Break Near In Gunmen's Siege

Soaking Rain Continues To Fall In Area

A 50 per cent chance for more rain is forecast for the Tall City this afternoon by the National Weather Service at Midland Air Terminal as overcast gray skies continue to release a slow soaking rain over West Texas.

The weathermen are calling for little change in temperatures, with the chance of showers and thundershowers continuing through Wednesday. The rain gauge atop The Reporter-Telegram measured 20 inch of moisture from 9 a.m. Monday to 9 a.m. today, bringing the two-day total to two inches.

The weather bureau has recorded an official 1.19 inches of precipitation this month by Monday midnight and a total of 9.14 inches for the year. From Monday midnight to noon today, the weather service gauged .06 inch of moisture.

High temperature for the city Monday hit 72 degrees, while the overnight low dipped to 66. Temperatures today are expected to stay in the low 70s, with nighttime lows in the 60s and Wednesday's high in the upper 70s.

Other gauges across West Texas were also feeling the benefits of the overcast skies and steady rain with Andrews recording 1.9 inch by 8 a.m. today. Big Lake had a steady and light drizzle last night and this morning with 1.56 inches gauged since Monday.

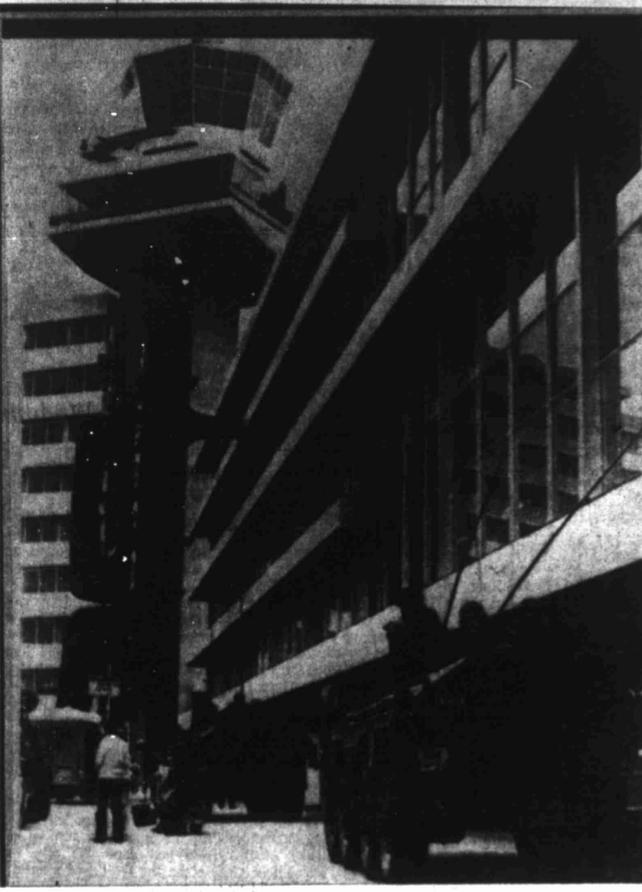

Big Spring had light drizzle all night with about half an inch measured by 9 a.m. today under misting conditions.

Crane had overcast skies this morning with no precipitation today and only a trace recorded last night. Garden City also came out on the short end today and had only a very light sprinkle last night.

Rankin and McCamey both had steady but light drizzle from 5:30 a.m. to 9 a.m. this morning. Gauges in both communities recorded 10 inch this morning.

Sterling City measured approximately a half inch since Monday in town with 1.5 inches recorded on gauges in the community of Broome 10 miles north of the city.

Stanton received light and intermittent drizzle this morning with a total of .30 measured since Monday afternoon.

New Office Building Is Planned

The Midland Savings Association has announced the purchase of a half-block of downtown property as a future site of its main office building.

Announcement of the purchase of the business property from Henry Rockwell of Houston was made Monday afternoon by P. F. Bridgewater, chairman of the board, and Preston F. Bridgewater Jr., president, of Midland Savings.

The property, now clear of buildings, was the former site of Rockwell Brothers Lumber Co. and the old Midland City Hall. It is bounded by West Texas, North Locaine and West Illinois streets, and is immediately across the street from the nearby U.S. Embassy north from the old Post Office property.

The price paid for the property was not disclosed.

"We plan to build on the property within the next three or four years, erecting a building for our own use," Preston Bridgewater said. "Meanwhile, we probably will utilize the property as a public parking facility."

P. F. Bridgewater said the firm wants to keep its main office in the central business district and that the new site offers numerous advantages. He said the location, when utilized by the savings association, will offer adequate customer parking, "something we do not have now."

Queen Juliana, opening a new session of the Dutch parliament, said that the country faced "an act of terror which threatens the lives of innocent people." She said the government's primary goal was the release of the hostages unharmed.

Premier Joop den Uyl was directing negotiations with the terrorists from the parliament.

A Boeing 707 sent from Paris to fly the gunmen out of the Netherlands was moved from a hangar to the tarmac.

In Paris, special security police were on alert.

More Flooding Set Off By Marathon Rains

By The Associated Press

Marathon and often massive rains set off more floods in scattered areas across Texas, posing threats of still more flooding and forced evacuation of some homes today.

Shortly before midnight policemen went from door to door warning residents on the south side of Killeen, near Ft. Hood in Central Texas, to flee as Nolan Creek started overflowing for the second time in a month. Although the water rose five feet deep in places, it quickly receded and occupants returned before daylight to a neighborhood of mostly mobile homes and small rent houses.

Official forecasters stayed down at a rate of more than 5 inches per hour around Alta Killeen, with streets flowing near Vista, 42 miles north of Del Rio and near the Mexican border.

State police said water blocked cars and things were had all a road or two in that remote over town," police dispatcher ranching district and some per. Kenneth Jacobs reported.

Ford Fails To Still Criticism Of Pardon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford says Richard M. Nixon's acceptance of a pardon could be construed as an admission of guilt, but Ford's yielding defense of the clemency has failed to still criticism of his decision.

Ford also said Monday night there were no secret reasons for the pardon and no secret deals with Nixon.

And he disclosed he is moving to allay concern among Watergate prosecutors about safeguarding Nixon tapes as potential evidence.

He said White House aides are negotiating with Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski's staff to remove concerns about preserving for possible courtroom use the tape recordings and presidential documents deemed to be Nixon's property.

Responding to a barrage of pardon-related questions at his second broadcast news conference, Ford declared, "I am absolutely convinced... I made the right decision in an effort, an honest, conscientious effort, to end the (Watergate) divisions and the turmoil in the United States."

Ford maintained that the former president had been "shamed and disgraced" by his resignation.

The President also said he had no inside information on Nixon's health at the time of the pardon, and although he was aware of published reports Nixon was ailing, "I was more anxious to heal the nation."

A number of congressional Democrats said they were not satisfied by Ford's defense of the pardon.

"Tonight, I thought there might be some light," said Rep. Jerome Waldie, D-Calif., a member of the House Judiciary Committee that recommended Nixon's impeachment, "but there was none."

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., of the Judiciary Committee said it would have been better had Ford "pursued the judicial process to show that all are treated equally under the law."

But Sen. George D. Aikin, R-Butte, said he was disappointed in the pardon.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER AT STATE CONVENTION— Bush Doesn't See GOP Disaster In Fall Elections

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott says Democrats appear to be holding up the nomination of Nelson Rockefeller to be vice-president. Scott told the Senate today the Democrats do not want Rockefeller active in the political campaigns this fall.

HOUSTON (AP) — Former Republican party chief George Bush told the GOP state convention today that he does not expect a Republican disaster in the November general elections.

"I think we will do better in the fall elections than has been widely predicted for us," Bush, recently-named envoy to China, said in the keynote speech as the one-day GOP convention opened.

Bush, a former Houston congressman, said that inflation will be the No. 1 issue in November.

"But there is plenty of blame to go around and I think the most will be on the Democratic-controlled Congress," Bush said.

Almost 4,800 delegates opened the convention today at the announced purpose of building a platform for their state candidates to run on in November.

BRISCOE PROMISES FAIR, OPEN MEETING— No Railroad Of State Demo Convention Vowed

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe promised Texas Democrats today there would be no "railroading" of the State Democratic Convention, although he apparently holds the upper hand.

"This year, we shall again conduct a fair and an open convention," Briscoe told the crowded Austin Municipal Auditorium as keynote speaker.

Briscoe's supporters claim 60 to 65 per cent of the 5,447 convention delegates.

The first test vote was set on one of the 18 challenges to county delegations, most of which were rejected Monday by the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Mrs. Billie Carr, liberal Democrat leader, said the roll call test of power likely would be on the challenge made by Jefferson County (Beaumont) women, who want to replace 29 male delegates with 20 women.

"The truth is that the Democratic party of Texas is not divided," Briscoe said in his prepared speech. "We are an open party, committed to a free discussion of the issues. And no matter how far apart we may be on individual issues, six years of a Republican national administration, culminated by

Officers Capture Slayings Suspect

CARTHAGE, Tex. (AP) — Peace officers captured Edward E. Corley today near Lake Murvaul in East Texas.

Officers said the intense manhunt ended in a wooded area where Corley, wanted in connection with four killings, was taken into custody.

Law enforcement men said they were taking Corley to Carthage.

Two women were found shot to death Sunday.

A man fitting Corley's description assaulted a truck driver near Jacksonville, south of Tyler, Sunday night and robbed him of $400.

The bodies of Vickie Morris, 20, and Dolly Jonas, 32, both of Tyler, were found about 20 miles apart Sunday after they had been reported missing by their families.

Corley is charged in Rusk County with a shotgun slaying of Mrs. Jerry Wright, 28, and her son, 6, in August.

Their bodies were found by Wright in their mobile home at Lake Cherokee south of Longview.

Briscoe said we have "more to unite us than we have to divide us. When Republicans have, the country in trouble, Democrats always have more to unite them than to divide them."

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., in his prepared speech to the convention, pleaded with the Democrats to get in "the same harness, pulling for the same goals of accomplishment for this state and all its people."

He urged them "to think about our need—more urgent than ever—to bring our party together again, so that united, we can bring our country together again."

Bentsen said political conventions always arouse political passions and disagreements "but surely we have seen what vicious partisanship can do to the soul of a political party... I don't want to spoil anyone's fun, but I do suggest that all of (See BRISCOE Page 4A)

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren

Uncle Wants Applause For His Wedding Gift

DEAR ABBY: I was recently married. At the reception, my uncle handed me an envelope. I had no idea it was a check, but I put it in my pocket without looking at it. (There were over 300 people at the reception, and I was busy accepting congratulations.)

Before we started for our honeymoon I opened the envelope and found a handsome check with a four-page letter of advice on how to stay happily married. (This uncle and his wife had been married for 34 years.)

On our honeymoon, my wife and I composed what we thought was a very nice letter of thanks, and mailed it to my uncle and aunt.

When we returned home, we found a very angry letter from my uncle ripping me up one side and down the other for not having the "good manners" to have opened the envelope at the reception, announcing his gift and reading his letter. I was shocked!

Abby, had I opened the envelope at the reception, I wouldn't have made such an announcement.

Was I in error? If so, I will apologize.

BEWILDERED NEPHEW
 DEAR NEPHEW: It would have been improper for you to have announced your uncle's gift at the reception and an imposition on your guests. Your "apology" is quite unnecessary, but your publicity-seeking uncle owes you one.

DEAR ABBY: Ours was an office romance. Mert was in accounting and I was a secretary to the president. Maybe opposites do attract, because I'm the vivacious, outgoing, gabby type, and Mert is quiet and more introverted. I had never met a kinder, more thoughtful man.

After three years of marriage, we're having a planned baby in five months. I'm 28 and Mert is 30. Now the problem: I plan to take a six-month leave from work to have the baby and to return to work when the baby is three months old. Mert is going to quit his office job and stay home to keep house and care for our child. He has a fantastic way with children. I don't. Mert loves cooking and housekeeping. I hate it. Mert finds office work dull and boring. I love it, I've always earned much more than Mert.

Do you think this could work out? Or do you think we're crazy?

REVERSED ROLES
 DEAR REVERSED: Why not? If it doesn't, you aren't married to the plan. And no, I don't think you're crazy. I think you are to be envied. Few people have the courage to thumb their noses at the rule of thumb.

DEAR ABBY: I read a claim by psychologists that the average person tells about 1,000 lies per year. Is that true?

DESIRE'S PROOF
 DEAR DESIRE: What "psychologists"? Reliable statistics for such a study could be acquired only by taping every word uttered in one year by an "average" person (and there's another trap for you — who's to define who is average?) and then separating the truth from the lies.

I doubt that such was ever made. Moral: Don't believe everything you read.

DEAR POLLY: I would like to add another solution to N.G.S.'s problem with a father 96, who falls and can't walk. My mother is 86. When she came home from the hospital she was very ill and I could not lift her. By holding her walker very steady and then helping her a bit she was able to get herself up. If one does not have a walker, a sturdy straight chair could be used the same way. I hope this helps someone else who is faced with that "paralytic" problem.

MILKED
 DEAR POLLY — When sewing on knit or any stretch fabric use a SMALL zigzag stitch if you do not have a regular zigzag attachment for your sewing machine. The seam will be pressed open easily. This makes the more stretch than a straight stitch. Of course polyester thread is a must.

When hand sewing with polyester thread pull it over beeswax before using a strand. This keeps the thread from fraying and fraying a container with beeswax for this purpose can be bought at any notions counter. MRS. W.H.P.

DEAR POLLY: My mother taught me to put cookies on bread that I wanted to crush into crumbs to use in cooking in a plastic bag and do the crushing with the rolling pin. The plastic bag prevents a mess and extra crumbs can then be stored or frozen in the bag.

When we moved into our new apartment we bought a lot of saucers and more homelike. The saucers that I went to a Goodwill store and junk shops and found plates that cost between 10 and 30 cents each to use as saucers for my pots. I picked out all home-colored china with different flower borders that are much prettier than the saucers. They were cheaper. SARAH

William Lyles Sr. of Columbia, S.C., pleaded guilty to two counts of violating federal campaign contribution laws. He was fined $1,000 on each, the maximum fine. He also could have received a two-year sentence.

His company, LBC & W Inc. of Columbia, was fined $5,000 under another count for illegal corporate contributions.

An information filed in U.S. District Court by the special Watergate prosecutor's office said Lyles handed out phony bonuses to selected employees, who were required to return the money to a special fund which was in turn contributed to Nixon political committees.

From July 20, 1971, to April 6, 1972, LBC & W, Inc., was accused of making total illegal contributions to Nixon's campaign of $10,000.

A lawyer for the special prosecutor's office said the information and guilty plea were agreed to based upon the absence of any direct trade-off between the firm's government contracts and the political contributions.

The plea was the 15th from an individual and 13th from a corporation growing out of the 1972 presidential campaign.

Lyles said following a brief hearing before Chief U.S. District Judge George L. Hart that his firm does work for the federal government throughout the Southeast.

Lyles was personally named in the information as contributing $7,000 illegally. A spokesman for the prosecutor's office had no immediate explanation as to why the corporation was accused of contributing $10,000 and Lyles $3,000 less.

A lawyer for the special prosecutor's office said the guilty plea does not preclude possible further prosecution by the Internal Revenue Service or the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Nominations For Two Senate Seats On Line Today

By The Associated Press

Nominations for two Senate seats are on the line today in elections in Washington and Oklahoma.

In Washington's primary, Democratic Sen. Warren G. Magnuson has only token candidate John Patric as the 69-year-old chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee seeks re-nomination to the post he has held for 30 years.

State Sen. Jack Metcalf, who was swamped by Magnuson six years ago, and C. Y. Jesse Chang, a professor of political science at Seattle Pacific College, were considered the front-runners in a field of six trying for the Republican nomination.

In Oklahoma's Democratic primary run-off, former Rep. Ed Edmondson and Charles Nesbitt, chairman of the State Corporation Commission, are matched for the right to meet the GOP Senate nominee, incumbent Henry L. Bellmon, in November.

Oklahoma Democrats also choose between state Rep. David Boren, 33, and Rep. Clem Spadden, 48, for their party's gubernatorial nomination, with the winner meeting Republican state Sen. James Inhofe, a Tulsa insurance man.

Boren and McSpadden, who gave up his 2nd Congressional District seat after just one term to run for governor, ran one-two in eliminating the incumbent governor, Democrat David Hall, in the Aug. 27 primary.

U.S. Agents Wired For Sound More Often Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — The undercover agent knew it was a gamble to wear the tiny hidden microphone to a crucial rendezvous with criminals.

If they found the device, he could be dead by morning. It was a risk he was willing to take for important evidence to bring them to trial.

The agent sensed their suspicion as he entered the room. "Take off your clothes," he was told. No time for panic. "Why?" he retorted. "You take off yours, too."

The tough character facing him peeled off his shirt. The agent peeled off his. Neither saw anything suspicious about the other. The charade ended. The microphone, recording every incriminating word, was safe inside the agent's trousers.

That story came not from the annals of television detectives but from Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen who related it to newsmen on Monday. He did not identify the agent or the case.

Such cases are occurring more and more often as federal agents and informers wire themselves for sound to gather evidence in more than 1,000 cases a year, Petersen said.

Petersen disclosed Justice Department statistics for so-called "consensual monitoring" in testimony before the National Wiretap Commission, a group of senators, congressmen and private citizens directed by Congress to recommend legislation controlling electronic surveillance.

The practice has been overlooked previously as most hearings on government surveillance have focused on wiretapping and bugging requiring court warrants for domestic criminal investigations and the attorney general's authorization for national security purposes.

Petersen said a 1971 Supreme Court decision leaves no doubt that investigators need no court authorization to record their own conversations with criminal suspects.

The applicable wiretap statutes and informers wiretap themselves for sound to gather evidence in more than 1,000 cases a year, Petersen said.

Department figures show there were only about 900 court-authorized wiretaps and bugs for the same period.

The Justice Department also disclosed that consensual monitoring is regulated by guidelines requiring all federal agencies to obtain approval from Petersen or one of his deputies before engaging in the practice except in emergencies.

7:30 A.M. THURSDAY—Early Bird Breakfast Expected To Draw 200

A crowd of about 200 is expected Thursday morning when the Midland Chamber of Commerce resumes its Early Bird Breakfast get-togethers at the Rowdian Inn.

Continental Airlines will be the sponsor, aided by three of its lovely hostesses. There will be some special prizes offered by Continental Airlines during the affair, but manager Chuck Logue isn't saying what they are.

Special guests at the meeting will be six athletes from the United States Army, who will be in Midland for two days of demonstrations at the local high schools.

"We had hoped they would be able to demonstrate some of their skills with our Chamber members," noted breakfast chairman Parker Humes. "But we may run into some problems getting volunteers since two of the soldiers are judo specialists, two are wrestlers, and the other two are runners."

Connie Mack Hood, a Midland resident and Gaines County farmer, indicated he would be on hand to serve as master of ceremonies "unless there's an outbreak of boll weevils."

Credential Fight Goes To Demo Convention

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Credentials fights that could cause trouble for Texas later at the Democrats' national "mini-convention" go before the party's state convention today.

Women, Houston liberals and a Dallas coalition of liberals and George Wallace followers lost preliminary battles over delegate seating Monday.

The convention's "permanent" credentials committee takes up the challenges today, with final decisions to be made at the convention floor. Liberal leader Billie Carr has vowed a pitched battle.

About 200 of the 5,000 delegates were challenged.

These were the main challenges and the actions taken Monday by the temporary credentials committee, with subsequent approval from the State Democratic Executive Committee.

—Women from the Beaumont-Port Arthur, Bryan, El Paso and Dallas areas sought 56 seats now held by men on grounds that party rules adopted in 1972 guarantee women at least a third of each county or senatorial district delegation.

Robert W. "Corky" Smith of Dallas, chairman of the temporary credentials committee, said that requirement was overridden by a special "no

Conservatives successfully challenged a Houston senatorial district delegation controlled by Mrs. Carr on grounds that it did not fairly represent their strength in the district convention.

—Wallaceites from Beaumont-Port Arthur and Corpus Christi lost in their attempts to gain a larger share of their counties' delegations.

Carrin Patman, SDFC member from Garardo, angered Smith during the temporary credentials committee meeting Monday by pointing out that nine of the 18 credentials contests were from Dallas County.

"I am concerned that they either do not understand the rules or are unwilling to enforce them. I don't know how to get the message across. Maybe we need a special affirmative action plan for Dallas County."

"Carrin, that was a cheap shot," said Smith, who sat rubbing his left cheek during her remarks.

Liberals could be expected to challenge the Texas delegation to the national Democratic conference or "mini-convention" at Kansas City, Mo., that will write a new party charter in December if that requirement was overridden by a special "no

U.N. General Assembly Opening Today

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations General Assembly opens its 29th annual session today with a record number of problems facing a record number of member nations.

The first day's agenda included the admission of three new nations: Bangladesh, formerly East Pakistan; Grenada, a former British island colony in the Caribbean; and Guinea-Bissau, the first of Portugal's African colonies to get independence.

Their admission brings the total membership in the world organization to 128 nations. It started with 51 in 1945.

President Ford planned to appear before the assembly on Wednesday for the first major foreign policy speech of his administration. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim told a news conference Monday that "the fact that the President is coming here personally... is the best proof of his positive attitude toward our organization."

Waldheim said that at his meeting with Ford in Washington last week, the President "expressed to me his desire to cooperate fully with the United Nations, to give us full support."

A record 111 items are on the agenda for the three-month assembly session. Many of them are the result of the Arab-Israeli conflict, the energy crisis, the arms race, worldwide inflation and the widening gap between rich and poor nations.

Waldheim said many of the problems are of unusual international complexity, demanding a global rather than a national approach. But returning to a theme he has sounded often the past month, he said that in the nearly three years he has been secretary-general, the trend has been "not toward better international cooperation but rather a trend back again to nationalism."

He urged governments to show "more give and take" and willingness to "give up some of their selfish interests and be ready to cooperate on an international basis."

He said that failure to do this was "the main reason we failed to achieve a breakthrough" at the U.N. conferences on the environment, the law of the sea and population problems.

Texans Urge Sister States Join Battle

Houston (AP) — Texas and Louisiana officials say states with undeveloped resources must join the fight to bolster the nation's energy self-sufficiency.

"Texas, Louisiana and Alaska cannot supply all America," Texas Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said Monday in endorsing Project Independence as a national commitment.

C. J. Bonnacerrere, executive secretary of the Louisiana State Mineral Board, agreed.

"Louisiana must call upon her sister states, those with the potential and capability to aid this great nation in her battle for survival," Bonnacerrere said.

Hobby and Bonnacerrere testified Monday as the Federal Energy Administration opened the seventh of 10 regional hearings on Project Independence's objective of reasonable energy self-sufficiency.

The hearing continues through Friday.

D. H. Fowler, the FEA regional administrator, said the five-state area of Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma and New Mexico produced 88 per cent of the nation's natural gas in 1973. He said Louisiana sends 77 per cent of its gas into interstate commerce, Texas 51 per cent.

Bonnacerrere said no state has been as generous as Louisiana in sharing its vast natural resources with other states.

"But her treasure is dwindling rapidly," he said. "No longer can Louisiana afford to export so much of her life blood out-of-state. Not that she doesn't want to, it's just that there isn't much more to share. But Louisiana does have a treasure of experience and know-how which it is more than willing to share."

Hobby said contingency plans must be developed to assure distribution of supplies across the nation during the shortages.

"Such planning, however, should include the proviso that we are making a total national effort to provide domestic supplies," he said.

"Forty-four states cannot expect to drain a mere handful of states of their resources while making no effort to develop their own potential, to build refineries and pipelines, to drill in their coastal waters, to mine their coal."

Hobby said Project Independence must be a national commitment by all sectors to be more energy conscious, more energy productive, more energy efficient.

"This effort requires the dedication of the entire nation, the federal government, all 50 state governments, business, la-

Storm Fifi Grows To Third Hurricane

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Fifi has become the season's third hurricane with sustained winds of 75 miles per hour, forecasters said today.

Most of the heavy rain was located over water, the Hurricane Center said, but warned that locally heavy showers could bring flooding to Jamaica, the Cayman Islands and eastern Cuba.

The first hurricane of the season, Becky, swirled harmlessly into the open Atlantic near the end of August. Last week, Hurricane Carmen smashed into the Louisiana Gulf Coast before dying over Texas.

Fifi has slowed to a forward speed of 10 m.p.h. while rapidly increasing to minimal hurricane strength, forecasters said. It was earlier predicted that Fifi would remain a tropical storm until tonight.

The projected track of the hurricane should take it a short distance north of Swan Island, forecasters said. However they warned a slightly more southerly track could bring Fifi's eye south of the island.

Schools in Kanawaha County, W. Va., reopened today after having been closed since Friday because of violence surrounding protests over allegedly anti-religious textbooks.

In Charleston, W. vention in the affairs of other countries seemed certain to stir international controversy.

Asked about CIA action against the since-overthrown Marxist government of Chile, Ford said the United States did act "to help and assist the preservation of opposition newspapers and electronic media and to preserve opposition political parties." He went on: "I think this is in the best interests of the people of Chile, and certainly in our best interests."

In any case, he said he was "informed reliably that Communist nations spend vastly more money than we do for the same kind of purposes." And he said, "our government had no involvement whatsoever" in the coup that toppled the Chilean regime.

On other topics, Ford said: "The United States is not going to have a depression. The over-all economy of the United States is strong. Employment is still high. We do have the problem of inflation," which he said he hoped would be solved.

—Within the next few days, presumably when he addresses the United Nations General Assembly in New York on Wednesday, he hopes to announce "a very major decision" involving humanitarian food aid to other countries.

Former Midlander Dies In California

SAN JOSE, Calif. — James T. Willis, who lived in Midland during the 1940s and 1950s, died here Monday.

While in Midland, he worked for Diamond Oilwell Drilling Co.

Funeral services will be held Friday at Anadarko, Okla., with the Smith Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

persons to represent Texas Democrats at the Kansas City national convention in December where important changes in national party rules will be considered. The Kansas City delegation will include 18 delegates named in the senatorial district caucuses plus 15 at-large delegates named by the convention. The other 22 include the governor, Bentsen, and the 20 Democratic congressmen.

Vann Culp, Midland County Democratic party chairman, Monday joined in the quest for seats for county chairmen at the Kansas City national convention in December.

"The precinct chairmen and the county chairmen are elected by the people to go to the polls and vote," said Culp. "Yet when it comes to the control of the party, the state Democratic Executive Committee is elected by delegates at the state convention — as a result you get an SDEC that creates dissension within the party."

"We have some liberals who do not know the party rules, and we have conservatives who are representing public officials. I propose that you suggest to the legislature that something be done about it."

Culp said he saw no solutions. The SDEC could be elected by popular vote in each senatorial district or the county chairmen could meet and select the SDEC.

The two-day credentials committee fight that preceded the convention resulted in rejection of most of the challenges made to delegations named at May county conventions. About 300 delegates were involved.

Four special challenges from Jefferson, Brazos, El Paso and Dallas counties claiming sex discrimination because women were not given at least one-third of the delegates posts were rejected.

A coalition of liberals and followers of George Wallace were unsuccessful in challenging the regular delegation named from the Senatorial Dist. 8 in Dallas County although they alleged 31 counts of "violations of law, party rules and common decency."

However, conservatives successfully challenged a delegation from Senatorial Dist. 7 in Houston, forcing the liberals to give up 15 delegates.

Amnesty Procedure Leaves Applicants No Out, No Appeal

By MIKE SHANAHAN WASHINGTON (AP) — Once a draft evader or military deserter takes the first step toward accepting President Ford's conditional amnesty offer, there is no turning back.

He is not free to negotiate, for example, how long he will work in a public service job under the supervision of his Selective Service board.

The deserter or evader can cite reasons why he should serve fewer than the 24-month maximum length of service. But if he is unhappy with the time decided on by the local U.S. attorney or his former military service, there is no established route of appeal, and refusal to serve probably would result in prosecution for the original offense.

Call Or Write First Officials say an evader or deserter living in Canada should call or write before reporting to a U.S. attorney or his former military service. They caution that some men — no one is sure how many — might be ineligible for the program.

Instead of starting a public service job, these men might find themselves under arrest. Some might have been legally charged outside the Aug. 4, 1964, to March 28, 1973, period covered by the program. Others may be accused of crimes in addition to draft evasion or desertion.

The 4,500 evaders and deserters believed to be living in Canada have 15 days from the date they re-enter the United States until they report to a military installation (for deserters) or the U.S. attorney in the area where their draft board was located (for evaders).

The informal controls along the U.S.-Canadian border make it likely some returnees will come back without checking at U.S. Customs stations, all of which have had computerized lists of evaders and deserters since 1970.

Checkoff At Border Those who do report at the border will be checked off and handed a copy of Ford's amnesty proclamation, but in no way followed, officials say.

Once a deserter has completed his alternative service, he receives a new "clemency discharge" in place of the undesirable discharge.

Although given a clear military record, he receives no veterans benefits. His discharge carries no code identifying him as a deserter, but the Veterans Administration receives a list of persons discharged "for willful and persistent unauthorized absence."

A major objection among some evaders and deserters to amnesty conditions was a requirement for some statement of allegiance or admission of guilt.

In the program announced Monday, only deserters must sign a statement which declares their allegiance and intent.

Kissinger Asks Meeting Of Major Oil-Using Nations LONDON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has proposed a meeting of major oil consuming nations in Washington late in September to discuss the world energy crisis.

The conference at the level of foreign ministers would take place while diplomats from the governments concerned are in New York for the United Nations General Assembly, which opened today.

However, no decision on the conference has been taken because of clashing commitments by some key ministers around that time.

Britain's Foreign Secretary James Callaghan, for instance, was to make an appearance at the United Nations and then return as soon as possible to campaign in Britain's national elections, widely expected for Oct. 10.

Reason For Survival Marsupials, such as the kangaroo, have survived in Australia because it is an island continent which had no flesh-eating predators until man arrived there.

cludes a promise to "defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic." There is no mention of their crime or Vietnam.

Officials said evaders' participation in the public service program will be tantamount to a statement of allegiance to the United States.

Goodell Called Out Of Political Exile

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL WASHINGTON (AP) —

Charles E. Goodell, who tried as a senator to hasten the end of the Vietnam war, has been summoned from political exile to help Vietnam-era outcasts return to American society.

"I'm pleased to be back in a position of some influence over matters I feel very deeply about," Goodell said Monday as he set to work as chairman of the clemency review board created under President Ford's conditional amnesty program.

As an appointed senator from New York, Goodell was a leading Republican critic of war policy during the first two years of Richard M. Nixon's administration. That was one of the issues that led former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew to assail him during the 1970 campaign as a "radiclib" — a term he otherwise reserved for liberal Democrats.

Goodell had been a conservative congressman from western New York when he succeeded the slain Robert F. Kennedy. As a senator, his ideological shift caused Agnew to deride him as "the Christine Jorgensen of the Republican Party."

In 1970, Nixon endorsed Conservative Party candidate James L. Buckley, who won. A Democrat took away liberal votes. Goodell came in third.

Goodell said he took no pleasure in the undoing of his old political foes.

On With The 'Center'

The Midland City Council used good judgment in approving a planned district zoning on a 155-acre proposed shopping center and housing project in northwest Midland.

Thus the door was opened officially to Odessa developer Louis Rochester to proceed with plans for developing his Skyline Terrace Addition, which appears to be a sizeable project.

L. H. Hahn of Midland, who also had sought approval for a proposed regional shopping center in the same general area, dropped out of the shopping center race just prior to the council meeting.

The council previously had annexed into the city the site proposals of both developers, but with Hahn's withdrawal from the race, his proposed site assumes temporary single family zoning in accordance with city ordinances.

So, Rochester winds up with the council's approval to start construction "as soon as possible."

It is hoped that he will proceed without delay, and that the shopping center will assume regional proportions. Both the shopping center and the housing project are long past due from a community-need standpoint.

Platting of the Rochester tract is required by the City Council as a means of establishing definite street and housing placement guidelines, and the developer advised the council members he will be in contact with city planners in this respect during the ensuing weeks.

A four-year clause in the agreement now is in force and the shopping center, as approved by the city, has to be under construction within that length of time.

Considerable time will be required for completing overall development plans, negotiating leases for business locations, letting building contracts, providing utilities to the site, financing and other matters, but perhaps all this can be handled in much less time than the four-year limit.

Regardless, the City Council members have handled another somewhat controversial matter in a generally satisfactory manner, benefitting the community at large.

This isn't always easy, and the councilmen undoubtedly feel at times that matters of a controversial nature arise all too often—and that decisions are not always reached easily or quickly. Pressures applied by citizen groups do not as a rule make their jobs easier.

But it all goes with the positions for which they sought election—and they apparently accept it without public grumbling. Such is the life—day and night—of public officials.

'You're In On This Too, Pal!'

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson Says: Here are the confessions of a Mafia lieutenant.

WASHINGTON—We have obtained the confessions of a Mafia lieutenant, with a memory as long as his police record.

He is Eugene Ayotte, who used to be known in the Detroit underworld as "Johnny A." Now he is hiding under an assumed identity conferred upon him by the Justice Department.

He has told us about his life in the Mafia, the shadowy society to which he had sworn loyalty. It is a story of gangland loyalties and hangouts, of bizarre crimes and corrupt police.

It is also the story of murder, of men garrotted with wire and encased in concrete. At least one victim, according to Johnny A., wound up in a Detroit freeway. Thereafter, Mafia men would say of a missing hood, with grisly humor, that "he's part of the freeway."

Like the late Joe Valachi whose Mafia confessions made headlines in the 1960s, Ayotte's revelations ring true. Federal prosecutors vouch for his reliability. The Senate crime files and other records verify his memory for names and details.

Johnny A. worked for the Detroit Mafia, a criminal empire that embraces everything from bookies to blackmail, narcotics to the numbers racket—virtually every enterprise that produces an illegal coin.

A council of dons rules the multimillion-dollar empire through might. They have no competition; serious rivals are either dead or intimidated. Now Ayotte is on the run from them. For the old crime lords would like to shut Ayotte up.

But Ayotte is still talking, first to the prosecutors and now to us. He remembers Anthony J. Zerilli, identified by the Justice Department as a "Big Man" in the Mafia, was a swinger with the ritziest lovenest in town.

The mob chief owned a posh restaurant with a small hidden office which opened on a luxurious suite, complete with two bedrooms, a bar, "beautiful carpet and furniture, colored telephones, the works."

Both bedrooms, according to Johnny A., "had round beds, beautiful, and mirrors, all around, even the ceiling. It looked like Tony Zerilli was a little weird. I liked to watch himself with the broads. From inside or outside, you couldn't even tell the place was there. Only the top (Mafia men) would be allowed in."

Love and death sometimes went together. Ayotte tells of a Mafia punk, named Ubia "Roy" Calabrese, who made a mistake in recruiting a prostitute. He introduced the girl to drugs and then "put her out on the street."

"Wired Him Up" Unhappily for Calabrese, she was the daughter of a Mafia section leader. Two men grabbed Calabrese, "wired him up"—the Mafia term for garrotting—and left him in the trunk of an abandoned car. As the final gesture, a pig was trussed and strangled, and then delivered to one of Calabrese's hangouts.

"This was a warning to anyone who knew who killed Calabrese not to squeal," explained Johnny A. "I knew Roy. I used to drink with him at the Falcon Street Show" switched sides, he still chuckles over how Secret Service agents overlooked evidence right under their noses when they arrested Joe Yoppolo, a prominent Toledo gangster otherwise known as "Big Joe Yap," on counterfeiting charges.

Ayotte happened to be on the phone to Yoppolo while the feds were searching his premises. Afterwards, Big Joe Yap told him the agents missed a stolen $1,000 bond in plain view on the china cupboard and a heisted, full-length sable coat in the front closet. "That sable stood out like a sore thumb," grinned Yoppolo, according to Ayotte.

Like a character from an old George Raft movie, Johnny A. told us his story—an insider's eye view of a nationwide criminal conspiracy that drains billions of dollars a year from the public.

Economy Bows To Mickey Mouse Rules

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Economic recovery and the control of inflation are more difficult because Congress has legislated so many crippling restrictions on trade, production, sales and transportation.

These have lowered competition, forced higher prices, increased shortages and impaired service.

In the main, these barriers have been created at the insistence of one special-interest group or another. Campaign contributions have been the effective leverage used by some of those groups.

In other cases, Congress considered only the effect of the legislation on the petitioners concerned without taking into account what the new laws would do to other farmers or industries, to the consumer or to the health of the economy. In some cases the laws were voted to protect weak industries which are now strong or to prevent unfair competition from abroad when raw materials now scarce were in overabundance.

Dozens, perhaps hundreds, of these laws and regulations are now counterproductive. That is, they do more harm than good to the economy, to the consumer and frequently even to the groups they were designed to assist or protect.

Complicated, frequently meaningless regulations, including route restrictions, govern the trucking industry, keeping prices perhaps 20 per cent higher than they need be.

Railroads have almost as much trouble lowering rates as they do in raising them. The red tape and time involved in getting government approval for cutting costs and for eliminating outmoded ways of delivering goods by rail keeps hundreds of bureaucrats employed.

Outdated air rules unconnected with safety prevent the competition that could slash air passenger fares.

Quotas limit the import of products badly needed in this time of scarcity. Embargoes limit other imports, uranium for one and some types of food. Other rules hamper the domestic interstate shipment of some products to keep prices up. There are even some production quotas still on the books.

The Congress-voted monopoly position of the post office makes shipment of some mail and packages more expensive than need be.

Laws against interstate banking make efficient service difficult. The ceiling on what savings and loan associations pay those who put their money in these institutions is so low the solvency of many is endangered. The low rates discourage depositors and prevent the growth of capital needed to finance the lagging housing industry.

Other laws protect and encourage more work for industry and for labor, unhealthy for both. Some other less economically-harmful laws must be found to give legitimate protection and bolster rightful income.

Time and again the government has stepped in with millions of dollars of the taxpayer's money to bail out one group, an industry, company or another—at an accumulated cost of billions.

DELTA IS CRUMBLING—Steady Communist Gains Seen In South Vietnam

SAIGON (LENS)—The tide of war in the Mekong Delta, where more than a third of South Vietnam's population lives, has turned perceptibly against the South Vietnamese government this year. The Communists, far from being penned up in the delta's least hospitable areas in the far south, are seeping back into provinces the government thought reasonably secure a year ago.

General Nghi, the commander of the government's forces in the 16 provinces that make up the delta region, admits that he has been obliged to change his tactics. At the end of 1972 he embarked on a huge program of building outposts throughout the fertile and populated parts of the delta.

The Communist response this year has been to bring selected outposts under heavier artillery fire than ever before, using mortars, rockets and Russian wire-guided missiles of the kind used by the Arabs in the Middle East war last October. In some attacks the Communists are firing up to 200 rounds, several times more than they used in an average attack in 1973.

General Nghi has an answer, of sorts, indefensible outposts will be abandoned and their garrisons turned into mobile units—a transformation that may be easier to proclaim than to achieve. The population of the least defensible villages will be resettled in more secure places. The South Vietnamese government is not faced with imminent defeat in the delta. But it has to deal with a growing Communist presence which threatens to make nonsense of its hopes for a more settled future.

Americans who have studied the delta believe that all of an Xuyen province except the province capital and the district towns, and half of Kien Giang and Chuong Thien, are under heavy Communist influence, and that Bac Lieu is feeling the pressure.

Corporate Life Of Today Employs New Language

NEW YORK (AP)—A young man or woman entering corporate life today needs to learn a new language.

That's the advice of Herbert D. Bissell, former executive of several major corporations.

He cites many examples in his new book, "Big Business—Your Life Within It." One example of the language oriel, as Bissell calls it, might go something like this:

"Management wants a new readout on your dog-and-pony show for profit center. At this point in time they feel the need to massage the memo to get more mileage out of cash flow with more than 70,000 then—so that G & A will maintain they are slowly growing. Each province has been ordered to recruit one local Vietcong battalion this year, and more than 4,000 North Vietnamese troops have come into the area so far this year.

The only Vietcong regiment operating in the delta at the moment, based on Kien Hoa province, was recently strengthened by 200 young northerners. The result is showing. The Americans estimate that only 2 per cent of the people living in the delta are solidly under Communist control, but it is admitted that the bottom line." Translation: "Rework your presentation for management's consideration and give particular attention to holding northern administrative expense. BUT APPARENTLY FEW INQUIRIES—

Proposal Creates Storm Of Controversy

By W. ROBERT WELLES
Associated Press Writer
President Ford's limited amnesty plan has created a storm of controversy but apparently has drawn few inquiries from draft evaders or deserters and no early confirmed reports of any takers.

The Justice Department said 19 persons identifying themselves as evaders or deserters called seeking information during the first 12 hours after amnesty was announced.

Spokeswoman Gloria C. Brown said some of the calls came from persons in Canada who said they had no money for transportation to a U.S. attorney's office.

She added that five department employees will handle amnesty inquiries.

Initial reaction to the proposal was predictable. War resisters said it didn't go far enough and veterans groups said it went too far.

Draft evaders and deserters living in exile called the proposal unacceptable because it implied guilt on the part of those who had spurned involvement in what they viewed as an immoral war.

Veterans groups and some relatives of Vietnam casualties were just as vehement in their opposition, calling it a betrayal of those who had fought and died in Southeast Asia.

The plan probably received its warmest reception in Congress, where several key leaders endorsed it.

Former Houston Officers Acquitted

HOUSTON (AP) — Former Houston narcotics officers Douglas W. Albert and Bernard D. Jackson have been acquitted of theft charges.

A district court jury found them innocent Monday after deliberating only one hour at the end of a seven-day trial.

Jackson and Albert had been accused of stealing about $9,000 from suspected marijuana dealers after a July 25, 1972 raid which netted 80 pounds of marijuana.

The two officers had been relieved of duty since their indictments last January.

Autopsy Ordered To Identify Body

ANGLETON, Tex. (AP) — An autopsy has been ordered in an effort to identify the body of a man found near the Galveston-Brazoria County line.

A Brazoria County sheriff's spokesman said the body was found Sunday about 50 yards off Farm Road 2004 on a narrow trail. A car was parked nearby.

machinery to grant conditional amnesty to Vietnam-era draft evaders and deserters if they reaffirm their allegiance to the United States by Jan. 31, 1975, and work up to 24 months in low-paying public service jobs.

He also indicated that persons serving prison sentences for draft evasion or desertion would be released pending decisions on their cases by an amnesty clemency board.

In Canada, the most popular haven for the 12,500 deserters and 4,000 fugitive draft evaders, there apparently was little interest in accepting the offer of amnesty.

The reception in Sweden, where about 400 draft evaders and deserters live, also was cool.

George Meals, a deserter from Atlanta, said, "Amnesty means forgiving. This isn't really amnesty at all. In the spirit of the law, we did nothing wrong. Not in the context of that war."

Someone Swipes Justice's Gavel

HOUSTON (AP) — Justice of the Peace Kenneth Pacetti doesn't have his gavel any more.

He thinks maybe someone stole it.

Pacetti said he left it on the bench in his unlocked courtroom Friday on the third floor of the Criminal Courts building. It was gone Monday morning.

Dow Tells Plans For New Project

HOUSTON (AP) — Plans to build a 200,000-barrels a day oil processing plant adjacent to its Oyster Creek Division at Freeport have been announced by Dow Chemical USA.

Dow said Monday the target date for completion of the first phase of the $200 million project is the second half of 1977.

J. M. Leathers, Dow executive vice president, said the facility will not produce gasoline.

"The crude oil processing plant will produce chemical feedstocks and fuel alternates for our Gulf Coast operations," he said.

Products will include naphtha and distillate and heavy fuel oils.

Several congressional leaders voiced support for the plan, including House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., and Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont.

tally? What of the men who were killed?"

The Rev. Lawrence Murphy of Dalton, Ga., whose son, Army Capt. Larron D. Murphy, was declared missing in action in 1970, said, "I don't feel that it's exactly right to hold a grudge... I would say give them an opportunity to redeem themselves."

But leaders of veterans groups blasted the proposal. John J. Stang, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said Ford's action "does a gross injustice to those who served honorably, those who died and received wounds, and those who were for so long imprisoned."

Several congressional leaders voiced support for the plan, including House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., and Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont.

REJECTS FORD'S AMENSTY PLAN—Gerry Condon, 27, managing editor of AMEX-Canada magazine, said in Toronto Monday that President Ford's amnesty plan is "unfair and unpalatable." The former Green Beret and resident of San Mateo, Calif., said that groups across Canada and in Europe were "virtually unanimous" in rejecting the proposal. (AP Wirephoto.)

Draft Dodgers, Deserters Say Few Will Accept Amnesty Plan

TORONTO (AP) — Deserters and draft dodgers in exile in Canada say few of their number will accept President Ford's terms of clemency and return to the United States. Organized groups are urging a boycott.

"There is a lot of pressure from families and some have personal reasons for wanting to return, so it's possible that some will," said Gerry Condon, 27, managing editor of AMEX-Canada, a magazine published here by Vietnam war draft resisters and deserters.

"But it's a bitter pill to swallow... I expect very few people will go back." Condon and Charlie Stimac, 25, a member of the AMEX staff, announced the boycott on Monday, a few hours after Ford offered clemency to all Vietnam-era deserters and draft-dodgers who agreed to work at public service jobs "promoting national health, safety or interest" upon their return.

The White House said the work period would vary case by case up to a maximum of 24 months, depending on military records and "other mitigating factors."

Pay would compare to military pay. Those entering the program would be required to acknowledge allegiance to the United States.

"We're asking those in exile and underground to boycott this however they see fit, by remaining in exile, staying underground, going back and publicly challenging re-entry, by refusing to do service, and perhaps some things we haven't come up with yet," said Condon, a lanky deserter from the Green Berets who spent two years in Sweden before coming here in 1972.

Stimac, a draft resister from Detroit who runs a furnace in a Toronto brass and copper plant, said exile groups across Canada and in Britain, Sweden and France had agreed to reject Ford's plan — and to urge the boycott. Stimac said representatives of these groups would meet here over the weekend to discuss the plan and other ways to resist it.

The U.S. government says Vietnam-era deserters still at large number about 12,500. It numbers fugitive draft evaders at 4,000 and says 3,000 of these are in Canada.

Stimac, however, puts the number of draft and military evaders in Canada at 50,000.

Interviews with several of them across Canada showed widespread rejection of Ford's clemency proposal. Of a half dozen draft dodgers and deserters polled here, not one was planning to accept the terms — and not one knew of anyone else who intended to, either.

"It is too much to ask that we accept punishment for justified resistance to the illegal and immoral U.S. war in Indochina, which still rages with American dollars in violation of U.S. and international law," said Jack Calhoun, 29, a deserter from Philadelphia.

Husband Charged At Plano

PLANO, Tex. (AP) — A warrant has been issued for the husband of a 34-year-old bakery worker whose highly decomposed body was found along with those of her two teenage stepchildren in their home.

Donald Allison, 30, is being sought by Collin County officials for questioning about the apparent homicides. Collin County Justice of the Peace Jack Cope issued a warrant for Allison's arrest.

Last Seen Sept. 8
Allison's wife, Juanita, and the teenagers, two of the family's four stepchildren, were last seen alive Sunday, Sept. 8.

Mrs. Shirley Allison, the suspect's mother, said Allison and his wife left their 3-year-old daughter and 6-year-old son with her in Richardson last Sunday as the family prepared for a trip to East Texas to close a land deal, the proceeds of which were to go for a larger home.

Mrs. Allison made the discovery at the East Plano residence about 9 p.m. Sunday when she went to get more clothing for the children she had been keeping for a week, entered through a window, encountered a stench and called police.

Officers Find Bodies
Officers arriving minutes later found the bodies of Mrs. Allison, and Robert Schafer, 14, on a bed. The body of Dena D. Mordecai, 15, was found on the floor nearby.

Articles of clothing were found scattered about the room, and the bodies were partially undressed, according to Plano Deputy Police Chief Alton Kinzey.

The detective discounted motives of burglary or robbery and said nothing could be found missing.

"I think they're going to find him dead I've just got that feeling," Mrs. Allison said of her son. Nothing here adds up at all."

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 17, the 260th day of 1974. There are 105 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1787, the Constitution of the United States was completed and signed by a majority of delegates attending the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia.

On this date —
In 1665, a bubonic plague broke out in London.

In 1862, in the Civil War, Union forces hurled back a Confederate invasion of Maryland in the Battle of Antietam.

In 1939, the debut of the radio program, "Major Bowes' Amateur Hour," started a trend toward talent contests in American radio programming.

In 1939, the Soviet Union invaded Poland in World War II.

In 1967, U.S. Air Force jets attacked a highway bridge in North Vietnam only seven miles from the China border.

In 1970, open warfare broke out in Jordan between King Hussein's army and Palestinian guerrillas.

Ten years ago, The United States disclosed development of two weapons systems capable of intercepting and destroying armed satellites circling the earth in space.

Five years ago, Preparations were being made to withdraw 35,000 more American troops from South Vietnam before the end of the year.

One year ago, Sextuplets were born to a 34-year-old Lakewood, Colo. woman who had been taking fertility drugs.

Today's birthdays: Ballet choreographer and director Frederic Ushon is 68. General Motors President Edward Cole is 65.

Thought for today: Public sentiment is everything. With public sentiment, nothing can fail; without it, nothing can succeed — President Abraham Lincoln, 1809-1865.

Judge Frees Indian Pair, Blasts FBI

By JOHN LUNDQUIST
ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — American Indian Movement leaders Dennis Banks and Russell Means have won dismissals in the major test case of the 71-day Wounded Knee occupation, although the federal government may appeal the decision.

But Means and Banks weren't worried about an appeal as Banks stood on a table in a plush hotel room, balancing a cake in each hand Monday night.

One of the cakes bore the letters "FBI" before Banks slammed it on the checkered carpet.

200 Attend Celebration
The scene was a stark contrast to the dusty, flat grazing land of the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation in South Dakota where AIM members and sympathizers resisted U.S. marshals in the spring of 1973.

About 200 persons, half of them white, celebrated with the two AIM leaders, including four jurors who had earlier said they would have voted to acquit the pair if they'd had the chance.

But in a slashing attack on "government misconduct," U.S. District Judge Fred Nichol dismissed the charges against Banks, 42, St. Paul, and Means, 35, Porcupine, S.D., ending the eight-month trial.

'Bad Year For Justice'
Nichol said at one point, "This has been a bad year for justice. I would like to see a new chapter written with a new president. But I'm afraid that isn't so."

He acted after the Justice Department refused to allow jury deliberations to continue after one juror, Mrs. Therese Cherrier, suffered a stroke which left her partially paralyzed.

Federal court procedure requires the approval of both sides before a jury may continue deliberations with one or more jurors missing.

The defendants had hoped for an acquittal to pave the way for wiping out charges against all other Wounded Knee defendants, now numbering about 90.

Key Takeover Figures
The two AIM leaders were tagged by federal prosecutors as the key figures in a seven-man leadership that allegedly steered the armed takeover of the historic South Dakota hamlet last year.

Five jurors said after the dismissal that they felt there wasn't enough evidence to convict Means and Banks and they would have voted for acquittal on all counts. Three others said it was possible the government would not have reached agreement on at least one of the three assault charges.

Nichol stopped short of acquittal. Instead, his dismissal allows the government to appeal within 30 days.

Nichol blistered the FBI, the Justice Department and prosecutors in a one-hour denunciation.

Eight-Month Trial
The eight-month trial far outran the 71-day occupation of the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation village last year, when the AIM said it was protesting what it called terrible neglect of Indian problems.

Nichol rapped the FBI for its handling of a government rebuttal witness.

The judge charged that in keeping witness Louis Moves Camp in protective custody, two FBI agents put him up in a "plush resort" near Hudson, Wis., "let him have all the liquor he wanted and they were doing a pretty fair job of trying to keep up with him."

A Justice Department spokesman in Washington said it was not immediately clear how the dismissal of charges against the two AIM leaders would affect further Wounded Knee prosecutions.

Nation's Skies Mostly Clear

Continuing showers caused more flooding in some low areas of Texas today, and there also were showers in New Mexico, the Mississippi Valley and Great Lakes area.

Skies were clear in most other parts of the nation. Cool temperatures brought fog to parts of the Midwest.

Hopes For Letup In Tight Money Prompt Mart Gain

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rallied on Tuesday, following a sharp drop on Monday, as investors bet on a loosening of tight money.

The American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was up .66 to 63.81.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up 15.60 to 665.20, and gains held a 7-point 5-to-1 advantage over losses on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers noted that such short-term money market investments as Treasury bills had shown a sharp drop in yields in the past couple of days. In Montreal today, David Rockefeller, chairman of New York's Chase Manhattan Corp., said banks' prime lending rate could come down to its present 12 per cent level to as low as 10 per cent by year-end if the trend continues.

Homestake Mining was the most active NYSE issue, down 4 1/2 to 38 1/2 as gold stocks de-

Price Up, Supply Down

Alan Radin of the American Public Power Association said that the price of coal, the principal fuel used to generate power, has gone up by 62 per cent in recent years and some coal companies have had profits of up to 84 per cent.

And yet, he said, coal production has dropped significantly.

"We see no alternative but some type of control on fuel prices," he said, "or a more vigorous enforcement of anti-trust laws."

A. J. Wagner, director and chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority, said the coal shortage is so severe that "we face a strong possibility of a power curtailment this winter simply because of a shortage of coal."

Coal generates 80 per cent of the TVA power, he said, and the price for a ton of the fuel has soared from $3.45 in 1962 to $28 now.

Takeover Demand Possible

"I don't believe the American people will hold still for the profits that are involved here," he said. "If it's not controlled, the American people will demand a takeover of the energy industry."

E. B. Leisenring Jr. of the Westmoreland Coal Co. said that when the high profit reports from the coal companies are announced later this year, he hoped the public would realize "the coal industry over the last 25 years had a return to investment of less than 5 per cent."

He said coal mining costs have doubled in 10 years and until last year seven of the 10 top coal companies were losing money.

Delegates to the conference also blamed inflation on environmental quality legislation, government spending and general "high living" by the American society.

Air, Water Laws

Charles Luce, president of Consolidated Edison Co. of New York, said that "air and water laws should be looked at closely as to the cost to the con-

No Depression, President Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has assured Americans the nation's economy is not headed for a depression, despite steep inflation and sagging industrial production.

He promised at his news conference Monday night new measures "to make sure that our economy improves in the months ahead," but he did not outline them.

"Let me say very strongly that the United States is not going to have a depression," Ford asserted. The over-all economy is strong and employment remains high, he said.

"We do have the problems of inflation. We do have related problems and we're going to come up with some answers that I hope will solve these problems," Ford said.

"We are going to work to make sure that our economy improves in the months ahead," he added.

Statistics support the view that the United States is nowhere near a depression now. Economists regard a depression as a period of low economic activity marked by mass unemployment, deflation, a decreasing use of resources and a low level of investment.

In 1933, the worst of the depression years, there were 14 million Americans out of work, about 25 per cent of the labor force.

By contrast, there were 49 million Americans unable to find jobs last month, representing 5.4 per cent of the labor force.

While industrial production is off this year, it still is only 1.8 per cent below the peak output in November of last year. And the economy shows no hint of deflation, a condition of falling prices.

Nevertheless, the nation's top labor leaders warned Ford last week that the government's current anti-inflation policies of tight credit and restrained federal spending could plunge the country into a deep recession.

But administration economic advisers have maintained these policies are necessary to control inflation over the long-run, even if they produce short-term difficulties.

Gen. Haig's New Job Sensitive Military, Diplomatic Position

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Alexander M. Haig's departure from the White House will take him out of the line of political fire at home and place him in a sensitive military-diplomatic post in Europe.

The White House announced Monday that Haig will be recalled to active duty in the Army and assigned the twin jobs of commander of 300,000 U.S. troops in Europe and supreme commander of North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces there.

The announcement followed formal approval by the NATO defense planning committee in Brussels.

Haig will succeed retiring Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster as commander of U.S. troops in Europe on Nov. 1 and as NATO commander on Dec. 15, shortly after his 50th birthday.

Haig spent most of the past 5 1/2 years at the White House as a top aide to Henry A. Kissinger, who was then Nixon's national security adviser.

In the months before Nixon resigned, Haig drew criticism for his sometimes passionate defense of the president.

After Gerald R. Ford became President, there were reports of tension between Ford's staff and Haig and his aides.

Like his predecessors, Haig probably will delegate day-to-day functions as commander of U.S. forces in Europe to a deputy, currently Air Force Gen. George J. Eade, in Stuttgart, Germany.

That will leave Haig free for the demanding job of supreme NATO commander, which experts say requires diplomacy, persuasion and great tact to maintain harmony among the many national military leaders in the alliance.

Haig's rise in Army rank was meteoric. He came to the White House as a colonel in 1969, was soon promoted to brigadier general and then to major general. After only six months in a major general's post in Brussels, he was promoted to full general.

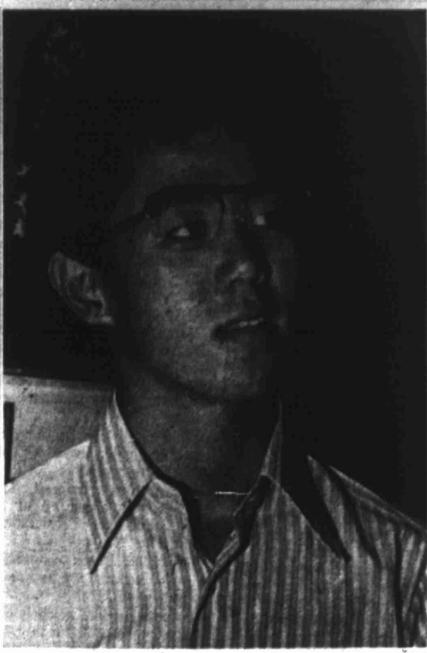

Nixon's decision to promote Haig to Army vice chief of staff on Nov. 1 and as NATO commander on Dec. 15, shortly after his 50th birthday, caused resentment in the officer corps. But this irritation ebbed when Haig was recalled to the White House after five months. He then retired from the service.

In the months before Nixon resigned, Haig drew criticism for his sometimes passionate defense of the president.

After Gerald R. Ford became President, there were reports of tension between Ford's staff and Haig and his aides.

Like his predecessors, Haig probably will delegate day-to-day functions as commander of U.S. forces in Europe to a deputy, currently Air Force Gen. George J. Eade, in Stuttgart, Germany.

Youth For Understanding Student From Japan Says Everything Here Is Big

By LUANNA CROW

Almost everything about the American Southwest tends to be characterized wide-open and sprawling, and Yoichiro (Yo) Fujiwara seems to agree with the implication.

Midland High Schools' Youth For Understanding (YFU) student from Osaka, Japan, has observed, "Everything here is big."

"Every house is so big and each house has many lands," he noted, referring to the Tall City laws. Fujiwara said structures in his native Japan are usually crowded together, explaining that "the price of land is very expensive."

The MHS exchange student said before arriving in West Texas he didn't expect so many buildings and had envisioned, instead, "a lot of oil wells."

Fujiwara, who is enrolled in the senior level curriculum, is spending his year in the United States with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McCleskey and their son Robert who reside at 1600 Shell St. His American "brother" is also an MHS senior.

"I think the people are very friendly," he said of the Midlanders he has met since arriving here Aug. 19.

Fujiwara also says of his classes, "Everything is good." He particularly enjoys his typing class, pointing out that typing is not offered in the school curriculum in Japan.

He favors the size of his classes here, which he reports as having 20-30 students each. The estimated 40 persons in Japanese classes are "too many."

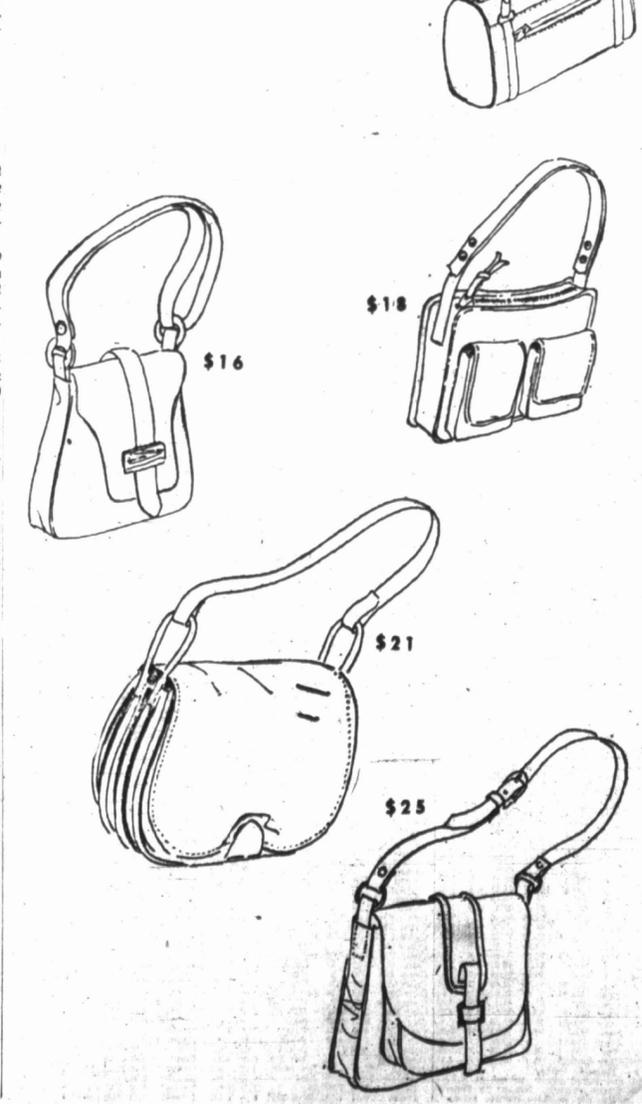

In his school in Osaka, Fujiwara attends classes six days a week, studying 15 different required subjects. "There are usually six classes in a day, but four on Saturday," he explained.

Among the subjects he and his classmates study is English, and Fujiwara's father, in fact, is an English teacher. MHS's exchange student said, however, "It is very hard speaking

PANEL TO STUDY REPORT— Ford Confirms CIA's Acts Against Allende

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has confirmed that the CIA acted against former Chilean President Salvador Allende as a Senate committee considers whether to pursue charges it was misled about those activities.

A Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee staff report recommends action against former CIA Director Richard M. Helms and three other officials for sworn testimony minimizing the CIA activity, congressional sources say. The report was scheduled for consideration by the full committee today.

There were conflicting accounts whether the report recommends perjury investigations, contempt of Congress charges or some combination of the two.

The report also was said to be critical of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger for testifying there was no U.S. involvement in the bloody coup in which Allende died last year, but saying nothing about the previous CIA activity.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, chairman of the subcommittee for which the report was prepared, refused to give details but said the full committee would take up both the propriety of the CIA activities and officials' truthfulness about them.

"Sworn testimony before my subcommittee was at variance with what has been disclosed," Church said in a telephone interview Monday night.

"We now learn there is no difference between American policy and Soviet policy in subverting foreign governments," he said. "I had always thought the United States stood for different principles."

Ford said at his news conference Monday night there is no doubt in his mind that there was no U.S. involvement in Chile's coup. But he confirmed that the CIA supported Allende's opposition in the 1970 elections.

"It is a recognized fact that historically, as well as presently, such actions are taken in the best interest of the countries involved," the President said.

Ford said he would not judge whether such activity is permitted by international law.

He said he was reliably informed that Communist countries "spend vastly more money than we do for the same kind of purposes."

Ford said the CIA activity was in response to what he said was an effort by Allende, a Marxist, "to destroy opposition news media, both the writing press as well as the electronic press, and to destroy opposition political parties."

"The effort that was made in this case," Ford said, "was to help and assist the preservation of opposition newspapers and the electronic media and to preserve opposition political parties."

"I think this is in the best interests of the people in Chile, and certainly in our best interests," Ford said.

Ford said he will meet with congressional committees on whether they want any changes so that Congress as well as the President are fully informed and included in reviewing such covert operations.

Sgt. Fred Penix Recent Graduate Of FBI Academy

Sgt. Fred F. Penix, a 10-year veteran of the Midland Police Department, graduated recently from an extensive 12-week program of law enforcement training at the FBI National Academy in Quantico, Va.

Penix said, "I learned a great deal at the National Academy, both in the classroom and in sessions after hours with other law enforcement students."

The academy provides training for a wide range of law enforcement related subjects. More than 8,000 policemen from throughout the free world have successfully completed the course. The National Academy is housed in a modern complex 40 miles south of Washington, D.C.

Penix studied management, behavioral and forensic sciences along with his classwork in law, education and law enforcement arts. He received 16 hours of undergraduate credit in completing the course work, which included a rigorous physical training program.

Penix is now a member of the National Academy Associates, an organization of NA graduates, nearly 5,000 of whom are still active in law enforcement.

Rancher Dies In Air Crash

RUIDOSO, N.M. (AP) — A southern New Mexico rancher died Monday when his single-engine airplane crashed near his ranch in the Corona area, Lincoln County sheriff's officers said.

He was Holt Lovelace, 38. Officers said Lovelace was flying alone to Plainview, Tex., when he apparently encountered fog and decided to return to his ranch.

The crash occurred about 12 miles northeast of the Lovelace ranch, which is 15 miles south of Corona.

No attacking power has ever invaded Japan because of its unique island location.

Foreman Cut Eye Serious

By JOHN VINOGRU
NEW YORK (AP) — The George Foreman-Muhammad Ali heavyweight championship fight has been postponed until either Oct. 23 or Oct. 26, the fight promoters announced today.

Three butterfly bandages, a kind of adhesive that binds layers of skin together, were used to close the wound, he said. There were no stitches taken in the horizontal gash which is located between Foreman's right eye and his eyebrow.

Because of on-coming competition of the baseball World Series and the football season in the United States, there were a series of problems to resolve to assure that the closed circuit broadcast of the fight, its main revenue source, would be protected.

Bill Kaplan, Foreman's press spokesman, declined any comment on the fighter's condition. "George is trying to stay loose and to relax. His mood is very good, considering," Kaplan said.

He said Foreman was trying to call friends and his parents in the United States to reassure them about his condition. The cut, which was clean and looked as if it had been inflicted by a razor, came Monday afternoon during a sparring session on a blow that was either a misplaced elbow or a well directed jab.

The sparring partner was Bill McMurray. Ali said, "He's (McMurray) going to go down in history with the guy who shot Lincoln."

A group of Zaire physicians visited Foreman today, but the bandages over the wound were not removed.

Foreman's own physician, Dr. Peter Hacker, said the champion was not experiencing any discomfort.

Courageous Nears Cup

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—The challenge for the America's Cup reached a climax today. If the Australians don't gain their first victory in the 1974 best-of-seven series, it will be all over and the United States will have made another successful defense in four straight races.

But win or lose, Alan Bond, owner of the Aussie's 12-meter Southern Cross, vows he will be back again.

Southern Cross lost its third race to Courageous, the U.S. yacht, on Monday.

"If we lose tomorrow," Bond said at the post-race news conference, "I assure you it will not be the last time you see us."

Bond said he would like to be given access "to the same sails and other materials" which the American boat is using.

The rules say both challenger and defender can use similar materials but the sails themselves must be made in their own country.

Courageous is using many sails from the lofts of Ted Hood, her skipper, and most yachting observers say they are cut better and give the boat the little advantage which enables her to gain time on each of the six legs of the 24.3-mile course on Rhode Island Sound.

Houston Texans Listed As Financially Critical

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Post says sources close to the team report the Houston Texans are on the WFL's financial team's bills over to the league office 19 days ago with the understanding the club would be sold within 30 days.

However, the Post said it had learned that Arnold failed to sign the agreement and will not guarantee the club's sale within the required period, which is to expire Sept. 27.

Arnold, the Post quoted its sources as saying, has told the league he no longer can afford to pour his personal finances into the Texans' operation, reported to have a $200,000 debt plus a $1.5 million yearly player payroll.

Arnold, lawyer, could not be reached for comment.

The league will meet the Houston's Donnie McGraw ran the month of September, the sources said.

The Texans, losers of three straight games and five of their last seven, have attracted only 20,000 to the Astrodome for their last two home games. The crowd of 9,900 a week ago was the smallest football gathering in the Astrodome's history.

There have been reports that the Texans would move to Shreveport, La.

However, the Post said its sources knew of no concrete plans to move the team.

"People within the organization don't feel as though they have paid their debts to the city," one source said. "They feel the team belongs in Houston, but it needs a committed local owner who is willing to pay the price."

Conover Spoon Feeds Kindergarten Crew

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
HOUSTON (AP) — Coach Al Conover went back to spoon feeding his self-proclaimed kindergarten offense today after it crawled for only 56 yards in total offense against Houston.

"When you have so many young kids as we do, there's a shaking in his boots and a sophomores quarterback doing the same thing and that produced a 21-0 loss to the 19th ranked Cougars. You go out there with 11 sophomores and each one is going to make his mistakes," Conover said.

Rice's biggest error was committed early in the first quarter when quarterback Tommy Kramer fumbled on the Houston 10-yard line shortly before Houston's Donnie McGraw ran 91 yards for the Cougars' first score.

"We had a sophomore center in his boots and a sophomore quarterback doing the same thing and that produced a 21-0 loss to the 19th ranked Cougars. You go out there with 11 sophomores and each one is going to make his mistakes," Conover said.

Conover praised the performance of Owl nose guard Cornelius Walker, who had 16 tackles against the Cougars, including two quarterback sacks, last year with 44 yards in total offense.

"We're just a little bit away from being a good defensive team," Conover told the Rice Quarterback Club "But our offense has a long way to go."

Steele Aces Hole

Jack Steele produced a hole in one at the Midland Country Club Monday. The shot came on the eighth hole, playing 191 yards, with a four iron. Steele was playing with Boley Embrey, Texas, Texas Tech and Louisiana State.
