Borden Draws Strike, Oil Pay Extender

James P. Dunigan has completed two oil wells in Borden County.

Ellenburger production has been opened in the Hood (Pennsylvanian) field with completion of No. 1-527 Miller, eight miles southwest of Fluvanna.

It gauged a daily pumping potential of 48 barrels of oil per day, gravity unreported, plus 72 barrels of water, from open hole at 8,630 feet, where 4 1/2-inch casing is seated, and 6,635 feet, total depth. The section had been acidized with 500 gallons.

Wellsite is 1,960 feet from north and 933 feet from east lines of section 527, block 97, H&TC survey, 3/4 mile northeast of the Pennsylvanian re-opener of the field.

Field Extension The Fluvanna, South west millionize field gained its fifth upper Strawn well and a 3/4-mile northwest extension to that pay with completion of No. 1-593 Miller, nine miles southwest of Fluvanna.

The 24-hour potential test gauged 178 barrels of 40-gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 220-1. Production was through perforations at 8,009-8,026 feet, which had been acidized with 1,000 gallons. Drilled to 8,465 feet, it has 5 1/2-inch casing set one foot off bottom.

The project, originally slated as a wildcat, was temporarily abandoned in December, 1972. It spots 467 feet from south and 2,160 feet from east lines of section 593, block 97, H&TC survey.

Four WT Sectors Draw Exploration

Exploratory tests have been scheduled in Ward, Sterling, Pecos and Gaines counties.

HNG Oil Co., Midland, accounted for the deepest, a 17,000-foot wildcat in Ward, nine miles southeast of Pyote. It is No. 1-57 HNG Fee.

Drillsite is 1,320 feet from southeast and 2,620 feet from southwest lines of section 57, block 34, H&TC survey, 1 1/2 miles southwest of dual Devonian and Ellenburger production in the Block 16 gas field.

The Sterling Co. of Midland plans to drill No. 1-29 Reynolds, an 8,500-foot venture in Sterling, eight miles northwest of Sterling City.

Drillsite is 1,200 feet from north and 1,960 feet from east lines of section 29, block 23, H&TC survey, 2 1/2 miles south of Wolfcamp gas and 2 1/2 miles south of Wolfcamp oil production in the Credo, East field.

Pecos Test Hillin Production Co., Odessa, filed application to drill No. 1 Jacquelin Thigpen, an 8,400-foot probe in Pecos, 3/4 mile west of the one-well Thigpen (Pennsylvanian) gas field.

It spots 1,320 feet from north and 1,960 feet from west lines of section 4, block C-3, ELARR survey, 3/4 mile south of a 7,838-foot failure.

Gaines Workover Blair & French, Midland, filed application to re-enter and clean out to wildcat depth of 8,530 feet, at the No. 1 Scanlon, Gaines, County 8,531-foot failure (Continued On Page 11B)

CHAMBER REPORT CITES HOUSING SHORTAGE Modular Home Building Urged

Factory-constructed modular housing may help solve Midland's current residential housing shortage, suggests a report submitted to the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors at their noon meeting today.

The report was prepared by a 14-member ad hoc housing committee established by the chamber's Midland Area Sales Team (MAST) two months ago and submitted by MAST Chairman Ron Schwisow.

"As a result of our study of current and projected housing needs, we would recommend that the chamber encourage the construction of a minimum of 50 units per month for sale in the under-$30,000 price range," Schwisow said.

Growth Increasing Midland has averaged a net gain of 73 families per month during 1974. This compared to an average monthly gain of 31 families in 1971, 39 families in 1972 and 48 families in 1973.

"Our recent survey of labor needs indicates that about 70 per cent of the incoming families - or about 50 per month - will be in the market for rental property or will seek to purchase housing costing $30,000 or less," Schwisow said.

"At the same time, there are only 130 houses for sale in Midland priced under $30,000 and this figure is down significantly from last year."

36 Houses Available Federal Housing Administration has only 36 houses available in the price range of $30,000 or less and 16 of these are under sales contract, leaving 20 houses available.

Reviewing other alternatives, Schwisow commented that there are no moderate or low-cost rental units vacant and none are being constructed. Some mobile home spaces are available and a separate report on these will be made later by the committee.

More Workers Needed "Housing starts are falling short of our needs," Schwisow said. "There were 111 new residences constructed in Midland in 1973 at an average cost of $37,900 each. Through August of this year, 101 new houses have been built at an average cost of $40,500 each."

The report showed that 2,283 more wage earners will be needed in Midland within the next 12 months and that more than 1,600 of them would earn less than $12,000 per year. If each of them required a housing unit, the demand would be for 135 units per month.

"Admittedly, some of the 135 prospects would be in the same family, thus decreasing the number of units required, but it must be remembered that not all Midland firms answered the labor survey," Schwisow said. "And no allowance has been made for growth which could result from a final decision by PPG Industries to build a large plant here."

It was also noted that the growth projections are considerably under the projected growth anticipated by a recent Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission study and that no provisions are included for replacement of sub-standard housing units.

Financing Studied Financial aspects investigated included several possible avenues. Schwisow said federal construction funds are available through mortgage bankers and that only $30 million has been committed from an available fund of $127 million.

Interest rates are 7.75 per cent but will soon go to 8 per cent for FHA or VA commitment. The builder must pay one-half of 1 per cent for this commitment, which is refunded at the time of closing.

"We have found that most larger builders provide their own financial packages," said Schwisow. "We feel the key would be to interest one or two builders - to start a smaller number of units over a period of time."

The report showed that Midland builders currently are busy with new construction and remodeling projects.

Needs Viewed "In order for a large builder to operate successfully, he will need a large tract with sewer, streets and lots in the $2,500 price range. It would not work for him to have pieces of property spread throughout the city. However, other smaller builders may fill in these areas."

"We feel that local builders feel they cannot possibly take care of the need for homes under $30,000 and it will be necessary to find some people who are adept at multiple-unit work and invite them in. Word on this is already spreading," Schwisow continued.

There are probably 400 lots in Midland that would be available in the feasible project price range, the report stated.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Deposed Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie may be executed in the next two days, the French-language Beirut newspaper L'Orient-Le Jour said today.

The newspaper, quoting Western diplomatic sources, said the 82-year-old Selassie had been moved from detention in Addis to a town 30 miles away to prepare for the execution.

However, an Ethiopian military spokesman denied the report, saying it was "irresponsible fabrications aimed at discrediting Ethiopia's military reforms movement."

Selassie was deposed and placed under arrest last September. The government was taken over by a provisional military council which last weekend executed 60 aristocrats and former Ethiopian officials.

Intercession Urged L'Orient-Le Jour said several Western nations are urging African countries to intercede with the Ethiopian junta to save Selassie's life.

Mohsen Slim, a prominent lawyer and chairman of the Committee to Safeguard Liberty and the Constitution, cabled international organizations asking them to save Selassie. He said the former emperor deserves help because of his advanced age, his role as architect of African unity and support of the Arab and Palestinian causes.

The 120-member military council, which ordered the 60 executions carried out after midnight Saturday, was reported divided on the matter of Selassie's execution.

Appeal Made United Nations Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim on Tuesday appealed to the council to refrain from further executions for humanitarian reasons. In a cable to the council Waldheim said the international community feels anxiety over "reports that a similar fate (See EMPEROR Page 2A)

33-Degree Reading Greet Midlanders Topcoat weather enveloped all of Texas this morning and skies were clear in all but a few localities.

A chilly 33 degrees greeted Midlanders on their way to work this morning, and forecasters expected the mercury to rise only into the lower 60s this afternoon.

The low tonight will again be near the freezing mark, but Thursday's high should parallel Tuesday's top reading of 70.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 22 degrees at Dalhart in the upper Panhandle to 55 degrees at Galveston on the coast. Other pre-dawn lows included Marfa 25, Amarillo 27, Junction 28, El Paso 29, Lubbock 30, Childress and Wink 31 and San Angelo 32.

Top marks Tuesday afternoon went as high as 73 at McAllen in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Dalhart was the coolest spot with a maximum of 56, The AP reported.

A little warming was promised northern sections of the state. Otherwise little change was forecast.

Mrs. Stella Murphy and her brother, Victor Grabowsky. First meeting in more than 60 years.

Midlander Having Thanksgiving Of His Life Following Reunion With Sister

By JOE GORDON Victor Grabowsky, an 84-year-old Midlander, is having the Thanksgiving of his life.

And so is his sister, Mrs. Stella Murphy of Huntington, W. Va. Mrs. Murphy and Grabowsky are brother and sister and it is the first Thanksgiving they have had together in 61 years.

In fact, when they met early this week at Midland Air Terminal it was the first time they even had seen each other in all that time.

"I want to thank God for my blessing, and that He has been so good to me, to find you, my long lost brother," Mrs. Murphy said after stepping off the plane at Terminal.

Tears were rolling down the cheeks of both Mrs. Murphy and Grabowsky, 501 Brooks St., when they recognized each other at the airport. It must have been a long wait—from the time the airplane arrived until the couple was reunited—but not as long as the 61 years they were separated when Grabowsky decided "to go West young man."

Mrs. Murphy had no trouble recognizing her brother. "He looked just like my sister who was next to him and he's the very image of my father."

I think I'd seen him without anybody to explain, that I would have known that he was my brother," she added.

"It's the most wonderful thanks to God I ever had in my life just to be with him, because the others I know, but him I don't know. It's the most wonderful Thanksgiving I ever had," she said.

"It means just a whole lot, I'll tell you," Grabowsky said. "She wanted to put it off until Christmas, but I told my daughter to tell her to come on down here on Thanksgiving."

And, they will be together for several weeks and she will have a chance to meet the family from this area. There are seven daughters, including Mrs. Burton Cain, 3706 W. Louisiana St., Midland, and Mrs. Jesse Mathis, Mrs. James G. House and Mrs. B. W. Vaughn, all of Odessa. Also Mrs. Warren McKinney of Andrews, Mrs. C. B. Moore of Los Gatos, Calif., Mrs. Jack Ezell of Gretna, La.

Grabowsky had a hard time describing his feelings when he first saw her step off the plane. "I thought I was dreaming or something. I couldn't

LATE NEWS FLASHES

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) - Louis B. Russell, 49, who had lived longer than any other human with a transplanted heart, died today at the Medical College of Virginia Hospital. He had survived six years.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Environmental Protection Agency issued regulations today allowing the states to permit limited air pollution in areas where they want industrial or economic development.

NEW YORK (AP) - Commissioner Bowle Kuhn today suspended George Steinbrenner, general partner of the New York Yankees, from baseball for two years as a result of Steinbrenner's conviction for making illegal political campaign contributions.

Ford Sets New Spending Target

(Related Stories Page 4A) WASHINGTON (AP) - President Ford has proposed new spending cuts of $4.6 billion, but he has given up his former spending ceiling in the face of a deepening economic slump that has stiffened congressional opposition to such economy moves.

The proposed cuts include a $1.7 billion reduction in medical and welfare programs administered by the Department of Health Education and Welfare; $1.1 billion in the Veterans Administration budget; $325 million in the food stamp program administered by the Agriculture Department; $381 million in Defense Department spending and other cuts.

The cuts would mean poor people would have to pay more for food stamps and the elderly would pay more of their medical bills.

New Target Ford set a new spending target of $302.2 billion for the current fiscal year, discarding his previous goal of $300 billion just a day after Treasury Secretary William E. Simon said the nation may be facing the longest recession of the postwar period.

Economic Indicators Down

WASHINGTON (AP) - A 14 per cent jump in new claims for unemployment insurance in October helped push the government's indicator of future economic trends into the sharp decline since the Korean war, the Commerce Department reported today.

The Commerce Department said its index of leading indicators dropped 1.3 per cent in October.

At the same time, the department revised what had originally been reported as a 2.5 per cent drop in September to show instead a 3.3 per cent drop for the month.

October marked the third straight month of decline in the index, which now stands 5.3 per cent below where it was in July.

Worst Since 1948 - The September drop was the worst monthly decline since the government began compiling the index in 1948, surpassing the previous largest drop of 2.9 per cent in June 1951.

The latest decline is the first since 1970 that the index has declined for three straight months.

The index is composed of 12 elements designed to reveal in which direction the economy is heading.

Although the index has sometimes provided confusing signals during periods of economic strength, its downturns are considered more reliable.

Issued Today The report issued today was based on eight of the elements of the index and six indicated declining economic activity. A revised report will be issued at a later date when figures are available on the other four elements.

New Orders Off New orders for durable goods, those which have a life expectancy of more than three years, were off by 1.8 per cent. An even more ominous sign was a 8.2 per cent drop in contracts and orders for factories and equipment. An expansion of output, which increases the supply of available goods, is a vital factor in curbing inflation.

Other factors indicating decline were prices for industrial materials and new building permits issued.

The only elements showing increases were stock prices and the ratio of the selling cost of goods to the cost of labor involved in producing them.

Workers still on the job sustained a decrease of one-tenth of an hour in their average work week, indicating paychecks shrank from lack of overtime. The work-week averaged 40 hours in October.

Regional UMW Officials Approve Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) - Regional officials of the striking United Mine Workers have approved a revised contract offer and sent it to the coal fields, where it received a cautious reaction.

UMW officials said if the package is agreed to by the union's 120,000 striking members, the nation's coal mines can be reopened sometime next week.

Approval Voted The union's bargaining council of regional officials voted approval 22 to 15 Tuesday night, reversing the vote taken earlier in the day to reject the pact. The approval broke a deadlock that threatened to seriously prolong the walkout, now in its third week.

UMW President Arnold Miller said the package provides a 64 per cent increase in wages and benefits. "That's the fattest labor settlement in this decade," Miller said.

Union officials said they will explain the contract to district officials at eight or more regional meetings on Saturday and that voting by secret ballot will begin Monday.

Mixed Reaction Initial rank-and-file reaction to the proposed settlement was mixed, with many miners apparently taking a wait-and-see attitude. "They don't really know what's in it," said Howard Moore, president of UMW Local 6106 at Slab Fork, W.Va.

And Richard Stineman, president of Local 1619 in Indiana County, Pa., said miners will have "mixed emotions" about the council's sudden turnaround vote. "It will raise questions," he said. "I don't know what will happen at the local level."

The bargaining council last week rejected the first tentative settlement, sending Miller back to the bargaining table to seek modifications. He won new industry concessions in two key areas - wages and vacations.

Wage Increases The new pact would provide a 10 per cent wage increase the first year, a 4 per cent increase the second and 3 per cent the third. (See COAL PACT Page 2A)

Spending Cuts Urged By Ford

resistance to his proposals but said, "I strongly urge the Congress to accept them and join with me in this belt-tightening. The reductions are essential to demonstrate to the American people that the federal government is working seriously to restrain its spending."

Ford's cutback recommendations would require some 135 actions by Congress, which is trying to adjourn by Dec. 20.

House Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill said he had not fully studied the recommendations and could not yet tell whether congressional action could be completed this year.

An indication of existing congressional attitudes came Tuesday before Ford announced his proposed cuts. The House Appropriations Committee recommended against cancelling $455,635,000 for the Rural Electrification Administration and $85 million for the Agricultural Conservation Program. Ford had asked for these cutbacks previously.

The committee also stated its disagreement with Ford's announced intention to defer release of $9 billion in grants for waste treatment facilities and $407,535,992 for water and sewer facilities.

The committee concurred with Ford on a number of spending cutbacks totaling $116,963,000.

In other congressional action Tuesday on money bills:

The House Rules Committee dealt a probably fatal blow to a bill authorizing $2 billion in federally-backed loans for America's railroads to upgrade their physical facilities, improve track and increase their freight-car fleet.

Bill Sent To Ford

Congress sent Ford a $33-billion appropriation bill for the Labor and Health, Education and Welfare Departments. The bill is $485.2 million under the budget requests submitted to Congress.

The House and Senate passed without debate and sent to Ford an $851 million vocational and rehabilitation bill identical to one which he had vetoed a month ago.

Midlanders To Voice Thanks For Bounties Of Life At Services

Midlanders will join their fellow Americans expressing gratitude for the bounties of life when they attend services of Thanksgiving here tonight and Thursday.

Leading off the special observances was the traditional union Thanksgiving service held here Tuesday night under auspices of the Midland Association of Churches and the Midland Ministerial Association.

Other services of thanks will take place tonight during the regular midweek services of numerous Midland churches. Still other churches in the city have scheduled special gatherings on Thanksgiving morning.

Grace Lutheran Church, 3000 W. Golf Course Road, will have a Matin service beginning at 8:30 a.m. Thursday. Joining the Rev. Donald V. Hafemann, pastor, in the service will be all the choirs of the church.

The Brass Choir, composed of Steve Schneider, Kevin Lewis, Roger Barnes, Larry Barthel, David Daehling and Tim Schneider will join the organist in two hymns. The Adult Choir, directed by Mrs. Robert Macina, will present the prelude, "O Give Thanks to the Lord," and an anthem, "Sing to the Lord of the Harvest." The children's and junior choirs, directed by Mrs. Bruce Barthel, will present the offertory, "O Praise the Lord Who Made All Beauty."

Mr. Hafemann's sermon will be "Coveting versus Thanksgiving," with text from 1 Tim. 6:6-7.

with the Rev. P. H. Ghosten of Denver, Colo., as the evangelist. Services begin at 7:30 p.m. daily and are open to the public.

Midland Lutheran Church, 2705 W. Michigan St., will hold its 21st annual Thanksgiving service at 10 a.m. Thursday. The public has been invited to attend.

The Rev. David Herman, pastor, will have as his sermon topic, "Let Us Be Grateful," with text from Psalms.

At Tuesday night's union Thanksgiving service in Trinity Presbyterian Church, the speaker was the Rev. Kenneth James, pastor of Midland's Crestview Baptist Church. His sermon was titled, "Making Thanksgiving Meaningful," based on Luke 17:11-19.

Mr. James, in his sermon, asked, "How do we go about making Thanksgiving a meaningful event in our lives?" and answered by declaring that Thanksgiving "must be a continuing thing in our hearts and lives, the kind of thanksgiving that finds expression day in and day out."

"In our day," he continued, "with all that we have, we tend to lose sight of what it means to be grateful to God. . . . We must acknowledge our blessings and also acknowledge that they are from God."

"If we are to make Thanksgiving meaningful, we have to give thanks every day — not just on Thanksgiving Day, but out of necessity, but out of gratitude!"

Presiding at the community-wide service was the Rev. Robert Frisbee, pastor of the host church.

Special music at the service was presented by Trinity Church's Chancel Choir under direction of Carroll Kysar, with organ accompaniment by Mary Sue McAllen.

Members of Midland's Downtown Lions and Rotary clubs joined in an annual Thanksgiving meeting today noon in the American Legion Hall.

Guest speaker was the Rev. V. T. Herron, pastor of Greater St. Luke's AME Church, whose topic was "What Are We to Be Thankful For?"

Mr. Herron called on his listeners to count their blessings and to give thanks to God for them. He enumerated some of the things for which Americans especially should be grateful.

Modular Home Building Urged

Realtors Research Foundation at Texas A&M University reported other cities in the area are having similar problems. He says some are filling the need with mobile homes, but this is not regarded as a permanent solution.

"For the market we are concerned about, Dr. Wooten's opinion is that it will not be feasible to use on-site construction methods," Schwisow said, "and it will be necessary to utilize some type of factory production methods similar to the two types the committee has investigated."

Members of the committee made first-hand inspections of two "factory-type" housing projects, one in Lubbock and one in San Antonio.

Approach Told

First Manufactured Homes Inc. of Lubbock utilizes a novel approach. Henry Huneke, the builder-developer, constructs homes in a large, assembly-line operation in the center of a subdivision of 510 lots.

The homes take two weeks to build. Each house is 1,200 square feet with three bedrooms and two baths, selling for $21,250 to $21,700. This price includes lot, walks, drives, six-foot fence, carpet, range, trash compactor, dishwasher, disposal, refrigerator, air, central heat, and two-car garage. They can also be purchased for $14,500 to be placed on your own lot. Moving charges are $300 plus $30 per highway mile. The homes, the report stated, are of excellent quality and have appreciated in value when resold.

Factory Converted

When the subdivision is filled, the factory could be converted into a shopping center.

"Mr. Huneke has been most helpful. He has indicated that he does not wish to start an operation in Midland, but would act as a consultant if someone here wanted to do the same type of development," Schwisow said.

Construction Modules Inc. (CMI) of San Antonio is a subsidiary of the H. B. Zachry Co., which built the prefabricated Hilton Palacio del Rio in record time prior to the 1968 HemisFair.

CMI utilizes pre-cast concrete modules to create houses ranging in size from 958 square feet to 1,700 square feet. Prices range from $23,750 to $33,500, plus lot cost. Car shelters add from $1,750 to $5,000. These houses, as well as those built in Lubbock, are city-inspected as they are built and meet all local codes and requirements.

Features Included

Prices include central heating and air-conditioning, carpeting, wall coverings, vent hood, disposer, normal site work including standard foundation, and transportation within a 25-mile radius.

The sub-committee that visited the CMI plant indicated the company would be interested in establishing a plant in the Midland area if it could be assured of 2,000-unit volume in the area over a three-year period.

Other Federal programs also were discussed. The Housing Authority of the City of Midland currently is preparing to begin construction of 100 units. However, occupancy will be limited to the elderly (over age 62) and the handicapped (10 per cent of the units) in the low-income brackets of approximately $4,800 net annual income.

Funds Available

Funds also have been available through FHA for apartments, but current costs reduce the likelihood of utilizing this avenue.

Farmers Home Administration has funds available, but they are restricted to communities of less than 50,000 population. Use of this program in Greenwood, Midkiff and other rural communities in Midland County could provide some relief in the overall housing situation in the area, the report stated.

Details Given

The study committee concluded with recommendations that:

— The need for more housing be brought more to public attention in hope of encouraging new activity.

— Major builders be invited in to Midland with the caution to avoid a repeat of what happened in the 1950s when a lot of poor quality FHA homes were built.

— The chamber and builders be mindful of the importance of community attitudes toward the problem and its solution.

— If the current housing situation is not corrected, industrial diversification could be deterred, the report concluded.

Serving with Schwisow on the committee were John Berry, Royce Brookmole, M. A. Capadonna, Harry Clark, R. D. Harger, Cliff Hogue, Mrs. Marcia Ingram, Marshall McCrca, Bill Malone, Jack Mogle, Ray Moudy, Doug Suterlin and Jim Allison Jr.

Midland To Join Utility Council

The Texas Utility Advisory Council will have a new member just as soon as the City of Midland can get its $780 per year dues paid.

City Councilmen Tuesday voted to join the group in a continued effort to combat the possibility of a state utility commission's being formed.

Mayor Ernest Angelo said, "This is another step in Midland's continued battle against a state utility commission."

"In my opinion we should cast our lot with big business and not big government," Angelo said.

The mayor said the advisory council is an extension of the Texas Municipal League and will help the city in any rate pass action brought up by utility companies.

The council noted that advice on rate increases and utility rate pass-through agreements is the backbone of the advisory council. Fred Poe, assistant city manager, told the council that a large team of lawyers is available through the advisory council for use by cities in determining utility rate requirements and justifications.

Midland's fight to stop the formation of a state utility commission came to a head at the October meeting of the Texas Municipal League in Fort Worth. The league went on record opposing the creation of a state utility commission to regulate utility rates following the Midland resolution made its cause known in one state.

The Midland resolution stated, "Texans have in the past enjoyed and presently continue to enjoy utility rates substantially lower than the majority of states with utility commissions."

The Midland delegation included Mayor Angelo, City Councilman Jim Kent, City Manager Jim Brown and Asst. City Manager Fred Poe.

Tennis Center Grant Request Given Okay

The Government Application Review Committee of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission Tuesday approved funds for a tennis center here despite one dissenting vote on the issue.

Vernon Chandler, with the Midland Soil and Water Conservation District, said he is against the project because if there is any city in the state that can afford to build its own courts, it is Midland.

The plan now will be presented to the board of directors of PBRPC.

If the board of directors approve the project, it will go to the state funding agency, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, for its okay. The board is due to meet on the project Dec. 11.

The tennis center is planned for the Midland College campus and would be available to both students and the public.

Tschauner said the city maintains 12 tennis courts, two of which are lighted.

Tschauner brought out the fact that the National Park and Recreation Association recommended there should be a tennis court for every 2,000 population in a city.

The tennis plan calls for 12 lighted courts, a tennis center building, fencing, driveways and a parking area for 120 cars. The city would be responsible for maintenance on the property.

The committee approved a request by the City of Pecos for $369,138 from the Federal Aviation Administration to help fund improvements at the Pecos Municipal Airport.

Reeves explained that total cost on the improvement project is $492,185. He said the Texas Aeronautics Commission would contribute $50,000 and local funds would amount to $73,047. Federal funding would amount to 75 per cent of the total costs.

The funds are to be used for rehabilitation of two runways, a taxiway and relocation of lights on one runway and the installation of a rotating beacon at the airport.

The committee approved a request for $25,371.01 from the State Department of Public Welfare for continued operation of senior citizens activities in Dawson County.

Mrs. Rachael Kirkwood, director of the Reeves County Community Action Council, gained approval for a $20,022 request to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for continuation of the Sagosa Headstart program.

Also okayed was a request for $29,320 from the Office of Economic Opportunity for continued operation of five neighborhood multi-purpose centers in Reeves County. Local in-kind services are to provide $7,330.

Committee members also approved setting of the December board meeting for the 19th.

Public Requests School Trustees Make Fast Move

Tuesday afternoon was the quality of education at MHS, as well as student participation in co-curricular activities and proportion of vocation-oriented courses.

Asked near the end of the meeting how many more LHS graduates are college bound, Supt. Dr. James H. Mailey said Lee has 28 per cent more than MHS.

Former trustee Mrs. Margaret Cowden was one of the speakers at the meeting. Urging an end of discussion and the beginning of action, she charged the current board members to fully equalize the two schools.

"If the student is career bound, give him the best training available," she said. "If college bound, give him a transcript equal to any other."

Frances Miller, another speaker at the session, told trustees the "traumas of a boundary change pass quickly while an inferior education lasts a lifetime."

Paula Cahoon said she feared a time when the high cost per student at MHS would lead to closing the facility if enrollment there is permitted to decline.

An MHS honors student, Russell Forrest, expressed concern at the delay in achieving equality between schools and described as "discouraging" being classified as second-best.

Don Clay said he supported an equalization in enrollment numbers, if for no other reason than the athletic programs.

"There is a large number of black kids who stay in school basically because of the athletics," he said.

Clay urged people to "get off the soap box and let the board make a decision. If the board can't handle it, we need a new school board."

Don Sparks, who at the last meeting proposed a districting plan with a wide buffer zone, was present Tuesday afternoon to present his proposal which would give the entire LHS district west of the Midland line freedom of choice to attend either school.

Sparks' plan also involved minor reshuffling of the "feeder" schools which route students from grade school to junior high and on to freshman and high school.

Although trustee Ted Kerr expressed interest in taking action of the boundary alterations at the Dec. 10 meeting, some board members indicated they felt more study would be necessary.

In London the crown prince of Ethiopia, Asfa Wossen, called last weekend's executions "a mockery of justice" and "an affront to all Ethiopians, young and old, who are struggling to create a just system in our country."

The 58-year-old son of the deposed emperor, who was designated by the military council last September to become a figurehead king, said he was "horrified and deeply grieved" by the executions. He said the wrongs of the past should be corrected but not used as grounds for "unproductive vengeance."

The crown prince, who has lived in Geneva since 1972, was in London to visit his son, a student at Oxford University. He made no comment on any danger to the life of his father.

King Constantine Begins Campaign To Regain Throne

ATHENS (AP) — King Constantine II has begun a campaign to be restored to the throne in Greece.

In a radio and television address taped here and broadcast in Greece, the 34-year-old monarch appealed to Greeks to vote for his return.

Constantine has been living in exile in England since he fled Greece in December 1967 after an abortive coup against the military junta that seized power earlier that year.

Greeks vote Dec. 8 for a "crowned democracy" or an "uncrowned democracy." If the 142-year-old institution is abolished, parliament will decide on a form of republic.

The revised package also provides two weeks summer vacation — instead of the earlier proposal that one of the weeks be taken at Christmas.

Miller attributed the change in the vote to the "democratic process working at its finest." He said during the three-hour recess between votes, council members "had time to think about their responsibility to the membership."

Struck Nov. 12

UMW members struck mines producing 70 per cent of the nation's coal Nov. 12 when their previous three-year contract expired. The strike has resulted in more than 23,000 layoffs in the steel and railroad industries, and government economists predicted 400,000 would be out of work if the strike lasts four weeks.

Council members leaving union headquarters after the vote generally expressed optimism that the contract would be ratified.

Wisconsin Challenging Massachusetts As Chief Producer Of Cranberries

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (AP) — Massachusetts, where the Pilgrims picked cranberries 350 years ago, is still the nation's leading producer of the red holiday berries. But Wisconsin is challenging that claim.

Cranberries are as much a part of Thanksgiving as turkey and pumpkin pie, and as of the first of November, the bogs of Cape Cod and the Plymouth area produced 935,000 barrels of them.

Small Berries

Earlier this year, it was predicted that Wisconsin's crop would surpass Massachusetts for the first time. But in September, during the prime growing season, temperatures there dropped to nine degrees. So the berries were plentiful but small.

Wisconsin's crop this year is about 840,000 barrels, while New Jersey's is 240,000 and Washington's 100,000.

In Massachusetts, where agriculture barely exists, being the biggest cranberry producer is a matter of pride. Farmers are not happy about the emergence of Wisconsin as a cranberry power.

Harvest Increases

Even though Wisconsin's crop was smaller than expected this year, it was still 25 per cent larger than the harvest in 1973.

Development of new cranberry bogs is at a standstill in Massachusetts. The industry is located in the middle of a popular vacation area, and the land is more profitable as house lots. In Wisconsin, new land is still available for growing the berries.

Cranberry Price Up

Dr. Chester Cross, director of the industry's experimental station in Wareham, said he thought Massachusetts would remain dominant for several years, because its ocean climate makes it less apt to have sudden temperature changes.

As with most farm products, the price of cranberries has risen over the past year. The wholesale price of a one-pound box with a plastic window was 27 cents last year and is 30 cents this November, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Nuclear Plant Decision Is Expected In December

GLEN ROSE, Tex. (AP) — The Atomic Safety & Licensing Board of the Atomic Energy Commission says it will try to rule in December on whether the AEC should issue a construction permit for a nuclear power plant here.

The board concluded two days of public hearings Tuesday.

Texas Utilities is attempting to construct the power plant.

To Weigh Factors

Dr. Robert Lazo, chairman of the safety and licensing board, said its purpose is to weigh the safety factors affecting the 2,300-megawatt nuclear fission plant thoroughly, not quickly.

As the hearing drew to a close, attorney W. B. Conner Jr., who represents the utility, told the board it would be helpful for the plant's construction schedule if the permit could be issued by the end of December.

Conner and Gregory Fess, attorney for the AEC licensing staff, agreed to file a joint proposed findings for the board by Dec. 2.

The newest participant in the AEC proceedings, the state attorney general's office, will receive a copy of the ruling proposal.

To Keep Right

Robert Pendergraft, an attorney on Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill's staff, testified at the beginning of the hearing here that the state intends to participate in the AEC proceedings and wishes to maintain its right to intervene.

Tuesday, Lazo and board member Lester Kornblith questioned the AEC staff and Texas Utilities employees about the technical aspects of the plant.

Texas Utilities board chairman T. L. Austin told Kornblith Monday the company is "thinking about" building more nuclear plants in the future, with construction possible between now and the time the Comanche Peak plant is operable in 1980.

Basis For Decision

This week's hearings, which weigh safety factors, will be the basis for the board's decision on the issuance of a construction permit, which will allow the utility to work on the full range of the $799 million plant.

Security Officer Denies Any Bell Personnel Help In Illegal Wiretaps

HOUSTON (AP) — A security officer for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. says company personnel have never assisted law enforcement agencies in illegal wiretapping.

Houston Bell security chief Jerry Slaughter denied allegations Tuesday by Houston lawyer Phil Green that Bell personnel helped tap telephones to gather information for about 70 narcotics cases.

Slaughter called Green "a damn liar."

Green spoke out after The Associated Press learned from other sources that Southwestern Bell security officers have provided law enforcement agencies with information needed to conduct illegal electronic surveillance.

Charge Denied

"Never have Southwestern Bell security people provided assistance to federal, state or city officers in illegal wiretapping," Slaughter said.

Slaughter noted, however, that Bell personnel had the know-how to tap telephones. There are about 3,000 in the Houston office with this knowledge and he could not vouch for them, he said.

"If we know of any personnel involved in illegal tapping, we would fire them and we have not fired any because of wiretapping allegations," Slaughter said.

Tapped For Year

Green said the telephone of one of his clients was tapped for about a year and the tap required the assistance of "security personnel" from Bell.

Green took newsmen to the back of a motel in Houston to show them a telephone he alleged was used in 1969 to tap his client's telephone.

He said a connection was made in a terminal box on the pole and then connected to a room in the rear of the motel.

Agencies, such as the FBI, Customs, city and state police and other federal agencies could listen in on telephone conversations of an alleged drug pusher, Green said.

Not Involved

Robert R. Frank, special agent in charge of the FBI's Houston office, denied his office was involved.

U.S. Atty. Anthony J. P. Ferris said in Houston, "if any federal agents were involved in any illegal wiretaps this evidence has not been brought to his office."

Green said Bell security personnel provided police and other agencies with the exact location of the terminal for the telephone they wanted tapped.

Houston Police Chief Carroll Lynn has said that fewer than a dozen Houston police officers may have participated in illegal taps. Evidence has been presented to a federal grand jury, he said.

Congress Expected To Override Ford's Veterans' Bill Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has vetoed an inflationary bill to increase veterans benefits by 22.7 per cent, but a congressional override of the veto appears certain.

At a meeting of Republican senators after the veto Tuesday, not a single senator raised his hand when the GOP leadership asked who would support the veto, according to a participant. White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford had no illusions that the veto would be sustained in Congress.

The veto override vote will come in the House next Tuesday. If the House votes to override, the Senate will vote on the issue the next day.

Not Easy Decision

The President's veto message said his veto decision "has not been an easy one" but that it was necessary to avoid adding another $500 million to the budget.

He again urged Congress to vote an 18.2 per cent increase, which he said would give a veteran with a wife and child $352 a month compared with the current $298. The vetoed bill would provide $366.

But White House sources indicated that Ford might be willing to accept a 20 per cent increase for the four million eligible post-Korea veterans and seven million Vietnam era veterans.

Objects To Provision

Ford objected to a provision in the bill to allow 45 months of undergraduate study instead of the present maximum 36. He said "the present entitlement of four academic years is sufficient time to permit a veteran to obtain his baccalaureate degree and enable him to adjust to civilian life."

He objected also to a provision that would establish a $600-a-year loan program. He said this is "inefficient compared to available guaranteed loan programs which provide substantially more assistance to the veterans at less cost to the taxpayer."

And Ford said he wants higher benefits to start Jan. 1 instead of being retroactive to Sept. 1, as the vetoed bill did.

By substituting his proposal for the vetoed bill, Ford said Congress would save $500 million of the $814 million first-year costs of the vetoed bill.

Included In Budget

The $500 million was included in a $1.1 billion cutback in the Veterans Administration budget that Ford proposed on Tuesday as part of a total of $4.6 billion in budget reductions in government departments.

The balance of the VA budget cut would be accounted for by halting the plan to increase from 8 to 10 years the period that veterans have to use their benefits and to reduce planned pension increases.

Predictions that Congress would override the veto of the veterans benefits bill came from Sen. Vane Hartke, D-Ind., and Rep. William Jennings Bryan Dorn, chairman of the Senate and House Veterans Affairs committees.

House Minority Leader John J. Rhodes, R-Ariz., said he will vote to override and was confident the House will do so.

"HOW TO BUILD UP THE CHURCH"

As a student of the sacred text, I was always under the impression that there was a way through which and by which the cause of Christ was to be built up, and that is through the gospel of God's sovereign grace. I learned a long time ago that the "SCRIPTURES" furnish us unto "EVERY GOOD WORK." (2 Th. 3:16, 17) The apostle Paul declared that the gospel is God's POWER to save man from the penalty of sin. Paul instructed Timothy to "...do the work of an evangelist, make full proof of thy ministry." I take all of this to place emphasis on the gospel of Jesus Christ. Hence if the church is to reach the world it must be through the gospel. This is the ministry!

I hear and read strange things from churches of Christ today. One of those strange things is that which they have borrowed from the sectarians; I believe they call it "the bus ministry." Even if they should spend thousands of dollars from the treasury of the Lord for a bus to transport little children from the other side of town, and that is all that is involved in the so-called "ministry," I am at a loss to find reasons for so many books being written on the subject of "The Bus Ministry." Why, you would think that this is the greatest discovery to the human family since Columbus discovered America. I received a list of books for sale this past week, where 52 books and tapes were advertised. There were 14 books and tapes for sale relative to the "bus ministry." Look at some of the ridiculous titles: "Revitalizing The Bus Program," "Meal On Wheels," "Young Bus Captains," "Reviving Bus Evangelism," "Starting A Joy Bus Program," "Work Of Bus Director," (bus director???) "Teaching On The Bus," "Church Bus Handbook," "Bus Them In," and on and on it goes. Have you enjoyed about all that you can stand?

Now reader friend, who are they going to "bus in?" For the most part little children who are not even subject to the gospel of Christ and they call this "evangelism." I guess the next move will be infant baptism!

As I have said before, I am not offering my criticism along this line to be impractical, but rather a concern for the people of God to come back to the old paths. These old expensive sectarian practices of sensationalism has long proved to be the down fall of others. Why should the people of God fall victim to such promotional clap trap?

Judge Says Ashley Must Testify Next Month In Lawsuit

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The plaintiff in a suit against Southwestern Bell, James Ashley, must testify next month in a private antitrust suit filed against Bell and its parent firm, American Telephone and Telegraph.

Judge John H. Wood ruled Tuesday Ashley, former commercial manager for Bell in San Antonio before he was fired, must testify in a suit filed by the defunct San Antonio Telephone Co. against Southwestern Bell and its parent, American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Suit Filed

Ashley and the family of former Bell executive T. O. Gravit, have filed a $29-million libel and defamation suit against Bell. Gravit committed suicide in October at his Dallas home. It suit calls "corporate rapa-occurred during a Bell internal cities" of the company.

Ashley had filed a motion to quash the San Antonio Telephone Co. subpoena. That antitrust suit seeks $25 million in damages from Bell.

The subpoena asks Ashley to bring evidence of devices used to monitor telephone conversations and records pertaining to alleged monopolistic practices by the Bell System.

Trauma Claimed

Ashley's motion said he wanted the subpoena quashed because he has "recently undergone severe and extreme trauma making it unwise and impossible for him to undergo continued mental trauma at this time."

Ashley claims Southwestern Bell fired him because he and Gravit resisted what their law-suit calls "corporate rapa-occurred during a Bell internal cities" of the company.

Seaman's Chances Of Remaining In U.S. 'About Nil'

BEAUMONT (AP) — A manufacturing firm in Italy he lawyer for Russian seaman Anatoli Sverdin said Tuesday the chances of his remaining in the United States are about nil since Sverdin has Israeli traveling papers.

Attorney Lum Hawthorn met Tuesday with U.S. Immigration officials. Sverdin, 42, jumped ship from the Israeli vessel Har Sinai Thursday after he had attempted to gain political asylum in this country.

Hawthorn said the simple fact that Sverdin has Israeli papers insures his deportation to Israel under international law. To Cut Fee The immigration officials set bond of $2,500 but the ABC Bonding Co. in Houston said it would reduce to 15 per cent the normal 25 per cent fee in this case.

Beaumont residents were attempting to raise the $375 needed to bail Sverdin from jail. He is being held at the Harris County Rehabilitation Center in Humble, near Houston.

Sverdin told Hawthorn immigration officials of his persecution in Russia after dropping his membership in the Communist Party in 1969 after nine years.

He said he was kept from accepting a position with the Fiat oil operator; Cliff Hogue, Realtor; Ray Moudy, Citizens Savings & Loan Association; Ed Smead, Aladdin House Furniture, and Tom Stoy, Union Oil of California.

Ballots with the names of the nominees will be sent to all chamber members early in December. Eight persons are to be elected to the board.

Members of the nominating committee included: Charles Priddy, chairman; Jimmy Allison Jr., C. W. Barclay, Cliff Hogue, K. M. Jastrow, Marshall McCrea, and R. L. Pendleton.

Outgoing directors of the Chamber include: Ernest Angelo Jr., William S. Bachman, Larry Hart, Harvey Herd, P. A. Fletcher, William J. Mewhorter, C. Ronald Schisow and Tom Welch.

Directors serve three-year terms on the chamber's board of directors, with one-third rotating off the board each year.

In addition to the elected directors, each president may appoint up to three other persons to serve one-year terms on the board, subject to the approval of the directors.

Officers for the Chamber are selected by the directors. The 1975 officers will be named later.

U.S., Chinese Officials Begin Talks On American Assets Frozen After '49

PEKING (AP) — U.S. and Chinese officials have begun negotiations on around $200 million in American assets frozen after the 1949 Communist revolution. Terms of a settlement may be reached by the time Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger ends his visit Friday.

Although there has been no official announcement, it was learned the talks began late Tuesday under the direction of Philip C. Habib, assistant secretary of state for the Far East.

Kissinger, meanwhile, still awaited a summons from Chairman Mao Tse-tung. The secretary continued meetings today with Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping and other Chinese officials.

Mrs. Kissinger visited the Great Wall and climbed about half way up. Kissinger's children, Elizabeth, 16, and David, 13, made it all the way to the top.

Food Stamps To Cost More If Ford's Proposal Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Poor people would have to pay more for food stamps beginning next March 1 if Congress approves a drive by the Ford administration to cut government spending.

The Agriculture Department said Tuesday the food stamp program, designed by Congress to help needy families pay rising grocery bills, would be reduced $325 million. Some 14 million persons now receive benefits from the food stamp program.

Most of the savings would come from higher charges to needy families for their monthly food stamp allocations, officials said.

All families, regardless of size, would have to pay 30 per cent of their net monthly income to get stamps. Currently, the purchase requirements are tailored to family size as well as income, with some paying as low as 20 per cent of monthly earnings.

Officials said one exception would be that extremely poor families with net incomes of less than $30 a month would continue to get food stamps free of charge.

A four-member household, for example, will get $154 worth of food stamps under a new allowance schedule which takes effect Jan. 1, up $4 from now. The allowance is standard regardless of income.

'Don't Blame Mother For Shootings,' Survivor Of Murder-Suicide Says

GREENFIELD, Wis. (AP) — Mary Jansen, 9, lay alongside the bodies of her slain family members for nearly two days. She believed she would also die of the bullet wounds inflicted by her mother.

But she lived, and told ambulance attendants on her way to the hospital Tuesday: "Don't blame mother for the shootings." Police said the girl's mother, Mildred Jansen, apparently was dependent over the death of her husband in an industrial accident two months ago, shot and killed her own mother, Mary's brother and herself.

Mary was shot three times, twice in the chest and once in the shoulder. Her condition was described as serious but stable. "She knew her mother wanted everyone to be in heaven with dad for Thanksgiving," Mary's fifth grade teacher said.

Slashes Proposed In HEW Funding

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's elderly would pay more out of their own pockets for doctor and hospital bills if Congress approves President Ford's request for a $1.7-billion slash in Department of Health, Education and Welfare spending this fiscal year.

The department is the government's most expensive and was tapped the heaviest to contribute toward the $4.6 billion in budget reductions that Ford proposed Tuesday.

Virtually every HEW agency and program would be affected, but the impact would be noticed most by beneficiaries of health and welfare assistance.

Doctors Unanimous After Nixon's Exam

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A brief, unanimous opinion on former President Richard M. Nixon's fitness to testify at the Watergate cover-up trial has been reached by three court-appointed doctors, but their conclusion remains confidential.

The report is to be submitted Friday to U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica, the trial judge who assigned the doctors to examine Nixon.

Before leaving Los Angeles Tuesday, Drs. Charles Hufnagel, John J. Spittell Jr. and Richard Starr Ross told newsmen they had examined Nixon for about an hour at his San Clemente estate Monday.

They said they also spent 4 1/2 hours studying Nixon's medical records at Memorial Hospital Medical Center in Long Beach, where the former president was recently hospitalized for anti-coagulant treatment and surgery for blood clots in his leg.

Hufnagel, chief of surgery at Georgetown University Hospital in Washington, D.C., declined to give any hint of the report's conclusions. He described it as "specific, brief and to the point," and Ross called it "absolutely unanimous."

The examination was ordered by Sirica to aid in his decision on whether Nixon must testify in person, by deposition or videotape — in the trial of his former political associates. Nixon's lawyers contend that Nixon is too ill to travel or be subjected to stress before mid-February.

Pentagon Barely Nicked In Proposal To Cut Back On Government Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford barely nicked the Pentagon in proposing extensive government spending cuts. But even those proposed defense reductions totaling $381 million may be eliminated by rising costs of food, utilities and other immediate needs.

Ford said Tuesday he feels "further cuts in defense spending would be exceedingly unwise, particularly at this time." He asked for total government spending cuts of $4.6 billion.

The President noted that Congress already has trimmed about $2.2 billion from this year's defense spending plans. The Pentagon said its spending cuts include cancelling the purchase of 84 jet fighters and helicopters, most of which were imposed on the Pentagon by Congress; lowering National Guard and reserve strength by 44,656 men; and postponing maintenance work on defense property.

Congressional approval would be required for these moves. In addition, the Pentagon said it plans to act under its administrative authority to stretch out re-enlistment bonuses, instead of paying servicemen lump sums when they sign up for a second hitch. Defense Department Comptroller Terence McClary conceded this may cost the armed forces some trained servicemen.

But examination of the announced defense plans shows that the actual net savings will come to only $256.3 million, because the Pentagon expects to gain a net $125 million from the sale of oil from the Navy's Elk Hills Reserve in California this year. The administration urged Congress to enact legislation authorizing this use of the reserve.

The $125 million would go into the treasury and pay in future years for exploration of additional oil reserves on the North Slope of Alaska.

Panel Urges Scrapping Most Of State Rural Prison Institutions

AUSTIN (AP) — A special advisory committee on Texas prisons has recommended a new approach to corrections that would involve abandonment of most of the present, rural institutions.

The committee's hundreds of specific recommendations also included conjugal visits—at least on an experimental basis—to help hold prisoners' families together.

The committee made its report to the Joint Committee on Prison Reform, which will suggest measures to the 1975 legislature.

Close Votes Seen
"I see some very, very close votes on prison reform, and we are going to be better off in this area," said Charles Sullivan, advisory committee chairman.

While the prison system has its good points, it generally fails to prepare inmates for life on the outside, makes it hard for them to maintain family relationships and often brutalizes them, the report said.

By far the most far-reaching recommendation would change the structure of the state's correctional system, shifting from a cluster of institutions around Huntsville. The new system would include greater use of probation and parole, regional correctional centers near cities, programs where offenders live at home but go to special centers for training and counseling and "halfway houses."

Estelle Quoted
The committee quoted W. J. Estelle Jr., prison system director, as saying 40 per cent of the inmates don't belong there, and recommended that they be promptly identified and transferred to parole or other programs and institutions.

"Keeping the offenders in or near the community from which they come will provide a minimum amount of disruption of family life, enable the person to continue at a job or to take vocational training, receive the varied supportive and corrective benefits of local agencies and programs, avoid the negative impact of massive institutionalization and help offenders to better cope with problems encountered in attempting to behave in accordance with the norms of society," the advisory committee said.

It said the centralized, rural East Texas prison units prevent maintenance of family ties and limit opportunities for such things as work release programs.

Called Inhumane
"Moreover, the closed, isolated nature of the units allows development of a brutal and brutalizing atmosphere which is both inhumane and inconsistent with achievement of correctional goals," the report said.

The report said that because of the inaccessibility of the prisons to many parts of Texas, "periods of years without a visit from a parent or friend are not uncommon."

And when family members do visit, "most TDC (Texas Department of Corrections) inmates, whether in a maximum of minimum security unit, are not allowed to embrace their spouses or even touch, much less hold or kiss their children during the entire time they are in prison."

Complete isolation of men and women from heterosexual activity results in homosexual behavior or "in the displacement of the sexual drive in hostile, aggressive and sometimes dangerous conduct toward other prison personnel."

"Maintenance of family integrity by allowing an inmate some private association with his wife and children would certainly lessen the high number of divorces which occur after a man goes to prison," the report said.

"Either an equitable system of conjugal visits or home furloughs for trustworthy inmates, successfully used in other prison systems, would go a long way to meeting these needs."

Must Stop Beatings
The report said beatings and the use of inmates as "building tenders"—with supervisory power over other prisoners—continue and must stop.

It noted that the 1973 legislature specifically outlawed the building tender system, yet it continues and is "the source of much of the physical brutality which exists in TDC."

Both medical care and mental health treatment for prisoners were faulted heavily by the advisory committee. It said guards should be stripped of the power to give prisoners permission to seek medical care, and there should be a licensed physician in full and direct supervision of all medical and health related services. A full-time staff psychiatrist should be hired to set up a well-staffed mental health program, the report said.

Segregation Still Exists
Racial and ethnic segregation still exists, the report said, and "the use of racial epithets by correctional officers appears to be widespread."

"Many officers honestly may not realize that calling an urban black 'boy' might to him be the same thing as calling him 'nigger,' depending on the context, though both seem to be widely used. If all inmates were customarily addressed as 'Mister, Mrs., Miss or Ms.' this cultural gap could be minimized. Even a policy of calling inmates by their last name would be an improvement," the advisory committee said.

HOUSTON (AP) — A motion picture seeking psychiatric tests for Ronald Clark O'Bryan, charged in the poisoning death of his young son, has been granted by a state judge.

O'Bryan's son, Timothy, 8, died Halloween night after eating candy following a trick or treat tour. Authorities said the candy contained potassium cyanide.

O'Bryan, a Pasadena optician, also is charged with four cases of attempted murder. His trial is scheduled Jan. 6.

State District Court Judge Frank Price granted Tuesday the motion by Harris County Asst. Dist. Atty. Mike Hinton.

Hinton said in the motion that "due to the circumstances surrounding the alleged commission of the offenses, psychiatric examination is proper and just—not only for protection of the state's case but for the deense as well. The accused's mental state at the time of the alleged offenses will be a critical issue at the trial."

The capital murder indictment returned against O'Bryan said he "caused the death of Timothy for remuneration, and the promise of remuneration, namely the proceeds from life insurance on the life of Timothy."

HOW TO BEAT HIGH COST OF SWEETS — The Rev. John A. Baxter, above, 47, pastor of a United Presbyterian Church, has found a way to counteract the soaring cost of sugar and honey. He's got three hives in his backyard at La Habra, Calif., which produce honey for the family table. (AP Wirephoto.)

Keeping Bees Sweet Idea For Minister

LA HABRA, Calif. (AP) — said, pouring a spoonful into his cup of tea.

The Rev. Mr. Baxter has been raising bees for about a year. One Sunday he took a hive to church and preached a sermon about the bees' virtues.

Five years ago the price of honey was about 15 cents a pound. Today it is 43 to 53 cents, depending on quality.

At these prices, a lot of people are considering keeping bees.

But Dixon M. Hunter, a biologist for the San Bernardino County Department of Agriculture warned they can get stung in more ways than one.

"An amateur who goes into this business will lose his shirt," he said.

While the price of honey has risen sharply, the cost of supplies has gone up even faster. A queen bee could be bought for $1.50 only 18 months ago but now may cost $5 or $6. A starter package, containing workers as well as a queen, has gone from $6 or $8 to as high as $19.

Buying a few hives for your backyard doesn't make you a professional, cautioned Hunter. You should have between 800 and 1,000 hives for a full-time business, and most professionals have around 2,000.

With that many hives, you don't have time to coddle your bees, and you have to expect to get stung frequently, Hunter said.

"There's a lot to beekeeping," he added. "A lot of work other than set them out and get the honey."

Bees perform a double service. In addition to making honey, they fertilize crops.

Without the aid of bees, Hunter said, farmers raising alfalfa seed would only get half the crop. Bees are also important for almonds, cucumbers and melons.

Bill Huston, owner of the Huston Honey Co. of Corona, said the bee business is experiencing "the strangest marketing conditions I have ever seen."

"A few years ago, he said, alfalfa was selling so cheaply that no one was raising it. This year alfalfa seed has jumped in price and farmers have been paying as much as $12 a hive to rent bees for pollination.

Judge Clears Way For Hunts To Gain Control Of Company

DALLAS (AP) — A federal judge has opened the way for Nelson Hunt and W. Herbert Hunt to acquire control of Great Western United Corp., a holding company for a major sugar producer.

U.S. District Court Judge William Taylor Jr. denied a motion Tuesday for an injunction against the Hunts, saying they could not find any fraud or misrepresentation in the Hunt's initial purchase of stock.

Directors of GWU, whose principal subsidiary is Great Western Sugar Co., one of the country's largest sugar beet firms, claimed the Hunts were trying to gain control of the company without notifying the Security and Exchange Commission of their intentions.

They had argued that the tender offer by the Hunts to buy 910,000 shares at $27.50 per share would give them 51 per cent of the common stock. The Hunts, sons of oil billionaire H. L. Hunt, already own 25 per cent.

No Tender Offer
"I am just holding that the plaintiffs have failed to meet the burden that the defendants intended from the very beginning to acquire control of Great Western and I think the purchases of substantial blocks through negotiated purchases or through the market do not constitute a tender offer," Taylor said.

One deposition introduced Tuesday was from G. Michael Boswell, financial adviser to the Hunt brothers. Boswell recommended on Oct. 29 its retention to study the sugar market. This suggestion was two days after the Hunts filed their papers with the SEC.

Made Offer
Herbert Hunt testified that on Nov. 6 he and his brother decided to try to buy blocks of stock to rid the company of two of the three factions on the board of directors.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Musty Odors Rule Her House

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Association

DEAR POLLY — If there is anything I hate it is a house with a musty odor and I have it. This odor is throughout the downstairs (except for the kitchen) and has been there since we put in wall-to-wall carpeting. I have been told it is caused by the padding. I keep the windows open as much as possible but hope someone can tell me how to get rid of this odor. — H.L.T.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with women who file their nails during church services. I have even heard men clipping their nails. — JEAN.

POLLY'S NOTE: I thought I had heard of many breaches of etiquette and lack of consideration for others but this tops them all.

DEAR POLLY — I am answering Mrs. W.L.H. about the odor in her cast iron skillet. Tell her to put water in a large pot with a generous amount of baking soda. Immerse skillet in solution, boil 30-45 minutes. Rinse skillet and dry. Place dried skillet on the stove over flame, let it get almost red hot and turn flame off. Leave on stove until cool. Grease inside and put away. Wipe out excess if you wish. No rust. Before using skillet wash in sudsy water and vigorously scour inside with fine steel wool or a soap pad to prevent food sticking. After several oil and steel wool treatments skillet will be useful without it. After washing my skillet I always place it on a low flame so it dries thoroughly before being put away. Many times I have said that should I ever move into a $1500-a-month penthouse one thing that would go along would be my cast iron frying pans. I mean it, too. — HELEN.

DEAR POLLY — and Mrs. W.L.H. — I do not approve of boiling and scouring an iron utensil. If rust in the pan is causing the odor and the metallic taste is not too deep "breaking it in" may salvage the pan. Use fine steel wool until pan is clean. Apply animal fat only and heat skillet on top of stove or in oven. When pan is very hot cover inside and out with the grease and let cool slowly. Wipe out with paper towel and repeat procedure the next day.

After such a "breaking in" never use detergent or a scouring pad. Rinse with mild soap and warm water and dry. After a few uses the pan will become black and seasoned. — MARJORIE.

DEAR READERS — Since Mrs. W.L.H.'s cast iron skillet is new perhaps there is a coating on them that causes the trouble. If so, mild scouring powder may be necessary to remove it before washing, drying thoroughly and seasoning. Always use soap, not detergent, when washing. Seasoning process must be repeated several times for a thorough job. Set on low flame after rubbing with oil or fat, leave 2 to 3 hours and use a pastry brush to recoat every half hour or so. Be careful of those hot, hot handles and do not thoughtlessly grasp one. I did this once and never had such a painful burn. — POLLY.

Good Casserole For Holidays

By AILEEN CLAIRE
Food Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Association

A good casserole dish for holiday entertaining combines rice, apple juice and pork sausage. This doesn't take long to prepare and involves few utensils to clean up after the party is over. Serve with a grapefruit salad with tangy sour cream dressing.

Combine rice, apple juice and salt. Heat to boiling. Stir once, cover, reduce heat, cook 15 minutes or until all liquid is absorbed. Sauté sausage until done; remove sausage. Pour off all but 2 teaspoons fat. Add onions and celery. Cook until onions are tender. Add with sausage and cherries to cooked rice and cook 5 minutes longer. Makes 8 servings.

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren

Months After 'I Dos' She's Still Virgin

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman in my early 40s. When I married, four months ago, I was a virgin. My problem is, I still am.

I am a school teacher, but quit teaching to marry a very fine divorced man in his mid 40s. We seemed perfect for each other after a two-year courtship. Neither he nor I believe in premarital sex.

After four months of marriage, he has yet to consummate our marriage. He had been married for 12 years (no children) and he admitted to having had "some difficulty" performing his bedroom duties; but he didn't say he couldn't perform at all, which is the case. He said he's seen doctors, who have told him there was nothing wrong with him—he probably had a "mental block" because there was no love between him and his wife. Well, we love each other and the mental block is still there? So how can that be explained?

I feel he married me under false pretenses. He's a fine person otherwise. Perhaps I'm placing too much emphasis on the bedroom scene, but after waiting all my life for a beautiful, complete love relationship, I feel cheated.

CHEATED OUT EAST

DEAR CHEATED: First your husband should be examined by a urologist to determine whether his problem is physical or psychological. If it's physical, you have two choices. Continue in a marriage without sex, or get an annulment. If it's psychological, your husband should seek psychotherapy. If he's unwilling (or unable) to overcome his problem in this manner, you still have the original two choices. Only you can determine how important the bedroom scene is.

DEAR ABBY: I have this friend I'll call Marsha. Marsha works in a doctor's office and she keeps her friends entertained with hilarious stories of what goes on at the office.

I'm sure Marsha doesn't realize that some patients prefer that their medical histories be kept confidential. I don't want to throw cold water on a lively and entertaining discussion, but

Club Discusses Yule Luncheon

Plans for a Christmas luncheon to be held in December were made when Heritage Study Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Russell Neisig, 2820 Maxwell St.

The party will be held in the home of Mrs. Robert L. Spears. Presiding during the business session was Mrs. Dan Kallus, president.

A special program was presented by Mrs. S. W. Tift, who introduced the play, "Lady on the Rocks," directed by Family Services, Inc. Following the play, there was a discussion on women and alcoholism.

Married men are absent from work less than single men.

Midland Woman Honored By Arthritis Association

By PATSY GORDON

Seven years ago practically no one in West Texas had heard of the Arthritis Foundation. Seven years ago there was no West Texas Chapter.

Seven years ago there were no rheumatologists within 300 miles of the chapter's Midland office, and no medical school in West Texas with a rheumatologist or laboratory for research in arthritis and the rheumatic diseases.

As a matter of truth, seven years ago most of the residents of West Texas were of the opinion that "nothing could be done for arthritis" and that it was primarily an "old people's disease."

However, in 1966, Mrs. Charles M. Linehan, because she had seen her mother suffer with rheumatoid arthritis when a young woman, organized the Permian Basin Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation. In the spring of 1967, this group expanded into what is now known as the West Texas Chapter, covering 85 counties, 29 of which are active in campaigns and programs.

Today, the chapter is a thriving organization, developing active groups of volunteers in the additional 56 counties, sponsoring public meetings with panels of specialists who talk about arthritis and answer questions, and sponsoring medical symposiums for area physicians. It provides these physicians with

Mrs. Peterson Coffee Honoree

A farewell coffee was held recently for Mrs. Clyde Peterson, who is moving to Houston, where her husband has accepted a position with the Federal Labor Department.

Mrs. Gary Lane and Mrs. Jack Camden were co-hostesses in the Camden home. Guests were members of Psi Phi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

Mrs. Peterson served as service chairman of the Beta Sigma Phi City Council prior to moving to Houston. The family's address in that city is 1251 Wilcrest St.

Commenting on the growth of the chapter during the last three years, Charles B. Harding, chairman of the board of the Arthritis Foundation, said, "If there were a dozen West Texas Chapters, the foundation would already have surpassed its 1975 goal."

Concerning other achievements for 1974, the chapter has made a grant of $7,100 to the rheumatology program at Texas Tech to support a research project there. This grant is being matched by the university to establish a laboratory to carry out this project.

The theme song of the chapter might well be, "We've come a long way, Baby; We still have a long way to go."

Rankin Resident Attends Workshop

RANKIN — Mrs. Ann Clark, Upton County Historical Survey chairman, attended recently a 10-day workshop on the "Administration of History and Museums," held at Round Top in Fayette County.

Mrs. Clark, who has been active in setting up the Rankin Museum, was one of 20 persons receiving full scholarships to the Winedale Seminar, which is co-sponsored by the Texas Historical Survey Committee and The University of Texas.

While attending the workshop, the group went to Houston, where they toured the Harris County Heritage Museum in Sam Houston Park, as well as the Fort Bend County Museum at Richmond. They also spent a day at the Institute of Texan

Cancer Victims Find Job Discrimination

NEW YORK (AP) — For Mrs. Joyce E. Arkhurst, the news after her breast cancer surgery last April was good: the lesion was extremely small and her doctor said he considered her to be cured.

But earlier this month, Mrs. Arkhurst, who lives in New York, was informed that she could not be considered eligible for a job at the United Nations "according to our present medical standards."

Discrimination Cited

Mrs. Arkhurst's case was cited by the American Cancer Society in material provided for release today as an example of discrimination by employers against former cancer patients.

"The likelihood of being turned down for a new job because of a past history of cancer is very, very large," said Dr. Robert J. McKenna, a surgeon at the University of Southern California School of Medicine, Los Angeles.

Stigma Attached

"There is still a stigma attached to cancer," Dr. McKenna said. The surgeon has been named by the cancer society to head a new task force investigating such reported discrimination in general.

"Last April I had a simple mastectomy," Mrs. Arkhurst says. "I was very fortunate. The tumor was discovered very early—by mammography (X-ray). It was tiny, and there was no evidence of spreading. I am receiving no continuing chemotherapy or radiotherapy. I am in good health, feel and look well, and want to work."

Told Of Policy

Mrs. Arkhurst says she was told by a medical officer that a U.N. policy prohibits hiring anyone known to have had cancer until five years have passed. Cancer "cures" are measured in five year terms.

McKenna told a news conference that the government is particularly guilty of this kind of discrimination, along with private employers. He spoke at the National Conference on Advances in Cancer Management, sponsored by the cancer society and the National Cancer Institute.

STILL AT LARGE — An artist made these sketches of the skyjacker known as Dan Cooper from the recollections of the passengers and crew of a Northwest Airlines jet he hijacked between Portland and Seattle on Thanksgiving Eve in 1971. 'Cooper' later parachuted from the plane with $200,000 of ransom money. (AP Wirephoto.)

Skyjacker Dan Cooper Is Almost Home Free

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — It has been three years since the skyjacker called Dan Cooper parachuted from a Northwest Airlines jet with $200,000 in ransom money and wrote himself into the folklore of the Pacific Northwest.

Two more and he'll be home free — if he's alive.

"The federal statute of limitations on that crime is five years," said Sidney Lezak, U.S. attorney in Portland.

According to the U.S. Department of Transportation, Cooper is the only person ever to hijack a domestic airliner who has not been killed or brought to justice.

"We know nothing more about him today than we did at 11 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 24, 1971," says Julius Mattson, special agent in charge of the Portland FBI office.

Events Reconstructed

These are the events of that Thanksgiving Eve as authorities reconstructed them.

A man who gave his name as Dan Cooper bought a one-way ticket at Portland International Airport to Seattle aboard Northwest Airlines flight 305 which originated in Washington, D.C.

In the air, Cooper handed stewardess Tina Mucklow a note saying he had a bomb. Following Cooper's orders, Miss Mucklow sat beside him and wrote down instructions to the pilot.

He wanted 10,000 $20 bills to be delivered to him at Seattle

FBI Academy Operates Own Casino—For Training

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — "Step into our version of Reno," said Charlie Parsons, swinging open a door to reveal a roulette wheel of the finest quality, slot machines, blackjack table, craps table, all nestled into a hideaway in the heart of FBI territory.

In fact, the FBI itself operates this particular casino in one corner of a nine-building complex in the woodlands of Virginia some 40 miles south of Washington.

It's all for an honorable purpose: training FBI agents and local police officers in the gambling trade so they can detect and arrest illegal gamblers.

Real Paraphernalia

The paraphernalia is real, confiscated from actual gambling operations and turned over by the courts for the FBI to use in training. Some of it is rigged to guarantee the operators profits far larger than an honest game would allow.

Assistant FBI Director Joe D. Jamison presides over the casino and the rest of the FBI Academy, situated on 139 acres of a Marine Corps base in a new complex opened two years ago to replace an older and smaller facility nearby. He has a $9.2 million budget to train, feed and house more than 1,000 students a year.

Five reporters who regularly cover the Justice Department accepted an FBI invitation to tour the facility Tuesday. The invitation was part of Director Clarence M. Kelley's effort to modify some of the agency's traditional secrecy.

14-Week Training

The academy is where FBI agents receive 14 weeks and five days of training immediately after joining the agency. It's where a new class of 250 local police officers comes four times a year for 12 weeks of training paid for entirely by the FBI.

The state and local officers are nominated by their chiefs subject to FBI approval.

It costs the FBI $4,000 to give each local cop college-level courses in such things as criminal law, police labor relations, basic budgeting, firearms and yes, gambling.

The reporters were taken to the indoor firing range where 23 paper silhouettes of a human figure dangle above 23 firing positions. It looks something like a bowling alley. The officers are scored on their accuracy with the highest score — nine — going for a direct hit to the heart.

Aim To Kill

"You teach them, then, to aim to kill?"

"Yes," replied Inspector Edward L. Campbell. "There's no such thing as aiming to wound. There's no one in the world who's a good enough shot to do that. A better way to say it is that you're aiming to neutralize the adversary."

But Campbell and George A. Zeiss, head of the firearms training, insisted that agents rarely draw their weapons.

One recent seminar involved agents and local officers involved in the Los Angeles shootout which left six Symbionese Liberation Army members dead in a flaming stucco house last May 17.

John M. Kirch, head of law enforcement arts training, said seminar participants agreed with no substantial dissent that authorities handled the SLA situation in the best possible way.

Kidnaping Suspect To Be Arraigned

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Authorities said ex-convict Tommie Lee Case would be taken before a magistrate today on charges stemming from a Padre Island slaying and kidnaping.

He was brought here Tuesday night from Bossier, La., and placed in the Kleberg County jail.

Case, 35, an oil field worker, is charged in the Nov. 17 killing of Tom Turner, 19, of Dallas and abduction of Turner's girl friend, Frances Gardner, 18, of Dallas while they were camped on Padre Island near Corpus Christi. Miss Gardner was released the next day near Dallas.

Case Identified

Officers said Miss Gardner identified Case as the man who ordered her and Turner from their tent along with two companions and forced her to accompany him after Turner was shot. He was arrested Nov. 22 at Bossier, where he formerly worked.

Kleberg County Sheriff Jim Scarborough said his officers did not plan to question Case until after he has been arraigned. The sheriff said investigators still were trying to find the pistol used to kill Turner.

Scarborough said Bossier City officers were taking fingerprints from the car Case was driving when he was arrested.

Charges Listed

Case is charged here with murder, aggravated kidnaping and aggravated robbery. In addition, he is charged in Louisiana with car theft and forgery.

Police records show Case received a three-year prison term for burglary in 1966 at Dallas and has been arrested a number of times at Corpus Christi and Shreveport, La., on other charges.

Texas Ranchers Propose Plan To Eliminate Middleman Profit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Texas ranchers have proposed a plan to eliminate the middleman profits by sending beef from ranches direct to packing house and then to consumer distribution points.

This would cut chain stores out of meat sales, ranchers R. L. Moore and Lee Perkins said Tuesday.

The consumer would buy the meat cut and frozen, they told a news conference.

"I don't say it will cut out the middlemen, but it will cut out the middlemen's profits," said Moore, president of the Independent Beef Producers of America.

Moore said chain stores were the root of high beef prices and low prices paid to beef producers.

"The chains are dictating what they'll pay for it," the Avery rancher said.

The ranchers have met with civic groups in Dallas to get endorsement for their plan.

Perkins, of Clarksville, said imports of foreign beef should be reduced.

Thirty million pounds were rejected by the government last year as unfit for sale in the United States, he said, but that large amounts of imported, unspected meat was still sold here.

He said one prospective outlet for the meat sold in the pilot program, in addition to individual consumers, would be institutions serving large amounts of beef.

More Soft Drinks

Soft-drink consumption in the U.S. has doubled in the last 12 years.

in a laundry sack, along with two sets of parachutes. Otherwise, he would blow up the plane, he said.

Airline officials and FBI agents compiled and Cooper allowed the passengers and two of the three stewardesses to disembark at Seattle.

Then he ordered the plane to fly south to Reno, Nev. The crew was to stay in the cockpit.

After takeoff from Seattle, a red light flashed in the cockpit indicating the plane's rear boarding ramp had been unlatched.

Rear Ramp Down

When the plane landed in Reno, the rear ramp was down and Cooper, the sack of money and one set of parachutes were gone. The skyjacker, who had carefully reclaimed his note to the stewardess, had left no fingerprints.

Authorities pinpointed Cooper's jump point near Woodland, Wash. The "little town" was transformed into a bustling command post for a small army of newsmen, FBI agents, police and soldiers from Ft. Lewis, Wash.

With planes, helicopters, jeeps and track dogs, they combed the vast, densely wooded region northeast of Woodland.

The skyjacker had left the plane clad only in a light business suit and street shoes. He parachuted into the blackness of a raging thunderstorm, into a 200 m.p.h. wind and 7-degrees-below-zero temperatures.

Modern Electronics May Doom Many Metropolitan Papers, Conference Told

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — Modern electronics may mean the virtual end of major metropolitan newspapers and the rebirth of smaller, independently owned dailies, journalists attending an international conference on press freedom were told.

William Heine, editor of the London, Ont., Free Press, said the growth of smaller newspapers would result because publishing costs are being trimmed as electronic equipment replaces printing tradesmen.

May Be Doomed

"I suspect that big papers are at their peak and may be doomed," he said Tuesday. "I feel that in some respects, many large newspapers are at a point where they are like steam engines when the diesel locomotives came in."

Heine said the new papers, like their counterparts in the 19th century, would provide a variety of political and philosophical outlooks.

Excellent editorial staffs would help large, metropolitan newspapers to survive, he said.

Robert U. Brown, president and publisher of Editor & Publisher, told delegates to the World Press Freedom Symposium there should be a mobilized effort to publicize and criticize government interference with the flow of information.

Logical Vehicle

Keith Fuller, executive vice president of The Associated Press, said the news services would be the most logical vehicle for carrying up to date news of journalists who were jailed or intimidated.

Ernest Meyer, director of the International Press Institute, said the news stories already carried such stories but the problem was in getting editors to publish them.

"For most people, what is going on in faraway places does not concern them," Meyer said.

Harold Evans, editor of the London Sunday Times, said editors often decline to print stories dealing with press freedom because they felt it was shop talk.

Rights For All

But the press should make it clear, he said, that the rights being fought for are those of all men, not just a small group of journalists.

The group sent a telegram to the president of the Philippines, Ferdinand Marcos, censuring the imprisonment of Eugenio Lopez Jr., the former publisher of the Manila Chronicle. He has been held for more than two years without trial or charges and is now on a hunger strike.

Today is Wednesday, Nov. 27, the 331st day of 1974. There are 34 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1942, during World War II, French navy men at Toulon, France scuttled 10 French cruisers, 28 destroyers and 14 submarines to prevent them from falling into the hands of the Nazis.

On this date: In the year 602, the Roman emperor, Maurice, and his five sons were beheaded at Chalcedon in Asia Minor.

In 1703, a coastal storm in England took an estimated 8,000 lives.

In 1919, Bulgaria signed a World War I peace treaty which yielded territory to Greece and Yugoslavia.

In 1940, during World War II, Germany annexed the French province of Lorraine.

In 1945, Gen. George Marshall was named a special U.S. envoy to China to try to end hostilities between the Nationalists and the Communists.

In 1970, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover charged that a terrorist group had planned to blow up tunnels connecting Washington buildings and to kidnap White House assistant Henry Kissinger.

Ten years ago: In the Congo, the evacuation of Belgian troops and American planes began after a mission to rescue hostages. The U.S. said more than 1,600 persons from 17 countries had been evacuated.

Five years ago: President and Mrs. Nixon shared Thanksgiving Day with 232 men and women from homes for the aged in the Washington area.

One year ago: The Senate voted 92 to three to confirm Gerald Ford as vice president.

Today's birthdays: Caroline Kennedy is 17. Broadway producer David Merrick is 62. Thought for today: Learning is a treasure that follows its owner everywhere — Chinese proverb.

11 Facing Trial Dec. 9 In Giant Marijuana Seizure

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Eleven men accused of illegally airlifting 15,000 pounds of marijuana from South America to Chester, S.C., go on trial Dec. 9 here.

Drug Enforcement Agency officers captured four of the defendants when a four-engine airplane landed at Chester.

They were Wayne Barron Ferguson of Cornelia, Ga.; Leonard James Base of Goldsboro, N.C.; Jerry Lynn Dove of Anderson, and Wayne Allen Wood of Belton, S.C.

Later grand jurors indicted seven others as organizers of the operation.

Officers arrested in September Frank Joseph Zambito of McAllen, Tex.; Arthur Velasco and Charles Vance Moody of Tampa, Fla.; Joseph P. Pruitt of Lakeland, Fla., and Garland C. Cochran, Ben Kade Tatum and Jack Donald-Evans, all of Atlanta, Ga.

Charges against the 11 include conspiracy, smuggling, and possession of marijuana with intent to distribute.

New Engine Said More Efficient

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government is expressing interest in a claim by two Vermont brothers that they have developed an automobile engine that greatly cuts gasoline consumption while meeting antipollution standards.

Edward and Robert LaForce are demonstrating their engine along the eastern seaboard and are claiming the engine can increase efficiency by two-thirds, sharply reducing fuel consumption, and still meet federal emission standards.

"Any system with the potential to reduce automobile emissions while cutting fuel usage needs to be seriously and thoroughly considered," EPA said.

COLLEGE ROUNDUP— Panthers Seeking Win Over Lions

By The Associated Press
Cotton Bowl officials will dine on crow instead of turkey if Pitt knocks the stuffing out of Penn State in Pittsburgh Thanksgiving night on national television.

Penn State, winner of eight straight over Pitt, accepted a Cotton Bowl bid three weeks ago just prior to an upset loss to North Carolina State.

A Nittany Lion defeat here would leave Pitt and Penn State with 5-3 records and give the mythical Eastern football title to 48th-ranked Pitt, the only Top Twenty team snubbed by the bowls.

"I know our team would probably like to go to a bowl, but the bowl game is far, far subservient to this game," Pitt Coach Johnny Majors said before the game at Three Rivers Stadium.

Despite his team's higher ranking, Penn State Coach Joe Paterno hailed Pitt as the top team in the East earlier this week.

Pitt noseguard Gary Burley who Paterno says is the best at his position that Penn State has ever faced, anchors the Panther defense. Offensively, Pitt's prime threats are tailback Tony Dorsett and his understudy, freshman Elliott Walker.

Billy Daniels, the Panther quarterback the past two seasons, was lost for the week with a knee injury two weeks ago in Pitt's 14-10 loss to Notre Dame and has been replaced by senior Bob Medwid.

Penn State is guided offensively by quarterback Tom Shuman, and the Nittany Lions' defense is keyed by tackle Mike Hartenstein.

The Pitt-Penn State game kicks off the last big weekend of the college regular season. Friday a pair of nationally televised traditional rivalries are on tap. Texas A&M, ranked 8th, visits No. 17 Texas. If the Aggies win, they will claim at least a tie for the Southwest Conference championship and earn a trip to the Cotton Bowl for the first time since 1967.

No. 2 Alabama, 10-0 and bound for the Orange Bowl, sends its offensive hordes against defensive-minded Auburn at Birmingham in the second half of Friday's double.

Wisconsin Back Gains AP Honor

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Billy Marek woke up last Saturday, pulled the curtain at the window and didn't like what he saw.

It was raining.

"I thought it would be a slow game," the University of Wisconsin tailback said. "A field like that can be very tricky. Sometimes you have to go a little easier. You can slip down just like that."

But most of the slipping was frustrated Minnesota defenders that afternoon. Marek bowled over, silted around and squirmed through them for 304 yards and five touchdowns in 43 carries — all school records.

For his achievements, Marek has been named The Associated Press' national college football back of the week for the second time in three weeks.

BEGINNING AND END—On right, Midland Lee's Russell Kellner, 11, gets off his pass just before Wichita Falls Rider blitz hits while downfield, on left, Lance Posey, 37, of Lee and Rider's Robby Adams, 33, go up for ball. The whole operation was for naught, however, as ball fell incomplete. Action came in Saturday's AAAA bidistrict game at Wichita Falls as Rider advanced with a 35-8 victory. # Cowboys Favored In Thanksgiving Special

NEW YORK (AP) — They're playing Cowboys and Indians in the National Football League on Thanksgiving Day and the Redskins will get the Turkey.

The Cowboys must scalp the Redskins to keep alive their flickering hopes for a playoff spot. And that's exactly what they will do.

Last week's showing by guest Pro Pigskin Picker Fred Rothenberg was 7-6 — which dropped the season's effort to 96-46-1 — or .676. Blame it on the offense — or the defense, or something.

Anyway, here's the Thanksgiving menu:

WASHINGTON (8-3) at DALLAS (6-5): The Redskins won 28-21 when these two teams met 10 days ago in the nation's capital. The two teams have made a habit of splitting their games in the past few years and Dallas is a slight favorite. So ... COWBOYS 24, REDSKINS 21.

DENVER (5-5-1) at DETROIT (6-5): Don't count the Lions out yet. They've won six of their last seven games and could catch the Vikings yet. But don't bet on it ... LIONS 31, BRONCOS 27.

And on Sunday:

KANSAS CITY (4-7) at ST. LOUIS (9-2): A victory will assure the Cinderella Cardinals a playoff berth, no matter what else happens. If the Cowboys do what they are supposed to do on Thanksgiving Day, then the NFC East crown belongs to St. Louis — if it wins. So ... CARDINALS 27, CHIEFS 17.

NEW ENGLAND (7-4) at OAKLAND (9-2): The schedulers make sure it tough for the Patriots, who play the Raiders, the Dolphins and the Steelers to wind up the season. But 7-7 is still a lot better than the Pats have done in years ... RAIDERS 34, PATRIOTS 17.

LOS ANGELES (8-3) at ATLANTA (2-9): Atlanta's Marion Campbell is the only active coach in the National Football League without a victory, and likely to remain so Sunday ... RAMS 34, FALCONS 10.

HOUSTON (5-6) at PITTSBURGH (8-2-1): The Steelers can wrap up the AFC Central title by winning — if Cincinnati accommodates by losing to Miami on Monday night ... STEELERS 18, OILERS 10.

District 5-4A cage units managed a 3-1 mark Tuesday night with Odessa High coming out with the only loss.

Odessa dropped a 68-49 decision to the AAA Fort Stockton Panthers with Bert Rainwater hitting 27 points for Fort Stockton while Robert Lewis had 14 for the Bronchos, who managed only four points in the first quarter. Johnny Marin managed 11 for Odessa.

Odessa Permian, which had lost to Lubbock Monterey last Friday, pulled out a 48-39 victory over the Plainsmen Tuesday. Permian's James Hunier led all scorers with 19 points and Brad Van Cleave added 10 to the Panther attack. Dick Clardy was the only man in double figures for Monterey with 18 points.

Midland Lee defeated Andrews, 98-60, while Midland High outlasted Pecos, 57-52.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles didn't want to take a chance that his quarterback might misread the option play in the second half Saturday against Texas Tech.

Not that he doesn't trust quarterback Mike Kirkland. Broyles just wanted to be certain that fullback Ike Forte was going to get the football.

"Since we wanted him to carry the ball, we called what is commonly known as the base play," Broyles said. "We had the threat of the option, but Tech didn't know we weren't running the option play in the second half."

Forte, who had 56 yards on 10 carries in the first half, was called on 22 times in the second half and responded with 159 yards. His total of 215 yards ranks third on the Arkansas career rushing list. He also scored both Arkansas touchdowns in a 21-13 victory over Tech.

For his performance, Forte was named Offensive Player of the week in the Southwest Conference.

Dallas Faces Thomas Next

DALLAS (AP) — When the Dallas Cowboys traded Duane Thomas, they never really thought the Washington Redskins running back would ever come back to haunt them.

Thomas paced the Cowboys to the 1971 Super Bowl title but Coach Tom Landry tired of making special favors for him and of his possible eroding influence on team unity.

The Cowboys front office figured that would be the case anywhere Thomas went ... too moody ... too much of an introvert.

For awhile it looked like they were right as he bounced from team to team, but Thomas was to be in the starting lineup against Dallas Thanksgiving Day as Washington attempted to nail down a National Football League playoff berth.

The previous week Thomas gained a game ball in a 65-yard effort against Philadelphia, prompting a rare smile.

Redskin Coach George Allen said it was "Only the third time I've seen Duane smile. The first was when he joined us, the second was when we took him back after being suspended in a dispute with an assistant coach and the third was when we gave him the game ball."

The Cowboys hinted this week that they would rather see Thomas in the lineup rather than Larry Brown, who has been injured most of the season.

"I want to see for myself if Duane really will be in the lineup because it's kind of hard to get away from Brown," says Cowboy assistant Coach Ernie Allen. "Duane is not running as well as he did when he played for us. I think his average shows that."

Landry was more succinct on the matter, saying "We're certainly not going to put in any special defenses or anything to try to stop him."

Asked how he felt about starting against Dallas, Thomas said: "The motivation comes in that you can prepare yourself in advance. I can study the films and get more coordination with the people I'm working with. We can talk about things more."

Thomas never did much talking to his teammates or reporters in Dallas.

Once asked by a Dallas sports writer how he felt about playing in the ultimate game—the Super Bowl—Thomas replied: "I don't believe it's the ultimate. If it was, they wouldn't be playing it again next year."

Washington can clinch a wild card berth in the national televised game with a victory should Denver down Detroit in the first game of the turkey day doubleheader.

The Redskins are 8-3 in the NFC East and trail St. Louis by a game. Dallas, Green Bay and Detroit have five losses. The best runner in the three NFC Divisions gets the "wild card" berth. Washington beat Green Bay in a head-on meeting that just leaves Dallas and Detroit, who could be eliminated with losses Thursday.

"And he said to them, 'Go and tell that fox, 'Behold, I cast out demons and perform cures today and tomorrow, and the third day I finish my course. Nevertheless I must go on my way today and tomorrow and the day following; for it cannot be that a prophet should perish away from Jerusalem.'"—Luke 13:32, 33.

The Thanksgiving season, quite naturally in America, brings thoughts of food—and plenty of it for everyone, everywhere.

But, unfortunately, this is not the case. Even in the United States there are those who will not have a bountiful Thanksgiving, insofar as food is concerned. And, worldwide, millions of men, women and children will go hungry Thursday, as well as Friday, Saturday, Sunday and beyond.

Delegates to the World Food Crisis Seminar held recently at Atlanta, Ga., were told that perhaps 10 million persons, a majority of them youths under five years, will perish this year as a result of not having enough food to eat. Many others will go to bed hungry.

This is a problem worldwide in scope, one which must receive worldwide attention.

Efforts toward more widespread involvement in the problem, as evidenced at the World Food Conference in Rome, appears to be a breakthrough, to a degree, at least.

But implementation is something else, and this is where the rub comes. Help is needed immediately.

It is encouraging to note, however, that for the first time, the oil producing nations, whose treasuries are bulging from payments by the industrialized nations, have agreed to make some of their funds available to help their hungry fellow "Third Worlders."

Yes, there are certain strings attached, strings which represent pledges by the industrialized nations that they, too, will participate in the program to create a special fund to develop food production in needy nations.

The United States has insisted that the oil producing nations, with their mounting oil revenues, accept a share of the cost of feeding the world. Some view the recent results as somewhat of a "concession" to the U.S. Regardless, it must be realized that the Rome accord yet has a long way to go before becoming reality.

In addition to everything else, a proposal also was suggested that part of the agreement would involve those nations—presumably the U.S., Russia, France and Britain—to cease spending further huge amounts on armaments.

This, of course, has all the earmarks of a benevolent act on the part of the oil powers, but those who proposed it know full well that it is unrealistic and doomed to failure.

It also is well known that many of the oil nations have been using part of their huge oil wealth from oil sales to the industrialized nations, to purchase war materials. Hypocritical? You have the answer to this one.

There are many other problems, of course, but the Rome action is a step in the right direction.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON—Without a murmur of formal protest from the U.S. government, an attractive, 31-year-old American art teacher was brutally tortured last month by Chilean Air Force officers in an insect-infested prison.

The young university instructor was threatened with death, forced to ride with breasts bared through the streets and thrown on a bed where she was menaced with rape. She was subjected to obscene questioning, catapulted down stairs while blindfolded, deprived of water, denied sleep and, forced to stand until she almost collapsed.

When 13 days of this treatment failed to draw a false confession from her, the "officers and gentlemen" of Chile's Air Force told her she was being taken to an infamous torture center where prisoners were known to have been given electrode shocks on the most sensitive parts of their bodies, stretched on racks and immersed in human excrement.

Faced with a journey from which she might not return, she finally broke and signed a prepared pack of lies on October 24.

Chilean junta leader Gen. Augusto Pinochet has assured the world that torture no longer exists in Chile. Yet this incredible story of torture by a regime now seeking $85 million a year in U.S. aid has been sworn to by Amy Conger, now in Chicago.

Except for a partially paralyzed thumb, the art history teacher, whose specialty is the gentle 15th-century painting school of Fra Angelico, appears to be recovering.

In long talks with my associate Les Whitten and in extensive affidavits, she has spoken eloquently of her agony.

"I was brutally arrested October 11th about 7 p.m. by four men in street clothes with submachine guns," an affidavit states. She was told she might be killed, then was "tightly handcuffed and literally thrown in a car."

During the ride, one of the officers pulled her sweater over her head. "Needless to say I felt conspicuous passing through the city bare-breasted," she said.

The Life You Take May Very Well Be Your Own

WASHINGTON (NEA)—One of the arguments against legalizing abortion has been that once society begins to violate the sanctity of life a little, the door is open to violate it a lot.

Accustomed to terminating the "life" of unwanted fetuses the argument goes, the nation is increasingly discussing the possibilities of eliminating other burdensome beings.

Regularly, the press reports new concepts of euthanasia and beyond. Fr. Frichard McCormack, learned Jesuit of Georgetown University, has announced his support for the removal of newborn infants with deformed bodies who have no potential for human relations.

A Florida state legislator, Walter Sackett, has introduced a bill which would allow the "mercy killing" of Mongoloids and other retarded people.

Then there is the hospital in Coral Gables, Fla., which recently went to court to evict a 21-year-old patient who has been in a coma for 16 months; the hospital says the patient is terminal, expensive, and it wants the bed space.

But the boldest concept of all, at least the most far-reaching, has come from a respected Washington physician who is calling for creation of committees which would be empowered to decide "when life may be terminated in these people who no longer live in a productive manner."

Dr. Darrell C. Crain, past president of the D. C. medical society and now head of this town's Arthritis Rehabilitation Center, says large numbers of old, sick and handicapped people are being "kept alive without any particular purpose."

The trend here is not merely academic. It is real. Dr. Robert Veach of the Institute of Social Ethics and the Life Sciences, a professional who monitors the pulse of opinion concerning life and death, says the movement toward expanding euthanasia is currently on the threshold of "experiments at the hospital level." He says he knows of no experiments going on now — nor does the American Medical Association, nor the National Institute of Health — but he regards the eventuality as not just likely but "probable."

Already, as a practical if not always legal matter, euthanasia of various sorts is fairly common. There are numbers of infants born with grotesque malformations — "God only knows how many," says an AMA spokesman — who are killed in secret by delivering doctors.

And to be sure, there are growing numbers of physicians willing to let their patients or their patients' families decide questions of life and death. Subscribing to the theory of "the right of a man to die with dignity," doctors normally do not induce death in these cases but instead withdraw life-preserving medical techniques.

Taken individually, most areas of euthanasia as practiced today have compelling, always merciful, rationales. Doctors who destroy deformed infants are saving the children from lives of horror. Yet the gnawing reality remains that, taken as a whole, a trend Dr. Veach describes as "terribly dangerous," may be developing.

Who will be next, in other words, to be classified as unwanted, inhuman, unnecessary, unproductive, who will be next to be eliminated?

The question may be "Strangelovian" but then so is the answer. Dr. Crane has said it to the unproductive. It may still be ridiculous to imagine a social order so efficient or pressed as to legalize the elimination of the enfeebled or the senile — yet tomorrow is another day.

Facing it, we might do well

At trick two you lead the device of diamonds from dummy and play your eight spot. Then you ruff the expected club lead; play one trump; lead diamonds and get to ruff your last diamond because East started with four diamonds and two trumps.

Note that if diamonds break 3-3 you don't have to lead the fourth diamond while if the man with two trumps ruffs the third diamond you go, one down no matter how you play the hand.

The Country Parson

By Frank A. Clark

"Everybody has a chance to do at least one thing which would have left the world a worse place if it hadn't been done."

One Good Dollar Deserves Another

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A familiar and effective way of bringing home the nation's economic situation is to compare the value of the dollar with what it was in some other, presumably more prosperous, year.

According to one recent analysis, for example, in the lifetime of half of all Americans — those born since 1945 — the value of the dollar has shrunk by 60 cents. At this rate, the "1946 dollar" will be worth only 16 cents in another 28 years.

To put it another way, to have the same purchasing power as today's "40-cent dollar," a person making $7,200 today would have to earn $18,000 in the year 2002. A $30 pair of shoes will cost $75. The average family's weekly food budget will rise from $62 to $152, and so on.

It could happen sooner than 28 years if the present rate of inflation were to continue unchecked.

The dollar would look even more minuscule, however, if we were to compare it with its 1939 counterpart, as we used to do back when inflation was a minor, and some thought a necessary and welcome, factor in the economy.

But how many people would like to return to 1939? For all the ravages of inflation, most Americans are far better off than they were in 1939, or 1946 for that matter, the "40-cent dollar" notwithstanding.

Threatens Future
This is not to minimize inflation, which has grown to such dimensions that, as President Ford has warned, it threatens the future of all of us: It is merely to point out the fallacy of using the shrinking dollar as the only yardstick to measure where we have been and where we seem to be going.

A television set costs more than it did 10 or 20 years ago. But it's a better and more reliable set. Thirty years ago there was no television industry at all, which has given employment to tens of thousands.

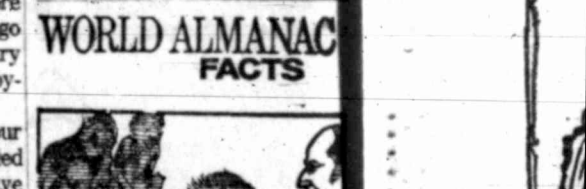

For the price of three or four modern key-start, self-propelled lawnmowers, you could have bought an automobile in 1939. But many people didn't have a yard to cut back then, if they had a pushmower, much less a house on that yard filled with all kinds of appliances. Much of what we consider necessities today were undreamed of luxuries not many years ago.

Again, this is not to minimize the threat of inflation. But there is no going back to the 1939 dollar or the 1946 dollar or even to the 1973 dollar.

What is important is that we take the steps needed to maintain and safeguard the nation's basic economic strength so that the 1975 dollar or the 1990 dollar

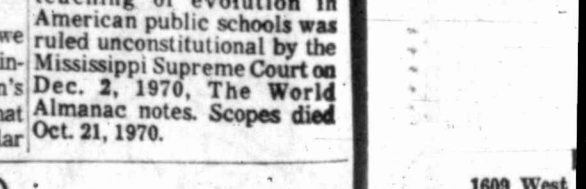

John T. Scopes was found guilty of having taught evolution in a Dayton, Tenn., high school on July 24, 1925. The last law prohibiting the teaching of evolution in American public schools was ruled unconstitutional by the Mississippi Supreme Court on Dec. 2, 1970. The World Almanac notes. Scopes died Oct. 21, 1970.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Association

When you have no real play to make your contract, you should fall back on giving your

the expected club return and once more — hope.

There is a better line of play which works this time. You start by assuming that whichever opponent holds four diamonds, he will hang on to them like grim death. In that case a wrinkle won't work, but if the man with long diamonds holds the long trump everything will come up roses.

At trick two you lead the device of diamonds from dummy and play your eight spot. Then you ruff the expected club lead; play one trump; lead diamonds and get to ruff your last diamond because East started with four diamonds and two trumps.

Note that if diamonds break 3-3 you don't have to lead the fourth diamond while if the man with two trumps ruffs the third diamond you go, one down no matter how you play the hand.

Let us be thankful for the presence of love in our hearts.

What the world needs today is all the love we can spare.

It is needed in our offices, in our factories, around the conference tables of the world, on our streets, in our schools, in our churches...

but most of all in our homes. As we sit down

at our Thanksgiving dinner,

Let us reflect for a moment on the ways in which we can give this greatest gift of all...our love.

John Mitchell Undergoes Cross-Examination

WASHINGTON (AP) - Watergate prosecutors pressed former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell today to acknowledge that he never told anyone in the White House or the Justice Department that crimes had been proposed to him by an aide in Richard M. Nixon's 1972 re-election organization.

26 Extremist Renegades Nabbed By Guerrilla Police

By The Associated Press
Guerrilla police of the Palestine Liberation Organization have arrested 26 extremist renegades in an attempt to curb international terrorism like the Tunis airline hijacking, the PLO said today.
Spokesman Shafiq el-Hout said the suspects had been rounded up "in Lebanon and other Arab countries" for investigation of connections with the Tunis hijackers.
"These operations reflect great harm on our people and struggle, especially now after the international recognition we have obtained at the United Nations," he told a news conference.
Bears Responsibility
"The PLO has decided to bear its responsibility more and more in putting an end to such kind of operations. Certain measures have been taken, and so far we have 26 suspects.
"This time the PLO will make it a point, when it has the necessary evidence, to try them in public court so everybody will see the PLO has passed the punishment necessary against these people."
Four Palestinians hijacked a British Airways Super VC10 last Thursday from Dubai to Tunis. They surrendered to Tunisian authorities on Monday after seven other terrorists had been brought to them from jails in Egypt and the Netherlands. Last Saturday, the four murdered a West German banker as the plane sat at the Tunis airport.
Reacts To Support
In Jerusalem, Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Allon said the Soviet Union and the Arab nations together had "barbarized" the United Nations. He was reacting to their joint support in the General Assembly as that body endorsed the Palestine Liberation Organization's goal of establishing a homeland in Israeli-held territory.

"Did the Liddy plan include kidnaping?"
Quarrels With Word
Mitchell quarreled with the word "kidnaping" but said, "I did contemplate segregating (demonstration) leaders and taking them out of the country."
And he made the proposal in the office of the attorney general of the United States?"
At a news conference in Los Angeles on Tuesday members of the panel said they had reached a unanimous conclusion but they declined to say what it was.
Ehrlichman has subpoenaed Nixon to testify as a defense witness.
Mitchell, first of the five defendants to take the stand in his own defense, described how Ehrlichman tried to get him to take at least partial blame for the Watergate break-in.
Left Impression
Mitchell said he met with Ehrlichman at the White House on April 14, 1973, in a session that "was pretty indelibly impressed upon my mind."
He said Ehrlichman told him that then-President Nixon felt that some people might be refraining from telling all they knew about Watergate because they thought it was in the best interest of the president. Ehrlichman told Mitchell that Nixon on thought such people should step forward.
"I told him since I had no culpability I didn't intend to do anything further about it," Mitchell said.
During several hours on the witness stand over a two-day period Mitchell flatly contradicted the testimony of seven prosecution witnesses.

Nixon and his medical records in California Monday. The panel is scheduled to report its findings to Sirica on Friday.
Sirica took over questioning of former attorney general at the close of the day on Tuesday.
Jury Sent Home
The judge sent the jury home for the day and then turned to Mitchell and asked if he could explain why the Nixon campaign finance committee gave thousands of dollars to the Watergate burglars and their lawyers.
"Was there any obligation?" Sirica asked.
"Sirica, I don't understand why it was necessary to give all these thousands of dollars unless something was done for the (Nixon re-election) committee," Sirica persisted. "Why didn't someone say, 'Why do we owe you anything?'"
"Sirica, I quite agree with you," said Mitchell.
It was the second time during the cover-up trial that Sirica had sent the jury from the room and questioned a witness.

The first time was when Herbert W. Kalmbach was on the stand as a prosecution witness.
Mitchell was the first of the five cover-up defendants to offer a defense to the charges they conspired to block the investigation of the Watergate break-in.
He began his testimony by telling how he had rejected plans for gathering intelligence about radical groups as well as political opponents on the ground the proposals included use of illegal methods such as break-ins and wiretapping.
Meetings Described
He went on to describe meetings in his Justice Department office on Jan. 27 and Feb. 4, 1972, where G. Gordon Liddy presented proposals for gathering information about Democrats during the 1972 campaign.
"I told him to take the stuff out and burn them," he said of the charts Liddy used at the first meeting.
A modified Liddy plan was shown to Mitchell on March 30, 1972, at Key Biscayne, Fla., where Job Stuart Magruder and LaRue.
Magruder previously testified that Mitchell approved the plan; LaRue said Mitchell put off a decision.
But according to Mitchell, "I threw the paper back at Magruder and said, 'not again,' and that was the end of that. It had been a long day and there was very little resistance."

Anne Armstrong Reportedly To Leave Her Post By Jan. 1

WASHINGTON (AP) - Presidential counselor Anne Armstrong, top-ranking woman in the Ford and Nixon administrations, is leaving her White House post by Jan. 1, sources say.
By the end of the year, Mrs. Armstrong will have served nearly two years in the $42,500-a-year counselor's job that former President Richard M. Nixon gave her with Cabinet rank.
She had been co-chairman of the Republican National Committee from January 1971 until she started the White House job Jan. 19, 1973.
Mrs. Armstrong went home to her Texas ranch for Thanksgiving after a meeting Tuesday with President Ford.
It was later learned that though the meeting with Ford was on business matters, Mrs. Armstrong's desire to leave the administration for personal reasons had already been conveyed to the President.
Mrs. Armstrong has been given a wide range of assignments in domestic fields, including the bicentennial and areas of special interest to women.
She promoted passage of the Equal Rights Amendment and recruitment of women to top-level posts in government; a project that recently has been lagging at the White House.
There was no immediate indication whether Ford plans to replace Mrs. Armstrong with another woman in that post.

Light Snow Falls In Northern U.S.

By The Associated Press
Light snow dusted the Upper Mississippi Valley, the Great Lakes region and northern New England today and rain sprinkled Florida and coastal areas of the Northwest.
While snow tapered off over Maine, Caribou added 3 inches overnight for a 29-inch total from a storm that has dumped heavy amounts throughout interior New England since Monday. Twenty-five inches covered Limestone, Maine.
Snowfall in the Midwest generally was less than an inch from a weak storm system north of the Great Lakes.
Temperatures moderated from the Mississippi Valley to the Atlantic, but freezing cold persisted during the night in much of the Southeast outside Florida. Lows in the 20s were common from the northern Plains to New England.
Clear skies were the rule over most of the southern two-thirds of the nation as well as scattered Northern areas.
Temperatures before dawn ranged from 8 degrees at Bradford, Pa., to 71 at Miami, Fla.
Some other reports: Anchorage 18 cloudy, Atlanta 35 clear, Boston 23 clear, Buffalo 19 cloudy, Chicago 34 cloudy, Cincinnati 29 cloudy, Dallas 43 clear, Denver 23 clear, Detroit 31 partly cloudy, Honolulu 76 clear, Indianapolis 27 clear, Kansas City 37 clear, Los Angeles 56 clear, Louisville 30 cloudy, Miami 72 cloudy, Minneapolis-St. Paul 22 clear, Nashville 29 clear, New York 26 clear, Philadelphia 25 clear, Phoenix 54 clear, Pittsburgh 21 partly cloudy, St. Louis 41 partly cloudy, San Francisco 49 clear, Seattle 41 cloudy, Washington 28 clear.

Texas Congressmen Plan To Fight Cutbacks In Defense Plan Purchases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., and other Texas Congressmen plan to fight President Ford's plans to cancel Defense Department purchases of $261.5 million worth of airplanes assembled in the Dallas-Ft. Worth area, one of the senator's aides said today.

The Texas delegation has not yet scheduled a meeting since Ford's plans were only disclosed Tuesday afternoon as Congress was recessing for Thanksgiving. As a result, no firm plans on how or when the delegation will fight them have yet been formulated, the aide said.

Among the $4.6 billion in budget cuts Ford asked Congress to approve there were cancellations of 12 F111F strategic bombers made by General Dynamics, 24 A7D's made by LTV Corp. and 48 Huey helicopters made by Bell Helicopter.

None of the planes was requested by the Air Force or included in then-President Richard Nixon's fiscal year 1975 budget, but were added by Congress.

Neither appropriation committee recommended the helicopters Tower added them to the military appropriations bill through an amendment on the Senate floor.

While the President's desire to cut government spending in the battle against inflation is a goal I share and have advocated," Tower said in a statement, "I nevertheless feel him inadvised in seeking cuts in programs vital to the defense posture of the United States. I will oppose those cuts."

Under the new budget procedures enacted this summer, a president wishing to defer or rescind appropriations must submit a list to Congress for its agreement or rejection within a set time period.

Ford asked rescissions of cancellations effective Dec. 16 of $248 million for the $206.5-billion F111F program and the $10 million A7D program, as well as $13.5 million from the $18.5 million Huey appropriation.

The difference between the appropriated amount and the rescission figure, Tower's office said, stems from the fact that the manufacturers already have subcontracted for parts of the planes and that money is therefore obligated.

"That may present a legal problem, too," an aide said, if the contractors have obligated more than the $72.5 million accounted for in the difference between the figures.

The F111F is the only strategic bomber in production and the Air Force's A7D also has no back-up, the aide said, expressing Tower's concern that cuts in their output are dangerous while strategic arms limitation talks are in progress.

The Hueys also are valuable for sale to allies and aiding the U.S. balance of payments, he said.

W. A. Wingfield Dies In Hospital

William A. Wingfield, 55, died Tuesday afternoon in a Midland hospital following an illness. He resided at 4311 Tanner St.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Center Ridge United Methodist Church at Gourdon, Ark., under direction of the Horns Funeral Home there.

Midland arrangements were handled by the Newmie W. Ellis Chapel.

Wingfield was born June 23, 1919, at Gourdon where he was reared. He married Velma Hayes Dec. 4, 1937, at Gourdon and they moved to Kermit in 1948 and to Midland in 1963.

Wingfield was a core engineer with Lathrop Diamond Bit Co. the last eight years. He also owned and operated the Shell Service Station at Andrews Highway and Louisiana St., and one on Midkiff Road. He retired Sept. 23, 1973, due to bad health.

for which regular gasoline can be obtained."

Under the protest of Kent Cahoon's resolution was also amended to require that the non-leaded gasoline be of the "same octane rating as regular leaded gasoline" before purchase could be required.

The gasoline resolution, "admonishes the federal government to adopt and enforce a similar policy in connection with the operation of its motor vehicles," Cahoon said.

Cahoon said that as a part of the federal environmental protection program, requirements of refineries to produce and of dealers to carry a supply of non-leaded gasoline brought about a need for the gasoline resolution.

Mayor Angelo asked Cahoon, "Is this an attempt to harass the federal government" into practicing what they preach.

Cahoon said, "Yes it is."

Councilman Kent said, "I really don't matter that we passed the resolution, it will be ineffective anyway. The federal government won't even listen to a resolution such as this one, and we won't have to use the inferior product (non-leaded gasoline) because we won't be able to get it under the specification requirements."

The council heard a street maintenance report that listed "shortage of asphalt and wet weather" as the reason for the lag in Midland's street sealing program.

Fred Baker, director of public works, told the council that 55 miles of street maintenance work had been planned for the year, but he said, "only 17-miles of actual street sealing has been accomplished to date," because of the shortage and weather.

Lease Agreements Renewed, Purchases For Equipment Okayed By Councilmen

City councilmen authorized several purchases for equipment Tuesday and renewed three lease agreements with occupants of city-owned buildings.

The council accepted the bid of Treanor Equipment Co. of Odessa for a $55,450 sanitary landfill compactor.

Councilmen agreed to pay $18,833 for three air compressors for the municipal garage and $16,562 for a heavy-duty pneumatic roller for use by the street department.

Lease agreements were authorized for buildings occupied by the Martin Distributing Co. for $3,648 per year, Blankenship Lumber Co. for $6,292 per year and Porter Supply Co. for $450 per month.

The council voted to amend the city code to permit temporary occupancy of mobile homes on commercial property in order that such commercial properties can be guarded against vandalism.

The council set a public hearing date on Jan. 28, 1975, for consideration of several basic zoning ordinance changes. The council noted that possible changes to the zoning ordinances should be made concerning little used zones such as parking zones along with recommendations for special trailer zones, uses in 2-F residential zones (5,000 foot lots), radio tower permits and day nursery allowances.

Councilmen voted to prohibit the parking of commercial vehicles including truck-trailers, trailers over 20-feet in length and three-axel trucks, in residential areas.

Budget Amendments Pleasing To MC Board Of Trustees

By LUANNA CROW — Midland College trustees grappled with costs for the new campus Tuesday night, but were pleasantly surprised to learn that budget amendments presented at the meeting were in their favor.

Meeting in the Midland Room of Midland National Bank, trustees were presented a budget amendment request by MC president Dr. Al G. Langford which showed college income $80,980 in excess of original expectations.

Dr. Langford attributed the increase to a skyrocketing enrollment in both credit and community service courses, and to a higher tax return.

Expenditures not on the original budget totaled $33,472 for a net gain of $47,508.

The news was not all good, however, as trustees learned the $45,000 allocated in April 1973 in the original construction budget for paving an area of the new campus was a mere one-third of the low bid submitted for the contract.

He told trustees the committee hopes to have most of the $100,000 goal turned in by January in order to begin actual landscaping in February or March.

Students will be attending classes on the new campus, however, before the landscaping operation gets into motion, with the administration building and the science and faculty building scheduled for completion Jan. 4.

Dr. Langford's proposal to hold a simple ribbon cutting either the first day of registration or the first day of classes met with trustees' approval. He suggested a "full scale" ceremony complete with an open house and the presence of dignitaries after the first seven buildings are completed several months later.

Trustee President Reagan Legg named a committee to plan the more extensive ceremonies, with Robert Leibrock as chairman, Murray Fasken and Hoyle McCright are committee members.

All seven buildings are "out of the ground," according to architect Preston Geren, who "wouldn't be surprised" if the project were completed during the summer.

He said classrooms in the learning resource center should be completed between March 15 and April 1. The exterior site work on that building is 60 per cent complete, he said.

Trustees, in other business, approved an audit report for the college, settlement on a tax office litigation and the tax office error and correction list.

Clyde Chenoweth, former Atlantic Richfield geologist currently teaching in Lamesa, was hired as a full-time geology instructor.

Trustees also passed a resolution expressing appreciation to the Midland College Foundation for assistance in financial matters.
