Gulf Finals Dual Ward Area Strike

Gulf Oil Corp. has dually completed as an Ellenburger pay opener its No. 2 P. Walker, opener of the one-well Quito, East (Fusselman) gas field of Ward County, 10 miles west of Poyote.

Calculated, absolute open flow was for 11,270 million cubic feet of gas per day, producing through perforations at 19,270-20,150 feet.

It was completed May 30 for 48 million cubic feet of dry gas per day through Fusselman perforations at 17,090-17,143 feet.

Drilled to 20,690 feet, it has a 5 1/2-inch liner hung from 15,645-20,688 feet, is plugged back to 20,190 feet.

Location is 1,900 feet from southeast and southwest lines of section 40, A. J. Wilson survey, about four miles northwest of Ellenburger gas production in the Caprito field.

Three Sectors Get Ventures

Exploration has been planned for Pecos, Tom Green and Kimble counties.

Tom Rasprussen, Midland, will drill No. 1 Woodward as a 1,500-foot wildcat in Pecos County, 10 miles southwest of Girvin.

Location is 990 feet from north and 467 feet from east lines of section 2, TCRR survey, abstract 9704. It is a south offset to a 1,625-foot failure, and two miles northwest of Queen gas production in Girvintex field.

Tom Green Probe
Texas-West Oil & Gas Corp., Midland, will drill a 5,800-foot lower Strawn searcher, No. 1 Lanthicum, in Tom Green County.

Drill site is 2,000 feet from north and east lines of section 1, block 4, H&TC survey, four miles west of San Angelo and 1/2 mile northeast of the one-well Lanthicum (Strawn) field. Kimble Try MWJ Producing Co., Midland, accounted for a 2,000-foot Strawn probe in Kimble, nine miles west of Junction. It is No. 2 Lenore Mudge.

It spots 8,000 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines of E. Brush survey 49, abstract 37, 1 1/4 miles north of the Shajumar (Canyon and Pennsylvania) gas field. It also is about 3,000 feet southeast of its No. 1 Mudge, an active wildcat.

Confirmer Finals In Edwards Sector

North American Royalties, Midland, has completed its No. 2-11 Ragsdale as a second well and location southeast extension to the Companero, North (Canyon) field of Edwards County, 8 1/2 miles northwest of Rocksprings.

It finished for a calculated, absolute open flow of 300,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations at 2,230-2,253 feet, which had been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid and fractured with 19,000 gallons and 19,500 pounds of sand.

Prior to plugging back to 2,259 feet, it tested through perforations at 3,623-3,731 feet. It spots 2,623 feet from north (Continued On Page 13B)

Turks Complete Cyprus Drive

Government Driven Out Of Nicosia

By The Associated Press
Turkish forces took the key western town of Lefka today, completing their drive to slice off the northern third of Cyprus for a proposed autonomous Turkish state, the Turkish Cypriot radio reported.

The announcement came at a 6 p.m.—11 a.m. CDT—cease-fire ordered by Turkish Premier Bulent Ecevit was to go into effect. But there was no immediate word the truce was being observed.

Famagusta Already Captured
Turkish forces had already captured Famagusta, 35 miles east of the capital of Nicosia, and had been driving on Lefka, 30 miles west of the capital.

At the same time, Turkish air and artillery attacks forced the Cyprus government to abandon the capital and flee to the south coast port of Limassol.

Cyprus President Glafcos Clerides and his ministers fled so hurriedly that the doors of the deserted presidential offices were left banging in the wind.

Building Deserted
There was no evidence that any attempt had been made to remove files or other papers. The building was completely deserted.

Ecevit said the military objectives did not exceed the political ones Turkey asked for at the Geneva conference table.

The objectives apparently involve carving out a Turkish sector in the northern third of the island which would be cut off from the south by a line bisecting Cyprus from Lefka in the west to Famagusta in the east.

War Danger Lessened
Meanwhile, the danger of war between Greece and Turkey lessened as Greek Premier Constantine Caramanlis said in a broadcast that the Greek army would not reinforce the Greek Cypriot troops because this would leave Greece defenseless.

Turkish tanks late Thursday afternoon rolled into Famagusta, the Mediterranean island's chief port. The action established a 35-mile line from the capital, Nicosia, to the east coast.

Associated Press Correspondent Peter Arnett reported that the Greek Cypriot national guard and police fled from the city, and the Greek Cypriot quarter appeared deserted. He said there were rifle shots and an occasional loud explosion like tank fire as the Turks moved through the Greek quarter mopping up.

Naval Base Captured
The Turkish radio said the Turks also captured the naval base at Boghaz, 10 miles north of Famagusta.

The U.N. Security Council held two more meetings in New York and issued its fourth appeal for a cease-fire. President Ford urged immediate compliance.

Talks Could Reopen
In Ankara, Foreign Minister Turan Guner said Turkey might accept appeals to reopen the Geneva negotiations "if we are accorded a more serious and responsive attitude."

Turkey walked out of the Geneva talks on Wednesday and resumed military action when the Greek Cypriots rejected a Turkish proposal for creation of six autonomous Turkish Cypriot enclaves scattered around the island.

The Turks made that proposal after the Greeks and Greek Cypriots rejected the first Turkish proposal for the division of Cyprus along the Lefka-Nicosia-Famagusta line into a federation of Greek and Turkish Cypriot states. Both proposals would have given the Turkish Cypriots about a third of the island's territory although they make up only about a fifth of the population.

WITH CLASSES OPENING MONDAY—

School Days Can Be Fun

The first day of school needn't be a wrenching experience for both parent and child, agree Bryant W. Saxon and Payton E. Cook, both administrators for the Midland Independent School District.

"The whole experience on the first day should be as positive and pleasant as possible," contends Cook, director for the Department of Pupil Services, "before, during and after school hours."

With fall term classes beginning Monday, parents of children entering school for the first time are now making final preparations for the date with their children.

Cook advocates the approach of "building kids up to the idea of school being fun" in order to emotionally prepare youngsters for the beginning of their educations.

Prior to the opening of classes, both administrators recommend taking the child to the campus a few times, perhaps touring the building and investigating facilities.

In the case of a specific problem concerning a child, Cook suggests that parents speak with the school principal.

Saxon, director of the Department of Curricular Services, pointed out that now is an appropriate time to review with a child safety factors such as staying on the school campus, not accepting rides from strangers and observing traffic signals.

While the city provides crossing guards at major intersections near the elementary schools, knowledge of bicycle and pedestrian safety is still essential for the journey to and from school, the administrators said.

On the first day of classes, youngsters should be at school on time. Whether or not the parent should accompany his child into the classroom should depend on the maturity of the individual child, Saxon said.

Simply depositing a child on the school campus would be the best course of action for a mature youngster, Saxon said, "but it might be better to take an immature youngster to the classroom—but don't linger."

Cook concurred, saying parents should bring children to school "expecting a happy day, and leave them."

Neither administrator approves of a parent staying with his son or daughter even withstanding a torrent of tears. If a child is truly unable to face an entire day of school, the parent is later called to retrieve him and then gradually build the child up to a full day, if necessary.

As a parent's attitude can be mirrored by the child, Cook (See SCHOOL Page 2A)

Congress Moves To Slow Inflation

By JIM LUTHER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress is rushing to comply with President Ford's request for weapons to use in the battle against galloping inflation.

Acting three years to the day after the Nixon administration first froze wages and prices, banking committees in both houses approved a bill creating a White House agency to monitor the economy.

But members of the House and Senate emphasized they neither expect nor desire the new agency to lead to a new round of wage-price controls. And there was a widespread feeling that the new agency really won't be able to do much to halt inflation.

But, as Chairman John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., of the Senate panel explained, "This is his (Ford's) first effort to do something and I think we ought to give him the modest power he asks for."

Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., of the House committee, said, "Many of us have doubts about the effectiveness of this task force approach but let's give the President's suggestion a try."

Both houses are expected to approve the bill Monday, meaning the measure could go to Ford for his signature by midweek.

The bill would create a White House agency with no enforcement power, but with authority to constantly monitor wage and price increases, productivity, shortages and other economic factors with the aim of giving the government the information it needs to move against inflation.

The House committee approved the measure 27-7. The Senate panel accepted it on a voice vote without dissent.

The new agency won the endorsement earlier on Thursday of representatives of business and labor.

Andrew J. Biemiller, chief lobbyist for the AFL-CIO, repeated the federation's opposition to wage-price controls, contending that nothing was controlled under the Nixon administration's program except wages.

Biemiller added that labor will go along with the agency, even though describing it as "a public relations gimmick."

E. Douglas Kenna, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, said business can accept the monitoring agency so long as it is clear there is no authority to control wages and prices.

In other economic developments Thursday:—The Commerce Department announced the dramatic increase in the price of foreign oil raised the U.S. balance-of-payments deficit in the second quarter to $6.3 billion.

—Ford met with his chief economic advisers for the second time in a week to discuss inflation.

The accidental death rate in 1973 was 55.8 fatalities per 100,000 persons. The 1972 rate was 56.2.

About 117,000 persons lost their lives in accidents in each of the last two years, the council said.

CHICAGO (AP)—The death rate from all types of accidents in the United States dropped less than one per cent during 1973, the National Safety Council said today.

Dyess Airman Dies In Suicide Plunge

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A 20-year-old airman squeezed through protective bars at the HemisFair Tower here Thursday night and leaped 620 feet to his death after phoning a television station of his plans.

He was identified as Airman I.C. Ronnie Scott, stationed at Dyess Air Force base at Abilene. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aviloid Scott, said Ronnie had not appeared depressed before the jump. He left behind a 19-year-old estranged wife in Boston, Mass.

Police said Scott had been seen using a pay telephone from an observation deck. Two security guards tried to grab him.

"He just crawled through the bars and was gone," said guard Paul Rodriguez who was three feet away. "I grabbed for him but couldn't get him."

The protective bars are six inches apart.

The guards and several policemen went to the tower shortly before the jump after a television newsman received a call from a man who told him he would give him a good news story by jumping from the tower.

The newsman, Gene Lively of WOAI-TV, called police.

"I couldn't believe it was happening," a witness said. There were about 30 persons on the observation deck.

Guard Santos Martinez said he saw Scott using a pay telephone from the observation deck. He said he questioned him but Scott told him he was "just messing around."

Night Thunderstorms Splash Scattered Areas

Thunderstorms that dropped rain on parts of Southeast and West Texas and the Panhandle late Thursday dissipated by dawn today.

The most severe thunderstorms occurred near Dalhart, Childress and El Paso after sunset.

The National Weather Service at Midland Air Terminal predicted maximum temperatures today and Saturday in the upper 90s, with the low tonight due to be near 70.

The maximum temperature Thursday in the Tall City was 97, and this morning's low was 70.

Early today, skies were partly cloudy in the Panhandle, far West Texas and inland sections of South Central Texas and mostly clear elsewhere in the state.

Predawn temperatures ranged from 62 degrees at Marfa to 82 at Galveston.

Childress at 102 and Fort Worth and Waco at 101 were the hottest spots Thursday.

Maximums elsewhere were in the 90s except along the coast, where highs were in the upper 80s, The Associated Press reported.

Forecasters predicted scattered thundershowers in North-west Texas and extreme East Texas this evening.

Life's Golden Years No Time To Rest, Says Marijo Collins

By LUANNA CROW
Marijo King Collins would probably laugh at anyone who might suggest that life's golden years are a time for rest, relaxation and enjoying the fruits of lifelong labors.

Mrs. Collins, who declines to advertise her age because "when people know how old you are, they pigeon-hole you," has begun more projects in the last few years than many people do in an entire lifetime. She even returned to college 10 years ago and emerged with a bachelor's degree.

The daughter of pioneer Midlander J. M. King, she is dedicating a barn—her home and orchard Saturday before a crowd of longtime friends, relatives and some of the people who have assisted with her most recent project, an orchard on the old family property.

After a checkered career ranging from housewife to parachute packer, Mrs. Collins decided a few years ago to put in an orchard on her father's land.

"He loved this land so, and no one else has ever owned it," she said. "He'd be so pleased to know I'm making things grow and producing on it."

While she was making plans for her orchard, which includes mostly pecan trees along with a smaller number of fruit trees, she began to construct her barn as a necessity for the farming venture.

"Then I got sentimental about it," Mrs. Collins explained. She decided to modify the barn's interior to be liveable and to pass it down as an inheritance for her descendants.

Today Mrs. Collins' barn is a comfortable, spacious dwelling located on her 281 acres southeast of Midland. From the outside, it looks like a traditional barn, complete with weather

LaDoyce Lambert Resigns As Managing Editor Of R-T

LaDoyce Lambert, managing editor of The Reporter-Telegram for the last 5 1/2 years, has resigned to accept a position in the Trust Department of The First National Bank of Midland. The resignation was effective Thursday. He will join the bank's staff Monday.

Lambert joined The Reporter-Telegram Sept. 15, 1962, as a general assignment reporter. He was named city editor in 1966 and became managing editor on Feb. 1, 1969.

As it was constructed partially with second-hand materials, the interior includes several local antiques, beginning with the front door which for 50 years opened the way to the First National Bank of Midland. It was originally hung in 1908 after the first building was destroyed by fire.

Rising from the barn's ground floor to Mrs. Collins' bedroom

(originally the hayloft) is a wrought iron stairway retrieved from the old Basham and Shepherd Hardware and Furniture Store, which was in business during her high school years.

Beneath the bedroom, the open-beamed ceiling in her kitchen area is constructed from rafters also saved from the old store. Mrs. Collins is particularly pleased to have them, as the Bashams were her friends.

Another bit of Midland memorabilia is in the pioneer daughter's possession—part of the terra cotta facade from the old Scharbauer Hotel. Although she has yet to find the right place to display it, it is significant to her, as her late husband had formerly managed the Scharbauer Cattle Co.

The interior of the barn, which is 48 feet long and 28 feet wide, is decorated in rustic red, black, white and a touch of gold. The flooring is red cement and all the walls are white. The ceiling of the barn is open-beamed and covered in acoustical material.

This lived-in barn even features bathrooms downstairs as well as upstairs, where the bedroom floor is covered in green shag carpet. Also upstairs is one of Mrs. Collins' prize possessions, the bed she was born in and sleeps in to this day. She is currently gold-leafing it, after already having had it sandblasted.

the Scharbauer Cattle Co. Mrs. Collins was a housewife 20 years before being a widow at the age of 39 with two children. She then went to work as a clerk followed by a stint packing parachutes during the war. She was secretary to the county judge eight years before buying the "Tots and Teens" shop in Fort Stockton. After her children were grown and educated she sold the shop and began to travel, visiting 13 countries and numerous states. "It gave me a taste of what the rest of the world is like," she said.

Her next venture was returning to school. She entered Sul Ross University in 1964, graduating in 1969 with a degree in speech and a minor in English.

"It was really enjoyable, but hard work," Mrs. Collins remembered. "I didn't really know if I'd get a degree, but I didn't fail, so I just kept going." She commuted daily to Alpine, staying over in the girls' dormitory if she had a late laboratory. Of the students she met, she said it was "amazing" how nice they were to her.

The same year Mrs. Collins earned her degree, her daughter, Mrs. Bill Riggs of South Pasadena, Calif., completed her masters and her son, John W. Collins Jr. of Dallas, earned his Ph.D. in jurisprudence.

After completing her degree at Sul Ross, she went to East Texas State University to get her library qualifications. She returned to Fort Stockton in 1970 and began work as the church librarian for the First Baptist Church there.

Mrs. Collins now commutes between Fort Stockton where she has lived in the same house more than 40 years to Midland, the barn and the orchard.

Saturday's dedication, expected to draw an estimated 120 persons, will include the Rev. Robert Schmeltkeop of First Baptist in Fort Stockton delivering a service and acting as emcee. The church quartet will sing "Bless This Barn."

Briscoe Apologizes For 48 Personal Calls Daughter Made

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe has apologized for 48 personal telephone calls made at state expense by his daughter, Janey, from the Governor's Mansion to the daughter's husband at their San Antonio number.

"I'm sorry I didn't know about it. It won't happen again," Briscoe said Thursday after being made aware of the calls by a query from The Associated Press.

Scores of other personal, long distance calls have been made from the mansion and paid for by the state since Briscoe, the wealthiest chief executive in Texas history, moved in.

The governor's apology was relayed through his press aide, Bob Hardesty, who said Briscoe immediately wrote a check for $147.06 to reimburse the state for the daughter's calls to her husband, Ed Vaughan.

Earlier Thursday, Hardesty told The AP a telephone credit card is used for all personal calls made by Briscoe, his wife and their children.

The comptroller's office will not pay for calls from state telephones unless they are related to state business. However, all the expense vouchers containing the telephone bills are certified by Briscoe's aides, and the comptroller's office accepts that certification.

An AP check of telephone records, state expense vouchers and state pay warrants shows that in 10 of the 19 months Briscoe has been in office 106 calls have been made to 29 telephone numbers in Uvalde, the governor's home town. That is more than half of all the state-paid long distance calls from the mansion.

The records in the comptroller's office and at the State Board of Control are complete. The clerk at the State Board of Control who is supposed to make copies of telephone records failed to do so for nine of the 19 months.

The calls to Uvalde include 41 Briscoe's other daughter, Cele, 18.

Other calls to Uvalde that appear to have no connection with state business include:

- Two to Briscoe's mother
- Two to the Palace Drug Store
- Six to a hairdresser, Larry Taylor Coffey
- Five to the M&M Furniture Store
- One to the HEB Grocery Store
- One to Richard's Jewelry & Gifts Inc.
- Two to the Lutheran Church

—Four to Briscoe's office in the First State Bank of Uvalde and one call to the bank.

For the 10 months, the state-paid long distance calls from the mansion totaled 196, and the total bill, before taxes, was $328.67.

Briscoe reportedly owns approximately 300,000 acres of farm and ranch land, and he leases another 600,000, giving him control of more land perhaps than any other Texas citizen.

The legislature gives him $83,000 a year to run the mansion, most of which goes for salaries to eight mansion employees, including cooks and maids.

The state's first family must buy its own food, but all maintenance costs and such things as replacement of furniture or drapes comes out of the mansion appropriation.

Ford's New Counsel To Handle Tapes Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has placed in the hands of his new White House counsel the issue of what to do with Richard M. Nixon's Watergate tapes, a source close to the President said today.

The source reported that Philip Buchen, a long-time Ford friend who was named White House counsel Thursday, was handed the issue because it was "better to get legal advice from a Ford man who was untouched" by the Watergate scandal.

Soon after his appointment, Buchen and the man he is replacing, J. Fred Buzhardt, met with representatives of the office of special prosecutor Leon Jaworski to discuss the status of Nixon's tapes.

Afterward the special prosecutor's office said, "None of the files will be moved pending further discussion."

Indications were that Ford was unhappy with the manner in which an informal opinion had been rendered by White House lawyers that the tapes were the personal property of Nixon.

That opinion — by Buzhardt and James D. St. Clair, Nixon's chief Watergate lawyer — was announced as St. Clair returned to his private law practice in Boston.

While Ford was making no clear attempts to overturn the opinion, sources said he saw that the issue could become a controversial one and wanted his own appointee in the post as White House counsel.

"He'll be guided by what Phil Buchen recommends," the source said.

Car Rams House Here, Does $5,000 In Damage

Four traffic accidents Thursday resulted in minor injuries to five persons, all of whom were treated and released at Midland Memorial Hospital.

At 11:40 p.m. the auto driven by Pamela Jeanne Williams, 19, of 3200 Sentinel St., ran out of control and jumped the curb and crashed into the side of the Floyd N. Littlejohn residence at 2800 Princeton St. Damages to the home were estimated at $5,000 while damages to the auto were listed as moderate to heavy.

The Williams woman suffered minor cuts and bruises as a result of the accident while a passenger in her vehicle, Sam Mark Snowdy, 20, of 2602

McClintic St. suffered no injury, but was examined at the hospital and released.

At 7:30 p.m. Thursday a motorcycle driven by Thomas E. Green of 1519 Marshall St. went out of control when the driver attempted to stop for traffic entering Thomsom Drive from Waverly Street. According to reports, Green stopped the motorcycle in front of a car heading west on Waverly Street and slid with the vehicle across the street. Green was released after being treated for complaints of neck and leg pain.

A two-vehicle accident at 5:40 p.m. in the 700 block of East Front Street resulted in minor cuts and bruises to Lion Kim-mell, 54, of Dallas and Rose

Russia Apparently Cuts Back Orders For U.S. Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has canceled orders for 13.3 million bushels of U.S. wheat which had been scheduled for delivery by next summer, new export figures by the Agriculture Department indicated Thursday.

Bookings by exporters showed 6.7 million bushels remained for delivery to the Soviets as of Aug. 4, the report said. It also indicated no shipments to Russia were made in the previous week.

An earlier report showed Soviet wheat orders totaled 20 million bushels as of July 28. The difference between that and the Aug. 4 orders, officials said, apparently meant Russia cancelled purchases for approximately 13.3 million bushels.

"There seem to be two alternatives," George S. Shanklin, USDA general sales manager, said.

"Either some other grain was substituted or else the wheat orders were cancelled."

Shanklin told a reporter that other figures in the report showed orders for corn—the only other U.S. grain Russia has ordered this season—were at a normal rate.

Two Men Receive Probated Terms

Two Midland men were given five-year probated terms and two other persons received sentences in the state penitentiary Thursday following action in Judge Perry D. Pickett's 142nd District Court.

Charles Toland, 18, of 1710 E. Maple St., who had waived indictment, received five years probation after pleading guilty to theft.

Wilbe Ray Calhoun, 18, of 300 N. Carver St. pled guilty to forgery and was assessed five years probation.

Ethel Price, 30, of 500 S. Lee St. had her probated sentence for theft revoked, and was sentenced to a five-year sentence after pleading guilty to a charge of forgery by passing. She had waived indictment on the charge.

Jeff A. Thomas, 25, of 1208 S. Weatherford St. was sentenced to 10 years on a probation revocation. He was charged with sodomy and other offenses against the state.

All cases were prosecuted by Midland Dist. Atty. James Mashburn.

Oil Costs Boost Payments Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — High oil costs helped force the federal balance of payments into a $6.3-billion deficit for the three months ended June 30, the government says.

The balance of payments reflects the flow of cash into and out of the country.

Combined with a $900-million deficit for the first three months of the year, the nation had a $7.2-billion cash flow deficit for the first half of 1974.

Commerce Department figures released Thursday showed that increased American spending for imported oil and a heavy demand on U.S. banks from foreigners borrowing to pay their own oil bills were primarily responsible for the deficit.

Girl, 9, Finds $100 Meteorite

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 9-year-old girl won a child-size fortune after she found a 4.5-billion-year-old meteorite that had fallen from the sky near her Syracuse, N.Y., home.

Officials at the University of California's Institute of Geophysics here said Susan Leson was only one of five persons in the world who find a meteorite in an average year.

The institute mailed her a check for $100, the usual price for such heavenly objects.

The object Susan discovered while playing kickball was about the same size as a golf ball.

ABA Resolution Says Nixon Has No Immunity

HONOLULU (AP) — The American Bar Association has resolved that former President Richard M. Nixon should not be immune from prosecution for any wrongdoing in connection with Watergate.

The resolution approved by the nation's largest legal organization Thursday said the law should be enforced "regardless of the position or status of any individual."

"Though it never mentioned him by name, the brief but carefully worded resolution unquestioningly applied to Nixon, its sponsors say."

"It would be less than realistic if anyone thinks it doesn't refer to the Nixon case," said Maurice Rosenberg of New York, a member of the Resolutions Committee which put the proposal in final form.

Approval came without debate or dissent in the House of Delegates, the legislative body of the 185,000-member organization.

LUTTRE, Belgium (AP) — Ten bodies had been recovered early today and at least three more were sought in the wreckage of a train that derailed at the end of a high steel bridge across the Charleroi-Brussels Canal.

Eighty-four other passengers were injured when the eight-car local train derailed.

Officials said about 100 persons were on the train when it left Charleroi Thursday night for Brussels and Antwerp.

The first two cars had just completed the trip across the bridge when another car jumped the tracks and crashed into the steel beams of the bridge structure.

Two other cars piled up, one ramming almost completely through the car ahead. Another one broke through the bridge railing and plunged nose first onto the canal towpath. Some of its passengers were thrown into the canal.

An investigation was ordered.

Labor's Meany Marks 80th Birthday

George Meany... He's 80 today.

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — George Meany marked his 80th birthday today — and to the seemingly ageless president of the AFL-CIO, it was just another working day.

As the unchallenged leader of American labor, he has power. Friends say this is what feeds him, keeps him going. And Meany intends to do just that.

Retire? "This is a question of what you want to do and what you're able to do," he responds. "Now what I have been doing, I have been doing for 50 years... and I feel as long as I can do the job, I'm going to try to do the job."

But he adds: "If I see that I can't do the job — if I feel the people who head up all these unions that are part of the AFL-CIO, they feel I can't do the job — I'll just say goodbye and go on my way."

Retirement, however, isn't discussed openly inside the House of Labor. Neither is talk of a successor.

To his critics, Meany's brand of unionism is an anachronism. While some younger labor leaders are better educated and may seem more sophisticated and statesmanlike, Meany has stayed the same.

He still speaks in the gruff accents of his Bronx boyhood, still fights communism with the same fervor as in Cold War years of the mid-1950s, and still looks the role of the portly labor boss, with heavy lids drooping threateningly over steel-gray eyes.

He endures. But for all the criticism, he remains today stronger politically and, it seems, physically.

Many of his former critics are no longer on the Washington scene. His opposition within the labor movement has all but vanished.

Meany endures. He has out-plotted, out-fought and above all outlasted his opponents.

He also seems more sprightly today than 10 years ago, thanks partly to a successful hip operation in 1970 that ended years of suffering.

Once asked the secret of turning back the physical clock, he replied: "I've always worked hard. But I also find time to relax."

Nowadays, Meany puts in a five-day week, arriving at his office about 10 a.m. and leaving for his home in the Maryland suburbs before the evening rush hour. But it isn't uncommon for him to conduct business over dinner in a local restaurant or at an embassy cocktail party.

No One's Captive
"He's a plumber, but he's at home in a tuxedo," said an aide.

Meany, an ex-plumber who never finished high school, has been dealing with presidents since Franklin D. Roosevelt — a span of intimacy with the White House few men in Washington have equaled.

Although he enjoys his power and his relations with the high man, Jean Westwood, was ousted after Sen. George McGovern's landslide defeat.

In the 1972 campaign, Meany broke a long tradition of support for the Democratic presidential candidates and engineered official neutrality for the AFL-CIO.

His campaign neutrality and his long support of administration policy in Southeast Asia led the White House to look to the cigar-chomping labor leader as part of the new American majority that Richard M. Nixon sought.

But Meany broke with the White House when he thought a great deal of personal satisfaction from it, but once day's work is done, it's done," says an aide.

At home, he reads a lot, dotes on his 14 grandchildren, likes to garden and always has a wealth of stories ready for friends and visitors.

Seventeen years ago his daughter gave him an art set and Meany discovered painting. "It's a wonderful way to forget... even about the economy," he says.

An amateur photographer, Meany paints in oils scenes from his own photographs or from postcards friends sent him from abroad. He signs them "G.M."

He also recently taught himself to play the organ and, when in the mood, sits down, removes his cigar and belts out an Irish ballad.

Meany sometimes startles other labor leaders by suggesting there are better ways than striking to win gains for the worker. He notes that workers who manned picket lines in the 1930s had little to lose, but that today's union member earns $10,000 to $20,000 a year, has a mortgage and sends his children to college.

"We have become part of the establishment," he has said in rebuking those who complain that labor has lost its ideological fervor. He favors the practical approach.

Rockefeller Termed Best Bet For Vice Presidency

DETROIT (AP) — Advisers to President Ford say former New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has the inside track to the vice presidency, the Detroit Free Press reported today.

The newspaper, in a dispatch from its Washington bureau, said two others it identified as top contenders—GOP National Chairman George Bush and Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn.—had dropped in favor.

The newspaper said, however, that Ford has not indicated he has made a final decision. It reported aides said even though Ford now favors Rockefeller, a last-minute change is possible.

The story quoted aides to Ford as saying Baker and Bush are "possible but unlikely" candidates.

The Free Press said Bush's chances dropped because of "a high-pressure campaign mounted on his behalf by former colleagues in Congress and others in the party structure." Bush and Baker also lost points because of their relative youth and possible presidential ambitions, the story said.

Democrats Meet Saturday

By DON McLEOD
WASHINGTON (AP) — The last preliminary bout of the Democratic party's miniconvention begins Saturday in Kansas City with the drafting of a proposed party charter.

Old party antagonisms could produce the first volley in another intraparty battle, depending on how well the charter commission does in compromising the remaining sore issues.

The Saturday and Sunday sessions wind up the work of the commission, which was created by the reform wing during the 1972 presidential campaign and directed to draw up the first formal charter for a modern political party.

The final version will be voted on in December by the party's first midterm convention, also in Kansas City.

A tentative charter has been circulating since March to allow support or opposition to specific planks to develop.

Fights are expected to come in three major areas: The manner of electing national party chairmen, whether to continue the midterm convention idea and creation of a judicial council to referee party disputes.

For the most part, the charter formalizes long-standing structures and procedures.

But there are some important innovations, including something of a Democratic bill of rights which guarantees open access to the party for "all who desire to support the party and who wish to be known as Democrats."

Two competing formulas would change the system for electing national party chairmen, both aimed at avoiding past conflicts but taking different approaches.

The leading plan would provide for election of the national chairman just before and just after each presidential campaign. This would allow a party's presidential nominee to pick a chairman of his choice to head the party during his campaign.

Avoid Embarrassment
But it also would avoid the embarrassment the party went through after the last presidential election when the chairman, Jean Westwood, was ousted after Sen. George McGovern's landslide defeat.

An automatic post-campaign election would allow the choice of a new chairman with better party support without the necessity of first throwing the old one out.

However, an alternative supported by the staunchest reformers would remove the whole thing from the influence of presidential politics by having the chairman elected after each campaign.

Compromise Expected
This would mean a chairman picked without the influence of the euphoria following a nomination and untied to any particular candidate. But it also would mean a presidential nominee picked four years later might have to campaign with a chairman not of his choosing, possibly even a political opponent, at the party helm.

Some compromise is expected on the question of whether to continue the mid-term conventions mandated by the reform wing at the 1972 national convention.

The reformers support the miniconventions, held midway between the presidential conventions, as a way of keeping the professionals in touch with the grass roots and of thrashing out interim issues.

Ford Family Will Bring Cat To White House
WASHINGTON (AP) — When the Ford family moves into the White House, its pet Siamese cat, "Shan," will come along.

It will be the first time there has been a cat in the White House since the Kennedy era. "Tom Kitten," the Kennedy's pet cat, didn't get along too well in the White House with all its comings and goings. The Kennedys finally gave the cat to a staff member.

Shan, described as a spayed female, is the pet of Susan Ford, the President's 17-year-old daughter.

Judge Rejects Spending Curbs On Brewery Heir
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — A district court judge Thursday denied a petition by the mother of Texas millionaire Otto A. Koehler Jr. for appointment of a conservator of Koehler's $10 million estate.

In making the ruling, District Court Judge Donald Campbell said in effect that Koehler could do what he pleased with his money as long as he hasn't been declared legally incompetent.

Koehler, heir to the Pearl Brewery Co. fortune in San Antonio, had been involved in legal battles with Emory John Brady Hospital here and with Mt. Airy Psychiatric Hospital in Denver. After being transferred to Mt. Airy for psychiatric evaluation, he walked away in May, but was returned and placed in a locked ward six days later.

Since that time Koehler, who was committed to Brady Hospital 10 years ago by his family, who said he had problems with alcohol, has been placed on an "outpatient" basis at Mt. Airy.

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren

Follow Up On Offers To The Widow

DEAR ABBY: I am a 44-year-old widow with three children — two teen-aged boys and a daughter 12. My husband died last year after a lingering illness that nearly put us in the poorhouse. I am not destitute, but I have to be a very good manager to make ends meet. My problem at his funeral, friends and family hovered around me, expressing their sincere sympathy, and the last thing I heard from ALL of them was "If you need anything, please call me." Abby, I need EVERYTHING! I need someone to take an interest in two teen-aged boys who have no father. I need someone to cheer me up when I'm feeling low. I need someone to dress up for. I need someone to get me out of the house and invite me to a movie, a bridge game, a play, a concert, or an evening of conversation so I will know I'm alive. A widow needs everything any other normal woman needs, but she can't call up her friends and ask them for anything. Please print this, Abby. Maybe someone who has made this offer to some widow somewhere will see it and pick up the phone and ask her what she needs. Thanks for listening.

YOUR FRIEND THE WIDOW
DEAR FRIEND: Consider it done. If this awakens some of your sleeping friends, let me know.

DEAR ABBY: I hate showers. I am 27 years old, and didn't use to feel this way, but enough is enough. Lately I have been invited to showers for girls I hardly know, some of whom I haven't seen since I got out of high school.

Opening presents in front of everyone to publicize how "generous" (or cheap!) the donors are rubs me the wrong way. I was married (two years ago) and refused when my friends offered to have a shower for me. I had a planned elopement and didn't soak one person for a present.

I have been told that if you're invited to a shower, you must send a gift whether you come or not. How does one courteously reply to a nifty shower invitation for someone she hasn't seen in nine years?

Please answer in your column, Abby. I'm sure I'm not the only one with this problem.

SICK OF SHOWERS
DEAR SICK: There is no "law" which compels you to send a gift if you decline a shower invitation. Simply decline, and don't feel obligated to give a present to someone you "hardly know" or haven't seen in nine years.

DEAR ABBY: I am 22, single and fairly attractive. I don't have to elaborate on how difficult it is for a young lady to find a respectable, intelligent, employed, single man these days.

The problem is, I seem to have found one, but he is seeing another girl.

He has dated me a few times, but I feel so guilty about the other girl, Abby, I don't want to be the cause of their breaking up.

Should I continue to see him? Or should I drop the whole thing before it gets started?

LOST
DEAR LOST: If he wants to break off with the other girl, theirs couldn't be much of a love match. Since you didn't deliberately set out to lure him away, there is no reason to feel guilty. If you wait for a man who is not seeing anyone, you could wait a long time.

Salad Supper Held By ABWA

The Tall City Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association met recently for a salad supper in the home of Mrs. Walter O'Neal, President Mrs. Esther Ruth Jefferson.

Mrs. Ned Pilcher introduced the guest speaker, Dolores Gaines with Texaco Inc., whose topic was graphology, a study of handwriting. Each member of the club analyzed her handwriting from a paragraph she had written.

Miss Gaines pointed out to the group that the style in which one writes shows their emotional response and also the depth of their emotions. She said if you write as someone else does that probably your mental habits are alike in some way. To study one's handwriting is an art and science and helps us to understand ourselves better, she noted.

The vocational report was given by Mr. and Mrs. Vance Lebkowsky, owners of Parker's Package Store. Minutes were read by Mrs. Claude Mills.

Mrs. Venoy Curtis gave the invocation and Mrs. Mills the pledge.

Mrs. Mills was named tea chairman for September. The next meeting of the club will be held at Sambo's Restaurant.

It was announced that the national convention of ABWA will be held Oct. 17-20 at Denver, Colo. All members are urged to attend.

Guests attending were Bev Morris and Kay Lewis. Special prize was won by Mrs. Curtis. Faye King gave the benediction.

Rebecca Stiles Home From Trip

Rebecca Stiles of 1901 W. Texas St. returned Wednesday from Greeley, Colo., where she visited her sister, Mrs. G. J. Sevier, who moved to Colorado recently from Hillsboro. Mrs. Sevier is a former resident of Midland.

While in Colorado, Miss Stiles visited Estes Park and other points of interest, and with former Midlanders, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Meyer of Denver.

House guests this weekend of Miss Stiles are Mrs. Don McAfee and her children, Kathy, Mike, Damon and Kyle, of Arlington.

Black Ants Cause Alarm

By BETTY CANARY
Newspaper Enterprise Association

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — I need help desperately. Our home (in Louisiana) is being invaded by tiny black ants. These are not essentially food eaters. I find them in my clean sink, bath-tub and lavatories but they have reached the pantry and I have found some in dry packaged foods. Can someone help me? — GLADYS.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with those tv talk shows that show a recipe but never give one time to copy it down or even get a list of all the ingredients. This happened to me again yesterday while watching the Dinah Shore show. — YVONNE.

DEAR POLLY — I am answering Sandra who wants to clean dust and cobwebs off a dried flower arrangement without breaking the flowers. This can be done several ways depending upon the types of material in the arrangement. Sometimes STURDY material may be taken outside and GENTLY shaken. Glycerined leaves and seed pods may be removed from the arrangement and washed in warm soapy water. Large petaled material may be CAREFULLY brushed with an artist's camel hair brush. Sand dried flowers also may be removed, recovered with sand, uncovered and brushed to remove the sand. — G.O.

DEAR GIRLS — This is painstaking work that requires time and great care. Any delicate material used in a dried flower arrangement will not take to brushing or other treatment and best be left alone. When brushing large leaves the brush could be dipped in salad oil, wiped off and then used so the dust sticks to it. Clean brush frequently. Also these big leaves will need some support, perhaps a hand placed back of one as you gently brush.

One authority suggests that when cleaning with sand each flower be removed, held over a pan of clean sand. With one hand the sand is dropped, in a stream, over the flower. Gently shake sand off, turn flower upside down and gently tap until all sand is removed. Repeat two or three times if necessary. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Save the ruffles from worn Priscilla-type curtains. They are most useful to use for facing when garments have to be lengthened. Cut properly and turned on both edges the width is adequate for most things. Even too-short straight

Episcopal Church Rules Women Are Not Priests

CHICAGO (AP) — A ruling body of the Episcopal Church says 11 women ordained in a controversial ceremony about two weeks ago are not priests and may not perform priestly duties.

The interpretation of church doctrine came in the form of a resolution approved overwhelmingly Thursday by the House of Bishops at a two-day special session to consider the women's ordinations.

Charles V. Willie, vice president of the House of Deputies, the other branch of the church's legislative General Convention, called approval of the resolution "an exercise of male arrogance of the most blatant kind I have ever seen."

Willie also deplored the bishops' vote rejection of an amendment to the resolution which would have urged approval of women priests by the General Convention at its next meeting in two years.

"We are shocked and saddened," one of the women, Carter Heyward of New York City, said in a statement on behalf of her 10 colleagues.

"The fact that men could sit there and presume to make a decision affecting the vocations of women and not think it is prejudicial amazes me," she said. "I'm still a priest. There's no question about it in my mind."

She added: "Each of us will make her own decision as to how and when to affirm the priesthood she knows to be hers."

She declined to elaborate. Nine of the ordained women were present at various times during the meeting.

The resolution also decried the actions of four bishops involved in the ordination ceremonies in Philadelphia on July 29. However, the delegates dropped a separate action which could have led to the stripping of priestly orders of three of those who officiated. The fourth attended the ceremony but did not participate.

The Rt. Rev. John M. Allin, presiding bishop of the church, said the question was an internal matter and should not be interpreted by the secular world as one which restricts the freedom of women.

However, he said that any of the women who attempt to practice priestly duties, or any bishop who allows them to do so, is subject to discipline, including expulsion from the 3.2 million-member church, the American branch of the Anglican Church in England.

BROOKHAVEN, Miss. (AP) — Six persons were reported killed and 11 others injured today in a fire at a rest home near here.

A funeral home said it had the bodies of five elderly persons and a man about 22.

The fire began at Moore's Rest Home, a two-story frame building two miles east of Brookhaven, about 5 a.m.

Alabama ranks 16th among the states in the number of beef cows and 20 in total cattle.

Greeks Flee Before Turkish Advance, Making Ghost Town Of Important Port

By PETER ARNETT
FAMAGUSTA, Cyprus (AP) — The Greek half of Famagusta is a ghost town.

We had the choice Thursday night of sleeping in any of 40 empty luxury hotels along the beach.

Two British correspondents—Will Jones of the Sunday Times and Colin Smith of the Observer—and I checked ourselves into the Markos, a multistory hotel with a well-stocked bar and a clear view of the city.

The beds were neatly made. Towels and soap were in the bathroom. But there wasn't another soul in the hotel. The staff had fled, leaving the front door open.

The Greek police also fled this most important port in Cyprus, and Greek Cypriot soldiers seemed to have disappeared completely.

Twenty truckloads passed me at dusk, heading out of town.

Schmidt was named last May as assistant administrator for energy programs for NASA in Washington.

Masaoria Plain Thursday and at dusk pushed through the north gate of Famagusta's old walled city, where 11,000 Turkish Cypriots had been holed up for nearly a month.

At dusk, even the oldest Greeks were heading south toward the sanctuary of the British base at Dhekelia. I picked up two elderly people and a blind woman who begged to be taken to the edge of town.

The coolest heads in the Greek part of Famagusta were the United Nations soldiers and policemen who hunted the Turkish tanks as they moved into the city just before nightfall.

Swedish U.N. police manning a post in the southern part of Famagusta decided to stay overnight. They provided the three of us with bread, cheese and a handful of grapes.

A few Greek Cypriots still wandering the streets said they did not want to abandon their

Family Plans To Drift On Homemade Houseboat

CORONA, S.D. (AP) — Stung by the falling cattle market and anxious to get away for a while, the Marcus Joachim family is planning to drift through life for a few years on a giant homemade houseboat.

Joachim, 28, who raised 100 head of cattle on his father's farm near here before the bottom dropped out of the market, drew up the plans himself and began building the vessel in May.

He plans to launch it on the Missouri River, and is constructing the 70-foot-long and 20-foot-high vessel on a trailer so all he has to do is pull it 200 miles south to the launch ramp at Sioux City, Iowa.

Four Years Of Planning
"He's been playing with the idea for four years and we just decided to do it," said his wife Barbara, 22. "The cattle weren't making much of a living... and he figured that before the kids are in school, we'd all get away while we can. I think it will be fun."

The couple and their two daughters, Selissa, 4, and Nicole, 8 months, live with his father, Victor.

Joachim, who worked on boats in Alaska, hopes to have his finished in October. The family will leave then, unless they're short of money, in which case they'll save and sail next spring.

The boat's main structure is constructed of 2-by-4-inch planks, and the bottom and sides will be covered by fiberglass. The living quarters, 14 feet by 40 feet, will be built on the main deck with a wheelhouse mounted on top. There will be two bedrooms and three watertight compartments for storage. Tanks will be built in the hold to carry 1,500 gallons each of fuel and water.

"It will be just like a large trailer house," Mrs. Joachim said. "It will have a washer, heater, stove, lights, everything."

New Orleans First
"We plan to go to New Orleans, but after that we're not sure. Maybe we'll go around the West Coast and up to Alaska. He's making it so we can go on the ocean."

"If we run short of money, we'll stop and he'll get a job, probably as a welder. But we really won't need much money."

Bentsen Warns Against Too Optimistic Actions

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., warns against a national wave of excessive optimism following the resignation of former President Nixon and the end of the Watergate ordeal.

"The obvious gut reaction is that the future surely can't be as bad as the past we have just undergone," he told the National Legislative Conference Thursday.

"But the reality hasn't changed just because the office of the presidency has changed. The problems remain."

He added, however, that he was encouraged by "seeing new national leaders emerge to take on these problems. I can't help but marvel at the strength of the system."

He attributed the smooth transition of national power to a "basically intelligent electorate. They know the difference between good government and bad politicians."

Bentsen said solutions to the national problems, from inflation to restoring confidence in government, will require a bipartisan approach.

And he said the Democratic

Domenici Says He Prefers Bush

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — National Republican party chairman George Bush of Texas heads a list of three names Sen. Pete Domenici recommended as possible vice presidential nominees, the New Mexico Republican says.

Domenici told a news conference Thursday that Bush is his first choice, followed by GOP Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee and Barry Goldwater of Arizona. Domenici said he was among persons asked by President Ford to suggest candidates for the vacant spot.

Harris County Cuts Tax Rate

HOUSTON (AP) — Harris County commissioners have given county taxpayers their first tax break in several years, reducing the rate by 8 cents.

Harris County Auditor Grady S. Fullerton said the reduction in the rate from $2.16 to $2.08 per $100 assessed valuation based on 25 per cent market value was possible because of extensive revaluation of county property in 1973.

Waco Once More Murder Capital

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Waco has the distinction of being the murder capital of major Texas cities for the second time in three years.

A Waco Tribune-Herald poll of the 14 largest cities in the state shows Waco's 1973 murder rate of 14.58 per 100,000 population to be the highest. It is almost double the murder rate of the second ranking city, Dallas. San Antonio ranks third.

EASIER WITHOUT THE NET

Why do we enjoy games that make it harder on us? We equip our tennis courts with nets. We line our golf courses with narrow fairways and dot them with sand traps

"It is faith that allows the real Jesus and so faith can create another. Fat. Short. Female. Swinger..."

There's A Little Chaff Among The Wheat

... But the New Redeemers At Least Foster Enthusiasm

By TOM TIEDE
NEW YORK (NEA) — Jesus once asked his disciples: "Who do men say that I am?" They never fully answered nor has anyone else in the 2,000 years of Christianity. Theologians and Sunday school tots have debated the questions with as many views as participants. He is undoubtedly different things to different people.

Thus it is theoretically possible that one of the new redeemers jettisoning auditorium to auditorium in America today really is the savior returned, or Mohammed reincarnated for that matter, or Vishnu come back, or the second Buddha, Satan or Moses. Who knows?

No body.

It is faith that allows the real Jesus and so faith can create another. Fat. Short. Female. Swinger. Americans have been conjuring up new redeemers for as long as there has been an America. Some New England puritans believed in witches, slaves of the early South believed a black messiah would rescue them and Indians had their shamans.

Even children are heralded. A 16-year-old Indian guru, Maharaj Ji, is considered by millions to be the "Perfect Master." Never mind that he has an ulcer, three airplanes and a mother who apparently is the power behind the throne.

When his similarly God-like father died in Asia in 1966, the boy stepped forward to claim the throne: "Children of God, why are you weeping? The perfect master never dies. Guru Maharaj Ji is here among you. Recognize him (me), obey him (me), and adore him (me)." Since then, 8 million people are said to have received and accepted "his knowledge."

What is the knowledge? "It is difficult to explain," says one of the guru's publicists.

"Recently I was driving across the George Washington Bridge in New York and there was a traffic jam. Everybody around me was furious and fuming, but I began meditating on the guru's thoughts. I was at peace. I was smiling. This is what he has given me, the ability to look for satisfaction."

There are legions who say this is poppycock. One gripe is that the new redeemers get most of their recognition, and money, from enthusiastic young people who haven't the experience to see past the mystic eyewash. Californians call such kids "Jesus Boppers" and claim they are fanatics at best, deluded at worse.

Question Asked
"Why is it," asks a critical Episcopalian priest, "that kids keep giving the guru money even though he owns a $50,000 Mercedes automobile and countless other expensive baubles? I'll tell you why. Because they haven't enough brains to see the fat little fellow for what he is."

The gripe is reasonable enough. Many susceptible children have undergone a process of religious brainwashing by some new redemptionists. A thriving business has resulted for private detectives who are hired by worried parents to find, recover and refurbish the mental state of their children. (One such rescue artist, has been charged with and was recently convicted of kidnapping.)

Many returned children have had to undergo psychiatric treatment, to accept real life again; a few, according to reports, are so scared that readjustment is impossible without a recuperation period in some kind of institution.

Besides the worry for affected children, there is the concern that freakish religion, once in high gear, tends to go philosophically and judgmentally out of control. A Danish film maker has proposed a flick starring a pornographic Jesus who makes love to Mary Magdalene in a brothel. Magnetic leaders have taken small communal flocks into the sticks where religion is given out in equal doses with sex, drugs and anti-establishment rhetoric.

In recent months, appalling news accounts have told of one citizen who was convinced by a redeemer that his desperately ill son did not need medical help (the boy died) and another who went to the grave himself following a deadly religious service that featured snapping poisonous snakes.

"Where does this kind of thing end?" asks Dr. Shilson Judah of the Theological Union in Berkeley. His own answer is that anyone today, Tim Leary or another Adolf Hitler, can gather a constituency in the name of redemption and fold, bend or mutilate it any way wished.

In spite of such dangers, however, much of established religion takes a surprisingly calm and generously understanding view of the new redeemers and their religions. Establishment officials weed out in their thoughts the obvious frauds, such as the Children of God, and also the obvious opportunists, such as many of the "don't-forget-to-send-in-your-contributions" radio ministers, but give the Jesus Freaks, Eastern religions and even radical anti-progressives high marks.

"It's all very healthy," says

Dr. Jorge Lara Braud of the National Council of Churches, "We must not forget that the living church should be in a continuing process of reformation."

So, faddish the new ones may be, but says Billy Graham, "It's a sad I welcome." The thinking is that the new religions present a danger, as Lara Braud says, "only to those churches so sick they have no chance of survival anyway."

The benefits for all religion, on the other hand, are immense. "I believe the new religions are attracting people who had no religious roots before," says Lara Braud. "Now that people find the experience in the alternative religions, there is the hope that eventually they will discover the same concepts already exist in the established religions. This is a roundabout way of strengthening the whole spiritual industry."

And while religion is benefiting, many of the new converts are, too. "I tell you true," says 23-year-old Larry Waters, a member of a New York Hare Krishna sect, "I owe my life to this thing. In the 60s I was so radical I made bombs in a basement, I got into pills and LSD, I was in jail, I quit school — you name it."

Now Waters walks the streets of Manhattan in bald head and saffron robe, "really happy, I mean it, really happy for the first time in my life."

No doubt about it, says Dr. Judah, "the movement into the new religions has been a primary factor in deradicalizing American youth." Those who are bitter about new redemption, he says, should consider the alternative. "The Symbionese Liberation Army, for example."

To be sure, the new redeemers are preferable to Field Marshal Canque and his motley crew. And regardless of the strange visions they bring to America (Maharaj Ji claims he has a third eye) and the odd teachings they expose (Rev. Sun Myung Moon says God didn't want Richard Nixon impeached), the redeemers at least are fostering enthusiasm. And these days that's preferable to apathy.

Shirley Temple Reportedly Named Envoy To Ghana

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — The government of Ghana has announced that Shirley Temple Black has been appointed United States ambassador to the African nation.

Although there has been no announcement from the White House, the State Department in Washington said there was no reason to dispute the Ghana report.

The Ghana announcement said Mrs. Black succeeds Fred Hasdel, a career diplomat who recently returned to the United States.

Mrs. Black, the former child star, began her government career by running unsuccessfully as a Republican candidate for Congress. She was named by former President Richard M. Nixon to the U.S. delegation to the United Nations General Assembly that met in 1969. Later she served in the U.S. delegation to the 1972 U.N. Conference on the Human Environment held in Stockholm.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Braniff Airways and National Airlines would get new air passenger routes from Texas to Europe under recommendations issued Thursday by the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The recommendations, if adopted, would cut the number of direct air routes currently flown in the North Atlantic by Pan American World Airways and Trans World Airlines.

Boy, 10, Claims Pogo Stick Record

FRONTENAC, Kan. (AP) — About 20 friends and neighbors watched as Christopher Lusker, 10, bounced 14,948 times in about an hour to claim a world record in pogo stick jumping Thursday night.

The 1974 Guinness Book of World Records says the old mark was 14,325 set by Scott Hemenon of South Yarmouth, Maine, May 26, 1973.

Texas Evangelist Conducts Crusade In African Seaport

FORT WORTH — A young Texan, Billie Hanks Jr., 29, recently concluded the largest evangelistic crusade in the 187-year history of the colorful West African seaport city of Freetown.

During 12 nights in the soccer stadium in the capital city of the Republic of Sierra Leone, 1,366 persons registered professions of faith in Christ, and more than 2,600 others made decisions for Christ. Veteran observers noted that the results were remarkable in a culture influenced heavily by Islam and pagan animistic cults and secret witchcraft societies.

Hanks, a native of San Angelo and now a Fort Worth resident, who has gained a reputation as America's youngest international evangelist during travels through 64 countries, credited advance preparation by local Christians for the crusade's success. The crusade, according to local observers, represented the first time all denominational groups in the city have cooperated in a joint effort. It was the most successful evangelistic effort in Sierra Leone's history.

Church Group Presents Film To Midland Library

A film, "Alcohol and Young People," was recently presented to the Midland County Public Library by the Midland Association of Churches.

The film is available on free loan to any person holding a library card, for showing before interested groups and organizations. Groups using the film must have a projector inasmuch as the library does not have such equipment for loan.

The 16 mm sound and color film presents the experiences with alcohol of five teenagers. They tell how they began drinking, why they continued, and how and why drinking ultimately turned out to be a cheat instead of a solution to their particular problems. Finally, the young people tell how and where to find help with the problem.

Included with the film is a set of questions for use in discussion sessions.

Persons may reserve the film by telephoning the reference librarian at 683-2708.

Indispensable Ingredient

Clarence M. Kelley, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, says that integrity "is an indispensable ingredient of law enforcement performance. It should be as clearly visible among the police as their badges and uniforms."

And he might have included government, all other professions and business in general.

Integrity is something which all Americans need to think about at this particular time.

Kelley, writing in the August issue of the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, directed his remarks to law enforcement officers, but they are applicable to everyone.

"Even the slightest doubt of an officer's honesty, as many of us have seen, can make it more difficult—perhaps even impossible—for him, his fellow officers, and his department to discharge their lawful responsibilities effectively," Kelley said.

"The misconduct of one officer is enough to lead many to believe that his actions are common practice throughout the department he represents," the director continued. "Indeed, the reports of improprieties of a few officers can spread quickly like a virus to infect the entire profession."

"Many career officers have all too frequently seen news of corruption in one part of the nation almost immediately shake public confidence in the efforts of dedicated officers and their departments in far-flung regions of the country. It is a bitter experience to have your own integrity challenged for the misconduct of brother officers about whom you know nothing."

The City of Midland, for instance, has one of the very finest and most efficient police departments to be found anywhere. Integrity definitely is an ingredient of the department. Yet, the misconduct of police officers in far-removed parts of the nation is likely to reflect on officers here and elsewhere.

"Upon taking the oath as an officer of the law," Kelley wrote, "we are thrust in the center stage of many of life's most vexing dramas. When persons are struck by disaster, when they are helpless, when they are in fear of their lives, when they have exhausted all the familiar resources to govern the problems that beset them, they most often will turn to a law enforcement agency for assistance. When they do, the help they receive should, above all else, be unmatched for its integrity."

"Today, we are in the midst of an era when the integrity of government is under relentless examination. Now, particularly, is a time when every law enforcement officer from the ranks through the top command should, by his own example, insure the overwhelming integrity of our profession."

Integrity is an indispensable ingredient in the American way of life!

'So Who Needs A Convention In '76'

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson Says: Ford searches for missing evidence linking Rockefeller to Watergate.
WASHINGTON — President Gerald Ford has been searching for seven elusive boxes of Watergate documents which he fears may contain damaging information about former Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Until a few weeks ago, it appeared certain the boxes had been burned on orders of Nixon campaign aides prior to the 1972 presidential elections. But during the last week, as Ford mulled over his choice for the vice presidency, his "transition team" quietly sought the missing cartons.

Their purpose: To make absolutely sure that there is no Agnew scandal in Ford's future.

According to sworn testimony the boxes, containing an estimated 7,000 documents, were destroyed. But new reports suggest they may have been cached instead in a locked vault. The reports now are considered firm enough to have brought the special Watergate prosecutor into the probe.

The hearsay evidence in their possession, which is similar to that reaching Ford, is that Rockefeller helped bankroll a standby team of Nixon toughs for the 1972 Democratic convention. The ex-New York governor's office has denied the charge as "absolutely untrue" and offered to open the campaign books to prove it is false.

The boxes, once in the custody of Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt, were hauled away by a Nixon loyalist named Roy Sheppard after the Watergate break-in of June 1972.

In August 1972, we came within an ace of getting them through Sheppard's lawyer, who was troubled about their hidden secrets.

But Sheppard adamantly refused to give them up. He later testified that he had burned them in his furnace on orders of Nixon campaign aides. There the matter stood until a month ago.

Later Report
At that time, we received reports that Sheppard had not burned the papers and once again we tried to find them. Ford's "transition team" also heard of the documents and assigned a crack lawyer to track them down.

The lawyer worked through last weekend chasing clues. He satisfied himself there was at least a slim chance the boxes exist, although neither he nor anyone else was sure what they might contain.

Acting on White House orders, the lawyer immediately turned the clues over to assistant special prosecutor Richard Ben-Veniste, who quickly re-opened the investigation. Ben-Veniste now has been given the name of the town where the boxes supposedly are located. He also has clues to the identification of the alleged custodian of the boxes, provided by one of Sheppard's friends, Hal O'Brien.

At O'Brien's urging, we have learned, the special prosecutor intends to give Sheppard immunity from prosecution if the boxes are found intact.

Footnote: Actually, the special prosecutor is not as interested in the Rockefeller material as he is in other rumored contents of the boxes. Reportedly, there is evidence of Mafia campaign influence and answers to other public affairs chief, Warren McConnell, "I challenged the process by which (the figures) were reached at the time."

The statistics, wrote Thompson, contained "built-in errors (and) items which are inaccurate or incorrect." The report "does a disservice to the bureau as well as to the public," he snapped.

"It gives me no pleasure to say, 'I told you so,'" wrote Thompson. "Quite the contrary, I hope that we will be able to prove our figures... are very nearly perfect."

But Thompson concluded, "the hastily taken shortcut... cast doubt upon our credibility." Meanwhile, Director Davis, unaware that Harrington already has the secret memo, has written it will be "about two weeks" before he can fully answer Harrington.

POAGE PRESSURE: Autocratic House Agriculture Chairman Bob Poage, D-Tex., privately is pressuring members of the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee to gut two bills protecting streams and wetlands.

Poage wants to open up 150,000 miles of waterways to the bulldozers. The taxpayer would foot the bill for the destruction of marsh, streams and rivers where wildlife and fish have been breeding for centuries.

RAY CROMLEY
The Best-Laid Plots Can, Do Spring Leaks

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Smooth-running political skulduggery is not easily achieved, even in high places. The road of a flingler, although frequently profitable, is rough.

Fred Malek, then a White House troubleshooter and now deputy chief of the powerful Office of Management and the Budget, makes this clear in an "extremely sensitive" memorandum he wrote H. R. Haldeman, then Richard Nixon's chief of staff on March 17, 1972.

Take the matter of diverting millions in public funds to "target groups" in order to assist the re-election of the President in 1972. There were, apparently, too many cooks.

To name one example, said Malek, the administrator of the Economic Development Administration at the Commerce Department had received calls "from White House services including Harry Dent, Bob Brown, Peter Flanigan and the Domestic Council, each one advocating the allocation of projects to a different geographical area." Malek protested that the departments were not in a position to rationally set priorities among conflicting requests, adding: "Typically they will either choose the one advocated by the most influential individual or try to satisfy all the demands, thus substantially diluting effectiveness."

"The tendency for multiple direction to the departments is bound to increase this year and unless checked, it will cause considerable confusion and increase the risk of adverse publicity of White House meddling in departmental operations for political gain."

In this respect, Malek pointed out, conflicting White House orders were only part of the problem. The major difficulty, as hinted above, was security against leaks on these illegal actions aimed at diverting public funds to favored groups in order to secure Mr. Nixon's re-election.

First, said Malek, anything on paper must be held to a minimum. To keep the White House in the clear "there would be no written communications to the departments" on this diversion of funds. The only written material submitted by the departments to the White House would be the plans. These would be in brief outline format and only two copies would be permitted — one for the White House and one for the departmental contact. Progress reports would be verbal.

Second, Malek went on, the documents prepared "would not indicate White House involvement in any way." Further, "oral and written communications concerning the program within... (each) department would be structured to give the impression that the program was initiated by the department head without the knowledge of the White House."

It is to be noted that these precautions, for all the care in their preparation, did not, in the end, keep this material from coming out.

In the long run, however well organized and however excellent the staff work and the security measures taken, the inevitability of breakdown and leaks along the line means that such dishonesty can be regularly exposed, even in the highest posts of government. But to do so, we as citizens must put our

ROSS' REPORT

Dear Editor: Figures which are alleged to tell us how many welfareed citizens are riding on the banks of the taxpaying class do not reveal the whole facts.

Also included in the figures on the welfare load should be the multitude of high-salaried bureaucrats who hand out the handouts to the acknowledged public supportees.

Of course, if we didn't have this welfare program, these handout artists mostly would also be out of jobs and requiring public upkeep of some kind.

Now Hear This: What Goes Up Must Be Prices

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Prices still seem to be defying the adage that what goes up must come down. But we can all take comfort in the knowledge that the government is hiring busloads of experts to solve the problem.

There is, for instance, Blarney B. O'Sophistry, the new head of the Federal Inflation Bureau. No sooner had he taken office than he announced that he had discovered the cause of inflation.

"The cause of inflation," he said confidently, "is that prices are rising. If it weren't for those darned rising prices, we would not have any inflation. Therefore, to eliminate inflation, we have only to eliminate rising prices."

O'Sophistry appeared slightly stunned when his announcement did not receive a standing ovation, but he would not be daunted.

"We are instituting a new War on Inflation," he shouted with an upraised fist. "And we will begin by establishing an Inflation Watch that will keep track of rising prices and tell everyone how fast they are going up. For instance, the Inflation Watch will be responsible for telling people that a quart of milk costs 43 cents on Monday, 49 cents on Wednesday and 57 cents on Saturday. Not only that, but prices that keep rising will be recorded in a special category called 'Always Rising Prices,' where we can keep a special eye on them."

O'Sophistry conceded that the government's record at fighting inflation in the past has been less than sparkling, although he added that "rising prices are

Committee Republicans Deny Nixon Hounded Out Of Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — While they would vote for the Watergate cover-up article on the House floor. Seven committee Republicans voted for at least one impeachment article.

Nixon resigned before the end of the week, saying his loss of support in Congress left him no other choice.

The minority report of around 100 pages is to be published with the 175-page majority report and individual views next week as the Judiciary Committee's official report on the three impeachment articles.

The majority report concludes that "from the beginning the President knowingly directed the cover-up of the Watergate burglary."

It also concludes that Nixon "repeatedly and willfully abused his power by misusing federal agencies such as the Internal Revenue Service and by violating rights of citizens, particularly Pentagon Papers figure Daniel Ellsberg."

Sharply disagreeing with both those conclusions, the Republicans' draft report says Nixon did not direct the Watergate cover-up but rather joined "an ongoing conspiracy" to obstruct justice in 1972.

It says the only hard evidence is his own statement that six days after the Watergate break-in he approved an effort to steer the FBI away from investigating the first leads that it was his re-election committee's operation.

The Republicans' report says the committee's evidence disproved an allegation that Nixon ordered a $75,000 hush-money payment to Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt Jr.

It says witnesses established that arrangements for paying the money already were being made by the time Nixon made comments at a March 21, 1973, meeting that could be interpreted as meaning that he might approve of it to buy time.

The minority report also says there is no good evidence that Nixon ever offered clemency to buy Watergate defendants' silence.

The draft report does not comment on other Watergate cover-up charges in the majority report, such as one that Nixon encouraged false testimony by some aides as part of the cover-up.

Bottom Snapping New Phenomenon

NEW YORK (AP) — A new phenomenon: bottom snapping... Is it a manufacturing process? Wall Street jargon? Or just possibly an overly affectionate playful gesture? No, it is none of the above.
According to Rand McNally's new Outdoor Recreation Guide, bottom snapping is a combination hobby and sport. A bottom snapper is an underwater diver who devotes much of his time on the bottom to taking photos — of everything from coral formations to shipwrecks.
The guide lists practical information on the best locations and facilities for a number of other off-beat, leisure-time hobbies and sports, as well. They include spelunking (cave exploring), rockhounding (searching out samples of gemstones and minerals) and historical hiking (following trails of those, like Daniel Boone, who played important roles in American history).

CARPET TALK
By Edd Tucker

NYLON FOR WEAR is an old adage in the carpeting industry and among knowledgeable decorators and home builders. Does it then follow that, no matter what price you pay for a carpet, nylon will outwear other fibers, natural or man-made, from wool to acrylics?
Common sense will tell you otherwise. All carpets come in different grades, including nylon. The number of tufts packed into each square yard, quality of backing and quality of manufacture — all these factors will affect the wear of the carpet.
Look closely at a swatch or corner of the carpeting to see that the tufts are secured tightly to the backing. Compare the thickness and firmness of the backing itself. And most important, check the density of the pile. If you can easily see the backing, you have a "thin" pile (fewer fibers per yard) which should cost less... and won't last as long.
An inexpensive nylon carpeting may be a good budget choice for heavily light traffic. To gain the full advantage of nylon's hard-wearing qualities, however, a better quality nylon will naturally give you more service.
We have lovely nylon carpets in a wide price range, for light or heavy wear areas, and in a dazzling array of the newest colors. Whatever your carpet need, you'll find a better selection in our showroom. Come in!

RENDEZVOUS WITH RENAULT — Here it is! A high performance GT car, the Renault 17 Gordini Coupe Convertible offers better gas mileage than practically any other new car on the road today. See it at the Rendezvous with Stovall Renault, 1900 W. Front St., on Aug. 19, 20 and 21.

Rendezvous With High Performance Gordini Coupe At Stovall Renault

Sporting an electrically operated 3-way top that lets the summer in and keeps the winter out, Renault's new 17 Gordini Coupe Convertible puts an end to the assumption that you can't combine performance and economy under the same hood.
Offering plenty of both, its four cylinder 1516cc engine can provide zero to 60 acceleration in about 12 seconds, while still delivering better gas mileage than practically any other new car on the road today!
With passing power to spare from its 107-horsepower hemi-head engine, Bosch electronic fuel injection system and 5-speed, fully synchronized manual transmission, the Gordini has a top speed of over 100 miles per hour — nearly double the national limit!

How To Get Rid Of Roaches and Ants

Spray non-toxic No-Roach for fast, quick kill of roaches and ants. Apply Brushon No-Roach for long term control. Take your choice, or better yet, take them both. Johnson's No-Roach. Available at: Furr's and other supermarkets.

For stopping, Renault's new top-of-the-line features dual hydraulic braking with big, nine-inch ventilated discs in front and drums at the rear.
Steering is the responsive rack-and-pinion design with a taut 32.8-foot turning circle, 3 1/2 turns lock-to-lock and a 20 to 1 ratio. Independent front suspension with front and rear stabilizer bar adds to the comfort of the ride while standard 165 x 13 Michelin XAS steel-belted radials lend added traction.
Fuel economy is almost without rival — in the over 30 m.p.g. range — and a big fuel tank will permit non-stop cruising ranges of nearly 400 miles on regular gas.
Like all Renaults, the 17 Gordini features uni-body construction with factory-applied undercoating and rustproofing for added strength and longer life. The Renault 17 Gordini Coupe Convertible lists for $5,480 (East Coast P.O.E.). A closed Coupe version is also available at $5,115.
A unique blend of luxury, performance and economy, the Renault 17 Gordini would seem an ideal choice for the car enthusiast caught in the midst of an energy crunch.

Course Lures Many Students
SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — Liberal arts majors at Union College have been successfully lured into the sciences by a new physics course that substitutes toasters for test tubes.
The course, entitled "How Things Work," uses common household devices as a way of introducing students to the basic principles of physics.
The creator of "How Things Work" is 33-year-old assistant professor of physics Edwin Lewis. So far Lewis has taught his 77 students electrical, electromagnetic and thermodynamic theory using a toaster, a car ignition and a refrigerator.
Homework includes taking apart household appliances to see how they work and then re-assembling them. According to Lewis, alarm clocks and tumble locks have provided the greatest challenge to the students, many of whom are still trying to put their belongings back together.

Mass Transit Bill Backers Win Round

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mass transit supporters have cleared their most formidable hurdle by beating back House efforts to take out operating subsidies. They now face a fight on the amount of money to be authorized.

Attempts to delete operating subsidies from the $20-billion, six-year bill were defeated on Thursday 205-197.

Debate on the bill will resume Monday, when Republicans will try to trim it to $13 billion and Democrats will try to hold the line at $15.8 billion.

14 Texans Lose Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fourteen Texas congressmen were on the losing side Thursday when the House defeated a proposal to delete a provision for federal subsidies for operation of transit systems out of the mass transit bill.

The proposal was in motion submitted by Rep. Dale Milford, D-Tex. It was defeated 202-197.

Here is how the Texas delegation voted. X indicates not voting.

Japanese Arrest Woman As Slayer's Accomplice

OSAKA, Japan (AP) — Osaka police today arrested a Japanese housewife on charges of helping the Korean who tried to assassinate South Korean President Chung Hee Park but killed Park's wife instead.

Police said the woman, 23-year-old Kimiko Yoshii, gave the birth certificate of her husband, Yukio, to Moon Seokwang, the 23-year-old assassin, so he could get a Japanese passport in the husband's name. Moon is a Korean who has been living in Osaka.

Mrs. Yoshii was charged with violating emigration and passport laws. Police said she admitted giving Moon her husband's birth certificate to help him get the passport.

Officials said Moon and the woman met while classmates at an Osaka high school and made a trip to Hong Kong together last fall.

Seoul's chief prosecutor, Kim Il-too, said the 38 caliber revolver Moon used in the attack was taken from the Osaka police, and the police said it was one of two pistols stolen from their armory on July 18 with ammunition belts and handcuffs. Kim said Moon smuggled the pistol into Korea inside a radio.

The prosecutor's office questioned Moon today and said he insisted he was acting alone in the unsuccessful attempt Thursday to assassinate Park. A spokesman said, however, that a search for accomplices was on since there were indications he had been associated with leftist movements.

The investigation centered on other Korean residents of Japan and Japanese who came to Seoul for Thursday's Independence Day observances. The government ordered that persons in those categories remain in Korea during the investigation, except for persons carrying official passports or other firm identification papers.

Except for the reference to leftist contacts, the government gave no indication of why Moon wanted to kill the president.

Mrs. Park, 48, and a 16-year-old girl choir singer were wounded fatally when Moon started shooting as the president was making an Independence Day address in the Seoul National Theater.

Woman Pummels Lion With Shoe To Rescue Child

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — A 2-year-old child was pulled from the mouth of a lion by a woman who pummeled the beast with her shoe, zoo officials say.

Brandon Gates was rushed to San Jose Hospital for knee surgery after the attack on Thursday. Hospital officials said he was in good condition.

Brandon was with his brother and students from Toyon Elementary School here when he climbed over a protective fence and walked to the lion's cage, said John Waites, keeper of San Jose Baby Zoo at Kelley Park.

Waites said the other children screamed and the 80-pound African yearling reached out for Brandon through the bars.

Myra Woolverton, 24, of San Jose, said: "I thought, 'That lion isn't going to let go of that baby,' so I jumped over the fence, took my shoe off and started pounding the lion on the head through the bars until she let go," Mrs. Woolverton said.

Compromise On Housing Heads For White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A three years or at least the level of grants they had received earlier.

In a section which Nixon had opposed, the bill would make available about $250 million over the next two years for each of two subsidy programs. These would provide subsidies for home ownership by low-income families and for low-rent apartments.

A section aimed at boosting the housing industry would raise from $33,000 to $45,000 the ceiling on FHA-insured mortgages on single-family homes. Also included is authorization of $1 billion for programs of housing production, rehabilitation and leasing estimated to benefit about 400,000 persons.

Another $800 million was allocated to the developers of housing for the elderly and handicapped.

The measure is believed acceptable to the new administration although it contains some ideas which had been opposed by former President Richard M. Nixon, as well as things he proposed.

The vote was 377-21.

Included is a proposal by Nixon for combining programs into block grants giving local authorities more discretion in the use of federal funds. The bill combines seven specific categorical programs into an $8.6 billion community development block grant.

The grants would be allocated on the basis of population and prevalence of poverty. Cities would be assured for

Nixon Subpoena Could Mean Other Legal Entanglements

By CHARLES J. LEWIS
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Having shed the legal armor that protected him in the White House, Richard M. Nixon is about to receive a subpoena that could be the harbinger of further legal entanglements.

The subpoena was filed here on Thursday by lawyers for John D. Ehrlichman, Nixon's former domestic adviser. It seeks Nixon's testimony as a defense witness in Ehrlichman's upcoming conspiracy trial arising from the Watergate cover-up.

Addressed to "Richard M. Nixon, Presidential Compound, San Clemente, Calif.," the subpoena was mailed to the U.S. marshal's office in Los Angeles for delivery to Nixon, probably in the next couple of days.

The subpoena was accompanied by check for $302 to cover Nixon's travel expenses and daily witness fees.

While President, Nixon received court protection from subpoenas requiring his testimony, though he was compelled by the Supreme Court to honor subpoenas for tapes and documents in the Watergate investigation.

It's unclear what sort of testimony Nixon would be expected to give on Ehrlichman's behalf. One Ehrlichman lawyer cited a gag rule laid down by U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica as the reason why he couldn't spell out the purpose of the subpoena.

Ehrlichman and five other defendants are scheduled to stand trial Sept. 9. However, three — Ehrlichman, H. R. Haldean and former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell — were joined Thursday by special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski, who said he needs more time to study new presidential tapes. Sirica set a hearing Monday to deal with those requests.

Nixon's presidential immunity apparently thwarted the Watergate grand jury's original resolve to indict him as another member of the alleged conspiracy. Instead, the indictment handed down March 1 listed Nixon as an unindicted conspirator.

Jaworski and his staff now are studying whether Nixon should be indicted as a full-fledged conspirator. That possibility has stirred debate around the country, and the American Bar Association's legislative body went on record on Thursday in favor of the proposition that no one should get special treatment in facing prosecution for alleged crimes.

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City's acting medical examiner says methadone, a synthetic drug used to treat narcotic addiction, killed almost twice as many people as heroin here last year.

Deaths directly attributable to all narcotics declined, however, from 924 in 1972 to 745 in 1973 — the first reduction since the medical examiner's office began keeping statistics in 1962.

Dr. Dominick J. DiMaio said Thursday that 181 deaths in 1973 were caused by methadone poisoning, compared with 98 attributable to heroin.

Methadone, in supervised treatment, is taken in regulated doses and creates a tolerance to any narcotic.

Illness Curbs Chou's Activities
 TOKYO (AP) — Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's illness continues to prevent him from handling official public duties, according to Komeito, one of Japan's major political parties. Teng told the delegation that Chou's poor health prevented him from receiving them personally.

Witnesses Claim FDA Often Suppresses Reports On Drugs

By TOM RAUM
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration frequently suppresses unfavorable reports on new drugs and disciplines those who draft them, a group of FDA staff doctors has told a Senate panel.

Eleven medical professionals testified on Thursday, citing numerous instances in which they said their adverse reports on drugs were overturned by FDA officials. Some said that after making such reports, they were taken off the case and the drug assigned to another doctor, who subsequently recommended its approval.

Six of the FDA staff doctors said they were transferred to less important jobs and away from their field of expertise after speaking out against certain drugs or against FDA procedures.

Their testimony came before a joint meeting of Senate Judiciary and Labor-Welfare subcommittees in an investigation of the nation's pharmaceutical industry and the government agencies regulating it.

An FDA spokesman said the agency had no immediate comment on the allegations.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-

Mass., chairman of the hearings, said the 11 FDA doctors were subpoenaed and did not appear voluntarily. He warned FDA officials against attempting to take "any administrative action" against the employees because of their testimony.

Dr. J. Marion Bryant, a cardiologist with the FDA, said he was severely reprimanded by his bosses for speaking out on a drug he felt was "exceedingly dangerous."

"I was harassed... I was reprimanded for speaking out in such a fashion," Bryant testified. He also said he was transferred out of the agency's cardiology section after devoting more than 30 years of his life to cardiology.

"I was continually harassed in the way I was trying to do my work," testified Dr. B. L. Appleton. "My superior at that time was going behind my back and giving my findings to the (drug company) sponsor" of the drug being reviewed.

The FDA is charged with reviewing and approving or rejecting all new products that pharmaceutical firms want to market.

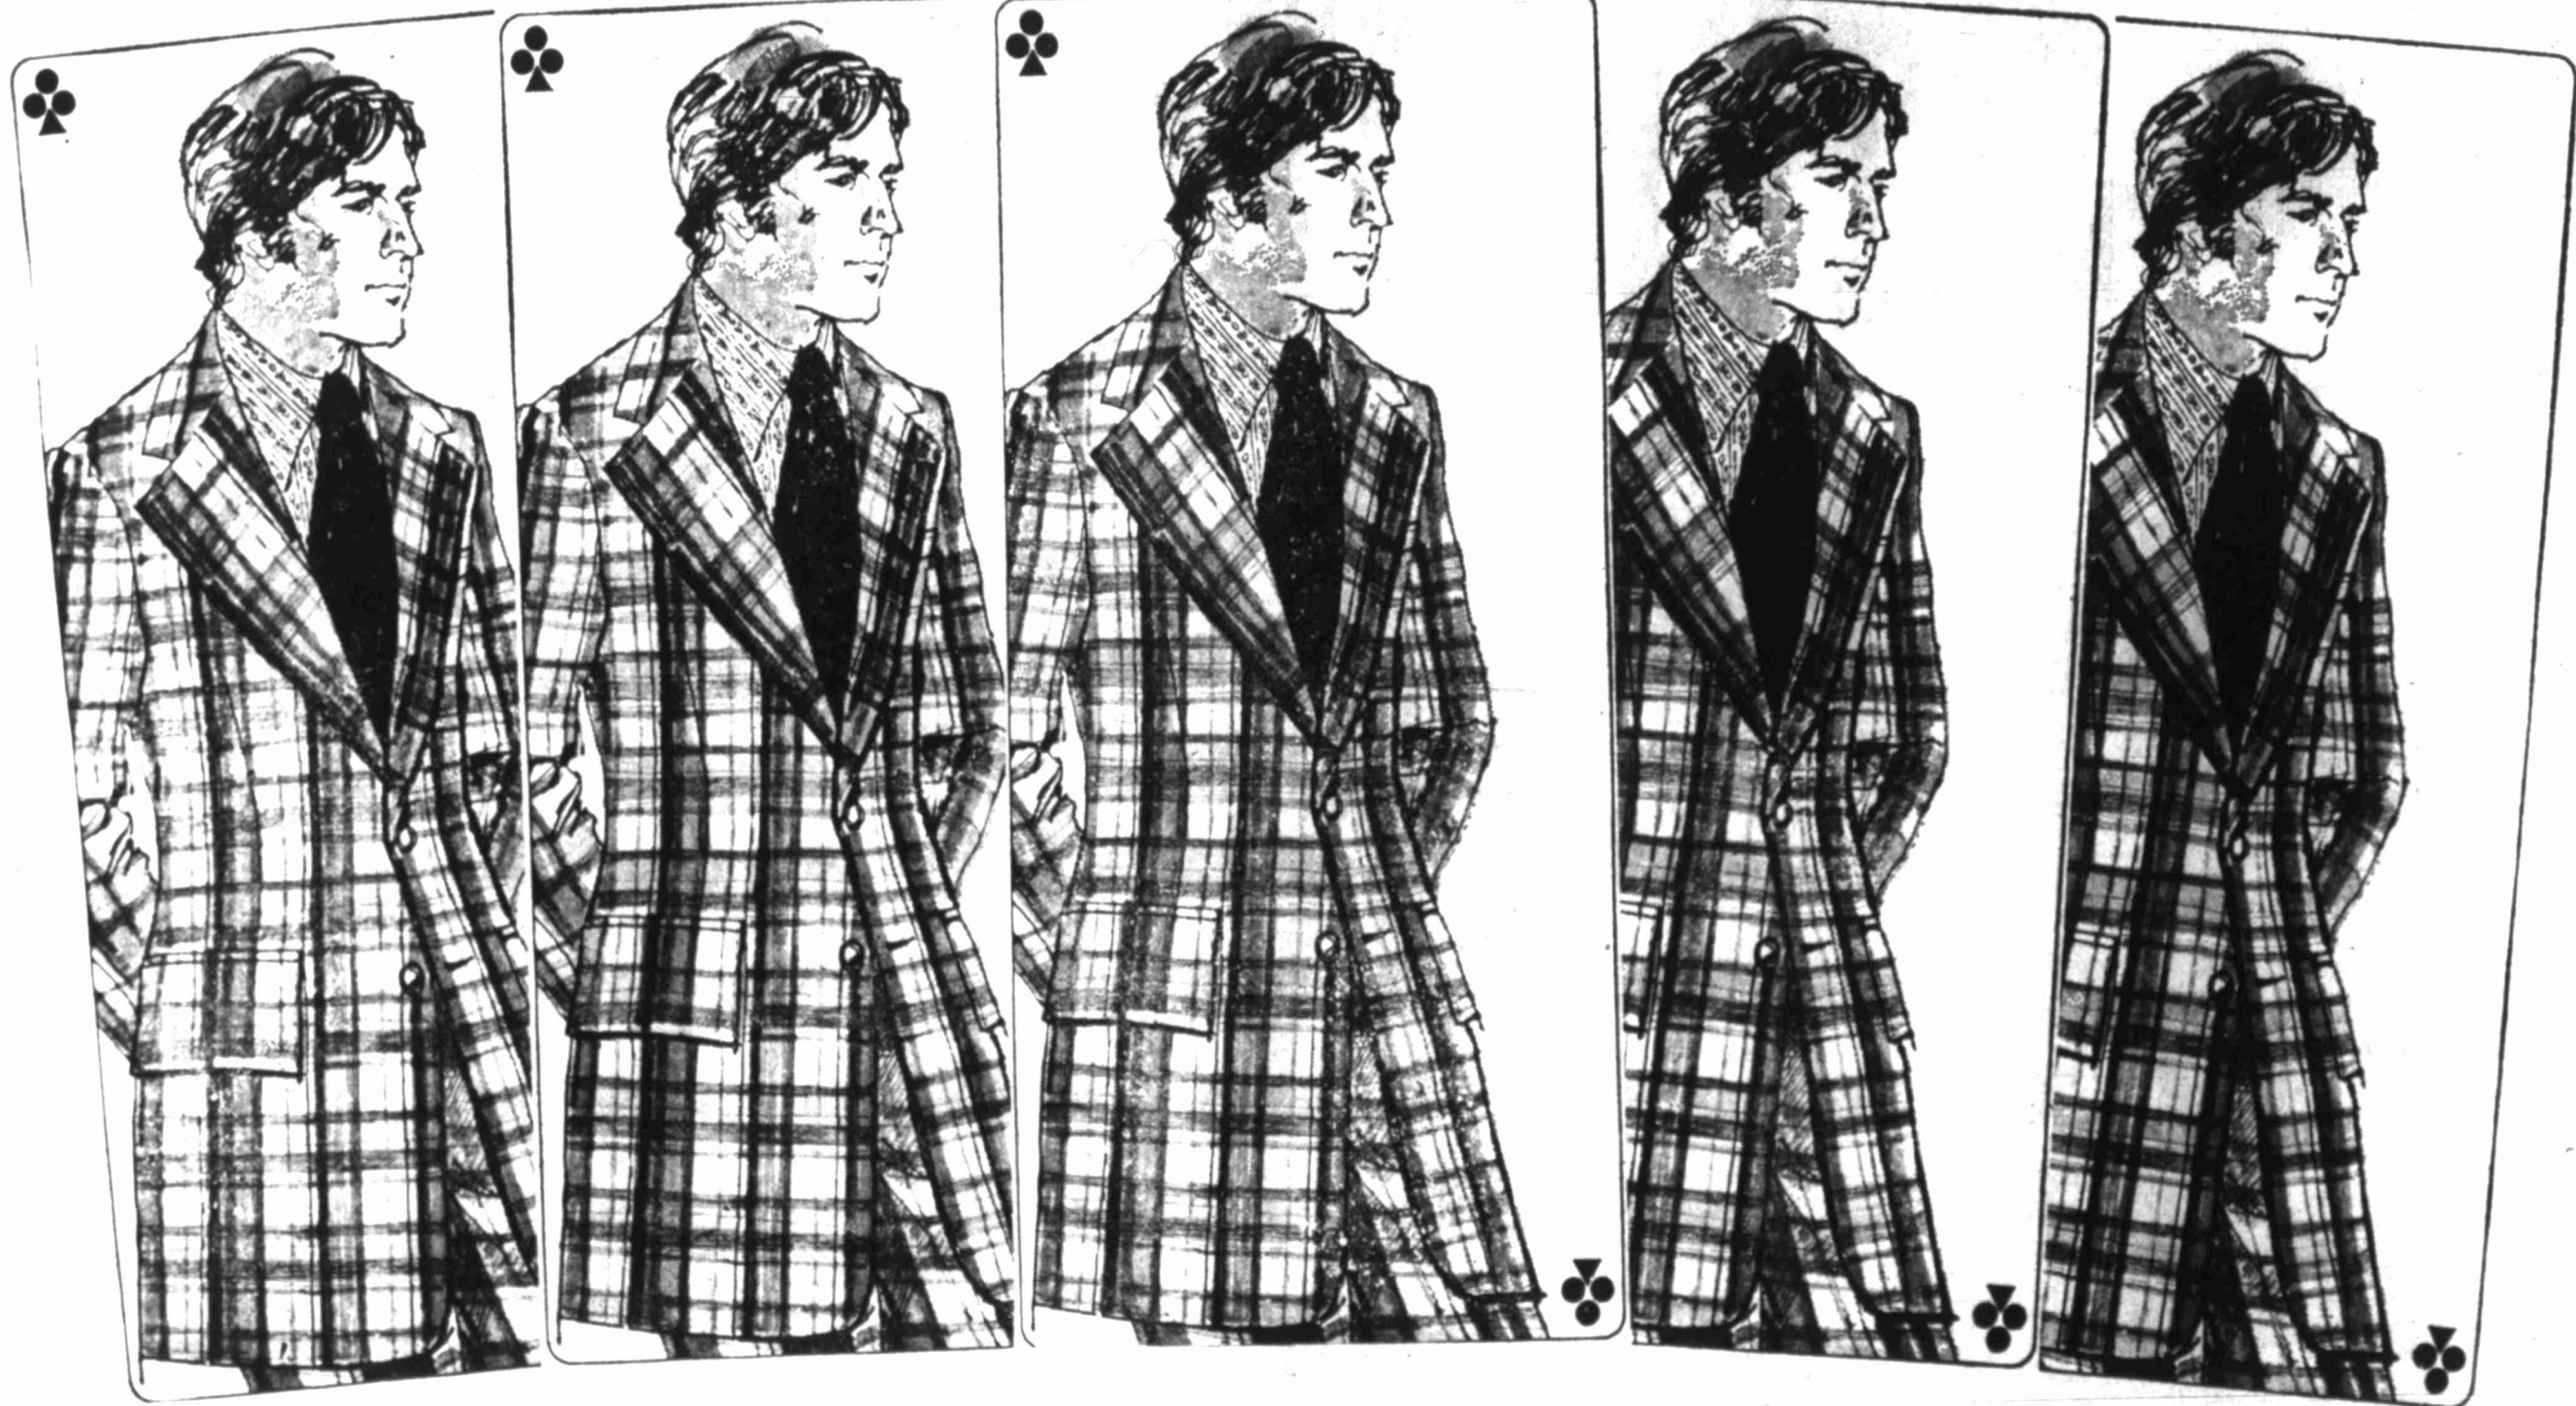

Several of the witnesses said their unfavorable reports on drugs were later changed to reflect a more favorable finding. They testified they were pressured by FDA officials to change and modify their recommendations to pave the way toward FDA approval of drugs they felt should not be marketed.

"I've had significant portions of some of my reviews deleted," said Dr. Carol Kennedy, a specialist on psychiatric drugs. She testified that she was transferred to a section that checked contact lenses after voicing her criticism of FDA procedures.

Sun Topples Houston Texans

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
HOUSTON (AP) — The Southern California Sun became the star attraction of the World Football League's Western Division today after stealing a few lines from the Houston Texans' defensive script Thursday night.

The Texans entered the game as the top defensive team in the WFL and held a one-half game lead over the Sun in the Western Division.

But the Sun defensive victimized substitute quarterback Don Trull with two fatal interceptions, one a 66-yard touchdown return by Durwood Keeton, to defeat the Texans 18-7 before a national television audience in the Astrodome.

"I knew I was gone when I got it," said Keeton, whose interception return with 24 seconds left in the fourth quarter led the game for the Sun.

"Heck, there wasn't anybody there but me. I knew they had to stop the clock by going deep or for the quickout."

"I told (Jim) Bowman to go deep and I went for the quickout. I'll have to credit Coach (Ed) Cody for teaching me how to pick off the quickout."

Houston, which dropped to a 2-3-1 record, led 7-0 at the half on a 51-yard touchdown bomb from quarterback Mike Taliaferro to John Odum, who grabbed the ball between two Sun defenders. Safety Jack Connors grabbed Houston's first punt of the third quarter on his own 30 and raced 90 yards for the tying touchdown.

Rifle-Pistol Club To Hold Meeting

The regular meeting of the Permian Basin Rifle and Pistol Club will be held Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m. at the Club House on Holiday Hill Road. All members are urged to attend this meeting.

The last regular meeting was held on July 14, with 20 members present. A discussion of the Proposed Loop Road, the annexation of the shotgun facility into the city, and of the re-evaluation of the Rifle and Pistol Range property for tax purposes was led by Gordon Marcum. The members present approved a proposal to purchase 100-straight plus to be awarded by the club at registered Trap and Skeet Shoots.

The club was well represented at the public meeting held to discuss the proposed North Loop road on July 25th at Goddard Jr. High, approximately 24 members were present with Gordon Marcum and Doctor Tanner acting as spokesmen for the club.

six stitches. He completed six of eight passes for 117 yards and hit five of five in the first quarter. Trull finished the game.

Trull's first interception went to Bowman with 4:50 left in the game. The Sun worked the ball to the three yard line where

Two Sharing Tourney Lead

By BOB GREEN
WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — "There was a very good possibility," Bob Murphy said, "that I would never play again."

"Oh, maybe I could have played—but they thought I might be shooting 70s. I'd have to find something else to do."

But those fears are behind him now. The chunky, red-haired Murphy, who had his left hand in a cast for three months starting in March, put together a six-under-par 65 Thursday and tied scrambling Dave Stockton for the first-round lead in the $300,000 Sammy Davis Jr.-Greater Hartford Open Golf Tournament.

Murphy, who had played only two other times since suffering a torn ligament in his hand at the Heritage Classic, had a magnificent effort.

He didn't make a bogey. He hit every green in regulation. And he had it so close to the hole his longest birdie putt was six feet—and he missed two others of about the same length.

"I had a chance to have a really, really low round," said Murphy, a veteran of seven years on the tour and a former winner of this tournament.

He and Stockton streaked a one-stroke lead over rookie Eddie Pearce and Australian veteran Bruce Devlin, tied at 66.

Fleming Jensen kicked a straight-away 19-yard field goal for the Sun's 10-7 lead with 3:00 left in the game.

"Fumbles, intercepted passes and obviously that last error beat us," Texan Coach Jim Garrett said. "We had a shot at tying the game until then. It

Intrepid Set For Mariner

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Intrepid was wasted no time in establishing an early advantage over Courageous in the finals of the Americas Cup trials.

The Intrepid took advantage of sail-handling mishaps to score a 31-second victory Thursday in the first race of the final trials.

Meanwhile, Mariner also made an auspicious beginning under new skipper Dennis Connor, winning over Valiant by one minute, 32 seconds.

Intrepid and Mariner were scheduled to face each other in competition today while the Courageous was to race Valiant.

Courageous ran into problems just before she rounded the final turning mark on the 24.3-mile course off the Rhode Island coast.

Courageous was ahead when a misrout and a line used for the boat's spinnaker jammed in a turning blinker.

The Courageous' crew had trouble getting the spinnaker down and when she tacked, five feet of the nylon sail went into the water and began acting as a sea anchor.

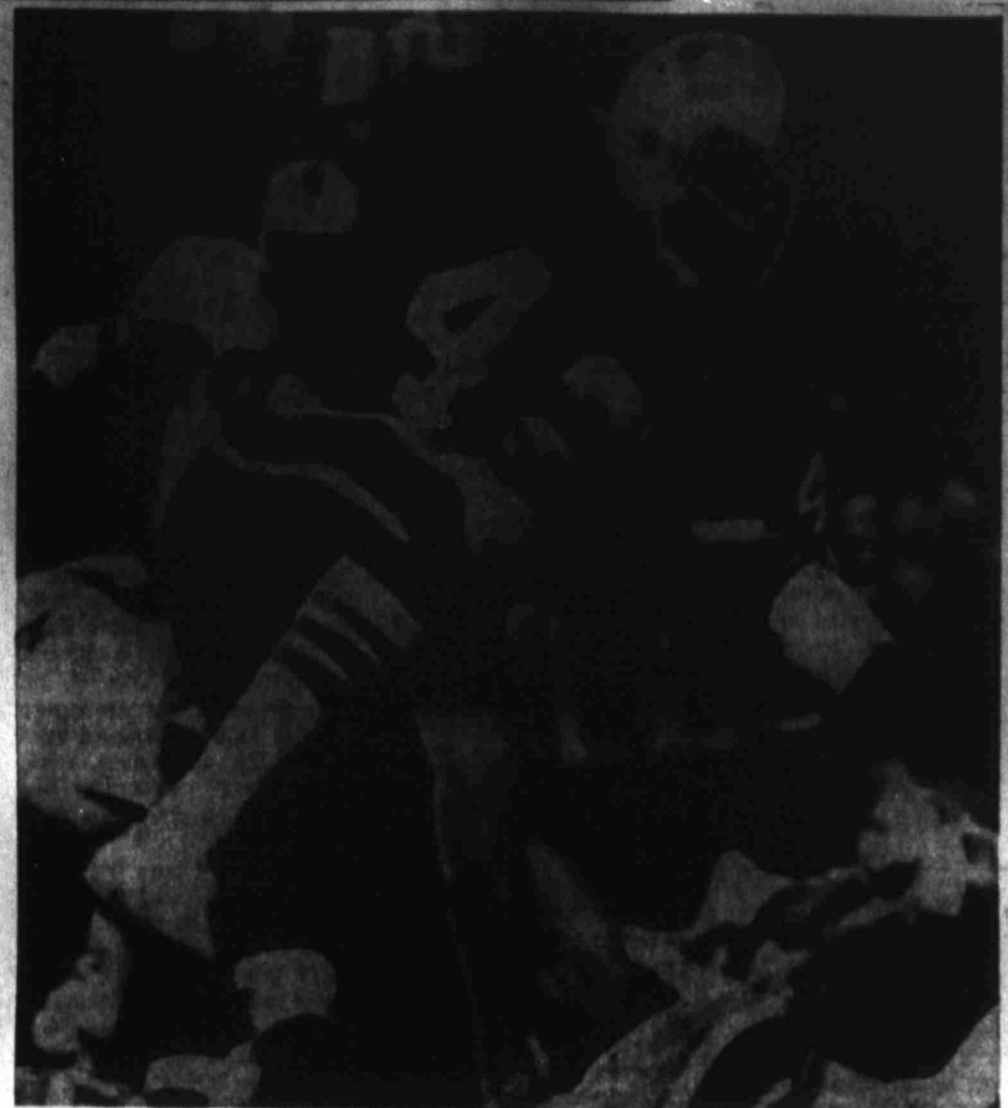

Intrepid took advantage of the situation to move ahead and held on to her now-found lead to the finish.

Intrepid had led at the first three turning marks, but on the second windward leg, Courageous overtook her rival and led by 15 seconds at the fourth mark.

Intrepid was managing to make up some ground in a downwind tacking battle when the Courageous ran into trouble.

The course is open to young men up through 18 years of age. It is like the program offered in some neighboring states such as Colorado and New Mexico, according to Brown.

Razorback Defense Strong

By HARRY KING
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Jimmy Johnson is a disciple of the late Jim Mackenzie.

Johnson was a nose man at the University of Arkansas when Mackenzie was the defensive coordinator for Frank Broyles. Mackenzie's philosophy stuck with Johnson and now he is practicing what Mackenzie preached.

"In the old days, you would tell a player to run into a brick wall and he would do it," Johnson said. "Now, the player has to believe that what he's doing is the very best thing in order to get him to perform at the top of his capability."

Johnson, a member of Arkansas' 11-0 team of 1964, said he could remember when Mackenzie would stop a practice that wasn't going right.

"We might stop a practice now that isn't accomplishing anything," Johnson said. "In the old days, you might try to go into a tough guy attitude ... make it tougher on the player. We try to stop it and let them think it out for themselves. We don't try to be all-perfect type coaches. The players feel like they can be a part of it this way.

"I think some of your better players will question what you are telling them to do ... rebel, just question. Johnson answers the questions. "Anybody with a total commitment will work harder," he said.

"We don't tell them we want to be national champions, we want them to have the commitment to be national champions. We don't tell them we're going out and have a good practice. We want them to have a commitment to a good practice to improve."

Johnson's defense may bear much of the pressure in the fall, particularly in the early going while the Razorbacks' new wishbone attack tests its muscle against the University of Southern California and Oklahoma State.

He believes the defense will be good, maybe even better. "It's not like we have to take new players and build up their confidence. We've got the exact same players that we had last year and they're going into the season feeling like they did at the end of last year."

The only apparent problem is at linebacker.

Danny Rhodes, an All-Southwest Conference performer, graduated. Hal McAfee, who led the tackle chart as a sophomore much of last year, had a knee operation in the spring. Billy Burns, a senior, also has been bothered by injuries.

Possibilities are sophomores Johnny Meadors and Bob Gallo-way, junior college transfer Wayman Hawkins and Dennis Winston.

Winston moved into the starting lineup as a freshman in midseason last year and was a terror.

"He has such a great frame of mind for playing defense," Johnson said. "In a way, he kind of wants to hurt people. He makes the kind of hit that can pick up a defense ... pick up the whole tempo."

Winston may start two-a-day practices at linebacker. The failure of the young linebackers to develop, a slow start by McAfee or improvement by defensive end William Watkins could make the move a permanent one.

The secondary is loaded with excellent athletes.

"I don't even like to say we've got a first and second team secondary," Johnson said. "We've got eight players back there that I feel can play defense for anybody."

The ringleader is Rolten Smith, the Razorbacks' best hope for postseason honors.

The defensive line includes Ivan Jordan, All-SWC as a sophomore, and Watkins or Winston at end. Tackle Brison Manor played well near the end of the 1973 season after making the adjustment from junior college. The other tackle will be Chuck McKinney, another junior college transfer, or Jon Rhiddlehoover, Arkansas' top technique player. Rhiddlehoover played tackle last year, but could go to the nose. Lottis Harris, a freshman, is given a chance at nose.

Offensively, the Razorbacks should have an experienced line—including lettermen Gerald Skinner, Russ Tribble, Greg Koch, R. C. Thielman and Lee King.

Also joining the team is Calvin Starrit, age 18. Calvin comes from Odessa where he was a member of the Permian High Swim Team. In the High School Regional Meet, Calvin was one of the finalists in the 100 yard Free Style Event. Calvin also represented the Odessa Aquatic Club.

New Takes Lead In Junior Golf

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Jeff New of Victoria held a two-stroke lead over Beaumont's Brock Harrison as the 48th annual State Junior Golf Tournament moved into its final day today.

New took over first place Thursday with a 72 that gave him a three-day total of 212, four-under-par. Michael Michalka of Sour Lake and Sam Manning started the final day tied for third with 215.

Tommy Sanders of Victoria had 216 and Dick Kerley of Abilene followed with 217. Greg Groat of Dallas and Randy Warhouse of San Angelo were next with 218.

IN AAU DIVING— Texan Captures Springboard Win

DECATUR, Ala. (AP) — The preliminaries and finals of the men's one-meter springboard event and the preliminaries of the women's 10-meter platform event were slated for today in the National AAU Diving Championships.

The meet is being held at the Point Mallard Aquatic Center. Thursday, Christine Look of Fort Worth, Tex., edged teammate Cynthia Potter of Houston, Tex., in the women's three-meter springboard championship.

Miss Look, 20, a junior at Southern Methodist University, tallied 522.29 points while Miss Potter, who took the one-meter springboard championship Wednesday, had 522.60. The winner and runnerup are members of the Nautilus of the Southwest Club in Dallas, Tex.

The other six finalists were: Barbara Schaefer of Ann Arbor, Mich., with 511.47 points; Jerrie Talbert of Cypress, Calif., with 506.06; Janet Ely of Albuquerque, N.M., with 487.11; Jennifer Chandler of Lincoln, Ala., with 483.00; Carrie Irish of New Canaan, Conn., with 463.71; and D'Lynn Damron of Madison, Wis., with 448.95.

Miss Potter trailed her teammate 473.43 to 449.37 going into the final dive Thursday. Miss Potter executed inward two and one-half summersault dive well.

Foreman, Ali In Exhibition Bouts

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — World heavyweight boxing champion George Foreman and ex-champs Muhammad Ali and Joe Frazier will put their gloves on for charity here Sept. 3 in separate exhibition bouts, a promoter says.

Joe Carroll, who heads the Beehive Boxing Club, says the three heavyweights confirmed through their managers their appearance for the benefit card.

Opponents for the exhibition matches have not been determined, Carroll said.

The card also will feature a 12-round American heavyweight title bout between champion Chuck Wepner of New Jersey and Terry Hinks of Hayward, Calif.

Carroll told newsmen Thursday that he anticipates a $150,000 gate, which will go, except for fighters' expenses, to "Project Survival," established to help five African nations fight drought.

Foreman and Ali are scheduled to fight for the heavyweight championship Sept. 24 in Zaire, Africa—one of the stricken nations.

SMU Faces Possible Two-Year Probation

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist University football players greeted with surprise and chagrin Wednesday reports that the NCAA is likely to put the school on two years probation with no TV or bowl appearances.

"I felt it was all over. It was really shocking to me," said wide receiver Kenny Harrison of the news that SMU would be penalized by the NCAA for offering cash payments to football players for good play. The Southwest Conference had given the school one year probation but with no other penalties.

"The NCAA committee has assessed and rendered its decision, decided on a penalty. It (the penalty) is before SMU at the present time. SMU's recourse at this time is to go to the NCAA council with an appeal. SMU can accept it or appeal it."

Warfield Faces Last Year?

By JOHN R. SKINNER
MIAMI (AP) — Wide receiver Paul Warfield has recalled a personal forecast that he would not be with the Miami Dolphins in 1975.

"Physically, I feel as good as I've felt for the last three to four years," said Warfield of his playing outlook. "Emotionally, to play 20 games a year is quite hard."

Warfield, who earns an estimated $70,000 with the National Football League champion Dolphins, said money wasn't always his main goal in football. He said he turned down a higher offer from the old American Football League to sign with the club he idolized as a youth, the Cleveland Browns, in 1964.

Warfield Faces Last Year?

Warfield is to get an estimated $1 million from the three-year WFL contract. The lion's share goes to Csonka and the smallest portion to Kick, who lost his Miami starting job to Mercury Morris the past two seasons.

Warfield has been perhaps the most popular of all the Dolphins since he was obtained from Cleveland in 1970. Dolphin T-shirts bearing his number, 42, have been almost impossible to find in South Florida stores during past seasons.

But now, Warfield realizes he may be subject to boos from disgruntled fans.

"I think most of the people can place themselves in my situation and realize I did what was best for those dear to me," said the father of one daughter. "I think most of them will evaluate me fairly."

"I'm just going to do my job as well as I can and hope that will be well enough to satisfy me and hopefully, satisfy the people here."

Empty Movie Lots Converted To Tennis Courts For Stars

By BOB THOMAS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — On the stages where Glenn Ford once romanced Rita Hayworth there is a new kind of love game — tennis.

The question of what to do with Hollywood's empty movie stages is being answered, temporarily at least, by capitalizing on the tennis boom.

At least two studios that once bustled with cowpokes and dancing girls are now welcoming white-shirted tennis enthusiasts.

First into the field was the Hollywood Indoor Tennis Club, which rented the back part of the Columbia Studios, vacated when Columbia moved to Warner Brothers.

Resident pro and manager is Allen Tong, longtime captain of the University of Southern California tennis team.

"We run a 24-hour operation here," said Tong, displaying the two handsome courts that occupied a sound stage. "A lot of our members play at 2 and 3 in the morning. I start giving lessons at 6."

Other members are Bill Cosby, Sidney Poitier, Johnny Carson, Gene Kelly and Jim Brown.

Some of the club's 500 members own their own courts. Then why would they join a tennis club?

Some can't play in the sun, Tong explained. Others like the privacy and novelty of playing under controlled conditions indoors.

Members pay $250 a year and rent courts from $6 to $10 an hour, depending on what time they play.

The International Studio Tennis Club is a few blocks away on Caluenga Avenue. It occupies half of the original Motion Picture Center studio. The other half is used by a storage company.

Motion Picture Center original

nated as an independent studio in the boom days right after World War II and went through metamorphoses as Enterprise, Desilu, Paramount TV and finally Cinema General.

The head of the International Studio Tennis Club is Clarence Ross, who reports a "very good" response to the membership drive.

"Indoor tennis is new to California," remarked Ross. "People say, 'We have such wonderful weather here, why play indoors?'"

"There are many reasons: heat, smog, wind, having to turn off outdoor lights at a certain hour. Outdoor tennis clubs average only six hours of play daily on a year-round basis. An indoor court can average 16 hours."

The courts are often occupied in the early morning hours by music stars seeking to unwind after late recording sessions and actors relaxing after night filming.

Why are actors playing tennis instead of movie scenes on the stages? Because few features are being made in Hollywood nowadays, young directors preferring to shoot on location. Television filming is also greatly diminished.

Tong's club has attracted many show biz personalities, and for some of them, it's a sentimental trip. Barbra Streisand whacks the ball in the same precincts where she belted "People" in "Funny Girl."

PERRYBURG, Ohio (AP) — More than 100 fans jammed municipal court here as comedian Paul Lynde pleaded no contest to a charge of public intoxication.

Commuting Chief Executive First In Long Time For U.S.

By FRANCES LEWINE
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford stops traffic twice daily over an eight-mile route, but fellow commuters just smile and wave him on.

A commuter president is something Washington hasn't had in a while, and won't have very long. The Fords are planning to move into the White House on Monday and the President will be able to walk home from the Oval Office.

Reporters and cameramen will be able to get a little more sleep and police and Secret Service escorts can relax.

Ford's commuting created a new style for a new president.

It is reminiscent, in a way, of Harry S. Truman's early morning walks. The daily appearances give people a chance to see him, and reporters a chance for informal chats.

Ford is an early morning commuter—off before 7:30 a.m. He is back by 3 p.m. People can count on it.

It has made him one of the President Confers With Union Leader

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford conferred today with Teamsters Union President Frank Fitzsimmons, the second labor leader he has invited into the Oval Office in the week since he became president.

Ford also arranged a meeting with holdover economic counselor Kenneth Rush and a briefing from the Office of Management and Budget on the latest federal spending outlook.

Fitzsimmons was one of former President Nixon's chief labor supporters, but the other labor leader Ford met this week, AFL-CIO President George Meany, had been sharply critical of Nixon's policies.

King Hussein of Jordan also was on Ford's morning schedule and will be guest of honor at a White House state dinner tonight.

Ford's work days were becoming longer and longer as he neared the end of his first week in office.

On Thursday he vetoed a bill that would have authorized $47 million more each year for health research to combat animal diseases. He said he did so because the measure "would add further to the federal taxpayers' burdens without significantly meeting national needs and would only add to inflationary pressures within the economy."

In other developments: —Ford named his former college roommate and law partner, Philip A. Buchen, as his White House counsel.

—The President said his decision on a vice president will come "no earlier than the weekend." Sources said the announcement probably won't come until next week. The Detroit Free Press said today that Nelson A. Rockefeller, former New York governor, has the inside track for the position.

—Ford told a meeting of county officials on Thursday that he will veto mass transit legislation now being debated in the House if it calls for spending $20 billion. He urged a less-expensive compromise.

—And the President announced that Dr. William M. Lukash will serve as his personal physician. Lukash said he is delighted with the health of the new President.

folks in a way—even if his chauffeur-driven police-escorted travel is luxurious.

He comes home for dinner with a newspaper tucked under his arm, carrying his commuted-size brown attache case, always pausing to wave and chat.

"Hi, President Ford," neighbor youngsters call out to him. One night he looked tired after a 12-hour day at the office. "It's been a long day," the President conceded to reporters with a tired smile.

He said he always does some reading on the 15-minute drive.

One evening, if he looked up along the homebound route, he could have seen youngsters on a grassy hillside holding aloft a hand-lettered sign, saying "Hello, Mr. President."

Another night, a girl on horseback joined the evening welcome home regulars on his street, Crown View Drive in suburban Alexandria, Va.

The cares of his new office are beginning to show in Ford's week as a commuter. He is coming in a little earlier and going home a little later each day.

Greek Withdrawal From NATO Seen By Some As Diplomatic Ploy

By CARL HARTMAN
BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Greece's withdrawal from the North Atlantic military command probably was an attempt to pressure the United States and its allies to tilt against the Turks on Cyprus, some officials at the headquarters of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization say.

No NATO spokesman will play down the importance of the Greek action publicly. But privately some officials see it as a diplomatic maneuver with few practical consequences.

"Withdrawal from NATO" has a ringing sound and helps satisfy anti-American sentiment in Greece. But the Greeks are remaining in the North Atlantic Council, the political part of the alliance, and keeping their ambassador and his staff at the Brussels headquarters.

There was no move to remove Greek employees from the international civilian staff.

On Wednesday, the Greek government said it had told its military representatives with the various NATO commands to leave their posts within 24 hours. But on Thursday they showed no sign of going, and it was reported that no firm order had arrived.

Some officers thought they might not go for some time. Or they might just change their title from "liaison representatives" to "liaison officers." That is what the French officers at allied headquarters did after the late President Charles de Gaulle withdrew France from NATO's joint command in 1966.

The Greek flag still flew on Thursday at NATO's European military headquarters near Mons as well as at the Brussels home of the North Atlantic Council.

Although De Gaulle threw

U.S. and other allied troops out of France, Greek Foreign Minister George Avramos said Thursday that American forces are in Greece under special agreements between the two countries and he doubted if these could be broken.

The Greek action involves no major troop movements. Greece's NATO assignment was to protect itself from attack by the Soviet Bloc, and the Greek army is still protecting Greece even though the shield is up against attack from Turkey rather than from the Communists.

The Turkish military action has upset allied planning more than Greece's action. The Turks sent a sizable part of their combat strength to the Soviet Union. But Greece's borders with Turkey are in the same general area as its frontier with Bulgaria, its only close neighbor in the Warsaw Pact, and not much movement would be required to shift the troops from the Turkish border to the Bulgarian.

Black Solons Ask Briscoe For Full Disclosure Of Past DPS Racial Probes

HOUSTON (AP) — Two black legislators have announced they will ask Gov. Dolph Briscoe for a full disclosure of past investigations of racial groups by the Texas Department of Public Safety.

State Reps. Anthony Hall and Craig Washington said Thursday they will ask the governor for a "full explanation" of reports that the DPS has routinely gathered intelligence on black and Mexican-American activities.

David Lopez, a member of the Houston School Board and former organizer for the Texas AFL-CIO, said it was "fairly common knowledge" among Mexican-American activists that the DPS had them under surveillance.

Wilson E. Speir, DPS director, this week eliminated "racial" as a routine category for intelligence investigations. He said in a report to Briscoe that he had instructed the unit to investigate only organized crime, criminal matters of general nature and special security assignments.

Jim Robinson, a DPS spokesman, said in Austin that the report by Speir indicated there has been a "tightening of policies" regarding the gathering of possible subversive intelligence.

He quoted from the report that "there is to be no monitoring, routine or otherwise of pro- or anti-racial activities of any sort unless a supervisor, on the basis of information he considered reliable, believes that violence or criminal acts may occur as a result of the activity."

The report, he said, specified that in the future "agents will initiate such monitoring only upon the approval of a supervisor and are to keep the supervisor fully aware of developments."

According to Robinson, the report also stated that "activities of this sort are to be terminated and reports submitted if the results appear to be negative."

He said to the best of his knowledge the intelligence division no longer maintains files on subversives or civil rights activists.

Lopez said the DPS compiled a dossier on him in the late 1960s while he was working with farm workers in the Rio Grande Valley.

He said two of his colleagues

Stock Market Moves Lower In Session Of Dull Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed lower today in slow trading, exhausted from six days of sharp losses, brokers said.

The Dow Jones industrial average was down 2.86 at 785.22 at noon after having been up about 3 points in early trading.

Advances continued to lead declines, but the margin narrowed to a slight difference.

Trading was dull.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down .07 at 76.01 at noon.

Brokers said bargain buying and an expected end to the fighting on Cyprus at noon encouraged investors to some early buying. But inflation problems continued to cloud the market's outlook, they said.

On the Big Board, Fleming Co. was the most-active stock, unchanged at 9 1/2.
