What To Do About Blue Days

A physician tells me that by proper exercise you can often stave off coronary attacks...

Recently, Mrs. Peale and I spent some days in the little town of Keswick in that part of northern England...

"How do you know?" I asked him. "What makes you so sure?" "Birds are flying low," he told me.

Nature is like life, after all. We should not always be looking for the soft qualities but learn to rejoice in its sterner qualities.

Midlander's Steer Sells For $6,000 At Auction

By The Associated Press
The sale of two Texas steers have reminded consumers once again that beef is indeed a high-priced commodity.

A calf owned by Mrs. John (Linda) Garner, 18, of Midland, was sold Friday at the Texas state fair for $6,000, or almost $6 a pound. The Limousin-Herford steer was purchased by Safeway Stores Inc.

Mrs. Garner, who represented the Midland High School Future Farmers of America in the livestock competition, bought the steer for 45 cents a pound last spring.

The steer was exhibited by Mike Gallier, 17, a member of the Voth-Rosedale 4H club in Beaumont. It was bought by Norvell Wilder Supply Co. and Schwab Heat Exchanges of Beaumont.

The reserve grand champion at the Beaumont fair, an 800-pound Charolais-Angus was sold for $5,519 or $6.35 a pound. It was raised and exhibited by William Horn, 11, of Amelia 4H club and bought by George Clark of Clark Distributing Co. of Beaumont.

Pittman Will Head Bank At San Angelo

Wesley E. Pittman, senior vice president and trust officer for The Midland National Bank, has been elected president and chief executive officer of the First National Bank of San Angelo.

Another Midlander, Tony A. Martin, who will continue as Midland National's vice chairman and president, will assume additional responsibilities as San Angelo First National's executive committee chairman and member of the board of directors.

The announcements came following the regular meeting of First National's board of directors Friday, when Jim West resigned for health reasons as president, chief executive officer and member of the board of directors.

Pittman holds membership in the chamber of commerce education committee. He is a past director of the Midland Symphony Association and was president of the Midland Council of Campfire Girls in 1968 and 1969.

He is an elder in Christ Presbyterian Church and also serves as congregation trustee.

Pittman is a San Angelo native who later moved to the Tall City, graduating in 1953 from Midland High School. He received his B.A. degree and a B.S. degree in chemical engineering from Rice University at Houston.

Shootout Breaks Up Mexican Kidnaping

TORREON, Mexico (AP) — Gunmen opened fire on a group of policemen, killing one and seriously wounding another, after authorities were tipped a kidnaping was in progress. The victim was a man who three years ago won $2.8 million in a lottery, police said Saturday.

The kidnapers escaped after the shootout and the abduction was foiled, a police spokesman said in Torreon, capital of the State of Coahuila south of the Texas border.

The would-be kidnapers be sieged the house of Silva Cesarilli in a Torreon suburb early Friday and held the family at gunpoint for several hours waiting for a bank to open so the millionaire could withdraw money to pay his ransom, police said.

But a neighbor called the police when she noticed unusual activity in the Silva household, police said.

More than a score of officers arrived shortly afterward, and the gunmen opened fire on them.

The men escaped through the rear of the house without collecting the ransom, police said. The amount they were asking for was not revealed.

Forgery Suspect Remains In Jail

Rudell Whitley, 23, of 2212 E. California St. remained in custody at city jail Saturday in lieu of $3,500 bond. Whitley is charged with forgery by possession with intent to pass.

City police arrested Whitley in the 200 block of North Dallas Street where he had been attempting to cash a bogus check.

Five Persons Die, One Hurt In Crash In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Five persons were killed and a sixth critically burned early Saturday in a two-car collision on San Antonio's northside, police reported.

Police said the victims, all believed to be in their teens or early 20s, were burned beyond immediate recognition.

Officers said the victims were all occupants of a car which went out of control while attempting to pass another vehicle, Police said the car struck another car overturned and exploded when it slammed into a tree at about 12:45 a.m.

Jewelry Stolen From Residence

Mrs. R. D. Myers of 2000 Douglas St. told police Saturday that someone had removed three rings from her home that were valued at $1,800.

In another theft case, Richard Holche, of 4511 Parkdale St. reported that a citizens band radio valued at $360 was taken from a pickup truck parked in the 2200 block of the Garden City Highway.

Swiss Vote On Ouster Of 540,000 Foreigners

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — The Swiss began voting Saturday in a two-day referendum on whether to oust 540,000 foreigners on grounds they are changing the character of this sober, orderly nation.

Results are to be announced tonight.

All major political parties have urged that the proposal be voted down, and polls predicted it will lose by a comfortable margin. But there is a large undecided vote, and government officials are privately less sure of rejection than the pollsters.

The movement against foreign workers has been boosted by unchecked inflation, growing do to the country's new wealth fears of world economic recession and its reputation abroad and a tendency to blame foreigners for high prices and rents and even pollution of the country.

At stake is the fate of people — two-thirds of them Italians and Spaniards — encouraged by business to come and work here and now, suddenly, facing an uncertain future.

In a bitter campaign many Swiss have openly shown deep compassion, but just as many have expressed their hatred of foreigners.

Fear of what expulsion might mean to the country's new wealth abroad and its reputation abroad and a tendency to blame foreigners for high prices and rents and even pollution of the country.

Traditional haven of foreign tourists and money, and host to some United Nations offices and hundreds of international organizations, Switzerland has the highest density of foreigners in the world.

There are more than one million non-Swiss among the 6.3 million inhabitants. The referendum is on a proposal to limit Switzerland's foreign population to 500,000 by Jan. 1, 1978.

New Road Surface To Prevent Skidding

LONDON (AP) — A new accident-saving road service, with a tread pattern like an auto tire, has been developed in Britain.

The design should stop skidding and cut spray hazards on wet roads.

Scientists at Birmingham University spent seven years evolving the new surface, which cannot become polished or slippery.

They have used a harsh texture for the surface, which is made with two aggregates that wear at different rates, thus maintaining the tread pattern.

They claim that road and tire noise also will be reduced.

British Administrator Facing Tough Go In Northern Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Britain's administrator for Northern Ireland faces a tough week to talk to Irish politicians after eight months in the job ranges from disappointing to disastrous.

Catholics in the Social Democratic and Labor party charge him with weakness in handling the Protestant strike which earlier this year brought down Brian Faulkner's Protestant-Catholic coalition, a unique experiment in power-sharing which lasted a mere five months.

They charge, too, that he has reneged on a pledge to phase out internment without trial and tried to cover up the extent of injuries in last week's riots at the Maze and Magilligan camps.

Protestants in the United Ulster Unionist party are still hopping mad that Rees' boss, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, accused them of sponing on the British taxpayer.

They also charge that Britain has been far from tough enough in meeting the insurrection of the Irish Republican Army, whose battle to merge the province into a union with the Irish Republic has cost more than 1,000 lives and uncounted millions in property damage.

Elections First Step

Rees' first step will be to publish a policy plan including elections for a 78-member assembly charged with working out a constitution. The British insist that the government which emerges give a share of real power and responsibility to the Catholic third of the population.

As guidance, the policy statement will include descriptions of governmental systems in other countries which have populations divided by ethnic origin, language, or religion. Canada, Switzerland and the Netherlands are among the examples.

The 78 assemblymen, sitting under an independent chairman, are to choose which piece of which constitution might suit them or to produce their own ideas.

The chances for agreement look slim. Two elections this year, both for the British Parliament, have shown the two communities to be as far apart as ever and moderate parties got nowhere.

Legislative Battle Could End In R. L. Vesco's Extradition

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal grand jury in New York charging Vesco with attempted fraud by wire in connection with an alleged unsuccessful effort to have his New Jersey-based International Controls Corp. reimburse him for the money he contributed to the Nixon re-election campaign.

The 57-member legislative assembly in that small Latin American country is considering a move to repeal a March 1973 extradition law commonly known as "the Vesco Law" because it seems tailor-made to shield the fugitive financier from U.S. authorities. If the law is repealed or substantially amended, diplomatic and investigative sources here say the Justice Department will renew its extradition efforts.

Vesco is wanted on charges stemming from a $200,000 contribution to former President Nixon's re-election in an alleged attempt to influence an investigation by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The Justice Department has made two previous attempts to extradite Vesco—once from Costa Rica and once from the Bahamas—but in both cases was rebuffed by local courts. Vesco is living in Costa Rica where, according to recent Senate testimony, he has amassed an arsenal of highly sophisticated firearms.

U.S. officials first requested Vesco's extradition from Costa Rica in June 1973, citing an indictment handed down by a fraud involving $50,000 in corporate funds he allegedly used to buy stock in the Geneva-based Investors Overseas Service. Courts in the Bahamas, the base of Vesco's operations at the time, ruled that the offense was not covered by the extradition treaty between the two countries.

New Attempt Possible

The United States has never attempted to extradite Vesco from Costa Rica on this fraud charge although sources say it apparently is covered by the extradition treaty. If the Vesco law is amended or repealed the Justice Department can be expected to make a new extradition request.

The law now in effect gives the president of Costa Rica, not the courts, the power to decide which extradition requests should be granted. Oduber, the current president, is widely regarded as the handpicked successor of former president Jose Figueres, still the most powerful political figure in the country and a close personal and business associate of Vesco's.

Rightist Plots Cover-Up Allegations Rouse Italy

ROME (AP) — Allegations that senior intelligence officials have covered up rightist plots against the government over the last four years have suddenly emerged as a major issue in Italy.

Gen. Vito Miceli, head of Italy's military intelligence agency until July, has been placed under investigation on suspicion that he attempted to bury his agency's findings on the plots.

Defense Minister Giulio Andreotti, who ordered the investigation, will appear before Parliament's defense committee this week to report on a dossier of various attempts against the state.

Andreotti was received Friday night by President Giovanni Leone in what was believed to be a review of the controversy.

Rumor Keeps Hands Off

The nation's powerful leftist parties requested an urgent meeting of the government. But Premier Mariano Rumor, who resigned two weeks ago, said his government is staying on as caretaker and only for routine administration matters until a viable government is formed.

La Stampa's influential columnist Carlo Casalegno wrote Saturday that certain "grave facts" ascertained beyond doubt included the following: "In 1970," he wrote, "there was an armed insurrection attempt with the direct complicity and connivance of some military... The investigation was obstructed, the guilty protected and the defense of the republic weakened."

After a sweeping probe, state prosecutors have issued 20 arrest warrants, including some against colonels, on charges that they attempted to engineer a coup on the night of Dec. 7, 1970.

The mastermind of the coup, investigators claim, was the late Prince Junio Valerio Borghese, a fascist war hero who fled to Spain and died there this August.

Strike Order Withheld

On the day of the attempted coup the plotters moved about 200 armed paramilitary forest rangers to within a few hundred yards of the national radio and television center and infiltrated a commando unit into the Interior Ministry, the investigators say.

But the order to strike never came off at the last minutes for reasons not disclosed.

The government recently acknowledged that there have been at least two rightist plots against the state this year.

Five Area Youths Place In Heifer Show At State Fair

Two Midland youths, one from Martin County and two from Gaines County won awards in the junior beef heifers portion of the Junior Livestock Show at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas last week.

Beau Estes of the Midland FFA won two awards. His 18-19 month spring yearling heifer, TBLI Dominette 1119, placed second and YA Lady Mixer 312 placed sixth in the under 10 months junior heifer class.

Kathy Knox of the Midland County 4-H won third in the under 10 months junior heifer class with TY Miss Axtell.

Kevin Newman of the Martin County 4-H won first with V-Bar Rockette R316 in the 12-13 month senior heifer class.

Janice Hughes of the Gaines County 4-H won two ribbons. She took third place in the junior heifer class with Burch's Beauty of 4 B 101. Burchs Elba of 4B 87 won an eighth-place ribbon in the late senior heifer class.

Lesla McIlwain, also of the Gaines County 4-H, placed fifth in the 18-19 month spring yearling heifer class with S-H Mabelle Tiberius.

Trial Of Jew In Russia Ends; $132 Fine Given

MOSCOW (AP) — A trial that Jewish dissidents billed as a Soviet bid to discourage emigration to Israel ended Saturday with the defendant found guilty of careless driving but fined only 100 roubles — $132.

Viktor Polsky said he considered the verdict against him unjust, but added he was happy. He had faced a maximum three-year prison sentence.

After leaving the courtroom, the Jewish activist said: "It means I am guilty according to the court, but the sentence was so small it was insignificant."

Polsky, a physicist who has been denied permission to emigrate to Israel, was charged after his car hit a 19-year-old girl.

The girl and her parents claimed she was hit while running across a road to make a phone call to a friend. The defense maintained that the girl, daughter of an official of the ministry of the interior, ran in front of the car in a suicide attempt.

The Soviet news agency Tass afterwards branded Western press coverage of the trial as an "anti-Soviet hullabaloo" seeking to find "big politics in an ordinary traffic accident."

Many Jews rallied to Polsky's defense and even sent an appeal to President Ford.

EXCUSE US, PLEASE

In the months to come, we will be watching the new Midland National Bank Tower as it is under construction. For a time there will be a slight inconvenience for our customers who formerly parked in our paved lot on Marienfeld between Texas and Illinois Avenues.

Starting Wednesday, October 23, this lot will be closed in preparation for the start of construction.

We regret there will not be as many parking spaces available for a time, but invite you to park adjacent to the bank, or in the Vaughn Parking Garage on Texas Avenue. We'll pay your parking there while you're transacting business at MNB. Please ask any officer or employee to stamp your parking ticket.

We always look forward to having our customers visit the bank, but also remind you of the convenience of saving time and energy by banking by mail. We pay postage both ways.

When our new building is completed there will be more parking spaces and more drive-in teller stations than before—to serve you better.

Rockefellers Back Taxes May Soar Past $1 Million Mark With Interest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller has disclosed he will have to pay an additional $903,718 in federal income and gift taxes, a figure likely to soar past the $1 million level when interest is included. Rockefeller's disclosure was the result of an Internal Revenue Service audit rejecting more than $1.2 million in deductions. It added an explosive new note to the growing controversy surrounding the former New York governor's vice presidential nomination. In recent weeks, Rockefeller's chances have been damaged by revelations that he gave nearly $2 million in gifts to present and former aides and that his brother Laurence financed a campaign biography attacking Arthur J. Goldberg, the governor's 1970 election opponent.

Rockefeller made his disclosure Friday night in a letter to Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., and Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., chairmen of the Senate Rules and House Judiciary committees that are considering the Rockefeller nomination.

The former New York governor is scheduled to resume testimony before the Senate panel on Nov. 13. The House committee has yet to schedule hearings, and there are growing indications Congress will be unable to act on the Rockefeller nomination until at least next year.

An aide said Rockefeller won't have to pay any penalties but that he will add interest at the rate of 6 per cent a year. A rough calculation showed that would add at least another $100,000 to his tax bill.

In the letters, Rockefeller said the audits required him to pay an additional $820,718 in federal income taxes and an additional $83,000 in federal gift taxes, virtually all of it because of the disallowed deductions.

That compared with the $432,787 in back income taxes, plus $30,000 in interest, that former President Richard M. Nixon had to pay when the IRS audited his tax returns earlier this year.

The principal items disallowed by the IRS were $824,598 in deductions for office and investment expenses, and $420,649 in deductions for charitable contributions, largely relating to unreimbursed expenses of a 1970 trip Rockefeller took to Latin America for the Nixon administration.

No Specifics

There was no indication of the specifics of the deductions disallowed by the IRS. There also was no indication of any illegality.

Rockefeller said that at the time he submitted the figures to the two committees, federal tax audits were in process for 1969, 1970 and 1971, and had not yet begun for 1972 and 1973.

"Through intensive work by the Internal Revenue Service, these audits have now been completed and have resulted in adjustments, as in the past," Rockefeller said.

When he submitted his tax records to the Senate committee and summarized them in a lengthy opening statement Sept. 23, Rockefeller gave no indication the figures were subject to further audit.

The additional taxes include $104,180 in federal income taxes for 1970, a year in which previously he had not paid any federal income tax though he did pay $814,701 in total federal, state and local taxes.

Rockefeller had said he didn't owe federal income taxes that year because of changes in the investments held by the two trusts that provide the bulk of his income. The two trusts paid more than $6 million in capital gains taxes that year, however.

Price Crunch Still Taking Toll On Feedlot Cattle Inventories

WASHINGTON (AP) — The price crunch on livestock feed continues to take a toll on feedlot cattle inventories, new figures by the Agriculture Department show.

The additional beef is coming from cows and other cattle which have been fed little grain, including steers and heifers coming directly off grass pastures.

Sales Down

The report Friday said sales of grain-fed cattle in the July-September quarter from feedlots totaled 5,522,000 head, down 7 per cent from a year earlier and 26 per cent below the third quarter of 1973.

Looking ahead, officials said, fourth-quarter sales are expected to total 5,294,000 head, 18 per cent below October-December last year, and down 22 per cent from the same period in 1972.

Another report by USDA showed the retail price of beef—estimated on an all-cut basis—dropped 3.5 cents a pound in early October from the week ended Sept. 28.

Price Declines

The report said that in the week ended Oct. 5 beef sold in retail stores at an estimated average of slightly under $1.37 per pound, down from more than $1.40 a week earlier.

Both the farm share and the middleman portion of what consumers paid for beef were down during the week, the figures showed.

YES—Brooks, Casey, Eckhardt, Gonzalez, Jordan, Kazen, Roberts, Steelman, Teague, Young.

Not voting were Collins, de la Garza, Patman, and Wright.

A yes vote was a vote to cut off aid. X means not voting.

Archer, R, no; Brooks, D, x; Burleson, D, no; Casey, D, no; Collins, R, x; de la Garza, D, no; Gonzalez, D, no; Jordan, D, yes; Kazen, D, yes; Mahon, D, no; Milford, D, no; Patman, D, x; Pickle, D, yes; Poage, D, no; Price, R, x; Roberts, D, no; Steelman, R, x; Teague, D, yes; White, D, no; Wilson, D, x; Wright, D, x; Young, D, yes.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The smallest Oct. 1 feedlot inventory of cattle since 1967. The decline has been going on for months, however, because of high prices for corn and other feed in relation to what cattle sell for on the market.

Bullock Returning For Campaign Visit

Bob Bullock, Democratic nominee for state comptroller, will be here Tuesday for a final visit before the Nov. 5 general election.

While here, Bullock will visit with local supporters and members of the press.

Bullock, 45, is running for the post being vacated by the retiring Comptroller Robert S. Calvert.

Bullock has called for updating and modernizing the office, improving the state's handling of city sales tax money and changing faulty collection methods he says lose the state millions of dollars a year.

He has also promised to make the comptroller's field forces more responsive to the problems of small businesses by adopting an attitude of helpfulness instead of harassment and by cutting down bureaucratic red tape.

Bullock has campaigned in every county in Texas in both the primary and the general election. He won the Democratic primary with the largest percentage vote — 76.1 per cent — of any contested statewide candidate. He carried 253 of the state's 254 counties, including Midland County which he won by 80.2 per cent.

Bullock has served as Texas secretary of state.

The Hillsboro native has also served two terms in the Texas House of Representatives, and has been legal counsel to the governor and chief of antitrust and consumer protection of Texas attorney general's office.

City Department Income Reported

The September progress report for the City of Midland reveals that not all functions of the municipal government and related departments are just spending money, but in fact some are collecting sizeable payments for their services.

The report, a document of the city manager's office, shows that revenues from traffic and parking citations amounted to $21,681 during September, while the citation total for the year was $324,793.

Parking meter revenues totaled $2,413 for the month and $27,450 for the year by the end of September.

Revenues brought in through the city inspection department for issuance of building permits stand at $51,415 for the year, while September's total permit revenue was $3,260.

The city's golf course showed an income of $5,710 during the month and a $96,176 income for the year.

Even the animal shelter listed a $404 revenue for the month, but was only $4,429 for the year compared to last year's figure of $7,165 for the same period.

Also present for the session will be Frank Northcutt of Dallas, executive vice president of RFAS and educator in the furniture industry. He will speak to participants on "Cutting the Yak-Yak to Get the Job Done."

Car Insurance Rate Hike Certainty, State Aide Says

DALLAS (AP) — Higher automobile insurance rates for Texans are a certainty next year, according to State Insurance Commissioner Don Odom.

Odom told the Dallas Association of Insurance Agents Friday that there will have to be some rate increases. He said he was unsure how big the increase would be.

The State Insurance Board will rule on new rates before Dec. 1.

Industry spokesman asked for increases that would have added more than $100 million annually to premiums paid by Texans, but the State Insurance Board reduced the amount to 16.8 per cent.

Even with the increase, Odom said automobile insurance would still be a bargain.

In Denton, however, Ramsey Muniz, Razda Unida's candidate for governor, said the proposed auto insurance rate hikes should not be approved.

"It is ridiculous to ask consumers to tolerate the burden of such a rate increase when it has been shown that since the speed limit was reduced to 55 miles per hour, accidents and casualties have decreased," he said in a speech to students at North Texas State University.

Industry spokesman said the rate hike is needed to offset higher repair, medical and hospitalization costs.

Economist Says Ford's Inflation Battle Will Work

HOUSTON (AP) — If Congress backs him up, President Ford's program to defeat inflation can do the job, a Texas economist believes.

Dr. W. Philip Gramm told the Texas Finance Institute's annual convention Friday that if President Ford's goal of $300 billion ceiling on federal spending is achieved, inflation will be whipped by the end of 1975.

A $300 billion budget ceiling would produce a balanced budget in 1975 and "cut off the fuel to the current inflationary spiral," said Gramm, professor of economics at Texas A&M University.

"No matter what plan or plans might have been better, the President's plan will do the job if the bitter is swallowed along with the sweet," said Gramm, also an adviser to the United States and Canadian governments.

He said "if Congress only enacts the legislation to ease the cost of inflation on the poor and the construction industry and does not raise taxes to pay for it, inflation rates will continue to rise."

He said the inflation problem dictated a cut in government spending rather than the proposed 5 per cent surtax, but he added such a cut must have been politically inexpedient.

GE To Construct Odessa Facility

ODESSA — General Electric Co. has announced the start of construction on a new apparatus service shop facility located at Interstate 20 and Market Street.

The new 18,500-square-foot facility will be constructed by Abbott Building Co. and is scheduled for completion in June 1975.

The Midland-Odessa area repair shop will serve General Electric heavy equipment. Seventy five per cent of the shop area will be devoted to repair of electrical equipment such as large electrical motors, transformers and switchgear.

Other space in the shop will be used for repair on pumps and compressors.

The shop will also be the headquarters location for GE's fleet of oil field service trucks that operate throughout the Permian Basin making repairs on oilfield pump motors, transformers and controls.

Buzz Crowley, manager of the shop, stated that the new facility was needed to keep up with

Permits Hit $37,756

For the third time this year building permits issued by the city inspection department failed to reach the $50,000 mark in a five-day week.

Last week's permit figure was $37,756 with a single new residence permit taking up $25,000 of the total.

The new home permit was issued to RJR Enterprises for construction at 2102 Hughes St.

Commercial alterations and repair permits totaled $3,156 for the week. Three commercial permits were issued, and they went to the Permian Sign Co. for a $1,000 sign to be located at 421 Andrews Highway; a 3,000 gallon gasoline storage tank costing $1,500 for installation at the Diamond Shamrock station at 1107 E. Cowden St.; and a $656 storage building permit to Tom Pruitt. That permit was for construction at 501 S. Dallas St.

The Federal Housing Authority was issued one permit for residential repairs amounting to $850 for a home located at 1719 E. Oak St.

Residential alteration and repair permits were issued to eight persons and totaled $8,750. Those permits went to Lewis Halstead, 3605 Baumann St., $2,000, home alterations; John W. Wheat, 1520 S. Dallas St., $1,700, repair interior; John Bostwick, 4304 Sentinel St., $500, storage facility; Henry Saranec, 4717 Cherokee St., $250, enclosure garage; Walter Garibay, 1102 E. ## Dirt, Squirt & Quirt

FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS

A cow herd with a low calf crop percentage simply can't be a profitable situation. The first and foremost step in making a herd a paying proposition is weaning a high percentage of calves from all cows annually. Although there's a great deal of talk in the cattle industry about traits such as cutability, carcass quality, weaning weight and yearling weight, the most important economic characteristic in beef production continues to be rate of conception and calving ease.

In Texas as many as 30 per cent of the cows in a herd may never calve. Currently the average is about 40 per cent. In West Texas this average may be higher, Charles Green, county extension agent says, but even many well-managed herds, 8 to 12 per cent of the cows fail to conceive or wean a live calf.

Such a situation seriously reduces or eliminates profits for the producer. Equally alarming is that calving seasons of 4 to 6 months or longer are common in many cow-calf operations. The net effect is to reduce the average weaning weight of the calves. This reduces the total production of the herd and lowers the pounds of live beef weaned — the very basis upon which producers are paid.

The answer is to get as many cows to conceive as early in the breeding season as possible and to successfully give birth to the calves.

A starting place to improve reproductive efficiency of a beef herd is to evaluate the breeding capabilities of the bulls used. It is often said that the bull is half the herd, while in fact he is more than half since one bull is usually mated to 20 to 30 cows per season.

Research from experiment stations shows that conception rates in single-sire herds can range from 45.5 to 93.9 per cent, which emphasizes the need for identifying and culling poor breeding bulls.

Any evaluation of a bull's breeding capabilities should include a careful appraisal of semen quality and a check for physical defects and ailments. Semen should be secured by electroejaculation and then examined microscopically. Most veterinarians are equipped to perform this service.

The physical examination should include the general health and appearance of the animal. While not directly related to fertility, the condition of the feet and legs will definitely affect the mobility of the bull.

A last consideration is the libido, or sex drive, of the animal. There is no laboratory test for this trait, so the bull must be observed. The bull that was a satisfactory breeder last year may not be this year, therefore, annual checks are a necessity and periodic observations during the breeding season are also advised. Bulls purchased and tested at distant locations should be retested after an adjustment period to determine the amount of stress caused by hauling.

Defoliant and desiccant are chemicals used to prepare cotton for machine harvest before frost. Proper use of harvest-aid chemicals permits earlier harvest of mature cotton before exposure to weather damage reduces the grade or actual field losses due to bad weather occur.

The important point to remember in making the determination as to whether to apply harvest-aid chemical is the stage of maturity of the cotton.

Too early, trigger-happy defoliation reduces the yield and lowers the quality. When 60 per cent or more of the bolls are open, it is safe for most defoliants to be applied.

Desiccants should not be applied until more than 75 per cent of the bolls are open under dryland conditions. Under irrigation, apply desiccants when more than 80 per cent of the bolls are open.

Plants are considered suitably mature if the youngest bolls cannot be dented by pressure between the thumb and forefinger or cannot be easily cut through with a sharp knife.

Disregarding of these recommendations and applying defoliants and desiccants too early results in reduced yields per acre, lower micronaire reading and weaker fiber. Thus, quality is lowered, causing cotton to suffer at the market place.

Ringing The Bell

with BOB TIEUEL

America's elderly poor, whose small, fixed incomes already have been plundered by inflation, are facing the likelihood of a winter darker and colder than many of them have ever known. The problem: The overwhelming increase in the cost of home heating. Recently the U.S. Senate Special Committee on Aging urged federal and state governments to do something quickly to help these impoverished aged people stay warm in the cold months just ahead.

Recent great quotes: "In addition to being a politician, I am also a Christian minister who is able to share the platform with George Wallace or any of those I might disagree with. I do it every Tuesday. I believe in being where the action is... and if I disagree with a person, my greatest pleasure is to greet that person and treat him with respect." (Rev. Goree James, city councilman of Oklahoma City and pastor of St. Mary C.M.E. Church.)

Recent great quotes: "Any business or professional man, white or black, who make their money off the black community or owe any portion of their success to black people and cannot return a small portion of that money to support efforts of black organizations to improve the lot of the black people—do not deserve support of the black community." (From a letter to the bellringer.)

Seventy-four leaders of black organizations recently held a Black Economic Summit meeting at Washington, D.C. Among those present were Dorothy Height, Vernon E. Jordan, Roy Wilkins, Mayor Maynard Jackson of Atlanta and Congressman Charles B. Rangel. Among several resolutions passed, one declared: "We strongly urge the President to appoint black and other minority men and women to key decision-making positions in all areas which affect national economic affairs."

The third black priest to achieve the rank of bishop in the Catholic Church in the United States is the Very Rev. Eugene A. Marino, S.S.J. At the age of 40, he holds the title of being the youngest bishop in the country, black or white. Bishop Marino was one of the eight children who grew up in Biloxi, Miss. The other black bishops in the Catholic Church are Bishop Harold Perry of New Orleans and Bishop Joseph Howze of Jackson, Miss.

H. B. "Tex" Brady, an old friend and bellringer from Kilgore, writes that he is "still trying to establish a trade and business outlet for blacks in East Texas" and an Elks' Hospital at black-oriented Easton, Tex.

To the Rev. Ms. Norma Clewis, pastor of Pentecostal Temple Church, Odessa: Thanks for your kind note and invitation, and congratulations for entering into a wonderful work for God. Do keep in touch. Another note from an old friend, the Rev. A. H. Johnson of Midland who informs us that he has been assigned pastor of St. Paul C.M.E. Church in the Tall City. Congrats and welcome to the Club... ### Mother, Infant Killed In Fire

DALLAS (AP) — A young mother and her infant daughter died early Saturday in a fire at their home in north central Dallas, fire department officials reported.

The victims were identified as Diane Tyner, 22, and Tanya Tyner, 13 months. The husband and father of the victims, Gary Lee Tyner, 24, was reported in fair condition at a Dallas hospital.

Fire Battalion Chief C. E. Tipton estimated damage to the one-story frame house at $8,000. Officials said the fire apparently started in the living room shortly after midnight.

Mass Starvation Warning Issued

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mass starvation will occur throughout the world if food production is not intensified and population patterns are not changed, says a House subcommittee.

"Unless present trends in population growth and food production are significantly altered, a food crisis that will have the potential to affect everyone from every walk of life will hit with more impact than the energy crisis of 1973-74," the House Agriculture subcommittee on department operations said in a report released Saturday.

"In all probability, the world can expect more, rather than less, disasters associated with malnutrition," it said. "The world food crisis will not disappear spontaneously or soon and maybe never."

The subcommittee said that shortages of land, water, fertilizer and energy could aggravate the food crisis, and warned that the United States could find itself in the midst of the problem.

"Americans... cannot afford to sit idly by thinking that this problem does not affect us," the report said.

Observing that the United States, with 5 to 6 per cent of the world's population, consumes 40 per cent of the world's resources, the report said: "The demand for food, like the demand for oil, metals, minerals, and other resources, is obviously going to skyrocket, and that rocket is going to be fueled by fires of inflation and joblessness."

"A poor harvest in any major producing country — the United States, the Soviet Union, India or China — is sure to send economic shock waves, not only through the food sector of the world economy, but as it fuels the fires of inflation through its other sectors as well," the report said. The report is titled "Malthus and America," referring to the 19th century British economist, Thomas Robert Malthus, who devised a theory designed to show that the world's food supply would be insufficient at some point to feed the growing population.

Rockefeller Says Back Tax Bill Result Of IRS Delay, Speed-Up

(Related Story Page 5A) NEW YORK (AP) — Commenting on his announcement that he owes the U.S. government almost $1 million in back taxes, Nelson A. Rockefeller said Saturday that "there's nothing wrong, there's nothing illegal, there's no conflict of interest."

The vice president-designate left the bedside of his wife, Happy, who is recuperating from removal of her cancerous left breast, to tell newsmen he blamed delay and then a speed-up in the Internal Revenue Service for the situation.

"I think they want to make sure nobody can blame them," he said in an impromptu news conference at Memorial Hospital.

Rockefeller said he said the IRS settlement covered five years, whereas "It should be done a year at a time, but this time they were five years behind. I gave them an extension."

"I do it one year at a time."

The result of the IRS delay, he said, was that "it puts me in an apparently difficult situation."

President Ford said through his spokesman that he "still has complete faith in vice president-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller."

"This goes on every year," Rockefeller said of his IRS dealings, "except now they were under pressure and a little more scrutiny and every-

Where's The Fire?

9:45 p.m. — Saturday, car fire on West Highway 90 just west of FM 1785, car owned by Melvin R. E. McHenry, 1302 S. Lorraine St., cause unknown, heavy damage to rear of car.

7:50 p.m. — Saturday, grass fire, 3617 N. Big Spring St., no damage.

5:04-20 p.m. — Friday, alley in the 400 block of West Storey Street, trash container fire was confined. Cause unknown.

"During 1974, conservative estimates are that somewhere between 200 and 400 million of our fellow human beings will stare starvation directly in the face," the report said. "Over 10 million persons—most of them children five years of age and under—will perish as a direct result of too little food to eat."

body was sharing the audit with them. "We have been arguing with them, and we finally came to a settlement."

"All that's happening is that the public is sharing in every detail what I have been going through all my life and the public is not used to it."

"So now they see a lot of these things on a scale of figures they are not used to."

There was a laugh of agreement from shivering newsmen on the sidewalk as they admitted they weren't used to paying $21,703,012 in taxes over 10 years and then having to pay enough more to bring the figure to $22,599,185.

Rockefeller reeled off those figures as he left the hospital, along with a reminder that now he had to pay $104,180 for 1970 — a year in which he had paid no federal tax.

Jaworski: Pardon To Complicate Prosecution Of Others

However, He Feels Action Prevented 'Tremendous, Riotous Circus'

HOUSTON (AP) — Leon Jaworski, the Watergate special prosecutor, said the pardoning of President Nixon will make prosecution of other Watergate defendants more difficult.

In a copyrighted interview with the Houston Chronicle which appeared in the paper's editions today, Jaworski said, "The fact is that there are people who don't draw a distinction between the Nixon pardon and the charging of others."

For this reason, he said, it is harder to select an impartial jury and to gain a conviction, Jaworski, who has resigned effective Friday and will come back to Houston and resume his law practice here, refused to say in the Washington interview if he had planned to prosecute Nixon before the former president was pardoned by President Ford.

"I am not going to answer that question, I am not going to add to the unrest," he said. He did defend Ford's action in pardoning Nixon, saying it would have taken a year to bring Nixon to trial.

"It is doubtful that a fair jury could have been selected, Jaworski said, since the former president "had already been found guilty by his friends and former colleagues" on the House Judiciary Committee of obstruction of justice.

The trial, he said, "could have been a tremendous, riotous circus with people on both sides of the issue trying to disrupt it."

In defending Ford's decision, Jaworski said, "We all believe in equal justice under the law, and our system is the greatest in the world in this respect. It is a fine attainment to seek, but things just don't work out that way."

"Many individuals have been given special treatment because of the existence of special circumstances," he said. "Each case must be treated on an individual basis."

U. S. Stops Paying Nixon's Valet, Maid $21,000 Salaries

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government is no longer paying the salaries of Manolo and Fina Sanchez, long-time valet and maid to the family of former President Nixon.

Ron Nessen, White House press secretary, said Friday the couple was put on leave without pay from the U.S. Interior Department on Oct. 5.

Sanchez was paid $13,000 and his wife $8,000 annually under the National Park Service while employed in the Nixon household.

Nessen said the "on leave" status was retained because of some government benefits the couple was entitled to.

Newspaper Reports Secret Kissinger Promise To Israel

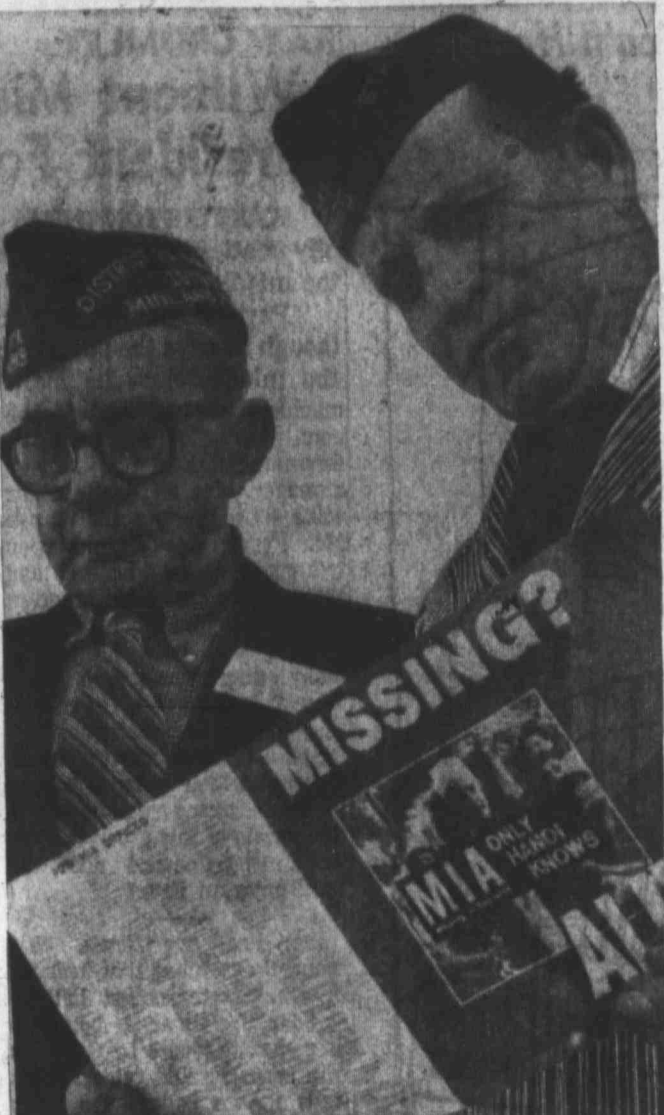

CHICAGO (AP) — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has promised that the United States will replace Israel's oil losses if Israel gives up the Sinai oil fields it seized in the 1967 Middle East War, the Chicago Daily News reported Saturday. The Abu Rhodeis oil fields yield about 100,000 barrels of oil daily worth $1 million on the current market and provide about half of Israel's oil consumption, the newspaper reported. It said the fields, located on the Gulf of Suez just south of the city of the largely-declimated city of Suez, therefore are a "major factor in the intensely complicated peace negotiations."

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet grandmasters Anatoly Karpov and Viktor Korchnoi have agreed to call their marathon 13th game a draw in the world chess challengers round. The 13th game was adjourned Thursday after 96 moves, and the 14th game ended Friday night in a draw after 30 moves. Karpov and Korchnoi agreed Saturday not to resume play in the 13th game. They are to begin their 15th game on Monday. Karpov leads 2-0 in the series which has seen 12 draws.

by some whites of the newly integrated schools. Opponents gathered at Kelley Field in southwest Boston. On Friday, the city hall communications center reported only four arrests — three black juveniles for throwing rocks at a city bus in the Mattapan area and a self-described Socialist Workers Party member for trespassing at English High School. The FBI on Friday also announced it was charging three white youths with conspiracy to injure black school children, obstruction of the federal court integration order and manufacture of a destructive device. They were identified as Thomas G. McNaney Jr., 18, of Boston and two juvenile males, age 15 and 16. They had been arrested earlier by Boston police and charged with possession of three firebombs. Gov. Francis Sargent said in an interview scheduled for broadcast today on radio station WEEI that he'd decided to begin mobilizing the guard after he received a warning of "very big trouble" in Boston last Tuesday. He said the warning came from Public Safety Commissioner Jon F. Kehoe Jr., but neither the governor nor his aides would elaborate further on the nature of the predicted trouble. In a separate development, it was learned that the American Bar Association's board of governors, meeting in Chicago, had adopted a resolution urging Bostonians to comply with the integration order.

INTEREST VS PERCENTAGE RATE
Under the truth-in-lending law, every type of consumer credit is regulated. It requires lenders or creditors to give customers a plain statement of the credit charges involved in any transaction. It does not however, limit these charges. In the case of a mortgage loan, it requires the lender to present to the borrower a disclosure statement which shows the annual percentage rate charged on the mortgage loan to finance the purchase of residential real estate. A percentage rate is not the same as the interest rate. It represents the relationship of the total finance charge to the total amount to be financed, as with FHA loans during tight money times, the annual percentage rate is always higher than the interest rate. Example: On a loan of $15,000, at 7 1/2% interest with a point fee of $600, the annual percentage rate is 8 1/2%. It may not save the borrower any money, but at least he knows how much the loan is really costing. If you have any questions on this subject or any other aspect of real estate, feel free to phone or drop in at DON JOHNSON REALTORS, 2318 W. Ohio St. Phone: 683-5333. We're here to help! Oil Show Breaks Previous Records
ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — The Permian Basin Oil Show wound up Saturday, breaking all records for attendance and exhibitors. The crowd Saturday totaled 126,550. About 400,000 persons viewed the exhibits, which were provided by 456 companies displaying oilfield equipment and oilfield related products. All exhibit spaces were taken by last April with many other companies on a waiting list hoping for space to open. The exhibits were open Wednesday and Thursday only to exhibitors and oilmen, then were opened to the public. Honored this year was Leonard Leon of Duncan, Okla., the executive vice president of Halliburton Services. He was chosen by the oil show directors for his contribution to the industry.

That Extra Something!

If there is anything Midlanders like it is to make visitors and newcomers feel welcome and perfectly at home in the Tall City.

And just this last week an elementary school principal took the lead in convincing a mother and her daughter that the Midland public schools are just about the best to be found anywhere.

This particular family had just moved to Midland from a much larger city. The mother took her daughter to an elementary school for enrollment, both of them perhaps a bit leery about the whole business, since it was their first experience at this sort of thing.

But right quick like, they were put at ease in the friendly, informal atmosphere of the principal's office. As the enrollment procedure progressed, the principal excused himself, and in a few minutes he returned to his office with a girl student from the class in which the new student was being assigned.

After introductions, he told the newcomer that her new-found friend would show her around the building and introduce her to her classmates.

The mother, needless to say, was impressed, and rightly so. She hadn't expected anything like this. It impressed us, too. We hadn't realized that this was being done in a Midland school. Had you?

Anyway, this particular family already is praising Midland schools to the high heavens.

And all because a friendly, thoughtful elementary school principal added that extra something which eased the tension of new school enrollment and made the new student feel that she was wanted.

Now, it is HER school, and she is proud of it! Midland public schools are the best... we know this, but this heartwarming act proves that their excellence extends beyond the scholastic level. And this is important!

Welfare Housecleaning

Eligible welfare recipients must take a cut in their income, all because of the large number of ineligible persons and families who have been dipping into welfare funds to which they were not entitled.

State welfare agencies had been warned that this would happen if abuses were not eliminated.

Thirty-five states and the District of Columbia now have been advised they will receive $43.5 million less in federal funds than they had requested to pay welfare recipients during the last half of this year. Texas' cut will be $1.5 million.

It is only fair that the ineligible should be cleaned out in order that those eligible for funds might receive the maximum amount to which they are entitled. Work already is under way in this regard. It should be stepped-up as rapidly as possible. Meanwhile, most everyone will benefit... taxpayers included.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson Says: Here's latest report on the most vulnerable airports.

WASHINGTON — New secret documents tell of 18 busy world airports which are open to Arab terrorist attack because of lax security or their location in guerrilla-infested areas.

The new survey by the Federal Aviation Administration supercedes one this summer turned up by Rep. John Murphy, D-N.Y., a House air safety expert.

When we printed the names of the eight "most vulnerable" airports then, we were criticized for breaking the seal of secrecy on classified FAA documents.

But we reasoned that travelers had a right to that information, and now the new survey seems to bear us out.

The current FAA study shows that London, which we listed as a security horror story, is now much improved.

In any case, according to U.S. intelligence reports, the Fedayeen already know which airports are easy marks.

The new study, classified "For Official Use Only," names the 18 "High Risk Foreign Airports" as Rome, Frankfurt, Amsterdam, Geneva, Zurich, Madrid, Beirut, Athens, Tel Aviv, Paris, Munich, London, Istanbul, Vienna, Brussels, Barcelona, Copenhagen and Lisbon.

Munich, Popular Target Terrorists have stuck most frequently, the documents say, at Munich where 11 incidents have occurred.

Zurich and Geneva are branded as risks for an intriguing reason. Arab terrorists, according to the FAA's intelligence, are angry over Switzerland's willingness to allow a Geneva peace conference on the Middle East.

"Attacks at this time would be aimed at disrupting peace conference and as punishment of Swiss for allowing the conference," the FAA study says.

FOOTNOTE: Murphy pushed through a law permitting an embargo on flights between the United States and countries with risk-prone airports.

In private correspondence Murphy has been urging the Department of Transportation to begin enforcing the law.

BIRCH BARK: President Ford warmly embraced C. R. Lewis, a prominent John Birch Society member, when he came to Washington recently.

Lewis is running for the Senate in Alaska on the Republican ticket, so Ford posed with Lewis for the traditional hand-shaking scene for campaign use.

The President even threw in an extra picture of them strolling together and a "Dear C. R." letter telling Lewis: "I am looking forward to working with you in the taxpayers more than will be saved.

Just the per diem bills turned in by the 350 conferees added up to $52,000. An Air Force spokesman told us: "There is no way to figure travel costs."

WASHINGTON WHIRL: In a stern memo to his staff Interior Secretary Rogers Morton told them their junketing has reached "unreasonable proportions" and must be cut back.

The John Birch Society showed its appreciation later by ripping Ford apart in its "The Review of the News," which featured a full-page ad for Lewis' contracting firm.

"One cannot escape the feeling," declared the Birch publication, "that Gerald Ford is under a discipline and serving a radical cause..."

"When the script calls for declaring that American youth should prepare to emulate the example of young slaves in the concentration camp that is Red China, Gerald Ford follows the script."

In sum, said the article, the President is a "hustler" for Chairman Mao.

FOOTNOTE: The White House declined comment on the endorsement of the John Birch candidate. But at the GOP campaign committee, a spokesman told us the candidate's philosophy weighs far less than "whether he can win."

WATCH ON WASTE: The Air Force shipped 350 personnel officers across the nation to San Antonio for a conference on management efficiency. The object was to save money for taxpayers.

The Marine Corps recruiting slogan, "The Marines Are Looking for a Few Good Men," has irritated a lot of women.

A group calling themselves the Federally Employed Women has accused the Leathernecks of discriminating against women in their recruitment program.

RAY CROMLEY Without Middle Class President Ford's Lost

WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Ford economically is attempting to be all things to all people — except the middle class.

Psychologically, this may be Mr. Ford's undoing, though he says the surtax, in practice, will be small. For the middle class as individuals — the highly skilled machinist, welder and technician, the office manager, foreman and middle-level manager, blue and white collar alike — are the men and women Mr. Ford must depend upon to provide the brains and resources to make his program a success.

They have been hit by so many discriminatory blows these last few years (in college scholarships for their children for one) that any new tax which focuses on their incomes is sure to create strong resentment.

If the morale of this group is shattered, what chance does the Ford program have?

Just as worrisome, an economic grab bag that includes so many compromise half-do, half-don't solutions, is bound to be picked to pieces by Congress with considerable vigor.

This leads me to believe the parts which survive may not add up to a workable whole.

But let us suppose, for the sake of argument, that Mr. Ford has his way and that Congress votes him every law he is asking for.

He does not have the organization and skilled managers to effectively put an anti-inflation, energy-independence program into effect.

In the main, whatever small numbers of men he can draw in from the outside, he must in the end rely on a bureaucracy which has failed miserably in promoting energy production and conservation and in developing or supervising inflation programs.

There has been so much inter-departmental backbiting that some upper-middle-level officials are resigning in despair, being convinced that nothing will happen.

Mr. Ford's proposal is a shopping list, not a program. His speech before Congress, of course, was a mere outline and tells little about how this 31-ring circus is to be handled.

The 43-page backup fact sheet adds little more. Officials questioned differ widely in their interpretation and in their evaluation of what is and is not possible.

There are concrete proposals of course. Witness the 5 per cent surtax on corporations and middle- and upper-bracket taxpayers, the 10 per cent allowance on depreciation, and extended and broadened unemployment programs.

Congress willing. But consider the bewildering generalities. Mr. Ford speaks with confidence of billions in budget cuts for this year, but gives no evidence.

He gives lip service to increased productivity and a "revitalized" commission to do the job. Since this body and its several predecessors have accomplished next to nothing, we would have more confidence if the President were to explain how this round will be different.

On food production and prices, Mr. Ford concludes by saying "we cannot expect to see immediate benefits from the initiatives outlined here. We can, however, be confident that policies to maximize food and fiber production and to restrain food price increases are being pursued vigorously."

In simple words, this says that, except for export controls, the President and his aides don't know what to do about today's soaring food prices.

Though it has been abundantly clear for some time that outworn and misguided govern-

DON OAKLEY The Deteriorating Road To Rising Prices

NEW YORK (NEA) — Tired of being told of spring flood here, summer drought there and fall frost somewhere else have wiped out this or that crop and that the family food bill is going up, up, up?

Well, try this one on as a reason for increasing food prices: The deterioration of the nation's rural roads and bridges.

The price you pay for beans or beef or anything else has transportation costs cranked into it. If bad roads wear down a farmer's or a hauler's truck, or a dangerous bridge forces him to take an extensive detour, the cost of the repairs or the extra gasoline is figured into the selling price of what he carries.

The place is getting crowded now. An estimated 275 scientists and assistants will be "on the ice" this year, undertaking or continuing projects in every scientific discipline as part of the Antarctic Research Program administered by the National Science Foundation.

One such project is the Ross Ice Shelf Project. Begun last year, it involves extracting samples of ice at various locations on the ice shelf. The samples, taken from different depths, yield considerable information on ice movement, atmospheric pollution in the past and radiation.

Not only that, but about one out of every six of the country's 560,000 bridges is dangerous, says Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-W.Va.), chairman of the Senate Public Works Committee. This doesn't mean they will fall down tomorrow. It does mean that they are not safe for the loads they are carrying.

What's the answer? According to TRIP, a concerted sustained effort to repair and strengthen our country roads and bridges. The alternative is even higher food and road repair costs in the future.

MOST OF US WOULD like to be able to go south for the winter but not as far south as a certain band of U.S. Navy men and women. The Navy people are part of Operation Deep Freeze 1975, the code name for the Navy's nonmilitary logistics support of America's scientific efforts in Antarctica.

For the 25th consecutive year, a special group of trained volunteers will spend five months in the world's southernmost and coldest continent (even in its summer, which is our winter). A total of 625 men and women, primarily ly Navy but with elements from the Air Force, Coast Guard and Army, are involved in this year's Deep Freeze activities on the "Great White Continent."

The first Operation Deep Freeze was in 1955 when, in preparation for the 1957-58 International Geophysical Year, the Navy was assigned the task of polar exploration and construction in still little-known Antarctica.

A slightly less expert South would not see that play. He would lead the club right away and finesse dummy's queen. Then he would count West for 10 red cards, two clubs and one spade. It would be a simple matter to take a second round trump finesse against East.

But, suppose West played the king of clubs on the first club lead. Now South would play West for two spades and one club. He would play the ace and then the king of spades and wind up down one since the trump coup could not be developed at that stage.

Soviet Dissidents Voice Skepticism About Trade Bill

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet dissidents have voiced skepticism about a U.S.-Russian trade bill aimed at easing Jewish emigration to the West. Many claim the Kremlin must still make radical changes in its attitudes on emigration to meet the terms of the accord.

Under the agreement, made public in Washington on Friday but not yet acknowledged by Soviet officials, Jewish emigration will have to more than double its current rate.

In return the way would be cleared for passage of a trade bill giving the Soviet Union most favored trading status.

So far this year, Jews have been leaving Russia at a rate of about 2,000 a month. This is a considerable drop from the 35,000 who left in 1973, and far below the 60,000 a year "minimum" referred to Friday in Washington.

Doubts Expressed

Asked about the agreement, Alexei Taragonsky, a Jewish militant, said he doubted that the Soviets would be able to meet the 60,000 figure. "If the ordinary Jew is afraid to apply they will not get that number," he declared.

Andrei Sakharov, a leading spokesman for human rights in the Soviet Union, called the agreement "an extremely small step."

For the Soviet regime and for many loyal Russians, the mere fact of someone wanting to leave the country is an insult to the Soviet Union. This attitude, many observers believe, will not change overnight.

Furthermore, the simple first step of disclosing an intention to emigrate may come hard for many Jews for it usually means hardships ranging from becoming social outcasts to losing jobs and apartments and being carted off for questioning.

Israelis Hail Accord

Despite the caution expressed by Soviet Jews, officials in Israel hailed the agreement as "an invaluable contribution to a humanitarian cause."

Since 1970, between 85,000 and 90,000 Jews have left the Soviet Union, mostly heading for Israel. Jewish militants claim there is a "pool" of 500,000 Jews who want to leave the Soviet Union, but other sources believe the number to be smaller and that emigration pressure may be dropping off.

The emigration accord was outlined in a letter from Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., and made public Friday by Jackson.

It would clear the way for congressional passage of legislation that would permit the granting of nondiscriminatory tariff treatment to the Soviet Union and other Communist countries.

DeBakey, Russian Writing Book

HOUSTON (AP) — Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, famed heart surgeon, and Russian Health Minister Boris V. Petrovsky have announced they are writing a book together.

The announcement was made Friday as DeBakey hosted Petrovsky, also a heart surgeon, at the Texas Medical Center.

"Michael and I are engaged in all aspects of cooperation in the cardiovascular field...and we are writing a book together on emergency surgery of the heart and blood vessels," Petrovsky told newsmen.

DeBakey said as far as he knew it was the first such book ever written under such conditions.

Touring U. S.

Petrovsky, on a nine-day tour of the United States, is discussing collaborative activities under a U.S.-Soviet agreement to coordinate medical research.

DeBakey described his relationship with Petrovsky as "a very warm friendship going back more than 20 years."

Although DeBakey, president of Baylor College of Medicine, has been to Russia many times to lecture and operate, this is only the second time for Petrovsky to visit Houston. He came here in 1972 to talk about the first U.S.-Soviet health program signed after former President Nixon's Moscow meeting.

Artificial Heart Seen

Speaking through an interpreter, Petrovsky said he believes that within several years an artificial heart with a power source outside the body will be developed.

However, he said this would be only a temporary measure to save a life.

As for an implantable heart with a self-contained power source, he added, "This is more a long-term goal."

Newspaper Firm Names President

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Tom Ricketson, chief operating officer of Jefferson Pilot Publications, Inc., has been named president of The Enterprise Co. effective Nov. 1.

The Enterprise Co. publishes the Beaumont Enterprise and the Beaumont Journal.

Ricketson said he would make Beaumont the corporate newspaper headquarters for Jefferson Pilot.

Ricketson, a 39-year-old native of Orlando, Fla., will succeed Bill Hartman as the chief executive of the Enterprise and the Journal. Hartman resigned effective Nov. 1 to form his own publishing company.

Ricketson, of Lakeland, Fla., has been a top administrator of Jefferson Pilot Publications since the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Co. of Greensboro, N.C., formed its publications subsidiary in 1972.

Bank Deposits Survey Shows Texas Economy In Good Shape

By The Associated Press

Except for low cattle prices, the Texas economy appears to be in good shape, according to a survey of bank deposits in the third quarter of this year.

The amount of money in banks is considered a prime indicator of economic strength.

The cattle situation was related by a spokesman from the Borger First National Bank who said total loans for the bank increased only $44,000 in the past year.

high yield securities, including government notes.

Houston maintained its supremacy in deposits among Texas cities with $9.9 billion in the third quarter, up $200 million from the second quarter. Dallas reported $9.5 billion in third quarter deposits.

The cattle situation appeared to have only a minor effect. Charles Orren, vice president of the Abilene Bank of Commerce said, "We are about as healthy as any bank in the country."

noted, however, that people are becoming more conservative with their money.

Some typical reports, with the third-quarter figures, given first compared with the same period last year:

Victoria $208,624,000 and $209,280,700
Dallas County $9.5 billion and $8.36 billion

Abilene $241,736,501 and $233,677,140
Kerrville $60,878,624 and $72,611,700
Caldwell $88,838,873 and $86,765,728
Stephenville $80,331,842 and $86,511,478
Hartsville $114,548,509 and $113,827,262
Fort Worth $2,489,542,138 and $2,370,849,000

Harris County $4,648,237 and $4,328,737
Orange County $7,262,268 and $1,904,669
Jefferson County $22,566,925 and $24,477,243

Loans Down

The amount of loans was down, the spokesman said, because cattle feeders are not buying calves to feed for slaughtering due to the cost-price squeeze. However, deposits and assets at the Borger bank were up $5 million.

Several cities set records for deposits in the third quarter including Lubbock, Big Spring, Orange, Tyler, Del Rio, Kerrville, Houston, Abilene, Victoria, San Antonio, Lamar County (Paris), Rockwall County and Corsicana.

Midland bank deposits totaled $394,384,821, up $69,432,417 over the same period a year ago and a seasonal high.

Inflation Cited

Most bankers attributed some of the increase to inflation.

In Dallas, bankers noted a 13.6 per cent increase in deposits for the third quarter compared with the same period last year, although deposits were down slightly from the second quarter of this year.

Dallas bankers said the third quarter increase would have been greater if depositors had not put their money in certain

California's Long Transit Strike Ends

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's longest transit strike ended Saturday as the 1,800-vehicle Southern California Rapid Transit District resumed business.

Some 685,000 commuters in four Los Angeles-area counties were without bus service during the 10-week strike by drivers and mechanics.

Both groups gained about a 24 per cent increase in wages and benefits in their settlements with the major bus service for Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties.

The final action ending the strike came Friday when directors of the Rapid Transit District voted 6-1 to approve a two-year contract accepted by the drivers two days earlier. The mechanics accepted their contract last week.

Russians Feature The Positive Side

By LYNNE OLSON
MOSCOW (AP) — The CBS Evening News, the ABC Evening News and the NBC Nightly News constantly battle for ratings and sponsors in the United States. But "Vreemya" doesn't have to worry about either.

It's the only major tv news show in town or country here. Its name means "time" and it starts at a time — 9 p.m. — most American channels are filled with gunsmoke, comedy or Midwestern family dramas. "Vreemya" viewers don't learn about car wrecks, dissident demonstrations or Moscow's most recent murder. What they do learn is the status of the harvest, which factories are meeting what production quotas and the names of the latest official visitors to the Soviet capital.

Television news in Russia isn't burdened by the charge often made against U.S. network news — that it presents a steady diet of doom, uproar and conflict on the home front.

Here, tv newsmen and women take a leaf from an old Johnny Mercer song — they accentuate the positive and limit, if not eliminate, the negative. And they try not to mess with Mr. In-Between.

Even more than the Soviet print media, television here stays away from bad news, unless it happens in another country.

The editorial policy was neatly summed up when a Soviet watching a tv report on the harvesting of corn in Novosibirsk, was asked by a visitor if the harvest had been successful.

"Of course," he replied. "Otherwise, it wouldn't have been shown."

"Vreemya," like its American network counterparts, lasts 30 minutes each night. It is beamed throughout Russia on the country's main tv channel.

For those who miss the prime time news, there also is a pair of 10-minute newscasts which appear at 6 p.m. and shortly before the midnight sign-off each evening.

Like American network news shows, an anchorman here sits behind a desk, reading the day's news while slides illustrating the stories occasionally are flashed behind him on a screen.

Filmed reports also are shown, with reporters often pictured interviewing their subjects or simply standing before a particular scene, giving a summary of the matter at hand.

Unlike the American networks, there are more women on the air in the commercial-less brand of Russian tv news.

The anchorman on "Vreemya" is joined by an anchorman in delivering the nightly report and at least half the reporters on all three Soviet news shows are women.

The anchormen tend to resemble the American breed — relatively good-looking, dressed more fashionably than other men and possessed of deep, resonant voices.

There's more variety on the feminine side of the anchor desk. One of the most commonly used anchorwomen is a pretty, young brunette with a sultry voice, while another is a buxom, middle-aged grandmotherly type.

Here, as in the United States, television news folk are well-known names. Unlike most of their American counterparts, they often appear as masters of ceremonies or announcers on other Soviet tv programs.

"Happy-talk" news, a fixture on many local stations in the United States, is nyet-nyet here. The news is considered a serious subject and is delivered seriously, with nary a grin, quip or pun.

For viewers used to American newscasts, in which any story longer than two minutes is considered an epic, tv news here might seem extremely slow of pace and long of wind. It concentrates heavily on wreath-layings, speeches and factories which overproduce their quotas.

Five minutes of a recent news program, for example, were devoted to a report on the production of animal feed, complete with a long list of statistics and a film report.

Unless it concerns Eastern Europe, news about other countries usually focuses on conflicts or problems. The recent turmoil in Mozambique and the Cyprus fighting received big play on Moscow tv.

And Soviet correspondents in Italy and Denmark recently did stories on the rampant inflation there, shooting films of items on store shelves and commenting on the drastic rise in prices.

But a viewer here rarely gets information about the lives of average Soviet citizens during tv news programs.

There are occasions when it happens. Last September, "Vreemya" aired a delightful three-minute story about Moscow tots at their first day of school — showing them standing in line, meeting their teachers and bursting into tears after leaving their mothers.

Sports and weather news are by no means ignored on "Vreemya." They get a total of five minutes at the end of each night's program.

The most frequently used sportscaster, Mikolai Ozerov, reminds one of many American sports announcers. A burly, white-haired man, he gets involved with the home teams, cheering them on when they're winning and groaning when they lose.

Then come the weather girls, but they're not on screen merely to decorate it and giggle their way through the day's high and low temperatures in various parts of Mother Russia.

They are real meteorologists, who seriously discuss weather conditions and problems. And unlike their U.S. counterparts, male or female, they aren't ever razzed by the gang at the anchor desk.

TSTA District 18 Wins Top Award

SAN ANTONIO — District 18 of the Texas State Teachers Association, a 16-county area including Midland and Ector counties, has won one of five top awards presented by TSTA to recognize outstanding achievements in human relations.

The award was presented Friday night at the TSTA 1974 human relations conference at the El Tropicano Motor Hotel here.

Mrs. Bobbie Duncan, teacher in the Ector County schools, was president of the district association in the 1973-74 school year, the period covered by the 1974 awards competition. Bill Litton of Kermit is the current president.

D. M. Mayer, Kermit, was 1973-74 chairman of the district human relations committee, and Mrs. Linda Mercer, Odessa teacher, now heads that committee.

Alaska Earthquake

The Alaska earthquake of 1964 is said to have had the force of 12,000 Hiroshima-size atomic bombs and spread devastation in a 500-mile arc.

ENGAGEMENT REVEALED—Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Lowe, 2826 Frontier St., announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Frances, to Danny Stephen Wiggs. Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald D. Wiggs of Lubbock. The ceremony will take place at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 23 at St. Frances Xavier Church in Enid, Okla. The bride-elect is a senior student at Phillips University in Enid, where she is a member of the Comet social club. Her fiance, also a senior student at Phillips, is a member of the Varsity social club.

Capping Ceremony Held In Rankin

RANKIN — A capping ceremony for members of the Candy Strippers of Rankin Hospital was held recently in the hospital's conference room. Mrs. Eddie Hyatt, chairman of the Candy Striper program, welcomed members and guests. Mrs. Jim Braden, superintendent of nurses, presented a cap to Donna Whatley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Whatley, in recognition of her contribution of more than 50 hours of volunteer work in the hospital last summer. She also was recognized for having worked more hours in the hospital than any other Candy Striper. Pansy Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Peterson, has accumulated more than 150 hours of volunteer service in two years and will be given a special award. Other girls participating in the auxiliary program are Tammy Rose, Judy Loftin and Tammy Wilkerson.

Mobil Women Meet Tuesday

The Mobil Womens' Club will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Co. for bridge and canasta games. The club is open to all Mobil wives and women employees. For reservations, dial Mrs. D. W. Clark, 694-1483, Mrs. W. D. Gill, 682-1737, or Mrs. E. G. Patton, 694-4272, by Monday.

Reservations for the luncheon and show may be made by dialing 694-4534.

Crime Prevention Program Given By Midland Police Sergeant

Sgt. Fred Johnson of the Midland Police Department presented a program on "Crime Prevention" to members of the Upsilon Conclave of Kappa Kappa Iota when the group met recently in the home of Mrs. Robert Michener, Solomon Lane. Through his talk and a film shown entitled "Lady, Beware," he revealed how crime can be reduced greatly by taking the proper precautions to make homes safe from intruders, and become aware of the dangers outside homes.

Mrs. Ralph Buffington, president, presided over the business session at which Mrs. Robert Canady was named reporter for the conclave. Following the business session, Mrs. E. R. Slagle was initiated into the sorority. Mrs. Wayne Campbell, co-hostess for the meeting, served punch from the refreshment table decorated with a large, lighted jack-o-lantern and paper sculptured witch and cat centerpiece.

Students Give Program For PTA

A forum of students from Midland College spoke on various programs of the Occupational Technological department of the school when the Lamar Elementary Parent-Teacher Association recently met in the school's cafeteria. The students were Jim Yackshaw, the mid-management program; Steve Carter, law enforcement; Jerry Petree, fire protection technology; Gerald Barnes, automotive technology; and Arnold Adams, postal service technology. Also on the program was Bill Schindler who reported on the highlights of the national PTA convention held last May in San Antonio. He also reported on the resolutions passed and defeated by the convention. It was decided to buy darkening shades for a projection room, thus eliminating the need to use the auditorium for movies. Plans were announced for a Halloween carnival slated for 6-8 p.m. Oct. 31.

Flores-Perry Engagement Told

BIG SPRING — Mr. and Mrs. Leslie C. Hull of this city announce the engagement of their daughter, Elva Flores, a former Midlander, to John W. Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Perry of Independence, Ky. Vows will be read at 11 a.m. Nov. 23 in Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church in Midland. Miss Flores is employed here with Corando Hills Apartments and her fiance is stationed here at Webb Air Force Base as an aircraft maintenance specialist.

"I never thought I could afford such a knockout outfit this year. Thank You, Singer."

You can make it, America! Singer will help.

Think of it. Any look you want. For less than you'd spend on dinner out. All it takes is a good sewing machine. A Singer* sewing machine. Because we make them to make things easier. Our Touch & Sew* machine for example. It sews everything from knits to what-nots with 15 different stitches. It has a built-in buttonholer so you can pick button-up patterns without a second thought. And it's got all-dial controls. Does all its tricks at the touch of your fingertips. And would you believe a push-button front drop-in bobbin? Fabulous! And exclusive. Because we invented it.

With this sophisticated machine you can turn out even the most complicated designer number. And keep smiling, all the way. And it's on sale to save you $70 before you even sew a stitch. Free instructions come with it. In fact you get hours of free instruction with any machine you buy at Singer. Including our great zig-zag machine, on sale at $88. Really efficient. Among other good things, it's got an exclusive front drop-in bobbin. And a blind-hem stitch you can barely see on the right side. Now — if you haven't turned your old machine into a planter, just bring it to Singer. You'll get a surprisingly generous trade-in allowance.

French Cuisine Program Planned

Ailene Martin of Tulsa, Okla., and Glen Arbor, Mich., "fun teacher" of the cooking world, will speak on "A Concentration in the French Culinary Arts," for the Midland Country Club Ladies' Association at 11:30 a.m. Friday in the clubhouse.

Miss Martin has held classes in cooking in her Red Barn Cooking School in Michigan. Now, for the first time, she is applying her entertaining style to the public.

Co-ordinator for the program will be Carol Worsley, cooking teacher in Birmingham, Mich. She also will demonstrate flower arranging, which she studied in Japan.

Miss Martin attended classes in New York conducted by James Beard, Madame d'Uda and the late Michael Fields. She also studied with Edward Agopian at the Cordon Bleu in France. She also attended Luberon College in Avignon for a 10-day school directed by Richard Olney.

Kimberly Bettis Becomes Bride Of Kenneth Hunter

Kimberly Juhree Bettis and Kenneth Ray Hunter exchanged marriage vows at 6:30 p.m. Friday in Westside Church of Christ, with Joe Malone, minister, officiating for the double ring ceremony.

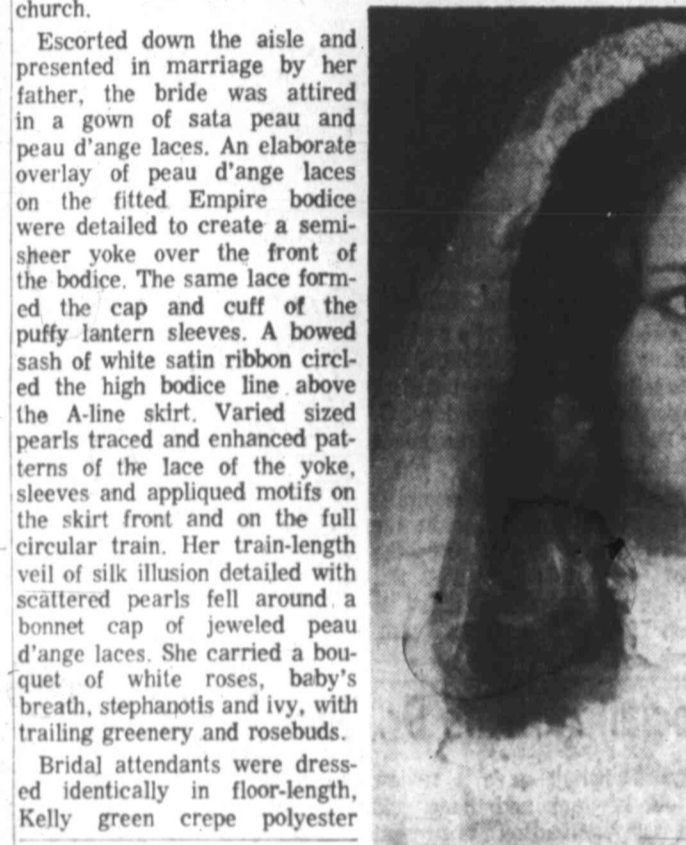

Parents of the couple are Harold J. Bettis, 1109 Midkiff St., and the late Mrs. Bettis, and Mrs. Wilma Hunter, 3910 Tanner St.

Maid of honor was Marsha Zellmer. Mrs. Skipper Lewis was matron of honor and Mrs. Vic Kelly was bridesmatron. Jimmy Thornton was best man and Jimmy Hillman and Gerald Urbaneck of Houston were ushers. Groomsmen were David Hubbard and Joe Farrington. Jamie Patterson was flower girl and Tim Hanley carried the rings.

White gladiolus and greenery, and two seven-branch candelabra entwined with white roses and ivy decorated the church.

Escorted down the aisle and presented in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of sata peau and peau d'ange laces. An elaborate overlay of peau d'ange laces on the fitted Empire bodice were detailed to create a semi-sheer yoke over the front of the bodice. The same lace formed the cap and cuff of the puffy lantern sleeves. A bowed sash of white satin ribbon circled the high bodice line above the A-line skirt. Varied sized pearls traced and enhanced patterns of the lace of the yoke, sleeves and applique motifs on the skirt front and on the full circular train. Her train-length veil of silk illusion detailed with scattered pearls fell around a bonnet cap of jeweled peau d'ange laces. She carried a bouquet of white roses, baby's breath, stephanotis and ivy, with trailing greenery and rosebuds.

Bridal attendants were dressed identically in floor-length, Kelly green crepe polyester

Senior Citizens Schedule Talk

The Senior Citizens' Center will present a talk on "Insurance Pitfalls" by Felipe Morales, insurance agent, Wednesday in the Fellowship Hall of the First Christian Church.

Morales will discuss insurance on automobiles, home and household policies, as well as life and accident and other types of insurance.

Interested persons are invited to attend. Reservations should be made by 12 noon Tuesday for the catered luncheon, which will be served at 11:45 a.m. preceding the insurance discussion. Reservations may be made by dialing 682-3933.

More Ironing Surface

When ironing flatwork, turn the ironing board around so that the iron rests on the narrow end of the board. This gives more ironing surface for large pieces.

Rose Society Officers Named

The Midland Rose Society met Thursday in the Community Room of Commercial Bank and Trust Building.

The nominating committee report was presented by Dr. T. E. Spires and was accepted by acclamation: President, Jim Galyean; first vice president and program chairman, Dr. Spires; second vice president and rose show chairman, Darold Hobbs; third vice president and membership chairman, Mrs. T. L. Bond; recording secretary, Mrs. B. L. Huggins, Jr.; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John Butts; treasurer, Frank Morris; and parliamentarian, Miller Price.

Thirty roses were entered in the last continuing rose show of the year. They were judged by the entire membership present, with discussions of the merit of each entry.

Mrs. John Daniel Watts

D'Anne Rhea, John Watts Wed In Home Ceremony

Penny D'Anne Rhea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. "Corky" Rhea, 4310 W. Cuthbert St., and John Daniel Watts, son of Mrs. Bernice Parkey of Myrtle Beach, S.C., and the late D. M. Watts, were married at 7 p.m. Saturday in the home of the bride's parents.

The Rev. Nick Gates officiated for the double ring ceremony performed in a setting of two columns topped with bouquets of fall flowers centered with a seven-branch candelabrum.

Bert Mercer was best man and Debbie Roberts served as maid of honor.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress of white embroidered eyelet organza over satin, which was made by her mother, and fashioned with a fitted bodice, round neckline, full sleeves with long pearl buttoned cuffs and a floor-length gored skirt. A shoulder-length veil of illusion was attached to a headband matching the dress. She carried white carnations and rosebuds atop a white Bible. On her right hand she wore the wedding band belonging to her great-grandmother, who was married in 1886.

The maid of honor was attired in a gown styled with an orange fitted bodice featuring long cuffed sleeves; and a floor-length skirt of fall floral print on brown background. Her headpiece was a matching headband. She carried a corsage of fall mums.

A reception was held in the Colonial Room of the Ramada Inn. Serving in the house party were Mr. and Mrs. Karl Reagan Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Luis Salinas, Darrel Rhea, brother of the bride and Cheryl Mayo, all of Midland, and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Harry of Odessa. Kathy Fincher played piano selections and Denise Rhea and Dawn Rhea, sisters of the bride, registered guests. Tonya Ortiz of Millsap, cousin of the bride, distributed rice bags.

The bride, a 1974 graduate of Lee High School, is employed with The First National Bank. Watts attended the University of Alaska and is manager of J&R Map Co. here. He is a member of the National Freelance Photographers Association. The couple will reside here at 523 W. Cowden St.

Out-of-city guests included Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Parkey of Myrtle Beach, S. C., the bridegroom's parents; Mrs. Ruth Brown of Mineral Wells, grandmother of the bride; Mrs. Joe Ortiz, and children, Tonya, Suzanne, and James, of Millsap; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Rhea of Lovington, N.M., Milton Roth of Dallas and George W. Jordan Jr. of Black Rock, Ark., brother of the bridegroom.

Hover-Peraino Marriage Told

VERMEJO PARK, N.M. — Mr. and Mrs. William A. Hover of Houston Tex., formerly of Midland, Tex. announce the marriage of their daughter, Suzy, to Robert Benjamin Peraino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack B. Peraino of Pacific Grove, Calif.

The wedding took place recently in the main salon of the Casa Grande Lodge here.

The bride wore a long, white Empire style organza gown with lace detail on the bodice and cuffs. She carried a nosegay and wreath of red roses and baby's breath. Stacey Blakely of Colorado Springs, Colo., served as maid of honor, and Thomas Beardley of Pacific Grove was best man.

Attending the marriage ceremony were members of the immediate families and several close friends, including Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wynn and Mr. and Mrs. Henri de Compiegne Jr., all of Midland.

A wedding supper followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Peraino will reside in Morgan City, La., where he will be employed in deep sea technology.

Deadline Given For Publishing Wedding Stories

Thinking about having accounts of your engagement and wedding published in The Reporter-Telegram?

If the answer is in the affirmative, brides-to-be should visit the Women's Department of the newspaper and obtain information sheets and wedding forms in order to comply with the R-T policies on wedding stories, photographs and deadlines.

One of the new policy changes requires that wedding or engagement forms must be submitted before 5 p.m. Wednesday for publication in a Sunday paper.

Another important policy to be aware of is that wedding stories submitted more than five days after the wedding will not be published.

Dear Abby

Sheep Shouldn't Lead Shepherd Astray

DEAR ABBY: It is with a great deal of hesitation that I write to you, because I am the one to whom people usually come with their problems.

I am a young minister in a fairly large congregation. My problem is the following: A married woman (older than I) is making every effort to entice me into a personal relationship. She's tried several approaches. (She and her husband, she says, have not had a "real" marriage in the physical sense for years. She "needs" me for reasons of health, physical and emotional. I need not get emotionally involved with her. No one could be hurt if we were very, very discreet.)

She is an attractive woman, intelligent and persuasive, but I would rather not have that kind of relationship with her. Furthermore, it would cost me my job if anyone found out. She has been a loyal worker for my church and no one thinks it's strange that we see so much of each other.

Is there a way to discourage her once and for all without hurting her or insulting her?

—TROUBLED MINISTER

DEAR TROUBLED: Ask her what she thinks would happen to YOUR emotional health were you to commit adultery while committed to preach the Biblical injunction against it. And tell her that if she can't separate her sexual needs from her spiritual ones, she needs a doctor of psychiatry — not a doctor of divinity.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for seven months and my husband is constantly pressuring me to start a family right now! I told him I wasn't ready yet.

He says I am ready whether I know it or not, but, Abby, I don't really want the responsibility that goes with motherhood yet. I want to enjoy the freedom and fun of being childless for at least two years.

He is 26 and I am 23. I hate to use birth control behind his back, but if he doesn't quit pressuring me, I may have to.

How long do you think a couple should wait before having children?

Do you think he wants to tie me down with a family to make our marriage more secure?

—PRESSURED

DEAR PRESH: Your letter indicates that you are NOT ready for a child. "Tying you down with a family" before you're ready will not "secure" your marriage. It's more apt to weaken it. How long a couple should wait before having a family is a personal matter which should be decided by the couple — together. Tell your husband to cool it.

DEAR ABBY: I know this will sound dumb, but here goes. I have read that plants have feelings, and I believe they do. I've also read that if you "talk" to plants, they will grow big and strong.

Well, I would like to talk to plants, but I don't know what to say to them.

—PLANT LOVER

DEAR LOVER: It is my understanding that plants react to sounds, and what is said is less important than the tone one uses. In response to gentle, soothing, melodious sounds, plants are reported to grow nicely; but if assaulted by harsh, caustic, sharp sounds, they will react negatively and die.

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago you told someone how to answer "Father's Name" on an application when that person was illegitimate and didn't want to answer the question.

My mother died when I was a baby and I was raised by an old maid aunt who never told me who my father was.

I am about to fill out an application for citizenship and I don't want to lie. How can I answer it truthfully without feeling embarrassed? Thank you.

—LONE STAR STATE

DEAR LONE: Be honest. State simply "Unknown." And don't feel embarrassed. It is no reflection on you.

Mills Dodges Tough Questions On Tidal Basin Incident

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., dodged some tough questions Friday from students at Conway High School, who wanted to know about the Tidal Basin incident and campaign donations from a milk cooperative.

It was Mills' second public appearance since he was involved with Washington Park Police and an ex-stripper Oct. 7 and was a contrast to the warm reception he received from the Little Rock Jaycees Thursday night.

Later Friday, Mills delivered a speech about the economy and his political views to a joint meeting of civic clubs at Hendrix College here.

Students Hoot

The high school students broke into loud applause every time a question about Tidal Basin came up and hooted when Mills' answer did not satisfy them.

One student asked Mills if he felt he was in the right when police stopped his speeding car and said they found the Ways and Means Committee chairman intoxicated and bleeding from cuts on the face. A female companion, an ex-stripper, subsequently jumped into the Tidal Basin and had to be pulled to safety.

"I have apologized for that and I'm not going to say anything more about it," Mills said.

When asked about the effect of the incident on his re-election campaign, Mills said, "It may have some effect but don't worry about the election. One of us will win it."

Faces Republicans

Mills faces Republican Judy Petty of Little Rock in the Nov. 5 general election.

Another student asked Mills how the ex-stripper got two black eyes.

"I don't think you're old enough . . ." Mills began, but was drowned out by laughter and applause. "I don't think you're old enough to drink champagne and I did on that occasion," he said when the noise died down.

Turning to the matter of donations to Mills' 1972 presidential campaign, a student asked how it was possible for a politician to receive exceptionally large contributions and not know about them.

"What you're talking about is the Draft Mills Committee, which was set up by my friends who did some things they shouldn't have. I had no connection with it."

In answer to another question about donations to his campaign from a major milk cooperative, Mills said, "You don't buy somebody with contributions. Show me one thing the milk contributions have bought from me."

"How about higher milk prices," a student replied.

"I didn't do that," Mills said. "Nixon did it." At Hendrix, Mills pledged to fight inflation by working to get the government out of the money market.

"President Ford said he will do it, but I'm not so sure about Congress," said Mills.

Mills said the psychology of reducing federal spending to the $300 billion level would be good for the nation.

Dropped Idea

He predicted creation of a group to pinpoint excessive wages and prices, call public attention to them and make certain that the excesses were eliminated.

Mills said he had dropped the idea of wage and price controls for the present, but might consider the controls again later.

On other subjects, Mills said he favored the proposed Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution but opposed President Ford's proposed five per cent surtax.

He also predicted that his committee would close loopholes in the income tax laws.

Mills said he did not favor establishment of diplomatic relations with Cuba. "I never saw a Communist I thought I could trust."

No Israeli Response Issued To Palestinian State Demand

By The Associated Press

The Soviet Union and Egypt have demanded that the Palestine Liberation Organization, a guerrilla umbrella group, be allowed to participate on equal terms in any Arab-Israeli peace talks.

There was no immediate Israeli response to the declarations issued Friday in Cairo and Moscow after Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy concluded four days of talks with Kremlin leaders.

Refused Talks

The Israelis have repeatedly refused to negotiate with the PLO, calling it an organization of terrorists and murderers. "The only meeting place for Israel and the organization . . . is on the battle field," Israeli Premier Yitzhak Rabin declared this week.

The Egyptian and Soviet communiques also gave support for the creation of a Palestinian state as a requirement for Middle East peace, something Israel in the past has been against because it claims such a state would only create another enemy on its borders.

The PLO, led by Yasir Arafat, has sought to set up an independent Palestinian state on the West Bank of the Jordan River and in the Gaza Strip, both occupied by Israel since the 1967 Middle East war.

The Soviet and Egyptian communiques said the two countries have agreed that any settlement in the Middle East must secure "the legitimate rights of the Arab people of Palestine including its right to creation of its national home."

In Jerusalem, Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Allon said Friday that Israel was ready to give up more of its occupied Sinai Desert in return for a nonbelligerency pledge by Egypt.

Peace Hinges On Summit

But Allon said in a television speech that the next step in the quest for peace depends on the outcome of the Arab summit conference scheduled for Rabat, Morocco at the end of this month. The Arab leaders are expected to use the summit to formulate a unified position in preparation for the Geneva talks.

In related developments, the Cairo newspaper Al Gomhouria reported from Moscow that the Soviet Union has tentatively agreed to supply Egypt with a nuclear reactor.

In June, President Nixon during his Middle East trip promised to supply both Egypt and Israel with technological aid to develop their nuclear energy programs for peaceful purposes. The matter is still pending before Congress.

State Road Deaths Down 16 Per Cent

AUSTIN, (AP) — Traffic accidents have killed 2,270 persons in Texas this year, a 21 per cent decline from the same period of 1973, state police said Saturday.

The Department of Public Safety said the deaths occurred in 1,964 fatal accidents, down 16 per cent from a year ago.

BALLOON LAUNCH — The flight path of a meteorological research balloon called Project da Vinci could possibly cross the Midland area. The balloon, launched Saturday morning at Las Cruces, N.M., is scheduled to drift with prevailing winds and land at approximately 4 p.m. today near Lubbock. However, the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) has warned that the flight path could vary considerably from its planned 36-hour course from Las Cruces to Lubbock. Small aircraft should be on the lookout for the balloon, which will float free between 4,000 and 14,000 feet above sea level, an AEC spokesman said.

SAVE PENNIES TO BUY CHIMP — Bill Fleishman, one of science students at University Liggett Middle School in Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich., weighs some of the 10,000 pennies students have collected to finance a new chimp at the Detroit Zoo. They have set a 50,000 penny goal by Dec. 10 to pay for and support the new unnamed chimp that arrived last week. A couple of years ago another class of Mrs. Jane Renaud bought a sea lion for the zoo. Weighing is faster than counting pennies, the students have found. (AP Wirephoto.)

Planning Panel To Meet Monday

Final plat considerations for Skyline Terrace, a north Midland proposed shopping center and housing development, will be studied by the Planning and Zoning Commission Monday.

Louis Rochester, Skyline developer, will supply members of the commission with platting designs which delineate placement of through streets, housing and configuration of sewer lines in the 155-acre tract.

It was revealed by members of the city's planning department that Rochester will be required to give up another 100 feet of right-of-way above the 150 feet that he has dedicated for a proposed loop road that would abut the development on FM 868.

The planning commission will also consider the recommendation of the State Department of Public Welfare regarding the rewrite of Midland's requirements for child day care facilities.

The present requirement would be changed to allow a day care center to handle a larger child load if the proposal gains approval.

In other action the commission will: Consider a request by J. D. Kendrick for a temporary special trailer permit at 108 E. Pennsylvania St.

Consider a possible recommendation for a special ordinance dealing with radio towers and antennas.

Consider possible recommendations for special zone requirements for trailers or mobile homes in the city.

Consider the initiation of a zone change from local retail to commercial in south Midland between California, New York, Terrell and Big Spring streets.

Consider a request by Richard L. Leonard for a zone change for local retail to specific use-on premises consumption of alcoholic beverages for parts of lot 23 and 24, block 10, Permian Estates.

Wilson Finding Discontent In Leftwing Of His Party

LONDON (AP) — Only a week after winning a slim three-seat majority in Parliament, Prime Minister Harold Wilson is finding discontent among some leftwing members of his Labor party.

The grumbling is particularly significant, some political observers believe, because it may affect Wilson's chances of getting approval for a variety of bills aimed at solving Britain's economic woes.

tritibread

Tritibread is making its world premiere! Now, you can have the benefits of the scientific breakthrough that crossed wheat with rye and perfected Triticale. This new grain is higher in protein than wheat and has better baking qualities than rye. Triticale has a Protein Efficiency Ratio ("PER" . . . indicates how useful a food's protein is to bodily growth) comparable to soy concentrate!

Your whole family . . . the white bread eaters and those with more exotic tastes . . . will love the subtle, nut-like flavor of Tritibread. High in protein and other valuable nutrients, it adds a nutritious plus to every meal. Tritibread is unique in keeping its freshness, staying soft and tasteful much longer than other breads.

Dean Says Hardest Part About Keeping Cover-Up Going Was Pay-Off Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — John W. Dean III has testified that the hardest part about keeping the Watergate cover-up going was raising enough money to pay off the Watergate burglars. The White House was being blackmailed, the former White House counsel said Friday, his third day of testimony at the Watergate cover-up trial.

RECEIVES AWARD — Frank Willis, the security guard who discovered the Watergate break-in, smiles after the Democratic National Committee presented him with a plaque Friday in Washington. Robert Strauss, chairman of the committee, said Willis played "a truly unique role in the affairs of the nation." (AP Wirephoto.)

among wealthy Republicans without telling them what the money was to be used for, Dean testified. Secret Fund Used Dean testified that when other sources dried up in early 1973, the White House and re-election committee officials in the cover-up turned to a secret $350,000 fund under the control of defendant H. R. Haldeman. After initially tapping the fund with Halde- man's reluctant approval for between $40,000 and $70,000, Dean said defendant and former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell came back for more money to make sure that Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt Jr. did not tell the prosecutors all he knew about illegal political espionage.

$1 Million Needed The frantic and persistent scramble for cash to meet demands from Hunt and convicted conspirator G. Gordon Liddy culminated on March 21, 1973, when Dean told former President Richard M. Nixon that $1 million would be needed to pay off the original defendants.

In the fourth White House tape introduced the jury heard Nixon say of Dean's money estimate, "Well, for Chrissakes get it..."

In the same tape, released in part by the White House and in full transcript form by the House Judiciary Committee, Dean declares, "We have a cancer — within — close to the presidency, that's growing. It's growing daily."

Aides Vulnerable — Dean goes on to advise the President that his closest aides are vulnerable to charges of obstruction of justice, the very charge they face in the cover-up trial.

Besides the March 21 tape, the jury Friday heard another tape never before made public.

That tape shows that four days before he said he learned of the involvement of White House aides in Watergate, Nixon was advised by Dean that his closest aides were vulnerable to criminal prosecution.

AFTER TRIAL RECESS — Mrs. John W. Dean III leaves U.S. District Court in Washington Friday afternoon after the Watergate cover-up trial stood in recess. Her husband, once an attorney for former President Richard Nixon, had been on the witness stand for the prosecution the greater part of the week. (AP Wirephoto.)

Kangaroo On Loose Keeps Police In Chicago Hopping

CHICAGO (AP) — There's a kangaroo on the loose and it's got the Chicago Police Department hopping.

At least six persons have reported seeing the 4½-foot, 100-pound native of Australia leaping through residential neighborhoods of the Northwest Side in the last two days. And no one knows where it came from.

Two husky Chicago policemen, Michael Byrne and Lenny Ciangi, met up with the marsupial in an alley at 4 a.m. Friday.

Byrne and Ciangi were on their way to assist another policeman who had been ordered to investigate a citizen's complaint of a kangaroo in an alley.

"We turned into Cornelia Street and there was the kangaroo in the alley," Byrne recalled. They watched it hop into a back yard and radioed this message: "You won't believe this, but we got the kangaroo cornered in a yard. Send us some assistance — it looks like we're gonna have a fight."

Byrne was right. He gave this account of the battle:

"He ran on us, but he fought when we cornered him. Any animal will. Any man will. I almost had the cuffs on him but I got scared and my partner got scared when he started to growl. Then he started to scream and get vicious."

"We were afraid he would bite us. We were afraid we would have to have rabies shots. Later we found out they don't bite."

"My partner got kicked pretty bad in the legs. He (the kangaroo) smacks pretty good, but we got in a few good punches to the head and he must have felt it. Too bad we didn't have our nightsticks there. Then we really could have hammered him." As squad cars began to arrive, the animal hopped a fence and took off down the street.

"I'd say he was going 20 miles per hour," Byrne said.

Actually, the animal is a she, not a he. Experts decided that after all witnesses agreed it had a pouch.

And Joel Kitchener, assistant director of the Lincoln Park Zoo, said he believed the creature was actually a wallaby, a breed of kangaroo that grows to 6 feet. He estimated its value at $2,500.

In any case, the question remained: Where did the kangaroo come from? No circuses or zoos in the area have reported one missing. Nor has anyone else.

Safeguards To Prevent Nixon's Tapes From Being Destroyed, Buchen Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Existing safeguards prevent former President Richard M. Nixon's tapes from being destroyed before Congress can act to preserve them, White House counsel Philip W. Buchen says.

But Buchen's comment, made in a letter to the House printing subcommittee, was not enough assurance for the panel's chairman, Rep. John Brademas, D-Ill.

Brademas said Friday he had "grave alarm" over what he said was Buchen's failure in the letter to give specific information on the security arrangements under which Nixon's tapes and papers are now being held.

Sought Information Brademas, whose subcommittee has before it a Senate-passed bill forbidding the destruction of the documents without congressional approval, had sought the information.

Buchen, in a letter dated Oct. 16, replied that the tapes and papers would remain under White House control until the special Watergate prosecutor's office agreed to specific arrangements giving it subpoena access to documents for Watergate trial proceedings.

The White House lawyer added that a Sept. 6 agreement

Louisiana Officials To See Incinerator
Ship Burn Wastes

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Louisiana officials say they'll be on hand again when the Dutch incinerator ship Vulcanus tries again Monday to burn 4,828 tons of poisonous chemical wastes in the Gulf of Mexico.

"We will go back out there," said Clint Pray, chairman of the Governor's Council on Environmental Quality.

"This is the first time that an incinerator ship has operated off an American coast and what happens here now could very easily set a precedent for all future incinerator ships in the United States."

Pray and a planeload of news photographers circled the Vulcanus for more than four hours Tuesday, waiting for the burn to begin.

"Solids clogged four of the six waste feeder lines," explained a spokesman for Shell Chemical Co. Friday night.

"Work to free the lines has been under way in a designated repair area at sea. The welded lines have been cut and are being flushed with high-pressure water."

Ethiopia Says Country Hit Hard By Drought

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP)—Almost a million of Ethiopia's 24 million people are near starvation and 96 persons have died of thirst in the last two months, according to the Ethiopian News Agency.

The agency said Friday bones of cattle and other animals litter the Ogaden plateau in eastern Ethiopia's Haraghe Province, and vultures and hyenas were picking over carcasses.

Haraghe Province officials said that there were critical water shortages in 12 of the 13 districts in the province and that emergency water supplies were urgently needed.

Owners of wells and waterholes are charging the price of a goat for a barrel of water in Degeh Bur district bordering neighboring Somalia. A bucket of water was reportedly selling for 2½ cents.

"Even if the rain came shortly, the farmers do not have seed for they have eaten it for want of other food," Haile M. W. Kidan. Haraghe provincial administrators, said.

Kidan said the region has seen no more than a week of rainfall in any of the last four years.

The ousted regime of Emperor Haile Selassie had been accused of hiding the famine situation in the country for three years while close to a quarter-million people died. The new military regime has been trying to reverse that policy and fully publicize the disaster.

Mexican Police, Troops
Raid Prison To Break Up
Heroin Smuggling Ring

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP)—Mexican federal police and army troops raided a federal prison to break up what they said was a prisoner-directed heroin smuggling ring, considered the biggest since the "French Connection" case.

Officials said Friday the ring-leaders called the shots from behind bars in the La Mesa Penitentiary in a drug smuggling racket doing an estimated $3 million in business monthly. Seized records revealed a network that included France, Mexico, the United States and Canada, officials said.

Mexican federal police said that in one ring-leader's prison quarters they found $300,000 in American currency, $100,000 worth of jewelry and elaborate telephone codes and drug transaction records.

In Mexican prisons, inmates may keep some private possessions and live in quarters other than cells. Some prisoners even run small shops behind bars.

American and Mexican officials said they believed the ring had operated in Southern California and throughout the United States for 15 years.

The federal Drug Enforcement Administration said there were strong indications the ring had replaced the now-defunct "French Connection" operation as the major outlet for heroin originating in France.

The famous "French Connection," publicized in a movie of the same name, was a thriving heroin operation which ran the drug into the United States from Marseilles, France, via South America.

Townpeople Rallying To Help Gentle Hermit

LIVERMORE, Calif. (AP)—Townpeople, touched by the plight of their burly but gentle hermit in his struggle with the guardians of society, are rallying to his aid with cash, clothing and compassion.

Alameda County officials burned down Mike Pompileo's cardboard-patched wood shack last week, declaring the place a rat-infested health hazard. They also evicted Pompileo's dogs, cats and duck, charged the hermit with trespassing on another person's land and delivered him to Napa State Hospital.

"We're trying to get Mike back here," said Pamela Galbraith, in charge of the emergency program to help Pompileo. "Mike is perfectly harmless. He's lived here almost his whole life and people kind of love him. So what if he's eccentric. He's a very proud man; it's sad to break a man's pride."

In Oakland Friday, the 6-foot, 250-pound Pompileo told Alameda County Superior Court Judge Harold Hove that all he wants in life is to return to Livermore to tend his pets, chat with folks and wander about as the spirit moves him.

The judge ordered 55-year-old Pompileo to submit to psychiatric examination next week and freed him to the custody of a son in San Jose.

Mrs. Galbraith said she's already collected $200 and hired a lawyer to defend against the trespass charge. Local teenagers held a fund-raising dance for him Saturday night.

Demo Domination Of Governorships Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — month's elections and a firm in the 35 states electing govern- Democrats appear headed for a footing in the grassroots for the 1976 presidential year. Democrats will gain a net increase of 10 governorships in next An Associated Press survey three to seven governorships.

The survey shows Democrats leading in 29 states with election just over two weeks away. Added to the nine Democratic incumbents not up for election this year, this would mean 38 Democratic governors — one short of the record number they held in 1936.

Republicans are considered ahead in six states, which would give them at least 12 governors. Just four years ago they held 32.

Even more significant: Democrats are heavily favored to capture the top prizes — California, in GOP hands since 1966, and New York, Republican since 1958.

More Demo Governors
Next year there are likely to be Democratic governors in each of the six most populous states — including Pennsylvania, Texas and Ohio, which they are favored to retain, and Illinois, which has no gubernatorial election this year.

The seventh largest state, Michigan, has a Republican governor who has the incumbent's edge. But the race is rated close to a tossup. Democrats already control the No. 8 state, New Jersey, which does not elect a governor this year, and No. 9, Florida, where incumbent Reubin Askew is a heavy favorite for a new term.

In the next largest state, Massachusetts Gov. Francis W. Sargent is trailing in the polls.

Changes Show Mood
While the Republicans have controlled Congress only twice since the Great Depression, the governorships have changed hands in some reflection of the mood of the country.

There has also been a trend of a party moving to power in the states prior to successful bids for the White House.

In 1958 the Democrats won seven governorships to run their control to 35 and give the party strong roots for John F. Kennedy's presidential victory in 1960.

Similarly, the Republicans made gains in 1966 and took a 26-24 edge in 1967 as they moved toward Richard Nixon's 1968 election as President.

The Democrats have been coming back since 1970 when they took a 29-21 state house edge. They have been adding to it steadily since then.

The glamour races this year are in California and New York, because they are big states and because they have been Republican strongholds for so long.

Reagan Retiring
Ronald Reagan, governor of California for eight years, is retiring next year.

Edmund G. Brown Jr., 36-year-old California secretary of state and son of the last Democratic governor, is the Democratic nominee and has a lead in the polls of about 15 per cent over Houston Flournoy, now the GOP state controller.

Nelson Rockefeller, governor of New York for so long it looked like a Republican preserve, resigned last year. Now his lieutenant governor of 15 years, Malcolm Wilson, is running for election in his own right. He's trailing far behind Rep. Hugh Carey, who won the Democratic nomination in a hot primary over the favorite of the party establishment.

Early polls showed Carey ahead by 20 points or more, and indications are that the lead is holding.

The Republicans see their best chance for turnovers in Alaska, South Carolina and possibly Maine.

Governor Behind
Three-term Democratic Gov. William A. Egan is shown a dangerous distance behind Republican Jay Hammond in the polls in Alaska, the only state that appears likely to take a big Republican swing in 1974.

The Democrats seemed to have South Carolina sewed up until the courts disqualified Democratic nominee Charles Ravenel on a residency rule. Now, with many Ravenel boosters apparently still fuming, Republican James Edwards is seven points ahead of the Democratic replacement, Rep. W. J. Bryan Dorn.

The Democrats narrowly won Maine four years ago and the toss-up race may lean slightly toward former Atty. Gen. James Erwin, the Republican, over Democrat George Mitchell, who was formerly a top adviser to Sen. Edmund S. Muskie.

Faces Challenge
Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan faces the challenge of former two-term Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes. Gilligan's lead in the polls has slipped but he is still ahead by some 15 points and considered safe barring some unforeseen development.

The other big state being contested, Pennsylvania, is generally expected to stay Democratic with Milton J. Shapp.

Shapp, who claims he gained rather than lost strength from three days of testifying before a Republican-controlled Pennsylvania House committee investigating state contract practices, is given the edge over Republican Drew Lewis.

Incumbent Democrats who seem virtually certain of winning new terms include Alabama's George C. Wallace, Askew of Florida, Dolph Briscoe of Texas, Thomas Salmon of Vermont, Philip Noel of Rhode Island, Patrick J. Lucy of Wisconsin, Wendell Anderson of Minnesota, Richard Kneip of South Dakota, Cecil Andrus of Idaho, James Exon of Nebraska, Marvin Mandel of Maryland and Mike O'Callaghan of Nevada.

The Democrats also expect to hold a half dozen other states where they have no incumbent running, including Oklahoma where the favorite is David Boren, a newcomer who won the Democratic nomination over Gov. David Hall and Rep. Clem McSpadden. State Sen. James Inhofe is the GOP nominee.

In Georgia State Rep. George Busee is expected to defeat Republican Mayor Ronnie Thompson of Macon. Former Rep. David Pryor is considered a shoe-in over Republican Kenneth Coon in Arkansas. Democrat Jerry Apodaca leads Republican Joe Skeen by 20 points in New Mexico.

Ray's Hearing Scheduled Tuesday

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — One day after he stood in court and admitted to firing the rifle that killed Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., James Earl Ray renounced his plea of guilty and started a legal bombardment proclaiming his innocence.

Now, more than 5 years into his 99-year sentence, he will have a new day in court. Hearing Tuesday

U.S. District Judge Robert M. McRae Jr. will open a hearing Tuesday on whether Ray is en-itled to withdraw his guilty plea and stand trial for murdering the civil rights leader on April 4, 1968.

The U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals ruled in January that Ray was entitled to the hearing.

The issues will be whether Ray, 46, had effective counsel when he pleaded guilty and whether his admission was freely given.

Conspiracy Charged
Robert I. Livingston of Memphis, who has helped represent Ray for five years, said "Our contention is that there was a definite conspiracy and that Ray was set up as a fall guy and was not a part of the conspiracy."

James H. Lesar, 34, of Washington, D.C., who has worked in defense of Ray for four years, says he will try to show Ray was denied evidence on his guilt or innocence.

Two major figures in the case, famed criminal lawyer Percy Foreman of Houston, Tex., and Alabama author William Bradford Huie, probably won't appear, attorneys say. They already have given sworn statements. Foreman represented Ray when Ray pleaded guilty.

Fired Attorney
Ray's new attorneys claim that his first lawyer, Arthur Hanes Sr. of Birmingham, Ala., agreed to represent him in exchange for 40 per cent of all royalty rights to Huie's book, "He Slew the Dreamer." When Ray fired Hanes four months before the trial, he hired Foreman and agreed to assign him 60 per cent of the expected book royalties to cover legal fees, Ray's attorneys say.

They contend that Foreman pressured Ray to plead guilty in order to avoid a public trial and preserve the economic value of the book. Foreman and Huie have denied they sought to profit from Ray's case.

Ray, who escaped in 1967 from the Missouri state prison while serving an armed robbery sentence, was arrested at London's Heathrow Airport on June 9, 1968, 69 days after King was slain as he stood on the second-floor balcony of the Lorraine Motel. King was in Memphis in support of a sanitation workers' strike.

Livingston said that while there was a conspiracy, Ray did not know about it before the shooting, and Ray "did not fire the shot."

New State Director Of MHMR Says He's Not Recommending Budget Cut For Unit

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — Dr. Kenneth Gaver, Texas' new mental health commissioner, says he is not recommending a budget cut for the state Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation (MHMR).

Gaver commented after the State Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation approved a $693.5 million two-year budget request to be presented to the 1975 legislature.

The budget is $22.3 million less, however, than the one written in June before Gaver took over as commissioner. Since becoming commissioner, Gaver established priorities to pare the budget, MHMR said.

Gaver said the commission actually approved a priority budget system. Priority one, the $693.5 million request, is the minimum. Priority two, if funds are available, calls for a two-year expenditure of $780.1 million. Priority three is for $910.5 million.

The MHMR board approved the budget Friday, saying much was needed to upgrade Texas' treatment of the retarded and mentally ill.

MHMR said the minimum $693.5 million budget, if approved by the legislature, would upgrade all state mental hospitals and five of the 12 schools for the retarded enough so they could be accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals-Mental Retardation Facilities by 1977.

The budget also would expand community services, eliminate the waiting list for schools for the retarded, improve conditions at the institutions and relocate 1,892 state school residents in facilities closer to their homes.

Gaver said the budget, which includes $68.2 million for construction, would add 857 new employees in state hospitals and 6,001 state school employees.

State schools and hospitals have been criticized since last summer for alleged poor treatment programs, misplaced priorities and poor facilities.

Texas Gains 29 Industries In September

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Industrial Commission says 29 industries, employing 2,500 persons, located in Texas during September.

Projected annual output of the firms is more than $93 million, the commission said Friday.

Besides the 2,500 jobs directly created, another 2,000 will result indirectly from the location of the firms, the commission said.

Estimated tax yields are $14.3 million for the federal government $1.3 million to the state and $973,998 for local governments.

Trials Of Six Charged In Huntsville Prison Shootout Moved To Houston

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A state judge has transferred from Walker County to Houston the upcoming trials of six men charged with capital murder in the last August state prison shootout.

District Court Judge James Warren of Walker County ordered the change of venues Friday after conferring with court appointed defense lawyers.

Two women librarians hostages and convict gunmen Fred Gomez Carrasco and Rudolfo Dominguez were killed in a hall of bullets Aug. 3 as officers halted an escape attempt. Authorities said Carrasco, Dominguez and Ignacio Cuevas held more than a dozen hostages for 11 days in the prison library prior to the escape attempt.

Case Moved
The case of Cuevas, charged with causing the death of a woman hostage, will be transferred to state District Judge Miron Love's court in Houston, Warren said.

The cases of five other men, accused of helping smuggle three pistols to the escaping inmates, was moved by Warren to State District Judge Wallace C. Moore's court in Houston.

The six San Antonio men charged with supplying pistols to the three convicts are brothers Adolfo, Pedro and Benito Alonzo; Lawrence Hall, Fred Perales and George Cisneros. Cisneros is still at large.

Unbiased Jurors Sought
Warren said he moved the cases because of potential difficulty in getting unbiased jurors for the trial.

He said that because Houston is a larger city, "there is more possibility of finding jurors divorced from the actual proceedings at this point."

Six of the men charged are Mexican-Americans and Warren said that holding the trials in a small county, particularly with a large Mexican-American population, could conceivably lead to dividing the community along ethnic lines.

No trial dates have been set.

The Walker County grand jury has been probing the unsuccessful escape attempt and plans to meet next Tuesday in what officials say could be the final session. A report on the probe is expected to be issued in early November.

Dallas, Fort Worth Take Love Field Case To High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cities of Dallas and Fort Worth have charged that Southwest Airlines' operation from Dallas Love Field airport undermines a major portion of Congress' national airport system plan.

In a petition to the U.S. Supreme Court filed this week, the two cities ask that lower court rulings be overturned and that all commercial airline flights be banished from Love Field to the new Dallas-Fort Worth Airport.

The brief says lower court rulings, which permitted Southwest to continue its Love Field commuter flights to Texas points, already have had a "disastrous effect."

Scheme Cited
The two cities argue that Congress established a "pervasive and complete federal scheme for air space management and for the planning, funding and regulation of uses of public airports."

The lower courts failed to recognize federal pre-emption and thus have nullified a major part of Congress' intention, the brief contends.

The two cities also claim the lower court orders put an added financial burden on interstate airline carriers who have agreed to absorb any deficit suffered by the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport.

Preferred Position
The orders also create a preferred position for intrastate carriers such as Southwest Airlines, the brief argues.

The petition says that since the lower courts' rulings, other scheduled airlines have claimed that could not be excluded from Love Field.

U.S. District Judge William M. Taylor Jr. ruled that Southwest Airlines could use Love Field as long as it remained open as a public airport. The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld Taylor's decision.

Since Taylor's ruling, a number of other suits have been filed concerning the two airports. Three of the suits have been consolidated and assigned to Taylor. Trial is scheduled for Nov. 18.

Europeans Face Same Woes As Americans In Battling Inflation

By LOUISE COOK
PARIS (AP) — Americans battling inflation can take some comfort from the fact that the grass isn't any greener on the other side of the Atlantic. Europeans face many of the same problems in trying to balance the family budget.

As in the United States food prices are the most frequent topics of complaint.

Smaller than expected grain harvests in most of the world, coupled with a growing population, have pushed up the prices of just about everything. Farmers complain they're losing money; consumers complain their income isn't stretching as far as it used to. Some of the prices seem low to an American, but the wages are correspondingly low. Wages for secretaries in London offer salaries of about $75 a week; skilled auto workers get just over $100 for a 40-hour week.

The retail price index jumped 1.1 per cent in England last month to reach July's record inflation level and trigger another pay increase for 10 million workers, the government announced Friday. For each point the index rises workers get a weekly pay hike of 96 cents.

The September increase meant that prices were 17.1 per cent higher than they were a year ago. The September jump in the index took Britain close to the top of the inflation table among industrial countries, exceeded only by Italy and Japan.

Meat industry experts in England predicted recently that pork prices will rise by as much as 40 per cent next year and beef prices by 12 per cent. A spot check of meat stores in a small town in the south of England showed prices already are at or above levels in the United States—several cuts of steak for example, were about $2.50 per pound.

The soybean shortage that has caused the price of mayonnaise to soar in the United States has produced similar problems in England. Margarine prices have increased until it costs as much, or in some cases, more than butter. A half pound of margarine or butter averages about 25 cents in England, well below the per pound price of about 90 cents in the United States.

In another area, English consumers got some good news recently when the Association of Manufacturers of Domestic Electric Appliances announced a code of ethics governing appliance repair.

The service code will be policed by the government's office of fair trading and is aimed primarily at cutting the long, frustrating delays in repairs.

Under the code, a service man will call to look at a broken appliance within three working days of the complaint.

Members of the association agreed that 80 per cent of all complaints should be resolved on the first visit.

Manufacturers also promised that even if a particular model has been discontinued, they will keep spare parts in stock for a minimum period after ceasing production of the item.

CAMPBELL SCORES TD, BLOCKS ARKANSAS PUNT

Longhorns Stampede Past Porkers, 38-7

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Texas freshman fullback Earl Campbell stiff-armed his way 68 yards for a touchdown and blocked an Arkansas punt which tackle Doug English joyously converted into another score Saturday and the Longhorns stayed alive in the Southwest Conference race with a 38-7 rout of the Razorbacks.

Top Performance
The 6-1, 225-pound Campbell, the top schoolboy running back in the state in 1973, made his two big plays in the second quarter and Texas never looked back in the nationally televised game.

Campbell bolted over right tackle on his long-distance jog and stiff-armed Arkansas nose guard Wayman Hawkins off stride. With a Memorial Stadium crowd of 66,700 on their feet, Campbell outraced Arkansas defensive back Rollen Smith to the flag.

Campbell's run came after defensive end Lionell Johnson had recovered a fumble by Arkansas quarterback Scott Bull.

Late in the first half, Arkansas tried to run out the clock deep in its end of the field, but Texas called time out twice. Campbell roared through untouched to block Tommy Cheyne's punt. The ball bounced to the Arkansas one

Gains 109 Yards
Campbell rushed only eight times but gained 109 yards through the porous Arkansas defense.

Quarterback Marty Akins, halfback Gralyn Wyatt and third-string fullback David Bartek scored meaningless touchdowns as the Horns poured it in the second half after compiling a 17-0 halftime lead.

Sixteenth-ranked Texas, which has won six consecutive SWC titles, is now 1-1 in conference play and 4-2 overall. Arkansas is 1-2 and 3-3.

Arkansas' Rolland Fuchs bolted 50 yards for a touchdown with 3:33 left in the game to keep the loss from being the worst in Coach Frank Broyles' career.

Mike Dean staked Texas to a 3-0 lead in the first quarter with a mighty 45-yard field goal into a gusting 10-mile per hour wind, before Campbell's heroics stole the show.

Akins ran four yards for a touchdown in the third quarter, Wyatt rumbled 17 yards for a touchdown in the fourth period and Bartek picked up the Horns' final score on a one-yard plunge.

Physical Beating
Arkansas took a tremendous physical beating in the game, losing fullback Barnabas White with a broken ankle.

On one touchdown drive in the third quarter, four Arkansas players left to the sidelines with various injuries.

It was the 33rd consecutive game in Memorial Stadium in which the Longhorns have emerged victorious.

Arkansas was saddled with poor field position all day and its deepest drives went to the Texas 23 and 31-yard lines before the Longhorn defense stiffened.

Royal Happy With Team's Big Victory

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Longhorns let the rest of the Southwest Conference know Saturday that they are still an explosive force to be reckoned with, but coach Darrell Royal said he never expected otherwise.

Even after Texas Tech whacked Texas 26-3, Royal said Saturday in the wake of Texas' 38-7 thrashing of Arkansas, "I didn't think we were out of it."

Royal Relaxed
Sipping a soft drink in the dressing room, Royal was told senior tackle Doug English and freshmen fullback Earl Campbell had been chosen most valuable players of the nationally televised game. "That's all right," said Royal, who greeted Campbell with "soul handshake" after Campbell blocked a punt for a 17-0 halftime lead.

"The telling blow—the swing of the pendulum—was the blocked punt," said Royal.

Campbell also sprinted for 68 yards and a touchdown off a block by center Bob Tresh while topping one tackler with a stiff arm.

Campbell, 6-1 and 225, said high school Coach Lawrence McGuire "taught me everything I know about holding a football."

"Players used to tackle me around the leg and he told me to put my arm out to keep them off. When I'm one-on-one (with a defender) and he's anywhere close, I put my arm on him."

Blocked Punt
On the blocked punt, Campbell said the defender in front of him went one way and he went the other—"I just ran on back there."

Royal said Longhorn coaches noticed on Campbell's high school film that he often blew in on the punter and decided to use him to do that for Texas.

Texas quarterback Marty Akins said the offensive line was "knocking them back two and three yards at the snap of the ball. We realize now that if we can just hold onto the ball, the line will do the job and we can score on anybody."

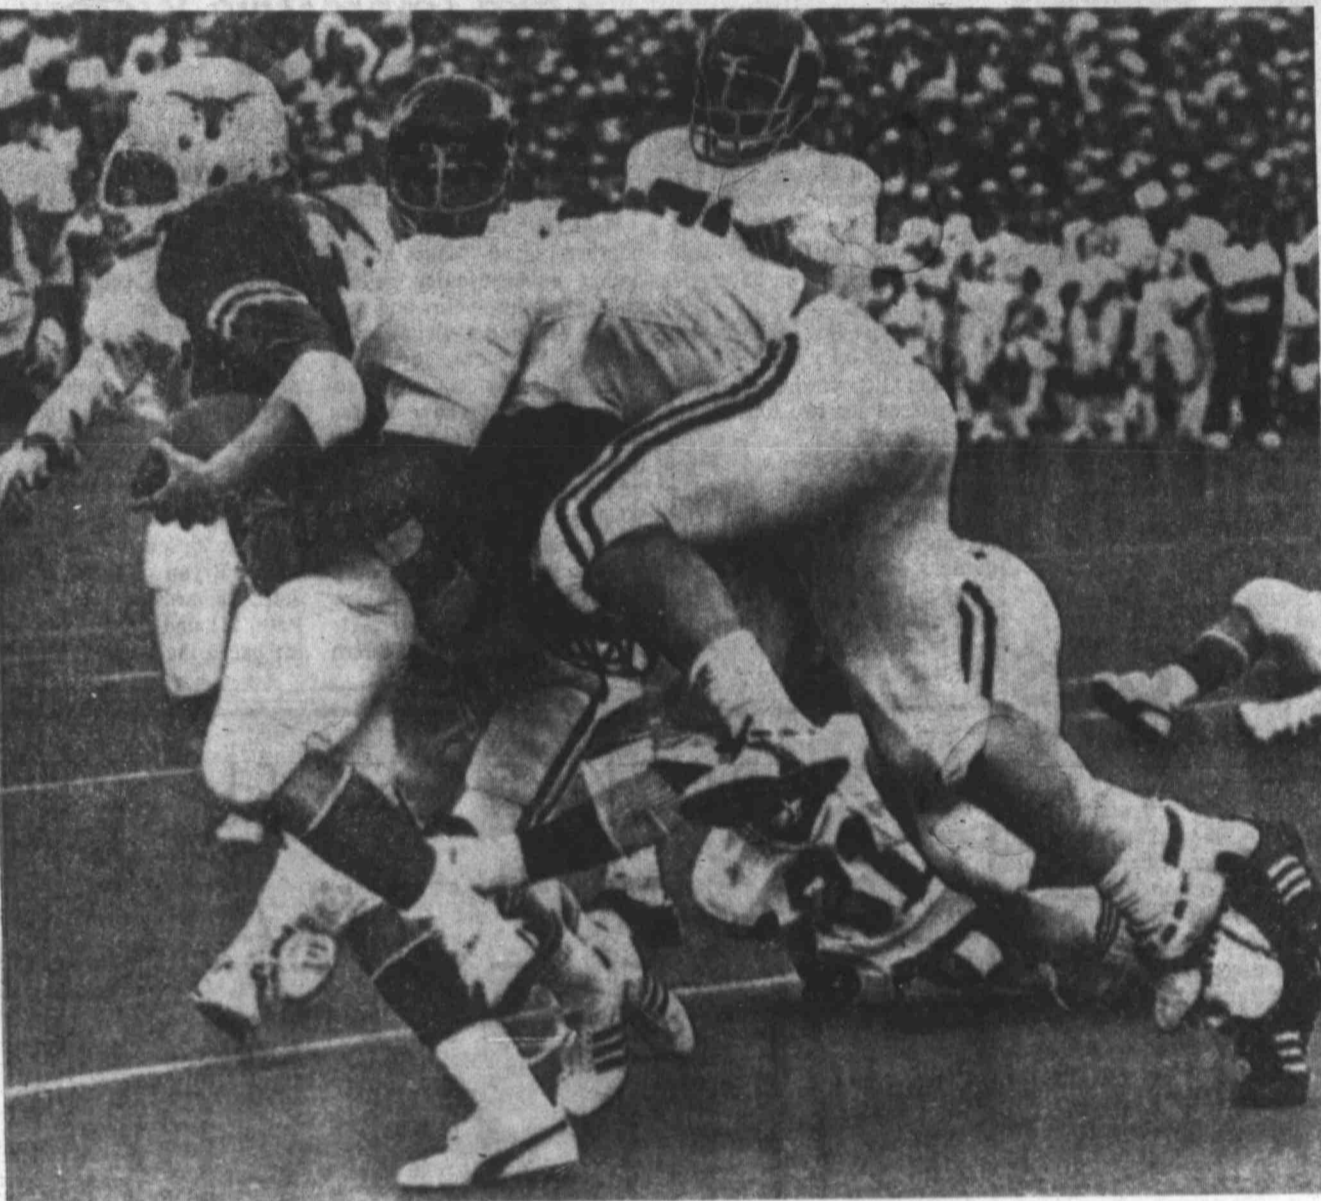

English, 250-pound co-captain, had scored only once before—in high school on a safety—before he grabbed the punt Campbell blocked and stepped into the end zone. He seemed to wrench the ball away from teammate Sammie Mason, but laughed and said "all I saw was the ball and I glimpsed some hands reaching for it."

Porkers Hurt
Eight Razorbacks went to the sidelines with injuries and Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said, "they (Texas) were very physical today."

"They were so strong it was just like a tidal wave," said Arkansas fullback Marsh White.

Royal was asked about the physical pounding Texas gave Arkansas and he said, "Arkansas was bruised and boned up coming into the game and we were in good health."

Are you on your way now (to a seventh straight SWC title) English was asked. "Yes sir," he replied, and he didn't hesitate.

SMU Upends Rice

Wesson Hits Last-Second Pass

DALLAS (AP) — Sophomore quarterback Ricky Wesson, who appeared to be the goat with two fourth quarter fumbles, passed 13 yards to Freeman Johns for a touchdown with 17 seconds left to give Southern Methodist a spine-tingling 19-14 Southwest Conference victory over Rice Saturday night.

SMU led 13-3 late in the fourth quarter, mainly on the strength of 50-and four-yard runs by Wesson, but Rice second-string quarterback Tommy Kramer led an Owl rally, set up by Wesson's two fumbles, to a 14-13 lead with 35 seconds left. The lead points came on a 44-yard field goal by Owl kicker Alan Pringle.

But freshman Arthur Whittington returned the following kick off 70 yards to the Rice 13 and on the first play Wesson hit Johns with the game winner.

Kramer, after Wesson's first fumble in the fourth quarter had taken Rice on a 46-yard scoring drive climaxed by an eight-yard touchdown pass from Kramer to Kenneth Roy. A two-point conversion pass from Kramer to Ed Lofton made the score 13-11 with 4:54 left in the game.

Wesson fumbled again later in the quarter at the SMU 31

ments later Wesson's four-yard run gave SMU a 7-0 lead.

Pringle's first 44-yard field goal, with 37 seconds left in the first half, came after Rice linebacker Dee McCurry stole a pass by John Blackburn, a Wesson stand-in, and returned it to the SMU 43.

SMU took the second half kickoff and after a personal foul by Rice put the ball at midfield, Wesson drifted to the left on a triple option, found a seam in the defense and outran the secondary to the goal line. The extra point try was blocked, and the 13-3 Mustang lead held from there until the late-game fireworks.

Kramer sat on the bench most of the game as Claude Reed directed the Rice attack. Reed passed 24 times, completing 12 for 123 yards, but he was harassed by SMU defenders and had three aeriels intercepted.

with 145 yards rushing on 24 carries. He threw only five passes, but both of his completions were crucial.

Besides the game-winning loss for a touchdown, Wesson's other connection was for 24 yards to David Bostick on a third and 17 play in the second quarter. The play carried to the Rice eight-yard line and mo-

Irish Bomb Army, 48-0

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Fullbacks Wayne Bullock and Russ Korman each scored two touchdowns and halfback Al Samuel added a game-high 127 yards rushing Saturday as seventh-ranked Notre Dame pounded Army 48-0 in an inter-sectional college football game.

A mixture of snow and rain fell during most of the first half and caused numerous fumbles by both teams but Notre Dame clung to the ball long enough to score at least as many points in the first half as it had scored in each of its last three games.

The Irish built a 20-0 lead and coasted the rest of the way to their fifth victory against one loss.

Bullock, who entered the game eighth in the nation in scoring with eight touchdowns, scored the first two Irish touchdowns and barely missed a third. He had the ball knocked from his grasp inches from the end zone midway in the first quarter but came back to score on runs of six and nine yards later in the half.

The Irish added three touchdowns in the third quarter with Korman scoring twice on runs of four and seven yards and Samuel dashing 35 yards for the other.

Meanwhile, the Notre Dame defense held Army without a first down in the first half and gave up only three in the third quarter before Irish Coach Ara Paraseghian began clearing his bench.

Air Force Edges Navy By 19-16

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Dave Lawson kicked four field goals, the final one with eight seconds left to play, as Air Force came from behind to defeat service academy rival Navy 19-16 in college football Saturday.

Navy had jumped out to a 16-6 lead when fullback Bob Jackson ran four yards for a touchdown on the opening play of the final quarter. The Midshipmen then began playing giveaway, however, fumbling the ball away twice, having a punt blocked and muffing the snap on another punt.

When Navy couldn't produce a first down, Mike Mark ran a punt back 16 yards into Navy territory. The Falcons then benefited from a piling-on infraction against Navy.

Tech Snaps Arizona Win Streak, 17-8

By TED BATTLES
R-T Sports Editor

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech did it to Arizona again, 17-8, and you can't blame the Wildcats if they're getting discouraged about the whole thing.

This was the 24th time the old Border Conference rivals have met and it was the 22nd time that Tech came off the winner. Arizona has won just once and the other game ended in a tie.

If ever Arizona figured to win, this looked like a good time. The Western Athletic Conference school is in the midst of a football renaissance. Last year, the Wildcats were 8-3 and this year they are supposed to be even better. They came into Saturday night's game against their Southwest Conference foe at Jones Stadium undefeated in five games and ranked number nine in the nation.

But to 40,231 Dad's Night fans, it looked like the same Arizona that Tech had known and loved for so many years.

Perhaps most exasperating about the loss was that Tech

Arizona 11 set up a 21-yard field goal by Brian Hall, 2:06 into the second period, and the Raiders were driving again when Duniven was injured on a busted play at the UA 15.

Seminole's Don Roberts came off the bench to complete the drive. First he passed to Sammy Williams, Lawrence's kid brother, for six yards to the eight, kept for two and then passed to Lawrence for the touchdown. Hall's kick made it 10-0 with 5:21 left in the half.

The Raiders had come 69 yards in 12 plays, primarily on Duniven's passing. He hit Lawrence Williams for 20 to the UA 49 and then Sammy for 19 to the UA 19.

Kept bottled up by poor field position and Tech's harrying defense in the first half, Arizona showed how it came by its lofty national ranking in the second half with a high geared offense that kept the pressure on Tech.

A 45-yard pass interference Howard threw placement holder Bill Baechler back for a 13-yard loss on a fake 52-yard field goal attempt.

Tech took over on its own 48 and launched a drive that nailed down the Raiders' fourth victory against a loss and a tie in their final non-conference game.

Fullback John Garner broke over left tackle for the final five yards, fittingly enough since his 24-yard run took the ball to the UA 11. Only 6:29 was remaining when Hall's boot made it 17-0.

Arizona, which brought a 30 point scoring average into the game, finally got on the board with 3:50 left to play when Hill ended a 77-yard drive with a five yard TD pass to flanker T. Bell and then passed to Bell again for the two-point.

Arizona fullback Jim Upchurch led the rushers with 106 yards in 19 carries while Larry Isaac's 65 yards and Garner's 62 led Tech. Roberts was three for three passing for 15 yards after Duniven left with 76 yards on six of 10. Hill completed 15 of 30 for 154 yards, but was intercepted twice.

Petty Big Favorite Today In American 500 Race

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP) — Richard Petty will win his fifth Winston Cup Grand National title in today's American 500-mile stock car race. You can count on it.

All he has to do is make one lap around the one-mile North Carolina Motor Speedway and he'll pack home a trophy that carries a bonus of about $75,000. It will be paid in bits and pieces at a victory dinner in Florida next February.

So, with the championship so cut-and-dried, what is the lure that will bring some 40,000 spectators, averaging $10 each, to the scenic oval located in the heart of peach-growing country?

Another confrontation between Petty and his arch-rival, the greying, crafty David Pearson, that's what.

No matter that Petty will start his Dodge in the front row pole position, with winless and hungry Buddy Baker in a Ford beside him. And that Pearson, 39, lines up right behind Petty.

No matter that Cale Yarborough, a stocky blond Chevrolet ace with a win, place and show record for the season almost as impressive as Petty's, has a million-to-one shot at depriving the all-time hero of the title.

For that to happen, the red and blue Dodge that Petty has driven to 10 wins and a remarkable 23 top five finishes in 28 starts would have to sputter and quit somewhere during the first lap, while Yarborough goes on to win the race.

Sooners Roll Over Buffs

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Second-ranked Oklahoma uncorked four lethal, long, rapid-fire scoring drives in the first half and routed Colorado 49-14 Saturday as slippery Joe Washington carried 18 times for 200 yards and four touchdowns.

It was the conference opener for the defending Big Eight football champions. Oklahoma is 5-0 overall and stretched the nation's longest winning and unbeaten streaks to 14 and 23 games, respectively.

Washington scored Oklahoma's first three touchdowns on runs of two, six and 18 yards and the awesome Sooners made it 28-0 on Steve Davis' 10-yard pass to Wayne Hoffman just eight seconds before halftime.

Davis scored himself on a short quarterback sneak early in the third quarter and Washington broke a brilliant 28-yard touchdown run five minutes later, faking his way around two defenders after passing the line of scrimmage.

How Top Ten Teams Fared

1. Ohio State rumbled past hapless Indiana, 49-9.
2. The Oklahoma Sooners downed conference foe Colorado, 49-14.
3. Michigan escaped with a narrow 24-20 win over Wisconsin.
4. Alabama crushed once respected Tennessee by 28-6 count.
5. The Auburn Tigers outlasted Georgia Tech, 31-22.
6. Southern Cal had plenty of trouble with Oregon, 16-7.
7. Notre Dame embarrassed the Cadets of Army, 48-0.
8. Texas A&M won SWC game against TCU, 17-0.
9. Arizona fell to rebounding Texas Tech, 17-8.
10. North Carolina State was upset by North Carolina, 33-14.

Stephen F. Austin Posts 12-7 Win

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — Otis Norris intercepted a pass with just 23 seconds left here Saturday to insure a Stephen F. Austin 12-7 Lone Star Conference victory over Southwest Texas.

Stephen F. Austin's scores came in the first half on an 11-yard scamper by John Reece and a 35-yard trot by quarterback Larry Mayer.

WALKER HAS HOT HAND— Aggies Blank Frogs

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP)—Eighth-ranked Texas A&M's triple mule team of running backs wore down a Texas Christian defense and Aggie quarterback David Walker had his best career passing performance for a 17-0 Texas A&M Southwest Conference football victory here Saturday.

Aggie interceptions of TCU passes by Lee Cook set up two scores and stopped TCU's most serious scoring threats when the sputtering, rebuilding Horned Frogs still had a chance.

That made it 17-0 midway in the third quarter.

Fifth Victory
 The 70th meeting between the two schools, before 36,701 fans, provided Texas A&M its fifth victory in six starts and left the Aggies undefeated in the Southwest Conference with a 2-0 record, setting up a battle of conference unbeaten when A&M meets surprising Baylor next Saturday.

TCU dropped to 1-5 and remained in the conference cellar.

The Aggie running backs Hubby, Bubba Bean and Bucky Sams provided the first game score with a 12-play 75-yard drive all on the ground. Sams, a junior fullback, scored the touchdown with an 11-yard burst off left guard on fourth down.

Walker left the game in the fourth quarter with seven completions in nine attempts for 220 yards and one touchdown. It was his first 200-yard performance since his first start a year ago in a 35-16 victory over the Horned Frogs.

Sams' touchdown effort was almost stalled on the five, by

Dark May Leave Oakland Ball Club

OAKLAND (AP)—Now that the champagne bottles have been emptied for the third straight October, what lies ahead for the Oakland A's, baseball's world champions?

Another flag, if you ask controversial owner Charles O. Finley who already has coined a motto for next year—"We'll give in '75."

Another manager, if you believe team-watchers, who say that although Finley has invited Alvin Dark back, the A's pilot will not return.

"The job is his," Finley proclaimed during the A's victory parade Friday. But Dark said only that he and Charlie would have to talk it over.

Dark signed a one-year contract to manage the A's last February, shortly after spring training began. He replaced Dick Williams, who cashed in his chips after piloting Oakland to two world titles.

Williams simply had his fill of Finley's interference with the ball club. But Oakland's managers must understand that the A's are Charlie's team and he likes to participate in the operation.

Dark understood that. He let Finley have his fun. When the owner decided that a sprinter who had never played baseball would make a great pinch-runner, Dark agreed and Herb Washington became an instant major leaguer.

When Finley decided less than an hour before the fourth game of the World Series that Dark's lineup ought to be changed, Dark changed the lineup.

All the catering to the owner's whims undermined Dark's position with the players. They often demeaned him, calling him Finley's puppet.

Managing the Oakland A's is not the world's easiest way to make a living. This is a team of independent spirits owned by the ultimate independent spirit. They often clash with one another. Instead of a manager, this club could use a referee.

But in the end, with champagne pouring down over his head, Reggie Jackson nodded at Dark and said, "They should find out what Henry Kissinger makes and pay Alvin the same thing."

Dark would like that analogy. Peace is his thing. He kept his cool through a tumultuous season.

Bullpup JV Nips Abilene, 16-14

ABILENE — The Midland Bullpups, on Kevin Pearce's 30-yard field goal early in the final period, edged past the Abilene junior varsity football team Saturday afternoon, 16-14.

Phillip Ward scored two touchdowns for the Pups to give the talented sophomore 10 TDs on the season. Pearce also booted one PAT for the rest of the scoring.

Abilene had taken a 14-13 lead just before the half on a 60-yard scamper by the Eagle tailback.

The Pups are now 4-1-1 in the year and play San Angelo in San Angelo next Saturday.

Plainview Wins Fourth Straight

PLAINVIEW — The Plainview Bulldogs whipped the Hereford Whitefaces, 20-6, Friday in a District 4-4A football opener.

The victory is Plainview's fourth straight since losing to Midland Lee, 13-0.

Plainview is now 5-2 on the season and 1-0 in loop play.

BYU Keeps Slim Hopes Flickering

PROVO, Utah (AP)—Quarterback Gary Sheide passed for 388 yards and five touchdowns, all in the first half, including three to freshman split end Jeff Nilsson to give BYU a 45-21 Western Athletic Conference football victory over UTEP Saturday.

Sheide completed 27 of 40 attempts and had one intercepted.

BYU scored the first three times it gained possession after UTEP took a 7-0 lead on a 64-yard-run from scrimmage by quarterback Bob McKinley.

BYU built up a 35-21 halftime lead.

The victory kept BYU's conference title hopes alive. The Cougars are now 2-0-1 in the conference and 2-3-1 overall.

Tailback Jeff Blanc scored from five yards out and Dev Duke added a 23-yard field goal for the only scoring in the second half.

Blanc was the Cougars' leading ground gainer on 22 carries for 89 yards.

UTEP's leading ground-gainer was McKinley with 15 carries for 103 yards. McKinley also passed for two touchdowns and 121 yards.

Sheide has thrown seven touchdown passes in the last two BYU games after connecting on four in the first four games.

Sheide played without last year's NCAA-leading receiver, Jay Miller, who is out for the year with a knee injury.

Houston Raps Villanova Sophomore Quarterback Sparkles

HOUSTON, (AP)—Houston quickly over the Wildcats with two first quarter touchdowns. Fullback John Housman scored the first of two touchdowns when he climaxed a 6:59 minute drive with a one-yard touchdown plunge that started the rout.

Houston defense back Joe Roust intercepted a pass by Villanova's Brian Sikorski later in the first quarter and re-established their supremacy.

Three plays later Mcgillion hit bass who had outdistanced Villanova's secondary for the 47-yard touchdown play. It was Bass' first varsity reception.

He also had one catch on the UH junior varsity and that also was for a touchdown.

UH cornerback Robert Giblin intercepted Sikorski in the second quarter to set up Houston's third touchdown. Clarence Shelton ran 21 yards for the key gainer to the Wildcat one. On the next play Mcgillion flipped backward over the Villanova line like a high jumper for the touchdown that gave Houston a 21-0 halftime lead.

Houston scored two more touchdowns in the second half with Reggie Cherry running five yards in the third quarter and Housman getting his second score with an eight-yard in the fourth period. The loss evened Villanova's record at 3-3.

Midland College Golfers Take Impressive Victory

The Midland College golf team earned an impressive six-stroke victory over Snyder's Western Texas College here Friday at the Ranchland Hill Country Club.

Western Texas was the number seven team in the nation among junior college golf teams last year, and prompted Midland College Coach Chester Story to say, "We think it was a real accomplishment to have beaten them in a head-to-head dual match here."

MC's David Gage tied Western Texas' Grant Collins for medalist honors with a 69, but the locals got a deep team showing with Terry Lester, 70; Price Courter, 74; and Kelley Sewell, 73. Western Texas' team scoring was Mark Hargrove, 73; Kyle Howard, 74; and Ken Stout, 74.

MC's team score was 284 while WTC came in with a 290.

Sewell and Courter are from Midland while Gage is from Abilene. Lester is a Rankin product. WTC's Stout is a former Reagan County High School golfer and football star.

The second units of the two schools fought to a tie with both posting 307.

Houdek Loses In San Angelo

SAN ANGELO — Midlander Richey Houdek, playing in the San Angelo West Texas Open Tennis Tournament, advanced to the 12-and-under semifinals before losing 6-0, 6-4 to Brent Yearbrough of San Antonio.

Houdek defeated Brad Henderson of San Angelo, 6-0, 6-0, to advance to the semifinals.

Bulldogs Clip Eagles In Free-Wheeling Thriller, 21-14

BY TED BATTLES
Abilene's wing-footed backfield speed worried Coach John Reddell all week and as it turned out, he had adequate grounds for his concern Friday night.

Midland High finally won it, 21-14, driving 40 yards to send halfback Mike Hudspeth over from the two with 6:47 left in the District 5-4A battle, but not before the Eagles had put the Bulldogs and their homecoming fans through an emotional wringer.

If there had been any complaints about the tight-fisted defensive nature of the Bulldogs previous three games, critics got more offense than was bargained for in a free-wheeling first half that saw both elevens streak up and down the field almost at will.

Midland took an early 7-0 lead on a seven-yard run by halfback Kim Madden with 2:52 left in the first period and Terrill Littlejohn toed his first of three conversions.

Abilene then stunned the Memorial Stadium crowd with two touchdowns in little over a minute at the start of the second period and the Bulldogs weren't to see the lead again until Hudspeth's fourth-period score.

Eagles Tie It
The Eagles, now 3-3 for the season and 1-2 in district, struck first on a 22-yard pass from quarterback Bobby Lawson to slot back Harold Jones and Jimmy Minor converted to tie it five seconds into the second period. The scoring play wrapped up a seven-play, 70-yard drive on which tailback Billy Bennett circled end for 28 yards for the big gain.

Then a hard tackle by safety Willie Stephens separated Hudspeth from the ball and end Phil Bruce recovered for Abilene at the Midland 37.

On first down, Jones came from the wing on an inside reverse over the middle, broke a couple of tackles and hot-footed 37 yards for the score with 10:44 still left in the half for a 14-7 Abilene lead after Minor's second PAT.

Gaddy Scores
Midland pulled even by hiking 68 yards with ensuing kickoff to send fullback Mike Gaddy, who had another big night with 166 yards in 24 carries, around left end from the nine for the score. The Bulldogs wrung the last bit of suspense out of this drive,

Bottled up inside their own 40 through the third period, the Eagles threw up a stout defense led by cornerback Stuart Mitchell to turn back one promising Midland advance inside the 20.

Pack Stopped
Midland had come from midfield primarily on the running of Madden to a second and three at the 14. Mitchell broke up a pass from quarterback John Webb to end Sam Hubert in the end zone, linebacker Gary Smith knifed under Gaddy for no gain and then Mitchell threw Madden for a three-yard loss on fourth down.

A short punt from inside the Abilene 20 gave Midland possession on the Eagle 40 and this time there was no stopping the Pack.

Gaddy got seven and then 17 to the 15. Madden knifed off left tackle behind Gaddy, center Bill Newberry, guard Bruce Smith and tackle Tom Dunlap to the six.

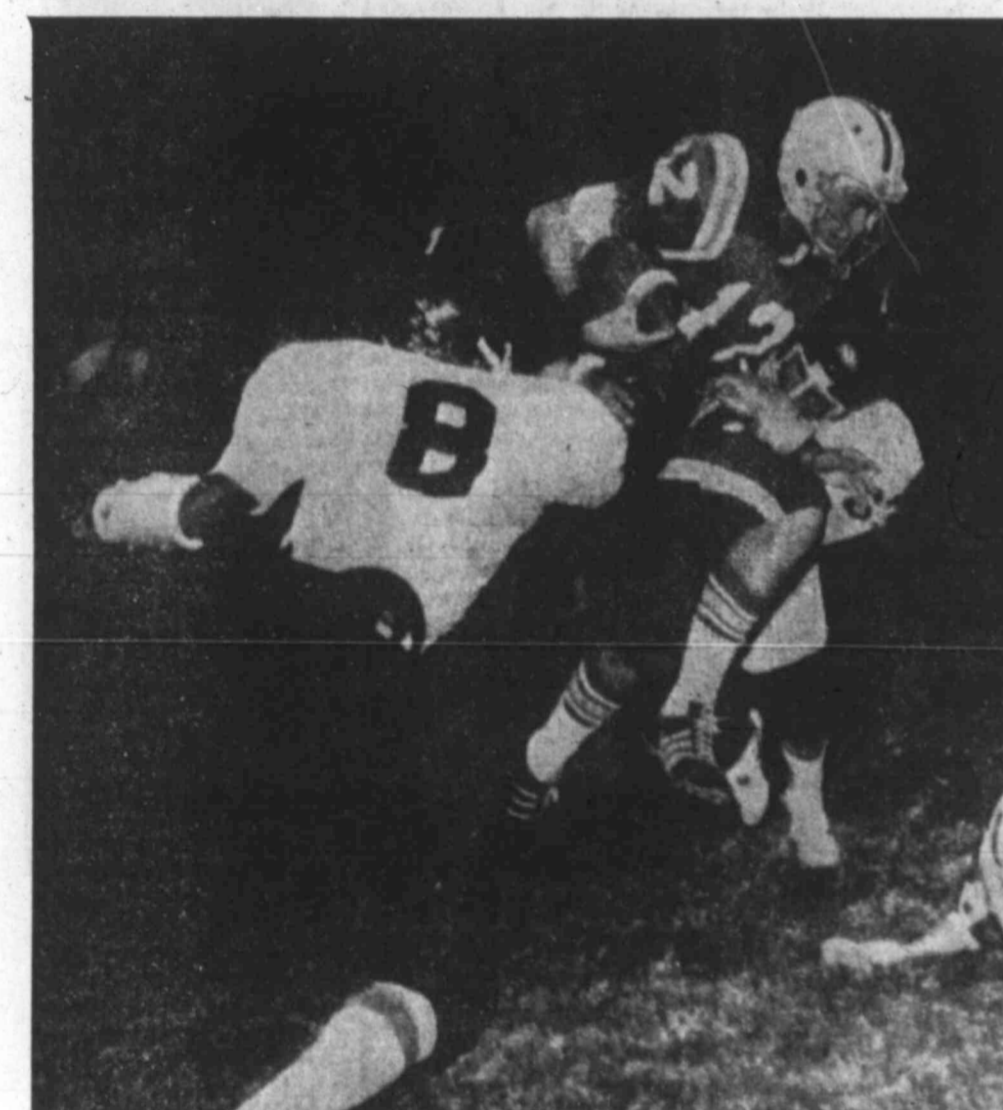

Three plays later Hudspeth converted for the TD on a fourth and six. Gaddy turned the corner on a block by Hudspeth and ran over Stephens at the two to give the "Dogs a 14-14 tie with 5:05 left in the half.

The Bulldog defense, which had been ripped for 136 yards rushing and 39 passing in the opening half, took charge at this point and the Eagles advanced beyond midfield only once the rest of the game. However, the Bulldogs already had seen what the Warbirds could do and the spectre of a long-scoring strike lurked ominously in the shadows.

Midland pulled even by hiking 68 yards with ensuing kickoff to send fullback Mike Gaddy, who had another big night with 166 yards in 24 carries, around left end from the nine for the score. The Bulldogs wrung the last bit of suspense out of this drive,

Cooper's Late Score Blemishes Midland Lee's Record

By BOB DILLON
R-T Sports Writer

ABILENE — A bad snap sailed over the head of Midland Lee punter Tom Cloyd in the fourth period to overshadow an otherwise brilliant defensive effort as the Abilene Cooper Cougars posted a 7-6 victory over the Rebels in P.E. Shotwell Stadium Friday night.

It was a slam, bang affair like two heavyweight fighters slugging it out toe-to-toe with the Cougars taking advantage of Lee's misuses.

The loss could be a costly one for Coach Jim Acree's Rebels who lost the services of two-way starter Jim Kreuz with a knee injury in the second period. Kreuz collided with Cooper's Tommy Lawler and both limped to the sidelines with knee injuries. Kreuz was on crutches in the second half.

Lee's defense was tremendous in holding off three Cooper bids before the Cougars finally punched over the tying score following the bad snap which gave them the ball at the Lee 34.

Razzle Dazzle
Following the high snap, Cooper tried a little razzle-dazzle on the first play when quarterback Kelly Gill flipped a pitch to halfback Trey Deen, who in turn hit Dee Flamming for a 16 yard gain to the Rebel 18. Fullback Mark Griffith broke for five yards to the Lee 13, but then the Rebels dug in. On a fourth and one situation tailback Scott Ritehey finally nudged over for the score. Ricky Lewis booted the PAT for a 7-6 Cooper lead with 6:54 left in the game.

From that point on, the going got tough with Lewis missing on a pair of 40-yard field goal attempts as the Cougars kept Lee bottled up in its end of the field.

Cooper kicked off to Lee to get the game underway and the Rebels cranked up and started driving. Milton Jones broke for seven yards and Mike Oliphant gained 10 more to the Lee 34. Oliphant gained five more, but Jones loss and on the next play, Jones coughed up the football, fumbling at the Lee 45 with Chuck Nall recovering for the Cougs.

Cooper Drivers
Cooper got two first downs, by the nose of the football each time and drove to the Lee 10 where Ritehey fumbled with Russell Kellner recovering for the Rebs.

The first quarter was a standoff and following a 30-yard punt by Cloyd, Cooper marched from its 24 to Lee nine where Steve Degenfelder stopped Gill for no gain on a fourth and one situation.

The longest gainer on the long drive was a 19-yard run by Ritehey. Lee, in turn, mounted a drive, going from its nine to the Cooper 28, but quarterback Greg Rendall was dumped for an eight-yard loss on fourth and 18. Rendall misfired on a sideline pattern to Blain Murray. On the play, Kreuz and Lawler were injured.

Cooper decided to try and open it up some at the offset of the third period, but it didn't work as the ball-hawking Rebs came up with a pass interception. Degenfelder picked off a Gill pass and returned it 39 yards to the Cooper nine to set up Lee's only TD. It wasn't easy, however with Rendall knifing over from the one on a fourth down play. Jones came in to try the PAT, but it sailed wide right, giving Lee a 6-0 lead with 8:44 left in the third period.

Lee held Cooper, but Rendall was tossed for a three-yard loss, fumbling at the Rebel 15 with Mike McPherson recovering for the Cougs. Lee stiffened, however, and on a fourth and one at the six, Gill spotted Flamming in the end zone and fired in his direction, but he dropped a sure TD pass, giving Lee the ball at its own six. Three plays later, Jones got off a 36-yard quick kick out to the Lee 46.

Gill was thrown for a six-yard loss and then for minus eight more by Gary Bowman and Murray picked off a Gill pass racing 38 yards to the Cooper 23.

Rendall misfired on a pass, but Murray gained 11 yards to the Cougar 12. A holding penalty moved the ball back out to the 27. Murray picked up two yards, but on a passing play, Rendall was dumped for a 15-yard loss by Gene Brady, Jimmy Morris and McPherson. Jones gained four on a draw. On the next play came the high snap and the opportunity that Cooper was able to cash in on.

Rebs Hold Again
After Cooper took the 7-6 lead, Oliphant fumbled with Cooper's Rusty Hamric recovering at the Lee 22. Trey Shepherd belted Ritehey for a two-yard loss and after two carries for only two yards by Ritehey, Lewis came in and tried a 40-yard field goal which hit the cross-bar, bounced high and fell off to the left.

Lee got the ball on its own 20 and on fourth and four at the 27, Acree chose to gamble with Brett Skaggs, Griffith and Jerry Scott halting Murray at the 30, giving the Cougs the ball again.

Not to be outdone, Shepherd and Degenfelder caught Griffith with a three-yard loss and three plays later, Lewis missed on a 41-yard field goal attempt.

Lee got the ball for the last time and moved from its 20 to the 35 where Rendall was thrown for an 11-yard loss by Chuck Reed, Scott and McPherson.

Cooper held Lee to a total offense of 73 yards with the Rebs getting 39 on the ground and 34 through the airways. Cooper had 117 yards rushing. Ritehey picked up 91 of those. Cooper is now 5-1 on the year and 2-1 in the wild District 5-4A race while Lee is 5-1 and 2-1.

Cooper continues to hold its jinx over the Rebels with the victory being the 10th consecutive year that Lee has lost to the Cougars.

Susan Britton ... top city qualifier with 75

Bengals, Raiders To Tangle

Britton's 75 Paces Qualifiers

Susan Britton fired an even par 75 to lead Thursday's qualifiers in the Midland City Women's Golf Championship Tournament.

Mrs. Britton sizzled over the long and damp Hogan Park golf course with five birdies and will assume the number two position in the Championship flight. Georgia Bray, defending her title as the City Champion for the fourth consecutive year, will be in the number one place.

With qualifying rounds continuing Monday, the championship flight is appearing to tighten up. Other qualifiers were Marion Spears, 84; Nieta Dunlap, 86; and Florence Mailey, 88. Donna Avery, Ann Wheeler and Cindy Cox have yet to qualify.

The three-day match play tournament will begin Tuesday and conclude with the awards party Thursday.

McCormack Fears Dallas

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mike McCormack, laughing heartily when someone asked the Philadelphia Eagles coach how he felt playing those four game losing patsies, the Dallas Cowboys.

When McCormack regained his composure, he said as emphatically as he could make it: "Dallas has to be the best fourth time beaten team you'll ever see. And anyone who doesn't think so is crazy."

McCormack's Eagles have won four straight and with a 4-1 record are just behind the unbeaten St. Louis Cardinals (5-0) in the National Football League's National Conference East.

A tough defense led by middle linebacker Bill Bergey, and an improving offense directed by quarterback Roman Gabriel have keyed the Eagles' success. The defense has given up but one touchdown a game. The high against Philadelphia in a game has been 10 points.

McCormack is wary of the unlucky Cowboys, who almost ran the Eagles out of the Stadium in a National TV game three weeks ago, but lost 13-10 on a 96-yard TD return of an intercepted pass and a pair of Tom Dempsey field goals.

Since then, the Cowboys lost to Minnesota by a field goal on the final play of the game, and last week were edged by St. Louis on a field goal with 1:01 remaining. The Eagles' winning three pointer against Dallas came with 26 seconds on the clock.

"All you have to do is look at the films," said McCormack in his effort to prove what a great losing team his Eagles have to contend with today in Texas. "There is no doubt that they have to guard against Dallas playing up to its potential and driving you into the ground."

McCormack insists that the Dallas defense is better than last year. He cites the newcomers who can be substituted on the pass rush to keep the front four fresh.

"They just blow off the ball on the pass rush," McCormack said. "And look at the statistics. In three of the four games they lost, the Cowboys out-gained the winner, and in the fourth they were within five yards

Rankin Boys With Wink Wildcats

Red Devils Stretch Record To 6-0

By TERRY WILLIAMSON
R-T Sports Writer

RANKIN — Wink simply forgot to bring an offense, defense or even an exorcist here Friday night for the District 6-A football opener as the Wildcats were totally possessed by the demons of the state's second-ranked Rankin Red Devils, 37-0.

Coach Dwayne Turner's highly-regarded Demons didn't do anything special in gaining their sixth straight triumph of the year except for performing with accurate execution and just plain hard-nosed football. The victory gave the Devils their 12th straight regular season win, and of course, vaulted Rankin into the commanding position again for the third straight year in District 6-A.

The hapless Wildcats, now 0-6 on the season, managed only 62 yards rushing against the defensive trenches of the Devils and could only muster 19 yards in the air on one pass completion.

Defense Tough
Even though the offense ran at will against the Wildcat defense, it was the Rankin "Stonewall Brigade" that deserves the credit. The Devil defenders recovered two Wink fumbles and intercepted three passes.

The Rankin offense had a field day until Coach Turner called off the dogs early in the third period when the score was already 35-0. Quarterback Eric Fitzhugh and junior fullback Donnie Cole rolled up 77 and 76 yards respectively while senior halfback Ernest Black knocked off 80 markers on just six carries, most of it coming on a 57-yard TD romp in the second quarter.

Black also connected on a 27-yard halfback option pass to split end Freddy Plagens to set up a six-yard scoring run by Fitzhugh in the third period.

Cole Scores 3 TDs
Cole rambled for three touchdowns of one, two and 34 yards as the brusing bomber riddled the Wildcat middle.

Fitzhugh, who has been filling the airways with successful aerials through the season, did not complete a pass in three attempts, but then again he didn't need to as the Rankin defense kept giving the ball to the Devils in good field position.

Nothing went right for the Wink offense either. If they tried to run up the Rankin middle there was Curtis Copeland, Alan Speed, Richard Loftin and David Wilkerson to contend with—usually without success. Then when quarterback Terry McJvler tried to shake up the Rankin secondary things even became worse. For one thing, the 220-pound Speed, a definite all-state candidate, blitzed through his tackle slot with such lightning like suddenness that McJvler was usually left looking at the Rankin stars overhead.

Bombs Just Duds
And if McJvler ever did get a hurried bomb away it usually fell into the waiting arms of a Rankin defender. Hilton Luckie, Russell Wimerley and Johnny Abalos each latched on to an errant Wink toss, and several others were narrowly missed.

With the aid of two penalties totaling 20 yards and a 38-yard run by Ross Wilkinson, Wink managed to move to the Rankin 12-yard line at one point, but on the last play of the second quarter, linebacker Cole crashed through to throw McJvler for a 14-yard loss to end the threat.

Even with no time left on the clock in the final period, Wink had their troubles. Punter Dicky McGehee tried to field a bad snap in his own end zone, but ended up stepping over the end bounds for a Rankin safety.

Take Early Lead
Cole's one-yard touchdown and Randy Schmitz' first of five PATs gave Rankin an early 7-0 lead at 4:52 in the first quarter. The Devils upped the margin to 21-0 at the end of the half on a two-yard TD by Cole and Black's 57-yard speed burner.

Cole opened the third period with a 34-yard scoring run and Fitzhugh scored on his six-yard run with 8:04 still showing in the period for a 35-0 lead. That's when Turner came in with the second unit which saw Luckie and Bobby Johnson gaining 51 and 50 yards respectively although no additional scores resulted.

"I thought it would be a tougher game than it turned out to be. They have a better ball club than they showed against us," Coach Turner said following the game. "Our kids really got after it, and I was pleased with the performance. We played better than last week."

Reportedly, Turner was not pleased with last week's 35-7 win over Robert Lee. Robert Lee scored their first touchdown of the year against Rankin, and apparently had a celebration after the game.

GAL TRAINER — Mary Grout, University of Utah assistant athletic trainer, works on Dave O'Bagy's sore knee in the newly liberated men's training room in Salt Lake City. It's part of the school's attempt to avoid sex discrimination in athletics and now women students are permitted to use the university's weight room along with the training and treatment rooms. ARIZONA WINTER INSTRUCTIONAL LEAGUE
SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. — Scot Thompson, who is a lot of man at age 18 — 6-3 and 180 pounds — credits his dad and a man named Hubert Voltz for the tremendous start he has made in professional baseball.

Scot is not talking about the technical process, but rather the pointers these two guys drilled into him on the importance of professional conduct on the field.

"When I was playing in the Little and Pony Leagues, and later with the Saxonburg, Pa., American Legion club, my temper often would erupt," he says.

Scot went on to explain that his father and Voltz finally convinced him that throwing a temper tantrum, including flinging his helmet and bat, was "bush."

"I have to credit my mother, too, for letting me know that blowing your top was bad," says Scot. "My dad had played professionally in the Milwaukee Braves' system. Without his guidance, I never would have made it. He taught me so many of the little but important things which make you a pro-

Sonora Tough As A Cob

Crane Loses League Opener, 27-14

SONORA — The Sonora Bronchos made their AA district debut here Friday night and the results were not much different than when they were a Class A power which won three state championships and served as co-champions on another occasion. They riddled the Crane Golden Cranes, 27-14.

Sonora, playing a AA schedule for the first time in the school's history, ran their season mark to 6-1 and 1-0 in District 7-AA play. Crane fell to a 3-4 mark and 0-1 in loop action.

For all practical purposes, Sonora put the game away in the first half with a 20 point outburst. Curt Mooney knifed the Crane secondary and caught a 23-yard scoring pass from quarterback Paul Brown to give the Bronchos a 7-0 lead in the first period. Then a couple of four-yard TDs by Juan Perez and Larry Kirby in the second period gave Sonora a 20-0 lead at the half.

Crane came back in the third period after a fumble at the Sonora four, and scored on a 33-yard pass from quarterback Mike Roseberry to Bill Lewis. Bobby Hogan's extra point boot left the margin at 20-7.

The Bronchos dampened the effort, however, when Perez scored on a 14-yard run in the fourth quarter for a 27-7 lead.

Crane, with the game already out of reach, put seven more points in lights in the fourth period on an 11-yard run by Willie Neal.

Crane was the pre-season favorite to win the 7-AA crown, but are now left in a survival role. Crane will face McCamey Friday in an important struggle.

BY 9-0 DUNBAR VICTORY — Tors' Hopes Dashed

LAMESA — The Lubbock Dunbar Panthers spoiled the Lamesa homecoming here Friday night 9-0, virtually eliminating any hopes of the Golden Tornadoes obtaining their third straight 3-AAA crown. The Panthers upped their season record to 5-1 while boosting their district mark to an unblemished 2-0 reading, and the Tors fell to 3-4 and 0-3.

The Lamesa offense was virtually non-existent in the defensive-minded contest, with the Tors managing only 61 yards total offense. Lamesa gained only 30 yards rushing, and was killed by two fumbles and a couple of pass interceptions.

Dunbar scored all the points they needed in the second period when Robert White booted a 24-yard field goal, after the Panthers drove from their own 18 to the Lamesa 15.

In the final stanza, Dunbar drove 68 yards for another score with Michael Henderson capping the march with a four-yard TD burst.

Lamesa will try to rebound from three straight losses Friday against the Brownfield Cubs while Lubbock Dunbar will try to keep their district record unblemished against Lake View, a 16-0 loser to Snyder Friday.

Grand Masters—

Senior Division of the U. S. Open at Forest Hills. This match, played against Pancho Gonzalez, was viewed by millions on nation-wide television.

Competing against Ulrich for the prize money in both singles and doubles action will be Frank Sedgman and Vic Seixas. Five additional participants will be selected. The Grand Masters tour, featuring some of the most famous tennis players who have ever lived and who have never entered the Senior tennis ranks (45 years old and above), was created and is directed by Alvin W. Bunis, the world's leading authority on Senior tennis and captain of the Dabler Cup Team (the senior division equivalent to the Davis Cup). Tickets for the three-day event are available at the Racquet Club.

HUNTING and FISHING

Still Time For Doves
Rains and cool weather have scattered mourning dove populations over much of West Texas, but hunters who want to try for some more of these popular game birds still have plenty of time before the season closes Oct. 30.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is reminding hunters that this year's season was set for 60 consecutive half-days from Sept. 1 through Oct. 30, in the north zone which includes West Texas. The season is not split as it has been for the past two years.

Shooting hours are from sunset to bag and possession limits are 10 and 20. Hopefully warm October days in West Texas will provide some more good dove hunting as birds move down to the West Texas area from the north.

Spence Report
Several larger blue catfish were caught at Lake E. V. Spence during the past week, but the biggest news was an increase of 2.6-ft. rise in the lake level.

Within the past month, Lake Spence has experienced rises totalling nearly 9½ feet.

Black bass catches continued to be reported at almost every location, along with some white bass and a few striped bass. As always, channel catfish strings abounded.

Some of the reports:
L. C. Hawkins, Andrews, took a four-pound striped bass and three channel cats to 1½ pounds; Doug and Larry Kemper and Keith Weid of Lamesa, reported an eight-pound striped bass and two blacks to six pounds; and M. J. and Rick Walker, Midland, took four blacks to two pounds, and Mark Price had two channel cats and eight blacks to 2½ pounds.

BOWLING

Odessa Busby's rolled a 3.105 series, 16th best in the history of the Texas Classic Bowling Assn., to take over first place in the state with a 33-7 record.

Joe Tidwell, 674, Jim Butler, 672, and Jody Miller, 664, lead the Odessans at the recent competition at Midland Lanes. Webb AFB is second in District 3 with 26-14 and eighth in the state.

Tidwell's 265 was the high game. Tidwell has a 2.01 average, which ranks seventh in the state.

San Angelo, Permian Score Big

San Angelo rolled past Odessa, 35-0 and Odessa Permian kept its goal line uncrossed by blanking Big Spring, 23-0 Friday in District 5-4A action.

David Fielder and Marvin Williams paced an awesome Bobcat ground attack with Central rushing of 403 yards. Fielder scored on runs of four and 50 yards while Williams skipped 89 and eight yards for TDs as the Bobcats get back into the thick of things.

Permian's defense was stout again, holding the Steers to zero yards rushing while piling up 287 yards on the ground and additional 118 through the airways for a total offense of 405 yards.

Big Spring only managed six first downs while Permian had 25 to bring its season mark to 6-0 and loop reading to 3-0.

The Steers meanwhile, stand 2-4 and 0-3 while San Angelo is 5-1 and 2-1. OHS is 2-4 and 0-3.

Lee Loss Doesn't Alter Race Too Much

Outside of the chagrin over a 10th straight loss at the hands of Abilene Cooper, Midland Lee's District 5-4A outlook doesn't change materially from what it was before the 7-6 loss to the Cougars.

Like the Midland Bulldogs after their loss to Odessa Permian, the Rebels still have to win them all to retain a crack at the district title.

The next two weekends, however, will be vital to the future shape of the District 5-4A football race. Abilene Cooper plays Odessa Permian Friday and all of the other contenders will be pulling for the Cougars to put a smear on the Panther's yet unblemished record. In effect, such a defeat would make it a whole new ball game.

Midland High really can't be too concerned about what happens between Cooper and Permian. They've got problems of their own in a survival battle with San Angelo at Memorial Stadium Friday. The loser of this one will be out of it.

Midland Lee, meanwhile, must ward off the letdown stemming from Friday's loss to Cooper and regain their equilibrium against a hungry Big Spring club that is anxious to catch someone with their minds elsewhere. It shapes up as the most important game on the Lee schedule at the moment because the Rebels must win it to stay alive for its date with Permian the following week.

Midland's struggle with Abilene while San Angelo was breaking loose in a blind offensive fury against Odessa makes the Bulldogs' task appear that much more formidable. Memory of last year's showdown meeting between the two teams still lingers painfully. You'll remember both ranked in the state's top ten at the time, but the Bobcats hung a 33-7 haymaker on the Purple Pack.

Battle Scene

By Ted Battis

San Angelo's offense possesses many of the aspects of the Abilene attack that gave the Bulldogs so much trouble and, if anything, the Concho predators throw the ball better, that is, if quarterback Rudy Izzard is available.

Midland's trump card, however, is the defense and it will have to turn something resembling that Permian type performance to keep the 'Dogs in the race.

Midland College's decision to embark upon its basketball program next year opened up another facet of Chester Story's duties as athletic director.

One of the first tasks will be the selection of a coach. "Which we'll probably get around to about March. Already some of the best coaches in the state have applied and we'll have to decide on what type we are looking for," says Story.

However, Story will begin scouting the bushes for talent as soon as the high schools tip off play in November.

Most of the Chaparrals action will come in Western Junior College Athletic Conference play since a lid of 29 games has been clamped on the JC schedule. "It used to be that 40 games were permissible." As a result, one, maybe two tournaments, will be on the schedule plus a handful of non-conference games before the league schedules take care of the rest.

BREAKS RECORD — Ohio State's Archie Griffin (45) became the greatest rusher in Big Ten history Saturday when he gained 146 yards during the Buckeyes' 49-9 victory over Indiana. ## GRIFFIN STARS —

Ohio State Raps Indiana By 49-9

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Archie Griffin of Ohio State became the greatest rusher in Big Ten football history Saturday, grinding out 146 yards and two touchdowns and leading the top-ranked Buckeyes to a 49-9 rout of Indiana.

The junior tailback from Columbus, Ohio, now has 3,321 career yards, shattering the Big Ten record of 3,315 yards established by Purdue's Otis Armstrong two seasons ago.

The 180-pound Griffin broke the mark with more than 11 minutes to play. He was carried off the field by his joyous teammates, still clutching the football.

A sellout Ohio Stadium crowd of 87,671, second largest in the school's history, gave Griffin a standing ovation while the Buckeyes mobbed him on the sidelines.

Meanwhile, quarterback Cornelius Greene engineered the Buckeyes to their sixth straight victory of this season, prolonging their unbeaten streak to 17 games. Indiana fell to 1-5.

Greene piled up 330 total yards, running for one touchdown and passing for two others as the Buckeyes pushed their Big Ten record to 3-0. Indiana, now 1-3 in the conference, never challenged the Buckeyes after Ohio State scored the first three times it had the ball for a 21-0 lead in the first 12 1/2 minutes.

Griffin darted 20 and 12 yards for the first two Ohio State touchdowns. Greene squirmed 19 yards for one touchdown and passed 53 yards to Dave Hazel and eight yards to Brian Baschnagel.

Ohio State's alternating fullbacks, Pete Johnson and Harold Henson, hammered one yard apiece for the other touchdowns.

Indiana's lone points came in the second quarter on a 46-yard field goal by Frank Stavroff and a one-yard touchdown run by Nick Barnes in the closing seconds in the final period.

Lamar Edges Arkansas St.

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Quarterback Al Rabb, who was Lamar University's third choice of the day, fired a pass to Anthony Pendland on a 65-yard touchdown play with 2:11 left in the game to give the Cardinals a 10-6 victory Saturday over Arkansas State.

Rabb rescued an otherwise mediocre Lamar performance when he caught the streaking Pendland behind the ASU secondary to dissolve a 6-3 Arkansas lead.

The Indians had taken the lead late in the third period on a record-breaking 51-yard field goal by Joe Duren, who had given ASU a 3-0 lead in the first quarter with a 45-yard field goal.

The ASU defense had allowed the Cardinals only one first down and 32 yards total offense in the first half. For the game, ASU led in total offense 253 to 146, but the Indians suffered 12 penalties for 126 yards.

North Texas

Tops Aggies In MVC Tilt

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Quarterback Ken Washington ran and passed for a pair of touchdowns to lead the North Texas State Mean Green to its first Missouri Valley Conference victory of the year Saturday with a 24-19 drubbing of New Mexico State.

The New Mexico State Aggies jumped on the scoreboard with a first quarter score on a one-yard run by fullback John Portaski.

North Texas roared back in the second period with a 24-yard field goal by Lee Harrington and a nine-yard run by Washington.

The Mean Green added another touchdown in the third quarter on a fake field goal attempt by quarterback Tony Ford at the Aggie ten-yard line. Ford took the snap and tossed the ball to John Brown in the end zone.

The final score for North Texas, which now has a conference record of 1-2-1 and an overall total of 1-4-1, came on a 13-yard scoring pass by Washington to wide receiver Andy Everest.

The Aggies attempted a comeback in the last period as running back Ralph Scott scored twice on runs of nine yards and one yard. Both attempts by New Mexico State for two-point conversions failed.

Montgomery Sets New Scoring Mark

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Wilbert Montgomery, Abilene Christian College's sophomore tailback, tied a Lone Star Conference career touchdown record as the Wildcats whipped East Texas State 31-13 here Saturday.

Montgomery scored on runs of one yard in the second quarter and two yards in the third to raise his career total to 45 touchdowns in 15 regular season games.

It ties the record set by Jerry Austin of Angelo State in 1969-1972.

The game evened both teams' records at 3-3 for the season and 2-2 in LSC play.

Alabama Rips Vols

Tide Keeps Slate Clean With Romp

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Willie Shelby scored two touchdowns and set up another with a 41-yard punt return Saturday, leading fourth-ranked Alabama to a 28-6 Southeastern Conference football victory over Tennessee.

Shelby, a 172-pound junior, ran over a defender on a 13-yard scoring trip in the second quarter. He put the undefeated Crimson Tide in control in the third quarter with a 19-yard touchdown run and his long punt return within a two-minute span.

Calvin Culliver also scored twice for Alabama, rambling 30 yards on the first play after Shelby's punt return and adding another on a six-yard run in the final period.

It was the 17th straight regular-season victory for Alabama, including six this year. The Tide has a 3-0 record in its drive for fourth straight SEC championship.

Meanwhile, Tennessee, a perennial power, dropped its third straight conference game for the first time since 1964 and was buried in the SEC cellar with 0-3 record. The Vols fell to 2-3-1 overall.

Tennessee's only touchdown came on the brilliant individual effort of Stanley Morgan, who broke away on a 64-yard run that narrowed Alabama's lead to 7-6 shortly before halftime.

Greenwood Cagers Open Season With Victories

The Greenwood Rangers opened their Class B basketball season on a winning note as the girls posted a whopping 91-29 victory over Westbrook and boys capturing an easy 84-44 victory.

Capri Kimbrough poured in 36 points to lead the Greenwood girls while Teresa Smith scored 26 in the lop-sided win. Pondera Moore chipped in 22 points for the losers.

Danny Pruitt led the Ranger boys to victory with a 33 point performance while Glen Cox and Beekie Cranford each chipped in 20 markers. Bobby Matlock led Westbrook with 25 points.

The Greenwood girls advanced to the regionals last year before being eliminated from the playoffs, and all of the starters are back again this year.

Auburn Stages Rally For 31-22 Triumph

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Fifth-ranked Auburn's top-rated defense came unglued Saturday but managed to stick together just enough to get by Georgia Tech 31-22 and give freshman defensive back Chuck Jones a chance to become a football hero in his first game.

Jones, a rookie from Lake Wales, Fla., blocked a punt and ran in 42 yards for a touchdown and later put undefeated Auburn in scoring range with a fumble recovery.

But the surprise performer of a long afternoon was a Tech jersey. Second-string quarterback Rudy Allen scored two of the Yellow Jackets' touchdowns and kept Tech in the game with his running and passing. Allen started in place of injured Danny Myers.

Auburn had two heroes—

Jones on defense and, on offense, tailback Mizi Jackson, who picked up 119 yards in 19 carries.

Auburn scored three times in the opening quarter and ran up a 17-0 lead. But the defense, which in the first five games had held its opponents to a total offense of only 168 yards per game, crumbled for the next 30 minutes and by the end of the third period, the Tigers were in front by only 17-16.

Snyder Takes Lead
SAN ANGELO — The Snyder Tigers captured sole possession of first place in District 3-AAA with a 16-0 victory over the Lake View Chiefs here Friday night. The Tigers are now 3-0 in loop play while Lake View fell to 2-1.

Oklahoma State In Romp

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma State rode the powerful running of fullback George Palmer and an equally aggressive defense to a 31-7 victory over Missouri in the Cowboys' Big Eight opener Saturday.

Palmer smashed for two touchdowns and rushed for 113 yards as the Cowboys took a 14-7 halftime lead. The turning point came in the third period when Oklahoma State made it 21-7 on a 70-yard halfback pass from Albert Nelms to fellow halfback Leonard Thompson circling out of the backfield.

Missouri's only score came on its first possession. The Tigers marched 77 yards in 13 plays with quarterback Steve Pisarkiewicz hitting Don Muse on a three-yard scoring toss on a fourth-and-one situation.

But the Cowboys stormed back with an 88-yard drive on 14 plays with Palmer bowling over three Tigers en route to a 14-yard scoring jaunt.

After that the Tigers couldn't get their offense untracked against the Cowboy defense led by noseguard Carl Devorce and tackle Phillip Dokes. In its next five possessions in the first half, Missouri gained only 15 yards and lost the ball twice on fumbled snaps from center by quarterback Ray Smith, who was subbing for Pisarkiewicz.

Palmer, who finished with 152 yards on 26 carries, gave the Pokes their halftime lead with a one-yard plunge. Then the spectacular pass play from Thompson to Nelms broke the Tigers' back in the third quarter.

A one-yard run by reserve halfback Kenny Walker and Abby Daigle's 33-yard field goal in the fourth quarter wrapped up the scoring.

Tar Heels In Upset Over State

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina, led by quarterback Chris Kupec, exploded for three quick first-period touchdowns and went on to upset 10th-ranked North Carolina State 31-14 Saturday.

A chilled crowd of 47,400 saw the Tar Heels snap State's 14-game Atlantic Coast Conference victory streak and at the same time hand the Wolfpack its first loss in seven games this season.

In the first quarter, State went ahead 7-0 on a five-yard run by Roland Hooks. The 40-yard drive was set up when Danny Rhoden recovered a fumble by Jim Betterson.

But in four plays, North Carolina rolled 67 yards for its first touchdown with Mike Voight scoring on a 36-yard dash off left tackle. The Tar Heels successfully negotiated an on-side kickoff which Jimmy Duratt recovered on State's 31.

Six plays later Kupec went over from the three.

The Tar Heels got a break moments later when Ron Johnson recovered Hook's fumble on the UNC 46. North Carolina drove to the 10 from where Betterson slashed over.

North Carolina, 4-2 for the season, drove 75 yards for an early third-quarter touchdown, with Kupec scoring from the one. State came back with an 80-yard drive that ended with Hooks scoring from the three.

The Tar Heels scored again early in the fourth period on a four-yard pass from Kupec to Dick Oliver to cap a 57-yard drive.

Diehl Captures Lead

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Terry Diehl, an obscure tour rookie fighting for his playing life, fashioned another seven-under-par 65, set a season's record for the low 54 holes and swept into a four-stroke lead after Saturday's third round of the $125,000 San Antonio-Texas Open golf tournament.

The 24-year-old Diehl, in danger of losing his Approved Players' card as a full-fledged member of the Professional Golfers' Association tour, had a three-round total of 198, a distant 18 under par on the 7,018-yard Woodlake Golf Club course. The best previous three-round score this season was 199, 14 under par, by Dave Stockton in the Greater Hartford Open.

Diehl, with only $3,100 in winnings to show for a full season on the tour, came into this event—the last individual championship of the year—needing a good tournament to retain his playing rights. His performance will be reviewed following this event.

Rookie Leads Texas Open Tourney

The husky young man from Rochester, N.Y., surged into the lead with his 65 in Friday's second round and all but assured himself of another year's tour activity with his strong showing Saturday.

Former Texas Open champion Mike Hill and rookie Gil Morgan shared second at 202. Morgan had a third-round 66 in mild, hazy weather and Hill a 68.

High Cost Of Money Causing Firms To Tighten Credit, Put Off Building

NEW YORK (AP) — The high cost of money is causing many companies to tighten up on credit, postpone expansion and worry about a buildup of inventories, a nationwide Associated Press survey shows.

The biggest byproduct of the cautious, uncertain mood among the nation's businessmen is efficiency. Many firms say they're watching costs more closely than ever.

"We've become super-careful about what we buy and when we buy it," says Robert Harrison, president of John Wamnamaker, a Philadelphia-based department store chain.

"There just isn't any room for sloth," says Bernard Gordon, manager of Seattle's Jafco Catalog Shopping Service.

Many bankers, meanwhile, report that consumers also are changing financial habits because of money's expense. Sophistication about money is increasing, they say.

"The consumer today reads business news, watches the market, checks interest rates and puts his money where he can make the most," says Ed Perick, head of Arkansas' biggest bank, Worthen Bank & Trust Co.

Retailers and manufacturers say they're feeling the pressure of tight — and therefore expensive — money in various ways.

"We were four days late in paying an invoice recently," says Stanley Waldheim, president of a large Milwaukee furniture store. "And we had three long distance calls from the controller of that company, wanting to know where our check was. Everybody's uptight. The pressure is on."

"Sixty days ago we could get all the money we wanted, but had to pay the price. Now we can pay the price, but the money's not available. The banks are loaned out."

Says Waldheim, "We used to cater to customers who bought on time," he notes. "That's how we made money. Now it's completely reversed. We're seeking the customer who can pay cash."

At the same time some bankers report consumers are seeking more credit. "People are getting more in hock than they used to," says Newman Wait Jr., president of the Adirondack Trust Co., Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Paradoxically, though inflation is making dollars less valuable every day, businessmen are crying over money's cost and scarcity.

High interest rates are forcing some to postpone expansion.

Gabe Rutherford, an Arkansas steel fabricator, says, "I'd like to (expand) but I'm fearful that if I borrow at 10 per cent (interest) might go down to 9 per cent. I'd hate that. That's one of the main reasons we're not building now."

Nor do many manufacturers foresee easy money soon. While short-term interest rates may decline over the next three months, they expect long-term rates to remain high and perhaps even rise.

Inventories, representing goods paid for but not yet sold, are also getting close attention because of high carrying costs.

Some businessmen, like Rutherford, are fearful that inventories are going to rise, helping accelerate the business downturn. Others say they're watching turnover closely.

In Kansas City, grocer Harvey Jacobsen says inflation has changed eating habits, causing him to watch carefully what people are buying and lower the amount of merchandise on hand.

But, notes Chicago's John Robert Polish, president of New Hampshire's Venture Vehicle store, says the recreational vehicle store has cut inventories by 30 per cent and eliminated fringe items. "We're getting by with as little operating capital as possible," he says. "If you stockpile goods, you're left with inventory too much, you're left with greater fashion and economic uncertainty."

But, notes Chicago's John Cotter, general merchandising manager for Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., smaller inventories have their costs: "Manufacturing habits, no less affected are the nation's banks. Recognition that higher interest rates are available away from banks has caused some customers to withdraw bank funds, bankers report. Still others report that bank savings levels are as good as can be expected.

"Inflation has increased pressure on consumers to save, but their ability to save has been reduced," says Alvah Chisholm, president of the Indian Head National Bank of Concord, N.H.

Woman Candidate Says President Is Good Listener

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Ford is a good listener, says a Republican woman candidate for statewide office who attended a small conference with Ford in Washington on problems of small businesses.

Mary Lou Grier, who attended in her capacity as owner of the Boerne, Tex., Plumbing Co., said, "It is very obvious the President is dedicated in his efforts to reverse the current inflationary trend."

Mrs. Grier is the Republican candidate for Texas Land Commissioner against incumbent Democrat Bob Armstrong.

Mrs. Grier was among 13 persons who met with the President on Monday. She was one of five individuals; the other eight persons were representing groups, she said.

"I was the only one from the Southwest there and the only woman," said Mrs. Grier.

She said Ford "made knowledgeable comments about business problems and asked some searching questions."

She told the President "the supply of money should be eased slightly in order to bring interest rates down."

Mrs. Grier, a former chairman of the National Advisory Council of the Small Business Administration, said she also said, "The government should get out of competition for the investor's dollar, competition with thrift institutions like savings and loan."

She said other subjects covered were tight money, impact of material shortages, government regulations and paper work and tax reform.

"There were many proposals and the President will do what he is asked to do," Mrs. Grier said.

Mrs. Grier was interviewed by the San Antonio Express-News for its Sunday editions after she returned from Washington.

'Phonothon' Drive Slated By Chamber

Sixty-six volunteers are poised for the start of a two-day membership "phonothon" campaign for the Midland Chamber of Commerce, according to Paul Rea, membership chairman.

Teams of six workers will be making telephone calls during one-hour shifts on Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 22 and 23, soliciting Chamber memberships. Special phones have been installed in the Chamber's conference room, which will be the campaign headquarters.

Several hundred new prospects have been mailed copies of the Chamber newsletter, along with a personal letter of invitation from Chamber president K. M. Jastrow, Rea said.

In addition to the telephone solicitors, there will be a group of runners standing by. Following contacts by the solicitors, runners will be dispatched to get applications signed and pick up membership investment checks.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER? — There seems to be several varieties of birds huddled on this power pole and lines near Ponca City, Okla., but few could dispute they're flocking together. Old timers say such gatherings are a sure sign of approaching fall. (AP Wirephoto.)

PHONOTHON — A two-day membership "phonothon" campaign for the Midland Chamber of Commerce will kick off Tuesday and Paul Rea, membership chairman, is wasting no time showing the 66 volunteer callers how to get the job done. Special phones have been installed in the Chamber's conference room, which will serve as campaign headquarters during the Tuesday and Wednesday membership phonothon.

MHS Senior Wins Award In Writing

Julia Kinsey, a senior at Midland High School, has received the 1974 National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE) Achievement Award in Writing.

She was nominated last spring by the Midland High English department to represent the school in the competition, according to Mrs. LaVerne West, department chairman.

After the nomination, Julia submitted samples of her writing, including an autobiographical sketch, and wrote a one-hour impromptu essay. These materials were evaluated by state judging teams of college and high school English teachers directed by state coordinators.

Participating schools nominated more than 6,200 students for the NCTE citations. About 850 finalists were chosen. They represent schools from all 50 states, the District of Columbia and American schools abroad.

NCTE will recommend these students for scholarships in 1975 should they need assistance.

The NCTE sends certificates of commendation to all winners and to their high school English departments, Mrs. West said.

Calvin Baker, Mrs. Lucinda Windsor and Mrs. Sarah Machina have been Miss Kinsey's English teachers at Midland High.

She is the daughter of Mrs. H. H. Kinsey.

Tex. (AP) — Ken Washington led for a pair of lead the North team Green to its Valley Conference title Saturday 4-19 drubbing of late.

North State Aggies score on a one-back John Porro.

Green added another in the third fake field goal at quarterback Tony Aggie ten-yard line.

Green and tugged John Brown in the score for North now has a conference 1-2-1 and an if 1-4-1, came on a pass by Wash-de receiver Andy.

Green attempted a last period as k Ralph Scott on runs of nine yard. Both at New Mexico State conversions failed.

Homecoming At Sul Ross Begins Thursday

ALPINE — Homecoming at Sul Ross State University will get under way Thursday with the first performance of the annual Intercollegiate Rodeo.

The Sul Ross Ex-Students Association announced a schedule of events for the three-day homecoming fete that features a bonfire, rodeo performance and dance beginning at 7 p.m. Friday.

Saturday's schedule includes ex-student registration at 8:30 a.m., homecoming parade at noon and the game with Abilene Christian College at 2 p.m. The Sul Ross homecoming queen will be crowned at half time.

State Gas Prices Down Slightly, AAA Poll Shows

HOUSTON (AP) — The Texas division of the American Automobile Association (AAA) says a slow down in gasoline prices began in September in the state.

The association said Friday a check of 288 stations showed the average current cost in the state was 50.8 cents per gallon for regular brand and 53.7 for premium.

Six Abducted Children Are Reunited With Man, Woman After 2 Years

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Dennis Wilburn and Mrs. Sybil Crone, both of Richmond, Va., were reunited Saturday with six of their seven children who were abducted from the United States more than two years ago.

The reunion took place at a Salisbury hotel. The seventh child, Johnny Duggan, 14, was not there because he was not feeling well.

The two parents had been awarded custody of the children when their respective American marriages were dissolved. After their divorces, Wilburn's ex-wife Helen married Mrs. Crone's ex-husband Ed Duggan. Sybil married Glenn Crone, who accompanied her to Salisbury.

The newly married Duggans had been given access to their respective children—Ed was the father of five and Helen the mother of two—and during a vacation in Richmond two years ago fled with them to Rhodesia where they were finally traced by a private detective.

A warrant was later issued for their arrest in Richmond but there is no extradition agreement between the United States and Rhodesia because the Ian Smith regime is not recognized as the legal government of Rhodesia by the United States and many other countries.

The Duggans are contesting custody of the children, and the Rhodesian courts have agreed to decide the issue Oct. 31.

The other six children are Merry Melissa Wilburn, 11, her brother Dennis John, 10, Virginia Taylor Duggan, 7, Susan Maria Duggan, 8, Robert George Duggan, 12, and Katherine Elizabeth Duggan, 15.

VISUAL IMPROVEMENT — Gordon Knox, at right, Midland Chamber of Commerce Visual Improvement Project chairman, looks over the work of Benjamin Gonzales, who has been hired by the VIP committee to remove weeds and grass along the curbs and alleys in the downtown area of Midland. Gonzales was cleaning the area along the 900 block of North Big Spring Street. Knox said the project effort would underscore the hope that other Midlanders would be encouraged to keep their property cleaner and more attractive.

Visual Improvement Project Giving City's Major Streets, Alleys Cleaner Look

Many of Midland's major streets and alleys are acquiring a cleaner look these days, thanks to the efforts of the VIP (Visual Improvement Project) Committee of the Midland Chamber of Commerce.

Benjamin Gonzalez has been hired on a full-time basis by VIP as their "VIP Person." His primary job is to remove weeds and grass along curbs and to clean up alleys in the downtown area.

"This project is our effort to help improve the appearance of Midland, particularly along the major highway routes through the city," pointed out VIP chairman Gordon Knox. "We had noted that no one seemed to be responsible for the condition of our downtown alleys.

Knox underscored the hope that this beginning would encourage others to keep their property cleaner and more attractive.

VIP earlier this year funded the beautification of the traffic island at West Wall and Front Streets. The project, carrying out a design conceived by the Texas Highway Department, includes three 15-ton granite boulders, crushed granite rock and numerous desert plants.

Currently, the committee is concluding a poster contest to select a design for a "Welcome To Midland" highway sign to be located on West Wall. The person submitting the winning design will receive $100 cash. The winner will be announced later this month.

Removal of dead and blighted trees along major highway streets also is being accomplished through VIP Committee action. A professional tree-removal company has been retained and is being paid with VIP funds, so there is no cost to the property owner.

"These projects are being supported through the generosity of several Midlanders who have contributed to a non-profit, tax-exempt corporation established by the Chamber," Knox said.

VIP, Inc., is seeking additional contributions to continue funding the committee's various activities. Contributions may be mailed to VIP, Inc., P.O. Box 1890, Midland, Texas.

Mexico To Open Big Trade Fair

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — While heads of state may be talking elsewhere about Mexican sales to the United States and trade balance, Mexican merchandisers will be here this week doing something about it.

Beginning Tuesday, Mexico will hold its largest trade fair of export wares in its history, according to fair organizers.

The opening will follow Monday's Arizona boarder get-together between President Ford and Mexican President Luis Echeverria at which Echeverria wants an increase in sales to the United States to offset an unfavorable trade balance.

Although the fair is not connected with the presidential meetings, the goal of the hundreds of Mexican exhibitors will be millions of dollars in sales. Sample goods arrived here in a convoy of 12 trucks.

"In 1972, we had only 36 exhibitors. In 1973, 250," says Jorge Canavati, a spokesman for the Mexican Institute for Foreign Trade in Mexico City. The fair this year will be a showplace and marketplace for about 600 Mexican manufacturers and craftsmen in 100,000 square feet of exhibition space at the Convention center.

Last year, traditional artifacts shared the buyers attention with Mexican-built buses and electric equipment, among other items.

In 1973, about 3,500 buyers from the United States purchased about $17 million worth of Mexican goods. Future sales from the 1974 fair, sponsors estimated, will be about $92 million.

Julio Faesler, director-general of the Mexican foreign trade institute, says the San Antonio fair "is part of Mexico's campaign to expand exports to the U.S. market and the more the United States buys from Mexico, the more capital goods we can buy from the United States.

San Antonio was chosen three years ago because of its cultural bonds with Mexico and its direct rail and highway links.

At ceremonies Tuesday morning, the 1974 fair will be opened. Fair guests will include United States Ambassador to Mexico Joseph John Jova and Mexico's Ambassador to the United States Jose Juan de Olague, Mexican industry and commerce minister Jose Campillo Sainz and governors of the Mexican states of Jalisco, Guerrero, Puebla, Baja and Nuevo Leon.

Co-sponsors with the Mexican trade institute are the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce and the city.

Aransas Refuge Whooping It Up For Crane Guests

AUSTWELL, Tex. (AP) — Approximately 50 rare whooping cranes are expected to make the Aransas Wildlife Refuge here their home for this winter, refuge officials say.

The first whoopers to return to the refuge were spotted Friday by officials. Six whoopers were seen during an airplane check, but it was uncertain if the birds included one that remained at the coastal Texas refuge during the summer.

Refuge manager Frank Johnson said 47 whoopers wintered here last year and that 15 young had been spotted at their Canadian nesting grounds in June.

The latest reports, however, had reduced the number of surviving young to eight, Johnson said.

He said aerial checks will be made twice a week until all the whoopers have returned.

Bernadette Devlin To Speak In State

HOUSTON (AP) — Irish political activist Bernadette Devlin will speak Oct. 29 at the University of Houston.

Her topic will be "Oppression is Obscene: The Irish Revolution Today."

She was elected to the British House of Commons in 1969 from Mid-Ulster, Northern Ireland, and has become a major spokesman for the civil rights movement in that country.

Texans In 33 Cities To Get Chance To Meet Governor Candidates

AUSTIN (AP) — Voters in at least 33 Texas cities will get a chance the coming week to shake the hand of the Democratic or Republican candidate for governor.

Still other cities will get visits from flagbearers for the Raza Unida Party, American Party, and Socialist Workers party.

The stepped-up campaigns started off the last two weeks of what up to now had been a lack luster campaign season for all involved, with all candidates reporting considerable voter apathy. Absentee voting, which began Oct. 16 has generally been light.

Republican forecasters still hold to their low predictions of only 1.5 to 1.7 million out of the more than 5 million eligible Democrats, who stand to gain more by a big turnout, see more than that, at least about the 1.58 million in the May primaries.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Democrat, scheduled an 11-city tour Wednesday through Friday. He cancelled a number of campaign appearances Saturday and Sunday because of the illness of his mother, Mrs. Dolph Briscoe Sr., who is hospitalized in Uvalde.

Jim Granberry, Republican, planned to hit at least 22 cities in a six-day schedule, many of them news conferences and radio-tv appearances. His wife, Edwina, will hit the campaign trail separately during the week with six appearances at receptions and coffees in the Houston and Bryan-College Station areas.

Here's where the candidates say they will be during the week:

Briscoe, Democrat: Wednesday—Bryan, Lufkin, Palestine, Greenville, Sherman, Paris, Thursday—Gilmer, Fort Worth, Saginaw, Friday—Dallas.

Granberry, Republican: Monday—Big Spring, San Angelo, Tuesday—Snyder, Abilene, Breckenridge, Wednesday—Killeen, Waco, Houston, Thursday—San Antonio, San Marcos, Luling, Seguin, Friday—New Braunfels, Boerne, Comfort, Fredericksburg, Kerrville, Saturday—Eagle Lake, Bryan-College Station, Brenham, Corsicana, Dallas—Fort Worth.

Ramsey Muniz, Raza Unida Party: Tuesday—Corpus Christi speech, Thursday—Abilene speech, Friday and Saturday—Rio Grande Valley. Sunday—Luling, Hebronville, Falfurrias.

Kissinger To Tour India Where He's Respected, Unloved

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's upcoming six-day swing through the Indian sub-continent brings him to a region where he is respected but unloved.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi of India, with whom he will have his main talks, is unlikely to plant any Middle East-style kisses on his cheeks. Indians still recall the "American tilt" against India in the 1971 war with Pakistan.

The Oct. 27-Nov. 1 stay includes India, Bangladesh and Pakistan. But the main focus is on India, where Kissinger will spend three days trying to seal the end of estrangement from Mrs. Gandhi and her people.

With each of the three subcontinent countries pulling him in its own direction, Kissinger will need all his diplomatic skill to prevent any warming with India from chilling U.S. friendship with Pakistan.

Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto of Pakistan is expected to argue forcefully for more American weapons, as he has in the past, maintaining that the 1965 U.S. arms embargo on the subcontinent works to India's advantage because of its Soviet-aided armaments industry.

Mrs. Gandhi and her aides, on the other hand, will reiterate their stand that any American arming of Pakistan will prevent improvement in relations between Washington and New Delhi.

The diplomatic guess here is that Kissinger will make no commitment on arms during his visit and that he will just listen to both sides.

In Dacca, Bangladesh, the demands on Kissinger will be different: Prime Minister Mujibur Rahman will likely press for as much American food aid as he can get.

Kissinger is expected to use his trip to announce new food assistance in the region, including India, but American diplomats say the amounts will not be substantial.

Kissinger faces his most delicate task in New Delhi, where authoritative sources say that despite the desire to strengthen ties with Mrs. Gandhi, he will express strong U.S. concern over India's nuclear capabilities.

Some Western diplomats here believe the secretary was not strong enough in his initial response to India's underground nuclear blast last May 18, when Washington confined its public comment to a brief, mild statement that it opposed nuclear proliferation and did not distinguish between military and peaceful nuclear explosions.

India insists the blast was only for peaceful purposes, and Mrs. Gandhi repeatedly has vowed that India will not manufacture nuclear weapons. Energy Minister K.C. Pant said last week the Indian government will conduct still more nuclear tests to enable the country's nuclear scientists to continue their research into peaceful uses of atomic energy.

U.S. Ambassador Daniel P.

Moynihan questioned Mrs. Gandhi's intentions in a confidential cable last month to Kissinger that was leaked to the press. Moynihan predicted the prime minister will "proceed to develop nuclear weapons and a missile delivery system, preaching nonviolence all the way."

Kissinger himself has demonstrated growing concern since the Indian blast about nuclear explosions described as peaceful. This concern was apparent when he announced at his Oct. 7 news conference that negotiations will start in Moscow to try to broaden an underground weapons test agreement to include peaceful nuclear blasts.

Ideally, the United States would like India to sign the 1968 nuclear nonproliferation treaty, which in essence tried to restrict nuclear weaponry to those who already had it.

India has consistently opposed the treaty because it feels the ban discriminates against nonnuclear powers.

Kissinger, nevertheless, needs some assurance from Mrs. Gandhi on her nuclear intentions, not only to calm India's neighbors, mainly Pakistan, but to diffuse mounting U.S. congressional criticism of her government for spending money on developing a nuclear capability.

That criticism has contributed to efforts by some congressmen to slash $25 million from a proposed $75 million U.S. aid package to India.

Actually, Mrs. Gandhi has been in no apparent hurry to see the resumption of U.S. aid suspended in 1971 in retaliation for India's military support to the Bangladesh independence movement.

Indian Ambassador T.N. Kaul disclosed the two governments will set up during the visit a joint commission to promote closer trade, economic, scientific, cultural and educational ties.

If that materializes, the strain that developed in Indo-American relations three years ago because of Kissinger's "tilt" against India should disappear following his "untangling."

Free Clinics Getting Patients From Throughout Communities

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In the poster-decorated waiting room of the Los Angeles Free Clinic, a middle-aged woman shared a bench with long-haired adolescents, children and an elderly couple.

"You can't find a private doctor open in the evenings, and I work during the day," the woman said.

"And I don't like the county hospital; besides, it's too far away. The treatment's just as good here. I bring my children, too."

A young woman also waiting said she "got a present from a friend" — venereal disease.

"I was in a hospital in New Jersey," she said. "They kept me for two weeks and never gave me a diagnosis. Here you don't get bogged down in so much bull."

Teen-agers with VD. Women with ailing children. Elderly couples with arthritis. They are typical patients of the nation's free clinics today.

With little of the attention that accompanied their birth in 1967, free clinics that once treated only bum-tripping flower children are getting patients from throughout their communities. The patients are drawn by the promise of getting help without red tape and without the cost of organized medicine.

There are about 400 free clinics nationwide handling about two million patients annually, according to the National Free Clinic Council, a San Francisco-based organization founded to coordinate funding for clinics and to share information.

The council channels money to clinics from the National Institute of Drug Abuse and from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. State and local agencies often augment free clinic budgets with funding.

"A growing number of people at our clinic are over 30 and minority group members, particularly blacks, have grown to constitute almost one-third of the patient load," says Leonard Somberg, executive director of the Los Angeles Free Clinic, one of the nation's largest and oldest.

The Open Door Clinic in Seattle has doctors, mental health counselors, legal consultants and employment advisers. "Lots of people in the city right now don't have a drug problem, but have one of basic survival," said Cheryl Scott, crisis services supervisor at the Seattle clinic.

"How do you get welfare? Where can you sleep? Eat? What happens if your old man throws you out on the street with two kids? If you need an operation? If you need counseling and supportive information? We try to help."

At first, the Los Angeles clinic had to face the suspicion that greeted the opening of most free clinics. Local residents disdained it as a hippie hangout.

Police feared it would become a meeting place for drug users and pushers. Some parents were outraged the clinic would treat children without parental knowledge or permission.

Today the clinic has fancy-lettered commendations from city and county government, the California legislature and the National Rehabilitation Association.

"We slowly but surely gained the confidence of the community," Somberg said. "We started attracting people who at first suspected the clinic of being too radical to seek its help."

The Haight clinic has outgrown its original quarters and now occupies five buildings. It has a rock medicine division to supply medical aid at rock concerts, a drug detoxification unit, a project for training medical students in the clinic, a vocational rehabilitation program and a division that helps communes provide for their medical needs.

Few free clinics are housed in medical buildings or hospitals. Most are in houses or downtown stores. Many are in ghetto or depressed areas, and some cater exclusively to blacks, homosexuals, Spanish-surnamed senior citizens, Indians, or women. In some, rock music croons from speakers and the walls are alive with posters.

The clinics handle all but major illnesses and surgery. Venereal disease is the most common problem.

"Many people now coming in simply cannot afford orthodox medical care or feel they cannot get it in bureaucratic, institutionalized, professionalized medicine," said John Vogt, associate director of the Westport Free Clinic in Kansas City.

Although some clinics ask patients to pay for services according to their financial situation, most rely strictly on contributions. Doctors and nurses volunteer their services in most cases.

The first free clinics sprouted in 1967 in San Francisco's Haight-Asbury district and in Cambridge, Mass., to fill medicine's generation gap. Others soon began in Los Angeles and other cities. Their chief concern was bad drug trips, hepatitis, VD and unwanted pregnancy.

The medical establishment wouldn't treat the unwashed, rebellious street people "without threatening them morally, legally or emotionally," Somberg recalled.

Today the clinic has fancy-lettered commendations from city and county government, the California legislature and the National Rehabilitation Association.

Upton County Prepares For Annual Pecan Show

McCAMEY — Upton County Pecan Growers Association has set Nov. 25 as the date for the Upton County Pecan Show along with the annual selection of a queen for the event.

Slated to be held in the Rankin Park Building, the show will have a deadline at 9 a.m. Nov. 23 for entries to be judged at 9 a.m. Nov. 25.

A $50 bond is presented to the champion in the show, with a $25 bond for the reserve winner.

Named members of the Pecan Committee are A. S. Andrew, Hollis Huffaker, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Barrett, A. B. Gill and Sid Langford. Chairman is Ellis Helmert.

A minimum of 40 nuts of one variety qualifies for the show. Persons desiring help in preparing samples may contact the county extension agent's office at Rankin or McCamey residents A. S. Andrew or Hollis Huffaker.

Named to the foods committee for the pecan show were Mrs. David Burkett as chairman, Mrs. Andrew, Mrs. E. M. Sullivan, Mrs. Huffaker, Mrs. W. M. Day and Mrs. Clay Taylor.

The queen's pageant is set for the evening of Nov. 25. Committee members are Mrs. Rusty Ratliff as chairman, Mrs. Jack Garner, Mrs. George Anne Prather, Mrs. Cody Bell Jr., Mrs. Fay Steward and Mrs. Jimmie Neal.

Permian Basin OIL & GAS LOG

Lea County Gets Two Discoveries

Two discoveries have been completed in Lea County, N.M. Sam K. Vierson, operating out of Okmulgee, Okla., has completed No. 4 Laney, a Seven Rivers oil discovery, in Lea, two miles east of Hobbs.

It finished pumping 360 barrels of 31.1-gravity oil per day, no water, through an 11-64-inch choke and perforations at 3,784, 3,798 feet, which had been acidized with 2,000 gallons. Gas-oil ratio measured 876-1.

Drilled to 3,831 feet, with 4 1/4-inch casing set at 3,827 feet, it has been plugged back to 3,825 feet.

Well site is 560 feet from south and 2,000 feet from east lines of section 30-18-30e, Morrow Discovery

Brunson & McKnight, Inc., Roswell, has re-completed No. 1 Berry, as a Morrow re-opener in the Berry field of Lea County, 15 miles west of Oil Center.

Absolute open flow potential was for 300,000 cubic feet of gas per day, and eight barrels of condensate. Condensate gravity was 57 degrees.

Production was through a 5-16-inch choke, and perforations at 13,845-13,864 feet, after the section had been treated with 4,050 gallons of acid.

Originally drilled to 15,595 feet, it has a side track total depth of 14,030, where 4 1/2-inch casing was seated. Side track plugged-back depth is 13,866 feet.

Discovery site is 554 feet from south and 1,821 feet from west lines of section 7-21-34e.

Williford, Lipscomb Due To Note Anniversaries

Two employees in the West Texas operations of Gulf Refining Co. will observe their 35th service anniversaries in November.

B. M. Williford joined the company at Roscoe and worked in various departments before being promoted to warehouseman. He transferred to the West Texas area as warehouseman in 1954 and continues in that category.

S. C. Lipscomb Jr. is field gauger in the McElroy district. He began working for Gulf Refining in the Saginaw district and later worked at Burk Burnett district before transferring to the Roscoe district as field gauger in 1954. He transferred to West Texas as field gauger in 1958.

They will be presented with service awards and emblems.

Tech Prof Says Oil Crisis Endangers Financial Stability Of Entire World

WASHINGTON — The danger of a possible worldwide financial crisis developing out of the oil crisis has been described by Texas Tech University Professor Carl H. Stem.

One of five featured speakers at a conference on international banking in Washington, Stem suggested the oil payments problem is generating serious strain on an already disrupted international financial system and on international financial

Rowe To Address Tuesday Meeting Of Landmen Group

Nick Rowe, the first American POW to escape from the enemy in the Vietnam war, will be the featured speaker at the Tuesday night meeting of the Permian Basin Landmen's Association in the Midland Country Club.

Rowe is a former Green Beret major. He resigned from the Army this year to run as the Republican nominee for state comptroller. His speech is billed as non-political and will concern "Five Years to Freedom," the book he wrote about his years of captivity.

The event will get under way with a social hour at 6 p.m., followed by dinner at 7:30 and Rowe's speech at 8.

American Petrofina Net Income Climbs

DALLAS — American Petrofina, Inc., has reported that net income for the third quarter of 1974 was $31,944,000 or $3 per share. This compared to $9,189,000, or 86 cents per share, during the same period last year.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30, net income was $64,265,000, up from $20,222,000 during the first three quarters of 1973.

Per-share earnings for the period were $6.03 as compared with $2.36 per share on the lesser average number of shares outstanding during the same period of 1973.

C. Robert Winkler

Winkler Joins Banner Resources

Banner Resources has announced the association of C. Robert Winkler Jr. as vice president and exploration manager.

Banner's main offices are in Midland. A New York office and a Denver office will be opened in the near future. A Houston office operated by an affiliate company, Banner Petroleum Ltd., has been in operation for more than a year.

Winkler has extensive experience in the Permian and Anadarko basins, South Texas and Western Canada as well as additional experience in the Rocky Mountains and offshore Louisiana and Texas.

Prior to his new association, Winkler was vice president of Dorchester Exploration Inc. and affiliated companies in Midland.

Sociologist Expects Failure Of Energy Conservation Plan

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP) — A sociologist doubts that President Ford's requests for voluntary energy conservation will receive great response.

"I don't care how many buttons he passes out, because as long as people don't believe in the concept of an energy crisis they are not going to respond," said Dr. David Gottlieb.

The acting dean of the University of Houston's College of Social Sciences made his observation while reporting results of a Texas public opinion survey on the credibility of the energy crisis.

Unaware, Unsophisticated

Gottlieb said Texas may be the largest oil producing state but that results of the research survey financed by the National Science Foundation indicate most Texans are terribly unaware and unsophisticated about energy.

"You will be surprised to know that very few people see a relationship between oil wells and gasoline," he said.

"Very few people are able to accept the idea that over there in the Arab countries those people running around on camels really have the ability to turn the screws and we can't get gasoline at the stations. That's incomprehensible to people."

Most Don't Buy Idea

Gottlieb said the survey indicates most people are suspicious and apprehensive but do not buy the idea the nation is confronted with a serious and long term energy shortage.

"Most people do not believe there are some serious changes they are going to have to make in terms of investing in new energy developments or cutting down in utilization of energy sources," he said.

mental appeals, despite all the pronouncements made by the various corporations, despite the fuel charts and graphs, people don't really believe it."

Gottlieb said the 900 heads of households interviewed in the Houston and Amarillo areas, including adjacent rural counties, were asked to name the source considered to be the most reliable for accurate information about the energy crisis.

"One-half of the people said no one," he said.

Economy Brings Cutback

He added that less than eight per cent said they would accept energy industry publications as reliable and authentic sources of information.

Record Earnings, Revenues Reported By Western Co.

FORT WORTH — The Western Co. of North America has reported record earnings and revenues for the first nine months of 1974. Revenues for the third quarter were also record, but earnings were below those of 1973's third quarter because of adverse weather conditions in the company's operating areas, according to H. E. Chiles, president.

Western earned $680,000, or 19 cent per share on revenues of $15,440,000 for the three months ended Sept. 30, compared with earnings of $791,000, or 24 cent per share, on sales of $10,731,000 for the same quarter of 1973.

For the first nine months of 1974, Western has earned $1,537,000, or 44 cents per share, on revenues of $42,473,000 compared with earnings of $1,484,000, or 44 cents per share, on sales of $27,955,000 for the same period of 1973.

"Unseasonal rains in West Texas and Oklahoma virtually shut down our petroleum service business in these areas the last half of September," Chiles stated, "and operations are just getting back to normal on the Louisiana Gulf Coast because of Hurricane Carmen which struck in early September."

He pointed out that Western's earnings were at record high levels through July and August and said that under normal weather conditions earnings for the third quarter would have also set a new record for the company as did those for the first nine months.

McDonald, Freeze Retire From Gulf

Retirement of two Gulf Oil Co.-U.S. employees has been announced by the Midland exploration and production district.

Angus N. McDonald of Odessa, senior stockman in the Crane area, retired after more than 36 years of service. H. L. Freeze of Wickett, lease operator in the Monahans area, retired with 30 years of service.

McDonald had served in the Odessa, Kermit and Goldsmith areas as clerk, warehouse foreman and stockman. He had worked in the Crane and Sand Hills area since his promotion to senior stockman in 1961.

Freeze began working for Gulf Oil Co. before joining NABLA as a roustabout at Wickett, and he spent his entire tenure in the Wickett-Monahans vicinity, where he advanced to his present position in 1949.

SPE Study Group Will Meet Monday

The Midland operations study group of the Permian Basin Section of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME will meet at 11:30 a.m. Monday, in the American Legion Hall.

K. B. Nolen, vice president and co-founder of NABLA Corp., will present a paper, "Subsurface Hydraulic Pumping Diagnostic Technique."

In his paper, Nolen will discuss a diagnostic technique based on a computerized mathematical model of a hydraulic pumping system. The computer program evaluates the mechanical equipment performance, capability of the well and changes needed to optimize production. The method is implemented with a portable computer system and electronic data gathering equipment to make results available at the well site within minutes.

He was employed by Shell Oil Co. before joining NABLA. He is a member of SPE of AIME, and the Permian Basin Chapter of American Petroleum Institute.

Sun High Bidder On Shelf Leases

NEW ORLEANS — Sun Oil Co., as operator for three separate groups of companies, was the apparent high bidder on three tracts totaling 12,825.85 acres at the Federal Outer Continental Shelf Offshore Louisiana Oil and Gas Lease Sale held here Wednesday.

The various Sun groups spent a total of $9,828,715.53 for the three leases, or $766.31 per acre. Sun's portion of the total was $4,725,751.

Sun-operated combines bid on a total of 13 leases in the overall sale, exposing some $57,487,775.92. Two of the blocks bid on unsuccessfully were offered on the experimental royalty payment plan.

Automation School Beginning Monday

ODESSA — A four-week automation school for the petroleum industry begins Monday at Odessa College.

The school is sponsored by OC, the American Petroleum Institute's division of production and the Petroleum Extension Service of The University of Texas at Austin.

The school has been conducted annually at OC since the 1940s.

Instruction will cover the principles of operation of transistorized devices that are used for data gathering, measurement and control of oilfield production, pipelines and processing plants.

Persons who work for oilfield supply and service companies will especially benefit from the instruction, according to George Coenen, director of the school.

Persons interested can register for the school by contacting Coenen at OC.

Oil Register Prints Directories

TULSA — Midwest Oil Register has announced the publication of the first two of its annual oil directories. They are Directory of Canada and Directory of Foreign Companies.

Publication of the full 16-volume set is expected by Feb. 15, 1975.

The directories are available from the publishers.

WASHINGTON OIL — Policy Report Urges Slowing Of Energy Use

By CLYDE LA MOTTE

Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent

WASHINGTON — It is going to take the average citizen some time to digest the full implications of proposals made in the Ford Foundation-financed Energy Policy Project report published last week. It is entitled "A Time to Choose America's Energy Future."

The primary thrust is that the nation needs to slow down its energy use sharply, starting with a target of 2 per cent annual growth rate until 1985 and then a zero-growth policy beyond that point.

Here are some of the steps it proposes could be taken to achieve that goal:

—Declare a 10-year moratorium on all offshore leasing except in the Gulf of Mexico.

—Slow down the rate of nuclear power development, at least until there is more proof that it is safe and until better means are developed to dispose of nuclear wastes.

—Sharply restrict for the time being at least the development of coal resources of the West and go slow on developing shale oil.

—Maintain present environmental standards, perhaps even making them tougher in such areas as air pollution.

—The slowdown in energy consumption could be achieved, so the report says, without adversely affecting the economy or radically changing life styles. Nor would it create unemployment or impede the growth rate in incomes. And it would not diminish use of air conditioning or other modern-day comforts.

Allday To Present Lecture Thursday

Martin L. Allday, attorney and partner in the law firm of Lynch, Chappell, Allday & Aldridge, will present a lecture dealing with title opinions, curative material, and suggested procedures in acquiring a valid lease, Thursday from 7-10 p.m. as a part of Permian Basin Graduate Center's Principles of Land and Leasing course.

Allday, a graduate of The University of Texas School of Law, formerly was a legal examiner in the oil and gas utilities division of the Texas Railroad Commission and an attorney with the legal department of the Superior Oil Co. in Midland and Houston.

State Oil Total Up In October

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission reported Friday that the state-wide average calendar day oil allowable as of last Tuesday was 3,990,390 barrels, an increase of 6,961 from Oct. 1.

Drilling Activity Increases In Basin

Improved weather conditions have resulted in an increased number of rotary rigs working in the Permian Basin. Reed Drilling equipment reported Friday last week, as did several other areas where wet weather had hampered movement of equipment.

One year ago, there were 232 rigs making hole in West Texas and Southeast New Mexico.

The most active counties — Eddy and Lea, N.M. and Pecos, all showed increased activity last week, as did several other areas where wet weather had hampered movement of equipment.

Bill Houghton

Houghton Moved To Midland Office By Byron Jackson

Byron Jackson Inc., with offices in Midland Industrial Park, has announced the assignment of Bill Houghton as region training supervisor for the Permian Basin area.

Under Houghton's direction, training and safety personnel will be schooled in Odessa, Midland, Monahans, Brownfield, and at Hobbs and Carlsbad, N.M.

Houghton joined Byron Jackson at Hobbs in 1955 and has served as district superintendent, sales supervisor, and most recently, as a member of the general sales staff at Houston.

Services Expanded By E-Log Library

E-Log Library, 320 W. Illinois St., is expanding its services, according to owners Guy and Laverne Saunders.

Since the purchase of E-Log Library early this year, they have instigated a new file system that should be complete by the end of October. A division of G&L Services, the library includes a complete line of general geological supplies and has in stock such items as sample packs, trays, storage boxes, microscopes, UV lamps, bulbs, tweezers, probes, spot plates, log strips, all types of writing pads for record-keeping and flow-pipe analysis supplies.

reproduction service and the Xerox machine in the office enables multiple copies to be made rapidly and assembled accurately. The business services include an IBM-Executive Mag Card typewriter to make multiple original copies. They also have an answering service with plans to expand those services in the near future.

The library maintains files of electrical logs for use of their membership. They will compile production data on leases covering West Texas and Southeast New Mexico for the public. Service is also offered to include Railroad Commission reports. Check with E-Log Library about library membership, telephone answering and secretarial service, production service, geological supplies and public Xerox machine and Xerox supplies. Visit at 320 W. Griffith, Adams Promoted By Orloff

Two recent promotions have been announced by the Orloff Corp. Verne E. Griffith Jr. has been named manager of petroleum and gas projects and Robert P. Adams has been promoted to manager of petrochemical projects.

Griffith began working for Elcor Chemical Corp., parent company of Orloff, in 1968 as staff engineer in the engineering and development division. He transferred to Orloff in 1970 as project manager.

Adams began working for Orloff as project manager in 1970. Prior to that, he was associated with Foster Wheeler Corp. as manager of its foreign office in Ankara, Turkey.

Both promotions were effective Oct. 1.

Dowdle Adds Two Natural Gas Wells On Production Line

Dowdle Oil Crop, Midland independent oil and gas producer, has added two new natural gas wells on production stream from its oil and gas leases in Indiana County, Pa., Nash J. Dowdle, president, has announced.

Dowdle Oil has completed 10 consecutive natural gas wells in the county, for daily potentials of between 1 million to 6 million cubic feet of gas per day, flowing from four separate pay zones of Devonian Age at depths above 3,500 feet.

Dowdle Oil announced also that Peoples Natural Gas Co. of Pittsburgh, the purchaser of the gas, has, effective for November gas production, increased the price of gas for these wells from 52 cents to 65 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas. Dowdle Oil owns approximately a 30 per cent working interest in the gas wells.

(Continued From Page 1D) more and more energy supplies at a faster and faster rate to meet ever-increasing demands. The report strongly implies that the slowdown of energy use cannot be accomplished under a free enterprise, market-price system. Rather, it envisions greater government involvement in shaping the nation's energy future.

At one point the report states: "The basic problem is that the energy industry—particularly the oil industry—possesses a unique combination of political advantages which has enabled it to exert considerable influence on public policy."

"A necessary first step in reforming energy policies is to remove the main sources of the oil industry's disproportionate political strength through strong campaign finance reform measures."

"If the modest reforms to strengthen competition and create an environment in which the industry is more responsive to public concerns are insufficient, then it may be necessary for social control to be exercised by the government, taking a more active role in the organization of energy supply. The federal chartering of companies appears to us to be a promising technique for doing so."

Regarding nuclear power: "Our studies show that a much slower rate for nuclear power is adequate to meet energy needs, if the conservation oriented policy we recommend is implemented. We do not advocate an absolute ban on new nuclear plants because the problems posed by using fossil fuels instead are also serious. But a conservation oriented growth policy will provide breathing room so that we can gain a better understanding of nuclear problems . . . before major new expansions are made."

The report has numerous proposals that would apply directly to the oil and gas industry. Here are some of them:

- Abolition of the depletion allowance and the expensing of intangibles.
- The regulation of pipelines, including gathering lines, should be carefully investigated to see whether the majors are using their dominance to consolidate their own position. This is an area for stricter enforcement of existing laws.
- Present leasing policies favor the large companies.

New Gas Field Discovery Told

HOUSTON — Houston Oil & Minerals Corp. has announced a new gas field discovery from the upper Frio sand at its No. 1 State Tract 148-S in the Gulf of Mexico, about two miles offshore Caplen.

John E. Walters, vice president of exploration, said the find is "a key gas discovery because it is a down dip extension of the upper Frio sands."

Walters said the well flowed on production test at a rate of 5.7 million cubic feet gas per day and 1,262 barrels condensate per day on an 11-64-inch choke through perforations from 11,818 feet to 11,847 feet. Flowing tubing pressure was 7,445 pounds per square inch. The well has a calculated open flow rate of 94 million cubic feet gas per day. The nearest Frio production is more than five miles away.

Houston Oil & Minerals holds an average of 82 per cent working interest and 66 per cent net interest in the 8,000-acre lease block.

Royalty bidding on federal leases would be a possible means of encouraging entry. Joint bidding between majors should be forbidden.

Though prorationing is not now operative, it is in ready reserve for use to control domestic production. Now is the time to remove the federal underpinnings to the system—the Connally Hot Oil Act.

Little Chance

The report concludes that unless the political influence of the industry can be overcome, such a program has little chance of being implemented. For this reason, it is often suggested that in order to assume social control over the energy industry, government must take a more active role in energy, supply, as indeed happens in many other countries.

Clearly, the authors of the report don't trust business, particularly the oil industry end of it.

The report was written entirely by a paid staff, headed by S. David Freeman, formerly a top aide to Joseph Swidler when the latter was chairman of the Federal Power Commission. It was an era in which FPC was holding a tight lid on wellhead prices of natural gas, cutting back price levels where possible.

Widespread Publicity

Regardless of its merits or demerits, the Energy Policy Project report is certain to carry a great deal of weight. It is getting widespread publicity and will no doubt be roundly applauded by many segments, including those in Congress who would like to use it as a weapon against Project Independence, which is aimed at increasing domestic energy supplies as rapidly as possible. Under the Project Independence approach, conservation would be stressed, too, but its purpose would be to reduce waste, not to reduce actual energy utilization.

Members of the Energy Policy Project's advisory board, including some industry officials, took varying views on the report itself.

Twenty members of the board signed a general statement in which they took the view that the United States will have to make "early and hard" decisions on a series of complicated issues if it is to avoid greater distress in the future than during the 1973-74 oil embargo period.

"In our judgment," the board said, "this is no time for complacency. The decisions that must be made — if only by default — over the next few years are crucial to the welfare of the nation."

The board said it cannot be overstressed that the nation is in need of a genuinely integrated policy for promoting research and development on energy problems and for allocating responsibility for energy resources and demand. "The find is a key gas discovery because it is a down dip extension of the upper Frio sands."

Walters said the well flowed on production test at a rate of 5.7 million cubic feet gas per day and 1,262 barrels condensate per day on an 11-64-inch choke through perforations from 11,818 feet to 11,847 feet. Flowing tubing pressure was 7,445 pounds per square inch. The well has a calculated open flow rate of 94 million cubic feet gas per day. The nearest Frio production is more than five miles away.

Houston Oil & Minerals holds an average of 82 per cent working interest and 66 per cent net interest in the 8,000-acre lease block.

J. R. Truss Jr.

Two Gulf Staffers Honored Recently For Long Service

Gulf Oil Co.-U.S. has recognized two employees of its Midland exploration and production district for service anniversaries.

J. R. Truss Jr. of Monahans, material supervisor in the Monahans area, has worked for the company 30 years. He was presented a service award at a luncheon held in his honor recently.

He joined the firm in Odessa, serving as roustabout and warehouse stockman until his promotion to material supervisor and transfer to Monahans in 1958.

M. L. Johnson of Odessa, project geologist in the Midland office, has worked for the firm 10 years.

He joined the former British American Oil Co. as district development geologist and continued working for Gulf as senior production geologist at Midland when Gulf acquired British American producing assets.

He was transferred to the former Andrews area in 1960 as area production geologist. He attained his present classification last April and moved to the Midland district office Sept. 1.

Locations Staked In Rannels, Irian

A wildcat has been staked in Rannels County, and an offset to a discovery has been staked in Irian County.

John R. Thompson, Abilene, has made plans to re-enter and clean out to 2,700 feet from test of the Home Creek at No. 1 J. V. Ray.

Formerly Miami Operating Co. No. 1-B Ida Ray, it was originally completed as a lower Gardner producer in the depleted Ashton field of Rannels.

Located seven miles southwest of Crews, it spots 6,410 feet from north and 1,960 feet from east lines of Austin & Williams survey 262.

Offset Site
Simpson-Mann Oil Producers, San Angelo, plan to drill No. 3 Reva K. McMillan as a 939-foot northeast offset to its No. 1 Reva K. McMillan in Irian County.

Drill site is 1,551 feet from south and 1,301 feet from west lines of section 28, GC&SF survey. Projected depth is 1,700 feet.

The No. 1 Reva K. McMillan was completed as a San Angelo sand discovery Aug. 29. It was finished pumping 38.2 barrels of 38-gravity oil per day through perforations at 1,456-1,464 feet.

Wildcat Sites Staked In Nolan

Two wildcat sites have been staked in Nolan County.

Gus Edwards, Abilene, has filed an application with the Texas Railroad Commission to drill No. 1 I. L. Craig as a 6,000-foot Ellenburger venture, 400 feet south of the depleted opener and lone producer in the Blackwell, East (Goen) field, in Nolan.

Drill site is 1,300 feet from south and 1,100 feet from east lines of section 32, block 1-A, H&TC survey, 2 1/2 miles northeast of Blackwell.

R. L. Dennie and Century Petroleum Corp. completed No. 1 J. M. Craig, as the opener March 15, 1972 for 106 barrels of 39-gravity oil through perforations at 4,128-4,132 feet.

Tech Professor—

Stem is a consultant in international finance to the U.S. Treasury Department and has just returned to teaching after serving a year as senior economic adviser in the Office of Foreign Direct Investments in Washington. He is a professor and administrator of graduate programs in the university's College of Business Administration.

The international conference which he addressed was sponsored jointly by the American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research and the U.S. Department of the Treasury.

The major focus of the conference was on the $135 billion of U.S. dollar banking business currently conducted by banks outside the United States. Under discussion are the factors which caused this external dollar banking to develop and the impact it has on national financial and credit conditions and policies.

The possibility of a cooperative multi-national control of international banking—similar to the Federal Reserve System which regulates bank credit expansion in the United States — is highly unlikely because the major financial nations of the world could not agree on uniform reserve requirements for international banks, Stem said.

Such requirements, he said, would have cost-increasing, anti-competitive implications for banks and no one country would want to initiate a control which would reduce the banks' ability to compete in the international bank loan markets.

By recovering for banks in the United States at least some of the dollar banking done outside the U.S., the banks in this country would become more competitive, Stem said.

He suggested terminating regulations which prohibit U.S. banks from paying interest on deposits with a maturity of less than 30 days. In addition, he said, the cost-increasing impact of required reserves on U.S. banks should be reduced or modified. This would put the U.S. banks on a better competitive basis.

changing their energy consuming behavior for economic reasons.

"People are cutting down but not because of a crisis but because of costs," he said.

Gottlieb said higher educated people generally are much more suspicious and doubtful about the credibility of an energy crisis.

"Rural people are much more likely to believe the messages of the government and oil companies than are urban people," he said.

Rural Response Likely
He said rural people are much more likely to say "If you want people to conserve, give them a plaque, put a star in their window, give them a little flag."

"Urban people say, 'If you want me to conserve, give me economic incentive, a rebate, or money for forming a car pool,'" he said.

But the people who are the least trusting, Gottlieb said, are the young people.

"And that, I think, is one of the tragic unfoldings of this research," he said.

"As you go down the age scale and get to the youngest families, you find the people who are the most cynical, most doubtful, most critical, and the most suspicious."

Welding Course To Begin Nov. 7

The Permian Basin Section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers has announced the sponsorship of a short course in welding metallurgy. This course will begin Nov. 7, and will meet from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. each Thursday for six consecutive weeks, with the exception of Thanksgiving Day. The course will be held at The University of Texas at the Permian Basin.

The course is geared to provide the basic fundamentals in welding metallurgy to welding supervisors or inspectors, as well as engineers. The course will be taught by R. A. Johnston, chief metallurgist with El Paso Products Co., in Odessa.

For information and reservations, call Dick Shafer, 366-3676 in Odessa or Leo Gursley, 663-5431 in Midland. The fee for the course is $35.00 which includes the text book on welding metallurgy.

Rose To Address Meeting Of WTGS

The West Texas Geological Society will hold its regular noon luncheon meeting at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday in the American Legion Hall.

The program will be presented by Dr. Peter R. Rose, chief of the branch of oil and gas resources of the United States Geological Survey. Rose will discuss the branch's role in geophysical data acquisition, basic geological research, geographic research, and service projects.

Rose enjoyed a varied career working for the Shell Oil Co. in numerous exploration capacities and at the State University of New York as an assistant professor of geology before joining the USGS in 1973.

Project Planned In Gaines County

Amoco Production Co. has made plans to drill No. 34-B T. S. Riley, as a 4,000-foot Yates wildcat, in the Cedar Lake field of Gaines County.

It is 2,640 feet from south and 685 feet from west lines of section 3, block H, D&WRR survey, six miles southeast of Loop.

Clark Faces Tough Foe In Sen. Javits

By MALCOLM N. CARTER
ATOP MOUNT MARCY, N.Y. (AP) — From the state's highest peak, Ramsey Clark wondered about the future.

The former U.S. attorney general had made a tortuous climb up Mount Marcy, and the effort seemed symbolic to the handful of campaign aides with him.

For Clark had triumphed recently in a primary election over the Democratic leadership's endorsed candidate, and on Nov. 5 he'll try to conquer another mountain — Republican Sen. Jacob Javits, a third-term incumbent who always leads the GOP ticket in the vote count.

My judgment is I'm an underdog," Clark concedes. "Javits has been around for a long time . . . He has a lot of money, and he has stayed through the years. I guess I've got some catchin' up to do, and I guess I will." In the Adirondack Mountains near Lake Placid, three reporters and 10 others, mostly his staff, made the seven-mile ascent with Clark in cold rain and fog.

It took the candidate to the podium to the pine trees. It dramatized his relative youth — 46 years to Javits' 70. It gave him a chance to talk about ecology. As much as anything, it emphasized the unconventional nature of a candidate variously called the Democrats' conscience, a radical, a populist, an idealist, a carpetbagger from Texas.

Populism Campaign

From the start of his primary campaign, Ramsey Clark had a long way to go. Bucking a party organization that refused to support a reputed radical, his campaign has had the flavor of populism — reminiscent of former Sen. Eugene McCarthy's bid for president in 1968.

Young volunteers shunned summer tans to work for Clark. They filled his whimsically named headquarters — stuffing envelopes, making telephone calls and writing press releases in cheerful disorder. To put his name on the primary ballot, they collected 52,000 signatures — more than twice the number required.

The money trickled in. Alone among the candidates, Clark had declined individual contributions greater than $100. Still, he raised $230,000 from 11,500 persons. Imposing the same rule on his current effort, Clark at best will raise half the $1 million that his opponent seeks.

"My campaign will go as far as the people want it to go," he is fond of saying.

Presses Campaign

One victory behind him, he presses the campaign, traveling between cities by commercial airplanes and by automobiles too small for his long legs. The former Georgia Welch, his wife of 25 years, is often at his side. One of their two grown children also helps.

Mrs. Clark started up Mount Marcy, but turned back. When her husband returned, she embraced him in a big bear hug and offered, in jest, to tote him on her back. She's given to phrases like "groovy," and to helping her husband in little ways like waiting in line to buy plane tickets while he holds an airport news conference, offering him her plastic cup of black coffee while he travels between shopping centers in the campaign's leased van.

"Good morning, I'm Ramsey Clark, Democrat for U.S. Senate," he intones. Only sometimes does the warmth of recognition or support reward him. At a breakfast, he speaks of party unity. He reviews a parade. Talks issues. Shakes hands. Smiles and talks.

"Campaigning is so irrational in so many ways, so artificial," Clark declares. "I'm so used to substantive things, and you can go days without ever discussing anything substantive. Schedules seem to have a higher priority."

Clark Reserved
Reserved, he's hesitant about plunging into a crowd and shaking hands. In the tranquilists outside a Jamestown factory, he watches three local candidates thrust a hand toward the dull black lunch boxes heading for a time clock. But Clark, even after weeks on the stump, hangs back until encouraged.

"I'm really a private person. I've had to learn the value of walking up and introducing myself and shaking hands," he says. "So often you feel like you're imposing. On the other hand, you find it can be a very big thing to people — that you're out there, and you care. At a time when government seems so remote, it's valuable."

Clark's campaign is based on being responsive to people and taking up their causes.

Clark endures the label of distant uncomfortably. He's the only U.S. attorney general ever to have spoken out against capital punishment. The radical label stems from this, Clark says, and from his insistence on enforcing civil rights laws through busing and other means.

Visited Hanoi

The label has trailed Clark most markedly since 1972, when he made the wartime trip to North Vietnam that then-vice President Spiro Agnew and other administration officials criticized. While there, Clark interviewed American prisoners of war, reported they were being treated humanely and said on Radio Hanoi that he was opposed to U.S. bombing of the country.

"I can't fudge on these issues," he says. "Right or wrong, if we're going to solve problems we have to stand for things . . ."

"I believe in unconditional amnesty. I think a woman has a fundamental human right to obtain an abortion. If it's radical to believe that price and wage controls are needed to prevent inflation when special interests oppose them, then I'm a radical."

The way Clark sees it, the man who entered government in 1961 fresh from law practice in Dallas is essentially the same man now running for U.S. senator.

Then, he was nominated by the late President John F. Kennedy as assistant attorney general. It was the late President Lyndon B. Johnson who made him attorney general in 1967.

Opposed War
The Vietnam war was raging, and Clark was opposed to it. But, he didn't resign his office, he said, because he had battles to fight against police violence and against violations of civil rights laws.

"I always felt that major potential for change has to come from within the system," Clark says. That is why he chose the political office route, rather than public interest organization like Ralph Nader's and John Gardner's.

Clark left the Justice Department in 1969, when the Nixon administration took over and wrote "Crime in America," a best-seller that linked the quality of health care, education, upbringing, nutrition and environment to crime. Then he searched for a place to live.

"I didn't want to be in Washington because I'd seen all those oldtimers from former administrations and thought it wasn't what I wanted to with my life," he says. "What I love in life is experience and solving problems, and New York just seemed like the place to do it."

Highest News Conference

The quest to effect change has taken him to this mountain, 5,340 feet high. The underdog, breathing deeply of the raw moist air, holds the highest news conference ever in New York and talks about the state's beauty.

He urges a "national commitment to nature, that we don't tear things up, that we love nature and build with nature."

He swigs water from a stream and starts a rugged descent, moving past the timber line into the advancing gloom, for a moment catching sight of distant peaks. Someone offers him a Clark candy bar. With a boyish grin, he declines: "I hate 'em."

Hours later, he is in New York City for a parade. Aching from the climb, he must attend.

Waving shyly at the passing panoply, a hand plunged in a pocket, he squirts in the harsh fall light. Far down the avenue, he gazes. Past the bands. Past the floats. Past the crowds. On Nov. 5, he'll know.

U.S. Might Turn To War In Crisis, Castro Warns

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro said Friday night in Havana that the United States faces its worst economic crisis since the 1930s and it might try to extract itself by launching a war, according to the official Cuban news agency Prensa Latina.

"The possibility must not be discarded that imperialism may try to overcome this crisis even by unleashing war," Castro told delegates from more than 60 nations attending the 25th general congress of the World Trade Unions' Federation.

Prensa Latina said Castro blamed "the imperialists' policy of squandering the world's natural resources at the expense of the underdeveloped countries" for the world's economic crisis.

"The Vietnam aggression, which cost $150 billion, the enormous military expenditure, the capitalist system with its wastefulness and its anarchy are the causes of inflation and monetary crisis," Castro declared.

Midland Students Honored At A&M

COLLEGE STATION — Two Midland students have been named to "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities" at Texas A&M University.

Granville D. Lasseter of 2204 Country Club and Dr. Stephen Craig Philip of 1100 Sparks St. were among 48 students chosen for the select list.

Selection of the 1975 list was based on academic achievement, community service, activities leadership and future potential. Only graduating and graduate students were considered.

Guitarist Chet Atkins

Chet Atkins Offers Sounds To Please Every Ear

Musical sounds to please every ear will be offered by famed guitarist Chet Atkins and instrumentalists of the Midland-Odesa Symphony when they join forces in two concerts this week.

The concerts Monday and Tuesday nights will mark the opening of the symphony orchestra's new season under the baton of a new musical director-conductor, Dr. Thomas Hohnstätt.

The first of the dual programs will be at 8 p.m. Monday in Odessa's Ector County Coliseum, followed by a Tuesday concert, also scheduled for 8 p.m., in Lee High School auditorium here.

Single tickets are available for the Monday event in the Ector Coliseum, priced at $6.50, $5.50 and $4.50. The Tuesday program in Midland will be open only to symphony season subscribers.

Tickets Sales Under Way

Campaigns for the sale of season subscriptions to the Midland-Odesa Symphony's six concert series for 1974-75 have been under way in both Midland and Odessa during the last two weeks, and tickets will continue on sale up to concert time both nights this week. The season subscriptions are $20 for reserved seats, $15 for general admissions and $4 for students. Tickets may be mail-ordered from the Midland-Odesa Symphony at P.O. Box 6286, Midland 79701. Telephone orders should be directed to the symphony office at 563-0921.

For the dual programs, Atkins will be heard in a variety of works displaying his artistry in music other than the country and Western music with which he is most closely identified.

For example, the pair of concerts will offer an arrangement of "Shenandoah" by Carmen Dragon, Hayman's "Hullabaloo," Aaron Copland's "Rodeo" suite and Paul Creston's "Night in Mexico," plus several special works aimed at showcasing the guest artist's extraordinary ability as a symphony performer.

Single-Mindedness Rewarding

Atkins' present pre-eminence as a guitarist and performer is proof that single-mindedness and determination pay off. From the time he was a child, the guitar was his obsession and his pole star. Even now, nearly 40 years and countless world accolades later, he admits to feeling restless when he's been away from a guitar for any length of time.

The road up from the modest circumstances into which he was born at Luttrell, Tenn., a small mountain town, wasn't all sunshine and roses. But a man with a stubborn conviction in his heart took the lean days and the tough weeks in stride.

He bought his first guitar after his family moved to Hamilton, Ga. He was 11, and he had to save for it, but it was comfort and solace for a shy kid who didn't have good clothes or a whole lot of cronies.

He got his first job at 16, after his family had moved back to East Tennessee, playing the fiddle ("badly," he says, "but they didn't happen to need a guitar player") with a radio act headed by Archie Campbell and Bill Carlisle. That was the day of live radio programs and he was grateful for the jobs it brought him; happily but almost accidentally, it brought him the opportunity to get back to what he really loved, guitar picking.

The late Lowell Blanchard, program director at WNOX, heard him one Saturday night, lovingly picking on a guitar after a Saturday night personal appearance, and hired him as staff guitarist. He was on his way.

But between his early conviction and his present eminence, there were rough times. He found it hard to hold jobs, got fired for one reason or another and acquired a reputation as a fellow who couldn't hold onto a regular job.

Compensating Factor

There was compensation, and unimportant except as sidelights of a fabulous career. He is vice president in charge of RCA's Nashville operation, catalyst for the musical careers of other performers, a guitarist equally at home with country, pop, jazz and classical; object of admiration by those who fanatically adore him, and a source of frustration to some other less frustrating career. It was a test of his unschizophrenic good nature that he could be told, "You're not commercial enough," on the one hand, and "You're too modern," on the other, and still know that what he was doing was right for him.

And right for music and Music City, too, as it turned out. He was hired by Steve Sholes for Victor, worked with the Grand Ole Opry (appearing with Mother Maybelle Carter and her daughters, June, Anita and Helen, in the early 1950s) and eventually became Sholes' assistant. Before he became Sholes' successor there was another lean spell when he worked again at WNOX.

That's all in the past now, and unimportant except as sidelights of a fabulous career.

prestigious orchestras including those of New Orleans, St. Louis, Birmingham, Seattle, Houston, Pittsburgh and Minneapolis. His concert tours have been to more than 100 cities in the United States, and to Canada, Europe, Africa and Japan where he has had tumultuous welcomes.

Frequent Guest On TV

Top tv shows, too, vie for his music and his warm, dry humor. He's added his special artistry to the Ed Sullivan Show, the Perry Como Special, Johnny Carson's Tonight Show, the Jimmy Dean Show, the Roger Miller Show, the Mike Douglas Show, the 1968 Grammy Special, the Dick Cavett Show, the Johnny Cash Show and Kraft Music Hall.

Atkins has been honored in his field by those whose accolades mean a lot because they not only come from people with musical knowledge to evaluate his work but also because they reflect the way the average listener feels about him.

'Wilson' Not Great Theater But It's Worth Seeing—Once

By ROGER SOUTHWALL, Reporter-Telegram Staff

HOUSTON — Of all former presidents of the U.S., Woodrow Wilson would certainly seem one of the least likely, least interesting subjects for dramatic stage treatment.

Nevertheless, a new play by 26-year-old George Greenias, which opened Thursday night at Houston's well-known Alley Theatre does indeed center around the nation's 28th president during some of the most crucial years of his administration. It presents new facets of his character and imparts a much more sympathetic profile of the man than history has generally provided us heretofore.

"Wilson," as the play is named, is not great theater by any means, but it is entertaining more often than not, and there is a kind of refreshing novelty about it. Should you happen to be in Houston between now and Nov. 17, I strongly urge that you attend a performance.

Having to be in Houston on other business last week, and being given opportunity to attend a special press preview of "Wilson" while there, I will say in retrospect that it was an interesting, relatively rewarding evening—but I wouldn't care to see the play again.

"Wilson" concerns events in the life of the President and in the history of the United States just before, during and immediately after World War I. Specifically, it concerns President Wilson's agonizing reappraisal of events making the U.S. entry into the war necessary, even imperative (this just shortly after he won a second term mainly on the strength of "He Kept Us Out of War") and his idealistic dreams for achieving lasting world peace through a League of Nations.

Greenias' script is clever and well-wrought. He does not attempt to belabor his audience with excessive political thundering, nor does he attempt to weave too many threads into the fabric of his play. Wilson's troubles with the U.S. Senate (and particularly with Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge), his decision that the U.S. must enter the war against Germany, his dreams for a League of Nations and, finally, his determination to take his plea for the Versailles Treaty to the nation's citizens via a barnstorming, whistle-stop tour which ultimately damaged his health beyond repair—these are main points in Greenias' drama.

The Alley Theatre's founder and producing director, Nina Vance, has assembled an excellent cast for this premiere production of "Wilson." For Wilson himself, Miss Vance obtained the services of the eminent stage and television actor Sheppard Strudwick and this was a wise and fortuitous choice, it seems to me.

Strudwick's characterization of the dry-witted, dour, rather stiff and unyielding Wilson is a good one. No less good as Wilson's arch-enemy in the U.S. Senate, Henry Cabot Lodge, is William Trotman, who also designed the sets for the production. Trotman's characterization of the smooth, urbane, highly articulate Bostonian senator is good foil for Wilson's more rigid, less cosmopolitan personality.

Also providing excellent characterizations are Tony Russel as Wilson's crony "Colonel" Edward House of Texas; Darlene Conley as the president's second wife, Edith Bolling Galt Wilson; Phillip Davidson as Cary T. Grayson, the presidential physician; Ronald Bishop as Sen. Albert Fall, and Roger Baron as Joseph P. Tumulty, Wilson's private secretary.

Wilson's most formidable adversaries in hammering out peace terms with Germany, Premier Clemenceau of France, Prime Minister Orlando of Italy and Prime Minister Lloyd George of Britain, are portrayed by E. A. Sirianni, Sidney Armus and Joseph Costa, respectively.

The play's sequences in which Wilson must negotiate with these three wily heads of state possibly provide the best moments of the evening. Playwright Greenias has given his three European politicians the style and swagger of heads of state who at the same time subtly mock their own political game plans. The humor is ironic and more than a little thought-provoking.

"Wilson" combines music with dialogue from time to time, and one of the most entertaining segments of the play is the musical interlude titled "The Diplomatic Waltz" in which Wilson dances, literally as well as figuratively, with the Powers of Europe. The interlude is as clever as it is sardonic.

Fine Arts, Jewelry To Share Spotlight In Open House Today

Fine jewelry and fine art will share the spotlight this afternoon during an open house at Anese Gallery and Anese Jewelers of Midland.

The 3 to 7 p.m. event will feature a collection of paintings by Dallas artist H. E. Fain and a special trunk showing of precious colored gemstones by gem expert R. Lary Kuehn, also of Dallas. The public is invited to attend and meet the two honor guests. Anese Gallery and Anese Jewelers are on the ground floor of the Midland Savings Building at Colorado and Wall streets.

Fain is well known for his seascapes, landscapes and nature studies. He is widely hailed as a colorist and his works are in many private, corporate and public collections across the nation. He has brought an unusually comprehensive selection of works to Midland for the current show, said Anese Stone, owner of Anese Gallery. Fain also is a talented violin and viola maker. A native of Ohio, he grew up at Wichita Falls.

Kuehn, who will remain in Midland through Tuesday to consult with persons interested in the purchase of fine jewelry, has toured his trunk show, "Precious World of Colored Stones," to many cities in Texas and elsewhere in the nation. He is also in wide demand as a lecturer on gemstones.

According to Frank Hawk, gemologist for Anese Jewelers, Kuehn's trunk show will provide West Texans with a unique opportunity to view and purchase unusual gemstones, and to learn the latest trends in fine jewelry. Included in the collection to be shown here are green sapphires, Kunzites, blue topazes and more.

Reinforcing Kuehn's personal conviction that gems are a lucrative investment, his company recently published a book titled "Gems, the Beautiful Investment," copies of which will be available for purchase during Kuehn's Midland visit.

Anese Gallery and Anese Jewelers are open between 8 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday each week.

Burton Tells Liz Of Marriage Plans

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Richard Burton and Princess Elizabeth of Yugoslavia telephoned Burton's ex-wife in California to tell her of their plans to marry, and they say she took the news well.

"She's fine," Burton said Friday of actress Elizabeth Taylor after the call. "We're old friends."

Burton and his fiancée arrived here from London by private plane for a two-week stay at his villa outside Geneva.

The princess, a second cousin to Britain's Prince Charles, said her estranged husband, merchant banker Neil Balfour, "was lovely about it" when she told him of her plans to marry Burton.

Madrigal Concert To Be Presented Wednesday At Tech

LUBBOCK — The Accademia Cavalieri, Biabo, Caccini, Frescobaldi and Cipriano de Rore.

Stevens, who studied music and musicology at Oxford University, has a variety of accomplishments to his credit. He inaugurated the national series, "Musica Britannica" with his edition of the Mulliner Book in 1951 and founded the Ambrosian Singers in 1952. He has been active on both sides of the Atlantic, publishing numerous books, articles and recordings. He recently conducted the Pier Francesco Cavalli opera, "Pompeo Magno," in London and directed an international congress on Italian music and poetry in the U.S. at the invitation of the Rockefeller Foundation. His transcription of a Ricercare and Canzona by Frescobaldi is scheduled for performance by Pierre Boulez and the New York Philharmonic next year. Currently a professor of music at Columbia University, he also has taught at the University of California.

The Accademia Monteverdiana was founded in 1961 with Stevens as its president and artistic director. At that time the purpose of the organization was to prepare and perform authentic editions of masterpieces by the Italian composer Claudio Monteverdi. Since then, however, the organization has broadened its scope to include other areas of the pre-classical repertory.

The program here will include, in addition to works by Monteverdi, compositions by Vicentino, Luzzaschi, Rossi, Nenna, Gesualdo, Banchieri.

Folk Carvings Now On Exhibit At Fort Worth's Carter Museum

FORT WORTH — A selection of 151 folk carvings on loan from Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Cordry of Cuernavaca, Mexico, make up a new exhibition at the Amon Carter Museum of Western Art here.

The carvings were collected during more than 30 years' study of native Mexican cultures by the Cordrys, trained artists whose works in various art fields have been exhibited in Mexico and the United States.

The Cordrys found the carvings mostly in the Mexican states of Oaxaca, Morelos, Guerrero, Michoacan and Jalisco in Southwestern Mexico, and in Vera Cruz state on the Gulf Coast.

Authors of "Mexican Indian Costumes," a volume published in 1968 by The University of Texas Press, the Cordrys have been serious students of primitive and folk art since the 1930s, specializing in the cultures and handicrafts of the living Indians of Mexico. Selections from the Cordrys' Mexican Indian costumes were assembled into one of the Carter Museum's most successful exhibitions in 1968. A similar costume exhibition was presented at the Texas Tech Museum in Lubbock in 1971.

In their long study of Mexican masks, the Cordrys found that while many are the work of professional mask-makers — an

Talented Young Scot To Play Recital Here

Michael Chibbett, talented young Scottish organist and harpsichordist, will play a recital here Thursday night.

The 7:45 p.m. program in the sanctuary of First United Methodist Church is presented as a special offering of the music ministry of First UMC and will be open to the public without charge. Midland's West Texas chapter, American Guild of Organists, will hold a reception in the church parlor in Chibbett's honor following the program and the public may attend that event as well.

Chibbett currently is on his first concert tour of the United States. For his Midland recital, he has programmed harpsichord works by Thomas Morley, Jan Sweeickinck, Johann Jacob Froberger and J. S. Bach, as well as organ works by Bach, Haydn and Mozart.

Chibbett was educated at Alwyn's School in Dulwich and studied piano and organ privately before enrolling in the Royal College of Music, London, where he holds a diploma from the Royal Academy of Music as well as the Royal College, and also is the possessor of an honors degree from the University of London. He also is the recipient of various coveted prizes and honors in music. A scholarship for research into music of the Renaissance and Baroque led to a master's degree from Nottingham University, and later he received a scholarship from the Dutch government for a year's advanced study at the Amsterdam Conservatory with the noted harpsichordist and pedagogue Gustav Leonhardt.

In recent years, Chibbett has played programs on the Dutch radio as well as for the BBC, and he has played many recitals throughout Britain. He has appeared with the Nottingham Bach Society and in 1971 formed a small consort of instrumentalists to perform early music. He has participated in several international organ festivals and currently is engaged in research at the University of Edinburgh on the music of the Elizabethan composer Thomas Morley.

Crafts Show Continues

An intriguing new crafts show has gone on view at the Museum of the Southwest, continuing through Nov. 18.

The show, "The Persistent Crafts of Poland," is exhibited on the second floor of the museum's Turner Memorial Gallery, 1705 W. Missouri St.

It will be on view between 2 and 5 p.m. today, and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. each weekday. There is no admission charge.

Modern objects and photographs of traditional handmade products included in the new show reveal the persistence of craft skills in Poland. For centuries, craftsmen made and decorated objects in response to local daily needs. Now, surplus crafts extend the enjoyment of regional skills beyond the Polish borders.

Assembled to mark the 1973 Copernican Year, this exhibition pictorially presents the very substantial heritage of Polish culture. Photo and text panels explain and illustrate the types of handicrafts exhibited, from fragile painted eggs, hand-carved figures and woven baskets, to the proud, delicately embroidered costumes. The research and text for the exhibit was done by Richard E. Ahlborn, curator of ethnic and western cultural history at Washington's Smithsonian Institution. The artifacts and photographs are from his collections at that museum. The exhibition was funded by a grant from the Copernicus Society and is being circulated throughout the country by the Smithsonian Institution's traveling exhibition service.

'Jabberwock' Arts, Crafts Entries Being Received Today

A matinee performance of "Jabberwock," Midland Community Theatre's current attraction, will be presented at 2:30 p.m. today.

A special ticket rate of $1 will be in effect for Midland and area students for the performance. Tickets will be for sale at the Theatre Centre box office in advance of curtain time.

"Jabberwock," a new comedy by playwrights Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee, is based on the late American humorist James Thurber's recollections of his Ohio boyhood.

During the coming week, MAA members will be hanging art works and mounting sculpture and craft items accepted for inclusion in the annual event. Adjudicator for the show, Harry S. Parker III of Dallas, will be in Midland one day this week to select winning entries. More than $1,000 in cash awards will go to creators of the winning entries. New this year is a special $300 purchase award for an art work to go into the permanent collection of the Museum of the Southwest.

The exhibition will open to the public at noon next Sunday. Preceding the opening will be the annual preview and awards evening for MAA members, their guests and exhibitors. That event is scheduled for Saturday night.

Ballet Hispanico Due At McAllen

NEW YORK — Tina Ramirez's Ballet Hispanico of New York will open its 1974-75 touring season on Friday night in the McAllen Civic Center.

The program will feature a revival of Talley Beatty's "Congo Tango Palace," Louis Johnson's "Echoes of Spain" and works drawn from the traditions of Spain, Mexico, and the Caribbean. The program will be repeated Saturday night. The company will also appear in the Del Mar College auditorium in Corpus Christi on Oct. 29.

MCT Tryouts Begin Today

Tryouts for Midland Community Theatre's holiday production, "How the Other Half Lives," will take place at Theatre Centre today, Monday and Wednesday.

The Alan Ayckbourn comedy, a 1970 hit in London's West End, where it played for more than 20 months, and more recently a hit in New York, has parts for three men and three women. The MCT version will open Nov. 29 and play through Dec. 14.

Today's tryout session is scheduled for 2 p.m. in the Children's Room at Theatre Centre. The Monday and Wednesday sessions there will begin at 8 p.m. Newcomers to the city and environs are invited to come and read for a part, and MCT old hands also will be welcomed. Persons do not have to be members of MCT to work in the production.

The Mercedes-Benz 450SE. Will the others ever catch up?

Mercedes-Benz has always engineered automobiles which are years ahead of their time. The 450SE has moved Mercedes-Benz even farther ahead.

Come in and give one a careful examination in our showroom. You will see that the 450SE has developed the basic systems of the automobile to greater heights than any other sedan in Mercedes-Benz history.

You will see that on the outside, the 450SE Sedan is not as big as a full-sized American car. The only thing big about this Mercedes-Benz is the room inside. It's a full five-passenger sedan. Ask a salesman to show you its spacious trunk and to point out the unique gas tank location. This 25.4-gallon tank can give you about 400 miles of highway cruising range.

Performance and mileage Underneath that purposeful exterior there is a unique engine. There isn't another like it in any other make of passenger car in the world. This fuel injected, overhead cam V-8 is little bigger than the average American six-cylinder engine and about 40% smaller than the average-sized domestic V-8. But because of its efficiency, with this reasonably sized V-8 you don't pay a performance penalty to get good gas mileage.

Ask us about test driving a 450SE. The best way to appreciate its handling advancements is to compare your car to a 450SE. We think you will feel the difference. We also think that you will agree with us—the 450SE is years ahead of its time in every respect.

And consider this. An automobile which is years ahead of the rest today is far more likely to be a value while the others try to catch up tomorrow.

A GOOD PLACE TO SPEND YOUR WEEKEND.

On a long weekend a lot of drivers are so anxious to get out to those country breezes that they throw all caution to the wind. Because they're less cautious, it may pay for you to be a little more cautious. By driving a Volvo, for instance.

The Volvo body is so strong we've stacked seven Volvos on top of one another without crushing the one on the bottom. What gives Volvo this strength are the six steel pillars surrounding the passenger compartment and the thousands of spot welds holding the body together.

The trunk and engine compartments are designed differently. They crumple on impact at a pre-measured rate to absorb a collision before it reaches the passenger compartment.

On the side, steel anti-intrusion bars protect the passengers from lateral impact. And in front and back, hydraulic shock absorbers on the bumpers absorb low-speed collisions.

But Volvo doesn't just protect you from "the other guy." It can keep you from becoming "the other guy."

Disc brakes are designed to resist fading, even after repeated panic stops. So Volvo has disc brakes on all four wheels. And Volvo doesn't stop there. It has a braking system with two independent sets of three-wheel disc brakes. If one set fails, the other still gives you about 80% of your braking power.

Of course, driver fatigue can be just as dangerous as mechanical failure. So Volvo comes with bucket seats that let you concentrate on the road instead of the pain in your back. The seat-backs are infinitely adjustable with a special adjustment that allows them to be made firmer or softer.

And since you really can't concentrate on what's ahead of you when you're worried about what's behind you, Volvo has a rear window defroster. As well as rear door locks that children can't open from inside.

So when making plans for a long weekend, maybe you should plan on buying a Volvo.

There's nothing like being prepared for the holidays.

White Says State Voter Rolls May Be 20 Per Cent Too High

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Secretary of State Mark White says Texas' voter registration rolls may be inflated 10 to 20 per cent.

It has been estimated that almost 5.4 million names are on the present voter rolls prepared in each county.

White, the state's chief election officer, told the House subcommittee studying election law revision Friday that the "appearance of low voter turnout in Texas is partially attributable to overinflated registration rolls, which include the names of citizens no longer voting in the county in which they are registered."

"The purging system is almost totally ineffective. It requires the cooperation of too many people and too much money... The system also presents an always available opportunity for fraud."

White said the present system allows a voter's registration to be automatically renewed for three years from the day he votes. Therefore, White said, a voter's name can remain on the registration rolls in a county for three years although the voter may have moved or died shortly after the original registration.

Lola Bonner, representing the organization of Democratic county chairmen, said the present requirement is that county tax assessor-collectors must have concrete evidence of death or residence change before taking a name off the voter rolls.

"Although they know a person has moved out of town they can't purge that name without a letter from that person," she said.

Samuel Wright, a Republican precinct chairman in Harris County, said some surveys he made indicated that some voter lists were as much as 80 per cent incorrect.

Several witnesses said a return to the former system of annual voter registration would eliminate void names and keep the rolls up to date.

pay the money. Fulton also ordered the firm's assets held in trust and a receiver appointed to disburse to the bond buyers whatever money could be recovered.

The Securities and Exchange Commission had sought the action in a civil suit against the four defendants—company officers Robert J. Allen, Howard W. Alexander and Charles J. Diaz, and former salesman Thomas A. Preston.

The government said interest from the bonds and in many cases the bonds themselves were never received by investors. The revenue was supposed to have been supplied from a hydroponic peat moss plant at Tuskegee, Ala., which was being constructed by a subsidiary of Allen and Associates.

Witnesses testified during a five-day trial that they had been assured the bonds were backed by the Tuskegee city government and were insured both as to principal and interest.

Ex-POWs Big Losers
Fulton said "the proof was overwhelming" that neither claim was true.

Testimony revealed that at least four prisoners of war had made investments and one of the ex-POWs had purchased $100,000 in bonds, using salary that accrued while he was a captive.

Preston had represented himself as a Korean War POW and solicited sales with offers of tax-free "municipal" bonds that were fully guaranteed.

Diaz and Preston were ordered to pay into the restitution fund all commissions they received.

Gurney's attorneys had argued that the government was trying to humiliate the Florida Republican by requiring him to be photographed and fingerprinted by U.S. marshals.

The attorneys said Gurney's fingerprints already were on file with the government as a former serviceman and that his photograph had appeared "thousands of times" in newspapers.

But Krentzman said, "I think it is tremendously important that there be public confidence that there will be equal justice under the law."

Gurney, a member of the defunct Senate Watergate committee, was indicted last July on bribery, conspiracy and perjury charges by a grand jury that said he collected a $233,000 slush fund from builders seeking his influence with the Federal Housing Administration.

Watergate or because of some thing else."

Before the Watergate scandal, Guy said, defense lawyers never attacked the credibility of FBI agents testifying as prosecution witnesses because they felt it was impossible to convince a jury that an FBI agent would lie.

But defense lawyers now are testing the tactic more and more often, he said.

"Our counterattack is that we're trying this case and the jury must make its decision on the facts in this case alone," Day continued.

"We get it regularly and in a steady dose," said a Southern state prosecutor.

"They are using it. It's a problem. We were beat over the head with the Agnew case," said Ralph E. Guy Jr., the federal prosecutor in Detroit and vice chairman of the department's advisory committee of U.S. attorneys.

U.S. Atty. Robert E. J. Curran of Philadelphia said: "I think there is a residual effect. Most of it is an undercurrent—it's there but you don't talk about it. There's no question the government has suffered."

Many agree that government lawyers suddenly are facing surprisingly skeptical jurors.

"Since all the troubles began, we've lost a few cases that we can't really explain. We've had a few hung juries and can't really explain," said a western state prosecutor. "They may believe all the government witnesses are nutty because of Watergate or because of some thing else."

Sen. Gurney Same As Any Defendant, Judge Order Says

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Despite his argument that he is a prominent man with local roots, Sen. Edward J. Gurney must be photographed and fingerprinted like "any other defendant," a federal judge says.

U.S. District Judge Ben Krentzman on Friday gave "defendant Edward J. Gurney" 15 days to report to a U.S. marshal and comply with the order.

Gurney, a member of the defunct Senate Watergate committee, was indicted last July on bribery, conspiracy and perjury charges by a grand jury that said he collected a $233,000 slush fund from builders seeking his influence with the Federal Housing Administration.

Judge Orders Financial Firm Repay $4.5 Million

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A federal judge has ordered a Florida firm to repay $4.5 million to more than 300 persons, including some former Vietnam prisoners, saying they were victims of "a horrible, vicious fraud."

U.S. District Judge Charles Fulton said Friday the bond investors fell prey to a "diabolical scheme" by R. J. Allen and Associates to sell securities through "misleading and false statements."

He ordered three officers and a salesman for the firm to repay the money. Fulton also ordered the firm's assets held in trust and a receiver appointed to disburse to the bond buyers whatever money could be recovered.

Federal Prosecutors Claim Leniency To Nixon, Agnew Make Trials Harder

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Federal prosecutors say the leniency accorded Richard M. Nixon and Spiro T. Agnew has given accused criminals a new argument in their pleas for freedom.

U.S. attorneys from across the country said that defense lawyers are raising the Nixon and Agnew cases more and more often as they urge juries to acquit their clients and petition judges for light sentences.

Some prosecutors suspect that juries on occasion have refused to convict a defendant because of the handling of the Nixon and Agnew cases. But most say there is no sure way to determine what factors influence a jury's verdict.

The prosecutors said they see few signs that judges have changed their sentencing habits because of the Washington scandals.

The prosecutors assessed the impact of the scandals on their own cases in interviews during a four-day conference with Justice Department officials. Several asked not to be named.

The U.S. attorneys say they have arguments to counter a defense lawyer's plea for leniency based
