ARMAMENT WILL CEASE WHEN ITS CAUSES DIE

A survey of national armaments these days gives scant reason for anyone to hope that the approaching Geneva conference will be successful.

Far from promising for armament reduction, the major powers seem to be almost unanimous in their determination to increase their strength.

A glance around the arena, for instance, shows such phenomena as the following:

France has built a great chain of frontier forts and has increased her army by 65,000 men.

Germany has boosted her army and navy budget from $288,000,000 to $358,000,000.

Russia has increased her army by more than 100,000 men.

Japan has added somewhere between 100,000 and 400,000 men to her armed forces in three years.

Italy has added 43,000 men to her navy and her air force; Poland has increased her forces by 61,000 men; Poland, Belgium, and Czechoslovakia are spending huge sums on forts; England, Japan and the United States are working fast to build up their navies.

This certainly is not a picture of a world getting ready for a long era of peace and co-operation. But no greater mistake could be made than to suppose that these armies and navies are being strengthened out of sheer wrong-headedness, or to gratify the whims of despotic statesmen.

The nations of the world are arming because they see trouble ahead; and they see trouble because there are in the world today innumerable situations which cry aloud for settlement—Polish corridor and trade wars, disputed territory in Manchuria and in Silesia and along the Adriatic and heaven knows where else, oppressed national minorities, onerous treaties, and so on.

It ought to be clear by this time that inviting the nations to disarm without first setting straight these causes of trouble is futile.

The armament race is a dangerous and distressing thing, but it has certain definite and obvious causes. Before it can be stopped, there must be intelligent and far-sighted action to set the fundamentals straight.

WAR'S LESSON

It would be interesting to know how many war-time chaplains share the Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick's conviction that "the support I gave to war is a deep condemnation upon my soul."

Dr. Fosdick told a large New York audience that he "lied to the unknown soldier about a possible good consequence of the war," and that he will never again tell soldiers who are about to kill and be killed that they act for God and mankind.

In fact, this pastor of the Rockefeller church remarked bluntly, "I'll see you in prison first."

It has become painfully evident in the last 15 years that we somehow managed to deceive ourselves very badly about some of the issues at stake in the war.

It will probably be a long, long time before the ministers of the land will support a war as strongly as they supported the last one.

REAL GIFT TO MOTHERS

One of the tragic things about Mothers' Day is that we usually are content to let it go by without paying more than a formal tribute. We send flowers or candy or some other form of greeting, but we ignore the ways in which we could really make the day significant.

Mrs. Shepard Kreech, president of the Maternity Center Association of New York, points out that 10,000 women who could be saved by adequate maternity care die in childbirth each year in the United States; and she suggests that a spirited campaign to end these deaths would make an admirable Mothers' Day observance.

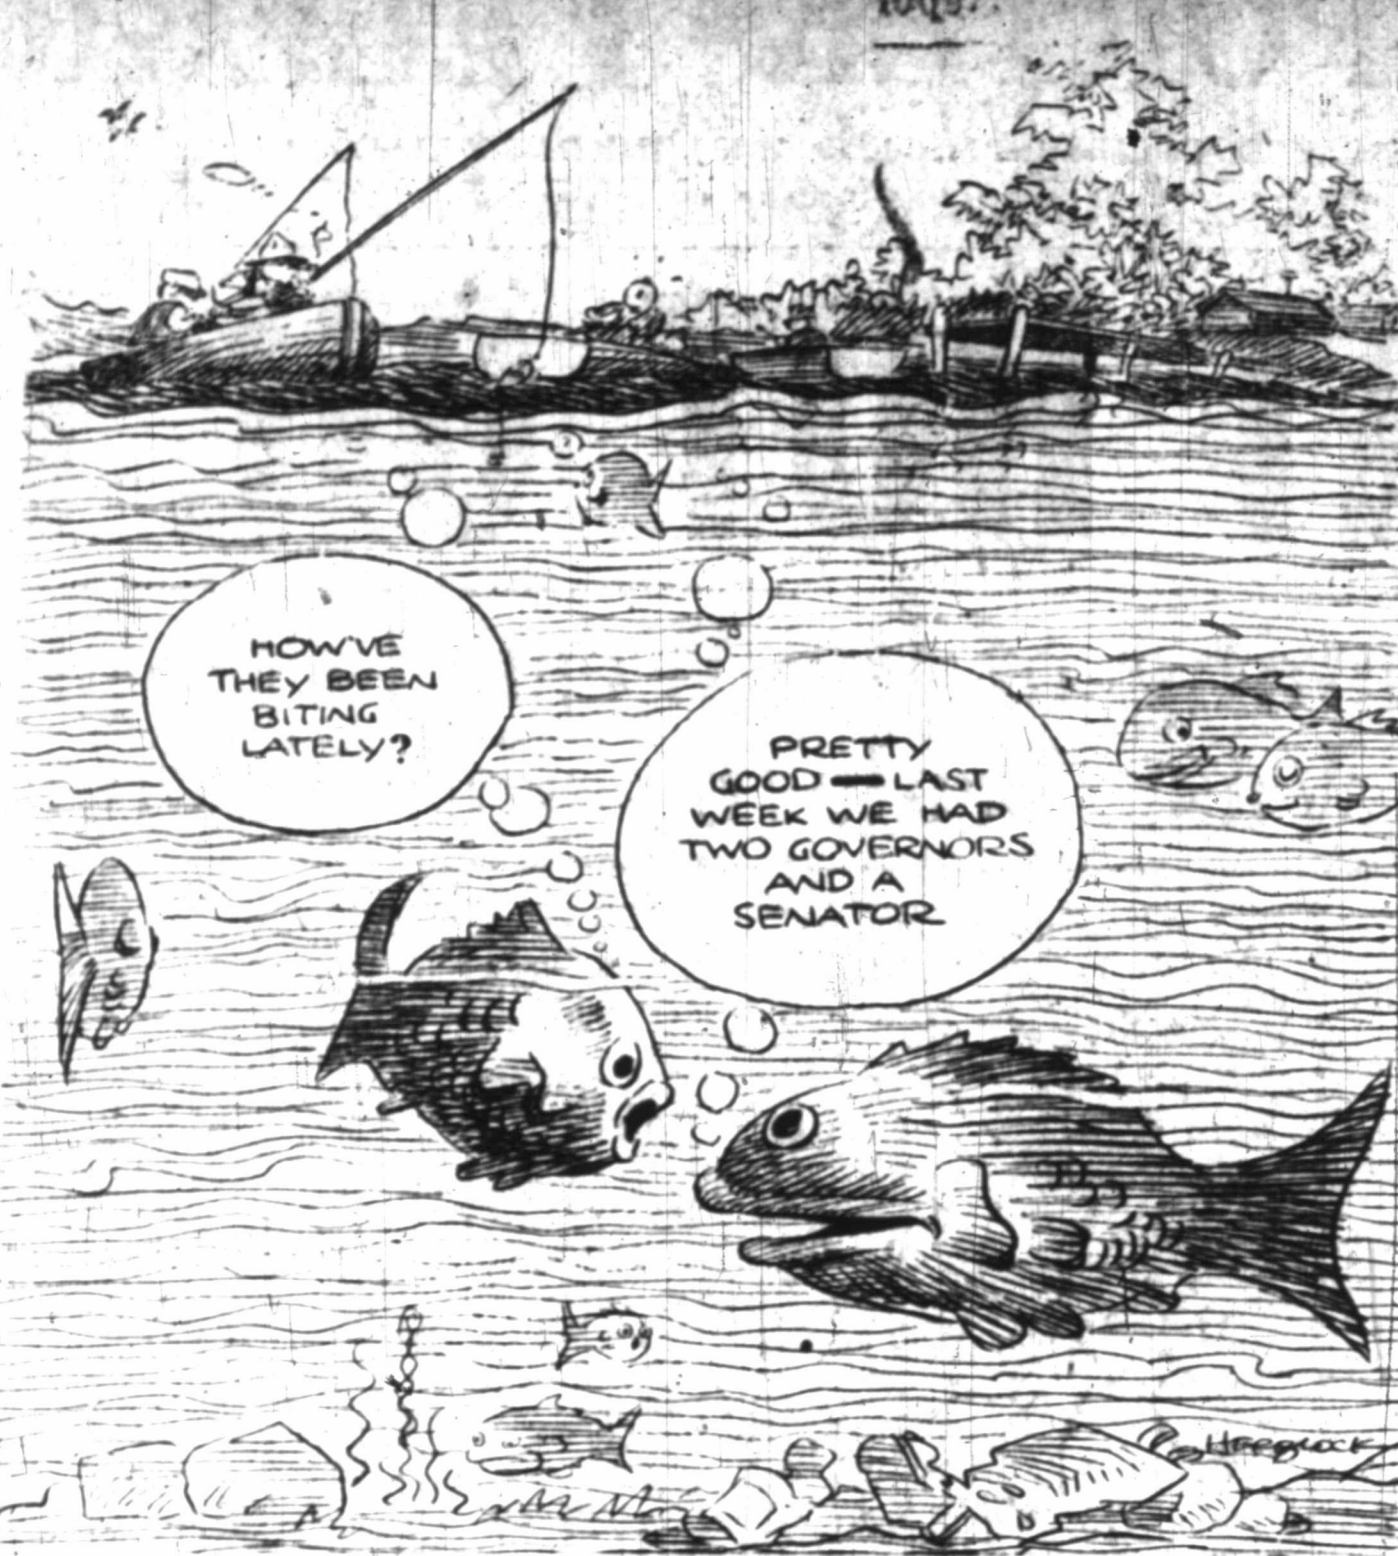

Practicing what she preaches, Mrs. Kreech this year induced many American Legion posts, Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions clubs to co-operate in such a campaign. It's a first-rate idea; Mothers' Day would be far more significant if it could be followed up, year after year, in a conscientious manner.

The old school marm went to a university. Studied Psychology, Physics, and Chemistry. The poor old thing had Calculus analytically. To get her Ph. D. They gave her German, French and Spanish Three, Latin, Greek and History, highbrow Cosmology. They gave the mystery of Bacteriology. All for a Ph. D. The old school marm just couldn't stand the heavy strain. Went at it night and morn, but it was all in vain. All that work it drove her quite insane. She'll never be the same again. Now the old school marm is just as broke as she can be. At last she got her prized degree, BUT THEN THEY CUT HER SALARY. And we have told you why she ain't what she used to be. Though she has a Ph. ### Young Artists Here Visiting Relatives

Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Allen of Miami Beach, Fla., are in Midland visiting his sister, Mrs. R. D. Struggs, for several days before going on a painting expedition to Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen were married in an unusually beautiful out-of-door ceremony at Miami Beach on April 29. Before coming to Midland, the couple visited friends and relatives in Florida and Louisiana and Mr. Allen's parents. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Allen, at Wichita Falls. They are traveling by automobile.

Mrs. Allen, the former May Slegman of Yonkers, N. Y., and Miami Beach, is a talented young portrait artist two of whose canvases have been shown in the National Academy. Mr. Allen had a one-man exhibit of his European water colors at the Woman's Forum clubhouse at Wichita Falls several years ago and has been doing designing and mural painting at Miami Beach since then.

In a few days the couple will go to Mexico City where they will spend the summer painting and sketching as well as studying the art, crafts and people of that historic old country.

March Ranks His New Role Equal to Best

Fredric March plays what he considers the second outstanding screen role of his brilliant film career, in "Death Takes a Holiday," the Paramount picture directed by Mitchell Leisen, showing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Ritz theatre. March ranks only his memorable performance in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" with this, his latest part.

"Death Takes a Holiday," the screen play for which was written by Maxwell Anderson and Gladys Lehman from the famous stage play by Alberto Casella, presents March in the starring role, as a "shadow," Death. It follows the Broadway play which was adapted into English by Walter Ferris. For three days, Death takes a holiday from his grim task to taste life as a human-being to discover if he can, what makes life so sweet, and himself, Death, so abhorrent.

Pleasures Tire Him

March, in the disguise of a handsome, adventurous gentleman, appears at a house party and throws himself into the gay pastimes of the sophisticated group. All the pleasures which men find so absorbing quickly tire him, and he is about convinced that all human life is worthless illusion. The thrill of love, he has saved for his last test, and his dashing manner and handsome presence win him several opportunities to test his emotion.

To each of the beautiful young women present, March makes love in turn. But none of them can create the true emotion of love in him, until he meets Grazia, played by Evelyn Venable, and with her, he learns the greatness of an immortal love just as the clock strikes the close of his holiday.

Big Supporting Cast

Important Summer For Neale Family

BROWNSVILLE (AP)—This summer marks a number of important dates in the history of the William A. Neale family, the oldest in Brownsville.

It is the 100th anniversary of the arrival here of William P. Neale, founder of the line and the centennial of continuous residence of the Neales in the present family home.

It marks the 50th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Neale, Sr.

Mr. Neale, 77 years of age, recently retired from the U. S. customs service after 24 years of continuous service.

Some idea of the conditions under which the family lived in the early days may be secured from the fact that the son of the original William A. Neale was not to die in his own home during the Cortina raid and capture of Brownsville in 1859.

While the present Neale was an infant in his crib, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Neale came to Brownsville, then a ranch section opposite Matamoros, in 1834, before the fall of the Alamo.

Neale, who was an Englishman and a planter.

Neale complained in his memoirs that the people never painted houses so he was forced into another line of business to make a living.

He chose the stagecoach business and opened a line from Brownsville to Port Isabel.

The business thrived and Neale saw that he must have some sort of a hotel or tavern to care for the people. He built one in Brownsville and operated this stage coach for 20 years.

During that time the line handled hundreds of thousands of dollars in silver and gold coin but never lost a dollar through robbery or theft, the operators reported.

He said "we carried the silver in sacks made of hide, which was transparent, and when we drove down the road the sunlight glittered on the silver so you could see it a mile."

The first settler of the family lived until 1897, although his son, William Peter Neale, was killed in the family home by the Cortina raiders.

The son of the present William A. Neale, Sr., William A. Neale, Jr., is deputy collector of customs at Brownsville and the third generation is represented by William A. Neale III.

Simplicity Is the Keynote of Art

FORT WORTH, AP.—Despite the complexity of modern life, the keynote of art and good taste is simplicity, believes Guy N. Reid, who has been in the photography business for 15 years.

"Modern photography is based on simplicity," he said. "Instead of the old scenic backgrounds of several years ago, photographers today are using plain backgrounds and drapes. These give a softer effect and do not detract from the main subject of the photograph as the old backgrounds did."

There is a revival of scenic backgrounds, however, in modern advertising, Reid said.

Six Midland women will enter the women's division of the West Texas Golf association championship tourney at Big Spring on May 25, it was decided in a meeting of the Midland Women's Golf association at country club this morning. Misses Sandy Auchterlonie, Charley Miz G. Frank Aldrich, Harvey Conger, Fred Wright and Miss Lucille Thomas will tee off for the 18-hole round on the municipal links there, it was decided. The women also voted to play as a team in engagements with Big Spring, Lubbock, Pecos, San Angelo and Abilene women, engagements to be played here and at other places with Abilene and Lubbock likely preferring to meet Midland on mid-way territory, possibly at Big Spring.

Mrs. Auchterlonie is accredited by no other than Pro Akey of the municipal links at Big Spring with having set the woman's course record there. The Midland pro's wife toured the difficult course with the several blind holes in a 47—which is not so bad for a man, one is convinced after taking a look at the sporty layout.

Goodyear Whips New Tire Problem

"The modern automobile is responsible for the greatest tire our company has ever made," said Ralph Lowe, local dealer for the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.

"Present day cars with their greater speed, faster gears and more powerful brakes for quick stops have produced a problem in tire wear which has been solved by Goodyear engineers in the newly introduced 'G-3' tire," he asserted.

"With the advent of smaller wheel diameters, high speed motors and powerful four-wheel brakes, tread wear became more of a problem—a problem immediately tackled by the company's engineers and research men. At once they started work on a new tire that would defeat these conditions and our new 'G-3' is the answer.

"Many designs and compounds were created only to be thrown away, but finally one bearing the factory number 'G-3' was found to stand up under the grueling tests. One of the tests consisted of running the tire against sharp granite grit and resistance of the 'G-3' to this abrasion was found to be far greater than designs previously tested.

"Test cars then tried the 'G-3' for months—speeding up to 60 miles per hour, jamming on breaks. Cars and brakes wore out—but the 'G-3' stood up and kept on standing up!

"The new tire, with its flatter tread, longer non-skid design wear, slower wheel and low weight and greater safety with more non-skid blocks on the tread, has met and whipped the problem presented by the modern car," Lowe said.

Good Advertisement Copy for Midland

Excellent advertisement for Midland and for The Reporter-Telegram was given in the May 12 edition of Editor & Publisher by the Press League, Inc.

"Midland is all that its name implies—midway between Fort Worth and El Paso on the Texas & Pacific railway.

"Cotton, grain sorghum, fruit and vegetable crops, dairying, ranching and stock farming are important income indices of this territory. And it is the Midland of the productive oil fields in this wealthy section of west central Texas. Population, 5,484, in the center of the West Texas Permian basin, and convenient by good roads to all points of this great oil field; the site of one of the finest transcontinental airports in the country; boasting more tall buildings than any other city of its size in the world; Midland invites you to get your part of the business in this independent market.

"The Midland Reporter-Telegram is published every evening and Sunday—affords an excellent advertising contract for this isolated unit market."

O'Rourke's boarding house in New York City. The play opens the morning after they have all lost their jobs. There is a hilarious scene in which Kay wakes Eddie after hours of effort to a whole lot of grief. Eddie and Larry both have "pasta," and a former friend plunges them once more into their old trouble. The police and various detectives get on their trail, and the excitement becomes tense as these two "square crooks" get in deeper and deeper. A murderer appears to complicate things still further, and much more confusion and comedy are added by the maid Borrow. The climax is unique and thrilling in its intensity.

The local cast has worked up to an unusual degree of efficiency in the mechanics of production, and in addition to excellent characterizations and interpretations display almost professional smoothness in timing of lines and actions.

The new well in Stanolind Oil and Gas company No. 3 E. F. Cowden, which was plugged back to 3,977 feet and shot with 405 quarts from 3,939 to 3,977 feet. The well responded by flowing 154 barrels in nine hours. The hole was originally drilled to around 4,189 feet, but operators failed to encounter an increase in oil below 3,975 and decided to plug back.

Baseball Improves Quality of Football

AUSTIN, (U.P.)—More emphasis on high school baseball will improve the quality of football.

Such was the comment of Coach D. C. (Bobby) Cannon of Corpus Christi in regard to a plan for carrying high school baseball competition to a state title.

"Our good football players have almost without exception been outstanding in baseball," he said. "It improves their coordination, and the fellows that play baseball in the summer usually are in good physical condition to start the grid season in the fall."

Glider flying has been made part of the training course of students at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla., to ascertain whether such students will learn to fly more quickly.

Gentlemen:

Having driven my 1934 Pontiac 6116 miles, I want to inform you how well-satisfied I am with it.

Really I don't think I can find one thing to criticize in this car—it has speed, power, ease of handling, smoothness, roadability, and my interest you to know I enjoy about driving it.

The last game I found Odessa defeating Crane 11 to 6; McCamey winning from Wink 9 to 4; and Iraan defeating Midland 4 to 2. This Sunday Wink will visit Midland, Crane motors to Iraan, while Odessa travels to McCamey. Standing of the teams:

Club	Won	Lost
Odessa	3	1
Iraan	3	1
Midland	2	2
McCamey	1	3
Wink	1	3

Every morning in the coldest of weather, I step on the accelerator, and the car starts immediately. This certainly is a comfort to my wife.

Very truly yours,
Wm. C. March
