North Pecos Shallow Gas Strike Finals

C. F. Lawrence & Associates of Midland has completed its No. 1-V ARCO as a Yates-Seven Rivers gas discovery in Pecos County, eight miles southwest of Girvin.

It gauged a 24-hour calculated, absolute open flow potential of 840,000 cubic feet of dry gas, producing from open hole at 752 feet, where 935-inch casing is seated, and 1,480 feet, total depth.

Elevation is 2,457 feet, and the following tops were picked: Yates, 810; Seven Rivers, 1,150 and Queen, 1,320 feet.

Application to drill the well was filed by Wellaw Crop.

The well spots 1,732 feet from south and 467 feet from east lines of section 119, block 11, H&GN survey.

Kent Draws Two Probes

Safari Exploration Co. and Keith Wells of Abilene will drill two 7,000-foot wildcats in Kent County.

No. 1-A Atkins-Fleming spots 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 43, block K, T. A. Thomson survey, abstract 459, 13 miles south of Clairmont.

It is one mile southwest of the one-well Atkins-Fleming (Noodle Creek) field, which was opened in July, 1972, with completion of J. C. Barnes Oil Co. No. 1-A Atkins-Fleming, for 161 barrels of 42.2-gravity oil, daily, through perforations at 4,255-4,259 feet.

The firms' No. 1 Fleming-Atkins, 660 feet from north and 603 feet from west lines of section 24, N. J. Howard survey, nine miles south of Clairmont, is 1/2 mile northwest of No. 1 Atkins-Fleming, an active, scheduled 7,000-foot wildcat, which at last report was drilling below 3,321 feet in lime.

Wildcat Scheduled In Sutton Sector

Mitchell Energy Corp., Houston, will drill No. 3-11 Leo H. McMillan as a 6,400-foot Canyon prospector in Sutton County, 14 miles southeast of Sonora.

Location is 933 feet from north and east lines of section 11, block C, HE&WT survey, abstract 385, six miles east of the one-well Strawn area of the Sawyer multipay field.

Confirmer Seen In Ward Region

Second Fusselman well and a 1 1/4-mile northeast extension to that pay in the Quito, East field of Ward County was indicated with the flowing of gas at the rate of 13.5 million cubic feet daily, plus three to five barrels of fluid hourly, for 14 hours, at Gulf Oil Corp. No. 1-18-29 University Gas Unit.

Flow was through a 1/2-inch choke and perforations at 16,822.

Flooding, Twisters Lash State

Dutch Police Free Hostages At Prison

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — Dutch police and marines fired magnesium grenades early today to temporarily blind four convicts holding 15 persons hostage in a prison chapel, then captured the men and rescued the hostages unharmed.

"Several shots were fired in the air by the marines, but there were no casualties," Police Chief Albert Peijster said. "The operation was over in 15 minutes, officials said."

The hostages, who included two women, were taken to police headquarters and then to their homes. They had been captives since Saturday night, but a police spokesman said they were in "surprisingly good condition."

Convicts Jailed
The four convicts were hurried off to cells. One of them was a 23-year-old Palestinian guerrilla, Adnan Ahmad Nuri, serving a five-year sentence for helping to hijack and burn a British airliner last March. The other three were an Algerian and two Dutchmen, all serving terms for armed robbery.

The latter process took about 10 seconds. Psychiatrists had advised the police that the noise of the exploding grenades and the glaring light of the burning magnesium would cut the lock on the chapel door with acetylene torches.

The convicts had demanded a plane to take them to an undisclosed foreign country and also that Nuri's confederate in the March hijacking, Sami Houssein Tamimah, be allowed to join them. Justice Minister Andries van Agt told a news conference the government never intended to grant the demands.

No Details
Peijster and van Agt refused to give details of the rescue at Scheveningen prison "because we may have to do it again." But police sources gave this account: "The police waited until 4 a.m.

100 Homes Hit By Tornado At Sulphur Springs

By The Associated Press
Flooding struck hard at three Central Texas points Wednesday night and today while a tornado hit Sulphur Springs and another did some damage near Clarksville.

As many as 100 homes were damaged at Sulphur Springs. Roofs were ripped off some, carpents smashed at others and numerous windows broken by flying debris when the twister hit about 4:30 a.m. today.

Olin Petty, Sulphur Springs city manager, closed off two residential areas as workers sought to clean up the area.

No serious injuries were reported.

The Department of Public Safety said unidentified Sulphur Springs officials asked for state police help in securing damaged homes in the area. An undetermined number of troopers was dispatched to the town, the DPS said.

The tornado danced across the Northeast Texas city, including a portion of the business district in its path.

At Clarksville a little to the northeast of Sulphur Springs, what were described as tornadoes hit Bagwell and an area southeast of town, tearing up barns in each place. Clarksville was without power for about an hour.

Air Fare Increase Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board today granted a 4 per cent hike in domestic air fares effective Nov. 15 and announced it was making permanent an earlier 6 per cent hike it had approved on a temporary basis.

The 4 per cent hike was the third granted by the board for domestic flights since the fuel shortage began last winter. Air fares as of Nov. 15 will be 15 per cent higher than they were before the hike.

The 6 per cent hike, approved on a temporary basis last April 16, was due to expire today unless extended.

The airlines requested the fare hikes because of higher fuel costs and general inflation. No objections to the hike were filed and the board approved the increase by a 3-2 vote.

The 6 per cent hike means fare between Washington and Los Angeles, for example, will rise of $184 from $177.

Nixon Signs Still Stable

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon's doctor says it is too early to make a long-range prediction on the health of the former president.

But Dr. John C. Lungren said Wednesday that Nixon's vital signs have stabilized, although doctors say they are now studying Nixon's condition to determine whether he is suffering from slow internal bleeding.

he remains on the critical list.

Nixon lapsed into vascular shock following urgent surgery for phlebitis Tuesday. Doctors worked for three hours to restore stable blood circulation.

Nixon's former presidential news secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, told newsmen, meanwhile, that the 61-year-old ex-president came very close to death during the postoperative emergency.

Israelis Shell Refugee Camp

By The Associated Press
Israeli military commandos yesterday shelled a Palestinian refugee camp on the southern Lebanese coast early today, and Palestinian guerrillas claimed five civilians were killed and 13 were injured.

The Israeli military commandos said the target was a "terrorist base" inside the Rashidiyeh refugee camp about nine miles north of the Israel-Lebanese border.

No Return Fire
The attack was part of Israel's "systematic offensive war against the terrorists," the Israeli command said. It added there was no return fire and all the boats returned safely.

It was the first Israeli naval raid since May 19. The Rashidiyeh camp was the target then, too.

Arab gunners later fired several rockets into the Israeli border settlement of Biranit. The Israeli commandos said no casualties were reported.

United Way Drive At 81 Per Cent

The Midland United Way campaign scored past the 80 per cent mark today as volunteer workers attended their sixth report meeting.

Campaign manager Bill Malone announced a total of $437,187 in pledges and contributions have been received thus far, or 81 per cent of the $538,400 goal.

Employees of Citizen's Savings & Loan Association were honored with an Award of Merit accepted by Spencer Blocker.

C. P. Sanders accepted a plaque on behalf of senior citizen volunteers.

The meeting was in The First National Bank.

The final report meeting is scheduled for Nov. 14 with a victory meeting Dec. 5 wrapping up this year's campaign.

256 Vote Early

County Clerk Rosnell Cherry said today 256 persons had voted absentee through Wednesday evening in preparation for the Nov. 5 election and an additional 108 mail-out ballots had been sent to persons unable to be in Midland election day.

Deadline for appearing in person to vote absentee or requesting a mail-out is 5 p.m. Friday. Mrs. Cherry said the mail-out ballots could be accepted through return mail until 1 p.m. election day.

Magruder Sticks By Story

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Nixon campaign aide Jeb Stuart Magruder stuck by his story today that John N. Mitchell had approved a political intelligence plan that led to the Watergate break-in. But he described it as "never an enthusiastic approval."

Plato Cacheris, attorney for Mitchell, the former U.S. attorney general, questioned Magruder closely about the meeting on March 30, 1972, in Key Biscayne, Fla., at which Magruder — former deputy director of Richard M. Nixon's presidential re-election committee — has said Mitchell approved the political intelligence plan.

Under cross-examination by Cacheris, Magruder, the third prosecution witness in the Watergate cover-up trial, said that at first Mitchell asked: "Couldn't we delay the plan?"

Cited Interest
Magruder said after he cited increasing interest in the plan from the White House. "I have a recollection of Mr. Mitchell saying to me, not in an enthusiastic way — it was never an enthusiastic approval — something like, go ahead and give them the $250,000 and let's see what they come up with."

The start of today's session was delayed almost one hour by a conference in U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica's office attended by prosecution and defense lawyers. None of the participants would say what the meeting concerned.

At the start of his cross-examination of Magruder, Cacheris asked the witness about times he has admitted lying under oath, including when he was a witness at the Watergate break-in trial in January 1973.

"Did you speak words of perjury to the jury?" asked Cacheris.

"Yes, sir," replied Magruder. "John Mitchell didn't speak those words for you, did he?" asked the defense attorney.

Mitchell is one of five former Nixon administration and campaign aides charged with conspiring to thwart the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

The other defendants are former White House aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, former assistant Atty. Gen. Robert C. Marland and Kenneth W. Parkinson, one-time lawyer for the Nixon re-election committee.

Defense attorneys indicated Wednesday that their cross-examination of Magruder would take a full day. The next prosecution witness is scheduled to be Robert Reisman, Magruder's assistant at the re-election committee.

Cacheris focused his questioning of Magruder on the former campaign aide's admitted perjury on numerous occasions before he began cooperating with prosecutors in April 1973, and on his use of $6,000 in re-election committee funds.

Cacheris drew from Magruder confirmation that he had told FBI agents April 19, 1973, that prior to the June 17, 1972, break-in "you had not received one dime from the committee to re-elect the president other than salary."

Riots Paralyze Saigon

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — More than 2,000 anti-government demonstrators battled with riot police in Saigon today in the most violent protest against President Nguyen Van Thieu since he came to power nearly 10 years ago.

Scores of persons were reported injured.

The police crackdown after two months of mounting protests began at dawn with raids on a Vietnamese press center and a church where an activist Roman Catholic priest, the Rev. Tran Huu Thanh, had organized a demonstration.

Steel-helmeted riot troops beat at least two Catholic priests, several anti-Thieu members of the National Assembly and a number of Vietnamese newsmen.

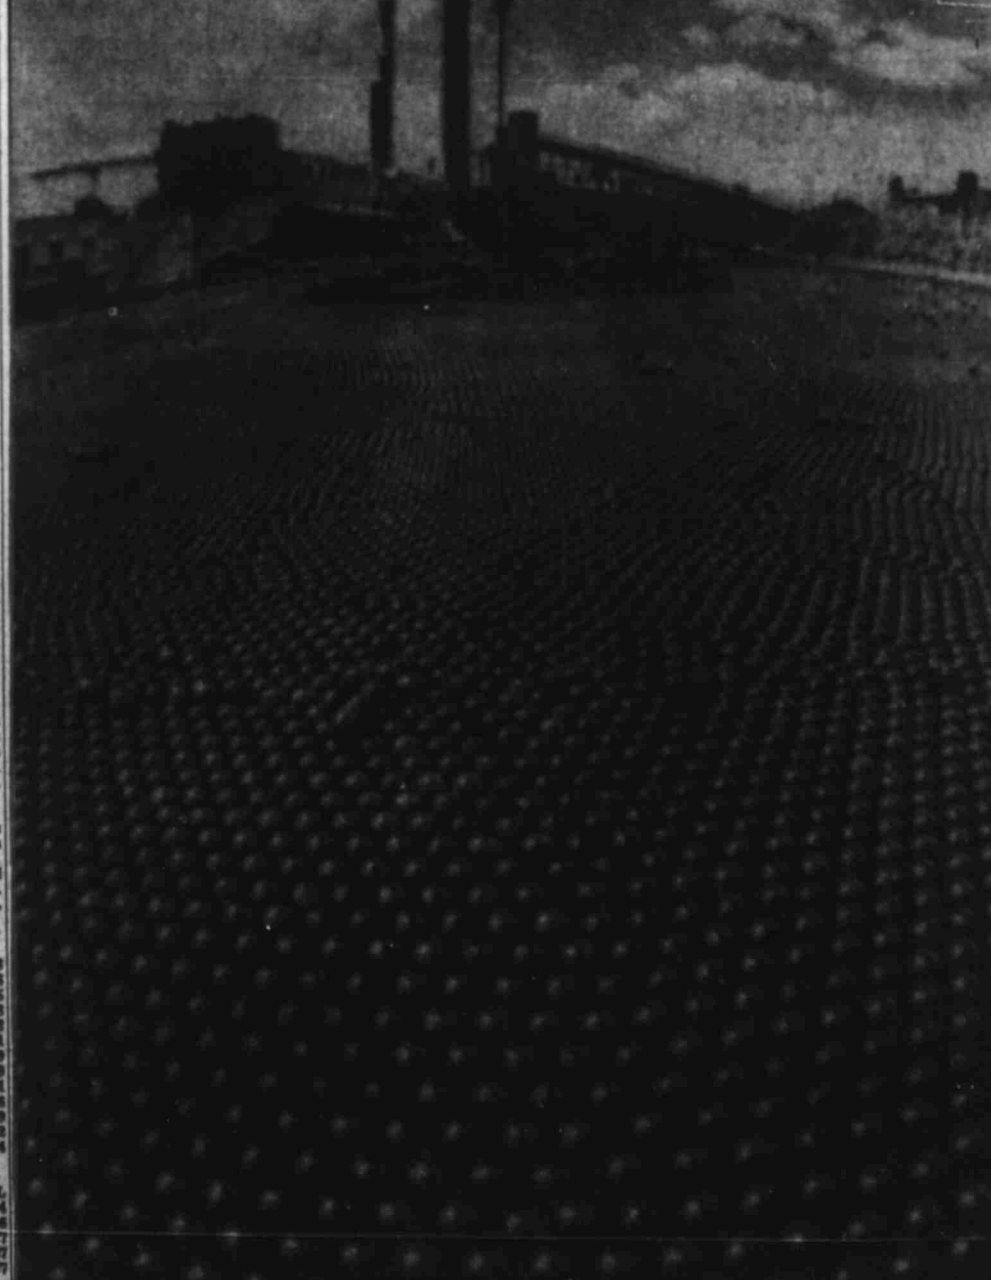

Father Thanh's Catholic Anti-Corruption Movement, which has been leading the protests, demanded Thieu's immediate resignation.

After the raids, the police barricaded main streets leading to the center of the city. But the demonstrators persisted in attempts to march to the National Assembly building. They battled the police with rocks, fists and a few gasoline bombs at six points.

The violence paralyzed the city of three million people. Only the demonstrators and the police were on the streets. Stores and businesses closed for the day, and the general mood was one of fear and apprehension.

Thieu canceled a meeting with five former American prisoners of war and six commanders of U.S. veterans' organizations. They had been invited to Saigon in an effort to drum up support in the United States for more aid to the Thieu government.

Hospital Announces $10 Increase In Daily Patient Service Charge

Midland Memorial Hospital announced today it will increase its daily service charge to patients by $10 a day Friday.

In the last three months, Midland Memorial Hospital has experienced a sizeable operating loss, Marshall S. McCrea Jr., president of the Board of Trustees, stated today.

"This loss is directly attributable to a continued escalation in operating expenses," he said, citing such increases as 120 per cent in the cost of linens, 30 per cent for cotton products and disposable dressings, 25 per cent in plastic products, 17 per cent in food products and 30 per cent in drugs.

"In addition to these costs, Midland Memorial makes salary adjustments by anniversary dates for its 375 employees," he continued.

"We are not tax-supported and cannot operate at a loss and still render a high level of health care.

"The trustees did not hastily decide on this course of action," McCrea continued. "Rather, it came on the advice of our auditors after a long, thorough study of Midland Memorial's financial situation to date and a realistic projection of our fiscal needs in the months ahead," he explained.

"By implementing this increase, the hospital anticipates being able to operate on a sound financial basis and to meet the price escalation of goods and therefore continue to provide high quality health care," McCrea said.

"We are by definition and classification a community hospital," Administrator Wayne E. Ulrich said. "The sole purpose of Midland Memorial is to serve the health care needs of the people of this community as well as others throughout the Permian Basin who use our services.

"To each of these people, health care — the best possible health care — is a right and it is the responsibility of this hospital to ensure that right," the administrator stated.

"This was not an easy decision for our board nor is this announcement a pleasant one for me," Ulrich said, "but it is a necessary one if Midland Memorial Hospital is to continue to meet the health care needs of this community and surrounding area."

As of Friday, daily service charges for the non-profit non-tax-supported hospital will be as follows: 4-bed wards, $48; average semi-private rooms, $62.50; average private rooms, $60.50; suites, $75; intensive care unit, $102; and coronary care unit, $132.

It was learned this morning that Pendleton immediately telephoned police after receiving the call from his home at 10 a.m. Police had roadblocks set up within minutes at strategic points around the city.

Pendleton took the money to his home about 11 a.m., but when he arrived the men were gone and he found his wife bound with sash cord but unharmed.

"We were very lucky and fortunate to get out of this with no one being hurt," Pendleton said this morning. "Mrs. Pendleton is all right and seems composed," he added.

Police and agents of the FBI questioned Mr. and Mrs. Pendleton further today.

The Midland office of the FBI has only two agents, but several others have been called in to help with the investigation.

Wallace said this morning that when the roadblocks were set up "we stayed many blocks away from the Pendleton home because we wanted to make sure we didn't scare the men into harming Mrs. Pendleton."

Det. Capt. Sid Corley is handling the office investigation, while Det. Lt. Earl Luckey is handling the field work, Wallace said.

PPG Plant Engineering Reports Behind Schedule

Engineering reports are two months behind schedule for the Pittsburgh Plate Glass facility to be built here, directors of the Midland Chamber of Commerce were told Wednesday.

Martin Allday, chairman of the Midland Industrial Foundation, told the chamber of officials construction on the facility should be completed by 1976. He said the engineering study would be finished by January 1975.

Chamber president Kenny Jastrow praised the efforts of Paul Rea and his 70-member "phonathon" task force for their success in last week's membership drive. Jastrow said more than 100 new chamber members were added in the drive, a record.

Jastrow also praised the efforts of Gordon Knox, head of the Midland Visual Improvement Project. Jastrow said the VIP committee has raised $10,000 for its tree planting project in Downtown Midland.

He said the trees would probably be pecans and would cost about $200 each, including planting. Jastrow urged more contributions from local business and citizens and also asked Mayor Ernest Angelo if the city might contribute to the project. VIP plans to plant at least 150 trees, he said.

Bill Mewhorter, Early Bird Breakfast chairman, said the October breakfast was a huge success and said the next Early Bird Breakfast would be held Nov. 21 at Connor's Banquet Room in the Village.

Harry Clark, Legislative Committee chairman, said a special dinner would be held Dec. 5 for State Sen. W. E. "Pete" Soelison and State Rep. Tom Craddock in the Petroleum Club. Clark said other winners in various West Texas political state races would also be invited to the banquet. Both Soelison and Craddock are opposed in Tuesday's election.

Big Spring Firm Submits Low Bid

BIG SPRING — A Big Spring firm, J. W. Little Construction Co., has been awarded the contract for the construction of a new headquarters building for the Colorado Municipal Water District.

Little's low bid was $279,000 for the 8,300-square-foot structure. The construction will take approximately 200 calendar days.

Other costs — such as furnishings, flooring, paving and land — will probably run the total cost to $400,000, officials said.

White House Session Accomplishes Little—

Cattlemen and dairy producers met with Agriculture Department officials today — just one day after an almost two-hour white House session with President Ford that one cattlemen said produced "nothing concrete."

James Traweck, a dairyman and resident of a Texas beef and dairy producers group referred to the session between President Ford and livestock, dairy, and poultry producers as "kind of a publicity stunt."

Traweck said the group got together at 10 a.m. today, with Undersecretary of Agriculture Phil Campbell, who met with Texas beef and dairy producers last week in Stephenville.

Traweck expressed disappointment over the fact that the meeting was attended by about 35 different producers representing all segments of the nation's livestock industry.

Ford spent one hour and 25 minutes at the session with the livestock representatives, joined by Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, Rep. Robert Price, R-Tex., and others.

Traweck recommended to Ford that the government take immediate action to end grain exports, increase milk price supports and curtail meat imports.

Traweck said the President seemed more understanding than Butz, but did not make any statement on what he could do now.

"I'm sure it had to do with the Nov. 5th election," the dairyman said. "He can't afford to stick his neck out for the farmers right now."

Horace McQueen of Troup, Tex., said "nothing concrete" came out of the meeting.

"We got our egos massaged, but my wife can massage my ego," he said. He said he had expected the President to give some hope that the industry would improve.

Twisters, Flooding Harass Texas Areas

communities of Harker Heights and Nolanville during the night and early morning. Police reported one of three soldiers swept off a bridge in a car was still missing hours later.

A helicopter was called in to aid the ground search for the missing lieutenant, identified as Charles May, who was stationed with the 2nd Armored Division at Ft. Hood. Two companions in the same car with May were rescued after clinging to three tops for an hour.

Muddy waters surged up to five feet deep as the stream invaded two Killen trailer parks, swept away four mobile homes and damaged a number of others, police reported. Rescuers used boats to rescue about 30 people in Harker Heights and up to 500 were evacuated there and at Nolanville, police dispatcher Robert Brinton estimated.

Four engines and three box cars of a Missouri-Pacific freight train were derailed south of Denton when flood waters washed out the track embankment.

The train's engineer and brakeman were rescued by a boat manned by Denton County Sheriff's deputies.

A 35-year-old woman was injured when her mobile home flipped over during a heavy thunderstorm near McGregor in Central Texas. She was in satisfactory condition this morning in a Waco hospital.

In the Trading House Creek community south of Waco, high winds destroyed a barn, ripped off the roof of one house and overturned a mobile home. No injuries were reported.

Winds damaged numerous other mobile homes around the Waco area, authorities reported.

A flood warning was issued by the National Weather Service for Aquilla Creek in Central Texas. The creek was expected to crest about five feet over flood stage before falling this afternoon.

Near cloudbursts — losing rain at rates up to four inches per hour — caused the National Weather Service to issue flood warnings for one county after another all through the night. The downpours continued this morning and appeared to be particularly heavy in North and Central Texas.

Several other tornadoes also were spotted between midnight and dawn, capping a night in which twisters dealt several hundred thousand dollars damage to the airport and light damage to a home at Georgetown in Central Texas, span through the Gainesville area in North Texas to inflict about $100,000 in damage, and a pair of them hit near Cisco in West Central Texas, damaging a trailer home.

Georgetown airport manager Jim Boutwell said two big hangars were wrecked and part of another was left standing. He said the loss ran high because of damage to two twin-engine planes and several smaller aircraft.

Near Gainesville authorities reported an elderly woman was injured in the town of Valley View, where rescuers dug her free from beneath the debris of her home. A second twister hit in the south part of the town, causing major damage to five houses and harming 12 less seriously. The roof of one was blown into the high school but there apparently were no other injuries.

Four miles west of Gainesville, Elm Creek surged out of banks as heavy rain followed the two tornadoes in that area. Firemen helped occupants of 10 homes to safety.

The wild weather broke out along and ahead of a cool front which invaded the state Wednesday and crawled eastward, colliding with a mass of warm and humid air over Central and East Texas. By early today the forward edge of the cooler air lay along a line from Dallas to Junction.

Official observers said fresh deluges falling onto the already soaked countryside heightened the danger of flash floods in many areas.

Sharp rises were reported as deep into the state as South Central Texas along the Guadalupe, Nueces and Rio rivers. Water covered low-water crossings in places.

Rainfall amounts included up to 7 inches from Bridgeport to Gainesville, more than 6 inches around Eagle Mountain Lake northwest of Fort Worth, 5.08 inches at Mineral Wells, 4.5 inches between Mexia and Temple and 2 to 4 inches between Hillsboro and Ft. Hood.

Behind the forward edge of the cool front temperatures in early morning dropped to 37 degrees at Marfa in the West Texas mountains and 29 at Dalhart in the Panhandle. At the same hour it was still a warm 76 at McAllen and Victoria in the south part of the state.

fuse, frighten and blind the convicts for at least that long.

Fifteen marines and policemen wearing bulletproof vests rushed through the door. The convicts, who were armed with two pistols and several spring knives, were taken completely by surprise. They did not fire a shot.

The hostages, most of whom were members of a neighborhood choir that performs regularly at the prison, waved to newsmen as they were driven away in a bus.

The four convicts took over the chapel Saturday night during Mass and held 22 persons hostage, including the priest, two prison guards, three women and four children. They released a 73-year-old man, a woman and the four children on Sunday and Monday and another man with heart trouble on Wednesday.

Midland Reporter-Telegram had collected .58 inch overnight.

Stanton recorded the most rain of the Midland-area communities, with 1.2 inches by this morning. Andrews and Big Lake had .35 and .34 respectively, with only a trace on the records at Big Spring.

Lamesa caught .80 during the night, and Sterling City received .75. Rankin officials said they recorded .20 inch.

No more rain was mentioned in the Midland forecast and no important temperature changes were expected. The high mercury reading for this afternoon should range near 70, followed by an overnight low in the middle 40s and a high Friday in the low 70s.

Wednesday's high reading was 73 degrees and the overnight low was 49.

Johnson Addresses Optimists Meeting

Sgt. Fred Johnson of the Midland Police Department spoke on crime prevention and home security at the Wednesday noon meeting of the Westside Optimist Club in the Elks Club Lodge.

At the meeting, Bill Sherman, a chairman of the club's youth appreciation program, advised members Mark Washington of the Dallas Cowboys will be guest speaker at the youth appreciation banquet, scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Nov. 12 in Ranchland Hill Country Club.

Cattlemen Huddle With USDA Officials

STPHENVILLE, Tex. (AP)— Texas cattlemen and dairy producers met with Agriculture Department officials today — just one day after an almost two-hour white House session with President Ford that one cattlemen said produced "nothing concrete."

James Traweck, a dairyman and resident of a Texas beef and dairy producers group referred to the session between President Ford and livestock, dairy, and poultry producers as "kind of a publicity stunt."

Traweck said the group got together at 10 a.m. today, with Undersecretary of Agriculture Phil Campbell, who met with Texas beef and dairy producers last week in Stephenville.

Traweck expressed disappointment over the fact that the meeting was attended by about 35 different producers representing all segments of the nation's livestock industry.

Ford spent one hour and 25 minutes at the session with the livestock representatives, joined by Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, Rep. Robert Price, R-Tex., and others.

Traweck recommended to Ford that the government take immediate action to end grain exports, increase milk price supports and curtail meat imports.

Traweck said the President seemed more understanding than Butz, but did not make any statement on what he could do now.

"I'm sure it had to do with the Nov. 5th election," the dairyman said. "He can't afford to stick his neck out for the farmers right now."

Horace McQueen of Troup, Tex., said "nothing concrete" came out of the meeting.

"We got our egos massaged, but my wife can massage my ego," he said. He said he had expected the President to give some hope that the industry would improve.

Glenn Deen of Amarillo, president of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association, said he wasn't sure how much assistance Ford could offer, but said the primary help will come from controlling inflation.

Deen said he thought the meeting exposed representatives of the livestock and poultry industries to the views of others and allowed federal officials to give their views on trade and nation's balance of payments situation.

The President said he would consider all the recommendations concerning import restrictions on beef and limitation of grain exports.

McQueen cited figures showing that one of every nine pounds of beef sold across the counter to consumers is imported.

Dan F. Magdanze, of the National Livestock Feeders Association of Omaha, Neb., said the industry was in "a serious financial squeeze." He suggested that labor union restrictions on the sale and packaging of beef at the point of slaughter be ended to cut middleman cost of almost eight cents per pound at retail levels.

Cattlemen and agricultural experts were expected to meet in Mineral Wells today for a beef seminar sponsored by the Palo Pinto County Agricultural Extension Service and other agencies.

The North Central Texas ranchers will meet with experts in cattle marketing, nutrition and health.

Sweaters Wrap Up Fall Fashions This Year, Says Clothing Expert

COLLEGE STATION — Sweaters are back in fashion this fall, more popular than ever, one clothing specialist reported this week.

She's Marlene Odle, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System.

"This fall's looks include cardigans and vests for misses; skivvies and vests for juniors; and cardigans and vests for men.

"The fabrics are knitted acrylics, polyesters, and wool blends. Colors are pastels, greens and rusts," she noted.

One sweater set can mix and match with tailored shirts and blouses, scarves, below-the-knee skirts and straight-legged pants, she suggested.

"The glitter sweaters with gold and silver metallic threads are popular for holiday wear, but are usually more expensive than the acrylic shell or cardigan. Try coordinating a new glitter sweater with last year's skirt for this year's holiday look," Miss Odle advised.

"A plain pull-over turns into a dramatic top if it's made in a lacy, gauzy, pointelle or crochet style, she noted.

"Another current trend is the fur-trimmed jacket sweater. They are being made in black, beige and white to be used as a dress-up jacket over everything. Wear it in place of a coat," she said.

Use Charcoal

Garden flowers, such as zinnias, marigolds, and asters, when cut will often give the water in their vase an unpleasant odor. A piece of charcoal dropped in the vase can eliminate this odor. This makes decorating the house with these flowers more pleasant.

Secretaries Plan Seminar Session

BIG SPRING — The Big Spring Chapter of the National Secretaries Association (International) will sponsor an educational seminar for secretaries and office workers Nov. 9 in the Ramada Inn.

The theme will be "Understanding Human Behavior."

Registration for the seminar will begin at 8:30 a.m. The program will begin promptly at 9 a.m. and will end at 3 p.m.

All area secretaries and office workers are invited to attend. Registrations may be made with Mrs. Mary Thomas, 1609 Stadium St., Big Spring, 79720.

Dear Abby

Secret Desire About To Destroy Him

DEAR ABBY: I am a 23-year-old white male nurse. I love sports and excelled in track. I was saved by the grace of Jesus Christ two years ago. I read my Bible daily and sing in the gospel choir.

Even though I am a born-again Christian, I am miserable. All my life I have wanted to be a woman. I would love to be on the U.S. Women's Olympic Track team. I can cook, sew and type. I have never cared anything about mechanics, engineering or any of the so-called masculine careers. I hate hunting and fishing. I never could kill a living thing.

Abby, this secret desire to be a woman is about to destroy me. I am not a homosexual, but I'd give anything to have a sex change operation. Where is this done? Is it against the law? I will go anywhere. I'd rather be dead than continue living like this.

Abby, if the Lord really loves me, why did He give me a man's body when I feel and think like a woman? I have been this way all my life. Please, help me!

SAVED BUT DIFFERENT

DEAR ABBY: The Lord created all of us, and why He made you "different" I do not know. Nature sometimes makes biological blunders, as is the case when one's body does not conform with his (or her) natural feelings. You are not alone. Don't feel guilty. One cannot help what he feels.

I believe that knowledge, skill and talent are divinely inspired, and that those scientists, physicians and surgeons whose combined efforts have made sex-change operations possible do so with God's guidance. For information about sex-reassignment and related problems, write to The Erickson Foundation, 1627 Moreland Ave., Baton Rouge, La., 70806.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing a paper on modern marriage and would appreciate your help. From the wife's point of view, what is the most common complaint about her husband?

From the husband's point of view, what is the most common complaint about the wife?

DEAR B.H.: The wife's Number One complaint: "My husband doesn't appreciate me." The husband's Number One complaint: "She nags me."

DEAR ABBY: My wife is a fraud. About four years ago I made a deal with her. I told her if she would quit smoking I would buy her a pair of diamond earrings she wanted very much.

She agreed to quit, and I bought her the earrings. I should tell you that we had been married for 30 years and I thought I could trust her. Well, a year ago I caught her smoking. She said she really hadn't started to smoke again, but she'd take a cigarette "occasionally" to keep her from eating between meals because she was trying to keep her weight down. At that time she gave me her word that she wouldn't smoke again.

I am almost certain that she is smoking behind my back, but I haven't caught her at it yet. If I can prove that she's smoking should I sell the earrings to teach her a lesson?

UNHAPPY

DEAR UNHAPPY: No. But ask her to hand them over, and put them away as an incentive for her to swear off again.

Theatre Members Meet For Party

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sexton, 2309 Fannin St., provided the setting Saturday for a party for cast and crew members of Midland Community Theatre's latest production, "Jabberwock."

A parody of the play, written and presented by the crew, was a highlight of the evening. A parody party is traditionally held following the closing night performance of each MCT play. This gives the backstage workers an opportunity to poke fun at the play and the cast members.

Following the crew's parody, the women who portrayed the Thurber aunts in the play gave their own version of the production.

Ham Hock hats were presented to the following for chairing their first production: Mrs. Donald McClurg, props; Mrs. George Goebel, painting; and John Tyler, lights. Jim Veigel was awarded a Ham Hocks lighter for his first stint as stage manager. Bob Mayberry, who was recently named "Ham Hock of the Year," made the presentations.

A special guest at the party was Bill Marvel, staff writer with "The National Observer." He was in Texas to visit the Alley Theatre in Houston and Midland Community Theatre.

A midnight supper was served to approximately 90 guests.

HOME FROM EUROPE — Jeanie Wade, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wade, and Belinda Berry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Berry, recently returned from a 45-day visit in Europe. The trip was a graduation gift for the girls. Miss Wade is a 1974 graduate of Lee High School, and Miss Berry was graduated this year from Midland High School. The girls visited in the home of former Midlanders, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mullins in London, England. They made trips from London to Louth, England, and Scotland.

Miss Thompson, Kenneth Randall Rollo Married In San Marcos Church

SAN MARCOS — Jeannette Ann Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien O. Thompson, 1501 W. Pecan St., Midland, and Kenneth Randall Rollo, son of Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Rollo of San Antonio, were married at 4 p.m. Saturday in St. Mark's Episcopal Church.

The Rev. James E. Folts officiated for the double ring ceremony.

Peggy Thompson of Midland was maid of honor for her sister Daniel Guerra of San Marcos was the best man.

Leonard Traina and Edward Steele of San Antonio were the groomsmen.

Organist for the ceremony was Frances Mitchum.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of natural-colored muslin with a lace cotton apron. The couple will reside.

Lawyers' Wives Luncheon Held

The Midland Lawyers Wives Club had a "Christmas-Showplace Luncheon in October" recently in La Bodega Restaurant.

Displayed were oil paintings, macrame, hand-painted plaques, papier-mache figurines, Indian artifacts, decoupage, crochet, decorated bread baskets, Christmas ornaments, wreaths, corn husk dolls, pottery decorated shirts and patchwork quilts.

Artisans participating were Mrs. Vincent Vetter, Mrs. Jerry McNeil, Mrs. Troy Squires, Mrs. Gordon Marcum, Mrs. Daniel Secker, Mrs. L. C. Thomas Jr., Mrs. Jimmy Holt, Mrs. Alton McCarty, Mrs. Chester Barker, Mrs. Theron Vaughn, Mrs. Edwin Walger, Mrs. Leon Pickett, Mrs. William F. Greene, Mrs. Chock Williams, Mrs. Ed Heath, Mrs. Jerry Watson, Mrs. Richard Smith, Mrs. Joe L. Smith, Mrs. Joe Morse, Mrs. Marilyn Todd and Newcomers Garden Club members.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Durwood Goolsby, president, and Mrs. Walter Hall, social chairman. Members of the social committee were in charge of arrangements.

The next meeting of the club will be "The Great Gatsby Party" Nov. 21 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Laughlin, 914 Bedford Drive.

Casserole Dish

In a two-quart casserole dish, combine one can of cheese soup, two cups diced frankfurters, one teaspoon caraway seed, salt to taste, one can Italian green beans, one-half cup diced onions and one and one-third cups quick rice and one and one-half cups boiling water. Bake in a preheated 400 degree oven for fifteen minutes. Serves six.

Extra Touch

Serve apple fritters with chicken or ham. A little maple syrup added to the apple fritters is just the extra touch needed.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Cloudy Decanter Won't Clear Up

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Editor's Association

DEAR POLLY — I have two wine decanters. One is clear but the other is very cloudy. I have tried using ammonia, sand and alcohol but none had any effect on the cloudy decanter. I hope some reader can tell me how to get rid of this. Both decanters have very long narrow necks. It is impossible to get any kind of brush or cloth inside.

DEAR POLLY — I shop in several different supermarkets. My Pet Peeve is that the "direction" signs designating the aisles where different products are sold are situated halfway down the aisle and so high up it is difficult to read them looking up at a light. I do not see why these signs could not be positioned near the end of the aisle and more nearly at eye level. — J.R.G.

DEAR POLLY — Maralee should be able to remove all that greasy grime from her hanging lamp chains with kerosene. Just dip a cloth in the kerosene and wring it out. I have never seen it fail with a bit of rubbing. One part kerosene and two parts water also will really make windows bright. — IVA.

GIRLS: Be very careful while working with kerosene—POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — Wornout nylon hose are great for cleaning rings out of the bathtub. Cut off the foot, shred the rest of the stocking and then stuff it into the foot and tie a knot at the end. Nylon must be slightly abrasive as it is great for this and for cleaning other appliances around the house, even washing the car. Try washing dishes with it, too. The nylon rinses out clear and does not sour. — MRS. C.W.

DEAR POLLY — In these ecology-conscious days I answer simple business letters at home by replying on the back of the letter and am saved both time and money. — IRENE.

DEAR POLLY — I truly believe this world would be a nicer place in which to live if we all had the same outlook on life as a lady I knew some years ago. Each year she would buy 365 post cards and each day would choose someone who had done something particularly nice that day and send a card to the person expressing her appreciation or congratulations. The recipient might be a neighbor, a child, a member of her family or head of state.

In these days when criticism comes so easy to most of us such cards would be pleasant surprises to the recipients. My friend was not trying to be a Pollyanna but was only acknowledging the good in others. One always enjoyed being with her. We could benefit from her outlook on life even without the cards. — BEE.

Reagans Host Chapter Party

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Reagan, 3208 Stutz St., hosted recently a wine tasting party for members of Alpha Iota Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, their husbands and guests.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Overstreet and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Richer. Members, husbands and guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Monte Allison, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Blex, Pauline Gwyn, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Reagan, Norma Risinger and Ralph Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Smith and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Whittle.

Susan Allenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Allenson, 2507 Goddard St., was honored recently with a spaghetti supper given by Lyn Boyd, 2605 Maxwell Drive. Miss Boyd was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Marvin C. Boyd.

Miss Allenson will be moving to London, England, in November. She was presented a corsage and address book, which was signed by the guests. The guests were Marilyn Dwyer, John Owen, Barbara Lowe, Steve Brosig, Mary Ann Miller, Joel Peacock, Greg Howard, Sherri Clark, Rob Hinton, Jeff Sapyta, Elizabeth Richardson, Jeff Laufer and Tommy Scott.

Texas Baptists Move To Remedy World's Hunger Needs

By MIKE COCHRAN
 AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Texas Baptists hammered out details of their war on world hunger and other issues today as they approached the end of their 89th annual meeting.

Messengers to the Baptist General Convention of Texas were expected to approve a resolution calling upon all members to skip a meal a week and donate a dollar weekly to meeting world hunger needs.

"In light of the urgent world need and clear scriptural teaching, we must assume our Christian responsibility," the group's social justice arm said in an appeal to the membership.

"We plead with every Texas Baptist to re-examine critically his own lifestyle. We challenge every citizen to urge congressional representatives and senators to pass responsible legislation immediately.

"We call upon every church to reorder their economic priorities to provide a continuing support system for world hunger relief."

Leaders of the two-million-member organization devoted much of their week-long effort to probing the international food shortage problem, linking American eating habits to hunger for others.

While hunger was a continuing theme, the issues of abortion, women's rights and the charismatic movement emerged as potential areas of debate as the meeting moved to a conclusion.

A Dallas minister, the Rev. Billy Jaroy, introduced a resolution Wednesday urging the voluntary withdrawal of those who "express or imply an attitude of spiritual superiority by their misrepresentation of certain charismatic gifts, such as faith healing and glossolalia (speaking in tongues), thus disrupting the fellowship of our churches."

And a Plano woman, Mrs. Joe Applewhite, offered a proposal calling for the Texas Legislature to review its approval of the Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

She said she favors equal rights for women but that the amendment is too sweeping and raises the possibility of causing more problems than it solves.

The Baptists put the stamp of approval on a $20.6-million budget for 1975, re-elected the Rev. Ralph Smith of Austin as president and chose Carlos McLeod of Plainview as a first vice president.

They accepted the challenge also to win 100,000 people to Christ next year and, by their silence, indicated approval of a somewhat controversial book, "Pornography: the Sexual Mirage."

The book, mailed to 4,200 Baptist ministers, aroused considerable attention and its author flew to Amarillo earlier in the week to defend his work against an attack that never materialized.

As the meeting neared its end, the group's top administrative officer, Dr. James Landes, urged Baptists to speak out in behalf and in defense of the church.

"The church is the object of constant criticism and the target of merciless abuse," he said. "A furious war has always been waged against the people of God."

"I know there are those who sneer at the church, slander the church, trample on the church; but the deadliest enemy we have is subversive inactivity inside the church."

Many Will Pay More

WASHINGTON (AP) — Millions of Americans will pay higher Social Security taxes next year, with additional payroll withholding as high as $2.85 for employees earning $14,100 or more.

The increase takes effect automatically under Social Security legislation enacted by Congress in 1972 and 1973.

There will be no change in the present Social Security tax rates of 5.85 per cent each for employee and 7.9 per cent for the self-employed. However, the tax will be levied on the first $14,100 of each wage earner's income, up from the present $13,200.

19 Million To Be Affected

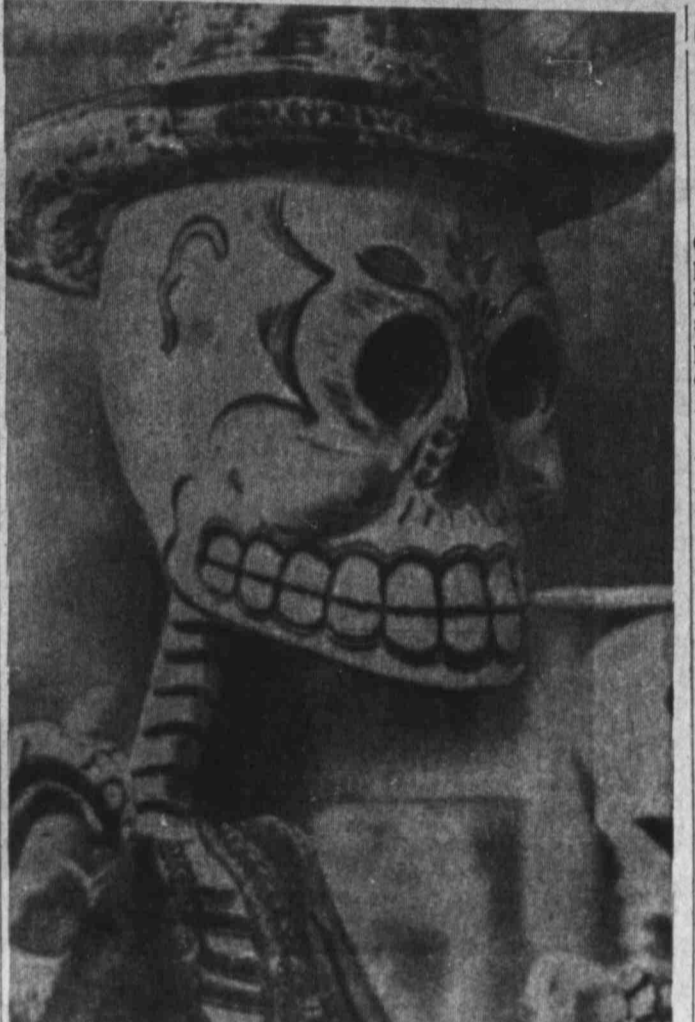

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare estimated Wednesday that about 19 million workers will be affected by the increase, which will mean an employee's maximum Social Security tax for 1975 will be $824.85, up from $772.20 in 1974. The self-employed will be taxed a maximum additional $71.10 each for a total of $1,113.90, up from this year's $1,042.80.

'Greater Protection'

"In return for the increase in taxes, these affected workers will have greater protection because a larger amount of their earnings will be credited toward benefits than before," HEW Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger said in a statement.

"This will mean higher benefits for them and their families in the event of retirement, disability or death, than would have been possible without an increase in the base," he said.

Weinberger noted that Social Security benefits were raised 11 per cent earlier this year. The larger wage base for taxes is expected to bring in an additional $1.8 billion next year.

Retired Marine Major Bicycles Toward Party

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Somewhere between Pensacola, Fla., and this South Texas city, a retired U.S. Marine Corps major is making his way by bicycle to attend the Marine Military Academy ball and birthday celebration.

Officials at the Marine Military Academy here said retired Maj. Byron G. Genung has long been a supporter of the private academy.

An invitation to the annual ball, which is to be held Nov. 10, was sent to Maj. Genung, but academy officials made the invitation more as a matter of form because of the distance involved. They were surprised to hear from him.

1,010-Mile Junket

"I am looking forward to seeing all of you and celebrating the Marine Corps birthday with you this year. In fact, I will be making the 1,010-mile trip on my bicycle," the major wrote in accepting the invitation.

Not sure they understood why the major had written, a second letter was sent to him, just to double check. He elaborated, saying that he has used bicycle riding as a hobby and health aid since being medically retired from the corps in 1961 after an operation for throat cancer.

During his military career, the major served in the Pacific, China, Japan, Korea and the Persian Gulf. He was a tank officer and a specialist in Arabic languages.

"Several years ago, I noticed middle age creeping up on me and started jogging. I did this for a few years and in 1970 discovered bicycling and have ridden regularly since," the major told academy officials.

"I have made several long distance trips, the last one being to Hagerstown, in Maryland, a total run of over 1,400 miles from here (Pensacola, Fla.)," the major continued.

Speaking of his long trips, the major said he travels light, adding, "I keep it around 90 miles a day, sometimes more, sometimes less, to allow myself time for occasional rest and repairs, plus sightseeing along the way."

Streaker Wins

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — A young man was able to get $265 worth of new clothing for $160 here at a department store. A sign in the shop's window announced a 40 per cent discount to anyone streaking through the store. The offer was withdrawn quickly after the streaker came in and made his purchase.

Child-Care Hearing Set

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Rep. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, has scheduled a Nov. 12 hearing of the House Human Resources Committee to consider proposals for taking care of children who cannot be cared for at home.

"Some children inhabit the wards of state institutions without having experienced any attempt whatsoever to improve their conditions and with little hope of ever obtaining real hope," said a draft of a report by the committee.

The report is based on a study initiated by Speaker Price Daniel Jr. after a Liberty County grand jury indicted the operator of Artesia Hall, a private child-care facility, for murder in the death of a 17-year-old patient there in June 1973.

Average Citizen Involved

"Average Texas citizens" must accept a share of the blame for the child-care "crisis," the report states. "for they did not watch closely enough to see that children and young people were being fairly and humanely treated, and those who did notice deficiencies did not raise any protest strong enough so that it could not be ignored."

Expenditures for child welfare in Texas ranked 53rd out of 53 state and territorial jurisdictions, the report said.

The report, made public Wednesday, recommended prohibiting construction of large child-care institutions by the state and reducing the size of or eliminating existing institutions.

New Agency Proposed

It proposed establishing a new state agency, the Texas Department of Children and Youth Affairs, supported by the power of the governor's office, to replace the Commission on Services to Children and Youth.

Even if the new department is not created, the report said, the commission should be abolished as "Texas tax dollars can be better spent" elsewhere.

Other recommendations included:

- Extending an early health screening program to poor children not covered by federal assistance programs.
- Revising the licensing law of the 1940s under which the Department of Public Welfare licenses private child-care facilities.
- Increasing state appropriations for care and treatment of children.
- Authorizing care for dependent and neglected children who are not welfare recipients.
- Studying the need for a children's bill of rights.
- Guaranteeing most mentally retarded and mentally disturbed persons the same rights as others.
- Prohibiting a former employee or board member of a state agency from representing a client before that agency. The prohibition should be extended to legislators if they are being paid for their service.
- Providing state funds to finance a special education program in every public school district.
- Removing the requirement that the state commissioner of mental health and mental retardation be a licensed physician.

Foster Homes For Elderly Sought Here

The State Department of Public Welfare is now actively recruiting foster homes for the aged, according to Mrs. Evelyn Kent, supervisor of social services in Midland. This program is designed to help the elderly person who can no longer live alone or with relatives.

"There are many elderly persons who are no longer able to live alone because of physical, mental or emotional limitations, but who do not yet need nursing home care," said Mrs. Kent. "They are often isolated from the mainstream of community life and have lost interest in eating and taking care of themselves properly. They have lost their sense of usefulness and feel that no one wants or needs them."

Mrs. Kent explained that when a person or persons become a "second family" for such an elderly person, it is possible to give him or her a new lease on life and provide love, companionship and security that is needed in his or her declining years. "Just because a person is aged, this does not necessarily mean that he or she must enter a nursing home or institution."

Mrs. Kent pointed out that older persons needing this type of living arrangement do not need constant care. "They may need some help in dressing or personal grooming, or they may be forgetful and need a reminder to take their medicine. In addition to the enrichment that being of service can bring to a person's life, said Mrs. Kent, one can earn a small salary by staying at home. "Foster caretakers will be reimbursed for the added expense and time required to take care of an elderly person. The State Department of Public Welfare will pay for the room, board and care of such a person."

"Will you open your heart and home to an elderly person? Your kindness, maturity of judgment and desire to help elderly people is needed now," said Mrs. Kent.

If you are interested in learning more about the adult foster care program, or know someone who may be, contact Mrs. Kent at 683-5411, or write her in care of the State Department of Public Welfare, P.O. Box 4307, Village Station, Midland, 79701.

Sandman In Trouble Politically

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer
"When he speaks, the nation listens," proclaims Rep. Charles W. Sandman's billboard. The reference is to the New Jersey Republican's sudden eminence as a strong defender of Richard M. Nixon at last summer's House impeachment inquiry.

The photograph, however, was taken at a news conference at which Sandman reversed his position to support impeachment. He has moved another step now and has criticized President Ford's pardon of the former president as untimely.

Sandman's role in the impeachment inquiry is an issue in his re-election fight. And impeachment is a factor in a number of other congressional races this fall. In a generally bad year for Republicans, GOP congressmen appear to be hurt the most.

Including Sandman, as many as five of the 17 House Judiciary Committee Republicans, all but one pro-Nixon voices at the nationally televised hearings, are in some degree of political difficulty. So, too, is Rep. Earl Landgrebe of Indiana, not a committee member, who stuck with the former President even after the release of the incriminating June 23, 1972, tape that triggered Nixon's resignation.

A sixth committee Republican was an early victim of the impeachment inquiry. Rep. Lawrence W. Hogan of Maryland lost a gubernatorial nomination bid. A major issue was the backlash against his early announcement that he would vote for impeachment.

In contrast to the GOP troubles, only one of the 21 committee Democrats is in a close race. Rep. Wayne Owens of Utah. Most observers think he would easily have been re-elected to the House.

But Owens decided months ago to run for the Senate and is in a tight race with Republican Jake Garn for a seat held for 24 years by Republican Sen. Wallace F. Bennett.

Another Democrat, Rep. Jerome R. Waldie of California, was one of the earliest supporters of impeachment. He lost a bid for governor in the June 4 primary.

Besides Sandman, the Republicans most threatened next week are Reps. Joseph Maraziti of New Jersey, Wiley Mayne of Iowa, Harold Froehlich of Wisconsin and David Dennis of Indiana.

Froehlich, who supported impeachment in the initial committee vote, holds one of the most marginal of all GOP House seats. He won with just 50.4 per cent of the vote in 1972 against the Rev. Robert Cornell, again his Democratic rival in 1974.

Among other Republicans who supported impeachment, Reps. Thomas Railsback of Illinois and William Cohen of Maine had feared a GOP backlash. Railsback now appears to be in good shape, and Cohen has a big lead in polls against his Democratic opponent, Mark Gartley, a former prisoner of war in Vietnam.

Sandman's opponent in southern New Jersey's 2nd District is William Hughes, 42, a lawyer who came within 4,000 votes of beating the GOP congressman in 1970.

Back-To-Nature Movement Aids Home-Birth Revival

By LINDA KRAMER
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The midwife carried her satchel into the rough-hewn cabin in the northern California hills. A woman in labor lay on a bed. Her husband heated water in the kitchen.

As the labor progressed, the midwife started to belly dance while her assistant beat a drum.

The husband came to soothe his wife, helping her breathing and contractions fall into rhythm with the dancing midwife.

Slowly the child was born, without the help of drugs or forceps or any trappings of modern technology. They named him Bambi.

Home Birth Revival
This experience, described by a midwife who was present, is part of a growing home birth revival. Those involved attribute the renewed popularity of home birth to the back-to-nature movement and to a desire for a birth experience free of the routine and sterility of hospitals.

Mothers are delivering their babies to the accompaniment of belly dancers as women reportedly did in ancient Egypt; some give birth outside, beneath towering redwoods. Others prefer a do-it-yourself style like great-grandmother used.

Although home birth is legal, most doctors consider it a needless risk and refuse to attend women at home. So young couples seek out lay midwives.

Midwifery has been illegal in California since 1949. Most midwives can be contacted only through the underground grapevine of counter-culture youths. Northern California has become the center of the nation's home birth movement with lay midwives in attendance. Sixteen other states permit midwifery under colonial or early 19th Century laws never removed from the books. But in most of these states — among them New York, Oklahoma, Texas and Washington — few lay midwives are found. Eliza and Steve Robinson tried unsuccessfully to find a midwife in San Francisco. Then friends told them about the Berkeley Birth Group across the bay. The group includes a lay midwife, nurse-midwife, an apprentice midwife and a pediatrician, all operating out of a one-story bungalow. Robinson, sitting with his arm around Eliza during a recent visit to the birth group, said they never considered going to a hospital "because hospitals are places for sick people and they don't do babies right." "Having a baby at home fits in with our whole life-style,"

Robinson said. "There's no reason to depend on the capitalistic system if you can do something outside it and can do it in a more relaxed and friendly, open way." On a couch near Robinson in the wood-beamed living room used as a waiting room, Annie and Bill Holmes waited to see the pediatrician for their newborn's first checkup. "We wanted the baby right after he was born," said Mrs. Holmes, 21, as she nursed 12-day-old Jason. "A hospital told me they'd put the baby in a warming bed at least four hours before I could hold him. And we wanted midwives; they're more personal."

The Berkeley Birth Group says the delivery was one of about 25 they have assisted at since January and all were successful. Forty pregnant women currently attend their natural childbirth clinics and prenatal care sessions.

Y Holds Ballroom Dancing Classes

The meringue and the swing are just two of the several dance steps instructed in the YMCA's ballroom dancing class, held 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. Thursdays at the YMCA.

Instructed by Julie MacCurdy, YMCA dance director, the class includes instruction in waltz, foxtrot, rumba, cha cha, tango and mambo.

Further information is available by contacting the YMCA. Persons interested may still sign up for the class.

Neither the California Medical Association nor the state Department of Health keeps statistics on the number of home births. Both report that many such births are not registered.

Dr. Thomas Elmendorf, CMA past president, agrees that people have the right to home birth. But he believes it is a potentially dangerous choice.

Odds Good
"The odds are that in an uncomplicated situation a mother can deliver at home successfully," Elmendorf said in an interview. "But when you're going to be right in the middle of a real emergency you'll need the highly technical facilities available at hospitals."

A male midwife in Humboldt County, one of the few men involved in such services, said he assisted a young couple this spring during the successful home birth of their second child.

They told him their first attempt had been unassisted and unsuccessful. The baby was buried without ceremony near their makeshift home in the ruggedly beautiful mountains of the county near the Oregon border.

"These people are understanding when that happens and if it happens again they'll bury it in the woods again," the midwife said in an interview. "They're adamant against having a baby in a hospital."

The problem, as the midwife perceives it, is that there are not enough people with his skills. So the young man, trained originally as a physician's assistant, has set up a school to train lay midwives.

Twenty women and five men are enrolled in his program, which includes courses in anatomy, natural childbirth, fetus growth, practical training and herbs.

The program also includes discussions on the folklore and spiritual side of midwifery. Like other lay midwives, the Humboldt County man believes the profession is more art than science.

Tailors Vanishing In Vienna

By WERNER VOLLMANN
VIENNA (AP) — Tailors are a vanishing breed in Vienna, where Archdukes and other nobility were once counted among the best-dressed of the world.

Only a generation ago suits and dresses were worn for years, and in many cases were handed down to sons and daughters. This is no longer the case.

Aduard Kastner, chairman of Vienna's dwindling tailors' guild, said that in today's throw-it-away society suits and dresses are worn for a fairly short time, partly for reasons of fashion.

Ready-made clothes are the answer to this trend.

Kastner said only 18 boys in Vienna out of a population of 1.7 million have started as tailor apprentices in the past three years.

The number of tailor shops has also drastically declined.

Ft. Hood Military Couple Believed Monoxide Victims

KILLEEN, Tex. (AP) — Army officials at Ft. Hood have identified the bodies of two military police, a man and his wife, who apparently died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

An Army spokesman identified the couple as Spec. 4 John Robert Gilbert, 24, and his wife, Pvt. E-2 Diane Vickey Gilbert, 19.

The two were found early Wednesday in a private car on East Range Road at the military base near here.

The Army's Criminal Investigation Division is continuing its probe of the death, the spokesman said.

An autopsy is to be held, but the preliminary cause of death is listed as carbon monoxide poisoning, he said.

The couple was assigned to the 502nd Military Police Battalion of the Second Armored Division.

Vienna had 16,922 such shops in 1925, but only 3,949 in 1963 and only 1,712 a year ago.

The trend was somewhat similar in the rural provinces. The young especially like to shop in large department stores. Ready-made clothes can be altered to fit reasonably well in a short time while a tailor needs about 35 hours to make an overcoat.

Reflecting the changing times, young boys clamor for apprenticeships as car mechanics.

"This is a trend which has been going on for quite a few years," said Dr. Hedwig Weils of the District Employment Service.

Forty-seven per cent of the boys taking up apprenticeship go into the metal-working branch. Retail trade apprenticeships are second on the list of preferred jobs, but here only 11 per cent applied.

Another trend is toward white collar jobs.

An employee in Austria can be either a white collar worker, a skilled worker or a laborer. Skilled workers and laborers (Arbeiter) often make more money than white collar workers (Angestellte), but tend to feel inferior nevertheless.

As a result, a number of firms offer white collar status to workers in order to fill vacancies. In some cases it may mean social advantages such as longer holidays, more sick benefits, etc., despite the fact that strong unions often more than compensated for this, giving workers a better income.

The only advantage thus seems the status symbol. The Working Group of Social Research — a group close to Austria's ruling Socialists —

Suspect Terms John Kennedy Jr. 'An Easy Hit'

NEW YORK (AP) — The young man accused of mugging John F. Kennedy Jr. and stealing his bicycle described the 13-year-old son of the late president as "an easy hit," a police detective has testified.

Detective Richard Buggy said that Robert Lopez, 20, also told police that he fenced the bike for $20 and used the proceeds to buy two bags of cocaine.

Buggy testified Wednesday at a pretrial hearing for the case in Manhattan State Supreme Court.

"I mugged John Kennedy," Buggy quoted Lopez as saying. He added that Lopez did not recognize his alleged victim, but explained that he picked him as "an easy hit."

Lopez, now jailed in lieu of $9,000 bond, also faces charges in the holdup of an off-duty auxiliary policeman robbed of $180 last July.

Late Rockefeller Reports Hold 'No New Bombshells'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Confirmation committees say they have found no major disclosures in new FBI and financial reports that would block Nelson A. Rockefeller's confirmation as vice president. House Judiciary Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., told newsmen Wednesday there is something new in a 2,300-page FBI report but refused to indicate what it is. Other members said after a closed-door briefing on the report that it has new details but no major new disclosures. "There are no new bombshells," said Rep. Henry P. Smith, R-N.Y. Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., a member of the Senate Rules Committee, at the same time, said a comprehensive congressional report on Rockefeller's finances also has nothing in it that would block his confirmation. But Rodino said hard questions will be put to Rockefeller about his previously disclosed wealth and some $2 million in gifts and loans to determine that no improper financial influence was used. Only 11 of the House committee's 38 members returned from campaigns at home for the briefing and they disagreed sharply on whether any disclosures so far will block Rockefeller's confirmation. "Not yet," said Rep. James E. Mann, D-S.C. "Not based on the information I have, which is sketchy." But Reps. Walter Flowers, D-Ala., and John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., indicated they would vote against Rockefeller on the information they have so far, partly because of the former New York governor's wealth. Both Flowers and Conyers said Rockefeller is wealthier than all previous presidents combined and Flowers added: "There is a serious question whether a man like that should be President." The Senate Rules Committee has already begun its confirmation hearings. African Zulus have a system of colored beads that convey meaning. For example yellow means "I'm jealous." Dash of pepper
1 dozen tortillas

Oil for frying tortillas
2 10 oz. cans enchilada sauce
1 large onion, chopped
1 pint creamed cottage cheese
1 cup grated Jack cheese or mild Cheddar cheese

Brown the ground beef, stirring while cooking to make beef crumbly. Add the oats, salt, garlic powder and pepper and stir well. Fry the tortillas in hot oil just to soften. Dip each tortilla in enchilada sauce, then place a tablespoon each of chopped onion, ground beef mixture and cottage cheese on each tortilla. Roll up the tortilla and place in a baking dish. Spoon remaining enchilada sauce over the enchiladas and sprinkle with the grated cheese. Bake at 350° F. for 30 minutes.

Observers Speculate
Now Time To Challenge
Soviet Detente Policy

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
An AP News Analysis

American peace efforts in the Middle East have been jolted by the Arab summit decisions at Rabat. But while this has revived talk of a new round of war as a distinct possibility, the outlook isn't necessarily all that black.

What can be done to avert the threat? After the Morocco summit, some observers are persuaded to speculate that perhaps the time has come for a put up or shut up challenge to the Soviet Union's policy of detente.

Two Alternatives

The argument is that there are only two alternatives: a new Arab-Israeli war with the concomitant disaster it could mean to the industrialized world or continued reliance on diplomacy.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger now has some new problems he didn't need and the going is likely to be tough. But it would seem that this was as good a time as any for Moscow to demonstrate its genuine interest in a peaceful world.

Because the Arab leaders are unanimously recognized the Palestine Liberation Organization as the only representative of the Palestinians, it's doubtful whether there can be a Geneva conference on a Middle East settlement.

Deal Possible

There had been a possibility Israel could make a deal with King Hussein of Jordan to return to his control the West Bank territory his grandfather annexed in 1948 and Hussein lost in the 1967 war.

The Arabs say Jordan can't negotiate, but things are different now, Hussein would be doing so with the PLO, the Syrians and others looking over his shoulder, none of them his friends.

Arab statements give Israel good reason to be convinced that a PLO-ruled state would be just a first step. The Arabs proclaim a minimum goal of a secular state for all of what was Palestine before the 1948 war. That would mean no more Jewish national home.

War Speculated

Israel cannot tolerate the prospect of the West Bank in the hands of an entity pledged to her destruction, so even moderate voices speculate gloomily on a new round of war.

The speculation is quickened by the decision of the Arab oil rulers to lavish $2.5 billion on Egypt, Syria, Jordan and the PLO. The money will go to a war economy chest and the Arabs are likely to be seized with the idea that they cannot lose. To avert such a development, the Israelis might ponder a preventive war.

Arabs Cautious

There are some indications, however, that the Arab rulers are being cautious. They seem at pains to note that the door is still open to the Kissinger step-by-step approach to some sort of settlement.

To sell Israel on any negotiations with the Arabs it would be necessary to persuade her she won't be asked to negotiate away her existence as a Jewish state. Only the two superpowers together could provide the guarantees.

Can the Soviet Union, in view of all this, now be tested? Is detente important enough to the Kremlin to persuade it to restrain its Arab clients and demonstrate its interest in a peaceful world by cooperating in a search for a way out of a highly perilous situation?

Women Scientists To Be In Space By 1980s, Men Predict

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Women scientists will fly into space early in the 1980s and by late in that decade will be part of multinational crews on large space stations, two male astronauts predict.

The prediction reflects the views of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin, the first American physician to fly into space as a member of last year's Skylab I crew, and Dr. Robert Parker, scientist-astronaut for the Skylab program, made the forecast Wednesday at a conference here evaluating Skylab results.

"There's no question but that women will fly in the early 1980s if the space shuttle program remains on schedule," Parker said. The shuttle is a reusable rocket ship expected to ferry hundreds of researchers from many lands into orbit starting in 1979.

"There was a time when the public was not ready for the thought of men and women going to the moon together," Parker said. "But times have changed. I don't foresee any problem about men and women getting along together on space missions. We're not talking about dizzy blonde secretaries, but reputable women scientists."

Kerwin said the Skylab project, in which men worked in space for up to 84 days, proved that men and women researchers making space trips aboard the shuttle will not have to undergo rigorous physical training that has been required of astronauts.

"Anybody in a reasonable state of health, regardless of age, will be able to fly as an experimenter in the operational shuttle and space station programs," he said.

"We now know people can spend three months in weightless space if they eat and exercise properly."

"As a doctor, I would have no hesitation in recommending space flight for a person for as long as six months. And for short periods of time up to 30 days as contemplated in the shuttle program, there would be no problem at all."

There May Be As Many As 12 Million Illegal Aliens In Country, Saxbe Says

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — There may be as many as 12 million illegal aliens in this country, U.S. Atty. Gen. William Saxbe said Wednesday.

Saxbe, in the Lower Rio Grande Valley to visit the U.S. Border Patrol Academy near Los Fresnos and to make a speech to Valley lawyers, said usual estimates place the number at four to seven million but the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service said it could be as high as 12 million.

Describing the situation as a "severe national crisis," Saxbe said the immigration service could open up one million new jobs in the next year with an additional appropriation of $40 million and 1,500 new employees. He said the jobs could be opened by removing aliens holding down an estimated 364,000 jobs in industry, nearly that many in agriculture and about 300,000 in the service trades.

Noting that about 90 per cent of the 800,000 illegal aliens apprehended in this country last year came from Mexico, Saxbe said "though it is outside my area of responsibility, I am convinced that this country must do more to help Mexico with its economy."

"In one sense, it would be a prudent investment for our own future, but at the same time, it is the decent and necessary thing. . . ."

"I am sympathetic to the poor from any land, but the United States has an abiding obligation to care for its own first. That will be hard to do if the flow of illegal immigrants continues unchecked."

Quality For Welfare

Saxbe said that in addition to taking jobs that should be available to unemployed citizens, the illegal aliens sometimes qualify for welfare. Most do not pay income taxes, he said.

GUATEMALA CITY — The 10,000-foot Fuego ended its eruption after one person and virtually the Guatemala, the Guatemala says.

The volcano, located miles west of Guatemala stopped spewing lava, cinder and burning rock day night after 20 days of eruption, Kjell Eugenio Laugerud said Wednesday night.

But weather and several officials said the could resume. They volcano may have erupting only temporary.

Crops Damaged

In a news item Wednesday night, Laugerud Garcia said that affected a 3.6 mile area causing damage to coffee, cotton, apple crops of more than $3 million.

"We may not be a cover from this, in a virtual disruption of my, until late next Laugerud Garcia said.

Guatemala is a country of Mexico with an area of 42 square miles and a population of 5.6 million. Its gross national product last year and my is solely based on agriculture.

The president also said the ash and lava rains and that heavy may be expected during winter rainy season.

Cattle Killed

20 DAYS OF ERUPTION— Guatemalan Economy Disrupted And Baby Killed By Volcano

GUATEMALA CITY (AP) — The 10,000-foot Fuego volcano ended its eruption after killing one person and virtually disrupting the Guatemalan economy, the Guatemalan president says.

The volcano, located about 24 miles west of Guatemala City, stopped spewing lava, hot ash, cinder and burning rocks Tuesday night after 20 days of continuous eruption, President Kjell Eugenio Laugerud Garcia said Wednesday night.

But weather and seismological officials said the eruption could resume. They said the volcano may have stopped erupting only temporarily.

Crops Damaged
In a news conference Wednesday night, President Laugerud Garcia said the eruption affected a 3,000-square-mile area causing damages to coffee, cotton, apple and sugar crops of more than $35 million.

"We may not be able to recover from this, in terms of a virtual disruption of the economy, until late next year," Laugerud Garcia said.

Guatemala is a country south of Mexico with an area of 42,042 square miles and a population of 5.6 million. It had a gross national product of $1.9 billion last year and its economy is solely based on agriculture.

The president also said that the ash and lava raised river flows and that heavy flooding may be expected during the winter rainy season.

Cattle Killed
Meanwhile, the National Livestock Commission said the ash and burning rocks had killed off scores of cattle. The exact number of dead cattle was not revealed but a spokesman said 614,000 head of cattle "were affected." He did not elaborate.

He said the eruption damaged thousands of acres of grazing land.

This was the first time the Fuego volcano showed volcanic activity in three years. A volcano eruption in 1773 destroyed the ancient Guatemalan capital of Antigua, which was rebuilt and now has become a major tourist attraction point.

This time, Antigua was spared because the wind, blowing in the opposite direction, carried away ash and rocks which otherwise would have fallen in Antigua, officials said.

Baby Dies
Early in the eruption this time, a six-month-old boy was killed when a burning rock struck him in the face as his mother carried him in her arms while fleeing from the eruption. He was the only reported casualty.

The ash almost buried the town of Yopocapa at the foot of the volcano. Most of its 12,000 residents abandoned the town and took shelter in Guatemala City.

Two earthquakes were felt in Southern Mexico, near the Guatemalan border, during the eruption but seismological officials declined to speculate whether the eruption and the earthquakes may have been related. No injuries or damages were reported from the quakes that struck on Oct. 24 and last Tuesday.

Officials said they could not immediately establish what caused the eruption.

Albert Says Veto-Proof Congress Not Valid Issue

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — House Speaker Carl Albert says warnings from Republicans about the possibility of a Democratic veto-proof Congress "is not a valid issue. There is no such thing as a veto-proof Congress."

Albert, an Oklahoma Democrat, was here to help the campaign of Democratic congressional nominee Bob Krueger. Krueger has a Republican opponent in a race to succeed retiring incumbent U.S. Rep. O. C. Fisher, D-Tex.

Albert said, "The members of Congress can't be herded around like sheep ... We don't have that kind of government."

Albert continued, "with all the talk about a veto-proof Congress, I am beginning to wonder if what they're beginning to think about is a rubber-stamp Congress. Isn't that what Jerry Ford wants?"

Responding to questions at a news conference, Albert said, "Cattle are the No. 1 issue in my district."

He said "There has been a radical turn among cattlemen."

On proposed cuts in defense spending, Albert said, "It would be a very serious mistake to make a blind stab at this thing ... For if we do err, as far as I'm concerned, I'm in favor of erring in favor of strength in the U.S. military instead of on the side of weakness."

Vote-Heavy Dallas Scene Of Politicking By Four Candidates

By The Associated Press
Vote-heavy Dallas was the scene of politicking by at least four statewide candidates trying to garner as much support as possible in the final week of the Nov. 5 election campaign.

Democrat Bob Bullock and Republican Nick Rowe, vying for state comptroller, continued their race. Rowe asserted that his opponent was handicapped by labor bosses who want compulsory unionism in Texas.

Rowe said, "Bullock is in debt to the AFL-CIO and its president (Harry Hubbard) could call that debt due at any time."

New Partnership
Bullock said he wanted a new and closer partnership between the state and local government in Texas. He pledged to appoint an executive officer in his administration whose sole responsibility would be caring for the needs of cities.

Bullock also said he wanted an honest accounting of what it costs the state to handle city sales taxes because, "if the current arbitrary two per cent gross fee charged by the state ... is too high, I want it cut."

Also in Dallas Wednesday, Republican candidate for state treasurer Bob Holt claimed that Democratic incumbent Jesse James could cost the state $1 billion over the next four years.

Holt said state funds could have earned at least $300 million instead of $51 million as James reported if the state had received a 5 per cent return on its money.

State Agriculture Commissioner John White predicted in Dallas that U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz will be replaced by the end of the year.

"There have got to be some policy changes in Washington," White said, "or we will have food lines for milk by the end of 1975."

White said that as spokesman for the Texas agriculture industry which is one of the nation's largest, he feels he should address himself to national and international issues.

In Austin, White's Republican opponent, Zack Fisher, claimed that White is not qualified to be agriculture commissioner since he has never been a farmer.

In the gubernatorial race, Gov. Dolph Briscoe remained in Uvalde with his critically ill mother.

Briscoe Blasted
Jim Granberry, the GOP nominee for governor, was in Galveston, where he blasted Briscoe for using personal wealth to support his re-election bid.

"Mr. Briscoe is having to rely on his great financial fortune to cover up his two-year trial of failure and broken promises with a massive and deceptive advertising campaign because the people of Texas will not contribute to another term of office for him," Granberry declared.

Coyotes Howling Issue In District 21 Election

By JOHN LUMPKIN
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Watergate is not more than a whisper in the congressional campaign in Texas' most spacious district, but coyotes come closer to being a howling issue.

The race pits a Democrat and Republican from university campuses. Both men have heard plenty about predator problems from ranchers and have taken sympathetic stands which might make some conservationists squirm.

Coyotes aren't the only issue in the 50,000 square miles of District 21, which stretched from a corner of populous San Antonio to the Big Bend country. However, Watergate is a non-issue," says Republican Doug Harlan.

Oxford Scholar
Democrat Bob Krueger, a former English professor and a former dean at Duke University, survived one of Texas' typically harsh primary fights to win his party's nomination. Before he announced his candidacy a year ago, he was a political unknown.

He is an Oxford scholar, and now owns a ranch.

Harlan, 31, spent most of his adult life in the academic community. Harlan formerly taught government and now has a law degree. He says he has wanted to run for political office ever since attending a GOP national convention when he was an undergraduate.

Harlan is a bachelor.

Two years ago, the Republicans wanted to put a new person in the race against 16-term incumbent Democratic U.S. Rep. O. C. Fisher and Harlan found himself in his first political race. Fisher won, but Harlan surprised many with a strong showing and little campaign money.

The 21st District seat now is open because of Fisher's retirement. A Crane, Tex., petroleum geologist, Ed Gallion, is the American Independent Party candidate. It's the only Texas congressional race without an incumbent.

The spending between Krueger and Harlan is heavy. With a primary and a runoff to participate in, Krueger had spent $250,000 by the end of October and may reach $300,000 by the end of the campaign. Harlan's camp says it expects to spend about $170,000.

The miles and miles of distances to cover in the district have inflated campaign costs, say both candidates. There are three separate television markets and dozens of newspapers. Harlan and Krueger differ little on issues; both proclaim their conservatism in a district where there are perhaps more conservative Democrats than there are conservative Republicans. However, Harlan claims Krueger, 38, is either a recent convert to conservatism or a masquerader.

"I would hate to say about him that he is a 'Johnny-come-lately' to some of these issues, especially this one," say Harlan of Krueger's anti-coyote stand.

Krueger's camp says one of the first issues its candidate took a stand on was the predator issue.

Oppose Restrictions
Both Harlan and Krueger oppose federal environmental limitations on so-called cyanide guns for predator controls. Actually not a gun, it is a spring device which ejects the cyanide when the activator is moistened by saliva, such as when a coyote licks the activator which has been dabbed with animal blood.

Both candidates have been told time and time again that coyotes have put sheep and goat raisers out of business in an area that produces 95 per cent of the nation's mohair and wool.

Ranchers are providing some of the money in the campaign. Both candidates have borrowed heavily — Krueger more than twice as much as Harlan — and Krueger's family wealth has been tapped.

Veiled References
Harlan, meanwhile, has drawn $12,000 from GOP national committees — about four times as much as Krueger has received from the Democrats.

Krueger has made veiled references to Watergate like "These are days of public disappointment" and Harlan has a one-liner on a television advertisement that "you can't defend the indefensible." Both feel Watergate is not what most voters are immediately concerned with.

Krueger left Duke University when his father became fatally ill in his native New Braunfels, Tex. Now he is board chairman of the family owned Conal Hosiery Mills.

"Now I consider my academic career ended and my future to be in government," he says.

No Limit Wanted
Harlan, of San Antonio, says his background has more adequately prepared him for public service. He chose his academic disciplines with that in mind, he says.

Neither candidate wants a $70,000 limit on campaign spending which has been proposed, although the winner, both say, would benefit in the next election as the incumbent.

"I suppose I could be selfish and say I was for it, but I am not," says Harlan. "I think it's a bad law. It discourages rather than encourages competition for public office."

Krueger tells an interviewer, "It will almost guarantee the incumbency... I came in with no political past. I think it's important that the American political institutions be open to everyone."

Pressures Chipping At Apartheid Policy

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Pressures at home and abroad are chipping away at South Africa's policies of race separation called apartheid.

New government initiatives, best described as "creeping changes," appear to be gradually dismantling some of the nation's most criticized laws and customs.

But long-time political observers say that while change is apparent there has been no fundamental shift in policy by the ruling Nationalist party.

The changes, they say, are "too little, too late" and amount to window dressing by a regime intent on maintaining white supremacy.

Dropping Harsher Aspects
South Africa's population comprises about 18 million blacks, 4 million whites, 2 million persons of mixed race and 650,000 Asians.

The changes will not give the black majority the vote or create a multiracial society but appear to be aimed at eliminating or softening dropping the harsher aspects of racial separation.

Two events — the collapse of the Portuguese empire in Africa and a mounting shortage of skilled white labor inside the country — seem to have sparked much of the new thinking about old problems.

The possibility of racial conflict in southern Africa has grown since the sudden collapse of the Portuguese "buffer zone" between independent black Africa and white-ruled South Africa.

At home, South Africa's industrial economy finds itself increasingly dependent on black labor to maintain growth.

Last Wednesday, Prime Minister John Vorster told the Senate in Cape Town that black and white-ruled Africa had reached a crossroads and must choose between peace and growing conflict.

He espoused a "good-neighbor" policy and called for cooperation between South Africa and the continent's independent black nations.

Inside South Africa, blacks and whites now work side by side in once strictly segregated stores and supermarkets.

Thousands of blacks are moving into jobs once reserved for whites.

Almost 80 per cent of the work force in South Africa's new television manufacturing industry, for example, will be black because of a shortage of whites.

The government recently proposed in Parliament that the nation's controversial "masters and servants" laws dating to 1850 be abolished.

Critics have maintained the laws reduced black South Africans to "slave labor" and were a violation of human rights.

Among the laws to be repealed are ones that make it an offense for blacks under contract to stay away from work without lawful cause, to refuse to obey a lawful command by his boss and to use "insulting or abusive" language to an employer.

While strikes by blacks are technically illegal they have been mounting in number in recent years without serious reprisal by the government.

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — Two Los Angeles motorcycle policemen saw a sports car dash quickly away from a stoplight and both took out after the fleeing vehicle. After a three-mile chase with speeds up to 70 miles an hour, they were surprised to find the driver was a nine-year-old boy who had taken the vehicle from a neighbor's driveway.

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — In our national fervor to reach environmental and other goals that approach the ideal and that might be beyond the reach of our economy and our technology — at least at this time — we are contributing to inflation," he said.

He added: "We must not forget that the environment that is closest to us, and that most needs protection, is the environment of a good job, nutritious food on the table, and adequate housing and health care."

These are not the only business and government leaders that believe government policies lead to inflation, either by adding to the costs of doing business or by reducing the availability of goods.

Everyone knew the issues were there, but with inflation persisting long beyond even the most pessimistic views of three or four years ago, a sense of urgency seems now to demand they be faced.

Federal Government Becoming Latest Scapegoat For Inflation

By JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — When inflation persists for years, as it has, almost every group eventually gets blamed by another — the environmentalists, businessmen, consumers, union members, politicians.

The latest scapegoat is becoming the federal government itself, and some of the officials dealing out the lashes are government officials.

Government always has been the object of criticism, of course, because of the tremendous impact of federal fiscal and monetary policy. But the current criticism is directed at the administration of government, its laws and regulations and red tape.

Earl Butz, the Agriculture secretary, blamed the Interstate Commerce Commission this week for supporting policies that limit production.

One critic after another, including some in government, maintain that the Occupational Health and Safety Act is forcing business to spend for non-productive goals, although good worker health certainly is productive.

Any regulation that forces spending in areas that do not produce increases in output, it is argued by the critics of federal policies, forces prices higher. Social good sometimes occurs, they concede, but not always, they add.

Sugar prices were rising, Butz suggested, because of a federal law requiring 50 per cent of U.S. sugar supply be obtained abroad, encouraging high prices by foreign producers and limiting the amount grown domestically.

Butz didn't say, however, what impact greater domestic production might have on U.S. relations with sugar-producing nations, especially poor nations that depend largely on one or a few crops.

The automotive companies have been especially critical of government policies. In Buffalo a few days ago, Thomas Murphy, who becomes General Motors chairman Dec. 1, said federal environmental goals were inflationary.

"In our national fervor to reach environmental and other goals that approach the ideal and that might be beyond the reach of our economy and our technology — at least at this time — we are contributing to inflation," he said.

He added: "We must not forget that the environment that is closest to us, and that most needs protection, is the environment of a good job, nutritious food on the table, and adequate housing and health care."

These are not the only business and government leaders that believe government policies lead to inflation, either by adding to the costs of doing business or by reducing the availability of goods.

Everyone knew the issues were there, but with inflation persisting long beyond even the most pessimistic views of three or four years ago, a sense of urgency seems now to demand they be faced.

Laser Beam May Make Power From Seawater

DALLAS (AP) — The laser beam, a thin, straight violet beam, may someday turn a limited cheap power. The day of such abundant energy may be closer than you think. For a little cluster of young scientists at The University of Texas at Dallas believe they may have found the right laser for the job.

What they are hunting is a way to start nuclear fusion—uniting atoms in a reaction that gives off energy. Nuclear fusion—splitting atoms—as is used now in nuclear power plants has its drawbacks. A bathtub of seawater can produce enough deuterium, the fuel involved, to equal 1,260 gallons of high-octane gasoline. One problem with igniting deuterium is that the match must reach 100 million degrees. The scientists must also develop a way to confine the fuel in the ignition area. The Dallas researchers hope the laser will solve both these problems. "We don't say we have the perfect answer yet to the problems," said Dr. Carl B. Collins Jr., head of the research team.

"But our laser has the characteristics we are looking for." Nuclear fission as an energy source is hampered by an extremely limited fuel supply and a potentially dangerous waste left by the process. Nuclear fusion, on the other hand, has no dangerous waste and the world's oceans supply the fuel. With such an available fuel supply, the laser approach is not the only one being pursued to burn deuterium. Recently at The University of Texas in Austin, researchers said they achieved temperatures of 200 million degrees Fahrenheit using the magnetic confinement approach. The temperature, however, was maintained for only 50 millionths of a second instead of the full second required.

Dr. Austin Cunningham of UT-Dallas said, "Reaching the required temperature is one step. You have to also confine the gas when it explodes in much the same manner as gasoline is held in the compression chamber of an automobile engine."

Under Research Since 1967
The Dallas scientists say the characteristics of lasers help solve the compression problems because of their ability to confine and compress the fuel.

Laser beam nuclear fusion research began in 1967. Dr. Collins said, "Lasers come in different intensities and wave lengths, so we had to determine which one would meet our requirements."

The principle being used in Dallas is to focus the laser beam on a deuterium target in the same way the sun's rays are focused through a magnifying glass to burn a hole in a piece of paper.

The laser itself is a device that takes incoming electricity, stores it in a gas such as nitrogen, then releases an intense beam of electromagnetic radiation.

$450,000 Grant
Armed with a $450,000 grant from the Office of Naval Research, Drs. Collins and Cunningham went to work on their theory two years ago.

The two physicists, in connection with a Hayward, Calif., firm, developed an electrobeam gun, now known as the Texas machine, for laser experiments.

Dr. Cunningham said, "What we are trying to do now is work on the efficiency of our laser. Right now we are at two per cent efficiency while the break-over point is five per cent."

"What we're working on now is developing the characteristics of the laser to where it can be used efficiently in an experimental plant with fuel," Dr. Collins said.

Both scientists say that without a breakthrough in research, nuclear fusion as a power source is at least 20 years away.

Triple Veto Keeps South Africa In U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — South Africa is keeping its membership in the United Nations as the result of a triple veto by the United States, Britain and France. But even its saviors demanded that the white South African government change its racial policies. The Security Council voted 10 to 3 Wednesday in favor of throwing South Africa out of the United Nations. The resolution was defeated only because the three Western powers who voted against it are permanent council members, and their negative votes count as vetoes.

Costa Rica and Austria abstained on the vote. It was the first vote on the specific question of expelling a member country in the 20-year history of the world organization and the first triple veto. The Council president for October, Michel Njine of Cameroon, said South Africa "remains a member of this organization only because of the veto power." The General Assembly for the past several years has rejected the credentials of South Africa's delegation, but it cannot expel a member without a recommendation from the Security Council. On Sept. 30, the assembly voted 98 to 23 to reject the credentials and took the additional step — by a vote of 125 to 1 — of asking the Security Council to take up South Africa's future in the world organization. Speeches during the assembly and council debates made clear that the South African government will be under all kinds of pressure to get it to change its policies. U.S. Ambassador John A. Scali said the South African policy of racial segregation, known as apartheid, is evil and ugly. He called on the ruling white minority to end it and create a society of equality. But Scali said expulsion was an "all or nothing policy" that would make it harder than ever to influence the South Africans to change. He said they "should continue to be exposed over and over again to the blunt expressions of the abhorrence of mankind for apartheid." Scali said British Ambassador Ivor Richard said expulsion would only strengthen the most extreme racist elements in South Africa at a time when there was hope for change.

27 Prospectors, 106 Development Tests Scheduled In Permian Basin

Operators scheduled 27 prospect wells and 106 development tests in the Permian Basin Empire of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico last week, for a total of 133 new oil-and-gas tests.

The over-all count was up 20 from the 113 planned two weeks ago, when 13 wildcats and 100 development wells were slated.

District 7-C of the Texas Railroad Commission, headquartered in San Angelo, recorded the largest number of exploratory projects, with nine scheduled.

District 8, headquartered in Midland, drew top place in pool tests, with 43 planned.

In RRC District 8-A there were four wildcats and 31 field tests scheduled.

Undesignated (Morrow) - Apexco, Inc. No. 1 Henri Grandi, approximately $21 from each donor. He received $200,000 within a 10 day period as the race neared its closing days, an aide said.

Javits has raised almost $700,000 and previous New York campaigns have cost more than $1 million.

"The special interest group contributions have turned so many people off on the election process following Watergate," said Edward Murnane, campaign manager for Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-Ill. "It is a form of influence peddling the American people have indicated they will not tolerate."

Crane is refusing to accept contributions from special interest groups, except official Republican organizations.

Others Make Restrictions

Others who are placing voluntary restrictions on campaign receipts are Reps. Pierre S. Du Pont, R-Del.; Jack F. Kemp, R-N.Y.; Bill Archer, R-Tex.; Charles Thone, R-Neb.; Edward G. Bieater, R-Pa.; and Elford A. Cederberg, R-Mich.

The Center for Public Financing of Elections, in a recent study, said the following senators, in addition to Mathias, had placed limits on the size of contributions they would accept:

Sens. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla.; Frank Church, D-Idaho; Peter W. Dominick, R-Colo.; Warren Magnuson, D-Wash.; Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis.; Richard Schweiker, R-Pa.; and Adlai Stevenson III, D-Ill.

Sens. Birch Bayh, D-Ind.; Alan Cranston, D-Calif.; Mike Gravel, D-Alaska; Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn.; and Bob Packwood, R-Ore., are limiting the amount of cash they will accept.

Sens. Church, Dominick, Javits, Russell B. Long, D-La.; Magnuson, Mathias, Nelson, and Milton R. Young, R-N.D., are refusing to accept any cash, the public financing group said.

Politicos Limiting Gifts, Opening Records To Public

WASHINGTON (AP) - Two years after the richest, most secretive political campaign in history, candidates are beginning to voluntarily limit the contributions they will accept and throwing their record books wide open.

In 1972, a group of men scurried about the country gathering huge secret donations for Richard M. Nixon's re-election campaign.

In 1974, almost 20 senators, representatives and a few challengers have told their campaign treasurers to refuse funds from special interest groups or personal contributions beyond specified limits, some as low as $100.

A few are listing every contribution they receive, although federal law requires that only contributions of $100 or more be itemized when contribution totals are reported.

$2 Contribution Listed

So, for those who care to look, the $2 contribution of Rose Narberg, a Honolulu teacher, is recorded in the campaign records of Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., along with thousands of other contributions.

In addition to opening his records, Mathias is limiting contributions from individuals to $100 or less. However, he accepted contributions of $4,500 from the seafarers union and $5,000 from the marine engineers union. He received a total of $223,513 in campaign contributions as of mid-October.

Campaign officials and other political observers agree that the voluntary limits and open records are a direct result of Watergate.

"I'm certain that everyone knew this was a concern of the public," said Gordon Hawk, Rep. Gilbert Gude's administrative assistant.

Gude, a Maryland Republican, has refused to accept any contributions from beyond the borders of his suburban district of approximately $21 from each donor. He received $200,000 within a 10 day period as the race neared its closing days, an aide said.

Javits has raised almost $700,000 and previous New York campaigns have cost more than $1 million.

"The special interest group contributions have turned so many people off on the election process following Watergate," said Edward Murnane, campaign manager for Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-Ill. "It is a form of influence peddling the American people have indicated they will not tolerate."

Montgomery County district or more than $100.

Limiting contributions can be a risky business for a non-candidate, who generally lacks the public recognition and financial resources that go with holding office.

Ramsey Clark Exception

But Ramsey Clark, the Democrat challenging New York's Republican Sen. Jacob K. Javits, decided to limit his contributions to $100 and is proving the exception to Wertheimer's rule.

A challenger running against a well-financed incumbent - Javits' current campaign has received more than $20,000 from the Rockefeller family alone - can make political capital by stressing the self-imposed limits, and that is what Clark has done.

Entering the last week of the campaign, Clark had raised $513,000 from 24,000 contributors, an average of approximately $21 from each donor. He received $200,000 within a 10 day period as the race neared its closing days, an aide said.

Javits has raised almost $700,000 and previous New York campaigns have cost more than $1 million.

"The special interest group contributions have turned so many people off on the election process following Watergate," said Edward Murnane, campaign manager for Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-Ill. "It is a form of influence peddling the American people have indicated they will not tolerate."

Camera Helps Save Diabetics' Vision

NEW YORK (AP) - The eye of the camera is helping to prolong the sight of many diabetics.

By using specially-adapted motorized, high speed cameras and high-powered microscopes, physicians can get an earlier look at vascular conditions which might lead to sudden blindness in diabetics, according to John Molloy of Honeywell Pentax, whose firm adapted the cameras for clinical use.

Physicians at the National Eye Institute in Bethesda, Md., say that the condition, diabetic retinopathy, is now the number one cause of new blindness. Laser treatment of the lesions discovered by the special cameras can postpone diabetic blindness indefinitely.

El Salvador, Mexico Promise Aid To Fifi Victims

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — El Salvador and Mexico have offered to send helicopters to Honduras to help an estimated 31,000 persons still trapped in flooded areas devastated by Hurricane Fifi.

The United States still had not decided to send helicopters requested by this Central American country.

El Salvador went to war against Honduras in 1969 over population and border problems, a conflict that cost 2,000 dead. The two nations still have not resumed diplomatic relations.

Health officials of Mexico and El Salvador flew over the affected region of 840 square miles in northern Honduras Wednesday aboard Honduran Air Force planes. Honduras has no helicopters.

Honduras appealed last week for helicopters to send emergency supplies to the refugees and pluck them off hills where they are trapped.

Honduras said the refugees faced possible starvation because it was next to impossible to send relief due to washed out roads and destroyed airports.

U.S. Ambassador Philip Sanchez said in an interview Wednesday night he had asked the State Department in Washington to send helicopters but that no decision has yet been made.

Sanchez, however, announced the U.S. Agency for International Development would make a $5-million donation to the Honduran government to rebuild the devastated region.

Meanwhile, a mobile hospital arrived in Tegucigalpa Wednesday from California, the Honduran Emergency Committee said. The hospital will be manned by 15 medics from the California Adventist Congregation, the committee said.

The Honduran government was still trying to fight off charges made earlier this month by a Florida couple that relief supplies were mis-handled.

The emergency committee labeled as "a bunch of lies" charges by Dr. Edward Austin of Cocoa Beach, Fla., and his wife that government and Red Cross officials were hoarding relief supplies and that some Red Cross men were using the supplies "to get girls."

The Florida couple had been in Honduras for relief work after hurricane Fifi hit Sept. 19 leaving an estimated 10,000 dead and 300,000 homeless.

Policewomen Fight For Equality

By MARIE-LOUISE MARCUS
STOCKHOLM (AP) — "Get the women out of the patrol cars," a superintendent of a Stockholm police squad demanded this summer, and he circulated a petition among fellow policemen to ban female police from radio patrol duty.

Fifty signed, and a heated debate flared all summer long in equality-conscious Sweden.

Supt. Goesta Soederstrom's demand caused widespread publicity and brought angry reactions.

"The opinion that women are no good at exercising force says a good deal about the men who signed the list, a great deal more than they are probably aware of," wrote columnist Gudrun Hjelte.

As is so often the case in Sweden the laws and the government's official stand on controversial issues are more radical than present attitudes. This goes for the acceptance of women in the traditionally male police force.

The debate died at the policemen's union congress early in September when Attorney General Lennart Geijer firmly stated that "we need more women policemen and we do not wish to exclude women from certain duties such as patrolling."

It used to be that policemen in radio cars were considered the "super cops" of the force. What stirred oldtimer Soederstrom into action was the news that a young policewoman, Lisbeth Gaufrin, 28, had been appointed commander of one such car crew.

"Women cannot handle situations when violence occurs; she will be a danger to her colleagues," he argued.

But Lisbeth Gaufrin's boss backed her and so did her union branch in Stockholm. Lisbeth made better marks on a special emergency test than did most of her male colleagues, said the head of the Skarholmen police, where she is employed.

So she bravely went back to work as if nothing had happened.

After four years on the force with exactly the same training as male policemen she considered herself as fit for patrol duty as they.

"It's all nonsense," she said. "During all my years I have never been in a situation where I had to use violence. I'll go on working."

Police instructions declare that violence is the last thing a policeman should resort to.

"According to my experience it is rather an advantage to be a woman in this job. My sex has a psychologically dampening effect on people. Men are brought up not to hit women," she said.

This was confirmed by the Stockholm Police School's psychology teacher.

"Most policemen can recount incidents when they found that if they took the time just to listen it calmed people down; violence is unnecessary in the job," he said.

Sweden has had policewomen since 1949 and in the '60s they were allowed to leave their traditional white collar tasks and patrol the streets in uniform.

In 1969 the National Police Board gave in to pressure groups within the force and ordered the women back inside police stations again but this lasted only for two years.

Ulla-Britt Maansson, of Lund in southern Sweden, then wrote an angry letter to the authorities protesting against the "sex discrimination." The government reacted promptly as equality between sexes was a popular and not-so-controversial political issue.

"Now she can walk the streets again," the headlines had it and blonde Ulla-Britt was presented with boxes of chocolate and received fan mail from all over the world.

At present, there are 400 policewomen in the total Swedish force of 15,000. An increasing number of young women apply to the police school.

One of them is last year's Stockholm Lucia, a sort of mid-winter beauty queen, Margret Andersson, 21. She had numerous offers of modeling work.

"But models can't eat what they want, they have to watch their looks all the time. What a bore," said Margret. "The police job is one better."

Man Can't Give Up Newspaper Business After Four Decades

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — J. R. "Bud" Fitzpatrick got into the newspaper business against his better judgment almost four decades ago. Now he says he can't give it up.

"It must be in my blood," said Fitzpatrick, a spry 78. "There are plenty of places you can go and make more money than the newspaper business."

Fitzpatrick has gone other places, operating a real estate firm and running a wax museum in Springfield. But newspapering is still a chief love.

"It keeps you in contact with the moving world," he said in a recent interview at his office, where walls are lined with mementos and photographs of politicians and sports figures.

Fitzpatrick's current publication is a weekly blend of news, comment and folksy humor contained in a printed newsletter called "Main Street."

Fitzpatrick said he was "dragged sideways" into newspapering in 1936 when he and two friends agreed to start a weekly newspaper to take a position on a local controversy involving public utilities.

Fitzpatrick recalled that once the deal was made he was somewhat reluctant because "I could lose a lot of money."

In 1942, one partner died and three months later Fitzpatrick bought out the remaining partner, becoming sole publisher of the Citizen Tribune.

"I took it over and carried on until 1956," Fitzpatrick said. "That's the longest any weekly newspaper ever ran in Springfield."

Fitzpatrick said he felt a compulsion to keep on writing, so he decided then to put out Main Street, named after the column he had written for the Citizen Tribune.

Main Street, which carries no advertising and costs his 735 paid subscribers $12.50 a year, contains "nothing but news of interest on the local level, written with complete independence and genuine frankness," the front page says.

A recent issue had a story on former President Nixon, items on the local sanitary district and school board and a story telling what the State Fair was like years ago.

"Depletion may not be needed by the majors but the independents must have it to survive."

This was the comment of Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr., D-Tex., in addressing a Tuesday meeting of the Independent Petroleum Association of America at Dallas.

He was speaking, of course, of the oil depletion allowance and how its removal would affect the major oil companies and the independent operators.

He made it clear what would happen to the independents, but he painted an even darker picture in expressing some doubt that the allowance can be saved.

"I am looking at a way to draw a line between the majors and the independents," the senator said, "and I'm convinced we must do it. That line is going to have to be drawn."

Bentsen said that the proposal by the House Ways and Means Committee to phase out the oil depletion allowance would amount to phasing the independents out of business.

The IPAA members later adopted a resolution blaming some international oil companies for causing a split within the industry over retention of the 22 percent tax allowance.

Fortunately, however, the resolution expressed hope that the majors now will join in an all-out fight to retain domestic depletion.

This becomes all the more important in the face of the statement of Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, also made at the IPAA meeting, that President Ford will sign the tax reform bill if it comes before him in its present form. And the legislation includes a provision to eliminate the oil depletion allowance.

Simon explained that the President would prefer to retain the domestic depletion allowance to encourage oil exploration, but that he will sign the bill because it also contains several positive improvements in the tax structure.

Secretary Simon, who said he is one of the greatest admirers of the nation's 10,000 independent oil men, said further, "Our basic position is the same as it has always been: We favor removal of the foreign depletion allowance for oil, and we oppose the removal of the domestic depletion allowance."

He also bemoaned the lack of an energy policy in the U.S. and recommended immediate deregulation of natural gas prices and the gradual freeing of crude oil from price controls.

It is hoped that for the good of the petroleum industry, as well as in the best interests of the nation, that the majors and independents can and will get together in forming a united front in meeting the challenge confronting the industry at the Washington level.

"Why Didn't You Bring The Wrench?"

THE CONSUMER ALERT— Check Seasonal Appeals Of Unfamiliar Groups

By JOHN L. HILL
Texas Attorney General

AUSTIN — Within the next few months, many of us will be asked to contribute to a charitable cause, since various fundraising organizations concentrate their efforts in the period from Halloween through Easter.

There are three ways people commonly are asked to help a charitable cause: By donating money, by donating services, or by donating the use of their name for advertising or fund-raising purposes.

All of us are familiar with the seasonal appeals of well-established charitable organizations, and few of us question the value of the work they do.

But the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division cautions persons contacted by any unfamiliar charitable organization to check carefully before committing money, time, or the use of your name.

Our attorneys suggest that you ask these questions before agreeing to support such a group:

—What are the organization's goals? Do you believe they are worthwhile? Are they realistic? Are their fundraising campaigns and charitable programs well-planned?

—Who heads the group and where are its central offices? Who are the local officers or representatives? Are they genuinely committed to the organization and its aims?

—What services does the organization provide in your community? Are they effective? How is the group regarded by your friends and associates?

—Has the organization met local or state regulations for charities soliciting funds?

—How does the charity solicit its funds?

Some organizations use methods of fundraising that are questionable at best. Some send unsorted goods through the mail, then later request — or even demand — payment. Our attorneys remind consumers that both state and federal laws say they don't have to pay for or return unsorted merchandise.

Another practice to be on guard against is misrepresentation of a group as employers of "handicapped," "disabled," "rehabilitated," "retired," "minority," or "student" workers when in reality only a very few, if any, such workers are employed. If approached by a group with such an appeal, you should inquire what percentage of such workers is employed, or what percentage of profits is paid to them.

In recent years, some questions have been raised by concerned citizens as to how much of the funds collected by various charities actually go toward their stated goals and how much is spent on administrative costs, salaries, and the cost of raising funds.

While low operating costs may tend to make a group seem efficient, it's important, say experts, to remember that many factors must be considered in evaluating such figures. The purpose of the charity, whether it employs professional fundraisers or depends on volunteers, costs of printing informational material, and whether the organization is an old, established one or a new one — all of these things affect

County Operates Horseback Trail

HACKENSACK, N.J. (AP) — A horseback riding trail has opened atop Camp Mountain in Franklin Lakes — once the site of an Army missile base.

Twenty saddle horses, housed in the former officers' quarters, will carry visitors along a 2½-mile bridge path overlooking the New York skyline. Eventually there will be 40 mounts.

The Bergen County park commission spent $183,000 to develop Saddle Ridge, the county-operated riding facilities, on part of the 37-acre tract donated to the county after the Army abandoned it in 1971.

Two outdoor paddocks are included for riding instruction in addition to the trail.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Meissen, a city in eastern Germany, has produced porcelain figurines often called "Dresden" china since 1710. The World Almanac notes. Near the city are kaolinite deposits from which a pure clay is produced. This clay is used to make fine porcelain because it is easily molded, has a fine texture and turns white when fired in a kiln.

RAY CROMLEY Reform Remedy Is No Remedy At All!

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The paragraphs Senate and House conferees voted to eliminate from the "revolutionary" clean elections law recently signed by President Ford are more significant than the bewildering maze of do's and don'ts which were left in. Congress passed the wrong bill. We would have cleaner politics if the Senate and House had scrapped the 48-page law as passed and substituted 40 lines they eliminated.

The paragraphs that so offended the House of Representatives were simple and direct. Of them, thirty-nine would have required congressmen, congressional and presidential candidates and federal employees earning $25,000 or more to report in detail their financial dealings and possible conflicts of interest that included:

1. Any stocks bought and sold each year in excess of $1,000.
2. Any commodity transactions in excess of $1,000.
3. Any purchase or sale of real property worth more than $1,000, excluding only the buying or selling of a private residence.
4. Taxes paid the previous year.
5. The amount and source of each item of income greater than $100, including honorariums and gifts of goods and services.
6. A list of current assets and liabilities valued at more than $1,000.

These reports would be open to the press and the public. Those who neglected to expose their dealings could be sentenced to five years in prison.

Another 10-line section of the Senate bill which was eliminated was equally stringent. It would have, in essence, made any phone call from a congressman (or any other outsider) to a regulating agency a matter of open record. It would thus have made public each and every attempt by senators and representatives (and members of the executive branch, including the president) to influence the actions of regulating agencies on anti-trust matters, the licensing of radio and television stations, the regulation of railroads, trucking firms and barge lines, the assignment of air routes and other actions which could give millions of dollars in benefits to some parties and/or take away millions from others.

It is not difficult to understand why the House of Representatives insisted on striking these provisions. The publicity called for would have made known the immoral conflicts of interest of many men in the legislature. It would have brought into the open congressional self-serving activities which cost the public millions (perhaps billions) a year. It would have exposed the payoffs a goodly number of congressmen receive to vote for or against bills, and for interfering with the honest enforcement of laws.

Laws limiting campaign giving and spending will not clean up elections. Candidates and donors equipped with ingenious attorneys will find ways to circumvent the law. Only publicity on candidates, office holders and their associates, their sources of income, backers, financial connections and obligations will make it possible for voters to throw out those rascals who pervert the system.

A bill to remedy the loopholes

TIMELY QUOTES

"The thought of being deported was a two-year nightmare that took me to the bottom of the skid row. I started on the booze. I was out every night... making a fool of myself."

—Ex-Beattles member John Lennon, lamenting his unsuccessful battle against deportation over the past two years.

"The voluntary work program just won't work at this time. Too many people feel they have responded patriotically last year and that oil companies profited from it and that the crisis was a lot of hokum. It will be much harder to sell voluntary action this time."

—A no-nonsense Midwestern Republican leader fearing harsh public reaction to government pleas to voluntarily conserve energy.

"The Stans people didn't look gift horses in the mouth. They raised a load of money but they weren't careful about where it came from. It came close to extortion."

—Herbert E. Alexander, director of the Citizens' Research Foundation, discussing Maurice Stans, in charge of contributions for the 1972 Committee to Elect the President.

The Country Parson By Frank A. Clark

"A fellow who can't succeed at anything else has to learn to be pretty good at excuse."

DON OAKLEY Finding New Oil In Old Wells Is Nothing New

WARREN, Pa. (NEA) — Biggest news on the energy front of late was Mexico's discovery of a vast new oil field, or fields, off her Caribbean coast. Preliminary estimates ranged up to 20 billion barrels, double that of Alaska's North Slope and respectable even by Persian Gulf standards.

A lot of speculation went a-glimmering, however, when President Luis Echeverria made it clear in his recent meeting with President Ford that Mexico was not about to bail the United States out of the energy crisis by undercutting the world market price for oil.

Think of the headlines if it were to be announced that an immense new field, not of 20 billion but of 35 billion barrels, had been discovered right here in this country.

Yet in point of fact, that is roughly how much oil remains at the bottom of tens of thousands of pumped-out wells, old that it is believed recoverable by secondary methods.

Ten years ago, Struthers Wells Corp. of Warren, Pa., developed such a method, a "steam flooding" system. Directed into formations at hundreds of degrees temperature and hundreds of pounds per square inch pressure, the steam thinned down heavy crude and allowed it to flow toward wells. Business Week magazine called it "thermal Geritol" for tired oil fields that could boost a well's production by three to 10 times.

But in 1964, Middle Eastern oil was selling for $2 a barrel and secondary recovery was not economically justifiable. You can guess the rest. Came the Arab-Israeli war and last winter's oil embargo and the energy crisis hit home for real. Mideast oil now goes for $11 a barrel.

In January, Struthers Wells received its first meaningful order in 10 years from Standard Oil of California, where tarry crude at relatively shallow depths makes steam flooding particularly attractive. Orders began coming in from other companies.

There is nothing new about secondary oil recovery, and steam flooding is only one of a number of methods, although the most promising. Nor does it mean that Americans will be able to resume their reckless consumption of their petroleum reserves.

It does mean that America is far from becoming a have-not nation in terms of oil. We have vast amounts of it yet that could

Rebels Out To End Black Cats' Hex In 5-4A's Big One

Rebels' Long-Awaited Replay Day Arrives

Four points and less than a half minute of playing time are all that separate Midland High from an unbeaten season and while Midland Lee's lone loss isn't quite of the same Macbeth-like proportions for tragic drama, the Rebels' one-point setback at the hands of Abilene Cooper cuts just as deep.

Battle Scene

By Ted Bailes

Still, Lee can wipe it all out against unbeaten Odessa Permian when the District 5-4A rivals clash before 11,000 fans Friday night in Memorial Stadium.

While most of the members of the 1972 cast are gone, this is the replay that Coach Jim Acree has been dreaming of for two years.

The conditions are almost identical to those that existed in November two years ago when Lee brought a 6-1 record into the game against Odessa Permian, whose 7-0 record made the Panthers the No. 1 team in the state instead of their present No. 3. And prospects are good that this rematch will be every bit as exciting as 1972 when Lee "won" it 15-14 with less than two minutes to go only to have an offsides penalty wipe out a two-point conversion. The second PAT try was stopped and Permian emerged a 14-13 winner in an epic struggle.

The Panthers emerged from their closest call of the year to win the state AAAA championship and Coach Gil Bartosh used the title as a springboard to a college coaching job that eventually led to his appointment as head coach at UTEP.

Everyone remembers the vital conversion attempt, but how many recall that Lee found itself behind the eight-ball on the first Permian scrimmage play of the game when Roy Bobbitt electrified and stunned the fans with a 77-yard touchdown run?

Lee didn't tie the score until the third quarter when Jimmy O'Neal ran 14 yards to end an 86-yard drive.

Before the period was out, Permian exploited a Lee fumble for a 47-yard touchdown drive with David Shipman crashing over from the two. And then in the fourth period, Lee stormed 80 yards to send O'Neal into the end zone again from the two with 1:57 left.

So the stage is set again and while victory will put the winner in an enviable position to represent 5-4A in state play, with San Angelo and Odessa left on the Permian schedule and Abilene and Midland remaining for Lee, it will hardly be conclusive.

If there's a big difference between this year's game and the 1972 classic, it must be that Permian's running game isn't as explosive while Lee's aerial attack isn't the ground-devouring weapon it was then.

Permian does throw the ball with precision and this must be a cause for concern to the Lee staff, for the Rebels have given up more aerial yards than any team in the district.

Still, the Rebels have picked off eight enemy passes and lead the district in pouncing on opposition turnovers with 14, including six fumble recoveries.

Since Permian has allowed less than 100 yards total offense to district foes, it's a game that quite probably will be determined by breaks and one in which field position will be of utmost importance.

One of the pleasant bonuses attached to a game of this stature . . . neither Acree nor Permian Coach John Wilkins will have to worry about his team's mental preparedness. Keeping a cap on the enthusiasm is something else.

By BOB DILLON

The Midland Lee Rebels and Odessa Permian Panthers tangled for the 15th time on the gridiron Friday night in Memorial Stadium and Coach Jim Acree's crew hopes to win the second of the heated series.

That's right, Permian has won 12 out of 13 games with the only Lee win coming in 1968 when the Rebels polished off the Panthers, 28-26 in W.T. Barrett Stadium. In that particular game, Rebel quarterback Jody Turner went to the air 54 times.

The Panthers went on to the state finals before bowing to Austin Reagan, 17-11.

Rebel and Panther fans still remember the 1972 classic battle in Memorial Stadium when Permian won, 14-13, and went on to win the state championship. Lee had a two-point conversion called back in that game.

Permian comes into Friday's game with a perfect 7-0 season mark and 4-0 District 5-4A record while Lee is 6-1 and 3-1. The Panthers may not have the services of starting tailback Johnny Houser who has been slowed by a knee injury and his replacement will be Willie Ryan. Houser, a 175-pounded junior, is a fine blocker and will be missed in the Panther attack should he not see duty. Houser has rushed for 382 yards and scored four touchdowns this season. Ryan is also a junior and has better speed, but is not nearly the blocker Houser is.

Lee's rugged defensive unit must stop the passing and running of junior quarterback Kris Howard along with senior fullback Travis Howard. Travis rushed for more than 900 yards this season, hitting 42 of 62 passes for 611 yards and six touchdowns. Travis has rushed for 467 yards and also scored four times. Ricky Ross, junior split end, and Daryl Hunt, senior tight end, are Kris Howard's favorite targets.

Ross has latched on to 14 passes for 246 yards while Hunt, a 205-pounder has eight catches for 113 yards.

Permian's long suit is defense and the Black Cats have only given up nine points in four loop games and 32 on the season. The Panthers have racked up 115 first downs to their opponents' 46. Permian has given up only 447 yards on the ground and an additional 390 yards through the airways in seven outings.

It shapes up as a toss-up with the Panthers slight favorites in what could be a replay of the 1972 clash.

Tickets for the game went on sale Wednesday at 8 a.m. at Tugboat Jones' office and were sold out before 10 a.m. so a crowd of more than 11,000 will be on hand for the game that could determine the 5-4A champion. A Lee victory would put the Rebels in the driver's seat, but the Rebels still would need a victory over Abilene and the Midland Bulldogs.

Catfish Unhappy

Finley Still Owes Me, Says Young Winner

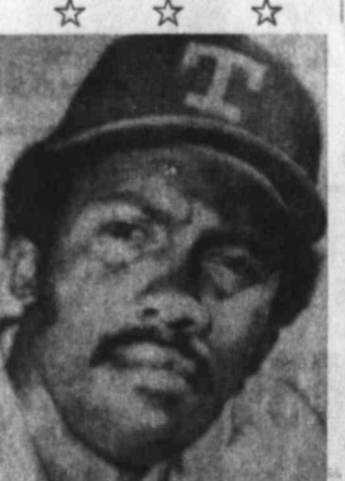

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Being selected as the top pitcher in the American League by winning the Cy Young Award hasn't eliminated Catfish Hunter's troubles with his boss, Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley.

Hunter insisted in a telephone interview from his home in Hertford, N.C., after his Cy Young Award selection that Finley "still owes me $50,000 on this year's contract."

Asked about this and the possibility he might claim free agent status, Hunter said that and the salary matter would be discussed at a meeting between his attorneys, Marvin Miller of the Players Association and Bowie Kuhn, commissioner of baseball.

"They're going to decide what's going to happen on that," Hunter said.

Finley Skirts Issue
When Finley was asked about the dispute, he declined comment. "Why ruin a great day

Ferguson Jenkins finishes second for Hunter," he said. Finley said he was "very proud and happy" for Hunter whom he described as "one of the finest gentlemen in the game."

The 28-year-old North Carolinian appeared mildly surprised at his winning the Cy Young Award over Ferguson Jenkins of the Texas Rangers, who received 75 points from a 24-member panel of the Baseball Writers Association of America to 90 for Hunter.

Hunter said he learned of his selection Wednesday afternoon when his wife told him after he returned from a fruitless deer hunt.

Praises Fergy
"I thought Ferguson Jenkins might get it instead of me," Hunter said. He pointed out that both of them had 25 victories last season and that Oakland had won the World Series.

"His team was not as good, so he had to pitch a little better, maybe," Hunter said.

Hunter agreed that the Cy Young Award was the greatest honor to come to him during his 10-year career in the majors.

"I think when a pitcher comes into baseball the first thing he wants to do is win 20 games, the second is to win a World Series and the third is to win the Cy Young award," he said.

Hunter was the only pitcher named on each of the 24 ballots, and he received 12 first-place votes to 10 for Jenkins.

The California Angels' Nolan Ryan came in third with 28 points and one first-place vote. Cleveland's Gaylord Perry got the other first place vote and tied with Luis Tiant of Boston

QUIT RAZORBACKS—

Arkansas Loses Woods

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said Wednesday that freshman running back Tommy Woods had quit the Razorbacks football team.

Broyles gave no reason for Woods' decision.

Jerry Eckwood, a highly touted running back from Brinkley, also will miss the rest of the season. Eckwood strained his back in a weightlifting accident earlier this week.

BEAT COUGARS, 1-0— Aeros Show Title Form

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston goaltender Wayne Rutledge figures the "old" Aeros are hitting their stride now.

"If you'll notice, all the older teams take longer to come around," Rutledge said Wednesday night after registering his first World Hockey Association shutout in a 1-0 victory over the Chicago Cougars. "But we're getting it all together now and it's just a matter of going out with confidence."

Rutledge turned back 24 shots on goal by the Cougars and Rutledge gave the Aeros defense credit for the shutout. "The defense has been clearing the puck nicely," Rutledge said. "They didn't get too many second shots."

Rutledge's first WHA shutout couldn't have come at a better time in the closely fought game. The only goal came in at 11:14 of the third period when Murray Hall slapped in a backhanded goal after taking a pass from defenseman John Schella.

It was Houston's third straight victory after a slow start at defending its WHA championship.

Rutledge spent most of the season on the bench last year while Don McLeod was becoming the leading goalie in the WHA. When McLeod did not return because of a contract disagreement, goaltending fell to Rutledge and Ron Grahame.

"I thought Smokey (McLeod) had a fantastic year but I felt if I had the opportunity to play more games in a row, I could have had a good year too," Rutledge said.

"Ron Grahame is going to play well too," Rutledge said. "The way this team is playing now, it makes goaltending easy. It (the team) helped Smokey have a good year last year."

ST. LOUIS (AP) — After a two-week absence, defensive back Hurlie Scales rejoined the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday. The National Football League team reacquired Scales on waivers from the Chicago Bears.

4-Team Leagues Unpopular

Lose One And You're Rebuilding For Next Year

By TERRY WILLIAMSON
When the University Interscholastic League made their district realignments last year, District 7-AA and District 5-A became five and four conference leagues. It's no wonder that coaches in those districts aren't too fond of the situation.

Take the Stanton Buffaloes for instance. The Buffs were favored to win the District 5-A championship this year, but in the first conference game of the season, the Buffs dropped a 30-22 heartbreaker to Seagraves. The odds for the Buffs winning that loop now seem almost as distant as Christmas 1960.

Coach Bill Young's Buffs now face a survival role against Plains. Plains owns a 2-0 district record, the same as Seagraves, so Stanton's hopes have to rely on a victory over Plains and a Plains victory over Seagraves later on.

Another problem arises, however, since Seagraves has looked stronger this year than has Plains, and it appears that a Plains victory over Seagraves is a little bit of wishful thinking.

The same problems arise in District 7-AA. Any team with one loss in loop play is just as good as dead. Crane, the pre-season favorite here, dropped its first two loop contests and is totally eliminated unless you want to get your computer out and figure the astronomical chances.

Sonora and McCamey are the only teams in 7-AA without a loss to their credit in loop play. Sonora plays Reagan County (0-1) while McCamey hosts Ozona (1-1) Friday with both expected to win again. That leaves the McCamey-Sonora shootout on the last weekend of the season as the big game, and no one really expects the two powers to be stopped before the matchup.

The other area loops don't have the four-game district slate, but this week's action could go a long way in determining loop titlists.

The biggest battle of all comes in Snyder where the Tigers host Lubbock Dunbar in a war that will surely see the winner in the playoffs. Both teams own a 6-1 season marks and 3-0 district slates. Snyder has not won a district crown in 11 years, but is heavily favored to win this year.

Lubbock Estacado (2-1) will try to stay alive in the 3-AAA scramble when they travel to Lamesa (0-4) Friday. The Tors of Lamesa have had offensive problems this season, but have one of the stronger defensive units. Lamesa has scored only 13 points in four district outings.

Pecos and Monahans lead the District 2-AAA race with 3-0 marks. Pecos, undefeated on the season, will host winless Odessa Ector in what should be a mismatch while Monahans will have the chore of facing contender Kermit, owners of a 3-1 loop reading.

The Andrews Mustangs, who got their first win of the season last week, take their new found strength against Seminole. Both appear to be out of the title run.

It will also be a big weekend in District 6-A where Rankin and Marfa meet Friday. Both own 2-0 records in 6-A play, but Rankin, the state's second-ranked Class A unit, is the heavy favorite. Rankin will be seeking his 13th straight regular season victory.

Iraan, also 2-0 in 6-A competition, faces winless Wink while Balmorhea hosts Clint, with both teams owning 0-2 district readings.

STANTON TRENCHMEN — The Stanton Buffaloes face a survival battle against Plains Friday night and these five defensive stars will play a big part in the Stanton outcome. H. A. Schuelke (70), 218, Sr.; Bruce Stanley (64), 165, Sr.; Ronny Dickenson (60), 200, Sr.; Bobby Richardson (77), 172, Jr.; and Elvin Brown (42), 175, Jr.

NHL Needs Overtime Pay

Extra Period Only Thing Missing In New York Tilt

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Rangers center Derek Sanderson was somewhat disappointed with the finish of Wednesday night's 1-1 deadlock with the New York Islanders.

The Islanders' turn came with 2:39 remaining. Nystrom took a loose puck at his blue line, swept behind the Rangers defense and powered a 25-footer past Ed Giacomin for the tie.

It didn't matter so much that the game had ended in a tie. What did matter was that the contest had ended without an overtime period.

The standoff was the Islanders' second against six victories and a loss this season, the loss coming against the Rangers on Oct. 19. The Rangers raised their unbeaten string to four games.

There were two other ties in NHL play Wednesday night, as the Chicago Black Hawks and Montreal Canadiens finished at 4-4, while the Minnesota North Stars and Boston Bruins played a 3-3 standoff. The Atlanta Flames downed the California Golden Seals 4-1 in the other game.

Cliff Koroll's second goal of the game, at 1:44 of the third period, gave the Black Hawks their tie with Montreal while Guy Lafleur had two for the Canadiens. Two goals by Phil Esposito lifted the Bruins into a tie with the North Stars. Buster Harvey scored twice and set up a third goal to pace the Flames.

Unsafe Ice Stops Cleveland Opening

By The Associated Press
The hottest thing in Cleveland these days is that newly built magnificent Coliseum. And that's just the problem.

For the second time, the Cleveland Crusaders had to abandon their World Hockey Association home opener in their $28 million home because the ice will not harden.

In other WHA games Wednesday, it was the players who were hot. Houston's Wayne Rutledge, Winnipeg's Bobby Hull, Phoenix's Michael Cormier, Vancouver's Bryan Campbell and the New England Whalers.

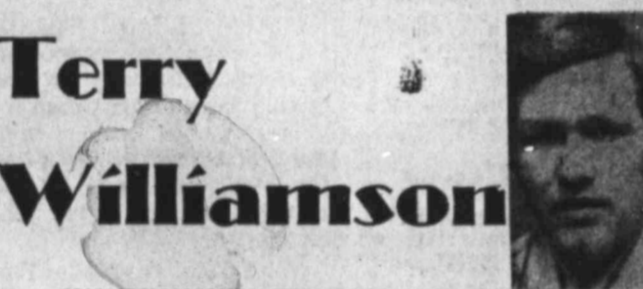

Phoenix's Cormier matched Hull with three goals, but his came in a losing effort. New England bombarded the nets with three goals in the final seven minutes of play to stop Toronto's streak. The Toros had won their last six games last season and their first six this year. With the score tied at 2-2, Tommy Webster fired in a 20-foot shot. Then Tommy Abrahamsson and Mike Byers sealed the verdict.

The Crusaders were making their second attempt to open up their home season. But, just like the first time, the ice wouldn't cooperate.

Between 8,000 and 9,000 people were on hand for Cleveland's scheduled match with the Minnesota Fighting Saints. When the two coaches agreed that the condition of the ice was unsafe to skate on, the Coliseum offered two tickets to each fan who showed up.

Phoenix Losses
New England stopped Toronto's 12-game regular season winning streak 5-2, Winnipeg clipped Phoenix 6-5 in overtime, Houston blanked Chicago 1-0 and Vancouver outlasted Edmonton 8-6.

The Crusaders were making their second attempt to open up their home season. But, just like the first time, the ice wouldn't cooperate.

Not Always To Form

Things don't always go as planned in area football circles and this year is no different. For instance, Crane and Stanton, pre-season favorites in their respective districts, have already taken it on the chin. Crane has fallen twice in its only two loop games while Stanton has lost once in its only loop encounter.

So it looks like unexpected finishes in District 7-AA and District 5-A. McCamey and Sonora, both unbeaten in 7-AA play, and Seagraves and Plains in 5-A appear to be headed toward showdowns. None of it expected, but that's what makes the high school game such an exciting affair.

The Snyder Tigers of District 3-AAA can all but set up their first loop crown in 11 years with a victory over Lubbock Dunbar Friday, and that is as expected, and Rankin's highly touted Red Devils are unbeaten in seven outings and 2-0 in District 6-A play. So, the form chart is not always wrong.

Also, Monahans and Pecos are unbeaten in District 2-AAA action as was predicted back in August, but Kermit owns only one loss and faces Monahans Friday in a key tilt. No one really expected Kermit to make this strong of a challenge, but there they are — still alive and kicking.

And as far as playing the picking game with the area teams, this corner has managed a credible job with 199 right 56 wrong for a .780 percentage. Last week I hit on 26 while missing only six. So, here we go again for the ninth time.

Ninth Time Around

STANTON 25, PLAINS 18 — The Buffs must win this one to keep any faint hopes of gaining a playoff berth. It appears that even with a win the playoff chances are slim, but I'll be there Friday night anyway.

McCAMEY 35, OZONA 14 — The Badgers are rolling toward their first district championship since 1958, and the Lions won't be able to hobble the express.

SONORA 24, REAGAN COUNTY 13 — Sonora, playing in AA for the first time, feels that they can win the 7-AA championship in their first try. They take that big step Friday against the Owls while pointing toward a showdown with McCamey.

RANKIN 30, MARFA 7 — Both are undefeated in District 6-A action, but who's kidding who anyway?

ANDREWS 18, SEMINOLE 14 — The Mustangs got their first win of the year last week, and there may be no stopping them now. Seminole, an early season power, has fallen on rough times with three straight losses.

Spur Coach Heaps Praise On Victims

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — San Antonio Spurs Coach Tom Nissalke had nothing but good things to say about most of the St. Louis players that his club clobbered 135-96 Wednesday night.

While the Spurs appeared to have a minimal amount of problems adjusting to a slow-down offense, the young and inexperienced Spirits of St. Louis were outmanned and out-gunned.

The San Antonio offense was led by the 28-point scoring of Donnie Freeman, 27 points from George Gervin and 20 rebounds from Sven Nater.

Nissalke said the story of the game, however, was the patience "the St. Louis owners will have to show" for the development of four rookie offensive players—Maurice Lucas, James "Fly" Williams, Marvin Barnes and Gus Gerard.

None of that quartet figured prominently in San Antonio's runaway victory. The issue was decided early in the second quarter as the Spurs outshot the Spirits 41-15 and moved to a 73-37 halftime lead.

"Gerard is terrific," Nissalke said, "and Barnes is going to be an outstanding player. It takes a minimum of three years to put together a strong ball club, but the owners in St. Louis have got the players. All they need now is patience to wait on them."

The Spurs' triumph boosted their won-loss record 5-2 for the season, compared to St. Louis' 3-6.

The St. Louis attack was led by veteran guard Steve Jones with 22 points during a 46-minute stint. The Spirits shot a meager 37.5 from the field as opposed to San Antonio's 61.5.

Permian-Lee Matches Strong Defensive Units

When Odessa Permian and Midland Lee square off before 12,000 fans in Memorial Stadium Friday night, it will be the No. 1 defense in District against the No. 4 defense. But more important, first place in the league race is the big stakes.

Permian's defense has been so stingy that they may receive a citation from President Ford as doing their part to combat inflation.

The Panthers have surrendered just 96 yards per game in total offense in four league tilts in compiling a 4-0 record. That's something over 50 yards rushing and 40 yards passing.

Lee has given up 885 yards total offense for its No. 4 ranking behind the Panthers, Cooper and Midland.

Meanwhile, in Odessa, Midland High will be matching the No. 2 offense in the league against the No. 3 offense when the Bulldogs play Odessa High.

The Purple Pack has amassed 1,056 yards rushing and

Ailing Hudson Sparks Hawk Win

Pumps In Key Points In Stretch Against Pistons

By The Associated Press
Playing with an extremely painful right arm Wednesday night, Atlanta's Lou Hudson led a fourth-quarter blast that powered the Hawks to a 104-96 victory over the Detroit Pistons.

Hudson, suffering from calcium deposits and inflammation in his arm, reacted to the challenge of the moment. "It's the excitement of playing," said Hudson, explaining how he rose above exquisite pain. "You get that extra little energy, that extra little burst. Right now I don't think I can shoot the basketball 10 feet. Tonight it's going to kill me."

Hudson hit on an 18-foot jumper to put Atlanta ahead 88-87 with 4:50 remaining and added 10 more points before the final buzzer to keep the Hawks ahead.

Detroit was ahead 86-77 four minutes into the final period. Then the Hawks outscored their 15-2 in the next five minutes, including the go-ahead field goal.

Bulls 105, Celtics 104
Chicago built a whopping lead on a balanced attack led by Chet Walker and then withstood a furious Boston comeback to snap a five-game losing streak.

Kings 99, Bucks 97
Nate Archibald scored 30 points and Sam Lacey dominated the boards down the stretch as Kansas City-Omaha overcame a 12-point fourth-quarter deficit to down Milwaukee for the Kings' fifth NBA victory in six games.

Bullets 94, Knicks 86
Elvin Hayes poured in 21 points and collected 16 rebounds to pace unbeaten Washington over New York. Hayes scored five points in the final minute after the Knicks led the Bulls 86-84.

The victory was the seventh of the season for Washington. Suns 104, 76ers 99
Charlie Scott poured in 27 points to lead Phoenix over Philadelphia 76ers. Fred Carter, playing his first game of the season for the 76ers, put his team in a challenging position when he scored his seventh field goal with only 50 seconds remaining, narrowing the margin to 100-97.

But Phoenix cut off the threat when Curtis Perry made a lay-up with 30 seconds remaining, to put the Suns ahead 102-97.

Rockets 113, Jazz 100
Forward Mike Newlin scored 21 points to lead a balanced attack that gave Houston its victory over winless New Orleans.

Sonics 117, Lakers 97
Spencer Haywood poured in 40 points, leading Seattle past Los Angeles.

Warren Trahan
... Aggies' terror

Simonini Sold On Trahan

COLLEGE STATION.—"I wish I could just stand there and watch him play. He just destroys people."

The speaker is Ed Simonini, Texas A&M's All-America linebacker. His subject is Warren Trahan, A&M's All-America defensive tackle.

Simonini was asked his observations on the Aggie defense. "The key to our defense is Trahan," Simonini said. "I don't think many people realize just how good he is."

"Coming from a player noted for his aggressiveness and team spirit, those words have special meaning."

But it was true then that people didn't know who Trahan was, it isn't true now. The 6-4, 268-pound senior from Dusen La., has had two great games. On national television against Texas Tech, Trahan keyed an Aggie defense which shutout the ninth-rated Red Raiders until late in the fourth quarter.

On one play, he tackled the fullback and the quarterback at the same time, bringing praise from Coach Emory Bellard. "A lot of people might have missed that play, but it really caught my eye," Bellard said. "That big sonuvagun has a lot of quickness about him. It is hard to believe he can be that big and that quick."

Then in A&M's 17-0 win over TCU, Trahan's play was a big factor in holding the Horned Frogs to a minus 58—that's right, MINUS 58—yards rushing. Trahan personally sacked the quarterback three times, caught the fullback for a four-yard loss on a draw play and had another tackle for a three-yard loss.

Trahan's season statistics are spectacular. He has 30 unassisted tackles and 16 assists for a total of 46. He has caused two fumbles, sacked opposing quarterbacks seven times, and has 17 tackles for 66 yards in losses. The tendency to overlook Trahan probably stems from the fact that he is far from a one-man gang. The Aggie defense has logged 36 sacks in six games and notched 74 tackles for 345 yards in losses. Even so, Trahan draws a lot of double-teams during a game.

The big reason Trahan is having such a great season, according to Bellard, is that he is able to use his hands. "Last year Warren had two bad wrists, and I mean really bad. He had broken bone in one and a severe sprain in the other. It is almost impossible to play defense when you can't use your hands, but he did a pretty good job."

Memphis Clinches Tie

WFL Teams Go Air Route For Victories

By The Associated Press
Charlotte 34-25, Birmingham 49-10, Philadelphia 37-31, and Memphis clinched a tie for a division title by edging the Hawaiians 33-31.

The Charlotte Hornets were No. 1 in the league in defending against the pass. But Southern California defeated Rookie quarterback Tony Adams riddled the Hornet's defenses out of 24 attempts for 234 yards.

Adams, who has cranked up the arm and thrown 43 times in a game, connected with running back James McAlister in the first period to highlight the Sun's first scoring drive. Then, with 22 seconds left in the opening half, Adams found wide receiver Dave Williams in the end zone on the scoring end of a 22-yard pass.

Adams scored two touchdowns himself, preferring to run it in from one on both occasions.

At Birmingham, Ala., the Americans' Al Jenkins caught five passes for 163 yards to pace the victory over Florida. With the score knotted at 7-7 in the second period, Jenkins teamed up with quarterback Matthew Reed for an 80-yard bomb.

Birmingham increased its advantage to 23-7 before the Blazers scored their final 11 points.

Jim "King" Corcoran collaborated with Willie Franklin on a 90-yard pass play in the final two minutes to set up Philadelphia's winning score.

Corcoran, never one afraid of putting the ball into the air, completed 20 of 34 passes for 349 yards as the Bell jumped off to an early 15-0 lead. But Chicago went ahead before Corcoran's aerial attack gave the Bell a big boost towards a playoff berth.

John Huarte passed for three touchdowns in pacing Memphis to its victory over the Hawaiians before a crowd of 20,544 in Honolulu—the largest of the season for Hawaii.

Huarte threw touchdown passes of 27 and 37 yards to Gary Shirk and also hit Roger Wallace with a 51-yard toss as the Southmen posted their 15th victory in 18 games, the best record in the WFL.

Most of the scoring was jammed into the first half as Memphis grabbed a 25-20 lead at halftime. Hawaii cut it to 25-20 on a 20-yard field goal by R.A. Coppedge in the third period. But then Huarte connected with Shirk for 37 yards early in the fourth quarter.

Hawaii made two of its points by scoring a safety in the second quarter.

PERMIAN-LEE MATCHES STRONG DEFENSIVE UNITS

When Odessa Permian and Midland Lee square off before 12,000 fans in Memorial Stadium Friday night, it will be the No. 1 defense in District against the No. 4 defense. But more important, first place in the league race is the big stakes.

Permian's defense has been so stingy that they may receive a citation from President Ford as doing their part to combat inflation.

The Panthers have surrendered just 96 yards per game in total offense in four league tilts in compiling a 4-0 record. That's something over 50 yards rushing and 40 yards passing.

Lee has given up 885 yards total offense for its No. 4 ranking behind the Panthers, Cooper and Midland.

Meanwhile, in Odessa, Midland High will be matching the No. 2 offense in the league against the No. 3 offense when the Bulldogs play Odessa High.

I'VE THROWN PRIDE OUT THE WINDOW' Dark Survives Torrent Of Advice

NEW YORK (NEA) — This is not the first time that Alvin Dark has withstood a torrent of advice, and surfaced like an insouciant cork.

Dark, manager of the World Champion Oakland A's, was inundated last season with suggestions by team owner Charles Finley. Now, many of us have striven without much newspaper publicity under an officious boss. But baseball managers have traditionally been allowed to man the helm, as the saying goes, alone.

And because Dark accepts the owner's last-minute changes in an already made-out lineup, and because the owner elbows into the locker room to render what he considers inspirational pre-game pep talks, Dark has been showered with abuse from press and players alike.

"He couldn't manage a meat market," A's third baseman Sal Bando has been quoted

Alvin Dark ... method in madness

Sain was watching the young Dark grow more and more befuddled at the plate.

Finally, he took Dark aside and told him, "Alvin, accept what you want and reject what you want, but always do it your way. You didn't get this far by striking out."

Dark says that "that was the best bit of advice I ever got." He went on to hit .322 that season, and was named National League Rookie of the Year as he helped the Braves win the league championship. He continued doing it his way for the next 13 seasons as a player.

Perhaps Dark found Finley's suggestions not all that unpalatable. And he certainly must respect Finley's track record; after all, Finley's trades and player purchases have helped produce three straight world championships.

Dark, a truly religious man, apparently believes it when he quotes the biblical proverb, "Pride goeth before the fall." "I've thrown pride out the window," said Dark.

Finally, there might be more than a bit of Machiavelli in Dark's placidity in the maelstrom of Finley and the A's.

Finley called Dark after manager Dick Williams, winner of two straight world series with Oakland, could stomach Finley no more and quit. Now, Dark had been out of baseball for two years. He had been a big-league manager in the 1960s for seven seasons.

Dark's life had been baseball. He missed it sorely. He believed he could still manage effectively. No one else called him. He knew about Finley, having once worked for him. He knew, too, that this might be his last chance.

A winning season would make Dark a bullish commodity in the baseball market as soon as some other team needed a new manager.

AP PREP POLL— Cuero Emerges As AAA Leader

By The Associated Press

The Cuero Gobblers, defending state Class AAA champions, emerged as the king pin in The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll this week after a full scale shakeup in which all 10 ranked teams changed positions.

Cuero replaced Beaumont South Park at the No. 1 team in AAAA after South Park managed only a 6-0 victory over West Orange, 2-6. Cuero defeated Pleasanton 28-0.

Other shakeups in AAA resulted from Wharton's 13-13 tie with Sweeney and No. 4 Mount Pleasant's 28-14 loss to Texarkana Liberty-Eylau.

Wharton dropped from third to eighth and Mount Pleasant hung in at No. 10. Other teams moved up with Donna taking over as No. 3 and Brownwood moving up to fourth.

The rest of the classifications had more settled weekends with Wichita Falls Rider retaining its Class AAAA lead, Hamshire - Fannett leading in AA, Aledo ahead in Class A and Big Sandy continuing to dominate Class B.

Longview improved its standing from fifth to third in Class AAAA after whipping Texarkana 17-7. Bryan, 6-0-1, moved back into the top 10 as No. 9, replacing Texarkana.

Must' Weekend Four One-Loss Teams Face Elimination In SWC Race

DALLAS — This weekend's SWC schedule — SMU at Texas, Baylor at TCU, Texas Tech at Rice, and Arkansas at Texas A&M — places some familiar faces in some familiar places. Three games are musts for at least one of the teams involved if you accept the saw that goes "you can't win the SWC with two losses."

SWC, Texas, Baylor and Tech all have one loss and face the end of the line with one more ...

David McWilliams was puzzled when fullback Earle Campbell asked him after the game:

"How did you like my pass defense tonight, Coach?"

What the astonished McWilliams wondered, are you talking about, Earl? "We kept the ball away from them all the third quarter," Campbell answered. "Isn't that good pass defense?"

Texas A&M turned in its third shutout of the season Saturday in its 20-0 victory over Baylor, giving the '74 Aggies as many whitewashes as the entire SWC scored last year. SWC teams have authored five shutouts this season, as many as they had over the last two seasons combined — and there are 18 games left.

There have been eight games this year in which the SWC's opponents have failed to score a touchdown and nine in which the opposing offense failed to get across the goal line.

Last SWC team to register three shutouts in one season was the '71 Texas crew (Tech, Baylor and TCU). Arkansas had 12 shutouts in a span of 24 games in 1964-66. But the Aggies have a long way to go to match the SWC record set by their predecessors a half century ago. The 1919 Aggies didn't allow a point all season and the 1918-19-20 Aggie teams had a string of 18 straight goose eggs.

COLLEGE PIGSKIN PICKS— Florida, Washington, Maryland Upset Picks

NEW YORK (AP) — Ohio State and Oklahoma have been offensive to their 13 football opponents this season and more of the same may be in store this weekend.

"We made all 10 of our offensive goals," Ohio State's Woody Hayes said following last week's 55-7 rout of Northwestern. "That's the only time we've ever done that. And our consistency went from 73 to 80 per cent."

This week's beleaguered defense belongs to Illinois ... which will absorb a 35-14 licking.

Meanwhile, Oklahoma's Barry Switzer says the Sooners are "the best college football team I've ever been around. And we'll be close to this team again offensively next year."

Iowa State gave Oklahoma its closest call in Big Eight play last season, losing by "only" 34-17. This year, 42-7 has a better ring to it.

Last week's score was 49 right, 17 wrong for a .742 percentage. One of the four Upset Specials — Georgia Tech over Tulane — came through while Princeton over Penn missed by a couple of points. The season tally shows 328 right, 125 wrong and 12 ties for .724.

Upset Special of the Week ... Florida 17, Auburn 14: Tigers' defense is something else, except against the Wishbone.

Second Upset Special ... Maryland 23, Penn State 21: Maryland's defense isn't the best cure for offensive blabs.

Third Upset Special ... Washington 24, UCLA 20: Bruins not the same without John Scarria.

Michigan 48, Indiana 9: Ohio State beat Indiana 49-9 and Michigan's ranked lower in The Associated Press poll.

Alabama 28, Mississippi State 7: The Bear just loves to give his former assistants their comeuppance.

Southern California 34, California 21: Trojans smell the roses along the way ... with Anthony, not Mac, Davis.

Notre Dame 49, Navy 0: The last time they met in Philadelphia, Notre Dame returned the opening kickoff for a touchdown.

Texas A&M 21, Arkansas 14: Aggies play Southern Methodist in the Cotton Bowl next week.

Nebraska 20, Colorado 14: It wasn't like this in the Mid-American Conference for CU's Bill Mallory.

Texas 24, Southern Methodist 12: That's what happens when a Longhorn meets a Mustang.

AN EYEBROW LIFTER— Tampa Owner Picked

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom McCloskey ended a six-year wait Wednesday when he was awarded the new Tampa franchise in the National Football League.

McCloskey was picked because of his close ties with Tampa, NFL Commissioner Peter Rozelle said. Yet, Tampa sports figures registered surprise that the expansion franchise went to an out-of-towner.

The league owners will award the Seattle franchise within the next month, Rozelle said, and both teams will begin play in the 1976 season.

The commissioner said the league will expand again, taking in two more teams, conceivably as early as 1976 but probably later.

"We feel McCloskey will make a very fine owner," Rozelle said.

McCloskey, the son of a former ambassador to Ireland and Democratic Party treasurer, Matthew H. McCloskey, tried to buy the Philadelphia Eagles when their then-owner, Jerry Wolman, went bankrupt. He failed when Leonard Tose purchased the team.

Rozelle said McCloskey, who is paying $16 million for the franchise, could be the sole owner of the club, but would prefer to have minority stockholders from Tampa.

In making the announcement of McCloskey's selection Wednesday, Rozelle referred repeatedly to McCloskey's ties with Tampa.

"His family ran the shipyard there and he worked at the shipyard," the commissioner said. "He has a home in Tampa and owns a business there. His sister went to the University of Tampa ..."

Hogan Art Collection Going On Exhibit At Museum

One of the Southwest's finest private collections of paintings, drawings and sculpture will go on view Friday in the Turner Memorial Gallery of the Museum of the Southwest. The exhibition will continue through next Jan. 3.

This magnificent assemblage of fine art has been acquired selectively during the past 40 years by Mr. and Mrs. Fred T. Hogan, longtime Midlanders, and offers great variety. Whether an art authority or simply a lover of the arts, a museum visitor is certain to find particular areas of the exhibition to be of special interest and excitement.

A significant portion of the show centers around the historic Taos Society of Artists. The Hogans' initial intent was to represent the 10 Taos artists who developed the now-famous art colony in northern New Mexico. The Society was formed in 1912 with E. Irving Couse as president and five other charter members, O. E. Berninghaus, E. L. Blumenschein, W. H. Duntton, Bert Phillips, and J. H. Sharp. In the ensuing years the group was joined by Kenneth Adams, E. M. Hennings, Victor Higgins, and Walter Ufer.

Artists came in increasing numbers to Taos and Santa Fe, between 1882 and 1942, drawn at first by the romantic concept of recording what was thought of as a dying race and the grandeur of an austere landscape. Their prevailing idealistic concepts were only partially altered by the reality they discovered.

The perseverance of time-honored customs and the picturesque indigenous Indian culture determined the life work of many painter-illustrators who made the long trip from the East and Midwest. In New Mexico, they found the Pueblo Indians a people able to maintain a position of dignity and a life intimately related to nature, in contrast to previous observations of Indians only on debased reservations or as pathetic participants in Wild-West shows.

Although the Indians first attracted artists to the area, painters soon discovered that the varied landscape also offered a pictorial challenge. Such subject matter gratified the wish of the romantic painter to be close to nature and withdraw into a land of unchanging values.

Today, as reflected in the Hogans' collection, there still remains a degree of the inexplicable. An intuitive response was felt by the earliest and latest arrivals. It is formed by a union of the timeless land and the patient people who unconsciously communicate a feeling for life that, while it may be anachronistic, nevertheless offers the artist a sanctuary for personal development unlike that found in any other place in America.

Outstanding Artists Represented

In addition to works by the "Taos Founders," among which are such exquisitely beautiful paintings as Phillips' "Daughter of the Water Clan," Hennings' "Around the Campfire," and Couse's "Snowshoe Firelight," are numerous paintings by other recognized Western artists. A familiar work is "A Break for the Open" by George Phippen. Brown-Bigelow, at one time the world's largest maker of calendars, purchased reproduction rights to this painting and sold more than two million copies. An historical Western painting, executed with technical brilliance, is "Old Blue of the Goodnight-Loving Trail" by Charlie Dye. Old Blue's hide is now part of the permanent collection of the West Texas State Museum in Canyon.

19th Century Art Included

As the Hogans' collection grew, it expanded to represent other established artists, as well as some younger newcomers. A fitting 19th Century background appeared when works by Winslow Homer, Albert Bierstadt, Thomas Hill and J. C. Brown were added to the collection.

Bierstadt's "Buffalo Trail to Water Hole" captures effectively the dramatic western scene and is perhaps one of the loveliest works being shown. Certain to be popular favorites with museum visitors are Norman Rockwell's "Spring Song," and Robert Woods' "Arizona Landscape." Paintings by N. C. Wyeth, "Farm Hand at Meal" and "Cowboy Watering Horse" (the cowboy being Wyeth's son-in-law, Peter Hurd), were included in the Wyeth Family exhibition at the Museum of the Southwest two years ago.

Approximately 40 of the works in the collection were exhibited last spring at The Museum of Texas Tech University, Lubbock.

A bronze sculpture by Grant Speed, "The Free Spirit," is a powerful and realistic portrait bust of a cowboy with spirited horses. Speed is a native of San Angelo who now lives in Provo, Utah. Other sculpture includes "The Wild One" by Don Pollard and "Indian Head" by Nicolai Fechin.

Collection Started in 1934

The Hogan collection, which contains 102 works by 69 artists, was started in 1934 in Estes Park, Colo., with the purchase of an etching titled "Windblown" by Lyman Byrbe. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hogan are very knowledgeable as to the different styles, techniques, and mediums used by the various Taos artists. They are also quite familiar with what Mrs. Hogan refers to as "cowboy art." Sharing the same taste in art, as in most everything, they buy art because they love it, not for the idea of "collecting."

Their medium preference is oil, although recently they have acquired a number of watercolors. The new show will be on view weekdays from 10 a.m. to 5 to 5 p.m. There will be no admission charge.

The show opened Sunday with more than 400 art works and crafts items on display. Viewing hours are 12 noon to 7 p.m. daily.

'Starving Artist Art Mart' Slated

ODESSA — The Odessa Art Association will stage its annual "Starving Artist Art Mart" Sunday afternoon.

Paintings in all media, along with graphics, pottery and various crafts items will be on display and on sale. Artists exhibiting in the show will handle their own sales, with the art association realizing a 20 per cent commission on all sales.

The event is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. and continue until 5 p.m. in the courtyard of the Ballie Griffith company at 2307 E. 8th St. The public is invited to come browse and buy.

Pat Buttram Stars In Play At Lubbock

LUBBOCK — Pat Buttram, who will be remembered by movie-goers of a certain age as cowboy star Gene Autry's sidekick, and also by a younger segment of the populace as the corn-fed con-man who delighted in outdealing Eddie Albert in the recent tv series, "Green Acres," is the star of Hayloft Dinner Theater's new comedy attraction, "Send Me No Flowers."

Alabama-born Buttram, son of a minister, started out in college to become a preacher but a taste of college dramatics caused him to switch careers and become a $6-a-week morning radio personality on a Birmingham station. In 1933, Buttram joined the National Barn Dance on Chicago's Station WLS, performing with such stars as Gene Autry, Homer and Jethro and a juvenile named George Goebel. His film career with Autry began shortly afterwards; he was the singing cowboy's jester for more than 15 years, performing in some 70 movies and dozens of tv films. He began acting in summer stock and on the dinner theater circuit after Autry retired in the 1950s, and also expanded his horizons to include television. The "Green Acres" series was one of his most enduring ventures.

"Send Me No Flowers" is about a man (played by Buttram) who thinks he is going to die after overhearing doctors discussing another patient. Complicating matters is the fact that the man is a hypochondriac in the first place.

"Send Me No Flowers" is having a series of preview nights this week at the Hayloft, located off the Brownfield Road on the southwest outskirts of Lubbock. Regular performances will begin Friday night and reservations may be made by telephoning the Hayloft box office.

The workshop is scheduled for 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Nov. 9 in the Lancaster House of the Museum of the Southwest here. Advance registration is necessary, and places in the class may be reserved by telephoning Midland Arts Association president Marian Ford at 694-3662.

Weaving, Macrame Workshop Slated In City On Nov. 9

A one-day weaving and macrame workshop will be held here Nov. 9 under sponsorship of Midland Arts Association.

The workshop will be conducted by Bob West and Winston Herbert of Fort Worth. West is owner of the All Seasons Arts and Crafts Gallery of Fort Worth and Herbert has taught weaving and macrame at the Fort Worth Art Center and now teaches at the All Seasons Gallery and at Handcrafters of Fort Worth.

The workshop is scheduled for 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Nov. 9 in the Lancaster House of the Museum of the Southwest here. Advance registration is necessary, and places in the class may be reserved by telephoning Midland Arts Association president Marian Ford at 694-3662.

GUTS

You've either got them, or you don't. Sam Peckinpah had the guts to bring a new kind of violent reality to the screen in "The Wild Bunch" and "Straw Dogs." He's been praised and panned, awarded and attacked. And he's kept on making his kind of movies, his way.

"Bring Me The Head of Alfredo Garcia" is uncompromising, unyielding, uncensored. In short, it's got guts.

Houston Ballet To Present Popular 'Coppelia' Tonight

HOUSTON — The Houston Ballet continues its new season with a new, full-length production of the ever-popular "Coppelia" tonight in Jesse H. Jones Hall for the Performing Arts.

Additional performances are scheduled there Friday and Saturday nights.

"Coppelia" has been staged by Frederic Franklin from the original choreography of Arthur Saint-Leon and Nicholas Sergeyev. Peter Farmer, who previously designed Houston Ballet's popular production of "The Nutcracker," has designed sets and costumes for this new version of the ageless classic which has music by Leo Delibes. Lighting for "Coppelia" is by Jennifer Tipton.

Besides staging the new production of "Coppelia," Franklin will make a guest appearance in the ballet in the character role of Dr. Coppélius. Franklin, who staged Houston Ballet's opening week performances of "The Prodigal Son," is well known to Houston audiences as both dancer and choreographer. In the 1940s he danced the leading role of Franz in "Coppelia" opposite Alexandra Danilova. From 1962 until earlier this year he was founder and artistic director of the National Ballet of Washington D.C. Two years ago he staged "The Nutcracker" for Houston Ballet in a new production of the work.

"Coppelia," set in three acts and subtitled "The Girl with the Enamel Eyes," is based on a story by E.T.A. Hoffmann and is one of the earliest ballets in which a doll comes to life. Dancing the role of Swanilda in tonight's opening performance will be Houston Ballet principal Andrea Vodehnal, with Whit Hawthorn as Franz. Miss Vodehnal danced the role of Swanilda opposite Frederic Franklin as Dr. Coppélius for the National Ballet. This will mark her first appearance in the role with Houston Ballet. Barbara Pontecorvo and Bruce Steivel will take up the roles of Swanilda and Franz on Friday, night. On Saturday, Houston Ballet principals Leo Ahonen and Soili Arvola will have the featured roles. Fifteen-year-old Carole Dunn, a Houston Ballet Academy student, will dance the title role of Coppelia all three nights. Hugo Fiorato will conduct the Houston Ballet orchestra.

Today's performance will begin at 7:30 p.m. and the Friday and Saturday presentations at 8:30 p.m. Ticket prices are $14.50, $9, $6.75, $5.75, $4.50, $3.50 and $2.50. Tickets are available by telephoning the ballet office at 225-0271.

The orchestra began to win acclaim throughout Europe in the 1830s when Mendelssohn was its conductor. Currently, the orchestra, under the baton of Kurt Masur, presents 20 subscription concerts annually in Leipzig, as well as touring to many points in Europe each year.

Gewandhaus Orchestra To Play Lubbock Concert

LUBBOCK — The Gewandhaus Orchestra of Leipzig, an ensemble which traces its origins back to 1743, will be heard in concert here Sunday night.

The Gewandhaus, the first orchestra from East Germany to come to North America, will perform at 8 p.m. Sunday in Lubbock Municipal Auditorium. The preceding night, the ensemble will play a concert in McFarlin Auditorium on the Southern Methodist University campus under auspices of the Dallas Civic Music Association.

For its Lubbock concert, the orchestra has programmed Max Reger's "Variations on a Theme by Mozart" and Anton Bruckner's Symphony No. 7. Also to be heard are the Gustav Mahler "Songs of a Wayfarer," which will feature baritone Siegfried Lorenz as soloist.

The concert, a presentation of the Texas Tech University Artists Series, has tickets priced at $2.25 to $6 for the general public and 75 cents to $2 for Tech students. Tickets are on sale in advance at the University Center box office and will be on sale at the auditorium box office up to performance time Sunday.

In its more than two centuries in existence, the Gewandhaus has been closely linked with Central European musical DRAMA IN SECOND WEEKEND — Odessa's Permian Playhouse takes its current production, "Indians," into a second weekend with performances at 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, to be followed by a matinee at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. The Arthur Kopit drama centers around "Buffalo Bill" Cody and is a fact-and-fantasy retelling of the conflict between Indian and white man in the Old West. Shown above in a scene in the drama are Bill Weir, right, as Buffalo Bill himself, and Blake Nunneley, left, and James Jenkins, center, as Indians. Seats for the three upcoming performances may be reserved by telephoning the Playhouse box office, 362-2329.

Special Robles Exhibition Set At Diamond M Museum

SNYDER — A special exhibition of paintings by Julian Robles of Taos, N.M., is scheduled Sunday at the Diamond M Museum of Snyder.

Robles, a native of New York City who began painting the American Indian of modern times more than 16 years ago, formerly operated his own art gallery in Manhattan. On his first visit to Texas, New Mexico and Wyoming, he was so impressed by the multi-faceted culture of the Southwestern American Indian, that he ultimately returned to the West — to Taos, N.M., — to live and paint.

Robles' vision captures the mystical Indian, revealing in portraits the inner Indian and his special world, and showing the uniqueness of the Indian ritual as well as the personality of a people caught in the midst of the past and the present.

Robles, son of a Spanish father and a Lithuanian mother, has studied painting with Dirk Van Driest of Taos and with Robert Phillip and Sidney Dickinson, both members of the National Academy in New York City.

The Diamond M exhibition, scheduled for 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday, will be open to the public without charge. The artist will be present.

Belonging

"How can we enable every person to experience his relatedness to others and his rootedness in the land?"
(John J. McMahon)

That is how many members of the Unitarian Universalist religious community would sum up their search for a meaningful sense of belonging.

But by no means all. There-in lies the special genius of the Unitarian Universalist approach to religion: it lays down no creed, no dogma. What it does provide is a fellowship in which individuals with certain common commitments can mutually support each other's personal religious growth.

Abortion Clinics No Longer Hidden In Dark Alleys

Editor's Note: Now that abortion is legal, women in trouble no longer need to slink into disreputable, questionable places if they wish to stop a pregnancy. An Associated Press reporter toured some of the new installations, at times posing as needing help, at others simply asking questions. Here is what she saw and heard.

By SYLVIA LEE

DALLAS (AP) — A girl climbs out of a sports car on a tree-lined street of artsy restaurants and shops. The building she enters is a chic gray, but it is not a gallery or an antique shop. It is an abortion clinic.

Inside are potted ferns, expensive bric-a-brac and a friendly, low-key receptionist. With a childish fear of the doctor rising inside, the visitor says, "I want some information about an abortion."

She is shown to a quiet, gold-carpeted waiting room that has the intimate comfort of a family living room. She is alone. As she sinks deep into a tweed chair, her eye notes a basket of magazines, a vase of flowers.

Word Seldom Mentioned

The receptionist returns, casually curls up in a chair beside her and begins to explain. The word "abortion" is seldom mentioned. She says the visitor should have a pregnancy test, and if necessary may schedule an abortion within the week.

"You can expect to be here about three hours," the receptionist says. "The actual procedure will take 10 or 15 minutes, but we allow time for counseling sessions and a recovery period."

"Before the procedure you

Scientist Bucking 'Back To Nature' Trend In Country

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — While the "back to nature" movement is sweeping the country, a scientist at the University of Missouri is headed in the opposite direction toward "programmed pigs."

Wisconsin Agriculturalist, a rural magazine, reports that scientist Billy N. Day is using hormones similar to the birth control pill to induce earlier puberty, control ovulation and increase litter size of pigs.

Some of the drugs he's using produce side effects which prohibit their being used on the farm, but Day is certain he's on the right track.

"The trick is not to allow nature to take its course," he says. In the ultimate "programmed pig" world, the sow would be artificially inseminated, her young would be taken from her when one day old and raised by an "artificial mama" programmed to give them just the right amount of feed at the right time. Their real mother would be bred one or two weeks after pregnancy, instead of the normal four to six weeks.

"That's not as bad as it might sound," says Day. "Pregnancy is probably not as hard on the sow as lactation and all those baby pigs. Anyway, removal of the pigs from the sow at an earlier age would decrease death caused when the sow accidentally lies on her pigs."

Gift Remembered

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Back in 1873, a Memphis, Tenn.'s police chief sent two squirrels to his St. Paul counterpart to replenish Rick Park's then falling squirrel stock.

To commemorate the event, Memphis recently sent St. Paul's Como Zoo two emus, the ostrich-like Australian birds.

St. Paul is planning to send some suitable animals to Memphis soon.

will have a chance to talk to a counselor about your decision, to discuss your feelings about this. You'll talk about the procedure itself and about birth control. Your counselor will stay with you through the procedure and recovery period. We think it's very important to give you emotional support at this time."

She hands over a packet containing more detailed medical information. The abortion will cost $150, she says. Rising, she offers to show the visitor around.

There are four or five treatment rooms, all resembling those in any doctor's office. They seem clean and bright with accents of pink and yellow. Here the doctor will do a pelvic examination, give a local anesthetic and insert the vacuum aspirator device that will sweep from the uterus its unwanted burden.

Sense Of Unhappiness
Around a corner is the recovery room. Sofas and chaises repose in its corners. Serene landscapes hang on its walls. A buffet at one end of the room will hold soup, sandwiches, fruit juice and other snacks on a "procedure day," the receptionist says. Patients spend about 45 minutes here.

Despite the cheerful surroundings, the visitor leaves with a sense of the unhappiness that brings women to this clinic—the unhappy marriages, the ill-fated romances and encounters, the unending pressure of too many children and too little money.

A few miles up a busy freeway inside a dark-paneled restaurant, ice clinks in polished glasses. Voices murmur, bargaining or wailing in noontime rendezvous. In the same office building, one floor above this cool, expensive scene, is another abortion clinic.

Procedure Outlined
Behind a door bearing the discreet nameplate "Medical Suite," a fresh-faced receptionist is speaking smoothly into a telephone.

She faces a waiting room filled with low, overstuffed sofas of russet leather, and she is gazing through a wall of tinted glass to a busy parking lot.

When she has soothed the telephone caller into a blank space on the appointment calendar, she turns to the visitor.

The receptionist outlines the now-familiar abortion procedure and quotes the same fee as the first clinic. In response to the visitor's question, she says the clinic has been in this dazzling office building about three months. Its previous neighbors, Jesuit High School pupils and their parents, had picketed to protest its location.

Elephant Seals Making Comeback
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The elephant seals have returned to the Farallone Islands, a lonely group of windswept and fog-shrouded islands 30 miles off San Francisco's Golden Gate.

The discovery was made by a group of scientists who have been making periodic trips to the islands since they were abandoned by the Coast Guard.

For thousands of years these giants of the sea lived along the California coast from Pt. Reyes south to Cape Lazaro off Baja California. Their only natural enemies were giant sharks and killer whales.

They were practically annihilated starting about 1855 when they were slaughtered by seal hunters who used only the fat from their bodies for rendering into oil.

The killings stopped in 1870, but by the time the elephant seal was virtually extinct. Now a new generation of these 5,000-pound giants of the sea has started returning to the old mating grounds, protected by the U.S. government.

across from their school. The receptionist also assures the visitor the clinic has no connection with an interstate abortion operation which leased the same suite before it was shut down by the state several months ago.

A state suit filed against that clinic charged its doctors were not licensed to practice in Texas and were not available to patients after their abortions. A local doctor accused it of using his narcotics permit without his knowledge, and at least one patient has accused it of causing an infection that cost her the ability to bear children.

But the first complaints against the now-closed clinic were from its fellow tenants in the posh office building. They said patients trailed indiscreet splashes of blood on the carpets.

A few miles across town is another clinic. It is part of a regional chain like a supermarket or a department store. Located in a less elegant center of one-story office suites, its neighbors on a busy street are a service station, a motel.

Sympathetic Receptionist
Neutral colors and no-nonsense vinyl fill its large, shaded waiting room. In one corner a large blonde girl sits quietly. Her white uniform says she has come here from work. A few chairs away a girl is poring over a book in her lap. She is dressed like a student in jeans, embroidered shirt and sandals.

Near the window is a chic, 30-ish woman. The wedding set on her hand catches the light as she restlessly flips the pages of a magazine.

A sympathetic young receptionist greets the visitor from behind a desk filled with papers. Two other young women who have been chatting with her vanish discreetly at the mention of "abortion."

The receptionist describes medical and counseling procedures almost identical to those at the other clinic. The fee is the same. She gives the visitor a pamphlet which begins, "An unwanted pregnancy is nothing new, and if it happens to you you're not alone..."

About 800 abortions are performed in Dallas each month, most in clinics like these. Hospitals are reluctant to release figures, but those available indicate at least 40 are done in hospitals monthly. There is no way to tell how many abortions doctors perform in their private offices.

A few unfortunate women still turn to the untrained backstreet practitioners who flourished in the days before January 1973 when the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that abortion is a legal medical procedure.

Hospitals say they see few women suffering infection from abortions, perhaps fewer than they did when abortion was illegal. But family planning counselors say they know it still happens among the poor and uninformed.

"It's a lack of money, lack of information. Some people will listen to a neighbor or a friend. They're afraid to go to a doctor or a clinic, and they think they're taking the easy way out," said Barbara Cambridge of Greater Dallas Maternal Health and Family Planning, an affiliate of the University of Texas Health Science Center.

What kind of women seeks an abortion? Royda Brix, director of the Fairmount Center clinic, says her clients are of all incomes and lifestyles and range from age 12 to 47.

"About half are married, half single, and many who are single are divorced or have been married before," she said.

Some have religious convictions which make the decision to end a pregnancy difficult. "We see women with religious concerns, especially Catholic women who believe it is wrong but because of their life situations are backed up against a wall," she said.

For most, "The problem is—problems with parents, whatever her background, the life situation which caused husbands, medical problems," whatever her problems, "abortion has to be the woman's decision," she said. "She has to take the responsibility even if she's only 14 years old."

tritibread

Tritibread is making its world premiere! Now, you can have the benefits of the scientific breakthrough that crossed wheat with rye and perfected Triticale. This new grain is higher in protein than wheat and has better baking qualities than rye. Triticale has a Protein Efficiency Ratio (PER) ... indicates how useful a food's protein is to bodily growth) comparable to soy concentrate!

Your whole family... the white bread eaters and those with more exotic tastes... will love the subtle, nut-like flavor of Tritibread. High in protein and other valuable nutrients, it adds a nutritious plus to every meal. Tritibread is unique in keeping its freshness, staying soft and tasteful much longer than other breads.

HOROSCOPE
by Carol Nighter

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A reading when you can delve into everything a practical history and make the process. In the afternoon and evening you are able to raise your standards to a higher and more logical level. Make plans now for the future.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Make your appointments early whether of a social or business nature. Get out of that complacent mood and be more confident.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): You are able to ask for favors and get good results in the morning, but later you have to buckle down and do your own thing.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Early morning is best time to plan social activities for the days ahead. Make sure you are in the morning, but later you have to buckle down and do your own thing.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Gain the know-how from a good friend regarding protocol at a social event you wish to attend. Strive for perfection.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 22): If you take pains to please a birthday party in the day, you find that all your efforts will be in vain. Use your own best judgment.

Japanese Leftists Would Ban Ford Visit

TOKYO (LENS) — No American president has yet set foot in Japan, and the question is whether President Ford is going to become the first on Nov. 19.

The Eisenhower visit planned for June 1960 had to be scrubbed when left-wing demonstrations expressed both left-wing opposition to the newly concluded mutual security treaty between Japan and the United States, and more general indignation at the tactics that the then prime minister had used to get the treaty ratified before Eisenhower arrived.

The prime minister resigned soon afterwards.

Now there is a row going on about the implementing of part of that same treaty. And once again the Japanese government is being charged with trying to pull a fast one — this time by assuring the public that, to the best of its knowledge, the Americans have never brought nuclear weapons into Japan.

On Sept. 10 retired Rear Adm. Gene Larocque told a congressional committee in Washington that he thinks warships carrying nuclear weapons have not been unloading them before entering Japanese ports. But the Japanese have always been told by their government that it requires prior consultation by the Americans before they bring such arms into Japan; and it has added, and still does, that there has never been such consultation.

The United States did not flatly contradict the admiral, but claimed that agreements with Japan have been scrupulously respected. But then the New York Times opened up the whole question again by claiming that there is a secret agreement under which nuclear weapons are permitted into American bases in Japan in transit, although they may not be deployed in Japan.

This has been officially denied in Tokyo, but not in Washington. And now the Socialist and Communist parties have out against Ford's visit.

Heavy Rains Flood Texas, Other Areas

By The Associated Press

Portions of Texas were hit by flash floods and heavy rains and downpours also damped much of the rest of the nation Wednesday night and early today.

A flash flood on Nolan Creek at Killeen, Tex., swept away an auto and several mobile homes during the night. Seven persons were unaccounted for, authorities said.

More than six inches of rain fell at Eagle Mountain Lake in Tarrant County, Tex. Flooding of up to six feet was reported in some homes in Lindsey and Gainesville, Tex. Gusty winds overturned several trailer homes at Ozona, Tex., and one southeast of Kansas City, Mo., which was drenched with 3 1/2 inches of rain.

Mild Temperatures

Thunderstorms that soaked central and southeastern Texas pushed all the way into the Upper Mississippi Valley, but temperatures remained mild throughout most of the Midwest and Northeast. Rain also damped the Upper Rockies, much of the Pacific coast from northern California to the Canadian border and New England.

More than an inch fell in Moorcroft, Wyo., and heavy snow warnings were posted for today in the state's northwest mountain areas.

Temperatures ranged from 24 degrees at Gunnison, Colo., to 78 at McAllen, Victoria, and Corpus Christi, Tex.

Blast Rocks School Offices After Meet On Textbook Hassle

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — A blast rocked the Kanawha County Board of Education offices shortly after a board meeting on the county's volatile textbook protest. Police at the scene said it was apparently a dynamite blast.

No injuries were reported and school officials said there was no damage inside the building, although some windows were blown out.

"It appears that somebody tossed an explosive," County School Supt. Kenneth Underwood said. He said he had left the building just 30 minutes before the blast Wednesday night. The explosion blew out windows at a dozen neighboring homes and was audible for nearly two miles across the city.

Since classes opened this fall, the 44,500-pupil county school system has been immersed in a controversy brought on by protests from some ministers and parents about books adopted by the school board.

The protesters contend passages in some of the books tend to undermine their own efforts to teach their children morals, patriotism and Christianity.

The school board is scheduled to meet Friday and make a decision on whether to keep them in the schools.

Protest activity has included picketing at schools, school bus garages, coal mines and businesses and a boycott of classes.

Soviet Peril May Promote Balkan Unity

LONDON (LENS) — A sense of common danger from Russia may be bringing the bickering Balkan states closer together.

Albania's party leader, Enver Hoxha, emerged from his self-imposed isolation on Oct. 3 to announce that Albania wanted to be friends with its independent neighbors, Greece and Yugoslavia — although not yet with Bulgaria, so long as it remained a "Russian colony ready to allow itself to be used as a launching-pad for aggression against Yugoslavia, Albania, Greece and Turkey."

On Oct. 6 Borba, the Belgrade newspaper, reciprocated Hoxha's sentiments in a cautious sort of way. Those two old adversaries, Albania and Yugoslavia, will not become buddies overnight, but Hoxha has obviously been encouraged by the recent turn for the worse in Soviet-Yugoslav relations.

Equally Dangerous

He no doubt wants to stiffen Belgrade's will to resist both the blandishments and the threats that come from Moscow.

But not all Albania's senior officials are convinced by the official line which regards American "imperialism" and Soviet "social imperialism" as equally dangerous. One of these was apparently General Beqir Balluku, minister of defense since 1963 and member of the ruling politburo since 1948.

He is reported to have angered Hoxha by his advocacy of a more conciliatory policy towards Russia — and has not been seen in public since June 18. But Hoxha cannot be certain that the Russians will not search for another friend inside Albania.

This makes him all the keener on some sort of informal alliance with Yugoslavia.

Two Men Sought In Record Robbery Reported Nabbed

CHICAGO (AP) — Two men sought in connection with a $4.3 million theft at the Armored Express Corp. were arrested Wednesday night on Grand Cayman Island in the British West Indies, the FBI said.

An FBI spokesman here said Charles Marzano and Michael DeFonzo were apprehended by British authorities on Grand Cayman. He said he had no further details.

Marzano, DeFonzo and Marzano's cousin, William Anthony Marzano, were charged Wednesday with the burglary, believed to be the largest cash haul in U.S. history.

The spokesman said agents don't know where William Marzano is.

Miss McKittrick's Confession Ruling Awaited In Trial

HOUSTON (AP) — State Dist. Judge Frank Price says he'll rule today on a defense motion that Marcia McKittrick's confession be barred from her trial on charges of helping kill Dr. John Hill in 1972.

Miss McKittrick claims she was given drugs by police before she signed a statement last September. Her attorney, Charles Caperton of Dallas, said Miss McKittrick was offered immunity and assistance in withdrawing from heroin if she made the statement.

Hill, a plastic surgeon, was fatally shot at this home in the fashionable River Oaks section Sept. 24, 1972.

Price earlier granted a motion which resets the trial of another defendant, Lila Pauhus, to Feb. 16.

A third defendant, the alleged triggerman Bobby Wayne Vandiver of Dallas, was shot to death last May by a Longview policeman.

Police denied Miss McKittrick was given drugs.
