Crane Area, Runnels Get Probe Sites

Avance Oil & Gas Co., Inc., Midland, plans to re-enter and plug back to 8,900 feet at No. 1 Edwards, in attempt to re-open Strawn oil production in the Edwards "04" field of Crane County.

Originally drilled by the same firm, it was completed July 2, 1971 as a Devonian, South producer in the field, for 272 barrels of oil daily, through perforations at 10,172-10,204 feet.

Location is 467 feet from south and 2,204 feet from east lines of section 16, block 43, T-4-S, T&P survey, 15 miles southeast of Penwell, and one mile northwest of the depleted original Strawn opener.

The discovery was Texaco Inc. No. 1-E Crane Fee, completed in 1964, for 14 barrels of 40-gravity oil and 42 barrels of water per day, through perforations at 8,764-8,794 feet.

Runnels Try Frizzell Exploration Co., Abilene, plans to drill a 4,000-foot venture in Runnels County, nine miles northeast of Ballinger. It is No. 1 Carrie Clayton.

Drill site is 467 feet from north and 2,150 feet from east lines of Alpergon P. Thompson survey 4, 1 1/2 mile southeast of the marginal opener in the Byers Ranch (upper Gardner) field and one location north of the depleted one-well Alpergon (Serratt) pool.

Offset To Strike Planned In Nolan

James P. Dunigan, Inc. of Abilene has staked site for No. 1 Neal Burch, a 3/4-mile northwest offset to the one-well Chiniquapin (Strawn) field of Nolan County, 13 miles east of Sweetwater.

Location is 2,178 feet from north and 467 feet from east lines of section 47, block 20, T&P survey. Planned depth is 5,300 feet.

The Strawn sand opener, Dunigan's No. 1 Allyn, was completed July 30, 1973, for 52 barrels of 43-gravity oil, through a 1/2-inch choke and perforations at 5,239-5,242 feet.

TO&G Completes Pecos Discovery

Texas Oil & Gas Corp., operating from Midland, has completed as a small Yates oil strike in Pecos County, No. 1 Crockett State, deep failure, 10 miles south of Imperial.

It gauged a daily, pumping potential of 6.5 barrels of 34-gravity oil and eight barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio of 4,615-1. Production was through perforations at 1,300-1,345 feet, which had been acidized with 1,250 gallons.

Drilled to 6,565 feet, it is plugged back to 2,009 feet, where 5 1/2-inch casing is seated.

The following tops were picked under ground elevation of 2,489 feet: Yates, 1,332; Queen, 1,995; Grayburg, 2,250 and San Andres, 2,436 feet.

47 Persons On Board British Jet

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Three Arab guerrillas holding 47 persons on a hijacked British jetliner in Tunis threatened to execute one passenger every two hours today unless 13 comrades jetted in Khartoum and Rome are freed, two newsmen allowed aboard reported.

But a Palestinian splinter group in Beirut identifying itself as the hijackers' command said its men sought the release of two comrades jailed in Holland, and unless it got them, every Dutch, Belgian and Luxembourg hostage aboard the plane would be killed.

There was no immediate explanation for the difference between the demands.

No Jailed Terrorists In Rome, officials said there were no Palestinian terrorists held in Italian jails. But five guerrillas charged with plotting to blow up an Israeli jetliner in Rome in September 1973 were later freed from Italian jails and flown to Cairo.

Eight other guerrillas convicted in Khartoum, Sudan, of killing two U.S. diplomats and a Belgian envoy last year, were also later flown to Cairo. Reports conflict on whether the five from Rome are in prison. (See ARAB Page 4A)

Two Major Military Bases To Close

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon today announced a coast-to-coast reshuffling and reduction of military bases and headquarters that will eliminate about 11,600 civilian jobs and transfer 11,500 Army and Air Force personnel over the next 2 1/2 years.

Philadelphia and Ellington Air Force Bases, Houston. One congressional source said about half of the civilian employees offered transfers could be expected to quit their defense jobs rather than relocate.

Many Army, Air Force and Defense Supply Agency depots, laboratories and offices will lose manpower and womanpower, but some will gain.

Net losses will range from about 2,000 civilian jobs at the Frankford Arsenal to as few as a dozen in some small offices, officials said.

1,175 Civilians To Lose Jobs At Ellington AFB

HOUSTON (AP) — The Pentagon announced today it will close Ellington Air Force Base near here, eliminating more than 1,700 jobs. Texas members of Congress had said earlier the Defense Department would close the base which has been located south of Houston for more than 50 years.

The Air Force also will terminate use of its practice bombing range and support facilities on Matagorda Island, at Ellington Air Force Base in San Antonio.

Closing Ellington reportedly will save $23 million in new construction costs and $15 million a year in operating funds.

The Matagorda Island closing will eliminate 186 military and 12 civilian jobs. In addition, the Air Force will end 118 military and 52 civilian employees at the Laredo facility.

The Air Force will transfer its KC135 tanker aircraft units from Bergstrom and Amarillo, eliminating 60 military and three civilian jobs in Austin and 88 military and four civilian jobs in Amarillo.

Rep. Wright Patman and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, both D-Tex., announced meanwhile that more than 280 new jobs would be added at the Red River Army know if the reservists in the

Former News Executive Charles Underwood Dies

Charles F. Underwood, 74, former executive assistant to the publisher of The Midland Reporter-Telegram, died Thursday night in a Midland hospital after a brief illness.

The family residence is at 2507 Bedford Ave. Underwood retired from active business in 1970, ending a career of more than half a century in the newspaper profession; he had been a Midland resident since 1952.

Services will be held at 4:30 p.m. Saturday in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church, of which he was a member, with the Rev. Robert B. Smith and Dr. F. Ray Riddle Jr., officiating. Interment will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday in Sunset Cemetery at Dresden, Tenn. The Newbie W. Ellis Chapel is in charge of Midland arrangements.

He was born May 6, 1900, at Nashville, where he was reared. He and Arletta Atkins were married on Nov. 1, 1923, at Nashville.

Underwood came to Texas in 1919 with the late J. H. Allison, father of Reporter-Telegram Publisher James N. Allison, who had purchased the old Fort Worth Record. He had worked for the elder Allison on the Nashville Tennessean. He and James N. Allison also had delivered newspapers on adjoining routes as boys in Nashville.

He continued with the Fort Worth newspaper until May 1, 1920, when he transferred to Ranger to become circulation manager of the Ranger Times, which J. H. Allison had acquired.

Korean Crowd Greets Ford; Aide To Meet With Dissidents

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — President Ford saw the biggest crowds of his life today and was crowned by critics at home.

National police estimated about two million flag-waving confetti-throwing Koreans lined the way to see the U.S. President. American reporters judged the crowd at a million or more, roughly equivalent to the turnout for the late President Lyndon B. Johnson in 1960.

President Chung Hee Park mobilized a heavy security guard to prevent opponents of his dictatorship making trouble during Ford's visit. But twice during the 10-mile drive from the airport into Seoul, Ford emerged from Park's armored limousine with his host in tow and mingled with the crowd.

Asked at one stop if he had ever seen anything like the Korean welcome in Grand Rapids, Mich., his home town, Ford jokingly replied: "Yes, but on a smaller scale."

Times Not Very Comfortable For Business, Except For Profits

By JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — Except perhaps in terms of profits, these aren't very comfortable days for big business.

The utilities are under attack from customers, ecologists, politicians and others. The automotive companies are criticized for their pricing policies and polluting ways. The biggest railroad, the Penn Central, is being operated in bankruptcy. Some airlines are in a regulatory bind.

Health insurers know all about the troubles that big business can bring. They are in a fight, as they view it, for their very existence, a fight that if lost might reduce them to mere clerks in a national health insurance program.

Nothing crystallizes the fight that big business is in more than the government's antitrust action against American Telephone & Telegraph, a company that serves 80 per cent of Americans and which is financially more powerful than most nations of the earth.

AT&T is the symbol. It is huge almost beyond comprehension. It employs more than one million workers. Its assets exceed $67 billion. It has raised its net income every year but one since 1947, earning $2.95 billion last year.

Whether the attacks against individuals or corporations will continue to be argued, strictly in the legalities in an effort, that is, to preserve the pre-eminence of law over industry, eventually take a legal form. But this doesn't seem to be good politics.

Most of the attacks, from wherever they originate — consumer, ecologist, elected representative — eventually take a legal form. But this doesn't seem to be good politics.

Some of his expensive stills were found by agents and destroyed. He relocated them and started up again.

"But that was when there was money to be had," Sam said. "Like I told you, the market is almost gone and a man just can't afford to build a factory no more."

A couple of years back, a plant cost him about $700,000. That same rig today would cost a man over $1,200,000, he said.

With that still, Sam made about 600 gallons of moonshine whisky twice a week. He sold it from the site at $4 a gallon.

Supplies for that much whisky cost more than $2,600 on today's wholesale market. But a few moonshiners are able to

Moon Ain't Shining So Bright For Moonshiners Now

SOMEWHERE IN NORTH CAROLINA (AP) — The moon ain't shining so bright these days, said the man called Sam. He laughed, and tried to hold his enormous belly in place.

Sam is a moonshiner by trade, and that's how he began his personal impressions of the nation's inflationary economy. Sam was interviewed by Mer-ar, largely — and what Sam calls "a dying market" are sending moonshine operations down the drain. "I'm ruined," Sam moaned. "I think this business today would break a banker."

He should know. For 30-odd years, this man has engaged in the moonshine trade. He has made mistakes, paid fines, served time in jail.

Some of his expensive stills were found by agents and destroyed. He relocated them and started up again.

"But that was when there was money to be had," Sam said. "Like I told you, the market is almost gone and a man just can't afford to build a factory no more."

A couple of years back, a plant cost him about $700,000. That same rig today would cost a man over $1,200,000, he said.

With that still, Sam made about 600 gallons of moonshine whisky twice a week. He sold it from the site at $4 a gallon.

Supplies for that much whisky cost more than $2,600 on today's wholesale market. But a few moonshiners are able to come by wholesale prices, so the cost is well above that figure — and rising.

"A man would have to get more than $7, or $8 a gallon to make a decent profit," Sam said.

And buyers are vanishing. "People are getting rid of the slums, and when you ain't got no slums, you ain't got much of a market for this stuff."

With prices rising throughout the world, many people wonder whatever became of the "economies of volume" they had read about in Economics 1. The utilities grow larger and so do their prices. The carmakers, giants of industry, raise their prices almost as often as sugar processors.

The giants have difficulty explaining that if they must pay billions of dollars for ecologically desirable improvements, or improve their employee fringe benefits, or pay higher raw material prices they must pass some of the cost on to customers.

Consultant Assails Bell Defense Of Texas Telephone Rate Setting

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A consultant to a legislative study group on utility regulations has called Southwestern Bell's defense of its Texas rate-setting system "a bunch of fog."

Jack Hopper of Austin, an independent rate consultant, said "they (Bell) provide misleading figures to city councils. They provide distorted figures."

Southwestern Bell, in a statement by President Zane Barnes of St. Louis, denied that the company kept two sets of books in order to inflate its revenue needs and obtain favorable decisions from city councils throughout the state. Texas does not have a state utility commission.

Barnes issued the statement Thursday amidst allegations made in a $29-million suit filed against the company by the family of late Bell general manager for Texas, T. O. Gravitt, and James Ashley, a dismissed company executive.

The family claims that Gravitt was hounded by the company until he committed suicide because he refused to go along with allegedly illegal corporate-political entanglements and deceitful rate-setting practices. Gravitt killed himself at his Dallas home on Oct. 17.

He left at least one suicide note in which he referred to Bell's alleged unlawful activities.

Tape Recordings Disclosed
In another development, it was learned Thursday that two tape recordings exist in which Bell officials talk about slush political funds.

Legal sources said the tapes will be presented to the court by attorneys for the Gravitt family.

In its rate defense statement Barnes said that "in Texas our rate applications are filed in accordance with state laws that provide a fair value basis for rate making."

He added the company's books "are kept in accordance with rules set out by the Federal Communications Commission in the Uniform System of Accounts. Our books are regularly subjected to exhaustive study by the FCC, the Internal Revenue Service and many other regulatory bodies and their staffs."

But Hopper said "there are no state laws that tell how rate making shall be done and there is no definition in the statute of fair value. There is one in court decisions, but none in statutes."

Hopper said it is Bell who in reality decides the fair value of its investments and cities have to accept them.

"The Uniform System of Accounts is an accounting procedure under which reports are made to the FCC... but there is no system of accounts for Texas or for any city I know of, except maybe Houston or Dallas," he said.

"The company only reports what they want to report to city councils," Hopper added. "Any of this noise about 'we're in compliance with the law or we keep books in accordance with the FCC is meaningless in the state of Texas."

He said the FCC does not review intrastate long distance operations and "does not have any control over them."

A source said the newly disclosed tapes "in addition to confirming the bulk of what the late Gravitt wrote down, discuss falsified vouchers—and methods allegedly used by the telephone company to slip money to political campaigns."

Barnes said the company encourages management employees to make contributions to candidates of their choice and added he was sure the contributions were "modest."

Contributions Discussed
Sources said political contributions are discussed in the tapes which were recorded by Ashley, former general manager of commercial operations in San Antonio. Ashley was fired during an internal investigation by Bell which, officials said, also involved Gravitt's area of responsibility.

One of the men knew he was being taped. Both remained on their jobs but were not available for comment Thursday.

The conversations reportedly center around claims that each of the 140 top Bell executives in Texas was forced to donate $50 a month of his salary for political purposes.

The money reportedly was collected by one man within the Bell system. When the political contribution law was changed, each executive was told which candidate to support with his contribution.

The first hearing in the suit is scheduled Monday in the 150th District Court of Judge James A. McKay Jr.

At that time Bell will be asked to show cause why it should not be restrained from destroying or altering a long list of documents, records, bills and evidence of the use of the company jet.

Great Western United's subsidiary, Great Western Sugar Co., is one of the nation's largest sugar beet producing companies.

Great Western United of New York claims the tender offer would put the Hunts in control of the company with 51 percent of the common stock. The suit says the Hunts already have bought 25 per cent.

The company's board explained recently that the Hunt offer is inadequate because soaring sugar prices could push up profits from last year's $1.95 to $32 per share.

Company officials contend the Hunts are using a syndicate to take over the firm and are not following Securities and Exchange Commission regulations.

They are asking Judge Taylor to stop the tender offer until a full trial can be held. The company also is asking that all stock purchases made so far under the offer be rescinded.

Cuevas, Who Survived Prison Escape Try, Pleads Innocent

HOUSTON (AP) — Ignacio Cuevas, 42, one of three inmates who tried to escape prison in Huntsville Aug. 3, pleaded innocent Thursday to a capital murder charge in the death of a hostage.

Four persons died in a shootout ending an 11-day siege in the prison library, including two other convicts—Fred Carrasco, 34, and Rudolfo Dominguez, 27.

Killed also were Julia Standley and Elizabeth Beseda, civilian employees of the prison. They were among a dozen hostages held by the trio.

The case was sent here on a change of venue. District Court Judge Myron Love set a Feb. 17 trial date for Cuevas in a 15-minute hearing marked by tight security. Love ordered the doors of the courtroom locked when Cuevas was brought in. This caused some newsmen and an assistant district attorney to miss the proceedings.

Cuevas, who speaks little English, spoke through his lawyer, Hector Azlos of Houston. "I didn't kill anyone," Cuevas said after his indictment was read. "I did not shoot anyone. I did not have a pistol. I am not guilty."

Love also appointed another Houston lawyer, Will Gray, to help represent Cuevas. "Do you have any objections to these appointments?" Love asked.

"I do not have any objections but I plead to the court that I am innocent," Cuevas replied.

Gray also is the court-appointed lawyer for Elmer Wayne Henley, 18, who was convicted earlier this year at San Antonio in the Houston mass murders, in which 27 youths died. Henley now is serving a 54-year sentence.

Gray asked and was granted a gag rule by Love to prohibit all with knowledge of the shoot-out from discussing it with anyone, especially newsmen.

Wants Rule Broadened
Gray said he wanted the rule broadened to include Gov. Dolph Briscoe and Atty. Gen. John Hill. Love said Gray would first have to prove they have knowledge pertinent to the case.

Gray said he asked that the two public officials be included because Briscoe has asked the attorney general to conduct a public inquiry into the escape attempt.

Five other men are also charged with capital murder in the case for allegedly smuggling in pistols used in the escape attempt. The five are scheduled for arraignment Dec. 17 in Houston before District Court Judge Wallace Moore.

Hearing Slated On Hunt Sugar Firm Control Bid

DALLAS (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge William Taylor will hear arguments Monday in a lawsuit which contends Nelson Bunker Hunt and W. Herbert Hunt are trying to buy control of a major sugar company.

The suit, transferred here from New York, alleges the two sons of oil billionaire H. L. Hunt are making a public tender offer to buy 910,000 shares of common stock in Great Western United Corp. at $27.50 a share.

Great Western United's subsidiary, Great Western Sugar Co., is one of the nation's largest sugar beet producing companies.

Great Western United of New York claims the tender offer would put the Hunts in control of the company with 51 percent of the common stock. The suit says the Hunts already

School Head Will Hear Plea Of Alien Children

HOUSTON (AP) — Parents of three children who are in this country illegally face a hearing Monday before the superintendent of schools in an effort to get free education for the youngsters.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesus Ledezma of Houston were told Thursday by state District Court Judge Paul Pressler they must exhaust the district administrative appeals before moving forward in a suit against the district.

Can't Afford Tuition
The Ledezmas three children, all in this country illegally, have not been to school since September because they can't afford the $66 per month tuition each must pay to the district.

The couple's attorney, Peter D. Williamson, said there are hundreds of children in the same situation. His suit was filed as a class action on behalf of all youngsters not in school because of the policy.

Mike Cantu, a school official, explained the district does not receive state funds to pay for the cost of educating children if they entered this country illegally.

The $66 monthly charge reimburses the district to make up for the lack of state aid, he said.

Mrs. Ledezma is a naturalized citizen while her husband is a permanent resident alien. The three children, Jose Luis, 9, Irma Alicia, 10, and Magail, 7, came from Mexico last July after having stayed there with an older sister, Williamson said.

Williamson said the Houston district is the only large one in Texas which denies free education to illegal aliens.

Cantu said the district has asked the Texas Education Agency for clarification of its policy and hopes for an answer by Monday.

Judge Pressler said if Billy Reagan, superintendent of schools, declines to waive tuition for the three children they must appeal to the school board.

The Rev. D. Leon Everett, president of the school board, said he did not believe the matter would get that far.

"There is not a one of us here who does not want to see these kids in school," Everett said. "I'd like to help get them through the red tape and expedite this as soon as possible."

Young To Protest Planned Closing Of Bombing Range

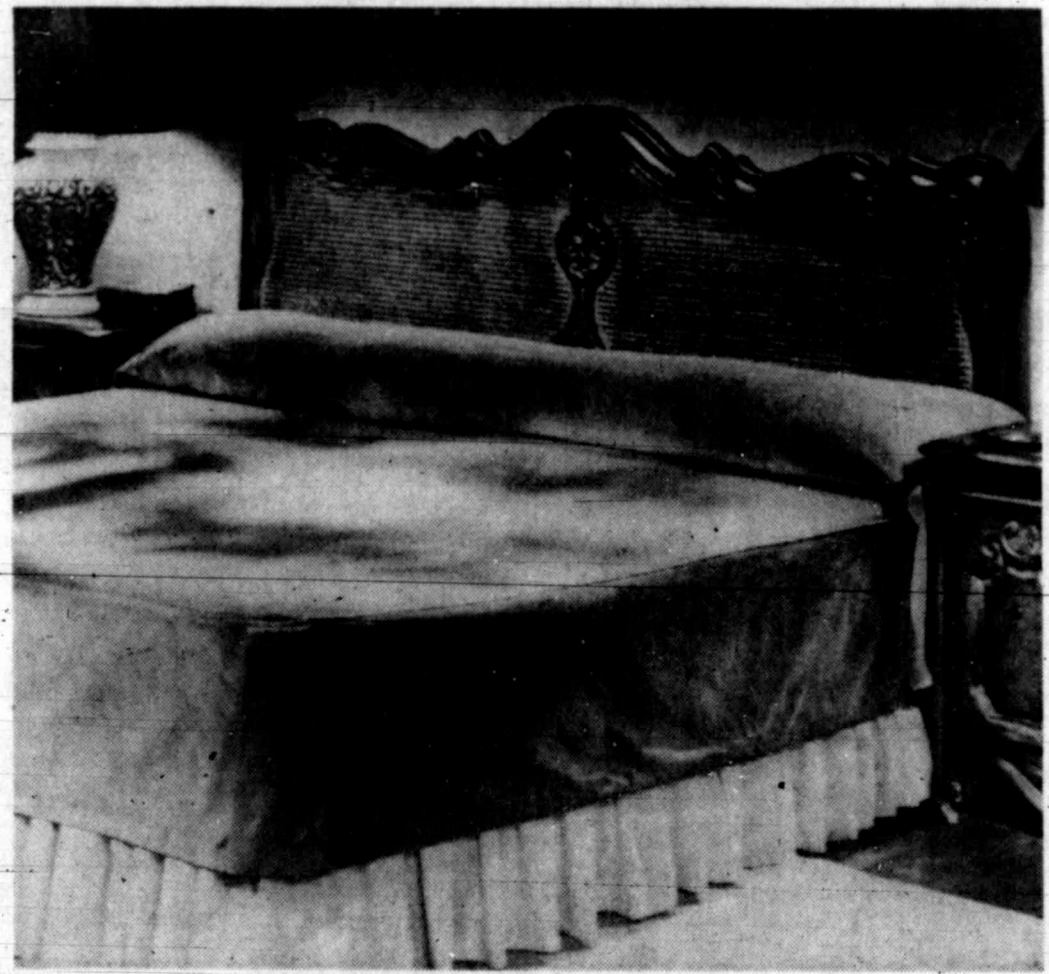

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Air Force plans to close the Matagorda bombing range on the Texas coast are surprising because of earlier assurances the range would remain open, Rep. John Young, D-Tex., says.

Air Force spokesmen announced Thursday closing of the range by next summer, citing protection of whooping cranes and other endangered Texas coastal wildlife.

Young, who announced plans to protest the closing, said Air Force planners earlier assured the range would continue and that it posed no threat to wildlife.

The closing affects 186 military and 12 civilian personnel. Young said economies of both Port Lavaca and Port O'Connor, Tex., would be hurt.

U.S., Israelis Faces Another Defeat At U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States and Israel faced another defeat at the United Nations today on a vote endorsing the Palestinians' claim to nationhood at the expense of Israel.

A resolution on Palestinian rights introduced Thursday night by 38 Arab and Third World countries was assured of approval in the vote late today in the General Assembly.

Position Reaffirmed

The resolution affirms the Palestinians' rights to self-determination, independence and sovereignty. It also affirms their right "to return to their homes and property from which they have been displaced and uprooted" by the formation of Israel.

In addition, it recognizes the Palestine Liberation Organization as the "representative of the people of Palestine" and declares the Palestinians "a principal party in the establishment of a just and durable peace in the Middle East."

This was a direct hit at Israel's refusal to negotiate with the PLO.

Second Resolution

A second resolution introduced by 20 Arab and six other countries would grant the PLO permanent observer status at the General Assembly and at U.N.-sponsored international conferences.

U.S. Ambassador John Scali spoke in the Palestine debate Thursday and urged that Palestinian "legitimate interests" be achieved in the give and take of the negotiating process.

"Adopting new one-sided resolutions not only risks dangerous delay but could destroy prospects for peace in the foreseeable future," Scali warned.

Plea Doomed

But Scali's plea was doomed in advance. An overwhelming majority of Arab, other Asian and African countries, and their Communist allies have already defeated the United States and its allies on a number of issues.

These included the votes inviting the PLO to the debate, barring white-ruled South Africa from participation in the Assembly and limiting Israel's speaking time in the Palestine debate.

Rocky Seems Certain To Win House Committee's Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The family's holdings and not only the vice presidential nomination of Nelson A. Rockefeller appears certain to win a solid recommendation from the House Judiciary Committee, despite some concern about his vast wealth.

Rep. Jerome R. Waldie, D-Calif., said at House Judiciary Committee hearings Thursday he sees a pattern in Rockefeller's loans, gifts and political and charitable contributions to use money to "enhance your political power."

Lone Show Of Anger

Waldie sparked the only show of anger from Rockefeller when he suggested the committee investigate to determine whether Chase Manhattan Bank headed by Nelson's brother, David Rockefeller, to see if it made loans to New York assemblymen when Nelson was governor.

"I resent that question," Rockefeller said. "We don't operate that way. The bank is not used on a political basis."

Waldie, joined by several other members, said the Rockefeller family's wealth and $20 million in political campaign contributions required the committee to investigate the entire family's holdings and not only Nelson's.

Other members said they were concerned whether it would be possible to avoid conflicts of interest by wedding Rockefeller's immense wealth with his power if he became president.

Rockefeller told the panel he would treat as blind trusts those trusts with assets of some $131 million if he is confirmed. Rockefeller and members of his family are beneficiaries of those trusts. The trustees under a blind trust act without telling the trust beneficiary what they're doing.

"These steps should avoid any possibility of a conflict of interest on my part — or the appearance thereof," Rockefeller said.

Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif., suggested Rockefeller go even further: and put his wife's separate wealth in a blind trust.

Rockefeller promised to talk to her about it. He later reported back to the committee that she did not seem to like the idea, although he indicated that no final decision had been made.

Although the questioning was sometimes tough, little of it was hostile. It appeared at the end of the session that possibly only half a dozen of the 38 committee members might vote against Rockefeller's nomination.

The opposition generally was among some of the eight members who voted against President Ford's confirmation as vice president last year. Ford later was overwhelmingly confirmed by the full House.

Paper On How To Fight Terrorism Repudiated By IBM, Official Says

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The chairman of International Business Machines says the firm has repudiated a document on how to combat terrorism which was used in a course for 19 of its security officials this month. The document stressed a need for spying on radical groups.

A spokesman for IBM confirmed Thursday that 19 site security officials at a Nov. 4-15 IBM training program in Glen Cove, N.Y., spent part of the course working with a reference document titled: "Security: A Management Style, A Course of Instruction in Corporate Protective Services, IBM as a Target for Terrorists."

The document was one of several used as reference materials for the course, he said. The full 12-day course was dedicated to "Asset Protection Training Program."

IBM Chairman Frank T. Cary said in a statement that the document was authentic but no longer was being used.

"The document does not reflect IBM management's policies, concerns or attitudes," Cary said. "From our point of view, many references are objectionable and some are offensive. We have withdrawn the document and it will not be used again."

The document now declared objectionable was prepared and presented by the International Association of Chiefs of Police acting under contract to IBM's security department, said a spokesman at the firm's general products headquarters in San Jose, Calif. He declined to say how much IBM paid the IACP.

The document warned that IBM, the world's largest data processing corporation, must develop a top-level counterintelligence network to keep tabs on extremist groups that may be planning bombings, extortion or kidnappings which rely on the element of surprise.

"It is absolutely critical to any response that this surprise component be reduced, and that the organization have timely, comprehensive intelligence information on likely threats," the outline instructed.

"An intelligence system on terrorists and extremists should allow rapid acquisition, analysis, and dissemination of current data from a specially constituted, specially skilled group, which exists in close liaison with top management."

Resists Unionization

The outline also states that since IBM has "successfully resisted unionization... likely specific radical efforts will center on attempts to organize and manipulate IBM workers."

The reference outline became public when the Berkeley Barb, an underground weekly newspaper, published an eight-page document it said was the first half of the outline. The Barb said it obtained the document from the New York News Service, which in turn said it came from an unidentified source in the Midwest.

Esprit de Corps

The Rebelette leaders at right will be on hand at Wichita Falls Saturday with the mighty Lee Rebel football team, rated No. 7 in Texas, clashes with the No. 1 ranked Wichita Falls Rider Raiders on the artificial turf at Wichita Falls. Adding to the din that will be urging the Rebels on to victory will be the Lee High School Band, represented here by a part of the fine unit performing in a pep rally at Lee Thursday. Directed by Ike Nail, the bandsters last week were judged as a first division marching unit in the University Interscholastic League competition. Special halftime performances have been planned for the spectators in Wichita Falls Memorial Stadium. The band members and Rebelettes won't be the only Rebel Boosters present for the bidistrict showdown, however. Over 1,000 tickets have been sold to adults for the game, according to athletic director Tugboat Jones. An additional 400 students are slated to attend the game, along with band members and spirit squad for an estimated total of 2,000 Midlanders. If the Lee team wins Saturday afternoon, they will face the victors in the Irving MacArthur-Mesquite contest which is scheduled for 8 p.m. tonight in Texas Stadium. This year marks the first time since 1951 that a Tall City school has reached bidistrict playoffs. Lee, now in its 14th year, is enjoying the best season in its athletic history.

Navy Accepts Mini-Copter Made In Odessa

ODESSA — The Aerospace General Company's mini-copter, manufactured in Odessa, was accepted by officials of the U.S. Navy in a 30-minute demonstration flight in heavy rain and fog at the Naval Air Development Center at Warminster, Pa., a spokesman for the company said today.

Navy officials from Washington attended the demonstration. The mini-copter is the first of three to become Navy property under terms of a development contract negotiated approximately two years ago. The two follow-up models will be of slightly different design.

The helicopter is powered by hydrogen peroxide thrusters mounted at the rotor blade tips. It is the smallest, lightest weight, man-carrying aircraft in the world.

Mrs. Haney Is Named 'Top Hand' At Lamesa Chamber's Banquet

By LARRY LOVELACE
R-T-Staff Writer

LAMESA — Mrs. Dorothy Haney was named Top Hand of 1974 at the annual banquet for the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development here Thursday night.

Mrs. Haney will retire Dec. 31 as vice president and a director of the chamber's board of directors. The Top Hand award is the highest honor bestowed by the Lamesa chamber and recognizes persons who have made significant contributions to the community and to the chamber.

Plaque Given

The award was presented by Fred Barrington, the 1974 chamber president. He, in turn, received a plaque for his service from Elwood Freeman, who will take over as president Jan. 1.

Also honored was Mrs. Alvin (Patsy) O'Neil, chamber secretary. She was named an honorary lifetime member of the women's division of the chamber.

A crowd of several hundred gathered in the Lamesa High School Student Center to recap the accomplishments of 1974 and to lay the groundwork for the chamber's projects in 1975.

Barrington reviewed his year in office, noting the high point was the decision of Feather Fabrics Inc. of Lubbock to build a plant in Lamesa. Barrington said ground for the project should be broken by mid-1975.

Among the other accomplishments he mentioned were the location of six new businesses in the city, the renovation or expansion of 14 other firms, the holding of the Science Fair in Lamesa for the first time, and the possibility of having U.S. 87 redesignated as Interstate 27.

Freeman said he would begin soon planning chamber projects for next year. He exhorted the audience "to work together to mold a better future for Lamesa" and added, "We must be ever alert to every opportunity to make ours a more progressive city."

Ray Renner, master of ceremonies, introduced the guest speaker, John Hazleton, president of Interpersonal Communications Consultants of Oklahoma City.

Hazleton, a former college professor, urged his listeners — in a paraphrasing of the Golden Rule — "to understand other people and treat them right. You can't really understand another person, but you can put yourself in his shoes and behave toward him as you would want him to behave toward you."

Warning Made

He said it was important to realize that words are only symbols and not things. He added that communication is effective only when the speaker is able to transfer the images in his own mind into the mind of the listener.

Warning that "words are weapons to beat people about the ears," Hazleton explained that "people can manipulate us through words — but only if we let them."

The most effective defense against being manipulated, he said, is to have a good self-concept. "It's very important to see yourself in the right light."

Views Stated

A good self-concept is also most important if one is to be a true success, he said, because "success is perceived by you. If you think you're a success, you are."

Other 1975 officers besides Freeman include Dewayne Lee, vice president, and Max Fitzhugh, secretary-treasurer. Lee is the 1974 secretary-treasurer.

Directors who will begin two-year terms Jan. 1 include Nelson Hogg, Freeman, J. P. Senter, Jimmy Young, Joe Coffey, Don Bethel, Bob Crawley and Travis King.

Holdover directors include Neal Chastain, Johnny Montgomery, Lee, Buddy White, Fitzhugh, Hank Meyers, Ronnie Payton and Jerry Price.

Retiring directors are Barrington, Walter Buckel, John Hegl, Allen Herzer, Neal Echols, Elwood Hamilton, Mrs. Haney and Jimmy Hughes.

The chamber manager is Alan Bligh, who was recently named to the position. Russell Hughes is the student assistant.

Performing dinner music was a group of Lamesans, including Montgomery, Doy Ferguson, Gary Jones and Leonard Kunkel. Harlan Thornton and Kenneth Baker, of the Howard College at Big Spring fine arts department, performed three ragtime numbers.

The dinner was prepared by the food services staff of the Lamesa school system and was served by members of the Lamesa High School Future Homemakers of America.

Greyhound Officials Studying Union Counterproposal

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Greyhound officials are studying a counterproposal offered by the striking Amalgamated Transit Union in an effort to end a nationwide strike which has idled an estimated 16,000 bus company workers.

The firm spent most of Thursday studying the union's proposal. Details of the package were not revealed.

Negotiations broke off early Thursday to permit the company time to consider the union proposal.

Federal mediators met with each side individually during the day. Mediator Guy Parent said he remains optimistic that a quick end to the strike is possible.

The union members walked off the job Monday after 48 hours of nearly continuous bargaining failed to bring about a tentative agreement.

Union officials said before the strike began they wanted an across-the-board 60 cents an hour pay raise and a one-cent per mile increase.

The expired contract paid drivers an average of $5.75 an hour or 21.8 cents a mile, whichever was greater.

Autopsy Reveals .45 Caliber Bullet Killed Police Dog

HOUSTON (AP) — A police dog killed in the line of duty by a shotgun-carrying suspect actually died of a .45 caliber bullet, an autopsy revealed Thursday.

District Court Judge Andrew Jefferson ordered the autopsy on the dog, named Art, in the attempted capital murder case of Larry Wayne Murray, 18.

City Patrolman Lee F. Yeoman said he escaped a shotgun blast from a van occupied by Murray and his police dog took the force of the shot.

Murray's lawyers asked for the autopsy to check the credibility of the police version of the incident. Dr. Joseph Jachmicyk, county medical examiner, performed the autopsy and said it was his opinion that Art's death was "accidental" while on duty.

Art had been given burial in a Houston pet cemetery with full police honors.

Soviet Physicist Charges Pressure

MOSCOW (AP) — Physicist Andrei Sakharov, a leader of Soviet dissidents, says the government has refused to grant visas to his stepdaughter and her husband so they can study in the United States.

Tatyana Semyonova and her husband, Yefrem Yankelevich, have been invited to study at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. They applied for visas 20 months ago.

Sakharov said Thursday he thought the refusal was a device to put pressure on him.

Priest Seeks Liquor License For Church

LITTLETON, Colo. (AP) — The Rev. Frederick D. McCallin, a teetotaler himself, says there's nothing wrong with taking a drink now and then, especially if the profits go to the church.

Father McCallin has stirred up quite a controversy by seeking a liquor license for St. Thomas More Roman Catholic Church, of which he is pastor. He wants to open a restaurant in a parish center being built in this Denver suburb and thinks the restaurant should serve alcoholic beverages to attract customers.

"The day is over when the church was closed dark all week except on Sunday," Father McCallin said. "The church must become part of people's lives."

Economy Slowdown Seems Finally To Be Cooling Rate Of Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rate of inflation, the latest government figures show. Although most prices continue to rise, there is a definite easing in the rate of price increase in the nation's economy.

Car Production Cutbacks Force More Layoffs

DETROIT (AP) — At least 145,000 blue collar auto workers and thousands more white collar employees will be out of work part or all of next month because of mounting production cutbacks in the sprawling automobile industry.

General Motors said Thursday it will shut nine car assembly plants for one or two weeks in December and lay off 30,000 workers because of declining sales.

Meanwhile, Ford Motor Co. said it is furloughing 3,000 white collar workers Dec. 1.

Chrysler Corp. revealed plans to lay off white collar workers models will be priced between $440 and $615 higher than comparable 1974 models.

Toyota said the increases, which range from 12.5 to 16.6 per cent, are the result of increased production costs and the addition of new or improved Canadian plants which supply standard equipment.

The Chrysler and GM production cutbacks come in the face of a 30 per cent drop in new car sales.

Two-Week Shutdown. GM said its plants in North Tarrytown, N.Y.; Van Nuys, Calif.; and Southgate, Calif., will be closed for two weeks starting Dec. 2.

Plants at Fairfax, Kan., and Willow Run, Mich., will be shut for the weeks of Dec. 2 and Dec. 16.

One-week shutdowns begin Dec. 16 are scheduled for plants at Lordstown, Ohio; Janesville, Wis.; St. Louis, Mo.; and Wilmington, Del.

The Lordstown, Willow Run, Van Nuys and Tarrytown plants are shut this week, and pay for the normal Christmas-Lordstown and Willow Run will remain shut next week, as well.

increase in the individual's real spending power.

The government's Consumer Price Index released Thursday showed that prices of non-food consumer goods increased six-tenths of one per cent in October, the second consecutive monthly slowdown in the rate of rise and the lowest increase since last December.

There were actual declines during the month — on a seasonally adjusted basis — in prices of women's and girls' apparel and in gasoline and motor oil.

Increase Shown. The Wholesale Price Index last week showed a 1.1 per cent increase in wholesale prices of industrial commodities during October, which was less than half the rate of increase during most of the previous nine months.

All this does not mean a general decline in prices is around the corner, but government economists say future increases will be smaller and less painful to consumers.

Harris Seeks New Hospital Leader. HOUSTON (AP) — The Harris County Hospital District's board of managers apparently has fired its chief administrator, Newal J. Vaughn.

While making no public announcement about Vaughn's status, the board voted 4-3 Thursday to begin a nationwide search for a new chief executive for the county charity hospital system.

One economist with the President's Council of Economic Advisors also cautioned Thursday that the rate of increase could pick up again in months ahead.

But there was general agreement the size of price rises will be down.

The cost of this slight improvement in inflation has been high, especially in terms of lost jobs.

Virtually everybody, including President Ford, says the nation either is in a recession or entering one.

The nation's jobless rate hit 6 per cent in October and is certain to rise higher because of widespread layoffs in the auto industry and the adverse economic impact of the coal strike.

In addition, food prices have shown little slowdown and are unlikely to because of poor crops.

The increase in food prices during October was 1.1 per cent.

The overall increase in October consumer prices, including both food and non-food items, was nine-tenths of one per cent, down from 1.2 per cent in September and 1.3 per cent in August.

Simply put, the economic slowdown is working to restrain inflation because people are buying less, either because they can't afford to or because they are discouraged by the already high prices.

The overall increase in the cost of living during the first 10 months of this year is 10.6 per cent compared with an 8.8 per cent increase during all of 1973.

Earnings Down. A worker's real spending earnings — which are earnings after taxes and after compensating for inflation — were down three-tenths of one per cent in the past year.

President Arnold Miller of the striking United Mine Workers said he believes the union's 120,000 bituminous coal miners will ratify a proposed contract if a few changes can be made during renewed negotiations with coal producers.

The nation's railroads said their total freight traffic dipped by 8 per cent last week, in part because of the coal strike.

The Senate and House Democratic leaders disclosed separate lists of economic proposals that include federally subsidized jobs for the unemployed, standby wage and price controls, tax revisions and extension of government credit to hard-hit sectors of the economy.

Light Drug Terms Draw Official's Ire

DALLAS (AP) — A federal drug official has criticized U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice of Tyler for giving what he says are lenient sentences to drug offenders.

Arthur Fluhr, deputy regional director of the Drug Enforcement Agency in Dallas, said Thursday the judge's sentences have frustrated law enforcement officers.

Lives On Line. "Why am I putting agents on the street, where they put their lives on the line, only to have a judge let off a convicted heroin dealer with a sentence to urinate 520 times in a bottle?" Fluhr asked.

Fluhr said he received word this week that Judge Justice had given Duwayne Skane Thomas, 20, a five-year probation sentence for sale and possession of heroin. A condition of the probation was that Thomas give a urine sample to a medical official twice a week for the next five years. The drug official says urine test can detect heroin use.

"This is just an advertisement for other drug dealers that they're going to get a free ride in the courts for their offenses," Fluhr complained.

Fired Shot. He said that when Thomas was arrested in Sherman Dec. 19, 1973, he struck a female drug agent on the head with a gun and fired shots at two other agents.

"I can understand the need for compassion in handling the many problems brought before the court," Fluhr said, "but we believe the courts should provide punishment appropriate to the offense. We cannot have a revolving door and accomplish anything."

Marshall Still Struggling Back After Tragic Air Crash

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — Four years have passed since that rainy November night when a plane crashed at nearby Tri-state Airport wiping out the Marshall University football team and coaching staff.

The memory of that night which traumatized an entire town — has begun to fade here in Huntington. But it is far from forgotten.

However, the business of living these past four years has worn off the sharp edges of the grief that gripped the city. Most of the students who were here the night of Nov. 14, 1970, have gone and the school has since had two presidents. The last of the handful of players who missed that fatal flight finished their careers last fall.

On the first anniversary of the crash, the city and university staged a huge memorial service at a Marshall football game. Last week's fourth anniversary came and went with only a quiet memorial service and passing mention in the city's newspapers.

Jack Lengyel, who came from the College of Wooster in Ohio to try to rebuild the Thundering Herd football program, says he makes it a point not to dwell on the crash. He said he would only cheapen the lives of those who died if he tried to capitalize on the deaths of the 37 Marshall players and the five coaches.

"In fact," he said, "the biggest fear I had when I came here was that every game would turn into a wake. But it never happened."

Lengyel leaned back and let his memory drift.

"I came here on March 17, 1971. It was St. Patrick's Day and just about anybody who wanted to play. The NCAA allowed Marshall to use freshmen that year.

By the next fall, he had put together a team composed of walk-ons, basketball players and just about anybody who wanted to play. The NCAA allowed Marshall to use freshmen that year.

Beaird Retains Slim SWC Lead

DALLAS — While Texas A&M, 116.4 yards per game and the scoring leader with 72 points and Baylor are fighting over the Southwest Conference football lead, a couple of their main springs are fighting over the rushing lead.

Baylor's Steve Beaird held the rushing lead again for the third straight week, but only by a yard and a half a game. The senior tailback is averaging 93.0 yards per game, while Texas A&M's Bubba Bean rushed for 138 yards to hike his game average to 91.5 yards.

Beaird became Baylor's all-time seasonal rushing champ in the 17-0 victory over Texas Tech Saturday, his 837 yards bettering the mark of 818 set by Pinky Palmer in 1968. Palmer accomplished his record in ten games, while Beaird has played only nine this season and has two more cracks at gaining the 163 yards he needs to become the Bears' first 1,000-yard rusher.

And the 5-7 tailback from Angleton will make it, if determination counts for anything.

After scoring the Bears' first touchdown Saturday on a violent smash into the middle of the Tech defense, Beaird was slow in getting to his feet. His jersey was in shreds as he shook his head slowly and trotted back to the Baylor bench staring at the ground in front of him.

Coach Grant Teaff eyed his prize ball-carrier closely and as Beaird walked by him, Teaff grabbed him by the arm. "Are you all right?" Teaff asked.

Beaird's head shot up and a big smile broke across his face. "Me?" he yelled. "Coach, you know I'm all right."

Another youngster who was all right Saturday was SMU freshman Art Whittington, who became the 13th SWC player in history to return a kickoff 100 yards. Whittington leads the SWC in both kickoff returns at 27.1 yards per trip and punt returns at 10.3.

He and Beaird are the only gridgers to pace the conference in more than one statistical category.

In addition to holding the rushing lead, Beaird is the tandem offense pace-setter at

Rookies Sparkle

Thompson, Grandy, Verban In Strong Arizona Showing

By ED PRELL
R-T Correspondent
SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. — Three of the four outfielders with the Cubs in the Arizona Instructional League played last summer for Bradenton in the Gulf Coast (Florida) Rookie League. The other one, Joe Wallis, spent his second professional season with Key West and Midland.

The three freshmen are Scott Thompson, Eric Grandy, and Steve Verban. Thompson's background was sketched in an earlier Newsletter. He's 18, 6-3, 160, and was at .232 in most recent A.L.L. figures. He's a tremendous prospect. Bats left.

Rob Sperring

hitting the cut-off man."

Here's a rundown on the other two Bradenton boys:

Grandy's a lanky 6-3, 19-year old lad from Baltimore, Md., who says perhaps his listed weight of 170 is slightly on the heavy side. "But I hope to get up to 190, one of these years," says this speed boy who batted .260 last season for Bradenton.

Eric declined scholarships from Clemson and the University of Maryland to make a quick start in professional baseball.

Verban is the son of Emil Verban, who was a star infielder with the Cardinals. Like Grandy, Steve also is a string bean type at 6-2 and 165. He played last Spring on the Lewis University team from Lockport, Ill., which won the national small college title, beating Sam Houston (Tex.) State. He doubled in the ninth when Lewis scored the winning run. He's from Elkhart, an Illinois hamlet of 450 near the state capital of Springfield. His dad lives there and sells real estate.

Steve was ignored in baseball's annual drafts. So he picked up the telephone, called Wrigley Field in Chicago and told John Holland, the Cubs' front office boss, that he was a ball player. He was invited to try out in Bradenton. He not only made the club, he led it in batting with .286!

"Both have natural ability," says Pete Reiser, one of the Cub professors. "I'd like to see both of them have more motivation. I've never seen anyone who can go faster than Eric from first to third on a triple. Steve is great at Cubs' week in review: (Nov. 4 through Nov. 11) — Beat Dodgers, 13-5, then lost, 7-3. Scored 7 runs in first inning. Mike Sember, Joe Wallis, and Rob Sperring paced 13-hit attack. Scott Thompson had 3 hits in 2nd game. Wednesday — Edged out by Giants, 3-2, as Dave Geisel lost. Kevin Drury hit 3 singles. Thursday — Sperring broke tie with 2-run homer which beat Angels, 3-1, with Bruce Sutter the winner. Friday — Lost to Giants, 3-1, when Darrell Turner yielded 2 runs in 8th. Saturday — Whacked Angels, 8-2, to trail them for lead by 1 game. Sunday — Geisel victim in 9-run 1st inning as Padres won, 12-3. Still, Cub staff, in latest averages, is tops with 2.89 ERA.

Standings: Angels, 25-20, .556; Cubs, 24-21, .533; Padres, 21-20, .512; Dodgers, 19-23, .452; Giants, 19-24, .442.

League pace setters: George Angeli, .350; Dupree, Padres, 49 hits and 9 doubles; Rush, Angels, 27 runs batted in; Joe Wallis, Cubs, 75 total bases and 6 homers; Tyrone, Cubs, and Lee, Giants, 5 triples; Macherer, Angels, 29 runs; Billy Smith, Angels, 37 walks; Scott, Padres, 11 steals. Pitching — Cristelli, Angels, 6-1, 50 innings, .39 strikeouts; Corrigan, Dodgers, 6.82 earned run average; Sutter, Cubs and McAllen, Padres, 4 saves.

FINAL WEEK FOR FUN— A&I Clinches League Title

SAN MARCOS — An anticlimatic finish is all that's left in the 40th Lone Star Conference football campaign.

Texas A&I wrapped up the title last Saturday with a 42-19 win over Howard Payne. Now the undefeated Javelinas can close out their regular season Saturday in San Marcos against Southwest Texas. In a 11 p.m. game which will serve as a tuneup for an A&I appearance in the NAIA playoffs.

Three teams — Abilene Christian, SWT and S.F. Austin — are still tied for second, but SWT will have a hard time staying there considering its final opponent, ACC will go to Howard Payne and SFA will host Sam Houston.

While eight of the 10 teams finish their regular slates this week, Angelo and East Texas will wait until Nov. 30 to close. ASU will go to Monterrey (Mex.) Tech, and East Texas will play Bethune-Cookman in Orlando, Fla.

Here's the lineup for the final big weekend:

— ABILENE CHRISTIAN (7-3-0, 6-2) at HOWARD PAYNE (4-6-0, 3-5), 2 p.m. ACC beat Sam Houston, 34-23, last week with freshmen Ron McMullen and Cleotha Montgomery running for 134 and 113 yards, respectively. . . game will feature two of most pass oriented teams in LSC. HPU's Rick Worley total offense (155.7) and passing (155.5) leader. . . HPU TE Mike Lambert league receiving leader (32 catches). . . ACC's Wilbert Montgomery hasn't played in two weeks but still scoring leader with 90 points. . .

— SAM HOUSTON (4-6-0, 4-4) at S.F. Austin (8-2-0, 6-2), 2 p.m. Sam Houston has lost four straight and would like nothing better than to end year with battle over arch piney woods rival. . . SFA's only two losses have been in loop play. . . SHSU lost to ACC, 34-23, while SFA was crushing Tarleton, 34-7, last Saturday. . . James Oliphant SHS offensive leader. . . Jeff Bergeron has taken offensive lead for Jacks since suspension of QB Larry Mayer. . .

— EAST TEXAS (6-4-0, 4-4) at TARLETON (1-9-0, 0-8), 2 p.m. Up and down East Texas was up last week for 49-7 win over Angelo. . . Lions piled up 445 yards rushing, including 186 and 101 yards from alternating TBs Aundra Thompson and Craig Powell. . .

— TEXAS A&I (10-0-0, 8-0) at SOUTHWEST TEXAS (6-3-0, 6-2), 7:30. What can you say about A&I? . . . the Hogs were 2-8 a year ago and here they are atop the LSC and NAIA. . . This is a traditional South Texas brawl and a sellout crowd appears certain. . . A&I leading offensive (479.5) and defensive (254.1) team in loop. . . will be interesting to see if SWT rushing defense, best in loop with a 139.6 yield, can stop A&I rush. . . A&I QB Richard Ritchie LSC offensive "player of the week" after 281 yards against HPU. . . CB Leonard Avery also defensive "POW". . . SWT has bounced back to win four straight, the last a 24-14 decision over Sul Ross last Thursday. . .

— SUL ROSS (1-8-0, 1-7) at ANGELO (3-6-0, 2-6), 7:30. West Texas rivalry in this one. . . both teams suffering worst-than-expected seasons. . . ASU's Charlie Franklin red hot of late and now No. 4 rusher with 98.8 norm. . . Ram QB Lynn Leonard No. 2 in passing and total offense. . . SRU improving each week and gave SWT good scare last week. . . QB Rick Watts able passer. . . DB Melvin Jackson also quality performer.

College Bullies To Tangle

Bucks Host Wolverines; Sooners Invade Nebraska

By The Associated Press
The Michigan Wolverines and Ohio State Buckeyes, bullies of the Big Ten and just about everyone else, meet Saturday to settle a league championship, a Rose Bowl berth and some personal differences. It's the biggest game of the season for these two superpowers, who love to hate each other.

The undefeated Wolverines and once-beaten Buckeyes, ranked Nos. 3 and 4 in the country and 1-2 in the Big Ten, meet in their heralded battle at Columbus, Ohio, before an expected sellout crowd of 83,000 and a national television audience of millions more.

It's a similar situation to last year, when both teams were ranked high and met in the last game of the regular season for the right to play against the winner of the Pacific-8 Conference at Pasadena on New Year's Day.

They struggled to a 10-10 tie in 1973 and Ohio State was picked by Big Ten officials to go the Rose Bowl for the second straight year. The decision, quite naturally, outraged Michigan officials, including Coach Bo Schemblecher, who's waited a year for a return shot at the Buckeyes.

Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes, meanwhile, has no love for the Buckeyes' chief antagonists. He never mentions Michigan by name, but refers only to "that school up north," and refuses to buy gasoline from a filling station across the state line or even eat in a restaurant up there.

The winner of that bone-buster will land a Rose Bowl berth against the winner of the Southern California-UCLA game. The Trojans, ranked No. 8 in the country, hope to go to the Rose Bowl for the third straight season. They've beaten the Buckeyes once and lost another time in the last two years.

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 1 Oklahoma meets No. 6 Nebraska in a collision of Big Eight powers; Air Force visits No. 5 Notre Dame; No. 11 Maryland takes on Virginia; Iowa is at No. 14 Michigan State, only team to beat Ohio State this year, and Stanford plays California, the 19th-ranked team in the country.

Ohio State is a nine-point favorite to beat Michigan, probably because of the home-field advantage. But the Buckeyes will be in trouble defensively if Neal Colzie doesn't get well in a hurry.

Colzie, the key man in Ohio State's secondary, was hospitalized Thursday with a temperature of 101 degrees and a throat infection. A team doctor wouldn't rule Colzie out of the showdown game, however.

If Southern Cal beats UCLA, the Pac-8 race is all over for 1974. It can still end up in a three-way tie with Southern Cal, UCLA and Stanford and the Rose Bowl representative would then have to be determined on overall record.

FOR INFLATION—Colleges Seek Answer; One Platoon May Be It

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — There's a way to tackle the inflationary costs pinching the pocketbooks of university athletic departments across the country.

It's called single-platoon football, and Athletic Director Norval Ritzhey of the University of Oregon has drafted a proposal that would bring about the change.

"It would basically ask the NCAA's rules committee to return us to one-platoon football," Ritzhey said. "This would, first, save you many, many thousands of dollars. It also would help equalize competition."

And, he said, "It would lead to a return of player recognition by the fans. As it stands now," he said, "people don't recognize who they (players) are. What we're talking about is a limited substitution."

"We know of seven of the eight Pacific-8 Conference schools who favor the proposal now," Ritzhey said. The lone exception is the University of Southern California, where Coach John McKay is opposed," Ritzhey said.

At Oregon State, Athletic Director Jim Barratt said he, too, favored the idea. "The only panacea I can see for this galloping inflation is a return to one-platoon football," he said, "and I'm going to fight for this at my own university, at the Pac-8 level in December and at the NCAA level in January" meetings.

"I feel we can retain the same income with one-platoon football and also save ourselves about $200,000 annually," Barratt said.

Barratt said more and more major universities "are swinging this way. I see a snowballing effect. Even Bear Bryant of Alabama has come out publicly and said he may have to go to one-platoon."

Ritzhey added names such as Joe Paterno of Penn State and Frank Broyles of Arkansas as favoring the change.

Ex-Russian Sailor Vows To Stay In U.S.

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Former Russian seaman Anatoli Sverdin, now sailing with Israeli papers, vowed he would remain in the United States after his ship sails today.

It would be the second time Sverdin jumped ship in four months moving from one country to another.

He was aboard a Soviet vessel off Belgium when he first jumped ship. He asked to be sent to Israel.

Sverdin, 42, appeared at Beaumont police headquarters Wednesday seeking political asylum. Immigration Service investigators returned him to the Israeli-flag ship Har Sinai, however.

James J. O'Keefe, deputy district director of immigration in Houston, said regulations state political asylum may be granted only to immigrants who would face persecution in the country to which they are returned.

"This is not the case of Sverdin," O'Keefe said.

Sverdin nevertheless vowed to remain behind when the Har Sinai sailed at noon today.

If the vessel leaves without him, the only alternative is for a hearing before an immigration board, O'Keefe said.

The Har Sinai's master said he could not stop Sverdin from leaving the ship but the Israeli government would not approve.

Sverdin said his mother is Russian and his father Jewish. When he left Soviet jurisdiction, he lost his citizenship.

In the four months he has lived in Israel, he has not become a citizen, although he obtained traveling papers for shipping purposes.

A fellow seaman said Sverdin, despite having Israeli papers, really has no place to go.

Sverdin told newsmen Thursday that he talked by telephone to his wife and she had not received any letters he mailed to her in the Soviet Union containing money.

He said the Red Cross was unable to assist because of his classification as a defector.

AT&T Withdraws Bond Offer

NEW YORK (AP) — American Telephone & Telegraph Co. said today it was withdrawing $600 million in bonds offered to investors last week due to unsettled conditions in the bond market since the antitrust action brought by the Justice Department against the giant utility.

The issue, put on the market Nov. 13, was the largest utility bond issue on record, brokers said.

AT&T said the decision was reached after a morning meeting with managers of the underwriting syndicate led by Salomon Brothers.

"We want to give investors sufficient time to consider fully this development," said Charles L. Brown, AT&T executive vice president.

AT&T spokesmen would not go beyond a brief press release in announcing the withdrawal.

The issue was scheduled for completion next Tuesday. By that time investors would write out their checks to the brokers, and the brokers would turn over the money from the offering to AT&T.

The issue consisted of $300 million of seven-year notes and $300 million of 32-year bonds.

Mexican Officials Hold Three MPs

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Three military policemen from Ft. Bliss were held today by Mexican officials across the Rio Grande from here.

The three military policemen and their two patrol cars were taken into custody shortly after midnight when they crossed the Texas-Mexico border in pursuit of a pickup truck, Ft. Bliss officials said today.

A spokesman said the military policemen spotted the pickup truck on the military base and gave chase when they saw what they believed to be stolen government property in the back of the vehicle. The truck bore Mexican license plates.

Mashburn Attends Austin Meeting

The State Bar Committee is in session at Austin today, and Midland Dist. Atty. James Mashburn is there to hear reports on the committee's proposed county jail legislation.

Mashburn will return to Midland Saturday following the committee's strategy session with the Texas Sheriff's Association. The joint meeting between the attorneys and sheriffs is designed to promote legislation in 1975 that will strengthen the county jail law and security measures in courtrooms, according to the Midland district attorney.

Prosecution In Cover-Up Trial Ready To Rest Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — After 6 1/2 weeks of hearing 26 witnesses and more than 20 hours of White House tapes, the prosecution in the Watergate cover-up trial is ready to rest its case.

Four final prosecution witnesses, including former White House aide Egli "Bud" Krogh, are scheduled to testify today before the defense begins its case, probably Monday.

In White House tapes presented Thursday, former President Richard M. Nixon was heard at least five times expressing worry that former White House counsel John W. Dean III may have secretly carried a tape recorder under his armpit during a March 21, 1973 meeting. Dean and Nixon talked at that meeting about paying money to the original Watergate defendants.

Concerned because Dean had begun cooperating with Watergate investigators in early April 1973, Nixon asked cover-up defendant H.R. Haldeman on the evening of April 25 if there was any way Dean "might have walked in there (to the White House Oval Office) with a recorder on him?"

Haldeman dismisses the likelihood, but Nixon persists in examining the possibility because he was curious about what Dean may have told prosecutors about the March 21 dis-ussion of $1 million in potential push money requirements. (Nixon presses Haldeman on how a tape recorder might be hidden and not be seen.)

"I'd think that it's a little, it's, it's, even the smallest ones are bulky enough that you mean, with a fellow like Dean you'd sort of see that, wouldn't you? Where do you carry them, in your hip pocket or your breast pocket?"

Haldeman: "Oh, under your arm, you know, where they carry a pistol holster or something."

Nixon, who had earlier described a possible Dean tape recording as "a real bomb," went on to speculate how Dean's word would stand up against that of a president's.

Haldeman said if Dean had only his own records of the March 21 meeting to rely on, "there's no check."

Nixon: "Oh, well, on that we'll destroy him (Dean)."

On another of the four tapes heard by the jury Thursday, Nixon speculates, "I just wonder if the... had a recorder on him. I didn't notice any but I wasn't looking."

Miller Believes Miners Will Ratify Proposed Contract If Changes Made

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller believes the union's 120,000 bituminous coal miners will ratify a proposed contract if a few changes can be made during renewed negotiations with coal producers.

"It's the very best contract that's ever been negotiated in the labor movement," Miller said. The 39-member UMW Bargaining Council recommended the contract undergo "some minor adjustments" before being submitted to striking miners for ratification.

Not Informed

The chief negotiator for the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, Guy Farmer, said the operators do not intend to reopen the talks. Miller said he hasn't been officially informed of that decision.

While not rejecting the contract outright, the Bargaining Council's decision to withhold it from member ratification means the nationwide strike will probably continue into a fourth week. Miller said areas needing revision include vacations, jurisdiction, work rules and a wage package.

Miller added that some miners believe a right to strike clause should be included, but he said it wasn't needed.

"I think there is considerable interest because of the way grievances were handled in the past," Miller said, but added "we've got a streamlined grievance procedure" that negates the need for a right to strike clause.

While negotiations continue, companies which depend on the fossil fuel are reportedly running short of coal and threaten another series of employe layoffs.

Government estimates say a four-week strike would mean about 400,000 layoffs in coal-related occupations.

With national coal production presently 75 per cent below normal, a Bureau of Mines report indicates electric utilities and steelmakers are running low on coal.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Rain Stain
Won't Go Away

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Editor's Association

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — One night I left my sliding glass doors open. Rain came in on an end table with a lamp on it. I dried the table and then set the lamp back on it not realizing the felt on the lamp bottom was damp. The felt dye stained the table. I wonder if someone could tell me how to remove this stain? — MRS. A.H.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with leaking milk cartons. I can understand an occasional one but I have been averaging one leaking one out of every four cartons. — MRS. S.N.

DEAR POLLY — I would like for Mrs. A.L. to know that I have found that wax shoe polish of the proper color does a fine job of removing scratches from furniture and puts on a nice finish. I also find this good for paneled walls and wood floors. Apply with a cloth or cotton swab and polish well with another cloth. — BERTHA

DEAR POLLY — So many of the readers like J.N. seem plagued with that problem of pet odors. I have cured some beauties with a good STRONG solution of plain old baking soda in water. The only trick is to be sure that all the soda dissolves and that the solution sinks in as deeply as the original odor producer.

Also when coming home from the beach with sand-covered legs and feet a big problem is practically eliminated if you have along a can of baby powder. Shake a healthy amount of powder on the kids' feet and legs and you can brush the sand off in seconds and even put their shoes on. Sure helps keep the car clean. — J.L.

DEAR POLLY — To keep the children from wasting expensive precious sugar put it in a king-size shaker and let them shake it on their cereal, etc. No spilling. Less is used to say nothing of the shaker being easier for them to handle. — PAT

DEAR POLLY — The best way I have found to get rid of a lingering odor in baby diaper pail is to use a crystal-type toilet bowl deodorant. The pail smells nicer. This is usually less expensive than the diaper pail deodorants found at the store and that do not work as well either. This type deodorant works wonders on garbage pails. — MRS. R.L.H.

Women's Rights Amendment Topic For Lecturer At Meetings In Midland Christian School, Church

Lottie Beth Hobbs, Fort Worth author and lecturer, spoke on the Equal Rights Amendment at recent meetings in North A. and Tennessee Streets Church of Christ and Midland Christian School.

Miss Hobbs pointed out possible adverse consequences of the amendment if it is ratified by a majority of states, and urged women to contact state representatives concerning rescinding the amendment. She said the Equal Rights Amendment, brought about by the Women's Liberation Movement, could produce a unisex society, severely damage family life and make it possible for women to be drafted, forced to take jobs outside the home and place children in day care centers, pay alimony to divorced husbands and lose their privacy in public accommodations. Also, she said, sex crimes and homosexuality would be encouraged.

In states which have ratified the amendment, some of the adverse results are in effect, Miss Hobbs stated.

The purpose of Women Who Want to be Women is to preserve the rights of women to be feminine, keep traditional legal protection for women and protect the sacred institution of marriage and family.

At 7 p.m. Dec. 2, the chapter will have an informative meeting in the Service Building of the North A. and Tennessee Streets Church of Christ. All interested women are invited to attend.

Plans to adopt a family for Christmas also were mapped.

Mrs. Ellsworth Bossell was a guest.

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren

Ex-Mate Nominated For 'Heel Of Year'

DEAR ABBY: I would like to nominate my ex-husband for "Heel of the Year." I divorced 15 years ago, so he could marry another woman. At the time we had a 5-year-old son and a 3-year-old daughter.

After the first year he forgot all about child support. I had a good job, so I never hounded him.

Last year, our son enlisted in the Air Force. Five months later he was killed in a training accident.

Abby, that boy saw his father maybe a dozen times in the last 15 years. His father never remembered his son on his birthday or Christmas either.

Guess who showed up at our son's funeral? His father! Now for the unbelievable part my ex-husband told me at the funeral that he was "entitled" to half our son's G.I. insurance. (The insurance was made out to me.) I told him where to go, and he said he plans to sue me. And he probably will. Have you ever heard anything to equal that?

DEAR SHOCKED: No. But if any of my readers have, they'll probably let me know. Does anyone else care to nominate a candidate for "Heel of the Year?"

DEAR ABBY: My brother and his wife are secretly married. My husband and I stood up for them. Brother is 31, and Ellen (made up name) is 27.

Brother and Ellen do not live together. She lives with her parents and he has his own apartment.

Ellen has not yet told her parents that she is married, and she has given my brother orders not to give away the secret. I think she's ashamed of him, which really upsets me because he is a super guy.

They finally told my parents. Abby, they've been married a year. Last week my parents had a little anniversary celebration party for them. Her folks weren't invited because they still haven't been told about the marriage. It was all so one-sided and weird.

I cannot understand why Ellen won't tell her folks. Neither she nor brother has been married before, there is no racial or religious conflict, and my brother doesn't have two heads. In fact, he is very handsome. What do you make of this?
"B" IN SAN MATEO

DEAR "B": I don't know Ellen's reason for keeping her marriage a secret, but whatever it is, it's not your problem. It's hers and your brother's.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you because although I am on good terms with my doctor and have known him for years I am ashamed to ask him this question.

Ten years ago my husband died. Last year I fell in love again, and the gentleman is five years younger than I am. I am 83.

For the last 30 years I have had no menstruation, having had my menopause completed at age 53. Can you please tell me if there is any possibility of my becoming pregnant now? I am in good health and do not look anywhere near my age. (I'm told I look about 60.) Do not use my name or location please.
WANTS TO KNOW

DEAR WANTS: No danger.

DEAR ABBY: What can you do for a guy whose new wife suddenly gets hung up on country and western music to the point where she won't listen to any other kind? She knows I hate it. Every radio in the house is tuned to those hillbilly singers. I've been going down to the corner tavern to hear

POLLY'S POINTERS

Rain Stain Won't Go Away

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Association

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — One night I left my sliding glass doors open. Rain came in on an end table with a lamp on it. I dried the table and then set the lamp back on it not realizing the felt on the lamp bottom was damp. The felt dye stained the table. I wonder if someone could tell me how to remove this stain? — MRS. A.H.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with leaking-milk cartons. I can understand an occasional one but I have been averaging one leaking one out of every four cartons. — MRS. S.N.

DEAR POLLY — I would like for Mrs. A.L. to know that I have found that wax shoe polish of the proper color does a fine job of removing scratches from furniture and puts on a nice finish. I also find this good for paneled walls and wood floors. Apply with a cloth or cotton swab and polish well with another cloth. — BERTHA.

DEAR POLLY — So many of the readers like J.N. seem plagued with that problem of pet odors. I have cured some beauties with a good STRONG solution of plain old baking soda in water. The only trick is to be sure that all the soda dissolves and that the solution sinks in as deeply as the original odor producer.

Also when coming home from the beach with sand-covered legs and feet a big problem is practically eliminated if you have along a can of baby powder. Shake a healthy amount of powder on the kids' feet and legs and you can brush the sand off in seconds and even put their shoes on. Sure helps keep the car clean. — J.L.

DEAR POLLY — To keep the children from wasting expensive precious sugar put it in a king-size shaker and let them shake it on their cereal, etc. No spilling. Less is used to say nothing of the shaker being easier for them to handle. — PAT.

DEAR POLLY — The best way I have found to get rid of a lingering odor in baby diaper pail is to use a crystal-type toilet bowl deodorant. The pail smells nicer. This is usually less expensive than the diaper pail deodorants found at the store and that do not work as well either. This type deodorant works wonders on garbage pails. — MRS. R.L.H.

Women's Rights Amendment Topic For Lecturer At Meetings In Midland Christian School, Church

Lottie Beth Hobbs, Fort Worth author and lecturer, spoke on the Equal Rights Amendment at recent meetings in North A. and Tennessee Streets Church of Christ and Midland Christian School.

Miss Hobbs pointed out possible adverse consequences of the amendment if it is ratified by a majority of states, and urged women to contact state representatives concerning rescinding the amendment. She said the Equal Rights Amendment, brought about by the Women's Liberation Movement, could produce a unisex society, severely damage family life and make it possible for women to be drafted, forced to take jobs outside the home and place children in day care centers, pay alimony to divorced husbands and lose their privacy in public accommodations. Also, she said, sex crimes and homosexuality would be encouraged.

In states which have ratified the amendment, some of the adverse results are in effect, Miss Hobbs stated.

As a result of Miss Hobbs' visit, a group of 30 women met Monday in the home of Mrs. Ray K. Horton, 1100 W. Illinois St., to organize the Midland

Chapter of Women Who Want to be Women. Mrs. William F. Walker presided.

Officers named were Mrs. Guy Mabae, chairman; Mrs. Ray L. Chappelle, secretary, and Mrs. Horton, treasurer.

The purpose of Women Who Want to be Women is to preserve the rights of women to be feminine, keep traditional legal protection for women and protect the sacred institution of marriage and family.

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren

Ex-Mate Nominated For 'Heel Of Year'

DEAR ABBY: I would like to nominate my ex-husband for "Heel of the Year." I divorced 15 years ago, so he could marry another woman. At the time we had a 5-year-old son and a 3-year-old daughter.

After the first year he forgot all about child support. I had a good job, so I never housed him.

Last year, our son enlisted in the Air Force. Five months later he was killed in a training accident.

Abby, that boy saw his father maybe a dozen times in the last 15 years. His father never remembered his son on his birthday or Christmas either.

Guess who showed up at our son's funeral? His father! Now for the unbelievable part my ex-husband told me at the funeral that he was "entitled" to half our son's G.I. insurance. (The insurance was made out to me.) I told him where to go, and he said he plans to sue me. And he probably will. Have you ever heard anything to equal that?

Nobody Is Certain Whether Nixon Tapes Can Be Broadcast

NEW YORK (AP) — Al-Rep. John Brademus, D-Ind., has approved a Senate bill which in part requires public access to Watergate-related White House tapes, it's uncertain if this includes broad-casting of the tapes.

"Frankly, this was a matter of control by Nixon of his tapes that just didn't come up," says Brademus, chairman of a House Administration subcommittee which approved the measure this week.

The bill is intended to nullify a Sept. 6 agreement between former President Richard M. Nixon and the government concerning control by Nixon of his presidential tapes and papers.

It specifically requires access to provide the public "the full truth, at the earliest reasonable date, of the abuses of governmental power popularly identified under the generic term Watergate."

But it doesn't spell out what public access means, although Brademus has said in a statement it would open Nixon's tapes and papers to "examination by scholars, journalists and the public."

The congressman, asked later by phone if this means broadcast journalists could record the tapes for airing on radio and tv, said no one even had posed that question to him until now.

"The bill provides that regulations (on access to the tapes and papers) be made by the General Services Administration, subject to congressional veto," he said.

"In my view, it wouldn't be wise to try to spell out every regulation in the bill. But I think its language is broad enough to allow the GSA to propose regulations that would permit the broadcasting of the tapes."

Brademus, who said the measure would be considered next week by the full House Administration Committee, said he would have no objections to the broadcasting of the Watergate tapes.

And, he said, "I don't think most members of the Congress would have any objection to the broadcasting of these particular tapes."

Blindness No Bar To Acting—Feliciano

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Can a blind man be an actor? Jose Feliciano thinks so, and he already has two performances on his record.

The Puerto Rico-born guitarist-singer-composer first played a role in the television series "MacMillan and Wife," portraying a man whose knowledge of tobacco helps solve a crime.

Now he is appearing in a Western "Kung Fu" segment as a Western drifter.

In both roles Feliciano portrays a blind man, but he sees no reason to limit himself to such roles.

"I think it's no more of a challenge for a blind actor to play a sighted person than it is for a sighted person to portray a character who is blind," he remarked.

"I'm sure that any actor who plays a blind role must spend a

Yoga Show Popular On Public Tv Network

NEW YORK (AP) — I used to think yoga devotees only that she makes one feel guilty were health buffs who spend their only exercises are mulling half their lives wrapping their legs around their necks. Not any more. Liliya Folan has set a new standard for yoga on television.

And she knows whereof she speaks. She teaches yoga on the "Liliya, Yoga and You" series that the Public Broadcasting Service airs three times a week for the 124 public television stations now carrying it.

First of all, she said as I assumed the classic interview position, a tuned-up body is by no means the sole benefit of yoga exercise; it's equally beneficial to one's spiritual and mental well being.

"I'd define yoga as the art of living," said Mrs. Folan, a charming, raven-haired woman

Golf Keeps Welk Young

Copley News Service
A one—a, two, and... It's a nice swingy phrase. Just right for a golf swing but Lawrence Welk insists he uses it only when starting up his band.

"If it hadn't been for golf, I might not be around today," the 71-year-old Mister Music Maker confided in an interview. "Throughout my childhood I was sickly. At age 53, I had a critical illness. And all my life, both on the farm and as an entertainer, I have worked very hard."

"After that last illness, the doctor warned me to take it easier; to get away from work and relax. He advised golf. Said it would bring back my health."

Born in 1903, the son of a German immigrant who came to the United States in search of freedom, Lawrence Welk was reared in Strasburg, N.D. He was 25 before he ever saw a golf course.

"A friend in Yankton invited me to come there and golf with him. I told him I would if I could find some sticks. When I got there, I made an awful mess of the round," recalls Welk, who many years later was to golf with the late President Dwight Eisenhower at the latter's invitation.

The invitation came by phone on a Sunday night from a secretary who explained, "The President is at Palm Springs and he would like to play golf with you in the morning."

Surprised, Welk tried to think over his Monday morning appointments.

"If I don't call you back in a half hour," he told the secretary, "I'll be there."

He drove alone the 125 miles to Palm Springs that night.

Fed Cattle Prices Due To Rise Soon, Decline In Spring

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — Prices for fed cattle will climb after Thanksgiving but decline as grass-fattened animals become available next spring, Charles Ball, executive vice president of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association, predicts.

Ball gave that forecast Thursday at the annual Texas Wheat Symposium, which preceded today's opening of the 24th annual convention of the Texas Wheat Producers Association.

Norman Brints, a Texas A&M University management specialist, told the symposium that production costs will outweigh projected cattle weight gain for Texas ranchers planning to run stock animals on wheat pastures this year.

CBS Radio To Do Series On Humor

By JAY SHARBUTT NEW YORK (AP) — For the past two months, Terold R. Sunde has been toiling on 30 separate studies of American humor. And soon, he and the CBS Radio network will let listeners in on the gags.

Sunde is the producer of a project called "A Sense of American Humor," which CBS Radio will air the weekend after this in 30 segments ranging in length from four to 10 minutes. The series is hosted by Roger Mudd.

It starts off by asking Steve Allen, Phyllis Diller, Jonathan Winters, Bill Cosby, Jean Shepherd, Carol Burnett and Stan Freberg what they feel makes Americans laugh and how it helps us.

Subsequent segments go into various laughter branches—the humor of cartoonists, of newspapers, of vaudeville and burlesque, of radio, tv and Hollywood, of music, of ethnic and dialect jokes and so on.

There also are segments on great comedians and comedians, on satire, on American political humor, and even silent films, the last a possible first for radio.

Producer Sunde, who said he acted as sort of a surrogate for host Mudd in gathering interviews for the series (Mudd being tied up on the Washington newsbeat), said he got the assignment last summer.

He said he spent a month planning it. Then, after CBS approved what he proposed to do, he grabbed a tape recorder and spent most of September on the road, interviewing more than 60 humor experts.

They ranged from such well-known citizens as Sid Caesar and Woody Allen to the not-so-well-known Dr. Walter Blair, a University of Chicago scholar in the field of early American humor.

October was spent culling more material from books and articles and pulling recorded material from the CBS archives.

"Now, it's just a question of weeding this down," said Sunde, who was in the process of weeding and writing when interviewed.

Panovs Launch U.S. Dance Tour

NEW YORK (AP) — Valery and Galina Panov, the ballet dancers who emigrated to Israel after a two-year struggle to leave the Soviet Union, have arrived here for a dance tour of the United States.

"We are filled with admiration and delight at being in this country," Panov said Thursday as he and his wife received a warm welcome at Kennedy Airport.

Panov, a Jew, was dismissed from Leningrad's Kirov Ballet after he applied for permission to emigrate to Israel in 1972. Galina, who is not Jewish, was demoted and eventually dropped from the company.

Red Tape Flood Hits Ark Hunter

By DICK KLEINER HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Movie-making can be tough, but consider poor Bart LaRue. There's a warrant out for his arrest because of a documentary he's been trying to make. LaRue is one of those who believe that Noah's Ark is still around. He thinks he knows exactly where it is—frozen solid at the 14,000-foot level of a Turkish mountain. This Mt. Ararat is 17,000 feet high and the Turks don't want any part of it.

"We'd like to melt the glacier so the Ark would be visible," LaRue says, "but Turkey isn't a country you can work in. They found Mery's home in Turkey some years ago and that attracted thousands of tourists. But Turkey wasn't interested. "You see, if the Ark is on Mt. Ararat, then it contradicts the Koran, which says the Ark is on another mountain."

So Turkey gives any Ark-searchers a hard time. LaRue is the latest. He has shot a documentary, "The Ark of Noah," which he hopes to sell to tv, but filming wasn't easy. "Ararat," he says, "is in a strict military zone. In East Turkey, 15 miles form the borders of Iran and Russia. Police and the Army are all over the place."

They require permits to enter the area—but they won't issue any permits.

"So we bribed everybody," LaRue says. "They found out we were there, chased us and confiscated all our equipment."

LaRue wired his partner for more money. The return cable—worth $6,000—was held up for 25 days. LaRue says the average income in Turkey is $400 a year so they couldn't understand a $6,000 cable.

He was questioned by the police who thought he was a spy. Finally released, he went back up the mountain, without selling anybody, and shot his movie. But he had to smuggle the film out of Turkey.

"There is still a warrant out for my arrest," he says. "I'm accused of being in a prohibited military zone without the necessary permit. Actually, besides smuggling my film out, I had to smuggle myself out, too."

He says he had to climb down the mountain at night—"the scariest thing I've ever done."

LaRue believes that the Ark is up there. He says he has seen bits of timber from it, that there was a time when there was a thaw and it was visible, that the glacier could be melted sufficiently so the Ark could be visible again.

"I think," he says, "that the Ark is so important to history that it's criminal not to allow scientists to investigate it thoroughly."

But that would require a complete about-face from Turkish officials, he says, and LaRue doubts that will happen.

"The Turkish government," he says, "is so corrupt it makes Watergate look like child's play. When you can bribe a cabinet minister for $50 to get a secret map you've got serious problems."

Bloopers Rade Him Mich

By RICK ORLOV Copley News Service LOS ANGELES — Kermit Schaffer has built a career on other people's mistakes.

So, it shouldn't really come as any surprise to him that mistakes seem to follow him around like his own little black cloud.

"Whenever I appear on a television show the interviewer seems to make constant mistakes," Schaffer said in a recent interview here.

Then there was the time he ordered more than 100,000 copies of one of his recent books for his mail-order business.

Unfortunately, instead of the copy he had written, the book turned out to be a religious dictionary.

Persons who received the book were not really sure whether a mistake had been made or if it was a blooper.

Schaffer is the one and only Mr. Blooper.

The mistakes he has capitalized on have been the unintentional slips of the tongue made by broadcasters and announcers throughout the world.

Bloopers have been around ever since the radio and television business started. Schaffer says, adding it was perhaps the most famous blooper of all time, which gave him his start.

This blooper was committed by Harry Von Zell in his introduction of the nation's 31st president in the 1930s, when he proclaimed: "Ladies and gentlemen, the president of the United States, Hoobert Heever."

Schaffer was able to get a recording of that blooper and he added it to over the years.

All this work has resulted in some 30 record albums (including the first comedy record), 15 books and, more recently, a movie, "Pardon My Blooper."

Schaffer also is in the process of putting together some television shows for airing next spring.

Bloopers, a term which Schaffer developed while producing a television show where he was constantly warned against the use of blue material, is an unusual type of comedy, he said.

"They're an unconscious type of humor," he said. "Everyone enjoys them. My books are kind of a bible of human errors in broadcasting."

He says entertainers do not object to his use of their mistakes because of the way he presents them.

"All my books are dedicated to a sympathetic tribute to the broadcast industry," he said. "Also, there are so many of them (bloopers) that no one person is focused on."

Schaffer, a native New Yorker now living in Miami, Fla., has been involved with radio and television producing since the 1930s.

He was particularly active in the production of audience participation shows, and it was his work with Allen Funt which provided the impetus for Schaffer's capitalization on bloopers.

Funt was producing a radio show, "Candid Mike," and had made a deal with Columbia Pictures which eventually led to the "Candid Camera" television series.

"I wondered what it would be like to have my own thing," he said. "So I produced these."

That was in 1952.

Since then, Schaffer has developed a whole line of blooper-related products including T-shirts, cocktail napkins and blooper banks.

The banks are modeled after the Bloopy Award, presented annually for the best bloopers. It shows a television camera, cringing in despair and biting its fingernails.

Schaffer has become so well-known in the broadcast industry that most of his material is supplied by announcers and engineers across the country.

Persons familiar with his work send him tapes and examples of bloopers they have heard. In return, they become a member of the Blooper-Snooper Club. Schaffer has modestly assumed the title of Super Blooper Snooper.

Agnew Unhappy Over Watergate

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew is reportedly making $100,000 a year from one business venture and might have another six-figure income from commissions, but he is still unhappy over Watergate.

"I'm bitter," Agnew is quoted as saying in the December issue of McCall's magazine. "I'll never get over the distortions and inaccuracies in the press. I don't like 90 percent of the press. I don't need the press," Agnew adds in the article.

Following his conviction on a tax evasion charge and resignation as vice president, Agnew began a career as a business broker. Now he "could be well on his way to becoming a millionaire," says Nick Timmesch, author of the article.

According to the magazine story: —Agnew has used an unspecified advance on an uncompleted novel to finance Pathlite Inc., a land-owning, managing and consulting firm.

—He also has a four-year contract with Midwest land developer Walter Dilbeck that pays $100,000 annually, plus one third of profits.

Rock Singer Arrested For Shooting Incident

ANDES, N.Y. (AP) — Rock singer Wilson Pickett Jr. was arrested Thursday after State Police said he fired a bullet through the door of a motel room two of the singing Isley Brothers were in.

No one was hit by the bullet fired from the .38 caliber, two-shot derringer, authorities said. Pickett and the Isleys were on a hunting trip in this Delaware County community, police said.

Pickett "evidently had been drinking" and "caused a disturbance in the lounge of the Andes Hotel," said Joseph Moore, a State Police investigator.

Moore said that Rudolph Isley and O'Kelly Isley, assisted by two local men, went out into the parking lot with Pickett in an attempt to calm him down but got into a scuffle.

Leaving Pickett outside, the four returned to the room and locked the door, according to Moore, who said Pickett then fired the gun.

Pickett, 33, was charged with first-degree reckless endangerment and criminal possession of a dangerous weapon, both felonies.

He was released in lieu of $500 bail after his attorney asked for adjournment of the case.

There are 7 million handicapped children in America.

Excellent Proposal

The proposed establishment of a suitable visitors' center at The University of Texas' McDonald Observatory near Fort Davis, is an excellent idea.

Such a facility has been proposed to the Texas Highway Commission by Rep. James Kaster of El Paso.

He suggests that the center be located either at the entrance to the complex, just off State Highway 118, or at the junction of Highway 118 and Interstate 10 at Kent.

It may come as a surprise to some readers, but Kaster says that the observatory attracts approximately 100,000 visitors a year, "even though it is rather remote."

This, then, is one of West Texas' leading tourist attractions.

"Right now," Kaster explained in a letter to the Highway Commission, "there is pitifully little for them to see after the trek (because) . . . visitors can only look through the telescope the last Wednesday of the month."

Kaster pointed out that there is a one-room visitors' center at the observatory, but that it is "totally inadequate for the needs."

Those persons who have visited the observatory on occasion likely will agree with Kaster that a more adequate center is needed.

It is a beautiful and pleasant drive through mountain country to the observatory, well worth the time and effort, but a facility designed and operated for the convenience of tourists would make the trip all the more enjoyable.

There is little doubt that McDonald Observatory will continue to attract more and more visitors each year.

Kaster calls attention to the "tremendous interest in astronomy," pointing out that "ten per cent of the UT-Austin student body is taking courses in the subject and that McDonald is 'one of the three top observatory complexes in the entire world.'"

"Space is the new frontier," he said, "and we are in the golden age of astronomy when discoveries are taking place at an accelerated pace."

There is no doubt that public interest in the work going on at McDonald and in astronomy in general is soaring. Ever-increasing interest in the Midland planetarium bears out this fact. The fine facility here might even be brought into the proposed program.

Kaster further suggests that the proposed visitors' center focus on astronomy . . . McDonald's facilities, what the observatory is doing, specific projects in which it is engaged, and its achievements.

He believes such a project is feasible and possible as a joint effort of the Texas Highway Department and the UT-Austin astronomy department.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — For Gerald Ford, the honeymoon is over.

The first 100 days are the most receptive and sympathetic period any President gets. At the close of this brief time of grace, he should be at the pinnacle of national esteem. He should have established a public confidence that will sustain him through the long and rocky passage that lies ahead.

But to most Americans, Gerald Ford today still remains a question mark. He has not exhibited the capacity to take charge; nor the clarity to lay down a consistent policy line; nor the force of personality that puts his stamp upon the presidency; nor the vision to raise a banner around which a confederation can rally.

Rather than any individual failure or success, it is this void that distinguishes the Ford presidency thus far. It must be taken, therefore, as a harbinger of failure. If he is to avoid a debacle, he will have to earn back slowly and painfully, against a miasma of doubt and skepticism, what the nation was anxious to bestow upon him freely some 100 days ago.

Yet something about the man—decency, kindness, openness, unpretentiousness—and something about the circumstances that have bedeviled his debut, impel us not to write him off but to suspend our verdict while searching the debris for explanations.

He was brought on stage, almost involuntarily, by political tragedy, and he immediately inherited economic disaster. Yet he denied the boons that tragedy and disaster often confer on new leaders.

The calamities that brought Harry Truman and Lyndon Johnson to the presidency raised them up as guardians of an exalted legacy. Gerald Ford received, instead of a legacy, an albatross which Solomon himself wouldn't have known how to get from around his neck.

The rush of events the past two years has made him an anachronism. He is an Eisenhower back among us, the sort of like everyone likes, beaming benevolently upon the political scene. He speaks the same old words, practices the same old politics, makes the same old compromises.

But the people have been plunged suddenly into the 1970s. The news shocks of the past two years have given them a new maturity, a new sophistication, a new sobriety. The old blar-

Expert Says Hard Water Healthier

LONDON (AP) — Hard water is better for health than soft water, says Prof. Stuart Turwell, a nutrition expert. In London, where stress can be considerable and the water is hard, the incidence of heart disease is less than in areas of Britain which have soft water, he told a conference here.

The professor said that the relationship between soft drinking water and increased heart disease had been demonstrated in about nine countries. "In six British towns that have made their water softer in recent years, deaths from heart disease increased significantly," he said.

ham Lincoln inherited disaster, too. But along with disaster they received the inestimable advantage of taking over a situation that had already hit rock bottom, with an identifiable enemy and no choice but to issue a heroic call for national mobilization.

Gerald Ford found himself faced, not with an unmistakable foe, but with a dilemma that might be inflation, or depression, or a fiendish combination of both, for which there is no known government remedy.

Only a reckless gambler or a true visionary could have sounded forth the certain trumpet, and Ford is neither. And so he stalled for time, shifted from one foot to the other and offered half-measures that fully satisfied no one.

Unsatisfying, yes. But to have grandly mounted his horse and led his army galloping off in the wrong direction, against the wrong enemy, would have been fatal.

Give Ford his due. He has taken up the poor hand history dealt him without complaint or excuse. He has been in the main, accessible, candid and honest. He has shown himself willing to take personal punishment today for policies that may look better tomorrow.

He has in his earnest way restored to the conduct-of-our-national-affairs an atmosphere of decency, humanity and civility. And in so doing, he has begun to drain the venom that has long festered. He has pricked the bubble of White House pomposity and panoply that had begun to surround the presidency with all the degraded trappings of a crown.

If his vision proves limited and his politics faulty, none of this will be enough. But it is enough to warrant a suspension of the rules, and extension of the honeymoon. Let's give President Franklin Roosevelt and Abraham Lincoln another 100 days.

TOM TIEDE
Skinny-Dipping In The Public Pool? Could Be!

WASHINGTON (NEA)—In the early days of the Republic, when democracy was a pursuit rather than a word, the White House was open to one and all. Tom Jefferson once invited his butcher to dinner; Dolley Madison served refreshments to citizens who lined up daily in the halls; John Quincy Adams is said to have, on occasion, taken his visitors skinny dipping in the Potomac.

The wonderful practice fell on hard times during Martin Van Buren's administration, however, when he discontinued public audiences. It never recovered.

In recent decades the Pennsylvania Avenue building has been so encapsulated in security that public visits have been limited to hokey tour groups. The bottom was reached during the Nixon reign when a priest departed from tour orthodoxy and dropped to his knees in prayer; he was arrested.

Now, though, there seems to be a movement backwards. Gerald Ford has established an unprecedented Office of Public Liaison which has as its responsibility, bringing together the people and the government. Each Wednesday the office invites some organized segment of the public to meet on a give-and-take conversational basis with high officials, background subordinates and often, even the President himself.

When you think of it, post-Nixon, it's astounding. Accountability is once again in slight vogue.

Ironically, the concept was initiated during the days Nixon stalked what observers called the White House gloom tomb. Before he got religion, and later busted, Charles Colson was given the duty of "coordinating relationships with outside organizations." The word "outside" suggests the spirit of his assignment. In May of last year, at the suggestion of veteran Republican hanger-on William Baroody, a more formal liaison office was established. "We held two functions," says Baroody aide Jeff Ceves, "then we died. The concept got lost in the, uh, er, the maze (Watergate)."

In an attempt to hold position under new President Ford, Baroody made his suggestion again. Ford bought it, as well he should have. Today the liaison office is still little known to the public but its efforts are apparently pleasing and surprising those who've thus far been involved.

"You know," says a Ralph Nader assistant, "Ralph was invited to one of the Wednesday meetings. Can you imagine? He couldn't have gotten in the White House door with an ax during Nixon. We think it's at least a favorable omen."

Thus buoyed with the public response and charged with a relatively unpolitical task ("Nobody can object to our mission," says one liaison staffer), the "fresh air office" as it has come to be known, is expanding and branching out. Baroody has added four professionals and several inter-governmental consultants to his staff.

Liaison conferences have been held only in the White House but in places such as Portland, Ore., where 600 people recently met with President Ford, Secretary of Treasury William Simon, environmental protection chief Russell Train, etc. Next on line, apparently, is a program that would have President Ford, a la Abe Lincoln, "meet with three to four private citizens on a regular basis for private talks."

The program, perhaps, involves risks. Meeting the public nose-to-nose can be troublesome.

But despite some embarrassments, the public liaison program enjoys favor at the current White House. There is even some talk among low ranking aides about "stopping

DON OAKLEY
Kent State: Truth Before Punishment

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The dismissal of federal charges against the eight guardsmen does not mean the end of the matter. They, along with Ohio Gov. James Rhodes, former Kent State President Robert White and several guard officers, still face civil suits brought by the parents. The trial on these suits is set for federal court in Cleveland on April 7.

The determination of the parents to obtain what they consider justice for their children is wholly understandable. But it is not likely that this trial, any more than the abortive one just concluded, will bring out the "truth" about Kent State. For there is no one simple, unextenuated "truth" about what happened that day, no one unmistakable villain or villains. The most that can be hoped for is that, finally, those involved will be allowed to put their stories on the official record. There will be no "justice" but perhaps there will be at long last an end to the tragedy.

Although legally correct in finding that the prosecution had not proved willful intent on the part of the guardsmen to deprive the students of their constitutional rights, by basing his ruling solely on the narrow letter of the Reconstruction era law under which they were indicted, Judge Battisti has left unresolved all the questions that still cloud the tragedy.

Even so, having come that far, it is regrettable that the trial was not permitted to run its course. Nor is there much doubt that the decision meets with the approval of most Americans. It had always seemed a gross injustice that these eight men, out of all those who contributed to the making of the tragedy, and the only guardsmen honest enough to admit to the FBI that they had fired their weapons at the demonstrators, should have been singled out to bear the responsibility for what Battisti called a "deplorable" series of mistakes and blunders.

None of the guardsmen took the stand to testify. None of their officers was questioned, nor were any of the state and local officials responsible for sending the troops onto the campus in the wake of rioting and destruction by students protesting the Cambodian invasion. And, of course, none of them were cross-examined.

Peter Davies, the New York businessman whose book, "The Truth About Kent State," did so much to force the reopening of the investigation, contrasts Battisti's decision with the way Judge John Sirica has handled the Watergate coverup trial.

Sirica's goal has been to get the truth out. "The final result in terms of what the jury decides," says Davies, "is almost secondary to the principal aim of finding out what really happened."

Dean Kahler, one of the wounded students, who is paralyzed for life because of a guardsman's bullet, said after the directed acquittal that he did not believe the guardsmen should have been convicted. But "they should have gotten on the stand as I did" and contributed to the history of the United States.

At the other extreme, however, are the newly disillusioned and embittered parents of the four slain students. The guardsmen are "murderers," says Martin Scheuer, the father of one, whom "God will punish even if the government doesn't."

Toward a National Energy Policy

An Energy Manifesto

America needs a national energy policy. As last winter's crisis showed, our country is too dependent on foreign oil—expensive foreign oil. Too much of our money is draining abroad for the health of the U.S. dollar and the international monetary system. Money that would be better invested in the U.S.

Government agencies, Congressional committees, foundations, and other public and private groups are working on energy policy. We at Mobil feel we have an obligation to speak out on this subject.

We want to spell out today what we think the major emphases of a national energy policy should be. Later in this series, we shall discuss specific issues in more depth.

Here are the main points of our "energy manifesto":

- The nation's objective for the coming decade should be substantially greater energy self-sufficiency. This means increasing domestic production of conventional crude oil, natural gas, and coal. The resources are there. They must be developed.
- A return to a free market for oil and natural gas should be a near-term goal. This is the most immediate step our country can take to bring about greater energy self-sufficiency; there is no effective substitute for having incentives at the right level. We know of no better mechanism for fine-tuning incentives than the marketplace. If higher energy costs bear too hard on the poor, this can be ameliorated through tax relief or other means. But arbitrary and misguided controls that delay the development of additional supplies will only exacerbate the underemployment and other problems of the poor.
- Timetables on environmental objectives must be related to energy needs and other national priorities. There is no irreconcilable conflict between additional energy supplies and a cleaner environment.
- For the long term—by 1990 or thereabouts—we should aim for some surplus in domestic energy supplies, as the best guarantee of reasonable prices.
- To help minimize dependence on foreign oil, we must conserve energy by eliminating wasteful use of it. But we should distinguish between cutting out fat and cutting into muscle. To retain the muscle—i.e., to maintain a dynamic economy and to create more jobs—we will need more energy.
- The price of "new" natural gas should be decontrolled, to provide an economic incentive for accelerated exploration for this fuel and to discourage wasteful use of it. This can and should be done now.
- The Atlantic and Pacific sectors of our outer continental shelf should be opened up for exploration on an orderly, continuing basis. Obviously, we won't know how much oil and gas is there until we drill. But we clearly should avail ourselves of the opportunity to find whatever additions to our national reserves may be located in those areas. Environmental controls on drilling should continue to be strict, but excessive restrictions and litigation should not be allowed to hold up projects to provide additional energy.
- U.S. companies should be encouraged to search for oil and natural gas throughout the world, for the maximum diversification of foreign sources of supply. Those supplies are going to be required in the period before we can achieve a surplus. Our government should continue to give U.S. companies the same tax treatment that other major countries accord their companies operating abroad.
- Deepwater terminals enabling the largest tankers to deliver foreign oil to the U.S. should be built without delay, for environmental reasons as well as to provide the lowest transportation costs for the large volumes of oil we will have to import for at least the next decade.
- Provision should be made for security stockpiling of oil to help tide us over if another supply disruption occurs.
- Public transportation should be improved through the development of a comprehensive National Master Transportation Program that would take into account all of the nation's transportation needs and would provide enough money to do an adequate job nationwide.
- Goals and scheduled programs should be set for commercial development of alternate energy sources—primarily coal in liquid or gaseous form, nuclear and solar energy, and possibly oil from shale—so they can carry an important share of the energy load as soon as possible.

These strike us as the major items the nation needs to be thinking about now. Look in this newspaper on succeeding Fridays for a fuller discussion of various of these issues.

Traditions

It must seem strange to people in other lands that we regard the turkey with so much affection. But that old gobbler stands for a great deal.

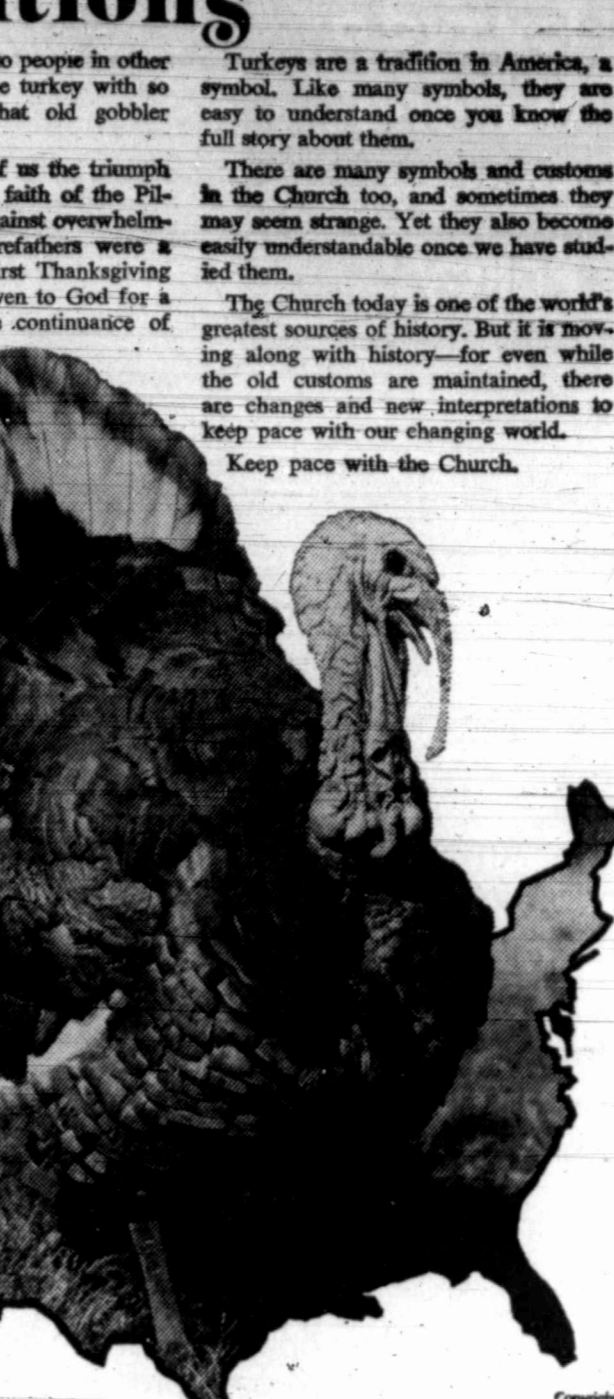

He evokes to most of us the triumph at Plymouth, when the faith of the Pilgrims sustained them against overwhelming odds. His wild forefathers were a star attraction at that first Thanksgiving dinner. Thanks were given to God for a harvest that meant the continuance of life itself.

Turkeys are a tradition in America, a symbol. Like many symbols, they are easy to understand once you know the full story about them.

There are many symbols and customs in the Church too, and sometimes they may seem strange. Yet they also become easily understandable once we have studied them.

The Church today is one of the world's greatest sources of history. But it is moving along with history—for even while the old customs are maintained, there are changes and new interpretations to keep pace with our changing world.

Keep pace with the Church.

FOOD FOR POOR NATIONS—

Roman Catholic Bishops Ask Two Days Of Fasting Weekly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roman Catholic bishops have called for major increases in United States aid to poor nations and for two days of fasting a week by this country's 48.5 million Catholics.

"We also urge resistance to advertising and other forms of social pressure which promote affluent and wasteful eating habits," the bishops declared Thursday in a pastoral plan to help meet the world food crisis.

Fasting generally means eating only one full meal a day.

"We urge the whole Catholic community — priests, religious and laity — to join with us in observing at least two days a week as days of fast," the bishops said.

The plan, drawn up by a committee headed by Terence Cardinal Cooke of New York, asked the United States to act immediately to boost allocations of food to hungry areas without regard to political or strategic motives.

The National Conference of Catholic Bishops also urged trade preferences for poor nations and changes in the free market system whenever it "stands in the way of justice."

In other action, the bishops for the first time took a national stand against the death penalty.

Their action came in the midst of efforts in a number of states to restore the death penalty.

After wrestling with the question for three days, the bishops adopted a one-sentence statement putting them on record in opposition to capital punishment.

Catholicism traditionally has held that the state has a right to execute criminals to protect society. Numerous bishops said they were not challenging that principle but only its application in modern circumstances.

Leaders Boosting Bible

By GEORGE CORNELL
NEW YORK (AP) — President Ford and a cross-country lineup of congressmen, governors, mayors, businessmen and religious leaders are heading a drive to boost the Bible as a basic source of integrity and idealism.

"This year we need the good book in a very bad way," says the theme for the campaign, the annual interfaith observance of National Bible Week for this Sunday through Dec. 1.

In the eight-day period, specific passages are recommended for reading each day. Also, a blitz of public service advertisements and broadcast spots have gone out for use during the week.

As honorary chairman of the effort, Ford issued a message commending it and declaring his own "special regard for Scriptures as a unifying source of wisdom and inspiration."

He said "greater knowledge, use and understanding" of the Bible can be a "strong force for good in our daily lives," and added: "Bible reading has been a tradition in my family for as long as I can remember."

The President, an Episcopalian, cited his favorite verses, Proverbs 3: 5-6: "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. Him, and He shall direct thy paths."

He said he has made that passage "my daily prayer." It also was the passage on which he took his oath of office.

Special proclamations for the Bible-reading observance are being issued by more than 400 mayors and 35 governors, most of whom already have done so.

The week is sponsored by the Laymen's National Bible Committee, a New York-based organization of Protestant, Roman Catholic, Eastern Orthodox and Jewish laity.

Cooperating agencies off the U.S. Catholic Conference, the National Council of Churches, the Greek Orthodox archdiocese, a Jewish committee, and for the first time, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon).

Utah's Gov. Calvin L. Rampton, a Democrat and himself a Mormon, is chairman of the week. He said:

"There is no more certain guide in these uncertain times than the holy Bible."

Sunday School Record Set By Texas Baptists

DALLAS — A record 614,000 Texas Southern Baptists attended Sunday school this week.

A first high attendance day goal of 600,000 had been set by the Sunday School Division of the Baptist General Convention of Texas for 4,200 Sunday schools around the state.

"This record is perhaps the greatest single achievement in the history of the Sunday school program," said Dr. John Sismore, director of the division.

He alluded to many larger denominations who are experiencing plummeting attendance in their Sunday morning programs.

This was the first statewide attempt at a large scale attendance promotion, he said.

The weekly average attendance for the two-million-member state convention was 518,000 during 1973.

Gnostic Scrolls Excite Theologians

By DAVID MICHELMORE
CAIRO (AP) — Christian monks who looked out from their desert caves 18 centuries ago saw a black and bitter world: centuries of foreign occupation had bled Egypt dry.

tax levies were huge, Roman soldiers were garrisoned nearby, and the monks' patriarch in far off Alexandria treated them with contempt.

Inside the caves, the monks imbibed a new escapist religion, called Gnosticism, that was partly Greek, partly Christian and partly Judaic, and that promised them a better world.

The theology repudiated the Old Testament God as a fraud and a charlatan and blamed him for the world's awful state. It spun out a new system of deities, with a kind of Super-God at the head, made the serpent in the Garden of Eden a good guy, described Noah as a lackey of the evil God and proclaimed other worldly redemption for the true believer.

The Gnostics were spiritualists who had no use and no hope for the world they confronted. "They were the hippies of their day," according to James Robinson, a California theologian and leading Gnostic expert.

Robinson is putting together more than 1,100 pages of Gnostic writing, an entire library which the monks, possibly afraid the texts would be burned as heretical, buried in a cemetery centuries ago.

The texts, probably written first in Greek and then copied in Coptic here, are a rich lode for modern theologians, possibly even more important than the discovery and study of the Dead Sea Scrolls in the 1950s and 1960s, according to Robinson.

"The study of the New Testament will never be the same," enthused one of Robinson's assistants, Bentley Layton of Harvard. The Gnostics were rooted out of orthodox Christianity by the end of the 4th century A.D. and only a small sect, called the Mandaeans, in Iraq and occasional groups of intellectual Gnostics survive.

But in the first through fourth centuries, Gnosticism was Christendom's major competitor, according to Robinson. It drew long criticism from the epistle-writer Paul, and may have formed the intellectual climate that added unorthodox, spiritualistic elements to the Gospel of John and other New Testament books — elements that have long puzzled religious scholars.

The Gnostic texts were found by villagers in the upper Egyptian town of Nag Hammadi 30 years ago, disappeared into the hands of antique dealers and finally emerged under the control of the Egyptian government, ready for study, just four years ago.

The journey from Nag Hammadi to the Coptic Museum in Old Cairo, where the texts are kept, may have battered the ancient papyrus texts almost as badly as their centuries in the earthen jar underground.

Many of the papyri are surprisingly good shape, and have been translated. But about ten per cent of the pages are missing and many others exist only in fragmentary form, so that the text is unreadable.

With the help of his wife, two of his graduate students from Claremont Graduate School in California, and other scholars, Robinson is piecing back together much of the Gnostic library's shattered papyri.

With magnifying glasses strapped to their brows, tweezers and patience, they look for missing fragments of papyrus from a large collection of unattached pieces, the smallest of which contain only a part of a single letter.

Luckily papyrus carries its own fingerprinting system. The dices has already sparked new interest in Coptic study abroad, according to Robinson, and could eventually bring it out of the shadow of Pharaonic and Hellenistic studies that have long monopolized scholarly interest in Egypt.

Thanksgiving Service To Be Held Tuesday

Midland's traditional community-wide Thanksgiving service will be a Tuesday night event here.

The public service, sponsored by the Midland Association of Churches and the Midland Ministerial Association, will be in Trinity Presbyterian Church, West Louisiana Street near Andrews Highway, beginning at 8 p.m.

The Rev. Kenneth James, pastor of Crestview Baptist Church, will preach the Thanksgiving sermon, titled "How to Have a Meaningful Thanksgiving." He is a graduate of Sam Houston State University and Southwest Baptist Theological Seminary and came to the Midland pastorate in January 1973 from the pastorate of First Baptist Church in South Houston.

The Rev. Robert Frisbee, who became pastor of Trinity Presbyterian Church late last summer, will preside at the upcoming service. The Trinity Church choir will present an anthem, "Sing to the Lord of Harvest" (Healey Willan), under direction of Carroll Kysar. Mary Sue Allen will be organist.

Casa's Senior Citizen Luncheon Series Concludes

A series of once-a-week luncheons for senior citizens in Northeast and East Midland ended this week, but officials of the sponsoring Casa de Amigos hope a new series can be started in the near future.

The concluding hot meals program has been funded by a special state grant administered through Midland Family Services (formerly Family Counseling Service). The grant is not renewable.

According to Marcia Ingram, Casa de Amigos director, the Casa organization hopes to initiate a volunteer plan whereby the weekly hot meals can continue being provided deserving and needy senior citizens. The ecumenical service center in Northeast Midland will ask some two dozen Midland churches to voluntarily provide two meals yearly for the luncheon program. Interested church groups are invited to contact Casa de Amigos for additional information on the new program.

Witnesses' Meet Scheduled This Weekend At Hobbs

HOBBS, N.M. — A two-day assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses in Hobbs this weekend will draw participants from throughout the West Texas-eastern New Mexico area, including representatives of Midland's congregations.

Key speakers will include Paul Moske, district supervisor for Witnesses congregations in Texas and New Mexico, and Daniel C. Maurer, circuit overseer for this region. Mr. Moske will speak at the opening session Saturday, on "What Sort of Persons Ought You to Be?" He also will present a lecture titled "What the Near Future Holds."

Midland congregations as well as other area congregations have canceled local activities this weekend in favor of the Hobbs meeting, according to convention official John H. Moore of Littlefield, Tex. The convention will conclude Sunday afternoon.

Unitarians To Show Film This Sunday

The Unitarian Church of Midland, 3400 North A St., will present the film, "The Heart Is a Lonely Hunter," during its Sunday morning worship service.

The service will extend from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. to permit the film to be shown in its entirety. Hours of the church's religious education classes and the nursery will be extended to accommodate this schedule.

Based on the late Carson McCullers' eloquent novel of the same title, "The Heart Is a Lonely Hunter" is the story of a deaf mute in a small Southern town. The star of the film, Alan Larkin, won a New York Film Critics' Award for his portrayal.

Mini-Concert Stated Sunday

The music department of First Presbyterian Church will present another of its special "mini-concerts" Sunday afternoon in the FPC chapel, North A and West Texas streets.

The 4 p.m. concert will present soprano Jane Huddleston in a program of works by Alessandro Scarlatti, Wagner, Charpentier and Rossini.

Mrs. Huddleston, who studies voice with Brian Swingle at the University of Texas-El Paso, is choir director of Christ Presbyterian Church here. She is the wife of Dr. James Huddleston, a Midland physician.

The Sunday program will be open to the public.

Agency To Close Briefly For Holiday

Action Line-FISH, Midland's community aid and referral service, will be closed next Thursday and Friday for Thanksgiving.

The service will resume its regular 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. operation hours on Monday, Dec. 2.

Missionary Baptist Group Holds Meet

SNYDER — The Missionary Baptist Association of Texas held its 1974 meeting in Snyder recently. Representatives of Midland's Oaklawn Park Baptist Church and other Missionary Baptist Churches in the Permian Basin were among those in attendance.

Among items occupying the attention of participants was a resolution rejecting the burgeoning charismatic movement, which delegates approved.

The association unanimously approved a motion "that we go on record as diametrically opposing the charismatic movement and believe it to be unscriptural." It was also agreed that the news media would be informed of the association's stand on this issue.

The Missionary Baptist Association of Texas is affiliated nationally with the American Baptist Association.

The Northside Baptist Church at Snyder was host for the state association meeting. The 1975 conference will be at New Liberty Baptist Church in Garland.

Odessa Minister To Speak Sunday

A special program with the Rev. R. C. Stone of Odessa as guest speaker will be presented Sunday afternoon at Hollowell United Methodist Church, 400 S. Marshall St.

Theme of the 3 p.m. program, sponsored by women of the Hollowell UMC, will be "Into All the World Together." A salad luncheon will follow the program, which will be open to the public, said the Rev. Wilbur Bledsoe, pastor.

Thanksgiving Revival Begins Here On Monday

The revival will have the Rev. P. H. Ghosten of Denver, Colo., as the evangelist. Services are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. daily through Friday.

The Rev. G. T. Curry, pastor of Antioch Church, will be in the pulpit for the service on Thanksgiving morning. He has invited the public to attend that event as well as the nightly revival services.

Transit Bill Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has culminated a two-year effort to provide federal operating subsidies for urban mass transit systems by sending a subsidy bill to President Ford, whose signature is assured.

The House passed the $11.8 billion mass transit package Thursday by a 288-109 vote after a telegram from Ford urging passage was read in the chamber. The President called the measure "a responsible action" in our efforts to reduce for the nation's cities.

RISK AND REMEMBRANCE—Mrs. Lillian Werner has poster and pictures to remind her of the years when, as Lillian Boyer, she was a leading aerial stuntwoman of the 1920s. (Copley Photo.)

'Empress Of The Air' Recalls Death-Defying Days

By ROBIN MAYDECK
Copley News Service

SAN MARCOS, Calif. — Lillian (Billy) Boyer Peterson Werner has been called many things in her 74 years—but the one word she never heard was "coward."

Residents from Montreal to Texas, from Chicago to New York City thrilled at her during much of the 1920s when she flew the "Empress of the Air" and the "World's Greatest Aviatrix."

As the star of the Boyer Flying Circus she attempted to fly any of the World War I vintage craft in her own right.

Instead, the jodhpured girl-up when she tells a visitor that she might never have been more than a tomboy if she had been smarter and less adventuresome in her teens.

Born in Nebraska in 1900, Mrs. Werner was raised on small farms throughout the Midwest and in Canada.

She was, she said, "never an athlete—just a tomboy."

"I was so much of a tomboy that I was always getting spanked for climbing trees and always seemed to be falling out of barns and onto bales of hay."

She landed in Chicago just before the dawn of the Roaring '20s. She found a job as a waitress in a small restaurant and was befriended by some "boys," former war pilots who were promoting a flying circus for the F. M. Barnes company, the chief booking agent for the May-through-September state fair circuit.

The boys, including famed war ace W. B. "Billy" Brock, were losing the man who performed stunts on their biplanes and jokingly asked the 19-year-old waitress if she thought she could handle the job.

Lillian, known as "Billy" as a child, jumped at their offer although she had never before seen an airplane.

She spent the next six months training for her new job as a woman daredevil—walking five miles a day to an airfield, running laps on the short paved course and learning stunts on a trapeze and rings set up in an airplane hangar.

After the training to build up her strength, agility, and, most importantly, the muscles of her hands and arms, Lillian Boyer hit the state fair circuit.

She was 20 at the time, but it was not until the end of 1926 that the booking agency allowed her press releases to acknowledge that she passed her 19th birthday.

Lillian was far from the first person, male or female, to perform stunts on the wings of a biplane.

There were others who walked or stood on the wings, their only protection a set of straps over their shoes, performed headstands as the trusty planes whooshed through the air, and otherwise defied fate.

But Lillian had a few aces up the sleeve of her white crew-neck sweater—her standard stunt gear along with jodhpurs, high boots and a dashing muffler.

In her signature stunt, she sat in a race car that sped down the runway parallel to Brock's plane. Seconds after he took off he dropped a rope ladder to her and she would grab it for a quick lift from the speeding car.

Then she would perform go back up on a biplane and numerous stunts on the wings of the plane or dangle by an ankle from a suspended stirrup.

Next she would leap from the biplane, holding only a cable, drop 15 feet and circle over the awed crowds holding onto the cable with only her teeth.

Mrs. Werner was an attractive young woman. Newspaper photographs show a trim woman of 5 feet 3, 115 pounds, with stylishly marcelled dark hair.

During her heyday, when she was billed as "the girl who will try anything twice," she was visited at a fair by Calvin Coolidge, then vice president, and lunched with Charles Lindbergh and his family.

Lillian gave up her air stunts in 1928 when the Commerce Department threatened to ban her acts because officials felt her tricks endangered spectators.

"I was mad, then, but now I guess the Commerce people probably saved my life," she said. "I appreciate the risks more now than I did then."

"Not too long ago I saw a newspaper article about a girl learning to do aerial stunts and I couldn't believe the picture—there she was, up on the wing and supported with all sorts of braces and straps," she said.

"We never had any of those things to protect us; why, I'd go back up on a biplane and do all my tricks again, today, if I had those contraptions to brace me."

Solons Override Two Ford Vetoes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Overriding President Ford's vetoes, Congress has continued aid to Watergate and the war aid to the handicapped and curbed the government's power to keep secrets.

The Senate overrode the two vetoes Thursday, voting 65-27 to reject Ford's objections to the Freedom of Information Act amendments and 90-1 on the vocational rehabilitation measure.

The House overrode the same two vetoes Wednesday by votes of 371-31 and 386-7, respectively. A two-thirds vote is required in each chamber.

Ford now has been overruled on three of his 13 vetoes since he became President Aug. 9. The other was on a railroad retirement bill.

The Senate vote on the information bill enacted it into law. Ford had his strongest support in the Senate on this one because of objections to the measure from defense, intelligence and law enforcement agencies.

However, Senate sponsors insisted there was an overriding need to end government secreturing. President Ford's vetoes, Congress has continued aid to Watergate and the war aid to the handicapped and curbed the government's power to keep secrets.

The legislation would authorize federal judges upon request to examine documents to decide whether they should be made public and fix a 10-day limit for agency decisions on whether to supply information.

The bill also would set a 30-day limit for the government to reply to freedom of information lawsuits; narrow the power of agencies to withhold law enforcement investigatory files, and require the keeping of an index of documents available to the public.

The vocational rehabilitation bill would change the way the Department of Health, Education and Welfare administers the 54-year-old program of job training for handicapped persons.

The measure would put the program in a new separate office directly under the HEW secretary, and Ford had objected to this as creating "new, unnecessary bureaucracies."

The six men were arrested within 10 days of the burglary and charged with bank larceny, bank burglary and illegal use of explosives. They are being held in lieu of bond.

Authorities believe a large part of the balance still missing may be in banks in the Bahamas, where two of those charged were arrested. The banks of the Bahamas, which operate under the Swiss rules of secrecy, have refused to divulge how much was deposited by the men arrested.

Officials said Mrs. Marrera has been ill and was living with her daughter. Her grandson, Ralph Marrera, was the guard on duty at the Puroator Security, Inc., vault the night the money was taken.

Dropout Leaves Liberal Democrats Without Well-Known Contender

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Walter F. Mondale has become the second dropout of the 1976 Democratic presidential race, leaving liberal Democrats at least temporarily without a well-known contender.

Mondale announced his withdrawal Thursday just a few hours after Sen. Henry M. Jackson, who has strong support from party regulars and organized labor, disclosed he has hired a key party organizer for his anticipated candidacy.

The Jackson recruit was Robert J. Keele, 40-year-old execulive director of the Democratic National Committee. He will become political director of the still unofficial Jackson campaign Dec. 1.

That will enable him to take charge of the Washington senator's effort at the party's Dec. 6 mini-convention in Kansas City. Candidates and potential candidates will display their wares in Kansas City for some 3,000 Democrats, many of them likely 1976 convention delegates.

Coming less than two months after the September withdrawal of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Mondale's surprise decision left Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona as the most visible, current liberal candidate against Jackson when the presidential primaries begin 16 months from now.

In fact, Udall's progress in snaring support of key liberals in New Hampshire, the traditional opening primary, was reported to be one factor in Mondale's decision. However, the Minnesota senator insisted, "This is a personal decision on my part and had nothing to do with any other candidate."

Udall is expected to formally declare himself in the presidential race in New Hampshire this weekend. He would be the first official entrant in what will likely be a large Democratic field by early 1976.

Both Jackson and Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia are expected to announce their candidacies next month. Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen of Texas is another likely candidate, former Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma has spent considerable time in New Hampshire, and Mayor

Kevin White of Boston may run there too.

And Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama has made no secret of his plans for a fourth presidential bid.

The Harris poll reported Thursday that Wallace is the most familiar Democratic prospect and the first choice by a slender margin. A poll of 1,265 potential Democratic and independent voters found 93 percent knew of Wallace and he was the first choice of 19 percent. He was followed by 1972 kind of campaign that is required," Mondale said.

McGovern of South Dakota and Edmund S. Muskie of Maine. Mondale, too, had been considered a likely contender, ever since his Minnesota colleague, Hubert H. Humphrey, proclaimed him a future candidate as Mondale swept to re-election in 1972.

But he disclosed at his news conference that as he proceeded his doubts grew. "I found I did not have the overwhelming desire to be President which is essential for the kind of campaign that is required," Mondale said.

Kennedy said he thought "the nation is poorer for the decision he has made." Humphrey said that he had encouraged Mondale to stay in the race and that he regretted Mondale's decision.

Makarios' Scheduled Return Threatens Strife In Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Archbishop Makarios' decision to return to Cyprus in the next two weeks raises the threat of new attacks by the 2,000 gunmen of the EOKA-B underground who helped to drive him from the presidency of Cyprus four months ago.

Acting President Glafcos Clerides conferred with Makarios in London Thursday and tried to convince him that he should delay his return. But the archbishop announced that he would come home by Dec. 7 "holding an olive branch to work for the unity of the people."

Makarios fled in July after narrowly escaping assassination by EOKA-B after the Greek officers of the Greek Cypriot National Guard overthrew his government. When the Greeks installed EOKA leader Nicos Sampson as president, the Turkish army invaded the island and occupied the northern third.

Clerides, Makarios' constitutional successor who replaced Sampson when the military dictatorship in Athens collapsed, warned before he went to London that pro- and anti-Makarios factions were preparing for armed action if the archbishop came back. He said this civil war among the Greek Cypriots "will lead Cyprus to complete destruction."

The EOKA men hate Makarios because he abandoned their goal of enosis, the union of Cyprus with Greece. British and American diplomats in Nicosia also openly oppose the archbishop's return because they believe he would be far more intransigent than Clerides in negotiations with the Turkish Cypriot.

Clerides has conceded that the Greek Cypriots must accept the division of Cyprus into federated Greek and Turkish Cypriot states. Makarios says he will never agree to this because it would mean partition of the island and eventual annexation of the Turkish Cypriot state by Turkey.

ODESSA — Two Midland men remained in custody at Ector County Jail today in lieu of $10,000 each on charges of aggravated robbery.

Antonio R. Rodriguez and Jose A. Sracho were arrested Wednesday on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace June Williams for the aggravated robbery of Lester G. Gregg, a Moore, Okla., truck driver.

Gregg was treated and released from Medical Center Hospital late Saturday after he suffered a broken cheekbone and bruises in the robbery.

State Senate Panel Considers Bell Inquiry

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The chairman of a state Senate subcommittee said today his panel might conduct its own probe of allegations made in a San Antonio suit against Southwestern Bell.

Sen. Ron Clower, D-Garland, said he intended to talk to Pat Maloney, attorney for the plaintiffs, this afternoon about making witnesses and material evidence available to the committee.

He also said there was the possibility the committee would subpoena, or ask the attorney general to obtain through a letter of visitation, evidence that remains in the hands of the Bell system.

Clower's Senate subcommittee on Consumer Affairs is making a study of whether the 1975 legislature should enact a law putting telephone companies and possibly electric utilities under state regulation.

Clower also told reporters that "more shoes are about to drop" on utilities besides the telephone company.

"Similar to this Bell suit?" he was asked.

"I think so," he said, adding that any developments that might occur would be brought out "in the next couple of weeks."

The suit, filed by the family of the late T. O. Gravit, manager of the Bell system for Texas, alleges he was hounded into committing suicide because he refused to go along with deceitful rate-setting practices and political entanglements. Also a plaintiff in the suit is James Ashley, a dismissed company executive.

Material evidence that has been alleged to exist include sets of company books with Maloney would determine whether the committee will look into the allegations made in the Gravit-Ashley suit.

"If we are going to have committee hearings, we are going to have to have witnesses. My witnesses are going to be the same as his. I want people to come in here and testify to the truth... Based on what I have, I think the committee ought to proceed," Clower said.

He added that Southwestern Bell had said it "would certainly cooperate with the committee."

Ways, Means Committee Okays Quickie Tax Bill
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee has approved a bill to phase out the oil depletion allowance and reduce individual income taxes by about $2 billion per year.

If the bill clears the Rules Committee, it would be brought to the House on Dec. 4. If the House passes it, the measure would still face a lengthy, and perhaps fatal fight in the Senate during the waning days of this congressional session.

The Ways and Means Committee vote was 16-6, with 11 state representatives on the committee leading the dissent.

Some congressional sources said the legislators will not finish work on the bill before the end of this session. That would mean the 94th Congress arriving in January will be forced to start all over again.

The bill also would impose a "windfall profits tax" on the oil producers—but would allow oil companies to escape the tax by reinvesting profits into the search for new energy sources.

The legislation would cut individual taxes by increasing the standard deduction from $5 to $16 per cent and the maximum that can be deducted this way from $2,000 to $2,300.

Mrs. F. A. Early Dies At Odessa; Services Today
ODESSA—Mrs. F. A. (Thelma King) Early, 74, an Odessa resident since 1972, died Thursday in a nursing home here.

Born Nov. 14, 1900, in Content, she was married to Floyd A. Early Dec. 2, 1928, in Midland.

Mrs. Early is survived by her sister, Mrs. Pinkie Irvin of Winters; a brother, Mance King of Texarkana; two nieces, and two nephews.

E. L. Thomas, 54, Dies; Rites Today
ODESSA — Eldon Lewis Thomas, 54, a Midland native, died Wednesday in a Big Spring hospital following an illness.

Services were at 11 a.m. in Sunset Memorial Gardens today in Sunset Memorial Gardens under direction of Hubbard-Kelly Funeral Home.

Thomas, a World War II veteran, was born Dec. 29, 1919.

He is survived by two aunts, Mrs. R. L. Glaser of Odessa and Mrs. W. B. McKee of Big Spring.

Rites Saturday For Mrs. Eckols
Services for Mrs. Johnnie Inez Eckols, 60, will be at 3 p.m. Saturday in Resthaven Memorial Cemetery at McCamey. The Rev. Charles Miller, pastor of the First United Methodist Church of McCamey, will officiate.

Mrs. Eckols died Thursday morning in a Midland hospital.

Survivors include her husband, J. D. Eckols; a daughter, Mrs. Melvin McEwen of Midland; her mother, Mrs. Agna Pearl Taylor; a sister, Mrs. Martha Foster of Midland; and five grandchildren.

Ban Lifted
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The government ban on the play "A Streetcar Named Desire" by Tennessee Williams has been lifted, according to a recent government gazette.
