WEEKLY REPORT ON WELLS DRILLING

EASTLAND COUNTY WELLS.

The Barnsdale Oil Co.'s No. 1 Brown, in section 101, block 5, H. & T. C. R. R. survey, five miles south west of Cisco, got the top of the black lime at 2963 feet this week, and is reported good for 25 barrels with little gas.

The well is drilling in the lime and may be expected to reach the top of the sand by the close of the week, with no mishap.

This test is about 20 miles from production, and if it should get production it will be the biggest extension the West Texas field has had since the bringing in of the wells in Northeastern Comanche County. A jump for acreage is on.

Several wells were completed in the Ranger field during the past week, and others that reached the top of the sand showed production and are shut down.

Leon Oil Co.'s No. 1 Parker and Steward has been given a dose of nitro at 3240 feet and is making about five barrels a day.

Magnolia Petroleum Co.'s No. 1 Allen in the Joe Foster survey, is drilling in gray lime at 3440 feet and looks like a failure.

Mid-Kansas Oil & Gas Co.'s No. 1 Griffin is shut down at the top of the black lime at 3240 feet.

Prairie Oil & Gas Co.'s No. 1 Danley has the hole full of oil and is fishing at 3380 feet.

The States Oil Corporation's No. 1 Parrack, six miles north of Eastland, shut down at 3665 feet and has 45 feet of open hole. The well is making approximately 50 barrels a day and the Prairie Pipe Line Co. is laying a 3 inch line to the well.

E. Hupp, of Pittsburg, has made a location on the southeast corner of the southwest quarter of section 18 on the Ray tract, half a mile west of the Parrack well. He also has locations on the southeast corner of the southwest quarter of section 4, on the Potest tract, three miles northwest of the Connelley well of Benedum & Trees, and one on the south east corner of the southeast quarter of the Perkins tract.

There is a derrick up on the five acre block of the Burnett tract in the east end of the town of Eastland.

C. U. Connelley recently sold 80 acres, the same being the south one-half of the northeast quarter of section 17, one mile west of Olden for $30,000 and a well is to be drilled on the tract within the next 90 days.

Mrs. C. U. Connelley sold 65 acres one mile west of Olden for $100,000. These prices are largely the result of the Magnolia Well on the T. W. Conellee tract, north of Olden, and about one mile from the C. U. Connelley property.

STEPHENS COUNTY WELLS.

The Gulf Production Co.'s No. 1 White, six miles southeast of Breckenridge, is making 400 barrels a day ten feet in the sand, at 3280 feet.

This well is located a mile north-east of the Fincher tract, and south-east of the Parks field.

Several other wells in Stephens County are showing up, in spite of the fact that the roads for several weeks have been in such a condition that it has been practically impossible to get supplies to the drilling tests.

The Texas Co.'s No. 1 Grant, in Section 26, block 6, T. & P. R. R. survey, is making 30,000,000 cubic feet of gas at 3545 feet.

The Texas Co.'s No. 1 Jno. Black southeast of Breckenridge is drilling at 319 feet, with a showing of oil.

The Texas Co.'s No. 1 C. H. Houston is shut down for storage at 3-315 feet and is making about 40 barrels a day.

The Texas Co.'s No. 2 J. M. Parks is shut down for storage at 3325 feet, southeast of Breckenridge, and the No. A-1 Parks is shut down at 3290 feet.

Mid-Kansas Oil & Gas Co.'s No. 1 Rogers is drilling at 3180 feet, and making about 25 barrels a day. No. 1 Cook is a gasser and No. 1 Jackson is shut down for a shot at 4070 feet.

Gulf Production Co.'s No. 2 Davis is making 8,000,000 feet of gas and is shut down for storage at 3190 feet, four miles south of Breckenridge. No. 1 Winston of the same company is shut down with a showing of oil at 3280 feet.

Sinclair Gulf Oil Co.'s No. 1 Ledbetter is shut down at 3410 feet, with 1500 feet of fluid in the hole. It is in block 6, T. & P. R. R. survey.

INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITIES, BIG DEALS MADE

During the past ten days there has never been the like in this section. Prices have gone high and from the way outside capital is coming to Cisco indicates that we are sure to have a sure enough city within a few months.

We are to have a new bank, capitalized at $50,000; we are to have a real factory; we are to have another big oil company locate here; we are to have a new building for a large furniture store; we are to have a government building, temporary; we are to have another office building; we are to have another ward school building; we are to vote on a new charter; contracts have been signed for something like 50 modern residences, not bungaloes but something high class; we are to have paved streets, the machinery arrived this week, we are to have a little oil city, an addition to Cisco; we are to have extensions to water mains, gas mains and electric wiring and sewer pipes; we are to have many things in addition to the enterprises we now have. Owing to the fact that the Round-Up has been requested to withhold names we are unable to give lists of the many things that are under way, but we have been promised permission to publish in our next issue.

DESEMOMONA FIELD IS A DREAM COME TRUE

Dreams sometimes come true. One that was dreamed about a dozen years ago by men who then organized an oil company and began drilling an oil well that is not yet completed near the little inland town of Desdemona in the north corner of Comanche County was made to come true through other influences.

The Hog Creek Oil Company was a result of this long ago dream. The company located their well on the edge of the village and met the usual and some other vicissitudes. Their operations were slow and often interrupted.

Recently eminent petroleum engineers decided, like the local people, that the Desdemona territory was promising. The well on the Duke farm that made the pool famous overnight was a result of operation that followed the opinion of the eminent geologists.

The discovery well in the Desdemona vicinity was drilled by the Tex-Penn Oil Company on the Joe Duke farm south of Desdemona. It came in unexpectedly a few months ago and the gas and oil that blew out of the well when the sand was touched were ignited by a forge on the derrick floor and the rig burned up and the tools were lost in the unfinished well along with a lot of cable and other things. But the well flowed at the rate of 250 barrels a day ever since. Now it is to be cleaned out and completed.

This first well in the pool, like all first wells, started some excitement and the excitement has become very intense. The original Duke well was followed by a number of other tests and soon a well on the same farm drilled by the Magnolia Petroleum Company began producing from the top of the sand. This was followed by the well of the Tex-Penn Oil Company on the Knowles farm that became the great gusher of the pool and is flowing at the rate of about 3,000 barrels a day.

There are other wells already producing in this pool and a number are drilling in the limestone that covers the oil sand at a depth of about 2,600 feet. So far as the drill has disclosed the extent of the producing territory is not large but at the same time the field has only two wells that are considered doubtful. One of these is three miles north of the discovery well and is still drilling. The other is one and one-half miles southeast and is set a basis for hope. A well three miles to the south is being prepared to produce and the outlook is good for production there.

Desdemona is about ten miles northeast of Gorman, twelve miles north of Dublin and a bit farther from Comanche and Stephenville. The roads to the field have been bad all winter, owing to frequent rains and a snow that was deeper than any old-timers recall ever having seen there. But in spite of the long hard haul for material the field has become very active and two score of rigs are up and many wells drilling.

The first well was drilled in the middle of the 240-acre farm of J. N. Duke. The Knowles well is on an eighty-acre farm of G. W. Knowles. Other wells are on the farms of close neighbors. Wells are drilling over a territory of several miles in each direction from this center of activities. But one may see a derrick from many high places in this territory or country, and the way from Desdemona northward to Ranger and on to Breckenridge in Stephens County is all among derricks and locations for oil wells.

Dublin has two railroads and a fairly good wagon road leads to the Desdemona field. DeLeon and Gorman each have one railroad and a somewhat shorter haul to the field. Each of these towns is seething with oil field excitement and beds are scarce and business is good. Each of the towns is intensely interested in the oil fields and there are potential millionaires among the men in these towns who have been in other business and accumulated farm lands the while.

The Chamber of Commerce at Dublin is making an effort to secure a sleeping car to be set out at that place each night by the Frisco train

Choose Your Hudson Now

Normal Production of the Super-Six Can Not Be Restored Before Next June

There are so few Hudsons of any model to be had just now and it will be so long before full factory production is attained that buyers will do well to select their car without delay.

Super-Six production was to have ceased January 1st.

In anticipation of the months that new cars would not be available, we took all we could secure. But the demand for the Super-Six made it impossible for us to accumulate stocks. Deliveries of Hudsons every month since the Super-Six was introduced have practically equalled the output. More than 100,000 Hudsons are already in service.

Thus is again shown the popularity of the Super-Six. Its white triangle has become the symbol of super-quality and super-performance throughout the world.

Hudson production will be resumed as rapidly as possible. But it will be months before the factory can meet the usual demand. An interruption of at least three months in the output of open models is inevitable.

Everyone knows the completeness of the Hudson Super-Six line. There were nine different types. Recently we added the Coupe, a beautiful four passenger model, and a new series of the Touring Limousine.

They Are Pattern Cars

Every Hudson model has been admired envied and copied by other makers. But under the Hudson plan there is constant development and so any Super-Six you get today is months ahead of similar types of other makes.

In view of the situation don't you think it is best to see us about your Hudson? There is no certainty as to what you can get next spring.

Need you be reminded of Super-Six value? It is the recognized standard of motordom. For three years its leadership has been undisputed. Today it carries the added endorsement of thousands who have learned to know its absolute reliability through all the months when automobile service attention was so hard to obtain.

that arrives from the north at about 3 o'clock in the morning to be picked up the following night by the north-bound train at about 2 o'clock. This train carries a sleeper to Brownwood to be set out there, but just now the Dublin crowd is larger than the Brownwood crowd. The desire of oil men in Dallas to secure sleeper accommodations to these fields is coupled with the movement of the Dublin people and efforts are to be made at once, probably for a sleeper to leave Dallas in the evening, to be transferred to the Frisco at Port Worth and carried to Dublin. This sleeper will receive the Brownwood sleeper of the Dublin crowd and permit Port Worth and Dallas men to choose whichever is destined to their objective.

Erath, Comanche and Eastland Counties are working as one man for better highways. The oil fields have shown the necessity for this sort of activity. Each town in these counties is making plans and organizing for the construction of good roads. The Chamber of Commerce at Dublin, with J. M. Higginbotham as president and W. P. Hallmark manager, has secured the organization of good roads associations in every school district in the commissioner's precinct that includes the town of Dublin and the Desdemona oil fields and these twenty-eight districts are all on tiptoe with plans for better roads.

One day last fall, soon after the Duke well came in, more than 350 men from Dublin and the vicinity of the road devoted a day to improving the road to Desdemona. Every business in Dublin was closed for the day and bankers and merchants and barbers and real estate brokers went early in the morning to various sections of the long road and worked until night. The roads are still in good shape and is being worked constantly to this activity, the State highways in that section are being pushed along and will soon become very fine roads. H. H. Fielder and his corps of engineers have established headquarters at Dublin and are to construct as rapidly as possible both Nos. 10 and 18, designated highways through Erath County. No. 10 from Brownwood to Ft. Worth already has been financed as far as the east line of Erath County No. 18 also has practically been financed from Cisco to Hico, and construction is to begin at once. President Burks of No. 10 highway expects to have No. 19 completed from Brownwood to Ft. Worth by the last of the summer. Highway No. 10 connects at Dublin with No. 18 and at Comanche with No. 22. No. 18 also connects with No. 22 at DeLeon giving access to both the Desdemona and Ranger oil fields. Plans are being worked out for construction of a hard surface road from Stephenville to Thurber. In addition, District No. 1 will build numerous lateral roads, including two roads from Dublin to Desdemona field. One of these will be built via Lingleville, the other via Victor.

Owing to the good performers of the Duke and Knowles wells and possibly to the fact that those wells were located upon the highest sort of advice this new field of Comanche County has become a favorite scene for the activities of stock companies some of which are now beginning to drill on their leases. Many of the leases are small tracts and some of them are a considerable distance from the producing wells.

All this activity with its attendant excitement has, of course boomed land values. One hundred dollars an acre is a mere pittance for a lease in the hands of any broker and the field and the towns are full of brokers—regardless of its distance from producing wells. At all hours and in all kinds of weather automobiles are to be seen lurching across the country, and local business men say they are carrying investors and speculators. Notaries public in Dublin are making big money now simply by engaging to travel by the day with men who are seeking leases or royalties or other things in the oil fields. They generally carry notaries with them on all trips so that they can close deals on the spur of the moment. Trades in the oil fields must be completed "right now" or they get away. In no other line of business activity in Texas is the saying so true that "dead things often crawl away."

One of the men who was in the immediate vicinity of the Duke discovery well with a small farm went over to the well the night it came in and caught fire and did not return home until late the next evening. His wife reminded him that the pigs had not been fed nor given slops for the whole day.

"Well, I'll go out there, and kick the fence down, so they can hustle for themselves," conceded the man. "So far as I'm concerned, I am through feeding pigs."

That was the spirit of the community. Everybody became rich overnight. The fire in the Duke well burned for two or three days. The place was the center of attraction for many miles, and some merchants of their class made bushels of money selling cold drinks and sandwiches in the vicinity. The incident of the fire did the advertising.

A Dublin man who had for years carried some second lien vendor's lien notes on a poor tract of land, one day charged them off. A few months later the Duke well came in and a few weeks after that a man entered the office of the money lender and wanted to pay off the second lien note. The money lender cashed. But he figured the interest and at length found the notes—money lenders may charge a debt off, but they never destroy the evidence of the debt—and got paid in full. The owner of the land was selling his prospective royalty interest and the purchaser demanded that the title be cleared.

This reminds of an incident that is getting to be common. A stock company somewhere in Texas sought to sell a quantity of oil that had been stored awaiting transportation. The pipe line company at length was connected up in the vicinity and the producing company found that their title was not perfect to the land, and the pipe line would not buy the oil. One thing oil lands at hundreds or thousands of dollars an acre accomplish is the perfecting of land titles. And that is one thing that a great many promoters fail to look into when they secure leases. Of course, if they get no oil they will never be bothered about their titles.

Land in the Desdemona neighborhood is "spotted" insofar as agricultural merits are concerned. Some of it is rocky and of little value. One little farm close to the oil pool was bought several years ago by a man for $1,000 all on credit. He had not paid either the principal or interest until the other day. The reason he could then pay it was due to the fact that he sold one fourth of his royalty interest of one eighth for $10,000 in cash. Another small farm owner got $73,000 all told for his land in this field that is now promising to be worth near half a million dollars. He bought a big farm in West Texas and moved to it. That man has more money than he ever expected to own, but his head has not been turned.

Dublin has two business men who are incidental traders. Both are well fixed and both are making money out of the oil land excitement. A few months before the Duke well was discovered one of these men, who owned a superannuated horse, bantered the other, who owned a worthless sixty acres of land to trade. The horse cost more to keep than the land, for feed was higher than taxes. The trade was made right there. The other day the new owner of the land sold a lease on it for $60,000.

Business men of Dublin talk about folks there who have made hundreds of thousands of dollars out of the oil situation. And if original cheap leases have been sold by them at present prices, some have no doubt made hundreds of thousands of dollars. But the money did not come out of oil wells thereabouts. It is yet to be produced. If the lands that sold for these large sums later become oil producing properties like the Knowles and Duke farms, wealth will be created to cover the hundreds of thousands invested. But if the lands shall not produce oil, then somebody will have lost just as much as the others have made.

The Desdemona field is small as yet, and new and unproven save in a very small area. But it is one of the most interesting examples of the mania that is now sweeping Texas, like the influenza did, of the desire and ability of men to capitalize illimitable vistas of hope.—George McQuaid, Through the Dallas News.

A DYING SOLDIER IN FRANCE

Brother I am deadly wounded
Soon you will miss me from your side,

Write my father in the morning
Tell him how your brother died,
Tell him we were going forward
Thru a storm of shot and shell
And I did not play the coward
If I had, I might not fell.

But I rather die a soldier
Than to bear a coward's name
Then I could not face my comrades
And would cause my father shame,
Brother I am slowly dying
Soon you will miss me in the trench
For my form will soon be lying
Neath the soil of northern France.

Tell my mother God be with her
Now that she is growing old
Tell her how I miss her
While my limbs grew num and cold,
Tell her that I have my furlough
And the train will soon be round
Jesus has my passport ready
And the train is slowing down.

Tell my sisters I remember
All our lovely childhood plays
And my heart has been kept tender
With the thoughts of those sweet days,
They must help bare mothers burden
For its going to be severe
Nothing smooths a mothers forehead
Like a daughters tender care.

They know mothers form grows lower
And her hair more streaked with gray
And her steps are growing slower
As she treads life's rugged way,
Brother I am surely going
But my hope in God is strong
I am willing trusting, knowing
That He doeth nothing wrong.

Brother I must be starting
Much as I would love to stay
Here's my hand the last in parting
Then I go from hence away,
Now I hear my Saviors speaking
Yes I know his voice so well
When I am gone, oh don't be weeping
Brother here's my last farewell.

THOUSANDS OF COMMERCIALY WANTED FOR SERVICE
Need is Great And Demand For Efficient Help Urgent.

Young People? Will you take advantage of this opportunity? War has greatly widened the horizon of American Commerce. One of the benefits growing out of the war is the world wide view point of American business men and women. They are engaged and must continue on a larger scale in the production and distribution of commodities for the world. Our fast growing merchant marine is an important factor in the trade development with the foreign countries. Markets are being opened that have never, heretofore, been visited by American Commerce. The volume of American business must increase. The countries destroyed by the four years of war must be reclaimed and re-built. Factories, homes and cities must be restored. American mills and factories are being called upon to do this work. There is work for everybody that is trained in business. There will be a small place for the fellow with just hands and feet to offer. "Brains" are a premium. Are you going to wait and loaf on the job, while others prepare for the desirable places that will mean future successes? PUBLICITY AND THE PEACE CONFERENCE.

It is hard for the American people to understand the reserves of European diplomacy. In a country where every male citizen has some share in the government, the processes of governing bodies are public. The American nation knows, day by day, the discussions and decisions of Congress, and only in stress of great emergency is censorship of any kind restored to. Naturally there was dissatisfaction at the idea that the peace conference, whose actions are of so much importance to us all, should sit behind closed doors. We approve President Wilson's remonstrances and trust that these will have their result and that the deliberations of the conference will have due publicity.

FRANKLIN PLUMBING CO.

CONFEDERATE SOLDIER

Almost by chance I got an old paper, printed in Baird, in 1902. Among the many good things I notice was an "Addresses of Welcome", by a Texas girl, 13 years old, that the old boys cheered until they were hoarse. She said so many good things, I am going to ask the editor to reprint it. All of us old boys realize that what she said, then is absolute and has no meaning now, but as I said it will make us feel good to remember that we have been honored, "yes loved".

Some of you may want to know who this 13 year girl is. She has five children now and lives in Cisco. Here is the address.--It is with honor and pleasure and loving hearts that we greet you today. We are proud of your unrivaled achievements in war and peace. When memory look back at the picture hung on the crumbling wall of the past--The portrait of the Confederate soldier stand in bold relief, in his armor of gray appealing more strongly than any other to all who lives under the golden rays of the Southern Sun, he stands today and will stand all time to come as the ideal of nobility patriotism and courage for the Southern People. He will always be the chivalrous champion who in the vigor of manhood rushed to the defense of his country and his people and principles; who in battles without number displayed a heroism and lofty courage, that for the coming ages has placed the soldier in "Gray" on the highest pinnacle of fame. "Yes, the man, who marched and fought with Lee, Johnson and Jackson, the men who battled under Price Shelby and Kerby Smith, the men who rode to victory under Stewart Wheeler and Forrester, have made for themselves undying fame in the annals of history. The glory of these deeds of these gallant men and their great leaders will live for a thousand years in the hearts and minds of their countrymen. More than forty years have passed over the wrecked confederacy, and from the desolation of war by the united forges of her people, heroic in peace as well as in war, a New South has arisen from the storms of war and reconstructed stronger and more beautiful than ever; which by climate and resources and development is attracting the attention of the world.

The Southern men and women have attained this end by strong and noble work and patient endeavors and the veterans of the Confederacy were the great and willing workers at all times, in the darkest hours after the war to, Reinstatate and build up our "Dixie Land." The leaders of the Confederacy during the imperiled time of blazing war were the leaders also when white winged peace spread her pinions over the bloody battle fields. Yes, soldiers nobly have you performed your duty in war and in peace although your battle flag is forever furled your deeds will ever live in song and story and the world will judge you worthy to receive for triumph in war and in peace, both the Laurel and the Myrtle Crown. "Beloved Soldiers", most of you represent the Eastern Army and were in many hard fought battles and likely some of you were under the command of Generals Longstreet Gordon, Hill, Bragg, and the illustrious John Morgan of Kentucky, and also the other great men I have mentioned. Not much has been said about the western army. There were many hard fought battles on this side of the Mississippi. The enemy was held back in great numbers by small forces under General Price, Marmaduke, Walker and Green and other great men. "Beloved Soldiers," meet together as often as you can, you are passing away one by one, when you are all gone, the sons and daughters will represent you from century to century. Goodbye till we meet again. Yours in Christ.--Uncle Tom Johnson.

TEXANS, WHO SET THE PACE IN FOOD SAVING DURING WAR, ASKED TO BE EXAMPLARS OF NATION DURING ADJUSTMENT PERIOD.

To the People of Texas:

The war is over! We and our allies have won! And, Oh! such a glorious victory. A victory not only for our country and those who fought side by side with us, but for All Mankind, for All Humanity, and for All Time.

What a meaning, what a bearing this eventful ending of our world conflict will have upon the future welfare of our children and our children's children until the final judgment day.

And what a privilege; what an honor it was to each of us to contribute our mite toward this splendid accomplishment! How justly proud we can well feel to realize that we neglected not our duty when the call came.

The people of this great State responded cheerfully, promptly and with marked enthusiasm to every governmental war call. In many instances we set examples which helped and inspired other States onward and upward.

But now a tremendous change comes in our program: We turn from the war work, from the war conscience to the call for world relief; to the crying need of, not merely thousands, but millions of hungry, starving people, of old men, women and children in no way responsible for the cruel war through which the world for four years has been passing, but innocent victims--crushed, bleeding, starving, dying for want of food.

We've been saying: "Food will win the war." Now we take up a new slogan: "Food will win the WORLD." Our work is not over. A task greater than ever now confronts us, and will continue to confront us for some years perhaps, but the most urgent period IS THE PRESENT--this winter which is now upon us with its chill and snow and ice.

Last week Mr. Hoover said: "There are now in Northern Russia alone some forty millions of semi-starving people, ten millions of whom will in all probability perish and die this winter for want of food and clothing." A similar cry comes from poor bleeding Belgium, from Northern France, Poland, Roumania, Servia, Armenia, Persia and the Holy Land, where the terrible Turk, in all his devilry and cruelty, has held sway so long. These persecuted people, these weeping women, these crying children, these bent and broken old men call out to us in their despair!

It's a fight against famine, and famine, you know, is the forerunner of anarchy. In many lands now it is a question of bread or bolshevism.

To America the world looks for relief. We alone can save the situation until next harvest, and Texas--this mighty Empire--has her part to play. Mr. Hoover with a corps of able associates is now in Europe studying the situation in person and working out the details of an equitable plan soon to be announced to you.

But even now I can say that the new program will include and stress maximum production of food and feed crops and fats, coupled with continued rigid conservation and the careful avoidance of all wastefulness. While Europe remains hungry, to waste food and fats is sinful--ayes, almost criminal.

Shall we fail these hungry peoples? Never, never, never! I only wish I could be as sure of the fulfillment of all my desires and hopes as I am that the noble citizenship of Texas will nobly respond to this world relief appeal to fight famine and to save starving humanity, thus aiding in re-establishing stable governments among the tired and torn nations, big and little, of Europe, and thus paving the path for peace, permanent, universal, world-wide peace.

E. A. PEDEN, Federal Food Administrator for Texas.

PLEDGE BY AMERICAN WOMEN

"We pledge to our country our best effort to prevent waste and the selfish use of our food reserves."

"We pledge our loyal co-operation in carrying out the conservation measures suggested by the government."

"And if economy sometimes grows irksome, or if this service works an unwelcome change in our accustomed manner of living, we will think of those who have offered their lives for their country and those whose homes have been devastated."

"We will be glad that we, too, can serve in satisfying their hunger, in renewing their courage, and in re-establishing their homes."

TROOP TRAIN WRECKED

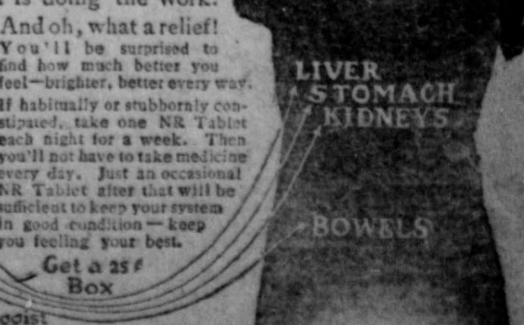

A troop train on the Texas and Pacific railroad was wrecked one and a half miles east of Cisco Tuesday night. There were seventeen coaches, seven of them in the ditch and also the engine. Only three persons were injured and none of these fatally injured. The train was enroute to California with soldiers discharged. The injured were Daniel B. Coghlan, engineer; J. J. De Hart fireman; and Mr. Schwartz, conductor all of Fort Worth. Traffic was held up twenty-four hours and all mail and passengers had to transfer. The wrecked cars were badly damaged. The soldiers who had to remain with the train or come to town, were given a dinner by the local Red Cross people. The soldiers seemed to greatly appreciate the kindness of the Cisco people.

Want to Feel Just Right? Take an NR Tonight

JUST TRY IT AND SEE how much better you feel in the morning. That "foggy" headachy, tired, don't-know-what's-the-matter feeling will be gone--you'll feel fine.

TROUBLE IS, your system is clogged with a lot of impurities that your over-worked digestive and eliminative organs can't get rid of. Pills, oil, salts, calomel and ordinary laxatives, cathartics and purges only force the bowels and prod the liver. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and even kidneys, not forcing, but toning and strengthening these organs. The result is prompt relief and real, lasting benefit. Make the test. Nature's Remedy will act promptly, thoroughly, yet so mildly, so gently, that you will think nature herself has come to the rescue and is doing the work.

And oh, what relief! You'll be surprised to find how much better you feel--brighter, better every way. If habitually or subacutely constipated, take one NR Tablet each night for a week. Then you'll not have to take medicine every day. Just an occasional NR Tablet ailer that will be sufficient to keep your system in good condition--keep you feeling your best. Get a 25¢ Box. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold Guaranteed and recommended by your druggist. RED FRONT DRUG STORE, Cisco.

CAME TO RANGER 31 YEARS YEARS AGO, TURNED CARPENTER, THEN FARMER, HIT OIL

From school teacher to multimillionaire—this is the record of M. H. Hagaman of Ranger.

He is a dreamer who has realized his fondest hopes by the discovery of oil on his small farm. He came to Ranger a poor school teacher. Today he is one of the leading citizens of the town, an active factor in the building of the modern Eldorado.

He may be seen standing before the bank where some of his wealth is deposited. He looks rather lonely this millionaire—standing apart from the throng that fills the street. His brown eyes watch, the preoccupied men with a patient, amused air. He wears a blue serge suit, dusty, unpressed. His necktie is frayed, his beard unshaven. There is a shadow of whimsical sadness in his eyes. A kindly, responsive smile lifts the corners of his mouth. He is simple, sincere. His manners are those of a gentleman of the old school—there are none finer. His actions seem prompted by a high sense of chivalry. He is a rough diamond.

Thirty-one years ago Hagaman came to Ranger to teach in the small school that had been erected there. He taught many of the people who are now signing those great checks, how to write their names. Over these millionaires and prospective millionaires, he wielded the rod of discipline.

Dissatisfied with remaining an instructor in the Three Rooms Hagaman became a carpenter. Looking out over the town, he said the other day:

"I built most of the buildings which now are being torn down that more modern structures may be erected."

There was a note of sadness mingled with that of pride in his voice. "The lots on which these buildings stand are selling for fabulous sums compared to their value a year ago," he continued. Almost all the merchants who used to be here have gone.

"The old families whom I have known for years have moved away. The excitement of the town in the throes of an oil boom was too much for them. Many of them have become very wealthy and have bought farms farther west and south. Others have moved to quieter towns. Ranger is a new town. It is in reality only a few months old.

After following the carpenters trade for a time, Hagaman bought a small farm and a few cattle. He tried to irrigate it but the expense was more than the funds would permit. He had to give up his idea. It was a sort of a hobby with him.

Years passed. An oil well was drilled on the McClesky farm. It proved a dry hole. Years later a second was drilled. One morning a deluge of molten gold poured over the top of the derrick. This was a signal to the world.

Three producing wells came in on Hagaman's land. With this money he built the dam and lake for the irrigation he had so long desired. He has installed pumping stations on it and is selling the water to the drillers. His income from the lake is calculated at about $625 a day.

This lake is the only water within forty miles that can be used in the city. Hagaman is to install a waterworks and supply the city with his water.

Hagaman is a public spirited citizen. Always his name is foremost in movements toward civic progress. When the United States Public Health Service officer wanted an incinerator built, Hagaman offered to be one of five to agree to pay for it. It was to cost about $4,000.

The Hagaman family has moved to Austin where the children may attend school. But he remains in Ranger. Daily he may be seen frequenting his old haunts that are changing with every hour—Katherine Olesby—Through The Ft. Worth Star-Telegram.

STEER CLEAR OF THE W. S. S. SCALPER.

The following official notice has been issued by the Secretary of the Treasury:

"My attention has been directed to the numerous offers made by UNSCRUPULOUS persons through advertisements and in other ways to buy War Savings Stamps. As a result of such offers, I am informed that owners of such securities have suffered material losses which could have been avoided by redemption of the War Savings Certificate Stamps at postoffices as PROVIDED BY LAW.

"In order that the interests of the owners of War Savings Certificates Stamps of either series (1918 or 1919) may be safeguarded, I hereby notify all persons to refrain from offers to buy War Savings Stamps or accept same in trade."—Carter Glass, Secretary, United States Treasury.

A United States postoffice is the only agency designated by law to cash War Savings Stamps. If a person has urgent necessity of his money, he has only to file notice with his postmaster to cash his War Savings Stamps and the money will be paid over to him at the expiration of ten days, as provided by law. In view of the Government's great need of money now, it would naturally appear that no patriotic American will consider cashing his War Savings Stamps unless his financial condition is such that he has most urgent and compelling need of his money.

As a result of regulations passed by the Postoffice Department the unscrupulous person who accepts War Savings Stamps on account or in payment of debt or the scalper who buys War Savings Stamps will be unable to obtain money on them. The regulations which make it impossible for the unscrupulous scalper to carry on his unscrupulous trade follows:

"Postmasters are directed not to cash War Savings Certificates on which the names of the owners have not been entered or have been erased or changed, since, under the regulations, War Savings Certificates are not transferable and are payable only to the original owners, except in case of death or disability.

"Postmasters are further instructed not to cash any War Savings Certificates presented by persons or firms known to be buying, or publicly offering to buy War Savings Stamps or Certificates from the owners unless positive evidence is submitted that the Certificates were originally issued to the persons or firms presenting them for payment."

Save and have! The new 1919 War Savings Stamps are on sale at the postoffice. Invest your money in War Savings Stamps. Buy the safest and best security in the world. War Savings Stamps bear four per cent interest, compounded quarterly they increase constantly in value, and this constant increase is guaranteed by the Government. Save and have! Buy W. S. S.

In Belgium and northern France is a strip of land from 12 to 50 miles wide and 150 miles long, with its whose limits are to be found neither houses, barns, trees, shrubbery, stock of any kind, nor arable land. The ground has been plowed up by great shells and tons and tons of steel are buried in it. Its aspect might well be described as the "abomination of desolation." Yet it is to this hopeless tract that refugees in thousands will come back. It is all that is left to them of home. If the peace conference does its duty, it will require the nation which desolated this land to restore it. The great shells must be removed from the ground, earth and fertilizer brought in to make the land once more productive, homes and barns constructed, seed and agricultural machinery supplied. Germany, the aggressor and devastator, must become the restorer.

The women of the British Empire were requested to make an offering of pearls to the Red Cross. The request was sent out last March, with the expectation that a necklace of valuable pearls might possibly be obtained. Nearly four thousand pearls are now on hand, ready to be sold for the benefit of the Red Cross. They aggregate forty-one ropes, and each pearl means an individual sacrifice and an act of love.

You never can tell from where you sit just whom to applaud; the fellow who went across or the limo-leamed-skin movie actor who stayed at home and went quite boldly through the horrors daily, before he retired to his pink pajamas and indigestion box, to show us how it is done.

TO HAVE NEW POSTOFFICE

On account of the crowded condition in the postoffice building, caused by the increased business it has become necessary to seek additional room or new quarters. On account of it being necessary for congress to make appropriation for the construction of a Federal building and because it would take some time for the bill to pass in congress, the Government has offered Cisco a knocked-down building in which to put the postoffice, and the proposition has been accepted. The location of this building has not been selected, but it is thought that this arrangement will be made some time this month.

That same old pleasant smile and good wishes you will find at the store of Gude & Sons.

 There are no new developments at the Bresford, one and one half mile northwest of the city.
 Holcomb No. 1 of the Cosden Oil & Gas Company, which was drilled east of town about one mile, is reported to have been abandoned as a dry hole. This well had a strong gas pressure at about 1,000 feet.
 Drilling on the States Oil Corporation's Norwood No. 1 about a mile east of town, and the Gulf Production Company's Downtain No. 1, a little more than a mile east of town, continues day and night.
 The Capers No. 1 four miles south of the city and one mile south of the Connellee No. 1 has not drilled much since spudding in some time ago.
 The derrick is up for a well on the Brunett tract of land adjoining the town section on the northeast. This test is to be made by Jack O'Malley, and associates of Paris Texas.
 The latest report on the Parrack well, six miles northeast of Eastland was that it was not showing up so well as at first. This report is un-confirmed.

For $1—This Week Only

To Women Who Failed to Get It

We have supplied our famous Cookers to more than a million homes. But we want every home using Quaker Oats or Mother's Oats to have one. So we repeat for one week only this attractive Dollar Offer.

Now a Very Costly Offer

This to us, at present aluminum prices, is a very costly offer. Yet we have those Cookers made to our order in enormous lots.

Such an Aluminum Cooker, extra large and heavy, would probably cost at retail more than you care to pay. But you need it to cook cereals rightly. So we want you to have it—for your sake and our sake—if you are cooking our cereals without it.

Double Cooker
Pure Aluminum
Extra Large and Heavy
Cereal Capacity 2 1/4 Qts.
A Lifetime Utensil

Keep the Rich Flavor Intact

Quaker Oats and Mother's Oats are made from queen grains only—just the rich, plump, flavory oats. We get but ten pounds from a bushel.

This is done to secure a superlative flavor. Little grains, puny and insipid, lessen oat-food delights.

Now we ask you to cook these luscious oat flakes so that flavor keeps intact. Cook them so they easily digest. This Cooker will help you to do that, as it does a million others.

If you have this Cooker, our offer is not open. We cannot supply more than one to a family. But, if you failed to get one, get it now. This offer is made for one week only. It cannot be repeated unless Aluminum comes down.

It is yours for $1 if you send this week. And if you send the sales slip asked for, to show that you are using this delicious grade of oats. You will save enough to buy a great deal of cereal by accepting this dollar offer.

Your Last Chance to Get It

Buy from your grocer five packages of either Quaker Oats or Mother's Oats. Or buy four packages of the oats, and one of either Quaker Best Corn Meal or Quaker Hominy. Send us the grocer's sales slip with $1 and we will mail the Aluminum Cooker by parcel post. Sales slips must be mailed within one week.

Noon Dinner.
Mr. and Mrs. John H. Garner had as guests Friday at noon dinner, Rev. and Mrs. Humphrey Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Ellis, and Mr. R. F. Davis.

Circles A and B of the Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist Church met at the church Tuesday evening and packed a box of clothing and bed covers for Buckner's Orphans Home at Dallas.

SOCIETY
Banquet For Methodist Laymen.
Members of the board of stewards and other laymen of the Methodist church were entertained with a four-course dinner on Thursday evening of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Garner.

Victrola music was enjoyed and after the banquet, cigars were passed. Impromptu talks were then given each one carrying a special interest and bearing on "Our New Church," the subject that is receiving attention at present. Great enthusiasm was evinced in outlining plans for the launching of the campaign for building the new church. Those present were J. H. Calhoun, H. G. Eppler, J. M. Williamson, Wm. Reagan, F. E. Harrell, Geo. Winston, G. Flisk, J. C. Sherman, R. W. Daniels, H. C. Poe, Grover Ellis, E. R. McDaniel.

Twentieth Century Club.
At the regular session of the Twentieth Century Club on last Friday afternoon an exceedingly interesting program was given, with "Siberia" as topic for the round table. The following papers were read "Trans-Siberian Railway", Mrs. Kelley; "Peasantry", Mrs. Lee. Committee reports were given during the business hour, the carnival committee reporting that a sum of $318.43 was made, but several expense items, yet to be paid and the report for the oil stock sales gave the sum of $250.00, these amounts to be applied to the Library Fund.

The Club members were unanimous in extending a vote of thanks to Miss Harris for her efforts in planning and arranging for the Masquerade, also to every individual and firm who in any manner assisted the committee in making the affair a success.

MARRIED.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Malone in this city yesterday morning, Ersel Ray Hensley and Miss Rosa Lee Hays, Rev. E. Buford Isaacks officiating. The groom is the nephew of Mrs. Malone.

BUSINESS MEETING

The February business meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church was held in the Ladies Rest Room at the City Hall on Tuesday afternoon, the president conducting the devotional.

Reports of officers and committees were called for and after unfinished business was disposed of, new business was taken up. By motion it was decided that the society give a

What do we expect of our boys as we see the morning back after their months of army discipline—perhaps with one, two or three gold service stripes on the left sleeve?

It is hard to tell. Different natures retract to similar environment so differently. But we should prophesy that the army training will render them more exact in every way, that they will think less of the material side of life and more of its real intent, and that they will feel strongly the responsibilities and duties of citizenship.

What will they expect of us, changed by these months of watching and waiting? They will expect us to be more earnest, of wider sympathies and greater tolerance. If we have not gained these qualities our experience of war and grief and anxiety and sacrifice has done little for us.

Letters From France.

Somewhere in France Dec. 14, 1919 Dear Brother:

I will drop you a few lines, to let you know I am all O. K. and in good health. Well I have come through the war all O. K., and have never got a scratch. What is Father doing at the present time? How are all the rest of the folks? I expect to get home by Spring. There is some talk that we will come home soon. But you can't tell much about it when they will send us.

We understand that the second army will release us. And we are the army of occupation (The third army). Well I will give you a little sketch of my trip. I left "Camp Merit New York" for Brest France. Then I went to the front. I was in Southern France around Essen, Bennie and Pannes. We left there the day after Thanksgiving, started to Germany through Luxenburg, Luxenburg City. From there to Leport and Bithbring, Germany, then to Oden Kiel Germany. We hiked across the country at about two hundred miles in eight days. We sure were glad to get here. That was some hike, full pack. I will close. Hoping this will find you all well. I remain as ever,

Your loving brother,
CLEO REEVES.

Somewhere in France, Dear Home Folks:

Everything is fine and I am getting fatter each day. When there is no interesting events happening, I am forced to return to my old line of junk and just write to let you know that I am on top of the wood wagon. The chief desire now is to be at home but the reason that it grinds on us so, is because that it is our only goal now. It is not because our work is hard, for we do not have to do much.

Christmas and New Year was spent in the greatest of pleasure for it to be on foreign soil.

It has turned colder, but the weather has been exceptionally pleasant, except for rain and it sure has rained.

While I was at LaBoverbouie it has been freezing but few times.

I don't believe that I have told you of the French custom of washing, so here goes: They usually have some kind of a wash house and the whole community uses it. They build this house at the mouth of a spring where the water will run through a pool that is made in the center. The people go to this place and carry their box with straw or rags in the bottom to kneel on. This box has one side out. They get down in this box and take a garment on a stone that angles into the edge of the water, as the scrubbing and bathing comes off. I don't think that they ever boil their clothes. They sure need washing machines. In most every respect they are behind in all industries.

They do all of their civilian hauling on carts, some of these carts are twelve feet long. They wear wooden shoes to keep their shoes out of the mud.

But something they do have is good woods, fields, and vineyards. Their orchards are no good.

Your son,
William R. Cabaress.

W. H. Kittrell Jr. writing from Cleveland Ohio, said in a letter to his father: "When I came here in November, there was 20,000 idleness, now there are double the number. Discharged soldiers and workers turned out of munition plants, all clamoring for work. Women refuse to give up the places of men filled by them. It's breeding Bolshevism. Chicago, Detroit, Philadelphia and other cities are in the same condition."

Cisco, where all find work can sympathize with them. We once suffered the same condition, but thanks to oil, not now.

SEE THAT RIP? Don't throw a tire away with a little hole in it like that. We can make it as good as new. Have it vulcanized. Cisco Vulcanizing Co.

I would really be glad to see its face again. I have lived in California and am now living where the old Pacific laps our western shore and where the sunshine is almost perpetual and the flowers ever in bloom but I shall always have a soft place in my heart for Texas and especially Cisco. Although somewhat battered and a little gray, I am still young at 63, and looking for the good place to make money just a little ahead. There I shall ask you to drop the stamps into the till of Round-Up with the request that they mail me a paper.—Lee R. Jordan, 505 Corrillo St., Santa Barbara, Calif.

"THE LITTLE PEOPLES." The nineteen smaller nations who are seeking greater representation in the peace conference are justified in their demand. Small nations have had too long to bow to the will of the larger nations, to be oppressed by them, perhaps to endure annexation against their will. "The cry of the Little Peoples goes up to God in vain. The Czech and the Pole and the Finn and the Schleswig-Dane." Belgium and Serbia have almost met such a fate, and in proportion to their sufferings in the late war, should have the assurance of freedom. It is only by the protection of a League of Nations that smaller countries are certain of retaining their self-government. Let the weaker have their rights secured against the powerful.

ABE MULKEY PREACHES

Tuesday night at the City Hall, Rev. Abe Mulkey of Corsicana delivered his famous sermon on "restitution," to a crowd much smaller than was anticipated. The weather was cold was no doubt the reason for so many not attending. After the sermon, Rev. Mulkey took a collection for the Methodist Orphanage at Waco and was given liberal donation.

Rev. Mulkey is traveling in the interest of this orphanage and is getting no money for his services, as he has sufficient income on which to live. He has some farm property from which he receives this income, and has it deeded to the orphanage at his and his wife's death. This is indeed a great work and he should receive the encouragement of the people.

Messrs. S. F. Kirkpatrick and W. E. Lessing, two young attorneys of Waco were in the city yesterday, looking for a location. They have the appearance of very bright lawyers, and it is hoped that they may decide to locate in Cisco.

UPON SACRIFICE OF U. S. DEPENDS FATE OF EUROPE

NEW TASK OF FOOD ADMINISTRATION INVOLVES THE SHIPMENT ABROAD OF EVERY TON OF FOOD THAT CAN BE PUSHED THROUGH AMERICAN PORTS.

Review of How We Saved During War, With No Great Surplus, Gives Clue As to How We Will Save Through Will to Prevent European Famine.

To the voluntary service and sacrifice of the American people must be attributed the continued health, strength and morale of the allied armies and the people behind the lines who have been bearing the brunt of our war.

Upon this same spirit of service and sacrifice will depend Europe's fate in the months to come. In the past year we have carried out an export program the magnitude of which is almost beyond comprehension. But with the new demands which have come from the nations liberated from German oppression our exports must be almost doubled. We must ship to Europe every ton of food that can be pushed through our ports.

Before the war this country sent about 6,000,000 tons of food to Europe each year. In the past crop year we sent 11,820,000 tons. As a war program we had obligated ourselves to export 17,500,000 tons in the present year. Now that we are called upon to keep starvation from the liberated nations this figure must be increased to a minimum of at least 20,000,000 tons. Kept Up a Living Ration.

Without our help it would have been absolutely impossible last year for the allies to maintain a living ration. Since our entry into the war we have been contributing largely to the support of one hundred and twenty million people whose normal food supplies have been cut off, whose production has fallen almost to the vanishing point, whose fields have been devastated by Germany. The food exported from the United States in the past year has been sufficient to supply the complete ration of twenty-two million people.

It is hard to grasp the magnitude and significance of the assistance which has been lent the allies by the patriotic, voluntary service of the American people. The food we sent abroad last year would have been sufficient to feed one-fifth of our population. And this was done in spite of the fact that we entered the year with short crops. Our surplus was practically nothing. An overwhelming proportion of the food that left this country last year was saved out of the normal home consumption of our own people.

Overcame Great Obstacles.

In spite of difficulties met in internal transportation and shortage of ocean tonnage, our food exports last year amounted to a figure that a few years ago would have been unbelievable. Even the most optimistic element of our population faced with anxious consternation the prospect which opened before us with the beginning of the 1917 harvest year.

We entered the past crop year with a wheat supply which gave us only 29,000,000 bushels available for export. When the crop year ended we had sent 141,000,000 bushels of wheat to Europe. The American people had saved out of their normal consumption 121,000,000 bushels.

A survey of export figures shows that the conservation of flour brought about by the wheatless meals, wheatless days, substitution in our kitchens and bakeries, enabled us to send to our armies and the allies 33,000,000 barrels of white flour—wheat figured as flour. Had we exported only our visible surplus, we would have been able to ship less than 4,500,000 barrels. Answer to Rhonda—Wheat.

Before December 1 our surplus had gone overseas and an additional 26,000,000 bushels had been taken from the stock reserved for home consumption and added to the surplus already shipped to the allies. It seemed hardly possible that we could bring our total exports above 100,000,000 bushels by July 1. But in January the late Lord Rhonda, then British Food Controller, enabled that unless we could send an additional 75,000,000 bushels he could not take responsibility for assuring his people that they would be fed. The American people responded by sending 85,000,000 bushels of wheat, saved from their home consumption between the first of the year and the advent of the new crop.

By October 10, 1918, we had already shipped 65,960,305 bushels since July 1. Absolutely the only limitation upon our wheat exports since the latest harvest has been the scarcity of ocean tonnage.

When figures began to show definitely that the people of the United States were actually reducing their consumption of foods needed abroad, the Food Administration was told that it was comparatively easy to bring about conservation of staple necessities, but that it would be far more difficult to accomplish an actual decrease in the use of luxuries. The doubters took sugar as an example and declared that it would be practically impossible to bring our consumption of sugar down to a point that would meet only the food needs of the people.

Sugar Ration Observed.

The fact that the Food Administration has twice been able to relax the voluntary sugar ration is in itself proof that the ration of two pounds per person per month was generally observed throughout the country. This

A QUESTION OF WAGES.

The American Federation of Labor has approved and made public the recent report of its committee on reconstruction. This report embodies many interesting and more or less practical recommendations.

It ends, however, with the following remarks on the question of unemployment:

"Unemployment is due to underconsumption. Underconsumption is caused by low or insufficient wages. Give the workers just wages and their consuming capacity is correspondingly increased. A man's ability to consume is controlled by the wages received. Just wages will create a market at home which will far surpass any market which may exist elsewhere and will lessen unemployment.

With all due respect to the many excellent suggestions which the report contains, we take exception to the logic of this statement. It reminds us of the small town where the inhabitants "earned a precarious living by taking in each other's washings."

"Just wages," in the dictation of the Federation of Labor, naturally means high wages. But it means, or should mean, a proportionate scale of wages applied to all industries. If the scale of wages is increased in any industry, the cost and selling price of the product increases in the same proportion. Hence the man who has had his wages raised to a "just" standard looks with amazement on the risen price of the articles which he wishes to buy. Nominally his wages are higher, but the purchasing power of them goes no further than before.

We are pleased to see improvement in the condition of the worker but we think in this one instance the Federation of Labor is reasoning in a circle. Such reasoning ends where it begins and arrives no where.

BOLSHEVISM VS. FOOD.

On first consideration the desire of the allies to raise $400,000,000 to supply food for the starving countries of Europe is accepted at its face value as inspired by a laudable and natural wish to alleviate suffering.

But we are further informed that the ultimate object of this project is to prevent the spread of Bolshevism.

So we learn to supplement the old saying that "the way to a man's heart is through his stomach" by a conviction that his political opinions are also determined by the condition of his stomach.

And why not? Your well-fed man is a contented man. Everything pertaining in any measure to him, from the fit of his shoes to the edicts of his government, is pleasing and satisfactory. Have not you yourself developed a more encouraging view of the municipal government and a larger tolerance for your opponent's religious dictum after a good dinner?

On the other hand the man unable to get enough food is an easy prey to pessimism, coveting and desiring other men's goods, night-makes-right ideas, anarchy, and in a word, Bolshevism.

Let the United States make haste with its fund for the satisfaction of the hungry and thereby for the establishment of world peace.

Mrs. J. B. Cate has returned from Claiborne, where she was called last week by the illness of her sister.

What do we expect of our boys as we see the incoming back after their months of army discipline—perhaps with one, two or three gold service stripes on the left sleeve?

It is hard to tell. Different natures retract to similar environment so differently. But we should prophesy that the army training will render them more exact in every way, that they will think less of the material side of life and more of its real intent, and that they will feel strongly the responsibilities and duties of citizenship.

What will they expect of us, changed by these months of watching and waiting? They will expect us to be more earnest, of wider sympathies and greater tolerance. If we have not gained these qualities our experience of war and grief and anxiety and sacrifice has done little for us.

Letters From France.

Somewhere in France Dec. 14, 1919
Dear Brother:

I will drop you a few lines, to let you know I am all O. K. and in good health. Well I have come through the war all O. K., and have never got a scratch. What is Father doing at the present time? How are all the rest of the folks? I expect to get home by Spring. There is some talk that we will come home soon. But you can't tell much about it when they will send us.

We understand that the second army will release us. And we are the army of occupation (The third army). Well I will give you a little sketch of my trip. I left "Camp Merit New York" for Brest France. Then I went to the front. I was in Southern France around Essen, Beanie and Pannes. We left there the day after Thanksgiving, started to Germany through Luxemburg, Luxemburg City. From there to Leport and Bithbring, Germany, then to Oben Kiel Germany. We hiked across the country at about two hundred miles in eight days. We sure were glad to get here. That was some hike, full pack. I will close Hoping this will find you all well. I remain as ever.

Your loving brother,
CLEO REEVES

Somewhere in France.

Dear Home Folks:

Everything is fine and I am getting fatter each day. When there is no interesting events happening, I am forced to return to my old line of junk and just write to let you know that I am on top of the wood wagon. The chief desire now is to be at home but the reason that it grinds on us so, is because that it is our only goal now. It is not because our work is hard, for we do not have to do much. Christmas and New Year was spent in the greatest of pleasure for it to be on foreign soil. It has turned colder, but the weather has been exceptionally pleasant, except for rain and it sure has rained.

While I was at LaBoverbouie it has been freezing but few times.

I don't believe that I have told you of the French custom of washing, so here goes: They usually have some kind of a wash house and the whole community uses it. They build this house at the mouth of a spring where the water will run through a pool that is made in the center. The people go to this place and carry their box with straw or rags in the bottom to kneel on. This box has one side out. They get down in this box and take a garment on a stone that angles into the edge of the water, as the scrubbing and bathing comes off. I don't think that they ever boil their clothes. They sure need washing machines. In most every respect they are behind in all industries.

They do all of their civilian hauling on carts, some of these carts are twelve feet long. They wear wooden shoes to keep their shoes out of the mud.

But something they do have is good woods, fields, and vineyards. Their orchards are no good.

Your son,
William R. Cabareas.

W. H. Kittrell Jr. writing from Cleveland Ohio, said in a letter to his father: "When I came here in November, there was 20,000 idlers, now there are double the number. Discharged soldiers and workers turned out of munition plants, all clamoring for work. Women refuse to give up the places of men filled by them. It's breeding Bolshevism. Chicago, Detroit, Philadelphia and other cities are in the same condition."

Cisco, where all find work can sympathise with them. We once suffered the same condition, but thanks to oil, not now.

When figures began to show definitely that the people of the United States were actually reducing their consumption of foods needed abroad, the Food Administration was told that it was comparatively easy to bring about conservation of staple necessities, but that it would be far more difficult to accomplish an actual decrease in the use of luxuries. The doubters took sugar as an example, and declared that it would be practically impossible to bring our consumption of sugar down to a point that would meet only the food needs of the people.

Sugar Ration Observed. The fact that the Food Administration has twice been able to relax the voluntary sugar ration is in itself proof that the ration of two pounds per person per month was generally observed throughout the country. This

A QUESTION OF WAGES.

The American Federation of Labor has approved and made public the recent report of its committee on reconstruction. This report embodies many interesting and more or less practical recommendations.

It ends, however, with the following remarks on the question of unemployment:

"Unemployment is due to underconsumption. Underconsumption is caused by low or insufficient wages. Give the workers just wages and their consuming capacity is correspondingly increased. A man's ability to consume is controlled by the wages received. Just wages will create a market at home which will far surpass any market which may exist elsewhere and will lessen unemployment.

With all due respect to the many excellent suggestions which the report contains, we take exception to the logic of this statement. It reminds us of the small town where the inhabitants "earned a precarious living by taking in each other's washing."

"Just wages," in the diction of the Federation of Labor, naturally means high wages. But it means, or should mean, a proportionate scale of wages applied to all industries. If the scale of wages is increased in any industry, the cost and selling price of the product increases in the same proportion. Hence the man who has had his wages raised to a "just" standard looks with amazement on the risen price of the articles which he wishes to buy. Nominally his wages are higher, but the purchasing power of them goes no further than before.

We are pleased to see improvement in the condition of the worker but we think in this one instance the Federation of Labor is reasoning in a circle. Such reasoning ends where it begins and arrives no where.

BOLSHEVISM VS. FOOD.

On first consideration the desire of the allies to raise $400,000,000 to supply food for the starving countries of Europe is accepted at its face value as inspired by a laudable and natural wish to alleviate suffering.

But we are further informed that the ultimate object of this project is to prevent the spread of Bolshevism.

So we learn to supplement the old saying that "the way to a man's heart is through his stomach" by a conviction that his political opinions are also determined by the condition of his stomach.

And why not? Your well-fed man is a contented man. Everything pertaining in any measure to him, from the fit of his shoes to the edicts of his government, is pleasing and satisfactory. Have not you yourself developed a more encouraging view of the municipal government and a larger tolerance for your opponent's religious dictum after a good dinner?

On the other hand the man unable to get enough food is an easy prey to pessimism, coveting and desiring other men's goods, night-makes-right ideas, anarchy, and in a word, Bolshevism.

Let the United States make haste with its fund for the satisfaction of the hungry and thereby for the establishment of world peace.

has been freezing but few times.

I don't believe that I have told you of the French custom of washing, so here goes: They usually have some kind of a wash house and the whole community uses it. They build this house at the mouth of a spring where the water will run through a pool that is made in the center. The people go to this place and carry their box with straw or rags in the bottom to kneel on. This box has one side out. They get down in this box and take a garment on a stone that angles into the edge of the water, as the scrubbing and bathing comes off. I don't think that they ever boil their clothes. They sure need washing machines. In most every respect they are behind in all industries.

They do all of their civilian hauling on carts, some of these carts are twelve feet long. They wear wooden shoes to keep their shoes out of the mud.

But something they do have is good woods, fields, and vineyards. Their orchards are no good.

FAMOUS ARCHITECTS OPEN OFFICES HERE

"Ye Planry" Designers of Modern Homes Appoint Rockwall Bros. & Co. As Agents.

Doubtless many of our readers recall the architects who created such a furor in Los Angeles by originating the new famous American bungalow; perpetuating for posterity the most original and novel architecture ever devised by man. Known as the "Ye Planry" Service; famous then in one section; now recognized as the World's Master Architects, the originators of modern, attractive homes, vitalizing the cold harsh lines of the average house into inspiring and inviting exteriors, while as if worked by magic their interiors radiate comfort, cheer and happiness. They have done more to elevate the home building to a science than any other architects in the United States.

"Ye Planry" are more than architects, they are Artists, not visionary but practical, yea, they are even more, they are Home Engineers, correcting faults in construction which have been accepted by home builder on account of ignorance of better methods. For it has only been in the last decade that the man of moderate means could build a home that would be more than a roof and four walls; only the rich could have homes, the balance of us (we say us, because very few newspaper men live in mansions) simply existed in makeshifts, repelling in appearance, inconveniently arranged with no thought of comfort or conveniences, it was an abode to keep out the elements and preserve the law as to decency.

"Ye Planry" has changed this condition, having made a special study of the needs of the average home builder, and with their efficient force of engineers, architects and designers they have incorporated into the most inexpensive bungalow all the modern conveniences, all the labor saving devices, all the original and without adding to the cost of construction. They have used science in their planning thus eliminating the waste of space making possible many innovations for the same money as was formerly spent in the construction of the square box type of homes. The one big idea of the "Ye Planry" Service is to give the masses—the people as a whole, the opportunity of building attractive homes; mattering not as to their cost, for by this service a $1,000 bungalow may be constructed along individual lines making it look like more money has been spent.

We predict a new era of home building for Cisco, we all of us are at one time or another interested in home building, if we may have the beautiful instead of the ugly, we are benefitted thereby, for modern attractive homes, teeming with comfort and conveniences are in a large degree responsible for contentment and happiness.

Rockwall Bros. & Co. agents of the "Ye Planry" Service have on display three large albums full of real photographs of homes; attached to each photograph is a detailed floor plan. There is no reason why one could not select the home they want from these actual photographs for they tell the story better than drawings or possible designs. An invitation is extended all citizens to call and look at these albums, you will enjoy the display.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED

The following resolutions was unanimously adopted by the Cisco National Farm Loan Association, of Cisco, at a call meeting of its stock holders, January 25th, 1919:

Be It Resolved.

That we oppose the repeal of any amendment, change or modification of our homestead laws, or the submission of a constitutional amendment for that purpose by this Legislature.

That we deem it unwise and dangerous to the success of any Banking institution for its officers to engage in politics, and we, as members of this Association, and as stockholders in the Federal Land Bank at Houston, earnestly and solemnly protest against the activities of the officers of said Bank in the present campaign against the homestead laws of this State.

That the great volume of literature distributed throughout the State by mail and other methods together with other campaign activities, induce us to believe a huge fund has been raised for the campaign. This fund was not furnished by the farmers of the state; we cannot believe it was furnished from the private funds of the officers of the Federal Land Bank at Houston; and we know in reason the funds of the Bank were not used for that purpose; and with this eliminated, our curiosity is aroused to know from what source the campaign fund has come from.
