car off a bridge at Killen in Central Texas late Wednesday. A car from which two companions escaped was carried three miles downstream.

Up to 6 inches of rain in two hours Thursday night left Port Lavaca on the coast awash. Traffic stalled in water-filled streets.

In the wake of the storms, thick fog formed before dawn today across a broad stretch of Central and Northeast Texas, and there was some drizzle as far inland as San Antonio and Austin. Near-zero visibility made motor travel hazardous in parts of the fog belt.

Skies cleared over West Texas, meanwhile, and early morning temperatures dipped to 32 degrees at Marfa and 38 at El Paso and Dalhart. It was still cloudy and warm over most of Central and East Texas, where the readings stayed as high as 75 at Brownsville and 77 at Corpus Christi.

Forecasters called for dry and warmer weather throughout the state.

Rainfall amounts left by the departed storms ranged up to 10 inches at Dawson in Navarro County, McGregor 8.72, Crawford 8.30, Ambrose 5.96, Kerrville 5.74 and Bridgeport 5.26.

Agnew's Letter Of Resignation Possibly Stolen

WASHINGTON (AP) — An official investigation is under way into the possibility that the letter of resignation by former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has been stolen.

State Department spokesman John King said today the original of the letter submitted Oct. 10, 1973, to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger apparently is missing.

King acknowledged the possibility that the letter, which could have great value on the open market, might have been stolen.

He said an investigation by several government agencies is under way.

The apparent disappearance of Agnew's letter came to light shortly after Richard Nixon submitted his letter of resignation to Kissinger last August, King said. The National Archives discovered that it did not have Agnew's original at that time.

Four U.S. Tourists Die In Guatemalan Bus-Truck Collision

GUATEMALA (AP) — A tour bus and a truck collided head-on, killing four American tourists, authorities said Thursday.

Nine other Americans were injured.

A pedestrian also was killed, and the bus driver and two passengers in the truck were injured.

The tourists had sailed to Guatemala from New Orleans aboard the cruise ship Royal Viking Sea and were returning from a shore excursion.

Authorities here said the crash occurred Wednesday night about 150 miles northwest of Guatemala City on the highway to Puerto Barrios on the Atlantic coast.

The bus was part of a caravan of vehicles returning from the Tikal archeological area. The cruise ship, operated by Royal Viking Lines, had anchored off Puerto Barrios.

In New Orleans, a Royal Viking spokesman said the ship left New Orleans on Saturday for a 13-day cruise conducted by Columbus International, a New York-based firm.

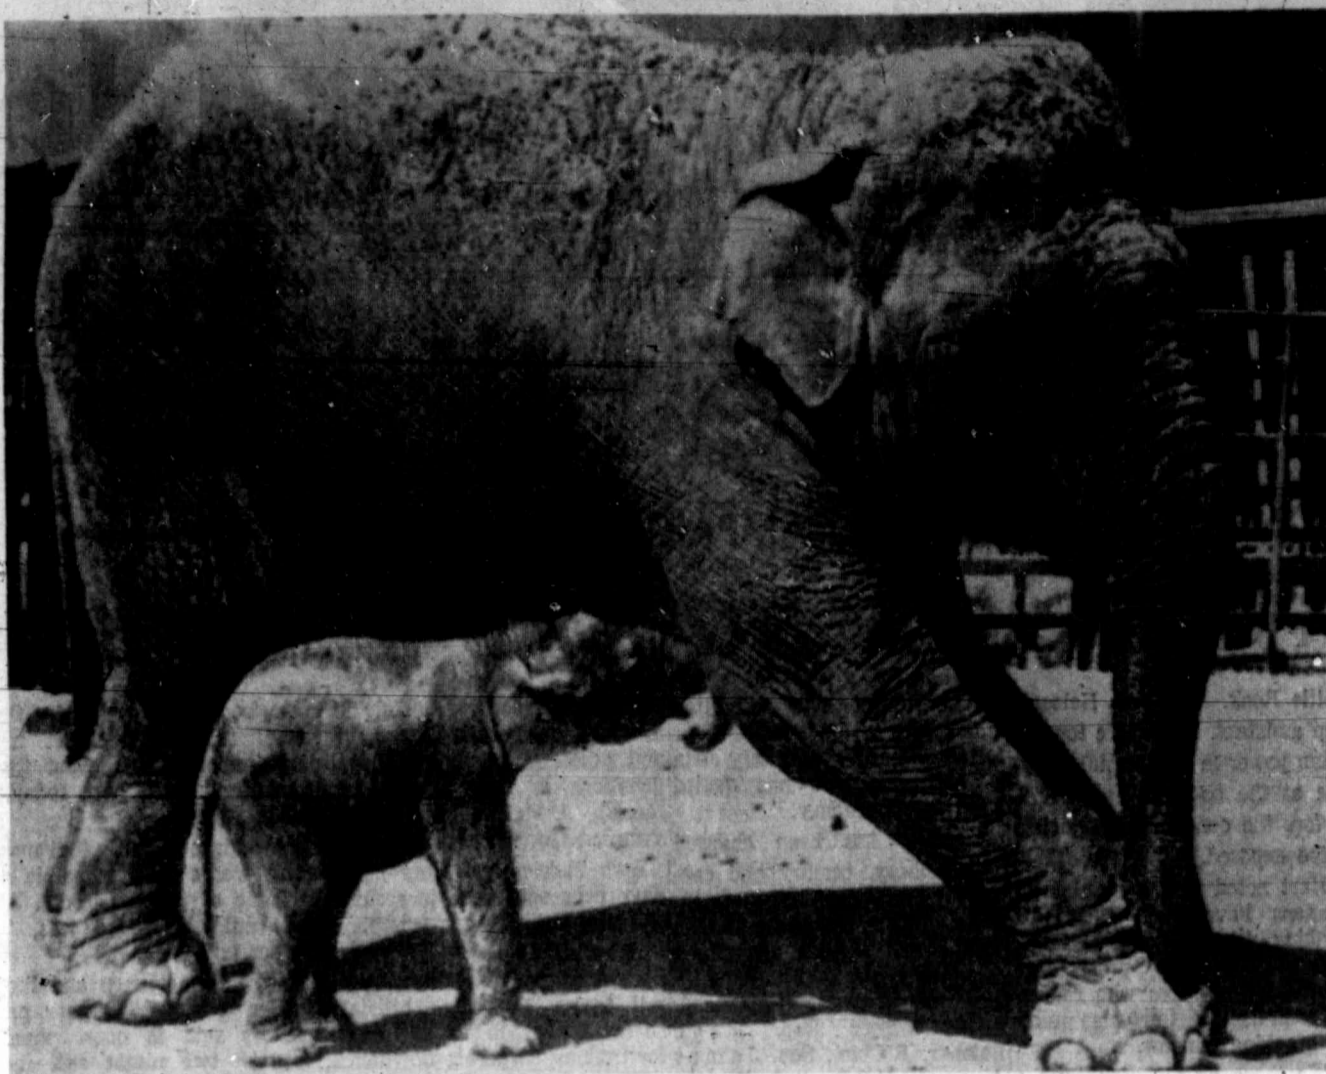

Doctor Derides Staple-puncture For Weight Loss

CHICAGO (AP) — An American Medical Association official says claims that a technique called staple-puncture will produce weight loss are "pure hokum."

Staple-puncture involves insertion of small metal staples in the ears at the so-called acupuncture points.

By wiggling the staples, the patient supposedly loses the urge to over-eat, to smoke or to drink alcoholic beverages.

But Dr. Robert H. Moser of the AMA said in a statement Thursday that staple-puncture "is an obvious attempt to capitalize on the public interest in acupuncture and on the public clamor or an easy way to lose weight."

Mrs. Butterfly Dislikes Sitting

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gray-haired grandmother Blanche Butterfly didn't want to stay home babysitting, so she took a job where she can serve people. With subpoenas, eviction notices and other legal papers.

"It's not a job I'd recommend, but it pays a lot better than minding babies," the 69-year-old process server said in an interview Thursday.

"There aren't too many things a person my age can do to support themselves. Besides, I like the challenge."

The challenge includes coping with elusive and often angry targets for her summonses. One woman recently hit her on the head with a brick when Mrs. Butterfly handed her an unlawful detainer notice for being almost 12 months delinquent on her rent.

"I've had to climb up ladders and rap on windows a couple of stories high with papers in my hand. I even had to deal with a nude man who was hiding under the water in a swimming pool," she recalled.

Generally, though, Mrs. Butterfly, a short, plump woman who admits to tinting her gray hair, says she avoids chasing

Cover-Up Trial Lawyers Watch Reports On Nixon

Applications. However, doctors said he was improving.

Nixon Subpoenaed

Nixon has been subpoenaed by defendant John D. Ehrlichman, whose lawyers say Nixon's account is vital if his client is to receive a fair trial.

Sirica already has indicated he will appoint a team of three doctors to examine Nixon. If they recommend that Nixon not be required to testify, defense sources indicate Ehrlichman is likely to renew his requests for a separate trial, pending an improvement in Nixon's health.

Magruder described Thursday how defendant John N. Mitchell gave his reluctant and unenthusiastic approval to a $250,000 intelligence plan that ended up as the Watergate burglary.

Mitchell's lawyer, Plato Cacheris, sought to demonstrate that Magruder and former White House Counsel John W. Dean III devised the Watergate cover-up and in the end sought to save themselves from going to jail.

Magruder willingly admitted to searching out a way to fabricate a believable story to make a Watergate grand jury believe that no one in authority at Nixon's re-election committee or the White House had given advance approval to the break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters.

Magruder, formerly a deputy director of the re-election committee, is serving a 10-month to four-year prison term for his part in the cover-up.

After Magruder, the prosecution plans to call as its fourth witness, Robert Reisner, Magruder's assistant at the re-election committee.

Prosecutors say they will spend the early part of next week laying the groundwork for 21 White House tapes which they plan to introduce.

Jobless—

forecasts made by some of President Ford's economic advisers.

To aid the jobless the administration has proposed legislation that would extend unemployment benefits and provide additional public service jobs when the national unemployment rate exceeds 6 per cent for three consecutive months.

The Labor Department said total employment, which has risen 850,000 in the past year, was unchanged in October at 86.5 million. The civilian labor force also held steady last month — at 92 million.

The government said the biggest increase in unemployment last month was among blue-collar workers, especially those in durable goods industries. The rate for factory workers — at 6.2 per cent in October — was up from a 3½-year low of 3.9 per cent a year ago.

Both the lengths of the average workweek and factory overtime declined last month. Average hourly earnings rose 2 cents in October to $4.34, up 35 cents over the past year. Weekly earnings averaged $158.84 last month, down 14 cents from September and up $11.21 over the year.

Hearst Cancel Reward Offer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Randolph A. and Catherine Hearst, saying a $50,000 reward they've posted for the safe return of their fugitive daughter might jeopardize her safety, have withdrawn the offer.

Patricia Hearst, 20, was kidnaped Feb. 4 by the Symbionese Liberation Army but later allegedly joined her captors and now is sought on charges including kidnaping and armed robbery.

During his talks with Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto of Pakistan, Kissinger promised Pakistan 100,000 tons of cheap wheat but, apparently made clear that the U.S. government would not lift its nine-year-old embargo on the sale of offensive weapons to Pakistan and India.

Flames Destroy El Paso School; Vandals Blamed

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Halloween vandals are blamed for starting a fire which destroyed a large portion of the Eastpoint Elementary School here.

Off-duty firemen were pressed into service to fight the blaze which broke out early today.

Officials said windows in the school had been smashed, furniture overturned and records ripped from files in the administrative offices where the fire apparently started.

Arab Oil Cutoff Threats Revived

By The Associated Press.

Israeli troops raided the Lebanese village of Blida early today, blew up two houses suspected of being bases for Arab terrorists, then returned to Israel, military sources in Tel Aviv said.

On the oil front, Egypt's semi-official newspaper indicated that Arab nations will cut off oil shipments to the United States again if it supports Israel's refusal to negotiate with the Palestine Liberation Organization.

At the same time, the Kremlin charged that the industrialized West has launched a "war of nerves" against the oil-producing nations designed to intimidate them into lowering oil export prices.

Poll Shows Ford's Approval Rating At 55 Per Cent

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — President Ford's job rating has risen to 55 per cent approval, according to the latest Gallup Poll.

The first Gallup survey after Ford's pardon of former President Richard M. Nixon, taken Sept. 27-30, pegged Ford's approval rating at 50 per cent. That was the low point since Ford took office.

But in a survey conducted Oct. 18-21, after Ford's appearance before a congressional subcommittee to explain the pardon, the figure was back up to 55 per cent, with 28 per cent disapproving and 17 per cent giving undecided.

The Gallup organization said the increase came mainly from Republicans, who gave the President 75 per cent approval, compared with 65 per cent in September.

The Nixon pardon was most often cited by those disapproving of Ford's performance, a Gallup spokesman said.

Another survey also showed that public reaction against the Nixon pardon is melting.

Pollster Albert Sindinger found 52.8 per cent disapproving with the pardon in the week after Ford bestowed it on Sept. 8. But in the period between Oct. 19-28, Sindinger found 32.5 per cent disapproving. The number agreeing had climbed from 41.8 per cent to 51.4 per cent, he said.

Earlier, Lungren released a statement saying Nixon's blood pressure, pulse and heart beat were stable, but that a prognosis was not possible because "the possibility still exists for further complications."

However, he indicated that Nixon had made slight gains: "His spirits and mental attitude are excellent. He is alert, oriented to everything going on around him, and cooperative."

Before the operation, Nixon had been taking anticoagulants to fight the clotting in his left leg induced by phlebitis, an inflammation of the veins. The operation was to place a clamp on a vein so that blood could flow through while the clot was blocked from reaching his heart or lungs.

Milk Producers Face Libel Suit

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Associated Milk Producers, Inc., (AMPI) is faced with a new lawsuit.

A former general counsel for the large San Antonio-based dairy cooperative filed suit Thursday claiming defamation and libel.

Joseph A. Rose Jr. seeks $5 million in damages from AMPI—$1.25 million in actual damages and $3.75 million in punitive damages.

The suit alleges Rose was left "destitute, impoverished and rendered unable to provide the necessities of life" after AMPI libeled him.

Terrorist Antitank Grenade Kills Argentina's Police Leader, Wife

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Terrorists fired an antitank grenade at a pleasure boat carrying Argentina's federal police chief and his wife today, killing them both instantly, police sources said.

The police chief, Alberto Villar, 53, was brought out of retirement last January by the late President Juan D. Peron as a step toward cracking down on Marxist terrorism in Argentina.

Villar had gained fame under the past military government as head of the riot squad, personally leading motorcycle squads and applying tough measures on suspected activists.

Many left-wing leaders accused Villar of torture and even murder, saying his men sometimes executed suspected guerrillas after interrogation.

Police said the attack occurred at 11 a.m. just off the jetty of the Astarsa Shipyards in Tigre, 20 miles north of Buenos Aires on the Rio de la Plata.

There was immediate concern over the possible reaction from the government of President Isabel Peron, the police and Argentina's wide range of terrorist groups.

The deputy police chief is Luis Margaride, another tough police veteran who also was brought out of retirement to help fight the wave of terrorism.

He immediately put all federal police on full alert.

Boy Dies Shortly...
After Eating Candy

DEER PARK, Tex. (AP) — An 8-year-old boy died Thursday night several hours after eating candy he received trick-or-treating during Halloween, police said.

The Harris County medical examiner scheduled an autopsy today to determine if the candy collected by the youth, Timothy M. O'Bryan, had anything to do with his death.

The office also was conducting tests on the candy.

Deer Park police Lt. A. J. Marquez said the boy's father, Ronald O'Bryan, took the boy to a nearby hospital. After returning home, the boy became ill. He died several hours later in a Pasadena hospital.

Marquez said there were no other reports of Pasadena or Deer Park children becoming ill after eating Halloween treats.

MEXICAN-AMERICAN DISCRIMINATION SEEN— South Texas Election Observers Asked

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A Texas civil rights group has asked the Justice Department to send observers to parts of South Texas Tuesday to prevent any discrimination against Mexican-American voters.

The request was made by Bishop Patrick Flores, chairman of the Texas Advisory Committee of the Southwest Regional Office of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission and by Regional Director J. Richard Avena.

Complaints Cited

Bishop Flores, auxiliary bishop of the San Antonio diocese, said the committee had received "many complaints about irregularities and discriminatory tactics against Mexican-Americans by 'election officials and law enforcement agents.'"

"These complaints," Bishop Flores said, "indicate that law enforcement agents as well as election officials are engaged in actions which tend to bar, deter, or reduce the political participation of Mexican-Americans."

The Texas agency asked observers for Cotulla, LaSalle County; Uvalde, Uvalde County; Pearsall, Frio County; and other selected communities.

Avena said that many complaints had come from Raza Unida party representatives and some had come from Democratic party officials.

Bishop Flores said that violations include:

- Harassment of poll watchers with election officials preventing the watchers from exercising their responsibilities and rights.
- Insufficient or wrong information on voting procedures.
- Failure by election officials to provide assistance to non-English speaking or disabled voters.
- Biased use of residency requirements to deny Mexican-Americans, especially migrant workers, the right to vote absentee.

The bishop said also that officers have "harassed and intimidated Mexican-American voters by circulating and parking in front of selected polling places, by making excessive and unnecessary appearance at polling places and by threats."

Martha Mitchell Blames Troubles On Richard Nixon

CHICAGO (AP) — Martha Mitchell says that she feared for her life when Richard M. Nixon was president.

"I was afraid of being killed," said the estranged wife of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell. Mitchell is now standing trial on charges stemming from the Watergate cover-up.

"Since Mr. Nixon cleared out of the White House, I don't have as much fear," Mrs. Mitchell said Thursday. But she claims that the Ford administration has her telephone tapped, checks her mail and assigns agents to follow her. She did not elaborate on the belief.

Mrs. Mitchell talked with reporters after an appearance on a Chicago television program.

Mrs. Mitchell emerged from the show in tears because of a question about her drinking habits.

Rumors that she had been drinking before she made some of her celebrated telephone calls were "part of the (Nixon) administration's policy to discredit women," she said.

Snow Covers Northern Rockies, Plains

By The Associated Press

Snow covered parts of the Northern Rockies and Plains today, while a line of thunderstorms drenched the Texas Gulf Coast.

Six inches fell in two hours at Port Lavaca, Tex., stalling traffic in flooded streets.

Elsewhere cloudy skies stretched from the Northern Rockies to the New England states and rain fell over much of the area.

Over the Northern Rockies and Plains, rain turned to snow at some spots where temperatures dropped below freezing.

Lewistown, Mont., reported two inches of snow on the ground.

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren

Ancestors Neither Honor Nor Blight

DEAR ABBY: I've always been very proud of the fact that my family came from Massachusetts from England in 1637. My husband says it's nothing to brag about because the people who came here then were all criminals who had been run out of England.

My husband is of Italian descent. His parents didn't come here until 1900, but he claims he came from "royalty." He says that years ago when an Italian nobleman would get a peasant girl pregnant, the girl would leave her illegitimate baby on someone's doorstep. My husband says that he was such a child because his name, when translated, is the one given to those abandoned babies.

Anyway, I want to know whether I should be proud of my ancestry or ashamed? And how about my husband?

NEW ENGLANDER: DEAR NEW: Intelligent discerning people don't judge others by what their ancestors did, so don't take any bows or accept any blame for yours.

As I see it, the only aristocracy worth bragging about is the aristocracy of achievement. Everyone must stand on his own record.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's secretary has given him many costly gifts, ranging from travel accessories to art during the two years she has worked for him.

Some of the cards she has enclosed with these gifts have been embarrassingly personal. I feel certain she is pursuing him, although he says he thinks I'm mistaken.

This young woman is divorced and has two children; and I know she could put her money to better use than buying gifts for my husband. And I wish she would. How do we let her know?

PUZZLED IN N.J.: DEAR PUZZLED: This is not a job for "we" — your husband should handle it alone. And if he really wants to discourage further gift giving, he will — foot suite.

DEAR ABBY: About six weeks ago, I met an insurance agent who happened to call on my door. I don't usually invite strangers in, but this man seemed exceptionally nice. Also being single, I was more interested in him than I was in insurance.

After talking to him, I learned that he is new in town, and recently divorced.

First I invited him to my home for dinner, then he invited me out, and we've been dating ever since. After six weeks of enjoying each other's company he still hasn't invited me to see where he lives. I've hinted, but he hasn't offered. He spends too much time with me to be married, so that can't be the reason. Abby, why doesn't he want me to see where he lives?

I enjoy his company, and he takes me out a lot, but should I continue to invite him to my home when he never invites me to his?

BOTHERED: DEAR BOTHERED: He could be living in a cheap rooming house or an apartment of which he isn't very proud. As a newly divorced man he may have taken a financial beating, and is trying to get on his feet again. Don't fault him. You've known him only six weeks. Give him more time.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's secretary has given him many costly gifts, ranging from travel accessories to art during the two years she has worked for him.

Some of the cards she has enclosed with these gifts have been embarrassingly personal. I feel certain she is pursuing him, although he says he thinks I'm mistaken.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Dyed Sheepskin Stains Her Couch

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Association

Polly's Problem: DEAR POLLY — I had made the mistake of putting a red sheepskin on our newly-covered naugahyde couch. It left a red stain on the ivory-colored piece. How can I remove the stain? — VIRGINIA.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with department stores, gift shops, etc. that display and sell Christmas items starting with "Christmas in July." July is not too early to begin THINKING OF Christmas but seeing such things on display for six months makes this big day seem almost like any other day. — DEBBIE.

DEAR POLLY — I have a tip for Shirley who spilled rose nail polish on her white slacks. I did the same thing to pale blue ones. I used that spray-on spot remover that is now a commonly-used laundry product and then put the slacks in the washer set at medium heat. No sign of the polish when they came out. — D.P.

DEAR GIRLS — Many authorities suggest the use of acetone (banana oil not polish remover) for removing nail polish from fabrics EXCEPT for acetates. Lay area with spot upside down on a pad of towels (cloth or paper). First moisten stain from the back with water, use the acetone. When spot is gone rinse. Change pad as it becomes soiled with polish. Some also use rubbing alcohol with a few drops of ammonia added. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — When applying vinyl appliques to the bottom of the bathtub to prevent slipping add three or four to the rim of the tub. Both you and the children will have a better hold getting in and out of the tub. Never throw away an old, worn long-handled bath, sink or tub brush. It is perfect for cleaning behind the washer and dryer, washing out waste baskets, trash cans and even a child's swimming pool. — MARILYN.

DEAR POLLY — I have a small notebook, with alphabetically marked sections. After entertaining guests for dinner I enter their names, the date and the menu served. This way the same guests are not served the same menu twice in succession. Also I note any particular likes and dislikes of friends and family. — MRS. W.H.

DEAR READERS — Just a reminder to you to put your name, address and zip code on your letters. Many pointers that would have been printed have not been used for just that reason. We cannot send your Polly Dollar. Also please do not ask me where to buy a product in your own town. The number of letters requesting such information makes individual replies an impossibility. Love your letters and marvel at your ingenuity — keep them coming but do sign them. — POLLY.

Pledges To Protect Farmer From Imports Viewed Skeptically

By DON KENDALL
(An AP News Analysis)
WASHINGTON (AP)

Pledges made by President Ford to protect farmers from foreign beef and milk are being viewed skeptically by some authorities, who claim he promised very little.

Ford said Thursday in Iowa that he will not let imports add to what he called the financial wringer farmers are enduring. Specifically, Ford said he would:

Impose Quotas
—Impose meat import quotas or negotiate voluntary shipping restraints with foreign countries if meat imports next year threaten to exceed a specific level.

—Not change the present system of dairy import quotas without a thorough review.

—Impose countervailing duties on foreign-subsidized dairy products aimed at the U.S. market.

Here is the situation, including views by farm, government and trade spokesmen, who asked not to be identified:

Curbs under the 1964 meat import quota law will take effect automatically next Jan. 1 even if Ford does nothing. The quota apparatus has been set aside since mid-1972 by White House order to let more foreign meat enter. The suspension expires at the end of this year.

1964 Law Cited
Under the 1964 law, meat imports are allowed to exceed a predetermined level by 10 per cent before stiff quotas are triggered. That applies only when the full force of the law is in effect.

Imports this year actually are estimated at less than the trigger point, meaning that even if the quota system were in effect for 1974, shipments are not large enough to force mandatory curbs.

Quota Adjusted
The basic quota is adjusted annually to reflect U.S. beef production. Since beef output is even higher next year. And more foreign beef could enter the U.S. market in 1975 than this year without triggering quotas.

Ford also pledged to enforce existing dairy import quotas. Those had been increased on an emergency basis by former President Richard M. Nixon last year and in early 1974 to let more foreign cheese, butter and other products enter the United States.

Unless specifically enlarged, those quotas also are enforced automatically.

Dallas Area School Officials Are Finding Shortage Of Food

DALLAS (AP) — Area school officials say there is a food shortage which makes it difficult to find the commodities needed for school lunches.

Planning of meals has been halted, menus have been tossed aside and buying of available food is done by schools on a day-to-day basis. Delivery is taken on whatever foodstuffs the distributors have.

"We can't buy corn, any type of peas, green beans or short-matoes, even ketchup is short," said Melbague Ryan, Irving food director and president of the 35-member North Texas School Food Service Directors Association.

"If we don't feed the school children, then they will not get at least one good meal a day," said Marjorie Schwebel, food service director for Duncanville schools near Dallas.

According to a survey by The Dallas Morning News, beef is the only plentiful food for schools, but it is still expensive. Tomatoes, a basic ingredient in sauces and ketchup, are being sold to Japan, Spain and Portugal, which are outbidding Americans, a local Agriculture Department official said. Other foods can be purchased but only at prices higher than the schools can afford.

"We have the same inflation problems that every other shopper has, but our wholesale prices for institutional bulk foods are much higher than the national average, almost 35 per cent higher this year," said Tom Cunningham of Arlington schools.

Throw Spenders Out, Ford Says

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Ford has come up with a new battle cry for his final fling on the 1974 campaign trail: "Throw the big spenders out" even if they are Republicans.

He softened some of his earlier assaults on the Democratic opposition and, for the first time, suggested Thursday night in Los Angeles that perhaps some Republicans might be worthy of oblivion, too.

At a GOP fund-raising dinner in the Century Plaza Hotel, Ford said:

"If you are unhappy about the handling of the nation's finances over the past 20 years, if you think it is time for a change, remember next Tuesday who the big spenders are — and throw the big spenders out."

Prompted Applause
This prompted a burst of applause from party faithful, drowning out Ford's politically significant windup phrase: "And if some of them are Republicans, so be it."

Ford said it was time "for responsible men and women of all political persuasions — Republicans, Democrats, independents — to come together, not in an effort at political advantage, but in a spirit of true American patriotism to whip problems like inflation, energy and the environment, to strengthen our successful foreign policy by the restoration of bipartisanship."

Ford was bound from here to Fresno, Calif., for an airport rally in behalf of Republican Reps. Robert Mathias and Charles Wiggins. From there he was heading for five evening appearances in Portland, Ore.

— at a White House conference on domestic and economic affairs, three Republican fund-raising events and a local society auction benefitting the Oregon Museum of Science and Industry. He will visit Utah, Colorado and Kansas before returning to Washington on Saturday.

Stops In Iowa
En route to the West Coast, Ford stopped for an airport crowd at Sioux City, Iowa, in an effort to boost the re-election bid of Republican Rep. Wiley Mayne, who is strongly challenged by Democrat Berkeley Bedell.

The President told his farm belt audience of several thousand that if foreign meat starts to "pick up markedly" next year, "I will either impose meat quotas or negotiate volunteer agreements with foreign suppliers" to limit their shipments to the United States.

Ford also said, "there is no interest on my part to increase dairy imports into the United States."

When it was suggested to Press Secretary Ron Nessen that Ford's goal might be to raise consumer prices of beef and milk, Nessen responded that the President was not committing himself to anything but suggesting what he might do to help cattlemen and dairymen.

School Trustees Award $536,193 In Contracts

Contracts totaling $536,193 to construct vocational facilities at Lee High School and Austin Freshman School were awarded in a special session of the Midland public school trustees Tuesday afternoon.

Area Builders of Odessa submitted the low bid in the Lee project for a construction cost of $450,900 which includes paving and four classrooms designated in two alternate plans. Cost per square foot is $22.77.

The 19,800 square foot structure will include a vocational-agriculture shop and classrooms, a new woodshop and new metal shop. Construction on the southeast corner of the campus west of the main buildings will begin in 10 days and should be completed in 330 days.

B. R. Cowan of Midland was awarded the contract on the Austin general mechanical trades building with a low bid of $80,297, plus $5,066 for air conditioning included in an alternate plan.

The building will contain 2,900 square feet and be constructed south of the auditorium on the Austin campus. Cost per square foot will be $27.10.

The Austin facility is to be completed in 180 days, with construction to begin in 10 days.

Don R. Furgeson, business manager for the school district, said after the meeting Tuesday school officials were "very pleased" bids were no higher than originally anticipated in light of inflationary construction costs.

Former Midlander Named To Council By President Ford

Mrs. David H. (Carol) Schwartz of Washington, D. C., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Levitt of Midland, has been appointed by President Ford to the National Advisory Council on the Education of Disadvantaged Children, according to The Associated Press.

Mrs. Schwartz was one of five persons appointed to three-year terms on the council, including George Willeford of Austin.

Mrs. Schwartz, wife of a Washington, attorney, is a graduate of Midland High School and The University of Texas-Austin, with a degree in special education. She formerly taught in Austin and Washington, D. C., and is active in educational circles in the latter city. She and her husband are the parents of two daughters and a son.

Eight Austin High School Students Suspended After Racial Disturbances

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Eight Austin High School students have been suspended following disturbances earlier this week between racial groups, school officials said today.

Three students were suspended Tuesday after four white students were assaulted and one was taken to a private physician for treatment.

Wednesday morning before school about 40 students, including blacks, whites and Mexican-Americans, gathered across the street from the school in a vacant lot. Principal William Robbins said four men teachers talked the group back into classrooms without any violence. He said five boys, "those trying to agitate the others to fight," were suspended.

Twelve parents, members of the adult human relations committee, remained at the high school the remainder of the day. Robbins said there were no disturbances Thursday.

The eight students and their parents will appear Monday in a hearing before the school's faculty advisory council as provided by the discipline policy of the Austin school district.

FBI Eyes Abortion Clinics In Hunt For Patty Hearst

DALLAS (AP) — The FBI West Coast, Stephen Weed, has confirmed that agents have been checking Dallas abortion clinics in a search for Patty Hearst, missing West Coast newspaper heiress. But J. Gordon Shanklin, director of the Dallas FBI office, called the checks routine.

Agents have been visiting all abortion clinics in the area, showing pictures of Miss Hearst and asking if the attendants had seen her, the Dallas Morning News reported.

The agents also are showing pictures of Emily and William Harris who are thought to be with Miss Hearst.

"The agent who talked to me would not say why they were asking us about this," said one clinic employee, "but I got the impression it was a statewide search of abortion clinics. He asked me for a list of all the abortion clinics in Dallas."

The News quoted a source close to the FBI as saying the bureau has reason to believe that Miss Hearst and the Harris are attempting to cross the border into Mexico. In an interview earlier on the

Students At Ben Milam Elementary Turn Halloween Into Happy, Profitable Occasion For School's PTA

Halloween wasn't all Trick or Treat for students at Ben Milam Elementary School. The youngsters turned the day for goblins and ghosts and all kinds of mischief into a happy, profitable occasion for the school's Parent-Teacher Association.

They held their usual Halloween carnival Thursday night and went right along with the rest of the small fry in the city as they dressed in blood-chilling traditional costumes to "scare" us mere mortals into filling their Trick or Treat bags.

But, for 10 days before the Witches and Spooks took over Thursday, it was anything but merrymaking and playing of pranks for Ben Milam. The PTA sponsored the annual King and Queen contest and they got a big assist from the Coors Beer Distributing Co. and the U. S. Marine Corps.

The youngsters set up several fund raising schemes such as selling baked goods and other items and collecting unwanted aluminum cans that did their best to make Midland neighborhoods unsightly.

The youngsters brought the cans to school, and each one helped elect kings and queens from the primary (1-3) grades and the upper (4-6) grades.

The class that brought in the most cans got to select its own as the royalty.

Mrs. Emma Mitz' first graders won their division and elected Floyd Clay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Clay, and Melissa Torres, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe H. Torres as king and queen.

In the upper grades, David Love, son of John D. Love, and Martha Montelongo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacinto Montelongo, were crowned by their sixth grade classmates. Their teacher is Dewey Williams.

But for the PTA, the most gratifying thing was the huge check, $912.68, presented to them by Principal Jack Francis as a result of his pupils ingenious and hard work.

Claude Addington, representing Coors, weighed out the cans — all 1,900 pounds of them — and payed the youngsters for them with a check for $296.08.

The Marine Corps sent its men, under the direction of Sgt. Bob Clements, to haul the piles of cans to the weighing station.

Claude Addington of Coors Beer Distributing Co., right, presents check to pay for aluminum cans to Jack Francis, Ben Milam Elementary School Principal. Milam students collected almost 2,000 pounds of cans. Sgt. Bob Clements of the U.S. Marine Corps furnished transportation for the cans to the weighing station.

Photographers Say They Saw No Students Rushing For Guardsmen

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Three photographers who were at Kent State University during the 1970 shootings have testified they saw no rush of students toward National Guard troops just before the shootings.

The government has sought to show the guardsmen were not surrounded and not in danger of being overrun when they opened fire on antiwar demonstrators protesting U.S. military involvement in Cambodia, as the defense has claimed.

The 13-second burst of gunfire on May 4, 1970, left four students dead and nine others wounded.

Witnesses Thursday included John P. Filo and Richard Harris, both former Kent State student photographers, and Douglas Moore, a university news service photographer. Harris, now a Neavre, Ohio, industrial arts teacher, was to resume testifying today.

The three testified about pictures of guard and student activities they took on the day of the shootings.

Their testimony was given in the trial of eight former Ohio National Guardsmen indicted by a federal grand jury last March 29 in connection with the shootings.

"It seemed so bizarre; I thought they were firing blanks," said Filo, a student photographer at the time.

Filo, now an Associated Press photographer in Springfield, Ill., added, "I wanted to take a picture of the shooting when I realized live ammunition was being used. I got my camera, but by that time the shooting had stopped."

Both Filo and Moore told several hundred students massed for a noon rally on one side of the university Commons being faced by guardsmen gathered across the area about 450 feet away.

They said the troops were at the ruins of the Army Reserve Officers Training Corps building which was burned by demonstrators two days before the shootings. Former Gov. James A. Rhodes ordered national guardsmen onto the campus after the building was burned.

Filo said a few students were within an estimated 30 to 40 feet of the guardsmen when the

Boston Schools Face Deadline On Desegregation

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston school committee faces a Dec. 16 deadline to come up with a final desegregation plan involving "all grades in all schools in all parts of the city."

U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr., who imposed the initial integration plan for Boston's schools, set the deadline Thursday in a new court order.

The order came as schools went through a quiet day and as Gov. Francis W. Sargent ordered a two-thirds cutback in the number of National Guard troops called up three weeks ago because of violence associated with busing for integration.

Garrity's original integration ruling, some 18,000 of the system's 92,000 students were bused.

But the judge said the new plan should minimize busing and "minimize the reassignment of students who were reassigned for . . . September, 1974." The new plan would take effect next September.

Planners should "endeavor to avoid burdening more black ing them of their civil rights without due process of law.

On trial are James E. Pierce, 30, of Amelia Island, Fla., and seven Ohioans — James D. McGee, 28, and Lawrence A. Shafer, 28, Ravenna; Ralph W. Zoller, 27, Mantua; Barry W. Morris, 30, Kent; Leon H. Smith, 27, Beach City; Mathew J. McManus, 28, West Salem; and William E. Perkins, 28, Canton.

and other minority students than white students by transportation, school closings and other measures," he said.

Under the current plan, about 8,500 white students and 9,700 blacks are bused.

The judge's order makes the city eligible for at least $500,000 in federal school aid.

A school official said Thursday was a "very quiet and normal day," with attendance at 77 per cent. He said 14 students were suspended "at various schools for 'name-calling and some shoving.'"

Upset-Wary Bulldogs Head For Odessa

Ancient Series Noted For Reversals Of Form

According to the book, Midland High is the favorite tonight when they renew one of Texas' oldest football rivalries against Odessa High in W.T. Barrett Stadium in Odessa, but folks who have followed the series down through the years know it's one where form frequently takes a bruising.

The series, which began back in 1919, stands 33-29 in favor of Odessa and probably the two most shocking upsets occurred back in the 1950's, although they are just a couple of many.

In 1954, Odessa beat the heavily-favored Wahoo McDaniel Bulldogs, 27-0. McDaniel later played at Oklahoma and for the Denver Broncos and New York Jets and the team's only other defeat that year was a thriller to state champion Abilene.

Midland returned the courtesy in 1958, beating the Ronnie Goodwin Bronchos, 21-8. Goodwin was to go on to stardom at Baylor and then play for the Philadelphia Eagles.

Bulldogs 5-1-1
Midland is 5-1-1 going into the 8 p.m. scrap and still has a faint hope for the District 5-4A title. Odessa at 2-5 is seeking to salvage something from a season that otherwise has been filled with frustration and disappointment.

"We must do well early," says Midland Coach John Reddell. "If they get ahead and get emotionally aroused, they will be rough to handle because of their size."

In talented sophomore quarterback Darrell Shepard and running back Woodie Shepard, the Bronchos have the tools to strike quickly from anywhere on the field and in this respect are much like the Abilene Eagles who gave the Purple Pack an anxious night a couple of weeks ago.

Tied by Bobcats
Then, too, the Bulldogs are coming off that disappointing tie of a week ago when San

SOUTHWEST CONFERENCE QUICKIES Tech Fifth Bowl Foe For Rice

DALLAS — Just check with the Rice Owls if you want the lowdown on the bowl situation: Texas Tech, the Owls' Saturday opponent, will be the fifth 1973 bowl team the Owls have faced in their first seven games. Tech is the fourth bowl team among five that have played this year at the Rice Bowl, or, Stadium. And the Owls have led three of the four at one point in those games.

Darrell Royal figures Texas and SMU are a lot alike — both run the Wishbone, both are 5-2, Texas lost to Oklahoma and SMU lost to Ohio State. "SMU fans are wondering why we beat Rice worse (27-6) than SMU beat Rice (19-14)." Royal added, "Well, I can tell them about some Texas fans who are wondering why Tech beat us worse (26-3) than Tech beat SMU (20-17)."

If Baylor holds its attendance average at the current 40,750, it will mean an increase of 175 per cent over six years ago and 88 per cent over three seasons back.

CYCLES? SWC teams registered 14 shutouts in 1965, none in 1968, and three last year. They're already at five this season, three by Texas A&M and two by Arkansas, have four other games in which the opposing offense failed to get across the goal line — and there are still 18 games left.

In all that excitement over Texas A&M's size, has anybody noticed that the Aggie place-kicking specialist is 6-5 and weighs 235? Randy Haddock played defensive tackle before giving it up to concentrate on booting 'em home.

The SWC football race, currently involving five teams, is grabbing paying customers at an all-time record rate — but it's also capturing the imagination of players.

"When you hear about a team from our conference going out and whipping some ranked team," says SMU fullback David Bostick, "it adds a lot of excitement. It really gets the adrenalin flowing."

Baylor's Steve Beard seems about ready to claim the title of the busiest back in SWC history. The 5-7 tailback has carried the ball 133 times in six games, needs 111 more carries in the last five to break the season rushing attempt record of 243, set by Rice's Stahle Vincent in 1971.

Cotton Bowl scouts this weekend will visit five of the seven leading contenders for the guest spot on New Year's Day. Four contenders will be playing each other — Maryland at Penn State and Auburn at Florida. Cotton Bowlers will also visit Alabama for its game with Mississippi State. The other leaders, Notre Dame and Nebraska, are playing away from home Saturday.

PRO FORECAST— Buffalo, Dallas Receive Nods

By BEN THOMAS
AP Sports Writer
Buffalo and New England, both 6-1 for the season, are causing problems again for the old Pro Pigsaw Picker as he looks over Sunday's National Football League games.

There was a two-point difference in Buffalo's favor two weeks ago. This time the oddsmakers favor the Patriots by 3½ points, which means that it would be virtually a "pick-it" game on a neutral field. It's tough to pick against either team, but the initial visceral feeling was Buffalo and we've ignored those too many times. So ... BILLS 32, PATRIOTS 31.

After that timid start, here's a soft whisper that last week's guess produced a miserable 7-6 showing. That left the over-all record at 61-29-1 for 678.

ST. LOUIS (7-6) at DALLAS (3-4): The pigskin picker is either going to sink or swim this week on those initial impulses. So, even though St. Louis is favored, let's say ... COWBOYS 24, CARDINALS 21.

OAKLAND (6-1) at DENVER (3-3-1): This could be the year the Raiders get to visit the Super Bowl again ... RAIDERS 30, BRONCOS 24.

PHILADELPHIA (4-3) at PITTSBURGH (5-1-1): Would you believe that Pittsburgh is only favored by eight points? That shows you that Mike McCormack is doing a pretty good job with the Eagles. Anyway ... STEELERS 28, EAGLES 23.

MINNESOTA (5-2) at CHICAGO (3-4): The Vikings have lost two straight. Will the Bears make it three? No ... VIKINGS 21, BEARS 16.

WASHINGTON (4-3) at GREEN BAY (3-4): Either the oddsmakers aren't that impressed with the Redskins, or they are afraid of John Hadl. They made the 'Skins favorites by only 3½ points. But George Allen is NOT — do you hear us, George — going to lose three times in succession ... REDSKINS 19, PACKERS 17.

NEW ORLEANS (3-4) at DETROIT (3-4): A third straight victory by either team could get contagious. The Lions are favored, and this is no place for an argument ... LIONS 24, SAINTS 17.

CINCINNATI (4-3) at BALTIMORE (1-6): Virtually every team in the league except Baltimore has pulled off a genuine upset this year. Is it time for the Colts? Don't bet on it ... BENGALS 24, COLTS 17.

ATLANTA (2-5) at MIAMI (3-2): The Dolphins won 20-7 the only other time these two teams met in regular-season play. Why not try for the same score again? Thus ... DOLPHINS 20, FALCONS 7.

IN INTERSECTIONAL TIFF—

Georgia Favored Over UH

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Houston and Georgia, a pair of explosive offensive machines operating from the triple option veer spawned in the mid 60s by the Cougars, collide Saturday in an intersectional college football game.

The two teams will match 5-2 records in their engagement before an expected crowd of 50,000 in Sanford Stadium. Georgia, 13th nationally in total offense, enters with a three-game winning streak. Houston, 14th in total offense and eighth in total defense, is seeking a fifth straight victory. Coach. Vince Dooley's Bulldogs are slight favorites to trim Houston and even their series at 1-1-1.

"Houston has more prospects than anybody in the South, with the possible exception of Miami," Dooley said. Cougars Coach-Bill Yeoman originated the veer offense which is being used by more and more teams. Seven of the Southeastern Conference teams are in the veer this year and two others use the wishbone, originated by Texas as a new twist to the Houston triple option.

Yeoman said Georgia appears "to be getting better each week—they have people who can move the ball. What it amounts to is they have been scoring a lot of points. It's going to be a real firm contest." The Cougars are averaging 402 yards per game, Georgia

403. Fullback John Housman leads Houston in running with 551 yards and Marshall Johnson has added 511. Yeoman said Housman "delivers an explosive hit when he meets a defensive man," adding it "hurts to tackle him."

Georgia's defense hasn't been noted for tackling too many backs this year. The Bulldogs are averaging 35 points per game, but are yielding almost

Massengales Lead World Golf Play

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. (AP) — "Well," mused veteran Don Massengale, "in this kind of competition, it really helps to know your partner, know what he can do, what he's likely to do."

So Don, playing with the man he knows best in the world, younger brother Rik, fashioned a 10-under-par 62 and took the first-round lead Thursday in the $250,000 National Team Golf Championship.

The 37-year-old Don and the 27-year-old Rik, softly-drawing natives of Jacksboro, Tex., teamed perfectly in this event in which scoring is based on the better ball of each two-man team.

Each made an eagle three. Each scored three birdies. They were in danger of making bogey only twice. Don made a four-foot par-saving putt one time. Rik made a four-foot par-saving putt the other time.

The result was a one-stroke lead over five other teams in this end-of-the-season event that offers $50,000 to the winning two-man team.

Ted at 63, one shot out of the lead in the event were Bob Murphy and Lee Elder, Gibby Gilbert and Bobby Mitchell, Al Geiberger and Buddy Allin, Steve Melnyk and Dave Eichelberger and another bother combination, Dave and Mike Hill.

Former Masters champions Charles Coody and Tommy Aaron headed a big group at 64 while Sam and J.C. Snead were at 65.

The game's great names had their problems in the bright, warm sunshine that favored the two courses in sight of the gleaming towers of Walt Disney World, a massive, multimillion-dollar complex in central Florida.

The favored team of Jack Nicklaus and Tom Weiskopf could do no better than a 67, five shots back. Arnold Palmer and Lanny Wadkins had the same, Johnny Miller, winner of eight titles and a record $351,000 this season, and partner Grier Jones had a best-ball 68.

Of the teams at 63 or better, only the Massengales and the Melnyk-Eichelberger pair played the longer, tougher, 7,162-yard Magnolia course. The others were on the 6,561-yard Palm course. Both are par 72.

They'll switch courses for today's play — an advantage for the Massengales — and the final two rounds will be played on the Magnolia course.

Slippery Rock Up In Arms

Coach Demands Ranking

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa. (AP) — Slippery Rock has a 6-0-1 record this year, but Coach Bob DiSpirito says everyone still smiles at his school's football team.

DiSpirito, however, is not smiling about never having made the Associated Press Small College football poll. In fact, he's steaming.

"We are very upset," he says. "We have won two straight state championships and we're driving for a third, and we still can't get any recognition."

But opponents give the Rockets lots of recognition.

Slippery Rock has not lost in its last 29 games against Pennsylvania competition, has a 20-game home winning streak and a 11-game non-losing skein going into Saturday's game at Lock Haven State. The Rockets won last year, 76-0.

"We feel we can play with anybody," says publicist John Carpenter.

The venerable Dunkel rankings have Slippery Rock rated ahead of more than a dozen major schools, including New Mexico State. It says the Rockets are 1.5 points better than the 5-3 Aggies.

"Look, we might not beat Penn State if we played them, but we sure wouldn't lose 55-0 like Wake Forest did, either," says Carpenter.

The Rockets have tried to get some bigger-name opponents.

"We wrote letters to about 250 schools, including everyone in the Yankee Conference," says DiSpirito. "Almost no one answered."

School officials blame that silly-sounding name, which brings a smile to the faces of millions of college football fans.

But, they feel, athletic directors at places like Massachusetts and Connecticut have a dread of finding themselves on the wrong end of a Slippery Rock score, as laughingly announced around the nation.

"Our offensive line weighs 241," says DiSpirito. "No one is going to laugh about them."

The line helps running back Ed O'Reilly, who has gained over 100 yards his last 11 games. And it's helped DiSpirito, whose record the last four years is 29-6-2, a percentage of .816.

Chris Evert Defeats Wade At Hilton Head

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. — Chris Evert defeated Virginia Wade 6-1, 6-3 for the women's title, Rod Laver and Bjorn Borg beat Ilie Nastase and Stan Smith 7-6, 6-7, 6-2 for the Men's doubles title, and Evonne Goolagong teamed with Virginia Wade to win the women's doubles title over Billie Jean King and Chris Evert 36-6, 4-3 in the $135,000 World Invitational Tennis Classic.

JAKARTA, Indonesia — Top-seeded Roscoe Tanner of the United States breezed past Goro Widojo 6-1, 6-0 and into the quarter-finals of $44,500 Indonesia Open Tennis Tournament.

CARDIFF, Wales — Janet Newberry, of La Jolla, Calif., scored a 6-4, 6-3 quarterfinal victory over Britain's Linda Mottram in an indoor tennis tournament.

PARIS — American Harold Solomon topped Antoni Zugarelli of Italy 6-3, 6-2 to join countryman Eddie Dibbs and Chile's Jaime Fillol in advancing to the men's singles quarter-final of the French Indoor Open Tennis Championships.

VIENNA — America's Vits Gerulaitis defeated South Africa's Bob Hewitt 6-2, 7-5 to advance past the second round of the Vienna Stadthalle Open Tennis Tournament.

PINEHURST, N.C. — Led by Tommy Jacobs and Denny Lyons, United States club professionals won six matches, tied one and lost another to complete an 11-4-4 conquest of a British team in the second annual Diamondhead Cup Golf Competition.

SOUTHERN PINES, N.C. — Jimmy Wright, of Inwood, N.Y., shot closing rounds of 74 and 72 to win the $10,000 Izod International Invitational Golf Championship by six strokes.

Broad Street Bullies Rough Up Rangers, 5-1

By The Associated Press

The Broad Street Bullies gave the New York Rangers a licking Thursday night with Bobby Clark, one of their biggest bullies, doing a lot of the damage.

"They were great with their forechecking," said New York Coach Emile Francis after losing a 5-1 National Hockey League decision to the Philadelphia Flyers. "They were on top of us before we knew it."

Triggered by Clark, the Flyers scored two lightning goals at the start of the second period to turn the game into a rout.

Ross Lonsberry and Bill Clement scored two goals apiece for Philadelphia. Clement opened the scoring at 6:41 of the first period. His second goal came at the end of the second period when his shot deflected off the skates of New York goalie Ed Giacomin.

Both of Lonsberry's goals came in the second period — first a tip-in of a centering pass from Rick MacLeish and, later, a power-play goal.

Reggie Leach also got a second-period goal to give Philadelphia a 5-0 advantage going into the final period.

Bobby Rousseau put the Rangers on the scoreboard in the third period with a power-play goal, foiling Bernie Parent's shutout bid.

In the other NHL games, the Montreal Canadiens whipped the Washington Capitals 3-0 and the Los Angeles Kings and St. Louis Blues played to a 1-1 tie.

In the World Hockey Association, the Cleveland Crusaders downed the Michigan Stags 4-2; the New England Whalers walloped the Indianapolis Racers 6-1 and San Diego trimmed Chicago 4-3.

Murray Wilson scored on a breakout at 7:26 of the second period to snap a scoreless game lead and Montreal to beat Washington.

The shutout defeat was the fourth suffered by the expansion Capitals in their first 10 NHL games. Montreal goaltender Ken Dryden stopped 19 shots in gaining his first shutout this year.

Serge Savard added the second Montreal goal at 4:17 of the third period. Guy Lafleur got the third Canadiens' goal at 18:44 of the third period.

Garry Under's goal with 1:14 left in the game gave St. Louis its tie with Los Angeles. The Kings' goal was scored by Judah Widing in the first period.

Two first-period goals by Tom Webster pushed him past 100 for his professional hockey career and propelled New England over Indianapolis.

Larry Pleau also scored twice for the Whalers, now 5-1 atop the WHA East Division standings.

Two goals each by Skip Krake and Gerry Pinder carried Cleveland over Michigan.

Krake and Pinder each connected once in the second period to give the Crusaders a 2-1 lead. After Pinder knocked in his own rebound at 6:16 of the final period to break a 2-2 tie, Krake scored into an open net to put the game out of reach with one second left.

The victory was the second along with a tie in five starts for Cleveland, playing for the first time in eight games because of ice failures in its home area.

Andre Lacroix scored two goals to lead San Diego over Chicago.

each week. Acree agrees after viewing films of the Panthers earlier in the year. "They (Permian) have really improved and that defense is something else," said Acree.

Comparisons

Cooper and Big Spring are the only two teams that both Lee and Permian have faced with Permian beating the Cougars eight points and Big Spring by 23. Lee beat Big Spring by 20 last week, but comparing scores in high school football can get you into trouble in a hurry.

Lee is bigger in the line than Permian with David Sledge, 222-pound senior quick guard anchoring down the offensive line and Keith Bishop, a 220-pound all-state candidate at tackle, on the rugged Rebel defensive line.

Permian has Daryl Hunt, 6-4, 205-pound senior at tight end and tackle Steve Marshall, 216-pounder, to anchor down the Mojo line along with center Mike Jackson who weighs 200 pounds.

The Panthers are quick on defense and pursue well while Lee appears to have more quickness on offense which should make it a great battle.

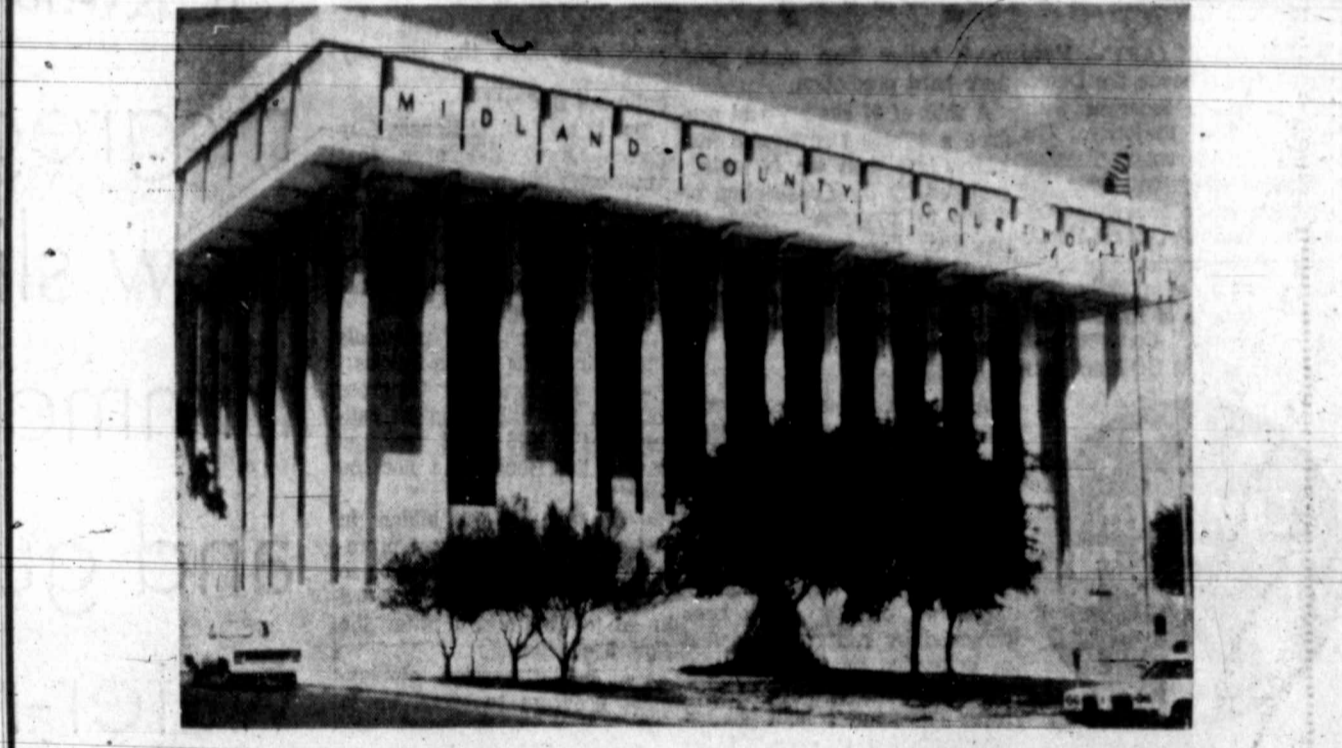

Permian holds a 12-1 edge in the series which since 1968, has been an emotional confrontation for the two rivals.

Ford's Anti-Inflation Plan Bogged Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three weeks after it was proposed, President Ford's anti-inflation program is bogged down in public controversy over whether its costs will outweigh its benefits.

Although Ford said his program was a "grand design" that should be considered as a package, it appears the proposals requiring congressional approval will be voted on only in bits and pieces, if at all. The only one of Ford's major proposals to have cleared Congress so far is his program to make more than $7 billion available to the housing industry to help lower home mortgage interest rates.

Two other major features of the Ford package, budget reductions and a 5 per cent surtax on a single taxpayer's income over $7,500 or family income above $15,000, have gone nowhere. Both have aroused fears in Congress they would worsen the nation's current economic decline.

Tactics Changed

Ford's chief economic spokesman, Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, has changed his tactics slightly in defending the Ford program. He's been saying in recent speeches that the program will deal with the economic downturn at the same time it works to restrain rampant inflation.

And in a speech to the National Press Club Thursday, Simon even said the program "will preserve the free enterprise system that I believe is essential to our future growth."

But while the administration still is pushing hard publicly, some key administration economists believe there won't be any surtax unless the income level is raised, possibly as high as $25,000 for a family.

Runs Into Trouble

But even a seemingly non-controversial Ford proposal to issue special citations to business and labor unions that show restraint in wage and price behavior has run into trouble.

Arch Booth, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, refused recently to support the plan and walked out of a meeting of the President's Citizens' Action Committee to Fight Inflation, of which he is a member.

What's more, some administration economists concede there are contradictions in some aspects of the program, including suggestions by Ford that the government might consider issuing special so-called WIN bonds that would bear a higher interest rate than savings bonds.

Such a bond, they say, likely would attract more funds away from the savings and loan associations that support the housing industry.

One Treasury economist, who did not want to be quoted by name, also said it was unfortunate that some of Ford's remarks have been interpreted as encouraging Americans to spend less and save more, since reduced spending on top of already declining retail sales could only hurt the economy more.

Balanced Budgets

But in his Oct. 14 Kansas City speech, Ford did urge that Americans balance their family budgets, postpone unnecessary borrowing, and save as much money as they can — all steps that could lead to lower consumer spending.

Other major Ford proposals and their status are as follows: —His proposal for Congress to set a $300-billion budget ceiling for the 1975 fiscal year has passed the House, but not the Senate.

—The list of $5 billion in budget cuts he has been promising to send to Congress since he took office now is scheduled to go to Capitol Hill after the Nov. 5 elections.

—A public service employment program to spend up to $2.3 billion on increased jobs and unemployment benefits to confront rising unemployment has not been acted on.

—There likewise has been no action on his proposals for a 5 per cent surtax on corporate income or on a plan to encourage new business investments by raising the investment tax credit to 10 per cent.

No Action

There has been no action on a proposal to allow tax deductions for dividends paid on preferred stock, which is a move aimed at helping public utilities raise capital.

—A modest tax relief program for low-income groups, which is supported by Ford and which already was under consideration by the House Ways and Means Committee as part of a tax-reform package, may be reported out of committee after the election.

—On the voluntary level, the citizens' committee that is helping with this program expects to begin sending the first of an expected 140,000 so-called WIN buttons by the middle of next week to persons who have mailed in pledges to help control inflation.

In addition to these, Simon indicated in a television interview Thursday night that if the President's plan to reduce oil imports; Earl F. Landgrebe, a bitter-end defender of former President Richard M. Nixon; William H. Hudnut III in Indiana; Robert J. Huber in Michigan; and Joseph J. Marziti in New Jersey.

GOP Concedes Demos To Up House Majority

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even Republicans concede the Democrats stand to increase their 248-187 House majority. The question for the voters Tuesday is whether they will give the opposition party enough advantage to stymie President Ford's young administration.

The official, admittedly optimistic, estimate of the Republican National Congressional Committee is that GOP net losses can be held to five. This would fit in the normal range of midterm election losses for the party controlling the White House.

es can be held to five. This would fit in the normal range of midterm election losses for the party controlling the White House.

Hard Estimate

The Democratic Congressional Committee makes what it terms a hard estimate of a 37-seat gain, with hopes for substantially more.

To produce the veto-proof House Ford has been decrying as a national danger, the Democrats would have to do

Director Defends Prison's Handling Of Appropriation

HOUSTON (AP)—W. J. Estelle Jr., director of the Texas Department of Corrections, (TDC), says he's not worried about charges that it has misdirected $2.8 million in funds intended for prison construction.

Estelle said the TDC has a professional auditor on its staff and that he has had full knowledge of his own staff, dispelling any other reason for concern.

A report last week by the Legislative Joint Committee charged that funds intended for work on a new prison near Palestine went partly for the TDC payroll and other improvements.

Estelle said the incident would not alter TDC policy and construction plans would continue as slated.

much better than make good their hard prediction.

A shift of 37 seats would produce a 285-150 Democratic majority, less than the two-thirds required by the Constitution on votes to override vetoes. In practice, the opposition party would have to number well above the minimum to be reasonably certain of overriding most vetoes.

75 Races Close

About 75 races are considered close, and these are widely scattered geographically. Many involve incumbents, but as usual most incumbents are favored to win re-election. Most of the shifts are expected in open districts — those where the incumbents already have been removed by retirement, defeat in primaries or candidacy for other offices. There are 52 such races this year, a high but not unprecedented number. Of the seats involved, 28 were held by Democrats and 24 by Republicans.

Republicans also are fighting hard to reclaim some of the seats lost in special elections during the past two years. They think one of their best chances is in Ford's old Michigan district.

Elected In Upset

Democrat Richard F. VanderVeen was elected in an upset when Ford vacated the seat to become vice president. Ford traveled to Michigan to campaign for the Republican contender, Paul G. Goebel Jr., and some Democrats concede his appearance may make the difference.

In another race where a personality is important, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., is generally favored to win, but some observers insist his embarrassing partying with a former exotic dancer who jumped into the Washington Tidal Basin may produce an upset. The Republican challenging the 65-year-old chairman of the Ways and Means Committee is Judy Petty, 31.

Six Republican incumbents are considered to be in serious trouble: Robert B. Mathias in California; Samuel H. Young in Illinois; Earl F. Landgrebe, a bitter-end defender of former President Richard M. Nixon; William H. Hudnut III in Indiana; Robert J. Huber in Michigan; and Joseph J. Marziti in New Jersey.

Butz Tells Food Conference Not 'To Flail Middleman'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz has opened a food conference by telling participants not "to flail the middleman," while a fellow Cabinet officer was announcing administration intent to probe that segment of the food industry.

Butz issued his plea as he opened the conference on food productivity; costs and prices Thursday. Elsewhere in Washington, however, Treasury Secretary William E. Simon was saying the administration was ready to battle the food industry middleman, including refiners, canners and the packaging and transportation industries.

"With times as difficult as they are, we cannot permit one segment of the economy to reap unjust enrichment at the expense of everyone else," Simon said in discussing the administration plans at a National Press Club luncheon.

Simon said he was concerned that farm prices have been falling generally while consumer food prices have been increasing. He said the administration's efforts will begin with the sugar industry and that he had ordered public hearings on sugar prices by the Council of Wage and Price Stability.

Simon said that all facets of the sugar industry will be looked at, including the price of raw sugar as it compares with the refined product, and he said:

"When we get all the facts, we will take whatever action is warranted."

Meanwhile, President Ford reassured farmers that he would not allow foreign imports to further deteriorate their economic base. Speaking in Sioux City, Iowa, Ford promised to impose meat import quotas or negotiate voluntary export restraints if meat imports threatened to exceed a certain level.

He also pledged not to change the dairy import quota system without a thorough review of market conditions and listening to dairy producers.

The President also said he would ask Butz to consider increasing government purchases of beef for the school lunch program.

The food conference began five days before congressional elections in which food prices are a major issue and as an increase in raw farm prices was announced.

The Agriculture Department reported a 4 per cent increase in farm prices from Sept. 15 to Oct. 15. Higher prices for wheat, corn, hogs, soybeans and cotton were mostly responsible for the increase.

There were these other economic developments:

—Despite President Ford's appeal to cut back spending to fight inflation, sales reported by the nation's leading discount and department stores were up as much as 21 per cent in October over a year ago. And the government reported all retail sales for the last week in October rose 8 per cent above last year.

—The Civil Aeronautics Board approved a 4 per cent increase in fares for passengers flying within the mainland United States, effective Nov. 15.

—Ford announced he is deferring the expenditure of nearly $2 billion in public works and water and power development projects as an anti-inflation measure.

Authorities Fear Search For More Than $4 Million Taken In Nation's Largest Burglary May Be Futile

CHICAGO (AP) — Authorities continued their search today for more than $4 million stolen in the nation's largest burglary, but officials feared the search may prove futile.

Six men are in custody in connection with the burglary of the Armored Express Corp. on Oct. 20, when more than $4.3 million was stolen.

Officials said about $61,000 of the money has been recovered. U.S. Atty. James R. Tompson said Thursday the missing funds would be hard to trace because the bulk of the money may be stashed in secret foreign bank accounts.

Two men were arrested Wednesday on Grand Cayman Island in the Caribbean shortly before they were scheduled to fly to Costa Rica, where authorities say extradition would have been difficult.

A third man surrendered Thursday to federal authorities in Chicago where three other men are being held.

Authorities said the money still missing may be scattered in several accounts in some of the 172 banks on Grand Cayman, an island south of Cuba in the British West Indies.

The banks operate with the same secrecy as Swiss banks, making investigation difficult, said FBI spokesman Kenneth Gray.

The two suspects arrested on Grand Cayman were Charles Marzano, 42, and Luigi DiFonzo, 27, a former silver commodities broker, who were flown Thursday to Miami, Fla.

FBI officials said they should be taken to Chicago after a hearing later this week to face federal charges of bank burglary, bank larceny, the use of explosive devices and interstate transportation of stolen money.

Shortly after the arrest, William Marzano, 31, brother of Charles, surrendered to federal authorities in Chicago.

Three other men were arrested earlier in connection with the burglary.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Ralph Whalen asked for the delay, saying there was new evidence "very, very critical to the case" which was "impossible to develop" in time for the trial scheduled to start next week.

Judge Becker also denied Thursday a defense motion to allow lawyers to examine the psychiatric records of the woman's husband Cladius Giesick.

Mrs. Giesick was killed here Jan. 16 while on a honeymoon with her husband. Police were told she was the victim of a hit-and-run motorist.

Giesick and Corey are former partners in massage parlor operations in Dallas and San Antonio, Tex.

Both were originally indicted for murder. But Giesick, 26, was allowed to plead guilty to a reduced charge of manslaughter after he agreed to testify as a state witness in the trial of Corey.

Judge Refuses To Delay Murder Trial

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — State Criminal District Court Judge Rudolph Becker has denied a prosecution request to delay the trial of the Rev. Sam Corey, charged with murder in the death of Patricia Giesick, 25.

Tire Firm Plans Texas Shutdowns

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP) — The Kelly-Springfield Tire Co. will shut down its Tyler, Tex., plant for at least 15 working days in November and December, the firm announced Thursday.

Production also will be trimmed in three of its other factories.

Officials said the curtailment is forced by lagging automobile sales and the need to reduce inventory.

First Lady Due Drug Treatments

WASHINGTON (AP) — First Lady Betty Ford, who lost her right breast to cancer five weeks ago, will undergo drug treatment to combat any undetected malignant cells that may have remained after surgery, the White House physician says.

Dr. William Lukash said in a statement Thursday that physical examinations and diagnostic tests have disclosed no signs of remaining cancer.

But he said the precautionary drug treatment, or chemotherapy, was ordered because two lymph glands removed from beneath Mrs. Ford's right arm during the Sept. 28 operation were cancerous.

"... One cannot be entirely certain that undetected microscopic malignancy has not spread to other areas," Lukash said, and chemotherapy was chosen "to insure more inclusive treatment against any possible remaining cancer."

Lukash said Mrs. Ford's progress since the surgery "has been excellent and her outlook for prolonged good health is extremely favorable."

The President's wife has followed a limited public schedule. She attended a Washington horse show with her husband last Monday and entertained seven youngsters in Halloween costumes who were trick-or-treating Thursday for the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

Lukash said Mrs. Ford's drug therapy was expected to permit her "to continue all normal activities as wife, mother and first lady."

Statistically, three-fourths of all breast cancer patients whose malignancy has spread to lymph glands experience a recurrence of the disease within 10 years. The chemotherapy is an effort to prevent that.

Pop Music—In Holding Pattern—Awaits New Legend

By STEPHEN FORD
NEW YORK (NEA) — Not quite 40 years ago, the singer from Hoboken who currently refers to himself as "Ole blue eyes" and humbly bills his sold-out concerts as "The Main Event," prompted a new brand of worship for show business performers — something that bridged deification and decadence.

Rudy Vallee had known worship a decade earlier but the bobby-soxers who stormed New York's Paramount Theatre in the '40s swooned over Sinatra with an intensity rivaled only by the alarm of parents and clergy.

A decade after that, a come truckdriver from Memphis with spring-mounted hips surfaced nationally to eclipse the frenzy that even Sinatra had generated. Again, parents, educators, clergy and patriots traced the popularity of Elvis Presley to teen-aged rebelliousness, anti-school attitudes, godlessness and communism.

From that point, the rest is comparatively easy. We all know that 10 years later, four young men from Liverpool appeared to influence every thought almost every kid had at that time about music-hair-drugs-clothes and sex.

These are the legends, the towering personalities responsible for so much more beyond mere entertainment. But another decade has passed since Beatlemania and we're overdue for another legend. Popular music has been in a definite "holding" pattern for the past four years.

Though the next legend may not necessarily evolve from rock, it seems more likely to come from there, say record soothsayers.

But asking the soothsayers what they believe will be the next legend is like asking for a cure for hiccups — everyone has his own ideas.

Rock as a barometer for what's coming may be narrowing the field substantially but remember, the pop and middle-of-the-road category rarely blazes new roads into the musical forest. Pop follows the tried-and-true paths.

The Country and Western market is as healthy as ever but don't look there for a new messiah. One of the leading promoters in that field, Tulsa's Jim Halsey who owns a chunk of the past seven years, rock has mated with jazz, country, folk, classical, bluegrass, glitter, pop and ranch. And through all those changes, not a single legend has emerged.

So who will next be responsible for saturating our airwaves, turning our children against us appeal these days. People are dancing again and progressive rock was never good for that. It was too hard to dance to. But jazz is mainly music and ideal for dancing.

"As far as legends go, who can predict? Experience shows that they always take us by surprise. We can't see them even when they're right in front of us. When they hit, they hit fast."

Ira Mayer, a young man who charts the weekly FM radio airplay report for Record World magazine, says there are no legends looming at all in the musical horizon.

"Any group with the potential to be a legend has got to count on the big record labels to promote the hell out of 'em and the companies are very careful these days, even stingy. And that's because sales are down. So are new releases and the signing of new artists. If they're wary of singing new acts, the chances of finding a new legend are, naturally, lower.

"In the late '60s, a lot of mediocre bands could go gold (sales over a million dollars) even before they released their album. Now, only the big, BIG bands do that."

But what no one in the industry did consider is something first uttered some years ago by rock entrepreneur Bill Graham. The music industry, and rock in particular, is not the idealistic playground it once was. When the Beatles arrived, rock was still in its genesis — too young to be sullied by money or sapped of its creative juices by promoters.

When promoters later applied their energy to spawning commercial products like The Archies or The Monkees, it was the beginning of the end. And rock's exploitation wasn't restricted to the promo men. Just ask industry people how shrewd a businessman Mick Jagger is.

It used to be that rock stars were made, not born and God didn't make them — we did.

Trinity's Faculty Has Done It Again

Those Trinity folks have done it again! Done what? Puled of another fabulous "Faculty's Folly," Trinity staffer to catch them that's what!

With this second "Folly" which had dinner theater performances at the school Thursday night, it seems fairly certain that faculty and staff at Trinity have committed themselves to an annual production as a highlight to the school's yearly Halloween carnival. At least we can hope the "Folly" will be an ongoing event, because it is fun — as much, or more, fun this year than last!

The current melodrama, "Blazing Gradebooks," was written by faculty members Jack Hickman and Bill Combes. I won't go into the plot, which really isn't too important, except to note that it deals with a bunch of villainous types who evict Trinity from its home (they've a prior claim on the land, don't you see) and turn it into a tequila parlor. All kinds of colorful types come and go as the show progresses and there are, of course, many topical references and "inside" jokes — you'd have to be a Trinity staffer to catch them all! The wit is frequently sly and infectious.

It comes as no great surprise, naturally, that in the end justice prevails and Trinity's campus is restored to the school.

Participating in the show were headmaster Mel Bishop, Hickman, Combes, Nena Moore, Helen Rucker, Charlotte Ward, Mary Lynn Fernandez, Sonja Brittain, Jean Schwisow, Doris Watson, Pat Shaw, Carol Hartman, Anne Wemple, Marjorie Kezak, Lucy Tucker, Barbara Boyd, Jan O'Neill, Mary McFadden, Vina Rahlis, Dorothy Sobey, Margaret Foster, Alston Boyd and Jill Williams. The melodrama was directed by Liz Pennebaker, with Laura Williams handling choreography. Paul Laverty Jr. provided the musical score and was accompanist, and Bill Pomeroy wrote the lyrics.

Most Democratic Candidates Silent Near End Of Campaign

By The Associated Press
 Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby was the lone Democratic voice on the campaign trail Thursday as Democrats maintained silence against criticisms by Republicans and others seeking to unseat the incumbents.

Hobby addressed the University of Houston Energy Institute Symposium and advocated removal of artificial impediments to oil and gas production, particularly price controls.

He suggested that the state should halt oil and gas leasing on public lands until, "we get a fair return."

"Producing at depressed prices is wasting the asset which is constitutionally dedicated to the school children of Texas," Hobby said.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe remained at his home in Uvalde. The governor cancelled the final two weeks of campaign appearances to remain near his critically ill mother.

His republican challenger, Jim Granberry, told a luncheon audience in San Antonio that Briscoe has failed to disclose the donors at three fund-raising dinners in January 1973 although he promised to do so.

"What is the governor covering up in those contribution lists?" Granberry asked. "Who or what groups have given money and for what purpose to the governor that he wants to hide from the people of Texas?"

Appointed Prosecutors Assail Plea Bargaining

DALLAS (AP) — Special prosecutors in the Jake Jacobsen case have argued that the Justice Department deceived U.S. District Court Judge Robert Hill last summer regarding their secret plea bargaining with Jacobsen in Washington, D.C.

In a written brief sent Thursday to the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, Dallas lawyers Wayne Woodruff, Patrick Higginbotham and Andrew Barr asked the court to deny the government's request to suspend the prosecutors.

Named In October
 Hill appointed the three Oct. 23 to carry out the Texas case against Jacobsen involving charges of misapplying $825,000 from a San Angelo savings and loan association.

The Justice Department has asked the appeals court to suspend Hill's order appointing the prosecutors, saying Hill overstepped constitutional boundaries for the separation of powers.

The prosecutors argue a stay of the order will undo what Hill has done and the "public interest is best served by complete litigation of the matter in an adversary proceeding."

The Justice Department allegedly promised to dismiss Texas charges against Jacobsen, a lobbyist for a San Antonio-based milk cooperative, in return for his testimony against former Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally.

The three prosecutors pointed out that Justice Department counsel workings on the case in Texas did not relay the information to Judge Hill.

Judge Hill Not Informed
 The Dallas lawyers also noted that Jacobsen was indicted July 29 on a lesser bribery charge, but that Judge Hill was not informed of the plea bargain until Aug. 20.

They said Hill pointedly asked U.S. Atty. Frank McCown Aug. 29 if he wished to introduce evidence or testimony to explain why the Texas case should be dismissed to benefit the Washington proceeding, but McCown declined to elaborate.

If the appeals court should grant the stay, the special prosecutors asked it to allow them to participate in an appeal.

Marcia McKittrick Adjudged Guilty In Houston Plastic Surgeon's Death

HOUSTON (AP) — Marcia McKittrick has been convicted of murder in connection with the September 1972 slaying of Houston plastic surgeon Dr. John Hill.

The surprise move came Thursday after attorneys agreed to admit evidence without hearing witnesses testify.

State Dist. Judge Frank Price earlier Thursday ruled that a signed statement by Miss McKittrick could be used as evidence.

Prosecutor Bob Bennett said he was approached by Charles Caperton of Dallas, Miss McKittrick's attorney, about stipulating evidence in a non-jury trial.

Bennett said he felt confident the evidence spoke for itself and knew the stipulated trial would save time and taxpayers' expense.

Judge Price ordered a presentencing investigation to assist him in setting the term of years. Formal sentencing was set for Nov. 27.

Miss McKittrick, pleaded not guilty to the murder charges.

The trial of a codefendant, Mrs. Lilla Paulus, 55, was postponed until next February. Judge Price ruled that a statement given by Miss McKittrick could not be used in evidence against Mrs. Paulus.

A third defendant in the case, Bobby Wayne Vandiver, 36, the reputed triggerman for the slaying, was fatally shot by a Longview policeman last May. The policeman said Vandiver reached for a gun.

The prosecution attempted to use a statement by Vandiver in the trial of both women. Price, however, cited previous court rulings that a statement by a principal in the crime may not be used as evidence against a suspected accomplice.

Amarilloans Win Appeal Hearing

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has reversed a judge's refusal to allow appeals to be filed by two men convicted in Amarillo, Tex., on a possession of stolen property charge.

The court ordered U.S. District Court Judge Halbert C. Woodward to hold an evidentiary hearing to determine if Albert W. Morris and William W. Weirback Jr. "voluntarily and understandingly" waived their right to appeal.

The men contended they didn't appeal their convictions within the prescribed deadline because they were misled about the appeal procedure.

Midlander On Disaster Relief Team

DALLAS (AP) — Charles Elliott, minister of youth at First Baptist Church of Midland, was a member of a 10-man team which took a Texas Baptist disaster relief unit to Honduras in mid-October.

The 49-foot unit — a converted moving van — left Dallas Oct. 9 for Honduras, to help feed homeless refugees.

More than 129,000 persons were left homeless and 10,000 were killed as Hurricane Fifi slammed through the northern coast of Honduras Sept. 19.

The Texas unit went at the request of the Honduran government, conveyed through Mrs.

RosArgentina Pinel de Smith, Honduran consul at San Antonio and a member of First Baptist Church in that city. The hurricane wiped out more than 85 per cent of the rice, corn and bean crops on which the Honduran people depend for food. Much of the banana crop, and the sugar cane and cotton crops also were destroyed by the flooding. The storm dumped more than 24 inches of rain on sections of the country in 24 hours, stripping mud, rocks, logs and underbrush from the mountainsides. The debris cascaded into river valleys, sending them cracking through scores of communities, some of which were wiped out by the flooding. El Progreso, where the Texas Baptist unit terminated its journey, had 11,000 persons left homeless out of 27,000 who lived in the town before Fifi hit.

The unit was stationed on a dirt street between three schools and a kindergarten which had been the home of more than 2,500 refugees since Sept. 19. It set up on the evening of Oct. 20, and began feeding the hungry people the following morning. The fare was meager as compared to U. S. standards, consisting of rice, beans, milk and other problems. It was welcomed by the people. The residents were receiving regular rations from the Honduran government before the unit arrived, but the field kitchen freed government workers and others for the effort of reconstructing the shattered land. The odyssey of the six-man crew which took the unit through Mexico to Belize — formerly British Honduras — was a saga in itself. The trip was expected to take only two days, but it stretched into 10, compounded with blown tires, bad roads, a fire, an accident at an overpass in Mexico City resident; Cameron Byler, manager of Zephyr Baptist Encampment near Sandia; Herman Crawford, a layman from Brady; James Hatley, staff member of the mission support section of the Baptist General Convention of Texas; Ernie Liebigs, recreation minister of the Park Cities Baptist Church at Dallas; Dan Martin, also a former Midlander and now press director for the BGCT; Steve Wall, photographer with the Brotherhood Commission in Memphis, Tenn.; and Bill Arnold, member of the Dallas Baptist Association staff.

Texas Baptists Defuse, Okay 2 Explosive Issues

AMARILLO (AP) — Texas Baptists defused and then approved two explosive issues, totally sidestepping another and wrapped up their 89th annual meeting Thursday in high harmony.

Messengers (delegates) to the Baptist General Convention of Texas overrode token opposition and approved resolutions critical of abortion and the charismatic movement — the so-called "speaking in tongues" issue.

But they stopped short of a doctrinal ban on abortion and struck down a move seeking the voluntary withdrawal of those Baptists who emphasize the charismatic ministry of faith healing and exorcism.

They ambushed a women's rights proposal in committee and then adopted unanimously a resolution calling on all members to miss a meal a week and instead donate a dollar to meet world hunger needs.

It was a harmonious climax to the four-day session that included approval of a record $20.6 million budget for 1975 and acceptance of a challenge to win 100,000 people to Christ in the next year.

Despite objections from the Rev. Calvin Gratham of Dallas, the group adopted a resolution noting that charismatic movement has "created many difficulties for some Southern Baptist churches and has been the occasion of considerable divisiveness."

The convention resolved to "alert all of our members to the potential dangers in this area and challenge each Baptist to act with great sensitivity lest the fabric of Christian fellowship be seriously impaired."

The resolutions committee struck from the original proposal a suggestion that charismatics "voluntarily withdraw from our convention and seek fellowship with other churches of more common practice."

Turkish Mosque Behind Schedule

By NICK LUDINGTON

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Turkey's largest mosque is under construction here two years behind schedule and $5 million over the estimated cost.

The Kocatepe Mosque can handle 20,000 worshippers at a time, 10,000 on the main floor and 5,000 each in a gallery and a lower floor. Its architects, Fatih Uluengin and Husrey Tayla, said the interior is nearly 200 feet by 220 feet with a dome about 160 feet high.

Originally the cost was estimated at $2 million plus. The present estimated cost is more than $7 million. The mosque was to have been completed in 1975. The most optimistic date now is 1977.

Construction of a mosque of radically modern design with minarets like moon rockets was started on this site in 1963.

In 1967 it was demolished as experts said the foundation was unsafe and the design unfeasible. Conservative Moslems had criticized its modern form.

That year the foundation was dug for the present mosque, a copy of Ottoman-style architecture of the 16th and 17th century when the Turkish empire was at its peak.

The architects said construction techniques are in many cases similar to those used by the greatest of the Ottoman mosque architects, Sinan the Builder.

The expert workmen, who in many cases have learned skills passed down over generations, live on the construction site.

Semih Ucar is making and laying the lead plates which will cover the central dome, 80 feet in diameter, and eight lesser domes. He said he can handle 1.5 tons of lead a day, and finished 43 tons of lead plating for the central dome in 28 days. Now he is plating the tips of the four minarets which rise 300 feet high.

Around the mosque will be a library, school, offices of Turkey's Religious Affairs Department, a museum, clinic and soup kitchen for the poor, a ceremonial hall for prominent visitors, tourist shops and an underground parking lot which can also be used as a bomb shelter.

The central dome sits on four "legs" which support 1,600 tons of concrete.

Construction has been slowed by lack of funds. Response to a public fund-raising campaign has been steady but insufficient. One of the largest individual gifts was $7,000 from the government of Saudi Arabia.

The Turkish government has been the main provider.

The mosque is nearly twice the size of Istanbul's famous Blue Mosque and slightly larger than the stately mosque of Sulaiman the Magnificent, now Turkey's largest.

Moslem worshippers will prostrate themselves on what will be perhaps the world's largest wall-to-wall carpets, covering the 36,000 square feet of main floor.

An eighth anniversary celebration will highlight Sunday services at the Midessa Heights Baptist Church in west Midland County.

The church was known as Terminal Baptist Church and located at Midland Air Terminal before moving to its present location several miles farther west just off U.S. Highway 80. At the Sunday services, the congregation also will mark the fourth anniversary of its pastor, the Rev. Roy O. Womble. The Sunday events will include a morning worship hour, beginning at 11 o'clock, to be followed by an all-church luncheon. A special afternoon service will begin at 2 p.m. at which the Rev. Ted Sanders, a former pastor of the church who now resides at San Angelo, will be the speaker. Special music will be presented.

All members, former members and friends of the church are invited to attend the anniversary observance.

Midlander On Disaster Relief Team

DALLAS — Charles Elliott, minister of youth at First Baptist Church of Midland, was a member of a 10-man team which took a Texas Baptist disaster relief unit to Honduras in mid-October.

The 49-foot unit — a converted moving van — left Dallas Oct. 9 for Honduras, to help feed homeless refugees.

More than 129,000 persons were left homeless and 10,000 were killed as Hurricane Fifi slammed through the northern coast of Honduras Sept. 19.

The Texas unit went at the request of the Honduran government, conveyed through Mrs.

Rosargentina Pineda Smith, Honduran consul at San Antonio and a member of First Baptist Church in that city. The hurricane wiped out more than 85 per cent of the rice, corn and bean crops on which the Honduran people depend for food.

Much of the banana crop, and the sugar cane and cotton crops also were destroyed by the flooding. The storm dumped more than 24 inches of rain on sections of the country in 24 hours, stripping mud, rocks, logs and underbrush from the mountainsides. The debris cascaded into river valleys, sending them ramping through scores of communities, some of which were wiped out by the flooding.

El Progreso, where the Texas Baptist unit terminated its journey, had 11,000 persons left homeless out of 27,000 who lived in the town before Fifi hit.

The unit was stationed on a dirt street between three schools and a kindergarten which had been the home of more than 2,500 refugees since Sept. 19.

It set up on the evening of Oct. 20, and began feeding the hungry people the following morning. The fare was meager as compared to U. S. standards, consisting of rice, beans, milk, crackers and fruit drink, but was welcomed by the people.

The residents were receiving regular rations from the Honduran government before the unit arrived, but the field kitchen freed government workers and others for the effort of reconstructing the shattered land.

The odyssey of the six-man crew which took the unit through Mexico to Belize — formerly British Honduras — was a saga in itself. The trip was expected to take only 10 days, but it stretched into 10, compounded with blown tires, bad roads, a fire, an accident at an overpass in Mexico City and other problems. It was taken through Mexico to Belize and, in Belize City, put aboard a 100-foot barge for a 120-mile sea trip to Honduras through the port of Cortez. The men who took the unit through to aid the hungry people of Honduras were given recognition during the annual meeting of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, which closed Thursday in Amarillo.

Team members besides Elliott were Robert E. Dixon, executive secretary of Texas Baptist Men; Jerry Bob Taylor, staff member of TBM and a former Midland resident; Cameron Byler, manager of Zephyr Baptist Encampment near Sandia; Helman Crawford, a layman from Brady; James Hatley, staff member of the mission support section of the Baptist General Convention of Texas; Ernie Liebig, recreation minister of the Park Cities Baptist Church at Dallas; Dan Martin, also a former Midlander and now press director for the BGCT; Steve Wall, photographer with the Brotherhood Commission in Memphis, Tenn.; and Bill Arnold, member of the Dallas Baptist Association staff.

Texas Baptists Defuse, Okay 2 Explosive Issues

AMARILLO (AP) — Texas Baptists defused and then approved two explosive issues, totally sidestepped another and wrapped up their 89th annual meeting, Thursday in high harmony.

Messengers (delegates) to the Baptist General Convention of Texas overrode token opposition and approved resolutions critical of abortion and the charismatic movement — the so-called "speaking in tongues" issue.

But they stopped short of a doctrinal ban on abortion and struck down a move seeking the voluntary withdrawal of those Baptists who emphasize the charismatic ministry of faith healing and exorcism.

They ambushed a women's rights proposal in committee and then adopted unanimously a resolution calling on all members to miss a meal a week and instead donate a dollar to meet world hunger needs.

It was a harmonious climax to the four-day session that included approval of a record $20.6 million budget for 1975 and acceptance of a challenge to win 100,000 people to Christ in the next year.

Despite objections from the Rev. Calvin Gratham of Dallas, the group adopted a resolution noting that charismatic movement has "created many difficulties for some Southern Baptist churches and has been the occasion of considerable diversiveness."

The convention resolved to "alert all of our members to the potential dangers in this area and challenge each Baptist to act with great sensitivity lest the fabric of Christian fellowship be seriously impaired."

The resolutions committee struck from the original proposal a suggestion that charismatics "voluntarily withdraw from our convention and seek fellowship with other churches of more common practice."

Turkish Mosque Behind Schedule

By NICK LUDINGTON

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Turkey's largest mosque is under construction here two years behind schedule and $5 million over the estimated cost.

The Kocatepe Mosque can handle 20,000 worshippers at a time, 10,000 on the main floor and 5,000 each in a gallery and a lower floor.

Its architects, Fatin Uluengin and Husrey Tayla, said the interior is nearly 200 feet by 220 feet with a dome about 160 feet high.

Originally the cost was estimated at $2 million plus. The present estimated cost is more than $7 million. The mosque was to have been completed in 1975. The most optimistic date now is 1977.

Construction of a mosque of radically modern design with minarets like moon rockets was started on this site in 1963.

In 1967 it was demolished as experts said the foundation was unsafe and the design unfeasible. Conservative Moslems had criticized its modern form.

That year the foundation was dug for the present mosque, a copy of Ottoman-style architecture of the 16th and 17th century when the Turkish empire was at its peak.

The architects said construction techniques are in many cases similar to those used by the greatest of the Ottoman mosque architects, Sinan the Builder.

The expert workmen, who in many cases have learned skills passed down over generations, live on the construction site.

Semih Ucar, is making and laying the lead plates which will cover the central dome, 80 feet in diameter, and eight lesser domes. He said he can handle 1.5 tons of lead a day and finished 43 tons of lead plating for the central dome in 28 days. Now he is plating the tips of the four minarets which rise 300 feet high.

Around the mosque will be a library, school, offices of Turkey's Religious Affairs Department, a museum, clinic and soup kitchen for the poor, a ceremonial hall for prominent visitors, tourist shops and an underground parking lot which can also be used as a bomb shelter.

The central dome sits on four "legs" which support 1,600 tons of concrete.

Construction has been slowed by lack of funds. Response to a public fund-raising campaign has been steady but insufficient. One of the largest individual gifts was $7,000 from the government of Saudi Arabia.

The Turkish government has been the main provider.

The mosque is nearly twice the size of Istanbul's famous Blue Mosque and slightly larger than the stately mosque of Suleiman the Magnificent, now Turkey's largest.

Moslem worshippers will prostrate themselves on what will be perhaps the world's largest wall-to-wall carpets, covering the 36,000 square feet of main floor.

Two Women Are Expected To Win Major Statewide Posts In Elections

WASHINGTON (AP) — More women are running for more offices this year than ever before, and two of them are expected to win major statewide posts in Tuesday's elections.

Rep. Ella Grasso is favored to become governor of Connecticut and Mary Ann Krupnik is ahead in her bid for lieutenant governor of New York.

At the same time, women are expected to substantially increase their numbers in state legislatures. But women could slip back from their current congressional strength of 16 seats.

Rep. Grasso, a Democrat, would become the fourth woman governor in U.S. history, and the first to make it without benefit of a husband's coattails. She has two decades of experience in Connecticut politics.

Miss Krupnik, a state senator who defied Democratic party leaders to capture the nomination for lieutenant governor, would be the first woman elected to a major statewide office in New York. She ran her insurgent campaign on the slogan "She's not just one of the boys."

Other major women candidates include Democrats Barbara Mikulski of Maryland and Betty Roberts of Oregon, both running for the Senate, and Republican Louise Gore, a gubernatorial candidate in Maryland.

All three are challenging heavily-favored incumbents.

In New York, Barbara Keating, a Vietnam war widow, is the Conservative Party nominee for the Senate. She could play the spoiler's role, siphoning off as many as one million votes from Republican Sen. Jacob K. Javits and his Democratic challenger, Ramsey Clark.

Less visible but highly significant were the expected grassroots elections of women on school boards, city councils, state courts and as county sheriffs and administrators.

Thousands more women sought elective office this year than ever before — including a nun in Tennessee, a brothel owner in Nevada, an activist Quaker grandmother in New Hampshire, a right-to-life conservative in New York, a lesbian in Massachusetts and a young Peace Corps veteran who swims the California coast to dramatize her opposition to offshore oil wells.

Nobody has a precise fix on the number of women candidates. But the National Women's Political Caucus says 1,029 women sought state and congressional seats in 1972. This year, political director Freddie Wechsler estimates that more than 1,800 women ran for comparable seats.

More than 1,100 women survived the primaries, she said, including 1,000 candidates for state legislatures and three major-party candidates for the Senate, 44 for the House, three for governor, four for lieutenant governor and 11 for secretary of state.

At last count there were 462 women among the 7,584 state legislators or slightly more than 6 per cent.

"We look to increase this about 50 per cent, to between 600 and 700," said Betsy Wright, director of the National Women's Education Fund.

The figures are skewed, however, by the disproportionate share of women in New Hampshire's 400-member legislature. There are 89 women legislators there now and 160 are seeking seats this November.

Every state has at least one woman legislator — Alabama and Nebraska have only one each — but many states have never elected a woman to the U.S. House or Senate.

This year, three of the 16 congresswomen are retiring and Rep. Grasso quit to run for governor. The 12 incumbents are likely to win again. Reps. Patsy Mink, D-Hawaii, and Lindy Boggs, D-La., have GOP women opponents and Rep. Leonor Sullivan, D-Mo., has two women opponents.

There aren't four sure winners among the new women contenders for Congress although both GOP and Democratic analysts rate a dozen races so close they're toss-ups as the election nears.

"A lot of women are running in marginal or changing areas," said a Democratic analyst. "Colleen O'Connor's district in California is one of those, where redistricting last year cut out many conservative areas and brought in blue collar voters."

The 29-year-old Miss O'Connor has shaped one of the most visible races in the country, swimming the district's coastline to demonstrate against pollution and trying to tie 22-year GOP Rep. Bob Wilson closer to the ITT case and the Nixon presidency. She is rated a possible upset winner.

At least two congressional races involve controversies over the personal behavior of GARFIELD HEIGHTS, Ohio (AP)—Acting Municipal Judge William Shields sentenced two men who he said showed "a lack of respect for police" to write 500-word essays on the subject.

The judge ordered one of the men who was convicted of turning in a false police alarm to write on "Why not to give false police alarm." The other man who was convicted of disorderly conduct for cursing and shouting abuse at four policemen was ordered to write on "Police are decent human beings."

General Motors Releases Good, Bad Economic News

By JOHN CUNIFF — to dispel that possibility so long as the car market remains weak. First is the car market which will sell perhaps $38 billion worth of goods to the world during the next year, has turning enterprise in the world stated it plans no immediate increases on 1975-model cars.

Speaking at a news conference in Troy, Mich., Wednesday, E. M. Estes, GM president, was quoted as indicating prices will remain the same at least for the rest of this year and probably longer.

Trade talk had suggested that more price increases would soon be forthcoming from the Big Three — GM, Ford, and Chrysler — but Estes seemed to

It all but compels competitors to maintain similarly stable pricing programs. It offers an example by which other companies can measure their own prices. It might even impose a moral restraint on GM suppliers.

In summary, it might not have the impact of a move by the Federal Reserve Board or the Ford administration budget makers, but its impact cannot be underestimated either.

Impact World-Wide
GM last year sold $35.8 billion of cars, diesels, air-conditioners, batteries, trucks, buses, refrigerators, construction items and other products. It buys hundreds of millions of dollars of glass, rubber, steel. Its employment never has fallen below 660,000 in the past decade.

It is the most powerful corporation in the world, and its impact is felt not only by every American but by millions abroad.

And now the bad news. While GM is thus making its contribution to the anti-inflation effort, it is simultaneously preparing for and reacting to a major downturn in the U.S. economy. It will be buying less, selling less, employing fewer workers and earning less.

It cannot earn the same as a year ago, in fact, unless it pares its costs. It claims already to be absorbing $100 of increased costs since 1975-model prices were announced.

Many Adverse Factors
Corporate officers announced a week ago that current income has been "adversely affected by rapidly rising costs, reduced volume, and by strikes," the latter occurring mainly at suppliers.

If it already has decided to avoid higher prices as a route out of this earnings predicament, its only other choice is to cut costs. In good times this can be done by increasing sales, but that option also has been closed.

In summary, GM must re-trench, and that means everyone associated with GM must think about cutting back—its suppliers, employees, dealer-distributors, rail and motor carriers, advertisers, and maybe even recipients of GM dividends.

Escapes Returned To Palo Pinto Jail

PALO PINTO, Tex. (AP) — told him the trio was ready to surrender. A trio of jail escapees has been charged with felony escape and burglary after surrendering to Palo Pinto authorities.

The trio was returned Thursday to the Palo Pinto County jail—the same jail from which two of them have escaped twice in the last two months.

Justice of the Peace Lynn Bell set bail at $5,000 for Melvin Lee Hood, 24, of Pasco, Wash.; Ronnie Lee Moore, 17, of Palo Pinto County; and Dexter Anthony Cross, 20, of Mineral Wells.

Sheriff Bill Harris said the three men overpowered the jailer, Slick Boon, Sunday and locked him, his wife, and grandson in a cell before fleeing the jail.

Harris said Moore contacted his father-in-law Thursday and

LA Mayor Present At Bank Robbery

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mayor Thomas Bradley, a former police lieutenant, was in a bank when it was held up, but he didn't know about the robbery, police said.

The robber entered the bank soon after Bradley arrived Thursday, went to the foreign exchange department in the back of the building and demanded that the teller hand over the money, police said.

The robber escaped out the back way with $1,340, officers said.

No one was hurt.

Author Declares Ray Alone Killed Dr. King

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray killed Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. to draw attention to himself, believing the assassination would be "widely approved" in the United States, according to author William Bradford Huie. Huie, who had written about a possible conspiracy in the killing, said in a sworn statement submitted Thursday to U.S. District Court he concluded after almost six months of investigation that Ray acted alone.

Arthur Hanes Sr., of Birmingham, Ala., Ray's former lawyer, said earlier he had believed the shooting was a "political killing," perhaps carried out by black militant organizations. He testified that Ray denied numerous times that he shot the civil rights leader.

Huie said his first indication that no one else was involved was when he found that Ray had no money and pulled a holdup to finance his international flight after the April 4, 1968, shooting.

He said he decided that Ray was driven by a desire to attract attention to himself and after the shooting was torn between saying "yes, he was there," and an aversion to admitting "he pulled the trigger."

Huie's testimony was introduced as the state neared the end of its case opposing Ray's attempt to withdraw his March 10, 1969, guilty plea so he can stand trial for the murder.

A seven-hour sworn statement by Percy Foreman of Houston, Tex., one of Ray's former lawyers, was to be read into the record today to wind up the eight-day hearing.

In his statement, Foreman denies Ray's allegations that he coerced the plea in order to avoid a public trial and preserve the value of the account Huie was to write with inside information supplied by Ray.

Ray seeks to overturn the plea not only on grounds that Foreman pressured him into admitting the slaying, but also on his claim that Foreman and Hanes were in conflict of interest because they had rights to royalties from Huie's work.

Huie denied the allegation that he wanted to keep Ray off the witness stand to preserve the value of his book "He Slew the Dreamer." He said he did not enter the literary deals to make money but to get Ray to "help me establish the entire truth."

Ray's guilty plea "totally destroyed" the economic value of the book and his American, Canadian and British royalties amounted to $5,161, Huie said.

Hanes denied that he was more interested in book royalties than in preparing a defense. He said that when he was fired by Ray on Nov. 10, 1968, to be succeeded by Foreman, he was prepared to go to trial confident the prosecution was "in trouble" with its case against Ray.

Cotton Growers In Mid-South Face Dismal Harvest Outlook

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A dismal year is shaping up for Mid-South cotton planters, portending serious economic implications for the whole region, industry officials say.

The 1974-1975 Mid-South crop, despite a 29 per cent increase in acreage planted, is expected to be about the same size as last year's crop, which yielded almost 400,000 fewer bales than the average crops from 1970 through 1973.

"Based on reports being received from growers and ginners throughout the Mid-South, most people are of the opinion that production in this area will be reduced, possibly as much as 10 to 15 per cent less than the Oct. 1 production of 483 pounds of lint per acre," said Quentin B. Perry, of W. B. Dunavant & Co., the large Memphis cotton merchandising firm.

"I think a reasonable estimate of production in our Central Belt would be approximately 3.9 to 4.2 million bales. This is assuming we have good weather during the next four to six weeks," Perry told a delegation of 24 executives of cotton textile companies and trade associations meeting here Thursday.

What would really hurt is if we get rainy weather so the crop by an estimated 190,000 farmers couldn't get into the bales on Oct. 1. With only 30 per cent of the 1974-1975 crop harvested in this part of the cotton belt, rainy or freezing weather during the next month could produce even greater losses.

In addition, cotton prices have dropped to their lowest level since April 1973—reflecting a drastic decline in worldwide cotton demand.
