

Quotas Set On Canadian Meats

President Acts In Retaliation, Eyes Sugar Plan

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer

President Ford imposed a quota system Saturday on the shipment of beef and pork from Canada, charging the neighboring nation had erected "unjustifiable import restrictions" against U.S. products.

His action was in retaliation for quotas set by Canada last August limiting imports of U.S.-produced cattle and meat.

A White House spokesman said Ford's goal in signing the proclamation was "to bring about an end to the Canadian quotas."

The action came as sources reported Ford is also considering lifting all restrictions on domestic sugar production and shifting to a new quota system on U.S. purchases of foreign sugar.

Commitments Violated
The President contended the Canadian meat restrictions "violate the commitments of Canada made to the United States... oppress the commerce of the United States and prevent the expansion of trade on a mutually advantageous basis."

He said he deems it "necessary and appropriate" to impose restrictions on Canadian products "in order to obtain the removal of such unjustifiable restrictions and to provide access for United States cattle and meat to the markets of Canada on an equitable basis."

12 Months Duration
In a proclamation, the President set these quotas for a 12-month period beginning last Aug. 12: 17,000 head of cattle; 50,000 head of swine; 17 million pounds of fresh, chilled, frozen prepared or preserved beef; veal; and 56 million pounds of pork in the same category.

The U.S. quotas compare with the Canadian quotas of 82,000 head of cattle and 17.9 million pounds of beef and veal.

White House officials said it was possible that Canada already had shipped into the United States more than the amounts set in Ford's proclamation. If so, they said, Ford's (See QUOTAS Page 4A)

Ford Leaves Today For Japan

FACING THREAT OF WILD DEMONSTRATIONS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford departs today for Japan and South Korea and a meeting in the Soviet Union that may deal with the arms race and the Middle East war threat.

He will be the first U.S. president ever to visit Japan and faces a threat of street demonstrations like those that forced cancellation of a 1960 Japanese visit by President Dwight Eisenhower.

Massive security precautions already are being taken. Major organizers of street protests against the Ford visit have promised no violence but radicals already have firebombed both the U.S. and Soviet embassies in Tokyo.

World attention will be focused most sharply, however, on Ford's 24-hour stay in Siberia next weekend, when he will confer near Vladivostok with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev.

Ford and Brezhnev differ sharply on ways to promote Middle East peace — a summit topic certain to escalate in importance against the backdrop of new war fears.

The United States and Soviet leaders also must wrestle with the sluggish search for a new accord on limiting offensive nuclear weapons, a quest that stalemated when former President Richard Nixon visited Moscow in June.

Ford's nine-day journey also will take him to South Korea, a stop that has aroused controversy because of substantial world opposition to the repressive regime of President Park Chung Hee.

By honoring a Nixon commitment to visit Japan in 1974, Ford is flying to Tokyo at a time when Premier Kakuei Tanaka is under heavy fire because of questions about his personal finances.

Street demonstrators are opposing Tanaka as well as the Ford visit.

Riots, Specter Of War Grip Seething Mideast

By The Associated Press
Death-dealing riots in support of Arab guerrillas swept the West Bank of Jordan Saturday, and Israel announced it stepped up its military readiness following a Syrian army alert.

At the same time, four empty Egyptian ships steamed into the Suez Canal on the first non-military passage since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

Other Developments
In other Middle East developments: —Urgent letters from Washington and Moscow were reported delivered to Presidents Hafez Assad of Syria and Anwar Sadat of Egypt, but the contents were not disclosed.

—U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim urged new restraint in the Middle East, and said U.N. observers had reported "slightly more air activity than usual" over the Golan Heights.

—Cuba's press agency quoted visiting guerrilla chief Yasser Arafat as saying in Havana, "The Zionist high command is ready to launch a surprise attack against its neighbors," and warning that nuclear weapons could be used if war breaks out in the Middle East.

In Tel Aviv, Defense Minister Shimon Peres said Israel took "suitable precautionary measures" after Syria placed its forces on an unusual alert.

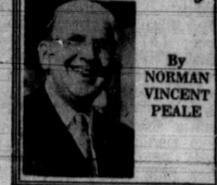

Peres said this was not the first time Israel had taken such measures, and that Syria often heightened its alert in different branches of its military forces. He gave no other details.

On the West Bank of Jordan, riots, demonstrations and violence swept through three towns in the occupied zone, leaving a teen-aged Arab girl dead, scores injured and at least 50 persons arrested, officials said.

Thousands of Arab high school students hurled stones at Israeli police and shouted support of Arafat and his Palestine Liberation Organization.

Helmeted Israeli police charged the crowds to disperse the demonstrators. In club-swinging, rock-throwing melee in Jenin, a 16-year-old girl was fatally struck on the head, leaving a teen-aged Arab girl (See TURMOIL Page 4A)

Positive Thinking

Make Today What Counts

Orville Kelly and his wife, Wanda, were on the way home from the hospital. Silent and stricken, they rode through the incredible beauty of the autumn afternoon. Cancer was the verdict he had just received, terminal cancer!

Shocked and dazed, they could only stare ahead unseeing down the long road, touching hands now and then for comfort. "We must not tell the children or anyone," Orville said gently. "Let's keep it to ourselves as long as possible," they sobbed together.

Terminal! The stark finality of the word shattered their lives. Then a thought came to Kelly, a deep and profound thought. Terminal? Why, we are all terminal. It is just a matter of time for every human being on earth. Here am I at age 42 told that my life will probably end soon. The exact time when is just a bit more definite in my case. But as the Bible tells us, no one knows the day or the hour.

So, since he is terminal, Orville went on to reason that the best solution for his situation was to live at its best whatever life he had left. Every day given him was a precious time slot in itself. He would enjoy the companionship of loved ones, revel in the beauty of the earth, have the pleasure of doing his daily work.

Orville then suggested to his wife that they go home and invite all their friends to a barbecue. "Let's come clean with everybody," he said. "We will just act normal about this and think of it as an incident in life. I'm going to try to be a happy terminal person along with all the others who also are terminal but just haven't been told when."

His honest action normalized the situation.

Orville Kelly has brought hope and courage, together with sound and realistic thinking, to hundreds facing his problem. And in an act of creativity, he has given a new slant on life's problems generally to non-cancer terminal persons everywhere.

Kelly's experience demonstrates the good values inherent in tragic situations and the human well-being that can result. He got a sudden inspiration that caught on dramatically everywhere, one that has given hope and a courageous new life to cancer patients and those who do not suffer from this disease. He started the M. T. C. Club, a loosely organized movement that has sprung up under his leadership in scores of communities. All who want to "Make Today Count" may be included in the M. T. C. Clubs.

Kelly sends out inspirational bulletins and goes on speaking tours advocating in his simple, sincere and persuasive manner this basic fact about living: one can indeed make each day count and enhance the joy and meaning of life. For life, any way you take it, is short and ephemeral. He turned a grim sentence of death into a victorious new experience of life in depth.

Kissinger Discounts War Rumors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger told Israeli officials Saturday that he had assurances from Syria that it would not attack the Jewish state.

Israeli Ambassador Simcha Dinitz met for about 90 minutes with Kissinger at the State Department and told reporters afterward:

"I'm happy to say that the assurances that I received from the secretary of State as conveyed to him by our neighbors indicate that the other side does not have aggressive intentions."

Dinitz appeared to be joining with the secretary in trying to downplay speculation that recent developments in the Middle East were extremely dangerous and might lead to war at any time.

The Israeli official said that reports of an Israeli mobilization "are highly exaggerated and do not reflect the real situation."

He would not discuss specific numbers with reporters; however, State Department officials had said the Israeli mobilization amounted to a few thousand men.

Currently, Israel has about 150,000 men under arms with another 250,000 troops in reserve.

Dinitz explained the Israeli mobilization in terms of "precautionary actions" to prevent any possibility of his country being taken by surprise.

He said the calling up of the few reserves followed the unloading of sophisticated arms from 20 Soviet ships in a Syrian harbor late last week.

Dinitz's version of his conversation with Kissinger was approved by Kissinger before Dinitz met with newsmen.

Although State Department officials repeatedly denied the seriousness of the situation, it was evident there was concern about a new instability in the Arab-Israeli situation. This was underscored by urgent conversations Friday night on the telephone between Kissinger and Dinitz as well as a breakfast meeting Kissinger had at the State Department Saturday with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin.

The Russian and American diplomats touched on President Ford's upcoming visit to Siberia, but U.S. officials said the Middle East situation occupied much of the conversation during the breakfast.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Justice Department report discloses that the FBI used forged credentials, sham organizations, anonymous letters and leaking of derogatory information to news media during a secret 15-year counterintelligence program against radical and extremist groups, according to a copy of the report made available to The Associated Press Saturday night by columnist Jack Anderson.

FORT WORTH (AP) — A three-alarm fire raged late Saturday night at the Continental Bus Station here. Newsmen at the scene said some injured persons were taken from the station by ambulance.

Groundbreaking Slated Monday On New 14-Story Midland National Bank Tower

The new 14-story Midland National Bank Tower will take another step toward reality Monday during groundbreaking ceremonies which mark the beginning of construction on the multimillion-dollar building.

The ceremonies will take place at 10 a.m. on the paved lot at the east end of the bank's two-block property bounded by Illinois, Marienfeld, Texas and Carrizo streets.

According to Tony A. Martin, Midland National president, the structure is scheduled for completion in the spring of 1976.

"We want to invite our customers, friends and the general public to attend our groundbreaking ceremonies," Martin said. "The Midland National Bank Tower is tangible proof of our faith in the future growth of Midland and its need for more modern banking facilities and additional downtown office space."

The building project is a joint venture between Midland National and Gerald D. Hines Interests of Houston. S. I. Morris Associates of Houston are architects for the building, and Harvey Construction Company, also of Houston.

The 225,000-square-foot building will be hexagonal in shape, presenting a striking addition to the Midland skyline. Predominant materials will include warm-tone precast concrete, smoked gray glass, with a minimum amount of glass presented to direct sunlight.

On the sides facing the sun the glass is set at right angles to the precast concrete, thereby avoiding direct sun rays. This design permits a minimum consumption of energy for heating and air conditioning.

In addition to the building itself, there will be a large paved parking area, and at the west end of the property 12 drive-in teller facilities with access from both Texas and Illinois streets. A portion of the paved parking area will be covered, providing two levels for customers and tenants.

The bank will occupy the basement and the first four floors. The remainder of the space will be leased by local tenants. Gerald D. Hines Interests serves as leasing agent for the building.

Texas Turns Cloudy, Mild

Warmer, moist air eased up through Texas Saturday, causing a considerable change in the weather, mostly on the warmer side.

Midland got no benefit from the warming trend Saturday, but it will today. National Weather Service forecasters at Midland Air Terminal said the highs today and Monday would be in the mid-60s, well above Saturday's maximum of 53 degrees.

The overnight low, however, will be in the same range as Saturday's 44-degree reading.

Maximum temperatures over the state Saturday ranged generally in the 60s and 70s, slightly warmer than Friday's 50s and 60s.

McAllen's 86 was the highest maximum, followed closely by 84 at Brownsville, 81 at Victoria and 80 at Palacios. Marfa and Dalhart recorded lows of 29 degrees, Childress had 31, Lubbock 35 and Wink 38. The Associated Press reported.

Two Men Take Cash From Midland Store

An undetermined amount of cash was taken from the Eleven Food Store, 1912 N. Big Spring St., Saturday night when two Mexican-American males forced the clerk to give them the money from a cash register.

Gail Haywood, 2616 Marianna St., was alone when the pair entered the store. She said one of the men grabbed her around the face and put something to her side and told her to go to the cash register.

Police said no gun was seen during the robbery.

One of the men went behind the counter with the clerk, she told police.

Each of the robbers was described by Miss Haywood as being approximately 5 feet, 6 inches tall. One, thought to be about 23 years old, was wearing green jeans and an insulated green army jacket. The other man was said to be about 21 years old, with medium-length black hair. He was wearing blue jeans or blue faded pants and a T-shirt, the clerk said.

Miss Haywood said the pair left in a dark-colored car.

Food Conference Agrees To Set Up World Council

ROME (AP) — The World Food Conference declared Saturday night that the battle against hunger is the "common responsibility of all countries" and agreed to set up a U.N. agency to direct the fight.

A resolution on the agency was approved in committee and went to the full 123-nation assembly for certain approval in a late wind-up session.

"Every man, woman and child has the inalienable right to be free from hunger and malnutrition," the conference said in the final debate.

Headquarters in Rome
The new agency, to be called the World Food Council, would be formed by the U.N. General Assembly and be headquartered in Rome.

Agreed upon after intensive negotiations between industrialized and Third World countries, the council would be an umbrella group directing aid and investment in food production in needy nations. It would also supervise a data-sharing plan to keep nations up to date on weather, crop information and agricultural price fluctuations.

U.S. Delegation Satisfied
Agreement on the council, considered hopeless earlier in the conference, was seen as the major achievement in attempts to map global strategy in the war on hunger.

"There was some compromise, but it's an effective plan. We are satisfied," said Edwin Martin, deputy chief of the U.S. delegation.

It will give teeth to other food records already approved. These include a resolution to (See WORLD Page 4A)

Ford Says He Will Accept Modification Of Surtax Proposal

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — President Ford said in an interview released Saturday that he will accept a modification of his 5 per cent surtax proposal.

But Ford said the surtax would "put a greater burden on those best able to pay, and at the same time, relieve some of the problems of inflation off the shoulders or the backs of people who are inequally affected by the problems of higher costs."

Many members of Congress contend the 5 per cent additional tax on families earning $15,000 or more a year is unfair because it affects the middle income bracket too much. The minimum income level for single persons would be $7,500.

The President called his tax program "an equitable approach."

"It doesn't affect anybody until after they have an income of $15,000 a year, and even when you go up to $20,000, a year of taxable income, I think it's only $42 a year, as I recollect 12 cents a day," said Ford.

"I really don't think that's a terrible burden for people in that income bracket," said Ford, "but the income we get from that extra tax plus the tax on corporate profits provides the compassion that we can give to people at the lower spectrum of our economic society."

Laborer, 22, Held In Grocery Store Robbery In Odessa

ODESSA — Police arrested a 22-year-old laborer within three hours following the robbery of a 7-Eleven store Friday and charges of aggravated robbery were filed Saturday.

Charged with the 7-Eleven store holdup is John Travis Williams, 22, of Odessa. Williams remained in custody at city jail Saturday in lieu of $25,000 bond. He also was charged with the attempted robbery of the Antlers Motel on Wednesday.

Taped Interview
Ford defended his tax plan in an interview taped at Camp David on Oct. 26 by ABC's Harry Reasoner. It was broadcast Saturday night on "The Reasoner Report."

Asked whether he would accept a "modification or a change" in the 5 per cent figure, Ford replied: "I would, as long as they don't abandon the concept. In other words... the revenue."

"Where they (Congress) put the cutoff is a matter of judgment. I thought one figure was right. If the Congress decides differently, I certainly will accept it," said Ford. "But the concept of putting a burden on those better able to pay is important in order to relieve the inequities for those less able to pay."

Justice of the Peace June Williams Set Williams' Bond at $10,000 on the Attempted Robbery Charge

Justice of the Peace June Williams set Williams' bond at $10,000 on the attempted robbery charge.

Detective M. L. Crumrine arrested Williams at the intersection of Phillips and College streets shortly before 3 p.m. Friday.

Barbara Loney, a 37-year-old clerk at the 1231 W. University St. store, told police the robber entered the store and got a soft drink from the cooler. She said the man then asked for a pack of cigarettes and paid for his purchase.

The clerk said the robber then told her that she had not given him the correct change for his dollar bill and said that he told her he had a gun.

She said that she gave him $33 from the register.

Predicts 'Horse Race'

Ford, who has said he definitely plans to run for a full term as President in 1976, said he thinks that election is going to be "a horse race."

"I always enter a contest, whether it's in athletics or politics, on the assumption that I'm probably not going to win because I work a little harder and try a little better," he said.

The Democrats will undoubtedly have a good candidate, he said.

"I don't know who it'll be and I'm not sure they know, but I always assume I'm going to lose and then I'm happier. There's an old saying, Harry, prepare for the worst and the best will take care of itself."

"And that's the way I feel about day to day as well as 1976," said Ford.

He also reaffirmed support for Vice President-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller, whom he said has acted in a "totally ethical" manner.

Texas Schools Cut Down On Sugar

By The Associated Press
Little girls are nice and have lots of spice but they will have less sugar this school year. For that matter, boys will get less sugar, too.

An Associated Press survey indicates that the high price of sugar and other foods is causing Texas schools districts to reduce or eliminate desserts on school lunches and many have either raised lunch prices recently or are facing such a possibility.

Sugar, which has more than tripled in price in a year, has sparked a few crises. The Dallas Independent District, one of the largest in the state, has announced it has eliminated desserts for its pupils.

Others that have not eliminated desserts have reduced their size or have eliminated desserts that contain heavy concentrations of sugar, replacing them with fruits, puddings or gelatin.

Keeping a good nutritional menu on the table will "tax our energy and initiative and will take a lot of thought and planning," said Jerry Gross, food procurement officer for the El Paso School District.

Gross said the district has no plans to drop desserts but is replacing cakes and other sugar-desserts with fresh fruits and cookies.

El Paso's district recently made the largest sugar purchase in its history—160,000 pounds from Imperial Sugar Co.—at a cost of 56.16 cents a pound.

Even at that price, which was approximately three times what it was a year ago, it was a bargain. The Lubbock school district, which paid 16 cents a pound last year, paid 65 cents this month.

Melvin Johnson, director of cafeterias of the Lubbock district, said schools are cutting down on some desserts and the program has had some success in keeping food services from going into the red. "We're holding our own," he said.

Fifteen school districts in the San Antonio area said they have been forced to reduce sugar consumption and some are considering eliminating desserts.

The Waco School District which has operated on a deficit for a long time increased the price of lunches to 55 cents and to 65 for high school pupils.

Similar raises were found in Odessa, Corsicana, Denton, Austin and others. Gainesville increased prices 10 cents at the beginning of the school year to 65 cents for elementary, 75 for junior-high and 85 for high school pupils. The district's food services are operating in the red.

In Borger in the Panhandle, prices of school lunches also went up to 75 cents.

Substitute Beans
Spokesmen for the Marshall School District in East Texas said it will continue to serve desserts but next month will substitute beans for some meat proteins.

In Amarillo, the district started experimenting with artificial sweeteners. Prices of school lunches range from 50 to 70 cents.

In Fort Worth, Wade Danowsky, director of cafeterias, said the district bought plenty of sugar earlier this year at 39 cents a pound and also stockpiled other foodstuffs.

"If we had not done that, we would have been in real trouble," he said. The district cut desserts in high schools years ago.

Danowsky and other school officials in districts throughout the state, especially those with a large percentage of children on the free lunch program, said they anticipate an increase in the amount of money provided by the government for the school lunch program.

Some school officials said they are fighting increases in the price of the school lunch because, as Austin food service director Vivian Bauhof put it: "Those with money can afford it; those without money can get free lunches, but the middle class is hard hit."

In Denton, Mrs. Elizabeth Burk, school director of food services, noted that while sugar has gone up considerably there has been a minor reduction in prices of some foodstuffs. Dried pinto beans, she said, went down and so did canned green beans.

Many of the school districts have managed to fight inflation by buying large quantities early in the year and stockpiling foodstuffs. But small districts have no way of storing and must buy almost every other week.

UMW Official's Murder Halts Consideration Of New Nationwide Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Services in Bessemer, Ala., for union leader Sam Littlefield, 54, who was slain in Washington, still, there was little prospect of a new nationwide pact until this week, putting the coal strike into at least a three-month hiatus.

UMW contract negotiators and the bargaining council of regional leaders recessed their talks to attend Monday funeral services in Bessemer, Ala., for union leader Sam Littlefield, 54, who was slain in Washington.

Still, there was little prospect of a new nationwide pact until this week, putting the coal strike into at least a three-month hiatus.

UMW contract negotiators and the bargaining council of regional leaders recessed their talks to attend Monday funeral services in Bessemer, Ala., for union leader Sam Littlefield, 54, who was slain in Washington.

Gov. Foy Kohler, chief industry negotiator, says the pact stands as industry's final offer and that the companies "are not open to renegotiate the agreement."

The tentative agreement covering 126,000 miners calls for wage increases of 5 per cent the first year and 3 per cent in each of the following two years.

Union negotiators, led by president Arnold Miller, calculate the contract gains at 49.7 per cent. Industry figures it at 42.5 per cent.

Once the council approves a pact, the third step is for council members to sell it to another leadership level of 800 representatives who must in turn present it to the rank and file for approval.

Hotel reservations in Pittsburgh Monday for the third step were canceled until further notice.

Even if the bargaining council approves the pact Wednesday, and the rank and file follow, the first full work day would be Dec. 2, under the ratification timetable. The strike began last weekend.

Government economists estimate the economic impact of the strike will roughly double with each added week of the walk-out.

New Particle Discovered

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Stanford University announced Saturday the discovery of a new kind of elementary particle—a basic constituent of all matter—with hitherto unknown properties.

The announcement said the discovery was made independently at opposite ends of the country by scientific teams at the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center and the Brookhaven National Laboratory in New York.

The announcement was made simultaneously by both laboratories.

Physicist Burton Richter of the Stanford team and Samuel C. Ting of the BNL team said, "The suddenness of the discovery, coupled with the totally unexpected properties of the particle, are what make it so exciting. It is not like the particles we know and must have some new kind of structure."

The researchers said that they didn't yet fully understand the discovery but that it may fill in some spaces in the physical knowledge of the universe.

"The discovery is abstract. We don't know what it means," they said.

They said theorists "are working frantically to fit (the particle) into the framework of our present knowledge of the elementary particle."

Elementary particles, so small they can't be seen under a microscope, make up all matter and energy.

Physicists have been exploring deeper and deeper into the basic structure of atoms that make up all matter in the universe.

They have been using ever more powerful accelerators, or atom-smashing machines, and sophisticated new techniques to identify the particles that come flying out when atomic nuclei are broken up or atomic particles collide.

"It has long been known that atoms are composed of three fundamental, or elementary, particles—the protons and neutrons making up the core of atoms, and the electrons circling them somewhat like the planets orbiting the sun. And for every particle there is an antiparticle of an opposite electrical charge. High energy physics has been revealing an inner atomic world of dozens of still smaller mysterious particles that have been dubbed the 'sub-nuclear zoo.'"

Some of these have been predicted by theorists to exist before they have actually been found.

The newest particle is said to have hitherto unknown properties, making it a subject of intense interest.

Richter and Ting said discovery of a new particle would normally require a second experimental verification, but the observation of the same phenomenon by two independent groups using very different techniques led to the belief the discovery was genuine.

Both groups reported the phenomenon at essentially the same energy level—just over 3 billion electron volts, the announcement said.

The announcement said both teams noticed unique occurrences while experimenting with beams of electrons—one fundamental particle of which the universe is constructed—and positrons, an antiparticle, or opposite, of the electron.

Christmas Parade Deadline Near

Florida State Patrolman Abducted By Ex-Convict

PERRY, Fla. (AP) — A state trooper was abducted at gunpoint Saturday, and police said his abductor apparently is an ex-convict who is wanted in connection with three slayings, an attempted rape and an earlier abduction.

Several hours later police theorized that the man was holding a second hostage as well as the policeman.

Florida Highway Patrol Trooper C. E. Campbell, 35, apparently was abducted when he stopped Paul John Knowles, 28, for questioning near Perry early Saturday.

"The patrolman and the abductor may then have stopped a third party," said Patrol Sgt. J. C. Wright.

Campbell's abduction was reported by a passing motorist who told of seeing a trooper held at gunpoint.

The report set off an intensive ground-squad search.

Saxbe Said Ready To Release Study On Secret FBI Operation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Justice Department spokesman said Saturday Atty. Gen. William Saxbe is about ready to release a report of an investigation of a 15-year secret FBI counter-intelligence operation.

The spokesman said Saxbe would make "a full report on this topic next week" but declined further comment or to say when Saxbe would make the report. An FBI spokesman referred all queries to the Justice Department.

The Washington Star-News, in Saturday's editions, said the counter-intelligence operation was directed at white "hate" groups—Communists, black extremists and the New Left.

The newspaper said the operation, code named Contelpro, was authorized by the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and was in operation from 1956 to 1971. The report on the investigation was prepared for Saxbe by a study committee headed by Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Petersen, the Star-News reported.

The Star-News said Saxbe was preparing to release the report Monday.

The newspaper quoted the report as saying that while some of the Contelpro operations "can only be considered aberrant in a free society... were legitimate and proper intelligence and investigative practices and techniques."

It said the organizations against which Contelpro was directed were characterized in a Hoover directive as "being espionage groups; white 'hate' groups; the Communist Party USA; special operations; black extremists; the Socialist Workers Party and the New Left."

The report, which the Star-News said is a draft, stated there was no indication in bureau files that the Contelpro programs were either approved by or made known to any attorney general.

Kissinger—

Not to agree to allow United Nations peacekeeping troops to remain in the demilitarized zone on the Golan Heights.

Such an act would be "in direct violation of the disengagement agreement that we have signed with Syria," the ambassador said.

Asked how this squared with the assurances given by Syria to Kissinger that Damascus was not hostile, Dinitz indicated refusal to extend the U.N. force would be "directly and diametrically opposed to the obligations undertaken by Syria."

Both Kissinger and Dinitz appeared deeply disturbed by reports and press speculation that the United States expected an outbreak of fighting.

As they entered his private dining room, Kissinger was overheard to say emphatically to Dinitz, "There will be no war."

The secretary was reported by aides to have been upset that his Friday press conference had been construed as indicating American fear about an imminent war.

World Food Council Will Be Established

The council is designed to channel food to needy nations, including money collected by another fund proposed by oil-producing nations and accepted by the industrial powers.

U.N. officials estimate that external investment in agriculture in developing nations must be tripled by 1980 to keep ahead of growing population and hope the fund will be pumping in $5-billion annually by 1980.

As the world's No. 1 food donor, the United States, came to the conference with no promises of new, immediate aid but with the hope the oil countries would start spending their money to help feed the world. It appeared this goal was on the road to realization.

By calling on nations to provide 30-million tons of food grains a year in aid or the money to buy it, the conference implicitly appealed to the oil nations to pledge their dollars for food.

The United States scored another point in the resolution on the agriculture fund, winning accord that contributions should be voluntary and not based on set criteria such as gross national product or per capita income. The U.S. viewpoint is that Americans now provide some $1 billion a year in food aid and it is time for the oil nations to show the way.

Doctors Warn Women To Be Vigilant About Other Types Of Dread Killer

NEW YORK (AP) — Betty Ford and "Happy" Rockefeller alerted American women to the danger of breast cancer. But doctors remind women to be just as vigilant about other types of cancer.

Specialists say the other cancers can develop just as silently but also are more curable with early detection. And at least one — lung cancer, now leaping forward at an ominous rate — is largely preventable by not smoking, specialists say.

Current estimates are that breast cancer will attack, but not necessarily kill, one in 15 American women; cancer of the colon and rectum, one in 22; lung cancer, one in 100; cancer of the cervix, one in 35; cancer of the ovaries, one in 75. Skin cancer may occur as commonly as all the others put together.

ACS Guidelines

Here, from officials of the American Cancer Society, are guidelines for women to better protect themselves against these cancers:

—Breast, the No. 1 cancer killer among women. "Ninety-five per cent of all breast cancer is found by the women themselves," says Dr. Arthur Holleb, chief medical officer of the society. "The breast is a precancerous organ" he adds, recommending women perform a simple monthly self-examination in addition to periodic clinical checkups.

—Rectum and colon. This cancer ranks as the second major killer among women and men alike. But early diagnosis and prompt treatment can save three out of four of those the disease strikes. The key to early diagnosis is the proctoscopy exam as part of a physical checkup, especially for those over 40 years of age. High risk candidates for this cancer are those with a family tendency toward polyps.

—Lung. The leading cancer killer of American men has recently become the No. 3 cancer killer of women, its death rate having doubled in the last 10 years.

The increased incidence of lung cancer seems to parallel the increase in smoking among females over the past 30 years. Lung cancer deaths among women are one-fourth those of men and threaten to catch up. Not long ago their rate was only one-sixth that among men.

Since lung cancer is mostly caused by cigarette smoking, it is a largely preventable disease, if smokers quit in time, the society says. It is also a difficult disease to diagnose in time for cure.

Women aged 55 and older who have smoked a pack or more of cigarettes a day for 20 years fall into the high risk group. They should have an annual chest examination and a chest X-ray to safeguard against the disease. A persistent cough or lingering respiratory ailment is a red light to see your physician.

—Cancers of the cervix and uterus. Once major cancer killers of women, cancer of the cervix has dropped to fourth place with a mortality rate one-third of what it was 35 years ago. The credit is largely given to widespread use of the Papanicolaou test, which detects the disease early.

While considered 95 per cent effective in detecting cancer of the cervix (neck of the uterus), it is considered only 60 per cent effective in discovering cancer of the endometrium (lining of the body of the uterus).

"Every woman, when she reaches menopause, should have a test to sample the lining of her uterus," says Dr. Sidney Arje, vice president of professional education of the cancer society.

Women considered high risks for this cancer are those with post-menopausal bleeding, late menopause, obesity, high blood pressure or a history of diabetes.

—"The Silent Disease"

—Cancer of the ovaries. "The silent disease," Arje calls it, because the tumor can go so long undetected. Ovarian cancer often masks its symptoms as indigestion or a bloated abdomen.

"The only way a woman really has of protecting herself is to have an annual pelvic exam so the doctor can feel the enlarged ovary," Arje advises.

—Skin cancer. Women living in the South and Southwest may be more prone to get this from excessive exposure to the sun's ultra-violet rays, Holleb says. It can be prevented through use of sun-screening lotions. About 95 per cent of all skin cancers are curable if found early. Signals to watch for include sores that do not heal and changes in moles or warts.

Democrats Dread Mini-Convention

By DON McLEOD

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democrats are approaching their December mini-convention like a trip to the dentist. It may be worth it, but it's bound to hurt.

The last Democratic National Convention, the ultimate authority in the party, ordered the mid-term conference; so, there's no way of getting out of it.

First National Charter

But whether it turns into a donnybrook or a mild television pageant, the mini-convention in Kansas City on Dec. 6, 7 and 8 will make history by producing the first national charter of a major American political party.

It also will provide a grand showcase for all those Democrats already working, formally or furtively, for a 1976 presidential nomination.

Here in question-and-answer form is an armchair guide to the action:

Q. What is the mini-convention?

A. It is a party conference similar in form to the presidential nomination.

Q. What is the mini-convention?

A. It is essentially the brainchild of the party's reform wing, including those who backed the presidential candidacies of Eugene McCarthy in 1968 and McGovern in 1972. Insisting that the grassroots should be the real voice of authority, they wanted an opportunity to set policy and be heard more frequently.

The party's old guard is almost unanimously opposed to the idea. Some oppose reform but most of them think any more televised bloodletting like the 1968 and 1972 conventions can only harm the party.

Q. Why is the charter wanted?

FROSTING THE CAKE

When the time comes to sell your home, the inevitable question will arise. Which items will stay with the house and which will not? Certain items carry little doubt such as tacked down wall-to-wall carpeting, storm windows, and items permanently attached to the house or property. They would normally stay.

It's a good idea to include as many extras as possible. If you'll have no further use for draperies, particularly when they were made for an odd-sized window, be sure to include them. That porch furniture you will have no future use for or that extra-lawn mower may be just the "frosting on the cake." The idea of getting something extra is a strong motivating force, especially if it seems well suited to its present surroundings.

One bit of advice. Items should either stay or go. Do not try to sell them to the buyer. The sale of a home is a big enough negotiation without muddying the water.

If you have any questions on this subject or any other aspect of real estate, feel free to phone or drop in at DON JOHNSON REALTORS, 2318 W. Ohio St. Phone: 682-5333. We're here to help! (Come in for your free copy of "Homes For Living" magazine.)

The seminars are conducted by the Washington Workshops Foundation, a nonprofit, nonpartisan association. The seminars provide a unique and intensive study of American government for selected high school students from across the nation and abroad.

Participants will travel daily to Capitol Hill where they will confer with government leaders. In dialogue sessions with members of Congress, Supreme Court justices, cabinet members and other officials, the students will receive commentary on the operation of the U. S. government and, in turn, submit their questions and comments concerning government activities.

The students will also spend time observing the workings of the government first hand, as they attend sessions of the House and Senate, as well as committee hearings and meet individually with their own congressmen and senators.

Bid To Improve Quality Of Spence Water Works

The Colorado River Municipal Water District's (CRWMD) latest project to improve quality of water in Lake E. V. Spence apparently is succeeding, although it is difficult to assess accurately the degree.

At a cost of $182,000, the district installed a six-mile pipeline and pumping system to boost the content of two play lakes, heavily laden with chlorides, back behind a natural dam 10 miles west of Big Spring.

Prior to this lift-back operation inaugurated almost a year ago, the two upper lakes had water with 35,000 to 44,000 parts per million chlorides. During the summer, both were practically drained. Runoff from autumn rains trapped in the two lakes has been reduced to 4,400 ppm.

Currently, more than two million gallons a day are being pumped back from the two reservoirs, which has had the effect of virtually halting the spill from One-Mile Lake into Beal's Creek.

September and October rains which added 10 feet to the level of Lake E. V. Spence also about doubled the quality of the water.

What role the Beal's Creek flow contributed to this is not certain, but O. H. Ivie, general manager of CRWMD is confident that it was considerable.

He pointed to repeated heavy flows down the creek during that period. He is hopeful that the pump-back operation eventually will eliminate any spill from One-Mile Lake into Beal's Creek unless it comes from independent flow into that reservoir, in which case it would be relatively good water.

STILL THE BIGGEST BARGAIN IN TOWN!

A checking account has always been one of the biggest bargains around... even when you had to pay for it. But now, with First National's No Service Charge Checking, it's an even bigger bargain — because it's free. Regardless of how few or how many checks you write there is no charge. And there is no minimum balance and no activity charge, either. Wouldn't you say that's a bargain?

Effective November 27, 1974, F.D.I.C. protection will be increased from $20,000 to $40,000.

UMW Official's Murder Halts Consideration Of New Nationwide Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Mines Workers leaders put off Saturday consideration of a new nationwide pact until this week, pushing the coal strike into at least a third week.

UMW contract negotiators and the bargaining council of regional leaders recessed their talks to attend Monday funeral services in Bessemer, Ala., for union leader Sam Littlefield, 54, who was slain in Washington.

Still, there was little prospect the council would give its required approval of the tentative agreement hammered out in 2½ months by the negotiators. Union sources say some council members are pressuring for a return to the bargaining table, possibly for a redistribution, rather than fattening, of benefits. A memorial service was held in Washington Saturday for Littlefield. A friend, Sen. James Allen, D-Ala., said the capital "must be made safe for people who visit here."

Littlefield had walked in on a hotel room robbery of two other union men. Police said the gunman shot Littlefield in the back of the head. No arrests have been made.

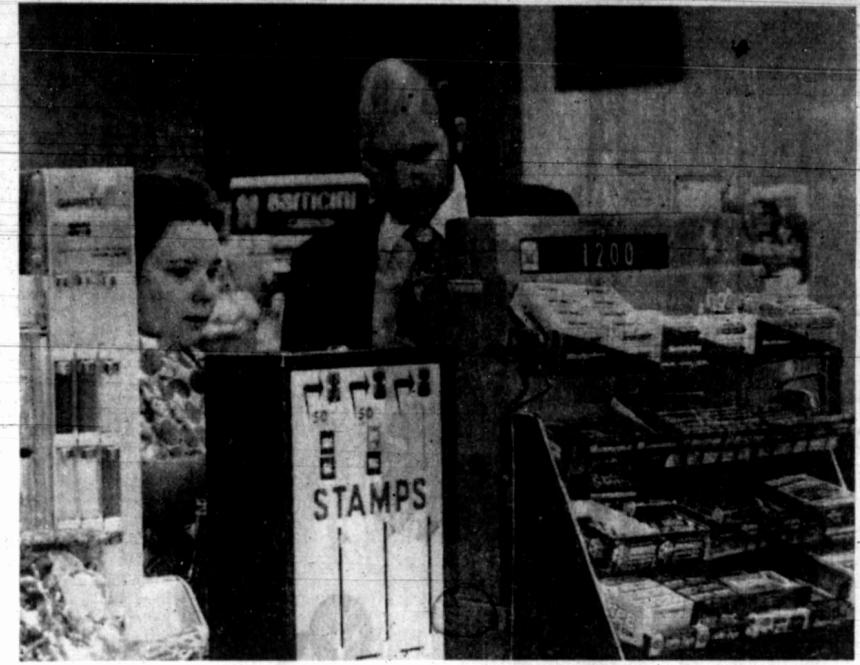

Publicly the best characterization of council talk progress is the statement of UMW vice president Mike Tribovich, who says there is serious disagreement on a number of points.

Guy Farmer, chief industry negotiator, says the pact stands as industry's final offer and that the companies "are not open to renegotiate the agreement."

The tentative agreement covering 120,000 miners calls for wage increases of 3 per cent the first year and 3 per cent in each of the following two years, plus cost-of-living raises and improved fringe benefits. Miners now make between $42 and $50 a day.

Union negotiators, led by president Arnold Miller, calculate the contract gains at 49.7 per cent. Industry figures it at 62.8 per cent.

Once the council approves a pact, the third step is for council members to sell it to another leadership level of 830 representatives who must in turn present it to the rank and file for approval.

New Particle Discovered

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Stanford University announced Saturday the discovery of a new kind of elementary particle—a basic constituent of all matter—with hitherto unknown properties.

The announcement said the same discovery was made independently at opposite ends of the country by scientific teams at the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center and the Brookhaven National Laboratory in New York.

The announcement was made simultaneously by both laboratories. Physicists Burton Richter of the Stanford team and Samuel C. Ting of the BNL team said, "The suddenness of the discovery, coupled with the totally unexpected properties of the particle are what make it so exciting. It is not like the particles we know and must have some new kind of structure."

The researchers said that they didn't yet fully understand the discovery but that it may fill in some spaces in the physical knowledge of the universe. "The discovery is abstract. We don't know what it means," they said.

They said theorists "are working frantically to fit (the particle) into the framework of our present knowledge of the elementary particle."

Elementary particles, so small they can't be seen under a microscope, make up all matter and energy. Physicists have been exploring deeper and deeper into the basic structure of atoms that make up all matter in the universe.

They have been using ever more powerful accelerators, or atom-smashing machines, and sophisticated new techniques to identify the particles that come flying out when atomic hearts are broken up or atomic particles collide.

It has long been known that atoms are composed of three fundamental, or elementary, particles—the protons and neutrons making up the core of atoms, and the electrons circling them somewhat like the planets orbiting the sun. And for every particle there is an antiparticle of an opposite electrical charge.

Discovery of a new particle would normally require a second experimental verification, but the observation of the same phenomenon by two independent groups using very different techniques led to the belief the discovery was genuine.

Both groups reported the new phenomenon at essentially the same energy level—just over 3 billion electron volts, the announcement said.

Christmas Parade Deadline Near

"Here Comes Santa Claus" might well be the theme of this year's annual Midland Christmas Parade. At least, there will be a float for Santa to ride on, although the float likely will be atop wheels rather than sleigh runners.

Deadline for entering units in the parade is 5 p.m. Monday, according to parade chairman Sam Blanck. Entries may be made by visiting or telephoning the Midland Chamber of Commerce office. The Retail Merchants' Committee of the chamber is sponsoring the parade for the fourth consecutive year.

The parade itself will be held Dec. 7, beginning at 10 a.m. Route for the parade begins at Western State Bank near the intersection of Andrews Highway and Whitney, going southeast on Andrews Highway to Wall, then east on Wall to Main Street.

Theme for the parade is "The Songs of Christmas." Santa's float will be constructed by the SITCA (Student Involvement Through Community Action) Committee of the chamber. This float will not be entered for judging.

Prize money for non-commercial float winners totals $1,050 this year, Blanck pointed out, with $300 for first prize. A total of six cash awards will be made for the best non-commercial float entries. There will be special awards for commercial floats, and for participating bands. All units in the parade will receive printed citations.

A number of new entries were received last week, including a promised return of the Blue Knights Air Force ROTC Drill Team from Sul Ross University in Alpine. Last year's appearance by the Blue Knights was their first public performance. Since then, the snappy precision marching unit has performed in the Cotton Bowl Parade and numerous other public functions throughout Texas.

And, in recognition of the 23rd anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, the United States Navy is sending a float replica of the USS Arizona Memorial.

Tech Regents Honor Retiring Board Member

SAN ANGELO (AP) — Retiring board member Frank Junell was honored here Friday at a meeting of Board of Regents of Texas Tech University and the Tech University School of Medicine.

Board Chairman Clint Formby praised Junell, a San Angelo banker who served two terms as board chairman during the establishment of the medical school, for his "leadership, his service, and his invaluable contributions to the board, the university and to the State of Texas."

Dr. Richard A. Lockwood, vice president of the health science centers, reported a 10 per cent increase in applications over last year and said the medical school's emphasis remains on family practice medicine.

Tech president Grover E. Murray reported that the school will continue its efforts to establish a new pharmacy school despite a recent vote by the Texas Pharmaceutical Association to oppose its funding.

Formby directed Bill Parsley, public affairs vice president to develop a study on whether Tech could save money if it had access to a plane.

Formby noted that Tech "is the only university in Texas which may not purchase or maintain an airplane," but is permitted to own and operate one.

Such an act would be "in direct violation of the disengagement agreement that we have signed with Syria," the ambassador said.

Asked how this squared with the assurances given by Syria to Kissinger that Damascus was not hostile, Dinitz indicated refusal to extend the U.N. force would be "directly and diametrically opposed to the obligations undertaken by Syria."

Both Kissinger and Dinitz appeared deeply disturbed by reports and press speculation that the United States expected an outbreak of fighting.

As they entered his private dining room, Kissinger was overheard to say emphatically to Dinitz, "There will be no war."

The secretary was reported by aides to have been upset that his Friday press conference had been construed as indicating American fear about an imminent war.

ALERT TO BREAST CANCER—

Doctors Warn Women To Be Vigilant About Other Types Of Dread Killer

NEW YORK (AP) — Betty Ford and "Happy" Rockefeller alerted American women to the danger of breast cancer. But doctors remind women to be just as vigilant about other types of cancer.

Specialists say the other cancers can develop just as silently but also are more curable with early detection. And at least one — lung cancer, now leaping forward at an ominous rate — is largely preventable by not smoking, specialists say.

Current estimates are that breast cancer will attack, but not necessarily kill, one in 15 American women; cancer of the colon and rectum, one in 22; lung cancer, one in 100; cancer of the cervix, one in 35; cancer of the uterus, one in 63; skin cancer may occur as commonly as all the others put together.

ACS Guidelines
Here, from officials of the American Cancer Society, are guidelines for women to better protect themselves against these cancers:

—Breast, the No. 1 cancer killer among women. "Ninety-five per cent of all breast cancer is found by the women themselves," says Dr. Arthur Holleb, chief medical officer of the society. "The breast is a precancerous organ" he adds, recommending women perform a simple monthly self-examination in addition to periodic clinical checkups.

—Rectum and colon. This cancer ranks as the second major killer among women and men alike. But early diagnosis and prompt treatment can save three out of four of those the disease strikes. The key to early diagnosis is the proctoscopy exam as part of a physical checkup, especially for those over 40 years of age. High risk candidates for this cancer are those with a family tendency toward polyps.

—Lung. The leading cancer killer of American men has recently become the No. 3 cancer killer of women, its death rate having doubled in the last 10 years.

The increased incidence of lung cancer seems to parallel the increase in smoking among females over the past 30 years. Lung cancer deaths among women are one-fourth those of men and threaten to catch up.

Not long ago their rate was only one-sixth that among men. Since lung cancer is mostly caused by cigarette smoking, it is a largely preventable disease, if smokers quit in time, the society says. It is also a difficult disease to diagnose in time for cure.

Women aged 55 and older who have smoked a pack or more of cigarettes a day for 20 years fall into the high risk group. They should have an annual chest examination and a chest X-ray to safeguard against the disease. A persistent cough or lingering respiratory ailment is a red light to see your physician.

Cancers of the cervix and uterus. Once major cancer killers of women, cancer of the cervix has dropped to fourth place with a mortality rate one-third of what it was 35 years ago. The credit is largely given to widespread use of the Papanicolaou test, which detects the disease early.

While considered 95 per cent effective in detecting cancer of the cervix (neck of the uterus), it is considered only 60 per cent effective in discovering cancer of the endometrium (lining of the body of the uterus).

"Every woman, when she reaches menopause, should have a test to sample the lining of her uterus," says Dr. Sidney Arje, vice president of professional education of the cancer society.

Women considered high risks for this cancer are those with post-menopausal bleeding, late menopause, obesity, high blood pressure or a history of diabetes.

"The Silent Disease"

—Cancer of the ovaries. "The silent disease," Arje calls it, because the tumor can go so long undetected. Ovarian cancer often masks its symptoms as indigestion or a bloated abdomen.

"The only way a woman really has of protecting herself is to have an annual pelvic exam so the doctor can feel the enlarged ovary," Arje advises.

—Skin cancer. Women living in the South and Southwest may be more prone to get this from excessive exposure to the sun's ultra-violet rays, Holleb says. It can be prevented through use of sun-screening lotions. About 95 per cent of all skin cancers are curable if found early. Signals to watch for include sores that do not heal and changes in moles or warts.

Democrats Dread Mini-Convention

By DON McLEOD

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democrats are approaching their December mini-convention like a trip to the dentist. It may be worth it, but it's bound to hurt.

The last Democratic National Convention, the ultimate authority in the party, ordered the mid-term conference; so, there's no way of getting out of it.

First National Charter
But whether it turns into a donnybrook or a mild television pageant, the mini-convention in Kansas City on Dec. 6, 7 and 8 will make history by producing the first national charter of a major American political party.

It also will provide a grand showcase for all those Democrats already working, formally or furtively, for a 1976 presidential nomination.

Here in question-and-answer form is an armchair guide to the action:

Q. What is the mini-convention?
A. It is a party conference similar in form to the presidential nomination conventions. Delegates were chosen from each state much as they will be chosen in 1976. Party business will be conducted just as at the presidential conventions. The main difference is that no candidates will be nominated.

Q. Why is it being held?
A. Mainly because the 1972 convention, controlled by backers of Sen. George McGovern, ordered it. The mini-convention, however, has two primary purposes — to provide a forum for important national issues and to adopt a charter for the party.

Reform Wing Brainchild
Q. Who wants the conference?
A. It is essentially the brainchild of the party's reform wing, including those who backed the presidential candidacies of Eugene McCarthy in 1968 and McGovern in 1972. Insisting that the grassroots should be the real voice of authority, they wanted an opportunity to set policy and be heard more frequently.

The party's old guard is almost unanimously opposed to the idea. Some oppose reform but most of them think any more televised bloodletting like the 1968 and 1972 conventions can only harm the party.

Insisting that the grassroots should be the real voice of authority, they wanted an opportunity to set policy and be heard more frequently.

The party's old guard is almost unanimously opposed to the idea. Some oppose reform but most of them think any more televised bloodletting like the 1968 and 1972 conventions can only harm the party.

A. The reformers hope the charter will bring the rule of law to party affairs in place of the power plays which have traditionally decided issues and disputes — a presumption doubted in many quarters. More detailed regulations will be covered in by-laws to be added later.

Q. What are the major provisions of the charter?
A. First, it will establish once and for all the national party, through its national convention, as the ultimate authority for all Democrats.

The charter also would incorporate the reforms brought to the party by the McGovern Commission and the more recent group headed by Baltimore Councilwoman Barbara Mikulski. There is strong division here. The reformers want the reforms sealed into the charter. The old guard wants only generalities in the charter.

One thing seems certain. The controversial quota system of 1972 is almost certain to go. It will be replaced by an affirmative action program which would require local parties to recruit under represented groups but would judge them by their effort and not by the result.

—Lung. The leading cancer killer of American men has recently become the No. 3 cancer killer of women, its death rate having doubled in the last 10 years.

The increased incidence of lung cancer seems to parallel the increase in smoking among females over the past 30 years. Lung cancer deaths among women are one-fourth those of men and threaten to catch up.

Not long ago their rate was only one-sixth that among men. Since lung cancer is mostly caused by cigarette smoking, it is a largely preventable disease, if smokers quit in time, the society says. It is also a difficult disease to diagnose in time for cure.

Women aged 55 and older who have smoked a pack or more of cigarettes a day for 20 years fall into the high risk group. They should have an annual chest examination and a chest X-ray to safeguard against the disease. A persistent cough or lingering respiratory ailment is a red light to see your physician.

Cancers of the cervix and uterus. Once major cancer killers of women, cancer of the cervix has dropped to fourth place with a mortality rate one-third of what it was 35 years ago. The credit is largely given to widespread use of the Papanicolaou test, which detects the disease early.

While considered 95 per cent effective in detecting cancer of the cervix (neck of the uterus), it is considered only 60 per cent effective in discovering cancer of the endometrium (lining of the body of the uterus).

"Every woman, when she reaches menopause, should have a test to sample the lining of her uterus," says Dr. Sidney Arje, vice president of professional education of the cancer society.

Women considered high risks for this cancer are those with post-menopausal bleeding, late menopause, obesity, high blood pressure or a history of diabetes.

"The Silent Disease"

—Cancer of the ovaries. "The silent disease," Arje calls it, because the tumor can go so long undetected. Ovarian cancer often masks its symptoms as indigestion or a bloated abdomen.

"The only way a woman really has of protecting herself is to have an annual pelvic exam so the doctor can feel the enlarged ovary," Arje advises.

—Skin cancer. Women living in the South and Southwest may be more prone to get this from excessive exposure to the sun's ultra-violet rays, Holleb says. It can be prevented through use of sun-screening lotions. About 95 per cent of all skin cancers are curable if found early. Signals to watch for include sores that do not heal and changes in moles or warts.

September and October rains which added 10 feet to the level of Lake E. V. Spence also about doubled the quality of the water.

What role the Beal's Creek flow contributed to this is not certain, but O. H. Ivie, general manager of CRWMD is confident that it was considerable.

He pointed to repeated heavy flows down the creek during that period. He is hopeful that the pump-back operation eventually will eliminate any spill from One-Mile Lake into Beal's Creek unless it comes from independent flow into that reservoir, in which case it would be relatively good water.

When the time comes to sell your home, the inevitable question will arise. Which items will stay with the house and which will not? Certain items carry little doubt such as tacked down wall-to-wall carpeting, storm windows, and items permanently attached to the house or property. They would normally stay.

Ringling The Bell

By BOB TIEUEL

The Black and Brown Experience: New Mexico State Senator Jerry Apodaca, 40, an insurance executive from Las Cruces, has been elected governor of New Mexico. In the pre-election campaign, U.S. Sen. Joseph Montoya had pleaded with the state's heavily populated Eastside Anglo voters to help elect Jerry because "he's a good man and well qualified." It is also reliably estimated that there are more than 19,000 qualified black voters on the east side, with Carlsbad, Hobbs, Roswell and Clovis having the bulk of voters.

In Albuquerque, our sources report, approximately 4,000 qualified black voters with polls, indicating some 90 per cent of septa voters in state voting for Jerry Apodaca. Statewide his margin of victory over Joe Koen was slightly more than 3,000 votes. Skeen, a rancher from southwest New Mexico, is a Republican.

In the meantime, Democrat Raul Castro, 56, edged Republican Russ Williams to become the first Mexican-American elected governor of Arizona and the first of his party to win the office in 10 years. Castro is a former U.S. envoy to Bolivia.

The last Spanish named governor of New Mexico was Octaviano A. Larrazolo, who served in 1919 to 1920. Since statehood in 1912, only Larrazolo and Ezequiel C. de Baca, 1917-1918, have held this distinction. De Baca died in office. Larrazolo was a Republican while de Baca was a Democrat.

In California, Democratic state senator Mervyn Dymally, a black native of Trinidad, was elected lieutenant governor over Republican John Harmer, and in Colorado, Democrat, George L. Brown was elected lieutenant governor. Brown, 48, was the first black elected to the Colorado Senate when he won election in 1966. The new black congressman is Harold Ford, a 29-year-old Democrat who unseated Tennessee's Rep. Dan Kuykendall, a four-term Republican. His election boosted the total in the U.S. House of Representatives to 16. All 15 black incumbents were re-elected.

Blacks were appointed to serve as lieutenant governors of South Carolina and Louisiana during the reconstruction era following the Civil War, but Dymally and Brown were the first blacks ever elected to the jobs.

And in Texas, "it's two per cent to stay on the ballot and 20 per cent to have a party primary which is financed by the state," said Raza Unida gubernatorial candidate Ramsey Muniz. He held about six per cent of the state's election returns at close of official count.

Black Leader in Baseball: "Nearly 27 years elapsed between the appearance of the first black player in major league baseball, Jackie Robinson, and the naming recently of the first black big league manager—Frank Robinson. Frank's job could prove tougher than Jackie's. He will have to discipline an entire team through the norms of racial dissension, player vanity, and complicated negotiations and tests of will over contracts." Baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn deserves credit for helping to open the way for a black manager. He threatened to resign unless one of the qualified blacks be given a chance to manage. (Quote from Christian Science Monitor).

And now it has been discovered that Jackie Robinson was not the first black to play in major league baseball and that blacks participated in the leagues around the turn of the 19th century. More later.

FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS

A week without rain has fostered hopes of area cotton producers that the weather might be turning more to their favor. Some light frost this week will also help cotton along to maturity. The main thing that is needed is several consecutive weeks of sunshine and dry weather for the cotton producer, according to Charles Green, Midland County agent. And almost everyone else agrees that sunshine would be mighty welcome — a strange statement to be making in West Texas!

Green encourages farmers to utilize some of the slack time before harvest in taking soil samples for testing to determine fertilizer needs for next year's crop production. With the high cost and shortage of fertilizer, it is important to take full advantage of nutrients already in the soil. Information on taking and submitting soil samples for testing is available at the county extension office and from most fertilizer dealers. It is important to study the sampling instructions and obtain representative samples. The first step is to use a map or sketch and divide the farm and fields into sampling units or areas. If the area represented by each sample is too large, the information obtained may not be much better than a general fertilizer recommendation.

A major objective should be to identify those soils with nutrient levels adequate to meet the crop requirement so that fertilizers can be selected that will supplement the soil supply and provide enough for top yields without excess or waste. Soil tests results for phosphorus are especially valuable for fields that have received regular applications of phosphorus for several years. This is the case for many irrigated cotton fields in Midland County, where phosphorus fertilizer applications have built up to high levels over a period of years and are not needed.

Cooler weather means yard and garden insects will begin seeking a warmer place to spend the winter. And that place will likely be in the home. Most common among these household invaders are earwigs, crickets, pillbugs, spiders, millipedes and certain cockroaches. Many of these invaders will damage fabrics and feed on food products. Some are also capable of transmitting disease-causing organisms from place to place within the home. There are several methods of control for these invaders. Removing plant debris around the foundation of the home permits this area to dry out, particularly around flower beds or other sites which normally remain wet or moist during the winter.

Check doors, windows and other entrances for loose screening and poorly fitting joints. Performing the needed maintenance will not only keep insects out of the home but will also provide better cooling and heating efficiency. If insects have been a problem in the past, use a recommended insecticide to treat a foot or two above the soil line on the foundation around the home as well as several inches of soil surface next to the foundation. Green suggests a combination of chlordane and diazinon or chlordane and malathion. Also apply the insecticide around sidewalks, patios, driveways and storage areas as well as a 4-to-6 inch border around windows and door entries. Use care when treating flower bed areas to avoid spraying directly on ornamentals which might be damaged by the insecticide. To control pests already in the home, use an aerosol spray bomb containing Baygon, DDVP, diazinon or malathion. Before using any type of insecticide, be sure to read the label closely and to follow directions.

Farmers and ranchers can take certain steps before the end of the year to reduce their 1974 tax bill. If it appears that income will be up certain purchases might be made before the first of the year and sales of farm products can be delayed until after Jan. 1. If the situation is reversed and losses are anticipated, advantage might be taken of the "net operating loss" provision of the tax law. This provision may enable producers to recover taxes paid in past years and establish the amount of loss that can be used to offset income in future years.

Appropriate Launching

John W. Warner, director of the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration, believes that simultaneous prayer services across the land should launch the celebration of the country's 200th birthday.

He is right, absolutely. What other way, actually, would be appropriate for starting the observance?

It is gratifying to learn that this procedure is recommended by bicentennial leaders.

Warner said in Austin last week that July 4, 1976, falls on a Sunday, "almost as if the Lord had ordained it."

Warner was in Austin to address bicentennial leaders from 70 Texas communities.

He said the idea for a nationwide religious observance had not been put in final form nor approved by President Ford.

But the idea is sound . . . basic, if you please, in reviewing the historical background of this great and free nation, founded under God.

Warner went on to say that in his view the day should start with a simultaneous nationwide prayer service, with citizens attending their own churches.

Church leaders, he said, had advised him "not to try something ecumenical" in the religious observance. The major thrust should be placed on the individual and his long association with his respective place of worship. This also is in keeping with the American way.

Following the worship services, it is proposed that communities assemble in central places to hear a piped-in speech by the President.

"This would be the time at which we would have a serious, reflective moment on our history," Warner said.

He expressed the hope that that night the President could push a button setting off fireworks across the United States.

This would be a great, meaningful, inspirational moment for every American. It would be a Sunday long to be remembered . . . and it would be launched amidst a religious atmosphere which, in itself, would be spectacular.

Warner went on to say that he has no fears about Congress appropriating sufficient money for the Bicentennial celebration, especially since Congressman George Mahon of Lubbock, chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations, is "the strongest enthusiast for the bicentennial I have encountered."

There will be some opposition, of course, to Warner's proposals, but it is hoped that he and others will stand firm for the simultaneous prayer services, as proposed. This is the spirit of America.

Manna From Heaven

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The biggest federal antitrust case since Standard Oil was dismembered in 1911 is almost ready for filing against the world's largest corporation, American Telephone and Telegraph.

In going after AT&T, whose assets total $67.5 billion, the Justice Department's trust-busters are seeking to bring down the cost of equipment ranging from home telephones to huge electronic complexes.

A suit to force "Ma Bell" to give up her most profitable child, Western Electric, has long been rumored. Now, we have learned, the decision is all but ready for Atty. Gen. William Saxbe's signature. This may come in the next few weeks.

If the suit is successful, Western Electric, with its $7.37 billion in annual sales, would become an independent company. At present, it is the manufacturing arm which supplies AT&T's 24 operating companies. It also sells vast quantities of equipment to the government and to other firms.

By forcing Western Electric to compete in supplying the AT&T subsidiaries and other buyers, Justice believes it can drastically reduce the costs of telephone and related services.

The suit began to gather steam when small equipment-making companies began to grumble that "Ma Bell" was using her monopoly position to boost Western Electric's profits.

These smaller firms produced evidence that they could save companies millions in telephone and other communications costs if they could compete fairly. The savings would trickle down to every telephone user, they said.

In addition to the Western Electric divestiture, Justice has also considered reducing the size of AT&T further by breaking off its research arm, Bell Labs, and its long-distance network. This could further increase competition in the telephone business.

But the focus, we have been told, will remain on Western Electric.

We have learned that Justice's antitrust lawyers would like to move against the giant company within a month. But Saxbe may be a victim of President Ford's anticipated Cabinet shake-up, and some Justice attorneys fear the suit may be delayed until spring.

The Justice Dept. would officially say only that the case was being "looked into."

FOOTNOTE: At AT&T, a spokesman said, "We know of no antitrust suit against AT&T." However, he added that AT&T had cooperated fully with the Justice Dept. and confidently expects when Justice weighs the facts, it will find no antitrust violation. AT&T pointed out that during the last few years, competition has increased vigorously in the telephone equipment business.

TOM TIEDE A Joyous Farewell To Neanderthal Man

WASHINGTON (NEA) — As the old order changeth again in this fickle city, a fair-man would have to say some of the 100-odd departing members of Congress are going to be missed. On the other hand some of them are just going to be going. Included in this latter lot, in fact leading it, is the Hon. John R. Rarick of Louisiana; not a tear save his own will be shed over the fellow's forced exit.

During eight years in the House of Representatives, the Hon. John has accumulated few friends. Even those who agree with his positions and philosophies shy away from the identification for fear of guilt by association. It's not just that the Hon. John is according to the Almanac of American Politics "the most rabid right winger" in Washington, nor is his place as a political leper entirely the result of his racism and anti-semitism; fair numbers of his fellows share these traits — but none so glories in their public expression or so openly abuses public sensibilities as does he.

Two years ago, as example, during hearings concerning the District of Columbia, the Hon. John stunned the proceedings by calling predominantly black Washington "rat infested stinkhole" and suggesting that many of the Negro residents should be relocated in some sparsely populated Western state. Such was the resulting outrage that even a fellow Louisiana Democrat, Pat Caffery, felt it necessary to censure the remarks on the floor of the House.

Usually, however no one bothers to censure the Hon. John. As one Southerner points out, "You only argue with a guy if you think he's redeemable." Few think the Hon. John is. Few care. He came to Washington with the reputation of having ties with the Ku Klux Klan and he announced on arriving that his main task would be the preservation of the white culture. "A lot of us thought he'd change," says a black congressman. "But we were wrong. He's still the most open racist I know." He called Martin Luther King a friend of Communists and Bayard Rustin a sexual pervert. Personally, I don't censure him because that would be a form of recognition.

Thus unrecognized, it might be said that the Hon. John has rallied against the evils of brotherhood in a kind of vacuum. If he had brains or support he'd be dangerous, as his peers say it. As it is, when he takes the House floor for more tedium, fellow members sigh, shake their heads or simply ignore the point in time.

The loneliness has not daunted the Hon. John. He says the "scars of persecution in support of Constitutional government become badges of honor and respect," a thought which has sustained him. Thus even though he was defeated this year in his primary bid for re-election, he has twisted the loss into heroics. He claims he was done in by a black blockade and scandalous union money. "It's time to pray over what has happened," he says. And with no regard for tact, fair play or good grace the Hon. John has inserted numerous speeches and news articles to this effect into the Congressional Record.

The Record, by the way, has been the Hon. John's weapon throughout his office. The Anti-defamation League of B'nai B'rith once strongly questioned the right of the congressman to use a taxpayer-supported organ for furthering "blatant white racism and anti-semitism." But the right exists, so the Hon. John has continued to publish his views of Jews as "international money changers" and blacks as a threat to "a culture that has only been preserved through the

DAVID POLING, D.D. Preparing For A Different Christmas

NEW YORK (NEA) — Early preparations for Christmas begin now and have their own special reward. The store people tell us that the selection is better in early November and the crowds are not yet around, as come mid-December. But Christmas 1974 is going to be different all around. Inflation, unemployment and the financial squeeze already are putting a different wrapping on this year's presents. But is this all bad?

In our town, we discover many teen-agers and adults making gifts for friends and family. Young people are sewing special items, the knitting crowd is going full blast. One friend is turning out beautiful pottery, another some handsome mounted, black and white enlargements. The bankers and candy makers are having a field day, even with the mounting cost of sugar and supplies. This kind of Christmas giving demands early preparations and yields long-term rewards that spell friendship and affection. Is there anyone who does not prize a good used book or a 20-year-old paper weight from the nearest thrift shop operated by Goodwill Industries?

Some readers already have sent for the Alternate Christmas Catalogue (cost $2.50) with its 100 pages of non-traditional gifts and suggestions. Late-comers should write Alternatives, 1500 Farragut St. NW, Washington, D. C. 20011. Art Meissner of Mission Crafts, Inc. tells us that some 1,200 women have sent 50 cents already for his latest catalogue of crafts from all over the world. His outfit at Box 565, Hughsonville, N. Y. 12537, assists needy peoples in this country and overseas.

For those interested in words and music and the power of the scriptures we suggest the big package put together by David Frost and associates. "The Bible" is a significant project that has Sir Laurence Olivier reading passages from the Old Testament, accompanied by a major musical production created by 15 composers and 300 artists. Olivier has a soaring, sensitive understanding of scripture and the $40 price is not too heavy for 12 long-playing records and nine full color paintings from classical scenes of the Bible.

For many people this is a Christmas of adversity. But out of difficulty and upset better things appear for those who are willing to fight the good fight. Such a struggle is described in "Gary Player — World Golfer" (with Floyd Thatcher Word, Inc.). Most of us know about the golfing victories and financial success of this famous pro. Here is revealed a different slant, a deeper understanding of the suffering and disabilities endured by this celebrity from South Africa. In the unpleasant and unfair racial patterns of African culture, it is heartening to learn of the key role that Player fulfilled in opening up many of the golf tournaments in South Africa to black participants. Player was also a sponsor of the Billy Graham appearance in his native land that was a first in public integrated services.

Experts tell us that the Wise Men took some years to get to Bethlehem so it is not too early to begin our own journey. Keyed to preparations for Christmas '74.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY
(Newspaper Enterprise Association)

The fact that it is there may well be a good reason to climb a mountain, it is not always a good reason to take a finesse.

South was one of those compulsive finessers. He wasted no time plunking dummy's jack of spades on West's 10 spot, whereupon East produced the queen. The presence of both minor suit aces in the West hand, together with a five-card spade suit, saw poor South losing three spade tricks and these two aces.

Planning, Zoning Panel Meets Monday

Members of the Midland Planning and Zoning Commission will meet Monday at City Hall and continue their study for a possible zoning ordinance that would allow the use of trailers or mobile homes in specified areas of the city.

The recommendation for a special LF-3 zone for the trailer and mobile home use has been studied by the commission for the past three sessions, but no action has been taken to date.

Members of the commission have requested a study to be made by the city planning department as to which areas of the city might be appropriate for the special trailer or mobile home use.

It has been stated by planning department personnel that only the sector of the city to the northeast where several old FHA homes were moved out is of primary concern.

The commission will hear a request by G. H. Lawless Jr. for a zone change from one family residence to planned district for townhouses in the Kimberly Addition Replat.

A request by applicants (property owners) of the Super Bowl, 3920 W. Wall St., will be considered by the commission for a zone change from local retail to local retail with the addition of a specific use permit for the sale of alcoholic beverages.

Ted C. Johnson has applied to the commission for a zone change from one family residence to multiple family zoning for a tract in the Parkside Addition at the corner of Kessler and Illinois streets.

The commission will consider the initiation of a zone change by the City of Midland from local retail to commercial for a sector of the city between California and New York streets and Terrell and Big Spring streets.

TOWER MIGHT TOPPLE — The Rev. Robert W. Gollidge, vicar of Boston's Old North Church, inspects one of the bells in the church steeple. Engineers have been testing the chimies to see if they can be sounded swinging freely, as they did in Paul Revere's time, without toppling the church tower. (AP Wirephoto.)

St. Clair Says Watergate Scandal Helps Congress To Regain Some Of Its Power

BOSTON (AP) — James D. St. Clair says he doesn't think Watergate means future presidents will be forced out of office, but it was a spark that allowed Congress to regain some of its power.

The break-in and bugging at the Democratic National Committee headquarters by itself was "probably a regrettable incident of no lasting significance," former President Richard M. Nixon's Watergate lawyer said.

But it gained historic significance when it became "an occasion wherein an adjustment in power between the Congress and the executive was taking place," he said in an interview with The Associated Press.

"But I don't believe that Watergate will necessarily foreshadow a series of attacks on future presidents, resulting in their resignation or removal, as some people I think fear might be the result. It seems to me the American people are sufficiently appalled by such a thought that it's not likely to happen again, and certainly I hope it won't."

Four Benefits Cited

St. Clair said Watergate produced at least four benefits. First, it focused public attention on government and the relationships between the branches of government.

Second, the scandal produced a Supreme Court decision that upholds executive privilege, with the exception that the privilege cannot prohibit disclosure of alleged criminal misconduct.

Third, it increased the legal profession's sensitivity to its ethical responsibilities. And fourth, it provided the impetus to improve the electoral process.

On the negative side, Watergate led to the first presidential resignation, "a precedent that is undesirable," he says.

"Our form of government has prided itself on its stability within each term of the office. This was the first instance of lack of such stability within the office of the presidency."

St. Clair viewed Watergate during a two-hour interview in his office here where he is a senior partner in a large law firm.

He agreed to the interview with the understanding that the attorney-client privilege would not allow him to discuss confidential matters affecting his former client. In addition, he requested that the interview await the sequestration of the jury in the Watergate cover-up trial now under way in Washington.

Here are some of the questions and answers:

Q. Why did you take the Watergate defense case?

A. Because I thought it was an important matter and appropriate for a lawyer to undertake. I felt I was competent to handle the matters as I understood them at the time, and my experience was such that it would be something I would probably be qualified to deal with, if anyone was.

Q. How were you selected?

A. I can only say that I understand my name came to (Nixon adviser) Gen. (Alexander M.) Haig's attention from a number of sources, not all of which I can identify. I believe one of them to be David Shapiro, who is Mr. Colson's lawyer. (Former White House aide Charles W. Colson.)

Q. Had you ever met Mr. Nixon before?

A. Not any more than shaking hands with him among a group of people on one or two occasions. Certainly not on any basis where we had anything but slight conversations.

Q. How would you describe the role the White House tapes played?

A. Very critical.

Q. Was it a mistake to install the tapes?

A. Well, I think it would be very easy to answer that

"yes," but I'm not sure that would be a very thoughtful answer. In some respects I suppose it was a mistake, in a very limited sense. On the other hand, for better or for worse, they are a primary record of events from which we may draw a great deal of value.

Technical Question Asked

Q. Could President Nixon have lawfully destroyed the tapes after their existence was revealed in June 1973?

A. Well, would that have been an obstruction of justice? Would it have been a destruction of evidence in a pending criminal investigation? I never have thoroughly researched the point, but my judgment is that it probably would not have been a technical violation of the statutes that deal with the obstruction of justice.

Q. Was Nixon's resignation the right thing to do?

A. Well, in my view, the President is the only one to decide whether or not he should resign, and he apparently was satisfied it was the right thing to do.

Q. After the final tape disclosures, what were your chances in the House?

A. I doubt very much we could have prevailed in the House.

Q. Could you have prevailed in the Senate?

A. Well, you know, who knows? It became an academic matter. Was I prepared to fight it in the Senate? The answer is yes.

President First To Toss Hat In 'Ring'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford, in a low-key way, has beaten all other contenders in tossing his hat into the 1976 presidential ring.

The announcement, which didn't come as much of a surprise, was made casually by Press Secretary Ron Nessen.

Asked Friday at his daily news briefing whether Ford was about to declare his candidacy, Nessen said, "Yes. He intends to run in '76."

Quite simply, Ford has found after his three months on the job that "he enjoys being President," Nessen said.

Ford, who previously had announced only that he probably would run in 1976, hadn't exactly kept it a secret that he had decided to run for a full four-year term.

It was learned that Ford told southern state Republican chairmen at a private White House reception Monday that he had made up his mind to run.

Nessen said the President was ready to announce it at a news conference in Phoenix, Ariz., Thursday night, but no one asked him.

Flying home from Phoenix aboard the presidential plane, House Minority Leader John Rhodes told reporters he was certain Ford would run, explaining, "The White House is the most virulent virus known to man."

A possible explanation for the move came from Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois, a Republican often considered a potential presidential contender.

"It's important that Mr. Ford not appear to be a lame-duck President," Percy said.

UT Faculty Senate Panel Criticizes Spurr's Dismissal

AUSTIN (AP) — A requested a hearing before the Faculty Senate committee of board confirmed the chancellor's decision, Spurr was not criticized the "summary manner" in which UT-Austin president Stephen Spurr was fired. Chancellor Charles LeMaistre.

In a 34-page report issued Friday, the committee said Spurr's "overnight" dismissal has compromised the office of the president of The University of Texas at Austin.

The recruitment of a qualified administrator for this position is unlikely without fundamental changes in the structure of governance and firm public assurances that his autonomy will be respected," the committee's report said.

Fired Sept. 24

Spurr was fired Sept. 24 by LeMaistre who said merely that he had lost confidence in Spurr's ability and judgment. Gov. Dolph Briscoe said on Oct. 9 before the elections, he would press for publication of the reasons for Spurr's dismissal. But on Friday he said he was satisfied with LeMaistre's explanation.

The committee report said it was "in the dark about the triggering cause" of the dismissal. "However, given the results of our investigation, we do find a distinct pattern of friction."

The report referred to "friction" between Spurr and the chancellor or Spurr and some regents caused by the "too-close involvement in UT-Austin affairs of the chancellor and his staff, and of some members of the Board of Regents, especially Frank Erwin."

Looking Over Shoulder

"In areas where authority was properly his, Spurr had too many people looking over his shoulder," the report said. "He could often satisfy some, but not consistently all of them. He was both responsible and not responsible for the internal administration of the university."

"A fair assessment of Spurr's tenure as president would begin with the question whether he was compelled to play a role no university president should have to play; one in which he was continually forced to consult on matters that should have been within his own province; one in which he was often required to carry out directives concerning the internal affairs of the university; one in which his advice was not sought, or not taken seriously, on policies of intimate academic concern."

The committee report said that Spurr was forced to play such a role.

It added that the "summary manner" in which Spurr was dismissed "is completely inconsistent with the spirit of an academic community."

It went on:

"Although Spurr explicitly requested a hearing before the board confirmed the chancellor's decision, Spurr was not afforded a hearing by the board in his own case. There was no formal review of the chancellor's action, and no due process of any kind was made available to Spurr."

The report was signed by the committee chairman, English professor Edmund L. Pincoffs, its eight other faculty members and three student members.

One of the specific reasons that Spurr said LeMaistre gave him the day before he was fired was Spurr's alleged insensitivity in removing politicians from the guest list for the school's cocktail parties before football games.

Guest List Trimmed

The committee said Spurr asked to be named host for these affairs, since he was the school's president, and then was ordered to trim the guest list and save money.

In 1970, the guest list totaled 4,502, of which 2,098 showed up, the committee said. In the same year, after Spurr replaced the regents as host, 2,833 were invited and 1,824 came.

"In other words, 1,569 fewer invitations were sent, but only 274 fewer guests attended. It was mostly deadwood that had been cut from the list," the committee said.

The committee said it concluded "that Spurr in no substantial way acted insensitively or mismanaged the 'goodwill' aspects of official occasions, although he may have incurred the displeasure of Erwin."

The "de facto" host for the parties before Spurr took over was Erwin, the committee said.

New Role

Then it noted parenthetically, "We were told that . . . Erwin represented the new role for the university president."

In the matter of what Spurr called his resistance to Erwin's pressure to have an unqualified friend of Erwin admitted to law school, the committee said:

"Spurr brought considerable pressure to bear on Deans (Page) Keeton and (Ernest) Smith to admit a friend of Erwin to the Law School contrary to normal admission criteria. The deans resisted this pressure and finally Spurr supported their decision."

"Spurr was prevailed by the Law School faculty involved in this matter as not defending the academic integrity of the school as strongly as they wished. At the same time, Spurr incurred the intense displeasure of Erwin for not imposing Erwin's will on the law school."

A 100-fold increase in population requires a 1,200-fold increase in roadways.

Space Technology Helping Doctors Treat Variety Of Ailments

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Down-to-earth use of sophisticated space technology is helping doctors treat a variety of ailments. Space scientists and the medical profession hope the technology transfer will continue.)

By HOWARD BENEDICT

WASHINGTON (AP) — In 1964, Mrs. Cleste Thompson contracted a severe case of poliomyelitis that left her paralyzed except for head and neck movement and a slight motion of her left thumb. The California housewife, 19 and the mother of a young child, was bedridden and totally dependent on hospital attendants.

Today Mrs. Thompson can maneuver in an electric wheelchair, feed herself, comb her hair and type letters. She runs a telephone answering service. Down-to-earth use of sophisticated equipment and techniques developed for the U.S. space program makes this possible. Mrs. Thompson operates the wheelchair and electrically-powered, robot-like arms through a pressure device mounted like a harmonica in front of her mouth. She achieves movement and mobility by touching her tongue to a series of switches that look like large vitamin capsules. Dr. James R. Allen of Rancho Los Amigos Hospital in Downey, Calif., who helped adapt these space-developed devices for Mrs. Thompson, said: "The value of this technology transfer from space to medicine is readily apparent. Hundreds of thousands of other disabled people with varying degrees of paralysis or amputation can be helped by similar applications of aerospace technology to medical problems." Files of the national Aeronautics and Space Administration contain many examples of how today's medical techniques are being advanced by space technology. The field of medicine has benefited more than any other space spinoff area primarily because of NASA breakthroughs in electronics and miniaturization. A rechargeable heart pacemaker that eliminates the need for periodic surgery to implant new batteries is one of the most important. The new instrument, smaller than a cigarette pack—half the size of older ones—operates on nickel-cadmium cells which are used for power in most U.S. satellites. The new pacemaker can be easily recharged by the patient at home. All he does is slip into a special vest to which the pacemaker is magnetically re-coupled for recharging. It takes about 90 minutes. The pacemaker controls weak or erratic heart rates and has been implanted successfully in more than 600 persons without failure.

Another major spinoff is a compact medical unit carried by ambulances in Houston and other cities. The 40-pound, suitcase-size unit, called Telecare, includes an electrocardiogram display and radio system that can transmit cardiac data to the hospital. Physicians waiting for the patient can relay advice and be better prepared to handle the case when it reaches the hospital. Telecare results from NASA-developed electronics that measure vital signs in astronauts. A hospital in Huntsville, Ala., is using space technology to help patients who have lost use of arms or legs. Using eye-operated switches, breath-controlled devices and pressure devices like Mrs. Thompson's, immobile persons can open and close doors and windows, regulate room temperature, change radio or television channels, dial a telephone, adjust a bed position, turn pages of a book or call a nurse. NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, Calif., has made effective use of computers to enhance pictures of Mars, Venus, and other planets sent from spacecraft millions of miles from earth. Similar techniques are now being used to analyze infrared photos of skin burns and to study blood vessel X-rays. An X-ray system used inspect welding in rockets has been adapted by NASA and Vanderbilt University to diagnose tumors and to examine cardiovascular flow. Combined with other techniques, the system is used to study children with congenital heart disorders. It helps doctors determine when patients should have surgery. A special garment to provide a portable sterile environment for astronauts returning from the moon has been adapted by the National Cancer Institute to protect leukemia patients from infection when they are undergoing chemotherapy. NASA has also developed a small radio transmitter pill which, when swallowed, can monitor deep body temperatures by means of an FM receiver and associated electronics. It is coated so it will not dissolve and it can remain in the digestive tract for up to a week. A super-clean "white room" technique used in production and testing of satellites now lowers the risk of infection in surgery. Portable equipment removes dust and germs from operating rooms. Doctors and attendants wear helmets like those worn by astronauts and clothing that bacteria cannot penetrate. To assure continued transfer of its space technology, NASA has established four biomedical application teams.

Variety Presented By GG Auxiliary

The Permian Basin Geological-Geophysical Auxiliary, with more than 300 members, offers a variety of entertainment throughout the year, including luncheons, fashion shows, cocktail parties, craft demonstrations, card parties, book reviews, couples' supper parties and other events.

Auxiliary members pictured on the cover page of today's Women's Section are shown in the Chase Studios, where they are assisting in preparation of an exhibit for the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum and Hall of Fame.

They are, from the left, front, Mrs. Robert Frazier, Mrs. Fred Meyer, Mrs. Robert Wynne, Mrs. Wayne Woodside and Mrs. Richard Blackwell; middle, Mrs. H. W. Hollingshead Jr., Mrs. Wilson Comola, Mrs. William Henry, Mrs. Jeri Carson and Mrs. A. E. Simmons, and back, Mrs. J. W. Sparks, Mrs. Richard Warwick, Mrs. John A. Van Auken, Mrs. William Henry Smiley Jr., Mrs. Herbert Ware Jr. and Terry Chase.

Prepare Exhibit
Chase and his associate, George Baldwin, are in charge of preparing exhibits for the new museum. They met while doing undergraduate work at Wittenberg University in Springfield, Ohio. Chase taught high school a year before earning his master's degree in geology from the University of Michigan. Baldwin served with the U.S. Air Force several years abroad.

When the University of Michigan sold the new Midland museum some of the molds to be used in the exhibits, the school recommended Chase and Baldwin for direction of the project. Chase now is working toward a doctorate in paleontology, and Baldwin plans to return to school in the near future.

Primary Purpose
The primary purpose of the GG Auxiliary is to promote friendship and further the acquaintance among women whose husbands are members of the Permian Basin Geological Society and West Texas Geological Society. Members also assist the men's societies with convention activities and dances.

Auxiliary programs for the remainder of the year include: "A Touch of the Grape," Christmas party for members only, December; brunch and program featuring John Baster as speaker, February; and luncheon and style show, March.

Women eligible for membership may contact Mrs. VanAuken, 694-0356, for further information.

Members of the 1974-75 executive board are: Mrs. Henry, president; Mrs. VanAuken, president-elect; Mrs. Sparks, first vice president; Mrs. A. T. Carleton, second vice president; Mrs. Comola, recording secretary; Mrs. Carson, treasurer; Mrs. Woodside, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Smiley, telephone chairman; Mrs. John Gisburne, telephone co-chairman.

Also Mrs. Fred Meyer, and her co-chairman for the dance committee, Mrs. Blackwell; Mrs. W. L. Saultz, membership co-chairman; Mrs. Warwick, historian; Mrs. Robert Jefferies, convention chairman; Mrs. Ware, parliamentarian; Mrs. Wynne, honorary members, and Mrs. Billy Finch, Mrs. Frazier, Mrs. Hollingshead, Mrs. Reginald Lyle and Mrs. Simmons, directors.

Thomas Alan Linn Marries Cecelia Nance At Austin

AUSTIN — The Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd was the setting for the 4 p.m. Saturday exchange of marriage vows between Cecelia Kay Nance and Thomas Alan Linn here.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. William Ernest Nance, 3707 Stanolind St., Midland, and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Linn of Scottsdale, Ariz.

The Rev. Samuel N. Baxter of Austin officiated for the double ring ceremony and Dr. Kelly Hale, organist, provided wedding music.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Eddy Owens of Midland, sister of the bride. Other bridal attendants were Mrs. Lucas Fisher, sister of the bridegroom, and Elizabeth Matlow, both of Austin, and Mrs. Don Kirklind of Houston. Flower girl was Emily Turman of Austin.

Jim Ray of Austin was best man. Groomsmen were Eddy Owens of Midland, brother-in-law of the bride, and Rocco Nudo and Peter Glover of Austin. Jimmy Lynn Ray of Austin carried the rings.

Given in marriage by both parents, Mr. Nance escorted his daughter down the aisle. The bride chose to wear a formallength gown of white satin faced crepe styled with an Empire waist, long tapered sleeves with a deep flounce at the wrist, a high neckline, edged with Venise-lace, and a bib effect front of Alencon lace outlined with Venise lace. The softly flowing skirt extended to form a chapel-length train and her veil of silk illusion encircled with matching lace was held by a band of the same lace. She carried a cascade of gardenias, white and pink roses, baby's breath and greenery.

Bridal attendants wore pink crepe Empire dresses covered with long sleeved burgundy velvet bolero jackets. They carried pale pink carnations with deeper pink ribbon, deep pink straw flowers, garnet roses and baby's breath.

A reception was held here in the Villa Capri-Regency Room.

The bride, a graduate of The University of Texas-Austin, is a legal secretary for Prud'homme and Turman, Austin attorneys-at-law. Linn attended Texas Tech University and is advertising consultant for KOKE Radio, Austin.

The couple is at home at 1901 Highway 183 East, Apt. 132, Austin.

TO BE MARRIED — Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Cervantes of 1508 S. Marshall St. announce the engagement of their daughter, Carmen, to Ruben Sanchez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Santos Sanchez, 505 N. Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren

Mother-In-Law Barges In On Son

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law has a habit of barging into our bedroom (and even the bathroom, if it's not locked) to "talk" to Jerry. (He's my husband.)

Yesterday she barged into our bedroom while Jerry was dressing, and he didn't have a stitch on. I said in a nice way, "Mother, you really should knock first and ask Jerry if he is presentable." Then she said, "Oh, don't be silly. I used to diaper him!" What are your views on the subject?

CHICAGO WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Same as yours. But it's up to Jerry to tell his mother to knock first. (If she breast-fed him when he was a baby, would that give him the right to barge in on HER when she's topless?)

DEAR ABBY: I am a 26-year-old mother of a 2-year-old daughter. My husband has been urging me to have another child since our daughter was born. He was very disappointed that she was not a male, and this hurt me. Although he loves the girl, he still feels that he is missing something by not having a son. He thinks I am selfish for not wanting another child, but here are my reasons.

1. All during my pregnancy (not only in the morning) I was in a constant state of nausea.
2. We live 400 miles away from our parents, and I have no one to help me with the chores of child rearing.
3. There is always the possibility that the second child would be another girl. My husband says he wouldn't keep trying for a boy but he'd like one more chance.
4. I want to return to work when my child is of school age, and another child would postpone it to a later date.

I am a good mother, Abby, and I'm very happy with one child. We have talked it out, and are both immovable. I know that I have the final say, but he makes me feel so guilty that at times I'm almost ready to give in, and yet I don't know if it would be the best thing for me or the child.

What is the solution, if there is one? MRS. X JR.

DEAR MRS. X JR.: Feeling as you do, don't "give in." If you had another child in order to accommodate your husband or to relieve your "guilt," you would resent the child for the above reasons and children sense resentment. Have you considered adopting a boy your daughter's age? No nausea, no gambling on the sex, no time lost in returning to work. And you'd be giving a good home to a little boy who needs one.

DEAR ABBY: I have just returned from a baby shower where the family dog was allowed to wander around among the guests. The dog is very friendly and quite lovable, so nearly all the guests petted him, and the dog licked their hands. This included people who were preparing and serving the food, as well as those who had their fingers in the candies, handling baby presents, etc. I noticed that after playing with the dog nobody washed their hands before eating. We teach children to wash their hands before they eat. Doesn't that go for dog-lovers, too?

DISGUSTED DEAR—DISGUSTED: I should, but for some reason most dog-lovers do not feel contaminated after playing with a dog.

Steps Up Flavor
Use a fruit jar with a tight-fitting screw on lid. Crush several cloves of garlic, and cover with salad oil. Let stand in the refrigerator until ready to use. It steps up the flavor of salads, salad dressings, or meats.

Couple Reaches Mountain Top

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Christine Lewallen and Larry Hunt registered for a mountain climbing class at Clackamas Community College recently but not in the usual registrar's office.

Miss Lewallen, 22, and Hunt, 55, signed their registration papers at the summit of a 1,522-foot-high Broken Top Mountain, south of Sisters, Ore.

"They were in an earlier mountain climbing class and wanted to know if they could enroll for an advanced class," registrar Charles Adams explained. "I told them I'd enroll them but only if they met at the top of the mountain."

The two took Adams up on the offer and so the registrar climbed to top of Broken Top with the pair.

"It took about three and a half hours to make it to the top and there was barely room for us on the summit," Adams said.

Dr. Karen Kaigler

Midlanders Kin Conducts Study On Fashions

AUSTIN — On the subject of politics whom are you more likely to believe, Walter Cronkite or Spiro Agnew?

For the word on catalytic converters would you heed Ralph Nader or General Motors.

It seems that whether we accept information or not depends a great deal on the source of that information.

This area of concern for community researchers has been applied to the world of fashion by Dr. Karen Kaigler, assistant professor of home economics at The University of Texas. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kaigler, 2615 Cessna St., Midland.

In her recently completed dissertation, Dr. Kaigler studied the effects of the similarity of source and subject, or receiver, in the transmission of information — in this case, dealing with women's fashions.

Dr. Kaigler set out to study what sorts of sources women found most believable and acceptable as disseminators of fashion information. The results, she felt, might possibly have some application in marketing of fashions.

She began with 80 color photographs of women students on the Ohio State University campus. Through a process of pretesting, four photos were selected to be shown to about 100 Ohio State women, who formed her subject group.

Dr. Kaigler found that her subjects were more receptive to fashion information coming from sources which were neither very similar to, nor greatly different from themselves. The most effective source, in other words, was one in a sort of middle range.

Dividing her subjects into high and low innovators according to an innovativeness scale, she was able also to draw other conclusions about their responses to sources of fashion information.

"The high innovators responded more to a middle-range source which was novel and stimulating — unconventional, untrustworthy," she reports. "Low innovators responded most highly to a middle-range source who was considered credible (expert and knowledgeable) and trustworthy."

Both high and low innovators reacted differently to the information sources according to their perceptions of the sources' personalities.

High innovators were more likely to accept information about fashions from a source they did not necessarily like.

Low innovators, however, were most influenced by sources which they seemed to like the best.

The implications of Dr. Kaigler's study for the fashion world are not simple. There are a number of factors, she notes, which may determine the effectiveness of a particular source in conveying fashion information.

Those factors include similarity-dissimilarity — how much the source and subject are alike or unlike in appearance or taste in fashions. How the subject perceives the personality of the source — and even the personal characteristics of the subject herself.

These findings, Dr. Kaigler explains, are similar to those reported by researchers of the transmission of information of a general nature.

"The transmission of fashion information through interpersonal communication may be facilitated in the same manner as its general information," she concludes.

Dr. Kaigler, who is in the division of textiles and clothing, came to the University this fall from Ohio State University where she has been completing work on her doctorate. She also holds two degrees from Texas Tech University.

Luncheon, Fashion Show Held By Pre-School Club

St Ann's Pre-school Mothers' Club held its annual luncheon-style show Thursday at Midland Country Club.

Women's and children's fashions, furnished by Robinson's Smart Apparel of Midland, featured tailored daytime wear to the very softly flowing evening wear for the women, while the "holiday" emphasis was put on the children's wear. Footwear to compliment the fashions was provided by Jones-Roberts and Paul's Shoe Store.

Mrs. Larry Melton was commentator for the style show and Mrs. Melvin Dunn was pianist. Models were members of the club and their children. They were Mrs. Tim Kearney, Mrs. Franz Weis, Mrs. Doyle Hartman, Mrs. Pat Ryan, Mrs. Tom Craddock and Mrs. Jerry DeGroff. Also, Robin Cartwright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cartwright; Shannon Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ryan; Timothy and Kimberly Hartman, children of Mr. and Mrs. Hartman; Cally Hunt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Hunt; and Susie Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dunn. Autumn leaves and ribbons of green, brown and gold were used on guests tables along with centerpieces of live potted plants, which were given as special prizes.

Mrs. Rick Pattarozzi and Miss Cartwright won prizes donated by Midland merchants, while courtesy gifts were provided by a local banking facility.

Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Larry Dorsey, Mrs. Joe Reese, Mrs. Kearney, Mrs. Hunt, Mrs. Dunn, Mrs. Donald Cox, Mrs. Hartman, Mrs. Jim Thompson and Mrs. Ryan.

Connecticut Phone System Has Female Security Agent

NORWICH, Conn. (AP) — If you make obscene phone calls in Connecticut, be prepared to meet Dorothy McCoy, the telephone company's first female security agent in the state.

Mrs. McCoy tracks down people who make obscene, abusive or nuisance calls. She also goes after those who try to duck long-distance charges by misusing a credit card or giving someone else's number.

"We're not cops," she says. "Our function is to serve as a liaison with law authorities, not as authorities themselves."

But when someone persists in misusing the phone, Mrs. McCoy and her four male colleagues in the security section of Southern New England Telephone Co. swing into action.

The SNET response to the malicious caller is an electronic "trap box."

"A trap is not a tap," she said. "The telephone company never, never puts a tap on a phone line allowing us to listen to a conversation." Taps can only be ordered by a federal court and the company independently verifies the court order, she said.

A trap helps investigators trace an obscene call by freezing the connection so it can't be broken, she said.

"A call is not so easily traced as television would lead us to believe," she said. "But the trap holds the connection until we can determine the phone from which the call originated."

By determining who had access to the phone from which an obscene call was made, the caller can often be identified, she said.

Billing fraud, the other side of the investigative coin for Mrs. McCoy, takes two forms — misuse of a credit card and charging a toll call to someone else's number.

"When you're dealing with young people they are not always aware they are stealing," Mrs. McCoy said. "But that's what they're doing."

Many people involved in toll fraud can be caught because of the number they called, she said.

"People's calling habits are almost as individualistic as fingerprints," she added.

The numbers at each end of a long-distance call are recorded for billing purposes. If the caller gives a false number, investigators need only ask the person receiving the call who it was from, she said.

Computers are used to catch people who try to fool the system by using an expired or false billing code to duck a toll charge. The computer will not only block the call, she said, it will also record the phone caller was using.

"We are never going to get rid of all of it, but we have very few repeaters in billing fraud cases," she said.

TESTIFIES ON ATTEMPT TO LIMIT INVESTIGATION— CIA Official Says Action On Probe Based On Trust Of Haldeman

WASHINGTON (AP) — The deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency says an attempt to limit the Watergate investigation resulted from his trust of former White House Chief of Staff H. R. Haldeman.

Lt. Gen. Vernon A. Walters testified Friday at the Watergate cover-up trial that his investigations found no indication that CIA operations in Mexico would be jeopardized by uncovering how the Watergate break-in was financed.

Defendant Haldeman's lawyers tried to show he was legitimately worried about CIA interests when he ordered Walters to approach Acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray III on June 23, 1972.

Interviews Postponed

Gray has testified that two key FBI interviews were postponed for two weeks because of CIA interest in the case that was expressed by Walters a short time after the meeting with Haldeman.

Walters said that during the June 23 meeting with Haldeman, defendant John D. Ehrlichman and former CIA Director Richard Helms, Haldeman was told by Helms there was no CIA interest in Watergate.

Despite that, Walters testified, Haldeman said, "It has been decided that Gen. Walters will go to and tell Mr. Gray that a continuing investigation would uncover CIA assets."

"I thought Mr. Haldeman might have some information I did not," said Walters who at the time had been at the CIA for six weeks.

Earlier, one of Haldeman's lawyers, Frank Strickler, said he would show, "The CIA did have assets south of the border which could have been compromised."

Krogh, Liddy Involved In Clandestine Drug Fighting Campaign, Hunt Claims

NEW YORK (AP) — E. Howard Hunt says he, G. Gordon Liddy and Egil Krogh were involved in a clandestine drug fighting operation ordered by President Nixon before they shifted to political espionage which resulted in the Watergate break-in.

The world-ranging drug plan was originated by Liddy and approved by then-presidential adviser John D. Ehrlichman and Nixon after Liddy conceived an operation called "Breaking the Connection" in the summer of 1971. Hunt said the operation was part of a secret government effort which eventually convinced Turkey to stop growing opium poppies.

The "Breaking the Connection" plan was run from the White House office of Krogh, then an adviser to Ehrlichman, Hunt said.

"The point was to shut off the supply of heroin (made from opium) at the source," Hunt said in an interview here where he is publicizing his Watergate book "Undercover."

Sentenced Nov. 9

He gave most of the credit for the operation to Liddy and implied it was the drug operation that keeps Liddy silent despite his 20-year Watergate prison sentence.

Hunt said that in prison with Liddy are many of the men Liddy trapped in the drug operations.

Hunt was sentenced Nov. 9, 1973, to serve from 2½ to eight years and to pay a $10,000 fine for his Watergate role. He was released Jan. 2, 1974, after asking for a new trial.

At the time of the drug operation, Hunt said he was chief of covert operations for the Central Intelligence Agency in Western Europe.

He said joint French-American drugs raids were one result of the operation. He said he had nothing to do with operations in Turkey and that his work was limited to the north shore of the Mediterranean Sea and the Golden Triangle a region that stretches through the highlands of Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos and into Burma.

To Rest Case Early

In other trial developments, prosecutors said they would complete their case by Nov. 21, a week earlier than previously predicted.

Prosecutor James F. Neal said he has cut down sharply the number of witnesses he planned to call.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica summoned Richard M. Nixon's lawyer, Herbert J. Miller Jr., who said he would contact the former president within the next two or three days to ask if there is any objection to an independent medical inquiry into Nixon's health by three court-appointed doctors.

Sirica said the doctors selected by the judge have declined to examine Nixon's medical files or Nixon himself without permission obtained in advance.

The former president has been subpoenaed by lawyers for Ehrlichman, who say his testimony is vital to their case.

Kissinger Says Reports Of Military Buildup In Mideast Are Exaggerated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger says reports of a serious military buildup in the Middle East are exaggerated and there is little likelihood of a new Arab-Israeli war.

In a Friday news conference, Kissinger also said he expects the United States to increase its emergency food aid abroad by the end of the year in tonnage as well as value.

The secretary advised that no major announcements were expected from President Ford's trips to Japan, South Korea and the Soviet Union. He spoke in the same vein about his own separate visit to Communist China after Ford returns home. The administration party leaves Sunday.

Although the news conference was called to discuss the overseas travels, most of the 40 minutes were taken up with the Middle East, particularly the outlook for a new conflict.

"I don't foresee a Middle East war," Kissinger said. While reports of new military movements were being checked "on an urgent basis," he really thought they were "exaggerated."

Aides later said the reports Kissinger was talking about concerned Israeli claims of arms being unloaded from 20 Soviet ships in a Syrian harbor and word from Western officials in London that Israel has launched a limited mobilization.

"There is no evidence the Soviet Union is encouraging war," Kissinger said, although he pointedly referred twice to the need for the same kind of restraint by Moscow as is being exercised by the United States.

Regarding negotiations, the secretary said this is a time "for quiet diplomacy" and, therefore, he has no plans to resume his travels in the region in the immediate future.

The secretary seemed doubtful that the Israelis would abandon their adamant refusal to deal with the Palestinian Liberation Organization on the fate of the West Bank of the Jordan River.

But there was an apparent shift from Kissinger's previous position that only Jordan should negotiate with Israel about the West Bank.

This time he said that "the United States is not engaged in promoting any particular set of negotiations... (and) we have not pressed any particular ideas."

Criminal Label Doesn't Curb Users Of Pot, Aide Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marijuana users should not be treated as criminals, a top White House official has declared, stating that "criminal penalties have clearly failed to prevent widespread use of marijuana."

Dr. Robert L. DuPont, head of the White House Special Action Office for Drug Abuse Prevention, said persons arrested on marijuana charges have "suffered the trauma of arrest... (and) will carry around that criminal arrest record."

Addresses Group

Addressing the National Organization for Reform of Marijuana Laws (NORML), he said: "For those convicted, the stigma of criminality may close some doors of economic opportunity... and for some of them, these laws may close the doors of a jail cell."

He said 420,000 persons were arrested for marijuana offenses last year, a third higher than in 1972 and more than double the figure of four years ago. Most of those arrested are between the ages of 18 and 25. The majority of those arrested on marijuana charges are not convicted, he said.

U.S. Atty. Earl J. Silbert has told the Washington, D.C., police department his office would not file court charges against persons arrested with five or fewer marijuana cigarettes or up to a gram of the drug in any other form. The Washington Post

Two Years After U.S. Ended War Role, Many Disabled Vets Still Bitter

EDITOR'S NOTE: Two years have passed since the United States ended its role in the Vietnam ground war. But time hasn't extinguished the bitterness felt by many disabled veterans of that war.

By GORDON HANSON
DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Timothy Day masks his frustration behind a face half-paralyzed by an enemy bullet that tore into his cheekbone and came out behind his ear.

The 26-year-old former Marine corporal was wounded three times in Vietnam before he was 20.

He'd kept his disillusionment hidden for years, he says, but now it pours out bitterly.

"Of those who fought in Vietnam, pick anyone's death," Day challenges. "I wonder how many Americans know why that man died."

"Why do people hate us so bad for fighting in that war?" Day and two other disabled Vietnam veterans interviewed with him believe they have been put on the back shelf of the nation's conscience. So, apparently, do many others among the 338,851 servicemen listed by the Veterans Administration as disabled during the Vietnam era.

"They feel like they are rejected by their own peers," says Dr. Roger C. Floren, chief of the mental hygiene clinic at the VA hospital here. "They come back to their home towns and find the kids they went to school with have jobs and are married and don't want them around. They are criticized for going to war ... They feel that Vietnam, being an unpopular war, no one wants to listen to them."

Day, 5 feet 11, has the rugged features of actor Charles Bronson.

"We were caught in an American bad dream, and America wants to forget it happened," he says.

"But we don't want people to forget," insists Chester Stanger, 25, a burly former Marine sergeant whose left leg was blown off when he stepped on a North Vietnam mine.

Former Army Spec. 4 Maury Rahm, 27, bearded and with long brown hair, sat quietly in a wheelchair, occasionally moving only his left arm. His other limbs are paralyzed, the result of a sniper's bullet that smashed into his skull.

"But it was worth it to me to fight there," Rahm said slowly. "My only regret is the way we pulled out of that war. We lost it. There was no peace with honor."

Day and Stanger, and to a lesser extent Rahm, resent the public attention given to the prisoners of war when they returned last year from Hanoi.

"The people cared more about the POWs who were shot down than about any of the thousands of other Vietnam veterans," says Stanger. "They threw big parties for the POWs, offered them jobs, gave them cars."

"For the dead and wounded they didn't do a thing," adds Day.

"Thousands of other veterans share this anger toward the POW," says Dr. Peter Bourne, teacher of psychiatry at Harvard Medical School, a White House consultant on drug abuse, a man who spent a year in Vietnam during the war and since then has published papers on the problems of the returning combat veteran.

"I not only understand but share their bitterness because, having been there myself, the idea that a POW contributed that much more really got to me ... The disabled veteran doesn't necessarily want to be treated as a hero. He just wants recognition for the horrendous experience he has been through, and some consideration when he comes back for a job. There comes a resentment for having been wounded in a war this country didn't care about."

American participation in the Vietnam ground war ended two years ago. Today nearly half of the 338,851 Vietnam-era veterans with service-connected injuries have a disability rating of 10 per cent or more. Twenty-five thousand are rated 100 per cent disabled.

On an average day there are 9,450 disabled Vietnam vets in the nation's 172 VA hospitals, says a spokesman for the VA. And 5,800 of them are either psychotic or undergoing psychiatric treatment.

Personality disorders relating to behavior and to relationships with others are higher among Vietnam veterans than they were among the veterans of World War II and Korea, says Dr. Gordon Braatz, clinical psychologist at the VA hospital in Minneapolis.

Day and Rahm aren't optimistic about the future. They say they take each day as it comes. Each has two children, as does Stanger.

"My wife worries a lot about the bills," says Day. "I don't get drunk. I live for myself. But still my family is my future."

Stanger has "no regrets. I love everything I did. The past was beautiful. Life is too perfect for people to be hateful and headstrong. I got that attitude the day I was hit. I don't have to prove anything to anybody, now that I've proved it to myself."

Rahm, who said he went to Vietnam believing he was fighting for a cause, is severely limited by his disability — his paralyzed legs and right arm. He sleeps late and "musters for lunch. I don't like to drink, so at night I work in a shop in my garage. I spend most of my time there working on stereos and tape players. I flunked out in the second semester at electronics school, but I think I'll go back."

He said unemployment statistics are not available for the disabled veteran.

Stanger, a bearded, soft-spoken 6-footer, who weighs 220 pounds, wears an artificial leg and is a clerk-typist at the Des Moines VA Hospital. He had wanted to be a police officer.

He receives a $334 disability check each month. It once was $200 higher, but a review board decided that his disability wasn't as great as originally determined.

Disability pensions now range from $32 to $1,400 monthly.

He had to hear with," he said, gently adjusting the black leather patch he occasionally wears over his left ear.

He receives a $188 monthly disability check and $110 a week as a materials handler for a publishing company.

"It was the only place in town that would hire me, because I'm deaf in one ear."

A Veterans Administration spokesman in Washington said the unemployment rate among all seven million veterans of the Vietnam era "is lower than for the nonveteran population."

They would go up 15 to 18 per cent in 1975 if President Ford signs a bill approved by Congress to increase the VA budget from the present $13.7 billion annually to $14.1 billion next year. Ford has said he'll veto the bill as inflationary.

Rahm drives his specially equipped car to the nearby VA hospital several times a week for physical therapy. He gets a $1,297 disability check monthly and lives with his family in a comfortable $49,500 ranch house. The VA gave him $12,500 to help equip the house for his special needs.

The car has changed Rahm's life. "The first three years after I was wounded, I didn't have a car. Guys used to drive me around. If nobody was able to, I had to stay where I was at."

Day thought about his return from Vietnam. "It's sad to come back to a country that didn't believe in your fighting for it."

Rahm: "Some World War II people don't like our war."

Day: "What makes their war better than ours?"

Valley Chamber Is Glad To See 'Winter Texans'

WESLACO, Tex. (AP) — Colorful billboards just north of the Lower Rio Grande Valley proclaim, "Welcome home winter Texans—Valley folks are glad you're here."

When one looks at statistics from the Valley Chamber of Commerce, it's easy to determine why the valley is glad to greet persons who choose to spend at least part of the winter in the semi-tropical valley.

The chamber estimates that 1,276,000 persons, "winter Texans," they're now being called, visited the Valley last year. The chamber estimates each person stayed an average of six weeks and spent an average of $15.92 per day. That's $668.64 per person—a whopping contribution to the Valley's economy.

The billboards were erected by the chamber and a "winter

Texas" committee was formed to make the tourists more welcome. Someone apparently believes the term "winter Texan" sounds better than "snow bird" or even "winter visitor," the old terms.

C. L. "Smokey" Boyle has been named to head the "winter Texan" committee. Boyle said the project has two purposes.

"The first is to make them feel welcome and that they are part of the communities in which they spend their winters. The second is to make local people aware of what these folks really mean to the economy and to encourage a friendly, helpful attitude toward them," Boyle said.

In addition to the billboards, window cards and decals that say, "We Like Winter Texans," are being distributed.

Written Opinion Due After Hearing On Pornography Laws

HOUSTON (AP) — Three federal judges who peppered attorneys for law enforcement officials with hostile questions Friday, now have in their hands a decision on the use of laws to control sexually-explicit materials in Texas.

A written opinion is expected sometime soon on state laws used by police officers in Austin, San Antonio, San Angelo, Dallas, Fort Worth, Wichita Falls, Beaumont and College Station to prosecute operators of adult motion picture theaters and book stores.

U.S. District Court Judge John Singleton of Houston was managing judge for the hearing Friday and bombarded lawyers for police with question after question about the conduct of their clients in trying to suppress the sale and showing of sexual material.

Appeal Seen
Lawyers for all sides predicted that any decision by Singleton, U.S. Circuit Court Judge Joe Ingraham of Houston and U.S. District Judge William Taylor of Dallas will be appealed all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Singleton said the U.S. Supreme Court in the recent past has first ruled that local communities can set their own standards on what is obscene, then turned around and overruled local standards in a case involving the movie, "Carnal Knowledge."

"The Supreme Court is now the giant board of censors," Singleton said.

Tactics Hit
Arguments Friday centered on police tactics in enforcing pornography laws. They included in the 14 cases before the court:

—Obtaining a search warrant to look for obscene materials in theaters and book stores, then seizing the films in question as well as projectors, screens, coin machines, and even theater seats.

—Obtaining or threatening to obtain injunctions from district courts declaring movie theaters showing sexually-explicit films to be public nuisances. Operators would then be warned not to show films containing a long list of sexual acts, including intercourse, for a one-year period or face contempt of court charges.

—Charging a movie operator with commercial obscenity which carries a six-month jail sentence for exhibiting the picture "Deep Throat." Then charging the operator with use of a criminal instrument, a felony which carries a two-to-10-year sentence upon conviction. The "criminal instrument" in the indictment was the 16mm projector used to screen the film.

Projectors Seized
Singleton questioned Keith Burris of the Bexar County (San Antonio) district attorney's office about the seizing of four film projectors from the Fiesta Theater which was showing "Deep Throat."

"In a book case would you have to have the Linotype in evidence in order to test the obscenity of the book?"

Burris said he felt the seizing of the projectors was necessary for the state's case.

"You say in order for the state to make a case on the film they have to seize the projector?" Singleton asked.

"Yes sir," replied Burris. "Inconceivable!" Singleton said.

Burris had argued that in the San Antonio case the federal courts should let the state courts decide if the use of the criminal instrument charges was constitutional.

Singleton replied, "What they (the movie operators) are saying is, as a matter of law, this is bad faith harassment. I frankly think that if 1601 (the statute in question) is not unconstitutional or hasn't been unconstitutionally applied, then I just don't deserve to be sitting here."

Gerald Weatherly of the Dallas County district attorney's office argued that the state has the right to obtain an injunction and stop theaters from showing sexually-explicit films as long as the alleged obscene acts are set out in the injunction.

Weatherly said in a case he was involved in, the acts so stated included sexual intercourse, as well as other sexual activities.

"So procreation is obscene?" Judge Singleton asked.

"What you're saying is that if you don't do it and the court doesn't do it, it's obscene and a nuisance," the judge added.

Lawyers for King Arts Theater in San Angelo argued in the hearing that the state can't say a sexual act, in a motion picture makes the picture obscene. Each movie must be viewed separately on a case-by-case method, they said. Otherwise, too great a burden is placed on the operator of the theater.

Texas Buries TCU In 81-16 Massacre

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Texas Coach Darrell Royal tried everything possible to hold down the score in a record 81-16 Southwest Conference football rout of Texas Christian Saturday except punting on first down.

At one stage, Texas' even had its kicking specialists holding while the extra point holder kicked and missed.

"I don't like to score 81 points but I think it would have been more of a slam to punt on first downs," said Royal, who used 11 different backs and had his third string in the game in the middle of the second quarter.

The halftime score was an incredible 52-3. The final score was the most ever for a Texas team in an SWC game—the previous a 72-0 romp over TCU in 1915.

The point total did not quite reach Texas' 92-0 thrashing of Daniel Baker back in 1915.

"We were a 29-point favorite going into the game and I didn't think we would score 29 points," Royal said.

TCU Coach Jim Shofner added "I don't think Darrell was trying to run up the score. There was nothing we could do to hold it down. I feel I should apologize to him because we should be able to compete better than that."

Texas, the defending SWC champions, kept its slim title hopes alive with a 4-2 record and a 7-3 overall. TCU is now 0-6 in league play and 1-9 for the season.

The score was the worst ever administered a TCU team and established a new SWC record for combined points.

The Longhorns struck for two touchdowns 64 seconds early in the first period and the landslide was on.

The 52 points was the most in one half for a Texas team since it began playing football in 1893.

Akins scored three touchdowns on runs of 6, 1 and 7 yards.

Freshman Grayly Wyatt booted 18 and one yards for touchdowns and Mike Dean kicked a school record 56 yards field goal in the slaughter. The only time Texas punted in the first half TCU fumbled and the Longhorns cashed it into a touchdown.

TCU's only points in the first half was a 33 yard field goal by Tony Biazatti.

Texas defeated TCU 72-0 in 1915 in a previous record high scoring in their series which dates back to 1897.

Rams Butt UTEP

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP)—Running backs Ron Harris and Kim Jones teamed to score five touchdowns Saturday to lead Colorado State to a 56-24 Western Athletic Conference football victory over Texas-El Paso.

Jones tied a CSU record by scoring three touchdowns on the ground, while freshman Harris scored two TDs and totaled 117 yards on 19 carries.

The Rams, now 2-2-1 in conference and 4-5-1 overall jumped to a 14-0 first period lead on scoring runs of 19 and five yards by Jones and Harris.

But UTEP, which entered the game with three consecutive wins, struck back in the second period to take a 17-14 lead. Quarterback Bobby McKinley ran in for a touchdown from 11 yards out.

Then McKinley capped another drive by hitting Art Bevin

Houston Triumphs

HOUSTON (AP)—Substitute safety Larry Houston intercepted a fourth-quarter pass to set up Marshall Johnson's second touchdown as 14th-ranked and Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl-bound Houston rallied to a 13-10 victory over Memphis State Saturday night.

Lee Loses Coin Toss

ABILENE — Wichita Falls Rider won the toss and will be the host to Midland Lee at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Class AAAA regional football game at a meeting of officials from the two schools here today.

"I dug out an old silver dollar and hoped it would be lucky," said Midland Athletic Director Thurman (Tugboat) Jones. "Jim (Lee Coach Jim Acree) flipped it and Rider called it. They usually call it wrong, but not this time."

Lee will be allotted 3,800 tickets straddling the 56-yard line and the days of the sale will be announced. Pre-game prices are $3 for general admission and $1 for student. Student tickets at the gate will be $1.50.

FROM SWC DRESSING ROOMS— Sams Wishes It Were Today

By The Associated Press

Aggie fullback Bucky Sams, who contributed one touchdown in Texas A&M's 37-7 bombing of Rice Saturday said of Texas' 81-16 victory over TCU, "I wish we could play them tomorrow." The teams meet Nov. 29 the day after Thanksgiving.

Sams went on, "I don't care where we play them — at Kyle Field, Memorial Stadium or Bryan High Field; I feel like we could beat them any day this year."

A disconsolate Al Conover said, "It seems like a black cloud is hanging over our heads. We just have to keep plugging away and come back. We can." Rice is 1-1.

TCU offensive tackle Earle

Wang described Texas' 81-16 slaughter of the Frogs. "It's like climbing up hill with no arms and no legs. They just walloped us and they got those touchdowns on us real quick and never stopped."

TCU Coach Jim Shofner said, "This is the worst game I've ever been involved in. We were pitiful."

Texas center Bob Presch said, "We know we were a better football team than we showed last week and we wanted to be ready this time."

At Waco, Texas Tech Coach Jim Carlen said a sub quarterback Mark Jackson was the difference in Baylor's 17-10 win. Jackson, a sophomore, rushed and passed for 53 yards in the final 10 minutes after relieving injured Neal Jeffrey.

"He gave them an added dimension and moved the ball real well," said Carlen. "He's a great athlete and reminds me a lot of Joe Barnes." Tech's all-Southwest Conference quarterback last year. Tech tackle Ecomet Burley added, "When Jackson came in, it put more pressure on our ends and kind of opened things up."

Baylor Coach Grant Teaff boomed—freshman defensive back Ron Burns for Back of the Week after his interception set up a touchdown. "Now I know why we had to fight so hard for him," Teaff said.

Huskers, Buffs Triumph

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Quarterback David Humm tossed a pair of touchdowns passes to lead Nebraska's sixth-ranked Cornhuskers to a 35-7 victory over Kansas State in a Big Eight Conference football game Saturday.

The scoring passes gave Humm a career total of 41, extending his own Big Eight mark.

Nebraska opened the scoring with 1:47 remaining in the first period when Humm threw an 18-yard scoring strike to Don Westbrook, capping a nine-play drive that covered 69 yards.

Freshman Monte Anthony concluded the first-half scoring when he popped over from the five for Nebraska's second touchdown.

Nebraska took the second-half kickoff and needed just 2:31 to cover 72 yards, the last 37 coming as Humm hit Brad Jenkins in the end zone.

Colorado Downs Cowboys By 37-20

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Junior fullback Terry Kunz smashed for three touchdowns as Colorado brought Oklahoma State's vaunted defense to its knees in a 37-20 Big Eight football upset Saturday.

The victory over the 18th-ranked and Fiesta Bowl-bound Cowboys evened Colorado's record at 5-5 and gave the Buffs a chance at a first division finish in the conference under freshman coach Bill Malloy.

Rebels In Playoff—

Lee got out of a hole moments later when quarterback Greg Rensatt hit Milton Jones with a 30-yard pass.

"We didn't want to get fancy in the second half, because even though we had hoped to score, we still wanted the tie to advance into the playoffs," said Acree.

After the game, Midland and Lee players milled around before the Rebels got on the bus to head back to the Northwest school. Reddell went on to the bus to congratulate the Rebels and wish them well in the playoffs.

All's Well That Ends Well... Lee To Playoffs By Tie

By TED BATTLES
While no one was deliriously happy over Friday's 7-7 tie between Midland Lee and Midland, everyone went away satisfied.

The Rebels would have liked an outright District 5-4A championship instead of sharing it with San Angelo, but the deadlock propelled the co-champion Rebels into the bi-district AAAA playoffs against Wichita Falls Rider, the state's No. 1 ranked team, this week.

The Bulldogs would have preferred a victory, but they proved their point, that they were as good as anybody, since the Purple Pack battled to a 13-13 deadlock with San Angelo before the Lee tie and in both cases the champion had to come from behind to earn the tie.

For the 11,500 fans who showed up in brisk, invigorating football weather at Memorial Stadium, the satisfaction was the Tall City's first title and first playoff representative ever.

in 22 years of AAAA competition. And Midland fullback Mike Gaddy became the first Bulldog since Wahoo McDaniel did it in 1953 and 1954 to rush for 1,000 yards. Gaddy gained 54 yards in 19 carries to wind up with 1,013 yards for the year. First Title Since 1951 came up with Gaddy's fumble and Lee began to move. The key play came when Milton Jones, in the game for the first time, cut from slot back right over the middle to take a Greg Randall pass for a 32-yard gain to the Midland 36.

Midland's last football championship came in 1951 when Thurman (Tugboat) Jones, corner back Robert Johnson

Murray ripped right tackle for 12 and then got 12 more to the 10.

Oliphant Scores

From there Oliphant took it over in chunks of seven and three yards off right tackle and

Jones kicked the point for a 7-7 tie with 1:51 left in the half.

The Rebels were well aware that a tie was as good as a win as far as the playoffs were concerned and weren't about to do anything foolish or desperate. After a short punt in the third period, Lee took over at the Midland 49. McCleskey intercepted a third down screen pass at the Lee 46, but safety Russell Kellner broke up a third down Webb to Madden pass and Midland punted from the 43.

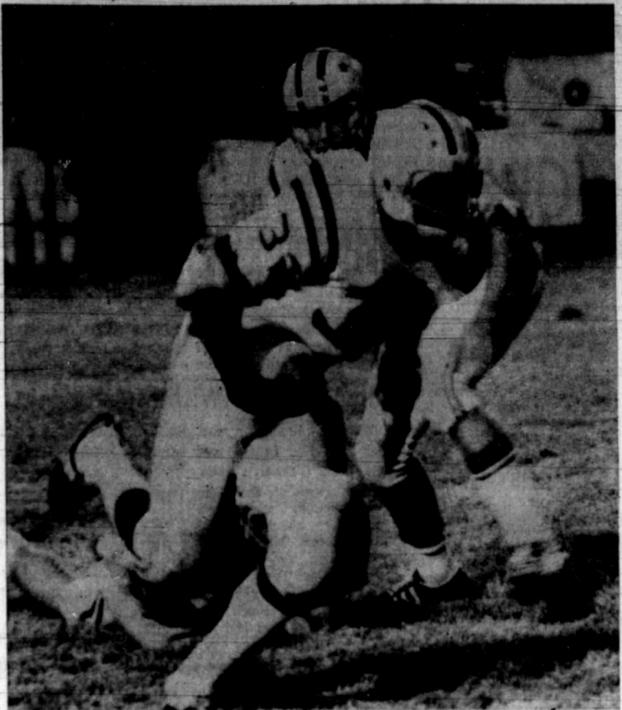

The Rebels couldn't move from their 30 so Cloyd kicked them out of trouble with a 51-yard boomer.

After that the Bulldogs just couldn't get out from under Cloyd's toe after a 44-yarder to the five and 45-yarder to the one in the final period.

Midland managed to drive out to the 19 from the latter and Gaddy's 46-yarder backed Lee up to its 31 with 5:46 left and it became just a question then of whether anyone would make a costly mistake.

Some mental errors. However, senior fullback Wayne Bullock ran for 124 yards in 25 carries, including a key 10-yard gain in the winning drive on fourth down and four at Pitt's 22-yard-line.

Clements also passed three yards to wide receiver Pete Demmerle early in the first period for the other Notre Dame tor, guided the Bulldogs to an AAA title.

But for a while Friday, it looked like the Rebels would be lucky to avert a rout as Midland stormed 60 yards on its first possession to a 7-0 lead and then reached fourth and two at the nine and third and one at the 28, only to be foiled in the second quarter, first by a slip and then by a fumble.

The first time, halfback Mike Hudspeth got the block needed on defensive end Junior Miller, but as Gaddy swung left and tried to cut off his inside foot, he slipped and the Dogs wound up a yard short. The second time Gaddy, in a leaping try for a first down at the Lee 28, lost the ball as he went over the pile and defensive back Robert Johnson recovered.

Rebels Strike Back

The Rebels notoriously slow starters, took advantage of what appeared to be a momentary reprieve to drive 73 yards and send fullback Mike Oliphant over for the tying touchdown.

After that it was a defensive tug-of-war with neither team mounting a threat. Tom Cloyd's booming punts in the second half, however, enabled Lee to maintain tactical advantage through most of the second half.

The defense led by Miller, tackle Keith Bishop, guard Buster Mathis, and back Blain Murray did the rest, holding a Midland offense that rolled up 169 yards rushing and 10 first downs in the first half to 38 yards and one first down in the second half.

Cloyd's punts, 43.1 yards, (including one 28-yarder) on seven tries, let Lee begin operations around midfield most of the time, but an equally stout Bulldog defense headed by linebacker Sam Zachery, end James Zachery, backs Sam Jordan and Dusty Hicks, linebacker Mitch Irvin and guard Randall McCleskey kept the Maroon Raiders in check.

Last Minute Scare

Nevertheless, both coaches John Reddell and Jim Acree received frights on fumbled punts in the last minute, which if recovered by the opposition would have set up field goal attempts.

Reddell gasped when Jordan bobbled a running catch at his 25, overran the ball, but managed to retrieve it in time and Acree when the same thing happened to Lee safety Murray 27 seconds later at his 25.

With the tie, Lee finished with an 8-1-1 record and Midland wound up 6-2-2. The Rebels shared first in district with a 5-1-1 mark.

Quarterback John Webb rolled right on a bootleg on Midland's first offensive thrust for 22 yards to the Lee 38, which set in motion the 12-play TD drive and hastily brought to an end any idle speculation in the West stands on the Wichita Falls-Rider winner back to the business at hand.

Thrusts at right tackle by halfback Mike Hudspeth and Kim Madden made it third and inches at the 28, but a motion penalty put the Pack back to the 33. Madden swept left end behind a Gaddy block for the first down at the 27 and a 10-yard sweep by Hudspeth, again behind Gaddy's key block, made it first down on the 14.

The Dogs used four downs to make it first down on the two and then Gaddy took it in in two-plays riding the left side blocking of end Sam Hubert, Tom Dunlop, Bruce Smith and Hudspeth for the TD.

Hudspeth Top Rusher

Hudspeth, who wound up with 77 yards in 13 carries, tops for the night, dashed off left tackle for 26 yards to the Lee 44 as the Bulldogs drove from their 20 to the Lee nine, a push that started late in the first period and carried into the second quarter.

End Terry Copeland's one-handed snag of a Webb pass for 15 yards gave Midland first

Irish Nip Pitt On Clements' Late TD Run

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Quarterback Tom Clements' three-yard touchdown run in the final minutes rallied fifth-ranked Notre Dame to a 14-10 football victory Saturday over 17th-rated Pittsburgh.

The Orange Bowl-bound Irish drove 55 yards in their final touchdown drive and were in trouble most of the game with a pair of fumbles, a blocked punt, a pass interception and some mental errors. However, the Panthers took advantage of those mistakes only twice.

Pitt kicker Carson Long broke a 7-7 deadlock in the third period with a 52-yard field goal attempt hit the crossbar and bounced over.

With just under eight minutes remaining in the game Notre Dame moved 55 yards in 12 plays, with the big gainer powerful senior fullback Wayne Bullock.

Bullock ran for 124 yards in 25 carries, including a key 10-yard gain in the winning drive on fourth down and four at Pitt's 22-yard-line.

Clements also passed three yards to wide receiver Pete Demmerle early in the first period for the other Notre Dame

Pitt threw a scare into the mostly partisan crowd of 59,075 by marching to the Notre Dame 22-yard-line as time ran out. Passes into the end zone on the final two plays were batted down by Irish defenders.

The victory gave Notre Dame an 8-1 season record and was the third loss in 10 games for the Panthers.

Kentucky Crushes Florida

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Crushing its second bowl-bound team in as many weeks, Kentucky, led by quarterback Mike Fanuzzi and a balanced ground attack, rolled over Florida 41-24 in a Southeastern Conference football game Saturday.

The Wildcats rushed for more than 300 yards on the ground as they overcame a five-minute disaster period in the first half in which Florida scored 17 points.

After Kentucky took a 6-0 lead on a 43-yard drive in the first period, Florida used three fumble recoveries to score two touchdowns and a field goal in 5:02 and take a 17-6 lead in the first quarter.

However, Kentucky drove 57 yards to score with a minute

Freshman Art Still blocked a Florida punt early in the third quarter, giving Kentucky the ball on the Gator one-yard line and Steve Campassi put Kentucky in front on the first play from scrimmage.

Florida freshman Tony Green brought the Gators back in front a few minutes later on a 72-yard gallop, but John Pierce, setting a school record for the second time this year, kicked a 52-yard field goal to tie the game at 24-24.

From there on, it was all Kentucky as the Wildcats, who beat bowl-bound Vanderbilt last week, scored touchdowns on 37 yards out with 8:38 left in marches of 53 and 23 yards and the game.

WOLVERINES STAY UNBEATEN— Michigan Buries Purdue

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Third-ranked Michigan posted its fourth shutout of the season and put on an impressive offensive show led by Gordon Bell's 166 yards rushing in thrashing Purdue 51-0 Saturday in Big Ten football.

The triumph was Michigan's 10th without a loss and seventh in the conference, assuring the Wolverines of at least a tie for the title for the fourth straight year. They meet Ohio State next Saturday in Columbus.

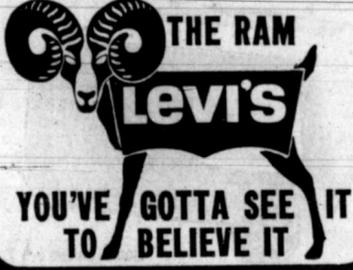

Bell rushed for 128 yards in the first half and scored on a six-yard run in the 21-point Michigan second quarter.

A 52-yard Dennis Franklin to Jim Smith pass in the second period broke the game open.

Bell's substitute, Rob Lytle, scored twice, while Michigan fullback Chuck Heater and wingback Gil Chapman got the other two touchdowns.

Heater's touchdown climaxed an 86-yard, 12-play drive in the second quarter. Bell, a 5-foot-9, 175-pound junior from Troy, Ohio, rushed for 69 yards on eight carries in the march.

Lytle's touchdowns were on a 36-yard pass from backup quarterback Mark Elzinga in the third quarter and on a seven-yard run in the last six minutes.

COM Eyes Swim Crown

By TERRY WILLIAMSON
With the temperature dipping into the 40s over the Fall City Friday and Saturday, it seemed a bit strange that they were actually holding the annual City of Midland Swim Team's Autumn Invitational Swimming Meet this weekend, but in the snug confines of the Mabey Memorial Swim Center things were going just like one has been conditioned to expect.

And that is that the COM crew was easily rolling toward another championship after two days of competition with a whopping 1,053 1/2 points. Second place Amarillo Aquatic Club, coached by Doug Russell, a former Midlander who won two gold medals in the 1968 Olympics, was a distant competitor with only 334 1/2 points. The Odessa Aquatic Club is making things interesting for second place, however, with 328 1/2 markers. Amarillo's Maverick Aquatic Club is fourth with 153 points, followed by Midland College with 97 points.

The meet comes to a close today with events starting at 9 a.m. There is no admission charge and the public is invited.

Mary Dowdle and Tracy Williams, both of the COM team, lead the girl competitors with three victories during the first two days. Lynn Sherman, a member of the AAC crew, and Monte Allwein of MAC pace the boys with three victories each.

COM members holding two victories with today's action yet to go are Heather Dunbar and Gretchen Koch. Odessa's Bobby Breaux and Natalie Penoyer both own two victories.

"The facilities here and the learn to swim program are a great incentive for the Midland kids," Russell said Saturday. "I think the kids are getting better instruction than when I was at their age. They learn more techniques and are starting younger. The competition gets better every year." COM may be able to win the meet without scoring another point, which is unlikely to say the least after viewing the way the COM and Oves handled the opponents the first two days.

Several Midland swimmers competing in "B" events of the meet turned in times that qualify them as "A" swimmers in those events. They include: Amy Hull, 10 & under 50 breast; Michael Sway, 10 & under 100 back; Joan Salzman, 13 & 14 200 free and 100 fly; Carrey Carrens, 13 & 14 200 free; Jeff Hubbard and Andrew Williams 10 & under 100 individual medley; Robert Oden, 11 & 12 500 free; Daniel Andrzewski, 400 individual medley, and Clay Spears, 13 & 14 500 free; Charles Beaty, senior 1650 free.

LONG GAINER—Midland Lee's Milton Jones is off on a 32-yard run after taking a pass from Quarterback Greg Rendall during Rebels' second period touchdown drive Friday at Memorial Stadium.

Buckeyes Bulldoze Hawks

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Archie Griffin and Champ Henson bulldozed for 253 yards Saturday and fourth-ranked Ohio State downed scrappy Iowa 35-10 to set up another final-game showdown with Michigan for the Big Ten Conference football title.

Henson ran for three touchdowns and Griffin rushed for 175 yards in 23 carries and scored a touchdown, but the sluggish Buckeyes had problems with 29-point underdog Iowa.

The victory pushed Ohio State to 9-1 this season and 6-1 in the conference. The Buckeyes host conference-leader Michigan next Saturday.

Rebounding from a controversial 16-13 loss to Michigan State, Ohio State capitalized on two Iowa turnovers for a quick 14-0 lead but led only 14-10 at halftime.

The Buckeyes, however, unleashed Griffin and Henson in the third quarter and marched 78 and 73 yards—all on the ground—for 28-10 lead that Iowa couldn't challenge.

Iowa, 3-7 over-all and 2-5 in the conference, had success straight game—a continuing record—carried the ball six times for 41 yards in the first 11-play touchdown march in the third quarter and had 30 yards in four carries in the second drive.

Iowa marched 71 yards in 15 plays for its first touchdown and picked up its other score with 1:39 left in the half on a school record 47-yard field goal by Nick Quartaro.

McCamey Back In Business

By TERRY WILLIAMSON
R-T Sports Writer

MCCAMEY — McCamey's surging Badgers shed off the frustrations of 16 years here Friday night by belting the Sonora Broncos 41-14 to earn the outright District 7-AA championship and the right to meet Alpine this week in the bi-district round of the state playoffs.

The last time the Badgers turned a championship trick was way back in 1957 when they were finally eliminated from the playoffs by Seymour in the quarterfinals. The McCamey victory left both squads with 9-2 season marks, but the Badgers escaped 7-AA play with a perfect 4-0 reading while Sonora finished with a 3-1 mark.

McCamey was a slight favorite going into the game, but the tilt had been billed as an offensive team against a defensive unit and the outcome was supposed to be close.

But after 358 yards rushing and another 53 in the airways, one wonders why Sonora even showed up to play against the Badgers. The 41-point outburst equaled the total number of points that Sonora had given up in nine previous games. That's how convincing the victory was.

Deadly Combination

The Badgers didn't go to the air that often, but when they did, it paid dividends. Quarterback Perry Graves, who completed only four passes, hit second team all-star Leland Bolen with three touchdown strikes from nine, six and 20 yards. His other completion was 18-yards to Bolen, and it set up another score.

Graves also added 90 yards to the rushing column and scored touchdowns of two and five yards to spear the McCamey attack. "We've worked hard to get this far and we knew we would do it," Graves said after the game.

The McCamey ground attack was again superb.

Penn State Flogs Ohio

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — Fullback Tom Donchez powered for three touchdowns and led Cotton Bowl-bound Penn State to an easy 35-16 football victory over Ohio University Saturday.

Donchez gained 99 yards on 19 carries and scored on runs of six, one, and nine yards for Penn State's eighth victory against two losses.

Penn State's Rich Mauti returned the opening kickoff 68 yards to the Ohio U. 28, and six plays later, Donchez ripped across from the six for a 7-0 lead.

In the second period, Donchez capped a 16-play, 97-yard drive with a one-yard dive, and tight end Dan Natale took a one-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Tom Shuman for a 21-0 halftime margin.

Ohio U. threatened twice in the first half, driving from its 26 to a first down at the State 10, and later moving to the Nittany Lions' three. But both times, State's defense held and took the ball on downs.

The Bobcats made it to the Penn State eight in the third quarter after recovering a fumble, but a fourth-down pass was dropped in the end zone.

Monahans Claims Another Co-Title

ANDREWS — The Monahans Loboes marched to a 26-8 victory over the Andrews Mustangs here Friday night to earn their third straight District 2-AAA co-championship with the Pecos Eagles, but more importantly, the Loboes got into the playoffs for the second year in a row.

Monahans will carry a 7-3 mark into the playoffs while Andrews fell to a 2-3 season of reading.

Wayne Petties carried for 143 yards in only 13 carries to push the talented senior over the 1,000 yard rushing mark for the second season in a row. Petties staked the Loboes to a 14-0 lead with a first quarter 64-yard TD romp and a three-yard scoring run in the second period.

Andrews narrowed the margin to 14-8 in the third period when Brian Arnold plunged over from the one and quarterback

Fullback Rick Stephens plowed up and down the field, carrying tacklers with him most of the night.

Stephens needed 55 yards in the contest to vault over the 1,000 yard mark for the season. After the game, he asked a reporter, "Hey, did I get my 55 yards?" The astonished scribe looked at the statistics and noted that Stephens had just managed 133 yards on the night while wondering where Rick had been during the game.

Tabb, Guterrez Tough

Halfback Ruben Acosta added 80 yards to the attack and Clifton Pettis, who played with an ankle injury, added 55.

The Badger defense had a couple of lapses in the contest when Sonora marched for two touchdowns, but lineman Eric Tabb and end Sam Guterrez had outstanding nights in the trenches.

Tabb, who worked over Sonora runners with great regularity, wondered how many yards rushing he had after the game. When told that he didn't have any, he replied, "Well, that's the same as last week."

Tabb, however, along with Guterrez had more playing time in the Bronco backfield than they did on the line of scrimmage and combined they dropped Sonora runners for a minus 22 steps during the night. They don't add that to the rushing column, but it has the ball moving in the right direction.

McCamey shot to a 21-0 lead with 9:18 still left in the second period and then just sat back and waited to the long awaited championship. Graves scored on a two-yard run and then passed to Bolen, who has fly paper for hands, for a first quarter 14-0 margin. Graves then came back early in the second period with a five-yard run before Sonora could get on the scoreboard.

Sonora Strikes

Juan Perez then capped a 77-yard Sonora march with a one-yard run to cut the gap to 21-7, but with just 32 seconds left in the half, Graves found Bolen leaping over a Sonora defender at the goal for a 20-yard TD bomb. That made it 28-7 at the half.

Sonora tried to stay in the game by opening the third period with a 56-yard march with quarterback Paul Browne getting the last 10.

On the next series, things returned to McCamey sanity with Graves hitting Bolen again with a six-yard scoring strike and with 14 seconds left in the third period Graves started a rollout, gained three yards before Sonora resistance formed, and then pitched to Stephens for the final 13 yards and a 41-14 final margin. Stephens kicked five extra points while missing only once.

Bobcats Share Title

But Big Prize Again Eludes Angelo

San Angelo wound up with a share of the District 5-4A title after beating Big Spring 27-6 Friday night, but the Bobcats had no place to go, since Midland Lee earned the right to represent the league in post-season play by virtue of a 21-7 victory over the Cats last month.

San Angelo and Lee each had 5-1-1 district marks and this is the fourth time the Bobcats have shared the title, but failed to gain the playoffs.

In other 5-4A action, Abilene Cooper defeated Abilene, 14-6, and Odessa Permian, bouncing back from 34-7 and 28-0 defeats at the hands of Lee and San Angelo, respectively, defeated Odessa, 30-20.

Playing with the hope that Midland would upset Lee and throw the title in San Angelo's direction, the Bobcats struck for first period touchdowns on short runs by David Fielder and Marvin Williams and made it 21-0 at half on Fielder's three-yard run.

Quarterback Mark Moore put Big Spring on the scoreboard with a 28-yard pass in the third period, but Larry Thompson's 87-yard run gave the Bobcats their final margin.

Cooper punched over a couple of middle period scores for a 14-0 lead before Abilene struck on a 35-yard Jimmy Minor to Harold Jones pass to avert a shutout.

A 96-yard opening kickoff return by Woodie Shepard and a seven-yard TD run by Darrell Shepard sandwiched around Jerry Burger's 22-yard field goal, gave OHS a 13-3 first period lead in a wild affair at Odessa.

Odessa still led by 20-16 at half when Woodie Shepard scored on a 63-yard pass, but Kevin Smith, making his first start at wingback of the year, sneaked over from the one for a fourth period TD to win it. Smith also scored on an 11-yard run in the second quarter.

Rankin Falls to Third Straight District Crown, 33-6

Crane Spanks Reagan, 30-7

CRANE — The Crane Golden Eagles ended the 1974 grid season on the upbeat here Friday night with a sound 30-7 victory over the Reagan County Owls in a District 7-AA outing.

The Eagles finish the year with a 5-5 season mark and a 2-2 district record while the Owls fell to 1-9 and 0-4 in a rebuilding year after winning the 7-AA championship last year.

Crane took a 6-0 lead in the first period when Ronald Jeffery scored from seven yards out, but the Owls roared back to take a 7-6 lead in the initial period when Kenneth Hartzell scored on a 10-yard pass from sophomore quarterback Jennings Teel and Hartzell's PAT. Bobby Rozell gave the Eagles enough for the margin of victory in the second period with a 33-yard field goal, and the Golden Birds then exploded for 21 points in the third period to put the clamps on victory.

Bill Lewis scored on a 33-yard pass from quarterback Mike Roseberry and Randy Ford broke a 51-yard scoring romp while freshman Ricky Rives scored on a fine 13-yard run. Rozell was true on all of the extra point tries.

LAMESA ROMPS, 39-24—Tors' Robinson Returns to Form

LAMESA — The Lamesa Golden Tornadoes salvaged a strike and a 21-6 lead in the victory in their last outing of the season here Friday night with a 39-24 bombing of the Sweetwater Mustangs to move out of the District 3-AAA cellar.

Lamesa finishes the season with a 4-6 record and a 1-5 loop mark while Sweetwater fell to 2-7-1 and 0-5-1.

This night belonged to fullback Melvin Robinson, however. The talented senior led all of West Texas in rushing last year. Against Sweetwater, Robinson returned to form with 250 yards rushing and four touchdowns.

Sweetwater scored first in the first quarter when Armando Gomez tallied from seven yards out, but Robinson gave Lamesa a 7-6 lead in the second period when he scored on a three-yard plunge and Mike Moore connected for the PAT, his first of three on the night.

Robinson scored on a 45-yard run in the second period and quarterback Guy Price passed

Greenwood Sweeps Pair

Greenwood swept two games from Ira Friday night in basketball action, winning the boys game, 80-49, and the girls contest, 93-52.

Ira did manage to win the boys B-team game, 39-37.

In the boys varsity game, Greenwood was paced by Danny Pruitt's 25 points with David Williams 15 and Wayne Womack's 12.

Black, Cole Pace Devils Over Iraan

RANKIN—Bolstered by three touchdowns by fullback Donnie Cole and two more by halfback Ernest Black, the Rankin Red Devils rolled past the Iraan Braves, 33-6, to clinch their third consecutive District 6-A title here at Red Devil Stadium Friday night.

In addition to a potent offense, Rankin displayed a quick, hard-hitting defense led by Curtis Copeland which made its own breaks during game forcing three Iraan fumbles, coming up with three interceptions, and blocking a punt.

Defense was the name of the game, however, for both teams during the first quarter. Neither squad was able to pick up a first down and exchanged punts twice before the first break of the contest occurred.

Senior guard Curtis Copeland broke through the Iraan line on a fourth down and 12' situation to block Ubaldo Elguea's kick and recover it on the Nile. Three plays later it was Cole off tackle for score. Randy Schmitz' conversion made it 7-0 with only seconds remaining in the first quarter.

The Red Devils really got untracked in the second period. After a Braves' punt, Rankin took over on its 25. Six plays later at the midfield stripe quarterback Eric Fitzhugh pitched out to Black, who had 177 yards rushing, and the swiftly sped 50 yards for the second Rankin tally of the evening.

On the ensuing kickoff, Iraan's Richard Ortiz received the ball and darted up the middle for 32 yards before being tripped up by Bobby Johnson with a TD-saving, shoe-string tackle.

The Braves seemed to fire up the returns, but it was extinguished on the first play. Iraan quarterback Reagan Daniel's pass was tipped by linebacker Richard Loftin and intercepted by Copeland at the 39. A double reverse to end Freddy Plogens, who powered his way to the one, set up the plunge by Cole for the TD.

The next Iraan possession saw the Braves pick up their initial

DEPRESSION ART "FOUND" 1937 U.S. Gov't. Art Prints

Imagine, if you can, finding several thousand sets of antique prints of the world's greatest paintings that were lost for more than 35 years! It actually happened — and this is the true story of the discovery of that lost treasure.

Eleanor Roosevelt

Back in 1937, immediately following the depression years, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and a select group of a dozen nationally prominent people formed a voluntary national committee for art appreciation to create an art program that would give the public a well-needed moral lift. It was the committee's decision to select the world's most famous paintings from the 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th, and 20th centuries — the best paintings of Matisse, Van Gogh, Renoir, Picasso, Gauguin, Titian, etc., and to reproduce them in full color as perfectly as humanly possible and make them available to the public at a price within the reach of nearly everyone.

Abandoned in 1937

For some unknown reason, after a quantity of these beautiful reproductions were made, the entire project was abandoned and this collection of perfect reproductions was stored in a Brooklyn warehouse, where they remained undisturbed since 1937.

Through a series of rare coincidences, the lost collection was "rediscovered" and leading lithographers and art critics agreed that the subject matter and quality of detail and color reproduction was incredibly accurate. Over $500,000.00 was spent to make finely engraved glass printing plates. It would be impossible to reproduce prints such as these under existing methods, and for that reason these prints are literally collectors' items. Once they have been sold, there will be no more available. A truly excellent art "investment" that makes a fabulous gift.

Available to Public

These authentic original 1937 prints have been appraised by the American Appraisers' Assoc. at $7.00 each print. Now, these are finally available to the public at $19.95 for a collection of 18 prints. Send cash, check or money order to: U.S. Surplus, Dept. JB, P.O. Box 605, Tarzana, Calif. 91356. Fully GUARANTEED. Certificate of authenticity given with each set. Master Charge and BankAmericard OK (give card number). Adv.

Tar Heels Rip Army, 56-42

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Quarterback Chris Kupec passed for four touchdowns, ran for one and set up another in North Carolina's 56-42 college football victory over Army Saturday.

A crowd of 38,900 saw the Sun Bowl-bound Tar Heels score 20 touchdowns in each quarter and run their season record to 6-4 as Kupec turned in a brilliant passing performance.

North Carolina struck quickly for a first-period touchdown on a five-yard pass by Kupec to cap a 74-yard drive. Army retaliated by going 83 yards with Markus Hardy scoring on a 23-yard run.

North Carolina went ahead 14-7 on a one-yard run by Mike Voight after Kupec hit Jimmy Jerome on a 41-yard pass. The Cadets tied it at 14-14 in the second quarter.

RANKIN—Bolstered by three touchdowns by fullback Donnie Cole and two more by halfback Ernest Black, the Rankin Red Devils rolled past the Iraan Braves, 33-6, to clinch their third consecutive District 6-A title here at Red Devil Stadium Friday night.

In addition to a potent offense, Rankin displayed a quick, hard-hitting defense led by Curtis Copeland which made its own breaks during game forcing three Iraan fumbles, coming up with three interceptions, and blocking a punt.

Defense was the name of the game, however, for both teams during the first quarter. Neither squad was able to pick up a first down and exchanged punts twice before the first break of the contest occurred.

Senior guard Curtis Copeland broke through the Iraan line on a fourth down and 12' situation to block Ubaldo Elguea's kick and recover it on the Nile. Three plays later it was Cole off tackle for score. Randy Schmitz' conversion made it 7-0 with only seconds remaining in the first quarter.

The Red Devils really got untracked in the second period. After a Braves' punt, Rankin took over on its 25. Six plays later at the midfield stripe quarterback Eric Fitzhugh pitched out to Black, who had 177 yards rushing, and the swiftly sped 50 yards for the second Rankin tally of the evening.

On the ensuing kickoff, Iraan's Richard Ortiz received the ball and darted up the middle for 32 yards before being tripped up by Bobby Johnson with a TD-saving, shoe-string tackle.

The Braves seemed to fire up the returns, but it was extinguished on the first play. Iraan quarterback Reagan Daniel's pass was tipped by linebacker Richard Loftin and intercepted by Copeland at the 39. A double reverse to end Freddy Plogens, who powered his way to the one, set up the plunge by Cole for the TD.

MIDLAND, LEE OPEN CAMPAIGNS THIS WEEK

Bulldogs, Rebels Hope To Continue Cage Monopoly

By BOB DILLON

The 1974-75 basketball season gets under way Tuesday when the Midland Bulldogs travel to Andrews for their opener against the Class AAA Mustangs while Midland Lee waits until Friday when the Rebels entertain Lubbock Coronado in the Lee Fieldhouse.

The Rebels chalked up a 28-5 won-lost record last year, losing to Richland in the bi-district playoff game, 82-67, while Midland wound up 20-12 and capped it's season with a 63-60 win over the Rebels in the final game of the year.

Blackwell, a 6-0 sharpshooter, gunned in 247 points in 14 loop games last season to wind up as the No. 4 scorer in the loop. He was an all-district choice.

Besides Blackwell and Miller, other lettermen back include 6-4 Jeff Jackson, 6-0 Gary Parson and 6-2 Farish. "The only thing we lack is a good big man," said Cagle, who feels that his Bulldogs will contend again this season.

Darden, who had 97 yards in 19 carries, smashed over from the one yard line and again from the four as West Texas clinched its first winning season since 1970. The Buffs are now 6-4 for the year and 3-2 in MVC play. North Texas dropped to 2-6-2 and 1-3-2.

IN TOURING PRODUCTION—Pictured above are two members of the cast of "Ethan Allen and the Green Mountain Boys," a touring production which will have Thursday through Saturday performances this week at Odessa's Permian Playhouse. The production is presented by the Performing Arts Repertory Theater of New York.

Young People's Concert Series Begins Monday

The first young people's concert of the current season will be presented by the Midland-Odessa Symphony at 1 p.m. Monday in Midland High School auditorium.

Fourth, fifth and sixth grade students in the city will be bused to the auditorium for the concert which will present "Music, American Style."

Music from outstanding American films plus folk songs, Broadway show tunes, country and Western music, selections from the famed Boston "Pops" repertoire, rock music and patriotic melodies will be combined with dialogue between elementary students on symphony orchestras and their traditions. Knowledge of concert manners and pride in their local orchestra will provide a helpful by-product from the experience, spokesmen say.

An additional high point of the event will be the random selection from the audience of a student conductor to lead the orchestra in a rock-and-roll version of "Scarborough Fair."

Special soloist for the event will be 10-year-old Margaret Whitehead of Odessa who will perform selections from "Fiddler On The Roof." The young lady plays a half-size violin and began studying when she was three years old. Her teacher is Dorothy Croft of Odessa. This past summer the young violinist received the best musician's award at the world "Our Little Miss" beauty pageant at Baton Rouge, La. She has taken first place honors in the Pauline Slaton competition at Odessa for the last four years and, when only five, was guest soloist for the Texas Tech University music department in a performance of the Vivaldi Concerto in A minor. She has appeared on local and area tv. She also plays regularly with the Bonham Junior High School orchestra.

The Monday concert will be a culmination of fall study by

Repertory Group To Perform At Playhouse

ODESSA — Permian Playhouse, Odessa's community theater, will bring Broadway to the Permian Basin when it presents "Ethan Allen and the Green Mountain Boys" in a series of performances here this week.

The production from the Performing Arts Repertory Theater (PART) of New York will have performances Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, with matinee presentations Saturday and Sunday afternoons. These public performances will be preceded by special presentations Wednesday and Thursday afternoons for fifth and eighth grade students in the Ector County school system.

Admission to the public performances Thursday through Sunday will be $4 for the general public, and $2 for students as well as Permian Playhouse season members.

"Ethan Allen and the Green Mountain Boys" is a special bicentennial presentation of the Permian Playhouse, just as PPH's recent production of the young people annually to produce. The PART production due here this week is a youthfully-gearred musical presentation of the legend of Ethan Allen and the Green Mountain Boys. Set in New Hampshire in 1775, just ahead of the first drum roll signaling the start of the War for Independence, it demonstrates the zeal of settlers who fought to save their farmlands from annexation and sale by the sheriff of New York under powers given him by the English king.

Reserved-seat tickets for the five public performances of "Ethan Allen and the Green Mountain Boys" are on sale daily at the Permian Playhouse, 310 W. 42nd St. The theater telephone number is 362-2329.

'George's Jean' Opens Friday

ODESSA — Final rehearsals are under way for the premiere of a new play, "George's Jean," which will open Friday night at the Globe of the Great Southwest.

The play by Regina Walker McCally, wife of Globe producer-director Charles D. McCally, is a romantic paraphrase on the life of the late George Jean Nathan, the noted American drama critic and literary figure, and his wife, actress Julie Haydon.

The play highlights Nathan's career spanning more than a half-century. It was a career in which he wrote some 45 books, co-edited the Smart Set magazine and, with H. L. Mencken, founded the American Mercury magazine and also a career in which he also helped bring to prominence such talented novelists and playwrights as F. Scott Fitzgerald, Eugene O'Neill, William Saroyan, Tennessee Williams, Sinclair Lewis, Theodore Dreiser and Sherwood Anderson.

Served As Critic

Nathan served as critic variously for Life, Newsweek, Scribner's, Esquire, The Saturday Review and Theatre Arts magazines, and he had a syndicated column in the nation's leading newspapers for years.

Miss Haydon, whom he married late in his life, achieved stardom on Broadway via such dramatic successes as "Shadow

Tickets Go On Sale Very Soon At MCT

The Theatre Centre box office will open Thursday morning to accept seat reservations from Midland Community Theatre members for all performances of MCT's season-closer, "How the Other Half Loves." The production will open Nov. 29.

Sale of single tickets to the general public will begin Nov. 25.

"How the Other Half Loves," an international comedy hit since its debut in London's West End back in 1970, is from the pen of Alan Ayckbourn who is rapidly earning his reputation as a "British Neil Simon."

Ayckbourn's "How the Other Half Loves" has had highly successful productions in Paris and New York and several other theater capitals in recent years. The New York production starred Phil Silvers and Sandy Dennis.

The comedy focuses on three suburban couples. Their hilarious misunderstandings, their real and imagined infidelities and some complicated office politics are the mirth-making ingredients of the play.

In MCT's production, staged and directed by Art Cole, the cast is headed by Al Beatty and Sandra McBride as Frank and Fiona Foster. Bob Hammond and Debbie Reed will be seen as Bob and Teresa Phillips, while the third couple in the play, William and Mary Detweiler, will be portrayed by Monty Cottier and Judy Sullivan.

Following its post-Thanksgiving opening on Nov. 29, the comedy is scheduled to continue delighting MCT audiences in performances through Dec. 14.

SNYDER — Paintings and drawings by Marilyn Todd and ceramics by Stan Jacobs, both of Midland, are currently on display in the Fine Arts Building at Western Texas College here.

Jacobs is art department chairman at Midland College and Miss Todd teaches art courses there. She formerly taught at Florida Keys Community College.

Ceramics in the show include stoneware, covered jars, bowls and teapots as well as pieces in the raku technique. Miss Todd's works include oils, watercolors and acrylics. The exhibition is on view from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day except Friday when the Fine Arts building closes at 4 p.m. There is no admission charge. The exhibition will continue through Nov. 30.

Texas Opera Theater Sets 'Play Of Herod'

HOUSTON — Texas Opera Theater, the newly-formed touring company of the Houston Grand Opera, will begin its first full season with performances of a Medieval church drama, "The Play of Herod," late this month.

"Herod," to be presented in an English translation to the accompaniment of an ensemble of authentic instruments of the Medieval times, will have its first presentation Nov. 27 in the Holy Rosary Catholic Church of Houston. Additional performances in Houston, Texas City and Clear Lake City through Dec. 13 will be followed by presentations in St. Mary's Cathedral at Galveston on Dec. 14 as part of Galveston's "Joy to the World" Christmas festival. Then, a additional performances will take place in Houston churches through Dec. 20.

Texas Opera Theater, or TOT, was formed during the Houston Grand Opera's 1973-74 season to take opera "to the people" in the East Texas-Gulf Coast area, in recognition of the fact that the people of cities in the region cannot always come to the opera in Houston. The TOT company is made up of promising young singers just embarking on professional operatic careers. The TOT season repertory includes selected major operatic works as well as lesser-known operas, and church dramas such as "Herod" to be performed in the region in coming weeks.

Tech Thespians To Do 'Arsenic And Old Lace'

LUBBOCK — Murder is no laughing matter—unless, of course, it happens to be the theme of a classic such as "Arsenic and Old Lace," the world famous comedy which will be presented in Texas Tech's University Theater, beginning Friday.

The Tech production of Joseph Kesselring's melodrama about the eccentric Brewsters, their various hangups and homicidal tendencies, will feature an all-student cast under direction of Clifford Ashby.

Five performances are scheduled, beginning at 8:15 each evening through Nov. 26. Tickets are $2.50 for adults, $1.75 for area students and $1 for Tech students with validated ID cards. A student group rate also is available at $1 per ticket for groups of 15 or more, plus two complimentary tickets to sponsors. Reservations may be made by telephoning the theater box office, 742-2153.

Heading the cast of zany but dangerous Brewsters are Lynn Robertson of Abilene and Toni Cobb of Lubbock as the elderly spinsters, Matha and Abby, whose compassion for the lonely lead them to add a dollop of poison to the elderberry wine they serve to friendless, old gentlemen. The murderous nephew Jonathan is played by Brad Williams of Plano. His evil accomplice, Dr. Einstein, is portrayed by James Duff of Arlington. Reg Grant of Oakville is cast as Teddy, the freaked-out Brewster who thinks he is Theodore Roosevelt, charging up San Juan Hill.

Randy Cordray of Humble plays the role of Mortimer Brewster, the drama critic and only sane member of the clan, with Lee Garrison of Channing as Elaine, his unsuspecting fiancée who suddenly finds herself the object of an unwarranted attack.

"Arsenic and Old Lace" has been a popular vehicle for stage and screen since its premiere on Broadway in 1941 with Josephine Hull and Jean Adair as the Brewster sisters and Boris Karloff as the murderous nephew. A 1944 motion picture version starred Miss Hull, Cary Grant, Peter Lorre and Raymond Massey.

Upcoming Ballet Appropriate For Season

A bright, sparkling ballet appropriate to winter and the holiday season will highlight Permian Civic Ballet's annual "Christmas Gala" coming up here Dec. 5.

"Les Patineurs" (The Skaters) has been delighting audiences around the world since its premiere presentation by the Vic-Wells Ballet at London's Sadlers Wells Theater back in 1937. The work had its first U.S. production by Ballet Theatre in New York City in October, 1946.

The delightfully insouciant "Les Patineurs," mounted to music by Giacomo Meyerbeer as arranged by noted ballet conductor Constant Lambert, displays strong classical movements but also contains many non-serious moments and provides an audience with sheer entertainment. It is a "fun" ballet.

World-famous choreographer George Balanchine has noted that while many people comment on how similar ice skating is to ballet, "Les Patineurs" turns the tables and shows its viewers how ballet can imitate ice skating! "Les Patineurs" has no real story but simply organizes what one might see at a skating party of young people on a snowy winter evening: A pair of sweethearts, carefree young ladies and young men out on a fun-filled lark, and awkward but endearing young beginning skaters.

Permian Civic Ballet's production of the ballet will feature several guest artists in addition to members of the dance company. The lead part of the Blue Boy will be danced by Bill Martin-Viscount of Fort Worth, artistic advisor and part-time artist-in-residence for Permian Civic Ballet, while Mary Motter, a member of the resident company, will dance the white pas de deux in "Les Patineurs."

Ribbon-Cutting Ceremony Held By Lexington

The new Lexington Apartments and Motor Inns at 1003 S. Midkiff St., was opened formally at a Ribbon-cutting ceremony held at 11 a.m. Saturday, with the Midland Chamber of Commerce in charge of arrangements.

An open house followed the ribbon-cutting, continuing until 4 p.m. Refreshments were served to the visitors.

Members of the Wilkins family of Dallas, owners of the new facility, were on hand for the grand opening. W. H. "Bill" Collins, editor of The Reporter-Telegram and a past president of the Chamber of Commerce, officiated at the ceremony. He also cut the ribbon, assisted by five-year old Zolan Wilkins III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Zolan Wilkins Jr.

City Councilman Jim Kent voiced official greetings from the City of Midland, and Commissioner John Thomas spoke in behalf of the County of Midland.

Zolan Wilkins Sr. responded for The Lexington owners, and introduced other members of his family, including his wife and sons Zolan Wilkins Jr. and Ric Wilkins.

Harper Linecum, general manager of the Wilkins enterprises, also spoke briefly, expressing appreciation for the warm and sincere welcome extended Lexington personnel by Midland residents, organizations and business firms.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mullins are the resident managers of The Lexington.

Coal Strike Brings Many Layoffs

By STEPHEN H. MILLER
NEW YORK (AP) — It appeared this past week that the nation might avoid a prolonged coal miners strike, but the effects of even a short strike and a settlement remained undetermined.

Some 120,000 United Mine Workers struck across the nation Tuesday. A tentative settlement was reached by Thursday, but union officials were still debating it Friday night.

In practically its first hours, the strike led to related layoffs of some 20,000 workers in steel mills and on coal-hauling railroads. More layoffs, fuel shortages and economic disruptions were virtually certain during the course of a long strike.

Some to predict other unions would seek hefty contract settlements, adding to pressure for higher prices.

The price of coal has risen from about $14 a ton to about $40 a ton over the last year and the settlement proposal was expected to push it even higher.

The coal strike came during the week when the White House conceded the nation was "moving into a recession."

The economic pattern this past week saw the rate of new car sales in the United States in the first third of November fall 38 per cent from the year before.

General Motors announced it was temporarily closing four compact car assembly plants and Fisher Body plant, idling 13,700 workers. The announcements pushed layoffs in the auto industry to 69,000.

Chrysler, meanwhile, cancelled plans to lay off 2,100 workers in St. Louis, but rumors spread of a December slowdown of almost all other Chrysler plants.

An application also was filed last week by MGF 74-D, Ltd., Midland, for a permit to sell $250,000 in securities in Texas.

We're building our new 14 story
Midland National Bank Tower.

MNB is beginning construction of an attractive new tower. There are two purposes for the building, 1) to provide more modern banking facilities, and 2) to help meet the growing demand for downtown office space. In addition to all the other improved service facilities, there will be twelve new drive-in tellers to serve you better.

Midland National Bank will occupy four floors. The balance of the building will be used by other business firms. We expect to be in our new quarters by early 1976.

Meanwhile, please continue doing your banking at the familiar location, 401 West Texas in downtown Midland, Texas.

... Touching Up Petroleum Museum Piece

Oil Museum Needs Items

Wanted: flat irons, posters, churns, old phonograph records, dime-store jewelry, and a few other things.

The Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Midland, has issued an appeal for attic-type stuff that will help it re-create a "boom town room" of the mid-1920's and early 1930's, Homer T. Fort, executive vice president of the museum, said.

To help Permian Basin residents tick off their possessions from this period, the museum has released a list of possible gifts typical of the time.

"Depression glass" from cereal boxes, children's jacks, old dolls, souvenir pillows, candy jars, old hats, branding irons, fancy radiator caps, buggy whips.

And wash pots, picnic baskets, early comic books, collapsible cups, Big Ben alarm clocks, yellow slickers, boots and high-top shoes, posters, boys' knickers and caps, union suits, small trunks, small wood stoves.

America's Basic Energy Position Very Little Improved, Journal Says

TULSA — The nation's basic energy position has improved very little over the past year, The Oil and Gas Journal says in a special report in its current issue.

A year ago, the Journal recalls, the entire oil industry was scurrying to find crude supplies to replace volumes lost by the Arab export embargo, to this country. For the first time in its modern history, spare U.S. oil-producing capability was inadequate to cover an emergency. Fears of an industrial and transportation shutdown were widespread.

The embargo has long been lifted, crude supplies worldwide are ample even if quadrupled in price, and product stocks in the United States are in better shape this season than a year earlier.

"The real tragedy of the months between, however, is that so little has been achieved toward improving the nation's basic energy position," the Journal notes.

Impact of the October 1973 embargo was not felt until mid-December because of the long supply lines to this country from the Middle East, the business magazine says. Full effect of the reduced flow came in the first quarter of 1974 when average imports fell some 2.2 million barrels daily below expectations. The crisis was met only because U.S. consumption at the same time was reduced by 2.7 million barrels daily the first quarter.

Domestic demand has continued lower through the first 9 months of the year, showing a 3.5 per cent drop to 16.7 million barrels daily. But the nation has not been able to cut its reliance on imported crude and products because of a 355,000 barrel daily decline in domestic production of crude and natural-gas liquids. The upshot is that total imports are running only 94,000 barrels daily less than last year, forcing the nation to pay over $25 billion for foreign oil.

Other effects of the embargo: The Gross National Product experienced a 7 per cent decline in the first quarter whereas a modest increase generally had been expected. Unemployment rate rose .5 per cent from the pre-embargo rate. Rapid increases in world oil prices following the embargo raised energy costs through the world economy. About one-fourth of the increase in U.S. wholesale prices this year have been attributed to increased energy costs. The dollar outflow poses the threat of further inflation in the U.S.

Americans had four options to meet the oil shortages created by the embargo, the Journal article points out, adding that "in so doing they learned some valuable lessons about future approaches."

The options were: cut consumption sharply, convert to alternate fuels, increase domestic production on an emergency basis, and allocate short fuel supplies among consumers on a priority basis.

Petroleum Council's breakdown showing just how the nation reduced consumption 2.7 million barrels daily in the first quarter of the year is interesting. An estimated reduction of 1,010,000 barrels daily was achieved through conservation measures such as car pooling, lower auto speeds, reduced space heating and lighting, etc. Warmer than normal weather was responsible for a further reduction in consumption of 440,000 barrels daily. An additional cut of 1,150,000 barrels daily was attributed to price resistance and the impact on demand from the slowed-down U.S. economy. And finally, a disorganizing 87,000 barrels daily net reduction was gained through conversion to alternate fuels.

The Journal reports that the NPC has drawn some future policy guidelines from the embargo experience. These include these advisories:

— It's doubtful that voluntary conservation and curtailment measures in the future will bring any more savings than achieved early this year.

— Emergency domestic oil and gas production also offers only limited relief.

— Emergency conversion to other fuels is a disappointing course.

— An emergency petroleum storage system is a serious need to give the nation adequate time in a crisis to react positively to any cutoff in imports.

Some positive steps have been taken toward eventually increasing domestic petroleum supply, the Journal article reports, but notes that reversing the historic downward trend will require a major commitment of capital by the petroleum industry and substantial time before results are evident.

Among the positive trends have been advancing petroleum prices, stepped-up offshore leasing, approval of the trans-Alaska pipeline, upturn in domestic drilling, expansion of secondary recovery projects, reactivation of temporarily abandoned wells, and lengthened life for marginal wells.

Hampton President Of Great Western Drilling

John T. Hampton has been elected president of Great Western Drilling Co., Midland-based oil and gas exploration and production firm. The announcement was made by Ken Davis, chairman of the board.

Hampton started as a geologist with the firm here in 1963 and transferred to Farmington, N.M., as district geologist in 1965.

He returned to Midland in 1967 and worked in positions of increasing responsibility until 1963 when he was named manager of Beta Development, a related firm in Ken Davis Industries International Inc.

He returned to Great Western as general manager in 1967 and served in that capacity until his promotion to executive vice president in 1968.

Samedan Oil Signs Partnership Pact

ARDMORE, Okla. — Samedan Oil Corp., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Noble Affiliates Inc., has formed a partnership with New England Energy Inc. for oil and gas lease acquisitions, exploration and development.

George J. McLeod, Samedan's president, said "The partnership, effective October 30, 1974, provides that New England Energy Inc. may contribute up to $25 million over a five-year period for oil and gas lease acquisitions, exploration and development in the continental United States, including Alaska, and submerged state or federal lands offshore of the continental United States."

Oilmen Express Concern About Ford's Million-Barrel Daily Imports Cut Goal

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP) — Oilmen are expressing concern about President Ford's objective of reducing oil imports by one million barrels a day by the end of 1975.

"They say a number of things must be clarified before it can be determined whether the goal is realistic.

"Will the cutback apply only to crude oil? Will it apply to both crude and products?"

"Will it affect only Middle East oil or will it also affect such major suppliers as Venezuela and Canada?"

"In effect, Ford and his energy advisers have said if industry fails to carry out the objective the Federal Energy Administration will take action to see that it is attained.

Industry leaders have not expressed opposition but say more information will have to be made available.

roleum Institute, the industry's largest trade group, say they plan to seek clarification from Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton, the President's chief energy advisor.

"I am concerned about the goal," said Charles E. Spahr, chairman of both the Institute and of Standard Oil Co. of Ohio.

"We plan to talk with Secretary Morton about misunderstandings that need to be cleared up."

Frank N. Ikard, the Institute's president, agreed. "We just don't understand the goal as it now stands," Ikard said. "I don't think it has been spelled out enough."

Spahr said he is concerned that the initial assessment of the objective may reflect some omissions in planning.

Ikard put it another way. "A million barrels from what?" Ikard asked. "Are we talking about reducing from 6.2 million barrels a day or 6.5 million or what?"

Total imports, both crude and products averaged 6,202,000 barrels a day in 1973 despite the Arab embargo at year-end. Last month, October, the daily average was 6,570,000.

The January-March portion of the embargo held the daily average for the first 10 months of 1974 to only 6,024,000 barrels, but this was equivalent to 36.5 per cent of total domestic demand for crude oil and petroleum products. Last year's crude oil imports averaged 3,244,000 barrels a day, with 20 nations participating in the supply.

Crude oil imports from Canada last year averaged 1,001,000 barrels a day compared with 854,000 in 1972. Venezuela imports averaged 344,000, compared with 255,000 a year earlier.

By contrast, imports from Saudi Arabia in 1973 averaged 462,000 barrels a day compared with 174,000 a year earlier.

Iran's shipments to the United States averaged 200,000 barrels a day, up from 163,000. Libyan crude averaged 133,000, compared with 109,000 in 1973.

The United States imported petroleum products last year from 44 areas for a total average of 2,953,000 barrels a day. Venezuela accounted for 779,000 barrels a day, the Netherlands Antilles 573,000, the Virgin Islands 329,000, Canada 312,000, Trinidad and Tobago 191,000, the Bahamas 171,000, and Italy 123,000 a day.

WASHINGTON OIL— Administration May Lean To Conservation

By CLYDE LA MOTTE

Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent
WASHINGTON — Facing post-election realities, the Ford Administration is beginning to adjust its energy-related plans, and the result will be more emphasis on conservation and a little less on boosting domestic production quickly.

A clue to this shift was the comment by Interior Sec.

Texaco Officials Due Here

Top executives of Texaco Inc. from New York and Houston will be honored here Tuesday afternoon by The Midland Wildcat Committee.

A reception in their honor will be held from 6 to 7 p.m. at the Midland Country Club, Robert L. Wood, chairman of the executive committee of the host organization, said.

Guests of honor from Texaco's New York office will include Maurice F. Granville, chairman of the board; John K. McKinley, president; James W. Kenear, senior vice president, and Richard B. Palmer, senior vice president.

Honorees from Texaco's Houston office will be L. Weldon Calahan and R. Earle Wright, vice presidents.

Darrell Smith, Midland division manager and other executives of the Texaco office here also will be special guests at the reception.

Nini To Address Accountants Here

The Petroleum Accountants Society of Midland will meet Wednesday at Ranchland Hill Country Club.

A social hour will begin at 6 p.m., followed by dinner and the program.

Dr. Eugene A. Nini, professor of accounting and chairman of accounting and information systems at The University of Texas at the Permian Basin (UTPB) will be the speaker.

Dr. Nini is a graduate of the University of Arkansas with an MBA degree and received his Ph.D. degree from Louisiana State University.

Prior to taking the professorship at UTPB, he was on the teaching staff at Wichita State University from 1970-1973.

233 Rotary Rigs Make Hole In Basin

Reed Drilling Equipment reported a decrease of 13 rigs working in the Permian Basin last week. The survey showed 233 units were making hole, compared with 246 two weeks ago.

In a similar week during 1973, there were 240 rotary rigs drilling. Delaware Basin sectors continue to be the most active, with Eddy County, N.M., leading the count, with 28 rigs. Pecos County was in second place with 22,

Rogers Morton last week that a hike in the federal gasoline tax as a means of dampening demand was still an option being considered.

There will be more such clues in the weeks ahead as the administration and Congress seek a meeting of minds regarding what is to be done.

In effect, Morton's comment was a concession that voluntary restraints very likely will not achieve the desired results of reducing demand sufficiently to bring about the desired reduction of a million barrels a day in imports or a reduction in the world price of crude oil.

Treasury Sec. William E. Simon has taken the stance for some time that gasoline taxes should be increased, as did John C. Sawhill, the departing head of the Federal Energy Administration (FEA).

Moreover, administration officials are well aware that Congress is by no means ready to provide many incentives to the industry. Thus, the prospect of decontrol of well head prices of new natural gas is diminishing and the likelihood of a phase-out of percentage depletion is greater.

The administration is still determined to press forward as rapidly as possible on an accelerated schedule of offshore leasing, but even here federal officials concede that they may not be able to achieve the goal of leasing 10 million offshore acres in 1975 because of the red tape environmental procedures and some outright opposition they face.

Similarly, little possibility exists that the government will remove present ceilings, on "hot" crude oil and products.

In fact, there will be proposals in Congress not only to tax "windfall" profits but to set a ceiling on domestic crude oil prices. Whether a ceiling actually is established or not, the move to establish one will discourage the administration from any move to eliminate or raise the existing price restraints.

The Ford Administration will continue to advocate increased reliance on free enterprise (See CONSERVATION on 4D)

Permian Basin OIL & GAS LOG

The section had been acidized with 4,500 gallons. It has 5/8-inch casing set at 11,865 feet, total depth.

Location is 1,205 feet from north and 1,500 feet from west lines of section 21, block 127, T&SIL survey, two miles west of recently opened Strawn gas production.

It potentiated pumping 22 barrels of 34.9-gravity oil, no water.

The 24-hour potential test was taken through perforations at 3,678-3,683 feet, which had been treated with 500 gallons of acid, and 5,000 gallons of 5,000 pounds of fracture material.

Originally completed April 9, 1973 for 263 barrels of 40.6-gravity oil, no water, through a 14-64-inch choke and perforations at 3,910-3,914 feet, it is plugged back to 3,796 feet. Original total depth is 4,068 feet.

Production site is 467 feet from south and 2,762 feet from east lines of the north half of J. H. Gibson survey 25, abstract 342, nine miles northeast of Fort McKavett.

Anderson Tests Jennings Zone

James K. Anderson, operating out of Midland, No. 1 Estes Estate, indicated Serratt sand re-opener, one location west of the depleted Serratt opener in the Elm Creek multipay field of Rummels County, has recovered 200 feet of heavily oil- and gas-cut mud and 30 feet of filtrate water on a drillstem test in the lower Jennings sand.

The test tool was open 140 minutes on the test taken from 3,990-4,014 feet.

The project was bottomed at 4,060 feet taking a fourth drillstem test.

Earlier, it recovered 580 feet of free oil, 362 feet of oil- and gas-cut mud and 70 feet of filtrate, on a drillstem test in the Serratt sand from 2,432-2,440 feet.

The Serratt opener, Walter Duncan No. 1 J. C. Bloxum, was completed Aug. 5, 1954, pumping 51 barrels of 42-gravity oil per day, through perforations at 2,448-2,452 feet.

The test is 1,650 feet northwest of the depleted Jennings opener and lone producer, which was finished Aug. 9, 1958 by Anderson, Sutton & Graham, for 219 barrels of 45-gravity oil, through an 18-64-inch choke and perforations at 4,001-4,007 feet. "It is the No. 1 J. C. Bloxum."

Anderson's No. 1 Estes Estate is located 1,950 feet from north and 2,500 feet from west lines of John Brown survey 528, one mile southeast of Hatchel.

Pecos Project Continues Tests

Texas Pacific Oil Co., Inc., Midland, was preparing to run a bottom hole pressure bomb at No. 7 Elsinore Cattle Co. Pecos County project, after flowing 7.15 million cubic feet of gas per day on a 24-hour test.

The test was taken through a 22-64-inch choke and Devonian perforations at 12,879-12,907 feet, which had been acidized with 10,000 gallons.

Staked as a 1 1/2-mile northwest outpost to the Elsinore (Devonian-Fusselman) gas field, it spots 200 feet from north and 1,450 feet from east lines of section 96, block A, GC&SF survey, 17 miles south of Fort Stockton.

Also in Pecos County, Union Texas Petroleum Corp. continued testing at No. 1-21 Montgomery, indicated Canyon pay opener in the Hokit area, 1 1/2 miles southwest of Bakersville.

On a 24-hour test it flowed 73 barrels of oil per day, through a 14-64-inch choke and perforations at 9,017-9,170 feet, after Items of all kinds that will help give the feel of American life back in those days," says Homer T. Fort, executive vice president of the museum. "It will be a 'take-you-back' kind of place."

Donors of items will be listed in a special booklet to be distributed to visitors when the museum opens next year.

Gifts to the museum can be deducted from federal income taxes, but the museum does not make appraisals, it was said.

The museum hopes to be submerged with usable items. If more come in than it can display, it probably will rotate showing of the materials, Fort said.

Persons with items they want to donate can notify the museum at P.O. Box 1310, Midland, indicating generally the kinds of goods they have and its size when packed. The museum will pick up the materials or pay shipping costs.

The new petroleum museum, now under construction on Interstate 20 in Midland, is expected to open in the second quarter of 1975.

Atlantic Richfield Cancels Plant Plans

LOS ANGELES — Atlantic Richfield Co. and Southern California Edison Co. has announced that recent developments have made it necessary to terminate an agreement for construction of a planned crude oil processing facility to supply low-sulfur fuel oil for generating electricity.

The announcement said that cancellation of the proposed project, originally estimated to cost in excess of $200 million, resulted from a number of developments, including unpredictability of crude oil prices, uncertainty as to future utility fuel demands, lack of definitive government policies, and severe acceleration of construction costs.

Plans for the facility were first announced last Feb. 27. It was to have been constructed and operated by ARCO Oil Refining Co., a subsidiary of Atlantic Richfield, at Carson, Calif., near Los Angeles, for processing crude oil to Edison's specifications.

The termination contemplates the possibility of the parties renewing discussions in the future, if conditions develop to warrant it, a spokesman said.

He is the son of Mrs. Ola Mae O'Donnell of Midland.

Outposts Staked In Sutton County

Amoco Production Co. has made plans to drill two outposts to Canyon production in the Sutton County portion of the Sawyer multipay field, six miles southwest of Sonora. Both have a contract depth of 7,700 feet.

The No. 1 R. C. Ward, 1/2 mile north of production in the Sonora (upper Canyon) gas field, was filed as a 2 1/2-mile northeast outpost, and spots 1,320 feet from north and east lines of section 125, block B, HE&WT survey.

Second Outpost

The No. 1-E Rip Ward, a two-mile west outpost, is 1,320 feet from north and 1,000 feet from east lines of section 125, block B, HE&WT survey.

Testing Continues At Kimble Project

Adobe Oil Co. is testing at No. 1 Brightwell, Kimble County wildcat, 10 miles south of Junction.

It flowed an estimated 220,000 cubic feet of gas, plus five gallons of water for 30-minutes, on the last reported gauge.

The test was taken through a 3-4-inch choke and perforations at 664-667 feet. Treatment, if any, has not been reported.

It was drilled to 1,300 feet, where 4 1/4-inch casing has been seated.

Location is 4,470 feet from northwest and 467 feet from northeast lines of section 11, SA&MG survey, abstract 524.

Test Finaled In Val Verde

The Vinagrono (multipay Pennsylvanian) field of Val Verde County was extended one-mile north and east, with the completion of No. 1-F Cauthorn by Phillips Petroleum Co.

Calculated, absolute open flow was for 42 million cubic feet of dry gas per day.

Production was through perforations at 9,866-10,022 feet, which had been acidized with 20,000 gallons.

Wellsite is 1,780 feet from north and 1,800 feet from west lines of section 2, block B, C&M survey, abstract 1898, 35 miles southwest of Sonora.

UNDERWATER CONTROL — Exxon Corp. recently lowered to the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico, offshore Louisiana, its submerged production system. The drillship Glomar Grand Banks will drill three directional wells through the system into an existing field, and oil and gas from the wells will go to a subsea separator and pump station on the unit to a nearby production platform. Located in 170 feet of water, 27 miles south-east of Grand Isle, La., it will operate without aid of divers or men on the sea floor.

Arctic Gas' Pipeline Proposal Best, Firm President Insists

ST. LOUIS — Conservation of energy, economy of systems and direct market accessibility provided the central theme outlined by Robert W. Ward, President of Alaskan Arctic Gas Pipeline Co. (AAGPC), a firm proposing a multibillion dollar pipeline to tap Alaskan and Canadian gas reserves.

Ward last week told the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM), "Conservation of energy in these times of shortages is a number one concern for not only the nation, but for individual consumers throughout America."

The 2600-mile, 48-inch Arctic Gas pipeline from the Arctic to the south will be transporting some 4.5 billion cubic feet of gas per day — 2.25 billion from Alaska's Prudhoe Bay and 2.25 million from Canada's Mackenzie Delta. This is six per cent of the entire North American demand for natural gas.

The former Alaskan lieutenant governor told NAM's Energy and Resources Development and Environmental Quality Committees all of the Alaskan gas will be transported to U.S. consumers as could any Canadian gas which is in excess to Canada's needs.

Ward noted the Arctic gas proposal has significant advantages over a system proposed by El Paso Gas Co. to tap only Prudhoe Bay gas and one to tap only Mackenzie gas proposed by Alberta Gas Trunk Line.

"Of all three proposals, the Arctic gas plan is the most conservation oriented," Ward said, adding that the competing plans would use much more of the resource itself to get northern gas supplies to market, would expose more territory to environmental concerns, and cause the consumers of North America to waste their dollars to pay the cost of two systems instead of one to deliver the same gas.

He said that the Arctic gas system would use 75 per cent less of the precious resource in transporting it to a common destination than would the El Paso system.

Drillship Tainaron Leased By TP Oil

DALLAS — Texas Pacific Oil Co. Inc. has signed a contract with Tropic Drilling Enterprises of Houston, for the exclusive services of its drillship Tainaron for a period of approximately two years.

The ship, presently being refitted in Hong Kong, is scheduled for delivery to Texas Pacific in early October 1975. Tainaron will be equipped to drill in 1,000 feet of water with a drilling capability to depths of 30,000 feet.

Texas Pacific has acquired the drillship for exploratory drilling on Texas Pacific-Pacific Basin's one million-plus acre service contract in the Philippines.

Texas Pacific, with an 80 per cent interest, is the operator of the joint venture with Pacific Petroleum Ltd. of Denver in the Lamson Bay area offshore of the East coast of Luzon.

rather than on greater government involvement, but it will not be at all surprising to see more and more pressure by Congress for direct government action. This will be especially so if there is any disruption in Middle East shipments or further price increases by the producing countries.

One of the big problems the administration faces is the apparent continuing public skepticism concerning the petroleum industry, especially concerning the major oil companies.

A study released last week by the American Petroleum Institute (API) clearly indicates that such skepticism is prevalent. For instance, the public opinion survey made for API by Oxtoby-Smith, Inc., showed that 58 per cent of those interviewed believe that the companies played a major role in creating the energy shortage and did for their own economic interests. This was 10 percentage points higher than was found in a similar survey in 1973. Betty Furness, appearing on a panel during the API meeting in New York last week, told the industry flatly that the man in the street thinks the industry has "ripped off" the public.

It should be borne in mind that the prevailing public mood today appears to be one of skepticism in general, that is a similar inquiry about Congress, or the press, or doctors or lawyers or bankers would likely have indicated that many people do not have confidence in them, either.

Even so, this does not change the fact that public attitude will play a major role in shaping the nation's energy policy and at present, that attitude is not a very favorable one.

Realistically, then, it appears that the United States is not yet ready to make a full commitment to an accelerated development of the nation's energy resources. As long as that remains the case, Washington is likely to move at a slow pace.

the appropriate American and Canadian authorities and expressed hope for reasonable speed in acting upon the requests.

"We believe it is clear that the Arctic Gas project offers the most efficient and most economical means of transporting Alaskan gas to U.S. markets," he concluded. "It is the transportation method which uses the least fuel; thus conserving gas and money for needs of the American consumer."

Arctic gas is completing its basic filing for applications to build the mammoth line with

Arco Confirms Oil Discovery At Java Sea Site

LOS ANGELES — Atlantic Richfield Co. has confirmed discovery of oil in an exploratory well in the Java Sea, offshore Indonesia at a site 85 miles northwest of the producing Arjuna Field and 75 miles north-northwest of Jakarta.

Tests of three separate sandstone zones of the Talang Akar formation from the PSI AV-1 well produced oil flows at a combined rate of 5,550 barrels per day between the depths of 5,800 and 7,800 feet. The oil is of low sulphur content and varies between 28 degrees and 35 degree gravity.

Plans are being developed for further testing of the area to determine the significance of the find, a spokesman said.

Atlantic Richfield Indonesia, Inc., an Atlantic Richfield subsidiary, is operator for a group of American firms which hold a production sharing contract with Pertamina, the Indonesian state-owned oil company. The other participants are American Petroleum Co., a subsidiary of Natomas Co.; Carver-Dodge Oil Co., a subsidiary of Reading & Bates Offshore Drilling Co.; and Ramah Properties, a partnership composed of Warrior International Corporation and certain subsidiaries of Tidewater Marine Service Co.

Texaco Drilling Up 47 Per Cent

NEW YORK — Texaco Inc. has announced it expects to drill 1,600 oil and gas wells in the United States in 1974 — an increase of about 47 per cent over the 1,092 wells it drilled in 1973.

Texaco's capital expenditures for petroleum exploration and production in the U.S. this year will total approximately $1.1 billion, or nearly half of the record $2.3 billion planned for capital and exploratory expenses worldwide including its share in nonsubsidiary companies. The U.S. drilling program for 1974 includes 88 wildcat wells, an increase of 66 per cent over last year.

Texaco's earnings rose 70 per cent in the first nine months of 1974, but officials noted that, excluding inventory profits, Texaco earns a profit of less than two cents a gallon on its total sales of petroleum and products.

The company's capital spending thus far in 1974 includes payments totaling nearly $556 million in bonuses for leases on 36 offshore blocks totaling 122,000 acres in the Gulf of Mexico, the oil executive reported. Texaco had participated in 13 significant discovery wildcat wells offshore Texas and Louisiana this year.

Net earnings were $3,655,539, or 70 cents per share, an increase of 75 per cent over $2,084,442, or 42 cents per share reported in the prior year period.

B. J. Pevehouse, president of Adobe, announced the company's acquisition of an additional one-fourth interest in the Wickett Refinery, located 70 miles west of Midland. Adobe now owns one-half of the refinery which is expected to go on stream by Jan. 1, 1975. Plans were also revealed for a $1 million expansion to the company's Sale Ranch Gasoline Plant located 20 miles east of Midland. Gas from 50 additional wells have recently been contracted for the plant in Martin County.

Pevehouse also announced that, effective Nov. 1, M. D. Rogers and L. G. Whitley were elevated to the posts of senior vice presidents in recognition of their growing responsibilities with the company.

Police Officers Receive Basic Training Certificates In Graduation Exercises

Police officers from six West Texas counties received their basic police training certificates Friday during graduation exercises at city hall for the fourth session of the Permian Basin Law Enforcement Academy.

George Scarpa, assistant chief of the Odessa Police Department, acted as master of ceremonies and introduced featured speaker Dr. Bill Amstead of Odessa, president of The University of Texas at the Permian Basin.

Dr. Amstead told the 26 graduating officers they would always face the problems of making "basic value judgments." He said the "great" police officer is one "who finds time to serve his community not only while he is on active duty with the force, but at those times when he is not working for pay."

The university president made a plea to the graduating officers to "continue your education," and noted that within the next few years "no city of 30,000 or more population will hire a beginning police officer who does not have a college education."

The certificates of training completion were presented to the officers from Midland, Odessa, Monahans, Big Spring, Stanton and Upton County by Lt. Mickey Brown, training coordinator for the 17-county Permian Basin region.

Brown said the academy is funded by the Criminal Justice Division of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission and is in its second year of operation. He said the purpose of the school is to provide basic police training for officers throughout the region.

Brown said the training program includes instruction in patrol procedures, law enforcement, firearms, defensive tactics and defensive driving. Academy class president Gary Clingman of the Odessa Police Department was awarded two plaques for outstanding achievement during the training program.

Bell Facing $26 Million Civil Suit

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) - Court action here promises to shed new light on the vast inner workings of the nation's largest telephone company, charged in a civil suit with deliberate rate setting practices in Texas.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. is charged with harassing two of its Texas executives - one of whom committed suicide.

The $26 million suit was filed by the family of T.O. Gravitt, who took his life, and James Ashley, head of the company's San Antonio division which covered two-thirds of Texas, when he was fired.

The suit also hints of possible illegal corporate political activity.

Southwestern Bell, based in St. Louis, is the largest telephone system in American Telephone and Telegraph (AT&T) operation.

Gravitt was a $90,000 a year executive who headed the Texas company when he committed suicide Oct. 17 at his Dallas home.

Conspiracy Charged
The suit says a conspiracy by Bell to harass the two men led to his death.

The company Friday denied allegations in the suit and for the first time since his death said Gravitt "was implicated in the investigation by company auditors and security agents in some areas of questionable activities."

As for Ashley, dismissed Nov. 1 for improper conduct, the company statement said "at the time of his dismissal, he threatened to do everything in his power to embarrass individuals and the company unless allowed to retain his job."

until the court can explore them.

Also, the suit says Southwestern Bell possesses sophisticated wiretapping devices which the plaintiffs fear the company illegally will use against them.

The plaintiffs also want preserved, apparently for future court use, any records dealing with junkets and use of corporate funds and property for personal use, such as airplanes, hunting leases or expense accounts.

The plaintiffs claim other Bell executives initiated the investigation against the two when Bell became aware they were resisting company practices they felt were "deceitful and grossly unfair to the public."

The plaintiffs deny any dishonesty, saying Ashley and Gravitt were victims of libel, slander and defamation by the company.

The suit notes that in Texas the company deals directly with local government on setting rates since there is no state utilities commission.

Other Defendants
AT&T is a defendant in the suit as well as Chester Todd, San Antonio area vice president who replaced Gravitt when he was promoted to Dallas.

Sources contacted by The Associated Press claimed that Bell, in effect, used "two different sets of books" in soliciting rates from city councils. They claim the revenue and cost figures provided to city councils did not always reflect accurately how much profit Bell was making in a certain area.

Bell also used favors for city officials, the sources claim, in the company's rate campaigns. Although claiming the rate solicitation practices were unfair and characterizing the practices as "corporate rapacity," the suit does not specifically make the claims the sources made.

In an Associated Press investigation prior to the suit, sources characterized the rate-setting procedures in Texas as follows:

Dealing directly with city councils ranging from the smallest area to the largest, the company presents data about costs of services and revenues when it feels it needs a rate hike. Cities have to abide with company figures if they do not have staffs to independently check the accounting.

Years ago, the sources claim, Bell developed a system to maximize Texas phone revenues by taking advantage of the absence of a state utilities commission. Strong company lobbying has helped defeat numerous legislative proposals for such a commission.

Texas has annually supplied Southwestern Bell with the largest revenues from the states within the system, the sources say. Texas in effect is subsidizing the other states and is a key in enhancing the corporate picture of Southwestern Bell's parent, AT&T, they say.

AT&T is a defendant in the suit as well as Chester Todd, San Antonio area vice president who replaced Gravitt when he was promoted to Dallas.

Sources contacted by The Associated Press claimed that Bell, in effect, used "two different sets of books" in soliciting rates from city councils. They claim the revenue and cost figures provided to city councils did not always reflect accurately how much profit Bell was making in a certain area.

Bell also used favors for city officials, the sources claim, in the company's rate campaigns. Although claiming the rate solicitation practices were unfair and characterizing the practices as "corporate rapacity," the suit does not specifically make the claims the sources made.

The suit, however, alleges that the telephone company prepares "blue books" which, when the rate of return is shown to be low, are the basis for the filing of rate increase cases with each of the municipalities indicated therein.

The suit asks that any such "blue books" not be destroyed or secreted or modified by the company.

iffs say Bell possesses. Sources describe the device as one which can be activated by the company without entering an individual's home. According to sources, the device can be activated by putting a wire into the grid at the phone company headquarters which corresponds with the exchange a person's phone is in.

The person's number is then dialed and any subsequent conversations can be monitored.

As to any possible illegal political activity, the suit asks that Bell be ordered not to destroy, secret or modify the following:

"All corporate record pertaining to the responsibility of department heads to contribute to corporate slush funds to be used for political showing the manner of employees recovery of said political contributions."

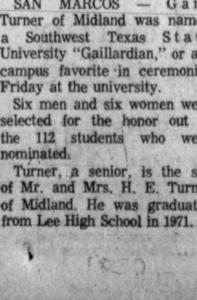

"Any and all relationships between Southwestern Bell, Pacific Bell of California, other associated Bell system companies and American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and the Committee to Re-Elect the President, including records showing the loaning of employees to that organization, the furnishing of confidential data and the expenditure of Bell system funds for the express benefit of that organization."

"Records of all company contributions for the years 1949 through 1974."

The Gravitt family believes executives jealous of Gravitt's record and his potential for going higher in the company provoked the investigation of him and Ashley, his longtime friend.

They say Gravitt's net worth at the time of his death was $150,000, although they say rumors have been circulated that he was far wealthier, perhaps at the phone company's expense.

Gravitt's widow, Oleta, and his two sons Mike and Pat, ask for damages because of Gravitt's potential earnings in the career he ended when he committed suicide by carbon monoxide poisoning in his garage.

Gary Turner
Midlander Honored At College Campus

SAN MARCOS - Gary Turner of Midland was named a Southwest Texas State University "Gaillardian," or all-campus favorite in ceremonies Friday at the university.

Six men and six women were selected for the honor out of the 112 students who were nominated.

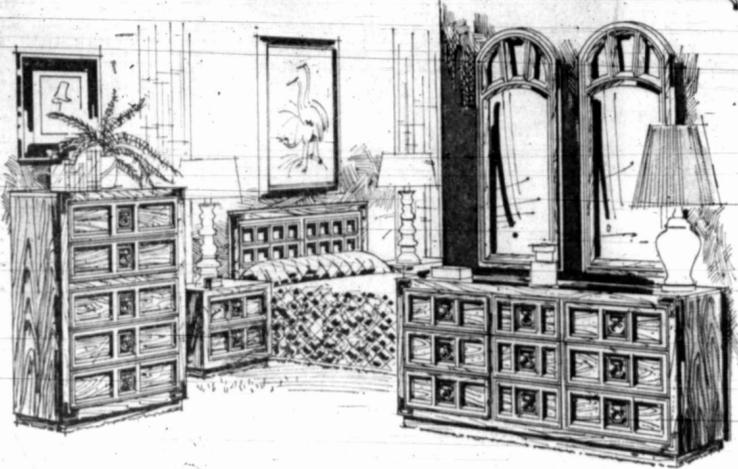

Turner, a senior, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Turner of Midland. He was graduated from Lee High School in 1971.

The possibility of wiretapping by Bell emerges in the suit in a reference to a device called a "mini-frame" which the plaintiffs say Bell possesses.
