Words Can Help Get Things Going

Two dynamic words can powerfully affect your life. And those words are "hope" and "expectation." Imbed them deeply in consciousness and you may be surprised how things improve. But how can a word work such wonders? A word is more than a combination of letters in cold print. It is a symbol of thought, and as such has power to stimulate failure or motivate success.

Emerson said: "Cut a vital word and it will bleed." That was his way of saying that a word has vitality, that it lives and can affect a person for good or ill, depending on how he uses it.

Years ago in Vienna, Paul Dubois, a famous psychotherapist, employed what he called "word therapy." For a patient whose problem was fear, the word "invulnerability" might be prescribed. The fearful person was to articulate the word a number of times daily on the supposition that such repetition would in time affect the thought pattern creatively. If a patient was tense, the suggested word might be "imperturbability," or if some harsh inevitabilities had to be faced, the word "acquiescence" might be used. Dr. Dubois is reputed to have had measurable success with word therapy.

Confucius was asked what he would do if suddenly he became emperor of China, holding absolute power as rulers did in ancient times. He replied that he would teach his people the power of specific words. The sage well realized the amazing power of certain words to improve personality.

The Psalmist also was aware of the power of words, especially the words "hope" and "expectation." He wrote: "Hope thou in God for I shall yet praise Him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God." And again: "... wait thou only upon God; for my expectation is from Him."

If you want to change and bring out your latent possibilities, try hope and expectation. Take yourself as you should be and as you want to be. And to escalate yourself to that level it may help to get going with the lifting force of hope and expectation.

A university, so I am told, had a course on "Self-Fulfilling Prophecy." The idea is that you can fulfill your own prophetic understanding of yourself.

A professor performed an experiment with extraordinarily difficult, so-called problem children. He chose 24 children selected indiscriminately. Twelve of them were put under the supervision of a teacher who was told they were particularly bright, that they had outstanding potential. He told the teacher of the other 12 that the children were lacking in potential. After several months the first group was performing spectacularly, whereas the other group could hardly make it. The teachers in both cases were of equal qualifications. All of which seems to underscore that you can become pretty much what you expect, and that you can affect others positively or negatively.

Terrorists Nab 31 Hostages

Yes, Miracles Still Happen

CHICAGO (AP) — "I just forgot that people are like that," said Larry Steart of his fellow-passengers on Flight 107. "I'm a big man and it's hard to hold back the tears."

Steart was talking about $426 which stewardess Marsha Grieger gave him Saturday at a friend's home in Whiting, Ind. With the money, contributed by passengers and crew on the American Airlines flight, were a set of stewardess wings, a chief pilot's wings and a note to Steart's 3-year-old son Desai, nicknamed Rocky.

"... Someday have your daddy tell you how 11 of us and 240 passengers fell in love with a little guy most have not even seen. In the meantime, if you ever get the feeling that the whole world is bad and no one cares, give these wings a long look."

Rocky and his benefactors' paths first crossed when Steart, of Detroit, flew to Chicago to get medical attention for the boy, who is unable to control the muscles in his legs. Himself a disabled construction worker, Steart was taking the boy for an examination at Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children.

But when the pair arrived at O'Hare International Airport Thursday, Steart discovered his wallet with $80 was missing. He lacked even money to get to the hospital.

Miss Grieger was the first to learn of Steart's dilemma. After a fruitless search of the plane for the wallet, she collected $27.50 for cab fare to the hospital.

But Steart, in tears, refused to take it until he was given the names of the crew so he could repay the money.

Later, as the flight continued to Phoenix, Ariz., Miss Grieger asked passengers to look for Steart's wallet. Some of the 240 persons aboard the DC10 recalled Rocky from the neck braces he wears to support the two collar bones he broke in the past year.

Then it happened — "like wildfire," said Capt. Smokey Callahan, the pilot. "A couple of people started talking about the man and Rocky, and somebody started taking up a collection."

"The first man gave me $20 and before I went three steps I had $150," said Miss Grieger. "A man on the other side of the aisle asked me what I was doing and when I told him he began collecting on that side."

"It was beautiful, but crazy. It was just unreal. A 9-year-old boy drew a get-well card and gave it to me to give to Rocky. Other people wanted his address to send him cards."

Added Callahan, a pilot for about 35 years: "I've never seen anything like it in all my years of flying."

"People were whooping and clapping, cheering and carrying on. Strangers were laughing with strangers, blacks talking to whites, Jews to Arabs. It was the damndest thing I've ever seen."

The captain ended up buying all the passengers a drink.

Band Frees 13; Top Nicaraguan Officials Held

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — An armed band named after a long-dead guerrilla leader shot its way into a plush residence during a party for U.S. Ambassador Turner Shelton and took at least 31 hostages.

Thirteen persons were released Saturday, but Nicaragua's foreign minister and two of its top ambassadors were still held.

A U.S. Embassy official said Shelton had left the party about 30 minutes before the assault Friday night. The Nicaraguan government said two policemen were killed and several persons wounded when members of the Sandinista Front attacked the suburban home of wealthy businessman Jose Maria Castillo Quant with automatic weapons.

One newspaper said the wounded included a terrorist and Daniel Lacayo Rapacolo, manager of Esso Standard of Nicaragua.

Ford Shapes Basic Economic Changes

By FRANK CORMIER

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — After meeting with key advisers, President Ford was described Saturday as aiming at "fundamental changes in the way the economy is managed" as a means of avoiding an ever-deepening recession.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen told reporters the conferees reached a consensus that the troubled economy has entered a "watershed period" and that ways of propping it up might well go beyond measures employed in the past.

Sworn To Secrecy

The press secretary said Ford swore his advisers to secrecy after deciding in general terms the directions he wants to take.

Nessen reiterated that fresh administration programs to deal with inter-related economic and energy problems would be announced in next month's State of the Union message.

Ford declared that he wants a "hard and tough program," Nessen said.

No More 'Gimmicks'

The spokesman said Ford forewarned "gimmicks" that might give the appearance of promising a quick cure for economic ills.

The impact of some measures Ford has in mind, Nessen said, may not be fully felt for three or four more years.

But he said the President and his advisers were unanimous in believing an economic upturn will be under way by mid-1975.

Nessen acknowledged that a number of the items in Ford's 31-point October program for the economy will be abandoned because they "no longer fit" a changed situation but he said some may be reinstated.

The press secretary said the conferees were "in basic agreement" on what's wrong with the economy but were not entirely unanimous in recommending cures.

"There were no final decisions made," he said.

Nessen said final decisions will be delayed pending additional staff work and still further meetings Ford will hold at the White House before the new, heavily Democratic Congress convenes on Jan. 14.

While word from Nessen on the economic conference stressed "basic agreement," he said Friday's session on energy produced a "clash of ideas" and that the President and his aides still were engaged in narrowing the choices the President faces.

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iran and a consortium of American and Belgian firms have signed a joint agreement to export three billion cubic feet of liquefied natural gas daily, an official communique said Saturday. The gas will be shipped to the United States and Europe, starting in 1978.

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — President Ford signed bills Saturday authorizing $2.9 billion for new military and defense construction and establishing the Cuyahoga Valley National Recreation Area in Ohio.

Mild, Muggy Days Due To Become Colder, Wet

Dreary mists and cold, gray warnings that a winter storm might move into their area.

Predictions indicated that clear to partly overcast skies which ruled the West Saturday would end by today.

A winter storm watch called for rain to spread into West Texas today and change to freezing rain and sleet over some sections during the night.

Temperatures ranged Saturday afternoon from the upper 30s over far West Texas to the mid 60s in the extreme southeast, The Associated Press reported.

Monday is another matter, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Air Terminal. The temperature should drop to 32 and rise no higher than 42. And there's a possibility of freezing rain to round out the day.

Saturday's high was 61 and the low was 43.

A thick mantle of fog rolled over much of the east half of the state late Saturday, prompting the National Weather Service to advise motorists to stay off roadways.

While East and Central Texas braced for another drizzly, dreary day, West Texans heard

House Surrounded

The government declared martial law and hundreds of national guardsmen surrounded the house.

"They are demanding free passage out of the country, release of political prisoners and quite a bit of money," a U.S. Embassy official said. The semi-official newspaper Novedades said the amount of money sought was $1 million in cash.

Sevilla Sacasa is the dean of the diplomatic corps in Washington, having been accredited there longer than any other foreign diplomat.

The government said the attack was "part of a conspiracy to subvert public order" and said it was "using all means within its reach and through dialogue to make them desist."

Ford Urged To Veto Milk Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is being urged to veto a bill that his advisers say will add six cents to the price of a half-gallon of milk and 12 cents to the price of a pound of cheese, according to informed sources.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., was passed quickly as Congress rushed to adjourn before Christmas. Unless Ford signs it by next Saturday it will be automatically.

The bill would require that the federal government immediately raise by about 18 percent the level at which it supports the price of manufactured milk.

The Agriculture Department estimates the bill would cost taxpayers $400 million next year for government purchases of surplus dairy products. The total cost to consumers, through higher retail prices and higher government spending, is estimated at up to $1 billion next year.

Sources both inside and outside the government say Ford is being urged by the Agriculture Department and by his Council of Economic Advisors to kill the bill.

A White House source said

On the other hand, Ford would risk the anger of dairy farmers if he vetoed the bill.

The bill drew little attention or debate as it sailed through Congress in the last two days before adjournment.

Current law requires the administration to support the price of manufacturing-grade milk at a level equivalent to 60 per cent of farm parity, which is a formula based on the prices farmers pay. The milk support level is set March 1 each year and generally remains at the same dollar level until the following year.

Prime Minister Seizes Total Bangladesh Power

DACCA, Bangladesh (AP) — Prime Minister Mujibur Rahman declared a national state of emergency Saturday to cope with widespread lawlessness, corruption and economic chaos which has plagued the poverty-ridden nation.

In his declaration Mujib, who led his country to independence from Pakistan three years ago, blamed the troubles on "people who opposed the liberation war... collaborators of the Pakistan army, extremists and enemy agents in the pay of foreign powers."

An emergency ordinance signed by President Mohammed-dulh granted the prime minister unlimited powers to take "special measures" to protect the economy and uphold law and order.

The ordinance specifically mentioned power to control news and "the prosecution of any purpose likely to cause disaffection or alarm or to prejudice Bangladesh's relations with foreign powers."

The state of emergency gave the prime minister wide latitude in jailing suspects without trial and keeping them locked away without judicial appeal. It also empowered him to ban any political group or any meeting and to approve unlimited searches and seizures.

Watergate Tapes May Be Marketed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Warner Brothers Records has announced plans to market a series of records based on the Watergate tapes, if they become public domain.

The firm said Friday it plans an 11-record set of the "complete 22 hours of recordings" played during the Watergate cover up trial of John D. Ehrlichman, H. R. Haldeman, Robert M. Felt, John N. Mitchell and Kenneth W. Parkins.

The company also said it would produce a two-record set of "the most important passages" of conversations between former President Richard M. Nixon and his advisers in the Oval Office.

Both record sets would be accompanied by transcripts of the texts, Warner Brothers said.

1975 To Bring Good Tidings To Many Tax-Worn Americans

By CARL C. CRAFT
WASHINGTON (AP) — The new year is bringing good tax news for millions of Americans who aren't covered by private company pension plans and want to set aside a little money in a do-it-yourself retirement program.

Starting in 1975, the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 offers a new tax benefit which Congressmen say will remove a long-standing inequity in the way pension programs have been provided for the American work force.

The new tax-saving feature, part of the complex new law overhauling the massive multi-billion-dollar pension system, is simply called IRA, short for Individual Retirement Account.

A congressional backer of the law explained that "despite the outstanding success of private pension plans, 53 per cent of the American work force is not presently covered, 65 per cent of the nation's working women have no pension coverage, and 68 per cent of all employees making under $5,000 per year are not covered.

"It simply is not fair to make these people pay taxes to finance the pensions of those who are covered without even giving them the right to set aside some modest sum for their own retirements," he said.

Thus, IRA was born. It will allow persons who are not covered by a pension plan other than Social Security to get a limited tax deduction for their retirement savings.

Such people will be allowed, starting in 1975, to put up to 15

FRITCH, Tex. (AP) — John E. Boren, 17, of Amarillo was killed early Saturday in a one-car crash four miles south of here on Texas 131. Investigating officers said the youth was thrown beneath the vehicle. Three other persons were treated for minor injuries and released from a hospital.

Mills' Physician Denies Operation Causing Blackouts

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Dr. Thomas Fletcher, who performed back surgery last year on Rep. Wilber D. Mills, D-Ark., said Friday the surgery would "in no way cause Mills to suffer blackouts."

Columnist Jack Anderson reported Thursday that Mills had sent word that he had suffered from blackouts since his back surgery last year and had no memory of his appearance on a Boston burlesque stage with striptease dancer Fanny Fox.

Fletcher said Mills "obtained a good result from the surgery and this would in no way cause the blackouts described. In the interest of other patients with similar back problems, this should be clarified."

"The blackouts are due to another problem, but any discussion of this should come from Mr. Mills," Fletcher said.

Jack Benny's Services Set For Noon Today

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jack Benny will be interred today with ritual and chants of the Jewish faith and words of appreciation by his close friends and fellow comedians, George Burns and Bob Hope.

Services were scheduled for noon in the Hillside Memorial Park Chapel with scores of celebrities of the entertainment and political worlds in attendance.

Chosen as pallbearers were Gregory Peck, Mervyn Leroy, Frank Sinatra, Milton Berle and Billy Wilder, among others.

Benny died at 80 late Thursday night after doctors discovered six days earlier that he had cancer of the pancreas. His death came as a blow to his friends, who didn't suspect that the seemingly ageless comededian was seriously ill.

Until 10 days ago, he had been carrying on his regular office and social routine, planning a TV special and a movie role as a retired comic in Neil Simon's "The Sunshine Boys."

In his last interview with The Associated Press, Benny had discussed retirement with George Burns, and both decided against it.

Who's It Gonna Be?

Who will be Mr. or Miss Midland 1975?

The title holder will be neither muscle man nor bikini-clad beauty, but rather a small — and likely wrinkled and squalling — baby, the first born in 1975.

A group of eight Midland merchants is sponsoring the contest, and the winner will be entitled to prizes ranging from a 30-day milk supply to disposable diapers.

The winning baby must be born in either Midland Memorial Hospital or Parkview Hospital 68. The exact time of birth must be specified by the attending physician who is also requested to contact the news department of The Reporter-Telegram Wednesday morning.

Midland's first-born infant in '75 will win a novelty flower arrangement from Buddy's Flowers, a quart of milk a day for 30 days from Gandy's Dairy, two boxes of Pampers from M System Discount Food Stores, a nursery chair from Matlock Furniture and Appliance, a $25 greater savings plan account from The Midland National Bank, five bottles of water from Ozarka Water Co., a baby care kit from Shaklee Products and a lubrication and oil change for the family car from Rogers Ford.

West Texas May Experience Time Lag In Event Of Strike

By ED TODD
The impending industrywide strike of oil workers may be more jarring than a thousand wildcat strikes.

But West Texas and the Permian Basin may experience a time lag when and if a strike of refinery and plant workers is called by the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers (OCAW) international union based in Denver.

"Just to be honest with you, it is very hard to strike," Robert C. Price of Andrews commented Saturday. He is president of the 350, to 375-member local 16 of the National Oil Workers Union. His union has petitioned for OCAW membership and is to be formally accepted Wednesday.

"People out here aren't oriented to unions as they are along the Gulf Coast. This is a conservative area," he said. What could cap the threat of a nationwide strike would be the major oil companies' granting a cost-of-living increase sought by the union for its 60,000 members in 400 or 500 local nationwide.

Price said his local would begin negotiations with Amoco officials Jan. 6 in Odessa's Inn of the Golden West. Amoco is a subsidiary of Standard Oil of Indiana and operates five or six major gasoline plants in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico. Slightly more than half of the plants' 600 workers are union members.

Texaco Announces Significant North Sea Oil Discovery

LONDON (AP) — Texaco Inc. said Saturday it has made a significant discovery of North Sea oil in a test drilling rig about 116 miles northeast of Aberdeen, Scotland.

Texaco North Sea U.K., a subsidiary of Texaco, said the test well flowed at the rate of 7,246 barrels a day, but that it was still too early to estimate the over-all size of the find.

Oil industry sources say the flow rate compares favorably with the capacities of some major wells in the Middle East.

Meanwhile, the well-informed Financial Times reported that several oil companies have halted spending on North Sea exploration until the British government clarifies how it intends to carry out plans to increase its take from the oil revenues. There have been reports that the government might introduce partial state ownership. Representatives of several U.S. oil companies scheduled a meeting Monday with Energy Minister Eric Varley. The newspaper said some U.S. companies are considering a complete pullout unless the government's terms are satisfactory.

McCord Files $10 Million Suit Against Lawyers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Convicted Watergate burglar James W. McCord Jr. filed a $10 million damage suit Friday against his original defense attorneys, including trial lawyer F. Lee Bailey.

McCord's suit charged them with "legal malpractice" in the handling of his defense at the original trial stemming from the June 1972 break-in and burglary at Democratic national headquarters.

When the trial closed in January 1973, McCord was convicted of burglary, conspiracy, illegal wiretapping and possession of wiretapping devices. He was sentenced to a minimum of one year in prison and has been free on bond pending appeal.

McCord was accompanied by his current lawyer, William A. Mann, as he filed the legal papers Friday at U.S. District Court and the U.S. Supreme Court.

In comments to a reporter, McCord said he was filing the damage suit because "there was not a fair trial or due process of law."

Boy, 7, Receives Both Yule Wishes, Dies Next Day

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Seven-year-old Hal Friedman, suffering from a congenital heart disease, had two Christmas wishes: a pair of walkie-talkies and to be released from the hospital for Christmas.

Hal got both his wishes. He left the hospital Christmas Eve, and the walkie-talkies were under the Christmas tree.

Thursday night the boy felt ill again and developed chills and fever. He was unconscious when he arrived at the hospital at 3:30 a.m. Friday, and died a little over an hour later.

"He was so brave. Not many grown people are as brave as he was. We'll have a big empty spot, but we had him for seven years," said his father, Joe Friedman.

Guards Lose Trail Of 3 Indiana Prison Escapees

(Related Story Page 1C)

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP) — Guards lost the snowy trail Saturday of three prisoners who escaped from Indiana State Prison.

Jon Shafer, a State Correction Department spokesman, said the trio escaped earlier Saturday by jamming a system that should have locked all 10 cells in their second-floor unit.

They then loosened putty, removed a window pane, spread the bars, and with a homemade rope and grappling iron went over an administration building that abuts the prison wall, he said.

The fugitives included Chuck Bailey, 25, who was serving a life sentence for robbery and murder.

Shafer said S. D. Matthews, the guard on duty in the unit at the time of the escape, was suspended indefinitely without pay pending an investigation.

Shafer said Matthews was responsible for checking each cell door to ensure it was locked.

The civilian foreman of the nearby minimum-security prison farm was suspended indefinitely without pay Friday pending an investigation into possible neglect for leaving a prisoner unattended.

The prisoner, Riley Mosley Jr. of Indianapolis surrendered to state police at a nearby farmhouse Thursday night. Authorities said he subsequently admitted killing two women occupants of the farmhouse.

Shafer said Bailey had been held at his own request in a seclusion orientation unit cell. He said Bailey asked to be put there about 8 months ago for his own safety, a request he said prisoners sometimes make when "they think somebody is out to get them."

The other two escapees were identified as Otto Hunt, 27, and Anthony Paolello, 22. Both were sent to the state facility after a two-day mattress-burning incident at the county jail in South Bend about two months ago.

Describing the two as "troublemakers," Sheriff Dean Bolligard said Hunt was awaiting trial on a $65 robbery and assault charge, Paolello on a burglary count.

Fire Damages Odessa Cafeteria

ODESSA — Fire of an unknown origin caused heavy damages to the Furr's Cafeteria building on North Grandview Street during the early morning hours Saturday.

Firemen said a passer-by noticed heavy smoke pouring from the building at approximately 1 a.m. and reported the blaze to the Fire Department.

Seven units answered the commercial fire alarm, but firemen discovered that the blaze had nearly burned itself out by the time they arrived at the scene.

The fire was mainly confined to the dining area of the cafeteria, but heavy heat and smoke damage was suffered throughout the building.

Fire department officials continued their investigation into the probable cause of the blaze Saturday.

Senior Laotian Officials Reported Ready To Seek Americans' Release

By DAVID JENKINS

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) —

Two senior ministers of the coalition government made plans Saturday to fly to an isolated Mekong River town to negotiate for the release of 13

Americans held under house arrest by rebellious Laotian troops.

Informal sources said Interior Minister Pheng Phommavong, a close associate of Premier Souvanna Phouma, and Prince Souk Vongsaik, the Communist Pathet Lao information minister, would make the trip to Ban Houei Sai.

However, U.S. Embassy officials doubted the Americans, who include a pregnant woman and a number of children, would be freed soon. The embassy had earlier indicated the Americans might be freed Saturday and did not say why the situation had changed.

The embassy said the Americans were not regarded as hostages, but other well-informed sources said they were not free to leave Ban Houei Sai.

The group included five employees of the U.S. Agency for International Development and their families, five members of a missionary family and three other Americans not further identified, a U.S. source said. No names were immediately available.

The Americans have been confined since Tuesday when about 100 Royal Lao army soldiers mutinied and took control of the provincial capital 240 miles northwest of Vientiane.

Eight Senators Resign To Get Pension Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., and Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky., have joined six Senate colleagues in resigning just before the end of their terms.

Ervin said Friday he would resign next Tuesday, just before 1974 ends, in order to take advantage of a 5.3 per cent cost-of-living pension increase available to federal employees who retire this year.

Cook said he was stepping down effective Friday so that his successor, Democratic Wendell H. Ford, would have "a few days' head start" on seniority over other incoming senators.

The others senators who are leaving office early are J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., Norris Cotton, R-N.H., Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., Alan Bible, D-Nev., Howard H. Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, and Wallace Bennett, R-Utah.

Sadat expelled 15,000 Russian advisers in 1972.

The visit by Fahmy and Gernay could be an effort to clarify and agree on Soviet and Egyptian positions before Egyptian sets out on his trip. The Soviets may be insisting that Brezhnev and Sadat must fully agree before Brezhnev will venture into the Mideast.

There has been speculation that the Kremlin may be displeased with Sadat's apparent endorsement of U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's step-by-step approach to peace in the Middle East.

Pravda criticized Kissinger's approach, claiming that "ruling groups in Israel and those imperialist circles backing them continue to heat up the situation, pressuring the Arabs."

"They are counting on separate deals, on the so-called quiet diplomacy and are preventing the convening of the Middle East conference in Geneva."

Eight Odessans Held For Pot-32 Pounds Of It

ODESSA — Eight Odessa residents were being held for possession of marijuana late Saturday night following a 4:30 p.m. raid on a house near downtown Odessa that netted officers 32 pounds of the substance.

Midland Police Have Trouble Now

Trouble is his name and that's what he is according to Midland Patrolman Joe Carr. Trouble, a 90-pound German Shepherd, is the newest member of the Midland police force, replacing Luke, a longtime member of the "K-9" corps, who died recently from poisoning.

Carr is training the dog mainly for police work, but he also will become a member of the Carr family.

Luke was very affectionate to Marcey, the trainer's 3-year-old daughter. "Marcey used to ride Luke like a horse," Carr said when referring to the more gentle side of the German Shepherd.

And now Marcey wants to ride Trouble, but the dog just isn't ready yet, but Carr added that he felt that would change with time.

Trouble's training, according to Carr, will take from six to eight months.

The department teaches the dog to catch and hold a person, but not to kill them. Several of the policemen work with the training, including Carr and Patrolman David Sherrod.

Once Trouble has finished the obedience portion of training, he will be started on aggression training. Carr said he is already showing good signs of being ready for the aggression training. Carr's patrol car.

Following aggression training, Carr said the dog will not be taught tracking and the searching of a building.

Carr said the dog will not be taught how to be used for narcotics searches.

Ruby Murray Will Be Honored

Retiring clerk of the 142nd District Court, Ruby Murray, is to be honored in a "retirement coffee" from 2-4 p.m. Monday on the third floor of the Midland County Courthouse.

Mrs. Murray, district clerk since 1965, will be succeeded by a five-year deputy, Madge Wallis, who was elected to the post in the November general elections.

Midland County and deputy district clerks have issued an informal petition requesting friends of Mrs. Murray to attend. The petition is numbered 1947-1975, representing the clerk's years of service to the county and district court.

Mrs. Murray worked in the county clerk's office from 1947 until 1952 when she moved over to the district clerk's office as a deputy. She was chief deputy in that office when 142nd District Judge Perry D. Pickett appointed her district clerk.

Listed as petitioners on the unofficial document are deputy district clerks Mildred Taylor, Marjorie Rice, Mrs. Wallis, Jean Blevins, Ruth Meyers, Mary McClendon, Lana Jobe, Barbara Sleeper and former deputy clerks Irene Perryman, Junita Lee and Jackie Johnson.

The district clerk-elect, Mrs. Wallis, is to be sworn into office in a ceremony administered by Judge Pickett at 9 a.m. Jan. 2 in the District Courtroom.

"We'll give tickets that are absolutely needed," said Friesehnahn.

Cold, Broke, Alone—Traveler Encounters Others Who Care

Michelle may be in Tucson today.

Although it's supposed to be cloudy and cold there, just as it was Christmas Eve when Michelle arrived in Midland, she probably will be more comfortable than she was that day.

It was cold — in the 30s and the wind whipping across the West Texas plains — when she wandered into a service station on the east outskirts of Midland.

Finds Self Locked In

She wore only a pair of blue jeans, a scooped-neck beige tank top and a ragged and torn peacoat.

Michelle went into the ladies room. She must have stayed in the rest room quite a while. The station attendant locked up at noon and went home to begin celebrating Christmas.

Michelle emerged to find herself locked inside the station. A few minutes later a motorist pulled into the station expecting to buy gasoline.

Police Come To Rescue

Instead he found the lost, brown-haired, hazel-eyed young woman.

Through the glass they discussed her plight. They decided to call the police to see if the station manager could be located.

The police were successful and a few minutes later the manager arrived and Michelle was freed. She accepted a ride down Interstate 20 to a truck stop.

She was on her way from Dallas to Tucson, she said. Hitchhiking. It had taken her three days to get this far, and she didn't know just where she was.

She talked little. She was going to Arizona to visit friends. She had no money. She was pregnant.

She carried a small, blue plastic travel bag. She wore a violet velvet ribbon around her neck and carried a paperback book, "The First Wife of King Henry VIII."

The driver suggested that she might like to spend Christmas in Midland. It would be even colder Wednesday, and there would be little traffic on the highway. The Salvation Army might be able to give her a warm place to stay and feed her.

No thanks, she said. She wanted to complete her journey.

The driver departed, leaving with her his office phone number just in case she changed her mind. A half-hour later she did.

So it was that Michelle Peck turned to the Salvation Army for help on a cold Christmas Eve. She was 19 that day.

The next day — Christmas — she was 20.

She received food, some new warm clothing and a night's lodging.

She stayed long enough to have Christmas dinner with Salvation Army lodge manager Stan Schilling and six others.

The group "had a merry Christmas day" and went their individual ways with a "much happier attitude" about life, Schilling said.

Michelle was given money for a bus ticket to El Paso and told that the Salvation Army there would be able to help her on her journey.

"We gave her a large teddy bear for a present and she carried it as if it was a small child," said Schilling.

Amy Vanderbilt Dies In Tumble From Window

NEW YORK (AP) — A medical examiner said Saturday that Amy Vanderbilt, arbiter of elegance for millions of Americans, died of multiple fractures and internal injuries suffered in a fall from a second-story window of her chic Manhattan townhouse.

"I would say that there was nothing to indicate her death was not an accident," said Curtis B. Kellar, fourth husband of Miss Vanderbilt, 66, and general counsel to the international division of Mobil Oil Corp.

Body On Sidewalk

He had rushed to an open window in her home office just as a passerby discovered the shattered body on the sidewalk Friday night.

She was pronounced dead on arrival at the emergency room of nearby Metropolitan Hospital.

Dr. Yong Rho, deputy chief medical examiner, said death was caused by fractures of the skull, cervical vertebrae, ribs and pelvis, as well as lacerations and internal injuries.

Acting Medical Examiner, Dr. Dominick DeMao, said a toxicological report would not be completed until late this week.

Succeeds Emily Post

Miss Vanderbilt succeeded to the throne of the late Emily Post as arbiter of etiquette although she freely admitted "I'm one of the poor Vanderbilts, not one of the rich and social ones."

One of her ancestors was a first cousin of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, who left the family homestead on Staten Island to establish the New York Central Railroad and build what was then America's largest fortune.

Miss Vanderbilt's branch stayed behind. She was born on Staten Island and educated in the public schools there.

She later took specialized courses in Switzerland and at the Packer Collegiate Institute in Brooklyn. She studied journalism at New York University.

Her first job was as a society reporter on the Staten Island Advance and she later wrote columns for International News Service, United Features and the Los Angeles Times Syndicate.

At the time of her death, Miss Vanderbilt was writing a book tentatively titled "How to Be an Organized Woman."

Stephen Knopf, a son by a previous marriage, was also in the 100-year-old house when Miss Vanderbilt's body was discovered at 7:55 p.m. Friday.

She had been married to Robert S. Brinkenhoff in 1929, Morton G. Clark in 1935 and Hans Knopf in 1954. These marriages all ended in divorce and she was married to Kellar in 1968. She had three sons.

Odessa, 24, Held In Midkiff Theft

RANKIN — A 24-year-old Odessa man was arrested at his home Friday and later turned over to Upton County authorities in connection with five burglaries at Midkiff.

Paul Bradley Stephan remained in custody at Upton County Jail Saturday in lieu of $5,000 bond after he was charged with the five burglaries.

Justice of the Peace C. G. Taylor accepted the charges and set Stephan's bond.

Midland sheriff's deputy Mickey Clark said that approximately $3,000 worth of assorted items have been recovered in the burglary investigations.

Stephan is charged with the burglary of the Whiteman and Son Grocery and four oil camps, all located at Midkiff.

Odessa Police Probe Death

ODESSA — Police continued their investigation Saturday following the death of 19-year-old Jay Kenney Dunlap who died mysteriously early Saturday morning at the home of a friend.

Police said that no immediate cause of death was known.

Justice of the Peace Manuel Valles pronounced the youth dead at the scene and withheld an inquest ruling pending an autopsy.

Police said there were no marks of violence on the youth's body.

Funeral services are pending at Hubbard-Kelly Funeral Home.

Hospital Fund Campaign Still Short By $250,000

More than $65,000 had been contributed by Saturday night to the dollar-matching program of Midland Memorial Hospital's building expansion fund.

Four Midlanders recently contributed $315,000 on the condition that the sum be matched by other contributions. According to Kenny Jastrow, co-chairman of the building committee, approximately $250,000 more needs to be raised to secure the gift.

Jastrow and John J. Redfern Jr., his fellow co-chairman, urged all Midlanders to contribute before the end of the year. They noted that "every dollar contributed does double duty under the dollar-matching program."

Jastrow said contributions could be mailed directly to the hospital.

The dollar-matching program is part of a drive to raise $2.5 million to help pay for a recent expansion program at the hospital.

In the expansion, surgery and recovery room facilities were doubled, and the radiology facilities, were increased, making those services more accessible to emergency room patients and in-patients.

The emergency room has been enlarged and relocated in the new wing with improved accessibility to x-ray and surgery.

The obstetrics department has been increased 50 per cent and is now designed as an isolated self-sufficient area for greater aseptic conditions.

The pharmacy is now open 24 hours daily, with complete out-patient service. Kitchen, dietary and dining facilities have been improved and enlarged.

Christmas Week Building Permits Total $123,000

The Midland inspection department issued only four building permits during the short Christmas week, but the construction cost total was $123,000.

The 12-month construction cost figure is approaching $34 million with only a few days left in the year.

One new home permit was issued during the week, bringing the year's total of new homes to 143. That permit went to Trend Homes for a $38,000 house at 2509 Sinclair St.

The Union Oil Co. was issued a permit for the addition of 3,500 square feet of office space at its 500 N. Marlenfeld St. location. That permit listed construction costs at $62,000.

Wesley Electric Co. was issued a $1,000 permit for the addition of a new sign, and James White was issued a $1,000 permit for the conversion of a building at 804 S. Terrell St. into a garage.

Small Gain Made By Stock Market

By CHET CURRIER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK — The stock market scraped together a small gain this past week, but was still showing few signs of strength as it neared the end of the second year of a devastating bear market.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks advanced 3.68 to 402.16. Standard & Poor's more broadly based 500-stock index edged up .23 to 67.14.

In the over-all New York Stock Exchange tally, gainers actually trailed losers, 844 to 818 among the 1,997 issues traded.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks was up .13 at 35.36.

Big Board volume averaged 13.11 shares a day for the four sessions during the week.

As the pace of trading dragged through Thursday and Friday, it was clear a good many investors were taking an extended holiday-season break.

Volume had averaged 16.41 million shares a day the week before.

Muddying the market picture further were the usual technical forces that affect trading at year-end — selling for tax purposes and subsequent reinvestment demand, as well as portfolio adjustments, by investing institutions before their Dec. 31 reporting day.

The news investors had to work with, meanwhile, was almost uniformly bleak.

The market had made a faint gesture at a rally Tuesday and Thursday, but it died out Friday morning when the government reported that its index of leading economic indicators dropped 1.5 per cent in November for its fourth straight monthly decline.

The index is often closely watched by investors because it theoretically provides the earliest official indication of what economic trends might be in the future.

Still, he said, fare hikes had not been able to cover rising expenses and most scheduled and charter lines probably will finish the year in the red.

Pan American, meanwhile, was denying a report in a Paris publication that a tentative agreement had been worked out under which Iranian interests would buy a majority of its capital stock.

The airline earlier had confirmed that talks with Iranian interests had been held, but said they involved forms of investment other than purchase of stock.

'74 Bad Year For Airlines In America

By STEPHEN H. MILLER
AP Business News Editor

NEW YORK — The past year was not a good one for airlines, most of which found themselves struggling with quadrupled fuel prices, higher labor costs and little growth in business.

One of the hardest hit was Pan American World Airways, suffering through its sixth straight year of losses and battling with little success for major financial aid from the government.

Pan Am said this week that it lost $15.7 million in November, bringing its deficit for the first 11 months of the year to $60.9 million.

The 11-month figure compared with a loss of $13.6 million in 1973 and indicated Pan Am could set a record annual loss for an American airline, possibly passing the 1970 loss of $63.5 million suffered by Trans World Airlines.

The airline noted that scheduled passenger traffic revenue was up only 1.4 per cent, even though ticket prices were an average of 24 per cent higher than last year. In the same month, Pan Am said, fuel costs were 94 per cent higher than a year earlier at $30.6 million.

The International Air Transport Association said this week that the 1974 growth rate for passenger and cargo traffic would be the lowest ever.

Growth Figures Cited

The association said passenger traffic, which has gone up an average 13 per cent each year until 1973, probably would be up 3 per cent for 1974. Cargo traffic, usually up about 20 per cent, would be up 6 per cent, it said.

"The very fact that air carriers have been able to weather the global economic storm without a complete collapse is in itself a sign of the industry's inherent resilience," said Knut Hammarkjoeld, director general of the group.

Still, he said, fare hikes had not been able to cover rising expenses and most scheduled and charter lines probably will finish the year in the red.

Pan American, meanwhile, was denying a report in a Paris publication that a tentative agreement had been worked out under which Iranian interests would buy a majority of its capital stock.

The airline earlier had confirmed that talks with Iranian interests had been held, but said they involved forms of investment other than purchase of stock.

Rising Cost Of Newsprint Brings Changes To Papers

By DEIRDRE DONNELLY
NEW YORK (AP) — The rising cost of newsprint, up more than 40 per cent during the past year, has brought about changes in design and format to the nation's newspapers as well as pushing up prices.

Paper manufacturers' bills to publishers have boosted the cost of newsprint to $260 a ton in the East and $280 a ton in the West, effective Wednesday, up from $185 a ton a year ago. For the big, metropolitan newspapers, the new price means increased paper costs of $25 million to $30 million a year over what they paid last year.

"Newsprint represents nearly one-fourth of the operation cost of our papers," said Charles W. Crowder, publisher of the Winston-Salem (N.C.) Journal and Sentinel. "Since 1971, the cost of this material has risen 70 per cent and by 1976 it will have increased another 15 per cent," he said.

"Newspapers face the grim reality that they may have to ration space to advertisers and to news, as well as restrict the number of copies of the paper and to whom they will be distributed," Crowder said.

Suppliers say, though, that the high cost has not caused papers to cut orders already placed for newsprint.

Among the most widespread changes brought about by the paper price boom this year was the rapid disappearance of the 10-cent daily newspaper and the 25-cent Sunday edition.

Cost-Cutting Measures

The American Newspaper Publishers Association's annual survey of 1,745 newspapers showed for the first time that most daily papers now cost 15 cents or more and the majority of Sunday papers sell at the newstand for 35 cents per copy and up.

Cost-cutting measures during the year included the reduction in a paper's size to save newsprint and a change in format which meant the loss of up to 10 per cent in the news hole, the space devoted to printing news, publishers say.

Publishers of several major metropolitan newspapers, including the Los Angeles Times and the Miami Herald and Miami News, announced plans to reduce the width of each page three-quarters of an inch. The Times said it will save an estimated 18,000 tons of newsprint each year representing a saving of $4.2 million after the width reduction planned for Monday.

The Goss Co. in Chicago, the nation's biggest newspaper printing press manufacturer, said, "We've had a lot of requests for paper width changes — all downward."

Goss said it is narrowing widths for 15 large newspapers and has received serious queries about costs and delivery from 40 other large papers.

Year's Final Farm Report Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department's last major report of 1974 will be issued next Tuesday, Dec. 31, and will show how farm prices looked as of mid-month.

As usual, the monthly report will include average farm prices for major commodities such as corn, cotton, soybeans and wheat. It also will tell how farmers' expenses shaped up of Dec. 15.

Costs for the conversion of longed strikes at Canadian mills in the fall of 1973.

"Newspapers have built up their reserves of newsprint to better than 40 days supply. A year ago many were down to a week's supply or less," said Jack Kaufman, president of the Newspaper Advertising Bureau in New York.

Canadian mills, which produce more than 70 per cent of the newsprint used by U.S. newspapers, did a brisk business during the year as U.S. publishers rebuilt supplies.

Shipments from Canada to the United States rose 8.5 per cent during the first 11 months.

Despite the high demand and prices, the almost total restraint on expansion in the newspaper industry made the paper companies a target in December of a Senate subcommittee investigating industrial shortages.

The study produced by the committee said that newsprint prices have far exceeded the level producers last year said would trigger expansion of production capacity.

Inflation Blamed
The study said Canadian marketers a year ago pegged $205 per ton as the price level at which producers could profitably afford to expand newsprint facilities.

But several paper industry spokesmen testifying before the committee said because of inflation prices must go even higher to at least $300 a ton in order to justify new construction.

Beaten Boy, 10, Says Abductor Claimed To Be Dad's Client

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A 10-year-old boy, found severely beaten six days after he was kidnapped from his suburban Miami home, says his abductor told him that he was a client of the boy's father, police say.

Collier County sheriff's deputy Gene Cook quoted Christopher Carrier as saying the man told him that Hugh Carrier, his father and an attorney specializing in real estate, had made the kidnaper "lose a lot of money."

"I was your daddy's client," the boy said his abductor told him, according to Cook.

Cook said the boy did not know the name of his abductor.

Coral Gables Police Sgt. Glenn Arp said, "No warrant will be issued until we talk to the boy. The boy is not even sure how long he had been gone. That's how bad off he is."

Earlier, police had said they would wait for Christopher to recover sufficiently before questioning him about his ordeal.

Neurosurgeons operated on the lad Friday for an infected skull fracture. Physicians said he may lose sight in his left eye.

"Doctors say the surgery was successful but it's too early to know whether there is permanent brain damage," said a spokesman at Jackson Memorial Hospital.

The spokesman said physicians were not sure when the boy would be able to undergo questioning by police.

Christopher was found, barefoot and incoherent, Thursday night by a hunter in the Big Cypress Swamp in southwest Florida. The hunter, Roy Jones of Bradenton, returned to his hunting camp afterward, refusing to talk to newsmen.

Police said Jones told them he found young Carrier wandering down a gravel road in the swamp, about 70 miles east of the Carrier home in suburban Coral Gables.

Christopher disappeared Dec. 20. Police said he was returning home from a school Christmas party, carrying a Christmas card for his mother, and was abducted within yards of his home.

Asked what the boy had told him when they were reunited early Friday, Christopher's father, Hugh Carrier, replied, "He said, 'Hi, daddy' and he kissed me."

Carrier had said earlier that the family never received any demands for ransom.

Trucker Says Mail Stolen

MONAHANS — A Midland-based truck driver said he was hijacked on Interstate 20 west of Monahans early Friday morning.

Monahans sheriff's deputies said that no leads were available in the hijacking case Saturday. Agents with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and a team of postal inspectors from Dallas arrived in Monahans Saturday to assist in the hijacking investigation.

ing and three bags of registered and insured mail were taken from his truck.

Monahans sheriff's deputies said that no leads were available in the hijacking case Saturday. Agents with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and a team of postal inspectors from Dallas arrived in Monahans Saturday to assist in the hijacking investigation.

It was not revealed by the postal authorities or lawmen Saturday the value or exact contents of the stolen mail bags.

Ward County Sheriff John Ashcraft said his office was notified of the hijacking shortly before noon Friday, but noted that the incident took place at approximately 1:30 a.m.

The sheriff said that a tractor-trailer truck driven by Herschel Meredith of Midland left El Paso and headed for its Midland destination late Thursday.

Meredith told lawmen that approximately five miles west of Pyote, a man flagged him down, got into the truck and pulled a gun.

Meredith said the man ordered him to take the first exit off the interstate highway and to pull up under an overpass bridge. He said a car apparently followed the truck and two men in the car opened the truck's trailer and took the registered and insured mail bags.

Lawmen said that several other bags of normal mail (not registered or insured) were left on the truck untouched.

The three men apparently then locked Meredith in the trailer of the truck. It was not until late Friday morning that a passerby heard Meredith yelling from inside the trailer and released him. The two men then notified the Monahans authorities.

Sheriff Ashcraft said Meredith was not able to give a description of any of the men because they wore ski masks. Meredith told lawmen that he was unable to see the bandits' vehicle or get its license number.

FUTURE, YES — INFINITY, NO

If you are a househunter, no doubt you already have some preconceived notions about the fundamental requirements of your new home. Here's a thought to consider which may help facilitate the image of your new home's "master plan" as well as your long range financial planning.

Consider the stage of your family life, and how it should change within the next five or ten years. As your family numbers decrease by means of vacation, campus living, and marriage, so will your space requirements.

Don't imagine that your task is to find a home in which you will live happily all the rest of your days. A home is not forever. For perfectly sound reasons, such as advancing age, changing career prospects, changing family size and requirements, people tend to move on, often in less than ten years. So plan for the foreseeable future — not for infinity.

Bell Asks Judge To Keep Pretrial Action Private

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — filed a motion Friday asking a state district court judge for "a broad protective order" to protect parties and witnesses in all respects from all publicity.

The motion, along with several others, will be heard Jan. 3 by Judge James Onion.

The suit was filed last month by James H. Ashley, a fired Southwestern Bell executive, and the family of T. O. Gravit, Bell's top man in Texas who committed suicide Oct. 17.

The suit alleges Gravit was hounded to his death by a company conspiracy after he and Ashley resisted irregular company practices.

Since then, Bell has denied it has given depositions behind closed doors and more depositions of a trial are scheduled.

DISPLAYS AWARD — Billy Carr of Midland, land agent and oilfield supervisor for The University of Texas Lands, shows the award he received recently as the Outstanding Rangeland Manager for 1974. The award was presented by the Texas Section of the Society for Range Management.

FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS

Dirt, Squirt & Quirt

Wet weather stopped the cotton harvest and allowed producers a day off for Christmas in the Midland area. Harvest is nearing completion in Midland County, with some farmers already through, reports Charles Green, county agent. Land preparation is proceeding on some harvested fields. The moisture received from the light rain and snow will be helpful in restoring surface moisture which had dried out considerably the last several weeks.

Cotton farmers who are planning on saving seed from their 1974 crop should be sure it is high in germination and low in free fatty acid. Most farmers check germination closely but may not be aware of the importance of the free fatty acid content. Free fatty acid is a by-product of seed deterioration so its content should not be more than 1 per cent. Seed exposed to long periods of wet weather prior to harvesting or subjected to poor storage after harvesting will generally have a higher acid content, indicating considerable seed deterioration. The acid content of cottonseed is especially important this year since much of the 1974 cotton crop suffered from wet weather. He adds that cottonseed delinting plants commonly use the 1 per cent level of free fatty acid as the breaking point in saving or rejecting seed for planting purposes. Seed with a high acid content often shows a high germination test, initially, but these seeds will deteriorate rapidly in storage and germination will drop. A low acid content does not insure top quality seed. Immature seed may be low in free fatty acid content. Producers are advised not to save cottonseed for planting if it has 3 per cent or more free fatty acid.

Aussie Prime Minister Vows Darwin Will Be Rebuilt And Restored

DARWIN, Australia (AP) — Australian Prime Minister Gough Whitlam walked the devastated streets of Darwin Saturday and vowed that Australia's northern gateway will be rebuilt.

As Whitlam spoke, jetliners flew out of the town carrying thousands of residents displaced by the worst natural disaster in Australian history.

The death toll stood at 48 today with the discovery of two bodies floating in Darwin harbor.

"It is heartbreaking to see that all the effort since the war toward building housing in Darwin has been destroyed," Whitlam said after a three-hour tour of this isolated northern coast city. About 90 per cent of the city was destroyed early Christmas Day in a four-hour cyclone that churned out of the Timor Sea.

"The government is determined the city will be rebuilt and restored," he said. "This is an essential port. It has always been Australia's gateway."

Whitlam interrupted a European tour to return for a first-hand look at Darwin. He called an emergency cabinet meeting for Monday.

Australian, British, New Zealand and U.S. Air Force planes continued ferrying residents from the city. Officials said 18, 800 persons have been flown to cities and towns around Australia and 18,000 more are scheduled to be airlifted out in the next two days.

The director of the National Disaster Organization, Maj. Gen. Alan Stretton, said he wanted to evacuate three-quarters of the city's 41,000 residents.

The National Disaster Center warned that outbreaks of cholera or tetanus remain a serious threat in the hot, semi-tropical climate.

Uncollected garbage and rotting food lay in the streets amid twisted palm trees and housing debris.

A pregnant woman waiting to be airlifted out said, "People don't care where they're going. They just want to get out of here. The wet season is about to hit and that will close off most of the roads."

Ringling The Bell

By BOB TIEUEL

The Black Experience: If Christ did return to this earth in December, 1974, say in Dallas, or Oklahoma City, or Kansas City, he probably would find that not only would there be no "room in the inn" for a penniless family but that the garage would be locked and guarded. If he came to earth as a black man in a white neighborhood he would face the danger, even today, of being stoned and driven away. If he came to earth as a white man in a black urban ghetto, his fate would not be much brighter. And even if he were born again as a black man in a black neighborhood, life could be very, very bitter, believes Ebony's December's Photo-Editorial.

He no doubt would learn soon that seemingly the only people within the ghettos saying, "Suffer the little children to come unto me" are the dope pushers. . . . The bitter, bitter truth of the world of today is that not only is there no room for a soon-to-be born Christ child in the inn, there seems to be little room for a Christ, an Allah, a Buddha or any other religious philosopher anywhere in the world. Man today appears to pay only lip service to his Gods. How else can one explain the greed, the cruelty, the double-dealing of nations to nations and of men to men . . .

Deserves No Help

The modern world is a world of materialism, violence, selfishness and greed. Perhaps, states Ebony, it deserves no help from any celestial being. Perhaps, like Sodom and Gomorrah, it should be left to destroy itself. We have that capacity.

The very first thing that must be restored to the peoples of the world is a respect for life. This means that the family, the friends, the neighbors, the city, the state, the nation and the world all should have some share in the responsibility for every child becoming a useful part of humanity. Secondly, if we are to improve the world by our having lived in it, we must start in our own neighborhood. That means voting, paying taxes, not breaking the law, helping with community projects, combatting neighborhood crime. Finally, we must develop respect for self—a respect that, as the cliché goes, will make it possible for you to face yourself in the mirror tomorrow morning.

Christmas in The City: Dallas and Oklahoma City are two of our favorite cities in the Southwest and for almost a quarter of a century, this adopted West Texas-New Mexican has managed to spend a few days with friends, relatives and bellringers almost every Yuletide season. "Christmas in the city" is always a beautiful sight, especially this year, when all the "lights" have been turned on again. Let us pray that they will never go out again. What would Christmas be like without "lights" and the pealing bells of New Year's?

Even so, the "little town of Bethlehem" where our Saviour was born, must have looked more like a small town in West Texas or Eastern New Mexico, than here in Big D or Big O. And thanks for the great volume of mail and comments from Bellringers this year. Anyway, it will be good to be on our way west in a few days to rest from the "helter-skelter" of Christmas in the city.

And until 1975, Peace and Love from the ghetto of "the black experience."

Mine Blast Toll Hits 41

LIEVIN, France (AP) — Officials say 41 miners died in a coal mine explosion in this northern French town but rescuers say more miners may still be inside the 2,100-foot shaft.

Six men were badly burned by the explosion Friday and one was in critical condition.

The explosion and fire ripped through the shaft 15 minutes after miners returned to work after a five-day Christmas vacation.

Officials said the blast probably was caused by accumulations of either methane or coal dust.

Rescue work was continuing, and Industry Ministry Michel d'Ornano said "a final casualty toll still cannot be given."

U.S. Steel To Shut Down Plant Rather Than Pay Pollution Fine

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp. says it will shut down an open hearth shop at its Gary, Ind., works next week rather than pay a $2,500-per-day fine for air pollution.

The shutdown is expected to result in layoffs for 4,000 workers in northwest Indiana.

The nation's largest steel-maker announced the closing Friday, one day after U.S. District Court Judge Allen Sharp of Hammond, Ind., ordered the shutdown by Dec. 31 or payment of the fine.

"It is the company's view that continued operation is either environmentally acceptable or it is not, and does not become acceptable with the payment of a daily fine," U.S. Steel said.

"Therefore, the company has concluded that it cannot accede to such a principle."

A clean-up had been ordered in a consent decree between U.S. Steel and the Environmental Protection Agency, and the

No. 4 shop had remained open since Dec. 6, 1973, on six-month extensions.

Since 1965, U.S. Steel has replaced 43 of the 53 open hearth furnaces at Gary with cleaner basic oxygen process shops. The No. 4 shop encompasses the 10 remaining open hearth furnaces.

The company said it had reached agreement with the city of Gary and the state of Indiana for another extension to delay compliance until next June 30.

"Unfortunately, EPA was unwilling to go along with the extension unless a daily tribute was paid to the government," the company said.

Francis T. Mayo, Midwest

EPA administrator, objected to the term "tribute" as "patently ridiculous." He said the fine was fair.

U.S. Atty. John Wilkes, who had asked for a $5,000 daily fine, offered a similar opinion of the judge's ruling.

Plant supervisor L. Keith Smith said the shutdown will result in layoffs for 2,500 Gary works employees and another 1,500 workers in steel-related industries.

"We have lived with the imminent closing of the open hearth for a year," said Harry Plaseck, president of United Steelworkers Local 1014, which represents 15,000 Gary workers. "We are as prepared as we are going to be."

VAN Serves The Blind, Visually Handicapped

SCRAPBOOK — Mrs. J. T. Baker, left, and Mrs. Gordon Leach are shown looking over a scrapbook being prepared by the Visual Aids News-Mobile (VAN) organization. It will contain publicity gained over the last three years. Mrs. Mayme Martin, not shown, began working on the VAN project five years ago. The board of directors, a cross-section of city residents, was organized in 1973 and the VAN service became a working reality during the present year.

CARD FILE — A card file is kept on all contributors to the VAN project. Mrs. Clifford Ashton, left, a volunteer, is shown explaining the method of keeping the file system up to date to Mrs. Ray Riddle, another volunteer. The VAN service is a non-profit, tax-deductible organization dedicated to helping the blind and visually handicapped persons of a 19-county West Texas area through information, service and visual aids. Its operation depends upon contributions which are spent for direct aid to the needy, and volunteers to help man the vehicle and to handle the many tasks involved in its function.

VAN — Mrs. Mayme Martin, center, spent more than two years researching ways to help the visually handicapped with aids and services not available by other means. She made extensive trips to the sight centers of the nation, including Chicago, New York City, Hartford, Conn., and Boston, in order to interview persons in executive capacities in organizations that specialize in sight handicap problems. The plan to aid these persons centered around a mobile unit which could travel in an 80 mile radius of Midland. Local help made it possible to obtain the above vehicle which is now in service. Shown with Mrs. Martin are two volunteers, Mrs. Hugh Frenzel, left, and Mrs. Robert Boynton Smith.

PRACTICAL AIDS — Whether traveling to remote areas in the mobile unit, or serving the elderly in Midland nursing homes, the VAN service is providing a wide array of practical aids for the visually handicapped. These include prism glasses, canes and other standard aids, as well as information and training for helping the handicapped adjust to their environment. The marking of stoves and other appliances and clocks with special systems, utilizing ordinary methods, also helps the sight handicapped and blind to live more safely in their surroundings. Recent recipients of these aids were Mrs. Doni Brackens, left, and Francisco Hinojosa, both residents of Permian Lodge.

HANDICAPPED EARN MONEY — VAN also provides material which the handicapped can use for earning money. Objects manufactured by them can be sold at cost through Midland merchants who agree not to charge a commission on the sale of these products. Some of these items were photographed in the background of the picture below, which also shows Mrs. John Nelson, activities director of Permian Lodge, and Fred Budd, another resident of the nursing home. For more information regarding the VAN program and its services, dial 683-3438 or 683-6504.

Trolleys Return To City Streets

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — Like ghosts out of the past, trolleys have returned to Yakima.

Trolleys disappeared from the city 35 years ago but the electrified tracks through town remained, and a city councilman suggested that trolleys be brought back.

The idea caught on and city officials began looking for trolleys. They learned that the city of Porto in Portugal was about to sell its two old, American-made trolleys and decided to buy them. The trolleys were refurbished, painted and shipped to Yakima. The trolleys now operate here on a morning and weekend basis. Off-duty city firemen serve as motormen and brakemen.

Racial Prejudice Is More Direct

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Mildred Stephens can cite many times she has encountered direct and explicit racial prejudice and many times she has encountered more subtle sex bias.

But today Mrs. Stephens is in charge of the accounting department of a Princeton firm. She is vice president of the Ewing Township Board of Education. And she has been elected president of the Trenton chapter of the National Association of Accountants, the first woman to head the organization — and the first black.

Mrs. Stephens says that the racial prejudice has been easier to fight than sex prejudice because "it's more direct." "You know what it is," she said.

"But the struggle to convince men that a woman's place isn't only in the home is pretty tough," she said.

Special Care Given Infants

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — One hundred five high-risk pregnancies under special care at Brooke Army Medical Center have produced 106 healthy babies.

"These are babies who just a few short years ago would not have a 50-50 chance of surviving," said Col. Warren Otterson, chief of the obstetrics and gynecology service at Brooke where predelivery evaluation of infants was begun in 1972.

"We just lucked out to have recorded a 100 per cent healthy survival rate during this study period," said Otterson.

He noted that at least one and one-half per cent of all pregnancies nationwide involve problems in labor or immediately after delivery.

"But the fact remains," he said, "We can practically guarantee that any baby delivered here weighing two pounds or more is going to do well in the nursery."

The Brooke success was part of a report published on the center's fetal monitoring program, one of the key procedures being used to evaluate babies before delivery.

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren

Which Matters More—Beauty Or Money?

DEAR ABBY: I have a big decision to make and I need your help. My wife died 18 months ago. She was 41, and I am 39. We never had any children as she was never strong enough.

Two women came into my life and both are pressing for marriage. One is a fine lady who could give me an easy life. By that I mean a place in society, a beautiful home and a very, very secure income. I would never have to worry about money with this lady. She is a widow who says she is 51 and she looks it—and more. She can't give me a very exciting love life, however, as she is quite dried up and not a beauty by any means.

The other woman has nothing to offer except herself. An exciting love life would be assured with this one. She is very good to look at and is only 28.

If I knew I would live to a ripe old age, I'd marry the widow, but if I could be sure I would die in 10 or 15 years from now I would marry the younger one.

Please don't leave this decision up to me. One day I think one way and the next day I change my mind. Thank you.

CAN'T DECIDE

DEAR ABBY: If you think I am going to choose your wife for you, you're mistaken. That's a choice you'll have to make yourself. Nobody knows how long he'll live, but it's wise to live as though there will be a tomorrow—because there usually is.

DEAR ABBY: I hope you won't think I am out of my mind, but I have always had the feeling that they gave me the wrong baby when I left the hospital.

The "baby" is now 15 years old and I can't get this notion out of my head.

I have the baby's little footprint on the certificate of birth, and I know footprints don't change, so I wonder if you would think I was crazy if I asked my daughter to step in some ink and make another footprint to compare to the one on her certificate?

Thank you for not laughing.

WRONG BABY MAYBE

DEAR WRONG: If it will make you feel better, go ahead. But be warned: How will you feel and what will you do if the footprints do NOT match?

DEAR ABBY: My husband had a very bad heart attack a month ago. We live in the country and there wasn't an

Male Selected For First Time

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Rick Morrow, a 6-foot, 1-inch brunette, has been chosen the first male homecoming queen at Bowling Green State University.

Morrow, dressed in a tuxedo with top hat and cane, was crowned with a circle of flowers amidst cheers and boos. He was chosen queen by a margin of just under 100 votes over the nearest contender. Some 1,500 students voted.

James Stephen Seaberry Weds Carol McPherson

DENTON — James Stephen Seaberry, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Seaberry of Azle, married Carol Anne McPherson, daughter of Mrs. Robert L. McPherson of Denton, formerly of Midland, and the late Mr. McPherson, at 4 p.m. Saturday in the First Baptist Church.

Dr. L. L. Armstrong performed the double ring ceremony. After a trip to San Antonio, the couple will reside in Denton. The bride attended Texas Tech University, where she was a member of Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority. The bridegroom was graduated from North Texas State University and has a master's degree from the University of Illinois. He is a band director with Strickland Junior High School.

Presented in marriage by her brother, David McPherson, the bride chose a gown of candlelight imported re-em-broidered Alencon lace traced with seed pearls and crystal beads applied on English net and silk chiffon. The molded bodice veiled with jeweled lace was fashioned with a high Victorian collar and long fitted Alencon lace sleeves. The slim skirt swept into a chapel train. Her mantilla edged with Alencon lace was mounted on an open coil and fell beyond the length of the train.

Mrs. Robert Hartman of Whitney, sister of the bridegroom, was the matron of honor. Patty Littleton of Houston was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Cindy Davidson and Janice Rodgers of Denton, Rebecca Peterson and Kari Tisworth of Houston and Barbara Johansen of Arlington. Alice McPherson of Denver, Colo., cousin of the bride, was the flower girl.

The father of the bridegroom was the best man. The groomsmen were Mike Hughes, John Wesson, Bill McPherson, brother of the bride, and Don Gilmore of Denton, Ronnie Taliaferro of Azle and Robert Hartman of Whitney. Seating the guests were Kenneth Glenn, Jimmy Staggs, Kim Calhoun, Dennis Glenn, Terry Wooten, Randy Banzer and Mitchell Manning. The ring bearers were Robbie McPherson of Ft. Riley, Kan., cousin of the bride, and Matt Mitchell of Azle, cousin of the bridegroom.

Virginia Woman Starts A Career

CHESAPEAKE, Va. (AP) — Brenda Scragg, 33-year-old mother of a baby daughter, has started a career she always dreamed about. She has been hired by a local funeral home as an apprentice embalmer-funeral director.

"Most little girls want to be nurses or teachers. I just always wanted to be an embalmer and funeral director," she said. "When I used to play in the sand as a child, I would always have any calories."

Toast has just as many calories as untoasted bread. Toast is bread with the water dried out, but its caloric content "When I used to play in the sand as a child, I would always have any calories."

AMARILLO — Jack Thomas Lent Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack T. Lent of 2210 Gulf St., Midland, married Toni Diane Smoker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Smoker of Amarillo, at 12 noon Saturday at St. Andrews Episcopal Church.

The Rev. Evans Moreland performed the double ring service.

Mrs. Wanda S. Dalton of Houston, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. Cynthia Lent of Midland, sister of the bridegroom, Ellen Lutz, Gayle Stephens and Kim Watkins were bridesmaids.

The best man was Bernard Lee House Jr. of Midland. Rick Bell of Austin, Gary Bittick and James Malley of Midland and David Perkins of Arlington were the groomsmen and served as ushers with Al Crowder.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of polyester organza and re-embroidered Alencon lace. The lace bodice was in Empire styling and had a wedding ring collar trimmed with seed pearls, and long Camelot sleeves. Lace motifs were scattered over the Alencon skirt. Her matching chapel-length mantilla also was edged with re-embroidered Alencon lace. She carried white carnations and roses with baby's breath and greenery.

A reception was held in the church before the couple left on a trip to New Mexico and Colorado. They will reside at

Mrs. Jack T. Lent Jr.

2717 3rd St., Apartment 1208, in Lubbock.

The bride attended Amarillo College and was graduated with honors with a bachelor of business administration degree in accounting from The University of Texas-Austin. At AC, she was a member of Phi Theta Kappa. At UT, she was a member of Beta Alpha Psi, honorary accounting society, and Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary business society.

The bridegroom is a senior petroleum engineering student at Texas Tech University. He is a member and former officer of the Student South Plains Chapter of the Society of Petroleum Engineers, American Institute of Metallurgical Engineers.

Watergate Cover-Up Trial Jury About Ready To Consider Verdict

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate cover-up trial jury is about ready to consider its verdict in the historic case that toppled Richard M. Nixon from the presidency less than two years after his landslide reelection.

In his closing argument to the jury on Friday, Chief Prosecutor James P. Nease called on the nine women and three men to "balance the accounts and close the ledger plates of Watergate."

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica said he would explain the legal points in the case to the jury Monday morning, a process expected to take two and one-half hours.

Then the jury can begin deciding whether the five defendants, including three of the most powerful figures of the Nixon administration, are guilty or innocent of charges they conspired to obstruct the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

Defendants in the trial that began Oct. 1 are former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell; ex-White House aides H. R. Halde- man and John D. Ehrlichman; former assistant Atty. Gen. Robert C. Marchan; and Kenneth W. Parkinson, one-time lawyer for Nixon's re-election committee.

All five are charged with conspiracy and all but Marchan are charged with obstruction of justice.

In addition, Mitchell is charged with three counts of lying to a grand jury and the Senate Watergate committee. Halde- man with three counts of lying to the Watergate committee and Ehrlichman with two counts of lying to a grand jury.

The grand jury that returned the indictment in the case on March 1 also named Nixon an unwitting conspirator.

Nixon was subpoenaed to testify in the trial, but Sirica ordered the case to proceed without the former president's testimony after three court-appointed doctors said Nixon should not be questioned before Jan. 6 because of his phlebotomy condition.

In addition to testimony from more than 80 witnesses, the jurors heard all or parts of 31 tapes, most of them conversations between Nixon and his top aides.

In his final words to the jury, Nease, a 44-year-old lawyer from Nashville, Tenn., said public officials "may make mistakes but they may not cover up those mistakes by misuse of government agencies... they may not, in an effort to perpetuate themselves in power, assault the temples of justice in a massive effort to obstruct justice."

"When these things occur, society must call those responsible to account."

The last defense lawyer to address the jury was Jacob Shain, attorney for Parkinson, who described his client as politically naive and repeatedly misled by Nixon re-election officials including Mitchell and Marchan.

Commissioners Court Meets Thursday

A special meeting of the Commissioners Court to handle first-of-the-year routine business is to get under way in the Commissioners Courtroom immediately following Thursday's 9 a.m. swearing-in ceremony in the District Courtroom.

The Commissioners Court presiding officer, Midland County Judge Barbara Culver, two commissioners and six other county and district elected officials are to take the oath of office in beginning new four-year terms.

Judge Perry D. Pickett of the 14th Judicial District Court is to administer the oaths to Judge Culver, Precinct 2 Commissioner Charlie Welch, Precinct 4 Commissioner Winfree Brown, Domestic Relations Court Judge Joseph Mims, County Clerk Roseanne Cherry, County Treasurer Dee Thompson, Peace Justice Robert H. Pine, County Surveyor Max Schumann, and District Court Clerk-elect Madge Wallis.

Eight of the nine were re-elected to office; Mrs. Wallis will be beginning her first term in succeeding retiring District Clerk Ruby Murray.

Items to be discussed by the Commissioners include:

- Amendments to the county's 1975 budget of $3,357,907.84. The budget was approved by the commissioners in the Aug. 26 meeting of the court.
- Setting of salaries of the county's 179 full-time employees,

According to A. W. McCanees, district director for the Internal Revenue Service in North Texas, an individual whose name appears on the list should contact the IRS office in the area where he lived at the time the return was filed.

Dallas Living Cost At 10-Year High

DALLAS (AP) — The cost of living in Dallas went up more this year than any year since the Consumer Price Index was started 10 years ago, according to federal officials.

However, the news wasn't all cloudy since the 11.6 per cent increase in Dallas was less than the national rate and less than the rise in Houston.

According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, transportation and housing were major contributors to the price index rise. Government figures showed interest rates and home purchase prices went up as well as gasoline and automobile prices.

Jack Strickland, head of the bureau's regional office here, said employment growth slackened in the Southwest as a whole. He said the region—composed of Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas—experienced a 3.9 per cent growth rate.

"Although well above the 2.2 per cent nationwide rate of growth, it was down significantly from the 5.9 per cent gain in the same period last year," Strickland said.

Rabin On Job In Shoulder Cast

TEL AVIV (AP) — Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin suffered a broken collarbone after he fell in the bathroom of his Tel Aviv home.

But the mishap Friday didn't hold the prime minister down long. After going to Tel Hashomer hospital for a shoulder cast, he went to his office and spent the morning working, state radio said.

Escapee Is Facing Murder Charges

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP) — A prison escapee accused of killing two women hostages at a farmhouse faces murder charges that could bring the death penalty. Officials say the man admitted killing the women after they fought his sexual advances.

Tiley Mosley Jr., 39, was charged Friday with two counts of murder under a law reinstating the death penalty in Indiana. He was also charged with rape and commission of a felony while armed.

Meanwhile, Gov. Otis R. Bowen ordered a re-evaluation of how inmates are assigned to minimum security jobs — the status which Mosley had at an honor prison farm near here from which he escaped Thursday.

He was serving a 10-20 year sentence for a 1960 knife robbery and worked as houseboy to the civilian manager of the farm, Lawrence Schopmeyer. Authorities said prison authorities described Mosley as a "model" inmate and an avid Bible student. They said he apparently stole a loaded pistol from Schopmeyer in the escape.

State prison officials suspended Schopmeyer without pay pending an investigation.

Porter County Prosecutor Robert Bornholt said he received a signed statement from Mosley in which he admitted raping Mrs. Marian Napierala, 54, and attempting to rape her oldest daughter, Gayle, 19, while holding them and another daughter hostage at their farmhouse.

The prosecutor said Mosley told of shooting Mrs. Napierala and Gayle after herding them into a bedroom and ordering Gayle to undress.

"Apparently he was going to rape her at this point when, he said, the women tried to stop him, and when they did that, he started shooting," Bornholt said. He surrendered later to police surrounding the house.

Another daughter, 17-year-old Cynthia, broke away and fled. She described Mosley as a "model" inmate and an avid Bible student. They said he ap-

Crocket County gained an oil discovery and Concho County a gas discovery.

Gulf Oil Corp. has completed its No. 1-J P. Bouscaren, et al., four miles southwest of the depleted one-well Quentana (Ellenburger) field of Crockett County, as an Ellenburger oil discovery.

On a 24-hour pumping potential test, it produced 104.9 barrels of 42.7-gravity oil, no water, with gas-oil ratio measuring 306-1.

Production was through perforations at 8,143-8,188 feet, which had been washed with 250 gallons of mud acid, and acidized with 2,500 gallons.

Drilled to 3,165 feet, where 5 1/2-inch casing is set, it was plugged back to 3,161 feet.

Located six miles north of Iran, the well is 864 feet from north and 611 feet from east lines of section 37, block HH, GC&SF survey.

Concho Discovery
Fort Worth Production Co., operating out of Fort Worth, has completed No. 1 W. F. Meisner as a Gas line gas discovery, in Concho County, 1 1/4 miles northwest of the Point Rock, South (Glen) line gas opener and lone producer, and six miles south of Point Rock.

Calculated, absolute open flow was 3.68 million cubic feet of dry gas per day. Production was through perforations at 3,469-3,471 feet, which had been acidized with 2,000 gallons.

Blowout Prevention
School Beginning
March 1 At OU

NORMAN, Okla. — An oil well blowout prevention systems school will be offered beginning March 1, through the University of Oklahoma's college of engineering.

It will be only the second such university-sponsored school in the world. A similar school is operated by Louisiana State University at Baton Rouge.

Dr. Henry B. Crichlow, director of the OU school of petroleum and geological engineering, said the energy crisis and resulting stepped-up activity in the oil drilling field have led to a greater need for qualified people on the rig floor to help prevent blow-outs.

The school will supplement classroom instruction with hands-on training at an abandoned well which has been purchased by OU in the Norman area.

Two schools of three days each will be offered each week during 40 weeks of the year, through the Oklahoma center for continuing education. The OU school will train 800 to 700 men each year.

The school will become self-supporting, but is being established in part with funds from a $25,000 grant from the Noble Foundation of Ardmore, Okla., and a $50,000 grant from the International Association of Drilling Contractors. In addition, various oil well equipment manufacturers have donated more than $400,000 worth of equipment to the school.

Aubyn N. Griffith, a 1933 engineering graduate of OU, will direct the school's operation. Griffith has been a drilling engineer since 1936, and has supervised drilling operations on four continents and in six foreign countries.

Shell Report Stresses Need For Conserving Heating Oil

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP) — Shell Oil Co. estimates that, barring further major disruptions, the nation's winter oil supply should be adequate.

"But if demand were to resume its former rate of increase, there could easily be a shortage," Shell reports.

"Furthermore, it is important to remember that any estimate of available supplies could be reversed totally by action of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC)."

Two New Papers
Shell has released two new papers in its series of reports on petroleum trends. The first traces the history of OPEC. The second discusses OPEC's impact on a developing period of fluctuation and instability.

"The current picture of a modest over-supply of oil is deceptive in that it leads to the conclusion adequate supplies will always be there when they are needed," Shell reports.

"This is not true. The same factors that led to last winter's crisis still exist today, with the exception of one: Consumption, which is considerably lower worldwide. This is one factor over which the importing nations have control and this control must be exercised."

Firmer Policy Needed
The report adds that the United States, in moving toward a reasonable degree of energy self-sufficiency, must adopt policies which will cushion the effect of short-term fluctuations in supply.

"One essential is to agree with other oil-importing countries on a mechanism for sharing shortages in the event of severe disruptions," the report continues. "Such an agreement in itself would make interruptions less likely."

Listed as another essential is the adoption of measures designed to maintain sufficient supply levels to protect the United States during periods of supply disruption.

Reserve Storage Capacity
"Shell believes the establishment of reserve storage capacity is necessary to maintain the desired level of supply, along with use of fully developed Naval Petroleum Reserves," the report adds.

Shell says one of the reasons the United States had adequate energy supplies last summer can be traced to a drastic reduction in oil consumption in Europe.

With higher prices thought to be a major factor, Europeans used an estimated eight percent less oil in the first half of 1974 than in 1973. By comparison, U.S. consumption was down about five per cent.

Consumption Climbing
Shell says that despite efforts by many individual consumers to reduce their use of oil, consumption is climbing.

Museum Officials
Thank Windecker
For Free Space

Windecker Industries, Inc., has been given a formal expression of thanks by Midland's new petroleum museum.

For more than 18 months Windecker has provided rent-free space to the museum for use in constructing its Permian Marine exhibit, a 1,600-square foot diorama.

A resolution adopted by the executive committee of the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, on behalf of the board of trustees, reads:

"The officers and directors of Windecker Industries, Inc., have, for a period of many months, made available to the museum, at no cost, space and other facilities for construction of one of the museum's main exhibits."

"This very generous action, following a previously unsuccessful search for a suitable area, has made possible the proper building of this exhibit at a cost less than would otherwise have been the case."

"The warm thanks of the museum are hereby extended to Windecker Industries, Inc., and to the many persons associated with it who have shown interest in our project."

Museum sources said construction work on the diorama would be moved to the museum's new building within the next few weeks.

modest over-supply of oil is deceptive in that it leads to the conclusion adequate supplies will always be there when they are needed," Shell reports.

TULSA — Harold E. Berg has resigned as president of Skelly Oil Co., effective Tuesday, and executive vice president James E. Hara has been elected to succeed him as chief executive officer of the company on Wednesday.

Hara was elected executive vice president of Skelly in 1963. Robert N. Miller has been elected by the board of directors to succeed Hara in that post. Miller currently is group vice president for exploration and production.

Hara has spent his entire oil industry career with Skelly. He joined the firm in 1948 as a staff attorney in Texas and was elected a director in 1961.

Paul J. Vaananen, group vice president, will fill the board vacancy created by Berg's resignation.

sumption in this country is climbing back to pre-storbo levels.

"In June, total U.S. consumption was only 1.6 per cent below the 1973 pace, while in July the gap closed to only 0.3 per cent below the 1973 level," the report states. "Consumption in August was 3.2 per cent below 1973, but only 0.7 per cent below during September."

Shell says the growing natural gas shortfall is a significant factor contributing to the potential increase in demand for oil. Despite allowing for maximum substitution of nuclear and coal, Shell estimates there could still be a shortage of 3.7 trillion cubic feet a year from now. This would be the equivalent of 1.8 million barrels of oil a day, compared with the current equivalent of about one million barrels a day.

"The fact remains that energy consumption must be held at lower levels to maintain a reasonable balance with energy supplies and to reduce the impact of high-priced imported oil on the U.S. balance of payments," Shell adds.

"If energy-saving measures are abandoned in the face of apparent adequate supply, another crisis could easily be in the making."

Financing Major Problem
Confronting Gas Industry

TULSA—Financing has joined be adding almost 1 billion cubic feet of gas daily to domestic supply, according to estimates solve if it is to avoid a shrinking of a Natural Gas Survey task force. In 1965, that volume should increase fourfold to 1.3 trillion cubic feet a year. And the regulatory and financial ob-volume is projected at 2.9 trillion cubic feet a year in 1990.

All this will require a huge amount of money for new plants and pipelines to move the gas to customers. For example, two SNG projects in New Mexico list capital requirements of more than $1 billion to produce a combined 540 million cubic feet of gas daily from coal.

Developers, meantime, are hard pressed to raise capital at current depressed prices for issues on the stock market. And moneylenders are unwilling to finance projects in which costs and technological success are uncertain.

Tight capital threatens to delay if not abort the birth of the SNG from coal industry, the Journal says. Unless regulators guarantee recovery of costs for developers, investors say they can't come up with the money for this major supplement to bridge the gap between shrinking natural gas supply and demand.

The future of SNG — if there is any near-term future — will be determined by the outcome of the two New Mexico projects, currently under application with the Federal Power Commission. The issue FPC must decide is whether developers or their customers will bear the financial risk of pioneering projects.

Developers say the projects can't be financed under terms set forth by FPC examiners. These terms, subject to review by the full commission, impose the risk on developers.

But pipeline companies point out that bankers won't lend the required capital without assurance of repayment, and project sponsors can't give that assurance without guarantees that costs will be recouped.

Adobe Acquires
Aberdeen Stock

Adobe Oil & Gas Corp. has announced that it has acquired all of the outstanding 200,000 shares of Class "B" stock of Aberdeen Petroleum Corp., Tulsa, Okla., and that Aberdeen's directors and management have been changed.

Lawrence N. Hurwitz resigned as chief executive officer and director. B. J. Pevehouse, president of Adobe, is now president, chief executive officer and director of Aberdeen. The other new directors are Robert F. Dwyer, M. D. Rogers and Loyd Whitley, who are also directors of Adobe.

Adobe stated that pursuant to its earlier tender offer, it had acquired 477,123 shares or 51 per cent of the outstanding Class "A" stock of Aberdeen.

Aberdeen's headquarters offices in the Beacon Building in Tulsa are to be moved to Adobe's offices in Midland early next year.

WASHINGTON OIL— Energy Forecast For Less Supply At Greater Cost

By CLYDE LA MOTTE
Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent

WASHINGTON — It seems quite likely now that in 1975 this nation will begin tightening its energy belt, learning to live with less, at a far higher cost. It's not an easy lesson for a people long accustomed to unlimited supplies at low prices.

The prospect is that this belt-tightening will continue for at least the next decade because there are no quick, easy solutions in sight.

The hope that the Middle East producing nations would cut their prices back substantially has just about vanished.

The myth that the big oil companies have been sitting on vast supplies of oil and gas in this country in order to jack up prices and profits has been for the most part exploded.

What is becoming generally recognized is that the nation faces a long, costly road if it hopes to reach any semblance of energy independence.

The first step will be to reduce consumption because there is no way to increase supplies in the immediate future.

This will be done by mandatory measures. The public responds when there is an outright emergency, as it did last winter during the gasoline shortage. But voluntary reduction is a spotty, un dependable approach for a problem stretching over the years.

The hope is that the mandatory reductions will simply eliminate wasteful and excessive uses of our supply of energy fuels. But the reality is that any effective reduction is going to go deeper than that. If so, it will have an impact on the nation's standard of living.

The shortage of domestic supplies, coupled with the increasing economic strain of paying for more and more imports at higher and higher prices, undoubtedly increases the danger of a worsening recession or an outright major depression.

The nation, which failed to fully develop its own domestic energy resources when its economy was strong, now faces the problem of attempting to do so at a time its economy is weakening.

One obvious hurdle will be the problem of raising the necessary capital for the big task of developing supplementary supplies of energy fuels in the years ahead.

The electric utilities are already face-to-face with that problem and some are being forced to curtail plans for expansion of facilities at the very Junel.

With this mood prevalent in Congress, the Ford administration's blueprint for action on the energy front may be a cautious one, its emphasis largely on restricting consumption.

In other words, the nation isn't likely in 1975 to rally behind an all-out effort to move this country toward energy self-sufficiency. At least that's the way it looks in Washington in the closing days of 1974.

$5 Million Suit Filed By Area Firm

BIG SPRING — A $5 million law suit filed in 118th District Court last week in connection with foreclosure on Big Spring's Coronado Plaza Shopping Center has named three defendants.

A Big Spring corporation, Scenic Gardens, Inc., is seeking damages from defendants Sam D. Levenson of Lubbock, the Central National Bank of San Angelo and its president, Frank Junel.

The number of rotary rigs operating in the Permian Basin Empire decreased slightly last week, dropping to 263 from the previous week's tally of 266 units.

In a similar week one year ago, 227 rigs were active in the area.

Reed Drilling Equipment's Friday survey showed Eddy and Lea counties in Southeast New Mexico tying for the lead place, with 26 rigs operating in each of the counties. Pecos County was runner-up, with 25. Ward time more expansion is needed. The rapid increase in costs has also slowed down plans for shale oil plants and other facilities.

The petroleum industry is in the best position of all to help with supply in the near future but even this effort will take time and money. Domestic production in 1975 will continue to decline and it's likely to be two or three years under favorable conditions before any real upturn can be expected.

It's not at all clear now just how favorable those conditions will be.

Many members of Congress oppose such moves as deregulation of the wellhead prices of new natural gas or the removal of the existing ceiling on "old" crude oil supplies. Their reasoning is that this simply will mean higher prices to consumers with little or no tangible results in increasing supplies.

What is more likely is that Congress will pass legislation to eliminate percentage depletion and that it will seek to make sure that oil company profits are restricted.

With this mood prevalent in Congress, the Ford administration's blueprint for action on the energy front may be a cautious one, its emphasis largely on restricting consumption.

In other words, the nation isn't likely in 1975 to rally behind an all-out effort to move this country toward energy self-sufficiency. At least that's the way it looks in Washington in the closing days of 1974.

Jerry Epperson, owner, started the business at the many requests of his friends in Midland. He opened the photo lab on August second this year and already has reached the financial goal set for the end of the year in order to stay in business. Jerry and his wife, Charmy, manager, want the customers who have made this possible to know they appreciate the business.

Jerry's Photo Lab processes Kodacolor 2 print film and offers seven-hour service on it. If Kodacolor 2 print film is in the lab by 9 a.m., pictures will be out by 4 p.m. A gift of appreciation, an album page, will be given with the Kodacolor processed prints.

Jerry had eleven years of experience in Odessa before he decided to open the much needed shop in Midland. As all prints are processed in the shop, the possibility of film being ruined by overheating in route or on a plane is eliminated.

Besides the processing of Kodacolor 2 print film, Jerry's offers other services as well. He offers four or five days service on movies, slides and foreign brand film. Black and white film will be processed in 24 hours. Jerry's also sells film and albums.

As Jerry's is a Kodak dealership, anything that needs to go to Kodak will be handled for you. Jerry's uses Kodak paper and chemistry in his processing of your film.

Many times Jerry has been asked if he handles the photo lab in Midland. He does not handle the photo lab, but he services people directly with Kodacolor 2 print film being processed in the lab at 3205 D West Wadley, giving seven-hour service.

"If you value your holiday pictures, let someone who cares enough to do them right, process them. We care enough," Jerry said. "This is not a sideline business. This is our only business. Our desire is to serve you promptly, with care, and with the best picture possible. We value your patronage."

Visit Jerry's Photo Lab, a business in Midland by demand, at 3205 D West Wadley or call Jerry or Charmy at 694-1221 about Kodacolor 2 film processing, as well as your other film and processing needs.

Fugitives Master Technique Of Going 'Underground'

By PETER ARNETT
AP Special Correspondent

Vanished. Patricia Hearst. Her companions in revolution, William and Emily Harris.

Add to the list Bernardine Doherty, Dwight Armstrong, Susan Saxe, Katherine Ann Power and other political radicals from the late 1960s, some of them permanent entries on the FBI's "10 Most Wanted" list.

All running from the law. All successful at it.

They seem to have mastered the art of "going underground," as the fugitive life in America has been called.

New Facts Emerge

As more fugitives are apprehended or turn themselves in — two surrendered recently, Jane Alpert and Barry Stein, who jumped bail four years ago following charges of politically related crimes — more is being learned about the underground phenomena.

And the people involved are talking more freely as passions cool over the Vietnam war that spawned the radical movement and the underground life.

In addition to the "about 30" political fugitives still wanted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, there are thousands of other people successfully on the run in America, some sought on criminal charges, others wanted by collection agencies, husbands, and wives and parents.

And the key to their disappearance, the first step in "going underground" successfully, is becoming a completely different person.

"If I'm looking for a fugitive these days I assume he will have a false identity," said a senior FBI agent in Washington.

Dead Person's Name Used

Fugitive Barry Stein, on the run from charges of mob action and resisting arrest following the militant Weathermen's "Day of Rage" riots in Chicago in October 1969, began his transformation by picking the name of a dead person — Daniel Wight — from the obituary columns of a newspaper. From then on, it was easy to get identity documents.

"The basic document is the birth certificate," said the FBI agent. "With it you can apply for a driver's license in that name, a library card, a passport with your own picture in it. This puts a protective shield around a person."

Some criminals, particularly check forgers, have been arrested with four or five completely different identities. "Respectable" Life Lived

But Barry Stein needed only one. It was sound enough for him to live as Daniel Wight, a respected citizen of a Vermont community, where he established the successful "Green Mountain Health Center" that helped in Planned Parenthood and other activities. He surrendered in November.

Jane Alpert, who jumped bail and disappeared following her conviction or conspiracy in a series of bombings in Manhattan in 1969, told court officials after her surrender in November that she had been living a "respectable" life and holding down a "respectable" job for most of the past four years. Considering her notoriety, it seems unlikely she lived under her own name in that period. She hasn't described her life underground.

Becoming another person is the first step toward going underground. Staying that way is much more difficult.

Numerous fugitives have talked of the terrible fear of detection when they first flee. "I was paranoid. I was stumbling over furniture, tripping over things, always looking over my shoulder. I was so scared," said fugitive Tom Smidt in an interview with a New York radio station, WBAI. He was fearful even though at the time of the interview, he was hiding one thousand miles from his home state in a house at the end of a 47-mile long dirt road.

Tom was fleeing charges raising from his participation in draft card burning on Chicago's South Side in May 1969.

Freedom Included

But as Tom's sister Linda — also interviewed by WBAI — discovered when she traveled with her brother: "I thought going underground meant hiding in a basement forever, but I found we could ultimately travel around freely. It was more a state of mind."

But the fear and suspicion rarely disappears. "On the run you are always waiting for someone to get you," said a senior FBI agent. "You don't have a clear conscience. One guy turned himself into me because he kept seeing FBI agents in the bars where he drank, and on the streets."

It was the "psychological difficulties" with her fugitive life that convinced Jane Alpert that she should surrender, said one of her lawyers.

And these difficulties include

FEA Allocation Of Fuel Orders Remains Effective

DALLAS — All fuel allocation orders issued by the Dallas office of the Federal Energy Administration (FEA) are effective until expiration of the program and do not expire Dec. 31, 1974, unless otherwise stated, Delbert M. Fowler of Dallas, regional administrator for the Federal Energy Administration, said Saturday.

Fowler said the FEA office in Dallas has had a number of inquiries from representatives of petroleum firms who had the misconception that all allocation orders expired at the end of the current calendar year.

"This is absolutely not true," declared Fowler. "Any orders we have made from this office remain in effect until the end of the program or until some official change is made in writing from this office," he added.

Allocations are made for each month, explained Fowler, noting that the allocation for any given month remains the same unless an official change is made by the Dallas office of FEA or until the program expires.

For instance, the January 1975 allocation will remain the same as for January 1974, unless some official change is made.

The Dallas office is responsible for the petroleum allocation program for the southwestern United States, which comprises Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

the lesson that fugitives quickly have to learn: old friends and family have to be ditched, along with your old Social Security card number.

It is through family, friends and past associates that the FBI has tracked down numerous fugitives. Angela Davis was on the "10 Most Wanted" list for less than two months in 1970 because agents quickly tracked her to a New York City hotel by watching her old acquaintances.

Fugitive Tom Smidt said in his WBAI interview that he maintained contact with his conservative family. In a small Minnesota town, just south of Minneapolis, although his father had told him over the telephone six months after he fled, "If I knew where you were, I would turn you in."

"Safe Houses" Used

Fearful of associating with old friends and family, worried about recognition in public, where do fugitives go?

Initially, when the heat is on, to "safe houses" where sympathizers ask no questions. "It is a trusting thing," said Rosalie Ritz, a freelance journalist who claims to know a number of political fugitives. She is currently proprietor of the Upstairs Art Association in Oakland, Calif., an organization of artists and writers who work in poor neighborhoods.

"It is like the South in the old days when blacks could go from town to town and stay in friendly homes because they were denied hotel rooms. Today in every university campus community there are people known as sympathetic, people you know are not undercover cops."

Miss Ritz said, "It is not organized. It does not mean belonging to an organization. The word gets around the country. Maybe graduate students moving from one campus to another carry the word. It is like a family thing."

Many Would Help Patty

She ran a poll amongst her friends recently, asking what they would do if Patty Hearst knocked on their door one night asking for refuge. "Most people said they would take her in," Miss Ritz said.

What about charges of aiding and abetting criminals? "You might ask what tempts the average person into becoming an accessory. It boils down to us against them, us people against the oppressive establishment."

The lack of FBI success in apprehending more than a handful of the political fugitives seems to demonstrate the effectiveness of the underground in initially shielding those running from the law.

The longer the fugitive is out of sight, the deeper the cover becomes. An FBI spokesman said virtually nothing has been heard about two women who have been on the "10 Most Wanted" list since October 1970, Katherine Ann Power and Susan Saxe. Both are charged with armed robbery of two banks, purportedly to finance underground political activities.

Cover Can Be Blown

Authorities are wondering whether both might be dead. But even the deepest cover can be blown by a rash act.

One of the seven draft card burners who fled Chicago with Tom Smidt later was arrested during an armed robbery attempt.

Fleeing members of the Symbionese Liberation Army were located in a Los Angeles ghetto this summer after a van they used in a supermarket holdup was traced to the area where they were hiding. FBI agents tracked them down, and there was a deadly shootout.

Black Panther Rap Brown was arrested during a New York robbery.

One key to finding political fugitives is the fingerprint, and the fugitives are conscious of this. "I am always aware of possibly leaving my fingerprints around," said Tom Smidt. "They could be used to track me down."

Study Shows Shortages, Economic Woes Cause International Mistrust

WASHINGTON (AP) — The world's natural resources will not be exhausted soon but raw material shortages and economic instability are leading to potential mistrust and conflict among nations, a White House study says.

"The best available data and analysis indicate there are ample materials in the earth's crust to meet the world's needs for nearly every material well beyond the remainder of this century," said the study made public Friday.

"Many areas of the world are only now being explored for mineral potential. Vast untapped resources are likely to exist in arctic regions, many parts of the USSR, China, the Amazon basin and other areas."

"In addition, the mineral potential of the oceans is considerable... Although the oceans' potential may not be tapped in the near future, the technology of seabed mining is advancing."

The study, conducted by the National Security Council and the Council on International Economic Policy with the cooperation of other government departments and agencies, was ordered last March by former President Richard M. Nixon.

It focused on U.S. dependence on imports of a number of critical minerals and natural rubber and concluded that this country is relatively well off, counting on imports for about 15 per cent of consumption.

This compares with 75 per cent dependence by Western Europe and 90 per cent by Japan.

But the report said that after two decades of relative economic stability, a period of turmoil and uncertainty has developed, sparked by what it termed exorbitant oil price boosts.

It said that similar embargoes and supply interruptions are possible, although they have been rare in the past.

It said that since the end of the Korean war, "... There have been few true cartels in the minerals field... and only a single successful one, in diamonds. Cartels usually break up as a result of deterioration in their monopoly position as consumers substitute other materials and new suppliers enter the market at lower prices."

"Although few generalizations about these 19 critical materials are possible, it is clear that none of them approaches petroleum in terms of its significance to the economy."

The study noted that Canada, Australia and South Africa are the major U.S. suppliers of these materials, ranging from aluminum to zinc, and said it is unlikely that any of the three would impose an embargo against this country, Europe or Japan.

But the study noted that governments around the world have had to cope with a number of extraordinary events—poor harvests, the global economic boom and crude oil price hikes. These events have resulted in spiraling inflation, unstable markets and shifts in income, the report said.

Finch Throws Hat In Ring For Senate Seal

SAN MARINO, Calif. (AP) — Robert H. Finch, a former presidential counselor and one-time HEW secretary, has declared his candidacy as a Republican senatorial candidate.

It he wins the nomination, he would oppose Sen. John V. Tunney in 1976.

Finch said Friday he entered the race early because of the pressure of the economy, to boost the Republican image and make a statement on the new campaign financing law.

He said running against Tunney would be a "classic confrontation" and the new finance law made a "one-to-one campaign the only way to go."

You're not going to see the paid media campaigns of the past."

The 49-year-old lawyer resigned in 1972 after serving for President Richard M. Nixon as secretary of health, education and welfare and later as an adviser with cabinet rank.

Boy Found In New Mexico

TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES, N.M. (AP) —

Joseph Cordova, 14, says he had to use the .22 rifle he was carrying to fight off coyotes while lost in the snow-covered plains near here.

A German-shepherd search dog named the Albuquerque youth, missing since Christmas day, out of a snowbank Friday about 25 miles east of Truth or Consequences.

The boy was hunting rabbits with his father and brother when he became separated in a storm that dumped nearly a foot of snow.

The youth was taken to St. Ann's Hospital in T or C Friday afternoon, where he was reported in fair condition.

"He has a cut on his right eye and his toes may be frost-bitten," a hospital spokesman said.

The boy's father, David J. Cordova, said, "He said he knew I'd be mad if he didn't make it."

"I knew you'd find me Dad. I spent three days and two nights in the cold. But I knew you'd come," Joseph told his father.

Joseph was wearing a windbreaker, sweatshirt and insulated underwear when he became lost. The boy said he killed three rabbits, and the scent apparently attracted coyotes.

"The coyotes kept coming closer," the boy said. "At first I threw the rabbits at them, then I had to shoot the coyotes with my rifle."

The boy apparently wandered aimlessly on the plains west of the San Andres Mountains.

"When I got so sleepy I couldn't keep moving. I found some branches and covered over a place in a ravine to help keep the cold off," the boy said.

Temperatures dipped to 10 degrees.

Joseph said he first was located at mid-morning by a dog named Roman, and its owner, Lisa Stone of Albuquerque.

Sierra County Sheriff Charles Cox said the boy was found in an area that had been heavily searched by more than 100 volunteers.

Earlier Friday the sheriff said he had just about given up hope of finding the boy alive because of the snow and sub-freezing temperatures.

Rescuers combed the area on horses and in four-wheel-drive vehicles and snowmobiles. Two airplanes also were used in the search, sheriff's officers said.

That trade agreement bogged down in Congress when Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., led a drive to deny the Soviets most favored nation status unless they lifted restrictions on emigration, mainly of Jews seeking exit visas for Israel.

Jackson recently dropped his opposition, saying that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger had negotiated an understanding under which the Kremlin would let about 60,000 Jews emigrate annually. The bill passed with provisions tying trade advantages to eased emigration.

But Soviet officials hotly denied any understanding and accused Congress of unwarranted interference in the internal affairs of the Soviet Union. The official Soviet press fired off a series of sharp attacks on the bill, of which Zamyatin's is the latest.

we're the best team in the NFL against the rush and Minnesota will have to run successfully to beat us," says Los Angeles defensive end Fred Dryer.

But Dryer admits difficulty in defending wild Fran Tarkenton, the veteran Minnesota quarterback who can run and pass with damaging ease. His experience is far greater than that of Los Angeles signal caller James Harris, and this could mean the difference between southern delicacies and turkey dinners in a long, cold offseason.

Just one footnote to the 1954 Cotton Bowl. Everyone remembers Lewis coming off the bench to tackle Maagle on a freak play that overshadowed Maagle's great day. The Rice back ran 34, 73 and 85 yards for touchdowns, gained 285 yards rushing and averaged 24.1 yards per carry. A major bowl rushing record that, as far as we know, still stands.

OVER BAYLOR IN COTTON BOWL—

Penn State 4-Point Pick

DALLAS (AP) — Baylor, 10-1, has a 4-1-1 record in post-season play since he took the helm here, makes a historic first appearance in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day against favored Penn State, a perennial Eastern powerhouse no stranger to the Texas classic.

Penn State ripped Texas 30-6 in the 1972 Cotton Bowl and tied Southern Methodist 13-13 in the 1968 game.

"We like coming to Texas because everyone is so cordial," said Joe Paterno, the head coach of the Nittany Lions, who has a nine-year record of 84-15-1.

The Nittany Lions enter the game seventh ranked while Baylor, a late-comer in the SWC race, was 12th ranked.

Penn State rates a four-point favorite with some 10,000 Nittany Lion fans making the long trek from College Park, Pa.

Delirious Baylor fans have snapped up every ticket in sight and some 35,000 of their supporters should be in the bowl. A sellout crowd of some 72,000 was assured for the 1 p.m. CST kickoff.

Both teams feature wide open offenses with more than creditable ground games.

Penn State, which ended the season with an impressive 31-0 victory over Pittsburgh on national television Thanksgiving night, is guided by senior quarterback Tom Shuman.

Shuman is second on the school's all-time passing yardage chart. Paterno has employed three different tailbacks with fullbacks Tom Doncher and Duane Taylor logging most of the ball-carrying duties from the Wing-T attack. Flanker Jimmy Cefalo, a freshman, has carried the ball 53 times.

Defensive tackle Mike Hartenstein leads a rugged defense. Paterno says of his All-American defender "He's played as well as anyone we've ever had as defensive tackle."

Penn State lost 7-6 to Navy in the mud and 12-7 to North Carolina State in what Paterno had proclaimed "a major rebuilding year."

Baylor's amazing Bears are led by a senior quarterback Neal Jeffrey, who has a strong arm and a knack for moving the team, and stumpy Steve Beaird, a 5-foot, 6½-inch tailback, the first 1,000-yard-gainer in the school's history.

Jeffrey, despite the handicap of a speech impediment which he has largely overcome in four years at Baylor, is the school's most prolific passer.

The Bears lost only to Oklahoma, Missouri and the Texas Aggies.

Beaird drew the praise of Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer in a 28-9 hard-earned victory by the Sooners.

"That little midget almost killed us," said Switzer of the 200-pound Beaird who turns the tiniest crack of daylight into five yards.

The Cotton Bowl Classic started in 1906. Baylor last won the SWC title in 1924 so has been unable to be the host in the bowl although the Bears have been to seven post-season classics.

Baylor has a 4-3 bowl record, defeating Louisiana State 14-7 in the last outing for the Waco, Tex., school in 1963.

"We're excited to say the least about being in the Cotton Bowl and playing Penn State, a team which very well coached," said Teaff. "In fact, both teams remind me a lot of each other on film. It should be a wide open game."

Blocked Punt Paces East Win

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) —

All-American Randy White of Maryland blocked a punt to start the East on a second half comeback Saturday, and Central Michigan's Mike Frankowiak kicked a 32-yard field goal with 4:35 remaining to give the team a 16-14 victory in the 50th Shrine East-West Game.

The East trailed 14-0 at halftime but struck back with two unusual touchdowns and closed the gap to 14-13 by early in the final quarter.

Defensive tackle White blocked a punt by Washington's Skip Boyd, and the ball was deflected into the arms of East linebacker Terry McCowry of Michigan State, who ran 16 yards for a touchdown on the weird punt return.

After Michigan All-American David Brown intercepted a pass by California All-American Steve Bartkowski and returned the ball 36 yards, the East drove 35 yards for its second touchdown. Brad Davis of Louisiana State scored on a 10-yard run, scooping the football off the ground after Michigan quarterback Dennis Franklin fumbled the snap from center.

Frankowiak missed the extra-point attempt after Davis' touchdown early in the fourth quarter, but came through with the winning field goal which was set up by the interception of another Bartkowski pass.

The West dominated the first half when Bartkowski threw a 34-yard touchdown pass to Morris Owens of Arizona State, and Jim McMillen of Boise State tossed a 10-yard touchdown pass to Oscar Roan of Southern Methodist.

Harrell, who had several long gains on runs and pass receptions on the West touchdown drives, was named the outstanding offensive player in the game. And Grambling defensive tackle Gary Johnson, also of the West, was selected as the best defensive player.

The game was played in cool, breezy weather before a Stanford Stadium crowd of 42,000.

Sloan Praises Tech

ATLANTA (AP) —

Van first bowl game since 1955. The season marked only his second as a head coach.

But Carlen, whose Red Raiders finished 6-4-1, said there were too many errors.

"The kids played as hard as they could, but mistakes killed us just like they have all year," said Carlen.

"On the series right before the half we only had less than a yard and we felt we could make that in three cracks. We felt if we followed our lead back, we could get it in the end zone. But Vanderbilt made three great plays and we didn't get the score we should have."

Sloan, 36, led his team to a 7-3-1 record this year and its four of his five years at Tech. Saturday's game was his last there before moving to South Carolina as head coach.

Vanderbilt's first score came on a 31-yard field goal by Mark Adams. Tech's Brian Hall tied the contest in the third quarter and evened the game again from 36 yards out with only 2:21 left after Adams had put the Commodores ahead with 5:06 to go.

"I think both offenses made the big plays out in the field but weren't able to make big plays down toward the goal line," said Sloan. "I thought it would be a close game, but I didn't think it would be that low-scoring."

Carlen has led the Lubbock, Tex., team to postseason bowls

IN HOBBS TOURNAMENT—

Pack Takes 3rd, 62-52

By BOB DILLON

R-T Sports Writer

HOBBS, N.M. — The Midland Bulldogs erupted for 20 points in the final period to down El Paso Burges, 62-52, Saturday night in Ralph Tasker Arena to win third in the 17th annual Hobbs Holiday Basketball Tournament.

Coach James Cagle's Pack, which lost to Eastwood Friday night by hitting only eight of 20 free throws, won Saturday night at the charity line, connecting on 16 of 22.

Michael Cobb dumped in 22 points and Donnie Roberts added 15 with nine of those coming in the final period. Roberts hit 7 of 8 free throws during the surge.

Burges was led by Ron Doyle and Don Fiegel with 14 and 12, respectively.

Midland held a 48-44 lead with 5:10 left and then went on to whip the Border City five with some fine inside shooting.

The closest Burges came in the final eight minutes was when Bernard Semon hit a pair of free throws to cut the Midland lead to 51-50 with 3:47 left.

Roberts hit a pair of free throws and then added two more for a 55-50 advantage with 2:06 left. Cobb hit two free throws and then hit from under the basket on a fast break to open a 58-50 lead with 1:03 left. Roberts added two free throws and Cobb one to wind up the scoring and give Midland an 11-5 season record. Midland plays Seminole Monday night at the MHS gym.

In games earlier in the day, El Paso Jeff beat Odessa, 108-51, for consolation honors, and Plainview ripped Alamogordo, N.M., 68-51, for seventh place. Jefferson had lost to Midland, 70-46, but stormed back to whip Plainview in the second round. Hobbs and Eastwood met in the finals.

THE QUOTE BOOK—

Grant Claims Vikings, Rams Emotionally Ready

"Emotion is a very important part of the game," Minnesota Coach Bud Grant said as his team prepared for its National Football Conference final with Los Angeles today. "I think the Rams and ourselves both know what we want and are emotionally prepared. Teams like Buffalo and St. Louis appeared to be emotionally used up when they got to the playoffs."

Running back Chuck Foreman of the Vikings added, "We certainly didn't play our best football last year in the Super Bowl. We'll be a lot better prepared if we make it again."

Oakland Raider guard Gene Upshaw said, "Our offensive line has to handle their front four. The game will come down to that," referring to the American Football Conference showdown with the Pittsburgh Steelers. "What they like to do is shut down the run and get ahead of you so you have to go to the air. Then those tough rushers will lay back their ears and come at you like tigers."

Coach John Madden, however, is wary of Steeler quarterback Terry Bradshaw. "Terry gives them a double threat. He can run the ball or throw it." Linebacker Dan

Conners figures Terry is the key to victory. "If we're to win, we'll have to stop him."

The Steelers feel they must stop wide receiver Fred Biletnikoff. "We'll try not to give Ken Stabler too much time to throw the ball. Biletnikoff can run his comeback patterns when the quarterback has a lot of time," said Coach Chuck Noll.

Steeler wide receiver Ron Shanklin adds, "A lot of receivers don't have the patience or willingness to do it. He's the master everyone would like to emulate on that particular technique."

Jim (Catfish) Hunter's shopping list was down to eight teams as major league teams continued to bid for the Cy Young Award-winning pitcher's services for next season.

Dropping out of the bidding were Detroit, Baltimore, Cincinnati, and St. Louis while San Francisco was the only club that made no bid of any sort for Hunter. Left are the New York Mets, Chicago Cubs, Minnesota, Atlanta, Oakland, Houston and Chicago White Sox.

Hunter reiterated Friday he would never play for the A's while Charles O. Finley was the team's owner.

Mississippi State Wins—

vision audience viewed the contest which lived up to its advance billing as an "explosion in the sun."

Finish 7-5

The Tar Heels of the Atlantic Coast Conference won a similar Sun Bowl battle two years ago when they beat Texas Tech 22-28. They wound up 7-5 for the year.

With the sun beating on the wet field, what looked like steam rose and rolled across the stadium floor as the Bulldogs took the opening kickoff and swept 75 yards in six plays for a touchdown, propelled by Vitrano's 55-yard scamper and climaxed by Packer's run from the one.

North Carolina roared back with the ensuing kickoff, reeling off 80 yards in six excursions with Betterson scooting the final play after a 50-yard pass from Kupec to split end Pat Norton.

Nichols' first field goal opened the second quarter and closed the scoring in the initial half although the Bulldogs seriously threatened once before surrendering the ball on downs at the Tar Heels' 17.

Go-Ahead TD

Only a desperation effort by Larry Bule prevented Betterson from returning the second half kickoff all the way. He corralled him at the North Carolina 46 but the Tar Heels ripped off the remaining 54 yards on seven trips with Betterson bouncing off a couple of tacklers to score the go-ahead touchdown from the six.

Suddenly down for the first time, Mississippi State came right back on a 60-yard maneuver, requiring just two minutes in six plays with Packer's 16-yard touchdown gallop the clincher after he set it up with a 29-yard run. Kupec, who set an NCAA passing percentage record during the regular season, lofted a 29-yard scoring pass to Jerome to give North Carolina a 21-17 lead in a wild third quarter punctuated with three touchdowns and Nichols' second field goal.

Vitrano shaded Packer for most valuable player honors while teammate Jimmy Webb picked up most valuable line-man honors. Webb is a defensive tackle.

as head football coach.

OAKLAND—Clear weather is expected today when the Pittsburgh Steelers take on the Raiders. That also is the forecast in Bloomington, Minn., where the Los Angeles Rams oppose the Minnesota Vikings, in the other half of the National Football League playoffs.

NEW YORK—The New York Knicks—losers of their last three NBA games—got a late Christmas present Saturday: A visit from the New Orleans Jazz. The Jazz hadn't won any of their 12 road games. Now that streak is up to 24 and the Knicks no longer have a losing streak by virtue of their 101-94 victory. Henry Bibby scored eight of his 14 points in the fourth quarter after the Jazz had pulled within one point of the lead. Phil Jackson led the Knicks with 18 points. E. C. Coleman of the Jazz had 23.

MILWAUKEE—Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Milwaukee Bucks, strained his lower back in practice and may miss a couple of games. He's listed as doubtful for the Bucks' game today at New York.

NEW YORK—Outdoors and Cope won the split running of the Display Handicap at Aqueduct Saturday.

Outdoors defeated Doc Gibson by 3 1/4 lengths and Crafty Khale was second to Cope.

701 VICTORIES FOR FOLLIS

Tors Go To 16-0

By TERRY WILLIAMSON

LAMESA — When Lamesa defeated the Lovelland Lobos, 61-55, in the finals of the fourth annual Lamesa Invitational Basketball Tournament Saturday night in the Middle Schools Gym, it raised the Tors record to 16-0 for the year and gave Lamesa its third tournament championship of the season, but on this weekend there was something more special.

For O. W. Follis, in his 29th year at the helm of the Golden Tornadoes, it might have been his biggest weekend. The Tors three victories in the tournament gave the faded coach his 701st victory of his illustrious career against only 171 losses — a record unparalleled among active high school coaches in Texas.

The 701st victory, which gives Follis an over 80 per cent winning record, was supposed to be hard to come by on the Lovelland squad special name: the Lobos.

But when the first quarter ball had sounded, the Tors already owned the whole show with a 23-4 lead. The Tors destroyed the Lobos and ran away with the tournament crown.

Donnie Flannery, overlooked on the all-tournament team, led the scoring parade with 17 points while Jim Vassilakis and Brian Weeks each scored 15. Eddie Spencer added 14 to the cause.

Months and Spencer were named to the all-tournament team with Lovelland's Gary Morgan and Keith Burleson. It was Buddy Brunsner, however, that caused the Tors the most trouble with 20 points.

Other all-tournament players included Brownfield's Scott Jackson, and Lewis Robinson, Lovelland's Steve Kendall.

Lamesa crushed Kermit for win 60 Friday with a blistering 60-24 decision, with Spencer and Weeks both making 15 to set the stage for the exhibition victory.

Fort Stockton's Panthers were the victims of win 700 as Spencer scored 20 points to lead the awesome Tors to an easy 60-51 margin.

The battle for third place turned out to be a working-dual between Fort Stockton's Ken Rainwater, 61-54 Brownfield's Louis Robinson and the Cubs won, 65-63, as Robinson scored 38. Rainwater had 34.

Pecos captured consolation honors with a 55-42 victory over hapless Lake View. Sonny Riggs pumped in 18 to lead the Eagles while Doug Phillips carried 12 for the Chiefs.

Trojans Top Rutgers '5'

NEW YORK (AP)—Sixth-ranked Southern California woke up from a sluggish first half and streaked by Rutgers 31-65 behind sparkling Gus Williams Saturday night to move into the finals of the Holiday Festival basketball tournament.

In an earlier consolation game, George Bacci scored 25 points, including a crucial field goal and foul shot in the home stretch, to give Manhattan's Jaspers a 70-66 victory over Seton Hall.

But Southern Cal's height and depth wore down the Scarlet Knights in the second half as Williams scored 16 of his team-high 24 points.

Kansas Gains Cage Finals

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Tommy Smith's 15-footer with 12 seconds remaining lifted Kansas to a 83-82 victory over stubborn Nebraska Saturday night and put the Jayhawks into the finals of the Big Eight Conference preseason basketball tournament.

Just 36 seconds before Smith's game-winning basket, Ricky Harris connected on a 10-footer that put Nebraska ahead 83-81. Harris was fouled on the play by Rick Sattler, but missed a free throw that would have completed a three-point effort.

Steve Willis, who hurt Kansas all night with his long outside shooting, led all scorers with 27 points and teammate Bob Selgel added 18.

Norm Cook had 14 for Kansas.

Alvan Adams tallied 36 points and grabbed 21 rebounds in 18th-ranked Oklahoma's 70-70 consolation bracket victory over Oklahoma State in the afternoon. In the other consolation semifinal, Bill Flannery and Willie Smith combined for 38 points in Missouri's 73-57 conquest of Colorado.

WALKING WOUNDED PACE COLLEGE CAGE POWERS—

Terps, Bruins Post Victories

By The Associated Press

Marques Johnson, who suffered hepatitis before the start of the season and did not play at all in UCLA's first two games, came off the bench to key a 20-2 surge in the first half that helped the Bruins beat St. Bonaventure 78-62 Friday night in opening-round play.

And John Lucas, the star guard who had not played since cracking his collarbone in Maryland's first game of the season, returned to action and scored 18 points and dealt out five assists to help the Terrapins rout Georgia Tech 105-67 in the other first-round game of the Maryland tournament.

In other action Friday night, top-ranked North Carolina State whipped Kent State 99-61 in part of a doubleheader at Raleigh, N.C.; host Louisville, ranked No. 4, beat Florida State 79-61 to win the Holiday Classic; No. 14 Marquette trounced Georgia 100-70 in the opening round of the Milwaukee Classic; and 10th-ranked Arizona, 15th-ranked Purdue and 16th-ranked Memphis State all lost in tournament play.

Second-ranked Indiana, led by Steve Green's 32 points, overpowered Florida 96-64 while Ohio State upended ninth-ranked Pennsylvania 106-94 in the Rainbow Classic.

UCLA's 7-foot-1 center, Ralph Drollinger, was ineffective against St. Bonaventure, so Wooden shifted 6-9 forward Richard Washington to the pivot and brought in Johnson. That maneuver helped the Bruins to a come-from-behind victory over Notre Dame last weekend.

Meanwhile, Maryland had little trouble with the Yellow Jackets as sophomore forward Steve Sheppard scored 26 or more points. Maryland broke it open early with 13 straight points to lead 15-2 before Tech got its first field goal.

"David Thompson was fantastic—usual," said North Carolina State Coach Norm Sloan after his Wolfpack overwhelmed Kent State behind a half-12 of them by Thompson.

the All-American forward. The victory was the 32nd in a row for State, including seven this season.

In the other game of the doubleheader, Bob Fleischer scored 24 points and grabbed 11 rebounds to lead Duke past Pittsburgh 89-75.

Allen Murphy scored 20 points and Louisville netted the final 12 points of the game and beat Florida State 79-61 to win the Holiday Classic tournament it was hosting.

Purdue's record dropped to 5-3 as the Boilermakers suffered their second loss in two nights, this time to Western Kentucky 62-60 in the consolation round of the Holiday Classic in Louisville. Purdue, lost to Florida State Thursday night.

Tenth-ranked Arizona got 38 points from Bob Elliott, but it was not enough as California posted an 84-82 upset in the first round of the Old Dominion Classic. Arizona is now 7-1.

Marquette, ranked No. 14, had no trouble with Georgia in the first round of the Milwaukee Classic, jumping to a 16-0 lead and winning 100-70 in 29 points and hauled down 11 the second game, Wally Wall-George Washington 84-74 in the consolation game.

In first-round action at the All-College tourney in Oklahoma City, forward Leon Johnson scored 26 points, including four free throws in the final 2½ minutes, to help Centenary beat Pacific 90-81, and guard Earl King tossed in 31 points to lift North Texas State past Niagara 63-72.

In the Lobo Invitational, Stanford's front line of Rich Kelley, Tim Patterson, and Scott Trible learned for 60 points and 27 rebounds to pace the Cardinals to an 89-76 victory over Illinois and New Mexico romped past Army 95-65.

Art Johnson scored 33 points and Hercie Ivy added 28 to lead Iowa State to a 107-83 rout of Colorado in the Big Eight tournament and freshman Mike Evans hit his first 12 shots and finished with 26 points in leading Kansas State to an 84-87 triumph over Missouri.

In the Far West Classic, Oregon State beat Iowa 97-60; Washington State scored the last 11 points to beat Wake Forest 67-61.

Cornelius Cash pumped in 22 points and grabbed 22 rebounds to lead Bowling Green past San Diego State 73-65 and host Oral Roberts beat Harvard 90-84 in overtime in the Oral Roberts Classic.

Derrick Jackson scored 21 points, including the winning basket with 1:45 remaining, to give Georgetown a 71-70 victory over Syracuse in the Kodak Classic. In the other game, Dartmouth beat Rochester 96-90.

At the Pillsbury Classic in Bloomington, Minn., Clemson beat Auburn 63-59 and Minnesota routed Navy 68-35.

Chiefs Seek Youth

Hunt To Pay Off On 7-Year Contract

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Hank Stram, the only head coach the Kansas City Chiefs have ever known, is through.

The dapper little man was fired Friday by Lamar Hunt, owner of the National Football League club, who said he wanted to "rejuvenate our organization and give it a fresh approach."

Stram, contacted at his home in suburban Prairie Village in Kansas, said he didn't want "to make a statement at this time. I'll do that later." He was not present at Hunt's mid-afternoon news conference.

Stram still had seven years remaining on a 10-year contract providing for an estimated salary of $100,000 a year. Hunt said the payments to Stram would be continued "as they become due. We will honor the financial terms of that contract."

Stram's firing came less than a month after the Chiefs finished their worst season ever, winning only five of 14 games.

"Over-all," said Hunt, "our record was disappointing but as far as being 5-9, over-emphasis should not be put on that as our team is a complicated job."

Hank Stram
... end of line

Hunt said, "I have developed a changing philosophy of what a coach's duties should be. Contract signing and the coaching end should definitely be separated. If a coach has too many duties, there is a danger of fractionalization."

Stram's firing came less than a month after the Chiefs finished their worst season ever, winning only five of 14 games.

"Over-all," said Hunt, "our record was disappointing but as far as being 5-9, over-emphasis should not be put on that as our reason for being here today."

Hunt said the Chiefs would look for "someone relatively young" for their new coach. He did not elaborate and denied rumors that Don Stula of the Miami Dolphins would be the next Kansas City coach.

Hunt hired Stram, who will be 52 Jan. 3, when he formed the Dallas Texans for the new American Football League in 1960. At the time, Stram, who played college football at Purdue, was an assistant coach at Miami in Florida. The Texans moved to Kansas City and became the Chiefs in 1963.

Under Stram, the Chiefs made their way to the top of the pro football ladder, upsetting the Minnesota Vikings 23-7 in 1970 in the Super Bowl. Kansas City also played in the first Super Bowl in 1966, losing to the Green Bay Packers 35-10.

A year after beating the Vikings, the Chiefs had a 10-3 record but lost to Miami in the interdivisional playoffs 27-24.

During Stram's 15 years as Hunt's coach, his teams produced 129 victories, 79 defeats and 10 ties.

Bulldogs Divide Pair In Tourney

HOBBS, N.M. — The Midland Bulldogs, ice-cold at the free throw line, dropped a 49-46 decision to the taller Yaleta Eastwood Troopers Friday night in the semifinals of the 17th annual Hobbs Holiday Invitational Basketball Tournament in Ralph Tucker Arena.

Midland only managed to hit eight of 20 free throws and that was the difference. Bulldog Coach James Cagle refused to make excuses, but did think that playing two games in one day hurt. Hobbs blasted El Paso 113-76, in the other semifinal and, the Bulldogs five also had to play twice Friday while Hobbs was well-rested in having only one contest. "We still deserved to lose, rest or no rest," said Cagle.

Both Midland and Burgos were forced to play Friday morning and Friday night since heavy snow in El Paso made travel impossible Thursday for the three El Paso teams entered in the tourney.

Midland bombed El Paso 78-46, in the opening round, but appeared tired in the Eastwood game. Eastwood had rested all day Friday after beating Plainview, 82-52, in the opening round Thursday as it too, like Hobbs, had a definite edge.

In the Jefferson game, Midland held the leading scorer

Jobe, Drennan Scholarships

in El Paso, Allen Phullen, to four points. The Bulldogs led 29-22 at halftime, but came alive in the third period to outscore the Silver Foxes, 25-12, to post their 10th victory of the season.

Michael Cobb and Donnie Roberts paced the Purple Pack against Jefferson with 18 and 16 points, respectively, while Bobby Chinn added 10 more. Don Washington had 19 for the Silver Foxes.

Jefferson turned around and bombed Plainview, 60-36, in the second round while Odessa High beat Alamogordo, N.M., 36-55, after losing to Hobbs, 109-54 in the opening round.

Eastwood took a 16-11 first period lead on the hot shooting of Larry Sheperd, but Midland outscored the tall Troopers, 13-8 in the second period to hold on to a 23-24 lead at halftime. It was 35-30 going into the final period, but the Border City five, after taking a 42-38 lead with 4:14 left, went into a delay game and it paid off even though Midland did pull even on two other occasions.

Greg Smith was the only Bulldog in the double figures with 11 points followed by Cobb and Chinn with nine each.

Mike Bowden led the Trooper attack with 14 as Eastwood won its 12th game in 14 outings.

Midland's record dropped to 5-3 as the Boilermakers suffered their second loss in two nights, this time to Western Kentucky 62-60 in the consolation round of the Holiday Classic in Louisville. Purdue, lost to Florida State Thursday night.

Tenth-ranked Arizona got 38 points from Bob Elliott, but it was not enough as California posted an 84-82 upset in the first round of the Old Dominion Classic. Arizona is now 7-1.

Marquette, ranked No. 14, had no trouble with Georgia in the first round of the Milwaukee Classic, jumping to a 16-0 lead and winning 100-70 in 29 points and hauled down 11

TEXAS ARRIVES FOR AUBURN GATOR BOWL GAME—

Royal, Steers Need More Time

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Coach Darrell Royal brought his Texas football team here Saturday for Monday night's Gator Bowl Game against Auburn, wishing he had more time to practice. "We didn't get together completely as a team from the A&M game Nov. 30th until Christmas Day and then had weather at Austin forced us inside for two days," he said. "We really haven't had time to get our execution back."

Royal said his Longhorns are in good physical shape, including fullback Roosevelt Leaks who was hurt most of this season after a sensational 1972. Freshman Earl Campbell will start at fullback, however, as he did in all but the Baylor game this year. Royal was wearing a support collar as he got off the chartered plane. He said it was for a pinched nerve resulting from an old injury.

This is Royal's first Gator Bowl appearance in 27 years. He was here in 1947 as quarterback of the Oklahoma team that beat North Carolina State 34-13. It will be Texas' first Gator Bowl appearance.
