrs. Henry Waitshies related this week.

Milton, 51, began renovating his home across the alley from his parents' and went to the attic to clean up after electricians and plumbers finished.

He began shouting for Henry. Henry saw what Milton saw: A boa constrictor which turned out to be nine feet long wrapped tightly around a rat.

Henry, who is 73 and apparently doesn't mind living dangerously at that age, tried to pull Cleo loose. Cleo decided not to go.

Taken To Zoo
 He and Milton unwound her, put her in a sack and took her to the city dump, believing they had sent one snake to wherever snakes go in the afterlife.

"Man, that was a sack full," said Henry. "And he (the father) didn't know it was a she at that time) was still wiggling when we got there. That fellow at the dump was scared to death of it."

With good reason. A little later, Cleo poked her head out of the sack in a dazed way as if she'd like to inquire, "What hit me?"

rector, took over and now reports the boa constrictor is recovering well and soon will join the other boas on display.

Cook didn't know it was Cleo. People around the zoo could only identify her as "that snake with a bump on the head from the dump."

Then the Waitshies told their story during the weekend and the pieces fell into place.

Seems the Milton Ray Waitshies' daughter, Devona Usey, and her husband, Charles, deposited Cleo and her cage on the Milton Waitshies' lawn a year ago. The boa escaped.

In Family Way?
 Mrs. Henry Waitshies says she doesn't think the reptile spent the winter in the attic, only going there when renovations began. But she isn't sure.

Are there any babies? Mrs. Henry Waitshies says she is of the opinion that there are not. However, she says Charles bought the creature in South Texas at a snake farm where the owner swore Cleo was a female and probably in a family way.

Charles was far away from the discovery scene. He bought the snake for use in an act in a musical band. He now is a policeman in Ballinger, Tex.

Gas Stations Due To Be Open On Fourth Of July

HOUSTON (AP) — The Texas office of the American Automobile Association says only 1.5 per cent of Texas service stations surveyed are out of gasoline and most of them will be open over the Fourth of July holiday.

The latest AAA statewide survey showed that 85 per cent of the stations would be open on the Fourth and only one per cent would close for the four-day holiday period.

Seven per cent of the stations still are rationing gasoline to motorists. Fort Worth, with five per cent of the stations out of fuel, was rated the hardest place to buy gasoline, the survey said.

The average statewide price, the survey showed, was 51.2 cents for regular, 53.6 cents for unleaded and 54.9 cents for premium.

Judge Refuses To Let Novotny Change Plea

DALLAS (AP) — A federal judge fined Joe Novotny, former president of Sharpstown State Bank, $1,000 after refusing to allow him to withdraw his guilty plea.

Novotny had pleaded guilty to a mail fraud charge in an alleged scheme to defraud National Bankers Life Insurance Co.

U.S. District Court Judge William Taylor Jr., in denying Novotny's attempt to plead innocent, said "I heard the evidence and I think it amply supports the guilty plea."

Novotny sought to change his plea after two co-defendants, former Insurance Commissioner John Osorio and former Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, were found innocent in jury trials.

Novotny claimed he was innocent since they were innocent.

Taylor said he had never allowed a defendant to withdraw a guilty plea after the trial of a co-defendant.

He said, "I don't think the administration of justice can permit this type of gambling."

Sharp received a probated sentence in return for cooperating with prosecutors.

The Securities and Exchange Commission cleared Carr of all charges in connection with the Sharpstown investigations.

Osorio is now in a federal prison in Arizona after conviction on an embezzlement charge. He was acquitted in four separate charges.

Novotny said after Friday's court action he made "no monetary gain" in the Sharpstown transactions.

"I may have broken the law," he said. "But all I can say is, 'excuse me'. I was trying to save an insurance company."

"I think I behaved properly," he told Taylor. "I am not ashamed of it."

Tenneco Chairman Says Negotiations To Be Reopened For Hostages' Release

HOUSTON (AP) — Tenneco Inc. Board Chairman N.W. Freeman says negotiations will be reopened for the release of four remaining hostages being held by an Ethiopian liberation group.

Negotiations ended June 9 when Freeman said talks would not be resumed until the Eritrean Liberation Front released two of the six hostages as a show of good faith.

Don Wederford, a helicopter pilot, and Mrs. Deborah Dortz, a nurse, were released separately.

"With the release of the two, it would now appear we are negotiating with the proper source and anticipate that negotiations can be carried forward expeditiously," Freeman said Friday.

Freeman said Tenneco would resume the talks with an open mind but would not include ransom in any concessions.

A 12-count indictment charged Novotny, Carr and Osorio with defrauding NBL of $582,000.

Novotny had pleaded guilty to one count.

He had been an aide to Frank Sharp, who was the cause of a big 1971 political scandal because of his efforts to influence Texas banking legislation.

LEGISLATION URGED — HEW Secretary Seeking Authority To Regulate Safety Of Cigarettes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten years after the surgeon general's famous report on smoking, the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare has for the first time requested authority to regulate the safety of cigarettes.

Casper W. Weinberger asked Congress on Friday to "consider legislation providing this department or some other appropriate agency with the authority to set maximum permissible levels of hazardous ingredients in cigarettes."

Weinberger became the first HEW secretary to seek such authority, although lower HEW officials have testified in favor of legislation banning cigarettes high in tar, nicotine and carbon monoxide.

Weinberger said the 1974 report to Congress, "The Health Consequences of Smoking," confirms findings of the surgeon general's report 10 years ago that "cigarette smoking is a serious health hazard."

The latest report, the eighth such report by the government, estimated that lung cancer killed 72,000 Americans last year, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease 25,000 and coronary heart disease 600,000.

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission reluctantly voted 3-2 last month to turn down a petition requesting a ban on 27 brands of high-tar cigarettes.

The commission said it lacked legal authority and jurisdiction over cigarettes, a fact noted earlier by the General Accounting Office, an arm of Congress.

The Tobacco Institute Inc., a trade organization representing cigarette manufacturers, gave guarded praise for the inclusion of studies seeming to refute the report's conclusions but criticized the U.S. Clearinghouse for Smoking and Health, the HEW agency which drafted it.

Horace R. Kornegay, the institute's president, said the clearinghouse's mission "is to propagandize against tobacco."

Odessa Grand Jury Indicts Midlander

ODESSA — Rebecca Ann Mauldin, 25, of Midland was indicted Friday by the Ector County Grand Jury.

The Mauldin woman and James Hall Palmer, 47, of Odessa were indicted for aggravated assault on a police officer.

The couple is charged with the May 17 attack on Odessa Patrolman Dennis Ray Bright, when he answered a disturbance call at an Odessa residence.

Profits support the American Habit

Americans are creatures of habits. Ours go back over two hundred years. We've become addicted to trying to do something better, faster, easier and less expensively than anyone else. And, expecting to be rewarded for doing it.

The free enterprise system provides the reward. No other does it so well.

In business, this reward is called "profits." And, it comes in the form of money. And satisfaction. And pride. Take away profits and you take away incentive, ambition and vitality. Take away profits and you take a lot of independence out of America.

Some of our best friends are businessmen.

OF CONSTITUTION DELEGATES Convention Transcripts Won't Show Blunders, Use Of Bad Grammar

By LEE JONES
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Er, uh, let's face it. Constitutional Convention delegates sometimes use bad grammar. They occasionally stammer. They say, "Er," and "Uh."
But convention transcripts won't show those meanderings and grammatical blunders. The convention's administration committee, with two dissents, voted approval Thursday of guidelines for editing the transcripts.

While "ers" and "uhs" and repetitious words will be lined out, every one of Convention President Price Daniel Jr.'s admonitions to "break up the huddles"—and he must say it a dozen times a day—will be there for posterity.
It wasn't clear what the committee wanted done with such malapropisms as "muddle the waters" or with the occasional specks of profanity or obscenity.

"What about the four-letter words?" asked Rep. Joe Allen, D-Baytown.
"I don't believe there are many of them," convention secretary Charles Schnabel said.
"What about 'Break up the huddles'?" said Sen. Jack Hightower, D-Vernon, the committee chairman.

"All of the 'Break up the huddles' are in there," Schnabel replied.
He said his editing staff was being "very careful not to edit the thought" but was also trying to eliminate repetitious and superfluous words.
Hightower, for instance, "has a proclivity to insert the word 'now' . . . When you read it, it starts standing out," Schnabel said.

"Gosh, I think we ought to be careful in making changes. When the courts go back to look at . . ." Rep. Kay Bailey, R-Houston said. She later voted against the guidelines.
Rep. Buddy Temple, D-Di-boll, also voted "no" and said a verbatim transcript would be the most valuable to those who would have the greatest interest in it—historians and courts who are asked to interpret the new constitution.

Legal Aid Program Helps Midland Indigent, Texas Tech Law Students

By BO BASKIN

Every Wednesday, in a small cubicle in the Courthouse Annex, one attorney and four law school students attempt to solve the legal problems of the low income citizens of Midland.

They are participants in the Midland County-Texas Tech Legal Aid Program. The program, now a year old, is sponsored by the Midland County Bar Association and is designed to provide legal services in civil matters for the Midland's impoverished.

Attorney Gordon Marcum heads the program as executive director. Four Texas Tech University Law School students receive one credit hour and traveling expenses to make the trip to Midland each Wednesday. The program actually serves a two-fold function. It not only attempts to help Midland's indigent, but it also gives the law students a glimpse of what the legal profession is all about.

Troy Welch, a Midlander and one of the participating law students, said, "The program gives us the opportunity to obtain a little practical experience. It's hard to learn material when you're in the classroom or the library, because you never really know how it is supposed to apply to real life situations. This program exposes us to those situations."

Jim Mardis, another student, explained that the Midland legal aid program is very popular among the law students at Tech. "More people want to participate in Midland's program than actually can," he said. "A similar program is set up in Lubbock, but the students who work in it are relegated to rather trivial duties. Here in Midland you handle everything which will confront you in a regular law practice."

The primary purpose of the program, however, is to lend legal aid to Midland's impoverished wherever there is the need.

"People encounter the same legal problems whether they are rich, poor or middle class," said Mardis. "However, poor people many times just do not know their legal rights. When they do know them, they are often more reluctant to assert themselves and take action to solve their problem than is the man with more money."

"That is where we come in. We can call a local retailer concerning a consumer problem and get the thing settled whereas the poor man, because of his insufficient legal knowledge or his reluctance to confront the retailer, might not be able to get the same results."

Mickey Blanks, one of the Tech students, spoke of the personal rewards gained from helping the poor in the legal process. "The majority of those who seek legal aid need some help pretty desperately, but they are scared of the law and of lawyers. It is very satisfying to help these people."

Most legal aid cases deal with problems such as credit disputes, landlord-tenant disputes and domestic disputes. Less than one-third of these cases ever involve any litigation. Though every person who seeks assistance in the tiny legal aid office is given an interview, not all necessarily receive legal services. The person must fall below a set income level, and it must be clear that the person has no legitimate chance of paying a legal fee to an attorney.

For example, legal aid does not provide its services in personal injury cases where a reasonable attorney's fee can be paid from the damages recovered in the lawsuit. It must also be clear that the person has a real legal problem. "Lots of people come to us for just plain advice," Marcum said. "If their problem is not of a legal nature, we send them to an agency which deals more closely with their particular problem such as Family Counseling or Mental Health and Mental Retardation."

The Midland County Bar Association is funding the program with money raised from a special assessment of the members of the bar and from substantial assistance from the W. F. Scarborough Educational Trust.

Warren Barton, co-chairman of the Midland Legal Aid Committee of the bar, says that years ago most lawyers provided services free for most of the poor people who needed them and sought them. "Lawyers used to be more pastoral in their practices," he said. "But with the increasing amount of specialization, that type of legal aid became more and more difficult. Therefore, in 1967, we went to a rotating system in which a different lawyer served as legal aid attorney for one day of each week."

"We limped along with that system for several years, but as society became more complex, the instances in which legal aid was called for greatly increased. That is why we went to this new system."

"We eventually hope to incorporate the legal aid program in order to make it eligible for United Way assistance. With such assistance we won't have to scramble for funds any more."

The fate of the Midland County-Texas Tech Legal Aid Program will be determined within the next month when the bar decides whether or not to continue funding the program. Unless the funds are cut off—which seems doubtful—one will be able to find one attorney and four law students attempting to answer the needs of the poor people in Midland who, though often ignorant of their rights and reluctant to assert them, desperately need some help.

Troops Tighten Grip On Ethiopian City

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Troops tightened their grip on key installations in Addis Ababa Saturday. There were reports that the defense minister and other members of the civilian cabinet had been arrested but they were officially denied.

"There is a distinct feeling that a military coup is taking place but this is very speculative," an experienced Western diplomat said. "On the surface, everything is peaceful."

Prime Minister Endalkachew Makonnen, an aristocrat who has failed to satisfy military pressures for political and social reforms of Ethiopia's feudal system, called his cabinet ministers into emergency sessions.

A government spokesman denied that any of the ministers had been arrested. Helmeted troops with rifles guarded Bole Airport outside Addis Ababa and prevented all Ethiopians from flying out of the country. But foreigners' movements were not restricted.

Soldiers with walkie-talkies also patrolled the city in jeeps and appeared at the telecommunications headquarters on Churchill Road, the capital's main street, at the government radio and radio Voice of the Gospel, a Lutheran-sponsored missionary station.

The troops' broadcast ordered the populace to keep calm, and Addis Ababa residents did just that. No disturbances were reported in the provinces.

Ethiopians appeared resigned to another round of the military mutinies, labor strikes and violent demonstrations that have rocked this ancient Christian empire since February. Reformers, assailing the longstanding aristocracy as corrupt and incompetent, have demanded pay raises, anti-inflation measures, union rights, land distribution to millions of peasant sharecroppers, free speech and a representative government to replace the present nearly powerless parliament.

There was no public comment from Emperor Haile Selassie, 81, who after a half-century of rule would be reduced by proposed constitutional reforms to a figurehead.

Eyewitnesses said troops took former Foreign Minister Meenasse Haile into custody at the airport.

Soldiers with fixed bayonets moved from their division headquarters and into Addis Ababa radio stations Friday evening.

They said they wanted to make sure that the government did not release about 25 army officers, bureaucrats and ministers in the government of former Prime Minister Akilu Haptewold, who was forced to resign in February.

Akilla and the others have remained in a military barracks where they have visits from relatives, do calisthenics and follow events by radio and newspapers.

Bentsen Charges Postal Service All 'Fouled Up'

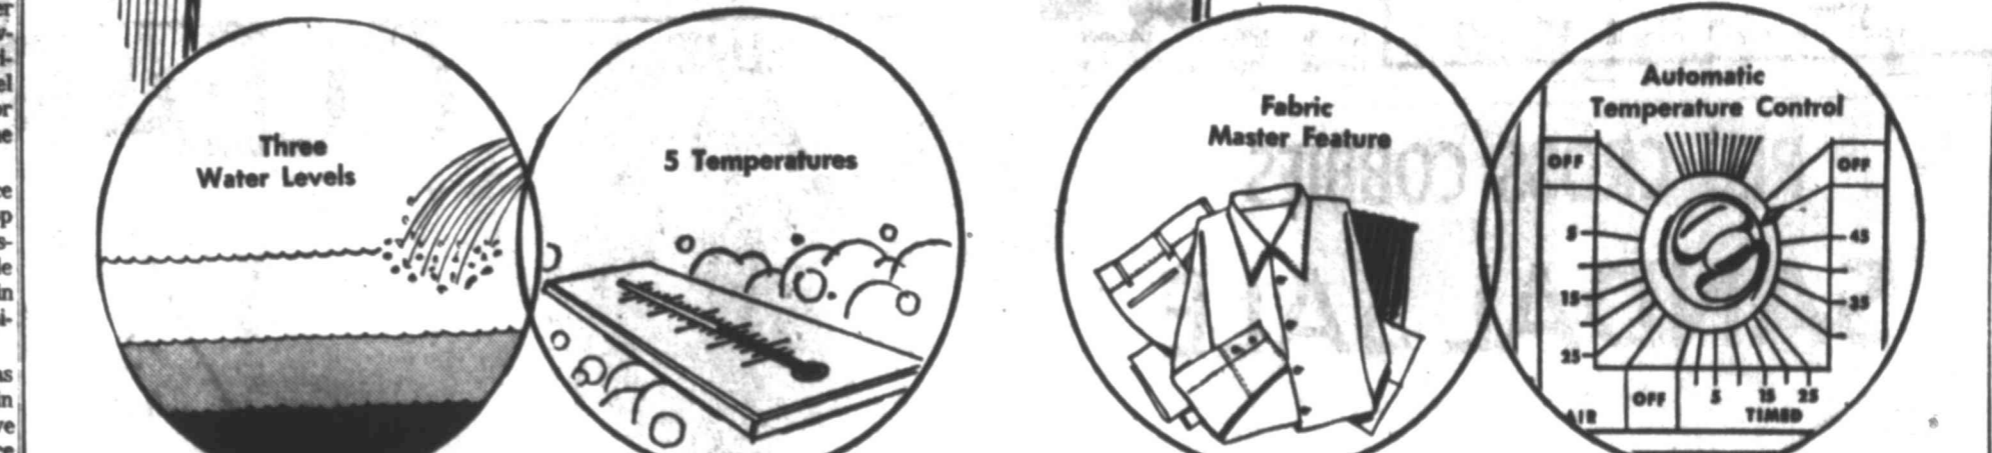

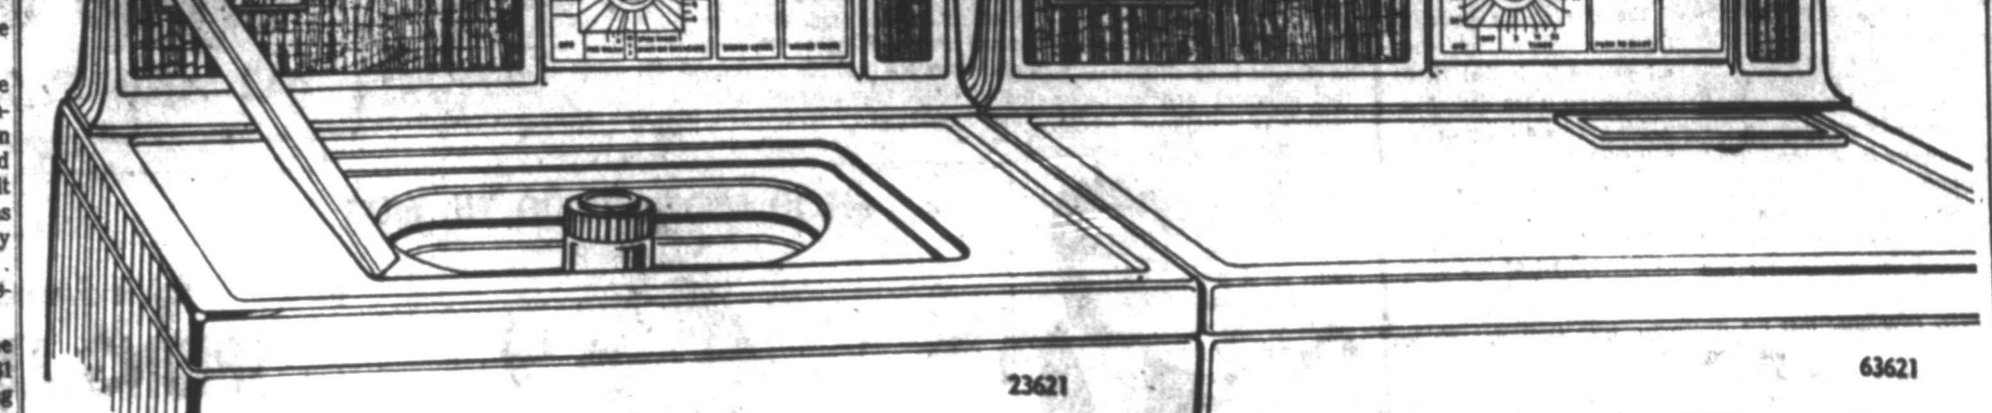

AUSTIN (AP) — The U.S. Postal Service is "fouled up" and guilty of false economy, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., said Saturday.

Bentsen told a convention of the Texas Postal Workers Union that Congress might have to make some changes in the service.

Postal workers are doing a good job, he said, "but years of carefully cultivated good will are seriously damaged when a sorting machine chews up a pension check, or sends a contract to the wrong city or a dinner invitation to the wrong address."

"The dedication and efficiency and concern of individual workers count for little when

DPS' Speir Says 42 May Die Over July 4 Holiday

AUSTIN — Col. Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, estimated that traffic accidents during the 102-hour July 4 holiday weekend would claim 42 lives in Texas.

Speir, who did not make an estimate for the Christmas-New Year period because of rapidly changing conditions brought on by the energy crisis, said the traffic situation has become more stable in recent months. He noted that gasoline is readily available in most sections of the state, and pointed out that this would probably bring additional traffic to the highways during the approaching holiday.

The July 4 holiday last year, which was only 30 hours in length, resulted in 13 traffic deaths in Texas. The 1972 holiday, which was 102 hours long — the same as the upcoming period — was marred by 80 deaths.

The DPS director pointed out that excessive speed and drinking drivers would make the largest contribution to the fatal accident toll, and he warned that all available DPS troopers and department facilities will be utilized to watch for unsafe and reckless motorists.

"We urge every Texas driver to join with us in this all-out effort to make the July 4 holiday period as safe as possible," he added.

Solons' Slowness To Delay Tuition Checks To Veterans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tuition aid checks for thousands of veterans attending summer school under the GI bill will be late this month because of congressional slowness in extending their benefits.

Legislation extending for two years the deadline for veterans to use their education benefits completed congressional action in the House Thursday night.

The measure was sent to the White House Friday so that it might be flown to Moscow along with other important legislation for President Nixon to sign between summit talks with Soviet leaders.

Without Nixon's signature on the bill, the education benefits will expire at midnight today.

Regardless of how fast Nixon signs the bill, however, it will take two to three weeks to process the checks, said Bob Nooner, chief of Veterans Administration education benefits.

Nooner said he did not know exactly how many veterans would be affected by the late-check problem, "but 80,000 is a good ballpark figure."

Midland College Gets Library Grant

Midland College has received a $4,235 grant from the U.S. Office of Education for the school's library, Congressman George Mahon's office announced Friday.

Academic Dean Don Hunt said the funds are part of an annual grant.

He added the additional monies were going to be used for new library books in new curriculum areas such as science, radio-TV, speech and drama.

Labor Needs Survey Is Continuing

A survey of labor needs is drawing good response, according to the Midland Chamber of Commerce.

The questionnaire was sent out a week ago by the Midland Area Sales Team to more than 1,200 Midland employers. It asked them to indicate their labor needs in ten areas for the present, six months from now, and a year from now.

"There's no doubt that some Midland employers are seeking workers," noted MAST chairman Ren Schwisow. "The survey will be used to determine which types of workers are in shortest supply. Then we will do what we can to help recruit this labor supply for the Midland area."

Deadline for returning the questionnaire is Monday, July 8, but earlier returns will be helpful, since the Chamber will begin tabulating the results this week.

As workers are located, they will be referred directly to those firms which indicated in the questionnaire they needed these types of employees.

"We really appreciate these firms which have taken the time to fill out the questionnaire," Schwisow said. "When we get the responses, we will do what we can to help them fill their labor needs, both now and in the future."

$584,120 LAST WEEK— Eight New Residences Push Permit Total Up

Eight new residences helped push the value of building permits issued here last week past the half-million-dollar mark.

Permits issued by the City Inspection Department totaled $584,120 last week, bringing the yearly permit value to $23,569,342.

The eight new homes carry a total value of $346,500, making the new home construction total for the year in Midland $3,148,790.

Individual permits for the houses went to Charles Wallace at a listed building price of $40,000. The home will go up at 1003 W. Pine St. Harvey Langston was issued a permit for the construction of a $43,000 home at 3110 Auburn Drive. Wallace was again listed for purchase of a permit to build a new home costing $40,000 at 1010 Pine St. Midland North Inc. was issued a permit for new residential construction costing $35,000 at 1702 Ward St. The Exeter Corp. was issued three permits for construction of new homes at 2503 Sinclair, 2505 Sinclair and 2507 Sinclair St., all costing $49,500 each. Carol Grafa purchased a permit for the construction of a new home at 2506 Stutz Place at a building cost of $40,000.

New commercial building construction saw a permit going to the Innon Corp. for a new office complex at 2304 Loma Drive costing some $80,000. The offices will be used by the State Welfare Office.

Another commercial building permit went to T. P. Edwards for a feed store costing $13,000.

Commercial alterations totaled $3,500 for the week as Bill Dawkins purchased a permit to enclose the office at 1161 Midkiff Road and panel the interior at a cost of $2,000. The ETA Oil Co. was issued a permit for a new office sign that will cost $1,500.

Residential alterations hit a high peak for the year as a permit issued to Cyril Wagner for the alteration and remodeling for a residence at No. 5 Hanover Drive amounted to $125,000, upping the year's total of residence repair permits to $552,328.

Watch For Home Repair Gyms

This is the time of year when area residents should be particularly wary of home repair gyms, according to Allen L. Beatty, executive vice president of the Permian Basin Better Business Bureau.

Beatty stated that his office received calls each summer from persons who have been victimized by shoddy workmanship and unethical tactics of a small minority of home repair firms.

One of the most prevalent schemes, he said, is the man who appears at the door and claims that he just happened to be passing by and noticed that the roof needed fixing. He says he can do the job right now at a special price because he just happens to have some material left over from another job. He claims he can save you money, and give you a guaranteed job. However, Beatty warned, these workers frequently leave your roof in worse shape than before they started, and because the company cannot be located later, the fancy guarantee is worthless.

Another racket is one the BBB calls the "model home" scheme. In this instance, the homeowner is told that his home will be used as a model for advertising purposes, and that he is to receive a commission on sales made from the showing of his house, or a special reduced price. Most of the time such special prices are illusions, says the BBB, and a homeowner should be wary of firms or salesmen using that approach.

The BBB has these suggestions for persons considering home improvements. Choose a contractor whose integrity and reliability can be checked out. Obtain more than one estimate on the job. Obtain customer references from the contractor and check them out. Be sure that you have a written contract covering all the work to be done, types of materials to be used, and method of payment.

"Don't sign a completion certificate until the job has been done to your satisfaction. If a guarantee is offered, be certain that you obtain it in writing. But remember, the guarantee is only as good as the company behind it, so the reputation and reliability of the firm are of major importance," Beatty said.

MORTGAGE INTEREST VS. EQUITY

Is it true that owning a home builds a dollar-value equity for you as you pay off the mortgage? How much of your monthly payment goes to paying off the principal and how much goes to pay off the interest is another story. The outcome depends on how long you have been making payments.

Inasmuch as most mortgages are self-liquidating loans, you will pay a level amount each month toward paying off the interest and reduction of principle. However, remember that the interest is first computed on the balance due and therefore the first payment is practically all interest and the last payment is practically all principle. About midway during the term of the mortgage, the interest and principal payments are about equal.

The one saving grace in the early years of high interest payments, is that all of this interest is tax deductible which can be a hefty deduction indeed.

If you have any questions on this subject or any other aspect of real estate, feel free to phone or drop in at DON JOHNSON REALTORS, 2318 W. Ohio St. Phone: 683-5333. We're here to help! (Come in for your free copy of "Homes For Living" magazine).

Lentner Finishes School

William T. Lentner of The First National Bank of Midland has graduated from the National Installment Credit School sponsored by the American Bankers Association and the University of Colorado.

Aim of the two-week school is to educate bank officers on both the technical and managerial aspects of installment lending.

At the end of 1973, commercial banks had nearly $70 billion outstanding in installment loans — 47 percent of the total outstanding for all lenders. Banks have been the nation's installment lending leaders since consumer credit's great expansion began following World War II.

Some 165 bankers attended the school at the university's campus at Boulder, Colo. Classes covered such topics as small business loans, the role of installment credit in the economy, home improvement loans and auto loans.

Singer Schedules Benefit For High Sky Girls' Ranch

Quick Brushing
Keep a good whisk broom, clothes brush and foam rubber sponge within reach of your clothes closet. It then is easy to give clothes a quick brushing as you don them if it is necessary.

STUARTI AND COMPANY — Enzo Stuarti, an international performer who has announced plans to give a benefit in Midland this summer for High Sky Girls' Ranch, visits with several of the girls responsible for his decision. Left to right are Lisa Lewis, Rose Powell, Kelli Forga, Lala Minjarez, Stuarti, Sue Powell, Avis Fisk and Linds Minjarez. The event will be a "complete" benefit, with Stuarti bringing his own sound system and musical director from New York.

By LUANNA CROW
Enzo Stuarti is a man of myriad interests. He is an international performer whose professional credentials range from Broadway shows and command performances for royalty to television appearances and night club shows.

He is a sports car enthusiast with a passion for racing. He owns a Stuarti, an auto custom built in Italy to his own specifications. Mario Andretti assisted in the car's creation. And Enzo Stuarti is also a man with strong feelings about High Sky Girls Ranch. Strong enough to schedule a benefit for the organization Aug. 23 in the Midland Country Club.

Stuarti is no stranger to Midland, visiting the Tall City every four to five weeks for over a year. He has friends in James Armstrong, C. J. Kelly, Joe Travis and Mrs. Thelma Donohoo.

It was Mrs. Donohoo, in fact, who interested him in the High Sky project and suggested that he do the benefit.

"When I get involved, I want to see where, why, the girls," Stuarti said. So he visited High Sky and met the girls. "They were the most beautiful 28 kids I ever saw — and right here in your own backyard of Midland, which I've gotten to love. One of the little girls took hold of my hand and said, 'Why don't you stay here with us?' That's all it took. I'm an Italian crier."

The benefit will be a sit-down affair and Stuarti is bringing his own musical director from New York and his own sound system for the occasion.

Invitations will be in the form of his new phonograph album, "If," which Stuarti estimates will be available in Midland within four or five weeks.

He feels Midlanders "should get behind this, not to appease my ego but to show that they really care about those girls as I do."

"If sky's the limit for Midland, it should be the double limit for High Sky," he asserted.

Stuarti related the story of one of the High Sky residents who told him she liked living at the ranch because she could ride her bicycle without being beaten by her parents.

"It's one of the reasons why I always hold by the bowl, not you want to get involved," he said. "Since I am very happy with my career, I think we should do this every once and a while to count our blessings."

He announced his intention to perform the High Sky benefit June 21 while making his 29th appearance on "The Tonight Show."

The singer is also a strong supporter of Boys Town of Italy and has done additional benefits for "Fight for Sight" for international columnist Earl Wilson.

In Midland last week, he had come from a concert engagement with the New Orleans Symphony Pops Orchestra. By today, he is in Mount Pocono, Pa., where he is acting as grand marshal at the Pocono, International Raceway.

Stuarti describes his singing style as "contemporary pop to opera and Broadway shows." He studied at the Conservatory of Ste. Cecelia in Rome and has performed in 13 Broadway shows, including "South Pacific," under the direction of George Abbott.

His television appearances include 17 Ed Sullivan shows, 145 Mike Douglas shows and guest starring on major network programs such as "Mannix," "Ironside" and "Playhouse 90" with Frank Lovejoy.

He has staged concerts in Europe, Australia and Canada, as well as the United States. Among the major hotels and night clubs he has played are the Sahara in Las Vegas, the Fairmont in Dallas and San Francisco, and the Plaza in New York.

Stuarti is also scheduled for a second command performance for the prince and princess of Monte Carlo at the end of this year and will be doing "Man of La Mancha" starting in London in January of 1975.

ANNIVERSARY — An open house from 3 until 5 p.m. Sunday in Caprock Electric Reddy Room, Stanton, will honor Mr. and Mrs. M. I. Yell on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary.

Atlanta Police Swear In Bride After Ceremony

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Being on a honeymoon didn't prevent Mrs. Arnold Brown from being sworn in as an Atlanta police officer recently.

Assistant Chief J. H. Amos suggested that the former Ann Whiteside forego the rest of her tour of duty that day and spend more honeymoon time with the bridegroom.

"Be sure and report for duty tomorrow," Amos said. "I will," rookie Brown replied with a smile.

Mrs. Brown, whose most recent employment was in an attorney's office as a secretary, said she and Brown were married by a minister the previous day.

"Our wedding date had been put off several times. We decided to go ahead and tie the knot even though we knew I'd have to report for swearing-in ceremonies at the police station the following morning," she explained.

Woman Ends Up In Wrong Line

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Patty Desautels, 46, drove into a line of cars recently, thinking they were waiting to make a right turn. An hour and 42 minutes later, she wound up in front of a gasoline pump.

"I don't think it's funny. It was weird," said Mrs. Desautels, mother of five and a television film production assistant.

"I was just trying to make a right hand turn and I saw this line and I thought it was turning right. I had just dropped my son off at school," she continued.

"I stayed an hour and 42 minutes. Then I found myself in a gas station. I was in my bathrobe and had my dog."

Mrs. Fred Leon Linton

Linton Weds Miss Heck In Wilson's First Baptist

WILSON — An archway of greenery flanked by candelabra and two large urns of gladioli created the bridal setting Saturday afternoon in the First Baptist Church here for the wedding of Lynda Dale Heck and Fred Leon Linton.

The Rev. H. F. Scott of Bacon Heights Baptist Church in Lubbock officiated in the double ring rite. Mrs. G. L. Nelson was organist for the event, with Mrs. Roy L. Kahlisch as soloist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd H. Heck of this community, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Linton of Midland. The couple will reside in Midland, at 4700 W. Illinois St., following a wedding trip to Colorado.

Mrs. John Coble of Tulsa, Okla., cousin of the bridegroom, attended as matron of honor, while her husband was best man. Jimmy Linton and Roger Linton of Midland seated guests for the ceremony.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was formally gowned in white nylon organza featuring a full skirt and square neckline in the Venise lace bodice. She wore a chapel-length mantilla edged in the lace and carried a bouquet of yellow silk roses atop a white Bible.

A reception followed in the garden of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Key.

The bride, a Texas Tech University graduate, was a member of Phi Gamma Nu and Pi Omega Pi honorary sororities and holds membership in Beta Sigma Phi social sorority. She has been employed as a teacher at Denver City High School in Denver City.

The bridegroom is an engineering assistant for Shell Oil Co. in Midland. He has played football for both Oklahoma State University and Sul Ross State University, and holds a degree from SRSU.

Mike and Mark Abernathy of Midland, cousins of the bridegroom, ushered.

Tommy Payne of Midland served his nephew as best man. Sandra Sanders of Abilene was the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Debbie Dunlap of Midland, sister of the bridegroom and Charlotte Jones of Snyder. Rita Evans of Lubbock, was the flower girl.

John McKinney of Midland, brother-in-law of the bridegroom and Joe Raines, brother of the bride, were the groomsmen. Jay Raines of Gatesville, carried the rings.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal length princess styled gown of peau de sole. Lace covered the Empire bodice and fashioned the train which fell from the waistline. Her bouffant veil was fashioned of bridal illusion. The bridal bouquet was an orchid encircled by feathered carnations atop a white Bible.

A reception was held in Fellowship Hall.

The bride, graduate of Howard Payne College with bachelor of science degree in elementary education, has been teaching fourth grade at Guthrie. The bridegroom holds an associate degree in law from the University of Maryland. He is employed by Hobbs Trailers, Midland-Odessa.

Trinity Residents Hear Speaker At Birthday Party

Mrs. Betty Johnson gave a slide presentation and spoke on her experiences while living in Africa when she addressed residents of Trinity Towers Thursday evening at the monthly birthday party.

Mrs. Johnson, a graduate of Sul Ross State University, has taught business courses in high school in the United States, as well as in Africa. She has traveled in 23 countries with extensive trips into the Holy Land, Egypt and England.

For the Thursday presentation, she displayed numerous items crafted by the African natives and told of customs and traditions observed in that country.

Introduced as birthday honorees were Hal Adams, Tollie Wilburn, Bill Forehand, Mrs. Margaret Robinson, Mrs. Harold Holt and James C. Considine. Mrs. Ruth McGinnis was unable to attend.

Punch and cake were served to residents by members of the Trinity Towers Auxiliary. Table arrangements and carnations presented to the birthday honorees were provided by Tejas Garden Club, with the Circle L class of the First Presbyterian Church providing the cake.

Clyde Haden, administrator, announced an "old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration" has been scheduled Thursday at the Tower, complete with special music and typical picnic fare ranging from fried chicken to watermelon.

Guests at Thursday's party were Mrs. Gloria Nell Mitchell and her son, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kirby.

Dear Abby Nephew's Advances Get An 'Aunt-I' Response

—By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a nephew (my sister's son) who is 40, and has been divorced three times. He's always been quite a ladies' man. Very handsome, but something of a fortune-hunter, I've heard. I've seen him perhaps half a dozen times in his adult life. (He lives in New York and I live in Canada.)

I lost my husband last year, and suddenly this nephew started writing me the loveliest letters. I answered each one, thinking how sweet of him to be so attentive to his old aunt.

Then came a letter saying: "May I come and visit you? I have something important to talk to you about." I thought maybe he'd found a lady friend and wanted to bring her out to meet me, so I wrote back: "Don't keep me in suspense, but please give me a hint."

In his next letter came the shock of my life. He wrote, "Now I can finally confess how I feel about you. I've always thought of you as a woman—not an aunt, but I never dared to let you know." He closed with: "I want you. I need you. I love you."

Abby, I am 71 years old, and couldn't possibly think of this nephew as anything but my sister's little boy. How can I put an end to this without insulting him outright?

AUNTIE: I wanted so much to be firm and filled out again that I made an appointment with a plastic surgeon. He explained all about silicone implants, and I can hardly wait to have it done, but something is holding me back.

Would such an operation be considered deceitful, and therefore sinful in the eyes of the Lord?

DEAR ABBY: I as a 32-year-old happily married woman. I used to have a beautiful figure. (In high school I was 35-35-36.) After nursing three babies, I lost my bust. Now I have to wear a padded bra to look presentable. Nobody except my husband and a few very close friends know what I'm really like.

Furs To Prevail In Fall Fashions

NEW YORK (NEA) — From the beginning of time, so they say, cavemen used furs for protection from the elements.

As we moved along in history it was the male that dominated the fur scene. Medieval English noblemen decreed that they alone would wear the expensive pelts. Well we are now in the liberated days and happily anyone can wear a bit of fur.

Nat Hirsch, designer, said, "People buy furs and clothes because it makes them feel good and not necessarily because they need them."

And there's nothing more pleasing than the touch of fur in Hirsch's fall collection. Furs are used with softer plush fabrics. They're all part of the easy, feminine look of clothes today.

His use of furs in his collection is quite extensive. They run the gamut from dyed raccoon, rabbit and American lamb to red foxtail. Many of the furs are dyed to give an antique look. They are found on many of the coats and look especially glamorous in the new longer lengths. The furs give a vampish look when used on shorter wrap jackets or sweaters that are meant to be used as jackets.

Shells Can Add Zip To Ensembles

NEW YORK (NEA) — One of the easiest, most fun and least expensive ways to put some zip into your wardrobe is with a collection of shells. There's a wide range of colors, neckline treatments and styling detail in the new shell lines.

Jewel, turtle, cardigan, V and mock turtle. Newest note is a neckline accentuated with Belgian loop stitching.

As to your selection of colors, psychologists say you project different facets of your personality via color.

Red — dramatic, dynamic and outgoing.
Yellow — Sunny, gay and cheerful.
Green — serene and calm.
Blue — airy, cool in light shades, serious and aloof in navy.

Orange — exciting and vivacious.
Lavender — romantic and sensitive.
Pink — feminine, coquettish.
White — elegant, classic.
Primary color choices, say experts, denote extrovert characteristics, the muted and pastel shades project a more discreet, circumspect personality.

Eye For Future In Fall Wardrobe
NEW YORK (NEA) — The Fall '74 woman scans the market carefully for clothes that are new looking but work with her current wardrobe. She invests with a shrewd eye for future returns.

There are lots of new looks this season. In fact, a whole new fashion proportion. But the fashion investor knows that long-term fashion pays the biggest dividends.

The trend for the past several seasons has been toward feminine clothes. Volume is what's important today — yards of swirling fabric in capes and flyaway backs in coats, soft dresses with longer, fuller skirts. The pants look is updated with a bow-tied blouse or a Moscow tunic. Evenings call for a touch of class — feathers, sequins, lace or beading.

Today's woman thinks rich colors — wine cellar reds, grey, tobacco brown, teal and green — often worn monochrome from head to toe. The look is layers of lightweight unlined fabrics that move. Gathers, tucks pleats, bias cuts keep the big shape for fall under control. Skirts are longer and fuller, anywhere from just below the knee to just above the ankle.

Hunt, Psychiatrist Testify In 'Plumbers' Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ellsberg break-in began as a carefully nurtured operation supported by the CIA and ended as a crude, unsuccessful burglary, according to testimony offered to the jury in the plumbers trial.

Among the witnesses in the first day of testimony Friday were Dr. Lewis Fielding — Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist and the victim of the illegal search — and one of its principal planners, E. Howard Hunt Jr.

In his opening statement, Assistant Special Watergate Prosecutor William H. Merrill said the Sept. 3, 1971, break-in "was the illegally arrogant act of men who took the law into their own hands because they thought they were above the law."

In flat unemotional terms, the prosecutor said the four defendants were guilty of a crime "against one of our most cherished rights," the right to be free from an unlawful search. The four defendants are John D. Ehrlichman, until last spring among the closest of President Nixon's inner circle; and convicted Watergate conspirators G. Gordon Liddy, Bernard L. Barker and Eugenio R. Martinez. They are accused of violating Fielding's rights.

A lawyer for Ehrlichman told the jury his client never approved anything illegal. A lawyer for Liddy said the one-time FBI agent believed he acted with the authority of the President. An attorney for Martinez and Barker said the break-in was nothing more than an extension of more than 10 years clandestine work for the CIA in the minds of his clients.

Raid Events Told
"It began with the hiring of E. Howard Hunt," said Merrill in laying out the events leading to the raid at Fielding's office at Beverly Hills, Calif.

Hunt testified he was hired July 7, 1971, on the recommendation of former White House special counsel Charles W. Colson and the approval of Ehrlichman. Merrill said Ehrlichman was "keenly aware and interested" in Hunt's 21 years as a covert CIA agent.

Within a few weeks, Hunt said, he had joined the White House plumbers, a White House investigative unit set up to close leaks of national security information to the news media. The other plumbers included Liddy.

Hunt said a decision was made to obtain psychological information about Ellsberg, in part because of White House fears that he would become a national martyr.

Fielding said when summoned by police two days later he found his office "a mess." Crowbars had been used to force open his office door, a ceiling-high cabinet and a metal filing cabinet.

Finally on Aug. 31, Ehrlichman was informed the operation was ready to go. "Okay, let me know if you find anything," Merrill quoted Ehrlichman as saying when informed the break-in team had already arrived in California. CIA Equipment Used Hunt said he obtained all the equipment used in the break-in, including cameras, walkie-talkies and a 30-foot escape rope, from the CIA.

Merrill said late in the day on Sept. 3, Martinez and Barker, dressed as delivery men, entered Fielding's office.

As planned, on the way out, they opened the locks on at least two doors to permit easy entry during the long Labor Day weekend about to begin. Instead, said Merrill, cleaning personnel apparently relocked the doors.

Prosecutor, Attorney In Manson Murder Case Indicted For Perjury

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The prosecutor and a defense attorney in the Charles Manson murder trial have been indicted on perjury charges for denying that they leaked information on the case to a newsman.

Vincent Bugliosi, the prosecutor, and defense attorney Daye Shinn were indicted Friday by a county grand jury on three counts of perjury each.

Newsman William Farr, who on Thursday was found in contempt of court for refusing to reveal his sources to the grand jury, has said only that two of the six trial attorneys gave him the information.

All six attorneys testified under oath before the trial judge and a grand jury that they did not give Farr the material for his story.

Farr's story, written in 1970 for the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner, concerned Manson's purported plans to murder Hollywood celebrities Manson and three women followers were subsequently found guilty of the 1969 murders of actress Sharon Tate and six other persons.

ments to the grand jury." Shinn said. "I don't know why they indicted me. I'm going to make a motion to dismiss the charges on the grounds of insufficient evidence."

Bugliosi was not available for comment, but his attorney, Harland Braun, said the former prosecutor was "shocked and outraged" by the indictment and will make a statement when he surrenders.

Superior Court Judge Raymond Choate set arraignment for 9 a.m. next Tuesday — the same time he has ordered Farr to appear for sentencing on the contempt ruling.

Perjury is a felony and the two attorneys could be disbarred and sentenced to prison terms of one to 15 years if convicted.

Farr, now a reporter for the Los Angeles Times, faces a possible 30-day jail term and a $3,000 fine for refusing to answer the grand jury's questions. He has maintained from the outset that he promised his sources he would not reveal their names and that to do so now would violate his personal and professional ethics.

Judge Asked To Close Jail In Collin County

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — A federal judge has been asked to close the century-old Collin County jail at McKinney in a suit by the Texas Civil Liberties Union and two prisoners.

The suit was filed here Friday in federal court under the jurisdiction of U.S. District Court Judge William Wayne Justice of Tyler.

The petition, which described conditions at the jail as "filthy and unsanitary," alleges the institution fails to comply with the state's Safe Jails Act. It also claims a violation of prisoner's rights.

The suit describes the jail as unfit for habitation.

"There is a very strong odor of urine, feces, filth and body odor. Heating and ventilation are virtually nonexistent," the suit says.

"Insects, birds and other creatures are free to enter, and exit through the windows during summer; pollutants, dirt and filth enter the jail through such uncovered windows." The jail, completed in 1874 at a cost of $17,000, was removed once, in 1939.

A bond issue for funds for a new courthouse and jail was defeated by Collin County voters in 1972.

Sheriff George Smith said the jail has been condemned by the state. Smith and other county officials are defendants in the federal suit.

The suit said 32 prisoners are currently held in a tank area in the jail "which has one working shower, two working toilets... wall plumbing is antiquated and the plumbing facilities are filthy."

The law firm of Powell, Richardson and Jarvis of Sherman is counsel for the plaintiffs.

The two prisoners named as plaintiffs are Jimmy Lee Jackson and Arron Clell Taylor, who are awaiting appeals on burglary convictions.

Farm Prices Slide Again

ers are getting lower prices than they did a year ago, while consumers are paying about one-fifth more for food.
The Agriculture Department putting the indicator 4 per cent

It was the fourth month in a costs has risen partly because just about everything is more expensive these days, including labor and transportation.

But many administration officials, including Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, say those markups could be reduced so that consumers can get lower-cost food. Meat prices, in particular, have caused concern.
Reacting to the widening gap between what farmers get for livestock and consumers pay for meat, Butz announced Friday a new task force to examine the markups and come up with recommendations on how they can be trimmed.
"I hope that we can get more efficiency in the whole marketing and distributing and processing chain, and that improved productivity can be mit-

Auto Insurance Rates To Increase

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Automobile insurance rates, headed downward the past four years, will begin to rise soon because of inflation and a new upswing in accident rates, according to industry spokesmen.
"The trend at this point is that rates will go up because of inflation. There is no way to circumvent this," said a spokesman for the Insurance Services Office in New York, which provides 1,300 companies with statistics on rates and claims.

Spokesman for five of the nation's largest insurers said rising medical bills and auto repair costs are forcing companies to pay more for each accident claim. And they said motorists now are having more accidents since the gasoline shortage of last winter eased.

"During the early months of 1974, the frequency of accidents dropped substantially," a spokesman for the Travelers Insurance Cos. said. "But other costs, hospital and repair work were going up. It was a standoff."

"Now the gasoline is more available and the accident frequency is not so low, and the other costs are still rising."
"These facts show that we're virtually going to have to raise rates, but it's too early to tell how much."

None of the companies would estimate the amount of increase.
According to the federal Consumer Price Index (CPI), since 1971 hospital rates have risen
15 per cent, medical costs 10 per cent, doctors' fees 9 per cent and auto repair and maintenance 14 per cent. During the same period, the CPI, recorded a 3.4 per cent drop in auto insurance rates.

Spokesman for the Hartford
Insurance Group and Aetna Life and Casualty said the lower premiums were the result of competition between companies, federal controls, rate cuts ordered by some state insurance commissioners and
"no-fault" laws more than 20 states have enacted to take auto-accident cases out of the courts.

No-fault systems vary among states, but generally enable an accident victim to be compensated by his own insurance company rather than have to prove in court that someone else caused the accident. Many states mandated rate reductions to reflect administrative savings under no-fault.

Panel's Staff Report Says IRS Chief Took Interest In Tax Probe Of Co-Op

By BROOKS JACKSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Internal Revenue Service Director Johnnie Walters took an interest in a tax investigation of the nation's largest dairy farmer cooperative that failed to uncover massive illegal political donations, the Watergate Committee staff says.

In a confidential staff report obtained by The Associated Press, the staff cites evidence that then-Treasury Secretary John B. Connally was contacted about at least one aspect of the case. The report says Connally may have contacted Walters about it. But the report also said it found no evidence that the IRS or the Justice Department behaved improperly. The report blamed bureaucratic bungles for the agencies' failure to follow up on recommendations for an expanded tax audit and possible criminal prosecution.

The report said that a new IRS agent mistakenly concluded that the dairy cooperative, Associated Milk Producers, Inc., had too little income to make an expanded audit pay off in tax dollars. And it said the Justice Department, which had been asked by the IRS to look into possible criminal prosecution of the co-op, misplaced the records of the case until the statute of limitations expired, making any prosecution impossible.

The IRS story — as outlined in the staff report — started when a routine audit of the milk producers found they had spent $90,000 in corporate money to produce a political picture book of former President Lyndon B. Johnson's messages to Congress in 1968. Federal law prohibits corporate donations to political campaigns.

Henley Trial Due To Start Monday In San Antonio

By JIM BARLOW
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — After three pretrial hearings, the trial of Elmer Wayne Henley, 18, charged in six of the 27 deaths of teen-aged boys in Houston, begins Monday.

District Court Judge Preston Dial has ordered 300 persons to report Monday as lawyers try to pick a jury to try Henley, who has been in custody since Aug. 8 when the grim story began to unfold in Houston.

The trial was moved to San Antonio — over the protests of defense lawyers — because of massive publicity in Houston. Defense lawyers Will Gray and Ed Pegelow have tried unsuccessfully to get the trial either delayed or moved out of San Antonio. They claim publicity is just as great here.

The two men have already been turned down by the Texas Supreme Court on their move to force Judge Dial to hold a hearing on their motion for a change of venue.

In an April pretrial hearing here, Judge Dial told the defense lawyers he will first try and select an unbiased jury, then move the trial if he can't.

Gray has said he plans to bring a motion for a delay and light. No trial date has been set change of venue when jury selection starts Monday. Dial four of the deaths.

Refinery Level Tax Seems 'Locked' In Proposed State Constitution

By ROBERT HEARD
AUSTIN (AP) — A parliamentary maneuver in the Constitutional Convention has left oil companies and the highway lobby only one more realistic opportunity to block an oil and gas tax at the refinery level.

By taxing at that level, Texans can raise more money while cutting their own taxes.

The convention voted Friday to adjourn rather than recess until 2 p.m. Monday.

The adjournment means that within minutes of reconvening Monday it will take a two-thirds vote to reconsider any previous vote the convention has taken, including the vote Tuesday to authorize a petroleum manufacturing tax.

After the convention finishes with such things as excused absences, old business and routine motions, it will be back on what is called its calendar. Once back on the calendar, the refinery tax will be locked in the proposed constitution.

A challenge to it must be made during the brief period for routine motions. Otherwise, the two-thirds majority will be needed.

Convention President Price Daniel Jr. did not warn delegates of this when they considered the adjournment vote.

On other occasions, notably after the convention twice rejected the judiciary article, Daniel, fearful a two-thirds majority could not be reached to reconsider those rejections, stressed this point. Each time, the convention refused to ad-journal and voted instead to recess.

Friday's adjournment motion was made by Rep. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, who acknowledged to a reporter that he did it to make it more difficult to reverse the refinery tax vote.

Such a tax, which would have to be voted by the legislature, would mean that residents in other states for the first time would be paying a levy on Texas fossil fuels.

Supporters of the tax say Texas should have done this long ago. The fuels will be gone some day, they say, and other states raise money on their distinctive products—Kentucky bourbon, Michigan automobiles, Alaskan king crab.

The oil companies would have to pass this tax on to users in other states. Gasoline prices have doubled during the energy crisis, and the much-criticized oil industry would rather not push them higher just to pay Texas taxes.

The Texas Good Roads Association by some reports did not oppose the refinery tax, but that tax potentially means the end of the constitutionally protected highway trust fund.

The legislature could pass a petroleum manufacturing tax under the present constitution. However, all the money collected from it would have to be divided three-fourths to the highway fund and one-fourth to the public schools.

The new provision approved by the convention by a 100-50 vote Tuesday puts the refinery tax in the general revenue fund, which the legislature can spend anyway it wishes.

The present gasoline tax of 5 cents a gallon would continue to be divided between the highway fund and schools.

However, the legislature is likely to repeal that tax if it can. That way the legislature can raise more money for Texas and cut taxes for Texas taxpayers at the same time, an attractive proposition for a politician.

It will be up to the legislature then to decide how much money raised from a refinery tax will go to the highway fund and how much to schools.

The 5-cent gasoline tax on Texans brought in $335.9 million in 1971. This could be cut to 2½ cents, levied at the refinery and produce $620 million. Instead of only Texans paying the tax at the service station pumps, users in all states would be paying at the manufacturing level.

Many legislators have predicted new taxes will be needed in 1975, despite Gov. Dolph Briscoe's pledge of no new taxes.

But even Briscoe could support a bill that cut taxes for Texans, yet doubled the revenue.

Petroleum Museum To Begin Final Capital Funds Campaign

The Permian Basin's new petroleum museum begins its final capital funds drive Monday with a meeting of captains and solicitors at a Roweway Inn luncheon.

Called "Decision-74," the new drive is aimed at raising a minimum of $500,000. Its chairman is Joseph I. O'Neill Jr., Midland Independent oil producer.

Named as captains in the campaign thus far are Tevis Herd, attorney; Robert K. Hillin, oil operator; William D. Kennedy, C&K Petroleum, and Joe W. McSpadden, oil operator. More may be appointed later.

The museum's building, now under construction on Interstate 20, will require $450,000 in new pledges and gifts to complete, according to recent estimates. Additional funds will be needed for start-up, interim financing and miscellaneous expenses.

The new gifts and pledges will finish off payments to the general contractor, provide both interior and exterior exhibits, buy furnishings and equipment, handle the remaining professional fees, and pay for security and other non-contract costs.

Landscaping expense is not included in the total inasmuch as a separate organization, spearheaded by Midland's two DAR chapters and the Midland Society of University Women, will be seeking sponsors as part of the community's Bicentennial celebration.

The "Decision-74" campaign will be aimed chiefly at "special givers" in Midland, particularly those who have not given or pledged. Other efforts, however, will cover those who may be interested in making additional gifts, oil people in other Texas cities, supply and service companies and various other companies and foundations.

"Decision-74" was chosen as the campaign's name "because we are at the end of the wait-and-see period," according to O'Neill. "We must make the decisions needed to get this job done, and get the museum off to the kind of start it deserves."

He said the project "is bigger and a great deal better and more valuable than most people dreamed. We have committed ourselves to creating an educational center of the first class, serving Midland and the entire Permian Basin, with statewide and national appeal."

In what one museum source called "an act of faith," volunteers on the museum's two governing boards voted to begin construction in the fall of 1973 even though more pledges and gifts would be needed. The building is scheduled for delivery to the museum in October of this year. Date for opening will not be set until then, but it is expected that installation of exhibits and other factors will place the opening date in the first part of 1975.

"Decision-74" work will continue through the summer and, if necessary, into the early part of September.

Elcor Reports Equipment Sale At Rock House

Elcor Chemical Corp., a Midland-based concern, has consummated a previously announced sale of two reformers from its Rock House sulphur extraction facility in Culberson County, Roy E. Campbell, president, reports.

The reformers were sold for $5 million cash, Campbell said.

He said at a meeting of the company's board of directors that the decision was made to sell all the machinery and equipment at the Rock House facility except the gypsum mine and certain equipment needed for gypsum sales.

He also reported that Elcor Friday paid in full its $4 million obligation due July 1 to its senior lenders.

The company president said this step was taken because dramatically higher prices for and shortages of natural gas have caused the resumption of sulphur production to be unfeasible under foreseeable market conditions and alternate uses for the plant did not appear attractive.

The board also decided Friday to sell most of Elcor's 80,000 acres of land in Culberson County. Proceeds from the sale of equipment and land will be used to further Elcor's internal growth and possible purchase of other companies, Campbell said.

The company has agreed in principle to acquire the outstanding stock of Barnes Engineering Co. of Golden, Colo., for cash plus future earnings payments, depending on the net profits of the acquired company. This transaction should be consummated in early July, Campbell said.

Mobil Promotes Midland Employee

C. K. Adam, senior exploitation engineer at Mobil Oil Corp.'s Midland Producing area's office, has been promoted to associate engineer.

Adam began working for Mobil in 1969 after graduation from Kansas University. He worked as an engineer trainee at Odessa and Dallas and at Headton and Lindsay, Okla.

Late in 1969, he was assigned to Colombian Petroleum Co. at Tibu, Colombia, and he was reassigned to Mobil de Venezuela at Anaco, Venezuela in 1963. In Venezuela he worked on a special engineering study and as area reservoir engineer. He has been in Midland since 1965, as senior production engineer.

Mahon, Tower, Bentsen Favor Retaining Depletion Allowance

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles written especially for The Reporter-Telegram by W. Floyd Wright, veteran Midland geologist.

By W. FLOYD WRIGHT
For decades Permian Basin independent oil operators have made tremendous contributions to the petroleum industry.

In spite of such significant progress, independents fear crude oil price rollbacks, the elimination of oil and gas depletion tax allowance and enactment of a "windfall profits" tax. Even though they retain an optimistic spirit in general, they contend that some encouraging trends of recent months are being threatened at the congressional level.

The oil depletion allowance and the possibility of its being gradually phased out presents an especially critical problem to oil operators.

A survey recently was made of political leaders and men prominent in Permian Basin petroleum affairs and developments. Several of their important and relevant comments follow.

Rep. George Mahon, who for many years has represented a large part of the Permian Basin and presently is chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations, remains particularly sensitive to the needs of the petroleum industry.

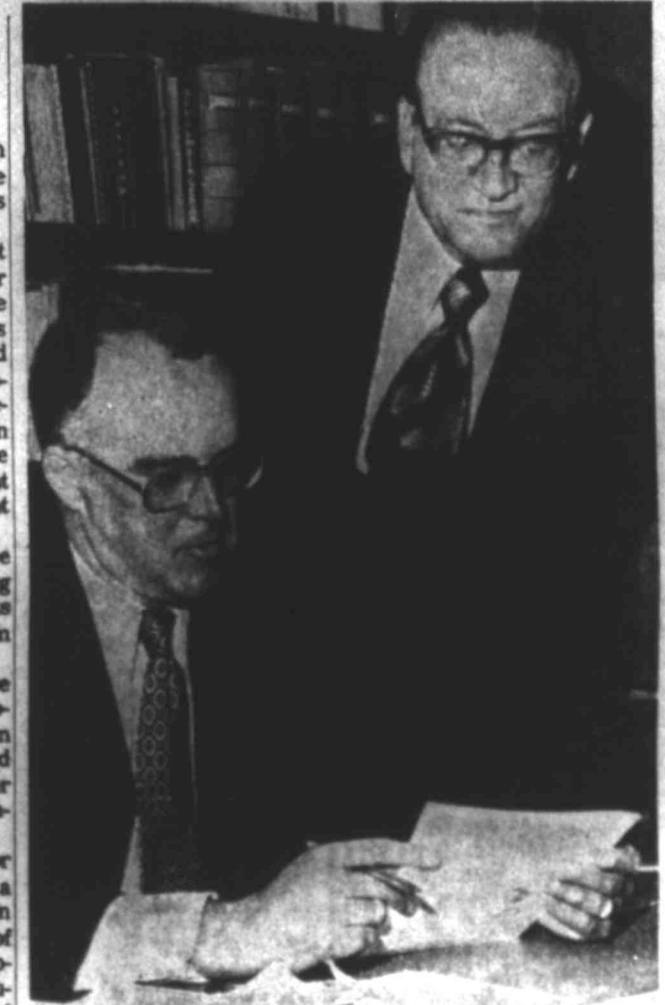

He said, "I have over the months and years fought in behalf of the oil depletion allowance, and I will not relax my efforts. One of the major problems is in getting congressmen from non-oil-producing areas to understand that punitive measures against the oil industry will only hurt the country in the long run by discouraging badly needed exploration and production."

"I represent a great oil and gas-producing area, and I am, of course, somewhat familiar with the problems confronting the oil and gas industry. I am strongly opposed to abolishing the oil depletion allowance this year or later in this decade, as advocated by Rep. Wilbur Mills in his proposed tax bill. Either proposal would, in my judgement, tend to place a roadblock in the way of energy expansion. What we need is not more regulation and interference and regimentation but more gas and oil for American industry and the American people generally.

"I will continue to do all in my power to help meet our energy needs and create an atmosphere which will make it possible for the oil industry to move forward with confidence toward more exploration and production," Mahon concluded.

Texas' senior senator, John Tower, said emphatically he will do everything in his power to keep the oil and gas depletion allowance. He comments, "What the average citizen does not realize is that this is not just a special clause to protect the oil industry — it also protects the consumer. Removal of the allowance would cause at least a three-cent increase in the cost of a gallon of gasoline."

Tower said he thought the measure to do away with the allowance would be defeated in the Senate. "If it were not defeated there, the President would veto the measure," he predicted.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas responded to our inquiry by stating, "In order to increase oil and gas production in this country, I believe that the oil industry needs incentives. For this reason, I favor the retention of the domestic depletion allowance. Our major goal at this point must be to become self-sufficient, and I will devote my efforts to seeing that any legislation affecting the oil and gas industry is consistent with that goal."

Charles D. Fraser, senior vice president and petroleum engineer in charge of the Oil and Gas Department of The First National Bank of Midland, has a broad professional background with a major oil corporation and as a petroleum consultant. He has stood in the forefront in championing the cause of the petroleum industry in the Permian Basin.

"The Permian Basin today (See DEPLETION, Page 3C)

A year ago, a resolution adopted by the Compact said the nation was becoming too dependent upon oil imports and asked that consumers conserve all forms of energy and switch wherever possible from oil and gas to other energy sources.

At last December's annual meeting, another resolution called for national priorities essential for the re-establishment of the nation's self-sufficiency. Federal policies were said to have made the energy crisis inevitable.

"Unfortunately we have descended too far into dependence on foreign sources to hope for an easy recovery," the resolution said.

The Compact called for federal policies to encourage the flow of capital into the high-

WASHINGTON OIL— Natural Gas Price Hike Not Solution

By CLYDE LA MOTTE
Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent
WASHINGTON—The biggest problem with the new national price the Federal Power Commission has set for wellhead natural gas is whether it will survive court challenges and whether — in case it does — it is high enough to produce substantial quantities of additional gas.

Senator Tower To Speak Here

Sen. John Tower will be speaker for a special Wednesday morning breakfast meeting of the West Texas Geological Society, in the American Legion Hall.

Senator Tower will talk on "Pending Legislation Affecting the Petroleum Industry." The breakfast will begin at 7:30 a.m., with Sen. Tower's talk slated for 8:15 a.m. Reservations for the breakfast should be made Monday or Tuesday at the WTGS office by dialing 683-1573.

Mesa Announces Additions To Staff

Mesa Petroleum Co. has announced additions to its technical and professional staff in Midland, Houston and Amarillo.

Theodore O. Schmidt has joined the Permian Basin division office in Midland as division geophysicist. He previously had worked for Skelly Oil Co.

Robert J. Penkisa, process engineer, and Dennis M. Fly, reservoir engineer, are additions to the staff in Amarillo headquarters offices.

Charles McBride, geophysicist; Robert Lee Myers, senior geologist; Robert Pace, geologist; Jeffrey C. Nuttall, geologist; and Bill L. Tucker, landman, have been employed in the firm's Gulf Coast division office in Houston.

There will be arguments that the FPC price of 42 cents per thousand cubic feet is too high and offsetting claims that it is too little, too late. But leaving the merits out of the picture, the fact of life is that court challenges will likely keep the final price uncertain for a long time, perhaps for several years.

By the time the issue is settled, the question of whether 42 cents is a fair price or not will have become moot. That is the basic problem with government regulation, especially in a field as volatile as energy prices are these days. It simply can not adjust rapidly enough to meet changing conditions. That is, there is no way that FPC or anyone else can look down the road a few years and determine with any real accuracy what a realistic price for natural gas should be.

The industry itself does not have such a crystal ball. A very short time ago, say a couple of years ago, domestic producers would have danced in the street had they been promised anything close to 42 cents. At that time they were talking in terms of an increase of perhaps 10 cents per thousand cubic feet, which would have boosted the wellhead price to around 30 cents.

Today, however, domestic producers feel that the new price ceiling, while a step in the right direction, is not the real solution. "The inadequacy of the 42-cent rate becomes obvious when it is compared with prices being paid for alternative supplies," C. John Miller, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, said last week. For proof, he pointed out that the cost of synthetic natural gas or imported liquefied natural gas ranges from $1.50 to $3 per thousand cubic feet.

What the independent producers—and to some extent other segments of the industry—have been saying for some time is that the most workable approach is to let domestic natural gas find its own level in the energy marketplace.

They reason that in such a setting if natural gas prices rise too high, competing fuels will replace them. If, on the other (See WASHINGTON OIL, 3C)

INNOVATIONS REIGN — Faye Miles, owner of Personality Curl and Swirl Beauty Salon, Town and Country Shopping Center, styles Mrs. David Mean's hair at the new carousel style center as operator Winnie Jackson watches. The latest in permanents and blow dry styles are featured at the salon.

Salon Introduces Entirely New Type Of Permanent

Faye Miles of Personality Curl and Swirl Beauty Salon in Town and Country Shopping Center Mall has announced an entirely new permanent, the Redkin Trichoperm.

In use for only six months, the latest in professional permanents, the Trichoperm comes in two types, the Trichoperm 122N and the Trichoperm 144B. An outstanding feature of the new permanent is that it has to be oxidized by drying under the dryer. Redkin Trichoperm 122N is non-alkaline, has no ammonia and no acid, and is for use on all hair except bleached or doubled processed hair. It will not burn hair. It is the first permanent ever made with no ammonia and no acid.

The Trichoperm 144B is acid balanced and contains no ammonia. This type is for highly tinted, double processed or bleached hair. The Redkin Trichoperms are perfect for the new blow-dry hair styles that need body.

Johnny Miles manages the business end of the shop while Faye handles the operation of the salon. The experienced staff gives personal friendly and individual attention to customers. The professional stylists are Judy Proctor, Winnie Jackson, Edna Mitchell, Pauline Hargrave, Carolyn Grismore, Faye Holguin, Terri Foster, Clifford Turner and Joy Reither.

still provides almost one-fourth of this nation's daily domestic supply of crude oil and lease condensate," Fraser said. "We are producing more oil in 1974 than we were last year in the Permian Basin. The very existence of a viable oil industry in this region today results from provisions contained in existing tax laws plus the stubborn efforts of oil operators. Tax laws encourage the flow of investor capital into our area. The Permian Basin has sustained a level of activity by virtue of the oilman's ability to raise investor capital, generate oil income, retain that oil income for reinvestment or retain that income for dedication to the repayment of his sizeable borrowings for development activities.

"Contrary to the statements of some congressmen that existing tax provisions have not been successful in stimulating domestic development, any knowledgeable student of the Permian Basin industry knows that only because of these provisions are we now able to muster more than 240 active drilling rigs, the necessary service organizations to support the accelerating activity emphasized by our shortage of petroleum products, qualified personnel and the capital to finance this business. For 15 years at least, the Permian Basin has been depressed by unrealistically low domestic oil prices caused by questionable cheap foreign sources. Existing tax laws have helped keep us alive. We now are involved in an activity explosion."

"Unfortunately," Fraser continues, "it appears that punitive legislation apparently directed at the major oil companies but potentially much more adverse to the independent, could, if enacted, bring this explosion to a halt. Specifically, we must fight today's unwarranted attacks on our part of the free enterprise system and efforts to cripple our industry by elimination of much maligned depletion allowance."

In conclusion Fraser said "The concept of permitting recovery of capital from depleting assets before imposition of taxes, commonly referred to as the depletion allowance, will go down in history as being criticized by many and understood by few. The entire concept of depletion allowances for income from depleting assets is to permit restocking of the inventory net of taxation. As the cost of replacing a barrel of crude oil goes up, the tax free allowance permitted a producer should go up rather than down!" (NEXT: Comments on oil depletion allowance by independent oil operators.)

Fuller Promoted By Halliburton

DUNCAN, Okla. — W. F. "Bill" Fuller, formerly of Midland has been named manager of training at the headquarters office of Halliburton Services here.

Fuller, who had been assistant manager of Halliburton's Pittsburgh, Pa. division since January 1972, joined the firm in the Midland Division in 1955. Bridwell Oil Co., Abilene, plans No. 7 Earl Burnes as a 1/2-mile west and southwest stepout to the two-well oil area, and 1,650 feet southwest of the gas discovery, in the B&B (Morris) field of Rannels County.

It is scheduled to 4,300 feet, and sports 2,300 feet from north and 467 feet from west lines of the east half of Wharton CSL survey 510, 10 miles northeast of Winters.

Atlantic Richfield Finds Two Wells

Atlantic Richfield Co., Midland, has completed two wells in the Holt pay of the Johnson (Holt-Glorieta) field of Ector County.

The No. 3-H J. L. Johnson, one location south extension, was completed flowing 100 barrels of 37.6-gravity oil per day, plus 36 barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio measuring 50-1.

Production was through perforations at 5,244-5,291 feet, which had been acidized with 3,000 gallons. It was, earlier, completed from the Glorieta producing 456 barrels of 28.1-gravity oil per day, through a 15-64-inch choke and perforations at 5,411-5,524 feet.

Well site is 1,960 feet from south and 1,890 feet from east lines of section 38, block 43, T-1-S, T&P survey, 3 1/4 miles northwest of Odessa. Second Completion

The same firm's No. 4-H J. L. Johnson, a 3/4-mile southeast extension, was finished flowing 175 barrels of 38-gravity oil, no water, through a 20-64-inch choke and perforations at 5,253-5,268 feet, after the section had been acidized with 3,000 gallons. Gas-oil ratio measured 211-1.

Operator plans to dually complete it from the Glorieta zone at a later date.

Extension Finaled In Crockett Area

The Vaughn multipay field of Crockett County gained its fifth Queen producer and a location west extension to that pay, with the re-completion of No. 3-17 Shannon by M. C. Vinson, Midland.

On a 24-hour potential test, it pumped eight barrels of 32-gravity oil and 25 barrels of water. Gas-oil ratio was not reported.

Completion was natural through perforations at 1,112-1,126 feet.

Cleaned out to 1,144 feet, it was originally drilled to 1,534 feet, and was finished Feb. 11, 1969 by LaGloria Oil & Gas Co. as the No. 1-A J. M. Shannon Estate, for 12.18 barrels of 27-gravity oil, through a 3/4-inch choke and perforations at 1,120-1,126 feet.

Well site is 990 feet from north and 2,310 feet from east lines of section 17, block UV, GC&SP survey, 12 miles northwest of Ozona.

Washington Oil—

(Continued from 1C) hand, prices are kept too low by the governmental decree. supply will diminish because the natural result will be that everyone will shift their efforts and their money to development of other, more profitable, enterprises.

What frustrates many producers is the fact that Washington does not understand this simple economic condition. At the Washington end of the line, there is some frustration in that domestic producers do not recognize the political problems involved in freeing producers from federal regulation. After all, members of Congress have to respond to their constituents because, if they do not, they do not remain in office.

Realistically, even with natural gas shortages a fact of life and with prices of other forms of energy skyrocketing, complete decontrol of producers at this time is fraught with political danger. The Federal Power Commission is forced to seek some middle ground. It has been trying since 1969 to provide domestic producers more incentive because it was convinced that this was the only way to avoid continuing and worsening shortages.

It has, in fact, gradually moved the field price upward, although it has faced court challenges and public pressures every step of the way. It has been accused of being spineless and in league with the industry. In such a setting, the price of 42 cents it has now set as a national price, to replace the old, lower area-by-area pricing approach, is probably about as high as it could go at this time.

The problem producers face is not in convincing FPC, which has been living with the problem, but in convincing Congress, the courts and the public. That is the big hurdle.

WESTERN CATHODIC, INC. introduces "Casing Pack Process," a specialized method designed to re-insulate shorted casings and establish a flexible, yet impervious barrier to corrosive agents or contaminants causing electrical shorting.

CASING-PACK PROCESS

Department Of Transportation Regulation #192.467; Electrical Isolation

"(A) Each buried or submerged pipeline installed after July 1, 1971 must be electrically isolated from other underground metallic structures, unless the pipeline and the other structures are electrically interconnected and cathodically protected as a single unit.

(C) Except for unprotected copper inserted in ferrous pipe, each pipeline must be electrically isolated from metallic casings that are a part of the underground system. However, if isolation is impractical, other measures may be taken to minimize corrosion of the pipeline inside the casing."

Utilizing "Well-Pack" (by Oil Base, Inc.) as the filler agent, Western Cathodic, Inc.'s specialized equipment and techniques provide a water impermeable, non-corrosive, high dielectric fill between the carrier pipe and casing. Pumped into the annulus as a liquid, the "Well-Pack" flushes all standing liquids (water, oil, etc.) out of the casing, and then solidifies to a semi-rigid gell . . . flexible enough to allow for the carrier pipe shifting due to temperature variation or earth movement, while maintaining a barrier to any contaminants.

WESTERN CATHODIC, INC.'S "Casing-Pack Process" is a complete service, from initial casing testing and preparation, to final installation of filler and testing. Charges either by hour rates, or on a "turn-key" basis.

Farm, Dairy And Ranch News

The agricultural situation remained unchanged as another week of dry weather continued stress on crops and ranges. Temperatures were somewhat cooler for part of the week, but hot, dry winds returned the latter part. In some sections of the county where rainfall totals were a little higher in May, dryland crops are making some growth. Charles Green, county agent, reports. However, there are several areas where dryland acreage has either not been planted or where stands are erratic and have been lost from drying wind and sand. Irrigated crops are making fair progress.

In spite of the dry weather, flies seem to be everpresent and a source of annoyance to both cattle. Adult horn flies suck small amounts of blood from the host animal causing irritation to the cattle. This pest is a constant drain on the vitality of the animals. Large numbers of horn flies can reduce milk production in dairy cattle and prevent weight gains in beef cattle of as much as one-half pound a day.

Horn fly control can be achieved with several treatment methods. There are self-treatment backrubbers and dust bags that can provide effective horn fly control. Self-treatment devices should be installed near water, feed or mineral sources or in gateways to help assure frequent usage. A two to three-week adjustment period may be necessary before cattle begin to use self-treatment devices regularly. There are several liquid and dust formulations of livestock insecticides available for charging backrubbers and dust bags for horn fly control.

Ground or aerial sprayers are also useful in controlling horn flies on cattle as follows: Clotrin (Grotocypol), Co-Ral (Cosmaphos), Delnav (Diazinon), Romel (Korlan), Ruslan (Cruformate), Negavon (Trichloron), Fortia (Tosaphene, malathion and methoxychlor). Before using these livestock insecticides, read the label on the container and use strictly in accordance with cautions and directions listed.

A Come-and-Go Plant Clinic will be held at the Lancaster Garden Center, 186 W. Indiana St., from 1:30-3:30 p.m. Monday. Anyone having problems with gardening, or plant culture of any kind is invited to bring specimens of bugs and diseased plants and consult with specialists of the Texas A&M Agricultural Extension Service. Dr. William Peavy, horticulturist; Dr. Robert Berry, plant pathologist; Charles Nash, entomologist, and Dr. Ken Ebney, agronomist, will be the consulting specialists. The clinic is sponsored by Lancaster Garden Center and the Midland County Extension Service.

Many gardeners are reporting difficulties with snap beans in the home garden. Firing of the beans, drying and scorching and eventually death occurs in beans when salinity levels build up. Salts are present in the irrigation water and are installed with two methods of watering. One is sprinkling. Beans do not tolerate sprinkling with waters containing over 1,000 parts per million total dissolved solids. Practically all Midland water, including municipal supplies, exceed this. Even furrow irrigation, where beans are planted on a ridge and water is run down a furrow between the rows causes salt buildup in the upper root zone of the bean plant as water moves upward in capillary action, carrying the salts with it. The most satisfactory method of watering beans is with a drip system or planting the beans in the furrow where water is applied. The high evaporation-transpiration rates in the extremely high stress weather occurring this summer call for more frequent watering in sandy soils that many persons realize. During hot windy days beans and other garden plants as well, often use up to 5 inch of water per day. Sandy soils store only 5 to 5-inch of available moisture per foot of depth. Since bean plants obtain two-thirds to three-fourths of their water requirement from the top foot of soil, the moisture must be replenished in the top foot of soil as daily or every other day.

Capillary Action. Lichens lack water-conducting organs, but absorb moisture over their entire surface by capillary action through the lichens.

Debt-Free Trip Merited

The Robert E. Lee High School Chorale of Midland, Tex., U.S.A., has been invited to perform in honor of the federal minister of education and art for the Republic of Austria!

This really is something for a high school choir from Wonderful West Texas. But it really shouldn't be too surprising, since the LHS Chorale has been selected as the No. 1 high school choir in the nation, and designated to represent the United States at the fantastic Youth and Music Festival in Vienna—1974.

It is one of the greatest honors which could come to a high school choir . . . and Director Henry Sellers and his fine, talented group of young people certainly merit the recognition and honor.

The youths are in for a thrilling experience as they travel abroad, performing in the great music festival and before heads of state in command performances. Other appearances also have been booked.

Midlanders congratulate the LHS Chorale members and wish them well as they prepare to depart America's shores. It is a tremendous, once-in-a-lifetime happening, and excitement is mounting throughout the community.

The only thing which isn't typical of Midland is the fact that a minimum of $10,000 yet is needed to foot the entire bill for the trip abroad. Surely, Midlanders will come through with funds sufficient to take care of all expenses.

If you haven't contributed to "On to Vienna," or if you possibly can increase your contribution, please forward your checks in whatever amount to the Lee High School Chorale's "On to Vienna Fund." Let's send the choir on its way unencumbered by debt. It performs better that way.

Honor America!

The nation is nearing the conclusion of a 21-day Salute to Honor America.

The special observance, which was launched on Flag Day, concludes on Independence Day, with a hoped-for record outburst of patriotism.

The Fourth of July is the key to the observance . . . and just how outstanding it will be depends on what we put into it.

It should be the greatest and most impressive Fourth of July ever!

A patriotic "Happy Birthday USA" celebration is scheduled Thursday at Wadley-Barron Park, under the sponsorship of the Col. Theunis Dey Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. It will highlight the holiday in the Tall City.

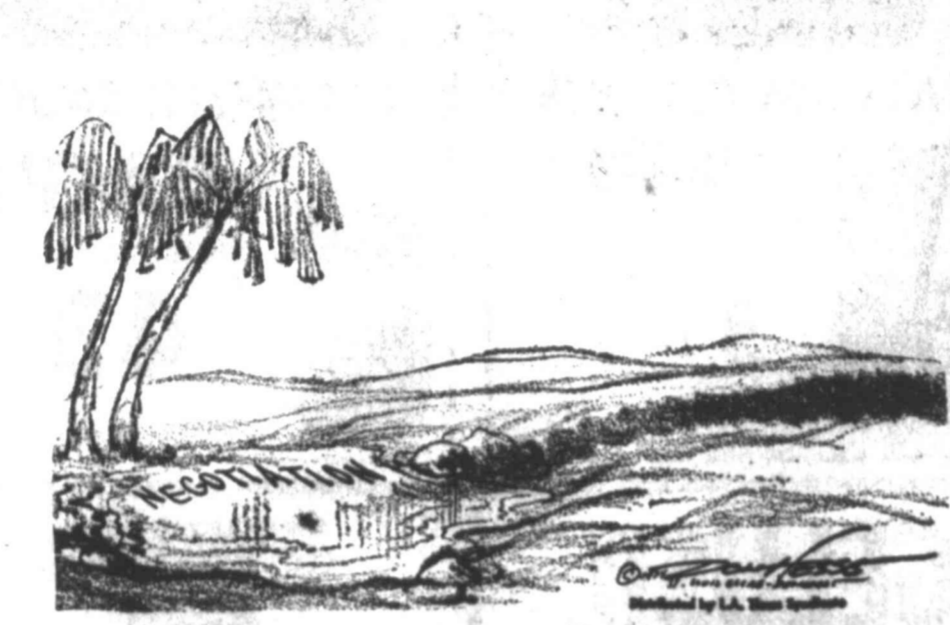

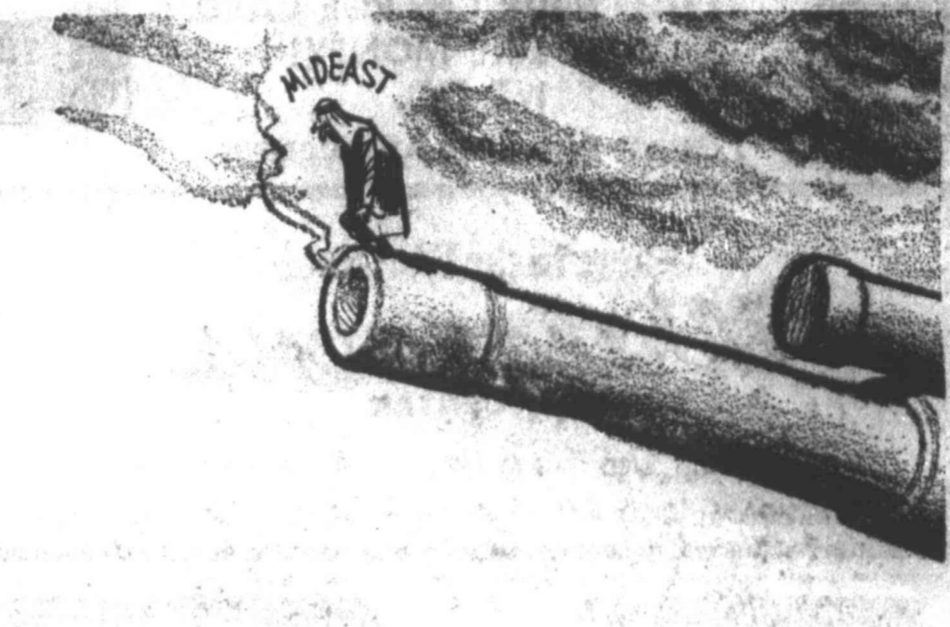

This is great, but first off, let's all join in making sure that Old Glory is unfurled from a record number of housetops this Independence Day.

Let's make it truly an Honor America Day!

Long Dive

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson Says: NATO apprehensive, nagged by fear.

WASHINGTON After a long hard winter, the 15 nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization once again are civil toward each other. President Nixon formalized the new cordiality last week by signing an Atlantic accord in Brussels.

But behind all the handshakes and hoopla, in the words of a confidential NATO document, "the supposed partners of the Atlantic alliance find it difficult to select a subject over which they do not disagree."

The problems still simmering beneath the surface are described in a series of confidential draft reports submitted to the North Atlantic Assembly. From copies in our possession, here are the highlights:

The U.S. wants its European allies to "consult" Washington as they grapple with the issues. But, declares one document, "France is determined that the United States should be informed of (European) decisions only after such decisions have been reached."

In Ottawa, the NATO foreign ministers worked out a watery compromise which declared consultation to be "normal" but not mandatory.

The European allies are apprehensive over the Soviet-American detente. "The Middle East War," states one report, "confirmed the trend of superpower domination, even collusion, in influencing the course of international events, and revealed the total impotency of Europe's position."

Most NATO nations put their domestic problems ahead of the Atlantic alliance. The allies have been plagued with "the severe onslaught of inflation . . . weak majority or even minority governments . . . (and) loss of public credibility."

As an example, one paper notes that "the President's difficulties in the United States are only too well known." Such factors, says the paper, "tend to make governments concentrate on internal affairs and encourage an emphasis on national issues and preoccupations at a time when international . . . leadership is desperately needed."

Alliance Divided — The alliance is divided over how to cope with Arab domination of the world's energy supplies. "Despite the intensified search for new sources of oil and crash programs aimed at developing alternative sources," states a report, "Western dependence on oil from the Middle East area will continue for the next 10-15 years."

The allies are in an uproar over a proposal that they seek the help of racist South Africa to defend the tanker routes around the southern tip of the African continent. NATO seriously is considering, as one report puts it, "the possibility for securing the protection" of sea lanes outside the alliance's

RAY CROMLEY Is Nation Overlooking The Real Soviet Threat?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A friend who advises the Defense Department on intelligence gatherings and in advanced military trends is despondent.

He has a gut feeling the frenetic Russian strategic nuclear buildup may be a diversion. The aim may be, he says, to frighten us so badly we will concentrate single-mindedly on intercontinental weapons and overspend in this department. This would leave the U.S. vulnerable around the world to efficiently-fought local wars in which Soviet clients would be supplied multi-ton of advanced Soviet conventional weapons.

Note that where the preponderance of superior arms is great enough Soviet-backed nations can win their objectives without firing a shot.

Make no mistake about it. The Soviet intercontinental missile research and development program is real and dangerous. If both the U.S. and Russia continue their programs at their present pace, Soviet nuclear capacity will be a threat to U.S. security in the 1980s. But my source is convinced the Kremlin, in its own imperialist interests, is not aiming at nuclear war or the chance of nuclear war which could leave the USSR devastated.

He believes current evidence makes clear that Leonid Brezhnev and his associates are bent on expanding the Soviet sphere of domination indirectly through revolutionaries, through military action by pro-Soviet states and through terror, that is, the fear of what the Soviet Union might do.

The convulsive expansion of Soviet nuclear research and development in intercontinental missiles and in submarines provides the terror sufficient to send shivers through all major Western capitals.

Not so well publicized is evidence that the Kremlin, while building the ICBM threat, is moving even more rapidly and on a broader scale in the development of tactical conventional weapons in a quality and in quantities we may not be able to match because we have funneled such a heavy percentage of our dollars into the nuclear race.

The October Israeli-Arab war was an eye opener. The Russian weapons supplied to the Egyptians and Syrians in the fighting were in a remarkable number of instances superior to those given the North Vietnamese only a short time before. In important respects, some were superior to U.S. equivalents.

My source is convinced this is just the beginning. The breadth and scope of the new developments in air and tank defense, infantry equipment and weapons and in tactical battlefield bridging was not only surprising, but, in some instances breathtaking, not primarily because of scientific advances but rather because of the ingenuity and simplicity of the improvements. Techniques long known to American

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY (Newspaper Enterprise Association) South wins the spade lead and has to go after the club suit. How should he play it? Old books on bridge said to mathematical play is to lay down the ace. This wins 83 per cent of the time since it only loses two tricks if East holds K J x or K J x x.

It also loses two tricks today. But the really expert play, as used by experts against players not good enough to play low from king-small, is to lead low toward dummy with the intention to play the nine if West plays low and finessing against the king if the nine loses to the jack.

This play only succeeds 80 per cent of the time against a man good enough to duck with king-small, but it works 94 per cent of the time against ordinary bridge players.

Of course justice doesn't always triumph. The best mathematical play is a loser today. Almost all other plays work.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor: I see where 86 of our augustous senators at, say, $300-plus per work day for each, have voted 44-42 to make manufacturers build all radio sets to receive both AM and FM, whether the buyer needs same or not.

But while this expensive-peddling was going on, at least they were not prodding the President or pomping on TV or raising taxes.

And it shows their latherly concern for the people stupid enough to elect them to office. Their next move may be to help us by outlawing the manufacture of autos without both engine and pedals.

DAVID POLING, D.D. Question: Where Are The Great Preachers?

NEW YORK (NEA) — The era of great preaching just about closed with the retirement of Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick in 1948. The majestic pulpit of Riverside Church was the impressive symbol of an age: The power of preaching to shape, lead and guide millions of people. Linked with Fosdick, for almost half a century, were those bright, colorful and powerful voices of preachers like Sockmen, Buttrick, Meier, Bowie, Charles R. Brown, Coffin, Peter Marshall, Crane, Newton, McCarty, Blackwood, James Stewart and Leslie Weatherhead.

Throughout the cities of North America, these were the spokesmen for the church, shaping much of the thought and action of the Christian community. Now reaching into the last quarter of the 20th century, people property are asking, where are the preachers?

Of course, some of the famous and popular preachers remain in public view. Billy Graham, at 56, completes 25 years of evangelistic ministry in 1974. Norman Vincent Peale and Bishop Fulton J. Sheen show few signs of letting up. But change is in the works. Graham is insisting on a sharply reduced schedule, with one or two annual crusades after '74. Dr. Peale is 78 and must be pondering retirement after 45 years at Marble Church in Manhattan. Bishop Sheen is 78, cutting back on his program of conferences and broadcasting. So again, where are the preachers, the voices of today who truly create the visions of tomorrow?

The normal, natural successors to those already mentioned did not appear. There are very few, well-known, nationally followed preachers and pastors in the age group of 40-60.

The turmoil and tumult of the Sixties, with its era of disease in theology (how else to label the death of God debate?) and coupled with a decade of confrontation on Vietnam, Civil Rights and Black Power, took a necessary yet staggering toll within the ranks of Christian leaders.

The result? A great emptiness, a large space, almost a generation, lost between the old "princes of the pulpit" and their younger successors. Yet throughout the United States and Canada are the women and men who have emerged as the pastors, preachers, teachers of significant congregations. These new leaders are not known beyond the boundaries of their denominations — many are unknown beyond the bounds of their community — yet what they are saying and doing will forcefully shape the future of the Christian Church for the remainder of this century.

It is our conviction that, with the help and counsel of Christians everywhere, we can locate and lift up those men and women who are the voices of today. From all across North America, we hope to receive the nominations and suggestions of readers who will provide us with the names of those pastors and preachers who up to now have been unknown beyond their parish — but outstanding in their calling. The new, emerging leadership probably will be in the 20-45 age group, some older and a few younger.

During the remainder of 1974 we plan to present TTE's personalities who make up the contemporary leadership of the Christian Church. And if there are the preachers is the first question, then what is being preached (and what they first significant in the Christian experience) must be a close second. This is a real clue to what the Church will be like tomorrow. (NEXT: Tomorrow's Church)

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The tomato, botanically, is a fruit but because of its uses, is considered a vegetable. About three-quarters of the U.S. tomato crop is processed into juice, canned tomatoes, catsup, soups and pastes. Most American colonists, until about 1800, believed tomatoes were poisonous. Spanish explorers discovered the tomato in Latin America, but it was at first grown only as an ornamental called the "love apple."

A-Giants Crush Cubs

Midland Bullpen Fails Once More

AMARILLO—Amarillo squandered its series with Midland at 1-1 by taking advantage of the Cubs bullpen for an 11-2 victory here Saturday night in a Texas League baseball game.

It was close until Manager Walt Dixon had to lift Gary Junge and then the game got out of hand as the Giants poured across 10 runs in their last four at bats.

Bill Droegge collected three hits for Midland. Midland scored a run in the fourth when Wayne Tyrone singled to left, Bill Droegge singled to center and then Jerry Tabb's fly brought in the run. The Cubs' other run came in the sixth and took the lead for good in the fifth when Manny Perez singled, Gary Atwell walked, Mike Edens beat out a bunt to load the bases. Tommy Smith hit a sacrifice fly to center and then Tony Pepper's single scored Atwell. Junge was lifted and Francisco Lopez came in and retired the side without further damage. The Cubs and Giants play again tonight with David Fuqua scheduled to go for the home club while Dave Gelsel will hurl for Midland.

With two out in the sixth, Rich Guerra walked and was wild pitched to second. Atwell singled the run home and Mike Edens singled to center, then Tommy singled to right to score Atwell. Dyain Frazier relieved Lopez and a run came home on a passed ball.

SWOOPING BACKHAND—Tom Okker of the Netherlands swoops to make a low backhand return to Cliff Drysdale during match Saturday at Wimbledon. Okker defeated his South African opponent, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3. (AP Wirephoto.)

Wimbledon Takes Toll Of U.S.

Tiny Park, Home Runs Spell Success At Gate

When the Midland Cubs scrimmaged Bob Lemon's Sacramento Solons in exhibition games at Scottsdale, Ariz., this spring, the Milwaukee Brewer farmhands obviously packed some power in their lineup, but not the kind that would lead the Pacific Coast League by 51 homers after 62 games.

In fact, the Solons have so many home run hitters, that Tony Lazzeri's PCL record of 60 made in 1925 is in jeopardy. The future New York Yankee immortal, then a 21-year-old rookie, knocked 60 balls out of everybody's reach for Salt Lake City. A couple of leading candidates are Gorman Thomas, 22 homers, and Steve McCartney, 21, who played for San Antonio in the Texas League a couple of years ago. And now that Sixto Lezcano, one of the TL's homer leaders at Shreveport last year, has joined the Solons, they pack more power than ever.

But it's not the personnel, but the Sacramento ball park that is the story... a story that has been featured in several sports publications.

Playing in Hughes Stadium, better known as the football Camellia Bowl, the park has yielded 254 homers in 37 games.

The left field fence is so close, right-handed pitchers have to shorten their delivery to avoid scraping the 49-foot screen that rises 233 feet from home plate. In fact, the outside wall beyond the screen is only 311 feet away.

It's only 300 feet to right and the most distant barrier is an eight-foot-high wall in right-center that measures 300 feet.

The miniature park has pitchers and fans screaming... the hurriers in anguish and the fans in delight as they average 3,892 per opening. With 132,000 fans showing up already, Sacramento seems a cinch to surpass 200,000 fans in its return to baseball after a 13-year absence.

At Shreveport when Manager Gene Freese wants his pitchers to toe the mark, he threatens to promote them to Sacramento, where the staff ERA is 6.56.

In one game between Spokane and the Solons, 13 home runs were hit. Sacramento had a 9-3 lead over Tacoma with two out in the ninth. Four homers later, the Solons were a 10-9 loser.

John Cumberland pitched an eight-hitter one night, two singles and six homers.

One thing about the Solon orchard, no one scores on a sacrifice fly. None of the fences are that deep.

While the management likes the combination of frequent homers and spinning turnstiles, it can be expensive. In batting practice, they keep the bleacher area behind the left field screen empty. They were just losing too many baseballs.

One night against Tacoma, Sacramento had a 22-5 lead in the ninth inning and the thing that bugged Lemon was that no one had budged from their seats. Nothing's for sure at Hughes Stadium.

Thomas, McCartney or maybe Bill McNulty, who has 23 homers, might eclipse Lazzeri's 60 homers, but chances are Pooh 'Em Up's 222 RBI are beyond reach.

Tom Okker, Orantes Gain Fourth Round

By WILL GRIMSLEY

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Tom Okker, the scrambling Dutchman, and Spain's agile Manuel Orantes shot their way into the men's fourth round Saturday in a day of Wimbledon tennis that saw deep inroads into America's secondary ranks.

The U.S. junior varsity of Roscoe Tanner, Jeff Borowiak and Dick Stockton won second-round matches, but four Americans were sent to the sidelines, including Marty Riessen, the United States' No. 7 player, and young Alex Mayer of Wayne, N.J., a surprise semifinalist here last year.

In the women's division, Julie Heldman of Houston, the fifth-ranked U.S. player, lost a center-court match to a steady, bespectacled Japanese girl, Kazuo Sawamatsu, and before the day was over, four others had followed her to the sidelines.

It wasn't an entirely bad day for the U.S. women. Six won their way into the third round where they joined the seeded favorites—Billie Jean King, No. 1; Chris Evert, No. 2; Evonne Goolagong, No. 3, and Rosemary Casals, No. 4, all idle.

The top six men also were idle from favored John Newcombe down to No. 6 Jan Kodeš of Czechoslovakia, providing a somewhat dull program for the more than 25,000 spectators.

Okker, seeded No. 7, and Orantes, No. 12, moved a round ahead of the rest of the field, reaching the final 16. The women only came up to the round of 32, leaving the rain-hampered event still well behind schedule.

Okker's court-covering wizardry and the rapier sharpness of his service returns were too much for South Africa's Cliff Drysdale. The Dutchman prevailed 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

It was tougher for Orantes, who had to rally from a two-set deficit to beat veteran Tony Roche of Australia, 2-6, 5-7, 7-5, 6-4, 6-6.

Tanner, the Lookout Mountain, Tenn., southpaw used his service like a sledgehammer to overpower Karl Meiler of West Germany, 6-6, 6-4, 8-6. Borowiak, from Berkeley, Calif., led former champion Neale Fraser of Australia two sets to one and 1-0 in the fourth when the old Aussie pulled up lame and retired.

Canonballing Dick Stockton of Dallas beat Gerald Stratik, English's No. 3 ranked player, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4.

Going into Monday's third round, the United States still has eight men and nine women competing.

The Soviet Union's Olga Morozova ousted Shirley Brasher of Britain, 6-1, 6-0.

Miss Sawamatsu outlasted Miss Heldman, who blew a 4-2 lead in the first set and lost the second after getting a 3-6 lead.

Riessen bowed to Guillermo Vilas of Argentina, 7-9, 6-1, 6-4, 3-6, 6-1. Mayer lost to a Dutchman named Rolf Thung, 9-7, 6-2, 6-3.

Madlock Hit Paces Chicago

MONTREAL (AP)—Bill Madlock's bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the eighth inning lifted the Chicago Cubs to a 2-1 victory over the Montreal Expos Saturday night.

Rick Monday opened the inning with a single off Steve Renko, 5-8, and Jose Cardenal doubled him to third. Vic Harris was purposely passed before Madlock delivered his tie-breaking sacrifice fly.

The game had been tied since the second inning when Chicago's George Mitterwald singled with two out, stole second, moved to third on pitcher Rick Reuschel's infield hit and scored on a wild pitch by Renko.

The Expos got their only run off Reuschel, 7-5, in the first inning. They loaded the bases on Ron Hunt's single, a double by Larry Lintz and a walk to Ron Fairly and Willie Davis drove in the run with a sacrifice fly.

Chicago
1st—Dick Reuschel (7-0), LP—Steve Renko.

Investigate Jipcho

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—The Kenya Amateur Athletic Association said Saturday it will investigate professional track star Ben Jipcho's amateur earnings in the wake of an American magazine article quoting the distance star as saying he was "better off financially as an amateur than a professional."

Weiskopf Holds Lead

Staggers Home In Par, Increases Edge

By BOB GREEN

OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP)—Tom Weiskopf had to birdie the last two holes to match par and—almost incredibly—increased his lead to five shots Saturday as the fantastically high scoring continued in the third round of the $200,000 Western Open Golf Tournament.

Weiskopf holed putts of 15 and 10 feet on the last two holes—well after the national television cameras had cut away—for a 71 that matched the best score of the day on the 7,002 yards of worry, water and woe, trees, traps and troubles that make up the new Butler National Golf Club course.

His three-round total was 212. One under par on the baby monster that is being played by the touring pros for the first time.

It was the only sub-par score after 54 holes and, with one round to go in the chase for a $40,000 first prize, the possibility still existed that the winning score would be over par for the third consecutive week. The U.S. Open and American Golf Classic, the two events immediately preceding this event, were won at plus par figures.

Weiskopf's five-stroke advantage was within one stroke of the biggest 54-hole lead on the tour this year.

J.C. Snead ambled into second with another 71—it included four putts in the 12-15 foot range and two from 35-40 feet—and a 217 total.

Red-haired Tom Watson managed a 75 despite putting two balls in the water for a horrendous eight on the 14th hole. At 218 he was tied with veteran Frank Beard, who posted a 73 in the gusty winds of the third round.

Arnold Palmer had a 74-220 and Hale Irwin, the U.S. Open champion, was at 75-221.

Lee Trevino flailed away at it 81 times.

Veteran Miller Barber, winner of a record $100,000 in last year's World Open, was mumbling angrily to himself after hitting mid-irons very close to the flag.

Then came a lapse. He missed the green and bogeyed the 13th. He missed the green and bogeyed the 14th. He drove it unplayable and bogeyed the 15th.

Weiskopf, prepping for defense of his British Open crown two weeks from now, put together a string of nine consecutive pars on the front side.

But he bogeyed the 10th, then rallied for three-putting, then rallied for birdies on the next two holes after hitting mid-irons very close to the flag.

BUT SHE KEEPS LEAD Thunderstorm Shakes Up Carol Jo Skala

CANDIAC, Quebec (AP)—Carol Jo Skala carded a two-under par 71 Saturday to take the second round lead in a Ladies PGA tournament.

Mrs. Skala, visibly shaken by a lightning storm which interrupted her round, had a 36-hole total of 139. That's seven under par for the 6,300-yard Candiac Golf Club course. The Shingle Springs, Calif., woman holds a one-stroke lead over Joanne Carner and Judy Kimball, who are tied for second at 140.

Donna Caponi Young, who shot a 69 to tie Miss Carner for the best round of the day, was next at 141. Mrs. Skala was among a number of players still out on the course when play was delayed for 45 minutes late in the afternoon by a severe electrical storm and torrential rain. She took shelter with a number of other players in a rain shed near the 16th green to wait out the storm.

After the round, Mrs. Skala said: "I'm a nervous wreck... we were in the shed when lightning hit just outside—so close, it sounded like a bomb went off."

Despite the scare, she managed to par the final two holes for a one-stroke lead going into today's final round of the 54-hole LPGA event.

IN PAIN—Boston catcher Carlton Fisk falls back in pain after Cleveland's Leron Lee crashes into him while scoring the winning run in bottom of the ninth inning. Fisk was carried off the field, suffering knee damage that may keep him out for the rest of the season. (AP Wirephoto.)

WIPED OUT BY FISK KNEE SURGERY—Red Sox Suffer Cruncher

By DAVE O'HARA

BOSTON (AP)—Carlton Fisk, the Boston Red Sox's all-star catcher, hobbled home for knee surgery Saturday, probably lost for the season in a crushing blow to the club's American League pennant hopes.

The 26-year-old slugger, a "hard luck" victim since spring training suffered severe ligament damage to his left knee Friday night as the Cleveland Indians pulled out a 2-1 victory with two out in the ninth inning.

Leron Lee, scoring the winning run on George Hendrick's double, crashed into Fisk as the Sox team physician, said Fisk will be operated on Sunday morning. He said there is a possibility that Fisk may be able to return to the lineup in September, "but we'll know more about that after surgery." Gaylor Perry, the Cleveland ace who posted his 14th consecutive victory with the ninth-inning run by Lee, summed up the general feeling of baseball observers: "This just might cost them the pennant."

Boston Manager Darrell Johnson tried to be optimistic. But he was geared for the worst.

Reds Nip Braves; Pirates Sack Phils Bench Belts 14th Homer

ATLANTA (AP) — Joe Morgan singled home the winning run with his third hit of the game in the seventh inning Saturday night as the Cincinnati Reds edged the Atlanta Braves 2-1 behind Jack Billingham's six-hit pitching.

Morgan's single off loser Ron Reed, 5-4, scored Pete Rose, who had singled with one out and moved to second on Cesar Geronimo's grounder.

The victory was the eighth in the last 10 games for the Reds and kept them 6½ games behind first-place Los Angeles in the National League's West Division.

The Reds took a 1-0 lead when Johnny Bench led off the fourth inning with his 14th home run of the season. Atlanta tied it in the bottom of the inning against Billingham, 8-6, when Dusty Baker doubled, advanced to third on a single by Mike Lum and scored on Dave Johnson's forceout.

Pirates 6, Phils 3
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pitcher Jerry Reuss drove in the tie-breaking run with an infield hit in the sixth inning and Richie Zisk slammed a three-run double in the seventh, leading the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 6-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Saturday night.

The Pirates trailed 2-1 entering the sixth but pushed across two runs on singles by Zisk and Manny Sanguillen, an intentional walk to Rennie Stennett after the runners advanced on the throw from the outfield following Sanguillen's hit, pinch hitter Ed Kirkpatrick's sacrifice fly and Reuss' infield single.

Zisk's bases-loaded double in the seventh followed Richie Hebner's single, Al Oliver's double and an intentional walk to Willie Stargell and chased loser Jim Lonborg, 10-6.

The Phillies broke a 26-inning scoreless streak in the third inning when Dave Cash tripled and scored on Larry Bowa's single to tie the score 1-1. Mike Schmidt's 18th home run of the season gave them a 2-1 lead and Cash homered in the eighth for Philadelphia's final run off Reuss, 7-5.

Seattle Beats Dallas Tornado
DALLAS (AP) — The Seattle Sounders fought Dallas Tornado to 90 minutes of scoreless play at Texas Stadium Saturday night then beat them 1-0 in a series of penalty kicks.

The penalty kick which broke the tie was the seventh and came from Seattle's Alan Stephens.

The result gives Seattle four points to add to its 52 in the standings. Dallas gained no points.

Howard Shines
Mike Howard pitched five innings of hitless relief and added a single, double and two homers to pace the Lario Oilers to a 15-5 victory over the Permian Corp. Rebels Friday night at Metzler Field in Western Sophomore League play. Ray Munoz added a single, double and homer to the 15-hit Lario attack.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dave McNally fired a two-hitter and Earl Williams' ground rule double drove in the game's first run in the seventh inning as the Baltimore Orioles beat the New York Yankees 2-0 Saturday night.

Williams' two-bagger came off starter Dick Tidrow with one out following leadoff singles by Don Baylor and Brooks Robinson. The Orioles scored their second run in the eighth off Sparky Lyle on singles by Tommy Davis and Baylor around a walk to Boog Powell. McNally, 7-5, retired 18 of 19 batters following a one-out single by Lou Piniella in the first inning. The Yankees' only serious threat came in the seventh.

Otto Velez, playing his first game since his recall from the minors, walked with one out and reached second on McNally's wild pickoff toss.

The Oriole left-hander retired Thurman Munson and Bill Sudakis on groundouts to retire

Busby Outduels Blue, 2-0

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Steve Busby held Oakland to five singles Saturday night and pitched the Kansas City Royals to a 2-0 victory over the world champion A's.

The 24-year-old right-hander, who pitched a no-hitter against Milwaukee 10 days ago, allowed only one hit over the first seven innings and escaped despite three hits in the ninth thanks to a fine throw by right fielder Al Cowens.

Pinch hitter Jesus Alou singled to start the ninth and Cowens nailed pinch runner John Odum trying to go to third on Bill North's one-out single. North went to third on Bert Campaneris' second single of the game but Sal Bando grounded out.

Buriakov Captures Decathlon

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Vladimir Buriakov of Russia won four of five events Saturday to set a meet record in capturing the men's decathlon at the track and field meet between Russian and United States teenagers.

Buriakov had a chance at the junior world decathlon record of Sepp Zailbauer of Austria but needed to run his final event, the 1500-meters, in 4:11.9 or better.

He faded on the last lap, and Steve Alexander of the United States won the race in 4:34.7, his only victory of the two-day 10-event competition. Buriakov was second in 4:57.5.

Buriakov led after the first five events Friday and Saturday won the 110 meter hurdles in 15 seconds, the discus with 129-11, the pole vault at 14-5¼ and the javelin with a throw in 187-8.

Houston Clips Padres, 3-0

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Tom Griffin's six-hit pitching and Cesar Cedeno's two-run homer carried the Houston Astros to a 3-0 victory over the San Diego Padres Saturday night.

Griffin opened the fifth inning with a double and two outs later Cedeno tagged rookie Dan Spillner, 4-2, for his 17th home run of the baseball season. The setback snapped Spillner's four-game winning streak.

Griffin singled home a run off Dave Tomlin in the eighth following Lee May's single, an infield out and an intentional walk to Doug Rader.

Griffin, 9-3, walked four and struck out the same number in beating the Padres for the third time this season.

The defeat prevented the Padres from moving out of last place in the National League's West Division for the first time since May 7. They remained one game behind fifth-place San Francisco.

San Diego left a runner in scoring position in the second, third, fourth, fifth, eighth and ninth innings.

Fisk Injured—

"Certainly Fisk is one of the premier catchers in baseball, and there's no way to replace a man like that," Johnson said.

"However, we're not going to take a nose dive. We'll still play baseball and we'll play it good."

Bob Montgomery, a veteran backup man, was left as the only experienced catcher. Tim Blackwell, 21, and playing his first full season of Triple A ball with Pawtucket in the International League, was called up to replace Fisk. A switch hitter, Blackwell was batting under .200 at Pawtucket.

GREENWOOD, COOK LEAD THE WAY—Swimming Marks Tumble

By RICHARD H. SMITH Associated Press Writer

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP) — World-record holders Heather Greenwood of Fresno, Calif., and Wendy Cook of Vancouver, B.C., broke meet records Saturday in the second day of the 8th annual Santa Clara International Invitational Swimming and Diving Meet.

Miss Greenwood, 16, who set a world 400-meter freestyle mark here Friday at 4:17.33, won the 200-meter freestyle in 2:05.73. She swam the first half in 1:01.84 and led through the second half to edge Shirley Babashoff of Mission Viejo, Calif., who holds the American record at 2:04.33.

Miss Cook, 17, who set a 100-meter backstroke world mark in New Zealand in January, was hard-pushed in the 200-meter backstroke by Maryanne Graham, 18, of Mesa, Ariz. Miss Cook overtook Miss Graham on the last two strokes for a meet mark of 2:21.89 to Miss Graham's 2:22.00.

A crowd of about 4,000 at Saturday's nationally televised program saw one other individual meet record fall. John Naber, 18, of Ladera Oaks, Calif., posted 2:04.97 in the men's 200-meter backstroke. Out of the other eight finalists, only Bruce Hardcastle, 17, of Lodi, Calif., was able to stay close to Naber.

Novella Calligaris, Italy's 19-year-old Olympic silver medalist, moved up from third on the final lap to win the women's 400-meter medley relay in her best time of the year—5:06.04. Liz Hogan of Lafayette, Calif., was second in 5:08.66. Miss Graham, who led during the first half of the race, dropped back to fifth.

Robin Backhaus, of San Rafael, Calif., also came from behind to win a hotly contested 200-meter men's freestyle by a stroke. His time was 1:56.66. His team of 4:39.212 compared with 4:41.79 for second-place Rod Strachan of Anaheim, Calif.

Mike Brown of Dallas added a victory in the men's one-meter dive to his first place in Friday's 10-meter platform competition. Another Dallas diver, D'Lynn Damron, captured the women's three-meter diving championship.

Winkles said that he was fired "because I couldn't handle Frank Robinson" but the ousted Angel manager also conceded that he was at fault.

Robinson, who had a highly publicized feud with Winkles late last year, was not overly impressed with the recommendation.

"Once something has been said, it stands," Robinson commented.

FOR ANGELS' POST—Bobby Endorsed Robby

ANAHEIM (AP) — Deposed California manager Bobby Winkles says he recommended that the Angels make Frank Robinson his successor.

"He's got a good baseball mind and I told Harry he would make a good manager," Winkles said he told Angel General Manager Harry Dalton.

But Robinson was not named to the position. Instead, Dalton maneuvered Dick Williams out of baseball exile with a $350,000 offer over three years and Williams will arrive to take over the club Monday.

Robinson did not appear distraught Friday over again being snubbed as baseball's first black manager.

"Evidently they (the Angels) considered only one man for the start and from what I can understand they got a good one."

Robinson has managed in the winter league for the past five seasons and has repeatedly aired his managerial aspirations.

Dodgers' Marshall Sets Relief Record

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Reliever Mike Marshall set a major league record with his 10th consecutive appearance but the streaking Los Angeles Dodgers needed ninth inning help from three other pitchers to down the San Francisco Giants 6-4 Saturday.

ON TYRONE'S TRIPLE—Cubs Spank Giants, 5-3

AMARILLO — Midland's Cubs may have trouble winning at home, but the Chicago Cub farmhands stretched their road streak to five in a row by defeating the Amarillo Giants, 5-3, in a Texas League game Friday night.

Wayne Tyrone, whose grand slam homer Thursday in the ninth fell a run short of pulling out a victory against El Paso, spiked a two-run triple as the Cubs rallied for four runs in the sixth, one of two bingles for the Cub third baseman.

Tyrone's blow ignited a furious rhabarb when umpire Bob Nelson ruled the hit down the left field line was fair. Manager Denny Sommers was Marshall, who has appeared in 50 of the Dodgers' 75 games, broke the major league mark of nine straight pitching appearances he shared with Elroy Face, George Schults and Tom Dukes. But the Giants knocked him out in the ninth. Jim Brewer, Geoff Zahn and Charlie Hough came on to get one out apiece and preserve the victory.

The Dodgers, who have won seven of their last eight games, took a 1-0 lead in the third on Joe Ferguson's double, pitcher Doug Rau's single and Dave Lopes' sacrifice fly.

They added three runs in the fourth following a throwing error by third baseman Dave Kingman. Bill Russell's two-run single and a run-scoring single by Rau were the big blows off Charlie Williams, 1-2.

Kingman's eighth homer of the baseball season gave the Giants a run off Rau, 6-3, in the fifth.

Marshall, who has a 9-3 record and 10 saves, took over for Rau with two on and one out in the sixth. He struck out Kingman and worked out of trouble.

But the Giants nipped him for two runs in the eighth on Kingman's two-out single and then loaded the bases with none out in the ninth, knocking him out. They scored one run on a bases-loaded walk issued by Zahn, but Hough came on to get the final out.

very unhappy about the call and a long debate followed.

John Montefusco, who shutout Midland 1-0 in the recent series, at Midland, was the victim and it marked the fourth time the Giant rookie has lost to Midland in five decisions.

Don Schroeder, coming off the disabled list, pitched 5 1/3 innings to gain his first win of the year. He received strong relief help from lefty Budd Schultz and a final inning assist from Paul Zahn. Schultz faced a bases loaded situation in the eighth with one out and got out of it.

HOLLAND'S REP OR POLAND'S LATO DANGEROUS—Wingers To Decide Soccer

By GEOFFREY MILLER

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — George Raynor, one of the most successful coaches in the history of the World Soccer Cup, predicts the 1974 tournament will be won by a winger.

"Watch Johnny Rep of Holland and Grzegorz Lato of Poland," he said. "They could be the key men in this World Cup."

Raynor, an Englishman who has never coached in his native country, scored an amazing success as coach of the all- amateur Swedish team when the World Cup was staged in Sweden in 1958. The Swedes, against all predictions, reached the final.

Previously he coached in Hungary and has often been given the credit for starting Hungary's rise in international soccer.

By extolling wingers in an interview, Raynor went directly against popular fashion. Most of the teams still in contention don't use wingers in the old-fashioned sense of the word.

"But wingers have always won the World Cup ever since 1950," Raynor said.

"That year it was Ghiggia of Uruguay, in 1954 it was Helmut Rahn of West Germany and in 1958 and 1962 it was Garrincha of Brazil."

Raynor admitted his theory broke down in 1966, when England won the cup on their home ground.

"I am cheating a bit there, because although Alan Ball played with a No. 7 on his back he was really a midfielder," he said. "But 1970 was the year of Jairzinho, who scored for Brazil in every round."

Raynor said the men he had named were not necessarily the best players on their teams, but they proved decisive match winners.

The two wingers Raynor singled out in the present tournament have been outstanding performers thus far. Lato shares top scoring honors with the Polish teammate Andrzej Szarmach with five goals, and Rep has scored four.

Meanwhile, Jairzinho, Brazil's winning winger of 1970, is playing for the defending champions again. But he has been used in midfield for most of this tournament.

It is possible for Lato and Rep to be on opposing sides in the final at Munich's Olympic Stadium July 7. Poland and Holland are in different groups in the second round and both are well placed to win their group and advance.

Holland, new favorites at odds of 13-8 according to the London bookies, is expected to win again today when it faces an East German team hit by injuries.

The East Germans will be without key defender Erich Hamann and possibly without another defender, Siegmund Waetzlich. A reserve, Joachim Fritzsche, has the flu.

Holland faces East Germany in Group A, and Brazil plays Argentina, also plagued with injury troubles, in the same group.

BEATS CENTRAL IN CITY FINALS— N. Central Champs

The North Central Yankees came from behind at Henderson Park Friday night to capture the City National Little League Championship with an 11-6 victory over the Central Drillers.

The Yanks, trailing 6-5, heading into the fifth frame, erupted for two runs in the fifth and four in the sixth to take the win.

Winning pitcher Tim Davis shut out the Drillers in the last two frames to preserve the championship in the single elimination tournament. Todd Higgs absorbed the loss for the Drillers in what was the closing game of the National Little League season.

Steven Cherryhomes and Pat Land had doubles for the winners while David Jennings had a two bagger for Central.

North Central pulled off a game ending double play with Brian Davis going to Brent Burchard to take the heat off of Davis. Central pulled off a twin killing in the second inning.

North Central scored two runs in the second frame, but Central came back with a run in the bottom of the inning. Both teams scored twice in the third before the Drillers took a 6-5 lead in the fourth with a big three run inning.

SLAPS GIANTS UNDER NEW PILOT— LA Spoils Westrum Debut

AP Sports Writer

Wes Westrum calls managing the San Francisco Giants his "secret ambition," and despite what he saw Friday in his first night on the job, he's not ready to give up just yet.

The Giants blew an early 3-1 lead, allowed 10 runs over the last four innings and bowed to the Los Angeles Dodgers 11-3 for San Francisco's seventh loss in the past eight games.

Five errors by the Giants, three of them in one inning, didn't help their cause — or Westrum's outlook — any. But the 51-year-old skipper, who took over for Charlie Fox earlier Friday, remained undaunted.

"You don't expect me to panic after one game, do you?" he said. "You just have to forget about this game and think about next two we have with them."

Elsewhere in the National League, the Chicago Cubs and Montreal Expos split a twin-night doubleheader, Chicago winning the opener 3-7 in 18 innings — the longest game of the season — and Montreal romping to a 15-0 win in the nightcap. The Cincinnati Reds and Atlanta Braves also split a twin-nighter, Cincinnati taking the first game 6-5 and Atlanta coming back to win the second 1-0 in 10 innings.

Dodger relief ace Mike Marshall, who came on in the seventh for Tommy John, 11-2, tied a major league record by appearing in his ninth consecutive game, but was more happy with the come-from-behind victory.

Reds 6-0, Braves 5-1
Johnny Bench capped a five-run second inning with a two-run single and Tony Perez belted a solo homer in the fifth to carry Cincinnati past Atlanta in the opener of their twin-night doubleheader, but the Braves gained a split by winning the nightcap on Dusty Baker's 10th-inning home run.

Cubs 8-0, Expos 7-15
Jerry Morales tripled home

Don Kessinger with the winning run in the 18th inning of the first game at Montreal, breaking up the longest major league game of the year and the longest game ever played at Jarry Park. The marathon took four hours, 35 minutes.

In the second game, Dennis Blair, just recalled from the minors, blanked the Cubs on two hits, one a double by former Midland Cub Chris Ward, while Ron Hunt drove in five runs and Tim Lincecum and Jim Cox delivered three RBIs apiece.

Cedeno and Bob Watson, and Leo May's sacrifice fly.

Houston came back for a run in the ninth on a single by Grose, two infield outs and a run-scoring single by Watson. Leo May and Cliff Johnson walked to load the bases, but Larry Hardy came in to pitch for the Padres and got Doug Rader on a popout to end the game.

Hernandez Hit Tips Houston

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Enzo Hernandez drove in the tie-breaking run with a seventh-inning single and then scored what proved to be the winning run, leading the San Diego Padres to a 5-4 victory over the Houston Astros Friday night.

After the Astros had tied the score with three runs in the top of the seventh, Bobby Tolan opened the bottom half of the inning with a triple and scored on Hernandez's third single of the game. Hernandez moved to third on Dave Winfield's single and scored on Nate Colbert's second sacrifice fly of the game.

The Padres took a 1-0 lead in the second on a double by Colbert, a single by Clarence Gason and an infield out. They made it 3-0 in the third on Colbert's sacrifice fly and a run-scoring single by Gason.

The Astros tied the score in the seventh on a double by Tommy Helms, singles by Greg Gross, Roger Metzger, Cesar

Rangers Check Angels

ANAHEIM (AP) — Steve Hargan, recovering from a dismal season in the minors last year, continued his comeback Friday night by scattering nine hits and pitching the Texas Rangers to a 5-3 triumph over the California Angels with ninth-inning help from Steve Foucault.

Hargan, a 31-year-old right-hander who posted a mediocre 5.12 earned run average last year in the minors, raised his record to 6-4. He was relieved with one out in the ninth after an error and two singles loaded the bases. An infield out and another error gave the Angels their final two runs.

Rookie Andy Hassler, who defeated Texas last week for his first major league victory, was chased in the seventh when the Rangers broke open a 2-1 game with a pair of runs.

FRIDAY'S AL RESULTS— Perry Captures 14th Straight

By HERSHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

They had a friendly little shower for Gaylord Perry in Cleveland Friday night but it simply poured on the Boston Red Sox.

After heavy rains held up the start of the game between the Indians and Red Sox for an hour, the unperturbed Perry went out and stopped Boston 2-1 on three meaty singles for his 14th consecutive triumph, just two short of the American League record.

"The rain delay didn't bother me," he said. "We've had a lot of rain this spring. I'm getting used to it."

Not only did the Red Sox suffer their third loss in a row when Dick Drago walked Leron Lee with two out in the ninth inning and George Hendrick doubled him home, but they may have lost All-Star catcher Carlton Fisk for the season.

In scoring the winning run, Lee slid into Fisk, who was blocking the plate, and the catcher suffered ligament damage to his left knee which probably will require surgery.

Perry is one away from the Indians' consecutive victory record of 15 set by Johnny Al-League mark of 16 was set by Walter Johnson and Joe Wood in 1912 and matched by Lefty Grove in 1961 and Schoolboy Rowe in 1964. The major league record is 19.

A 7, Royals 1
Bert Campaneris collected a triple, double and two singles, drove in two runs and scored twice while rookie right-hander Glenn Abbott stopped Kansas City on six hits.

Twins 10, White Sox 3
Minnesota's two hobbled sluggers — Tony Oliva and Harmon Killebrew — had big nights. Oliva collected four hits, including a pair of home runs, and Killebrew hit his 552nd career homer. The triumph was the third in a row and fifth in six games for the Twins.

Tigers 9, Brewers 7
Mickey Stanley and rookie Marvin Lane drove in two runs apiece for Detroit. Lane gave the Tigers a 2-0 lead with a two-run homer in the second inning off loser Kevin Kobel and Stanley's bases-loaded single in the sixth boosted the lead to 6-

San Antonio moved back into first place Friday night in the Texas League's west division with a crunching 17-1 slaughter of El Paso.

The Brewers collected 21 hits off four El Paso pitchers. San Antonio's Rob Bellor went six for six and three other Brewer hitters had three hits each. Larry Anderson hurled a seven-

State MH-MR Board Requests More Cash To Silence Critics

AUSTIN (AP) — The much-maligned State Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation has voted to ask the legislature for almost $1 billion — almost triple its present two-year appropriation.

"We've asked for what is right; we've not asked for what the people of Texas are willing to spend," said board member Lynn Darden of Wichita Falls. Darden said the budget would provide the extra staff and facilities to serve the mentally handicapped as individuals, not as part of a group.

The budget would place increased emphasis on treatment of the mentally ill and the retarded in their home communities rather than in state institutions that sometimes are hundreds of miles away. The $188 million item for community services is nearly six times the present appropriation.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe again is campaigning on a pledge that the legislature will come and go without any new taxes. But even if he is not re-elected, the MHMR appropriation is likely to be far beneath the $916 million requested for the two years beginning Sept. 1, 1975.

The department has been under fire for "warehousing" the retarded, for obsolete buildings at its institutions and for failing to provide individualized treatment for the retarded.

The budget request for operating institutions is $600 million, double the present appropriation. The biggest single cause for the increase is a proposed expansion of the direct care staffs and larger salaries. Staffing ratios for direct care employees, especially at the schools for the retarded, have been well below national standards.

Also in the budget is $71 million for construction—more than twice the amount allocated for the present biennium. Most of the money would be used to replace out-dated buildings and renovate some others in an attempt to meet national standards as soon as possible.

No priorities were set in the budget, leaving it to the legislature's judgment where cuts should be made.

Trial Witnesses Differ Over Leigh's Reputation

Six defense witnesses told the federal court here Friday that Dr. Henry Thomas Leigh, on trial for writing illegal prescriptions, has a good reputation. In Andrews and three called by the government said that reputation is bad.

Rebuttal testimony is slated to resume at 9:30 a.m. Monday.

The Andrews physician has been on trial since Tuesday in connection with an eight-count indictment charging that he wrote prescriptions for state and federal undercover officers without giving them physical examinations or obtaining medical histories.

One of the government witnesses was Price Hager, the informer whose information led to the investigation of Dr. Leigh by agents of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs in mid 1971.

Agent Jerry Wallace, the first witness called by the government Tuesday, said that Hager was with him in the summer of 1971 when they obtained illegal prescriptions from Leigh.

Hager, currently serving concurrent five-year sentences for rape and burglary in a Texas prison, corroborated Wallace's testimony Friday.

He and two other government witnesses — Ector County Dist. Atty. John Green and Odessa Police Det. Sgt. Jack Fillyaw — told the court that Leigh has a bad reputation.

Six Andrews men contradicted that, telling the court that the doctor has a good reputation.

They are Chief Deputy Sheriff G. A. Ragsdale; Evans Holland, cashier of the Andrews First National Bank; Evert Solomon, administrator of Permian General Hospital at Andrews; Forest Noble, an auto dealer at Andrews; Frank Williams, adult and juvenile probation officer at Andrews; and Dr. I. Lalani, an Andrews physician.

South Korean Vessel Is Sunk By Communists

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — North Korean gun-boats sank a South Korean maritime patrol vessel Friday, and the two governments quickly exchanged charges of provocation.

South Korea's chief spokesman, information and Cultural Minister Yoon Chuyung, accused the North of an unprovoked attack against the patrol craft which he said was in international waters protecting fishing boats. The sunken vessel was reportedly in the 200-ton class with a crew of 30.

The number of casualties was not immediately known.

Yoon demanded an apology and return of possible survivors as well as the bodies of any crewmen.

North Korea accused the South of illegally dispatching the boat into Communist waters for provocations. In a broadcast it said North Korean naval forces sank the boat in self-defense and captured some survivors.

The sea clash came only three days after the anniversary of the June 25, 1950, outbreak of the Korean War.

Mexico Bus Crash Kills 29, Injures 60 Or More Others

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A grinding bus crash in the early morning haze north of Mexico City, claimed the lives of 29 passengers and left more than 60 injured, the Red Cross said.

The commuter bus, jammed with almost 100 passengers, slammed into a hillside embankment at 70 miles an hour, 10 miles north of Mexico City early Saturday morning.

Bodies were thrown from the wreckage or crushed beneath the bus. Many of the victims were women and children.

A police official at the scene said the high rate of speed and the overloaded condition of the bus caused the brakes to fail.

Almost 100 firemen and volunteers cut through the wreckage for six hours, removing the dead and injured.

The driver apparently survived the crash, according to a police spokesman, but is listed in serious condition.

The Red Cross said there were no foreigners aboard.

BY FOOT, HORSE, SNOWMOBILE— Lone Doctor Serves 1,700 Square Miles In Wyoming

By JEFFREY ULBRICH
PINEDALE, Wyo. (AP) — Traveling by foot, horse, snowmobile or helicopter, Dr. Thomas Johnston brings medical help to the ill and injured in the towering mountains of the Continental Divide.

The nearest hospital is 77 miles away in Jackson and the closest travel time is Rock Springs, 100 miles away. Johnston's practice includes 3,000 patients in 17,000 square miles of western Wyoming.

For 16 years, Johnston, 43, has traveled the desolate and isolated areas of Wyoming from rugged forest country to the open ranges.

"I didn't pick the big business opportunity, nor did I come here out of a sense of idealism," Johnston said. "It all goes back to the things you dream of, the kind of things you like to do like fishing, hunting and skiing.

"I prefer the rural atmosphere," he said. "Mainly, it's a good place to raise kids, though you suffer economically."

One doctor covering so many miles, many with poor or snow-filled roads, relies on the good judgment of his patients.

"I give a patient credit for being smart," Johnston said. "If I saw every person that might need medical care, I'd go out of my mind."

"If somebody gets backed off a horse and thinks he has broken his pelvis, he doesn't run to the doctor immediately. He waits a few days and if it still hurts, then he goes."

"They know I'm not here 24 hours a day waiting for them to get sick," Johnston said. "Their attitude is, 'If it doesn't hurt, it can't be very bad.'"

But, Johnston says, the remoteness of the area and the tendency to wait to go to the doctor sometimes results in death from curable injuries. But until hospitals come closer, he sees no solution.

A general practitioner, Johnston must rely on his own skill, the instruments and medicine he carries with him and the telephone to contact specialists which are few and far between — 160 miles away in Idaho Falls, Idaho, or 225 miles in Salt Lake City, Utah.

"If I'm not here, I put an ad in the paper and go somewhere else," Johnston said. "They know that whenever I'm in the community, I'm available."

U.S. Will Keep Israeli Air Force Up To Minute

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has agreed to modernize Israel's air force over the next five to 10 years as needed to maintain a balance with Arab air forces, government sources said Saturday.

The agreement in principle does not commit the United States to supply specific types and numbers of advanced fighter planes, it was understood.

But the sources said the Israelis probably will get the new F14, F15, a lightweight and less costly YF16 and YF17 fighter being developed for the U.S. Air Force, or some combination of these planes in the indefinite future.

The key to what Israel finally gets in the next generation of warplanes, beyond the current F4 Phantom, will be determined largely by how Arab air forces develop with Soviet-supplied equipment.

The most important of the Arab air forces is Egypt's. For the time being at least, Russia has stopped sending any new planes to the Cairo government. Nobody knows how long that may last.

Meanwhile, Russia is steadily building up Syria's air force. The latest U.S. intelligence reports say the Soviet Union has delivered 112 combat jets to Syria this year, 24 of them the advanced MIG23.

The new agreement to assure that Israel's air force remains a match for Arab air power came out of a visit here this week by Israeli Defense Minister Shimon Peres.

Over-all, Israel is seeking a massive $1.5 billion a year in U.S. military aid, much of it in grants, for the next five years.

He arrived at Salt Lake International Airport aboard the private jet of Texas businessman Oscar Wyatt Jr.

Wyatt received a Golden Plate Award during the academy's ceremonies.

Earlier this month the Austin, Tex., City Council said it planned to write a strong letter of protest to the academy about giving the award to Wyatt.

Wyatt, founder and president of Coastal States Gas Producing Co., was alleged by the council to have not lived up to contractual agreements.

The council contended Lo-Vaca Gathering Co., a firm affiliated with Coastal States Gas, failed to provide adequate natural gas service to electric generating plants in the Austin area.

Ron Reynolds, assistant executive director of the academy, said, "I open all the mail and I haven't seen any letter on this."

He said most of the letters received by the academy are to congratulate award recipients.

Prices Hiked By Shell Oil

HOUSTON (AP) — Shell Oil Co. says wholesale gasoline prices charged to its dealers will be increased 1.4 cents per gallon effective today.

Shell also increased prices on a wide variety of fuels in its Friday announcement.

The company said the prices resulted from higher costs of foreign raw material and conform to Federal Energy Administration's pricing regulations.

Prices for kerosene, stove oil, premium diesel, diesel fuel and furnace oil were increased 3.2 cents per gallon.

Industrial fuel oil and aviation gasoline were boosted 3 cents per gallon and jet fuel was upped 3.1 cents per gallon.

Shell increased liquefied petroleum gas prices by two cents per gallon, medium fuel oil by 1.5 cents per gallon and lubricants by 1.25 cents per gallon.

Chamber Film Wins Award

An "Award of Excellence" has been given to the Midland Chamber of Commerce for its production of a ten-minute motion picture created for its 1974 annual banquet. The award was made by the American Chamber of Commerce Executives in the field of electronic media for cities from 50,000 to 200,000.

The film, "Midland — 1881 to 1973 and Beyond," was premiered at the chamber's annual membership banquet Jan. 24. It has been shown more than 50 times since then to various clubs, organizations and industrial prospects.

Under the chairmanship of Jack Steele, the film was shot and edited by Don Luttrell and George Thomas. Script and narration was done by Bruce Barker. Others on the committee included Parker Humes and Kent Randle.

The award was announced during the ACCE annual conference in October. Criteria used in the judging included quality of production, achievement of purpose, clarity of message, believability and innovative techniques.

Charles H. Priddy, 1973 chamber president, conceived the project as a method of graphically showing what Midland has accomplished and what it can achieve during the next few years.

THE DRILLING CREW - Several cast members of the Summer Mummer's 1974 production, "Rascality on the Rig," or "Oil's Well That Ends Well," portray the drilling crew in the melodrama, which opens Friday night in the American Legion Hall here. From left are Aaron Cranford, Oscar Russell, Glen Gutman and Leonard West.

... AND A BEVY OF BEAUTIES - A more decorative group of performers are these dancers featured in the music hall-style Olio which will follow all performances of the Summer Mummer's "Rascality on the Rig." The girls are shown rehearsing for Friday's gala opening in American Legion Hall, 206 S. Colorado St.

Summer Mummer Time's Here Again

Oh, joy! Oh, rapture! Oh, good grief! It's Summer Mummer time again!

"Rascality on the Rig," or "Oil's Well That Ends Well," is this year's epic production, with opening night scheduled Friday in American Legion Hall, 206 S. Colorado St. Performances will continue each Friday and Saturday night through August.

Newcomers should be advised that the Summer Mummer is not a heat rash or any other hot weather disorder; rather, it is a Tall City entertainment institution created by Midland Community Theatre. This will be the 28th season for the Mummer, and each year their fame has grown. This year, in fact, it might be accurate to call them "World Famous."

A performance of "Perils on the Pecos," another classic Mummer drama, was presented at the recent Maytime Festival in Dundalk, Ireland. Whether the presentation helped or hindered international understanding, but a good time was had by all.

The Summer Mummer show is more or less a traditional than most, depending on laughs rather than on heart-rending drama and pathos. Each production is written especially for West Texas audiences, with plenty of local references and sight gags, guffaws and belly laughs. There are even movie sequences interspersed in the midst of its incredible plot.

Third Appearance

And speaking of incredible plots, this year's classic, "Rascality on the Rig," is based on the preposterous notion that there may be oil in West Texas. "Rascality" is from the pen of former Midlander Bill Davis, and this is its third appearance on the Summer Mummer stage. It was first presented in 1957, and was repeated in 1960. Many appropriate revisions have been made to the "Rascality" script to bring this drama of the oil field up to current energy crisis standards and specifications.

Leading the search for black gold in West Texas is, naturally, the hero, Terence Trueblue, portrayed with feeling by Ron Hughes. His adversary, Lester Leasehold, is diabolically double-cast, with John Meyer and Harry Harrison alternating in the villainous role. Leasehold is aided in his evil deeds by Ralph Rockhound, a never-do-well geologist, played by Jim Hansen. Assisting the hero is Sliderule Simpson, to be alternately played by Jim Heck and Lynn Jones. The fair damsel is Patience Plugback, innocently acted by Brenda Gale and Sheryl Herrington. Her beloved (Caryl and Robert Volkman) all of whom add immeasurably to the wandering plot. In lesser but no less important roles are James Mooney, Glen Gutman, Leonard West, Aaron Cranford and Stan Jacobs.

Directing this stellar cast is MCT's Art Cole, with aid and assistance from stage managers John and Susan Chain. The style. Directors are Shirley Hansen and Cherry Jones. The world-renowned Mummer's band will provide accompaniment.

There will be a total of 18 performances of the Mummer's Ragtime Piano Championship contest. The event is expected to draw several hundred visitors to listen to the old-time piano competition while enjoying the barbecue to be served by the Lubbock - The music and lyrics will be pure Gilbert and Sullivan. Only the format will be different when the Texas Tech Music Theatre offers its summer production of "H.M.S. Pinafore" in a series of dinner theater performances this week.

The operetta, in costume and with a nautical setting, is being staged in-the-round as a highlight of an evening of musical comedy which will begin with a buffet dinner in the University Center ballroom. Dinner will be served beginning at 6:30 p.m. and performances of the operetta will start at 7 p.m. Performances are scheduled Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights. Tickets, priced at $3.95 per person, are on sale daily at the University Center, and they may be reserved by telephoning 742-4151.

"Pinafore" is one of the best-loved stage works resulting from the collaborative talents of William S. Gilbert, librettist, and Sir Arthur S. Sullivan, composer. Designed chiefly to amuse, it has been doing just that for almost a century with such engaging ballads as "We Sail the Ocean Blue," "Poor Little Buttercup," "When I Was a Lad," and "I Am the Captain of the Pinafore."

"Pinafore" is frothy - and sometimes improbable - plot is the story of star-crossed lovers: Ralph Rackstraw, the lowly seaman who has fallen in love with Josephine, the captain's daughter, and of Mrs. Cripps (Buttercup), the peddler-woman who has lost her heart to the "well-bred" captain.

Benjamin King, a graduate music major, will portray the Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Porter, K.C.B., First Lord of the Admiralty.

Appearing as Mrs. Cripps, the Little Buttercup of the song, will be Vicki McCormick (Mrs. Benjamin) King who has sung leading roles in the summer theater production, "Texas," at Palo Duro State Park.

The principal tenor role of Ralph Rackstraw is assigned to Edward Quillin, senior from Irving, while Mark Rogers, junior music major from Littlefield, sings the role of the dour Dick Deadeys, and 13-year-old Kevin Parker of Lubbock will be seen as Tom Tucker the midshipmate.

A large supporting cast will be portraying sailors and marines of the man o'war, as well as sisters, cousins and aunts. Among the supporting group is a TTU student from Midland, Joe Callan.

Dr. Campbell Johnson, director of the TTU Music Theatre is staging and directing the production, with assistance from Prof. Peggy Willis, member of the university's dance faculty.

Ragtime Festival Set At Kerrville

KERRVILLE - The second of three special music festivals scheduled at Kerrville this summer will be a highlight of Independence Day week here.

It is the annual Kerrville Ragtime Festival, scheduled to open Thursday afternoon and continue through Saturday with a variety of special events and entertainments.

The series of festivals began with the Kerrville Folk Festival held here Memorial Day weekend. The series will conclude with the first annual Kerrville Bluegrass and Country Music Festival, scheduled for the Labor Day weekend.

The upcoming ragtime festival will get under way at 2 p.m. Thursday in Kerrville City Park, with the free and popular Texas Ragtime Piano Championship contest. The event is expected to draw several hundred visitors to listen to the old-time piano competition while enjoying the barbecue to be served by the Kerrville Jaycees. There also will be three evening concerts during the ragtime festival, to be held in a new outdoor theater at Quiet Valley Ranch, located nine miles south of Kerrville.

The new theater provides 1,000 bench seats but many fans will bring their own lawn chairs and blankets and lounge the evenings away.

Tickets for the evening events will be $4.50 for adults, with children under 12 to be admitted free of charge. In addition, there will be concerts at 3 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, when admission will be only $1 per person.

Ragtime Festival headliners will include world-famous traditional jazz stars, such as pianists Teddy Wilson and Dick Wellstood, drummer Ray Bauduc and veteran corset luminary Max Kaminsky, plus Texas ragtime champions Mark Hess of San Antonio and Terry Waldo of Columbus, Ohio.

The role of Josephine is double-cast with Jana Bullard as "the lass that loved a sailor" Tuesday and Friday, and Paula Haines singing the romantic lead on Wednesday and Saturday.

Tim King of Lubbock is cast as Josephine's father, Capt. Corcoran, the commanding officer of the H.M.S. Pinafore.
