

Cisco Public Schools

By PROF. J. J. GODBEY

The 1926-1927 session of the Cisco public schools will begin Monday, September 13, 1926, the first week being devoted to teachers' institute work. School will open for pupils the following Monday, September 20. High school seniors will report Thursday and Friday afternoons, September 18 and 19, at 2:30 o'clock, for registration. All other pupils will report Monday, September 20 at 8:00 a. m. All high school pupils will report to the high school building. All grade school pupils on the west side of M. K. & T. R. R. tracks report to west ward building with the exception of the fourth grade pupils, who will report to the high school building. All grade pupils east of the M. K. & T. R. R. tracks will report to the east ward building. Kindergarten pupils will have their room at the high school building and will attend from 9 to 11:30 a. m. Pupils who have not reached their seventh birthday anniversary by September 1, 1926, are counted as unders by state law and must pay tuition if they desire to attend school. These pupils will attend school at the high school building from 1 to 2:30 p. m. Both the kindergarten and primary work for unders will be in charge of Miss Attie Stevens and her assistant.

Tuition for kindergarten pupils and pupils under scholastic age is $3.00 per month payable in advance. The rates of tuition for pupils of scholastic age who live in other school districts and have not been transferred are as follows: First, second, third and fourth grades, $2.00 per month; fifth, sixth and seventh grades, $3.00 per month; high school, $4.00 per month. Transferred pupils not living in the district are given free tuition for one term of four and one-half months and are charged tuition at the regular rates for the other term of like length. Pupils who take both kindergarten and primary work will receive both at a tuition of $3.00 per month.

The line of demarcation between the east and west ward schools is as follows: The line follows the M. K. & T. R. R. tracks from the union station south to Park street, then due south along that street to the boundary of the district, and north from the station to the northern boundary of the district. Pupils must attend the school in their ward unless transferred by the superintendent.

Teachers have been provided for all grades and departments in the schools for the coming season. Mr. E. B. Hawkins is principal of the east ward school, Mr. C. E. Sims, principal of the west ward school and Mr. G. H. Wells, principal of the high school.

The school board have recently elected the following janitors for the schools: Mr. J. C. Evans for the east ward, Mr. W. J. Allen for the west ward and

Mr. Parrish for the high school building.

Many improvements are being made in the organization and material equipment of the schools this year. A four-room brick addition is being constructed at the west ward, making that a twelve-room building. All old desks have been thoroughly renovated and refinished for the entire district by the National Wood Renovating company, and all old text books are being thoroughly fumigated and enough new text books have been secured to meet all possible needs for the coming year. The high school library room has been overhauled, new shelving installed and the books properly catalogued. Miss Hughes will have charge of the library which will insure the maximum returns from this department of the schools. New drinking fountains and a shower bath are being installed in the high school building and drinking fountains placed in both the upper and lower halls of the west ward building. Two hundred new desks, eight teachers' desks and one hundred and fifty tablet arm chairs have been purchased in the way of furniture, also adequate equipment in the way of historical and geographical maps, charts and globes. Mr. C. C. Carey will continue to transport the pupils from the Liberty Hill district to and from school.

A department of public school music has been introduced with Miss Eloise Allison as supervisor, also a commercial department in the high school, with Miss Loula Alexander as instructor. Both of these teachers have had much experience and extensive training in

THE CISCO DEPARTMENT

Mr. Ely, well known in our community as musician, will organize classes in the violin. These classes will meet twice weekly after school hours in the respective school buildings. Pupils desiring to take this work will be charged a tuition of $2.00 per month for the class work. It is hoped that the work in violin and public school music will soon result in excellent orchestral and glee club organizations. Any pupils who contemplate entering Mr. Ely's classes will do well to consult with him concerning their instruments, and bring them to him before the classes begin work in order that he may graduate them.

The teachers' institute, as stated above, will begin Monday, September 13, and continue through the week. The meetings of the institute are open to the public and everyone is cordially invited to attend any and all sessions. The institute will be held in the high school building.

All parents are urged to enter their children the first day of school if at all possible. Very many children fall in one or more terms work solely on account of the fact that they failed to enter at the beginning of the session. It is a mistaken idea that the first few days of school do not amount to much. It is the most important part of the school session. Attention is called to the following regulation of the schools: No beginning pupil will be permitted to enter school after the first three weeks of any term, because it is impossible to give them a proper classification at a later date.

All pupils are cautioned to bring with them the first day of school their last term's report card and their book receipt card. New books cannot be issued to children unless they have in their possession a receipt showing that they returned all books issued by the state to them the preceding session. Duplicate receipts are held by the teachers or schools attended last year, and these are available in case the receipt has been lost by the pupil. To look up this receipt will cause delay and considerable trouble, so it is important that each pupil present his individual receipt at the time of enrollment.

The school board and superintendent of schools feel that the schools of Cisco were never in better condition to meet the real needs of the community than they are this year. Parents and friends are urged to visit the schools frequently during the year and know at first hand the work that is being done. We invite your inspection at any and all times.

GRAND OPERA WILL AGAIN BE POPULAR AFTER MANY YEARS

Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Grand opera will return to the stage of the Manhattan opera house here September 29, after a ten year absence, with the offering of Bizet's "Carmen" by the San Carlo company. This will give New York three grand opera organizations during the coming season, the others being the Metropolitan and the Chicago grand opera companies.

The original purpose of the Manhattan was to provide a home for grand opera, but ten years ago its owner, Oscar Hammerstein, made a deal eliminating himself and his theaters from the opera field for a decade. His widow acquires possession of the property this month, marking a return of the house to its former use.

Miss Alice Gentle, who will sing the title role, Carmen, in the opening was to have made her New York debut in that part ten years ago, but the deal closing the Manhattan to grand opera intervened, so that her appearance in New York in that role was deferred a decade.

ITALY ESTABLISHES BANK INTENDED TO AID WAR SURVIVORS

Associated Press.
ROME, Sept. 10.—King Victor Emmanuel during an audience granted recently to John H. Fahey, former president of the chamber of commerce of the United States, and Alfred Dennis, commercial attache in the American embassy, spoke at some length about a new bank which has recently been founded in Italy.

It is called the Banca Nazionale dei Redenti (The National Bank of War Survivors) and its special object is to give credit to all ex-combatants, helping them to start afresh in business, assisting also their widows and orphans, or the parents and sisters of those who died during the conflict, to all of whom it also gives a discount of one per cent on all operations.

The king himself took a personal interest in the development of the new bank and invested $5,000 lire in its shares, which he presented to another war institution, that of the orphans of fallen soldiers.

The king is anxious that the new bank should become a link between Italy and Italian war survivors who live abroad, of whom there are over 350,000 in America alone and an even greater number in Argentina and Brazil.

WIFE RETURNS TO FIND HUSBY WEDDED AGAIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Adolph Graessgreen must answer in the Washington Heights court to a charge of having one too many wives. The complainant is Mrs. Lily Graessgreen, of No. 318 West One Hundred and Fifty-ninth street, wife No. 1. She was lost in the war zones for five years and returned from what was to have been a two months' visit to her parents in Germany to find that Mrs. Mary Graessgreen had taken her place. For a year she watched her husband's old haunts and finally saw him about to enter a cigar store at Broadway and One Hundred and Fifty-sixth street.

She there caused his arrest on a charge of bigamy.

According to Mrs. Graessgreen No. 1, she was married to Graessgreen in a synagogue in Pitt street, near Delancey street, in 1907. She left in 1914 for Germany, where she was held without communication with her husband during the war blockade of the central powers.

On her return to New York a year ago she began a search for her husband, which led her from the bureau of licenses, where she found he had taken out a second marriage license in 1920, to the synagogue in which her wedding was celebrated, where she found the record of Graessgreen's second marriage.

That Famous Card Index of National Woman's Party Is Exposed for First Time

And the Information It Contains Would Make Their Hair Rise and Bring the Blushes to Many a Governor, Senator and Congressman —One Presidential Nominee Jotted Down as Being a "Lady's man" and Some Senators Said "Don't Tell My Wife" in Their Interviews.

By MILDRED MORRIS
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The famous card index of the national woman's party, hitherto closely guarded from prying eyes, was thrown open to the International News Service today by special permission.

It contains inside information on presidential candidates, members of congress and the governors and legislators of every state, giving "close-up" views of their lives, habits and associations.

Since its inauguration by Miss Maude Younger, of San Francisco, Cal., legislative chairman of the woman's party, the index has been the subject of sensational charges by the anti and burning curiosity on the part of leading public men. The anti in Tennessee now threaten to have it produced before the grand jury investigating the charges which have grown out of the ratification fight.

If all the information it contains were made public, the present presidential campaign would be considerably envenomed and certain national political leaders would find their hair rising straight up and other equally prominent leaders would blush from sheer embarrassment.

In it are indelibly recorded utterances, expressed at unguarded moments, of senators and congressmen now running for re-election, who strongly opposed the nineteenth amendment when it was before congress, ready to rise up from the past and smite them in the faces if they try to "horowaggle" the new lady voters into believing their stand on suffrage was misunderstood.

There are specially written descriptions of America's leading statesmen. A breezy young suffragist sent to interview one of the presidential nominees before he came into prominence as a candidate described him as a "lady's man" and "rather a sport."

"My Wife Won't Let Me" is the refrain recalled by the index when it comments on the attitude of other prominent anti-senators. "Home pressure," it says, regarding the stand of Senator Wadsworth, of New York, whose wife is president of the National association opposed to suffrage.

One Vermont legislator, in a letter confiding that he was for ratification, concludes with the plea: "For Heavens sake don't let this get to my wife and the neighbors."

Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, is quoted as telling interviewers that his wife is an anti and "considers one political in the family enough," and expressing the view that "women will not better things."

Former Congressman Jeanette Rankin, who went to interview Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia with another suffragist, reports: "He took the only chair and let us stand. He said as we were suffragettes we shouldn't mind."

Senator Knute Nelson is described by other republican senators who are quoted in the index as "the hardest man in the senate to manage, but if left alone will vote right."

A young suffragist who tried to interview the veteran senator from Minnesota reports him as advising her "to go home and get a husband and raise sons for the war."

Another writes of a visit to Senator Pomerene. "I approached the lion's den with great trepidation and trembling. It was fortunate the senator had eaten his breakfast or he would have eaten every suffragist alive."

Senator Lodge is quoted as saying: "Women do not need the protection of the ballot. They are already better protected without it. I regret to see women seek to come down to the level of men for then men will become brutalized and women will suffer."

Senator Reed of Missouri, is described as taking suffrage as a joke.

Senator Brandegee of Connecticut, is quoted as saying he would oppose suffrage "even if every one in Connecticut were for it."

Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, is quoted as telling interviewers he was waiting to "hear from two women friends, one an anti suffragist and one a suffragist," before he took a stand on suffrage.

Congressman Tinkham, of Massachusetts, according to the index, frankly stated "he wanted it to be a man's world," while Congressman Tillman of Arkansas, is quoted as saying: "Women are 1,000 years behind men."

AMUSEMENTS

Victory

Theatergoers may now enjoy once more the brilliant performances of William Faversham, who, after an absence of several years from American dramatic activities, appears in the ranks of the motion picture stars under Selznick management. His first production as a Selznick star is "The Man Who Lost Himself," a romantic mystery drama by H. de Vere Stackpoole, which will be shown at the Victory theater today.

"The Man Who Lost Himself" depicts the experiences of a financially embarrassed American in London. He becomes some one else overnight without his consent or knowledge and has some equally thrilling and laughable times passing from the true self to the false one. The situation is complicated by the existence of a wife, relatives, a fortune and a title.

The photoplay is declared to be one fully worthy of the talents of its leading player. It was directed by George D. Baker. A notable cast supports Mr. Faversham.

The William Farnum company went to great lengths to get two shots for "The Joyous Troublemakers," the William Fox picture which opens at the Victory theater tomorrow. The technical men had been canvassing the country about Palm Springs, Cal., and found on top of a mountain a view of the three falls that empty into Hell's Gullet. It was the only spot from which they were able to see the three falls at once.

It was seven miles up and a very difficult climb, but that means nothing in the life of a moving picture actor. The whole company went—with the various necessary equipments, which were far from being easy burdens in negotiating stretches that, even with nothing at all to carry, required careful climbing in order to keep from falling over a precipice.

After three hours the mountain top was reached—and Mr. Farnum declared it was well worth the trip. Those who see the picture, it is declared, will endorse the star's enthusiasm over the outcome.

A reception was tendered the family of Rev. J. S. Stockard Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ward, to which the many friends of the family were invited. On account of the heavy rain at the hour of the reception, quite a number were prevented from attending, but more than fifty guests registered.

Mr. Stockard has accepted the pastorate of the Christian church at Marfa and is soon to remove to that city. The reception for him and his family was a token of well wishing friendship of their many friends.

The guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Stockard and Mrs. C. A. Mangham.

Mrs. Guy Ward had charge of the guest book, where each guest registered his name and good wishes, and Mrs. Burt Powell and Mr. W. P. Daniel served the punch.

During the evening a most interesting program was rendered with the following numbers: Instrumental music, Mrs. C. Luns; vocal solo, Miss Muriel Allinger; reading, Miss Marie Winston; vocal solo, Miss Doris Powell; music, Miss Vista Mae Mahan; reading, Miss Nellie Mae Luns; music, Mrs. C. Luns and Miss Allinger.

With a few remarks on friendship, Mr. Chas. E. Coombes, on behalf of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Stockard, presented them with a traveling bag. Mr. Stockard feelingly responded, thanking the donors for their remembrance.

The affair was an enjoyable one to all present, and Mr. and Mrs. Ward proved themselves artful in the entertainment of their guests.

As a Home--

It is your DUTY, Mr. Family Man, to provide your little ones with a home of their own. A HOUSE is NOT enough. No matter how fine or beautiful or expensive a rented house may be, it can never mean to your children what a home of their own will mean.

It is in the HOME that your children first base their concept of life, of duty and industry and responsibility. Denying them a home of their own NOW robs them of its precious memories in after years and withholds from them the higher ideals, the saving influences which would help carry them safely through life.

It is your business to face these problems today. It is only RIGHT and FAIR and JUST to your family to provide them with the protection of their own home. And the most satisfying way to secure that home is to purchase a lot in Rosewell Heights and build the home at once.

As An Investment--

Every man knows he OUGHT to save money. YOU know YOU should. The only reason you don't save is because it is a difficult thing to do. We are living in an age of comforts and luxuries.

When you have a ten-dollar bill in your pocket with no definite place to put it, there is a very strong probability that it will be spent for something or other of doubtful permanent value. If you wish to save money EASILY you must establish a strong and constant motive for saving.

Every dollar you put into your home GROWS IN VALUE. When you entirely own your property it is worth far more to you than the actual number of dollars invested. If you have located wisely and built well you can always sell at a profit. Furthermore you will have acquired the prosperity habit—the habit of managing your money and getting ahead.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt Sounds Warning to Women "Victory Means More Work"

International News Service.
NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—With national suffrage achieved, and overlooked over the victory which has at last come to the forces of suffrage, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, soberly points out that with the victory comes added responsibility and opportunity for more work.

On her triumphal return from Nashville, Tenn., to this city she was given ovation after ovation with several big jubilee meetings, and to all she pointed out that the women must now be ready for the work ahead.

"The suffrage victory means opportunity for more work and added responsibility," says Mrs. Catt.
"The suffrage triumph is too belated for it to come with any shock of surprise. We have long been ready for it. We are ready for the work that lies ahead of us."
"Since votes for women is now an accomplished fact, what are the women going to do with the vote?"
"Are they going to draw back their skirts, and disdain from all interest in politics on the ground that it is corrupt?"
"Are they going to join the army of kid-gloved men slakers who I have heard proudly boast that they would not touch politics with a ten-foot pole?"
"Or are they going to be of those who will help swell America's army of voters who put conscience and thought into the scales with party politics and party candidates?"
"In order to help the new woman voter find her way through the maze of these besetting questions, there has been formed the National League of Women Voters. In each state state branches are forming out of the old suffrage associations. This league is not partisan. It is pan-partisan, all partisan. A woman can be a member of it and yet be a member of any political party she may choose, exactly as she may be a member of it and be a member of any church she may choose."
"The League of Women Voters is not encouraging women to leave their parties, for it is through the political parties that we must work. They furnish us with the machinery through which we are enabled to reach the public, keep the public informed, through which the public consciousness is created. 'Get into the parties' was the slogan adopted by the league at the Chicago convention."
"Neither state nor nation should tamper with the problems of government before them. Lynchings compelling the killing of the American flag, deportation are not meeting the situation. The nation is suffering from having so long kept the tools of government from women. Home means more to woman than it ever can to man. Since the earliest forms of civilization when a dug-out with its wood fires was the center of the home, woman with her children has been the defender of that spot and she will continue to defend it to the last."
"We must set our strong American shoulders against intolerance wherever it may be. Intolerance anywhere will cause the crumbling of any foundation. The great war was the result of many causes, but after all the great cause was intolerance. No sooner has one step of freedom been gained than those who suffered from intolerance themselves became intolerant and try to prevent the next step. Let us unite upon that principle and give our efforts, our every thought and energy to making this everybody's world."

Sprightly Woman of 108 Eager to Cast First Vote for President This Fall

Mrs. Sophie Orr

International News Service.
SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Mrs. Sophie Orr, of 117 Harrison street, who will celebrate her one hundred and eighth birthday on September 22, is eagerly looking forward for casting her first vote for President in November. She probably will be the oldest woman in the country to cast her ballot. She voted for the first time in the Mayoralty election last year.
"I voted the republican ticket," she stated proudly, "and that's why they won."
The aged woman was the daughter of a lawyer, and was born in St. Albans, Vt., one hundred and eight years ago, according to her story. From there she moved to Muscadine, Wis., and later to Highgate, Minn., where she was married to Robert W. Orr. She remembers clearly the events of the war, in which her husband served, and has a vivid memory of her entire life down to the present.
The little old lady likes to talk about her dead husband, who fought for his country back in the sixties.
"He did his duty," she said resignedly, "and now he's up in Oakwood. He gave two arms, two legs and his eyes for his country."
Although in her long lifetime Mrs. Orr never before had to resort to the law for protection, she recently appeared against her grandson, Harvey D. Mullett, whom she charged with stealing $148 from under her pillow.
Mrs. Orr is the oldest woman to figure in court procedure in this State, probably in the United States.
As sprightly as if at least half of her age, the aged woman mounted the stand and gave her evidence against her grandson, when Mullett, who has appeared in the police court before and is included in the gallery, demanded an examination.

"Grandma, you know I've always been true to you," said the accused grandson.
"Harvey, you took my money. I saw you," insisted the little old lady, "and what's more you took my copper wash boiler a long time ago."
"I've never forgotten this about Harvey," she stated gravely to the judge. "He took that and five dollars and a ring which belonged to my dead husband. I know it was Harvey," she insisted.
Mrs. Orr owns the house in which she occupies one apartment alone.
"I was standing on my back porch telling my daughter-in-law how to hang up a blanket to get it dry," she declared to the judge.
"I heard a noise and saw Harvey coming out of my bedroom. When I went in the money was gone."
"I took my copper wash boiler, too," she reiterated, showing that the loss of the utensil was a hard thing to forgive.
The grandson was arraigned after "grandma" had already told her story once, and demanded that she be put on the stand.
"Grandma" had been waiting. She told her story in a clear voice and showed excellent hearing. The only difficulty with her as a witness was her desire to plead with grandson to return the money.
"Why don't you give it to me, Harvey?" the little old lady pleaded again and again.
A daughter of the elderly woman, Mrs. Wilson, was sworn and stated that she had met Mullett entering the basement door of the house just a short time before Mrs. Orr reported the theft.

A. E. F's Greatest War Hero, Who Was Awarded Many Medals, Returns to U. S. With a Bride

Sergeant Louis Van Iersel won more decorations than the famous Sergeant York and now wins playmate sweetheart for his wife—Has returned to this country and is now living at Passaic, N. J.—Nearly every honor medal in his "collection."

International News Service.
NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Sergeant Louis Van Iersel, formerly of Holland but now of Passaic, N. J., has just arrived at this port from the Netherlands, bringing with him his bride, formerly Miss Hendricks de Ronde, of Dussen, Netherlands, and with his coming the story of his amazing war record as a United States soldier has been revealed for the first time.

Sergeant Van Iersel, although he has modestly refused to say anything about it, won more medals for bravery in the World war than any other member of the American Expeditionary Force. His exploits top those of the famous Sergeant York, of Tennessee. He gathered up some fifteen coveted medals, crosses, shields, badges, etc., during his little experience on the other side and has a small packet of citations, certificates, etc., expressing appreciation for his bravery.

It was in 1916 that Sergeant Van Iersel came to this country, a fine, healthy young Hollander who couldn't even speak English. On the voyage over a person on the ship fell overboard while the line was proceeding full speed. Van Iersel promptly threw himself into the sea from the deck of the ship and held the person from sinking until the big ship could be brought about and a boat lowered to go back and look for him. It was a thrilling rescue and it started his collection of medals, for he was awarded two hero medals for his bravery.

When the United States entered the war, Van Iersel tried to enlist, but he couldn't understand English. He studied hard and soon was able to master the language and enlisted in Pershing's Second Division. As soon as he got up to the fighting line he began to win medals again for his unusual deeds of daring.

Single handed in the Champagne sector he captured sixty-five Germans, all of them armed. Van Iersel came upon them and he was all alone. It was a case of either capture the sixty-five or be captured, so Van Iersel, able to speak excellent German, stepped out before them and told them that they were entirely surrounded by American soldiers, but that if they wouldn't get disagreeable about it they would be taken back to the lines and none of them would be shot down by the hot-headed Americans who were just itching to annihilate them. The Germans surrendered and Van Iersel marched them back to his lines without losing a prisoner. He received the Croix de Guerre for this act.

Van Iersel is also one of the few enlisted men who were awarded the congressional medal of honor. This was awarded to him for his fearlessness and bravery in going out and securing information from the enemy which saved his unit, company M, Ninth infantry, from annihilation just in the nick of time.

Among his other decorations are the Medaille Militaire, the Belgian Cross, the Distinguished Service Cross, the Montegrin Medal, two other Croix de Guerre, one with two palms and a star, and a regimental fourragere.

Sergeant Van Iersel, however, says nothing of his war record, and when a newspaper man asked to see his medals he was visibly embarrassed, seemingly because he had won so many of them. But he has them, however, with the citations for each and every one. When the war was over he returned to Holland and there married his sweetheart from playmate days. The newly married couple are now in Passaic, where Van Iersel has a position as the special officer of a large bank. From his war record he certainly would be able to deliver a good account of himself and faithfully guard the property placed under his watchful care.

AMERICAN LEGION MAY RECONSIDER "POLITICAL RESTRICTIONS" CLAUSE NATIONAL CONVENTION THIS MONTH

Sentiment Seems Widespread That the Two Narrow Interpretation of Ruling in Constitution Regarding Politics Will Exclude Legion From Taking Proper Participation in Public Affairs of the Nation—Many Believe More Liberal Ruling Should Be Adopted.

International News Service.
NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Strong sentiment throughout the country in favor of a reconsideration of the political restrictions clause in the constitution of the American Legion is perhaps the most striking feature of a comprehensive nationwide survey just completed by the American Legion Weekly. The aim of the canvass was to discover what seems to be uppermost in the minds of the two million members of the legion, who, scattered among 9,000 posts in every town in the United States and in many foreign countries, recently have finished the selection of 3,000 delegates to voice their will at the second national convention of the legion which convenes September 27 in Cleveland, Ohio.

The sentiment is widespread that a too narrow interpretation of the present political restrictions clause will work injury to the legion by excluding it from participation in public affairs of the country. Many prominent legion members believe the existing clause should stand as it is, but that a more liberal interpretation than generally has been observed heretofore be agreed upon. The present clause follows:

"The American Legion shall be absolutely non-political, and shall not be used for the dissemination of partisan principles or for the promotion of the candidacy of any person seeking public office or preferment. No candidate for or incumbent of a salaried elective public office shall hold any office in the American Legion, or in any department or post thereof."

Discussing the situation the next issue of the legion's official publication will say:

"Politics will be one of the paramount issues at the national convention of the American Legion. This prediction is neither ludicrous nor paradoxical, in the light of the American Legions' proclaimed status as an absolutely non-political organization.

"It is simply a statement of fact—a fact advanced with a purely informative objective, a speculative attitude and an unbiased viewpoint. It is a deduction based on signs which are unmistakably in evidence whenever legions are active. No matter what individuals may feel toward the problem of the legions' participation in politics—whether they believe posts and departments should be free to support or oppose certain candidates, or whether they believe the organization's policy should be to avoid taking any side whatever, under any circumstances—all apparently realize that the convention will be the opportunity to bring the question out into the open.

Persons actively engaged in promoting the legion's interests assert the demand for a new statement of policy on the attitude of the organization toward politics has been spontaneous. Proof need extend no further than the following resolution adopted by the department of Indiana at its recent convention:

"Resolved that necessary action be taken to provide for the dissemination of data to each post of the American Legion in Indiana regarding the actual stand taken by each and every member of the state legislature and other public officials where possible to obtain their views by vote, speech or action on any and all matters pertaining to the welfare of the American Legion; and "Be it further resolved that recommendations be made by this convention to the national convention of the American Legion for a like provision regarding the members of the United States congress and national public officials.

"A prominent California legionnaire advocated the placing of a legion ticket in the field and from Oklahoma and Tennessee have come unofficial reports of the active participation of legion members in the campaigns of candidates for state and national public offices, the legionnaire directing their attention to the candidates' war records.

"Evidence of the views of Franklin D'Olier, the national commander, are afforded by a telegram forwarded by him to Basil Stockbridge, commander of the department of Georgia. The message was in reply to one from Mr. Stockbridge telling of the fight the legion in Georgia is waging against Thomas E. Watson, candidate for United States Senator. Mr. Stockbridge says: "We shall scrupulously observe both the letter and spirit of our constitution and abstain from taking a partisan or political stand. Our fight is based on Watson's war record.

Commander D'Olier's reply reads: "Because of his service during the war, no civilian has any sense of his responsibilities as a citizen and voter keener than that of the ex-service man. No state furnished more patriotic and loyal soldiers than Georgia, and members of the American Legion of Georgia owe it to themselves and to the memory of their fallen comrades to use the full power of their ballot to keep out of public office any individual, regardless of party, whose record during the war was disloyal and unpatriotic. This can be done without conflicting directly or indirectly with either the letter or the spirit of our constitutional restrictions against partisan political activity."

PHEASANTS TO THRIVE NORTH DAKOTA WOODS

VALLEY CITY, N. D., Sept. 10.—Sixty ring-necked pheasants were set at liberty in the wooded country near here recently by the North Dakota Fish and Game commission. Four more flocks of sixty each will be liberated in other parts of the state in the next few weeks. The birds were bred on the state game farm near Grafton.

This is the inauguration of a campaign to stock North Dakota farm lands and unsettled areas with this hardy and gorgeous bird which furnishes splendid shooting and is rarely toothsome. The most successful experiment of the kind ever made in America was in Oregon. A few ring-neck pheasants liberated there multiplied so rapidly that in a few years they were plentiful in all the wild coverts of the state. The original home of the ring-neck is northern China, where the winters are severe and it is believed North Dakota will be ideally adapted to a bird of such racial cold weather traditions.

which once flourished in North Dakota by the millions, have been greatly reduced in numbers by indiscriminate shooting. Under protective laws they are gradually coming back. The ring-neck pheasant added to the increasing prairie chicken population, it is pointed out, will mean another attraction to settlers who will find sport as well as prosperity on North Dakota farms.
