Ward, Pecos Draw Sites For Probes

Exploratory tests have been scheduled in Ward and Pecos counties.

BTA Oil Producers of Midland filed application to drill No. 1 7961 JV-S Sun as a 17,000-foot venture in Ward, 10 1/4 miles southeast of Pecos.

It spots 4 1/4 miles northwest of Devonian production in the Howe field, and two miles east of dual Devonian and Ellenburger production in the Block 14 field.

Drill site is 1,900 feet from northeast and 1,320 feet from northwest lines of section 36, block 84, H&TC survey, abstracts 658 and 1258.

Pecos Searcher

HNG Oil Co. of Midland staked site for No. 1-78 Augustine, a 14,000-foot searcher for Pennsylvanian, Devonian and Ellenburger gas in Pecos County, 14 miles southeast of Bakersfield.

It is 1,900 feet from north and 1,320 feet from west lines of section 78, block 2, CCSD&RGNG survey, abstract 6815, five miles southeast of recently opened Strawn production and six miles southeast of Ellenburger production in the Hekit gas field.

Outpost Scheduled In Edwards Sector

Lone Star Producing Co. has staked site for a two-mile southwest outpost to production in the Edwards County portion of the Sawyer field, 3 1/2 miles southeast of Sonora. It is No. 2-67 G. D. Wallace.

Drill site is 1,300 feet from south and west lines of section 47, CCSD&RGNG survey, abstract 817. Scheduled depth is 8,000 feet, for tests of the Canyon zone.

Stepout Scheduled In Stonewall Pool

Britwell Oil Co., Abilene, staked site for No. 3 H. L. Ebrson as a location south stepout to the four-well Ben, S (Tannethill) field of Stonewall County, eight miles northwest of Swenson.

Drill site is 1,650 feet from south and 300 feet from west lines of section 324, block D, H&TC survey. Scheduled depth is 3,700 feet.

Ladd Seeks Permit To Comingle Gas

Ladd Petroleum Corp., Denver, has filed application for a permit to commingle production from the Fusselman and Ellenburger zones at No. 1 Fort Stockton-Dizel Resources, dual producer in the Gomez gas field of Pecos County, nine miles northwest of Fort Stockton.

It was completed in May from the Fusselman for a calculated, absolute open flow of 17.210 million cubic feet of dry gas per day, through perforations at 22,844-22,734 feet.

The Ellenburger completion was effected in April, 1973, for 46.5 million cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations at 22,844-22,734 feet.

Oil Conference Call Issued

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate this afternoon approved a controversial strip mining control bill by voice vote, sending it to the White House, where President Ford already has announced he will veto it.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The U.S. Supreme Court today refused to hear an appeal filed by the City of Dallas in an effort to prevent Southwest Airlines from using Love Field.

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (AP) - Tommie Lee Case, 35, today pleaded guilty to charges of murder and aggravated robbery in the Padre Island slaying of Thomas Turner, 19, of Dallas in November. He was assessed two life sentences to run consecutively.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

AUSTIN (AP) - The State Board of Insurance today ordered a statewide average increase of 8.8 per cent in private passenger car insurance rates—well below the amounts recommended by the insurance industry and the board's rate experts.

Board chairman Joe Christie said the agency "had bucked the inflationary spiral."

"The final statistics reflect a thorough review by our consulting actuaries and the weighing of all the trend factors from the past two rate experience years," Christie said.

Christie said the net result of the new rates, which take effect Jan. 16, is that "Texas motorists can expect to find their insurance bills to be about the same as they were in 1971—a year that preceded two substantial rate decreases."

Actual rate increases will vary considerably from the statewide average, depending on one's age, the county where he lives and the use he makes of his car.

Rates paid by a typical driver, with a single car and basic coverage, will increase by a low of $9 in Parker County (Weatherford) to a high of $39 in Montgomery County, near Houston. These figures assume a 10 per cent bumper discount in collision rates, which all 1975 model cars will receive. For the majority without a new car, the rates will be higher.

The annual public hearing on the rates was Oct. 17.

Officials of the Texas Automobile Insurance Service Office, representing the insurance companies, called for an 18.5 per cent average statewide increase in the rates.

The insurance board's staff recommended a 16.8 per cent statewide increase in passenger car insurance.

U.S.-French Compromise Ends Impasse

FORT DE FRANCE, Martinique (AP)—The presidents of the United States and France called jointly today for a conference of oil consuming and oil producing nations "at the earliest possible time."

The call was a compromise to break a French-American deadlock on how best to cope with increased oil prices. Presidents Ford and Valery Giscard d'Estaing agreed in summit talks on a series of "inter-related steps" leading to the proposed conference.

A communique issued as they ended two days of talks on this Caribbean island said these steps "should be taken in sequence."

Consuming nations, working "within the framework of existing institutions," should develop programs for energy conservation, for developing existing and alternative sources of energy and for financial solidarity.

Consumer nations should hold a meeting next March "to develop an agenda and procedures for a consumer-producer conference."

The preparatory discussions among consumer countries "will be followed by intensive consultations" to prepare a unified position for the meeting with the exporting countries.

Date Still Indefinite

The communique did not set a date for a conference between the oil exporters, mostly in the Middle East, and their customers: the United States, Japan and France and other countries of Western Europe.

But it appeared there would be a push to hold the meeting late next spring or early summer—a timetable suggested by qualified sources as the two presidents negotiated a resolution of their differences on energy policy.

Before the Martinique summit, France had been pressing for an immediate consumer-producer conference. The United States contended such a meeting should not be held until the importers agreed on a joint negotiating position.

Both Yield Ground

To reach the compromise, both presidents yielded ground. Ford agreed that a consumer-producer conference should be held as soon as possible, and Giscard d'Estaing approved the preparatory steps.

Court Upholds Rail Reorganization Act

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court today upheld the constitutionality of the Rail Reorganization Act passed by Congress last year to keep bankrupt railroads in the Northeast and Midwest operating.

By a vote of 7 to 2, the Supreme Court overruled a three-judge federal court in Philadelphia which had held that the act was unconstitutional because it violated property rights of creditors and shareholders of the railroads by requiring the railroads' continued operation at a loss.

In other actions today, the court:

—Agreed to review a lower court ruling that aviation safety records maintained by the government are not shielded from public view by a blanket exemption from the Freedom of Information Act.

—Refused to review the convictions of a Maryland man and an Ohio company on charges of violating the obscenity laws of those states.

—Agreed to decide whether a restaurant owner must obtain a license to connect a radio to loudspeakers and amplify broadcasts of copyrighted musical compositions.

—Declined to decide whether a patented device can be regis-

50,000 Appalachian Coal Miners Idled By Pickets

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) - Picket lines went up and coal mines shut down today in many parts of the Appalachian coalfields, idling almost 50,000 miners, mostly in West Virginia, western Pennsylvania and Indiana, industry officials said.

There were sporadic shut-downs last week, but mine closures increased today after striking United Mine Workers construction workers received the support of many miners' locals over the weekend.

No Meetings Scheduled

In Washington, UMW officials said no meetings were scheduled today between negotiators for the union and the Association of Bituminous Coal Contractors. The bargainers met Friday, but there was no indication that an agreement was near.

The 4,400 construction workers seek benefits similar to the 64 per cent increase in wages and benefits the miners won in a three-year contract. In addition, the construction workers want additional unemployment

Water Off At Coahoma

COAHOMA, Tex. (AP)—This West Texas city and the Sand Springs community were without water today because of a water rate dispute with Howard County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1.

The water district shut off the water supply to the two towns at midnight.

Officials at Sand Springs immediately filed a motion for a temporary injunction against the water cutoff.

Girls Can Play In Little Leagues

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate today gave girls the final signal that from now on they can play Little League baseball on an equal footing with boys.

On a voice vote it sent to President Ford a bill that strikes any mention of sex from the Little League's official federal charter.

The bill strikes out the word "boy" each time it appears in the 1969 charter and replaces it with the words "young people."

The changes that were made will be sufficient to allow girls to play on every Little League team in the nation.

U.S. To Have Vice President This Week If Congress Acts

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States will have a new vice president by the end of the week if Congress keeps its schedule in the last days before adjourning and confirms Nelson A. Rockefeller as expected.

In addition to confirming Rockefeller as vice president, Congress is expected to take final action on legislation this week to increase unemploy-

Hearing To Test Indian Convictions At Wounded Knee

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) - A hearing today in federal court to determine the validity of an 1868 treaty between the Sioux Indians and the U.S. government will test convictions related to the 1973 occupation of Wounded Knee, S.D.

U.S. District Judge Warren Urbom agreed in October to conduct a hearing to determine whether the convictions of six defendants charged with minor crimes during the 71-day occupation violated the Fort Laramie Treaty of 1868.

Lawyers said the hearing could last two weeks.

John Thorne, chief counsel for the Indians, said the treaty "language is pure and simple...This court has no jurisdiction to try an Indian for an alleged crime committed in Indian country."

Thorne said the treaty gives the Sioux all of South Dakota west of the Missouri River, an area which includes Wounded Knee, and a small strip of North Dakota.

Thermometers Dip Low In West Texas

Texas weather stayed dry and it was rather cool in most sections again this morning. Aside from a few clouds in the extreme south, skies were generally clear.

Afternoon warming into typical autumn weather was promised for the next day or so. Little other change was in prospect except for a chance of rain by Wednesday in parts of East Texas.

It was cold in the Tall City early today as the mercury dipped to the 35-degree mark at 7 a.m., but forecasters called for temperatures in the middle 50s this afternoon.

Tuesday should be a little warmer, with a high near 60,

Boston Withholds New School Plan

BOSTON (AP) - The Boston School Committee voted today to withhold a new school integration plan that was prepared in response to a federal court order.

The 3-2 vote came about 10 minutes after the noon deadline that U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr. had set for filing a plan.

The new plan, prepared by school officials, would have meant the busing of 35,000 school children next September. About 18,000 of the city's 87,000 (See BOSTON Page 2A)

Professors Retract Findings On Cancer

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) - Two Harvard researchers have tentatively retracted published findings of cancer experiments after a student member of their team admitted forging letters of recommendation.

The two researchers said in letters to two prestigious journals that they had not been able to duplicate work that had led them to announce the existence of transfer factors—substances that allow immunity to be switched from one animal to another.

The researchers' work had been considered fundamental in cancer research. When it was announced earlier this year, Prof. James D. Watson, a No-

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Monday, Dec. 16, the 350th day of 1974. There are 15 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1773, American colonists disguised as Indians boarded a British ship in Boston harbor and dumped 342 chests of tea overboard. The tax protest went down in history as the Boston Tea Party.

On this date: In 1770, the German composer, Ludwig von Beethoven, was born.

In 1809, Napoleon Bonaparte was divorced from Josephine by an act of the French parliament.

In 1835, a fire in New York City burned some 600 buildings.

In 1918, the monk who wielded powerful influence over the Russian Czar, Gregory Rasputin, was murdered.

In 1944, the World War II Battle of the Bulge was being fought in Belgium.

In 1960, two airliners crashed

ed after colliding over New York Harbor, killing 131 persons.

Ten years ago: Sen. Edward Kennedy walked out of a Boston hospital six months after his back was broken in an airplane crash.

Five years ago: The U.S., Britain and France called upon the Soviet Union to begin four-power talks on improving the situation in Berlin and on a free access to the divided city.

One year ago: The United States said it was adding advanced electronic controls to prevent misuse of the tens of thousands of American tactical nuclear weapons maintained in foreign countries.

Today's birthdays: Auto executive James Roche is 68 years old. Producer and director George Schaeffer is 54.

Thought for today: Pleasure is very seldom found where it is sought — Samuel Johnson, English scholar, 1709-1784.

Jumbo Jets To Measure Pollution In Upper Air

By HOWARD BENEDICT
WASHINGTON (AP) — Do jet planes pollute the upper atmosphere?

To find out, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is equipping four commercial Boeing 747 airliners with sensors to measure pollution along the world's major air lanes.

The five-year program began this week when a United Airlines jumbo jet carried the detectors for the first time. It will take readings during normal commercial flights over the continental United States and between the West Coast and Hawaii.

Three Others Start Soon
Within months, jets of three other airlines will operate the sensors: Pan American over its global air corridors; Qantas of Australia in the Southern Hemisphere, and Scandinavian Airline System over the North Polar route.

The $5-million project is called GASP, for Global Air Sampling Program. The goal is to determine how jet emissions and other pollution sources affect the atmosphere at altitudes above 20,000 feet.

GASP project manager Porter J. Perkins said results may show whether the level of the ozone, which shields the earth from harmful ultraviolet solar radiation, is changing over time; whether jet vapor trails contribute to cloud cover, and how much of the dust in the atmosphere comes from aircraft. When the planes climb to an altitude of 20,000 feet, the air sampling equipment turns on automatically and does not interfere with regular aircraft operations. A tube protruding six inches beneath the first class cabin takes in air for analysis by the instruments. Particles are counted and some are collected on an air filter which is changed at the time the plane is serviced.

Coordinated Data
The system measures dust particles, carbon monoxide, ozone, water vapor, carbon dioxide and oxides of nitrogen. The 747's modern navigational gear permits this data to be coordinated with aircraft location, altitude, temperature and speed at the time of measurements.

The ozone layer of the upper atmosphere absorbs the greater part of ultraviolet in the sun. In mild doses this radiation causes sunburn; in larger doses, some fear it could cause skin cancer; if the full force were experienced at the earth's surface, it could be fatal to all life.

State Bar Supports Judiciary Revision

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Legislative adoption of a proposed new judiciary article for the Texas constitution would make the state's courts operate more smoothly, two State Bar of Texas officials say.

Lloyd Lochridge, State Bar president, said the proposed revision, sponsored by his organization, would have the Texas Supreme Court govern the state court administrative system, instead of the current several independent court systems.

"It would probably reduce the number of courts that you would have to have by better equalizing dockets," Lochridge said. "In that respect, it would make justice move more rapidly, which I think the people are interested in."

Rep. Fike Powers, D-Beaumont, president-elect of the State Junior Bar, said chances were "excellent" for the proposal to pass the 1976 legislature and be submitted for a vote by the people.

"I'm not optimistic for someone who has fought the battle several times and gone down in defeat on what I consider a very significant part of the state government and that is the judiciary article of the constitution," Powers said on a weekend television show (Capital Gallery).

Lochridge said the State Bar's legislative program also proposes creation of a system of prepaid legal services, similar to group hospitalization insurance, decriminalization of alcohol and creation of a state agency to regulate jail standards.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Favorite Poster Is Falling Apart

By POLLY CRAMER

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — I have a large poster with a wood frame that I value very much. This paper poster has canvas on the back but the canvas is pretty well wrecked and getting worse. I would like some suggestions for preserving it. — ERIC

DEAR ERIC — Take your poster to a picture framer and have it mounted on a new stiff back that will prevent the cracks in the canvas from breaking the poster itself. Any better ideas, anyone? — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is that I am fat and wear half-sizes or women's sizes. Despite having to pay substantially more for my size ($10 more than Misses) the sewing and finishing in my new raincoat is sloppier than in regular size garments. Even the best fashion houses do not seem to care enough about my unfashionable big mamas to treat us fairly. My over-priced raincoat has a rayon satin lining with raw shallow seams not even stitched through in some places. They pulled out during the first wearing. — JO

DEAR POLLY — I suggest that Sally, the bride who does not know what type cookware to buy, invest in good stainless steel pans with copper bottoms. It lasts forever. I have six pieces that I use every day and find that if one watches the stove temperature things cooked in them do not burn as they do when cooked in many other pans. — MRS. C.P.

DEAR SALLY — Mrs. C.P.'s suggestion is typical of most of the letters we had from other readers. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — My original ecology-minded pointer is anyone who grows flowers outdoors. Along the roadside or elsewhere I pick up and save the plastic six-pack holder tops. I fold them lengthwise loosely and staple them together at three points along the edge. After I have accumulated several I staple them at four matching points — one right, one reverse — which gives them some stretch. When the desired length is reached I staple together or fasten them with baggie ties. They can make decorative covers for flower pots. I made a circle of these as a fence for small plants or a support for weak ones. I also use them for trellises for climbing roses so my pets and my neighbors never bother the plants. — ELMA

DEAR POLLY — I practically stood on my head to get the water out of the bottom of my chest-type freezer when I would defrost it. After breaking a rib doing this I learned to wrap a clean towel around my mop. Now the wiping up is very easy. — M.H.

'Stay Alive In '75'
An intensive holiday traffic safety campaign has been launched by Gov. Dolph Briscoe, seeking compliance of the 55 mile-per-hour speed limit and helping to eliminate drunken driving over the Christmas and New Year holidays.

He also has directed his staff to sponsor and promote public education for motorists. This perhaps is the key to the overall situation—public education. Unless and until the motoring public is aroused sufficiently to want to do something about traffic safety, campaigns like this will have little effect.

He especially urged voluntary use of safety belts when driving or when a passenger. "Many people think they are uncomfortable and inconvenient, but so is a funeral for a loved one," Briscoe said.

Let's all cooperate with the governor and the Texas Department of Public Safety in making this a safe Christmas on the streets and highways of Texas.

Great Docket Clearing
Howard County Judge A. G. Mitchell has the right idea for clearing a court docket... an idea which has proved most effective. The judge simply dismissed approximately 1,600 misdemeanor cases because "it was time to clear out these old cases... some of which had been on the docket for years."

Chances are that not a one of the persons named in any of the cases objected to the docket clearing.

WASHINGTON—Moira was a little Vietnamese orphan girl who died a month before Christmas. She died of the measles, because there was no vaccine. The vaccine that could have saved her young life never got out of the warehouse, where it is still stored in America. An estimated 25,000 pounds of life-saving material is waiting in U.S. storehouses to be shipped. Air Force planes, which have plenty of available space on their Vietnam flights, aren't permitted to haul the supplies. The National Defense Transportation Policy restricts the government from competing with commercial airlines, except in specific emergencies. Even then, the regulations require that the Air Force be reimbursed. Many orphans have died in Vietnam since the U.S. government stopped shipping vital food, clothing and medical supplies free of charge. The supplies have been donated by charitable Americans, but they haven't been able to raise enough additional money to pay the huge shipping charges. Some airlines have helped. So has the Canadian Air Force. But the Pentagon has routinely denied almost every request for a Vietnam orphan airlift, citing the official policy. This was imposed upon the Pentagon by a Congress which is more interested in boosting airline profits than in saving dying orphans. An Air Force official blamed the airline lobby. No exceptions are made to the shipping ban. Explains a memo, meant for Pentagon eyes only, from Defense Secretary James Schlesinger's office: "We are then placed in an untenable position, particularly as far as some of our congressmen are concerned, of appearing to show favoritism when other requests are denied." Air Force planes fly to Vietnam loaded with military equipment and economic aid for President Thieu. President Ford has requested a whopping $2.6 billion to bolster the Thieu regime next year. But there isn't room in the planes for a few pathetic supplies to help the most innocent victims of the Vietnam war. There are about 700,000 orphans in the ravaged little nation. Between 100,000 and 200,000 are half-American, the illegitimate progeny of U.S. servicemen. Yet Vietnam has only 111 orphanages, which house a total of no more than 20,000 children. The rest fend for themselves, or stay with relatives. In the few orphan homes, the vital supplies are needed not to provide for the children's comfort but simply to keep them alive. The ratio between staff volunteers and children is an agonizing 100 to 1. Little more than the necessities of life are provided. With inflation soaring out of control in Vietnam, these orphanages must rely on U.S. aid for the necessities. Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., is now searching for ways to loosen the insensitive regulations, so food and medicine can be shipped to the orphans. The Air Force itself would like to see something done. Meanwhile, many Vietnam war orphans may not live to see another Christmas. FOOTNOTE: Until December 1, packages for orphans could HEADLINES AND FOOTNOTES: Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas has complained to friends about the handling of his mail while he was working on the Nixon tapes case. At least one letter had been opened before it reached him. The delivery of other letters was unusually slow. Wrote the jurist to a friend: "How many read it (my mail), I do not know." The Post Office was used in the 1972 campaign to develop political information on Sen. George McGovern by counting his mail flow, although the Postal Service denies it has ever allowed itself to be used for political purposes. The First Lady joined the Harlem Globetrotters while they were waiting to see President Ford the other day. She began bouncing their basketball in the outer office until an agitated aide came out with a message from the President. He wanted to know what was causing that thumping noise. Aristotle Onassis, the shipping magnate, is mystified by reports that his wife spends $30,000 a month on clothes. He has seldom seen her in anything except slacks and shorts, he remarked to a friend. Detroit auto tycoons, desperate over the recession in the auto industry, have sounded out oil potentates about investing petrodollars in their auto firms. America's most explosive industry has taken the consumers' side in a dispute as old as Independence Day. The Product Safety Commission is holding hearings on whether to ban firecrackers. Surprisingly, the ban is supported by the American Pyrotechnics Association.

Oregon passed a bottle law which prohibited the sale of disposable cans effective Oct. 1, 1972, and required refundable deposits on soft drink and beer bottles. A study was recently completed which revealed that beverage-related litter decreased by 66 percent during the first 11 months of the law, The World Almanac notes.

RAY CROMLEY Raising Our Sights On Street Crimes

WASHINGTON (NEA) - A friend in her seventies went out the other day and bought herself a gun. She lives alone in the city and she is afraid. The gun gives her courage, even though she is so tender hearted she could never bring herself to use it. A local store I shopped at regularly has closed; four armed robberies, one after another the last several months, were too much. The owner was certain he was going to get a slashing, a gun whipping or shot. The guys with guns were too crazy for him to take the chance of staying on.

These are not unusual stories. More's the pity. They're so common indeed we barely pay them heed unless we or our friends are the victims. The major cities have large police departments. But most officers are occupied with controlling traffic, directing crowds, handling administration and writing reports, issuing tickets for minor traffic or parking violations, dealing with drunks, responding to nuisance disturbances and carrying on a multitude of other tasks little connected with the serious crime we are concerned with.

The prosecuting attorney's office is no better. A former big city man in this post says he felt lucky when he had a jacket with some outline of the case, a smattering of evidence and a list of witnesses when he walked into a courtroom on an armed robbery or other such serious case. Frequently he had to go in with nothing, no jacket, no evidence and no knowledge of whether there'd be any witnesses. As with the police, this man had so many cases in such rapid-fire order he frequently had no time to read the evidence before the trial. And no time to find out what the witnesses had seen or heard before he had to go into action.

Neither this man nor his fellow attorneys had the leisure to dig in on the crimes that terrorize our communities and get the kind of evidence necessary to convict. Usually what they had was what fell into their laps. Therefore, they negotiated settlements or brazened it out in the trial room. The crowding of our courts with trivial cases is old stuff but deadly serious. In one major city, as a result, a Justice Department official says, there are 1,200 men and women in prison waiting trial for murder. The courts can only handle a bare 400 a year. Meanwhile, witnesses move, die or become tired of the game. I'm told of one case in which these senseless delays forced a witness to come back to court 46 times before going on the stand.

The problem is a lack of judgment. It's farcical to bring an armed robber up for trial with little or no case because we haven't time to collect the evidence. Particularly when the man is a repeater. It's an insult to our intelligence when we put in as much effort on a series of petty violations as in handling the case of a man guilty of vicious physical assaults. Some police, prosecutors and judges argue for more men and women in their ranks. Some suggest we no longer prosecute for minor offenses. Whatever else we do, we'd better decide on some priorities because time is running out. Somehow, we've got to get our values straight.

Now, a congressional subcommittee has not only documented the inequities, work disincentives, overgenerous benefits and administrative chaos of the welfare system, but also come up with sweeping proposals for reform. Among other things, the House-Senate Joint subcommittee on Fiscal Policy proposes to eliminate two of the best-known welfare programs: food stamps for the needy and aid to families with dependent children (AFDC).

In place of the existing welfare system, the subcommittee recommends a two-part program consisting of modest cash grants for the poorest and tax relief for low- and moderate-income workers. Here would be the results of such reform: -Persons with little or no private income would receive the full cash grant and tax relief and pay no income tax. -Persons with small income would receive a more modest cash grant and full tax relief. -Persons in the middle-income brackets would not receive any cash but would pay less income tax than they do now. -Persons in high-income brackets would pay more income tax than they do now. The costs of such reform would not be modest by any means. The subcommittee estimates that the proposals would cost the U.S. Treasury about $15.4 billion, roughly half in cash grants and half in tax relief.

Part of the problem with the existing welfare system is that jurisdiction at a national level is now scattered among 11 House committees, 10 Senate committees and nine executive agencies or departments. Such an uncoordinated governance has produced tangled, overlapping, cross-purposes, inequities, administrative inefficiencies, work and family support disincentives, and waste of taxpayers' money," the subcommittee said. The subcommittee found that AFDC tends to provide an incentive for families to split up. In July, 1972, according to the study, a man with a wife and two children who worked for $2 an hour could increase the income of his family by $2,158 annually by deserting the family, which could then qualify for AFDC money.

The Country Parson

DATELINE WASHINGTON - Hard Look At Welfare Waste Is Bound To Help

By DANIEL J. FOLEY
Copley News Service
WASHINGTON - In recent years there have been numerous studies into what is "wrong" with the nation's welfare system, but few concrete proposals on what to do about it. Now, a congressional subcommittee has not only documented the inequities, work disincentives, overgenerous benefits and administrative chaos of the welfare system, but also come up with sweeping proposals for reform. Among other things, the House-Senate Joint subcommittee on Fiscal Policy proposes to eliminate two of the best-known welfare programs: food stamps for the needy and aid to families with dependent children (AFDC).

The subcommittee also found that some programs gave low-income persons incentive not to work. A man working half-time in Oakland, Calif., in 1972, for $1.80 an hour had a monthly net income after taxes and work expenses of $74 for his wife and two children from wages, welfare and food stamps. But if he worked full-time, his wages and food stamps fell to $280 a month. The proposed reforms would eliminate the jumble of welfare programs which, in combination, sometimes produce the inequities and disincentives, the subcommittee says. "The benefit schedule has been carefully constructed to minimize incentives for family splitting or nonmarriage in low-income families," the report said. "Per child benefits in the allowance system also are tailored downward as family size increases so as not to encourage large families."

The earliest time when the reforms could be implemented is 1977, according to the subcommittee's report.

Texas Farm Group Asks Higher Price Support Levels

HOUSTON (AP) - Members of the Texas Farmers Union, who say some current agricultural prices are almost bankrupting them, passed resolutions Saturday calling for higher farm price supports. They also called for establishing a national strategic reserve of agricultural products, an expanded farm export program and a cutback in meat imports. Texas farmers attending the annual convention said they are currently selling their cotton for 22 cents a pound—cotton which cost them 40 to 45 cents a pound to produce. "We're getting 1940 prices on cotton and cattle while we're paying 1974 prices on a fertilizer, gasoline and diesel fuel and other things we have to buy," one said. The group re-elected top officers and named two new members of the group's board of directors. Re-elected were Jay Naman, Waco, as president and Joe Rankin, Rails, vice president. Named to the board were Gene Perry of Big Spring and Lee Starr of Cisco.

1,074 Graduated

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) - Commencement exercises were held Saturday for a record 1,074 mid-term graduates of Texas A&M University with 82 of the graduates receiving military commissions.

Only Congress Can Change George C. Scott's Mind

By DICK KLEINER
HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—I suggest the Congress of the United States pass a joint resolution entitled, "A Bill To Prevent George C. Scott From Retiring As An Actor."

After all, the Congress is empowered to save our national treasures, like Yellowstone Park and Mount Vernon. And Scott could conceivably be placed in the class of a national acting treasure. Here he is, threatening retirement as an actor and the Congress is just sitting on its hands, doing nothing to stop it. More action on Scott and less worry about health insurance, I say.

With those worrisome thoughts tumbling about my head, I journeyed to the Universal set where Scott is starring in "The Hindenburg," to find out the entire, dreadful story of his projected retirement. And, alas, it is true.

"This is my last picture," he said, and there did not appear to be any touch of remorse in his attitude. The man who won, but would not accept, an Oscar for "Patton" seems to be looking forward to his new career as a director.

In "The Hindenburg," he plays a Nazi Luftwaffe officer, although one traveling aboard the big 1930s dirigible inognito. He was wearing a steel-gray suit, with vest and watch chain, and his steel-gray hair was cropped short. He had on a pair of steel-rimmed spectacles and chain-smoked Luckies from a pack stuffed into a vest pocket. His wife, Trish Van Devere, was sitting nearby, scribbling on a large yellow pad, her legs tucked underneath her. Frequently, she would look over at him, and they would exchange fond smiles. Whenever they spoke to each other, they would preface their statements with the endearing word, "Sweetheart."

"Yes," he said, "this is my last picture. And my last acting of any sort, except for one prior Broadway commitment. I've agreed to do a limited engagement—12 weeks—in 'Death of a Salesman.' I'll direct that, too."

He says this is no sudden, spur-of-the-moment decision. It has been cooking on for years. Increasingly, he has become restless as an actor, wanting more and believing that he will find what he's seeking as a director. Now, at last, he is ready to take the irrevocable step.

There is more to it than just a change of viewpoints, from that of actor to director. He is not as young as he once was and bankers after a more stable existence than that of an actor.

As a non-actor, he will be able to stay home more, a consummation he devoutly wishes. "Trish and I bought a home in Greenwich, Conn., 22 months ago," he says. "Didn't we, sweetheart? And we've barely seen the inside of it since. I've been acting all over the world."

That's not the life for me any more. "I want to spend more time at home in Greenwich. I love that country living. We intend to do things, things that we grow in our own garden. We have a very nice garden. "And I like to play golf. And I like to watch the snowflakes fall. I am a very domestic sort of man."

After he finishes his stint in "The Hindenburg," he and Trish will go to New York where she'll be tendered an Oscar as a director. He turned one down as an actor, would he accept one as a director?

"No," he said, firmly. "I wouldn't accept it if it were offered to me for the same reasons I didn't accept the one I got for 'Patton.' It would be inconsistent, I feel, to accept the one but not the other."

I wondered, too, whether there might be any particularly juicy part that would tempt him to return to acting. He said that no, there was none. "Not even something like 'King Lear'?" I asked. He laughed. Trish laughed and looked up from her yellow pad and they exchanged warm smiles. "Funny you should mention 'Lear,'" Scott said. "That's the one Shakespearean part that has never excited me. Now, Macbeth—that's another matter. Maybe Macbeth would tempt me."

Trish looked up sternly. "No," he said. "Not even Macbeth. I am not going to set again. And that's final. Congress, it's up to you now."

When the picture opens in nine selected cities," he says, "we will poll the audience. If a large enough majority agrees with me that the film is fine for people under 18, I will continue the fight—litigation if necessary. But if not enough people agree with me, that'll be the end of it."

I wondered whether he had considered his position, should

Johnny Cash May Star In Private Eye Tv Show

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A guest appearance with Peter Falk on television's "Colombo" program earlier this year has given country singer Johnny Cash the bug to star in his own nonviolent detective series.

"I think he'll do it. I really do," said Cash's sister and business assistant, Reba Hancock.

Mrs. Hancock said if a script is completed and approved within the next few weeks, a CBS television pilot movie will be filmed in January. And if the ratings are good enough, the series will likely follow, she said.

Mrs. Hancock said scriptwriters working for producer David Wolper are trying to create a story showing Cash as a gentle character, but without losing the potential for good ratings which seem to demand violence in television police shows.

"A police show has to have a certain amount of action," said Cash's agent in Los Angeles, Marty Klein. "Otherwise, it can't be a pablum-type show."

Klein said he hopes to get Cash a "new concept" in police show formats. "They're going to show him in this particular thing living on a farm. They're going to show his private life, which you don't see on television with police shows. You sure don't see it in 'Colombo' or 'Mannix.'

Mrs. Meir Sees New War Dangers

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Israeli prime minister Golda Meir says that war may break out in the Middle East again this winter, but "that depends entirely on our neighbors."

Appearing Sunday on CBS' "Issues and Answers," Mrs. Meir said she did not think Israel would make a pre-emptive strike but that she had learned from experience "that we should be ready for war at any moment."

Unique Christmas Choir To Perform

Marjorie Dodson is taking advantage of little boys' admiration of their high school football heroes in order to build interest in the schools' choral programs and to present a unique Christmas choir.

Mrs. Dodson, who teaches choir during the morning hours at Goddard Junior High and the afternoons at Austin Freshman School, has assembled an estimated 180 boys, ages 8 to 18, to create the Midland Boys Christmas Choir.

The students come from Pease, Crockett, Milam, Emerson, Rusk and Fannin

Princess Breaks Off Romance With Richard Burton

LONDON (AP)—Princess Elizabeth of Yugoslavia has broken off an eight-week romance with actor Richard Burton and has returned to her husband in London, the Daily Mail reported Monday.

The London newspaper said the 38-year-old princess had rejoined her banker husband Neil Balfour, their son Nicholas and her two daughters by a previous marriage.

"Yes, I am back. There is nothing more to say," she was quoted as saying. The Daily Mail said friends said Princess Elizabeth told them that Burton's drinking was one of the reasons for the breakup. "I didn't realize it takes more than a woman to make a man sober," she was quoted as saying.

Getty's Alabama Strike Could Be Gulf Coast's Best

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—"This could be the best well in the Gulf Coast area," Alabama state geologist Philip LaMo-reaux said of an oil drilling site in Mobile County.

There has been speculation that the well, drilled by the Getty Oil Co., could produce as much as 40,000 barrels a day. Right now, however, LaMo-reaux isn't too sure of that.

"I don't know about 40,000 barrels, but if it bears out as preliminary tests show," he said, "it'll be — at the very least — as big as anything in Alabama."

"I don't know how anyone could arrive at a figure at this point. After all, the tests aren't completed. But they look extremely good."

The well is about 20 miles southeast of Citronelle in southwestern Alabama. The most productive Alabama well in operation so far is in Escambia County, also in southern Alabama, and it produces a maximum of 4,500 barrels a day.

Mexico Reports Big Honey Crop

WASHINGTON (AP)—A big honey crop in Mexico this year has prompted a search for more foreign buyers, including the U.S. market, the Agriculture Department said today.

Production was about 84 million pounds, up from 73 million in 1973, the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said. Current unsold honey stocks are believed to be about 15 million pounds.

"Markets for this honey are being actively sought in the United States and elsewhere," the agency said.

Happy Birthday Oilers Win Again

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers and Sid Gillman have made beautiful music together for six of the last eight weeks and it ended Sunday with one more chorus of Happy Birthday for Gillman.

The Oilers completed the most improbable of seasons, rallying twice to beat Cleveland 28-24 to finish with a 7-7 record, their first non-losing season since 1968.

Houston won six of its last eight games, including four in a row, starting with a 34-21 win over Cincinnati. The Happy Birthday ritual started after that victory.

The players would sing Happy Birthday and each week Gillman would chide them "Not this week. My birthday's not until next week."

But Gillman's chiding turned to handshakes for each Oiler Sunday in the final game of the season and possibly Gillman's last as head coach of the Oilers.

"I've been in the business a long time, but this is the most satisfying season I've ever been through," said Gillman, who returned the Oilers from a pair of 1-13 seasons to respectability.

"I'm happy it's all over, because we've just about run out of people, especially at receivers and linebackers," he said.

Despite the sweet sounds of victory, disharmony between Gillman and Oiler K. S. "Bud" Adams has Gillman's status for next season unsettled.

The two men have clashed over the team's budget the past two years.

Cleveland, which had beaten the Oilers nine previous times since the formation of the old American Football League, appeared ready to continue the jinx Sunday.

When Houston's Bob Gresham fumbled the opening kickoff, Cleveland got it at Houston's 27-yard line and quarterback Mike Phipps quickly hit Steve Holden for a 41-yard touchdown.

Houston rallied in the second quarter when Dan Pastorini completed the first of two touchdowns passes, a seven-yard strike to tight end Mack Alston for a 7-7 halftime deadlock.

Houston duplicated Cleveland's game-opener when Greg Pruitt fumbled an attempted pitch-back on the second half kickoff and Houston got it at Cleveland's 25.

Pastorini hit Billy Johnson for a six-yard touchdown.

Cleveland then rallied for a brief 17-14 lead on a four-yard touchdown run by Pruitt and a 37-yard field goal by Don Cockcroft before game-clinching touchdowns by Houston's Fred Willis and Willie Rodgers. Fair Hooker caught a nine-yard TD pass from Phipps for Cleveland's final points with 1:24 left in the game.

While Houston celebrated its surprising revival, the Browns quietly accepted their worst season in history, a 4-10 record.

Phipps finished with 18 completions for 226 yards and two touchdowns and Pruitt rushed 102 yards on 16 carries, caught three passes for 70 yards and gained 54 more on kickoff and punt returns.

Pastorini, not as accurate as in recent games, nonetheless completed 12 of 25 passes for 121 yards and two touchdowns and said he was gratified with Houston's progress.

"It's really gratifying to go from two 1-13 seasons to this kind of year we've had this year," Pastorini said. "I'm just proud to be a part of this football team."

And it's been awhile since anyone said that.

Cowboys To Get High Draft Pick

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys will get either the first or second choice next year in the National Football League's college player draft.

The Cowboys, who got the No. 1 choice in 1974 from Houston, earlier this year traded quarterback Craig Morton to the New York Giants for the Giants' first-round pick in 1975.

A coin-toss will determine whether the Cowboys, in place of the Giants, or Baltimore will get the No. 1 draft choice.

Cards Win Title

Redskins Clip Chicago Bears, 42-0

By The Associated Press
It took less than 30 minutes for the St. Louis Cardinals to wake up—and not the 30 minutes in which they'd gotten shoved around.

"Nobody said much at halftime," said Terry Metcalf, revealing the silence in the Cardinals' dressing room, when they trailed the New York Giants 14-0. "Without saying anything, we all knew we had to do a better job. We'd given up too much and weren't about to give up more."

What St. Louis—mainly Metcalf and Jim Hart—gave in the second half was a typically brilliant comeback performance that resulted in a 26-14 victory.

And that gave the Cardinals their first National Football League divisional title in 26 years, and St. Louis' first ever. When the Cardinals won the NFL's Western Division title in 1948, they called Chicago their home.

Washington's Redskins, who had charged into a tie with the Cardinals at the National Conference East, clobbered Chicago 42-0 and finished with St. Louis, each with 10-4 records.

But the Cards got the title by virtue of their two regular-season victories over Washington. The Redskins had to settle for the NFC's wild-card playoff berth.

In Sunday's other games, it was Miami 34, New England 27; Los Angeles 19, Buffalo 14; Houston 28, Cleveland 24; the New York Jets 45, Baltimore 38; San Francisco 35, New Orleans 21; San Diego 17, Denver 0; Philadelphia 28, Detroit 17, and Atlanta 10, Green Bay 3.

On Saturday it was Pittsburgh 27, Cincinnati 15; Minnesota 35, Kansas City 15, and Oakland 27, Dallas 23.

Roger Wehrli's 32-yard punt return to the New York 41-yard line actually woke up the Cards, who had lost two straight games and four of the last six to turn a divisional runaway into a dogfight. But it was Hart and Metcalf who kept their eyes open—and widened the eyes of St. Louis' wildly cheering fans.

Hart started out by firing an 18-yard pass to Mel Gray. A few plays later, St. Louis had its first touchdown in seven periods on Hart's four-yard pass to Ken Willard.

Jim Tolbert's interception of a Craig Morton pass set up another one just 37 seconds later.

Tolbert returned the ball to the New York 28 and, on the next play, Hart hit tight end Jackie Smith for a touchdown.

And just minutes later, the Cards got another interception—and another touchdown on Metcalf's one-yard run.

Metcalf polished off the Giants early in the fourth quarter on another touchdown run, this one covering 16 yards.

St. Louis will visit the Minnesota Vikings, champions of the NFC Central Division, next Saturday in a first-round playoff game. On Sunday, the Redskins will face the NFC West's winners, the Rams, in Los Angeles.

In the AFC next Saturday, the Dolphins, first in the East, are in Oakland to play the Raiders, the best of the West. On Sunday, Pittsburgh, the AFC Central Division champ, hosts Buffalo, the conference's wild-card team.

Redskins 42, Bears 0
Veteran Sonny Jurgensen, who started in place of No. 1 quarterback Billy Kilmer, connected on 14 of 22 passes for 206 first-half yards, hitting Charley Taylor for an 11-yard touchdown pass and setting up touchdowns runs of one and four yards by Larry Brown to give Washington a 21-0 halftime lead.

In the second half, quarterback Joe Theismann took over and threw a 13-yard third-quarter touchdown pass to Taylor. Duane Thomas and Charley Evans ran for the final Washington touchdowns in the last period.

Dolphins 34, Patriots 27
New England's Mack Herron set an NFL record for most single-season total yards in the Patriots' loss to Miami. Herron gained 185 yards on rushes, receptions and kick returns to finish with 3,444 for the year, four more than Gale Sayers got with the 1966 Chicago Bears.

But the Pats couldn't handle the aerial tandem of veteran quarterback Earl Morrall and rookie wide receiver Melvin Baker, who teamed on touchdown passes covering 37 and 46 yards. Don Nottingham also bulled in for two Miami scores as the Dolphins wiped out New England's early 24-0 lead.

Rams 19, Bills 14
Bob Schriber and Roo Jaworski each scored his first regular-season touchdown.

scriber on a 14-yard pass from James Harris, who also scored on a one-yard run, in Los Angeles' victory over Buffalo.

Jets 45, Colts 38

"I don't know whether or not this is my last game," Joe Namath said after completing 19 of 28 passes for 281 yards and two touchdowns in New York's victory over Baltimore.

49ers 35, Saints 21
Gene Washington caught a 17-yard touchdown pass from rookie Tom Owen on the first play of the fourth quarter and, just 23 seconds later, defensive tackle Bill Belk recovered a fumble by New Orleans quarterback Larry Gipa and scored another touchdown, putting San Francisco ahead 28-7.

Chargers 17, Broncos 0
Otis Armstrong of Denver, with a 142-yard day, won the NFL rushing title with 1,407 yards. But San Diego rookie Don Woods surpasses John Brockington's first-year rushing mark of 1,105 yards by gaining 105 to finish with 1,162. And he got San Diego's first touchdown on a six-yard run in the first quarter.

Eagles 28, Lions 17
"We considered this Michael's strongest test, and he did a fine job of throwing and play selecting against a Detroit defense that constantly changed," Coach Mike McCormack said of rookie Mike Boryla, who replaced veteran quarterback Roman Gabriel three weeks ago after the Eagles had lost six straight.

Falcons 18, Packers 3
Dave Hampton's five-yard run in the opening period for Atlanta accounted for the game's only touchdown.

Ara Needs Rest

Drops Coaching For At Least One Year

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — After 11 seasons at the helm of America's most traditional college football power, Notre Dame's Ara Parseghian has decided he needs a rest.

In a short statement released to newsmen Sunday, Parseghian said he would leave coaching for at least one year to rest and evaluate the future course of his career.

"The announcement, probably not due until after Parseghian directs the ninth-ranked Irish in the Orange Bowl game against No. 2 Alabama on New Year's Eve, apparently was made to stop speculation that Parseghian would take another college job or move to the professional ranks.

"I'm not resigning at this time to take any other coaching position either on the college level or in the professional ranks," Parseghian's statement said. "I just felt that I should get away from coaching for at least one year.

"I just need time to rejuvenate myself physically and emotionally."

This has been a stress-filled year for the 51-year-old Parseghian. Three close friends have died. One of his two daughters is afflicted with multiple sclerosis. The other daughter was married this fall.

His team, which appeared headed on an easy defense of its national title, was rocked by dismissal of six players from the university in a disciplinary action that Parseghian protested vehemently, and other key players were injured before the season even began.

"The pressure has taken toll on the man," said a longtime associate. "It's time for him to slow down. I'm surprised he's been able to keep up the pace this long."

Close friends say they have seen Parseghian's decision coming for some time. One said the decision was made after the Navy game this year.

"After 25 years as a head coach, I find myself physically and emotionally drained," Parseghian said. "This is certainly not an impulsive decision.

"I've been mulling this over in my head for some time now, and I finally decided at midseason that my health and the welfare of my family was more important than anything else."

Parseghian scheduled a news conference at 11 a.m. Tuesday to discuss his decision. He would not come to the telephone to talk with newsmen who called his unlisted home number.

Parseghian will remain at the university for the next year, helping with the athletic program, said The Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, vice president in control of athletics.

Before coming to Notre Dame in 1964, Parseghian was head coach eight seasons at Northwestern and five at Miami of Ohio, where he began his coaching career in 1951.

The Associated Press learned that four of Parseghian's assistants have his endorsement to the faculty board to succeed him.

They are George Kelly, line-backer coach; Paul Shouts, defensive secondary coach; Joe Yonto, defensive line coach, and Tom Pagna, offensive backfield coach. A decision is not expected until after the Orange Bowl.

In 232 games, Parseghian's teams have lost only 58, while tying six. His Notre Dame teams are 94-17-4. Only the immortal Knute Rockne's 105-victories at Notre Dame tops Parseghian's total.

No. 9 Kansas Beaten

By The Associated Press

North Carolina State, Louisville and Marquette had their scares, but it was ninth-ranked Kansas which took its lumps in college basketball Saturday night.

Kansas suffered its second loss within a week, dropping a 74-64 decision at the hands of Washington—and in the final of Kansas' own Jayhawk Classic at Lawrence, Kan., no less.

The Jayhawks were the only ranked team to get beaten Saturday night, although some of the other games were closer than the reigning powers would have liked.

Top-rated North Carolina State, for example, was leading Oregon State by just one point at halftime before busting the game open with a 24-6 spurt to open the second half en route to an 86-73 triumph.

No. 4 Louisville trailed Florida State 38-37 at the half and found itself in a 56-56 tie with 10 minutes to go before breaking away for an 84-75 victory. And No. 7 Marquette was losing to Toledo 42-35 four minutes into the second half before rallying for a 64-61 decision that was not clinched until the final 15 seconds.

Indiana, the only other Top Ten team to play Saturday night, was the only one to have a relatively easy time of it. The Hoosiers, playing before a throng of 17,700 which turned out for a doubleheader at Indianapolis' new Market Square Arena, reeled off 15 unanswered points late in the first half and overwhelmed Texas A&M 90-55.

No. 2 UCLA, No. 5 Maryland, No. 6 Southern California, No. 8 North Carolina and No. 10 Alabama all were idle.

In the second 10, No. 12 Penn tripped Villanova 90-80, No. 14 Memphis State trounced Murray State 102-77, No. 15 Purdue beat Western Kentucky 114-91, No. 16 Michigan defeated Dayton 61-50, No. 17 Arizona edged Kansas State 67-65, No. 19 Oklahoma topped Furman 71-56 and No. 20 Providence beat Syracuse 80-57.

No. 11 Notre Dame, No. 13 South Carolina and No. 18 Oregon did not play Saturday night.

In the first 10 minutes of the second half, the Wolfpack ran away from Oregon State, with All-American forward David Thompson and guard Moe Rivers combining for 16 of the points.

Third-ranked Indiana overpowered Texas A&M in a physical battle. "It was the most physical game we've been in to this point," said Indiana Coach Bobby Knight, who got 19 points from Scotty May and 14 from Quinn Buckner.

The Hoosiers, trailing 23-20, ran off 15 points late in the first half and the Aggies could come no closer than six points after that.

Guard Junior Bridgeman's three-point play put Louisville ahead 59-56, then Bridgeman added seven points in the final four minutes to clinch the unbeaten Cardinals' third straight road victory.

Six straight points by freshman Butch Lee broke a 53-53 tie and led Marquette to victory, and reserve Dave Delaman led it with a three-point play with 15 seconds to go.

Kansas, which lost earlier in the week to Notre Dame, was tied with Washington 58-56 with 6:26 to go before the Huskies reeled off a 12-3 spurt. Larry Jackson started the burst with a pair of baskets and Clarence Ramsey finished it with a three-point play. Ramsey was the game's high scorer with 22 points.

Ron Haigler's 25 points led Penn, 5-0, past Big Five rival Villanova in a doubleheader at Philadelphia's Palestra. In the opener, Bill Taylor scored 31 points to carry LaSalle over Holy Cross 89-66.

Bill Cook scored 25 points as Memphis State, 5-0, handed Kansas State its first loss after

Hunter Free Agent After Arbitration

NEW YORK (AP) — Catfish Hunter, baseball's leading pitcher, was declared a free agent today and the Oakland A's were ordered to fulfill his contract and pay deferred compensation including interest.

The Major League Baseball Players Association made the announcement in a 3 1/2-page statement which said that the pitcher's case against Charles Finley, owner of the A's, had been upheld in arbitration.

The historic arbitration ruling apparently was granted to Hunter in recognition of his claim that Finley failed to meet the 28-year-old right-hander's contract, which called for $100,000 a year over two seasons.

The contract called for $50,000 in regular salary each season for Hunter, and another $50,000 to be given in deferred payments to an insurance company. This is a fairly common method used by high-salaried athletes to avoid paying high taxes, and it was this deferred payment part of the contract which Hunter claimed Finley renegeed on.

Hunter's attorney, Jerry Kapstein, said he had not been officially informed of the arbitrator's decision. But he told a New York newspaper today, "If my information is correct, I plan to start negotiating a contract" for Hunter. "I plan to talk with every major league club that wants to talk to Jim and I."

There were published estimates that the bidding war for Hunter could reach as high as $1 million. There was no way to judge how high it might go since there is no recent case in baseball history to compare with it.

"If I become a free agent I know I won't play for the A's," Hunter said. "I know I won't go back because I don't think Finley appreciates me."

Hunter, who had a 25-12 record this past season, won the 1974 Cy Young award as the American League's top pitcher, and announced on the eve of the World Series that Finley had not paid the $50,000 owed him and that he would seek to become a free agent.

"He never gave it to me or to the insurance company," Hunter said of A's owner Charles O. Finley.

Hunter announced his intention to become a free agent on the eve of the World Series. Following a 25-12 regular season record, Hunter saved the Series opener in relief and won the third game as a starter.

Never having pitched in the minors, Hunter has won 161 games and has a 4-0 World Series record and 3-2 in the AL playoffs. This past season he posted a 2.49 earned run average, the lowest in the league among regulars. His 25 wins tied him with Ferguson Jenkins of the Texas Rangers for the most victories.

Because the issue is the failure of Finley to fulfill Hunter's contract, the case has no general implication for other players or for baseball's reserve clause.

HAPPY WITH BAYLOR?— Grant Teaff Heads Red Raider Search

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Baylor's miracle worker, Grant Teaff, is tops on the list for Texas Tech as the Red Raiders search for a new coach to replace Jim Carlen.

Teaff has already spoken by telephone with Athletic Director J. T. King although the 41-year-old Southwest Conference Coach of the Year says he is happy at Baylor.

The Bears won the 1974 SWC title after a 2-9 campaign in 1973 and will meet Penn State in the Cotton Bowl.

Teaff, a former assistant at Texas Tech, has often said he wanted to return some day as head coach.

The personable Teaff, whose wife, Donell, is a former Tech cheerleader, has received two lucrative offers which he has turned down. He has been offered a five-year contract by Baylor but has yet to sign it.

The Tech job opened when Carlen decided to move along to South Carolina. Other top candidates for the Tech job include Tom Wilson, who called the plays for Carlen from the press box, and another assistant, Richard Bell.

Dr. John Cobb, athletic council chairman at Tech, said, "We appreciate the great interest in our football program and we will make our decision as rapidly as humanly possible. However, we must make every effort to secure the best man available for the position."

One Tech insider said if Teaff is named as the new coach it isn't likely to come until after the Jan. 1 Cotton Bowl date with Penn State.

Carlen Taps Coaches

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Texas Tech Coach Jim Carlen, newly named head football coach of the University of South Carolina, is bringing at least two of his top assistants with him.

Carlen said Sunday that Jack Fligg, chief offensive coach and administrative assistant at Texas Tech, and Jerry Sullivan, head recruiter and freshman coach of the Red Raiders, will accompany him here from Lubbock.

Fligg, a native of Atlanta and a graduate of Auburn, and Sullivan, a native of Miami and a graduate of Florida State, were with Carlen on a weekend trip to Columbia.

Carlen said he is uncertain how many of his remaining aides at Texas Tech might make the shift. He said that will depend in part on whether Richard Bell, a member of the Texas Tech coaching staff, is named to succeed him there.

Carlen has recommended Bell as his successor. He said if Bell gets the job, some of the assistant coaches may want to stay with him.

He said he will begin interviewing members of the football coaching staff of former South Carolina Head coach Paul Dietzel.

Dietzel, former national coach of the year at LSU and head coach at South Carolina for the past nine years, resigned the Gamecock coaching post after the second game of the season. He said he would like to remain as athletic director of the university.

Instead, one of his assistants, former Rice head coach and athletic director Harold "Bo" Hagan was appointed athletic director. Carlen and basketball coach Frank McGuire were named associate athletic directors.

Dietzel was offered the new post of vice president for university relations, with unspecified salary and duties to be announced later.

Carlen signed a five-year contract for $42,200 annually, the same salary Dietzel has been receiving as head coach.

Egypt's Sadat Warns Prompt Action Needed To Avert War

CAIRO (AP) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, describing the Mideast situation as a bomb about to explode, says he is having contacts with President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to decide whether to continue the U.S. approach to negotiations. "If the Americans through their step-by-step approach can achieve any progress or success, I welcome it," he said in an interview with an Iranian publisher Sunday. "I can agree to it. If not, we shall be going to Geneva according to the Soviet theory, and the Americans also are not excluding Geneva because it is a fact that we shall all be going."

Israeli Leaders Reject Egypt's Peace Demands

By The Associated Press
Israeli leaders have rejected Egypt's latest peace demands for a 50-year freeze on Jewish immigration to Israel, Israeli withdrawal to the borders prescribed by the 1947 United Nations plan for the partition of Palestine and establishment of a Palestinian state.

British Approval Virtually Certain For Richardson

LONDON (AP) — The British government said today it is formally studying Washington's nomination of former U.S. Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson to be the next ambassador to Britain.

Diplomatic sources here said British approval was virtually certain and that President Ford will formally announce the nomination later this month. Richardson's name then goes to the Congress for approval.

A Foreign Office spokesman confirmed press reports that Richardson's name had been put forward to succeed Walter Annenberg, a close friend of former President Richard M. Nixon who resigned the post last October after 5 1/2 years as ambassador.

Richardson, 54, resigned as attorney general in 1973 rather than obey Nixon's order to fire Special Watergate Prosecutor Archibald Cox.

Since his resignation he has been a $25,000-a-year project director for the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars at the Smithsonian Institution, and has toured the country giving lectures.

The United States has preferred to delay resumption of the Geneva peace talks until more concrete progress can be achieved in private negotiations between Kissinger and the Mideast governments. Sadat warned that immediate action is needed to defuse the tense Middle East. He also said he believed Israel has a nuclear capacity and added that Egypt would find a way to acquire such weapons but would not be the first to use them.

The president was interviewed by Iranian publisher Farhad Massoudi of the Etalat group of Tehran. His remarks were made available to The Associated Press today. "When I say defuse the bomb, I mean that the momentum of the process of peace must continue," Sadat said. "It started with disengagement agreements. It should have continued since then. There has been a slack. We must revive the momentum."

Asked how much more time he is willing to give Kissinger for negotiations, Sadat replied: "I am now having contacts with President Ford and Dr. Kissinger and we shall see in the near future what will be the result and after that we shall decide."

Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy Friday cast a serious question mark over Egypt's readiness to enter peace negotiations. Foreign Minister Yigal Allon told the Israeli cabinet the demands were absurd from start to finish and could not serve as a bargaining stance. Sources in Cairo suggested that Fahmy's immigration stand was a bold attempt to break the impasse between the two countries. One informed source said the Egyptian government in effect was telling the Israelis: "Unless you accept the Palestine Liberation Organization, see how unreasonable we can be."

Israeli officials said no decisions had been made on how to counter this threat. They said they were waiting for the results of Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev's visit to Cairo next month.

School Financing Meet Set Tonight

Dr. Ben Dowd, special assistant to the governor for educational research and planning, will meet with West Texans tonight to present recommendations being developed for Gov. Dolph Briscoe concerning the financing of public education.

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the Alamo Junior High School Auditorium.

A separate session is scheduled Tuesday in Odessa for school superintendents in the West Texas Education Center service area. Similar sessions for both the public and professionals are being held at service centers throughout the state in order to present proposals and get feedback for the governor's consideration.

Dr. James H. Mailey, superintendent for the Midland Independent School District, said this morning he hopes "the governor will get some points of view about the unique problems of West Texas and get a good bit of feedback" from tonight's discussion. He specifically referred to West Texas' "fairly sparse" population, saying "simply bringing youngsters together poses some problems."

Dr. Mailey said also he hoped consideration would be given to "our ability and local attitudes sufficient to attract people (quality educators) to this area."

Heavy Snowstorms Move Across Northern States

By The Associated Press
Heavy snow warnings were in effect today from the Dakotas eastward into Pennsylvania and New York with as much as 10 inches expected to accumulate at scattered points.

Wasau, Wis., received 3 inches of snow in six hours early today, bringing the snow depth in that area to 10 inches. Philipsburg, Pa., collected 3 inches in the same period and Bradford, Pa., measured 6 new inches.

A snow warning for at least four inches was up for most of northern Michigan, the mountains of northern Pennsylvania and parts of western New York.

A winter storm watch was issued for eastern New York and Vermont. Travelers were advised that snow or freezing rain would make roads hazardous throughout the region.

Rain was dampening the countryside from the Carolina coast into southern Pennsylvania. Meanwhile dense fog hampered travel through the southern Atlantic and Eastern Gulf Coast states.

Elsewhere, fair weather prevailed from the southern plateau to the Lower Mississippi Valley.

Temperatures early today ranged from 4 degrees at Houlton, Maine to 77 degrees at Key West, Fla.

Truckers Talk Of New Walkout

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A leader of last winter's trucker strike says a repeat may loom at the end of January if the nation's independent truckers don't get some significant concessions from Washington.

William J. Hill, national chairman of the Fraternal Association of Steel Haulers, said Sunday another national strike could start as soon as Jan. 31 unless truckers get federally-sponsored long-term loans to refinance their rigs and higher weight limits.

He said truckers also will need approval for freight surcharges if the Ford administration imposes fuel taxes or if fuel prices increase.

Churchman Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. Robert Pierre Johnson, 60, associate stated clerk of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church, died Sunday. A native of Jersey City, N.J., he became the first black man to be elected a General Presbyterian in 1967.

Another Lange Sextuplet Dies

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Another of the Lange sextuplets born nine days ago died early this morning, leaving only two of the premature infants left in their battle for life.

Dr. James Harrod said a boy, Jason, died at Valley Medical Center of respiratory failure. He was the youngest of the six infants and weighed the most at birth, 2 pounds 4 ounces. A normal baby usually weighs between seven and nine pounds.

Like the other five infants, Harrod said Jason struggled against hyaline membrane disease, a disorder that starves the lungs of oxygen. Another boy, Brian, has

TIA Strike Talks Remain Suspended

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — No date has been set to resume talks between Texas International Airlines and striking ground personnel, a company spokesman says.

Negotiations between the airline and employees represented by the Air Lines Employees Association (ALEA) were halted by a federal mediator in Washington Saturday night.

James O'Donnell, Texas International vice president, said in Houston that the talks were ended because of a lack of progress.

The strike began Dec. 1. The federally-mediated negotiations in Washington began Wednesday after meetings in St. Paul, Minn., failed to settle the strike.

O'Donnell said the airline has decided to accept reservations for flights that could operate Dec. 26. Previously, he said, the carrier planned to accept reservations as of Dec. 19.

Comparatively Few Weekend Fatalities Reported In Texas

By The Associated Press
Violence claimed a comparatively light toll of lives in Texas during the last weekend. The number killed between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday reached 13, including four in traffic accidents, five homicides, two drownings and two in a small plane crash.

Austin police also said a 24-year-old man was shot to death at his home in another incident. His name was not released immediately.

Police said Lee Green, 37, was stabbed to death Saturday night at an Elgin tavern.

Eladio Lemus, 22, was shot to death Saturday evening as he got out of his car at his Dallas home, police said. A stranger stopped his car a few feet from Lemus, shot him twice, and then drove off, police said.

Small Plane Crashes
A man and woman from Dallas were killed Saturday in the crash of a small plane near Freestone in Central Texas. The victims were Gene Hamby Kelpen and Rebecca Courtney Cook.

Hosie Perkins apparently fell into a creek and drowned on the east side of Austin early Sunday, investigators said.

State police said the woman's baby was hospitalized in serious but stable condition at Waco after rescuers used tools to cut the wreckage and free the child.

Police said they arrested a woman in the shooting death of Edghe B. Latson, 44, of Austin just before noon Sunday on the city's east side.

Ross Goorman, 27, of Sherman died Saturday in a one-car accident two miles northwest of Denison on a farm road.

Chuck Wagon Gang Gains Four Bosses

ODESSA — Kick Mapp, outgoing Boss of the Odessa Chuck Wagon Gang, has announced the names of four new gang bosses to serve during 1975.

A two-car collision in Austin Saturday night claimed the life of Edgar Elton Hudspeth, 25.

Joe C. Johnson will serve as head boss for the new year. He is owner of Odessa Electric Service.

New external first assistant boss is Ralph E. Chenault, president and owner of AAA Welding and Engineering Co.

New external affairs assistant boss is Tommy D. Massey. Massey is a salesman for Abbott Building Co.

Noris Nelson, owner of Nelson Office Supply, will serve as internal affairs assistant boss.

The men will assume their duties officially on Jan. 25 at a Chuck Wagon Gang banquet. Mapp said the Gang hosted 65 feasts in 1974 and fed approximately 65,000 persons.

Congress Urged To Halt Tobacco Subsidies

WASHINGTON (AP) — An article in the Journal of the American Medical Association today accused Congress of subsidizing "increased death and disability" by paying subsidies to tobacco growers, and an accompanying editorial urged an end to such payments.

A spokesman for the AMA said it was the journal's first call for congressional action against smoking after its decades-long campaign of educating physicians and patients about the hazards of smoking.

Walker of White Memorial Medical Center's cardiopulmonary unit in Los Angeles and a member of the JAMA editorial board.

AMA editor Robert H. Moser said in an editorial: "Walker's stern challenge to the legislators should be heeded."

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare calls cigarette smoking the leading cause for the 600,000 deaths a year from coronary heart disease, 72,000 deaths from lung cancer and 25,000 deaths from chronic bronchitis and emphysema.

The Tobacco Institute Inc., a trade organization representing cigarette manufacturers, said federal tobacco subsidies actually hold down production by setting acreage quotas.

Walker said the death rate from heart disease, although still the nation's No. 1 killer, has been dropping steadily since the first U.S. surgeon general's report on smoking and health in 1964.

However, the death rate from lung cancer has increased 54 per cent every 10 years, he said. Walker said the adverse effects on human lungs linger on after a person stops smoking.

be the major problem" by increasing the price support per pound of tobacco 34 per cent during the last decade, increasing from 7.5 per cent to 9 per cent the percentage of cigarettes produced free of federal taxes during the same period, keeping federal taxes on tobacco constant from 1968 to 1973 while its market value rose 38 per cent, and spending more money to promote U.S. tobacco exports to other countries.

Experts Say Coffee Hold-Back To Fail

By The Associated Press

The Saudis have told American oil companies that they will accept only U.S. dollars in payment for their oil, and this set off rumors last week that the pound sterling to an all-time low on foreign exchange markets.

Major Latin American coffee states are planning to withhold coffee beans from the market to bolster sagging prices, but New York commodity experts doubt they will succeed.

Yamani asserted that Saudi Arabia is fighting against higher oil prices. But he said his government would have to "listen carefully" to those who advocate cutting oil production to maintain reserves unless Western countries supply the technology and "full cooperation" Saudi Arabia needs to make the best use of its oil revenues.

WHAT IS THE TRUTH?
"Thy Word is Truth" (John 17:17)
by Bryan Boet
Jesus said, "I am the way, and the truth, and the life; no one comes to the Father, but by me" (John 14:6).
Over five hundred years ago Thomas a Kempis wrote the following meditation on the words of our Lord: "Follow me; I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life. Without the way, you cannot go; without the truth, you cannot know; without the life, you cannot live. I am the way, which you ought to follow; the truth, which you ought to believe; the life, which you ought to hope for. I am the way, unchangeable; the truth, infallible; the life, endless. If you abide in my way, you shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free, and you shall lay hold of eternal life."
These sublime spiritual truths should make an impression on us and motivate us to follow the one who is the way, the truth, and the life.
Send your name and address to Bible Correspondence Course, Box 1222, Midland. You will be enrolled in a free Bible study course that will help you understand the way, the truth, and the life.

But commodity dealers in New York said the coffee countries' attempt to emulate the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries would probably have little impact on consumer prices because there is a surplus of coffee beans and consumption in the United States is declining.

In Guyana, Prime Minister Forbes Burnham said the Reynolds Metal Co.'s bauxite mines would be nationalized Jan. 1. He said talks will be held on compensation.

President's Son To Accept Free Rodeo Lessons
OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The Rodeo Cowboys Association has offered free tuition in a rodeo school to President Ford's son John.
The offer came Sunday afternoon at the final performance of the National Finals Rodeo here.
Ford, 22, a senior majoring in forestry at Utah State University, flew here "specifically to see the rodeo," association spokesman Randy Wittie said.
Young Ford, wearing a new pair of cowboy boots and a new white hat, said he planned to accept the free rodeo lessons offered by Finals Commission Board Chairman Bob Ragsdale.
