North Scurry Ellenburger Strike Finals

Scurry County gained an Ellenburger discovery with completion of Marshall R. Young Oil Co., Fort Worth, No. 1 Vernon B. Cox, 15 miles north of Snyder.

It gauged a daily pumping potential of 33.1 barrels of 40.9-gravity oil and 19 barrels of water. Gas-oil ratio was 181-1.

Production was through perforations at 8,036-8,042 feet, and from open hole at 8,068 feet, where 5 1/2-inch casing is seated, and 8,090 feet, total depth. The producing section had been acidized with 13,000 gallons.

The following tops were reported, under ground elevation of 2,496 feet: Gloriaeta, 2,590; Wichita-Albany, 3,580 and Wolfcamp, 4,500 feet.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 610, block 97, H&TC survey, 1 1/2 mile south of the depleted Vernon Cox (Canyon reef) field.

Crane Sector Venture Set

Gas Producing Enterprises, Inc., Midland, plans to drill a 9,300-foot searcher in northeast Crane County, 15 miles south of Odessa. It is No. 1 W. P. Edwards Estate.

Drill site is 990 feet from north and east lines of section 22, block 43, T-4-S, T&P survey, 1/2 mile southeast of the depleted one-well Edwards, West (Canyon) field and a southwest offset to a depleted Queen discovery.

East Basin Regions Get Sites For Tests

Exploration has been planned in three counties on the east side of the Permian Basin.

R. L. Burns Corp., Dallas, plans an 8,000-foot Ellenburger venture in Irion, 12 miles southwest of Mertzon, as No. 1-B Eckert.

Location is 660 feet from most northerly north line and from most easterly west line of Mary McMillan survey 444, 3/4-mile southeast of the firm's No. 1-1160 Baker, discovery of the one-well Cal (Canyon) oil pool.

That strike was completed June 10, for 50 barrels of 38-gravity oil daily, flowing through a 16-64-inch choke and perforations at 6,961-6,997 feet, in Canyon sand pay topped at 6,956 feet. Top of the Ellenburger was picked at 7,760 feet, under kelly bushing elevation of 2,524 feet.

Schleicher Try
The Schleicher County explorer is Wesley West, Houston, No. 1 R. L. Henderson, 12 miles north of Eldorado and one mile east of production in Cody Bell (Canyon) gas field, but separated by a failure.

Drill site is 660 feet from south and 1,200 feet from west lines of section 62, block TT, TCRS survey, abstract 1637. It also is one mile north of the one-well Cody Bell, East (Canyon) field, Concho Project.

Fort Worth Production Co. of Fort Worth plans to drill a 3,000-foot prospector in Concho, six miles north of Mertzon.

Wholesale Price Spiral Slows

Increase Smallest Since Decrease In Last October

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices rose only one-tenth of a per cent last month as falling farm prices offset increases in the cost of industrial goods, the government reported today.

The modest September price rise followed near-record increases in July and August. The September increase was the smallest price advance since wholesale prices declined a tenth of a per cent last October.

Consumers still face sharp retail price hikes in the coming months, because of big wholesale price boosts during the summer.

Higher Prices Seen
Also, the drop in farm prices last month is likely to be only temporary, with adverse weather expected to drive prices higher once again.

Earlier this week, the White House predicted that food prices would continue to increase at an annual rate of 10 per cent or more over the next 18 months.

The September increase, adjusted to discount seasonal influences, works out to an annual rate of 1.2 per cent, a sharp contrast to the 46.8 per cent annual rate in August.

Costs Decline
In absolute terms, without seasonal adjustment, wholesale prices actually declined a tenth of a per cent from August to September.

Wholesale prices remained 19.7 per cent higher than a year ago with the government's Wholesale Price Index at 167.2.

Translated into dollars, that means it cost $167.20 to buy the (See PRICES Page 2A)

Britons Voting Today

LONDON (AP) — An estimated 30 million Britons are voting today to choose who will impose rigid austerity on them and how, and whether Britain's future is with the Common Market or with Washington.

Polls predicted an easy victory for Labor Prime Minister Harold Wilson over Edward Heath's Conservatives, but the polls have been dead wrong in Britain's last two elections.

The domestic choice is between Labor's assertion that the way out of Britain's economic crisis is through socialism and the Tories' stress on orthodox conservatism.

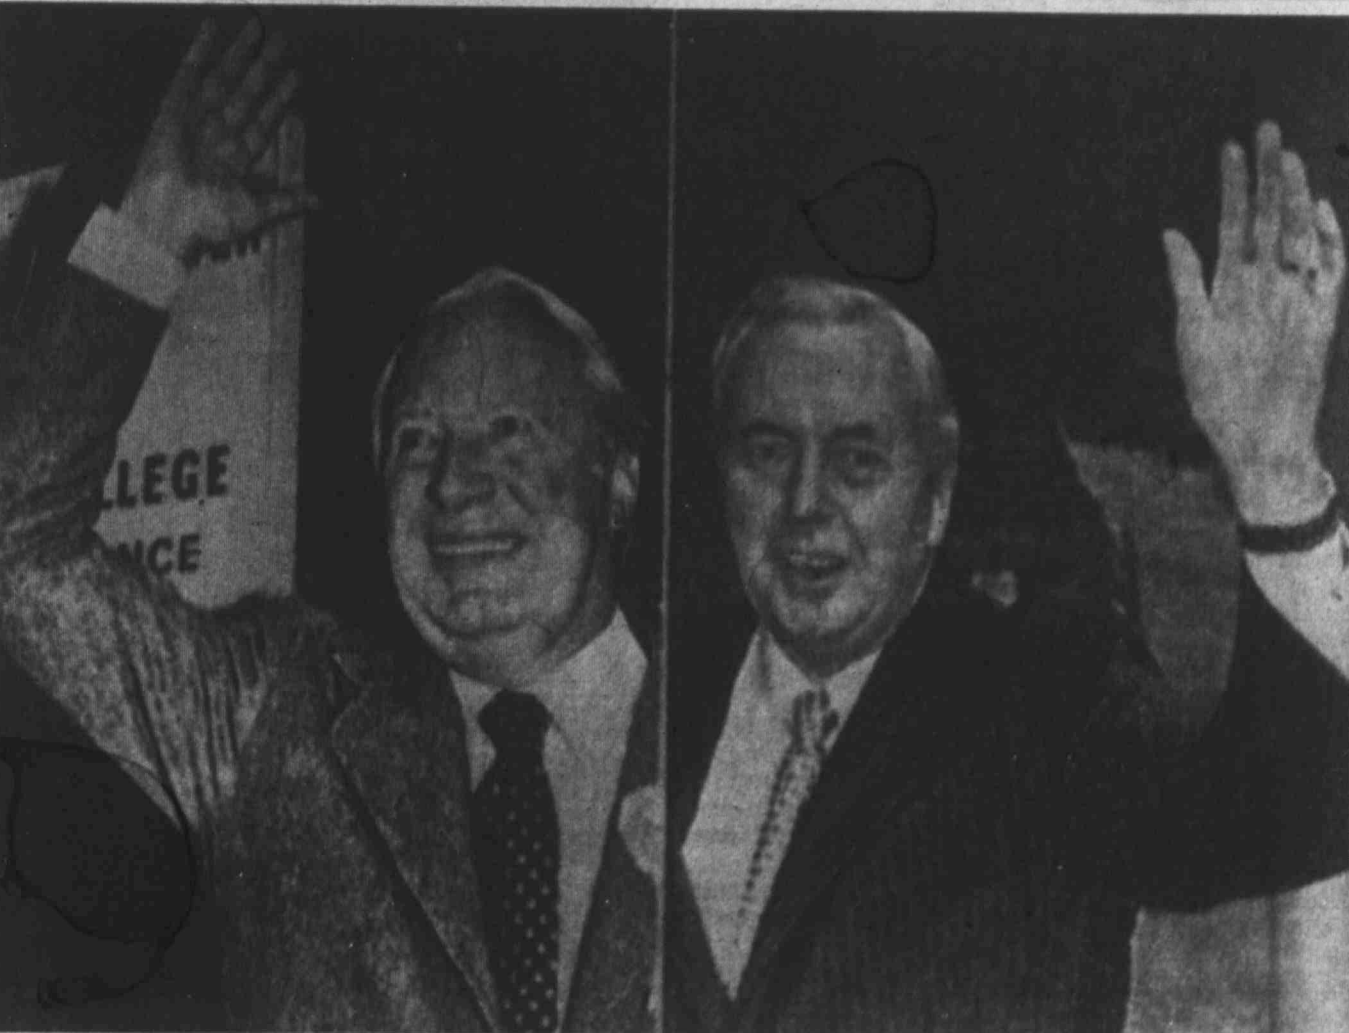

No Majority Possible
Neither choice may prove sufficiently appealing to give either party a majority in Parliament, and there have been indications of an upsurge in the strength of the Liberal party and nationalist parties in Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland.

If neither the Laborites nor the Tories win a majority, Britain may have to settle for a minority government, as it did last February.

To form a majority government, a party has to win at least 318 of the 635 seats in the House of Commons. At dissolution, Labor held 298, the Tories 296, the Liberals 15, the Ulster Unionists 10, Scottish nationalists 7, two seats were vacant and the rest were divided among splinter groups.

Parties Agree
Much of the campaign has mired in battles over statistics and in exchanges of invectives. But the parties agreed on one thing: The oil depletion allowance is ended.

Oil state forces in Congress don't want it to end at all. The House Ways and Means Committee is torn but generally wants it to end slowly. Anti-oil congressmen would like to see

Oil Issue Key To Tax Bill

By CARL C. CRAFT
WASHINGTON (AP) — Billions of dollars and the future of the entire tax revision bill are riding on the answer to one question in Congress: Should the oil depletion allowance be ended?

Oil state forces in Congress don't want it to end at all. The House Ways and Means Committee is torn but generally wants it to end slowly. Anti-oil congressmen would like to see it end quickly, retroactive to Jan. 1 of this year. Issue Important

The issue is an important one in the running tax disputes in Congress. The entire energy tax bill was blocked earlier this year in a dispute between conservatives and liberals on the Ways and Means Committee over whether, when and how to end the controversial allowance that provides a multi-billion-dollar annual tax break for oilmen.

That bill in slightly modified form is part of the comprehensive general tax revision package. With the oil tax bill aboard, the tax legislation was so close to death this year that its critics were making plans for next year's clash.

However, the President's endorsement of the chief features of the general tax revision bill as part of his new campaign for inflation-fighting taxes gave the legislation a push away from the grave. Now, however, even the fate of the new economic tax package depends on the outcome of the congressional clash over the oil depletion allowance.

One Bill Sought
Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., acting chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, wants to put everything into the one bill in a giant push for enactment this year.

In his economic message to Congress Tuesday, Ford endorsed the general tax revision bill's features that would ease capital gains taxation, would give tax relief to low and middle-income Americans, would levy a new so-called windfall profits tax on oil producers, and would take steps, as the President put it, in "closing the loopholes."

Asked at his news conference Wednesday, "Is it your own view that the oil depletion allowance should be phased out?" he replied, "The answer is yes."

Oilmen Save Taxes
The depletion allowance currently permits 22 per cent of gross income from petroleum property to be deducted from taxable income up to a top of 50 per cent of taxable net income. This allowance is estimated to save oilmen between $2 billion and $3 billion a year in federal taxes.

The Ways and Means Committee's allowance phaseout would work this way: —Generally, the 22 per cent would drop to 15 per cent for oil produced this year, 8 per cent in 1975, and zero thereafter.

—However, the rate would remain at 15 per cent until Jan. 1, 1979 — when it, too, would plunge to zero — for oil coming under any one of these three categories: The first 3,000 barrels per day of production, the so-called stripper wells or those producing up to 10 barrels of oil a day, and production from Alaska's north slope.

Move Rejected
The committee has rejected efforts by Rep. Charles A. Van der Beek (D-Texas) to exempt Alaska's north slope oil from the phaseout.

Republican gubernatorial nominee Jim Granberry sent a telegram Wednesday night to President Ford criticizing Ford's statement that he favored the phaseout of the oil depletion allowance.

"The oil operators in Texas, who are critically needed at this time to find new reserves, would be dealt a near fatal blow and domestic exploration would be irrevocably reduced, thus making this country more dependent on foreign oil and subject to ever-increasing prices," Granberry told the President.

"More incentives, not punitive measures, are needed to help this country reach the desired goal of energy independence," the GOP candidate continued.

"I applaud your forthright attempt to defeat inflation and was particularly pleased with the proposal to deregulate the price of natural gas at the wellhead," Granberry said.

"I urge you to reconsider your position and strongly support the retention or full restoration of the oil depletion allowance. It is a very important incentive of domestic exploration," said Granberry, of Lubbock.

Ford at a White House press conference Wednesday afternoon said he believes the domestic oil depletion allowance should be dropped.

Earlier in the day Treasury Secretary William Simon, the former federal energy chief, had indicated that although the administration favors several tax revision proposals currently in the House, it did not support the end to the oil depletion allowance.

Then the President, when asked directly about the issue, said the House tax bill contains a number of good features, "and it has some that I don't necessarily embrace and I am sure that Secretary Simon doesn't."

LATE NEWS FLASHES

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today sent to President Ford a bill clamping down on campaign contributions and expenditures and providing public financing of presidential races.

WASHINGTON (AP) — First lady Betty Ford, making excellent progress, will be released from the Bethesda Naval Medical Center Friday, her surgeon announced today.

Bulletin

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following statement by Ron Nessen was released in Washington at 1 p.m. today.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's chief spokesman "clarified" Ford's position on elimination of the oil depletion allowance today, saying Ford believes it would be a mistake to remove the allowance as long as the price of oil is controlled.

At a news conference Wednesday, Ford was asked "Is it your own view that the oil depletion allowance should be phased out?"

"The answer is yes," Ford responded.

But White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Thursday that, in reading the transcript of the news conference, Ford decided he had been perhaps "imprecise in his answer ... and wasn't clear as he should have been."

Nessen then stated that "as long as the price of oil continues to be controlled, the President believes that elimination of percentage depletion on domestic oil production would be a mistake."

"The President feels oil should be sold on a free market basis and he thinks many oil producers would be glad to trade percentage depletion in order to achieve the important result of a free market for oil," Nessen said.

The President's news conference statement was a follow-up to a question about the section of a pending bill which would phase out the oil depletion allowance.

The President endorsed the over-all measure before the House Ways and Means Committee saying, "I am not going to quibble with the committee in every detail. I think we have to buy a package that has far more good in it than those things I might object to."

Market Surge Is Continuing

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market surged ahead today in heavy early trading after posting its sixth biggest gain on record Wednesday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials ran up a 15-point gain to 646.75 at noon as trading ran ahead of the tape for the first hour.

Wednesday, the blue chip indicator rallied more than 28 points, the sixth largest gain on record at the New York Stock Exchange and the biggest advance since May 24, 1973, when it climbed 29.42 points.

Analysts said the market got a psychological boost from Wednesday's gains which they said caught many seasoned Wall Streeters by surprise.

The optimism was heightened today by the government's report that the wholesale price index, one indicator of inflation, rose at a slow 1.2 per cent annual gain in September, the smallest rise in 11 months.

Two more report meetings are scheduled before the finale Nov. 14.

GOP Candidates Disassociate Themselves From Surtax Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A number of Republican candidates in next month's elections have disassociated themselves from the anti-inflation surtax that President Ford contends would cost taxpayers only a few cents a day.

Criticism from GOP Senate and gubernatorial candidates came as the senior Republican on the House Ways and Means Committee, Rep. Herman T. Schneebeli, R-Pa., said he believes the fate of Ford's 5 per cent surtax proposal "rests on the American public and what they tell us when we go home." He said enactment of the surtax and the rest of his anti-inflation package could produce "a meaningful reduction in the rate of inflation" by early 1975.

Ford went to Philadelphia to boost Republican candidates Wednesday night. He told a fund-raising dinner the surtax is fair and equitable.

The American people "want to step up and do what's right. Politicians ought to do the same thing," Ford said.

But just before the President arrived, the Republican gubernatorial candidate in Pennsylvania, Drew Lewis, told reporters he opposed the surtax and suggested closing tax loopholes instead.

Surtax Denounced
And Republican Sen. Richard S. Schweiker of Pennsylvania, also up for re-election, denounced the surtax.

In Kansas, GOP Sen. Robert Dole declared that many people in the state who made $15,000 were suffering economically and "the last thing they need is an additional surtax to pay."

Governor Orders 400 Men To Police Boston Schools

By PAUL E. SCHINDLER JR. BOSTON (AP) — Gov. Francis W. Sargent ordered 400 policemen into Boston today to help local authorities quell racial violence that has increased since schools opened last month under a federal busing order.

The order came after a federal judge rejected Mayor Kevin H. White's request for 125 federal marshals to help restore order in Boston.

The mayor's office said Wednesday night that Sargent had placed 300 state police and 100 Metropolitan District police under the command of Boston Police Commissioner Robert J. diGrazia and Police Supt. Joseph Jordan.

U.S. District Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr., in turning down the request for federal aid, told White to seek aid from local law enforcement agencies.

Deputies Patrol Charleston Schools To Prevent Violence

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Sheriff's deputies began patrolling schools before dawn today, hoping to head off further violence in a textbook protest by fundamentalist ministers and their followers.

One school was dynamited before dawn Wednesday, less than 12 hours after a minister was jailed for disobeying a court order against disruptive picketing.

The books under protest include a grade school series entitled "Communicating" and several supplemental reading books for junior and senior high school pupils.

Wednesday caused damage estimated at $1,000. A fire was set at another school, where damage also was estimated at $1,000. No injuries were reported at either school.

(Continued From Page 1A) — Britain is living far beyond its means, and for at least a few more years living costs will rise and living standards will fall.

Wilson's Labor government has been essentially Atlanticist in outlook, cultivating London-Washington ties and opposing Britain's membership in the Common Market.

On the other hand, Heath's Conservatives have pledged to renew the emphasis they have always placed on Britain's ties to the European community.

Houston Pupils Pelt Police After School Drug Arrests

HOUSTON (AP) — Seven pupils were arrested on dope charges at Lee High School in southwest Houston today after narcotics officers took cover as about 100 pupils hurled bottles, rocks and sticks at them.

Navarro said Lee officials were aware of daily drug sales on the parking lot.

Charles Miller, principal of the school, acknowledged the school has a narcotics problem but said he was certain some of the persons frequenting the parking lot area were not pupils.

Army To Release Last Of Draftees

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 2,500 men who were the last draftees before the Army switched to an all-volunteer force will be home by Thanksgiving.

The Army said Wednesday it was releasing many of the men before the end of their two-year hitch because of success in meeting enlistment goals for a volunteer force in recent months.

Any draftee who volunteers to remain on duty beyond Thanksgiving will be permitted to do so, the Army said.

Senate Committee Kills House-Passed Antibusng Rider

WASHINGTON (AP) — An antibusing amendment overwhelmingly approved by the House last week has been killed by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The amendment, rejected Wednesday, would prevent the federal government from cutting off financial aid to school systems that disobey desegregation orders.

Opponents of the amendment, sponsored by Rep. Marjorie S. Holt, R-Md., argued it would nullify part of the 1964 Civil Rights Act which permits the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to enforce school desegregation.

Mills Spent Part Of Evening Drinking, Dancing Before Accident

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills spent at least part of the evening drinking, dining and dancing with friends hours before he was involved in a bizarre incident in which one of his women companions was rescued from drowning by police.

The manager of a Washington night club where the Arkansas Democrat has been a frequent patron said Mills, three women and another man were in the establishment for about three hours on Sunday night.

During that time they had dinner and drinks which cost about $80 in all and then left, according to George Bertran, 47, manager of the Junkano restaurant on fashionable Connecticut Avenue. None of the group appeared intoxicated when they left about 9:30 p.m., he said.

The whereabouts of the influential 65-year-old congressman, chairman of the tax-writing Ways and Means committee, remained a mystery between that hour and the 2 a.m. incident at the Tidal Basin near the Jefferson Memorial.

Mills himself remained in seclusion late Wednesday as the U.S. Park Police disputed a claim Mills made through aides that he was not present at the incident and knew nothing about it.

Mills is currently involved in a re-election campaign and facing his stiffest challenge in years from a woman Republican candidate.

As recounted by police, the Tidal Basin incident occurred when two officers stopped a 1973 Lincoln Continental that was traveling at an unreasonable speed with lights out at 2 a.m. Monday. Five people spilled out. The car was registered to Mills, police said.

They said one of the men identified himself to the officers as Mills and the police report, according to Franklin A. Arthur, assistant chief of the Park

Police, described this man as "intoxicated." His face was scratched and bleeding, they said.

Sen. Kennedy's Wife Is Arrested For DWI

FAIRFAX, Va. (AP) — Joan Kennedy, the wife of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has been charged with driving under the influence of alcohol after her convertible crashed into the back of an auto stopped for a traffic light.

Fairfax County police said the charge on conviction carries maximum penalties of a year in jail and a $1,000 fine, and suspension of driver's license for six months. Police said, however, that such penalties are reserved for very grave cases that usually involve injuries or fleeing the scene of the accident, circumstances that don't exist in Mrs. Kennedy's case.

Police said Mrs. Kennedy was administered a breathalyzer test, but they would not disclose the results. The charge of driving under the influence is the only charge in the state of Virginia if alcohol or drugs are found above a certain level.

Mrs. Kennedy was alone in her car driving southbound on Route 123 at about 1:45 p.m. EDT Wednesday when her auto struck another southbound vehicle at an intersection. The other vehicle, driven by Edward F. McGrath, 49, of nearby Vienna, Va., was pushed into the car ahead driven by Mrs. Carol A. Pinder, 25, also of Vienna.

All three cars sustained damages that police said totaled around $1,400.

McGrath said Mrs. Kennedy was very apologetic after the chain-reaction collision and that she said she was "pleased there were no children in the cars at the time."

McGrath, a civilian employee in the Pentagon's telecommunications center, said he detected no sign that Mrs. Kennedy had been drinking.

"If she had been drinking, it didn't appear to be in any great degree," McGrath said.

Mrs. Kennedy recently has spent time in rest homes in Connecticut and California.

Ada M. Spivey, American Party candidate for county commissioner, Precinct 2, listed $20 in contributions with $339.33 in expenses.

Winfree L. Brown, Republican incumbent in the county commissioner, Precinct 4, race, listed campaign contributions and loans totaling $2,325.50. Brown's campaign expenses were listed at $1,544.12. Brown is unopposed in the November election since his Democratic opponent withdrew.

Madge B. Wallis, Democratic candidate for district clerk, listed $662.50 in campaign contributions with total expenses of $2,024.15.

Suzanne Young Seright, Republican candidate for district clerk, listed contributions and loans of $931.09 with total expenditures of $696.55.

Post Office Schedules Fire Drills

Postmaster David E. Holster announced today that each unit of the Midland Post Office will conduct fire drills this week.

The drills will be the first since moving into the new main post office facility at 100 E. Wall St., next to the Federal Building.

Fire drill this week will consist of a "sit-through" drill and two actual evacuations of the building. These are to familiarize the employees with emergency routes and the recognition of emergency warning sounds.

Fire drills at Graves Station will be directed by Supt. M. E. "Buldy" Evans. At the Village Station, the drill will be under the supervision of Supt. Leonard K. Robey.

Mrs. E. M. Sullivan Chapter Hostess

The Xi Epsilon Chi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Monday in the home of Mrs. E. M. Sullivan, with Mrs. Sam Fitchugh as co-hostess, for a Halloween business session and program. Mrs. Gordon Shultz, president, led the opening ritual and presided.

Members voted to participate in the sorority's state project by sending a donation to the Center for Behavioral Studies. Mrs. Shultz reminded members to bring items for the Christmas box for the Big Spring State Hospital to the next meeting of the chapter.

Mrs. James D. Gossett, chairman of the cystic fibrosis drive reported $323 were collected.

It also was voted to have a Halloween carnival Oct. 21 and members were reminded to bring items for grab bags for the event. The chapter also voted to sponsor a Halloween parade, with the time and prizes to be announced at the Oct. 21 meeting.

A program on "Planning the Home" was presented by Mrs. Cody Bell and Mrs. Clois Hamilton.

The special prize was won by Mrs. Lloyd Helms.

Midland Girl Honored
Julia K. Lair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Joel Lair, 5 Marchelle Court, has been named a President's Scholar for 1974-75 at Trinity University in San Antonio. Miss Lair plans to major in psychology.

CONVENTION PLANNERS — Representatives of Midland Beta Sigma Phi sorority chapters working on preparations for the West Texas Area Convention of the sorority to be held Friday through Sunday in Midland area, from the left, Mrs. Rick Etheridge, Mu Psi; Mrs. Mickey Pepper, Beta Delta; Mrs. Carl Williams, Midland City Council president; Mrs. Leonard Goodenough, Xi Pi Kappa, and Mrs. Jim Hughes, Alpha Iota Delta.

Slide Program Presented Group

The Rev. and Mrs. William E. Jenkins presented a slide program on their trip to the Holy Land for a meeting Monday of the Midland Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons in the First Christian Church.

Linda Flynt sang sacred selections, accompanied by Barbara Slaughter.

Buster Steger, president, conducted the business session. Mrs. August Wenck announced the National Association of Retired Teachers will have a defensive driving course in October.

Plans were made by the chapter to have a Thanksgiving dinner Nov. 18.

Guests were Bessie Seal, Nep Stafford, Evie Pace, Johnnie Barron, Ethyl Kallam, Alma Ligon, Vera Brown and Ada Spivey.

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren

He Needs His Father For A Friend

DEAR ABBY: I needed some Scotch tape so I looked in my son's desk for some, and noticed the beginning of a letter my son had written to his girlfriend. It read, "I am only interested in being stoned, spending money and sex."

I read no further.

My first impulse was to confront him with this, but then he would say I had no right to go snooping through his desk. I don't think I should go on ignoring this. I would appreciate some advice. He is 18½.

BEWILDERED FATHER

DEAR FATHER: You could be about 17 years too late. I won't help you now to be reminded that you failed to build the kind of father-son relationship that inspires trust, confidence and total honesty. It's possible that what you read did not reflect your son's thoughts accurately, however.

Don't tell him what you saw, but try to get a dialogue going so you can get inside his head. Encourage honesty, and no matter what he says, be cool, and don't put him down or make him feel guilty. If you can develop candid two-way communication, you'll be able to influence and eventually help your son. He doesn't need punishment. Father, he needs a mature understanding friend.

DEAR ABBY: About a week before our daughter and her steady graduated from high school, they told us that she was pregnant and they wanted to get married.

There was a long silence, then my husband said: "We've all made mistakes in our lives, but some of us never got caught. Now you two kids will have to excuse us for five minutes, while we plan our daughter's wedding."

Then Dad led me into the bedroom, handed me $25 and said: "Let's see if you're as smart about money now as you were 25 years ago."

Needless to say, time was short, so I went downtown the next morning and bought six yards of yellow cotton, two simple formal patterns, two yards of pink lace, two yards of ivory lace, and some pink and ivory ribbon—all for less than $10. (I had $15 left over for the flowers and reception.)

Boy, I had money to burn!

My younger daughter (age 15) and I made the dresses. I baked the wedding cake and made punch. Only the very immediate families were invited to the wedding.

Our minister performed the ceremony in front of our fireplace, which was decorated with greenery from our garden and two white candles. The girls were beautiful in their simple dresses with their long black hair tied back with ribbons to match their dresses. The bride carried a single ivory carnation, and her sister, a pink carnation.

We made sure the fridge was well stocked, and Dad, Sister and I spent the weekend in a neighboring town with Dad's brother.

Dad says I'm still as smart about money as I was 25 years ago.

NO NAMES PLEASE

DEAR NO: You're not only smart about money, you are wise about other things, too. And so is your husband.

Mrs. Samples Presents Review For Book Unit

Mrs. Jack Samples presented reviews of a book, "The Woman He Loved" by Ralph G. Martin, and a play, "Crown Matrimonial" by Royce Ryton, for a meeting Monday of the Book Review Unit of the Midland Woman's Club.

Mrs. Martin Neill, president, introduced Mrs. Samples.

New officers of the unit introduced were Mrs. Neill, president; Mrs. B. J. Tharp, first vice president; Mrs. G. N. Donovan, second vice president; Mrs. J. S. Knauer, secretary; Mrs. Billie Gilbert, treasurer; Mrs. J. Wayne Campbell, historian; Mrs. Taylor E. Bowers, parliamentarian; Mrs. Jess Williamson, Midland Woman's Club director, and Mrs. R. H. Wilson, alternate director.

The invocation was given by Mrs. R. T. German.

A "Harvest Moon" theme was used in the decorations. Mrs. Ray Rhodes, Mrs. Earl T. Glasgow and Mrs. I. W. Hynd served on the decorations committee. In the receiving line were Mrs. Ken Clark, Mrs. Laura Self, Mrs. Dee Davis and Mrs. Knauer. Mrs. E. V. Mitchell and Mrs. E. J. Flannery distributed name tags, and Mrs. Donovan presented the yearbooks.

New members introduced were Mrs. John Young, Mrs. Earl Ray, Mrs. Homer Eastham Jr., Mrs. Edwin Alstrin and Mrs. Wesley May.

Guests were Mrs. Harold Halsey, Mrs. Frederick B. Tyler, Mrs. J. D. Cunningham, Mrs. W. E. Williams, Mrs. Hampton Hodge, Mrs. A. A. Bradford, Mrs. Oliver Callaway, Mrs. W. C. Howard, Mrs. E. E. The faculty was introduced by Cummins prior to adjournment for open house.

Quick Rising
Bread needs a warm temperature to rise quickly. To hasten this rising when the weather is cool, light the oven and let it heat until it feels warm to the hand, then turn the oven off and place your bread in the oven until it rises. Generally this is sufficient warm temperature to do this job quickly.

POLLY'S POINTERS
Elbow Grease Fails To Clean Off Stairs

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Association

DEAR POLLY—When I removed the rubber-backed carpet from my back stairs I found the backing had stuck to the steps. I tried scraping and scrubbing but neither worked. I hope some reader has suggestions as to how I might remove this. — K. J. C.

DEAR POLLY—Do tell Carla the way I get a cork out of a bottle is to use a twine string with several knots made on one end, one on top of the other, until the knot is of a good size. Lower the string inside the bottle with knots at the bottom, turn bottle upside down so the cork will fall into the neck of the bottle and the knot will be behind the cork. Pull. Presto, the cork will come out. — FLORENCE.

DEAR POLLY—I am a school teacher who has discovered chalk is good for more than its intended use. I find it is often most effective for covering soil and blemishes in wallpaper. It comes in so many shades that one is bound to blend with the paper. I find I use cream colored the most and just gently rub it in with a clean fingertip. — ELIZABETH.

DEAR POLLY—When wrapping food for the freezer I use masking tape and write on it the items enclosed and the date. Often such writing became so blurred I could not read it. Now I put a strip of clear cellophane tape over the writing to protect it as it is most important to keep food moving according to dates. — ANNE.

DEAR POLLY—My husband sleeps during the day so dark shades or curtains were needed in the room where he sleeps but I could not find any to fit the windows. I decided to use black bath towels. One side was hemmed to slip on the curtain rod and I soon had good practical and reasonably priced shades that the easy to keep clean. They can be washed and are ready to hang again in no time at all. — LUPITA.

Women's Golf Tourney Planned

You will receive a dollar if Polly uses your favorite home-making idea, Pet Peeve, Polly's Problem or solution to a problem. Write Polly in care of this newspaper.

The annual Women's City Golf Championship Tournament will be held Oct. 22-24 at Hogan Park.

Qualifying day will be held Oct. 17. An awards party is planned for Oct. 24 in the Elks Club, following the final day of play.

The deadline for entries is 12 noon Oct. 16 at Hogan Park. Any woman who has been a resident of Midland 30 days, as of Oct. 16, is eligible to enter the tournament. Entrants do not have to be members of any club nor have established handicaps.

The tournament is dedicated to Mrs. Hugh Story, treasurer of the tournament the last five years.

Events will include putting contest, chipping contest and long-drive contest.

Presidents of the women's golf association sponsoring are Mrs. Charles Featherston, Ranchland Hill Country Club; Mrs. Jack Sappington, Midland Country Club, and Mrs. Coughran Ketner, Hogan Park. The tournament representatives are Mrs. John Campbell, chairman, RHCC; Mrs. Bob Spears, MCC, and Mrs. Rick Peterson, Hogan Park.

Bridge Winners
MIDKIFF — Mrs. Bert Rosenbaum was high score winner when the Midkiff Bridge Club met Monday in the home of Mrs. Melvin Smith. Mrs. Willie D. Poyner won the low score, and Mrs. Frank Midkiff won the traveling prize. Mrs. Allen Whorton was a guest.

Coming Events

Friday
MCC Ladies' Association, 12:45 p.m., duplicate bridge games, clubhouse.

Lane tables with tops as handsome as planked floors

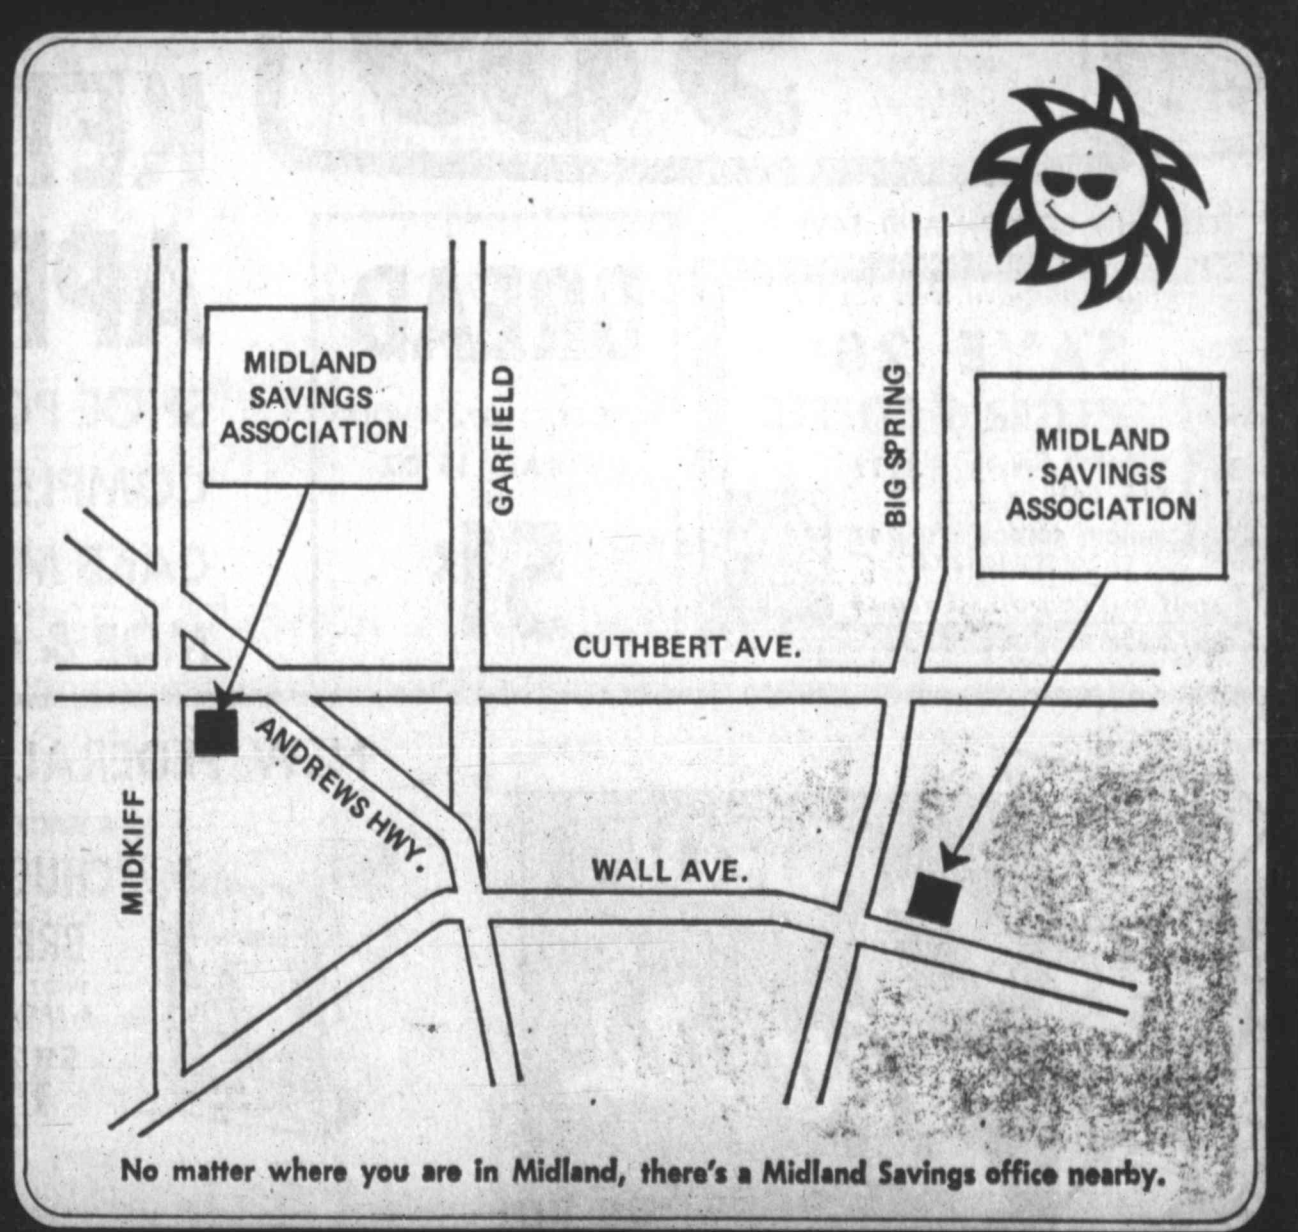

Visualize a handsome V-grooved random width walnut floor nice enough to be framed as a portrait in wood and you'll see Park Hill, Lane's newest country casual tables scaled for today's lifestyle. The beautiful tops of these tables are formed by walnut veneers selected for their color and grain pattern and hand-set at a slant. The finish is a warm harvest brown and legs are capped with antique brown ferrules. Altogether, a very high fashion look with a charming country accent.

Charge Almost Nightmare, Connally Says

FLORESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Far away were grand juries and court appearances. At hand were his friends, his ranch on wide open Texas land and purebred animals for sale.

Those friends aren't occupied by Washington milk fund charges which Connally, a former Treasury secretary, denies. The friends believe Connally rather than the federal indictment which alleges he accepted a bribe.

Life Not Changed

"I don't think its changed my life any," said Connally of the charges, as he strolled along a pasture fence line Wednesday.

"I, of course, think about it, and at times I think it's almost a nightmare, almost as if it hasn't happened.

"It's one of those things like the time I was shot with President Kennedy. You know, you can't believe it ever happened," said Connally as he recalled the day in Dallas.

One of the tribulations of life?

"Sure," said the tall, silver-haired Connally. "It's one of those things you encounter in life and it is not a pleasant experience.

"But if you can't overcome adversity, if you can't meet problems head-on without letting them completely overcome you, why then you are in trouble. I hadn't let it do that. I'm not going to."

Connally's aim on Wednesday was not to fight such charges but to buy a bull for his family ranching interests "with some stretch ... some length to him."

He did.

Sitting in the shade of an amphitheater for the auction he was hosting, he and his family bid $20,000 on a Santa Gertrudis which will go to his Children's Four-C Ranch. It was the top price paid for a bull at the auction, where he and nine other breeders offered cattle.

Connally, who a year ago was considered for the vice presidential nomination and then practiced law in Houston, said not too many people are aware he is a rancher.

In the past year, he has spent more time than before at the Picoso Ranch—his own ranch—near the Four-C. He built an elaborate auction ring on the 3,600 acre Picoso that attracted buyers from as far away as South Africa for Wednesday's sale.

Why does he come out here?

"I've done it all my life and my father did it before me. He was a tenant farmer and owned the first piece of land in the heart of the Depression in 1932," said Connally.

"It has all the elements of creativity to it that I like. It appeals to me," said Connally.

Ranch Helps Him

He said the ranch has been a help to him in the past nine months, as his name emerged in the milk fund controversy.

It is a pleasant place.

He talked about soap operas on television with a retired cattle truck driver. The cattle buying crowd, some more affluent than he and some less, ate barbecue as they sat on hay bales under shade trees.

The grass is green.

He introduced coastal bermuda grass to this region of Texas, a sandy scrub-brush type land, and "everybody thought I was crazy for buying it"—meaning the grass.

Now, land that once supported a cow to every 20 acres can maintain an animal on every three, he said.

With his financial success, he can keep a ranch such as this, but he said it is not a hobby. A friend also said of Connally, "He's not a drug store cowboy."

Having the ranch "is one of the great blessings of my life ... it gives me more peace, it gives me more satisfaction, gives me more contentment," Connally said.

Dayton Youngest Signer

Jonathan Dayton, at the age of 26, was the youngest signer of the U.S. Constitution. Dayton, of Ohio, is named for him.

Senators Okay Superports Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed in a near-unanimous vote a bill allowing construction of deepwater superports which tankers could use to pump oil ashore into areas which could not accommodate the large vessels.

Approved Wednesday by a vote of 78 to 2, the bill empowers the Transportation Department to license the ports and the Coast Guard to regulate them.

The Senate bill was sent to the House, which already has passed its own superport bill. A conference committee probably will be needed to draft a compromise acceptable to both houses.

Amendment Fails

An amendment to the bill that would have banned oil company ownership of the superport terminals failed by a vote of 48 to 34. Backers of the amendment contended that ownership of the superports would increase major oil company control of the nation's petroleum supply system.

Supertankers that are too large for most U.S. ports would tie up with the superports, buoy-like platforms anchored up to 30 miles offshore in deep water.

Pipelines buried in the ocean floor would carry oil from the tankers ashore from the superport terminal.

Sen. Ernest Hollings of South Carolina said that if the Senate were to reject the bill, it would deprive U.S. consumers of a 50 per cent savings in transporting oil to this country from the Middle East.

Veto Clause Included

Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, said the legislation followed his recommendations in three areas—protection of states' rights, veto authority for the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and strong oil spill liability provisions.

The bill provides that states adjacent to a proposed superport could veto the project. The same power is given to the EPA if it feels a port could cause environmental damage.

The oil spill liability provision allows for a 2-cent per barrel tax on oil handled by superports in order to establish a $100 million Deepwater Port Liability Fund.

The fund would be tapped to clean up oil spills.

Ex-POW To Talk At Reserve Officers Meeting Monday

Lt. Col. Arthur W. Burer, an Air Force officer who spent almost seven years as a prisoner of war in North Vietnam, will speak at the Reserve Officers Association meeting at noon Monday in the Sheraton Inn-Midland.

Burer currently is stationed at Webb Air Force Base at Big Spring with the 78th Flying Training Wing as an instructor pilot.

He will describe the circumstances of his capture, the manner of treatment while in prison camp and the drama of his release.

With the outbreak of hostilities in South Vietnam, Burer volunteered for reconnaissance duty. His capture came during a mission over North Vietnam March 21, 1966, when he was forced to abandon his aircraft after it was struck by enemy ground fire.

Within moments after reaching the ground, he was taken prisoner. He was released Feb. 12, 1973, after spending 6 years and 11 months as a prisoner.

Spurr Gives His Version Of Firing Incident

AFTERNOON RIDER — Casting an interesting shadow in the late afternoon sun, park technician Rick Armentariz keeps track of the tourists in the vast off-road expanses of White Sands National Monument near Las Cruces, N.M. The picture was taken by New Mexico State University photography student Pat Berrett. (AP Wirephoto.)

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Former President Stephen Spurr of the University of Texas at Austin has given his version of the reasons why he was fired, but UT Chancellor Charles LeMaistre has again refused to present his side.

LeMaistre, who ousted Spurr Sept. 24, sent a one-paragraph letter to a faculty-student investigating committee Wednesday, saying he had legal advice to withhold his reasons.

Briscoe May Intervene

Meanwhile, Gov. Dolph Briscoe said he was prepared to exercise a constitutional power and order LeMaistre to make public his case against Spurr.

Spurr, vacationing in Maryland, sent the committee a letter recounting his version of the conversation in which LeMaistre asked for his resignation. Spurr refused to resign and LeMaistre fired him.

The reasons given by LeMaistre, he said, included economizing on cocktail parties before UT-Austin football games, slowness in energy research, staff unhappiness at McDonald Observatory and a "poor presentation of this institution's budget before the Legislative Budget Board staff."

Spurr said LeMaistre and Deputy Chancellor E. D. Walker told him his defense of the UT-Austin budget "was the weakest given by any institutional head and that I appeared to be talking to The Daily Texan rather than to the LBB."

"My own interpretation is that they were unhappy with the fact that I asked for higher faculty and staff pay raises than were in the original budget submission and that I made a spirited defense of both faculty development leaves and of organized research—neither topic being particularly popular downtown (at UT system headquarters)," Spurr said.

Spurr said he lost the support of regent Frank Erwin of Austin, "who devotes substantial portions of his time to the day-to-day administration of the UT system."

"If again I were to identify the single point when Mr. Erwin turned against me, it was when Dean (Page) Keeton refused to admit a friend of Mr. Erwin to the law school and I supported the action," Spurr said.

Prof. Edmund Pincoffs, chairman of the investigating committee, said he will write LeMaistre that the committee report would be one-sided if the Caterpillar Club Harold Harris was the first man to join the Caterpillar Club, on Oct. 20, 1922 — those whose lives have been saved by parachute.

chancellor fails to specify his reasons for the dismissal.

Pincoffs also said he would call regents chairman H. G. McNeese and ask for the regents to meet with the committee.

Erwin has said LeMaistre and the regents run the risk of a civil damages suit if they make public why Spurr was fired and the reasons contain anything that might damage his professional reputation.

Spurr still has a job at UT-Austin as a tenured professor of botany and natural resources administration.

East Texas Stockmen, Dairy Farmers Join Slaughter Move

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (AP) — Stockmen by next spring, but only a personal conference not before.

Steve Burgess, who raises dairy cattle just east of here, said Wednesday night about 500 head of dairy calves have been buried in a mass grave.

Burgess said the Nacogdoches County Dairy and Beef Association voted Tuesday night to kill the calves and bury the carcasses in a mass grave.

"I already have the pit dug," Burgess said.

"We met in Washington two weeks ago and got an awful bad report," he said. "Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz only saw two of us. He said they couldn't do anything until April."

Leader Opposes Action

The county dairy and beef association president, Felix Parmley said he was strictly against the cow killing but thought it was the only thing left to push the government into meeting with the cattlemen.

Parmley added, however, he did not think the kill in Nacogdoches would come about because of too much public pressure, but the Stephenville slaughter would occur.

Parmley said the slaughter would rest completely on Ford's shoulders.

Assistant Agriculture Secretary Clayton K. Yeutter told the Texas ranchers that prices paid to the nation's cattle producers may increase by next spring but until they improve the government can do little to relieve the rancher's economic problems.

Relief Seen By Spring

"I see the light at the end of the tunnel for the cattle feeders as early as next spring," Yeutter said. "Not a big profit, but some profit."

Burgess, who used to be a dairy farmer, said many of his friends may be out of business by then because they can't afford the high price of feed.

The ranchers complained that the prices paid for the calves they sell to feeders had dropped within the past 18 months from 70 cents a pound to 20 cents a pound. Increased grain prices forced them to reduce the amount they could spend on each calf.

Burgess noted all beef imported from Canada goes to the military services and 80 percent of the school lunch program beef comes from Australia and New Zealand.

"We only get 20 per cent of that market," he noted. "The beef out of those countries is not even inspected by the USDA as our beef is."

New Death Penalty Law Faces Court Challenges

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Attorneys for a man who was sentenced to die for the abduction-slaying of a Dallas lawyer, have filed the first court challenge to the new Texas death penalty law.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals will hear arguments on the constitutionality of the measure Nov. 13.

Directly at stake in the first case is the life of William David Hovila, convicted of capital murder in the 1973 shooting death of Dallas lawyer Henry J. McCluskey.

A second death penalty appeal also will be heard that day on behalf of Jerry Lane Jurek, convicted of killing 10-year-old Wendy Adams of Cuero.

Written in 1973

The legislature wrote the new death penalty statute in 1973 after the U.S. Supreme Court struck down the old one.

It makes death mandatory for certain kinds of murder if the jury finds the killing was unprovoked and deliberate and believes there is a probability the defendant "would commit criminal acts of violence that would constitute a continuing threat to society."

The NAACP Legal Defense Fund and the National Office for the Rights of the Indigent filed a "friend of the court" brief in the Jurek case that also was used by Hovila's lawyer, Howard Wilson of Dallas.

Old Defect Preserved

The briefs said the new law preserves the constitutional defect of the old one by giving juries too much discretion over who lives and who dies.

They said the additional required jury findings after determining guilt are "nothing more than a guise under which capital jurors will inevitably respond to sentiment at best and prejudice at worst to determine—not the dangerousness of the defendant or the deliberateness or reasonableness of his crime—but whether they wish to see him die."

A jury's prediction of future criminal behavior should not be the thread on which a man's life hangs, the briefs said.

"There is no evidence that this kind of prediction can be accurately made by specialists trained in the field of psychiatry... Surely it cannot be accurately or intelligently made by a lay jury," they declared.

Both briefs—trying to make the point that the death penalty is unevenly applied—said that only about 10 of the 1,400 Texas murder cases a year result in death verdicts.

Visitors Inspect Famariss Energy Refinery At Hobbs

HOBBS, N.M. (AP) — Visitors made tours today of the $30 million, 37,000 barrel-a-day Famariss Energy Refinery and Southern Union Oil products terminal to be formally dedicated Friday.

A luncheon and news conference also were scheduled.

Walter Famariss Jr. of Hobbs, president of Famariss Oil Corp., said the facility is the first truly grassroots refinery constructed in the United States in the past five years.

He said it was privately financed.

Famariss refers to the facility as an energy refinery.

An energy refinery, he said, produces fuels which are either alternates or substitutes for natural gas.

Famariss estimates the industrial complex will employ more than 200 persons in the refinery as well as in supporting and servicing companies to be established.

Ground was broken for the facility April 12, 1973, and it began start-up operations June 11, 1974. Product shipments have been in progress since July 15.

Most Of Nation Has Clear Skies

By The Associated Press

Clear skies were the rule across the nation today, although scattered showers remained over the Rockies.

Clouds also blanketed the sun in parts of the Great Lakes region, New England and Washington.

New England claimed the coldest weather, with most of the nation having temperatures overnight from the 40s to the 60s.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 25 at Houlton, Maine, to 78 at Key West, Fla.

34,884 Midland Countians Qualify To Vote

NEW MANPOWER OFFICE — The new area Manpower-Outreach office in Room 210 of the Midland County Courthouse Annex, held open house Wednesday. On hand were Midland County Judge Barbara Culver, and, from left, County Commissioner Win Brown; Jerry Fatout, Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission manpower director; Larry Green, director of the new office, and Bud Harris of Austin, Governor's Office on Community Affairs.

Registered voters in Midland County are 34,884 strong for the upcoming Nov. 5 general election, according to Mrs. Janice Buita, deputy voter registration clerk for Midland County.

Mrs. Buita said 208 voter applicants filed into the courthouse last Friday to get their registrations in before the 31-day requirement for eligibility to vote in the November election expired.

Registration Deadlines
The registration clerk noted that a person can register to vote at "any time" but to be able to vote in a given election, the applicant must have registered at least 31 days prior to the election in which he wishes to vote.

Mrs. Buita said only 6,800 of the qualified voters in the county cast ballots in the May primaries.

She said that since May more than 2,000 new voter applications have been filed, with 1,350 cancellations leaving the voter files because of moving families and other circumstances.

Mrs. Buita said that for the 1972 general election there were 33,303 qualified voters in Midland County, 1,581 less than the current total.

Candidates and incumbents on the Nov. 5 ballot include:

McClellan Picked For Who's Who

LUBBOCK — John McClellan Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McClellan Jr. of 1702 W. Illinois St., Midland, has been nominated for Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges.

McClellan is one of 26 Lubbock Christian College students selected for this honor. These students were chosen by the LCC faculty according to scholarship, participation in academic and extracurricular activities, citizenship and service to LCC, and future promise.

McClellan is a senior biology pre-med major. He has a grade point of 3.43 for 112 credit hours. He is a member of Koinonia men's social club and the science club. He has been a member of his Class Board, a capella choir, and the Duster Chickens Commissary. Profits go to Optimist's youth projects.

Motocross Races On Tap Sunday

The Midland Westside Optimist Club will hold European style motocross (motorcycle) races Sunday, at 1 p.m.

Professional and amateur racers from West Texas and Eastern New Mexico will compete in five classes for prize money and trophies. The track is new and is located 3 1/2 miles west of Midland on U.S. 80 behind the Kentucky Fried Chicken Commissary. Profits go to Optimist's youth projects.

Manpower-Outreach Program Opened Officially In County

The new Manpower-Outreach office in the Midland County Courthouse was opened officially Wednesday afternoon by members of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission and Midland County Commissioners.

Among the officials present was Larry Green, office director. He explained the new Manpower-Outreach office, which has been open about two weeks, will serve as headquarters for introducing vocational skills to the Permian Basin's unemployed.

Green said the office here has received a grant of about $300,000 for operation costs and applicants' salaries for the first year.

PBRPC representative Jerry Fatout said the office will operate as one of 17 manpower offices developed under the State Department of Community Affairs.

Officials at the opening ceremonies stressed that Manpower-Outreach works closely with the Texas Employment Commission and is not in competition with employment agencies.

The subsidy is limited and the applicant is expected to accept gainful employment at the end of the training program. Neither the applicant nor the employer is charged for the services.

Fatout said the manpower office interviews unskilled and unemployed persons, followed by counseling and finding a suitable worksite.

Saying he hopes to place his clients after six months, he added, "The sooner we can train and place one person, the sooner we can get another into the program."

Among the officials from the manpower program in Austin was L. C. "Bud" Harris, director, who said the Department of Community Affairs had received a $33-million grant for manpower for the balance of the state.

Family Counseling Changes Its Name To Family Services

Family Services of Midland Inc. is the new name for the Family Counseling Service.

Announcement of the name change was made Wednesday by Anthony V. Rao, executive director, and the organization's board of directors.

Rao pointed out that while counseling on all types of family problems continues to be the primary program of service, several other programs also are integral parts of the organization and the new name will more accurately reflect the multiplicity of the services offered.

The Family Counseling Service was instituted here in 1958 under auspices of the Junior League of Midland Inc. It is now a United Way-supported organization.

Offices of Family Services of Midland Inc. will continue to be located at 2101 W. Wall St.

4-H Club Formed At Valley View

Green Valley 4-H Club was organized Tuesday night by youngsters in the Valley View-Greenwood area, with Mr. and Mrs. Ken Richardson as the group's organizational leaders.

Officers elected at the first meeting are Andy Schumann, president; Danny Pruitt, vice president; Teresa Folger, secretary-treasurer; Patty Howard, reporter, and Kenny Synatsch, council delegate.

The club's first session included discussion of projects and arrangement of project meetings with other new 4-H groups.

Green Valley 4-H will meet each third Monday at 7 p.m. in the Valley View Community Center.

Lumber Prices Drop In Face Of Home Building Slump

By RICK SCOTT

DALLAS (AP) — Lumber prices are sinking like granite because of a slump in home construction and there is no relief in sight, according to industry officials in Texas.

"The bottom has fallen out of the market," says Pat McCaslin, spokesman for Kirby Lumber Corp. in Houston.

Alan Miller of Temple Industries at Diboll in the Piney Woods of East Texas says, "We're not making any money."

And, Charles Magee of a Wickes Building Supply in Richardson north of Dallas says he's cut lumber prices more than 30 per cent so far this year and is "thinking about going lower than that."

facturers and distributors by The Associated Press found agreement that lumber prices are at their lowest level since 1969.

An example, at the distributor level, from Magee: 1,000 board feet of lumber that sold in January for $195 now sells for $135.

These are the prices a contractor would pay for his lumber, said Magee. On a larger scale, $5,000 worth of lumber for a house six months ago now would cost about $3,500.

But contractors aren't buying the lumber, said Magee, because they aren't building any houses. And they aren't building houses, he said, because they can't find money to finance their projects.

"The demand is gone, but the supply is still here," Magee said. The slump "has affected our business at least 20 to 25 per cent."

For a person who has some money, now is the time to build an addition to a home, while prices are down, he advised.

"Things have gone completely bad," said McCaslin at Kirby Lumber Corp., which owns or manages more than half a million acres of forest in East Texas.

The drop in prices at the manufacturing level, said McCaslin, has been drastic. Lumber, random length boards and studs, that sold for $150 per thousand board feet a year ago is selling around $50 now.

"We're losing money," said McCaslin. Kirby has cut back its sawmill operation and shifted workers to jobs in plywood production. Plywood prices have not dropped as sharply, he said. Still, many workers have been laid off.

Temple Industries, said Miller, "is inventoried right up to the rafters. We can sell at a loss or cut back on production and we're doing a little of both."

About 70 of the lumber division's 1,800 workers have been laid off.

Miller said the slump is nationwide. The South held on longer than the rest of the country, with the help of booming housing markets in Dallas and Houston, he said.

"But that is cratering now," he said, "and there are no permiters out ahead that look any better. 'We're not looking for any big turnaround.'"

Miller and McCaslin both said about 2 million housing starts per year are needed to meet demand, but high interest rates and tight money conditions have dropped new starts to about a million this year.

McCaslin said President Ford's economic plan, which would provide money for about 100,000 new homes, won't help much. "That's only about five per cent of what's needed."

"I don't look for anything much brighter until this time next year," McCaslin said.

"The demand for housing is still there. People want homes. Builders want to build them and sell them. But I don't know where the money is going to come from to finance these homes."

A spokesman for Louisiana-Pacific at Conroe, which operates a number of sawmills and wood products plants in East Texas, said "Our sales prices have dropped substantially, even below manufacturing costs."

T. A. Reynolds, vice president and general manager of the southern division of Louisiana-Pacific, said: "We do not foresee improvements in market conditions until interest rates are lowered and money is made available to the nationwide, depressed housing industry.

"When interest rates are lowered substantially and money is made available, it would be four to six months before market conditions would improve," Reynolds said.

Magee, at Wickes in Richardson, said the decline in lumber prices has been offset in the housing industry by increases in the cost of such items as copper plumbing tubing, electrical fixtures and other items.

Midland Youth Center Chatter

By GAYLE GRIMLAND, LESLIE MORGAN

And VICKI THROCKMORTON

Now are the days of anticipation. The days everyone counts until the Homecoming festivities. As the big day approaches, our thoughts and efforts also should concern the present. Such as...

EXPLOSION

Zero day for our mighty Junior Varsity is in action this very moment with Big Spring, here. The great all-team effort achieved a 7-7 tie against Odessa Permian.

OUTBREAK

One Day — Friday — American Field Service (AFS) applications must be turned in to Mr. Cobb by the Friday deadline. Be sure to get those forms in order not to miss this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity.

Every girl wants to be nominated for the Homecoming Court. So don't be in the rear, get in gear and turn her name in by Friday.

The pep rallies are picking up with the Purple Pack being honored at 2:40 p.m. Friday. Come and show that Bulldog Spirit you've got.

The nostalgia pep-rally last week, went over fantastic. If you didn't recognize those old-fashioned boogie-ers they were really Karen Rooker, Brenda Matenjak, Besty Allday, Michelle Hicky, Tammy Holten, Amy Dean, Ginger Culp, Kim Marten, Belle Battle, Ticia Madison and Kathy Giebel. Let's have the pep-rally spirit carry on to the game with the "Big Spirit" Steers for a great Bulldog Victory. Come on and show that Bulldog support by making that quick hour-drive to Big Spring to slaughter those Steers.

ERUPTION

Four Days — Monday — New members will be installed into the National Honors Society. Congrats. The P.T.A. is working hard in preparation for the reception. Much Thanks.

Junior Rotarians this week are John Wambaugh and Julia Kinsey.

BLAST OFF

Seven Days — Thursday, Oct. 17 — Homecoming Parade that afternoon will launch the festivities in great style. All names and floats must be turned in so the order can be established and make things run smoothly.

REMINDER

Float locations are as follows: Student Council—310 Marfana St.

Senior Class — Fire Station, Thomason Drive and Midkiff streets.

Junior Class — Permian Pontiac.

French — Fire Station at Garfield Street and Golf Course Road.

Band — Permian Toyota.

Others??? Good Luck.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, Oct. 10, the 283rd day of 1974. There are 82 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1911, Chinese revolutionaries under Dr. Sun Yat-sen overthrew the Manchu Dynasty in China.

On this date— In 680, the grandson of Mohammed was murdered in Iraq.

In 1845, the U.S. naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., was opened.

In 1913, the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans flowed together in the Panama Canal as the Gamboa Dam was blown up.

In 1963, an 873-foot-high dam collapsed near Belluno, Italy, and a flood killed an estimated 1,800 persons.

Ten years ago: Hurricane Dora lost its punch in northern Florida after leaving St. Augustine and Jacksonville a chaos of flood and destruction.

Five years ago: President Nixon relieved Lieutenant General Lewis Hershey as director of the Selective Service, a post he had held under six presidents.

One year ago: Spiro Agnew resigned as vice president under an agreement with the Justice Department to admit evasion of federal income taxes but avoid imprisonment.

Today's birthdays: Actress Helen Hayes is 74. Pianist and composer Thelonious Monk is 56.

Thought for today: Better ask twice than lose your way once—Danish proverb.

Mall Foreclosure Upheld

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The Fourth Court of Civil Appeals affirmed Monday a Webb County district court ruling allowing foreclosure on a $10 million shopping mall under construction in Laredo.

Riverview Mall, overlooking the Rio Grande west of the International Bridge, remains 75 per cent complete though no work has been done since January.

Chief Justice Charles Barrow said in a seven-page opinion the mall would probably remain incomplete without foreclosure.

"The record establishes the project has been stalemated since January, and it would remain so under a temporary injunction," the opinion said.

Riverview Mall, Inc., headed by Laredo businessman Vicente Garza, had sought a temporary injunction in 111th District Court in Laredo to prevent foreclosure.

Mall owners alleged they had been victims of a usury scheme by mall financiers, Larwin Mortgage Investors of California.

Garza's request was denied by the Laredo Court July 10.

The Laredo court ruled foreclosure was proper since mall sponsors had not made interest payments since January, and the work stoppage seemed unresolvable.

Carlos Zaffarini, attorney for the mall, said the mall corporation currently owes Larwin about $7.2 million.

11 Young Men, Boys Charged In El Paso Area Bank Thefts

EL PASO, TEX. (AP) - Authorities lodged charges Wednesday against 11 boys and young men accused of taking $41,000 from six banks in the last 30 months - apparently by simply strolling away unnoticed with the cash.

Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said the case involved disappearances of money from banks in El Paso, Fabens and Van Horn, Texas, and Anthony, N.M.

They filed complaints accusing the 11 El Paso residents - including a 10-year-old boy, two 13-year-olds and four other teen-agers - of larceny.

FBI Withholds Details
An FBI spokesman refused to disclose any details of how the money was taken, saying that would jeopardize prosecution of the case.

A vice president of the Border City Bank in El Paso, Howard Hudgeons, said the manner in which his bank lost $6,000 presumably was typical of the operations.

Bank employees found a young boy in a back room at the vault of temporary quarters for the institution on May 31, 1972. Hudgeons related, and ordered him to leave. Later the employees discovered the money was missing.

No one knew whether only one boy or more were involved, the banker said, adding, "We never could tell. One was seen back there and was asked to leave. We classified it as a mysterious disappearance. We didn't know what had happened."

'Most Unusual' Case
Tom Westfall, assistant agent in charge of the FBI office here, described it as "one of the most unusual cases I've ever seen in my 24 years in the FBI." He declined to say whether the procedure was identical at each bank but said all 11 suspects were linked to a common neighborhood and in frequent brushes with the law.

Officers arrested eight Tuesday and took them next day before a U.S. magistrate, who set bond at $20,000 each. Westfall identified them as Arthur Quinana, 19; Clyde Smith, 18; Vincent Homan, 20; Curtis Lee Davis, 18; and four juveniles - one 10, two 13 and one 16. Other complaints were brought against John Kenneth Crank, 23, an inmate at the La Tuna, Texas, federal reformatory near here; his brother Wesley Crank, 21, in the state prison at Huntsville, Texas; and Dexter Clayton Hyder, 19, already being held in the El Paso County jail.

Bottom Drops Out Of Market For Old Newspapers

By JACK LEFLER
 LOS ANGELES (AP) — The bottom has dropped out of the market for old newspapers. "The market is very soft," said Harold Cowan, owner of AAA Industrial Paper Supply of Los Angeles, a firm that buys old newspapers for recycling into newsprint and industrial products. The price has slumped from $32 a ton six months ago to $10 for domestic use and $5 for export. Early this year there was a scramble for old newspapers, with Japanese and Korean interests grabbing a big percentage of the market and driving the price up. Now there is a surplus. Japanese sources, commenting on the slowdown in paper imports, noted that their country's economy, which has been growing at a rate of 10 per cent a year for the last two decades, has slowed down and this has affected imports of all types. In 1972, Japan and Korea shipped about 2,200 tons of old newspapers a month from Southern California ports. As the demand rose, a monthly shipment of 12,000 tons was projected for 1974, but it should fall far short. Cowan said he has a surplus of newspapers on hand, hasn't bought any in eight weeks and probably won't for another two weeks. This has put a crimp in collection drives by schools and churches, but their efforts are still going on to a limited extent. Probably the biggest user of old newspaper for recycling into newsprint is Garden State Paper Co. with plants in Pomona, Calif., Garfield, N.J., and Alsip, Ill. Sixty-five newspapers in California and about 200 throughout the country are using recycled newsprint. "Although prices for waste newspapers have dropped in recent weeks, the general paper industry, particularly on the West Coast, is stronger today than at any time since World War II," said Richard B. Scudder, chairman of Garden State. "Today's waste newspaper prices are higher than any paid since January 1973, when an unexpected export demand resulted in unprecedented high prices." "The so-called current drop in prices occurred as the export market closed off its purchases and the domestic market adjusted to the situation."

Great Depression Is Over

Presidential proclamations, like temporary legislation, have a way of hanging on in the United States, once they are proclaimed or enacted.

This was brought to public attention earlier this week when the Senate formally decreed that the Great Depression of the 1930s is over. Yes, that's what the senators did, by formal vote!

Chances are you hadn't thought much about the Great Depression in a long time, or perhaps you hadn't realized it was proclaimed, in the first place.

Anyway, President Franklin D. Roosevelt's 1933 proclamation that the depression was causing a "national emergency" was one of four presidential proclamations still in effect which would be canceled by a bill approved by the Senate.

What are the others? Good question, so here they are: President Truman's 1950 proclamation of emergency arising from the Korean conflict; President Nixon's 1970 proclamation of emergency caused by a postal strike (remember it?), and his 1971 proclamation of an economic emergency requiring foreign trade controls.

Passage of the legislation now rests with the House. It shouldn't require too much time if and when the House gets around to it.

The measure passed by the Senate would take effect one year after enactment.

Isn't this something! We had wondered for a long time just what was holding the country back.

One of the major powers repealed by the bill is authority for the President, the secretary of the Army or any general to declare any part of the U.S. a "military zone," subject to martial law.

Now, let's get busy with other pressing emergencies of the day... and hour!

And The Choir Sang On!

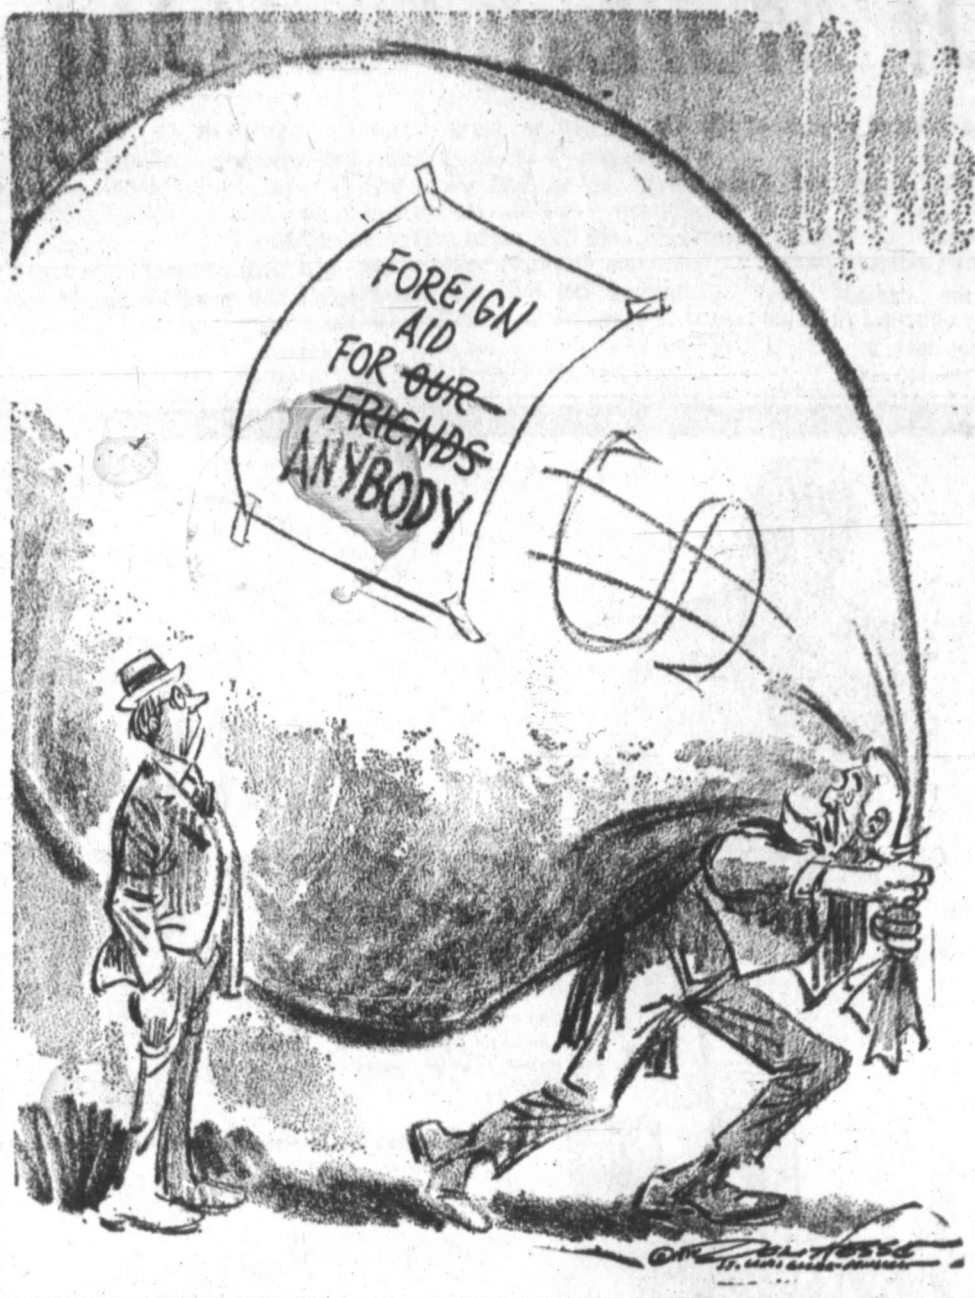

The organist kept on playing softly and the congregation rejoiced while four armed robbers who had slipped into the Little Rock, Ark., Church of Faith, stole more than $100 and two items of jewelry, going from person to person.

Throughout the robbery, the congregation "raised their hands, praised the Lord and rejoiced," the pastor said. "Our church emphasizes giving things to the Lord and having peace."

He added, "The people were very brave." They must have been both brave and patient... and generous... or just plain frightened.

There is some doubt if congregations of most West Texas churches would have stayed hunched under such circumstances. But the gunmen were armed with pistols and a sawed-off rifle. This would make a difference... but that rejoicing throughout is something else.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson Says: Donald Rumsfeld not long for White House.

WASHINGTON — President Ford's new staff chief, Donald Rumsfeld, won't be around the White House more than six months.

Sources in the President's confidence say he needed someone in a hurry to replace Alexander Haig, who had headed former President Nixon's White House staff.

The President, therefore, summoned Rumsfeld whom he actually had in mind to be the next secretary of Defense. Our sources say Ford still intends to send the able Rumsfeld to the Pentagon.

The President wanted to get rid of Haig, say our sources, because he held too tight a rein on the White House staff, which looked to him instead of Ford's people for their orders.

The President's plan for Rumsfeld, of course, means Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger will be dropped from the cabinet. This will be a victory for Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, who has been feuding with Schlesinger over foreign-military policy.

WATCH ON WASTE: About 180 welfare officials assembled on exotic Frenchman's Reef in the Virgin Islands late last month to discuss the plight of the poor.

Choosing from a menu "laden with a host of superb continental specialties," they dined in lazy luxury as they talked about the hunger that is gaining in impoverished neighborhoods.

One conference session, for example, dealt with food stamp programs. It was presided over by an Agriculture Department official who was flown in from Washington, $169 round trip.

When the problems of poverty became too depressing, the welfare officials could escape into the coral waters for "free snorkel lessons," or on afternoon tours of the Virgin Island paradise.

The delegates came from 31 states and regions. At least 10 federal officials from the Health, Education and Welfare Department slipped down to the Virgin Islands for the conference, at a minimum cost to the taxpayers of $300 apiece, including hotel accommodations.

A spokesman for the American Public Welfare Association, which sponsored the frolic, explained to us: "We hold the conferences in a different region every year, and this was the first time for the Virgin Islands."

YOSEMITE STORY: There is more to the story of how Yosemite National Park, with scenery no Hollywood studio could duplicate, became the backdrop for the tv series "Sierra."

We published the first installment on September 15. The Music Corporation of America, we reported, had taken over the camping and catering concessions in Yosemite in late 1973.

Not long afterwards, film crews belonging to an MCA subsidiary turned up in the park to film the "Sierra" series. Although nature provided them with some of the most spectacular scenery in the world, we reported, the Hollywood hotshots tried to improve it by painting the rocks in one area.

that the park is Yosemite."

SHORT REPLY: Marguerite Steed, granddaughter of Rep. Tom Steed, D-Okla., signed on as an intern last summer in the office of House Speaker Carl Albert.

In the manner of young people, she struck up a summer romance with the Speaker's son, David, Young Albert, like his father, is short in size. And Marguerite, like her grandfather, is a talker.

Congressman Steed jokingly asked his granddaughter one day what might result if a Steed should be crossed with an Albert. She retorted without hesitation: "A long-winded midget."

There is also the possibility that Edward Kennedy simply does not want to be president. Not every man does.

Anyway, as Watergate has so dramatically demonstrated, it is foolhardy to speculate about political fortunes even months into the future, let alone a full decade.

There is always the unexpected, the unforeseeable, which can turn everything upside-down overnight.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By Oswald and James Jacoby

(Newspaper Enterprise Association) After his Slayman three-club bid had produced a three-diamond rebid by South, North jumped to six notrump to deny stopped.

He ducked the first trick. This maneuver is known as rectifying the count. South still had his 11 sure winners. He was trying for 12.

After that start it was all over for the defense. South won the second diamond cashed his ace-king-queen of spades; entered dummy with a high club and cashed the jack of spades. That play squeezed East. He had to chuck a club or a heart and either discard gave South the slam.

You should note that if South won the first trick the squeeze could never develop, since East could never be forced to throw either a heart or a club.

DON OAKLEY Kennedy Ends The Suspense—Or Does He?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy may have done more than withdraw from consideration in the 1976 presidential race. He may have removed himself as a contender in 1980 as well, and possibly beyond.

Much depends upon which party wins the presidency two years from now.

If it is the Republicans—and Gerald Ford, the likely GOP nominee, will be a formidable opponent for anybody—then, of course, the field will be thrown wide open in 1980 for hopefuls of both parties.

Kennedy will be only 48 in 1980, still young by presidential standards. If he is re-elected to the Senate in 1976, as he probably will be, he will have had six more years of experience as the senior senator from Massachusetts, counting from now. The Chappaquiddick scandal will be six more years in the past. The heavy family responsibilities, which Kennedy gave as the major reason for his decision not to seek the presidency in 1976, presumably will be lessened.

However, if the Democratic candidate, whoever he will be, wins the election in 1976, it can be assumed that as incumbent president he will be nominated for a second term in 1980, barring death or voluntary retirement.

In that event, it would be 1984 before Kennedy would once again be a talked-about candidate. At 52, he would be a mature if not elder statesman. And Chappaquiddick then would be 15 years in the past.

But even the best presidential timber deteriorates with time. Even the most charismatic personality grows stale.

There have been other men in the country's history who were outstandingly qualified for the presidency, other quadrennial contenders who for one reason or another never caught that gold ring on the merry-go-round, until time and fate passed them by. Henry Clay, John C. Calhoun and Daniel Webster are among those who come to mind.

There is also the possibility that Edward Kennedy simply does not want to be president. Not every man does.

Anyway, as Watergate has so dramatically demonstrated, it is foolhardy to speculate about political fortunes even months into the future, let alone a full decade.

There is always the unexpected, the unforeseeable, which can turn everything upside-down overnight.

THE PUBLIC BROADCASTING Service, sometimes still called educational tv, is the nation's noncommercial television network. Funny thing, through many of the high-quality programs seen over PBS are there because of a very commercial collection of American corporations.

They include such blue-chip companies as Bristol-Myers, Martin-Marietta, IBM, Polaroid, AT&T, Xerox and Minnesota Mining, which underwrite a wide range of public tv programs such as "Masterpiece Theater," "Evening at the Pops" and "Zoom." They do it even though no commercials are permitted and the only mention of the company comes as a credit line at the beginning and end of a program.

New Sponsor

A newcomer this year is Atlantic Richfield, underwriting "In Performance at Wolf Trap," a series of seven music and dance specials taped at Wolf Trap Farm for the Performing Arts near Washington, D.C.

Public television has turned to these major corporations because, as Ward Chamberlain, senior vice president of PBS, says, "At present federal funding levels, we can't support public tv at the quality levels we want."

Corporate grants may range from a few thousand dollars to more than a million and are generally given to a public tv station for the production of a special program or a full series of programs that are then

Open House Held For Outreach Office

Open house was held Wednesday for the new Midland County Area Manpower-Outreach office and training program at the Midland County Courthouse Annex.

County Judge Barbara Culver, along with County Commissioner Win Brown and three officials from the Governor's Office of Community Affairs were featured speakers at the event.

The office, which is staffed by personnel from the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission, is a new operation that will train and counsel both unemployed and on-the-job Midlanders seeking employment advancement.

NEA BRIEFS—It's Strange, But Less Can Be More On Occasion

WASHINGTON (NEA) — When economists talk about "productivity" and the need to increase same to enable the nation to compete with foreign countries, most people picture in their minds an assembly line or factory — workers adjusting so many bolts per hour or machines stamping out so many units of this or that.

Things get fuzziest when we think about productivity in offices or in service jobs or the professions. After all, there's a limit to how many words a secretary can type a minute or how fast a repairman can service a washing machine or how many patients a doctor can see in a day or how much territory a salesman can cover.

But productivity applies to everything, and in some cases it can mean doing less rather than more — fixing a machine right the first time so that it doesn't have to be fixed again, or not typing an unnecessary letter.

As an example of the latter, the publisher of a well-known reference work receives thousands of orders every year from private companies as well as schools and libraries. The orders are filled and invoices sent out. No problem there.

Often, however, the invoices are returned along with a voucher which the publisher must fill out and send back to the purchaser for signature and counter-signature and, eventually, payment.

Sometimes the invoice is returned with a letter or notation advising that it cannot be honored until the publisher requests the official voucher or payment-claim form or whatever, which, when he gets it, must be completed and returned to enable the purchaser to initiate the rest of the process.

A lot of time, paper, postage and effort would be saved if the necessary(?) red tape accompanied an order in the first place so that everything could be handled at one time and in one mailing.

How many other examples are there of similar wasted motion in the business world?

CALL IT A WIG, hairpiece, toupee or cranial doily, the Encyclopaedia Britannica defines it as "an artificial head of hair worn as a personal or theatrical cosmetic adornment, disguise or symbol of office."

According to Ben Z. Kaplan, editor of the "Wigs and Hairpieces" section of the Britannica, Egyptian mummies of both sexes have been found adorned with wigs. The theatrical wig was first used in Greece and later copied by the Romans. But correcting nature's shortchanging of men did not begin in a big way until the 17th century in the court of Louis XIII. From Versailles, the fashion spread throughout Europe.

England followed suit after the Restoration under Charles II when the wearing of the "peruque" (hence the English phrase

TIMELY QUOTES

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

A fanatic sect in India known as the Thugs killed and robbed an estimated two million people from 1550 to 1850. The Thug cult killed victims only by strangulation as part of their religious worship of Kali, goddess of destruction. The sect was suppressed by the British during the 1800s but the word is still commonly used for hoodlums. The World Almanac says.

Biorhythms Research May Aid In Treatment Of Disease

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (AP) — Rhythms that could be of great importance to man are being studied by a doctor here who uses himself as his No. 1 test animal.

Dr. Howard Levine studies biorhythms, or the pattern of biological functions in the human body.

Among questions that he and other biorhythmic researchers ask are: How are workers affected by being switched from a night shift to a day shift? Are medications prescribed at 10 a.m. too large or too small at 2 p.m.? Is there a best time to treat cancer patients?

"Some day," says Levine, chief of medicine and medical education at New Britain General Hospital, "when science is more sophisticated about rhythms, the minute data can be reanalyzed and perhaps contribute to a better understanding of the ways our bodies operate in time."

On trips, the 58-year-old physician takes along a brown suitcase containing instruments he needs to measure his own biorhythms several times daily. He records blood pressure, oral temperature, ability to estimate the passing of 120 seconds, peak respiratory flow, strength of hand grip and eye-hand coordination.

Not a hypochondriac on the prowl for something wrong with himself, Levine says he's driven by curiosity and fascination about the periodic functions of the human body.

He and other researchers are beginning to see clinical applications of their measured discoveries, he says.

For example, there is an optimal time to treat cancer in laboratory animals. Is it possible, he wonders, to shift that time by varying the animal's diet. If so, is the technique applicable to man.

The effectiveness of medications at different times of the day also reveals the importance of knowing about biorhythms, he explains.

For example, he says, female sex hormones are often administered to men to treat cancer of the prostate. The physician must first know the level of male sex hormones in the patient. In most hospitals that level is measured when the patient awakens in the morning.

But there is a rhythm in the level and in the morning it runs 35 to 40 per cent higher than around midnight.

Members of Midland Arts Association will again be featured this season in a series of special gallery shows in the Museum of the Southwest's Lancaster House, 1705 W. Indiana St.

The first show will go on view Saturday, to continue through the remainder of October. Featured artists will be MAA members Doris Spiers, Audrey Larsen and Faye Grissett.

The Lancaster House upstairs gallery will be open to the public between 2 and 5 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays, and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. Admission is free.

Other gallery shows at Lancaster House in coming months will feature art, sculpture and crafts, said MAA president Marian Ford.

LIVE-WIRE — Mary Agnes Thurber, right, a real live-wire if ever there was one, surprises a tipsy maid in the Thurber household in this scene in "Jabberwock," a new comedy being readied for a Friday night opening at Theatre Centre. Gloria Stephenson is seen as Mrs. Thurber and Mary Lou Cassidy plays the maidservant. "Jabberwock," based on the late American humorist James Thurber's recollections of his Ohio boyhood, is a brand-new comedy by playwrights Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee.

'Benji' Not Run-Of-Mill
Dog Movie

"Benji," a new family motion picture opening today at Midland's Howard Hodge Theater, is described by its producers as "unlike any 'dog movie' ever made."

The movie is from Mulberry Square Productions of Dallas, a new entry in the family entertainment field, and "Benji" is the company's first offering.

According to Mulberry Square president Joe Camp, "Benji" is a story-in-film about a dog — but not like any that has gone before it. It is not a story about people and dogs . . . or even a story about dogs as told by people. "Benji" is a story revealed entirely from the dog's level and viewpoint. A subjective film seeking the same identification and emotional involvement that the Disney people get from their animated characters, yet Benji is not animated, he is real. He can't talk — and we can't hear him think — yet by living the story with him, we always know."

"In effect," Camp continued enthusiastically, "Benji" is the first live-action attempt to reach out into an audience and get the same kind of emotional involvement and response that the Disney people have always been able to get with their animation."

Simple Story
Higgins, a dog best-known for his years as a regular on television's "Petticoat Junction," with assistance from his trainer, Frank Inn, plays the part of Benji in the Mulberry Square Production.

"Benji" is the simple yet gripping story of a dog who happens upon some information that certain humans need to know and the complications he encounters in struggling to communicate what he knows to these people.

The problems created in producing this type of picture are almost as unique as the end result. For example, all standard camera support equipment, like tripods and dollies, are all designed to be used for filming from a "people-point-of-view." So Mulberry Square Productions had to design support equipment to allow them to spend twelve weeks with the camera lens about four inches off the ground. "It makes for interesting challenges," Camp said, "when you have to come up with new ways to do things . . . like follow a dog running 35 miles-per-hour with the camera four feet away at his eye level."

Imitates Disney
Mulberry Square is openly trying to follow in Walt Disney's footsteps. Camp agrees that those are pretty big footsteps but says, "Disney is the only major production company in the entertainment world that stands for anything. And Walt himself has probably left more happiness and inspiration behind him than any other individual in modern times! If we can make just a fraction of his mark, then we can say our efforts will have been worthwhile."

"Benji" was filmed on location in and around McKinney, north of Dallas, with Camp producing and directing his own script.

First Sound-On-Film Movie
The first sound-on-film moving picture "Phonofilm" was shown by Lee de Forest at the Rivoli Theatre, New York, N.Y., beginning in April 1923.

Serious Crime In Midland, Odessa Increases Sharply

Serious crime in the Midland and Odessa area has taken a large increase over the last year, according to statistics recently released by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Law enforcement agencies from the two cities released figures to the FBI, who have compiled figures for cities throughout the United States. During the first six months of 1974 serious crime in the nation rose 16 per cent, the largest first-half increase in six years, according to FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley. In Midland 581 more crimes were committed the first six months of this year than were committed in the like period of 1973. This year shows increases in murder, manslaughter, aggravated assault, burglary and auto theft. In 1974 the first six months saw 1,384 crimes committed, while 1973 the same months showed 803. The number of murders almost doubled so far this year as 11 were reported compared to six last year. There were two manslaughter offenses through June, compared to none last year. Two more aggravated assaults were committed this year than the 92 committed during the same time in 1973.

Burglaries increased from 325 to 349 this year, while auto thefts were up by two from 84. Offenses which have decreased the first six months of this year included rape, robbery and larceny theft. During the first six months this year there were seven rapes, compared to eight during the same period last year. Robbery decreased by one over the 15 that were committed in the first half of 1973. Thefts decreased from 883 last year to 823. Odessa has seen even a more serious increase in crime with their total offenses increasing from 1,235 last year to 3,602 this year. The largest increase in crime there has been in larceny thefts with 226 more committed this year than the same period last year. In 1974 there were 2,566 thefts, as compared to 2,340 during 1973.

A's, Dodgers In All-Coast Series

By The Associated Press
Horace Greeley said something about young men seeking their fortunes in the West, and the Los Angeles Dodgers and Oakland A's did just that.

But when they put the baseball championship of California and the world on the line, it'll be very evident that more than 400 miles separate these teams, their styles, and their people.

Item: Charley Finley, nattily-attired and overbearing, walks into the Oakland A's dugout before game time and checks Manager Alvin Dark's lineup card. If Finley doesn't like it he might order a change or two.

Walter O'Malley, chomping on a big cigar, sits in his private box seat, minding his own business, leaving the running of the Los Angeles Dodgers to Walter Alston, who has had the job for 21 years — all on one-year contracts.

The Dodgers are mostly oldtimers — are in the World Series. They meet the rowdy A's, a somewhat modern day Gas House Gang, reminiscent of the St. Louis Cardinals of the 1930s.

Hogs' Twin Shutouts Marks Rare SWC Feat

DALLAS — There were 2.7 miles of real estate gained from scrimmage in six football games involving Southwest Conference teams Saturday — which brings up the subject of the Arkansas defense.

While the six games totaled 4,193 yards and 275 points, the Razorbacks were getting their second successive shutout with a conference-opening 49-0 victory over TCU. It followed the 60-0 mauling of Missouri Valley co-champion Tulsa.

The twin shutouts represent an increasingly rare feat since colleges returned to platoon football in 1964. They were the first back-to-back shutouts registered by a SWC team since Texas blanked Baylor and TCU in 1971, and only the fifth time it has happened.

since the return of the two-platoon game.

Arkansas teams were the authors of the other three. The 1964 team, the first in the two-way era, finished its perfect season with five straight whitewashes and the '65 and '66 Razorback teams also registered double shutouts.

Through four games the Razorback defensive team has yielded just one touchdown. Opponents have run 261 plays at Jon Rhiddlehoover, Dennis Winston and Co. and gained 773 yards, a fraction under three yards per whack. The Razorbacks are allowing 2.8 yards per rushing attempt and 3.4 yards per passing try, while the opposition has completed only 19 of 65 attempts and the Razorbacks have intercepted six.

SMU, which ran up 505 yards on Oregon State, took over the total offense lead at 384 yards per game with Texas, Texas A&M, Arkansas and Texas Tech also over 300 yards an outing. The Longhorns are averaging 5.5 yards per scrimmage play with the Aggies and Raiders also over five per play and SMU and Arkansas at 4.8.

The offenses remain geared to the run as six of the top 10 rushers are getting five yards or more a whack. A&M's Bubba Bean retained the lead he's held all year, averaging 107.5 yards per game.

ACC FORFEITS GRID VICTORY

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — An unnamed transfer student who didn't have enough credits during the previous school year to qualify for the football team has forced Abilene Christian College to forfeit its opening-game victory this season over State College of Arkansas.

ACC President Dr. John C. Stevens announced Wednesday his school's 27-10 victory at Little Rock Sept. 7 will be forfeited because the ineligible player was used for five plays.

The forfeit of the non-conference game drops ACC's season record from 3-1 to 2-2. Its Lone Star Conference record remains at 1-1.

The college learned that the player was ineligible two days after the game.

Reds' Coaching Staff Retained

CINCINNATI (AP) — The coaching staff of the Cincinnati Reds will remain intact next year, President Bob Howsam announced Wednesday.

Joining Manager George "Sparky" Anderson for the 1975 season will be third base coach Alex Grammas, batting coach Ted Kluszewski, first base coach George Scherger and pitching coach Larry Shepard.

Anderson has another year left in his contract, which Howsam extended during the 1973 season.

All four of the coaches have been with Anderson since he joined the Reds in 1970.

Dodger pitchers don't talk like that. Dodger players don't act like Oakland players. They don't have clubhouse fights like the A's, whose superstar Reggie Jackson and young outfielder Bill North got into a brawl this year.

"There's joy at payday," says the 25-year-old Blue. "Baseball is just a job."

This year, the front office came up with two big needs — a power hitting outfielder and a relief ace in the persons of Jimmy Wynn and Mike Marshall — to go along with such young standouts as Garvey, Ron Cey, Bill Russell, Bill Buckner, Davey Lopes, Don Sutton and Andy Messersmith.

And Saturday at Los Angeles, for the first time since 1966, the Dodgers — Dem Bums for you off their controversial pedestal.

Perrin Appointed As Wildcat Aide

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Walter Perrin, a former Northern Illinois basketball star, was named as assistant coach at Northwestern University Wednesday.

Perrin, 24, will replace Dan Davis, who accepted coaching duties last month at Chicago's Kennedy-King Junior College. Perrin played guard on Northern Illinois University's 1971 team that had a 22-4 record to win the Midwestern Conference title.

COLLEGE FORECAST— Oklahoma Over Texas In Free-Scoring Game

NEW YORK (AP) — The War of the Wishbones won't be fought until Saturday in Dallas, but the war of words is already under way between Coaches Darrell Royal of Texas and Barry Switzer of Oklahoma.

"OU should be a heavy favorite," said Royal. "Our inability to stop people on third-and-long drives me up a tree, but I doubt if they will be in many third-and-long situations."

How about that, Coach Switzer?

"Our offense is not going to be able to run against the wind at eight yards a snap. It'll be our execution against their execution."

Look for Oklahoma to move the ball. Look for Texas to move the ball. And look for Oklahoma to win 35-21.

Last week's record was 41 right, 18 wrong and two ties for a 69% percentage.

Oklahoma's 63-0 rout of Wake Forest was called on the nose while two of the three Upset Specials — Kansas over Texas A&M and Duke over Purdue also came through. The season's count is 185-76-8 — 70%.

Since all three Upset Specials came through the previous Saturday, we won't keep you in suspense any longer. The Upset Special of the Week is Vanderbilt 24, Florida 21.

Second Upset Special: Georgia Tech 21, North Carolina 20.

Tar Heels have been up for Maryland and Pitt and are looking ahead a week to N.C. State.

Ohio State 28, Wisconsin 17: This might be the Buckeyes' toughest test before Michigan. Wisconsin's coming off a shocking 50-20 rout of defensive-minded Missouri.

Michigan 31, Michigan State 7: Michigan heads for Madison, Wis., next Saturday and for paydirt this weekend.

Nebraska 24, Missouri 10: Cornhuskers average last year's 13-12 setback.

Notre Dame 38, Rice 0: Ara Parseghian doesn't like Rice Coach Al Conover. That's bad ... for Conover and Rice.

Southern California 21, Washington State 7: Doesn't figure to be anything like last year's 46-35 brouhaha.

Texas A&M 20, Texas Tech 14: But could easily go the other way.

Auburn 17, Kentucky 3: This is the Year of the Tiger ... on offense.

Arkansas 28, Baylor 15: Everybody wants that SWC crown now that Texas has lost a conference game.

Kansas 28, Kansas State 14: Jayhawks play tough defense.

Miami, Ohio 21, Ohio U. 7: Redskins believe in the Post Office motto about swift completion of their appointed rounds and all that.

HUNTING and FISHING

A new record for striped bass at Lake E. V. Spence was established last week by Mike Ross and Maurice Duncan when they landed an 18-lb. specimen. This topped the 15-lb. 4-oz. striper landed in April by C. H. Hogan, Odessa, and even the 17-lb. 1-oz. one caught by state biologists in one of their sample nettings of the lake.

Several other striped bass were caught and C. C. Wier, Robert Lee, fishing with G. M. Bankhead, Robert Lee, came up with a 10-lb. blue cat. If this is not a new record, then it is the second best blue hooked at the lake.

Among other catches, Jim Andefson and Richard Archer, Lamesa, landed seven channel cats for four pounds while Richard Winford and Bruce Batson, Lamesa, took nine channel cats to three pounds.

Some 487 entries gathered to deplete the Lake Amistad bass population at the Permian Bass Club's Invitational Tournament recently and merchants offered $4,500 in prizes as encouragement.

There's a bass tournament every weekend, somewhere, if that's the way you like to fish.

Former Midlander C. M. Hatfield, who runs a fishing lodge on the Colorado River Arm of Lake LBJ at Kingsland, reports that the crappie have been attacking hooks off the dock for the last three weeks. Hatfield lived in Midland 22 years and worked for The Western Company.

Hatfield says a lot of West Texans on the way to college football weekends stop off at LBJ for some fishing.

SPORTS IN BRIEF— Injury Benches Cowens

By The Associated Press
BASKETBALL
BOSTON — All-star center Dave Cowens of the Boston Celtics suffered a broken bone in his right foot Tuesday night and will be lost to the team until the end of November.

TENNIS
DURBAN, South Africa — Basil Reay, secretary of the Davis Cup Nations committee, warned Indian tennis officials that India would risk expulsion from Cup competition if it failed to meet South Africa in the 1974 final.

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Billie Jean King, seeded No. 1, easily disposed of Kristy Pigeon 6-0, 6-3 in second-round play of the $50,000 Phoenix Women's Professional Tennis Tournament.

TOKYO — No. 1 seed John Newcombe of Australia defeated Mitsuru Motoi 6-1, 6-2 in the second round of the $100,000 Japan Open Tennis championships.

MADRID — Top-seeded Guillermo Vilas of Argentina beat Patrick Poisy of France 6-3, 6-3 and second-seeded Bjorn Borg of Sweden ousted Poland's Wojtek Fibak 6-3, 7-5 in the third round of the $75,000 Melia Tennis Tournament.

GOLF
POINT CLEAR, Ala. — Defending champion Glenn Hibbs of Long Beach, Calif. fired a 77 for a share of the first-round lead with Justine Cushing of New York in the 13th annual Senior Women's Amateur Championship, sponsored by the United States Golf Association.

Ford's Pledge To Get Better Gas Mileage Surprises FEA

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's pledge to improve automobile mileage 40 per cent in four years was a jarring surprise to his own Federal Energy

Administration, still coaxing auto makers to agree to a 30 per cent improvement in six years. Ford's proposal Tuesday would require an average fuel use of at least 20 miles per gallon in the 1979 new cars. But FEA officials told a reporter Wednesday that FEA had planned to reach the 20-mile-per-gallon standard either in 1985 through a voluntary program or in 1982 through a mandatory plan for mandatory mileage standards. Ford said in his economic message that he would meet with the auto industry's top management to arrange a 40 per cent improvement within four years "either by agreement or by law."

But if FEA did not originate President Ford's abrupt acceleration of the timetable for auto efficiency, then who did? Said Griskivitch, "I honestly don't know. Ford's speech was the first I heard of it." Ford's shift was so sudden and surprising that FEA program officer Mayo Stuntz, who has estimated the fuel savings expected from FEA auto-efficiency proposals, had no idea how much gasoline Ford's proposal could save. "We don't know what Ford means by that," said Stuntz. "We've been measuring improvement against 1974 car models, but it sounds like the President is taking 1975 models as the base, and that makes a lot of difference because they already have gained 13.5 per cent in fuel economy over last year."

Stock Analysts In Mood Of Pessimism, Uncertainty

DETROIT (AP) — A mood of pessimism and uncertainty has dominated a semi-annual meeting of stock analysts. Reflecting the gloom on Wall Street, one analyst said his colleagues were searching for the catalyst "that will turn this herd of bears heading for the cliff."

buying bars of gold to put under their beds." The analysts are market advisers, and an unusually large number of top executives from major companies attended the conference, partly to boost confidence in their industries and firms.

Resistance Strong
But by and large, they ran into strong resistance. "At last night's cocktail party, it became clear that anyone here with over $100 million to invest is sitting on the sidelines, waiting for something to happen," said Frank Cappiello Jr., president of Monumental Capital Management Inc.

Attendance Down
And attendance at the conference was down proportionately. Only about 325 analysts paid the $265 registration for the four-day fall conference, down from 800 a year ago.

People Puzzled
"The people I've met here are puzzled," said Ted Lilley, president of the 14,000-member federation. "They're gritting their teeth and talking about the catalyst?" he said. "Somewhere along the line, something will turn this herd of bears heading for the cliff." The analysts agreed generally that by rights there should be as much — or perhaps more — work for the analysts in bad times as good. In fact, many smaller investors simply pulled out of the market in bad times. "Incomes in our area are down," said Lilley, of New York.

Doubts Raised
But the reactions of FEA officials raised doubts that this goal could be achieved that fast either way.

They also raised the unanswered question: who really is running energy activities these days?

Peter Griskivitch, director of FEA's Vehicle Efficiency Program, has been negotiating plans to improve gasoline mileage ever since FEA Administrator John C. Sawhill proposed the idea to auto executives in a series of personal meetings last summer.

Program Still Forming
Griskivitch said the companies still were asking a lot of questions and FEA was trying to answer them. The whole program, he said, "is still in the

Woman Bitten At Elvis Concert But Attacker Has Bald Spot Now

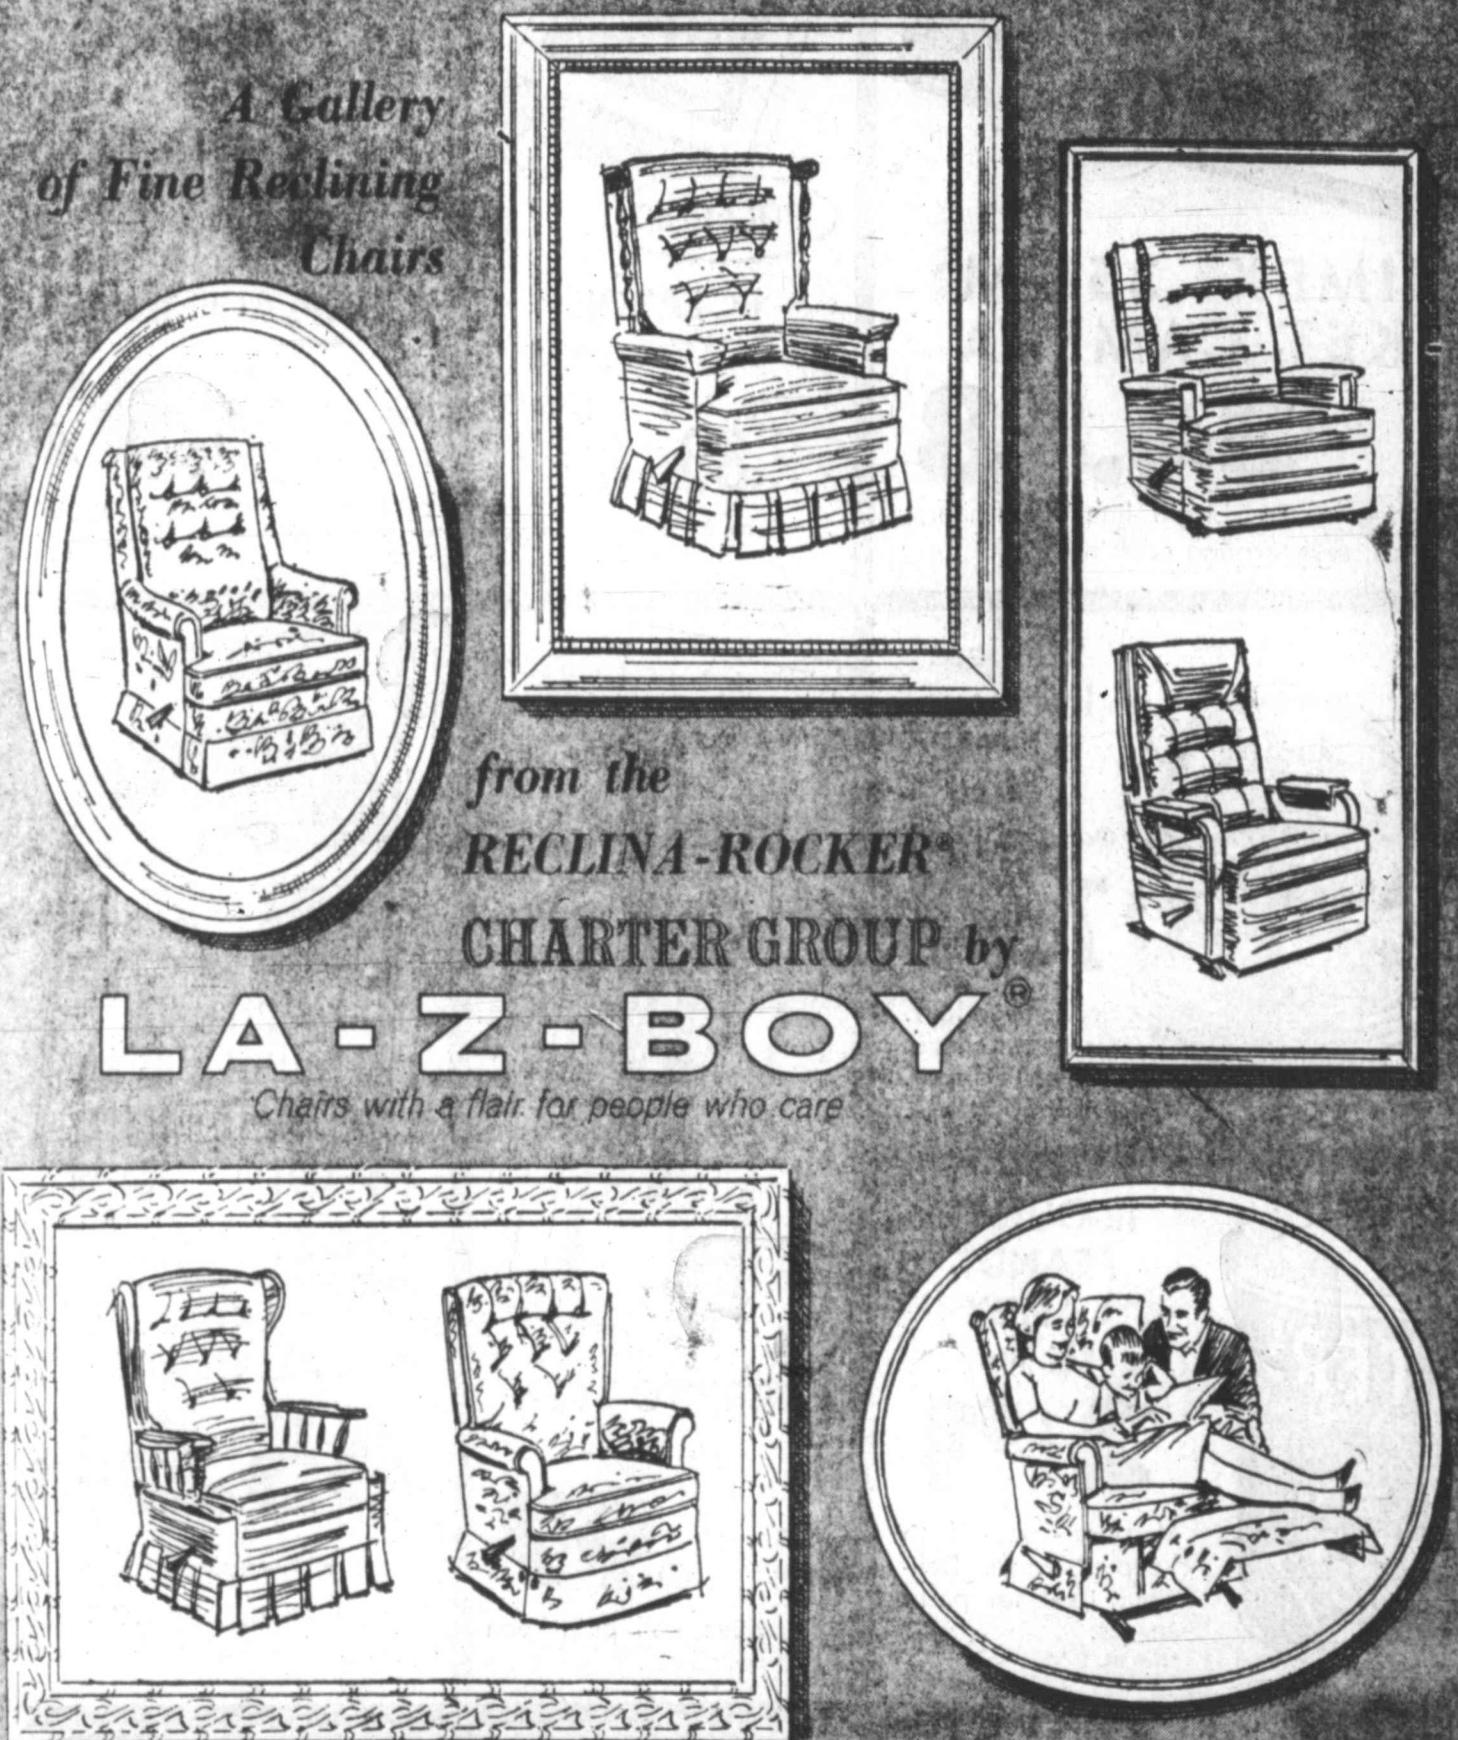

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — It perhaps was a case of biting the hand that is fighting you.

The woman told Hooks she was bitten by another woman in a scuffle in front of the stage after Elvis threw out one of his neck scarves, a customary part of his act.

Patrolman Billy Hook reported Wednesday a woman, 27, was given a tetanus shot at a local hospital following Tuesday night's Elvis Presley concert before a packed coliseum.

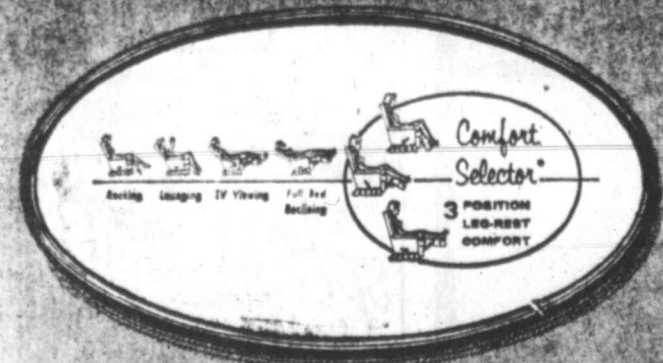

"Elvis threw a scarf to her," Hooks wrote in his report, "and the fight was started with many screaming women attempting to obtain the scarf." The woman "stated she had the scarf but another woman bit her hand, forcing her to release the precious item," Hook wrote. The woman told Hook her attacker could be identified "by a bald spot on her head" which the bitten woman inflicted on her.
