

Gaines Sector Mississippian Strike Finals

Amerada Hess Corp. No. 1 Stanton Burnson, former Devonian pay opener in the Amrow field of Gaines County, 20 miles southeast of Seminole, has been recompleted as a Mississippian pay opener for the field.

The 24-hour pumping potential was for 12 barrels of 41-gravity oil and 141 barrels of water, producing through perforations at 11,533-11,580 feet, which had been acidized with 6,000 gallons.

It originally was completed March 8, 1954 by Amerada Petroleum Co. as the Devonian discovery, for 1,808 barrels of oil daily, gravity 35.4 degrees, through a 3/4-inch choke and perforations at 12,674-12,728 feet. Gas-oil ratio measured 16-1.

It was re-entered in September, 1973 and a bridge plug was set at an unreported depth before perforating the above Mississippian interval and treating with the acid. It was temporarily abandoned in November, 1972.

Total depth is 12,796 feet, and derrick floor elevation, 3,132 feet.

Location is 660 feet from south and 2,900 feet from east lines of league 308, Terrell CSL survey.

Pecos Draws Exploration

Two Pecos sectors draw locations for exploration.

C. F. Lawrence & Associates, Inc. of Midland, plan to drill a 4,200-foot venture, 16 miles west of Girvin. It is No. 1 Lacos-State.

The drillsite, 1,980 feet from southeast and southwest lines of section 96, block 10, H&TC survey, is one location northwest of the depleted 3,500 Clearfork discovery in the Masterson field.

The discovery, completed in 1943, was Magnolia Petroleum Co. No. 1 State, finished for 50 barrels of 22-gravity oil and 450 barrels of salt water daily, through perforations at 3,520-3,546 feet.

Deepening Slated

Hanson Corp., Midland, will re-enter and deepen from 7,500 feet to wildcat depth of 8,500 feet at No. 1 Chester Parke, Pecos County failure, 23 miles southeast of Fort Stockton.

Originally drilled by Southern Minerals, et al, as No. 1 Parke, et al, it was plugged and abandoned Sept. 24, 1965.

Test site is 467 feet from most northerly south line and 1,980 feet from most westerly west line of section 2, block 206, Mary Simmons survey, 3/4 mile east of depleted Wolfcamp production in the Hokit, Northwest field.

BUT GLOOMY FOR NATURAL GAS THIS WINTER—

Petroleum Fuels Outlook Good

By STAN BENJAMIN
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Government and industry experts say the nation should have enough petroleum fuels this winter, but the outlook is uncertain for coal and downright gloomy for natural gas.

George Hall, fuels manager in the Federal Energy Administration's petroleum allocation program, said, "All things being equal — assuming it's a normal winter and there are no problems with the Arabs — the petroleum outlook is good."

The FEA reported in late August that stocks of distillate fuel oil, which includes home heating oil and diesel fuel, were some 10.5 per cent higher than a year earlier and 12 per cent higher than two years earlier.

Stocks of gasoline were more than 12 per cent above those of 1973 and 11.6 per cent higher than in 1972.

The weakest category in petroleum appeared to be residual fuel oil; stocks were about 4.5 per cent behind their level of 1972, but were 14 per cent better than a year ago.

Tight supplies of residual oil could affect electric utilities, prime users of that fuel.

Hall said uncertainties are posed by the possibility of a coal miners strike this November, when the current United Mine Workers contract expires.

Natural gas supplies are already expected to run short. The Federal Power Commission predicts that natural gas companies will be forced by shortages to cut off supplies temporarily to some industries, as they did last winter.

But this year's curtailments are expected to be almost twice as great as last year's, the FPC said.

Homes and other essential consumers are given top priority for natural gas, and home heating and cooking gas are not in danger of being cut off, the commission said.

But curtailed gas deliveries could force some industries to seek more expensive alternate fuels, putting additional pressure on fuel oil supplies, and driving up the price of their products. Some industries might even be forced to shut operations and put some workers out of jobs.

Commission officials could not predict which specific industries might be hurt, because it would depend on supplies in each locality.

Three Persons Die In Floods In Corpus Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Intense and widespread rainstorms swept Texas from its central region to the coast today, spawning a tornado which struck a hospital without causing injuries, and causing flash flooding which took three lives.

The tornado struck in a residential area of Rosenberg and then marched onward to strike the Polly Ryan Hospital in Richmond, three miles away.

No injuries were reported from the tornado. The hospital was required to operate on emergency power.

Officers said flash flooding swept a pickup camper off U.S. 77 about a mile north of Woodstock in the Corpus Christi area. A man and two boys were drowned. The mother and a boy, 14, clung to brush and were rescued.

The Weather Service issued a flash flood warning for a vast region of the state northeast of a Laredo-Austin line.

And far to the northeast, rains of 5 inches or more in the Cameron-Little River region sent the Little River for which the crossroads town is named surging out of its banks.

"Widespread flooding is expected along the river from Little River to Cameron the next two days," the Weather Service said, as far as the junction with the Brazos.

While the rains poured down and the Weather Service kept adding flash flood warnings, a tornado was sighted between Richmond and Rosenberg in Fort Bend County and travelers' warnings were issued for Guadalupe Pass in Far West Texas because of fog and winds of more than 40 miles per hour.

The rains were set off by a strong cool front colliding with the moisture-laden air left by Hurricane Carmen. At the readings earlier today, nearly half the major reporting stations were recording moisture ranging from drizzle to severe thunderstorms.

Midland's cool spell will lift some on Saturday with the predicted high temperature in the mid-70s passing today's high mark which was expected to range near 70.

The overnight low temperature dropped to 54 degrees, and tonight's low will likely be in the mid-50s, according to forecasters with the National Weather Service at Midland Air Terminal. Thursday's high was 87.

A chance of precipitation remains for Midlanders, with 30 per cent as the probability for this afternoon and tonight, and 20 per cent for Saturday.

A fine mist caused motorists to turn windshield wipers on early today, and the mist continued off and on throughout the morning.

Oil Exporting Countries Want To Increase Taxes

VIENNA (AP) — The world's major oil exporting countries want to raise their oil revenues through higher taxes that should come out of company profits and not the consumers' pockets, a key Iranian official said today.

He said these governments agree that posted prices for crude oil should not be changed, but they want to boost their income by imposing new taxes of about 35 to 40 cents a barrel.

This increase, if passed on directly to consumers, would come to about one cent a gallon for gasoline or about $3 a ton for heating oil.

The tax increase plan was reported to newsmen by Jamshid Amouzegar, Iranian minister of the interior, during a lunch break in a conference of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

But oil company analysts observing the Vienna meeting said every penny added to average costs will be passed on to consumers.

OPEC's economic commission had submitted a recommendation that prices be increased by about 14 per cent. However, Amouzegar and others had indicated that the push for higher posted prices is weakening, apparently because less and less oil is subject to the posted price due to increased nationalization of foreign oil holdings.

The posted price is an artificial figure on which the producing countries calculate what the oil companies pay for the oil they produce. It has been $11.65 a barrel since Jan. 1, meaning that the oil countries collected about $6.40 a barrel.

Meanwhile, the oil countries sell their share of the production by jointly owned companies—often 60 per cent—to their Western partners who have the marketing facilities. The price for this oil is determined by auction or negotiations.

The current market price is about $9.50 a barrel of oil; during the squeeze last winter resulting from the Arab oil embargo it rose in some cases to more than $20 a barrel.

The OPEC nations account for about 56 per cent of the world's daily production of about 50 million barrels. Some of the ministers say this should be reduced by 2 million barrels, but two previous attempts to work out an agreement limiting production failed.

Representatives of the Arab oil nations are to meet separately in Vienna this weekend. One Arab minister said they would discuss establishment of a development corporation to use their oil revenues in underdeveloped Arab countries. But there was speculation that they would also consider some resumption of last winter's restrictions on oil deliveries in an attempt to generate new pressure on Israel.

Rocky Says His Net Worth $33 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President-designate Nelson Rockefeller reportedly has submitted to Congress financial information that shows a net worth of $33 million. Rockefeller also gave copies of his federal income tax for the last seven years, indicating he paid about $2 million a year in taxes during those years.

Many of the assets listed are based on the original acquisition cost rather than on current market value. This includes both New York City real estate and stock holdings. The Senate Rules and Administration Committee has asked Rockefeller to revise or supplement the original financial statement which he submitted to reflect the present value of his assets.

White Blasts 'Panic Button' Food Export Policies

SULPHUR SPRINGS, Tex. (AP) — Agriculture Commissioner John White told a crowd of protesting dairy farmers today that "panic button" export policies by the government are a major cause of rising food prices and farm problems.

Sponsors of the meeting said in advance that as many as 5,000 farmers might attend the session. They are complaining that it costs more to produce milk than they receive.

White said in a speech prepared for the meeting that U.S. Agriculture Secretary Earl Buttz had rejected as too complex a plan for rigid day-to-day monitoring of food exports.

"No plan is too complicated if it will save us from the present chaos of unmonitored, pell-mell export procedures which are pushing our production costs and food prices to astronomical heights," White said.

White said the only ones making money from export policies are professional commodity traders.

The farmers who organized the mass meeting say a dollar's worth of cow feed will only produce $1.07 worth of milk.

It's a losing proposition, they say, and one which will force many in Hopkins County, the state's leading dairy county, out of business.

"Normally, this would not be a panic situation. Everyone is very, very concerned. People are in a bind," explained Tommy White, a Texas A&M Extension Service dairy specialist.

The farmers want White to do something about their economic situation and they planned a mass demonstration and rally in the city square today to dramatize their needs.

With 542 dairies in Hopkins County there seemed good reason to feel a large number of dairymen and dairy-related interests would attend the rally. A spokesman for the Hopkins County Farm Bureau said invitations were mailed to some 10,000 dairy and beef raisers across the state.

A spokesman for the Texas Farm Bureau said at Waco, however, that the TFB is not involved in the demonstration.

Dairymen want White to increase wholesale milk prices, have all beef and dairy imports stopped and halt grain exports for 60 to 90 days.

White has termed the problem one of dairymen being victims of the international balance of payments situation.

"There's going to be a milk shortage if we have to sell off milk cows for hamburger meat," said Vera Johnson, secretary of the Hopkins County Farm Bureau.

Police Escort Almost Empty Buses To Schools In Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Motorcycle police formed escorts for buses carrying black and white pupils to their new schools on the second day of court-ordered busing in Boston, but in some cases they escorted almost empty buses.

Police lined both sides of the bus routes for about two miles as the buses brought black children through the blue collar Irish section in South Boston to a white high school there. The first 12 buses carried 24 students.

Helmeted police standing about five yards apart encircled South Boston High School. A police spokesman said 300 to 400 officers had been assigned to the area.

No crowds gathered, honoring a city ban on assemblies imposed after angry crowds of whites stoned several buses in the area Thursday, injuring eight black children. But four persons — three of them a mother and her two children — were arrested today on disorderly conduct charges.

Fifty black pupils of an assigned 474 were bused to South Boston High today, compared with 56 on Thursday, a mayor's office spokesman said. The school, scene of demonstrations and some rock throwing on Thursday, previously had been 99 per cent white.

At Roxbury High School, 12 white pupils of about 500 assigned there attended today, compared with 20 on Thursday, according to Headmaster Charles Ray. The school previously was 100 per cent black.

Washington, with its aid, was a prop for the emperor's feudal regime. And the military and others are resentful because the U.S. government has rebuffed requests for more arms to restore Ethiopian supremacy along the border with Somalia, which claims the eastern quarter of Ethiopia.

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Ethiopia's new military rulers have warned the United States that unless it increases its supply of arms to counter Soviet shipments of tanks and MIG jets to neighboring Somalia, they may look elsewhere.

The warning was reported by diplomats today in the wake of the overthrow of Emperor Haile Selassie.

The diplomatic observers believe the removal on Thursday of the 32-year-old emperor who once held absolute power may herald a major shift in relations with Washington, Ethiopia's chief source of aid.

Some diplomats think the new regime may turn to France for military hardware and to China for other help if the United States does not supply what is wanted.

The United States has given Ethiopia about $500 million worth of military and economic aid since World War II. That is more than any other African country got.

Diplomats Believe Chou Worse

TOKYO (AP) — Diplomats in Tokyo believe that the health of Chinese Premier Chou En-lai is worse, but they see no evidence that he intends to resign in the immediate future.

Chou, 76, had a heart attack May and has gradually withdrawn from official public life. He has not attended a public function since the celebration of Army Day on July 31.

A visiting U.S. congressional delegation stirred fresh speculation on Chou's condition last week when some of its members reported he could not receive them because his health had deteriorated.

This drew denials in Peking, but also a guarded admission that he is not as well as he was when he received Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., in his hospital room early in July. For the first time in several years, Chou last week did not accompany a visiting head of state — President Gnassingbe Eyadema of Togo — when he met with Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

He was absent again on Tuesday when Mao met the Nigerian chief of state, Gen. Yakubu Gowon.

DESPITE PARDON GRANTED NIXON— Sirica Decides Cover-Up Trial Will Go Forward

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica has decided the pardon granted Gen. John N. Mitchell, who Richard M. Nixon is in-claimed to have "been sub-sufficient reason to throw out Watergate cover-up charges against the former President's subordinates."

Shortly before Sirica declared the cover-up trial would go forward, the White House indicated there will be no pardons for Watergate defendants while they still face trial.

The Senate also voted 87-14 on Thursday urging President Ford not to issue further pardons until all the Watergate trials have been completed.

And Democratic members of the House Judiciary Committee said they favor having the special prosecutor disclose the evidence against Nixon. But Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said he does not agree with proposals to indict and try Nixon despite the pardon which precludes any penalty.

Although Sirica rejected requests from three cover-up defendants for dismissal of charges against them, he indicated some sympathy with problems of a wave of pretrial publicity.

The judge set back the start of the trial by one day to Oct. 1, so a new pool of potential jurors can be selected.

Sirica had indirectly alerted a special group of 400 potential jurors that they would be judging the Watergate case, Sirica said because of publicity surrounding the Nixon pardon, the trial jury would come from a completely new group.

Attorneys for former White House aide H. R. Haldeman had said the original group of 400 would have prejudged the guilt of the defendants, if only because they would have paid more attention to Watergate developments than other citizens.

At the White House, acting Press Secretary John W. Hushen, asked if any Watergate pardons would be delayed pending completion of court trials, answered, "I believe that is true."

House Panel Is Urged To Withold $450,000 Of Nixon's Funding

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee has been urged to withhold $450,000 of former President Richard M. Nixon's $850,000 transition money until he makes a full disclosure on Watergate.

Rep. Michael J. Harrington, D-Mass., appealed to the House Executive Offices subcommittee for that move after three of its members had objected to part or all of the $450,000 because Nixon controls the Watergate tapes and papers.

"Quite frankly, I do not believe that Mr. Nixon should be granted any of this money, at least not until he finally puts an end to the cover-up, releases the Watergate tapes and provides answers to the many still unresolved questions as to presidential misconduct," Harrington testified on Thursday.

The $450,000 was requested by President Ford for Nixon's six-month transition to private life. An additional $400,000 was requested for him after that period under the Former Presidents Act.

Rep. Tom Bevill, D-Ala., a subcommittee member, had said he did not believe the $450,000 was needed because part of it is for securing the tapes and he said there is no guarantee the public will ever have access to them.

"The government is not getting anything, He (Nixon) can sell anything or everything except the tapes, which he can destroy," Bevill said.

General Services Administration chief Arthur F. Sampson said Nixon owns the Watergate tapes and papers and an agreement signed when President Ford pardoned him is designed to assure the information in them will be preserved for posterity as well as for court evidence.

But Bevill said under terms of the agreement, "the government is not assured of getting any record of any kind to preserve for history."

Sampson acknowledged that Nixon could not be compelled under the agreement to release any tapes or papers to the public. But he said Nixon promised in the agreement to release some and the GSA chief said he is confident Nixon will keep his word.

He also said White House lawyer Philip Buchen has said that GSA would listen to any tapes that were going to be destroyed. Bevill said that is not part of the agreement, however.

Deputy GSA counsel Herman W. Barth said the agreement does assure that none of Nixon's papers can be destroyed for three years and that none of the tapes can be destroyed for five years.

Missing Woman's Station Wagon Found

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — The red station wagon of a young Chicago-area woman missing on a Colorado hiking trip has been found in Amarillo, Tex., Pueblo police Capt. Robert Silba said late Thursday.

A man identified as Roy Alan Melanson, 37, of Orangefield, Tex., is being held in the Pueblo city jail for questioning and on several warrants outstanding from Texas, Silba said.

Melanson, 25, of Northwood Park, Ill., has been missing since Aug. 27, when she left her Gunnison apartment on a backpacking trip with her dog.

The German shepherd was found shot to death several days later, killed by a rancher who said it was chasing his cattle.

The young free-lance photographer and "flagwoman" on Colorado highway projects was the object of a massive air and ground search around Schofield Park between Aspen and Crested Butte.

The search was scaled down recently because of a lack of clues and a snowstorm.

Silba said Gunnison County authorities were expected here today to question Melanson, who is being held on warrants involving aggravated rape, felony theft and bad checks.

"Investigation has led us to believe that Melanson may be able to provide us with information concerning Miss Wallace," Silba said.

Forest Products Firms Try To Boost Growth Of Timber

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — To supply a part of our oxygen and habitat for wildlife, demand for building materials and paper, U.S. forest products companies are currently conducting a massive program to sharply boost the timber grown on their 67.5 million acres of forest land.

The program is also designed to help preserve the nation's forest for recreation and to maintain the ecological system, which depends on forests to supply a part of our oxygen and habitat for wildlife. Without intensive forest management, the country would be unable to meet its lumber and paper needs, industry experts agree. One reason is the country's continual demand for housing. Although there has been a recent drop in housing starts due to "tight" money and the high cost of materials and labor, Congress has called for 26 million new and rehabilitated housing starts in the decade ending in 1978. Meeting this goal will require about twice the amount of wood construction materials currently produced in the United States. Paper demand is also expected to rise as new uses for paper products are developed. At present, the average American consumes about 640 pounds of paper annually. By the year 2000, this figure is expected to climb to about 1,000 pounds.

Although the United States is currently growing more wood than it cuts, the need for wood timber is expected to double by the end of the century, according to C.R. Dahl, president of Crown Zellerbach, paper and forest products producer headquartered here.

"Since the amount of forestland in the United States cannot be expanded, our only alternative is to make the land more productive," said Dahl.

To boost the productivity of forestlands, paper companies use a wide variety of techniques. Tree grafting and cross-pollination are employed to improve "tree quality." Before they are transplanted in the forest, millions of young seedlings annually receive "intensive care" in specially built and equipped tree nurseries.

One such nursery in Aurora, Ore., is a dramatic example of how science and technology can be combined to assist nature. About 12 million "minitrees" are annually grown in this nursery, which is about one square city block in size.

Seeds produced by superior trees are placed in plastic "incubators" about the size of a large test tube. Electronically controlled moisture, temperature and fertilization enable the seedlings to develop an unusually healthy root structure and grow about twice as fast as bare root seedlings.

After a year in the nursery, the "minitrees" are transplanted in the Pacific Northwest, where they have an 85 to 90 per cent survival rate, significantly higher than seedlings dropped by trees in the forest itself.

When the "minitrees" are removed from their containers to be planted, each has a complete, undisturbed and healthy root structure snugly contained in its own soil. The seedlings grow twice as fast as those in a wild state, because the nursery provides them with two growing seasons in one calendar year.

One company is now experimenting with "time release" fertilizer capsules that are placed in the seedling container. The nutrients in the capsule are gradually released over a prescribed period of time and nourish the young trees through their first months or years in the woods.

Forest product companies now make extensive use of "tree breeding" to improve the quality of their trees. Cuttings from superior trees that are techniques that enable them to produce paper from timber by-products such as wood chips and sawdust that only a few years ago were burned as "waste."

Forest experts report that despite the inroads of civilization for the past 400 years, there is still 75 per cent of the forest land today that existed when Christopher Columbus discovered America.

Video Tape Television Helping Handicapped Indians

By MIKE McCLOY
CHINLE, Ariz. (AP) — Navajo families, isolated by time and distance from the clinics and specialists of the Anglo world, face the same disappointment as anyone else when a child is handicapped.

But a four-wheel-drive vehicle has been whining and straining through mud and jolting over rocky trails to bring help by video tape television.

Since December, Douglas A. Dunlap, director of the human development program at the Rough Rock Demonstration School here, has contacted about 90 families scattered over 100 square miles without a paved road. He expects to contact the other 30 families in this heart-of-the-reservation community within the year.

administered by Navajos, was built in 1966.

"There are parents here all the time," Dunlap said, "to see their kids, their friends, get advice, get water or whatever."

"We have helped families make arrangements with medicine men for their children with handicaps," Dunlap said, explaining that the ceremonies often help prepare a child to respond to treatment at the demonstration school.

"I think by showing respect for this as a method of therapy, they in turn show respect for ours."

"Some of our methods don't work all that well either," he said.

Dunlap plans to expand the video-tape visitation program next year to include instruction for parents on how to help the handicapped child when he returns home from school in the evening, on weekends or during vacations.

His eventual goal is to create a total community learning environment for the handicapped child — a joint effort by the community, parents and the school Navajos call Dine Bii Olla, Navajo People's School.

"Many of the families felt it was the luck of the draw that their child turned out to be handicapped, and had resigned themselves to doing the best they could at home," said Dunlap.

However, a video tape viewer, operated off the vehicle's battery, gives the families information of a service they did not know existed. "Many didn't realize there were special methods of treatment," he said.

One of the tapes portrays a Navajo child, known in the area for his inability to speak, being taught to utter words and phrases in the Navajo language. "The families had been asking whether we'd been able to help him even before we made the tape," Dunlap said.

In Navajo, English

"We provided speech therapy in the Navajo language and now we're on English sounds," the director said. "I think that's probably unique. There's no need to add the burden of a second language."

A Navajo woman coordinates the visitation program and accompanies Dunlap on the calls. If another staff member is acquainted with a prospective family, he also goes along, Dunlap said.

"Many of the parents don't want to have to send their handicapped children away to school," Dunlap said. "But overall, the people seem to be willing to help, and to support each other."

Unlike Anglo society where the handicapped are often separated socially and for education, Dunlap said, Navajos have "a little more general exposure. They're physically isolated, but family ties are much closer than in Anglo communities."

Although he's conducted no thorough study, Dunlap finds generally fewer handicapped children among Navajos than would be found among Anglos.

"However, we have encountered a large number of educationally handicapped," he said, "children with no gross physical handicap but who need special attention in language or emotional problems, or are late starters."

The video tape project, financed by the Rocky Mountain Regional Resource Center in Salt Lake City, has discovered five or six children who otherwise would not have received attention for their handicap.

It's also bolstered an atmosphere of cooperation between families and the school, which has existed since Rough Rock.

Four Houston Doctors Arrested On Drug Charges

HOUSTON (AP) — Four Houston doctors indicted on charges of prescribing drugs without examining patients have been arrested.

Arrested Thursday were Dr. Roy T. Goodwin, 60; Dr. Charles Nicholas Fiore, 65; Dr. Wayne Schoettle, 56, and Dr. Earle Edgar Elliott, 84. Sealed indictments were returned Wednesday.

Each denied the charges. Elliott was indicted on one count, Goodwin on two and Fiore and Schoettle on three each. Bonds of $10,000 were set on each count.

The drugs involved were "uppers and downers" amphetamines and barbiturates, according to police narcotics Capt. B. G. Bond.

State law requires physicians to examine patients to determine what medications might be needed prior to prescribing drugs.

HELD BY ETHIOPIAN GUERRILLAS—

Released Hostages Return Home

By B. F. KELLUM
HOUSTON (AP) — Clifford James said it was "just fantastic" seeing his infant son for the first time.

Powers W. Cayce said he was "exhausted but happy" as he hugged his wife and two children for the first time. "He was named after me."

James, from Walkerton, Ontario, Canada; Cayce, 36, from New York by his wife and three children; and two other North Americans held hostage since March 26 by an Ethiopian guerrilla group, arrived in Houston Thursday night aboard a Tenneco, Inc. plane.

The other two released men while a captive, said he was aboard the plane were James and Rogers of Greenwich, Conn., and Motta Traveia, 52, a geologist seeking independence for the northern Ethiopian province of Eritrea.

He said the worst part of the ordeal was their capture. "The first five minutes," he said, "while they were shooting at us."

Lack of Information
Taveia said the conditions were "as good as could be expected in those primitive circumstances."

He said the hardest part was the lack of information. "They told us what they wanted us to hear," he said.

The four talked to newsmen only briefly before being whisked to a downtown hotel to spend the night with their families.

They were reported in good health but are to be examined during the weekend at a Houston hospital. A Tenneco spokesman said the four would hold a news conference later, probably Monday.

The spokesman said the four were exhausted from walking nine days after their release. He said the ELF escorted them to a border town where they were picked up by a Tenneco plane.

Tenneco Mum On Ransom
He said the men had been flying for 19 hours and had only two hours of sleep Wednesday night.

There have been reports that ELF had asked $3.1 million in ransom for the release of the four.

The Tenneco spokesman would neither confirm nor deny that a ransom was paid but he labeled the $3.1 million report "unfounded."

He said he felt the ELF wanted to "focus international attention to their cause" by capturing the men. He said he believed the men were released because the ELF "achieved that goal."

N. W. Freeman, Tenneco board chairman, met the group in New York but did not return to Houston with them.

"Their safe return was our highest priority, and I am personally highly gratified that we were able to attain it," Freeman said in a statement.

Mrs. Cayce said she heard unofficially about her husband's release Tuesday night.

She said when she told her

APPLAUDS, BLOWS KISSES TO JURY— Chenault Faces Death In Slayings

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Marcus Wayne Chenault, who applauded and blew kisses to the jury which convicted him, faces the death sentence for the slayings of Mrs. Martin Luther King Sr. and a church deacon.

"My name is Servant Jacob. I was ordered here by my God, my Father and my Master," Chenault told the court after the judge set Nov. 8 for the execution.

A jury which included four blacks deliberated little more than an hour Thursday before convicting Chenault, who is black, of the shooting deaths of Mrs. King, 70, and deacon Edward Boykin, 69, in historic Ebenezer Baptist Church last June.

The jurors deliberated only 40 minutes before returning two death sentences. Chenault was also sentenced to 10 years in prison for the wounding of a woman member of the congregation.

Chenault's attorney, Randy Bacote, said he will appeal. Under Georgia law, a review of a death sentence by the Georgia Supreme Court is automatic.

As the verdict was read, Chenault, a small, boyish-faced man with bulging eyes, continued the conduct which had marked his trial.

He blew kisses at the jury and silently clapped his hands at their verdict. His parents stared at him in disbelief from the front row of the crowded courtroom.

Later, as his lawyer argued for mercy, Chenault trembled, his face contorted, feigning the spasms of death in the electric chair. His mother, Mrs. Marcus Chenault of Dayton, Ohio, burst into tears.

Chenault, a student at Ohio State University, contended he was innocent by reason of insanity. His attorneys claimed West Point Visitors

Wintry Weather Chills Northern, Western Areas

By The Associated Press
Wintry weather crept into the midcontinent from the northwest today, but from East Texas to Maine it was warm and humid.

Widespread rain washed the nation's midlands in advance of 27, of Calgary, Alberta, Canada, the helicopter pilot, also more than 2 inches fell at Marcellus, Ill., and more than an inch fell at Tyler, Tex., and Grissom Air Force Base in Indiana Thursday night.

A tornado touched down four times at Midland, Mich., Thursday but caused no major damage, police said.

Showers also were scattered through the Atlantic Coast States.

Near-freezing temperatures were recorded in the northern Plains and the Rockies, but readings were in the 70s in southern New England.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 28 at Rawlins, Wyo., to 87 at Needles, Calif.

Lake Yields Body Of Missing Soldier

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — Authorities identified a body found Thursday in Copperas Cove Lake on this big Central Texas Army reservation as that of Pfc. Johnny D. Webb, 23, from Karnack, Tex.

He had been missing from his Ft. Hood unit since Saturday. An autopsy fixed drowning as the cause of death.

Paul Getty III Marries German

SOVICILLE, Italy (AP) — J. Paul Getty III, the 18-year-old grandson of the American oil billionaire, has married a German woman.

Getty and Martine Zacher, 24, were married Thursday in the city hall of this small central Italian town south of Siena.

Young Getty became the subject of international attention July 1973 when he was abducted while on the way to Miss Zacher's house in Rome.

He was released five months later when his family paid a reported ransom of $2.7 million.

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren

He Blames Rolling Over On Heart Condition

DEAR ABBY: I am 50 and my husband, Walter, is 52. Two years ago he had a heart attack, but he recovered and is now enjoying excellent health. Walter plays tennis at least three times every week, so he's not exactly an invalid, right?

However, when it comes to lovemaking, I am told not to "bother him" because he doesn't want to take any chances on damaging his heart.

Before his coronary, he wasn't the world's greatest lover, but now he has an excuse. (Or has he?)

Please ask one of your medical consultants and let me know. Don't advise me to ask Walter's doctor because he is also Walter's tennis buddy. Thanks.

MISSING SOMETHING

DEAR MISSING: I consulted Dr. Donald B. Efler, the famous Cleveland Clinic heart surgeon, who is cooler than Denton Cooley and hotter than Michael DeBakey. His response: "If Walter, age 52, is enjoying regular tennis, but will not take care of his homework, three possibilities come to mind: a) Walter's got something going on the outside, b) Walter's wife has lost something that must have looked good to him a number of years ago or c) Walter is one of those rare men who loses interest in sex at 52. In any event, judging from his wife's letter, Walter's past heart attack is most likely a phony excuse.

"Very few coronary patients are advised against sexual activity at home. This simple observation, made long ago, gave rise to the aphorism, 'There's nothing dangerous about sex, it's the chasing after it that can kill you.'"

DEAR ABBY: Our 27-year-old son is a college graduate who lives and works a few hundred miles from us. Two years ago he met a very nice girl three years his junior, and they have gone together ever since.

My husband and I hope to see them get married — since they are devoted to each other and are certainly not too young — but they tell us they have no such plans for now.

Recently they rented an apartment and are now openly living together. This bothers me much more than it does my husband. Our son would like some help in furnishing his apartment, and while I would gladly give him things if he were married, I feel it is wrong under these circumstances.

Yesterday I was asked by a friend to give her my son's address and also his girlfriend's, so she could invite them to a wedding. I was embarrassed to tell her the address was the same for both.

I understand that the lifestyle and morals of these young people are not mine, but I am hurt just the same. Must I accept this arrangement publicly, go along with it and keep my thoughts to myself?

UNHAPPY MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: If you want to maintain a good relationship with your son, yes.

DEAR ABBY: Tell that small-town bartender that he doesn't have to lie. If someone phones the bar and asks if Joe Blow is there, all he has to do is page Joe Blow by calling his name loudly.

If Joe Blow doesn't want to answer the page, it's his business. That way the bartender isn't in the middle.

LADY BARTENDER

DEAR LADY: Leave it to a lady to figure out how to keep from getting in the middle.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this newspaper. Enclose years his junior, and they have gone together ever since.

Mrs. Goodman Hostess To Club

Mrs. Miller Goodman of 2197 Hughes St. was hostess to a workshop and salad luncheon recently for the Midland County Home Demonstration Club.

Members of the club met at Carlsbad Center at Carlsbad.

Mrs. L. J. Howard, president, presided. The HD Council report was given by Mrs. Roy Folk. Future programs were discussed.

Insurance Women Have Luncheon

The Insurance Women of Midland met Wednesday in the Sheraton Inn for a luncheon and to hear Sgt. Fred E. Johnson, crime prevention co-ordinator of the Midland Police Department, speak.

Johnson presented a program on "SAFE," giving hints on self-defense for women.

SCHOLARSHIP — Ann Keyser, daughter of Mrs. Gene F. Keyser of 2014 Shell St., has been awarded a scholarship for the 1974-75 school term by Columbia College in Columbia, Mo. Miss Keyser is a 1973 graduate of Midland High School.

Palette Club Discusses Upcoming Sidewalk Sale

Mrs. Julian K. Grace was elected secretary-treasurer of the Midland Palette Club when it met recently and discussed the group's upcoming sidewalk sale.

A "Show and Tell" of arts and crafts members prepared during the summer for the sidewalk sale in November at the Delwood Plaza Mall also was held.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. R. C. Keyes, chairman of the group. New bylaws of the group were presented by Mrs. Robert L. Ivy.

Mrs. Grace replaces Mrs. Troy L. Squires, who resigned recently.

"Rustic Barn" painted in oils by Mrs. Grace, was voted "Painting of the Month" and is on display in The Midland National Bank during September.

Mrs. Robert H. Hannifin, program co-chairman, conducted the "Show and Tell" of arts and crafts. She displayed an original tri-color water color painting, explaining her method as well as tips on watercolor painting and brushes.

Mrs. E. L. Key displayed flower containers and a goblet she made by cutting off the necks of bottles. She painted some containers with acrylics.

Mrs. Grace displayed her own original design of a leopard cub she is doing in crewel embroidery. She sketched this design from a photograph, then transferred it to the piece of fabric.

A silverware chest, made from an old portable sewing machine, was displayed by Mrs. Billy J. Sharp. She lined it with

Club President Names Chairmen

Tommye Smith, president of the Perennial Garden Club, appointed committee chairmen during a meeting Tuesday in her home, 2508 W. Dengar St.

A covered dish supper was held. Those appointed were Mrs. Rex Russell, membership; Hazel Lyles, program and yearbook; Mrs. Joe Chastain and Nova Lynn Campbell, entertainment; Mrs. A. D. Barry, civic projects; Faye Ashmore, seed and plant exchange, and Dorothy Pinkerton, historical and library.

Miss Smith read a letter concerning the flower show school to be held Sept. 23-25 in Lancaster Garden Center-Museum of the Southwest. Maria Spencer announced a landscaping meeting will be held Tuesday.

Thelma Echols was welcomed as a new member.

Luncheon Held By SCS Club

The SCS Club met Tuesday in Midland Country Club for bridge games and a luncheon, with Mrs. Gerald Murphy, hostess.

Mrs. Bill Porter, president, presided. Guests introduced were Mrs. Bill Anders, Mrs. Matt Hays, Mrs. Wayland Pope, Mrs. Russell Holster, Mrs. John Murphy, Mrs. Willard Land and Mrs. John Larson.

The bridge winners were Mrs. Larson, high; Mrs. Jim McNatt, second; Mrs. E. W. Thomas and Mrs. Larson, grand slam. The special prize went to Mrs. Murphy.

Tight Armholes Try Tempers

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — I spilled iodine on a light-colored wood dish and nothing I have tried has helped remove it. I hope someone will come to my rescue. — ELAINE.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet
Peeve concerns the too small and too tight armholes in inexpensive shifts and skimmers that many of us wear to do housework and gardening that require stretching and reaching. Such snug armholes cannot take the necessary strain and rip open at the underarm seams and eventually split. A garment presumably made and worn for comfort is most uncomfortable when armholes bind. — I. C. G.

DEAR POLLY — Linda
wanted to know how to remove ballpoint ink from rubber dolls and I suggest that she try hair spray — the cheaper the better. I use it on clothing with great results but I do suggest that she covers the doll's painted eyes, etc. before spraying it on. If I made a scrapbook of the wonderful things I have clipped from the column I would certainly have a big fat one. Keep them coming. — ESTHER.

DEAR ESTHER — The
Pointers are from you readers so it is up to all of you to keep them coming — but thanks even though they are not due me but all of you. As to the above Pointer if the ink spots are old the hair spray treatment may have to be repeated. Rub ink and spray off with a facial tissue. — POLLY.

Beta Sigma Phi Chapter Has Annual Salad Supper

Mrs. Russell Sexton of 2209 Fannin St. was hostess recently when the Preceptor Alpha Omega Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held its annual salad supper and its first regular meeting of the new year in her home. Mrs. Jack Howard, president, conducted the business meeting.

Mrs. A. K. Thron, yearbook chairman, distributed yearbooks. Mrs. Howard announced the topic for the year's programs will be in keeping with international's theme of "Stairway to Happiness" and will consist of book reviews made by the members of the chapter.

The ways and means committee report was given by Mrs. Eugene Holmes, who explained ways and means would also have the "Stairway to Happiness" theme. They will be the birthday stairway, the hostess stairway, the service stairway, and an ante stairway

— all funds to meet the chapter's expenses and contributions. The ante stairway will be used only if there is no other way and all have to "ante up."

Mrs. Holmes presented the program, a review of the book "The Waltz Kings" by Hans Fintel, which is the story of the life of Johann Strauss, who was born in Vienna in 1804, and his sons, whose musical compositions have been appreciated by many ever since. She played recorded portions of such well-known selections as "The Beautiful Blue Danube" and "Die Fledermaus."

Mrs. Donel DeBerry, Mrs. Robert King and Mrs. Rudy Rubin, the social committee, were in charge of the arrangements for the supper. Mrs. Le Jeanne Horton received the hostess gift.

Dorothy Herzer will be hostess for the next regular meeting and Evelyn Levisay will present the program.

Seat Belt-Interlock System Requirement May Be Lifted

By OWEN ULLMANN

DETROIT (AP) — Congress is expected to lift soon the requirement that all new cars carry seat belt-interlock systems. But it will come too late for about a million buyers of 1975-model cars.

Auto companies are already into new car production and will have an estimated one million units with interlocks in dealer showrooms by late this month, when Congress is expected to drop the requirement for the safety devices.

The interlocks, first required for 1974 models, force front seat occupants to fasten their harness-belts before the car will start. Many car owners have complained vociferously about having to buckle on the belts even for driving a car a few feet into a garage.

Late fall shoppers will find some showroom models with interlocks and others without them. The companies say shoppers may not want a car with the device even though it is relatively simple to disconnect and the government estimates 40 per cent of current model owners have disconnected their votes, and push instead for legislation requiring controversial air bags for new cars starting with 1977 models.

Industry observers see the move as a calculated compromise: drop interlock to save the air bag. The air bag, which inflates on impact to cushion passengers, could add as much as $600 to a car's cost. It is strongly opposed by the auto industry.

The Department of Transportation, which regulates auto safety, said recently it is willing to abandon interlocks. But at the same time, the department released a study extolling the safety virtues of air bags.

Senate action this week indicates they are right. The House already has passed a bill which would eliminate interlocks on 1975 models. And while the Senate version keeps the device, the Senate went on record Wednesday in favor of dropping it.

The bill is now in a Senate-House conference committee for revision. Industry sources predict a modified version of the House bill will become law. They say Senate supporters of interlocks

Robert Dodson, Lee High Senior, Due To Be Featured In 1973-74 Who's Who

Robert Dodson, a Lee High School senior has been notified he will be featured in the Eighth Annual Edition of "Who's Who Among American High School Students" for 1973-74.

Dodson was among the students from over 20,000 public, private and parochial high schools throughout the country to be recognized for their leadership in academics, athletics, activities or community service in the books.

Less than 3 per cent of the junior and senior class students nationwide are awarded this recognition.

Dodson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Dodson of 2310 Cimmaron St., is involved in church activities and has been admitted into the National Honor Society.

During his junior year, he lettered in baseball and is a member of LHS's "L" Club.

In addition to having his biography published in the book, Dodson will also compete for one of ten scholarship awards of $500 to $1,000 funded by the publishers, and will be invited to participate in the firm's annual "Survey of High Achievers."

Midland C. Of C. To Resume Early Bird Breakfast Meets

Early Bird Breakfast committee meetings of the Midland Chamber of Commerce will resume at 7 a.m. Thursday, following a three-month vacation.

The breakfast will be held in the Rodeway Inn ballroom. Members and guests are invited to attend. Cost is $2.50 per person. Advance reservations should be made by telephoning the chamber office, 663-3381.

Sponsor of the September event will be Continental Airlines. Connie Mac Hood, Midland stockbroker and Gaines County farmer, will serve as master of ceremonies.

"Our committee felt very strongly that Hood should be asked to preside over the breakfast activities for the remainder of the year," noted

Early Bird Breakfast committee chairman Parker Humes. "The Chamber of Commerce will vote was 5-4 that Hood be asked to continue. Actually it was a tie vote until a stipulation was added that Hood be enjoined from boosting Texas Christian University."

Chuck Logue, local manager of Continental Airlines, refused to divulge plans for the breakfast, although he smiled broadly when asked if any of the Continental hostesses would be on hand for the event.

Continental's passenger service manager, Jack Webb, did confirm that several grass skirts had arrived from Hawaii.

A few features planned for the September event include numerous special prizes, plus a chance for a chamber member to win $450 cash.

Sick And Wounded Prisoners To Be Swapped On Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Sick and wounded prisoners from the Cyprus war will be exchanged starting Monday, 31 days since the cease-fire, the rival leaders of the island said today.

Greek Cypriot leader Glafcos Clerides, the president of Cyprus, and Turkish Cypriot leader Rauf Denktaş, the vice president, agreed to start the swap of the sick and wounded, of captives under 18 and over 50 years of age, plus students, teachers, clergymen and doctors held in the island's prison camps.

Full lists of prisoners have not been disclosed, but the International Red Cross reported that it knew of at least 5,000 war prisoners, detainees and hostages even before the second round of Cyprus fighting a month ago.

All the reported captives and detainees were men and two-thirds of them were civilians, the Red Cross said. Swiss Red Cross officials on the island were still drawing up plans for a full release of all captives.

The agreement between Clerides and Denktaş was announced by a spokesman for the U.N. peacekeeping force. He said the release of young prisoners, students and teachers will follow the release of the sick and wounded.

Older captives, Greek Orthodox priests and monks, Turkish Cypriot imams, or religious leaders, and medical and paramedical personnel "shall be released without delay," the statement said. It gave no date.

Motorcycle Rodeo Opens Wednesday

BIG SPRING — The High Noon Optimists Motorcycle Rodeo will open at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Howard County Fair with a grand entry comprised of interested Big Spring area motorcyclists.

Among the events scheduled are tag teams on mini-bikes, girls' pole bending and a goat sacking competition between representatives from Webb Air Force Base and the city.

Poage Sees Rough Going Before Inflation Stopped

CHICAGO (AP) — Rep. W. R. Poage summed up what was on the minds of many attending a White House-sponsored farm and food conference to seek answers on inflation: things are going to get rougher before they get better.

"The farmer and the laborer, as well as the manufacturer, must be willing to accept some rough going if we are going to stop inflation, and if we don't stop it, we will surely all go down together," the Texas Democrat, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, said Thursday night.

The conference, which drew some 60 delegates, ends today after summary reports on causes and proposed cures for the troubled economy. They will be considered by a White House summit meeting on inflation Sept. 27-28.

Poage said Americans suffer from a philosophy he said originated with labor unions calling for equal pay regardless of productivity.

Other speakers, including Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, said the federal government will have to cut spending before farmers and consumers see improvements. The session came hours after the Labor Department announced the wholesale price index soared 3.9 per cent in August, including a big gain for farm and food products.

Don F. Magdanz, of Omaha, Neb., representing the National Livestock Feeders Association, said top priority should be given by the administration and Congress to balancing the federal budget, but he said he did not believe it would be done.

Jerry Rees, an official of the National Association of Wheat Growers, said he hoped "they don't try to cure all the problems of inflation" by cracking down on agriculture and forcing down farm prices.

"Frankly Scared" Sen. Walter Huddleston, D-Ky., said export controls on farm products are not the way to make more food available.

"We are concerned and frankly scared of any export program that would jeopardize long-term sales" of farm products and thus contribute to reduced income for producers, Huddleston said.

William J. Kuhfuss, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said in a paper submitted today that federal deficit spending is "the root cause of inflation" and that the administration should move decisively to assure Americans something will be done about it.

But Tony T. Dechant, president of the National Farmers Union, advocated stepped-up government programs to provide jobs, reduce taxes for low-income people, improve credit and strengthen social security, welfare and federal food programs. He also said the government should offer farmers higher price support guarantees.

Ammunition Case Suspect Convicted

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — A federal court jury convicted Earl F. Schreiber, 40, of Springfield, Mo., Thursday of transporting stolen military ammunition which was taken from a U.S. Army depot at Anniston, Ala.

His son, Harry J. Schreiber, was acquitted in the same case.

Chevrolet Offering Expanded Lineup

DETROIT, Mich. — Chevrolet Motor Division marks one of the most significant years of product development in its history for 1975 with important breakthroughs in vehicle design and an expanded lineup of 46 models in eight different car lines.

Pacesetters in the 1975 Chevrolet fleet are an all-new sporty sub-compact, the Monza 2+2 and the completely re-designed Nova.

The new models are the culmination of one of Chevrolet's most innovative years in technical and mechanical advances that result in more efficiently operating automobiles.

Compared with a year ago, three new models appear in the lineup... the Monza 2+2 hatchback and the top-of-the-line luxury Nova (LN) which is available in both two- and four-door models.

The exciting addition to the Chevrolet family, the Monza 2+2, is a sporty sub-compact with a European styling flair and has two seats in front and room for two passengers in the rear. It unveils a new body and power train and features twin rectangular headlights.

The new Nova, representing one of its most extensive model year changes since being introduced as the Chevy II in 1962, spotlights new luxury models, new styling and important mechanical and structural revisions.

Many key developments have been made through the various Sportvan, Corvette and Vega models which will be publicly introduced at a later date. (Huckabay Chevrolet is the Midland dealership.)

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Walter Tkasch, former President Nixon's White House doctor, left today for San Clemente, Calif., to determine personally if Nixon's plebitis requires hospitalization, White House sources said.

"He's going to determine on the scene whether he (Nixon) should be hospitalized," the source said.

Hudson Acquires Site For Refinery

HOUSTON (AP) — Hudson Oil Co. says it has acquired an option on a 1,057-acre Galveston Bay tract as the possible site of a $500 million refinery.

This venture, announced Thursday, would be the first by the Kansas City, Kan., firm outside the marketing phase of the industry.

The proposed capacity would be 200,000 barrels a day. The site is a Bayport complex being developed by a land subsidiary of Exxon Corp.

Fifty per cent of the refinery's production would be gasoline. Mary Hudson, president of the firm, said in a telephone interview. Other products would include liquefied petroleum gases, diesel fuel and home heating oil.

A brief order was signed Thursday by Chief Justice Donald Wright.

New FPC Proposal Would Force Gas Prices Higher

WASHINGTON (AP) — Natural gas prices would likely be forced upward if the Federal Power Commission adopts a staff recommendation to establish a single nationwide price ceiling for "old" gas sold by producers to interstate pipelines.

Rates for old natural gas currently vary from region to region, ranging from 13.5 cents per thousand cubic feet to 26 cents.

The FPC staff recommended on Thursday that a single uniform ceiling of 24.5 cents and a minimum of 15 cents be set for old gas, which is natural gas brought into production before Jan. 1, 1973.

The staff report did not estimate the impact of its proposal on natural gas prices to ultimate consumers, but it clearly would increase the average cost of natural gas to interstate pipelines, which probably would try to recover the added costs from their customers.

The proposed ceiling of 24.5 cents would not require the reduction of higher rates previously approved by the FPC, a commission spokesman said. Thus, while the proposal would raise the lowest gas rates immediately, it would not require any price reductions.

The staff proposal is the latest in a series of price recommendations being studied by the FPC.

Another proposal would establish a nationwide rate of 42 cents per thousand cubic feet for new gas, that is, gas placed in production after Jan. 1, 1973. The new gas price currently averages around 23 cents.

Earlier this week, the commission proposed to allow an even higher rate, perhaps 63 cents, for new gas sold by small producers to interstate pipelines. This would apply to about 15 per cent of all interstate gas.

Mormon Temple Is Not For Public Worship

By GEORGE CORNELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Unlike ordinary churches, the newly completed Mormon temple here is not for regular Sabbath worship. In fact, it and the 15 other Mormon temples around the world are kept closed on Sundays.

The rites held within them are special, singular events for the participants, distinctively observed by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormons).

"Temples are not public houses of worship," points out the Church's president, Spencer W. Kimball, in connection with completion ceremonies at the mausoleum, white-marble edifice this week. "Temples are for sacred ordinances."

These ordinances are considered so sacred that once a Mormon temple is formally dedicated for use, as the new $15-million structure will be in November, only faithful Mormons — those approved by their bishop — may enter.

"It's not a matter of secrecy," says Gordon B. Hinckley, a member of the Church's ruling Council of 12. "It's a matter of sanctity."

Like other Christians, Mormons have their open weekly worship services in neighborhood meeting houses — called words — but the temple is reserved for exceptional rituals.

It is considered the "House of the Lord," a sanctuary for the holy. Even prior to dedication, the current seven weeks of tours by visitors are conducted as "silent tours," in a mood of reverence.

Once regular functioning of the temple begins, all those admitted to take part must first change to white clothing, the substitute garments being provided in an elaborate area for clothing issue, dressing rooms and lockers.

The white garb, regarded a symbol of purity, matches the whiteness of the walls, the crystalline sparkle of the chandeliers and the luminescence of indirect lighting that prevails through the interiors.

The Washington temple, the first in the eastern United States, is the scene for three special ceremonies intended to fit participants for heaven.

Among them are marriages "for time and all eternity," which differs from ordinary marriages in which couples pledge themselves "until death do us part."

"There's a built-in decree of divorce in ordinary marriages," observed Jerry P. Cahill, a Church communication officer, in leading this reporter through the seven stories of handsomely appointed rooms.

But temple marriages, he added, "last beyond death."

Another exclusive service involves proxy baptisms in which members are baptized in behalf of departed ancestors, which is regarded as making it possible for them to choose eternity in heaven. The immersions are in a large metal pool on the first floor.

Another temple rite, called the "endowment," is a session of special instruction in which members make special commitments to uphold the Church's teachings.

Nigel Bourne, 67, Studies For Priesthood

By GRAMM HEATHCOTE
LONDON (AP) — Nigel Bourne is on his way to becoming a Roman Catholic priest.

The retired English civil engineer says there is nothing extraordinary about it and that some even older men are studying for the priesthood. The college they go to is the Beda in Rome, which specializes in training older vocations. Beda students must be at least 24-25 years old and they normally have had other careers.

Bourne had between sessions of the convention here of Serra, the Chicago-based international organization of Roman Catholic laity that fosters recruiting for the priesthood. Bourne was ordained a deacon at the closing session. He hopes to be ordained a priest in Rome next Easter Monday.

He has had four children who have given him 18 grand-children. A much-traveled man, he has worked in Malaysia, Singapore and Borneo on construction projects and was in Spain during the Civil War.

He lost his wife nine years ago when he was 58. He worked for two more years and then retired. He said:

"I had been doing voluntary work for Serra and I started to think I might recruit myself. I thought 'I have the experience which can be useful in helping people to try to get through this world.' Bishop Charles Grant of Northampton agreed to take me on. After my final ordination I will be assistant to a priest, who will certainly be younger than me. After that, I hope to get a country parish for my old age. I have sold my flat in London and I will go where the Church sends me."

Bourne has spent three years at the Beda College, founded in 1852, and he will stay there until next Easter. Older men have to cram into four years the six-year course which is the minimum for young aspirants to the priesthood. The first two years they study philosophy and theology and the last two theology only. These subjects embrace liturgy, which is the form of worship; dogmatic theology, which is what theologians find out in their research and which is based on biblical studies; and homiletics, how to preach.

The Serra organization, founded in Seattle, Wash., in 1934 by a group of businessmen, is named after the Franciscan missionary from Majorca, Father Junipero Serra, who travelled to Mexico with Spanish troops in 1769 and evangelized California. Serra today has 330 clubs in 32 countries.

Regional Meeting On Evangelism Set

A regional evangelism conference is being planned for Sept. 24 in Midland.

Dr. Landrum P. Leavell of Wichita Falls will be guest speaker at the gathering, to be held in First Baptist Church of Midland. Special music will be presented by vocalist Anne Criswell Jackson and a massed choir.

Participating in the conference will be member churches of the Midland Baptist Association, joined by representatives of other Southern Baptist churches in areas adjacent to Midland.

The Midland Reporter-Telegram Religion

9A-FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1974

AT PASTORAL INSTALLATION—The Rev. Steve Edwards, center, was officially installed as senior minister of Midland's First Christian Church at special ceremonies held last Sunday in the church sanctuary. Participating in the installation were, from the left, the Rev. George Hibbs, minister of Abilene's Brook Hollow Christian Church; Dr. Ray Bristol, former minister of the Midland church and now executive director of Midland's Pastoral Counseling Center; the Rev. Gene Lamb of First Christian Church at Coleman, and Dr. Jim Oglesby, Fort Worth, associate minister of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in Texas.

Jordan St. Paul's New Choir Director

Lewis Jordan of Odessa is the new choir director at Midland's St. Paul United Methodist Church, assuming duties early this month.

Jordan, who is choral director at Odessa's Permian High School, is well-known as a singer in the Permian Basin area. He has been a featured soloist in concert performances of the Midland-Odessa Symphony and Chorus.

Mrs. David Maxey is directing youth and children's choirs at St. Paul UMC this year.

St. Ann's Family Fair Planning In Final Stages

Final planning will be underway during the coming week in preparation for the annual St. Ann's Family Fair scheduled Saturday, Sept. 21.

The big fair on the grounds of St. Ann's School will begin at 10 a.m. and continue until 10 p.m. Admission to the grounds will be free and the public is invited. Proceeds of the fair will be used for operation of St. Ann's School and for parish projects.

Hard-working chairmen of the various committees and projects at the annual fair are as follows:

Cecilia and Phillip Morales, tickets; Jean and Gilbert-Giles, Fun Fair tickets; Frank Reppman, construction; Jim and Mike Fitz-Gerald, public address system; Adrienne Madrid, prize solicitation; Bill Hogue, treasurer; John Huhn, publicity; Don Hellinghausen, clean-up; Mickey Cappadonna, electricity; Diane and Bill Porter, rides and ride tickets; Bob Hilton and Joe Reese, after-the-fair cleanup; Olivia Fairas, Maxine LeBouff and Mary Buckles, arts and

Police Searching For Stolen Vehicle

Midland police continued their search today for a stolen vehicle after employees of the Exxon service station at Interstate 20 and Midkiff Road reported a man drove away from the station without paying for $2 worth of gasoline Thursday.

Station employees noted the license number of the 1974 model pickup truck as it pulled away from the station and headed east on the interstate.

Police checked the files and found the vehicle was reported stolen in Gatesville Sept. 8.

Knight To Preach At Revival Services

San Antonio District superintendent of the Nazarene Church, the Rev. Marcell Knight, will be in the pulpit for a series of evangelistic services next week at Midland's First Church of the Nazarene, 1208 W. Wall St.

Musical evangelists Dwight and Norma Jean Meredith will direct music and special singing at the services.

The revival emphasis will begin Tuesday night and continue through the following Sunday, said the Rev. Donald Baxter, host pastor. Weekday services are announced for 7:30 p.m. and the concluding service on Sunday, Sept. 22, will open at 7. All services will be open to the public, Mr. Baxter said.

Missionary Couple Will Be Honored At Thursday Fiesta

The Rev. and Mrs. Bynum Atkins, missionaries to Taiwan who currently are residing in Midland during a year's furlough, will be honor guests at a missions fiesta scheduled Thursday night in First Baptist Church activities building.

The fiesta is being sponsored by the Midland Baptist Association's Women's Missionary Union. It will be open to the public at no charge.

The fiesta will feature booths depicting all types of mission work in which Southern Baptist churches in the Midland area are involved. There will be a midway providing games with a mission emphasis.

Also on display will be craft items from the "Mighty River Handicrafts" program of the Rio Grande River area, Susie Frazier, a student at Texas Tech University who worked this year as a summer missionary at Zapata, on the Rio Grande, will be present to show and explain the items on display.

Revival To Begin Here On Sunday

Young evangelist Dave Roeber will return to Midland's First Assembly of God for his third revival next week.

The evangelistic emphasis will begin Sunday and continue until Sept. 22, or perhaps longer, said the Rev. J. W. Farmer, host pastor. Sunday services are scheduled for 11 a.m. and 7 p.m., with weekday services to begin at 7:30 p.m. Special music and singing will be a feature of all services, Mr. Farmer added, and the public is invited.

The guest, Mr. Roeber, was seriously wounded in Vietnam when a grenade exploded near his face. He recently returned to Vietnam to conduct an evangelistic crusade. He also has traveled and preached widely in the U.S. and in other parts of the world.

Gospel Services Scheduled Here

Main Street Church of Christ, at North Main and Parker streets, will be host to Bob Briley of Ballinger for gospel services Sept. 22-29.

Mr. Briley, a former Midlander, is a 1965 graduate of Lee High School. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Briley of Midland. He completed his Bible training at the West Amarillo Church of Christ and now is in great demand as a preacher for gospel meetings throughout this region.

Heavy Rains Swamp State of families to flee high water in low parts of George West.

Water blocked U.S. 59, U.S. 281 and Texas 9 in the George West region.

The rain reports of 14 inches or more came from George West and Refugio.

Sheriff's office at Refugio said 11.25 inches swamped Woodsboro in 24 hours and closed Texas 202 there.

Just north of George West at Three Rivers, water two feet deep covered U.S. 280, while it was a foot deep over Texas 9 in places.

The Weather Service said the rainstorm in the Corpus Christi region was 75 miles wide.

Five inches of rain fell upstream from Lake Corpus Christi, which already was full with its gates open to allow water to flow out.

Below the lake, the Nueces River rose 20 feet and was expected to cause minor to moderate flooding.

Radar detected broad areas of rain falling at rates up to 2 inches per hour during the night and this morning, the National Weather Service reported, mostly in areas from North of Corpus Christi to north of Austin.

While the heavier rains slowly edged toward the south, lighter showers and occasional thunderstorms extended northward from the frontal zone past Abilene and Wichita Falls in West Central and Northwest Texas.

There also were sometimes heavy rains in parts of Northeast Texas, and scattered showers dotted a broad West Texas area embracing San Angelo, Fort Stockton, Andrews and Lamesa.

Creeks and rivers flowed bankfull and lapped into lowland areas in many sections.

The weather service placed all of South Central and Southeast Texas under a flood watch and especially warned motorists to be cautious at low-water crossings.

Still more rain was predicted over most of the state.

Early morning temperatures sagged to 47 degrees at Dalhart and 52 at Amarillo and Lubbock in the Panhandle-Plains sector, behind the cold front. At the same hour it was still a warm 81 at Corpus Christi and McAllen far to the south.

Thursday afternoon's top temperatures went as high as 95 at El Paso in far West Texas.

Ford Boosts 1975 Prices

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. has followed the trend set by General Motors and Chrysler and announced price increases on 1975 models averaging about $389 per vehicle.

Ford Vice President John B. Naughton said in announcing the increases Thursday that Ford couldn't afford not to raise prices.

"Today's increases are mainly the result of inflation. The actual increase is substantially less than the amount required to achieve full cost recovery," he said.

Naughton said the cost of building a car has averaged an added $950 per unit since October 1972. Ford has already made up $400 of that in previous price increases.

Ford's increase for cars — an average $370 — was smaller than those scheduled by GM and Chrysler, but previous Ford increases left the Big Three competitive in most models.

Ford has the lowest-priced compact of the Big Three, the Maverick listing at $3,025, compared to the Chevrolet Nova at $3,218, with the Plymouth Duster a bit higher.

Ford's subcompact Pinto listing at $2,835 compares to the Chevrolet Vega at $2,800. American Motors' Gremlin is expected to run about $2,600 when its 1975 model debuts in November. Big Three autos are on sale now.

The Chevrolet Impala, the top-selling auto in America, is listed at $4,561, while the competitive standard Ford lists at $4,656.

All prices are without state and local taxes, delivery charges and options. A 3 per cent sales tax will add $200 to a $4,000 car, and delivery charges are expected to range near $100.

Ford Advisers See No Inflation Relief This Year

By R. GREGORY NOKES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two of President Ford's top economic advisers say consumers won't get any significant relief from the nation's soaring inflation rate this year.

The gloomy predictions came from departing presidential economic counselor Kenneth Rush and Chairman Alan Greenspan of the Council of Economic Advisers.

Despite months of anti-inflation effort, including record high interest rates most of the year, these advisers say the 10 per cent when 1974 draws to a close.

In other economic developments on Thursday: —Senate Democrats voted to send President Ford several economic policy proposals for consideration at the upcoming economic summit meeting. —Leaders of the nation's housing industry attending an economic minisummit in Atlanta made a bid to exempt their industry from anti-inflationary light money policies.

—The Federal Power Commission staff recommended a single nationwide price on certain natural gas, a move virtually certain to increase gas prices.

—The wholesale price index for August was released showing a 3.9 per cent leap, an indication that inflation may be getting worse.

—Ford Motor Co. announced a 7.4 per cent price hike on its 1975 model cars.

Greenspan told labor leaders meeting at the White House Wednesday that "in the immediate period ahead it does not appear as though the inflation rate is turning down."

Greenspan said "we hope" it will decline in 1975.

Both Rush and Greenspan cited the prospect of higher food costs, resulting in part from a Midwest drought, as being largely responsible for the worsening inflation outlook.

Treasury Secretary William E. Simon was not quite so pessimistic as they were, but he indicated to a newsman that it would be unlikely the inflation rate would be below 8.5 per cent this year, and could be higher.

The report that wholesale prices increased 3.9 per cent in August alone was an indication that inflation may be getting worse instead of better.

The increase in wholesale prices for three months ending in August was at an annual rate of 37.3 per cent. The increase from a year earlier was 17.8 per cent.

American Spy Plane Beats Sun On Western Jaunt

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. SR71 Blackbird spy plane beat the sun from London to Los Angeles today, covering seven time zones and 5,645 miles in three hours and 47 minutes.

There was no official speed record to beat for the route. The SR71 run will be the record if it is certified by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, the accrediting organization for aviation records.

The average ground speed was 1,480 miles an hour with the aircraft piloted by Capt. Harold B. Adams, 31, from Albuquerque, N.M.

Maj. William C. Machorek, 32, of Jersey City, N.J., was in the second seat.

On Sept. 1 the same aircraft and crew set a New York to London speed record of one hour and 55 minutes. Thursday the crew aborted its first attempt at a Los Angeles run because of engine trouble.

The SR71 is a reconnaissance aircraft deployed for missions around the world. It cruises at altitudes above 15 miles.

Cunard Luxury Liner Wallows Abandoned In Gulf, In Flames

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — The $27-million luxury liner Cunard Ambassador, a fire raging in its interior, wallowed abandoned in the Gulf of Mexico today. Officials feared it might capsize before the fire could be put out.

The blaze, spreading amidships, forced 53 Ambassador crewmen and 40 Coast Guardsmen who fought the fire to abandon ship late Thursday as it lay dead in the water 35 miles off Key West. There were no reports of injuries.

The Ambassador, portions of its gleaming white exterior scorched by intense heat, was listing from water pumped aboard as Coast Guard ships stood by through the night.

"The risk of capsizing is a definite one now and it doesn't look good," a Coast Guard spokesman said.

The 480-foot liner was carrying 309 crewmen but no passengers when the fire erupted shortly after dawn on Thursday. Most of the crew was transferred to a passing naval tanker within hours.

The Coast Guard spokesman said the blaze started as the liner rounded the tip of Florida en route from Miami to New Orleans, where it was to pick

Midlanders Invited To Marker Event

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Chenoweth of San Angelo are in Midland today, extending personal invitations to city, county and school officials, officers of the Midland County Historical Society and Research Committee, and other interested persons to attend the dedication at San Angelo on Oct. 19 of a Historical Marker commemorating the creation of the original Tom Green County.

Chenoweth, retired San Angelo newspaper editor and one of that city's leading historians, called attention to the fact that Midland County was one of 12 counties carved out of the original Tom Green County.

"We would like to have as many Midland residents as possible attend the dedication," Chenoweth said. "We are visiting each of the counties which formerly were a part of Tom Green, inviting them to be present and to participate in the ceremony."

Chenoweth said Clifton Caldwell, president of the Texas Historical Commission, and W. A. Stroman, veteran San Angelo historian, will be among the speakers at the event. The principal speaker will be announced at a later date, he said.

Dallas Executive Backs Order Banning Premiums For Savings

AUSTIN (AP) — Savings and loan firms can grow without giving away premiums to new customers, a former deputy savings and loan commissioner testified today.

"For years, we grew without it," said Roland Tucker, now executive vice president of Metropolitan Savings and Loan in Dallas.

"You are willing to give up that competitive tool?" lawyer Sam Winters asked.

"Yes, sir," Tucker replied.

Tucker testified in support of a new state regulation that would prohibit such premiums, beginning Sept. 15.

Regulation Challenged

The regulation is being challenged by three firms that seek a temporary injunction in state district court pending the trial of their case on the merits.

The hearing on the temporary injunction was recessed until this afternoon.

Last month, the Sperry and Hutchinson Co. (S&H Green Stamps), JEFSCO, Inc., and the Fort Worth Savings and Loan Association filed suit to have the rule set aside.

Named as defendants in the suit are W. Sale Lewis, state savings and loan commissioner, and the three members of the savings and loan section.

The hearing, which ran all day Thursday, is an effort by the three plaintiffs to get a temporary injunction blocking the rule's implementation until the suits come to trial.

During testimony Thursday, Lewis was asked if savings and loan associations were prohibited from buying Green Stamps.

"Savings and loans may continue to buy S&H Green Stamps and store them in their vaults,"

Ford Attempts To Break Deadlock On GI Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) — With veterans returning to school still unsure of how much to expect in GI benefits, President Ford has moved to break the deadlock over the veterans benefits bill.

Ford sent letters to both the House and Senate Thursday proposing an across-the-board 18.2 per cent increase in monthly benefits.

Previously the House and Senate conferees had agreed to send a bill to Ford calling for a 23 per cent hike plus a new loan program and an increase in the time over which benefits could be used.

But speaking to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Ford indicated he might veto that bill and the House rejected the compromise, knocking out the loan program and the increase in payments from 36 to 45 months. The House then moved to provide a 22.7 per cent increase for apprentice trainees and vocational rehabilitation but kept the 23 per cent figure for others.

Ford's suggestion Thursday did not mention the loan program or the added months of eligibility.

Former President Richard M. Nixon had originally proposed an 8 per cent increase last February but officials of both the Nixon and Ford administrations have agreed that cost-of-living increases have exceeded that amount in the time the battle has been continuing over the bill.

City To Conduct Art Classes For Children, Adults

Children's and adults' art classes will begin Monday under sponsorship of the Midland Parks and Recreation Department in the Parks and Recreation Building, 300 Baldwin St.

The children's class will be from 4 to 6 p.m. Mondays through Oct. 14. Children enrolling must be nine years of age or older.

The adult group will be in session through Oct. 28, meeting from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Mondays.

The fee for either the adult class or children's class is $4 and registration will be taken at the Parks and Recreation office until the classes are filled.

Federal Jury Ponders Verdict In AIM Trial

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — A federal jury continued its deliberations today on conspiracy, assault and larceny charges against two leaders of the 71-day armed occupation of Wounded Knee, S.D., last year.

The 12-member panel discussed the case for eight hours on Thursday, then retired for the night without reaching a verdict.

The defendants, Russell Means, 35, Porcupine, S.D., and Dennis Banks, 42, St. Paul, are charged with three counts of assaulting federal officers, one of larceny and one of conspiracy.

After four alternate jurors were excused on Thursday,

Soviet Officials In East Berlin Hold American GI

BERLIN (AP) — Soviet authorities in East Berlin are holding an American GI who was arrested by East German border guards as he was driving back to West Berlin, the United States Army says.

An Army spokesman said the East Germans detained Spec 4 William S. Medley, 24, of Kettering, Ohio, illegally because the East German government has no jurisdiction over Allied military personnel or their vehicles.

But the spokesman said he had no information concerning reports in West Berlin newspapers that an East German trying to escape to the West was found in the soldier's cap.

U. S. authorities said they have taken the matter up with Soviet officials.

Odessa Pair Held On Robbery Count

ODESSA — Larry Ray Davis, 19, and Billy Lee Hood, 29, both remain in custody at city jail today in lieu of $25,000 bond each after their arrests Thursday on charges of aggravated robbery.

Charges were filed before acting Municipal Court Judge Gary Watkins who also set bonds on the men.

The two were arrested in connection with the Monday robbery of a 47-year-old Odessa woman in front of an East Second Street lounge. The pair allegedly overpowered the woman in front of the night spot and took more than $500 from her purse.

New Century Club Tells Objectives

BIG SPRING — The newly-formed Century Club of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce has announced plans to promote expansion at Webb Air Force Base, according to W. S. Pearson, executive committee chairman and publisher of the Big Spring Herald.

The constitution and by-laws of the group were adopted Wednesday for the proposed 100-member club. The club also plans to promote good community relations.

Gunshot Wounds Odessa Man, 56

ODESSA — Levester Harris, 56, remained in Medical Center Hospital today listed in satisfactory condition under treatment for a gunshot wound to his chest.

Harris was shot once in the upper chest with a .22 caliber pistol as he attempted to enter the home of a 46-year-old woman late Wednesday night.

Police said the man was removing a screen from one of the windows at the woman's home when the woman fired at him.

Police indicated that no charges would be filed in connection with the shooting.

Postal Service Now Accepting Applications

The United States Postal Service is now accepting applications for an examination for the positions of clerk and carrier with the Midland post office.

The examination will be given in Midland, with the time and place to be announced at a later date. Applications will be accepted through Sept. 23.

The upcoming examination is being administered to establish a register of eligible persons from which future clerk and carrier vacancies in this post office will be filled.

The general minimum age requirement is 16 for high school graduates and 18 for non-graduates.

Applications for the exam are being taken at the Main Post Office, Personnel Section, Room 112, 100 East Wall St.

Author Dies At 62

LAKE KATONAH, N.Y. (AP) — Miriam Young, 62, author of the book "Mother Wore Tights" which was made into one of the first musical movies, died Wednesday of cancer at her home. The book, filmed in 1947, was based on the vaudeville careers of Mrs. Young's parents.

"We laugh at superstition," brags a member.

Smokers in the club light three cigarettes on one match, violating a prime shibboleth of the 1914-1918 trench war — a sniper could nail you by the time three lights had been completed.

The Kats are limited to — of course — 13 members at one time. They must be World War I veterans and members of the American Legion. There are five original members left. The current members range in age from 78 to 85.

There are no officers, no dues, no business to conduct and no meetings except on Friday the 13th, when attendance is mandatory. An unexcused absence means automatic loss of membership.

"It's just a matter of getting together and having fun," says John W. Sachs, 82, one of the original members.

The evening begins with each man passing under an open step ladder. Then it's time to exchange war stories over a dinner of steak and seafood in a dining room at a local bowling alley. As the beer flows and the tales get taller, the atmosphere becomes unfit for all but the true nonbeliever.

When the mood is right, a mirror is wantonly smashed and each member gets a piece to autograph as a souvenir.

The lucky 13 must be doing something right. Sachs says he has no recollection of any members suffering any bad luck on the supposedly dangerous day.

Street Entertainer Corps Burgeoning

By DOLORES BARCLAY
Associated Press Writer

"My music belongs to all people, and what better way to give it than outside, on the street," said Vincent Taylor as he stood on tiptoe in front of a sparkling steel drum on New York's Fifth Avenue. He strained, stretched and grunted his way through a difficult but melodious chord, as curious onlookers oohed and aahed at the tinkling music he produced from the drum.

Taylor, 29-year-old native of Trinidad, is one of a growing group of entertainers performing on city streets across the nation. Their reasons for being on the sidewalks are as varied as their acts: chamber music trrios, puppeteers, magicians, mime, painters, tap dancers, jazz, folk and classical musicians and poets.

Some of the pavement performers are students of political science, economics and history. Others are unemployed professional artists who find street entertaining good for picking up business contacts. Most street performers say they earn their living through the sidewalk shows. But some are there to supplement other incomes or to entertain just for the fun of it.

"We just did it for fun because we liked the music and wanted to do it in the streets; that's how this music originated," said Sue Dent of the Merrie England Madrigal Singers in San Francisco. Miss Dent, 22, a music student at Chabot College in Hayward, Calif., said the group collects about $10 per hour on week-ends.

ter's degree candidate in urban planning at the University of Denver. He plays the guitar and sings folk songs in the Larimer Square vicinity in downtown Denver, making anywhere from $5 to $20 a day.

Bearded Jerry Desault, 21, of Concord, N.H., can be found sitting on a green blanket near Copley Square on Boylston Street in Boston playing his flute. In front of him stands a small tin can.

"My only expense is food," he said. "Sincere remarks and sincere smiles make my day." Desault makes about $125 a week, although he attracts fewer people than the jugglers on Boston Common.

Boston, like most cities, has an ordinance against soliciting — no signs or verbal requests for money.

Desault said the police are pretty tolerant of him and other street entertainers so long as sidewalks are not blocked and entertainers do not create nuisances. But steeldrummer Taylor says he is sometimes chased away from desirable spots by New York police when crowds form to listen.

Robert Manny, a flutist in Portland, Ore., was arrested recently for playing in the downtown area. Manny, 33, usually puts a can or his open flute case at the base of his music stand, and stray coins usually end up there. The police said this phenomenon constituted begging and arrested the flutist.

But Manny told the court that he never asks for money, he just plays his flute and lets the coins fall where they may. The district attorney's office had the case dismissed.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, Sept. 13, the 256th day of 1974. There are 109 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1788, the U.S. Constitutional Convention authorized the first national election in the United States.

On this date — In 1759, during the French and Indian war, the British defeated the French on the Plains of Abraham overlooking Quebec.

In 1814, Francis Scott Key was detained aboard a British warship bombarding Fort Mchenry, near Baltimore. The next morning he wrote "The Star Spangled Banner."

In 1943, Chiang Kai-shek became President of China.

In 1954, Maine elected its first Democratic governor in 20 years — Edmund Muskie.

In 1955, West Germany and the Soviet Union established diplomatic relations.

In 1960, Republican Presidential nominee Richard Nixon said the American people should accept Democratic nominee John Kennedy's Roman Catholic faith without any further questioning.

Ten years ago: Egypt and Saudi Arabia announced agreement for a peaceful settlement of the two-year-old Yemeni civil war.

Five years ago: Vietnamese peace talks resumed, with Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge appealing anew for humane treatment of U.S. war prisoners.

One year ago: Israeli and Syrian jets clashed over the Mediterranean in their biggest air battle since the 1967 war.

Today's birthday: Actress Claudette Colbert is 69 years old.

Procedures To Cut Fire Losses Given

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Within one hour, some 300 fires are likely to rage somewhere in the United States killing one person, injuring 34 and destroying more than $300,000 worth of property.

To underscore the tragic toll claimed by fire each year and to promote fire safety education, Oct. 6-12 has been designated National Fire Prevention Week.

According to a report issued last year by The National Commission on Fire Prevention and Control, it is the indifference and ignorance of the public that keeps some fires burning at an alarming rate.

Yet there are "many measures, often simple procedures, that can be taken," notes the report, "to greatly reduce these losses."

The commission suggests that families make a checklist of ways to eliminate fire hazards from the home, conduct a "rehearsal" of steps to be taken in the event of fire and install fire extinguishers, escape ladders and early-warning fire detectors that sound an alarm when activated by excessive heat or smoke.

Statistics show that 80 percent of home fires that injure or kill occur between 11 p.m. and 6 a.m. when people are asleep," notes Rick Goings, of the Fire Equipment Manufacturers Assn. and president of Dynamics, headquartered here, distributor of home fire detectors. "The majority of victims die from inhaling poisonous fumes before the flames ever reach them."

record, notes the National Commission on Fire Prevention and Control, where lives would have been saved if the victims were awakened to the presence of fire in its early stages.

To keep your home safe from fire, Goings suggests these guidelines:

...Never leave small children unattended at home. Make sure matches, lighters, flames and spark sources are out of their reach.

...Never smoke in bed. Thoroughly extinguish all cigarette butts, cigar and pipe ashes before disposing of them in a garbage container.

...Have all furnaces, water heaters, stoves, ovens and smokepipes inspected annually. Learn how to take proper care of these systems throughout the year.

...Never leave combustible materials near a flame source. For example, paint cans should never be stored near a basement furnace.

...Keep all flammable materials in tightly closed safety cans, out of reach of children and pets.

...Inspect all exposed wiring, extension cords and appliances often. Never run wires under a rug or around a hook. Replace frayed or damaged wiring immediately.

...Install early-warning fire detectors and fire escapes or escape ladders as needed.

Discuss with all family members the correct procedures to follow if fire strikes. Knowledge of what to do can help avoid panic that claims lives unnecessarily.

Ford In Peck Of Trouble

Perhaps it was compassion on the part of President Ford in granting Richard M. Nixon a "full, free and absolute" pardon.

This does not necessarily make it right, but it does clear the air somewhat and even could end much of the speculation and criticism by self-righteous persons who have formed their own opinions and who love to "share" them.

Jack Anderson, in his Washington Merry-Go-Round columns appearing on this page Thursday and today, cites the dramatic events which led to the pardoning. Anderson points out that the President was convinced that Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski would have sought an indictment against Nixon for obstruction of justice "in a matter of weeks," if Ford had not intervened with a pardon.

It further is reported that Ford learned of Nixon's reportedly "totally weary, terribly depressed and completely despondent" condition and feared the indictment could cause Nixon to suffer a nervous breakdown.

News from other sources concerning Nixon's physical condition back up Anderson's columns.

This is where compassion enters the picture, and it is difficult to be unduly critical of such an act.

But this has not kept President Ford from getting into a peck of trouble as a result of his action. It has proved to be most unpopular with many Americans.

Then, the announcement from the White House early this week that the President was studying the matter of pardoning all Watergate defendants really did set off a mass of protests, including a wave of congressional opposition. Wednesday afternoon, the White House said there never was any consideration of blanket amnesty or pardons for Watergate figures. There isn't any reason why blanket pardoning even should be considered.

Many newspapers throughout the country have been critical of President Ford's unconditional pardon of Richard Nixon, and the backing away from and altering of White House announcements haven't exactly endeared the President to the working press.

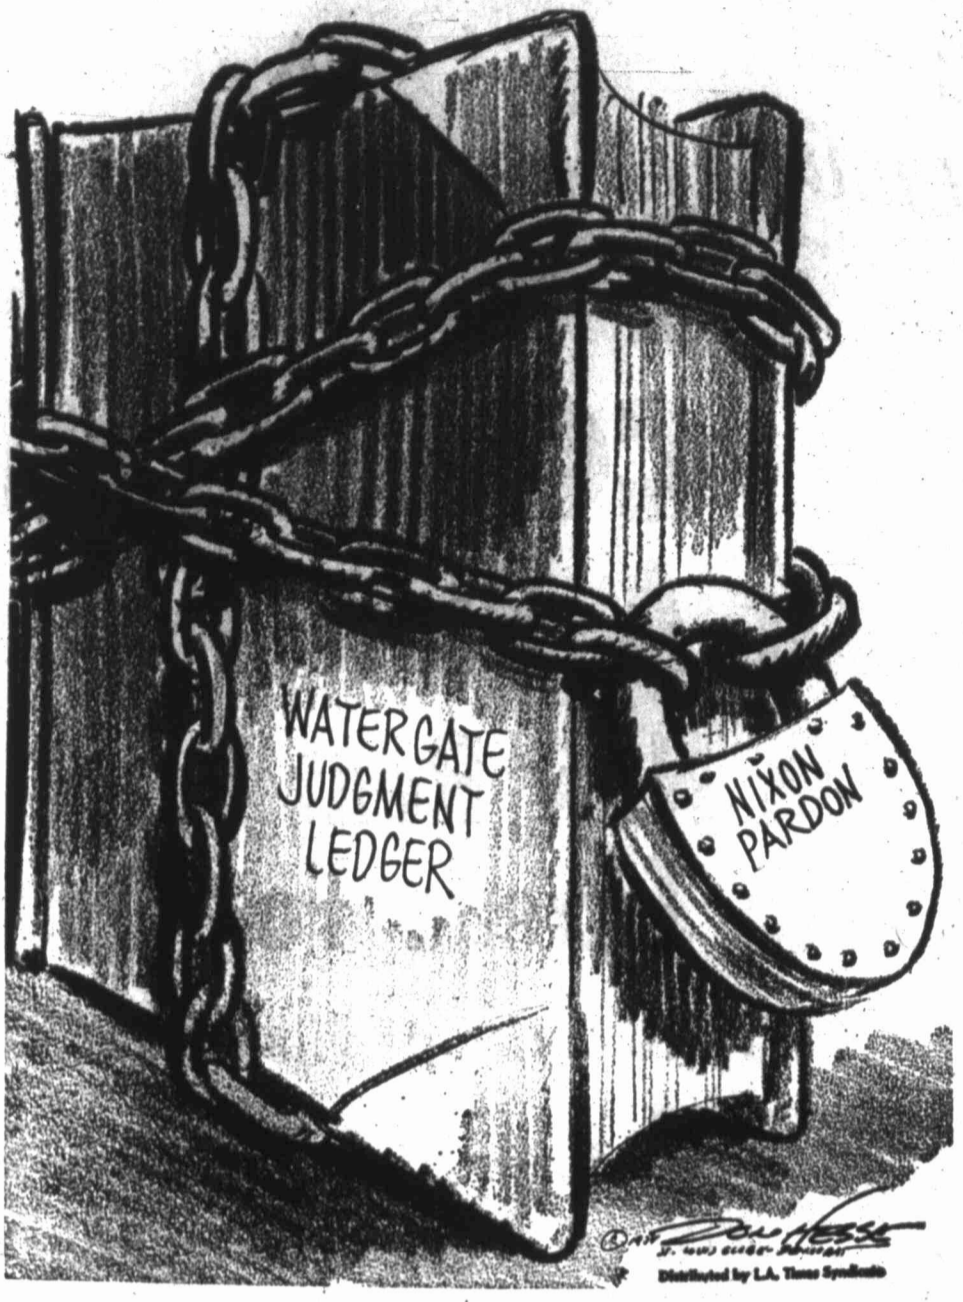

The President's judgment in the matter is questionable and his timing was off, which brought on much of the hostile reaction. There is little doubt, however, that he acted within his constitutional rights.

The more recent announcement that the administration is seeking $850,000 to ease Nixon's transition to private life has resulted in yet another wave of justified criticism.

These are matters which should be brought out in the open for all to see.

Right-or-wrong, however, Nixon has been pardoned. This is final. Americans at all levels would do well to accept it, and then get on with meeting the more important challenges of the day.

Lock Without A Key

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson Says: Here's how the Nixon pardon came about.

WASHINGTON — The dramatic events now can be told, which led to the pardoning of Richard Nixon.

The former President didn't participate in the conversations at San Clemente but let his loyal aide Ronald Ziegler do the talking for him.

Not until the parleying had been completed did a taut, troubled Nixon put in an appearance to murmur his thanks. He didn't even mention the pardon. Nor did he ask about the fate of his former aides who face trial on September 30 for the alleged crimes that he no longer can be prosecuted for.

In an earlier column, we detailed the reasons that President Ford granted his predecessor a blanket pardon. The overriding reason, according to our White House sources, was to save Nixon from a possible emotional collapse.

But the President's lawyers, Philip Buchen and Benton Becker, wanted a "contrition statement" from Nixon as part of the pardon agreement.

They were concerned that he might aggravate the Watergate controversy by proclaiming his innocence once it was no longer possible for the courts to establish his guilt. As one White House source put it bluntly: "We wanted to avoid the Ted Agnew stunt of protesting his innocence all over the country."

Cleansing Statement
The question of contrition was brought up delicately with Nixon's crack criminal attorney, Herbert "Jack" Miller. They didn't want to make it a condition of the pardon, so they merely suggested that a cleansing statement from Nixon would be helpful.

On September 5, Becker and Miller flew out to San Clemente for the final negotiations. White House aides say President Ford's parting instructions to Becker were: (1) he should not promise Nixon a pardon but should inform him only that a pardon was possible; and (2) Becker should stress that the Watergate case was an "albatross" which Ford wanted to remove from around his neck so he could concentrate on solving other problems.

The two lawyers arrived at San Clemente at 11 p.m., California time, and immediately went into a three-hour huddle with Ronald Ziegler. After the discussions broke up at 2 a.m., Becker and Miller drank a couple of beers and then retired to guest rooms in the San Clemente compound.

Becker was up at 5:30 a.m. to telephone a progress report to Buchen at the White House. Later the talks resumed in Ziegler's office. Frequently, Ziegler and Miller would slip out of the room for whispered consultations, perhaps with the President. At one point, Becker showed Miller an advance draft of the pardon statement that the President might issue.

Understanding Reached
An understanding ultimately was reached that a pardon, if the President agreed to it, would be followed by a statement of contrition from San Clemente. The contents, if not the exact language, of the statement were carefully worked out.

DON OAKLEY 'SPG' Could Dry Up Social Security Well

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Today, for each person drawing Social Security benefits there are 3.2 contributing workers. In a generation, because of slowing population growth, there will be only 2.2 workers for every beneficiary.

Beginning next year, automatic increases in benefits will be determined by quarterly changes in the Consumer Price Index in an attempt to make Social Security inflation-proof. This will place even greater burdens on the system.

It is becoming increasingly clear that unless basic changes are made in the Social Security system, in coming years a proportionately smaller work force will be called upon to finance greater and greater benefits for more and more retirees.

For this reason, the Advisory Council on Social Security, appointed last April, has launched a major study of the future financial requirements of the system. It is expected to make recommendations to Congress before the end of the year.

One alternative to higher and higher payroll taxes that is gaining support from legislative leaders is the use of general federal revenues for specific purposes, such as cost-of-living increases. The idea is also championed by the nation's chief spokesman for senior citizens, the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP).

In a recent editorial in its news bulletin, the AARP points out that for years, the American public has been led to believe that Social Security is a fiscally sound "contributory" system of "insurance" for old age and has not subjected the program to the thorough examination it deserves. In order to avoid bankruptcy, says AARP, the time has come for serious reappraisal and corrective action. It is also "high time that a number of myths about Social Security are put to rest once and for all.

Social Security is NOT an annuity program. Retirement benefits are not necessarily related to contributions made. For example, a family in which both the husband and wife worked and paid Social Security taxes usually receives the same benefits as a family in which the wife did not work.

Social Security taxes are NOT paid into a trust fund earmarked for an individual's future retirement benefits. Today's Social Security taxes are used to provide benefits for today's retirees. The Social Security "trust fund" now contains approximately $68 billion, while the actual benefits owed participants is valued at more than $500 billion.

Social Security payments are NOT "contributions." They are compulsory taxes.

Employers do NOT share the burden of Social Security taxes equally with employees. Their share is treated like any other business cost. It can be passed on to the consumer in the form of higher prices or to the worker as a long-range reduction in his potential salary. It is also deductible for income tax purposes as a business expense.

Although Social Security is based upon a moral commitment between generations, there is no legal guarantee that benefits will be paid to future generations, particularly if the "trust fund" does not remain solvent.

No pious platitudes about the system's "fiscal integrity" or sermons about how well it has worked in the past (and it has worked well for many years) can change the fact that the demands on the system in 1975, 1985, 1995 and beyond are going to be far greater and far different than they were when Social Security began nearly 40 years ago," says the editorial.

IN COMING ELECTION Keeping The Colonels At Bay Is Greek Goal

ATHENS (LENS) — Greece is likely to get its first election in a decade, and its first wholly open one for a generation, within two or three months. No one will be barred: Even the Communist party that was outlawed 25 years ago will be allowed to resume legitimate political activity.

The new civilian government of Constantine Karamanlis is wasting no time in calling the election that will crown the removal of the military dictatorship. It believes that only an elected government can make decisions on the vital issues confronting the country, including the Cyprus affair and the question of Greece's constitution, with the delicate matter of whether King Constantine should return or not.

It knows that Greece's hopes of early integration into the European community wait upon an election. And the broadly conservative present government may also calculate that its own prospects of holding off the challenge from the left will be better the earlier the election takes place.

It could be right about that. Of all the political groupings likely to take part in the election the conservatives — drastically reformed, far more tolerant, and substantially more conscious of the danger posed by their own extreme right — show the greatest cohesion.

Under the leadership of Karamanlis, they stand the best chance of winning the election even if it is held under a system of proportional representation. Many Greeks have learned over the last 10 years that patience is a virtue in politics, and that by trying to get too much too quickly you end up losing everything.

A majority may conclude that voting conservative is the best bulwark against another lot of colonels.

The traditional center is now divided into three groups. The old Center Union party is mainly represented in the government by George Pavlos, the deputy prime minister and foreign minister, a figure of undoubted substance who belongs to the conservative center. Professor Andreas Papanicolaou, on the other hand, has collected around himself the more radical elements of the Center Union which his late father led.

Papanicolaou is displaying an unexpected sense of responsibility, considering the popularity he won on the left by his statements while he lived abroad in the years after the military coup of 1967.

The third group, the breakaways known as the "apostates" who governed the country in 1965 and 1966, are likely to join forces with the conservatives since the rest of the party is unlikely to forgive their apostasy.

The Communists are fragmented too. The Russian-leaning party, led by Harilaos Florakis, made its Marxist-Leninist point at a recent press conference, the party's first in Athens since 1947. There is also the breakaway "Communist Party of the Interior" which pledges respect for parliamentary democracy, and may very well do better in the election for that reason.

It is likely to join forces with the United Democratic Left, the front party led by Elias Eliou which got the votes of many Communists in the years after the civil war at the end of the 1940s.

It is the space between center and left that could matter most, and that is still vacant. Will Papanicolaou fill it, or the grouping of the United Democratic Left and the Communist Party of the Interior?

Some of the non-politicians who became involved in the resistance against the dictatorship (a few are in the cabinet) plan to create a social democratic party. It will take years to implant this new political seedling, which is something Greece has never had before. But in the long run a social democratic party could displace the old Center Union which, like most Greek parties, depended more on the personal attractions of its leaders than on its policies.

Petroleum Exporters Doling Out Billions Carefully

By SHIRLEY CHRISTIAN Associated Press Writer.

The petroleum exporting countries are doling out money as carefully as they did oil during the embargo, but there are signs the United States won't get out of this time.

The oil exporting nations made billions of dollars from the four-fold increase in petroleum prices and, in most cases, their economies can absorb but a fraction of the earnings. Most are holding on to surplus revenue, putting it in a safe and ready sugar bowl: short-term bank deposits of no more than 90 days.

But some money is going to help the less developed nations and to purchase arms. Small amounts are being spent on real estate and business investments.

The United States government and American businessmen have been seeking a share of the oil money. Last weekend, there was an indication of partial success. Financial sources said that Saudi Arabia had decided to purchase several billion dollars of a special bond issue by the U.S. Treasury.

Treasury Secretary William

E. Simon visited the Middle East this summer, trying to convince Saudi Arabia and Kuwait to buy a large quantity of the special Treasury bonds. He proposed that Saudi Arabia buy "well in excess of $5 billion."

The exact amount and terms of the Saudi Arabian purchase have not been decided on, but a Saudi financial official said the figure would be less than Simon wanted.

In addition to the special bond deal, Treasury officials say that oil producing countries have bought the bulk of between $4 billion and $5 billion worth of other Treasury and government securities sold to foreign countries this year.

By the end of this year, the 10 members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries are expected to have $60 billion more than they need. The World Bank calculated that the surplus would grow to more than a trillion dollars by 1985. That's almost 10 times the amount the United States has invested abroad.

The non-Arab countries — Iran, Venezuela, Indonesia and Nigeria — have larger populations and more sophisticated economies which can soak up most of their money. Even those countries will have excess cash for temporary investments while they wait for projects to come off the drawing boards. Where is oil money going? Bankers, realtors and others

A clerk at Garcia's said the curio shop runs out of sugar and has to have a new shipment almost every day. She told a reporter, "We're out right now, but we should have more in two or three hours. How much do you want?"

Acting U.S. customs port director C. B. Fikes said his office has noticed an increase in the amount of sugar brought into the United States from Matamoros.

Fikes said a person can bring back less than 100 pounds of sugar every 30 days. This means that a person who buys a 112-pound bag of sugar at Garcia's for $11.20 will have it seized and held until the quota of the U.S. Customs Service in the financial community are through and possible future transactions might be jeopardized. Some pieces can be put together. Among them:

—An offer from Kuwait to pay almost $250 million for the St. Martin's Property Corp., a British real estate group. Kuwait already owns 8 per cent of the company.

—A half-interest by the Kuwait Investment Co. in a $100 million Atlanta hotel-commercial complex.

—The purchase by the Kuwait Investment Co. of Kiawah Island off the South Carolina coast for $174 million.

—An offer from Iran to loan money to Grumman Corp. to assure production of the F14 Navy fighter plane.

—The purchase by Iran of $3.5 billion worth of U.S. military equipment and $4 billion worth of French industrial goods.

—The purchase by Iran of 25 per cent of the steel subsidiary of West Germany's Krupp industrial enterprise for $100 million.

—One source, who declined to be identified by name, predicted that most of the surplus oil money will end up in the United States, Europe, Canada, Japan and Australia.

London bankers said that large amounts of oil money in short-term bank deposits had been withdrawn from Great Britain and shifted to New York because of the weak British economy. They declined to give figures.

Low-Priced Sugar Hottest Selling Item In Mexico

By GARY GARRISON

MATAMOROS, Mexico (AP) — Skyrocketing sugar prices in the United States have made sugar one of the hottest selling items in a curio shop in this Mexican border city.

Garcia's, a popular shop within walking distance of the international bridge across the Rio Grande, sells an 11 and a half pound bag of sugar for $1.25. A national chain store in Brownsville just across the Rio Grande sells a 10-pound bag of sugar for $3.37.

A survey of sugar prices around Texas indicates that prices are about the same as in Brownsville.

An observer noted on a recent Saturday that sugar was selling faster than liquor or cigarettes and certainly faster than hand painted pictures, vases, purses or any of the other curios for sale. "We might as well load up at these prices while we are here," a Dallas woman said as she and her husband carried 12 of the bags of sugar to their automobile.

A clerk at Garcia's said the curio shop runs out of sugar and has to have a new shipment almost every day. She told a reporter, "We're out right now, but we should have more in two or three hours. How much do you want?"

Acting U.S. customs port director C. B. Fikes said his office has noticed an increase in the amount of sugar brought into the United States from Matamoros.

in Washington allows it to be released. The only other ban on sugar is that it must be for personal, non-commercial use, Fikes said.

Gas Stations Being Abandoned

NEW YORK (AP) — Many gas stations are being abandoned, demolished or converted — due to the effects of the energy crunch.

National Petroleum News estimates that 10,000 service stations have closed since 1970.

Some stations have been sold to fast-food franchisers and some have become flower shops, beauty salons or libraries. At least one has been changed into a church, the magazine said.

—A half-interest by the Kuwait Investment Co. in a $100 million Atlanta hotel-commercial complex.

—The purchase by the Kuwait Investment Co. of Kiawah Island off the South Carolina coast for $174 million.

—An offer from Iran to loan money to Grumman Corp. to assure production of the F14 Navy fighter plane.

—The purchase by Iran of $3.5 billion worth of U.S. military equipment and $4 billion worth of French industrial goods.

—The purchase by Iran of 25 per cent of the steel subsidiary of West Germany's Krupp industrial enterprise for $100 million.

—One source, who declined to be identified by name, predicted that most of the surplus oil money will end up in the United States, Europe, Canada, Japan and Australia.

London bankers said that large amounts of oil money in short-term bank deposits had been withdrawn from Great Britain and shifted to New York because of the weak British economy. They declined to give figures.

Good Looking Wife Boosts Man's Image

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Good looking women fared better than handsome men. A man with a good looking wife rates higher in other people's eyes than a man married to a homely woman, two University of Pittsburgh psychologists say. Leonard Saxe and Daniel Bar-Tal report, however, that the reverse isn't true — a handsome husband apparently won't enhance the status of his wife.

Saxe and Bar-Tal said in a report released on Thursday they showed portraits of various couples to a total of 128 viewers and asked them to try to rate each man and woman according to personality, success and social and economic background. The portraits were paired differently for different observers, with homely men paired with attractive women in some cases and the combination switched around in others.

In every case, the observers were told that they were looking at a man and wife. The findings: —Homely men with good looking wives got the top ratings for income, job success and professional status. —When these same men are paired with homely women, their standing in the eyes of the observers dropped. —The lowest ratings went to handsome men paired with attractive women.

The problem for many modern men and women is how? Most members of the Unitarian Universalist religious community would not pretend to know the answer. But they maintain:

1. that no one else has the answer either.
2. that the very search for answers informs life with religious values.
3. that this search is carried on better — and more enjoyably — in the company of others who share these assumptions.

Marine Corps Band Due Here On Oct. 19

Matinee and evening performances will be given by the U.S. Marine Band when it appears in Midland Oct. 19 under the sponsorship of Midland's Bicentennial Commission. Since the band is considered the "official" band of the nation, the Midland Bicentennial Commission considers the concert as a fitting kick-off for the Bicentennial period here.

Prices for the matinee will be $1.50 for students and $2.50 for adults. Evening prices will be $2 for students and $3 for adults.

The band, traditionally referred to as "The President's Own," dates its beginning from Nov. 10, 1775 — the official birthday of the Marine Corps itself. Since Thomas Jefferson's time it has played at every

I Do! I Do! Opens Tonight

OBESSA — A pair of star-making performers who charmed audiences in two past seasons at Permian Playhouse, are featured in PPH's "I Do! I Do!", opening tonight at Odessa's community theater.

They are Terry Milligan, well remembered as the lovable comrade Prof. Harold Hill, in last season's "The Music Man," and Barbara Inglehart, who scored a hit as the incomparable Rosemary in PPH's 1970 musical, "Carnival."

With "I Do! I Do!" Permian Playhouse officially raises the curtain on its sparkling new season — a season which also will offer such stage hits as "Indians," "How the Other Half Loves" and "Foxy Carrots," and topped off by a big musical production in April, the new-from-broadway "No, No, Nanette."

"I Do! I Do!" is the engaging story of a marriage, beginning with the wedding of young Agnes and Michael near the turn of the century and continuing through the time when their children are grown and gone and the aging couple concludes that "the best day of all is the day that's on its way." The story is told in warm, and sentimental style, sometimes brassy and bold, sometimes soft and touching.

The musical, which featured Mary Martin and Robert Preston in the roles of Agnes and Michael on Broadway more than a decade ago, was adapted from Jan de Hartog's play, "The Fourposter" (which had starred Jessica Tandy and Hume Cronyn in its initial Broadway production two decades ago). The collaborators for the adaptation were Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt, creators of that fantastic stage hit, "The Fantasticks."

Following initial performances at 8:30 p.m. today and Saturday, "I Do! I Do!" will have Sept. 20-21 and 27-28 performances at the Playhouse, 310 W. 42nd St. Seat reservations for all performances may be made by telephoning the box office at 362-2326.

Milligan, who has been assistant band director at Permian High School here established in start rapport with audiences in his Playhouse debut as Prof. Harold Hill in "Music Man." He played the leading role of Billy Bagelow in "Carousel" and Matt—the boy in "Fantasticks" at West Texas State University, as well as Lancelot in WTSU's "Camelot," Marcello in "La Boheme," and Master Ford in "The Merry Wives of Windsor." He has exhibited his dance and vocal skill as Dave Newberry in Palo Duro Canyon's Famous "Texas" pageant. He has two instrumental music degrees, with equivalent hours in voice and a minor in speech.

Barbara Inglehart, an English teacher at Odessa High School (currently on leave of absence) has been acting on the PPH stage since 1967 when she appeared in "Annie Get Your Gun." In 1969, she demonstrated her durability by performing the arduous role of "Mame" two months after the birth of her third child. She was Katrin, the young writer who shared her family recollections in "I Remember Mama," portrayed the prim Miss Tripp in "The Silver Whistle," and then did an about-face by playing the outpoken Elaine Navazo in the recent PPH production of "Last of the Red Hot Lovers." In another Neil Simon comedy, "The Odd Couple," she showed another facet of her talent as the flighty Cecily.

The luscious, cheerful musical score of "I Do! I Do!" will be directed by J. R. McEntyre. Well-known Odessa piano-voice teacher and composer Ronald Bennett is vocal director and Flo Hughes is choreographer. She has been featured dancer, performer and choreographer for numerous past PPH productions.

James Walters, associate director of the Playhouse, directed "I Do! I Do!" His previous directorial assignments include "Private Lives," "J. B.," "Silver Whistle" and "The Owl and the Pussycat."

Judith Balo

Former Midlander Winner In Biennial Music Contest

CANYON—Former Midlander Judith Balo, who was awarded the bachelor of music education degree by West Texas State University in 1969, is one of five winners in the recent Sterling Staff International competition. A biennial event, the competition is sponsored by Mu Phi Epsilon, professional music sorority, and is presided over by a panel of judges, all of whom are experts in the performing arts.

As a winner, Miss Balo will be presented by Mu Phi Epsilon in a two-year series of recitals and concerts both here and abroad, for which she will receive artist's fees. In addition, she has received a contract guarantee as an apprentice artist with the Chautauque, N.Y., Opera Association for the summer of 1975.

Following undergraduate study at WTSU, where she was a voice student of Elsa Porter, Miss Balo did graduate work at the University of Southern Mississippi, receiving her masters degree in 1970. After two years of teaching at Northwest Louisiana University, she received a special Mu Phi Epsilon by WTSU's Al-grant which provided for a year phase Nu chapter in 1967, she has of intensive study in Italy under the guidance of baritone Tito Gobbi and voice coach Luigi Racca. Miss Balo returned to WTSU in 1973, where she is an instructor in the music department while continuing her studies with Miss Porter.

It was a poised and confident young artist who appeared last May in a special benefit concert for the Mu Phi Epsilon scholarship fund. "I felt that they had done so many good things for me," Miss Balo remarked. Since her initiation into the sorority as an Epsilon, she has been active in the sorority as an officer, and as a performing delegate to its international convention in 1968. While presently engaged in advanced voice studies and preparation for her forthcoming recital tours, Judy continues to be active in the Eta chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon.

Miss Balo is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric R. Balo of Broadus, Montana, former Mid-land residents.

Houston Liberal Presses Campaign Against Clayton

HOUSTON (AP) — State Rep. Anthony Hall of Houston says Rep. Billy Clayton, D-Springlake, a candidate for speaker of the Texas House, does not share the interest of the minorities.

Hall appeared at a news conference Thursday with three other liberal Democrats, Reps. Gene Jones, Ron Waters and Ed Watson.

Clayton is opposed in the race by Rep. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur. Clayton has claimed he has 96 pledges for speaker. It takes 76 of 150 votes to elect a speaker.

Jones said the objective of the group is to educate Harris County voters on Clayton's record. He added it would be futile to think they might be able to change the probable outcome of the speaker's race.

"It is clear from the record that Rep. Clayton does not share the interests and goals of the blacks, the Spanish-surnamed, and women," Hall said. Watson said, "We have to let our constituents know how we stand."

Institute Told Of Fast Increase In Child Abuse

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Educators, physicians and social workers gathered at the Child Abuse Institute here say that child abuse is increasing and that inter-agency collaboration will be needed to stem the excesses.

The two-day institute attracted about 1,000 persons to hear nationally known speakers such as Dr. John Reinhart of the Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh and Dr. Leontine Young of the New Jersey Child Services Association.

Dr. Reinhart emphasized Thursday that community cooperation is essential to deal with the child abuse problem. Reinhart also said that many dollars spent on mental retardation and mental illness could be saved through prevention of child abuse and child neglect.

Dr. Young told the group that one reason for the increase of the problem is the loss of traditional social support for the family.

Juvenile Court Judge James Delaney of Brighton, Colo., said that children's rights are receiving more emphasis from law enforcement officials. In the past, he said, the rights of parents have been over-emphasized at the expense of children.

Roswell Exhibition Opens On Sunday

ROSWELL, N.M. — The Roswell Museum and Art Center will open its third annual Fall Invitational exhibition Sunday.

Each year the museum staff organizes a show featuring the recent work of six prominent New Mexico artists. The current year's exhibit will include 46 works of art — both paintings and sculpture. Artists featured this year are Bruce G. Connor of Roswell, Andrew Dasburg of Taos, Frank Ettenberg of Santa Fe, Dennis Larkins of Embudo, Jean Promotico of Santa Fe and Shirley Stark, Taos. Most of the artists will be present at the opening Sunday from 3:30 to 5 p.m. The public is invited to attend the opening, to be hosted by the Roswell Assistance League.

The Roswell invitational show has been a successful alternative to an annual juried show, in assuring a representative exhibition both in terms of artistic activity across the state and in presenting an adequate opportunity to view a representative selection of each artist's work. The show here will continue until Oct. 20, and may be viewed weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., or Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m. at the museum at the corner of 11th and North Main Streets.

U.S. Rules Out Jacobsen Prosecution; Texas Still Could Bring Own Charges

DALLAS (AP) — Lobbyist Jake Jacobsen found himself safe today from federal prosecution in Texas, but the state still has the option to build a case against him even if he testifies in Washington against former Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally.

Jacobsen's release from the federal charges was disclosed Thursday when the Justice Department said it will honor its agreement with Jacobsen not to prosecute him in Texas in exchange for his testimony in the Connally case.

That decision came in the form of a notice of intention not to prosecute filed here with U.S. District Court Judge Robert Hill, who had rejected last Friday a government motion to dismiss the charges against Jacobsen.

Jacobsen, originally named in a seven-count federal indictment in Texas related to the misapplication of $850,000 belonging to a San Angelo savings and loan firm, had made a plea bargain with federal prosecutors. He agreed to plead guilty to a bribery case in Washington and testify against Connally and, in return, the Justice Department agreed to dismiss the charges in Texas. Jacobsen had no comment when reached at his Austin home.

Connally is indicted on a bribery charge for allegedly accepting two $5,000 contributions from Associated Milk Producers Inc., a Texas-based cooperative, reportedly for his efforts in boosting milk subsidies. Jacobsen was a lobbyist for AMPI at the time.

U.S. Atty. Frank McCown said that the federal government's decision "in no way binds the State of Texas." It was McCown who informed Judge Hill of the government's intention not to prosecute.

"But my understanding is that the state cannot prosecute Jacobsen on this indictment. The state may prosecute if there are any corresponding state charges," he added.

McCown also pointed out that federal prosecutors would not turn any evidence over to the State of Texas to be used against Jacobsen.

Ikard Says Americans Get Good Bargain On Gasoline

DALLAS (AP) — Even with higher prices, the American consumer receives a better bargain at the gasoline pump than do his counterparts in many other countries, according to the president of the American Petroleum Institute.

Frank N. Ikard told the Dallas Salesmanship Club here Thursday that the average American worker has to work only seven minutes to buy one gallon of gasoline while a Frenchman must work 25 minutes.

Ikard said in spite of claims to the contrary by industry critics, the oil industry has not been gouging the public.

Ikard, a former Texas native now a Washington resident, said he feels the new openness by the oil industry in the past year has created a more favorable feeling towards the industry and its problems.

Consumer Habits Important

Ikard said that the habits of the American consumer will determine if the present adequate supply of gasoline continues, but he said that "predicting what the American consumer will do is hazardous."

Ikard said that the supply situation today is better than it was six months ago, but that the weather and the continued availability of imported oil will affect the supply picture.

In his notice to Judge Hill Thursday, McCown said the motion to dismiss the charges against Jacobsen had been made "in good faith by the United States."

Ikard noted that consumers are irritated by today's high prices, now approximately 50 per cent higher than before last year's oil embargo.

Supply Tied To Profits

Ikard said future supply will also be tied to oil company profits, which he said amount to two to three cents on each gallon of gasoline.

He said the petroleum industry will have to invest $500 billion in the next 15 years and most of it will have to come out of profits.

To achieve this goal, the rate of return on invested capital will have to climb from last year's 11 per cent to between 15 and 20 per cent, Ikard added.

He said the price of gasoline could be pushed even higher if several bills now before Congress are passed.

Judge Hill also declined to comment on what his next action would be following the government's decision not to prosecute. In his opinion last week rejecting the motion for dismissal, Hill had stated the court had the option to appoint a special counsel to prosecute the case in Texas.

Depletion Allowance

Ikard said a price increase of about 37 cents per gallon would be necessary if the oil elimination depletion allowance is abolished.

Ikard cited as "highly inflationary" the Energy Transportation Security Act, saying it would require that 30 per cent of all imported oil be carried in U.S. tankers by mid-1977.

At a news conference before his speech, Ikard said the Arab nations' threat to increase prices and cut back oil production "would have a definite impact, but it would not put us back in last year's situation."

As to last year's high oil company profits, Ikard said it

Partner Pleads Guilty

Angelo case had been set by Judge Hill for Sept. 23. His former partner Ray Cowan, has pleaded guilty to the misapplication of funds charges.

Judge Hill rejected the motion to dismiss saying that the Washington and San Angelo cases were unrelated. He hit hard at the plea bargain deal saying the government had made a promise it could not guarantee when it agreed to drop the charges in Texas.

The judge said, "There has been no showing by the government that Jacobsen's testimony is vital or essential to the successful prosecution of the District of Columbia case or any other case."

He also said the deal between Jacobsen and the federal prosecutors meant that Jacobsen would plead guilty to a lesser crime while avoiding prosecution for a major crime in Texas.

Midland school Supt. Dr. James H. Mailey and trustee president C. Wallace Craig have been selected as program participants for the 1974 Joint Annual Convention of the Texas Association of School Administrators and the Texas Association of School Boards.

Dr. Mailey will serve as chairman for the group discussion on "Effective Methods for Differentiated Staffing." Craig has been named to serve as reactor for a group discussion entitled, "New Board Member Session."

The convention will be held Oct. 5-7 in the San Antonio Convention Center, and is expected to attract over 3,000 school administrators and school board members from across the state.

The comprehensive convention program will also be highlighted by three general sessions, demonstrations of promising educational practices, displays of outstanding school architecture, business meetings and seminars on school finance and school law.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen will keynote the opening session of the convention. Dr. Wilbur Shaeffer will address participants at the Sunday evening banquet, with State Education Commissioner Dr. Marlin Brockette speaking at the Monday luncheon session.

Car Insurance Hearing Delayed

AUSTIN (AP) — The annual automobile insurance hearing has been reset, from Oct. 1 to Oct. 17, because the industry says it needs extra time to get its material ready.

Joe Christie, state insurance board chairman, said Thursday the rating organizations that normally provide the board with automobile data had informed the insurance department that their exhibits will be ready about three weeks later than expected.

14 Held In Heroin, Marijuana Seizures

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Four South Texas men and 10 Reynosa, Mexico, men were in the Cameron County jail today following arrests by federal Drug Enforcement Agency officers at Harlingen and on the Rio Grande near Hidalgo.

Officers arrested the four South Texas men and two of the Mexican nationals at Harlingen Thursday on charges of possession of about 11 ounces of heroin.

The second arrest involved eight men from Reynosa picked up on the Rio Grande east of Hidalgo on charges of smuggling almost 700 pounds of marijuana into the United States.

Federal officers said they confiscated three automobiles, a shotgun and a .38 caliber pistol when they arrested the six men at Harlingen.

U.S. Magistrate William Mallet set the bond at $50,000 each on Victor Villareal, 33; Rodrigo H. Zamora, 31, and Jose Baldezar Gonzalez, 43, all of Harlingen, and Francisco Silva Cisneros, 55, of San Benito. Bond was set at $75,000 each on Roberto Saldivar, 41, and Gerardo Luis Cantu, 31, both of Reynosa, Mexico, on charges of possession of heroin.

In the marijuana smuggling case, U.S. Magistrate Cruz Tjerina of McAllen set bond at $50,000 each on Miguel Peralez Zamarripa, Jose Gonzalez Gonzalez, Edelmiro Lopez Lopez, Reynaldo Hernandez Zamarripa, Juan Manuel Cantu Torvar, Jesus Torres Aldape, Leonel Lopez Serna and Fidel Hernandez Zamarripa, all of Reynosa.

Perjury Charge

"Perjury is no less serious in Texas than it is in Washington," Hill said, noting that perjury is one of the counts in the original indictment against Jacobsen in the San Angelo case.

The State of Texas had opposed the motion for dismissal. A brief filed by the attorney general's office had said that the state would not have turned over investigative material on the San Angelo case to the federal prosecutors "had the State not believed that the ends of justice would be fully pursued."

MC Teams Make Athletic Debut

Midland College embarks upon its athletic career this weekend after a spring and summer of recruiting as the golf, tennis and swimming teams see action on the road.

The men golfers are at Borger today and Saturday for a Western Athletic Conference tournament being hosted by Frank Phillips Junior College today and Clarendon JC in Clarendon Saturday.

The traveling team is composed of Price Courter, Kelly Sewell, both Midland High grads; David Gage, Abilene Cooper; Terry Lester, Rankin, and Beau Wright, Fort Stockton.

The swimmers will compete in water polo matches at Texas A&M today and Saturday. Team members are David Andrejewski, Rex Bell, Tommy Connor, Tom Eggar, William Gray, Leonard Ledford, Mark Lovin, David Ross, Calvin Starrett, Greg Williams and Charles Wilson.

Six tennis players will be on hand for the Open Tournament at Roswell, N.M. They are James Bickham, Brian Champie, Terry Ellis, Randy Emmert, Tace von Tenegersen and Carol Reger.

SWC OPENERS— Tech By 5 In Opener

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

The long-awaited debut of schoolboy superstar Earl Campbell for the University of Texas highlights an opening round of inter-sectional openers this weekend in which the Southwest Conference is favored in five of the seven games.

"Earl certainly has kept my interest and will start at full-back," says Texas Coach Darrell Royal, who is taking his team to New England Saturday to play Boston College for the first time.

Despite the rapid recovery of All-American Roosevelt Leaks, Royal is going with Campbell, a talented runner, passer receiver and blocker.

"He's an exceptional freshman," Royal says. "Earl is perhaps the most mature freshman I've been around. He's just an outstanding football player, freshman or not."

The Longhorns are two touchdown favorites over the Eagles, who lost seven players to the professional draft. The game is a sellout with some 35,000 fans expected.

Royal also plans extensive use of two other freshmen, running back Gralyn Wyatt and split receiver Kevin Scott. Injured but recovering All-American fullback Roosevelt Leaks could make an appearance.

It marks the first time for the Longhorns, who have captured six consecutive SWC titles, to play an 11th game since the NCAA gave permission in 1970.

"They (Boston College) are as stiff an opener as we had last year," said Royal, reminding one and all that Miami upset the 'Horns last year in the campaign's kickoff.

In Lubbock, Texas Tech Coach Jim Carlen is worried about what he calls "The toughest opener since I've been here."

The Red Raiders host Iowa State of the Big Eight Conference with redshirt quarterback Tom Duniven, who many Red Raider watchers say is destined for stardom, at the helm of the Tech attack. Oddsmakers see Tech a five-point favorite.

Arkansas and Baylor are the underdogs. The Razorbacks host Southern California in Little Rock and oddsmakers see the Trojans a 10-point pick. Baylor is a five to six touchdown massacre possibility according to the oddsmakers in a collision with awesome Oklahoma.

"What can I say about Oklahoma? The only thing I can say is I didn't schedule them," said Baylor Coach Grant Teaf.

There will be rather interesting struggle at Texas Stadium between North Texas State and Southern Methodist, the first meeting of the schools in 32 years. It's a revenge setting for Mean Green Coach Hayden Fry, who was fired two years ago at SMU.

Fry has named freshman quarterback Kenny Harrison to start against the veteran SMU team of Dave Smith, a former assistant under Fry, who replaced him on the Hilltop.

"I'd be lying if I said the game didn't mean an awful lot to me," said Fry.

SMU is a 17-point favorite.

The young and powerful Texas Aggies are 17-point picks to romp over the Clemson Tigers in an unusual 4 p.m. game at Kyle Field. The Aggies have the heft and quickness and need only sophomore quarterback David Walker to turn the key to a potential championship season.

Football fanatics in Houston will be taking in that cross-town feud between the Rice Owls and once-beaten Houston.

While Midland Lee's Rebels are off in Snyder seeking their fortune, and maybe a little revenge against Coach Maurice Hodges' Tigers, the Midland Bulldogs will be making their home debut tonight against the Eastwood Troopers at 8 p.m. in Memorial Stadium.

Last week the Purple Pack defeated Amarillo Tascosa, 24-6, as fullback Mike Gaddy and halfback Mike Hudspeth came up with 100-yard rushing performances and Midland fans are looking forward to more of the same tonight.

However, Eastwood, victimized by Midland, 53-13, is intent on proving that the margin was all a mistake.

The Troopers are ranked No. 2 behind El Paso Coronado in their district and finished 7-3 last year despite the loss to Midland.

Lee, winner over Lubbock 26-0 last week, faces a tougher assignment this week against a Snyder team that is ranked No. 10 in the state in AAA.

Snyder beat Monahans 21-6 last week and tonight's game offers an interesting duel of backfield stars when Snyder's Welton Cobb runs up against Midland Lee's Milton Jones.

"We may both be so defense conscious that it will be a low scoring game," says Hodges.

One High School Would Create Athletic Ogre

Although it will be camouflaged as the only solution to the running controversy over enrollments at the high schools and may be hailed as a blow at inflation and a patriotic gesture in the name of conservation, when Midland goes to its one school system, the real purpose will soon become evident.

Midland will emerge as a super athletic power that will revive memories of the dreaded 1950s when Abilene Tuled West Texas athletics like there was an iron curtain stretched across the Brazos.

Word is already trickling back from alarmed San Angelo, where beads of perspiration dot the brow. One proposal to incorporate Lake View into the Central school district has been abandoned in despair.

The suggestion to have all the juniors and seniors attend one school and all the sophomores attend another would return Midland to a one-high school setup.

It would be a devastating blow at inflation on the one hand, reducing the athletic budget in half. No longer would it be necessary to outfit two complete football squads or feed them on the road and it would slash travel expenses for all athletics. The number of coaches would be reduced to one staff.

Of course, sophomores would be ineligible to compete in varsity athletics at the other school and therein lies the rub. Sophomore schedules would be adopted naturally, but would they play strictly sophomore rivals or would they be required to participate on a varsity level? If so, the student enrollment would force the sophs to compete on the AAAA level.

scene, such as soccer, lacrosse and rugby. The imagination runs rampant all along the unexplored horizons of a one high school setup.

Patriotic is the only term to be used for it, a sense-numbing one-two delivered at the chin of reckless spending and on behalf of the conservation of the nation's rapidly dwindling energy resources. While others wring their hands at the country's woes, Midland is doing something about it.

As one avid supporter remarked, "With all that talent at one school, you wouldn't be able to sign a coach to more than a one-year contract. District titles would have to be considered automatic with the penalty for failure equally automatic. It's beautiful, beautiful."

He warmed up. And just think, the petty adolescent jealousies between the adult supporters of Midland and Midland Lee would be a thing of the past. We'd be just one glorious, unified Midland Lee."

A beaming observer stopped beaming. "Midland High. It would be Midland High. With one high school, there would be no need to identify it. It would be Midland High."

"No, Lee. It would be Midland Lee."

"Midland!"

"Lee!"

"Midland!"

More Woes For Mustangs

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist, already stung by a two-year NCAA probation for paying players to make tackles, suffered another blow Thursday just two days short of its football opener with North Texas when starting center and captain Mike Smith was declared ineligible.

SMU Athletic Director Dick Davis said "Mike was involved in one of the infractions" listed by the NCAA when the Southwestern Conference school was placed on probation which included a bowl and television ban.

Some of the infractions included rewarding players with dinners at restaurants, movie passes, excess payment for tickets and dollars for tackles.

Davis would not list which NCAA rule Smith, a fifth year senior, was declared guilty of violating.

"There are some reasons why I cannot discuss it at this time," Davis said.

opinion of SMU that the decision of the NCAA is harsh," Davis said. "SMU is required by the NCAA to adhere to the rules and regulations of that organization."

He added "It is unjust that a young man has to incur this kind of wrath" from the NCAA.

Davis said the NCAA ruling Thursday came as a shock.

"We had no idea at all and this puts us in an awkward situation because we have a game Saturday," Davis said. "I hope we've got it all behind us now."

"We are very saddened at the outcome of our appeals for the benefit of Mike and it is the

GREIF'S FORKBALL DIFFERENCE— Padres Spank Astros

SAN DIEGO (AP) — With little to lose, three of San Diego's hurlers have come up with new pitches that make them wish it was time to start training for the 1975 season.

"I can't wait for next year to begin," righthander Bill Greif said Thursday night after he added a fork ball to his repertoire and throttled Houston 4-1 with a six-hitter.

It was the first time since July 16-17 that the Padres have won as many as two games in a row.

Rookie righthander Dan Spillner, using the fork ball for the first time in the majors, started the modest new streak Wednesday night when he smothered Houston 2-0 with a three-hitter.

"I was encouraged by what Dan did," Greif, 8-17, said Thursday night after walking two, striking out seven and receiving the assist of three doubleplays.

"I've been working on the fork ball for about six or seven weeks and I've tried it a few times in games, but never as much as I did tonight."

"I struck out Milt May with one fork ball that bounced in front of the plate. That really impressed me. I haven't gotten him out very often this year."

"Spillner and Greif both have a new pitch the hitters must look for and that makes their other stuff harder to hit," said catcher Fred Kendall, who decried Thursday night's game when he broke a 1-1 tie with a second-inning drive into the seats off loser Tom Griffin, 139.

Kendall had a single in addition to his fifth game-winning year-old Jerry Turner also had two of San Diego's seven hits.

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Bob Murphy was far from unhappy with the first-round 65 that staked him to the lead in the $300,000 World Open Golf Tournament.

Yanks Maintain Margin In AL East

Bill Virdon isn't claiming the pennant and the New York Yankees' three rivals in the torrid American League East aren't conceding it. "I don't feel any different than when we were tied for first place last week," the Yankee pilot said Thursday night following a 3-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles which left New York 2 1/2 games up of the Boston Red Sox, three ahead of Baltimore and six in front of the Cleveland Indians.

The Red Sox, who had dropped three games in a row and 11 of their last 13, nipped Yankees' double off Jim Yastrzemski's double off Jim Ferra, a sacrifice and Dick McAuliffe's sacrifice fly off Tom Buskey.

Devils Face Badger '11'

McCamey travels to Rankin tonight for the season's first grid championship contest when the two teams take the field at 8 p.m. to battle for the Upton County championship in the area's highlight game of the week.

Crane's Golden Cranes, who upset AAA Fort Stockton last week, take on Kermit, another AAA team, on the home field while other District 7-AA teams Reagan County and Sonora travel to Ballinger and Junction, respectively. Ozona will host Eldorado.

In other games involving the District 6-A squads, Wild hosts the surging Stanton Buffaloes while Van Horn travels to Marfa and Clint hosts Fabens.

The District 5-A lineup features Wilson at O'Donnell, Hart at Shallowater, Springlake-Earth at Plains and New Deal at Seagraves.

Games involving District 3-AAA elevens include Denver City at Lamesa, Lubbock Estacado at Monahans, Midland Lee at Snyder, and Colorado City at Sweetwater. Lake View will host Burleson Saturday in San Angelo while Lubbock Cornado defeated Lubbock Dunbar 20-7, Thursday night.

The Andrews Mustangs face the Odessa High Bronchos tonight which is the second AAAA squad in a row for the herd while Fort Stockton travels to Alpine. Odessa Ector tees to Lubbock High and Seminole hosts Brownfield. Pecos makes the home debut against Carlsbad, N.M.

Colts To Host Ojinaga All-Stars

The Midland Colts will play the Ojinaga All-Stars at 2 p.m. Monday at Simon Field. The game is being played in conjunction with the Mexican Independence Day celebration in Midland. The Ojinaga team is comprised of the All-Stars of the Ojinaga city league. The Midland Colts posted a 22-1 record this summer, and the team is being brought back together for the special game.

Bulldogs Host Revenge-Seeking Eastwood Tonight

Troopers Arrive Early To Make Ready

By BOB DILLON

How do you prepare for a team you beat 53-13 last year? Coach John Reddell's Midland Bulldogs open their home season at 8 p.m. today in Memorial Stadium against the Ysleta Eastwood Troopers and overconfidence could be a problem for the Pack.

Midland opened the season with a 24-6 victory over Amarillo Tascosa last week while Eastwood was losing to Las Cruces Mayfield, 28-7. Last year, after Midland whipped the Troopers, Coach J. D. Partridge went on to chalk up a 7-3 record, losing to El Paso Coronado for the District 1-4A crown.

"We better not take them lightly, because they have good size and with a break or two, could give us a good ball game," said Reddell. Eastwood lost to Mayfield, 20-0 last year before the 53-13 licking and then came on strongly and in last week's 28-7 loss, it was 14-7 going into the final period.

Eastwood came up a day early, staying in Odessa and worked out Thursday on the Bulldog practice field and is determined not to let the score get out of hand this time around.

Midland has a balanced running attack built around 200-pound fullback Mike Gaddy and 175-pound halfback Mike Hudspeth. Both had great opening night performances on the Panhandle with Hudspeth gaining 117 yards and Gaddy 116, including three touchdowns.

Eastwood has enough size to deal out plenty of punishment in tackle Tom Adams, a 245-pound junior along with Mike Bailey, 205-pound senior and Dennis Diaz who tips the scales at 210 pounds.

The Troopers have a young quarterback in sophomore Gary Works, a 165-pounder, but he has two experienced backs with fullback Jerry Oxner, a 195-pound senior and senior scatback Carlos Tinajero, who has good speed.

Eastwood scored first on Mayfield last week. The New Mexico school won the Class AAAA state title in 1972 and went to the semifinals last year before bowing to eventual state champion Clovis.

Midland graded highly in the films on offense with Tom Dunlap, 195-pound senior performing well on his blocking assignments along with Bruce Smith, a 195-pound senior, Bill Rhotenberry, 200-pound senior and Bill Newberry, a 195-pound senior.

While Gaddy and Hudspeth were running well, halfback Kim Madden also had a good night with 52 yards rushing. Most of his yardage came on tackle trap plays. Quarterback John Webb hit three of eight passes for a touchdown to split end Rufus Johnson to add to the attack which is ground-oriented.

Reddell will go with Webb, Hudspeth, Gaddy and Madden in the backfield with Johnson at the split end position and Sam Hubert, a 200-pound senior, at the tight end slot. The tackles will be Rhotenberry and Dunlap with Smith and Holt Cowden at the guard slots and Newberry at center.

Linebackers Mitch Irvin and James Zachery, graded well last week and will be joined by Billy Sutton to back up the line. The defensive ends will be Sam Zachery and Steve Campbell with the guards being Randall McCleskey and Scott Pollard.

At the cornerbacks will be Derrick Michael and Ron Hill. Michael also turned in a strong game last week in Amarillo. The halfbacks will be Dusty Hicks and Sam Jordan.

Bailey and Adams anchor down the Trooper forward wall with Bailey at a tight end slot and Adams at tackle. Bailey plays guard on the defensive unit along with Adams while Diaz plays tackle on offense and end on defense. Another good lineman is Ron Miller, a 190-pound senior and two-year letter winner. He

Dolphins, Vikings, Rams, Falcons Picks In Pro Openers

By BEN THOMAS
AP Sports Writer

Inaugurating another season of Pro Picked Picks on a Friday the 13th does not bode well. At least the teams don't have to play today.

This picker wound up the 1973 campaign with a 134 correct predictions, 48 incorrect, plus 7 ties. The percentage was .736. Now let's get down to brass tacks and take a crack at Week 1 of the 1974 campaign:

Miami at New England: Even though the injured Dolphins include running back Mercury Morris and linebacker Nick Buoniconti, Miami shouldn't have too much trouble. The Patriots can look forward to next week when they play the Giants... DOLPHINS 27, PATRIOTS 13.

Minnesota at Green Bay: The Vikings hope to start another 6-0 sweep against NFC Central foes in this one. The Packers would like to get back — on the winning track. But it won't happen this Sunday... VIKINGS 24, PACKERS 17.

Los Angeles at Denver: The Broncos will be spoiling for an upset and may make it close and exciting. But to Los Angeles Coach Chuck Knox, who really believes in the one-game at-a-time theory, this opener is as important as a Super Bowl game. RAMS 24, BRONCOS 18. Dallas at Atlanta: The Cowboys are slight favorites, so the oddsmakers say. But Atlanta is gunning for the playoffs and might as well start now... FALCONS 24, COWBOYS 21.

Atlanta By Three Over Dallas; Skins To Lose

Baltimore at Pittsburgh: The Steelers went through the exhibition season undefeated. The oddsmakers like Pittsburgh by at least a pair of touchdowns and this is not the time to argue... STEELERS 35, COLTS 17.

Cleveland at Cincinnati: The last team to beat the Bengals in Cincinnati was, that's right, Cleveland. Since this is Friday the 13th, it might be appropriate to pick an upset. But it isn't... BENGALS 27, BROWNS 24.

Washington vs. New York Giants at New Haven: Don't die laughing now, but this is a hunch that Bill Arnsparger will pull off a monstrous upset in his first game as head coach... GIANTS 24, REDSKINS 21.

New York Jets at Kansas City: It could be the final season for both Joe Namath of the Jets and Kansas City's Len Dawson. Both will want to win, only one can... CHIEFS 37, JETS 28.

Philadelphia at St. Louis: If Coach Mike McCormack is as successful this year in building a defense as he was last year with the offense, the Eagles are going to make a lot of noise this year... EAGLES 24, CARDINALS 20.

Detroit at Chicago: In the last 13 games between these two ancient rivals, the Lions have won 11. They should make it No. 12... LIONS 17, BEARS 10.

San Francisco at New Orleans: Look for Archie Manning to try to show owner John McCom Jr. that he's worth every dime he's asking in his new contract... SAINTS 35, 49ERS 17.

San Diego at Houston: The Oilers are at home and favored. So... OILERS 14, CHARGERS 10.

Oakland at Buffalo: Even though the Raiders are favored, here's a vote for O.J. Simpson, Joe Ferguson and company... BILLS 31, RAIDERS 28.

Another Sweep!

starts last week, but the prospects of a repeat tonight aren't good.

For one thing, Big Spring, 16-6 winner over Andrews, hosts tough Hobbs, N.M., one of the powers from the Land of Enchantment. Last year Hobbs won 14-6.

Abilene, a 13-0 winner over Sweetwater, faces sterner opposition this week when the Eagles, under new coach Bill Shipman, face Irving MacArthur, 21-20 winner over Dallas Samuel.

The two league favorites, Odessa Permian and San Angelo, should make it two straight without much trouble. The Bobcats face Killen, 14-9 winner over Seguin, and Permian travels for Amarillo High, 21-7 loser to Odessa last week.

Odessa, with Woody and Darrell Sheppard sparking the offense, figures to have too many guns for Andrews at Odessa's W. T. Barrett Stadium. Abilene Cooper scored a big 14-0 win, even if it was over an AAA opponent, Brownwood, and will host Fort Worth Southwest, a 13-12 loser to Cleburne last week.

PBRPC Hosts State Shoot

The Texas State Sporter rifle matches will be held at the Permian Basin Rifle and Pistol Club Saturday and the State Hunting rifle matches are scheduled for Sunday.

Marksmen are expected from throughout the Lone Star State with some hunters from Louisiana also expected.

Competition both days will begin at 8 a.m. and continue through the day, ending between 4 and 4:30 p.m.

The matches are held here every other year.

Robby Waived

ANEHEIM — Frank Robinson, the only player to be Most Valuable Player in both major leagues, was sold by the California Angels to the Cleveland Indians, also of the American League, for the $20,000 waiver price.
