Jacobsen Pleads Guilty In Bribe

Highwire Walker Thrills Crowds But Not Police

as a professional stuntman from France took a tightrope walk between the rooftops of the World Trade Center's twin 110-story towers this morning.

He thrilled the curious crowds below, at one point hanging by his heels, as police rushed to rooftops to apprehend him. When it was over, they took him to a hospital's mental ward for observation.

The two rooftops are about 90 feet apart.

Police at the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey said he was Phillipe Petit, and that he had done similar stunts at the Elffel Tower in Paris.

It appeared, the police said, that Petit and two photographers with him had been planning the stunt for some time. They arrived in the United States about Aug. 1.

As Petit, clad in black tights and carrying a balance pole, walked from one rooftop to about 10 feet away from the second rooftop. He stopped there for about four minutes, then turned and walked back again.

Petit and his friends apparently hid overnight in the topmost stories of the structures, New York's tallest. Shortly after dawn, one of the three fired a cable with a crossbowtype device to the other .

With the cable secured and guy wires attached to prevent sway, Petit began his walk. When he returned to the first tower police were waiting.

The Trade Center buildings are the tallest in the world next to the Sears Tower in Chicago, which is 100 feet taller. Petit, 24, and an assistant, Jean Francois Heckel, 25, were taken to Beekman-Downtown Hospital, where they were placed under psychiatric evaluation. Photographers perched on the north tower apparently eluded police.

"They've been preparing for this for weeks," said the hospital's executive director, Geoffrey High. "They've been taking supplies to the roof, and today they did their act."

Indictment In Scanda Is Dropped

WASHINGTON (AP) Texas lawyer Jake Jacobsen today pleaded guilty to a charge of bribing his one-time friend John Connally with $10,000 in milk money.

In return, the Watergate spe cial prosecution force agreed to drop the government's seven-count indictment against Jacobsen in an unrelated savings and loan scandal in San Angelo, and to bring no further charges against Jacobsen concerning matters already uncovered by the prosecutors.

Jacobsen was indicted last week at the same time that Connally was named in a fivecount indictment charging bribery, perjury and a conspiracy to obstruct justice. Connally is scheduled to enter his plea on Friday and has said he is innocent.

Jacobsen promised proseutors to testify truthfully at a trial if called as a witness. He is expected to be the Watergate prosecutor's star witness at the anticipated trial of Connally, a former secretary of the Treasury and one-time governor of Texas.

Jacobsen, said, in pleading before U.S. District Court Judge George Hart Jr., that he had given Connally two $5,000 payments on behalf of his client, Associated Milk Producers Inc., the nation's largest dairy cooperative.

The money allegedly was giv-

Most Of Nation Enjoying Cool, Wet Weather

By The Associated Press Most of the nation enjoyed cool weather tinged with wetness today as temperatures dipped into the 50s and 60s.

Light drizzle fell in the Midwest, relieving drought-stricken farm regions, But winds churned through central Wisconsin and some funnel clouds were reported.

Scattered thunderstorms also sifted through the Gulf and Atlantic Coast states. A cold front pushed storms into the Rocky Mountain regions.

Clouds and fog lingered over portions of the Pacific Coast, but most of the region enjoyed fair skies as did the Mississippi Valley and upper New England. Temperatures before dawn ranged from 52 at Bradford, Pa., to 95 at Needles, Calif.

Super Farms Turning Out Most Of Food, Fiber For Nation Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — New in cities — exceeded for the government figures show that first time the average take-home pay of city and other non-farms of all kinds last year farms of $100,000 or more each turned out almost one half of the nation's food and filher last year.

At the same time, small farms with sales of only $2,500 or less produced a declining share of U.S. farm goods. Production from those, often described by agricultural economists as rural residences rather than farms, accounted for only 1 per cent of 1973 output.

The new figures were included in an annual farm income.

In cities — exceeded for the average take-home pay of city and other non-farms of all kinds last year capita hasis, compared with 1972. That trend has been going on since the 1930s.

Between the super farm and small unit extremes, the general pattern showed a distinct moving up to larger sales categories.

The top three, for example, involve farms with 1973 sales ranging from $20,000 each to the highest category of $100,000 or more.

Last year, the report showed that nationally there were 26,000 fewer farms of all kinds last year capital hasis, compared with 1972. That trend has been going on since the 1930s.

Church Growth In Russia

Church membership is said to be growing in the Soviet Union, believe-it-or-not!

A Soviet church official attending a Baptist youth conference at Portland, Ore., said the hostility between church and state seems to be easing and church membership in Russia is on the increase.

The Rev. Alexsei Bichlov, head of the Soviet Baptist Union, was quick to say, however, that many problems remain in his country.

Don't just do something, stand there."

The story goes that a movie director coined this malapropism in exasperation with an actor who didn't understand his scene and tried to hide his confusion by walking around the set. Today, many people are confused, but they want to do something, anything so energy problems

Congress is a good example. Legislators are proposing all manner of "answers" to the U.S. energy problem. Trouble is, many of the energy bills under consideration wouldn't increase domestic energy supply, which is what we really need. And some of Congress' ideas would worsen the problem, which is what we don't need.

Here are a few: "Answer": Extend natural gas price regulation to crude oil.

Result: Shortages of gasoline and heating oil as bad as today's severe and worsening shortage of natural gas. When the Federal Power Commission began setting natural gas prices in 1954, the United States had 22 years of natural gas reserves. Now we have 11, because the FPC's very low prices have stimulated demand while discouraging investment to find new reserves. The policy that made us short of gas is hardly the answer to increasing oil

"Answer": Roll back U.S. crude oil prices. Result: This would bring down profits, all right. But it would increase our dependence on imported oil. Is that what people really want?

"Answer": Create a federal oil and gas corporation.

Result: Expenditure of billions in taxpayers' dollars and almost certainly a lengthening of the energy shortage. The proposed government company would have first choice, free of charge, of 20 percent of all federal lands put up for lease, though this land certainly could be developed faster and more efficiently by private producers. It would need two or three years to start up and it would drain talent and drilling equipment from the private companies, hampering their production. Because it would be subsidized by tax dollars, it would be meaningless as a yardstick for the private sector.

"Answer": Expand government regulation of pipelines.

Result: This needless regulation is based on the false premise that small producers are being squeezed out of the nation's pipelines by the major producers, who built and own most of the lines. The fact is that 909 companies shipped petroleum products through 51 of the country's 55 product pipelines last year. And 806 of these shippers had no ownership in the "Answer": Refuse to allow any but small producers to bid jointly for exploration. rights to government lands.

Result: Less competition and lower bonuses to the government. The premise here is wrong, too. In three recent federal offshore lease sales, non-majors were successful in obtaining interests in about 68 percent of the tracts offered. By bidding jointly with larger companies they can participate in very expensive acreage they couldn't otherwise afford.

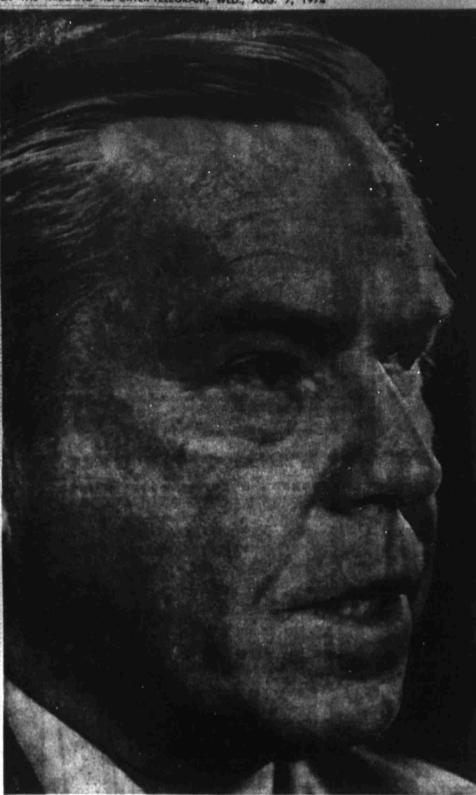

Think we're reaching for some of these examples? Believe it or not, they were all contained in just one of over 3000 bills now before the Congress which would adversely affect the oil industry. It's called the Consumer Energy Act of 1974, but anyone can see it is intended more to punish oil companies than to help the consumer. If passed as written, this bill could hobble the entire industry, but the real victim would be energy supplies—and the consumer.

We think there's a lot to the saying, "If there's no need to legislate, there's a need not to legislate." We also think there are actions Congress can take to help solve the energy shortage. But they demand cool thinking-not action for action's sake. And the end should be to produce more energy-not less.

"BAPTISM" NO. 3

this subject, we saw from the Word of God the absolute necessity of being baptized in order to be saved, and the fact that baptism is a burial in water and NOT sprinkling nor pouring. (Mk. 16:16; Ro. 5:3, 4) deals with the "subject" for baptism. Just who has been commanded to be immersed in water? Baptism being for the "remission of sins" (Ac. 2:38) and for those who are capable of "believing the gospel" (Mk. 16:16), one must be forced to conclude that only those who have sins to be washed away, and who have the capabilities of believing, are to

Not a few good people have come to believe that infants should have water sprinkled on them as an act of baptism. Hence they have become members of that denomination, not of their own will, but by the will of their parents. It would be just as reasonable for me to put a gun to your temple and say, "Unless you are baptized I will kill you," as for a parent to have a child dedicated to some religious movement against the child's will.

as for a parent to have a child dedicated to some religious movement against the child's will.

Neighbor, allow me to show you why infants are NOT subject to being baptized. Jesus said, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved and he that believeth not shall be condemned." (Mk. 16:16) CAN AN INFANT CHILD BELIEVE? If not, he is not subject to be baptized! Peter said, "... repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of your sins, ..." (Ac. 2:38) DO INFANTS HAVE SINS TO BE "WASHED AWAY?" While I am aware that there WASHED AWAY?" While I am aware that there are those that affirm that babies are "born in sin" as a result of "inheriting the sins of their parents,"

as a result of "inheriting the sins of their parents."

I deny such to be in harmony with the revealed truth of God!

Since babies cannot believe, and do not have sins to be remitted in baptism; and since baptism is immersion and NOT sprinkling nor pouring, both the subject and the action is out of harmony with the teachings the Scriptures. BABIES ARE NEITHER SAVED FOR LOST . . . BABIES ARE SAFE!!

But Campo Lindo — Beautiful Field — is a resort with a difference: It's a summer camp for dogs whose owners want to get them out of the stifling city or give Man's Best Friend a treat while Dog's Best Friend a treat while Dog's Best Friend a treat while Dog's Best Friend goes off on his own vacation.

"I couldn't find anywhere but a stuffy boarding kennel to put my own two when I had to go off on a business trip," explained owner Ron de Strulle of Manhattan. "So I bought this place and opened the camp."

"This place" is 75 acres of field and forest with a crystal-clear mountain stream tributes.

The daily schedule of the campers—"we never call them dogs"—is much like that of children at camp, with some differences.

For instance, reveille at 9

CARPET TALK

KITCHEN CARPETING WAS a novelty just a couple of years ago, it seems. Many a housewife might have looked longingly at one of those bright new carpeted model kitchens and thought, "It's not for me . . . not with all the stains and spills I have to

And the fibers are non-absor ent, which means water and other liquid spills stand "or top of" the carpet, easily sponged up and wiped away. The high cleanability means that grease and food stains are no worry, either. Best of all, these new carpets bring a new life of decoraive beauty and color to the kitchen . . . along with a great bonus in peace and quiet. Not to mention the savings in foot

Speaking of savings, you'll get the greatest values anywhere in carpeting for your kitchen hath indoors or outdoors when you look over our choice display of these popular new carpetings. Come look!
