Pecos Draws Two Probes, Upton, One

Pecos County drew sites for two of three wildcats planned in West Texas sectors.

Brown & Lawhorn of Midland intend to drill an 8,000-foot searcher in Pecos, 3 1/2 miles northeast of Bakersfield. It is No. 1 University.

Drill site is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 10, block 16, ULS, one location east of the marginal one-well Phil Hayes (Ciseco) field.

Shallow Test

Credo Oil & Gas, Inc. of Olathe, will drill No. 1-AA Olix as a 3,800-foot prospector, 3/4 mile north of the firm's No. 1 Olix, Pecos County Clearfork gas discovery, completed in June.

It spots 660 feet from northeast and 2,204 feet from northwest lines of section 29, block 2, H&TC survey, 11 miles northwest of Girvin.

It also is 3/4 mile northwest of the firm's No. 1 Mueller-State, opener of the one-well Kathlynn (Tubb) oil field.

Credo's oil strike, No. 1 Mueller-State, was completed in March for 30 barrels of oil and 15 barrels of water per day, through perforations at 3,614-3,636 feet and the gas discovery was completed in June, for 4 million cubic feet of gas per day, from open hole at 3,532-3,632 feet.

Upton Project

Brown & Lawhorn also will drill No. 1-A University as a 7,000-foot Permian venture in southeast Upton, 11 miles southeast of Rankin.

It spots 1,320 feet from south and west lines of section 4, block 5, ULS, 1/2 mile southeast of the depleted one-well Hugelene (Fusselman) oil pool and one location northwest of a 11,608-foot failure.

Marlin Discovery Continues Testing

KCM Oil Co., Midland, No. 1-A Mabee, assured dual Silurian pay opener and fifth Ellenburger producer and 3/4-mile northwest extension to that pay in the Lacaff field of Martin County, flowed 200 barrels of oil in 18 1/2 hours, from the Silurian.

Flow was through a 7-64-inch choke and perforations at 12,736-12,740 feet. Testing continued.

It assured production from the Ellenburger with the flowing of 309 barrels of oil in 24 hours, through perforations at 13,284-13,290 feet.

Operator set 5 1/2-inch casing at 13,315 feet, total depth.

Location is 1,960 feet from north and east lines of section 8, block 39, T-2-N, G&MM&A survey, 20 miles north of Midland.

Zone Confirmation Finals In Runnels

The Briley field of Runnels County gained its second Gardner sand well and 3/8-mile east extension to that pay with completion of James K. Anderson, Midland, No. 1 Briley.

It finished for a daily flowing potential of 240 barrels of 41-gravity oil, no water, with gas. (Continued On Page 13B)

Cover-Up Trial Jury Selected

Prosecution Due To Begin Case Layout Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — A jury of nine women and three men was chosen today to hear the Watergate cover-up trial. Racially the jurors consist of eight blacks and four whites.

For the first nine days of the trial, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica had questioned hundreds of potential jurors on what they know and think about Watergate.

The tedious and painstaking process was the result of Sirica's fears that two years of news coverage of the Watergate scandals may have persuaded many prospective jurors that the defendants were guilty before the trial began.

Alternates Being Picked While the 12 members of the jury itself have been picked, prosecution and defense lawyers continued picking an additional six alternates in Sirica's crowded courtroom.

Once that is completed, the jurors and alternates are to be taken home to make personal preparations for the trial, which is expected to last three or four months. The jurors are to be housed in a nearby motel and will be allowed no contact with anyone else outside the presence of U.S. marshals.

Completion of the lengthy jury selection process clears the way for Watergate prosecutors to lay out their case against the defense beginning Monday.

After Sirica made one last request to the jurors to declare any reason why they might be unable to serve, they were sworn in. They shared three Bibles while the five defendants stood facing them.

The jurors pledged to "well and truly try" the defendants, who are accused of attempting to smother the investigation into the original Watergate burglary.

Sometimes one-by-one and sometimes in groups, Sirica spent 10-hour days in his closed courtroom seeking out jurors sufficiently unbiased by two years of news coverage of the Watergate scandals.

Watergate prosecutors remain fearful that many potential jurors are reluctant to convict the defendants, three of whom were former President Richard M. Nixon's closest assistants.

In court papers, the prosecutors said many called to jury duty were troubled that Nixon's (See COVER-UP Page 2A)

Kissinger Brings Mission To Syria

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger brought his Middle East peace mission to Syria today amid Palestinian denunciations, an accidental gunshot and signs his talks in Egypt accomplished less than he had hoped for.

The secretary's arrival was delayed half an hour by an accidental discharge of a submachine gun aboard his U.S. Air Force jetliner. A Secret Service agent suffered minor wounds in the scalp and right forearm.

Kissinger immediately began talks with President Hafez Assad after ceremonies at Damascus Airport. It was expected to be the secretary's toughest negotiation session.

In other Middle East developments: —In Moscow, Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev declared in a televised address clearly timed to coincide with Kissinger's trip that the continued occupation of Arab territory is a "powder keg that can explode at any moment."

—In Jerusalem, Premier Yitzhak Rabin called a special cabinet meeting to prepare for Kissinger's weekend visit, and sources said the Israeli government was making last-minute decisions on Israeli demands in future peace talks with the Arabs.

Blackout Imposed U.S. officials who usually brief newsmen on board Kissinger's plane imposed a virtual blackout on details of his conversations with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat. But a clear impression emerged that Kissinger accomplished less than he had hoped for in Cairo.

Although reporters saw a map being carried into Sadat's residence during Kissinger's talks with the Egyptian leader, U.S. officials insisted that only "general concepts" were discussed and indicated no breakthroughs.

Leads by Egyptian government officials, widely reported in Beirut and other Arab capitals, said Kissinger told Sadat it would be impossible to arrange an Arab-Israeli peace conference in Geneva for the near future.

As an alternative, Kissinger was said to have proposed lower-level negotiations in Washington between the Egyptian, Syrian, Jordanian and Israeli foreign ministers.

Sadat was reported to have rejected this proposal outright, saying it was a return to the no-war, no-peace stalemate that led to the last Arab-Israeli war in October 1973.

The submachine gun incident occurred when the Israeli-made weapon toppled from a rack in the rear of the plane as it taxied at Cairo Airport. Kissinger hurried to the front cabin as the wounded agent, Walter Botage of Alexandria, Va., called out: "Don't worry about me. Check the secretary."

Wilson favors keeping close ties with the United States. With 618 of 635 seats decided, the Labor party held 318 seats, Edward Heath's Conservatives 273, the Liberals 9, and splinter groups 18.

Even before the results were official, Wilson declared, "I will soon be forming my fourth administration." He is the first man in this century to serve four times as Britain's prime minister.

Wilson, looking relaxed but tired after staying up most of the night watching the returns, flew into London from his home district near Liverpool as computer projections predicted a five-seat majority for Labor in Parliament when all returns are in.

The Labor party has been in power with a minority government since last February when a narrow Labor electoral victory returned Wilson as prime minister, and ousted Heath.

Both major parties campaigned mainly on inflation and other economic problems. Britain has an annual inflation rate of 16.9 per cent and expects this year a foreign trade deficit of $10 billion.

Labor also has pledged to call for elections within a year on whether Britain should remain in the Common Market. Wilson generally has advocated bringing Britain closer to the United States rather than swinging sharply toward Europe.

Tower Slates Visit To City

Sen. John Tower will visit Midland Saturday and Sunday to promote the candidacies of two Republicans vying for statewide office.

Tower will attend a reception from 11:45 a.m.-1:30 p.m. Saturday in the Petroleum Club. He will be accompanied by Zack Fisher, who is running for Texas agriculture commissioner.

The senator will return to Midland Sunday to be featured speaker at a barbecue honoring Jim Granberry, the GOP gubernatorial nominee.

Jack Warren of Tyler, formerly of Midland, the Republican state chairman, will also attend the event.

The barbecue, to be held in the Rich Air Co. hangar at Midland Air Terminal, will last from 1-5 p.m. A country and western band will perform. Tickets are $4 for adults and $2 for children.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ignoring the threat of a presidential veto, the House today rejected a Senate-approved resolution that would have postponed for 60 days a threatened cutoff of military aid to Turkey. The vote was 187 to 171.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury William E. Simon said today consumers will be the ultimate beneficiaries of President Ford's anti-inflation proposals.

FORT WORTH (AP) — West Texas Chamber of Commerce directors adopted a resolution today aimed indirectly at halting a proposed slaughter of Texas dairy cattle.

opposition parties have frustrated his efforts to enact such legislation since he formed his minority government.

Political observers predicted that Thursday's vote will open the way for Labor to push through measures like a tax-rich proposal aimed at families worth more than $250,000 and nationalization of some private industries. In return, Labor has pledged to try to make unions exercise voluntary restraint in wage demands.

Wilson, looking relaxed but tired after staying up most of the night watching the returns, flew into London from his home district near Liverpool as computer projections predicted a five-seat majority for Labor in Parliament when all returns are in.

Three Workers Hurt At Fire On Well Site

Three Odessa oil field workers were burned seriously this morning in a flash fire on an oil lease in the Spraberry Trend field four miles south of Spraberry and about 18 miles east of Midland.

The accident occurred before 8 a.m. today and all three victims were rushed to Midland Memorial Hospital by private vehicle.

Listed in serious condition with burns over 65 per cent of his body is William Morgan, 22. Hospital spokesman said Morgan was being prepared for surgery at Midland Memorial Hospital late this morning, and would be transferred to Brooke Burn Center at San Antonio later today.

Burned over 30 per cent of his body is Aellis Wilkerson, 18. Hospital spokesman said his condition was undetermined late this morning.

Jimmy Lance, 30, was placed in the intensive care unit of the hospital, with burns over 10 per cent of his body. Hospital spokesman said that Lance's condition had not been determined, but noted that his burns were confined mostly to his hands and face.

Midland Fire Department personnel received the well site fire call at 8:15 a.m. and rushed units to the scene. Fire reports stated the flash fire was confined to an oil transport truck which had been parked near the workover rig on the Amerada Hess Corp., McClintock lease. Firemen were unable to determine how the fire ignited.

Old Farmer's Almanac(k) Predicts Food Shortages And Bone-Chilling Winter

DUBLIN, N.H. (AP) — A food shortage, a bone-chilling winter and a searing summer are in store for 1975, according to the Old Farmer's Almanac(k), which has been predicting American weather with a claim of 80 per cent accuracy for 182 years.

The 183rd annual edition of the almanac — not to be confused with The Farmer's Almanac, a mere 158 years old — says, "Mother Nature is still in charge and we only try to forecast what is already ordained."

Last year's almanac predicted the drought in several areas of the country and the mild winter of 1974.

The almanac's weather tables, that begin with November, predict a generally warm Thanksgiving and a cold Christmas, even in Florida, for 1974.

But there will be a snowy Thanksgiving in the Rockies and Pacific Northwest and a white Christmas is likely in parts of the Northeast, Great Lakes and Great Plains, the almanac says.

And the Old Farmer's Almanac(k) disagrees with the Farmers' Almanac's forecast of an average winter.

The Old Farmer's Almanac(k)'s predictions by "Abe Weatherwise" use a secret formula developed by its first editor and takes into account sun spots, moon phases, jet streams and ocean currents.

The Farmer's Almanac, published in neighboring Maine, gets its forecasts from Harry Buie, an Inverness, Fla., astronomer whose system is keyed to the sun, moon and planets.

The editors of the two almanacs are generally friendly, but "it gets a little less than friendly about this time of year" when new editions are printed, says Rob Trowbridge, the Old Farmer's Almanac (k)'s publisher.

Mills Says He's Embarrassed, Humiliated

FANNE FOXE — This is a photograph of Fanne Foxe published in advertisements of a Washington nightclub called the Silver Slipper in July 1973. In its today's editions, the Washington Post published this picture saying that, according to three sources, Annabell Battistella danced at the Silver Slipper under the stage name Fanne Fox during July 1973. Mrs. Battistella was one of the women allegedly involved in the Mills incident early Monday. (AP Wirephoto.)

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills has described himself as embarrassed and humiliated by his involvement in an episode during which a woman jumped into the Washington Tidal Basin. He says he is returning to work at the Capitol and then will resume his re-election campaign.

The Arkansas Democrat, 65-year-old chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and long considered one of the most powerful and respected members of Congress, had not been seen on Capitol Hill this week.

his speeding, unlighted car, driven by someone else, early Monday. They said a woman passenger "obviously intoxicated" emerged and that Mills stepped out of the car with his face bleeding and smelling of alcohol. They identified the woman as Annabell Battistella.

No charges were filed in the incident.

In a written statement on Thursday, Mills said Mrs. Battistella was one of a party of neighbors and friends he was entertaining, that she became ill, he tried to have her taken home, there was a struggle and her elbow broke his glasses, causing facial cuts.

Mills' administrative assistant, Oscar Eugene Goss, said Tuesday that Mills had told him he was not in the automobile and knew nothing of the episode. Mills said in his statement that Goss had misunderstood him when he said merely that a news account of the affair was inaccurate. Goss agreed in a separate statement.

In his statement, Mills said he and his wife Polly became close friends of Mrs. Battistella and her husband Eduardo when the Millses moved to a suburban apartment complex in Arlington, Va., where the Battistellas already had an apartment.

Mills said the events of Sunday evening and Monday morning began when he arranged a bon voyage party for Gloria Sanchez, a cousin and house guest of the Battistellas, who was returning to her native Argentina.

Because Mrs. Mills had a broken foot, he said, they could not entertain at home and at Mrs. Mills' insistence he arranged to "take our friends to a public place we had frequented before."

His statement did not specifically mention drinking, but continued, "We then visited another public place and after a few refreshments Mrs. Battistella became ill and I enlisted the help of others in our group to assist me in seeing her safely home."

"The man I asked to drive was unfamiliar with my car and among other things in the glare of the lighted streets neglected to turn on the headlights," Mills said.

Mills said, "As we proceeded home, she (Mrs. Battistella) attempted to leave the car and I attempted to prevent it. In the ensuing struggle her elbow hit my glasses and broke them, resulting in a number of small cuts around my nose.

"About this time, the car was stopped by the Park Service and Mrs. Battistella was able to open the door and leave the car. The next thing I knew she was in the water."

Mills' account did not say why Mrs. Battistella was trying to leave the car and she has been unavailable for comment. Police said she was attempting suicide.

Justice Department Sends Lawyers To Assist Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Five Justice Department lawyers have been assigned here to insure prompt enforcement of federal civil rights laws in connection with court-ordered school busing.

The FBI announcement Thursday night came after what Gov. Francis W. Sargent called a "relatively quiet" day in Boston.

City officials said there were few of the incidents of violence which have marked the first four weeks of a U.S. District Court plan to desegregate Boston public schools by busing 18,200 of 92,000 pupils.

Probing Alleged Violations

James O. Newpher, special agent in charge of the Boston FBI office, said the FBI has been investigating alleged civil rights violations and cases of possible interference with Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr.'s busing order.

eral assistance is justified only when a condition of riot and rebellion exists in our streets and when local authority has collapsed," he said.

At least eight persons were injured in busing-related violence Thursday, none of them seriously, according to police and the mayor's office.

School officials reported city-wide attendance Thursday was 65 per cent, compared with 60 per cent on Wednesday.

pardon allowed him to go free while the others faced prosecution for the attempt to suppress the investigation into the original Watergate burglary.

Nonetheless, Todd Christofferson, Sirica's law clerk, said Thursday night that a pool of 45 persons had been sifted out for the final phase of jury selection. Once the group of 45 is asked a few questions today, Sirica is to open the courtroom to public and press for the first time since last Wednesday.

In the final step of picking the jury, defense and prosecution lawyers are to make eliminations based solely on their feeling that one person or another would be unsympathetic to their cause.

Sirica's impatience to get on with the trial is indicated by his decision to hold court Monday, which is Columbus Day and a federal holiday.

The five Nixon subordinates on trial in the conspiracy case are former presidential aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman; former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell; and two former officials of the 1972 Nixon re-election committee, Robert C. Mardian and Kenneth W. Parkinson.

New officers of the Chopin Junior Music Club affiliated with Texas Federation of Music Clubs elected officers at a recent meeting.

Named were Jimmy O'Neill, president; Debbie Chafin, vice president; Cheri Hunter, secretary; Lori Westbrook, treasurer; and Tammy James, reporter. Mrs. Hans Rowek is the club counselor.

Welcomed as new members were Karen Kuykendall, Melinda Guidry and Joan Thummel.

Mrs. Ford Leaves Hospital Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — First Lady Betty Ford is being discharged from Bethesda Naval Medical Center today, two weeks after cancer caused the removal of her right breast.

Mrs. Ford, 56, obtained her surgeon's approval to be released from the hospital. She will continue her recuperation at the White House.

"We have sent some information to Washington for a decision on what further action to take," Newpher said in an interview Thursday. "When the lawyers arrive tomorrow, we'll present our information to them, and they will expedite whatever action is necessary."

Meanwhile, Mayor Kevin H. White said he would not support a wider busing plan until the federal government gives a better guarantee of safety for school children here. He accused President Ford of inflaming resistance to integration.

No White House Response

There was no direct White House response to White's remarks, but a spokesman said citizens should obey the court's ruling. The spokesman also said law and order in Boston is a state and city responsibility.

Ford told a news conference Wednesday that, while the law must be obeyed, he disagreed with Garrity's order.

White said Ford's statement would lead to further disruption "and will endanger the safety of our school children in the state and city responsibility."

State and Metropolitan District Commission police replaced the Tactical Patrol Force of the Boston police in the white, Irish South Boston section for the first time Thursday. The 450 new police patrolled the section, a center of anti-busing sentiment, after Garrity ordered White to seek such aid from Sargent.

While the Boston School Department is drawing up plans for the second phase of school integration, White said he would not support it without greater federal safety guarantees for school children.

Odessa Tops United Way Drive Goal

ODESSA — United Way officials here have announced their three-week campaign has surpassed Odessa's goal with a total of $408,623 pledged to the cause.

This marks the first time in nine years the United Way of Odessa has even reached its goal.

Announcement of the campaign's success came Thursday night from campaign chairman Bill Hutcheson at the "victory dinner."

The goal set for Odessa was pegged at $400,000, and the community response represents a 102.1 per cent response.

At the dinner, Beauford "Bo" Jones, United Way executive director, praised Odessa and its citizens, calling the campaign a "tremendous success."

Jones termed the effort "success for helping people and now we can help them more than ever. That's what United Way is all about."

into parts of North Central Texas later Saturday.

Midland's weather will be slightly cooler Saturday, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Air Terminal.

Forecasters are expecting a high Saturday in the mid-70s, compared to today's predicted top reading in the low 80s and Thursday's 82-degree high. The low will be near 60. Today's low was 61.

The weatherman also gave the area a 30 per cent chance of showers and thunderstorms tonight and Saturday.

Temperatures near dawn dipped to 57 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle and 58 at Longview in East Texas while it was still 71 at McAllen in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Thursday's top marks went as high as a warm 56 at Laredo on the Mexican border. The Associated Press reported.

Oklahoma Cattlemen To Meet With Butz On Woes

By The Associated Press

Several representatives of southern Oklahoma cattlemen will meet with U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz next Wednesday to discuss the problems facing the cattle industry.

Rudy Dockray, farm director at television station KXII in Sherman, Tex., said Thursday night that he, House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., U.S. Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., and several other Oklahoma political leaders would participate.

The meeting was spurred by threats from cattle groups in Oklahoma and Texas to publicly slaughter livestock in protest of high production costs and low market prices.

Aircraft Makes Belly Landing At Terminal

A twin-engine private aircraft made a belly landing Thursday afternoon at Midland Regional Air Terminal and the pilot, Pete Doye of Velma, Okla., was uninjured.

The Midland Fire Department's emergency fire and rescue unit at Terminal stood by while the plane made its landing.

Investigators said this morning they had not determined why the wheels of the plane failed to lower into landing position.

Firemen said the plane received only light damage to its fuselage.

test of high production costs and low market prices.

A nine-point plan to be presented to Butz includes requests for a 180-day moratorium on the import of meats; return to the 1964 meat import act, and the use of beef instead of money in foreign aid.

Also the cattlemen want the farmer's loan program modified to a "workable plan," or scrapped completely.

Meanwhile, a group of southeastern Oklahoma cattlemen met in Ada Thursday to discuss their problems.

Jim Goodwin, deputy commissioner in the state Department of Agriculture, told the Concerned Cattlemen of Oklahoma they must organize tightly and stick together in their fight.

Goodwin endorsed the plan to be presented to Butz but added a few suggestions of his own.

He called for a moratorium on the import of both beef and dairy products and recommended a drive to educate the consumer to the problems facing the cattle industry.

Goodwin said the program to be presented to Butz also calls for close supervision of grain exports, but added he disagreed with that entirely.

He also said: "There should be immediate changes in the grading of beef."

"Federal purchases of beef should be restricted to carcass beef of less than 450 pounds; thereby forcing the government to buy smaller steers and help reduce the over-supply of young beef which Goodwin said is keeping the market low.

"There should be pressure put on retailers to cut their margin of profit. He said "15 cents could be pulled off their margin."

—He called for a change in federal legislation to allow farmers and cattlemen to use more pesticides and growth hormones such as DES.

Crosstimbers Beef, Dairy Protesters Discuss Plans For Delayed Slaughter

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Cattle producers, their demands for help still unsatisfied, met here today to discuss plans to slaughter hundreds of calves as a protest against economic conditions.

A delegation of cattlemen met Thursday with Gov. Dolph Briscoe in Houston, where the governor addressed the County Judges and Commissioners Association meeting.

"We told the governor we will have to have action by Monday or Tuesday or it will be too late," said James Tra-week, president of the Crosstimbers Beef and Dairy Association of Stephenville.

The calf slaughter was originally scheduled for Oct. 2 but Texas Agriculture Commissioner John White negotiated a two-week delay with the 400 dairy men and ranchers.

White arranged the meeting with Briscoe Thursday.

"I am absolutely opposed to killing calves," White said. "That is no solution to a desperate problem. On the other hand, there is no law against killing your own calves."

Traweck said the real problem is the high cost of feed coupled with low beef prices.

"If the feed prices were in line with beef prices, we could live with it," he said.

"It's a big poker game right now and if the government doesn't call our hand, the government will lose some chips and we will too," Traweck said.

Briscoe said he telephoned Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., after the meeting. Poage is chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

"Congressman Poage will see Secy. of Agriculture Earl Butz on Friday and request that a top official from the department come to Texas and meet with dairy and beef producers late this week or early next week," the governor said.

The ranchers had requested meeting with President Ford but were turned down.

"We don't want to kill but we had to take a dramatic action to get attention," Traweck said.

"Hopefully we can get someone to Stephenville to convince the producers this is not the right approach."

"If something positive doesn't happen, I don't think I can get the slaughter stopped," Traweck added. "And other states such as Oklahoma, Missouri, Colorado and Wisconsin are talking about similar protests. It could end up like dominoes."

Grain Crop Losses To Hike Meat Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — A big loss in grain crops this year because of bad weather will send meat prices up again next year but has stirred debate in the Ford administration about how food prices will act overall next season.

The Agriculture Department said Thursday the corn crop will be 6 per cent less than forecast a month ago, mainly because of killer frosts. And it will be down 16 per cent from the record 1973 harvest.

Soybeans, another livestock feed needed to produce the nation's meat, milk and poultry, will be 4 per cent less than the September estimate and down 13 per cent from last year.

Don Paarlberg, USDA director of economics, said the reduced harvests — even further below what experts had expected six months ago — will mean higher meat prices next year.

In other economic developments Thursday:

Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur F. Burns said the nation is in a recession — an assessment contradicting the one stated by President Ford at his Wednesday news conference — although he disagreed with those who forecast a deepening recession in the year ahead.

The House and Senate approved a compromise package fits that would increase most payments to veterans by almost 23 per cent.

—The Senate passed unanimously an emergency housing bill under which $7.75 billion in government funds could be pumped into the home mortgage market.

—President Ford urged his cabinet officers to find further budget reductions to hold fiscal 1975 spending to $300 billion or below.

—Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, head of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, issued a statement denouncing Ford's proposed 5 per cent income tax surcharge for middle- and upper-income families.

—The Senate passed a bill to double the size of savings accounts which qualify for full coverage under federal deposit insurance.

Briscoe Orders Chancellor To Explain Spurr Discharge

HOUSTON (AP) — The chancellor of The University of Texas system will either provide an explanation of the firing of the president of The University of Texas at Austin or answer to Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

Briscoe told reporters here Thursday he will give Chancellor Charles LeMaistre an opportunity to make a public explanation about the firing of President Dr. Stephen Spurr.

Earlier Thursday, LeMaistre's office in Austin said a "comprehensive" statement was being prepared on Spurr's firing and probably would be released within several days.

Neither LeMaistre nor the regents of the school, who backed him with an 8-0 vote, have said why the president was ousted from his post after three years as president of the school.

Briscoe said Thursday he hopes LeMaistre's statement must explain the circumstances of the firing.

"If it is not, certainly I would use the powers provided to the governor by the state constitution to require a written statement from any official to any state institution to explain his actions."

"I'm convinced he will do this because it is in the best interest of The University of Texas," Briscoe said of LeMaistre's coming statement. "I think that in a public institution the stockholders are the people of this state and the people have a right to know and I'm going to see that they do."

"I'm willing and think it is only right to give them a reasonable length of time," he added.

"But I do think the facts must be met and I hope it will not be necessary and I do not think as of now that it will be necessary to use that constitutional power. But if it is, I certainly will," Briscoe said.

If re-elected in November, Briscoe will appoint three persons to the nine-member board of regents in January.

He said Thursday he wouldn't make a decision on appointments until December but added, "I believe in accountability in so far as any state agency is concerned, so naturally, I would assume anyone appointed would feel the same way about it."

Starch-Laden Corn Being Grown More Now

By JOE MCGOWAN Jr.
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Waxy maize has been a "sleeper" on the American agricultural front?

Some midwestern farmers and agricultural experts say it has. They say this strain of corn, whose kernels are heavily laden with starch, can do as much for agriculture as the heralded high-yield strains of wheat and rice.

Waxy maize corn first came into prominence early in World War II, when the Japanese cut off shipping which brought in tapioca.

Acres devoted to the maize has gone up steadily as more uses were found for its refined products.

These include adhesives, starches, resins, chemicals, thickener for soups, corn sugar in soft drinks, binder for aspirin, salad dressing, and pie fillers, especially for frozen pies.

M. L. McClatchey, manager of field agents for National Starch and Chemical Corp., said the biggest user of their product today is the bottled baby food industry. "It thickens the food and it won't mask the flavor."

Looming on the horizon now, however, is the possibility that waxy maize may become an important livestock feed. This could change the entire marketing concept of the specialized grain.

McClatchey said tests at the University of Illinois by Dr. Everett Hatfield indicate cattle and sheep gain weight 10 per cent more efficiently on waxy maize than on regular corn.

He said another noted agricultural school, Purdue University at West Lafayette, Ind., hasn't committed itself to this thesis yet.

Charles Norton, a Franklin, Ind., farmer, says a neighbor of his has had extremely good results feeding waxy maize to his pigs. "My neighbor tells me his hogs like it better than regular corn," Norton said when interviewed at a meeting of Illinois and Indiana farmers who contract to grow waxy maize.

Asked how it tastes to humans, Norton said it would taste like sweet corn if picked early, before the natural sugars have turned to starch.

Norton puts all 1,000 of his farm acres to waxy maize and has contracted all of it to National Starch in the past seven years.

"You get a 12 per cent premium over local corn rates and you get reduced cost of seed," he said, adding "National Starch also pays 1.5 cents per bushel per month for a farmer to store the corn after Jan. 1, if they can't take it all from you at harvest."

National Starch has several plants around the country, but the largest, employing 600 people, is in Indianapolis. It processes 12 million bushels of waxy maize per year.

Buying Patterns Undergoing Change At Neighborhood Sales

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Tag sales have been a joy for the mobile society moving hither and yon. They've been great places to find little odds and ends for the new house with that extra den or sun room that needs to be furnished. And they've been great conveniences when one must move quickly and unload excess objects.

But many neighborhood sales are not what they used to be. There was a time "you could sell ice skates in the tropics" as one perennial tag sale visitor put it. Browsers bought things just for the fun of it. Now there is less interest in buying anything that isn't needed. At one recent sale the going request was for ladders, tools, sewing machines — reflecting the times — and one man inquired about an attachment case. But they all wanted the items for a pittance, and one man said that at another sale he had turned down a good lawn mower (power) at $20.

Few people seem to be buying little treasures to tuck into the dark recesses of their basements awaiting a day of resale and profit. And there is less chance of finding such things as a little chicken bone dish (Flowing Blue) for 10 cents. Buyers and sellers know more about the value of such things.

Professionally conducted sales fare better. Their mailing lists are directed to dealers, collectors and regular sale followers who are seeking certain things and are often willing to pay top dollar.

After visiting a number of tagging sales, one woman divested herself of furnishings at rock-bottom prices. She had noted things weren't selling and she had to get rid of a great many things.

A good little chaise lounge was sold for $10, straightback chairs for $1 each and a fairly new used sofa bed for $30, worth far more. Even so, early in the day she reduced the bed by $10.

If it is imperative that you might sell furnishings now, you might keep these tips in mind based on her recent experience. She suggests:

... One might get a better price for individual things by advertising choice items in advance of a tag sale, stressing quality and good condition. That way you should reach people who need those particular things. If that merchandise doesn't sell, it could be lumped in the general sale along with the kitchen ware and old Christmas decorations.

... Visit tag sales for a few weeks before you schedule your own. Note the prices in your community. It will provide you with a good idea in assessing the value of your own things.

At some sales she had noted that several people couldn't afford to buy things they really needed.

... If you are involved in a neighborhood sale at another's home, avoid carting big pieces of furniture that must be lugged home if they are not sold.

Carry with you those things that can be put in boxes, shopping bags and the like so that they may be easily transported. Big things could be included in the advertisement and you could make private appointments with those people who inquire about specific items.

Exiled Soviet Cellist Deplores Exhibit Disruption

BONN, Germany (AP) — Last month's disruption of an open air art exhibit by Soviet authorities was shameful, says Soviet cellist Mstislav Rostropovich.

However, in an interview published in the German magazine Der Stern, he said detente has resulted in a general improvement of conditions for artists in Russia.

And Rostropovich, 47, who lives in London in self-imposed exile, said increasing criticism of Soviet policies by Russian artists is a sign of progress.

President Dances At Fund-Raiser

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP) — President Ford took to the dance floor at a crowded Republican fund-raising dinner.

His partners Wednesday night were Mary Scranton, wife of former Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, and Marilyn Lewis, wife of GOP gubernatorial candidate Drew Lewis.

The President danced the polka with Mrs. Scranton, then shifted to the jitterbug for his dance with Mrs. Lewis as the band played "Sentimental Journey."

Ancient Idea May Solve New Problem

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Bill and Genny Davenport, in an effort to employ an ancient means of transportation to meet a modern problem, have come up with the pedicab.

They have purchased five of the pedicabs, a bicycle version of the rickshaw, once common in the Orient. The cabs are equipped to haul two persons between the University of Oregon and downtown Eugene.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Bugged By Beetles On Her Rose Bushes

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprises Association

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — Do the beetles that appear on rose bushes go into the ground to destroy the roots? If so, how does one get rid of them before they get that far? — EVELYN.
DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with those seasoning cans that come with plastic tops from which you can pour, spoon or sprinkle. Often the cover is not securely placed on the container. When the handy lids are used the whole thing comes off. — APRIL.

DEAR POLLY — I want to tell Jean how I clean a sandstone fireplace — a remedy I learned by trial-and-error. Place a plastic drip cloth over the floor around the fireplace and cover it with several thicknesses of newspaper. In a small pan (for easy handling) make a strong solution of water and that powdered big job cleaner that requires no rinsing and wiping dry. Hopefully you will have an old nylon hair brush with stiff bristles that needs replacing. Put on rubber gloves. With the brush start at the top and scrub a strip about a foot wide, all the way down, at a time. Refill pan with solution when needed and keep on with one strip after another. As the brush wears out saw off with a hack saw. The job can really be done very quickly and easily. Unless the fireplace is very dirty one brush should do the job. The brush handle protects your knuckles from rubbing against the rocks. I much prefer this to the muriatic acid recommended by rock masons and think it does a cleaner job. — MRS. G.C.M.

DEAR POLLY — I was interested to note you started at the top. I have always found that when washing walls, etc., it is more satisfactory to start at the bottom. There is less chance of streaking. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — My new bedspread has to be dry cleaned and I do not want to use it for an extra cover. I had the problem of what to do with it at night. I had an old baby bed guard rail and found that by sliding it in at the foot of the bed the problem was solved. My afghan is folded across the bottom rail and the spread is folded over the top.

When washing dishes I put in the required amount of detergent but a small amount of water. As the water cools I add more hot water without having to drain some away or having more detergent. — DIANE.

DEAR POLLY — Mother and I both do crewel embroidery and found it so hard to keep the various colors and shades of colors separated. Now I put notches on the two opposite notches. Each yarn color is wrapped around two opposite notches that have the colors marked according to the work chart. Now it is so easy to differentiate between the colors and shades. — TRACY.

Luncheon Held By SCS Club

The SCS Club had bridge games and a luncheon Tuesday in the Midland Woman's Club. Mrs. Bill Simmons and Mrs. Clarence Sloan were the hostesses.

A Halloween theme was used in the decorations. Mrs. Bill Porter, president, presided. Guests were Mrs. Ed F. Lohmann and Mrs. Lela Glasgow.

The bridge winners were Mrs. E. W. Thomas and Mrs. Sloan, grand slam; Mrs. Hooper Sanders, high; Mrs. Layne Turner, second, and Mrs. Lohmann, special.

Heritage Club Has Guest Meet

Mrs. Vincent Scury of 2509 Humble St. was hostess to a recent guest day meeting of the Heritage Study Club.

The co-hostess was Mrs. William H. Smiley. Mrs. Dan Kallus, president, conducted the business session. New members introduced were Mrs. Tom Coffman and Mrs. Monty Gist. Yearbooks were distributed by Mrs. Herbert Cavenaugh.

In keeping with the year's theme, "For Women Only," Mrs. Deen Williams gave a program on "Fire, Burn and Caldron Bubble," a history of witchcraft and the occult, dealing mainly with the more infamous of the women witches.

Guests were Mrs. Sherman Allenson, Mrs. Bob Bales, Mrs. Allen Beatty, Mrs. Wilson Comola Jr., Mrs. Cary Geron, Mrs. Charles Henderson Jr., Mrs. Kingdon Hughes, Mrs. Charles Koch, Mrs. Henry C. Libby and Mrs. Robert Pollard.

Chapter Meets In Brickey Home; 'Polar Region' Program Presented

The Xi Epsilon Epsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi recently met in the home of Mrs. George Brickey for a regular business meeting.

The serving table was decorated with an igloo in an ice scene. The refreshments were limeaid and fruit-nut pudding rolled in coconut to represent ice and snow, in keeping with Mrs. Brickey's program on "The Polar Region." She displayed a map and pictures.

Mrs. James B. Hardin was welcomed into the chapter as a new member. Mrs. Orin Russell reported she has contacted several other prospective members.

Each member brought a gift.

Miss Nance Shower Honoree

A bridal shower honoring Kay Nance of Austin was held recently in the home of Mrs. W. R. Berger, 2202 Country Club Drive. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Berger were Mrs. Clay Stafford and Mrs. Paul Wecker.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Eddie Owens, sister of the bride-elect, Mrs. Vincent Bash III, Mrs. Mike Rhoden and Mrs. Bill Thoroughman.

Colors of pink and burgundy were used in the table decorations, where a floral centerpiece of pink carnations and daisies in a standing crystal compote highlighted a burgundy table cloth.

Out-of-city guests attending were Mrs. N. H. Hale of Abilene, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Hagen McMahon of Corpus Christi.

Miss Nance is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Nance, and will be married to Tom Linn of Austin Nov. 16, in Austin.

Modeling Board Selects Student

COLUMBIA, Mo. — Melinda Elaine Griffith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Griffith of Midland, Tex., has been selected as a member of the 1974-75 Columbia College Modeling Board.

The board is an outgrowth of the college's career training program in fashion merchandising. Male and female members are selected annually through audition and work under the direction of Mrs. Sandra Schubert, former professional model, fashion instructor at the college. The group models for civic, community and college events, as well as for businesses.

Miss Griffith is a sophomore student.

Herbs, Flowers Garden Club Topics

The Perennial Garden Club met recently in the home of Mrs. A. J. Bedford, 1702 N. H St., for a regular monthly meeting, with Mrs. Rex Russell, vice president, presiding.

Mrs. A. D. Barry brought two flower arrangements from her garden. Yearbooks, which were prepared by Dorothy Pinkerton, were distributed to each member.

Helene Miley gave a talk on herbs and spices and Gustava Easley presented a talk on geraniums.

Program chairman, Hazel Lyles, announced she had prepared the programs for the coming club year.

Monkey Treated As Baby Moore

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Simon Moore is a South American white-faced capuchin monkey, but is treated "just like a baby in the family" by his owners, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Moore.

He has his own room, complete with telephone and television. He sports his own wardrobe, and at night wears diapers with a hole in the middle for his tail.

During the day Simon romps freely in the Moores' spacious yard, climbing trees, stalking snakes and pestering the family dogs. He also tags along with Mrs. Moore to do the family shopping.

At night he comes in for a bath, which he usually takes without a fuss, and then relaxes in front of the tv until his 10:30 p.m. bedtime.

If the monkey gets thirsty in the night, Mrs. Moore said, he will turn on the bathroom light, get a drink from the faucet, turn off the light and get back into his bed.

Dear Abby
—By Abigail van Buren

If She Can't Have Grass, She'll Hit The Bottle

DEAR ABBY: I was busted for possession of marijuana two weeks ago. I am a married woman, 19, and have a 14-month-old son.

Everyone has something he calls his own thing, and my own thing is relaxing with grass now and then. When the police came to my door, they deprived me of one of my civil rights by not letting me read the search warrant before they entered my home.

What can I do about this? So many people have been busted the same way. We are sick of the way the police push people around.

If I can't smoke grass in the privacy of my own home, then I guess I'll become an alcoholic.

BUSTED IN L.A.
DEAR BUSTED: Both possession and sale of marijuana are unlawful, and in narcotics cases, search warrants cannot be read at the door because while the officers are waiting outside, someone inside (an accomplice, possibly) can destroy the evidence. So the law enforcers must enter first, and then the warrant is available for reading.

The people, through the democratic process, write the laws, and the police only enforce them. However, your threat to turn to alcohol if you can't have "grass" shows a dependency on some kind of mood-changing drug, which should concern you at least as much as being deprived of your civil rights.

DEAR ABBY: You said in your column that there was nothing sadder than seeing children being raised by children.

Well, I disagree with you. It's a lot sadder to see children being raised by old people in their late 30s and 40s. They have nothing in common.

Alumnae Group Plans Luncheon

The Alpha Chi Omega Alumnae Association will have a Founders' Day luncheon at 12 noon Tuesday in Roweway Inn. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Joe Birdwell, 683-3783.

Study Club Meets In Mogle Home

A program entitled "Keys to the Hospital" was given Tuesday during a meeting of the Twentieth Century Study Club held in the home of Mrs. Jack Mogle, 2219 Western St.

Mrs. Jack Howard was co-hostess, and Mrs. Alton Brown led the club collect.

Opening the program was a Bicentennial key note given by Mrs. Raymond Monkress in line with the year's theme, "Involvement. The Master Key." She said this is the time to celebrate 200 years of independent nationhood, and a reconsideration of our heritage.

Mrs. W. S. Dill, public affairs chairman, introduced J. T. Hall, assistant administrator at Midland Memorial Hospital. Slides were shown describing new life saving machines, and the three phases of various construction planned for future use as the changes of the health care industry occur in our community hospital.

President, Mrs. R. L. Noah, presided over the business meeting during which members were reminded of the Midland Federated Clubs luncheon Oct. 22 at the Woman's Club. All members of the Twentieth Century Study Club will be hostesses.

Alumnae Group Holds Brunch

The Chi Omega Alumnae Association held a guest brunch recently in the home of Mrs. Lynn Hunt, 2601 W. Dengar St. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Hunt were Mrs. Trey Grafa, Mrs. Fred W. Forward and Mrs. George Ulvestad.

Guests attending were Mrs. W. F. Orloff, Mrs. Richard B. Hamm, Mrs. Mike Rhoden, Mrs. Herbert Pearce, Mrs. Bernold Hanson, Mrs. Toby Engleman, Mrs. Vincent C. Bash III, Mrs. A. J. Cain and Mrs. Mike Davidson.

A guest sherry party will be held Nov. 13 in the home of Mrs. Herbert E. Ware.

Fine Arts Club Tours Museum Exhibits

Eight members and one guest, Mrs. I. W. Hynd, of the Midland Fine Arts Club met recently at the Museum of the Southwest for a tour of the "It's About Time" and the "J. Evetts Haley" exhibits. Mrs. LaDoyce Lambert guided the tour, which was arranged by Mrs. William N. Sands.

Members then went to the Midland Woman's Club tearoom for a brief business meeting, with Mrs. Charles Hicks, president, presiding.

Mrs. John E. Cross moved the club donate $2 toward a greenback corsage to be given Mrs. Frank Sandel, Western District president, when she speaks Oct. 22 to the Twentieth Century Study Club and guests. Fine Arts members were reminded this will be a regular meeting, although it will be held on Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. for luncheon.

Mrs. Hicks and Mrs. Yale E. Key were hostesses for the ten hour. The serving table was decorated with a centerpiece in a Halloween motif of witches, cats and goblins in a driftwood tree.

Women who use these so-called lubricants, as substitutes for moisturizers are actually causing the skin to wrinkle. Because they are not water-soluble, these lubricants leave a film on the face. ## Silo Singing Coming Back

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Silo singing, once a popular pastime with farmhands, is making a comeback.

All you need is a boomswaggle, a washboard, a guitar and a grain silo to practice this folk art. But some modern-day performers prefer pianos, too, and that's a problem.

Sponsors of the World Dairy Expo here decided to feature the lost art of silo singing, and invited individuals and groups to compete in what they billed as the first International Silo Singers Competition.

It is believed to date back to around 1900, when the first grain silos started to appear. Farmers soon discovered the unusual sound effects created when talking, or better yet, singing, while working inside the 30-to 40-foot high, cylindrical storage buildings.

But with the arrival of giant silos and mechanical unloaders, silo singing went the way of other lost folk arts.

Then came Dick Arnold of East Lansing, Mich., who says he rediscovered silo singing while touring Midwestern county fairs and is now attempting to revive interest in it.

He founded a group called Silo Singers International and scheduled competition at the dairy convention this week.

It was easy enough to accommodate the boomswaggle, a long stick adorned with cymbals, a tambourine and other noisemakers, in the silo. The guitars and washboards were no problem either.

But many modern day silo-singers said they preferred piano accompaniment. Thus, much of the singing here was on a stage in a building near the silos erected for the exposition.

"We had some people who played banjo and guitar who sang in the silo," said Robert Swan, a music specialist who was chairman of the competition. "But we had a little problem with groups that need a piano, so they performed outside."

What's it like to sing in the silo?

"It really gives a ringing effect," said Swan. "It's like singing in an extremely larger shower. The sound really bounces around."

New Christmas Stamps Planned

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newsfeatures

This year the U.S. Postal Service will issue three Christmas stamps. All three are 10-cent stamps and will be released in New York on Oct. 23.

It is interesting to note that one of the stamps will have pressure-sensitive adhesive to further test precancellation as a means of speeding seasonal mail processing. The design will feature the dove of peace atop Mt. Vernon, home of George Washington.

Precanceled mail that is bundled and faced by customers can bypass cancellation machines, thus considerably shortening mail-processing time. The pressure-sensitive adhesive used on the 1974 precanceled stamps is similar to those used on supermarket labels and bumper stickers.

The religious theme stamps will depict a detail from "The Perussia Altarpiece," a large oil painting which hangs in the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York. It shows an angel taken from the central of the five panels making up the large altarpiece painting.

The third in the Christmas series illustrates an 1853 lithographic print, "The Road-Winter," by Currier and Ives. A man and a woman are seen in a horse-drawn sleigh.

First-day cancellation requests should be addressed to "Christmas Stamps, Postmaster, New York, N.Y. 10001." Proper remittance in money order (no cash or checks) must be enclosed and orders must be postmarked no later than Oct. 23.

The Americana Unit of the American Topical Association has prepared two cacheted covers postmarked in Washington on Aug. 9, 1974. One notes the resignation of Richard M. Nixon effective at noon of that date. The other cover commemorates the inauguration of men in uniform who served gallantly in its past history, the 1974 set has one stamp honoring the Royal Air Force of present times.

The 16-pence stamp depicts an RAF officer standing at ease. Also shown is the official RAF insignia with crown and eagle. A vignette of Queen Elizabeth appears at the top right.

The Royal Air Force was formed in 1918 by the amalgamation of the Royal Flying Corps and the Royal Naval Air Service. The RAF operated from Gibraltar throughout World War II, providing an invaluable contribution to the Allied victory in North Africa and the Mediterranean.

The Americana Unit of the American Topical Association has prepared two cacheted covers postmarked in Washington on Aug. 9, 1974. One notes the resignation of Richard M. Nixon effective at noon of that date. The other cover commemorates the inauguration of Gerald R. Ford as the 38th President of the U.S. Each cover bears a likeness of the President. The pair of covers is available for $1, plus a No. 10 self-addressed envelope, from D. B. Brenke, Americana Unit, ATA Box 179, Washington D.C. 20044.

To the many readers who have inquired about U.S. Mini-Albums, the only mini-albums currently available by mail order from the Philatelic Sales Division are the 1972 and 1973 editions. Both albums are still selling at the original price of $3 each. The 1973 album also can be purchased at most post offices throughout the country.

Philippine Surgeon Will Fight Deportation

DALLAS (AP) — A Philippine doctor, ordered to leave the United States within 90 days, says he will appeal the order.

Dr. Filemon J. Inocencio, 39, the only surgeon at an Oklahoma Indian reservation, was ordered to leave the United States on charges he overstayed his visitor's visa, which expired Dec. 31, 1973.

Dr. Inocencio and his wife, also a doctor, said they thought they received authorization to remain in the United States when they were permitted to work at the Indian Health Service Hospital in Lawton, Okla. The hospital has a medical staff of nine.

"I think I will appeal," Dr. Inocencio quietly told Judge Arvid Boyes of San Antonio after hearing the ruling.

Boyes ruled that the government showed sufficient cause to deport Inocencio but granted him until Jan. 11, 1975, to depart voluntarily.

Mrs. Inocencio's hearing before the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service judge adjourned after five minutes when she requested time to retain an attorney. Her husband represented himself.

Inocencio said during the hearing. He said that in good conscience he believed that he had been given verbal authorization.

The government's attorney, Richard M. Casillas of San Antonio, said immigration service procedures are never concluded orally.

"It's not that we're hardened," Casillas said, "we just have procedures to follow."

Casillas said he believed that Inocencio had come to the United States on the visitor's visa and did not intend to return to his home in Ethiopia. He pointed out that Inocencio would not be eligible to immigrate as a Philippine citizen until 1977.

Inocencio told the court that at the time his visa expired in December it was unsafe for him and his family to return to their Ethiopian home because of the political situation there.

He said he had intended to return and did not give up his home there until early this year.

Dr. Inocencio requested that he be sent to Botswana, Africa, if deported. The judge specified that if he is not eligible to enter Botswana that he return to the Philippines.

A private bill granting the Inocencios permanent residency was introduced by Sen. Henry Blackmon, R-Okla., and is pending in the Senate. One of the Inocencio children is a U.S. citizen by birth.

The Inocencios, both of Manila, studied at Wayne State University in Michigan and later were medical missionaries in Africa.

"We would not have accepted the work here if we could not stay," said Noemi Inocencio after the hearing.

"If we had been told in the beginning that it was not legal, we wouldn't have stayed."

Author Discovers Why King Abdicated For Woman's Love

By JOY STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — When Ralph G. Martin decided to write a book about the Duke and Duchess of Windsor he found he faced a challenge — to find the answer to the question that's been asked for nearly 40 years:

Why?
"Here was the Prince Charming of the world — gay, debonair, handsome," explained the author of "The Woman He Loved." "Women were waiting in line. He could pick any one of them, and who does he pick? A woman 40 years old, divorced, and really not beautiful."

"Why?"
Martin found his answer one afternoon in the quiet drawing room of a house on the Riviera, where the Duchess agreed to see him because she had read and liked his previous book, "Jennie: The Life of Lady Randolph Churchill."

"We had had a warm, friendly lunch," he recalled. "She was full of beans, witty, sharp, laughing, keeping the conversation going when it lagged. She was almost 80 but looked 20 years younger."

"Her eyes are her most dramatic feature — great big, violet-blue, looking as if every word I said was the most interesting thing she had ever heard and as if I was the most fascinating man she had ever met."

"I thought, 'My God, this is how she caught him.' And indeed it was."

That was the beginning of the answer to why, Martin says. As for the rest, "With her the Duke was a human being. He was not a celebrity. With her he was just a man she called David, while everyone else called him 'sir.' She watched over him, she took a glass out of his hand if she thought he'd had too much to drink. She was his mother, sister, sweetheart and friend. She was not just a love or a passion with him. She was an obsession."

Martin, whose words tumble out rapidly in his enthusiasm for his subject, spent two years researching and writing the book. He traveled extensively, read countless books, checked newspaper files, dug into church records. He interviewed dozens and dozens of people who had known the pair, from a former butler to royalty, including every one of the living schoolmates of the former Wallis Warfield at a girls' boarding school in Baltimore.

Greatest Love Story
"This is the first time the whole thing can be told," the author commented. "A great many people who loved the Duke would not have talked while he was alive. It is not only the greatest love story, but it turned out to be a spy story in Spain, a mystery story in the Bahamas and a political story with the abdication."

Martin remembers that he got so immersed in his subjects while writing the book that he found himself mentally urging them to take a different course, not to be so hasty. "He could have found a way to stay on the throne," he says of the Duke.

He sees parallels between the inexorable course of events leading toward the abdication and similar forces resulting in the resignation of former President Nixon.

"When you're at a pinnacle of power you make a decision that triggers something else, which in turn triggers something else and soon the result is irrevocable and out of hand," he says. "Circumstances take over and you're no longer in control. Everything comes crashing down. Both the Duke and the President thought till the last minute they could handle it but they got caught in a web of statements, decisions and circumstances."

He'd Do It Again
The difference, he added, was that "Nixon's case was a tragedy and the king would never have hesitated to do it again." While he believes that the Duke was more in love with the Duchess than she with him, he says there is no question that she was happy.

"She always had a consciousness that she was a piece of romantic history and the whole world paid enormous attention to everything she did."

"She had to pay a price for it, but the price was right."
The author recalls that when Edward VIII made his famous abdication speech in 1936 he himself was at the University of Missouri, "where I met the woman I love and we got married." They have three grown children.

Martin works in a barn behind his house in East Norwich, N.Y., doing his writing in the morning and revisions in the afternoon. Then goes to his wife, "my main tor and critic."

Lee, San Angelo Clash In Memorial Stadium Play

5-4A Rivals Match Unbeaten Records

If it weren't football season, one would suspect vandals had desecrated the walls and windows at Midland Lee, but the "Get A Bobcat," "Go Rebels," "Bleed 'em Blain" type slogans are just expressions of en-dearment and encouragement for Lee Rebel footballers.

And if it seems there are more slogans than usual, that shouldn't be surprising either. Lee will be facing its toughest opponent of the season when the Rebels take the field at Memorial Stadium at 8 p.m. today for their District 5-4A headliner against San Angelo.

Both teams bring 4-0 records into the tilt and San Angelo has a No. 7 state Class AAAA ranking, the kind of recognition Lee would like to have and might get with a victory tonight.

Chances are both teams will be running scared. Each suffered frights that bleached a few hairs last week.

San Angelo had to score twice in the last two minutes to escape Abilene with a 12-10 victory over Cooper. Midland Lee had to repel a two-point conversion bid by Odessa High to preserve a 14-13 victory.

Lee has non conference victories over Lubbock, 26-0, Snyder, 19-12, and Plainview, 13-0. San Angelo lists South Oak Cliff, 13-0, Kilan, 28-12, and Dallas Carter, 13-0.

Both teams bear to rely on sound running games and use the pass as an auxiliary weapon, although a life-saver for the Rebels last week when quarterback Rudy Izzard passed to end Larry Thompson for 18 and 17 yard touchdowns that produced the Cooper victory.

However, except for the Cooper game Coach Smitty Hill's bunch has been able to move the ball on the ground with Marvin Williams, David Fielder and Freddie Davis running out of the Slot-I and Wishbone offenses.

End Kelly Nman, along with Thompson, got San Angelo a two-pronged pass receiving threat that has good speed.

Hill feels the key to his defense is his linebacking trio of Burks Titus, James Taylor and Williams. "However, we have been getting a good job from everybody and we don't really have any individual standouts."

Blain Murray and Milton Jones are the key runners in Coach Jim Acree's Slot-I, alternating effectively as the tailbacks. Fullback Mike Oliphant's blocking has been essential to the Rebs' running success, but the junior also is supplying an inside running threat to go with it as the season moves on.

Quarterback Greg Rendall scored both Lee touchdowns last week, turning a busted play into a 14-yard score and an exploiting a defense weakness into an extemporaneous scoring play.

Lee's defense, led by such stout citizens as Keith Bishop, Buster Mathis, Gary Bowman and Steve Degenfelder has blanked two opponents while allowing an average of less than seven points per game.

McCamey Invades Stanton

Stanton's Buffaloes will host the McCamey Badgers in a key non-conference grid tilt tonight that is considered the area's feature game.

Both teams have won two in a row and have looked impressive during that span. Stanton is a Class A unit while McCamey is a AA power.

Rankin's third-ranked Red Devils will hold homecoming activities tonight against Robert Lee. The Devils will be trying to up their standings among the state's best Class A squads in this one.

The Reagan County Owls travel to Alpine while Van Horn hosts the surging Crane Golden Cranes in a couple of key area contests.

District action is the order of the day in 2-AAA and 3-AAA with the key tilt coming in Seminole where the Indians will meet District 2-AAA favorite Monahans. The two teams are listed as the top two offensive and defensive units in the loop and both have 1-0 district marks. Andrews hosts Pecos while Kermit travels to Fort Stockton in other 2-AAA action.

Snyder's Tigers host the Lubbock Estacado Matadors tonight in what is being considered a battle for the District 3-AAA crown. Both were favored to make a strong run at the title.

Lamesa will be in a survival battle tonight in San Angelo where they meet the Lake View Chiefs and Lubbock Dunbar plays their first loop game against Sweetwater.

Bulldogs Try To Bounce Back Against Big Spring

Pack Smouldering After Loss To Permian

By BOB DILLON
R-T Sports Writer

BIG SPRING — Still smarting from a 6-3 loss to Odessa Permian, Coach John Reddell's Midland Bulldogs hope to bounce back into the District 5-4A football race when they take on the Big Spring Steers at 8 p.m. today in Steer Stadium.

Midland matches its wishbone offense against Coach Bob Burris' Slot-I formation in a must game for the Purple Pack if it wants to get back into the thick of things.

The Bulldog defense was awesome last week in shutting down Permian and Burris feels that the Midland offense is stout too. "They (Midland) have some good running backs and can move the ball on anybody," said Burris.

Reddell has confidence in the Pack defense and feels that they will bounce back after last week's heart-breaking defeat.

Midland takes a 3-1 season record into tonight's game while Big Spring is 1-1 and holds victories over Andrews and Hobbs, N.M. The losses have been to Snyder and Abilene. Last week, Burris' outfit lost a tough 12-9 decision to Abilene in its loop opener.

Big Spring threw the ball plenty last year, but this season, like Midland, the Steers are an infantry outfit, moving mainly on the ground.

The Steers have plenty of size, both on offense and defense and Burris feels that the biggest improvement in this year's team has been on defense.

Anchoring down the Steer line will be Ray McCutcheon, 225-pound senior center along with tackles James Partee (200) and James Coffey (220).

Burris brings in a pair of 210-pounders at the defensive tackle slots in Buddy Gillenwater and Joe Mathews. Tailback Danny Ferrell, who came to Big Spring from England last year as a junior, gives the Steers good running capabilities along with sophomore fullback Jesse Doss, a 205-pounder, and 200-pound junior quarterback Mark Moore, can do some things in the ball-carrying department too. Reddell feels that Andre Hurrington, 185-pounder, is also a good running back.

"Our defense seems solid, but I don't know if the kids will play that well again this week after such a great effort against Permian," said Reddell. "I know one thing, I'll put Sam Jordan against any deep back in the state of Texas. He is a good one and does he hit!" claimed Reddell.

Reddell is in hopes of getting his ground attack going again with fullback Mike Gaddy and halfback Mike Hudspeth back on the track, picking up big yardage.

Tom Dunlap (205), Bruce Smith (200) and Bill Rhotenberry (200), head the interior line that gets off the ball real quick.

"We've had two tough games with Big Spring my first two years here, winning, 17-16 two years ago and 27-20 last year," said Reddell.

ON NATIONAL TV AT 11:50 A.M.

Raiders Risk 14-Game Unbeaten Skein In Aggieland

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Any self-respecting gunslinger knows the best time for a showdown is high noon and that's exactly when Texas Tech's Jim Carlen wants to play the Texas Aggies.

Carlen doesn't hope to get off the first shot by blinding the Aggies with sunlight. He figures weather conditions will be better with a noon kickoff.

Thanks to the Los Angeles Dodgers, Carlen gets his wish Saturday when his ninth-ranked Red Raiders challenge the Aggies before a capacity crowd at Kyle Field and a national television audience.

Saturday, 11:50 a.m., Channel 9

A noon kickoff depended on the Dodgers winning the National League pennant and becoming hosts in the first game of the World Series, and that set Carlen to rooting for the Dodgers.

"We want to play the Aggies in the early afternoon because the humidity will be less," Carlen said. "The Astro-turf really soaks up the sunshine and late in the afternoon it would be real humid on the football field."

By late Saturday, the Raiders either will have extended their unbeaten string to 14 games and retained at least a share of the Southwest Conference lead or ride off into the sunset with their SWC hopes dimmed.

"Coming off two physical ball games like Texas and Oklahoma State, we are battered and sore," Carlen said. "I'm worried about another physical ball game."

"A&M has the best defensive team we've faced this year. Their defensive front four are real big and strong. Their linebackers move extremely quick and their secondary recovered real fast."

More specifically, the Aggie defense is led by linebackers Garth Ten Napel, an AP defensive player of the week earlier this season, Ed Simonini and a defensive front four of Don Long, Ted Lamp, Warren Trahan and Paul Hulm.

The Raiders will sink or swim on offense with the potent pass catching duo of sophomore quarterback Tommy Duniven, and senior flanker Lawrence Williams.

Duniven, who engineered Tech's surprising 26-3 victory over Texas, will be facing the Aggies for the first time, but the veteran Aggie defense will remember Williams from last year's game. Williams caught two touchdown passes in a 28-10 Tech victory.

The Aggies lost to Kansas 28-10 last week and dropped from fifth to 16th in the AP poll. A&M Coach Emory Ballard says he may have been too conservative.

"We lost not because we made mistakes but because we didn't do anything positive," said Ballard, a former assistant to Darrell Royal at Texas, where he helped develop the wishbone offense.

"I probably played too close to the vest," he said. "In retrospect, it would have been better if we'd loosened up earlier."

The Raiders are 3-1 this season with victories over Iowa State, Texas and Oklahoma State and a 21-21 tie with New Mexico. The Aggies vaulted into the national limelight when they knocked off Louisiana State. They also have beaten Clemson and Washington.

Ballard said he didn't care what time the game was played humidity or not. As for television, "Well," he drawled, "It's good for the ole budget. It's good exposure if you win and bad exposure if you lose."

Sooners' Big Worry

Can Joe Washington Play Enough To Letter?

DALLAS (AP) — To give you an idea of how potent Oklahoma is offensively, ace halfback Joe Washington is beginning to jokingly wonder if he's going to see enough playing time to letter.

Perhaps a fired-up Texas team will take care of the problem for Washington, who has only carried the ball 34 times in lopsided victories over Baylor, Utah State and Wake Forest.

"I told one of the coaches the other day that the way things are going I won't even earn a letter this year," Washington said.

Washington, a junior from Port Arthur, Tex., is the catalyst of a high-powered wishbone attack that leads the nation in overall offense at an average of 584.3 yards per game, and rushing yardage at 488.3 yards per game.

The second-ranked Sooners also are averaging 54.3 points per game and place second in total defense, allowing a mere 165 steps per contest.

Texas faces the awesome task of derailing this machine

Saturday in the annual Red River rival grudge match before a sellout 75,000 fans in the Cotton Bowl.

"They've really got an outstanding football team," says Texas Coach Darrell Royal, who has a 12-5 coaching record over the Sooners. "I think they are possibly as good personnel wise as any of their teams since I've been here."

OU 21-Point Pick

Oklahoma is a 21-point favorite over the Longhorns, who are 3-1 and ranked 17th.

Tickets are at a premium for the game because Oklahoma is on probation.

A Texas official said 150,000 tickets could have been sold for the 69th meeting of the schools. The series began in 1900 and Texas leads 42-24-2. Oklahoma has won the last three games.

Royal has switched speedster Raymond Clayborn from safety to offensive halfback to restock that depleted position. Clayborn presumably will backup freshman Garyn Wyatt. Other starters in the Texas backfield include freshman fullback Earl Campbell, sophomore halfback Jimmy Walker, and probably Marty Atkins at quarterback.

Defensive halfback Terry Melancon was switched to safety and freshman Alfred Jackson was put in Melancon's spot.

"There's been no changes for Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer, who has heaped praise on the Longhorns trying to keep his charges from becoming overconfident.

"I think Earl Campbell, right now, is the best wishbone fullback in the country," Switzer said. "Offensively, Texas is better than they have been because of their speed at halfback."

Royal said of Oklahoma: "They have a lot of good backs but none of them runs as well as Washington."

Baylor-Arkansas

Baylor must play Arkansas in Fayetteville but the Bears have been most troublesome for the Razorbacks in the past. The oddsmakers, impressed by Arkansas' 49-0 stonking of Texas Christian last week, say the Bears are 14-point underdogs.

SMU is 3-1 against inter-sectional foes and opens its SWC campaign against the hapless Horned Frogs 1-3. Not much of a crowd is expected in Amon Carter Stadium. The oddsmakers see SMU a seven-point selection.

Rice, which was idle last week after holding Louisiana State to a 10-10 tie, must play in South Bend, Ind. Conover inspired his Owls two weeks ago by ripping the leg off a table and smashing it against a blackboard.

Irish Coach Ara Parseghian must be wondering what Conover has in mind this week. At any rate, the oddsmakers say it's Notre Dame by 24.

Tech, Aggies Tangle In Pivotal SWC Game

Battle Scene

By Ted Battis

They're labeling Saturday's Texas Tech-Texas A&M confrontation at College Station as a possible Southwest Conference title decider, which will be the first time that has happened since 1967.

As it turned out, that 1967 hair-raiser, when quarterback Edd Hargett freewilled into the end zone after time had expired to give A&M a 28-24 victory, turned out to be the pivotal game in the conference race, but few suspected it at the time.

Tech perhaps had a chance, but certainly not the Aggies. Coach J. T. King's Raiders, despite a loss to Mississippi State 7-3 the week before, had already beaten Texas 19-13, which was considered a giant stride toward the title.

The Aggies, on the other hand, came into the game 0-4 with a last minute 20-17 league loss to SMU and Jerry Levias besmirching its record.

As it turned out, A&M reeled off six straight victories and then defeated Alabama in the Cotton Bowl while Tech was to stub its toe again against Florida State and TCU in conference play to wind up wistfully watching the post-season activities on tv.

Saturday's regionally televised match could be another epic of 1967 proportions. Both teams have the offenses to make it a free-scoring pulse-pounding and the fact that Tech has been inclined to make fewer mistakes gives the Raiders the edge here, say 21-17.

Oklahoma 28, Texas 10 — Many seem to think the Sooners will name their score, and they're probably right, but the Oklahomans in effect have been idle since an early September game with Baylor. An upset is a possibility.

The others...

Ohio State 21, Wisconsin 7 — Badgers improved, but not that much.

Alabama 41, Florida State 10 — Tide keeps loose for next week's date with Tennessee.

Auburn 17, Kentucky 0 — It's not so much a question of beating the Tigers as it is scoring on them.

Illinois 16, Purdue 12 — Boilermakers' season began and ended the same day.

Tennessee 10, LSU 7 — Who would have believed the Tigers would have only one victory and three losses this early in the season?

Michigan 14, Michigan State 6 — Wolverines keep pace with the Buckeyes.

In District 5-4A...

Midland Lee 14, San Angelo 12 — It will take a flawless effort.

Midland 20, Big Spring 7 — Bulldogs have the defense and it's about time for the Wishbone to break loose after finding the yardage hard to come by the last two times out.

Odessa Permian 27, Abilene 7 — Panthers rediscover their offense.

Abilene Cooper 7, Odessa 6 — Solving the Cougar defense will be the Bronchos' problem.

A's Fire Dusters

High, Hard Ones Have Finley Ducking

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jim Hunter, it seems, has thrown a curve at Charles O. Finley, and Mike Andrews has thrown a high, hard one.

The Oakland A's owner may not be able to handle either pitch.

Finley, usually up to his baseball cap in controversy, hasn't even opened his mouth on the eve of the 1974 World Series — but still finds his foot in it.

Saturday Tv, 2 p.m., Channel 9

Hunter, a 25-game winner this season while helping the A's capture the American League pennant, reportedly wants to leave the team after the World Series with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Hunter, according to a newspaper story, claims that Finley has failed to pay half of his $100,000 salary for 1974.

Reached at a downtown Los Angeles hotel Thursday night, Hunter would neither confirm nor deny the report.

"I'm not saying anything at this time," Hunter said — or rather didn't say.

"I don't want to talk," he added.

Jim Bank, the A's traveling secretary, said he had "heard the story about Hunter... but you'll have to talk to Mr. Finley about it."

Mr. Finley was unavailable for comment.

The Chicago Sun-Times story said Hunter had notified Finley a month ago that he planned to become a free agent on Oct. 21, the day after the completion of the World Series, should it last seven games.

Hunter said he received $50,000 of his salary in the regular bi-weekly installments, but Finley refused to pay the remaining $50,000. He said he first asked Finley for payments two months ago and the Oakland owner has since failed to answer three letters.

The final letter a month ago said Hunter planned to declare himself a free agent.

Hunter could have declared himself a free agent 10 days after the first missed payment but delayed his action to participate in the American League playoffs and the series.

Meanwhile, No. 2 pitcher Ken Holtzman and No. 3 pitcher Vida Blue are also apparently not overjoyed with playing for Oakland.

Holtzman has said throughout most of the season that he plans to retire this year, and Blue, one-time ace of Finley's staff, was quoted as saying once: "The only time I'm happy here is when I get my paycheck."

Earlier Thursday, Andrews filed a $2.5 million suit in Alameda County Superior Court against Finley for defamation of character. He alleges that he has been held up to "public scorn, contempt, ridicule and disgrace" because of his treatment by Finley in last year's World Series.

Finley allegedly forced Andrews off the team after the second baseman made two errors in the second World Series game.

By late Saturday, the Raiders either will have extended their unbeaten string to 14 games and retained at least a share of the Southwest Conference lead or ride off into the sunset with their SWC hopes dimmed.

"Coming off two physical ball games like Texas and Oklahoma State, we are battered and sore," Carlen said. "I'm worried about another physical ball game."

Bullpups Thrash Steers, 27-7

By BOB DILLON

Halfback Phillip Ward rolled to four touchdowns while rushing for 116 yards Thursday afternoon to pace the Midland Bullpup junior varsity to a 27-7 victory over the Big Spring JV in Memorial Stadium.

Besides Ward's four TDs, which gives him 10 on the year, he also scored a two-point conversion on a pass play from quarterback Thomas Anderson.

Big Spring was coming off a tough 15-14 loss to Abilene last week and the big and burly Steers scored first and looked like they meant business.

Midland gave Big Spring a gift touchdown when Tom Ready accidentally touched a punt with the Steers recovering at the Bullpup four in the first period.

Three plays later, Ricky Morrow knifed over from the one and Kendall Jones' kick was true to make it 7-0 with 2:00 left on the scoreboard in the initial period.

Big Spring kicked off to Midland and after runs of five and 15 yards by Rusty Maroney, Anderson connected with Maroney on a 17-yard pass and then Ward skipped 53 yards for the score. Kevin Pearce missed PAT boot to leave MHS behind 7-6 with 41 seconds left in the first period.

Midland took advantage of a Steer fumble with John Northington recovering at the 37 and in five plays, the Pups scored with Ward going over from three yards out. This time, Anderson hit Ward for the two-point conversion to give Midland a 14-7 lead.

NHL HOCKEY—LA Kings Beat Flyers

By The Associated Press

Rookie Danny Gare didn't take long to let the National Hockey League know that he's around.

Gare, playing in his first NHL game, scored just 18 seconds into the game and the Buffalo Sabres continued the pace to defeat the Boston Bruins 9-5 in the season opener for both teams.

In the only other NHL contest played Thursday, the Los Angeles Kings downed the defending Stanley Cup champion Philadelphia Flyers 5-3.

"Scoring like that sure took the pressure off me," Gare said. "I certainly was glad to see it go in."

It was the second fastest goal scored by a rookie in NHL history. Gus Bodnar of Toronto tallied just 15 seconds after his first game started.

If Gare was glad to see the score, Boston goalie Gil Gilbert wasn't.

Boston battled back from Gare's quick thrust and took a 2-1 lead. But Buffalo scored four times in the second period while holding the Bruins scoreless. Gil Perreault scored three goals and assisted on two more to pace the Sabres.

Tom Williams scored two goals to lead the Kings to their victory. In a power play attempt late in the game, the Flyers vacated their net with the score 4-3, Los Angeles. The tactic backfired when Williams picked up his second score with an empty net goal shot with 29 seconds remaining to play.

Tide, Irish, Cornhuskers Favorites

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Top rated Ohio State has the home field advantage Saturday for its Big Ten encounter with 13th-ranked Wisconsin.

Wisconsin is also an underdog as it goes against Ohio State, even though Wisconsin is coming off an impressive 50-20 romp over Missouri.

Tailback Archie Griffin leads the Ohio State attack. Griffin, a junior, gained 196 yards against Washington State, the 15th consecutive time he has passed the 100 mark.

No. 3 Alabama, No. 4 Michigan, No. 5 Nebraska and No. 6 Notre Dame all have home games Saturday, and are rated as solid favorites. Alabama, 4-0, plays Florida State; Michigan, 4-0, takes on Michigan State; Nebraska, 3-1, opposes Missouri; and Notre Dame, 3-1, meets Rice.

Among the other top 10 teams, seventh-ranked Southern California, 2-1, plays a night game against Washington State at Spokane, Wash.; eighth-ranked Florida, 4-0, travels to Vanderbilt and 10th-ranked Auburn, 4-0, plays Kentucky.

In other major games, No. 11 North Carolina State tries to stretch its record to 6-0 at Virginia; No. 12 Arizona visits Utah for a night contest; No. 14 Arkansas plays host to Baylor; Wake Forest is at No. 15 Penn State; No. 19 Kansas plays at Kansas State and No. 20 Miami, Ohio is at Ohio U.

Weaver Rehired

BALTIMORE (AP) — Earl Weaver, who directed the Baltimore Orioles to a fifth American League division title in six years, was rehired today for the 1975 season.

Contract terms were not disclosed but Weaver is believed to have signed for an estimated $80,000, representing a raise of about $5,000.

"Money was not an object," Weaver said of his negotiations with General Manager J. Frank Cashen. "About 15 words were said over money."

"Frank made me take a raise — not a big one, but a little one — although I wasn't sure I deserved one. Anyway, I'm happy. This will be my 19th year with the Baltimore organization, and they've treated me fairly all the time."

Since taking over the Orioles in the middle of the 1968 season, replacing Hank Bauer, Weaver has posted a .608 winning percentage with 634 victories and 406 defeats.

Starting with his first fall season as manager in 1967, Weaver's teams have finished in the first division 21 times in 23 tries, including five teams in winter league play.

Under Hoffberger, the Orioles lost money only in 1972, when they showed a net loss of $214,582. There was also a deficit of $57,412 in 1967, but only because about $280,000 was lost in operating a pro soccer team.

There have been periodic reports that the Orioles might be purchased and the franchise shifted to either New Orleans or Seattle, when new stadiums in those cities are completed.

Other prospective buyers have been reported in Washington, D.C., Philadelphia, Houston and in Baltimore.

"If we should decide to sell the franchise," Hoffberger said, "naturally I would prefer that it would be to someone in Baltimore so the Orioles could stay here."

Orioles Up For Sale?

BALTIMORE (AP) — The baseball season is over for the Baltimore Orioles, but the season for rumors about the team's possible sale continues unabated.

A front page story Thursday headlined the news that the Orioles were for sale, and said board chairman Jerold C. Hoffberger would soon suggest the terms he would accept for the American League club.

"This has been said before — it's nothing new," Hoffberger said of the report he would consider any reasonable offer and present it to the board of directors. But he denied that he was ready to outline terms.

"The only possible embellishment," Hoffberger said, "is that when I come to a decision, I may spell out my terms rather than wait for bids."

And, although Hoffberger has expressed disappointment at Baltimore's home attendance, he has not yet reached that point.

Falling below the one million mark in attendance for the third year in a row, the Orioles attracted 962,582 fans to Memorial Stadium this season while winning the Eastern Division title for the fifth time in six years.

"If we had not made the playoffs," Hoffberger said, "we would have lost about $300,000. But by getting into the playoffs for four games, two of them at home, we should just about break even."

Hoffberger, who has controlled the Orioles since 1966, has said frequently that he is not in the sport to make money but neither does he want to ab-

Mike Sember Brightens Cub Shortstop Picture

ED PRELL R-T Correspondent

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. — There are many fine shortstop prospects in the Arizona Instructional League this autumn. The Cubs have one of them. He's Mike Sember, an all-around athlete from the Chicago suburb of Lansing, Ill.

Mike prepped at Bishop Noll Institute, just across the Indiana line in Hammond. He chose the University of Tulsa with the understanding he also could play baseball, along with his football scholarship. When the football coach nixed it, Mike told him goodbye.

He batted .350 in three seasons for the Hurricane. And last summer the 6-foot, 183-pounder was named on both the collegiate baseball All-America and the Academic All-America. He was graduated with a degree in Communications, specializing in radio-television. Mike looks upon broadcasting as a career backup to baseball.

Sember was selected by the Cubs on the second round of the free agent draft last June. His professional baptism was with Midland in the Texas League. He batted .230 in 62 games, hitting six homers. Ernie Banks of the Cubs' Instructional staff is impressed with the youngster's quickness and strong arm.

"With artificial turf on half

Joe Wallis productive bat

the National League's infields, a powerful arm is vital," says Ernie. "The shortstop must play deep because the ball takes off much faster than on a natural surface.

"Actually, the shortstop must learn to play two ways. He can't afford to lay back on the regular turf infields and must be prepared to get a jump on the ball.

"Years ago, it was 'We Like Ike.' For the Cubs and me, it's 'We Like Mike.'" Well, that's old Ern!

(Monday, 9-30, thru Sunday, 10-6). MONDAY — Steve Verban and Joe Wallis singled to key 2-run 10th inning rally which brought 4-3 triumph over Giants in Phoenix. Bruce Suttler fanned 3 in a row in Giants' tenth with tying run at second base.

TUESDAY — Willie Prall was hit hard as Angels won, 8-4. Cubs' Wallis hit a homer. WEDNESDAY — Wallis led 13-hit attack with a 2-run homer and 3 singles in 8-3 victory over Padres. Jerry Tabb had 2 doubles and a single. THURSDAY — Off. FRIDAY — Scot Thompson knocked 3 singles and a double in 6-4 decision over Giants. SATURDAY — Billy Huisman hit a homer in third straight victory, 5-1, over Dodgers. Jack Uhey pitched 5 sharp innings. SUNDAY — Rained out.

STANDINGS: Angels, 9-4; Cubs, 7-7; Giants, 6-6; Padres, 5-6; Dodgers, 4-8.

LEAGUE PACE SETTERS — Jerry Stone, Padres, batting, .409. Larry Rush, Angels, 9 runs batted in. Scot Thompson, Cubs, 12 hits. Joe Wallis, Cubs, 17 total bases. Terry Lee, Giants, 3 triples. Club batting — Giants, .283. Club pitching — Angels, 1.67 earned run average. Club fielding — Padres and Dodgers, .968.

SWC Posts 16-9-2 Non-Loop Mark

Says Texas A&M defensive end Don Long, "It's no excuse for our 28-10 loss to Kansas last week, but playing on the road three straight weeks, with a long trip to Washington, can take something out of a squad."

Tackle Glenn Bujnoch vowed, "But, you can bet we'll have our helmets screwed on tightly for Texas Tech this week."

Kickoff for that one will be noon and the game will be nationally televised.

Most of the action after this weekend will be intra-conference, but the Southwest Conference is 16-9-2 in inter-sectional play, going 4-0 against the Pac-Eight, 2-0 against the Missouri Valley, 1-0 against the Atlantic Coast, 1-1 against the Western Athletic Conference, 3-4 against the Big Eight and 0-2 against the Big 10.

Cotton Bowl officials already are keeping tabs on Alabama, Auburn, Florida, LSU, Nebraska, Notre Dame, Penn State and Tennessee.

TCU and SMU clash Saturday night in Fort Worth and hopes are for a modest crowd of 20,000 fans for what once was one of the SWC's highlight games. In the series the Horned Frogs hold a 28-21-7 edge.

Frogs running back Mike Luttrell needs 611 yards to tie Jim Swink's school career rushing mark of 2,618 yards. The 163 yards suffered in penalties by TCU last week against Arkansas is a school record and just four yards short of the SWC mark.

"People ask me how good our team is," says Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer, "and I tell 'em I don't know yet, but that we're sure gonna find out at the Cotton Bowl Saturday. I saw Texas beat Washington last week and they look like the same old Texas — big, talented and strong."

Assistant Coach Larry Laceywell contributes, "I guess you could say we're 3-0 in exhibitions. I saw Texas play Saturday (Washington) and I promise you we're fixing to enter the regular season."

Texas Coach Darrell Royal is 12-5 against his alma mater at Texas, but has lost the last three.

Stephen F. Austin hosts Abilene Christian Saturday in Nacogdoches in the Lone Star Conference headliner. Both are 1-1 in league play. Since both have played and lost to Texas A&I, 4-0, they have to count on someone else bringing the Javelinas back to the field.

maybe East Texas, 3-1, will do it at Commerce Saturday night. Howard Payne, 1-3, and Sul Ross, 1-2, clash at Alpine Saturday night.

Baylor invades Fayetteville for a Saturday afternoon game against Arkansas and is looking for its first win over the Razorbacks since 1966. Even so, the Bears lead the series, 26-25-1.

Sun Defeats Steamer, 25-23

ANAHEIM (AP) — It wasn't a bad performance for a kid who came to the Southern California Sun from his high school football team.

Ralph Nelson had just gobbled up six passes for 107 yards, including a 47-yarder for the game's winning touchdown, as the Sun whipped the Shevport Steamer 25-23 Thursday night to win the Western Division championship and qualify for a berth in the World Football League playoffs.

Demos Running Earlier And In Greater Numbers For 1976 Presidential Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Early and in greater numbers than ever before, Democratic presidential hopefuls are campaigning across the nation this fall in an effort to build strength for the 1976 election.

Though a large field had seemed likely, it became assured with the recent withdrawal of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., a controversial front-runner who had by far the greatest support — and opposition — among Democrats.

Three senators — Henry M. Jackson of Washington, Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota and Lloyd M. Bentsen of Texas — and Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona are all-but-declared candidates.

Improving Positions They have been out this fall working for Democratic candidates while trying to improve their own positions.

A governor — Jimmy Carter of Georgia — and a senator — Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia — have indicated interest. A former governor — Terry Sanford of North Carolina — and a former senator — Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma — also may run. So might Mayor Kevin H. White of Boston.

And the contest is clouded by the likely entry of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, who has barely stopped running for the Presidency for a decade despite repeated failure and the 1972 assassination attempt that left him paralyzed from the waist down.

More than two years before the 1976 election, however, the most crucial aspect of the looming Democratic free-for-all is the uncertain impact of the party's new delegate selection rules.

More Candidates All candidates agree the proportional representation system, which guarantees delegates to any candidate with at least 15 per cent of a congressional district's vote, will keep more candidates in the race longer and virtually assure a wide-open convention.

Neither party has had one since the 1940 Republican convention nominated Wendell Wil-kie on the sixth ballot. But the end of "winner-take-all" primaries will prevent any candidates from snaring the huge blocks of delegates that have in recent years assured victory in advance of the convention.

"The thing is so iffy now there is no way of trying to project what will happen," said Jackson, rated by some national Democratic leaders as the closest thing now to a front-runner.

Favorite Sons Seen Besides the serious candidates, party leaders believe there may be a revival of "favorite son" candidates with the support of a single state, regional hopefuls and representatives of other key blocks.

State Rep. Julian Bond of Georgia may seek to put together a group of black delegates.

"Someone may have to lock everybody in a room and say 'Okay, boys, who can you agree on?'" said Udall, the 52-year-old Arizonan who insists he is serious about overcoming the Senate's recent monopoly on presidential candidates.

Though no House member has been nominated since President James Garfield in 1880, the tall, witty brother of former Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall has been in 15 states this year. This weekend, he visits New Hampshire, a week after Jackson was there.

The rules, he contended, "play into my hands because one of my assets is the possibility of having support from several dozen congressmen who don't have national clout but have clout in their districts."

Championed Cause He hopes to combine scattered national strength with a base in the Rocky Mountain states and support from environmentalists and political reformers, whose cause he has championed in the House.

Udall's two weakest areas, party regulars and organized labor, are the two cornerstones of Jackson's effort.

AFL-CIO President George Meany favors him, and party leaders believe Jackson's campaign is further along than the others, partly because the 62-year-old Senate veteran never stopped running after his defeat for the 1972 nomination.

But they believe he has to overcome two major obstacles, a speaking style that failed to stir enthusiasm in 1972 and his long record of support for the Vietnam war and major defense projects.

Mondale considers himself the chief beneficiary of Kennedy's withdrawal, citing a poll at last week's Jefferson-Jackson dinner in Des Moines, Iowa, putting him in first place with 37 per cent to 16 per cent for Jackson. At last year's dinner, Kennedy led with 33 per cent, followed by Mondale with 25 and Jackson with 14.

Difference Cited "There has been a tremendous difference since Sen. Kennedy's decision," the 46-year-old Mondale said. "For the first time, I think I have a chance."

The newest of the three senatorial hopefuls is the smooth, confident Bentsen, who has been using a $300,000 fund raised at a 1973 Texas dinner and his chairmanship of the Senate Democratic Campaign Committee to get around the country.

A House member in the early 1950s, the 53-year-old Bentsen was elected to the Senate in 1970 after amassing a fortune in the insurance business. He sees his business background as a prime asset.

"The economy is going to be the major issue in the country for a long time," Bentsen said. Meanwhile, other candidates wait in the wings. They include several 1972 contenders, Sens. George McGovern of South Dakota, Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, and several running in elections this year, Gov. John J. Gilligan of Ohio, Sen. Birch E. Bayh of Indiana and hopefuls Dale Bumpers of Arkansas, John Glenn of Ohio and Hugh Carey of New York.

PREVIEW OF STAMP — Postmaster David Holster displays poster depicting United States Postal Service's newest commemorative stamp to Mrs. Emory Parrott, representative of the Midland Association for Retarded Citizens. The stamp will go on sale Monday to the public. It features the slogan of the former National Association for Retarded Children.

First Day Of Issue Ceremonies Set For New Postage Stamp

The United States Postal Service will have first day of issue ceremonies at Arlington, Tex., Saturday for its newest stamp—"Retarded Children Can Be Helped."

The stamp will go on sale to the public here Monday.

Officials of the postal service and the National Association for Retarded Citizens (NARC), formerly National Association for Retarded Children, will participate in the Arlington ceremony.

NARC has been in existence 15 years here and is made up of 200 members, including parents and professionals. Opportunity Center The organization's aim is to promote the general welfare of mentally retarded persons.

In Midland NARC owns and operates the Opportunity Center which houses the Day Care program co-sponsored with the Permian Basin Mental Health and Mental Retardation Center.

The Opportunity Center promotes pre-school classes for the handicapped, with the Midland Independent School District providing the teachers.

The Midland Association for Retarded Citizens also provides the following programs: The Pop Bottle (a youth center for the retarded), Scout troops, a summer arts and crafts program, a six-week Learn-To-Swim Program, summer resident camp at the Prude Ranch at Fort Davis, Texas Special Olympics, Teens Aid the Retarded, a special friend program termed Citizens Advocacy, and a speakers bureau to develop a better understanding of the problems of the retarded citizen.

The Opportunity Center is under the direction of Mrs. Robert J. Munn and members of the board of directors are: Mrs. Emory W. Parrott, president; Mrs. Wade Whiteley, vice president; Mrs. E. A. Culbertson, recording secretary; Mrs. George Kirkpatrick, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Elvis Barrington, treasurer.

Other members of the board of directors are Ray Greene who is immediate past president, Earnest Klatt, J. O. Dewberry, Travis Morgan, Aaron Purcell, Debra Tyler, Mrs. N. R. Nousselet and Mrs. Ted Ashford.

Popping Champagne Bottles Dangerous

DALLAS (AP) — It may not be a common occupational or recreational injury, but the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology says that popping a champagne bottle can be a dangerous thing.

The academy—which groups eye, nose and ear and throat specialists—listened to a medical report Thursday that dealt with research on injuries to the eye caused by popping champagne corks. It is a serious thing, the specialists were told. It was the third research report on the subject.

The report was submitted by the Dr. Sherwin H. Sloan of the Jules Stein Eye Institute of Los Angeles.

The report indicated that the increase in eye injuries caused by popping corks is a result of American affluence. "There has been a marked increase in the consumption of champagne in the United States," it said, "and in the exposure of individuals to the apparent mishaps resulting from flying corks."

Furthermore, it said, "the use of newer plastic type corks covered by a wire mesh has increased the likelihood of injuries." The plastic type, it explained, does not allow for the relative easy control and finger guidance of the cork.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, Oct. 11,

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1811, the first steam ferry was put into operation by inventor John Stevens, between New York City and Hoboken, N. J.

On this date—
In 1776, during the Revolutionary War, Colonial forces under Benedict Arnold were defeated by the British on Lake Champlain.

In 1779, the Polish nobleman, Casimir Pulaski, was killed in fighting for American independence at the Battle of Savannah.

In 1945, Chiang Kai-shek and Mao Tse-tung issued a joint statement pledging to work for peace and unity in China.

In 1962, Pope John the 23rd opened the Roman Catholic Church's second Vatican Council.

In 1970, there was widespread flooding in Puerto Rico after torrential rains.

Ten years ago: The State Department announced that an East German nuclear physicist, Heinz Barwich, had defected and had been granted asylum in the United States.

Five years ago: A synod of Catholic bishops opened at the Vatican.

One year ago: President Nixon was seeking the advice of congressmen and party leader before naming a vice president to Spiro Agnew as Vice President.

Today's birthdays: Choreographer Jerome Robbins is 56 years old. Newsman Joseph Alsop is 64.

Thought for today: Keep quiet, and people will think you are a philosopher — Latin proverb.

Venezuela Getting Set For Takeover
Of Oil Industry

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)
— Venezuela already is considering the possibility of seeking outside cooperation to meet any problems arising after it takes over the foreign-run petroleum industry next year.

President Carlos Andres Perez and his six-month-old center-left government currently are preparing for state takeover of the industry, which has been mostly under American oil company management for more than 55 years.

But nothing has been said thus far as to what specific role the foreign companies would play after the nearly three-million-barrels-a-day petroleum industry is nationalized.

"It is too early to give a definite answer regarding the role, if any, that the foreign companies will assume after nation-alization," said Valent Hernandez Acosta, Minister of Mines and Hydrocarbons, in an interview with The Associated Press.

"However, careful consideration is being given to this question," said the minister. "We are studying the possible problem areas which may occur after nationalization and, whenever deemed necessary, we will look for outside cooperation and would be willing to negotiate with the companies for providing us with the required services."

Hernandez Acosta heads a special 36-man broad-based commission appointed by Andres Perez shortly after his March 12 inauguration to study and draft recommendations for the takeover next year.

In a separate move, the Ministry of Mines and Hydrocarbons placed 16 nongovernmental experts as observers in the foreign oil companies. The observers will sit in on executive board meetings and their objective is to facilitate nation-alization studies.

Government spokesmen say that some of these "observers" are likely candidates to head the state concerns which will take over from the foreign oil companies.

Under Andres Perez post-nationalization suggestion a type of national holding company would be formed and would be the central policy-setting entity controlling a group of four operating affiliates.

Some 19 foreign-owned oil companies, including Exxon's Creole Petroleum Corp.; Shell de Venezuela, subsidiary of Royal Dutch Shell; Gulf Oil, Mobil, Sun Oil and Texaco, currently operate the industry which generates more than 90 per cent of the country's foreign income.

Hymn Festival Planned

A hymn festival which incorporates an annual "Great Day of Methodist Singing" and a traditional choir dedication service is planned Sunday evening in First United Methodist Church here.

The festival will be held beginning at 5:30 p.m., the time of the Sunday evening worship service. Participating will be the various choirs of the church, including the Carol, Junior, Youth and Chancel choirs and the youth handbell choir. The ensembles will be under the direction of George L. DeHart, organist-choirmaster at First UMC.

Dr. Timothy Guthrie, pastor of First UMC, and the Rev. J. B. Stewart, associate pastor, also will take part in the service.

The choir festival, the 16th to be held at the church, will stress Methodism's strong singing heritage. Theme for this year's event will be "Youthful Hymn Writers." Most of the hymns to be presented in the Sunday night festival are old as well as familiar hymns of Methodism, DeHart said.

The "Great Day of United Methodist Singing" has been an annual event in United Methodist churches for the last decade. It was developed to help Methodist congregations become more familiar with the Methodist Hymnal and dig deeper into the meanings of hymns of the denomination, as well as bringing new stress to Methodism's strong singing heritage.

The choir dedication service which is to be part of the upcoming festival is a traditional observance in First UMC. According to DeHart, it is virtually impossible for a choir member to function without the wholehearted support and understanding of his family; thus, choir is a family-sponsored stewardship, he explained. The special service will be open to the public. The church nursery will be open.

American Lutherans To Discuss Hunger

DETROIT, Mich. — Local, national and international efforts to alleviate world hunger will be recommended to delegates at the seventh general convention of the American Lutheran Church (ALC) currently under way in Cobo Hall here.

A spirited debate on abortion was a feature of the first session Wednesday. An open hearing on "Abortion and Christian Counsel," a statement by the office of research and analysis, was the final item on Thursday's agenda. However, the convention was not expected to act on the question until this afternoon.

Delegates will be presented with several approaches for doing away with racial discrimination in South West Africa. The statement to the convention says that "forms of racial discrimination and injustice which have been condemned by practically every denomination of the Christian Church have been institutionalized and legalized in the South African apartheid system."

An offering for world hunger was received at the opening convention session. Delegates also heard further information on special offering for hunger victims scheduled to be taken in churches on Thanksgiving.

The convention will be asked to authorize a committee to study world needs, conferring with individuals now involved in the problems of world hunger. Delegates will also be urged to support financial giving through Lutheran World Relief over and above the budget "to provide food and funds for persons on the edge of starvation."

Convention delegates will elect a national president and vice president from five candidates selected in the 18 district conventions earlier this year. Dr. David W. Preuss of Minneapolis, the incumbent, is eligible for reelection, and other candidates are Dr. J. Elmo Agrimson, St. Paul, president of the Southeastern Minnesota ALC

District; Dr. John W. Bachman, Minneapolis, director of the Office of Communication and Mission Support; Dr. Gordon Huffman, Washington, D. C., president of the Eastern District and acting ALC vice president; and Dr. Fred Meuser, Columbus, Ohio, president of the Evangelical Lutheran Theological Seminary.

The vice president will be chosen from the four nominees remaining after the presidential election. The five candidates addressed the convention Wednesday.

Featured speakers at the convention include the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Sr., pastor of Ebenezer Baptist Church, of Atlanta, who will address a worship service Saturday morning, and Dr. L. D. Loftsgard, president of North Dakota State University at Fargo, who will make a special presentation on world hunger next Monday.

Also scheduled for convention action is a recommended budget of $26,225,000 and a proposal to increase pension contributions one per cent to finance a program aiding pastors who are experiencing personal and/or professional difficulties.

The American Lutheran Church includes 4,822 congregations in the U.S. whose members total 2,465,584.

Adult Education Courses To Begin

Memorial Christian Church is announcing two special adult education courses for members of the congregation and other interested persons.

Dr. Ray Bristol, director of Midland's Pastoral Counseling Center, will teach a course designed for persons who are interested in learning more about themselves and about human relationships. Class sessions will center around the question, "What are the detrimental aspects of personality?" and a major resource for classes will be the work of Dr. William Parker who used that question as the basis of his pastoral studies. Dr. Parker is director of the Foundation of Human Achievement.

The four aspects to be discussed in the classes are fear, guilt, inferiority and misguided love. The Rev. John Logg, minister of Memorial Christian Church, will teach the second course, titled "The Bible for Beginners." Class sessions will present the basic themes of the Judeo-Christian tradition, with major emphasis to be on the reading of the Bible for enjoyment as well as for its literary content.

The first class sessions are scheduled for 7:45 p.m. Sunday at Memorial Church, West Cuthbert St. at Andrews Highway. Additional information on the courses is obtainable from the church office.

CYF To Sponsor Luncheon Sunday

The Christian Youth Fellowship (CYF) at First Christian Church will sponsor a luncheon Sunday in the church fellowship hall.

The luncheon, featuring spaghetti and salad, will take place between 12 noon and 2 p.m. Sunday. Tickets will be $1.50 adults and 75 cents for children under age 12. Proceeds from the event will be used to finance a CYF trip to Ceta Canyon later this fall.

Texas Baptist Meeting Slated

DALLAS — A record $20-million budget and a proposal to strengthen Baptist-owned institutions will be considered during the annual meeting of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, scheduled Oct. 29-31 at Amarillo.

More than 3,000 messengers from most of the 4,200 churches and missions of the BGCT are expected for the 89th annual meeting, to be held in Amarillo's new Civic Center.

The record budget commemorates the 50th anniversary of the BGCT's Cooperative Program, the plan whereby Baptists support work in Texas, throughout the nation and around the world.

Currently, the 2-million member BGCT functions on a $17-million budget. The budget provides support for 26 institutions, including homes for the aged, hospitals and child care facilities, plus nine educational institutions.

Messengers also will discuss a proposal to strengthen the 26 institutions by creating two coordinating boards to oversee their operation.

The Amarillo conclave will be the first one held in the Panhandle City since the 1940's.

In 1947, when it was last held there, 3,140 churches were affiliated with BGCT, totaling one million members. The annual budget was $4 million. Currently, there are more than 4,200 churches and missions, with an aggregate membership of two million.

Speakers at the annual meeting — expected to be attended by more than 7,500 persons — include Dr. Jaroy Weber, president of the Southern Baptist Convention and pastor of First Baptist Church at Lubbock; Dr. Warren Hultgren, pastor of First Baptist Church at Tulsa, Okla., and Dr. James H. Landes, executive secretary of the state convention.

Dr. Ralph Smith, pastor of Hyde Park Baptist Church at Austin, is president of the BGCT. It is anticipated that he will be re-elected to a second term during the convention.

The annual meeting will be preceded by meetings of the two BGCT auxiliaries, the Woman's Missionary Union and Texas Baptist Men.

Seminary Issue Discussed

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — "Candid," the Synod's Concordia synagogue, were words used by representatives to describe the first meeting last week, of the so-called "Committee of 20" aimed at discussing the issues confronting the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. The meeting marked the first time substantive discussion of the issues has taken place since the series of events of last January and February resulted in the formation of "Seminar" (Seminary in Exile), by students and numerous faculty members of the Synod's Concordia

Seminary. Dr. Herman Scherer, president of the Missouri District of the Synod, served as moderator. Chief participants were members of the board of control of Concordia Seminary and Semtex representatives. Others attending were LCMS president Dr. J. A. O. Preuss and a cross section of interested parties, including students and representatives of synodical boards.

Issues introduced into the discussion included the differences between heresy and false doctrine, the role of President Preuss as supervisor of doctrine, questions as to what is doctrine and what doctrines can be discussed in the church, the need for consensus, suggestions for reconciliation in the church and on what basis, the upholding of synodical positions, and limits of academic freedom.

During the discussion of possible solutions, President Preuss made a broad series of suggestions: "I think the Semtex faculty could make a real act of reconciliation and go out of business and heal the differences in the congregations and districts. I think the board of control ought to be willing to hold real discussions with the Semtex faculty and place back as many as possible. The Synod could help find employment for the others. This would create a climate for an on-going discussion that might take months or years. The end result would be favorable to all concerned. But some way has to be found out of this impasse."

Brief comments followed debating the feasibility of such proposals.

The committee, which recognized that one six-hour meeting would not resolve all the issues involved, agreed that resolution 3-09 should be the discussion of such types of pro-grams and further definition of set for Oct. 22.

Fall Laymen's School Of Religion Scheduled

The Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity is announcing its annual fall Laymen's School of Religion.

The school will offer courses taught by the rector, curate and director of Christian education of Holy Trinity parish.

Initial class sessions are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the parish hall. Classes will continue on succeeding Wednesday evenings through Nov. 20. Each session will be from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

The classes being offered are as follows:

— "Theological Approach to Church Vocabulary," with the Rev. Bob J. Currie, rector, as instructor.

— "Christian Mysticism and Spiritualism," to be taught by the Rev. Jeff Kraemer, curate.

— "A Study of the Epistle to the Philippians," which will have Mrs. Norma Marrs, director of Christian education, as the teacher.

The classes will be open to all interested persons, at no charge. Additional information is obtainable from the parish office, 683-4207. The Church of the Holy Trinity is at 1412 W. Illinois St.

Double Standard In Enforcing Civil Rights Is Denied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attempting to dam a flood of Southern complaints, the government's chief civil rights enforcer denies that segregated school systems in the North are getting more tender treatment.

"There is no double standard," declared Peter E. Holmes, director of the U.S. Office for Civil Rights in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"We apply the law the same way, whether North, East, South or West," he said in an interview Thursday.

Boss Defended

Holmes defended his boss, HEW Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger, who provoked some 1,000 angry letters and dozens of Southern newspaper editorials last month when he said HEW was taking a conciliatory approach to Northern segregation because of "very fierce public opposition" in big cities.

Among the critics of that statement was Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., who called Weinberger's remarks incredible.

Of the current unrest in Boston over school desegregation, Holmes said that city clearly was an instance of school segregation by law. He said he did not detect any change of federal civil rights policy in President Ford's statement Wednesday disagreeing with the court-ordered busing in Boston while urging compliance with the law.

Holmes said that the government will cut off federal money to segregated schools only as a last resort, but he said that policy applies nationwide.

"The law will be enforced equally and without a double standard with respect to all school districts in the country," he said.

"Our position is that fund termination, which is the ultimate sanction provided by law, will be used only as a last resort."

He said if negotiations fail to achieve voluntary compliance, "we can, and we will, resort to the final sanction . . ."

Funds Cut Off

During the 1960s, HEW cut off funds to hundreds of Southern school districts in an effort to pressure them into desegregation. When the schools were integrated, the districts got the money retroactively.

The only school district in the nation which is not now receiving federal education aid is Ferndale, Mich. No other Northern cities have ever had such funds cut off.

Holmes declined to say which Northern districts might be in violation of the 1964 civil rights act, but he said that a major civil rights investigation is under way in New York City. Similar investigations are planned soon in Philadelphia, Chicago, Los Angeles and Houston, he said.

OUTSTANDING DRIVER — B. J. Walker has been named Safe Driver of the Month for September by the United States Postal Service. Postmaster David Holster lauded Walker for his 19 years of accident-free driving with the postal service.

Russians To Bar U.S. Newsmen At Space Launch

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union plans to bar American newsmen from viewing the launching of Russian cosmonauts during next year's joint U.S.-Soviet space mission.

But Russian newsmen will be welcome at Cape Canaveral for the liftoff of the American astronauts.

That policy has emerged from 18 months of negotiations during which Space Agency officials said the Soviets repeatedly rejected requests that they open their launch site at Baykonur to U.S. reporters.

But, the NASA officials said, aside from Baykonur, the Soviets have agreed to open up their space program as never before on this mission — providing the same type coverage characteristic of the U.S. program.

Open Policy

America has a completely open policy on its scientific and manned space projects.

The Russians have promised to provide live voice and television throughout their segment of the mission from liftoff to splashdown, something they've never done before. But reporters wishing to cover the flight in Russia will be restricted to a press site in downtown Moscow.

The Associated Press has protested the action on behalf of its members.

A document on press coverage of the Apollo-Soyuz flight will be signed later this month by James C. Fletcher, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and officials of the Soviet Academy of Sciences.

It will not specifically state that American newsmen can't go to Baykonur, but will say that each country can accredit whom it wants at the launch site.

"But the Soviets made it plain that they will not accredit Americans at Baykonur," said John P. Donnelly, NASA assistant administrator for public affairs. Donnelly was the chief U.S. negotiator.

Negotiations Limited

He said negotiations were limited to some extent by the Nixon-Kosygin 1972 summit agreement that approved the joint mission. That agreement says, in effect, that each country could operate its information policy as it saw fit, according to customs and practices.

That meant the Americans could operate their normal open coverage, while the Russians, if they desired, could have surrounded most of their part of the flight in secrecy as has been their practice. But the Soviets chose not to draw a complete secrecy blanket.

The Russians have maintained tight secrecy at Baykonur, and the only notable westerners known to have visited there was French President Charles de Gaulle several years ago. Located in central Russia, it is the launch base not only for their cosmonauts but also for hush-hush military satellites.

For security reasons, the United States draws a secrecy veil over its military space launchings, most of them from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Mexican Trade Fair Slated Oct. 22-25

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — About 510 exhibitors are expected for the Mexican Trade Fair here Oct. 22-25, its executive director, Jorge Canavati Marcos, said today.

Around 3,000 buyers are expected.

Last year the fair attracted 260 exhibitors and 3,400 potential buyers, and $18 million worth of Mexican goods were sold, plus $80 million in follow-up sales.

Ag To Check Out Any Future Orders For U.S. Grains

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says it will look at a foreign country's expected grain needs and orders already on the books before approving large new sales of U.S. commodities.

Officials said Thursday the department has sent supplemental guidelines to U.S. exporters to help inform them how the government intends to carry out a new voluntary export control policy.

The new procedure resulted from a White House crackdown last weekend on a new corn and wheat sale of 125 million bushels to the Soviet Union. As a result, that sale was suspended and new procedures drawn up.

Basically, the rules say an exporter should get prior clearance from USDA or possibly the White House for any new large sales. The plan includes wheat, corn, sorghum, soybeans and soybean meal.

Although the procedures are technically voluntary, USDA officials say if exporters do not cooperate mandatory export controls are almost certain.

"In determining which proposed sales will be given prior approval and which will not, the department will consider the total annual requirements of the country involved and the extent to which those requirements are already covered," the announcement stated.

BARBERING THE CHEST — The latest craze in haircutting involves dying, curling and landscaping hairy chests in several San Francisco styling parlors. Top left: A man has his chest hair dyed. Right: A curler treatment gives the owner's chest "more body, more of a manly, gorilla effect." Bottom: James McCarthy, an Irish-born businessman, has his chest hair dyed green then cut into a shamrock shape. (AP Wirephoto.)

Haircuts Moving Down The Body

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP) — Barbers here may not be able to put hair on a man's chest, but if he's got it, they'll dye it, curl it, or even landscape it.

"Haircuts are definitely moving down the body these days," said a stylist known as Mr. Eckhard, who operates parlors at both the Fairmont and Mark Hopkins hotels. "I've had to put in two extra booths to keep up with the demand."

Most men who want their chest hair dyed are "somewhat on in years and don't want to give away their age when they're out sunbathing," Mr. Eckhard said.

But some clients have more exotic motives, like Irish-born businessman James McCarthy, who was in having his chest hair trimmed into the shape of a shamrock.

"I'm living proof the Irish shamrock can grow in America," McCarthy said.

"It's the newest thing in personal landscaping," said Mr. Eckhard, who charges $18 an hour for such work. "There's nothing like it for becoming the center of attraction on a sunny patio or beach."

John Velasquez, who runs a downtown salon, said he's trimmed the chests of his customers into everything from peace signs to hearts and crucifixes.

"Some men who haven't worked up to a design will go as far as having a currier treatment for their chest hair," Velasquez said. "It gives the hair more — well — body, more of a manly, gorilla effect."

Stylist Wolf R. Thaeleer claims what may be the farthest-out example of the new fad: a client who had his chest hair plucked and dyed so it resembled a chessboard.

Dallas Explosion Hurts Eight Men

DALLAS (AP) — Fire department investigators say a malfunction in the high pressure steam system of a paper mill caused an explosion that injured eight employees.

A company spokesman said Thursday's blast at the paper recycling plant crippled production by 60 per cent.

Company officials said two of the injured employees were in serious condition.

NEW YORK (AP) — Suppose day nights ever since the 1974-75 season began. The NBC-CBS competition and nobody came? Well, that is has proved just too rough, and roughly what's happened to ABC, in a hurry-up effort to ABC-TV on Friday and Saturday, salvage some ratings, has re-

Mrs. Billy J. Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pulte of Midland, won several awards for her batik wall hanging at the recent Heart O'Texas Fair at Waco.

The batik of two birds in flight won the artist a blue ribbon in the wall plaques division of the fair's art and crafts show and also was given a tri-color ribbon in the crafts and hobbies division. It was selected as second best-in-show from among all art and craft entries at the fair.

tooled and revamped its Friday-Saturday program schedule after only a month of the new season.

It has canceled two new half-hour shows — "Kodiak," which has its last run tonight, and "Texas Wheelers," halted after last Friday — and rolled in hit movie reruns to temporarily fill the ratings breach.

Tonight, for example, ABC has "True Grit" making its third network appearance. Next Friday, "Guns of Navarone" also makes its third network showing, while on Oct. 25 "Hart" appears for the fourth time.

On Nov. 1, ABC's new — and it hopes improved — Friday lineup of weekly series begins, starting with "Kung Fu," which is becoming sort of a looting spirit on television.

Last season, it aired Thursday nights and was shifted this season to Saturday nights. Now, it'll try Fridays.

It had good ratings last year and ABC hopes it'll regain them in its new home, thus giving a strong lead-in — a large audience — to "Six Million Dollar Man" and "The Night Stalker," both of which remain on ABC's Friday night schedule.

About Saturday nights: the current ABC lineup of "The New Land," "Kung Fu" and "Nakia" will continue to struggle against CBS' powerhouse lineup and NBC's wares until Oct. 26, when a patchwork schedule arrives.

"Nakia" will be the only regular in that schedule, and it'll temporarily withdraw the night of Nov. 16, when "Where Eagles Dare," a Clint Eastwood-Richard Burton thriller, is the only offering.

Spaghetti Westerns starring Eastwood — "Hang 'Em High" and "For a Few Dollars More" — will share the bill with "Nakia" the nights of Oct. 26 and Nov. 2.

Come Nov. 9, "Nakia" will be preceded by ABC's third repeat night of "Brian's Song," the made-for-TV film about the late football star Brian Piccolo, and by "Cricket in Times Square," a half-hour children's special.

If all this sounds confusing, just imagine how ABC's program executives feel.

Four West Texans, Musical Group Honored

FORT WORTH — Four West Texas individuals and a musical organization were honored here Thursday night when they were named recipients of the 1974 Cultural Achievement Awards, given annually by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Receiving the awards at the Cultural Achievement Awards Banquet at the Fort Worth Hilton Inn were Mrs. G'Anna Hayes of Odessa, Mrs. Ruby Kendrick Sears of Hereford, H.

F. Steen of El Paso, Gordon Wood of Brownwood, and the Moslah Temple Shrine Band of Fort Worth.

The hand engraved silver urns were presented by Thomas H. Barnett Jr. of Fort Worth, chairman of WTCC's Cultural Affairs Committee.

Mrs. Hayes, an artist, teacher, writer and civic leader, has influenced the growth of cultural affairs in West Texas, both by her participation and the promotion of cultural endeavors in the Permian Basin, as well as in San Angelo, Wichita Falls and Lubbock.

Mrs. Hayes is a former fine arts editor of the Odessa American and presently is co-owner and editor of The Permian Basin Preview magazine.

She is charter president of the Odessa Arts and Humanities Council, charter secretary of The Texas Assembly of Arts Council, a member of the executive committee of The American Revolution Bicentennial Commission, a member of the Texas Fine Arts Association and The Permian Basin and Texas Historical Societies.

Mrs. Hayes is publicity chairman for the Odessa Shakespeare Globe Theatre, chairman of the Advisory Committee of the Permian Basin Museums Institute, a director of the Presidential Museum of Odessa, and a member of the Midland-Odessa Symphony, Odessa Symphony Guild and the Permian Civic Ballet Board.

Until he began his coaching career in Brownwood, that city had won only one district championship. Now the school ranks as the prime example of Texas schoolboy excellence. Wood and his five-member coaching staff have led the Brownwood Lions to state titles in 1960, 1965, 1967, 1969 and 1970.

An organization which places service above self is the Moslah Temple Shrine Band of Fort Worth. The band has a record of community service since its organization in 1914.

During 1974 the Moslah Temple Shrine Band has performed at 48 separate events, either with concerts or parades which is about the usual schedule maintained each year.

The WTCC meeting opened Thursday afternoon, when a number of committee meetings were held.

A Quota-Busters Breakfast launched activities this morning. This was followed by a meeting of the board of directors.

The meeting closed with a luncheon, at which Dr. W. Philip Gramm, economic analyst, Texas A&M University, was the speaker. "Inflation — Public Enemy No. 1" was his subject.

Explorers Safe-Driving Rally Planned Saturday

The Seventh Annual Exploring Safe-Driving Road Rally will be held Saturday, starting at 9 a.m. at the American Legion Building on East 8th in Odessa, James Mashburn of Midland, chairman of the Exploring Division of the Buffalo Trail Council, Boy Scouts of American, said today.

Mashburn said that the activity will allow Explorers to participate in an increasingly popular and proven safe recreational activity. It offers them the opportunity to test their safe driving abilities across a predetermined time period.

The rally will be conducted in conjunction with the West Texas as Sports Car Club, the Earl

S. Bailey American Legion Post and the Lincoln-Mercury Division of the Ford Motor Co.

Starting with the required inspection of participating cars, the required rally school, carrying on with driving, navigation, timing, periodic checkpoint stops and finally, the awards fish fry put on by the Permian Bass Club at the end of the Rally should prove a day of challenge and fun.

The top time of the rally will be submitted to the Exploring division, North Brunswick, N.J. The top 50 teams, based on the scores of local winners, will be invited to drive in the Grand Nationals at Detroit, Mich., in the fall of 1975.

DPS Official Says Tests Show Carrasco Was Killed By Bullet From His Own Gun

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Both a Department of Public Safety ballistics test and one conducted by an outside expert proved the bullet which killed Fred Gomez Carrasco came from his own gun, investigators said.

Carrasco and Rudolfo Dominguez died of gunshot wounds as did two hostages, as an 11-day siege in the Texas prison here ended Aug. 3.

Fred R. Rymer, superintendent of the DPS laboratory in Austin, presented his findings before grand jurors in a day-long session Thursday.

He said outside the grand jury room that two bullet fragments—"about the size of your little fingernail"—were recovered from Carrasco's head. In tests that lasted more than two weeks, he said, he found the fragments came from Carrasco's own pistol.

He said Dominguez was killed by another weapon.

An independent ballistics expert, Jack Queen of Houston, also analyzed recovered bullets and is due to testify before the grand jury Oct. 22. Queen, formerly with the Houston Police Department, made the same basic findings, investigators said.

There had been charges by some inmates who said they saw the battle behind prison walls that officers executed the two men.

One of the more than dozen hostages, Father Joseph O'Brien, said Dominguez was shot by an officer as he tried to shoot the Catholic priest, a prison chaplain. O'Brien was wounded.

She is a member of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society in Canyon, the Amarillo Little Theatre Guild.

Symphony Supporter

Steen, president of El Paso Natural Gas Co., has been a leader in the support and promotion of art, drama and music in the El Paso area for many years. He has been a long-time supporter of the El Paso Symphony and other fine musical organizations in El Paso and the surrounding southwest area.

He assisted in the organization of his own company's singing groups, The Choraliers.

Justice Department Offers To Defend Nixon, Advisers In Harassment Suits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has offered to defend former President Richard M. Nixon and three of his top advisers in civil suits accusing them of improper political harassment, department officials say.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen made the offer about two weeks ago in letters to attorneys for Nixon, former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former presidential advisers H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, officials said Thursday night.

Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman currently are being tried on charges of trying to cover up the Watergate scandal, which forced Nixon's resignation.

All five pending civil suits involved in the department offer stemmed from aspects of the Watergate scandal.

Petersen's deputy, Kevin Maroney, said in a telephone interview that in one case a similar offer was made to William C. Sullivan, a former assistant director of the FBI.

Maroney said some of the five men have accepted the offer but declined to say which ones.

"It's normal to represent a former official who is sued for acts when he was an official of the government," Maroney said.

Though acknowledging that the department is not required to do so, Maroney said "the theory is that the interest of the government is not so much to represent that particular man but the continuing functions of the government."

Maroney said the offer was not discussed with President Ford or other White House officials.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen indicated that Ford knew nothing about the offer until reading news accounts of it Thursday night. Nessen did not describe the President's reaction.

The department did not consult Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, said Robert Havel, the department's public information director.

Oklahomans Visit Texas Penal System

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Russell Lash, Oklahoma's corrections director, two of his assistants and four state legislators left Thursday to visit four units of the Texas Department of Corrections.

Lash said they intended to "look at the good features" of the Texas penal system.

'But Jerry—I Thought You Said It Would Blow Over'

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson Says: Spontaneous response to slogan appeal.

WASHINGTON — We have been hearing about America from its people. We asked, you may remember, for a Bicentennial slogan. The response was spontaneous; tens of thousands of citizens from all walks of life have sent us slogans, phrases and poetry expressing how they feel about their country.

Many have written accompanying letters of testimonial. To read them is to understand that the Watergate horrors, economic uncertainties and other afflictions have not shaken the American faith.

Some with a lifetime behind them have written about the turmoil they have seen. Youths looking ahead have written about the challenge of events. We have heard from aliens about the dreams which brought them to this land. Even a few convicts have responded, with a special poignancy, about the meaning of freedom.

Some have applauded President Ford's attempt to return to the White House a humanity and openness more becoming a free republic. Others have taken issue with the President over his decision to pardon Richard Nixon and thus sully the legal process in his crib. They reject the idea that the country would be better served by amnesia than by truth.

We received one slogan from an authentic American pioneer, 96-year-old Jesse L. Hall, who was born in the centennial year of 1876. He has spent his long life pushing westwards. He lived through the blizzard of 1887 in a homemade muslin tent on the Nebraska prairie. In Wyoming, he was elected to the state legislature. Now he abides in Reno, Nev.

He summed up his view of America in a simple, three-word slogan: "The Republic Stands."

From cell C-8 in the Florida state penitentiary, Raiford, Fla., Willie Young wrote: "Need I say, my life has been a miserable road to travel. After years of walking it alone, I discovered one must believe in something."

He put his sentiments into these words: "A Country not made by Hand but by the Grace of God and the Will of Man." There were other poetic responses. "We may stumble but never fall; Down through the years, we still stand tall," wrote Raymond Richardson from Chicago.

A Boalsburg, Pa., teacher, Ruth H. Carter, felt "an extreme need for the children to know their country's heritage." She suggested this slogan: "So the Children Will Know."

In Toledo, Ohio, the second and third grade students at Lincolnshire School composed a slogan together: "I work for Democracy because it works for me."

Many other children sent in slogans. For instance, a 12-year-old Forest Heights, Md., girl, Mary Elizabeth Henry, proposed: "America, a Homesteaded Heart." And 14-year-old Penny Chandler of Fresno, Calif., sent in this one: "Two Hundred Steps — and More to Come."

Teen-agers, too, responded by the hundreds. From Annapolis, Md., 19-year-old James P. Gough told of his frustration over "recent acts by men in high places." Yet he could still offer two heartfelt slogans: "America, a Theme that is Timeless" and "America, Something Warm that Touched my Heart."

A 19-year-old, Johnny Carter of Long Beach, Calif., suggested this sign to be posted across America: "Conquerors and Corruptors Beware. This Nation is the Property of the People."

And a Wilmington, N.C., high school student, Stewart Moshe, submitted this slogan: "There's No Way like the American Way."

From John Lauria of Jacksonville, Fla., we received a simple, sincere motto: "America, Where People are Happy." He added meaningfully: "I should know. I came here in 1908."

Here are a few other offerings selected at random from our mailbag:

Florence A. Tracy Revelle, Ardmore, Okla. — "Pride in our past; Faith in our future; Forward America."

Lionel Wernick, New York City — "America: The Promise Kept and now Renewed."

George Kelly, Philadelphia, Pa. — "Here Lives a Free People, 1776-1976."

DON OAKLEY Vengeance Cures The Symptoms Only

NEW YORK (NEA) — Defending his decision to grant probation to a confessed pusher of LSD to school kids, a Cleveland judge recently said, "If the police want vengeance, that's one thing. If they want rehabilitation, that's another."

Commenting on the uproar over the pardoning of Richard Nixon, Vermont Roster, retired editor of the Wall Street Journal, charged that, "Clearly, much of the anger vented on President Ford is in reality a cry for vengeance on Richard Nixon."

Attorney General William B. Saxbe described the box office popularity of a current movie in which a citizen takes the law into his own hands as "chilling." Yet shortly after that, the nation's chief law enforcement officer denounced the idea of rehabilitation as a "myth" and called probation, in the face of rising crime statistics, "a kind of never-never land . . . that has never lived up to its promise."

Says FBI director Clarence M. Kelley, "In America today there is a crop of hardened, experienced criminals who have been arrested time after time. And they keep on committing crimes."

Again from Saxbe: "The nation has been too stary-eyed in its efforts to rehabilitate — or recycle — dangerous, repeat offenders."

Well, just where does justice end and vengeance begin? Vengeance is supposed to be long to the Lord. But few societies in history have been content to leave it in His hands.

The world's oldest criminal code, the Code of Hammurabi, was not overburdened with philosophical or sociological reservations. It was all quite simple: An eye for an eye, an injury for an injury, a life for a life.

Today, we are much more civilized. We have outlawed the branding iron and the whipping post. Capital punishment has been abolished in practice. We have learned that excessive punishment has no real deterrent value.

For example, pickpockets in 18th-century England used to have a field day working the crowds that came out to watch the hanging of — pickpockets.

Today, rehabilitation is the budding concept of enlightened penology. Yet we actually do almost nothing to make it possible for a felon to find a useful place in society after he leaves our revolving door prisons. All the while, the crime rate continues to soar and we seem helpless in the face of it.

It probably is impossible to identify and isolate the element of vengeance that may be present in the outrage the ordinary person feels when he hears of a drug pusher being set free, or a disgraced president escaping the punishment meted out to his underlings.

Carried to its extreme, however — and that is where it seems to be heading — this self-doubt about our motives, this quest for perfect, flawless justice will leave us even more paralyzed than we are now.

As it is, our courts are legalistic battlegrounds in which the amount of money one has or the cleverness of one's lawyer or the luck of the draw determining which judge hears the case are all too often the determining factors in whether justice is done or not.

A little vengeance might be of incalculable benefit to society.

Punish the wrongdoers — fairly, but quickly and surely. Then don't just put them away for a time but teach them skills and pay them for useful work in prison so that they may both make amends to their victims and have something with which to start a new life.

If all our best efforts at rehabilitation fail — and we won't know until we start spending as conditions in prison and statements by anyone banned under the Suppression of Communism Act.

They believe that the press council, presided over by a judge and with heavy punitive powers, will force newspapers to censor themselves. "Let's not do the government's dirty work for them," is their argument.

Others see it as the lesser of two evils, and believe the imprudent wording of the new provisions will result in the press council's decisions still being based largely on accepted newspaper practice.

The key to the situation is probably to be found in the fact that the proprietors' union has submitted its draft privately to Vorster — to see, presumably, whether it contains enough meat to satisfy the crocodile. If he thinks it does, he will accept; if not, he will either demand more, or again threaten his own law.

Meanwhile the press has made itself an easier prey by its internal quarrelling and by this public declaration of mea culpa by its proprietors.

For the most part the code spelled out normal newspaper practice and emphasized the public's right to be fully informed.

However, many journalists feared that it would prove the thin end of the wedge and that if it did not silence the newspapers as the government wanted there would soon be renewed pressure to make it do so.

These fears now are being realized. In another upsurge of government feeling against the press last September the prime minister, John Vorster, repeated his predecessor's threat. At first the NPU did not respond. But last week a draft press bill was rumored to be ready. And at this point the proprietors' union decided again to try the course of appeasement.

It has redrafted its code of conduct to require, among other things, that newspapers should show "due care and responsibility concerning matters which can have the effect of stirring up racial hostility between different racial groups . . . and which can affect the safety and defense of the country and its people." To this has been added the power to fine offending newspapers.

The proposal has caused a furious row between journalists and proprietors, and among the newspapers themselves.

Some see it as a sell-out. They point out that the surprising amount of freedom the press enjoys now is in fact limited by the 40-odd laws which forbid mention of certain things, such

JACOBY ON BRIDGE. By Oswald & James Jacoby (Newspaper Enterprise Association). We are indebted to Dr. Bertrand Romanet of Paris for today's hand. It illustrates a ruff out a club with his last trump and make his contract. Suppose East chucks a heart. Once more South picks up East's trump but now he has three heart tricks. Then why is East almost squeezed? Because East can discard a low trump. South can still pick up the trumps and run off the last two, but East is discarding in back of dummy and there is no squeeze against him. This particular hand was probably made up by the good doctor but the play of undertruffing to avoid a squeeze comes up on occasion and is well worth knowing. # Departure Of Minis Being Mourned In London

LONDON (AP) — It was the success story of the decade, the badge of the bold new age of permissiveness, the uniform of the "Youth Revolution."

It was the marvelous mini — the fashion that came out of newly Swinging London and swept the world.

Now it's all over. Here, where it all started, the mini skirt has been pronounced dead at last.

English papers mourned the loss. The London Evening News cried: "Tell me it isn't true." The Sun headlined: "The Final Heave-Heo." The Evening Standard bade "A Short and Sweet Farewell." On the BBC's pop radio station, disc jockey Tony Blackburn declared a week of mourning for the style. And all over the country men howled in dismay.

In the midst of the furor, there were some who wondered what the fuss was all about.

"The mini? It's been dead for ages — why are they just discovering it now?" mused Jenny Lloyd, a with-it young secretary.

She has a point. For years now, the mini has been persona non grata on the King's Road, a stranger in Carnaby Street, an antiquity to the trendy models, designers, and followers of their fashions.

It's even been the subject of a museum exhibition this year

— "Mary Quant's London" — which displayed the fashion fossil in all its former glory.

Miss Quant herself, like the other top designers of the era, dropped the style before the start of the new decade. The mini, she said, was "right for its time. It's another era now. We're in a different mood. We're feeling more refined, more romantic."

Linked To Stock Exchange

Is it romance? Or something else? According to 20th-century folklore, hemlines rise and fall with the Financial Times stock index. And, as mini-mourning gripped Britain, London's stock exchange was plummeting to 1930s-style lows.

But neither name designers nor the stock exchange dealt the final blow. Despite the whims of both, the sky-high style had lingered long after other fads had come and gone.

What killed the mini in the end was the very young it was designed for. More than any other style, the mini promoted — and depended on — the qualities of youth. The day the mini died arrived when a rock fan, questioned while waiting outside a recording studio for her idol to emerge, replied scornfully: "The mini? I haven't worn it since I was little," and at 16 wasn't exaggerating.

For London girls of this age group, it isn't even a fond memory. "Ooh, I hate it," said 19-year-old Sue Davies, a sales clerk in a department store. Val McGhee, 20, elaborated. "I just don't think they look nice. I mean — you hear men say 'Well if a girl's got nice legs...'"

But most of them who wear them don't.

"It's just horrible," summed up another '70s-style Dolly Bird.

Last Mini-Strongholds

It's that verdict that made the last mini-strongholds, the popular chain stores of C & A, Marks and Spencers, Richard Shops and Dorothy Perkins (all British equivalents of Sears and Penneys) finally abandon the style. The closest any of the fall stocks will come to the glorious heights of the mini is 19 to 18 inches, a mere 2 inches above the knee.

So, now what next? "Anything fashionable," was Miss Davies' ready reply. Others had more definite ideas, like trousers, a firm favorite among practical ladies with comfort in mind.

For others, it's a case of from one extreme to another. Maxiskirts — free-flowing, side-walk-trailing — have caught on here as nowhere else. In London, unlike America or Europe, they're not just party clothes. Val McGhee, 20, elaborated. "I just don't think they look nice. I mean — you hear men say 'Well if a girl's got nice legs...'"

But most of them who wear them don't.

"It's just horrible," summed up another '70s-style Dolly Bird.

So, now what next? "Anything fashionable," was Miss Davies' ready reply. Others had more definite ideas, like trousers, a firm favorite among doing the shopping in, taking the kids to school in, even for working in. Maybe it's because they have the approval of at least the romantics of the male population. "They're so really pretty and feminine," commented one.

And now, most recent of the looks to capture the British fancy, is the mid-calf skirt. "It's so attractive, so stylish," enthused the fashionable young, one after the other. And it's new.

Still, at least one of the modern young things was willing to hold out hope to depressed leg watchers. "We're going through all the styles — '20s, '30s and now we're on to the '50s, and now we're on to the '60s, so fast, I think the mini will come back by next year," was student Penny Turten's view.

Many Ex-Reservists Due Back Pay

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The Army says there is money waiting for thousands of former reservists in a 16-state area who have not filed claims for back pay approved by Congress.

About 18,000 former reservists are eligible for back pay ranging from $9 to $270 per person, says pay spokesman Capt. Joe McMahon of Fifth Army headquarters at Ft. Sam Houston here.

He said less than three percent — or less than 540 — of the eligible former reservists have filed claims.

The Army said Congress has authorized back pay as a result of court action against the 1972 presidential decision to withhold the pay boost. At the time, the increase was originally scheduled for Oct. 1, 1972, but did not become effective to Jan. 1, 1973.

Former reservists who attended unit meetings or annual training or who were on active duty for training at any time during the period Oct. 1 through Dec. 31, 1972, are eligible for back payments, said the Army.

McMahon said his office would receive claims from Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas and Wisconsin.

"All an individual has to do is write us and ask for back pay, giving his name, grade and years of service, Social Security or service number, unit to which assigned from Oct. 1 through Dec. 31, 1972, and his address where the check should be mailed," said McMahon.

WTCC Again Urges Bracero Program

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The West Texas Chamber of Commerce today reiterated its support of the restitution of a bracero program.

Ranchers and farmers on the Chamber's executive committee said Thursday that "farm and ranch hands are almost impossible to find in most West Texas areas and the bracero program would help."

Dick Yeager of Vernon said that some farmers have trouble even finding enough tractor drivers.

The Rev. John Casey, pastor of a Catholic church at Dell City near El Paso described the plight of Mexican nationals who enter the country illegally as "pathetic."

"They trudge overland some 90 miles," he said, "and show up starving in our area and generally get picked up by the Border Patrol before they can work long enough to earn a buck." The priest said that the bracero program would help alleviate their condition.

Yeager said that it is almost an impossible task to contain the problem at the border and that the bracero bill introduced by Rep. Omar Burleson D-Tex., would help both farmers and braceros.

During the Thursday session West Texans also approved a recommendation asking for federal intervention to prevent the protest slaughter of dairy cattle next week in Stephenville.

The Chamber said it opposes the proposed killing of calves, but added that the ranchers and dairymen deserve a chance to discuss their problems with federal representatives.

Yeager said most "oldtime cattlemen" are less inclined to "panic" at the depressed economic situation brought on by higher prices of feed and low prices of beef.

WHEN DO I PAY?
 YOU NEVER HAVE TO PAY UNLESS YOU WANT TO. In other words, we send you the policy and you have 30 days coverage with no investment whatsoever. If you decide you want to keep the policy for longer than the 30 days, you may pay the premium after receiving your premium notice which will not be due until the initial NO INVESTMENT 30 day coverage has expired. If you decide you do not wish to keep the policy, just throw it away. In the meantime if you have a covered claim within the first 30 days, EVEN THOUGH YOU HAVE NO INVESTMENT WHATSOEVER, you will be covered as provided for in the policy - WHAT MORE CAN YOU ASK?

DO I HAVE TO GO TO THE HOSPITAL TO BE COVERED?
ABSOLUTELY NOT! That's the beauty part of this policy. You never have to go to the hospital to collect. It pays just as much and in some cases more out of the hospital than it does in the hospital. For an example: You can collect the same benefits outlined on the opposite page IV or OUT of the hospital. It matters not whether it's in the doctor's office, clinic or home and of course, also in the hospital. In fact, you can collect on medicines, drugs and prescriptions out of the hospital in addition to the other benefits outlined out of the hospital on while IN or OUT of the hospital. PLEASE NOTICE ON THE OPPOSITE PAGE YOU ALSO MAY COLLECT ON DOCTORS VISITS, INCLUDING DOCTORS OF MEDICINE, OSTEOPATHY, DENTISTRY, OPTOMETRY AND CHIROPRACTIC. IN THE DOCTORS OFFICE, CLINIC, HOME, AS WELL AS IN THE HOSPITAL. NO, you do not EVER have to be confined to the hospital to collect the benefits outlined on the opposite page as provided for in the policy. YES, IT'S A TRUE IN OR OUT OF THE HOSPITAL POLICY.

WHO QUALIFIES FOR THIS POLICY?
EVERYBODY QUALIFIES! We don't care what your age is as long as there is at least one adult on the policy. We don't care what your health condition is. We will issue you a policy, and you will be covered as per the provisions of the policy, and we welcome anybody and everybody. WE ARE AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY COMPANY AND WE ARE PROUD OF IT - IN FACT, WE WILL GUARANTEE YOUR ACCEPTANCE OR ANYONE ELSE YOU APPLY FOR at the rates advertised on the back page of this advertisement. PROVIDED YOU APPLY WITHIN 10 DAYS FROM THE DATE OF THIS ADVERTISEMENT. We reserve the right to renew this offer at a later date. However, we must limit only one such policy to any insured covered person.

WHO NEEDS THIS TYPE POLICY?
THE MOST AND WHY?
 This policy was designed for people of all walks of life. Many people are too busy to go to the hospital, such as working people, executives, professional people, farmers, ranchers and the working breadwinner who can't afford to be off of work too long. YET they need insurance coverage to help foot the bills when they go to the doctor's office, clinic or if treated at home. Yet it will also help them to any insured covered person.

IF YOU HAVE TO GO TO THE HOSPITAL, ALSO HOW ABOUT THE TIMES WHEN THE HOSPITALS ARE SO CROWDED YOU CAN'T GET IN?
OR MEDICARE, MEDICAID, ETC.?
 It doesn't matter. This policy pays full policy benefits in addition to any other insurance you carry with any other company or company group. It even pays full policy benefits if you are covered under Medicare, Medicaid or any other Governmental Medical Program. IT SURE WILL HELP FILL THE GAPS THAT MEDICARE, MEDICAID AND/OR ANY OTHER GOVERNMENTAL MEDICAL PROGRAM DOES NOT PAY WITH A SUBSTANTIAL PORTION OF THE POLICY. AND FITS AS PROVIDED FOR IN THE POLICY. AND EACH YEAR YOU who are under Medicare particularly need this policy to help fill the gaps that Medicare does not pay. In fact in 1974 YOU became responsible for paying 10% MORE insurance. Because responsible for paying 10% MORE insurance YOU definitely need it. REMEMBER, THIS IS DEFINITELY AN IN OR OUT OF THE HOSPITAL POLICY FOR ALL AGES AND REGARDLESS OF YOUR STATUS IN LIFE.

WILL YOU PAY BENEFITS DIRECTLY TO ME AND ARE THEY TAX FREE?
 YES - WE pay all benefits directly to YOU, unless YOU authorize us differently. In other words, the only way we will pay directly to the doctor, clinic or hospital is for YOU to tell us to do so. YES - THE MONEY YOU RECEIVE FOR THESE BENEFITS IS TAX FREE.

DOES THE POLICY CONTAIN ANY LIMITATIONS AND EXCLUSIONS?
 Of course, it does, but they are fair and reasonable. Many advertisements would lead you to believe that their policy contains none, but this is not true. All policies have limitations and exclusions, or Exclusions of any character technical name they wish to call them, and some policies are so cleverly worded that after you read the policy you are confused as to whether they have any or not. But we can assure you they do. A policy without any limitations, Exclusions or Exceptions would cost so much most of us could not afford the premium. With your permission we are going to furnish you a policy for 30 days without any obligations IF YOU WILL SIMPLY FILL OUT AND MAIL THE ATTACHED POSTAGE-FREE APPLICATION PAGE ON THE NEXT PAGE. Please examine the entire policy, particularly the Limitations and Exclusions and you will find them written in simple everyday language that you can understand. You will also find them to be fair and reasonable. IN FACT, The Entire Policy Is Written in Simple Everyday Understandable Language.

Chicanos Are Under-Represented On College Campuses, Professor Says

By JOHN LUMPKIN
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Ernie Bernal Jr., 36, drove taxis, was a door-to-door salesman and borrowed a bundle of cash when he went to college. He received no scholarships, he says.

Times have changed. Adequate financial aid is available today Bernal believes, but Mexican-Americans such as him are still under-represented on college campuses.

Why?

"It's a complex set of factors," says Bernal, now an associate professor at the University of Texas at San Antonio. The net effect of those factors, he says, is a barrier which prevents Mexican-American students access to aid for which they could qualify.

Bernal chaired an advisory committee which helped the southwestern regional office of the College Entrance Examination Board select 40 Mexican-Americans from 14 western states for a conference here to train participants in handling student aid programs.

The conference, held at Our Lady of the Lake College in this city with a heavy Mexican-American population, runs until Oct. 18. The participants either work in financial aid offices or talent search programs at 37 colleges and universities.

"This is a practical-oriented conference designed to impart the kind of knowledge and skills that are necessary to run virtually all aspects of a student financial office, including relationships with schools which are feeding in students to the college or university and with the ethnic community itself," Bernal says.

Bernal worked hard to obtain his doctorate in educational psychology. His parents, neither of whom finished high school, both worked to help him and his brother.

Many of Bernal's peers in the late 1960s are without a college education.

Student grants, hopefully enough to prevent the student from needing a job, rather than loans are the answer says Bernal.

"The prospect of accumulating a great indebtedness is a turnoff for a person who has never seen that much money in his life," he noted.

In many cases, Mexican-Americans cannot count on help like Bernal's parents gave him, either. The Bernals had only two children, enabling both parents to work. That might not be the case in typically larger families, says Bernal.

"I think we need part of the training of a financial aid officer to be a new sensitivity to the different needs of the Mexican-American student population," Bernal says.

One of the factors in the present financial aid system which Bernal believes has not been successfully tuned to Mexican-Americans is "in some cases outright discrimination (keeping) Mexican-Americans from information about financial aid."

Another factor which skilled Mexican-American financial aid officers could fight would be, according to Bernal, "a lot of bureaucratic paperwork associated with obtaining financial aid that has proven to be a stumbling block for students."

Undereducated parents with inadequate English skills are suspicious of the forms, which require detailed information about family income. "These forms very importantly have never had any explanations in Spanish," he said.

"In the past, inadequate information provided a substantially lower financial aid package to a Mexican-American than they were really qualified to receive," Bernal says.

Another problem area is a high school counselor of Mexican-American pupils not being familiar with college aid procedures he says. "Until recently, college aid financial officers have not made a concerted effort to make this information known," says Bernal.

Bernal believes Anglo college enrollment is peaking, meaning there will be places for qualified Mexican-Americans. He also says "the demand for student aid is better known and is more stable generally."

"This is what is sometimes called the outreach effort," Bernal says.

Training of Mexican-American college officials toward such programs will enable them to assure Mexican-American high school pupils, "Don't put this option (of college) out of your mind. There are means and ways of exercising the option if you choose to do so," says Bernal.

Although the number of Mexican-Americans in college is increasing, the proportion of eligible Mexican-Americans who enter remains low Bernal says.

"We know in some areas... there are perhaps 20 per cent of the eligible Mexican-American students who go to college. And that is a high figure. In some places, it is as low as five per cent," says Bernal.

"Things are better," says Bernal, comparing the present to when he began college, "but I don't think they are as good as they should be."

Ancient Monuments Getting New Home

By HARRY DUNPHY
CAIRO (AP) — Once immersed in fast flowing Nile River waters, the island of Philae, known as the "Pearl of Egypt," now nestles behind a coffer dam as workers prepare to move its silt-coated monuments to a new setting.

Abdul Meguid Dwidar, engineer in charge, said that once an estimated 20,000 cubic meters of silt was removed, the monuments, which date back to 350 B.C., will be photographed, numbered and taken to a storage area in Aswan while their new home — the nearby island of Agilkia — is made ready.

"The work is in full swing to uncover inscriptions and historic engravings still hidden under the soil on parts of the temples and shrines," Dwidar said.

Once this is completed and the 40,000 blocks, some weighing as much as 30 tons, are registered, work on the final phase of making Agilkia an exact replica of Philae will start. The blocks will be injected with reinforcing material so they can be moved safely after more than 2,000 years.

Dwidar said the last phase of the $12-million project, aided by a U.N. Education, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) rescue campaign, would not be completed until mid-1977. It began in July 1972. Egyptologists are anxious to study the Philae inscriptions closely because they may yield new clues about ancient religion.

The granite island was something of a Pharonic resort, set in the Nile near the first cataract, a garden spot of date and palm groves and lush gardens.

Ancient Egyptian rulers built temples and shrines to their gods, the largest of which was dedicated to Isis, goddess of motherhood and fertility. Before it stand two large pylons and the famous mammisi or birth house where Isis is said to have given birth to Horus, the sun god.

Later, Ethiopians, Nubians, Greeks and Romans added their places of worship. Roman soldiers and, later, Napoleon's troops recorded their presence by scribbling on the walls graffiti that are still visible.

The completion of the first Aswan Dam in 1902 by the British eventually flooded the island and the temples up to nine months a year. Tourists did their viewing by boat, rowing from a downstream jetty.

Even though the new Soviet-built High Dam, closed in the late 1960s, is south of Philae, the island remained covered. The new dam's power turbines churning up the river's waters posed a new threat to the foundations of the monuments.

Some Marijuana Haulers Getting Careless

ALICE, Tex. (AP) — Road signs designate it U.S. 281, but around this South Texas town they call it 281-M, or "The Marijuana Highway."

The road knifes its way north from the Rio Grande Valley across the cactus and mesquite-studded landscape of South Texas to San Antonio and beyond.

Alice is halfway to San Antonio, and tons of marijuana roll by here week in and week out.

"There's no way of telling just how much marijuana is hauled through Alice," said B. F. "Bev" Lloyd, district attorney of Jim Wells County. "We get more by accident than any other way."

Indications are that hauling marijuana up U.S. 281 is so commonplace that some drivers are getting casual about their job.

In one case cited by Lloyd, a driver was stopped for traveling 64 miles per hour in a 55 m.p.h. zone. It turned out he was carrying 500 pounds of marijuana.

"Now why in the world would a man carrying 500 pounds of marijuana exceed the speed limit?" Lloyd asked.

"Ninety per cent of the seizures have been by sheer accident—because the person is doing something wrong," Lloyd said. Some arrests result from tips from federal agents or Valley law enforcement officers. But he said such cases are rare.

The tall prosecutor said he believes 75 per cent of the criminal cases his office handles are in some way related to narcotics, but not all the cases come off the marijuana highway.

Lloyd said many burglary and shoplifting cases are the result of a person needing money to pay for his habit.

Asked why there are more confiscations of marijuana now, Lloyd said, "The police are more alert and there's just more coming through."

Lloyd said that in a recent case a state trooper noted an automobile weaving "all over the road."

He stopped the driver and arrested him for driving while intoxicated. A search revealed that the tipsy driver was hauling 500 pounds of brick form marijuana.

In another case Lloyd cited, a Jim Wells County deputy stopped to aid a motorist with a disabled automobile. The man was hauling about 500 pounds of marijuana.

Lloyd said marijuana smugglers frequently buy older automobiles so they will not lose so much money if the car is confiscated. He said some haulers use rental automobiles "and then we don't even get the car."

Lloyd said most persons arrested in the Alice area are from the Lower Rio Grande Valley and were hired to haul a load of something for a small amount of money, frequently $25.

Lloyd describes the persons arrested as "message boys," saying they usually will not tell officers who hired them.

"They have to get their money from someone since $15,000 or $20,000 bond is posted for them in a day or so," Lloyd said. He said the bonds usually are posted by professional bondsmen or by Valley lawyers.

Asked if he knows where the bond money comes from, Lloyd said "No, but that would be interesting."

One new gimmick, Lloyd said, is for marijuana to be placed in suitcases and hauled north on commercial buses. He noted that Alice is a transfer point for a large bus line with buses going and coming to the Valley, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Houston and Laredo.

"Sometimes the marijuana is packed so loosely the bus driver can smell it when he loads it on the bus," Lloyd said, noting that some arrests have been made as persons walked away from the Alice Bus Terminal.

Officers report marijuana frequently is included in shipments of produce out of the Valley, with onions being a favorite crop since the odor covers the distinct smell of marijuana. It is impossible for officers to search every load of produce passing on the marijuana highway.

Home Improvement Spending Is Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A recent nationwide survey of more than one thousand representative home-owning families forecasts record spending of $35.4 billion on home improvements this year, up 14 per cent from last year's $22.3 billion. By outdistancing the 12 per cent annual rate of inflation, this spending represents real growth in a booming market for building supply dealers.

How are people spending this money? More than $3.4 billion will go for kitchen remodeling, $2.7 billion for add-a-room projects and $1.6 for new roofing, with the rest divided among a wide variety of home improvements, the major one the remodeling of bathrooms.

Paralleling the growth in home modernization is a surge in the number of do-it-yourself projects. Of the most frequent remodeling projects, the survey found that nearly three out of four respondents who finished their basements did the work themselves. Almost two-thirds modernized their bathrooms by themselves and slightly more than one half made kitchen remodeling a do-it-yourself project.

What lies behind the "bull market" in home remodeling? "Making the home a more enjoyable place to live," according to Harold Sugarman, publisher of Building Supply News, is listed as the prime motivation for modernization by 81 per cent of the respondents. This probably is a reflection of the growing tendency among homeowners to spend more of their time at home due to uncertainty generated by the energy crunch.

Double-digit inflation also is forcing many prospective homebuyers to shelve their moving plans. Experts estimate the cost of moving, all things considered, at about 10 per cent of the price of a new home. According to the Wall Street Journal, the median price for a new single-family home has jumped a phenomenal 50 per cent since 1970, to $35,000. That means a consumer who purchases a home at that price faces an extra bill of $3,500, which includes a lot of things besides the physical movement of household goods.

Remodeling could be cheaper. The most expensive home improvement, according to the survey, is adding a room. Its average cost is $3,221. Expanding an attic into a living area costs an average of $2,354. Putting a room in the basement averages $837.

Officers report marijuana frequently is included in shipments of produce out of the Valley, with onions being a favorite crop since the odor covers the distinct smell of marijuana. It is impossible for officers to search every load of produce passing on the marijuana highway.
