UNITED IN LIFE, THEY ARE APART IN MORTUARIES

No One Claims Bodies Of Ill Fated Pair Of Desperadoes

DALLAS, May 24 (AP)—Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker came home to Dallas today in two ambulances that bore the bullet riddled bodies to separate funeral homes. No one was waiting to receive the bodies in the city.

Relative planes to view the bodies this afternoon and make the funeral arrangements. Mrs. Emma Parker, Bonnie's mother, said Bonnie would not be buried with Clyde, despite a poem expressing that desire.

PORT WORTH, May 24 (AP)—Billie Mace, sister of Bonnie Parker, was remanded to jail without bond at a preliminary trial today on charges with the slaying of two officers on the Grapevine highway Easter Sunday.

ARCADIA, La., May 24 (AP)—The car in which Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker were slain was stolen at Topeka, Kans., April 29, police said today.

Bonnie Parker, wife of Roy Thornton, a Texas convict, was charged by officers with having taken an active part in most of Barrow's recent crimes. She, too, was wanted in several states for charges ranging from small thefts to murder. He was accused of killing a dozen men, most of them officers.

The couple's life became more and more harried of late as the law gradually closed in around them. Darting out of an isolated retreat at midnight, they would drive at furious speed to some other rendezvous—sometimes several hundred miles away. Resting only a few hours, they would dash on again.

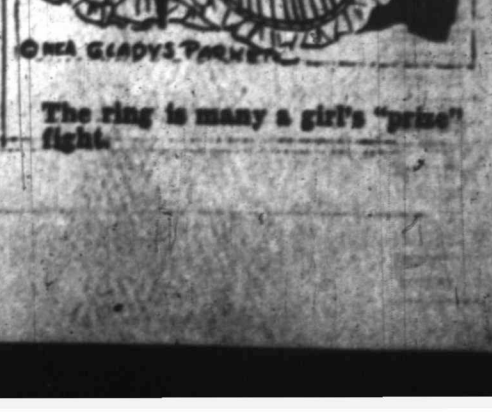

Bonnie Parker was with Barrow and his brother, Marvin, when a posse cornered the gang near Dexter, Iowa, June 24, 1933. Marvin was killed but Clyde and Bonnie Parker escaped.

Both Barrow and the woman were instantly killed. Barrow being shot through the left temple and through the left shoulder. The Parker woman was shot through the mouth, her teeth being knocked out and through the neck. The fingers of her right hand were shot off.

ALL THAT MAN NEEDS NATURE CAN PROVIDE

Just as we got used to the idea of persuading farmers to grow fewer crops, along comes Mother Nature to accomplish the same job by force.

Dust storms and drouth put a peculiar reversal on the schemes of the triple-A gentlemen at Washington. Into the most modern of agricultural programs comes agriculture's most ancient blight. The old-time scarcity economics emerges from the dust bin to crouch over the farm belt once more.

And as all this happens, the price of wheat goes rocketing on the Chicago exchange. Somebody is going to get rich out of this disaster; and it won't be the farmer, either.

Where does all this leave our farm program? When a nation sets out to cope with a problem arising from a too bountiful supply of everything, and the supply is suddenly cut short beyond all expectations, what then?

Are we right back where we were a generation ago, before the embarrassing productivity of the modern world landed us in the soup?

We are not, and we should make a great mistake if we thought so. The farm catastrophe is like one of those exceptions that prove the rule.

It opens a gap in our immediate program, but it leaves the long-range problem unchanged.

In agriculture as in industry, our real trouble is that we don't know how to act in the presence of abundance.

And this is something that cannot be repeated too often; for its implications are of tremendous importance.

It would be a good thing if the people learned to chant it like a chorus, over and over again—the world can produce so much that everybody can have enough of everything. For this is the fact with which all political schemes and all economic theories collide, sooner or later.

Beyond the reach of bad weather and bankruptcy, strikes and layoffs, it emerges as the one great significant development of the twentieth century.

Keep that fact eternally in mind, and when any publicist, statesman, or economist begins to tell you what we must do to be saved, ask him, "What do you propose to do about that?" If he has no answer for it, he has no answer for anything.

DEBTORS' LAMENT

President Roosevelt's decision that nations which don't begin soon to make a serious effort to pay their war debts will be regarded as defaulters seems to have aroused something of a storm in the English press.

One London newspaper reporting the story put the headline "Highwayman Act" over it, implying that Uncle Sam is changing from Uncle Shylock into Dillinger's kid brother.

Now this is probably quite human and natural; a man who has long since made up his mind that he is not going to pay a debt is bound to feel deeply irritated when his creditor suggests that he ought to have a little something on account. And yet it is hard to feel a great deal of sympathy for the viewpoint.

If Uncle Sam, who loaned a lot of money in a war that he didn't start, is a highwayman for wishing he could get some of it back, what are the nations which emerged from the war with their pockets full of reparations, colonies, steamships and mandates?

Movie players, says Joan Crawford, should not marry. Trouble is they don't realize this until after the third or fourth trial.

Tennessee has voted in favor of retaining state prohibition—figuring the low-priced bootleg liquor is plenty good enough.

The North Sea area holds the world's best climate, says a Yale professor, who must have been caught in the Florida boom or a California earthquake.

Reports of Dillinger's death may be premature, but he's just as good as dead to the police.

NAME HONOR GRADUATES

STEPHENVILLE (P)—Names of the ten honor graduates for 1934 at John Tarleton college were announced at class day exercises May 19 by William H. Wiley, Port Arthur, class president. Geneva Abbott of Granbury ranked first in the class with an average of 92.81 in all subjects during her two years at the college. She was valedictorian for the class day exercises. Jim Joiner of Denison, was second-ranking student and salutatorian with an average of 92.52. Other honor graduates in the order of their rank were named as follows: Opal Butler, Graham; Viggo Miller Aars, Denmark; James Everett Briggs, Kemper; Alice Hamilton, Stephenville; Hale Barfoot, Stephenville; Lois Davis, Stephenville; Virginia Watkins, Rising Star; and Dayton Carrell, Richland.

Lost Mine Search Being Conducted

SAN SABA (P)—Another "lost mine" search is going on at the J. R. Ellis ranch, 15 miles west of San Saba. J. H. Crain and others believe they have found one of the legendary "lost" workings of precious ore.

A shaft is being sunk and it is reported that an entrance to two caves had been discovered. In the mouth of one was found what was believed to be a piece of ore which had been run in a smelter. There are many fables of hidden treasures and lost mines in this country. Many people believe that in the early days there was more than one rich mine here. Efforts to find supposed treasure have been many. Some believe that treasure has been found but never reported.

FINES TEMPERED

JUAREZ (AP)—Americans who drink too freely at Juarez bars in the future will find the Juarez court tempered with mercy, on orders from Mayor Daniel J. Jureta.

The mayor ordered ordinary intoxication fines reduced to one peso, approximately 32 cents, in American currency. Previously, fines of five to 60 pesos have been assessed, depending on the degree of inebriation.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)

His wife agreed at that time that he would decide all of the major matters and she all the minor matters. So far, no major matters have come up, he said. It used to be that a man carrying a great big bunch of keys bore an air of importance. Every time I hear a lawyer say "the party of the first part," etc., I feel like telling him to cut the preamble and get down to business. A local business man went to the doctor, complaining that he felt under par. The doctor looked at his tongue, felt of his pulse, asked a few questions and then gave him this advice: "You've been working too hard in the office. You need more outdoor exercise and fresh air. Get out, and play nine holes of golf every day." "But Doc, I played 36 holes yesterday."

"And you came to me to see what was wrong," said the doctor in disgust. "If you play 36 holes of golf at your age and then wonder what makes you feel under par, you need an examination for your head, not your heart or your stomach."

GEORGIA REVENUES

ATLANTA, Ga., (AP)—Revenues collected by the state of Georgia are $1,500,000 greater for the first four months of 1934 than for a similar period in 1933. State Auditor Tom Wisdom announced. The greatest gains are shown in the fuel oil taxes, the motor vehicle license fees, and the state income taxes.

FIVE-LEGGED COLT BORN

OTTAWA, Kan., (AP)—A five-legged colt born on Harry Fisher's farm near here is causing much attention in the community. The animal is normal in every way except that one front leg branches at the knee, having two fully developed hoofs. The young colt can use only three of its legs.

Mid-Summer Heat Sends Half Million to Coney

The weatherman did his bit to boom business—the lot for and soda pop business, anyway—when he suddenly shot the mercury in New York up to 86. Of the 1,000,000 New Yorkers who flocked to nearby resorts, half of them found relief in Coney Island, where a general view of the crowd is afforded above. (Note the line in foreground with a water fountain.)

Rainbow From the Sky

A Movie Wedding, But Real Just the Same

Just like in the movies, though it was real, and very much in earnest, was the wedding of Carmelita Geraghty, film actress, to Carey Wilson, scenario writer. Here are the flower-decked bride, left, and bridegroom, with Jean Harlow, right, who was matron of honor.

'Little Chancellor' Takes Young Austria in Hand

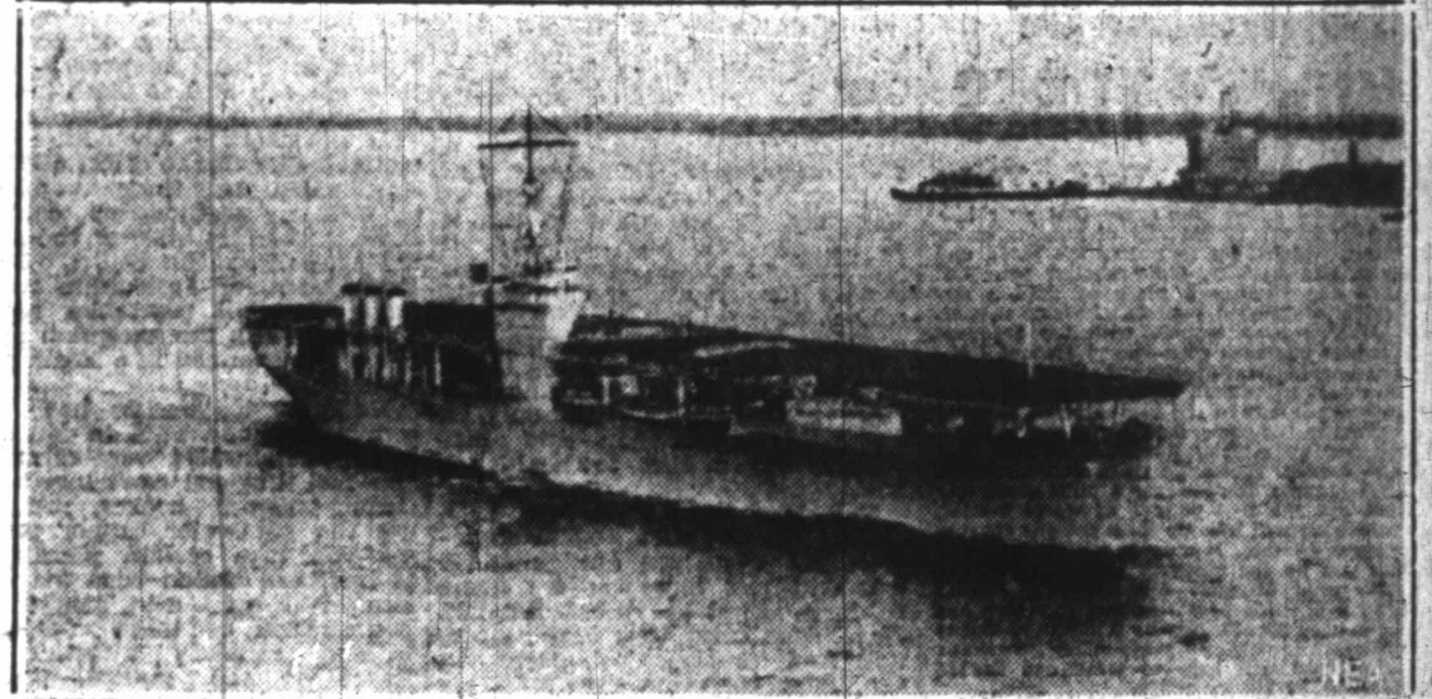

Barely larger than the proud boy and girl whose hands he clasps, smiling Chancellor Dollfuss strides across the arena in the stadium in Vienna before 20,000 school children assembled for a May Day pageant marking the inauguration of Austria's new Fascist constitution. Simultaneously, Nazi sympathizers hung a banner marked "Death to Dollfuss" near Vienna's Opera House.

Boys Held For Beating Grandmother

That they slugged their 62-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Johanna Butler (inset), unconscious with a rolling pin, tied her to her bed and then robbed her of $22 so that they could go on a Coney Island spree, was the confession Thomas Murray, 16 (left), and his brother Cornelius, 18 (right), were reported to have made. They are shown as they appeared in the juvenile lineup in New York, where they explained: "We were kept in the house all the time, and just took a notion to get out."

New U. S. "Floating Airfield" to Carry 72 Planes

Unlike other aircraft carriers, which have been converted from colliers and cruisers, the Ranger is the first Navy craft to be designed and built expressly for carrier work. Able to carry 72 planes, 1,100 men and speed more than 29 knots an hour, the Ranger, built at a cost of $21,000,000, is shown steaming by Old Point Comfort, Va., enroute to her first real "shakedown test" before being turned over to the Navy May 26.

Oh, Deer! So Racing's Come to This

THEY have horse, dog, turtle and automobile races, and now Wilber Timm of Oakland, Calif., offers deer racing to the thrill seekers. Timm has been training young venison on the hoof on an improvised track. He is shown working his charges.

Chow Call and All's Well With the Bonus Army

It's chow time on the banks of the Potomac and the vanguard of the 1934 bonus army lines up here for its first meal since pitching camp at Ft. Hunt, Va. More than 500 veterans were in the initial contingent and they'll dine until May 24 on stew, beans, macaroni, bread and coffee at Uncle Sam's expense while pressing demands for immediate payment of the bonus.

150 Ride in World's Largest Bus

Everything is done on a huge scale at Boulder Dam, so it's fitting that the largest passenger bus in the world be used there to carry workmen to and from the project. The bus, a double-decker, shown here, has a capacity of 150.

Don't Shoot! I'm Not Dillinger

Ralph Aleman doesn't mind looking like John Dillinger, but he hopes police will stop to ask a few questions before they shoot. A striking double of the No. 1 outlaw, Aleman, a transient, has been arrested seven times and held until his fingerprints proved his innocence. He is shown here in St. Paul, where he last was detained.

What Goes Up May Also Go Down

It's modeled after Professor Piccard's famous stratosphere balloon, but this great sphere is going down, not up. More than 30 feet in diameter, the big ball, shown above, was constructed by Georges Claude, French scientist, to plumb the ocean depths. It is expected it will descend to a depth of more than 2,000 feet.

Barrow

is known as the Jameslow-Salles road, about eight or ten miles from Gibland. They were en route, officers believe, to a rendezvous they are believed to have had at a place known as Alabama Bend, near Ringgold.

They were traveling in a Ford V-8 sedan which officers said bore Arkansas license plate 15-368. Both car and license are believed to have been stolen.

Bodies Towed In
The bodies, after being viewed at the scene of the killing by Dr. J. L. Wade, coroner, were left in the car just as the officers found them after the shooting and were taken to Arcadia the sedan being hooked to a wrecker truck.

Barrow, when shot, fell over to the left of the car, his head dangled from the window. The Parker woman was jumped forward with her head between her knees. She had on glasses.

Wade, immediately after the bodies frayed Arcadia, empaneled a coroner's jury which quickly brought in a verdict that the two came to their deaths from gunshot wounds inflicted by the officers acting in line of duty.

The Officers, who killed the bandits prepared the ambush at the top of a hill. They were concealed in high grass over a distance of about half a block when they sighted Barrow's car approaching the hill. There were two trucks on the Castor-Gibland road, going in opposite directions.

These trucks served as an extra shield against discovery by Barrow and his companions, who were first fired upon by Deputy Sheriff Oakley. He used a shotgun loaded with buckshot and fired quickly after ordering Barrow to stop, which warning Barrow ignored.

Barrow opened a door of the car evidently to fire a sawed-off shotgun which he held in one hand but Deputy Oakley and the five other officers, who immediately joined in the shooting, were too quick.

Barrow's car after moving about half a block from the point where Deputy Oakley opened fire, went into the embankment, but was not seriously damaged, except for one wheel, which had been shot purposely, and the body of the car which was peppered with missiles from the officers' guns.

Heavily Armed
The bandits were heavily armed. Sheriff Jordan reported they carried three machine guns, five automatics, seven shot guns and the two guns they were holding when the shooting began.

They also carried three large bags of ammunition and some sandwiches which were in a bag and bore the name of a sandwich shop in Arcadia, at which it was learned the Parker woman during their short stop for the sandwiches had borrowed a comb.

The posemen were prepared for desperate maneuvers on the part of Barrow and the woman and they had one machine gun, three shotguns loaded with buckshot and five automatic rifles and used all these weapons in their bombardment of the car, riddling their victims and rendering them immediately powerless to use their firearms.

So thorough was the riddling of the bandit and his woman companion that portions of their flesh was buried in the sides and back of their car.

Girl's Head Shot Off
John Abney, a citizen of Gibland, eight miles from the scene of the killings, told a graphic story of the transportation of the dead bodies to Arcadia in their "death car."

"The officers brought the bodies through here about 11:30," he said. "They just left the bodies in the car and tied it to another car and hauled it to Arcadia."

"Bonnie Parker's head was almost shot off, and it just dangled. Barrow was as badly shot up. There must have been 15 or 20 bullet holes in the windshield of the car. The car was peppered with just peppered full of holes."

"Several people here noticed Barrow's car in the last three or four days. It was an almost new car. It had an Arkansas license and a big trunk on the back."

"The officers had automatic rifles, sawed-off shotguns and pistols. The officers had been hiding along the road since 3 o'clock this morning and I heard an ex-convict had tipped them off that Barrow was coming that way."

The ex-convict went out in the road to flag the car and when Barrow reached for his own gun that's when the officers fired."

Reports also were circulated that an "escaped Texas convict" was instrumental in "putting Clyde and Bonnie on the spot" and Warder W. W. Wald of the Texas penitentiary said that there was "some truth in the statement that the two outlaws were put on the spot by an escaped convict."

Wald declined to reveal the man's name.

Bonnie Wore Jewels
At the inquest it was brought out, with Dr. J. M. Moseley, assisting Coroner Wade, that Bonnie Parker was wearing two diamond rings, one gold wedding ring on the third finger of her left hand, one small wrist watch on her left arm, a three-acorn brooch on her breast, a religious cross under her dress. She wore at the time of her death, a red cotton dress, red shoes and silk stockings. When the body was reached she did not have on a hat, but a white hat with red top was on the running board of the car, evidently having been shot off.

There was a tattoo on her right leg showing two hearts above her knee, and a name, thought to have been that of her former husband, also was shown in the tattoo.

Unparalleled Crime
Clyde Barrow's ascent in the criminal world has rarely been paralleled in the southwest.

Like many who have been successful in more honorable fields of endeavor, Barrow started at the very bottom. He began his career when, as a boy of only 12, he was active in a youthful gang of West Dallas "toughies" whose specialty was petty thievery.

Although still a young man—only 28—he ranks today as one of the nation's foremost desperadoes.

Barrow was born in Ellis county, where he lived only a few years before he moved to Dallas with his family. His aged mother and father still live in Dallas.

First Charge at 16
Although he and other members of his child gang in West Dallas had many previous brushes with law enforcing authorities, Barrow's name was officially entered upon police records in December of 1926, when he was formally charged with auto theft. He was 16 then.

During the next two years he was charged with chicken theft in Fort Worth, with burglary in Dallas, and with robbery in Dallas.

He served short term sentences in local jails on those charges.

It was at Waco in April of 1930 that he received the only penitentiary term of his career. He was assessed 14 years for burglary and theft.

Given Parole
However, in February, 1932, Gov. Ross Sterling issued Barrow a general parole, although at that time he was wanted in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico on other charges.

Judge Stanhope Henry, pardon board member and one of those who recommended the parole, said the parole would not have been issued had fingerprint records been available to the state board at that time.

The parole was revoked in November of the same year.

Since then Barrow has been more than active, as is perhaps best illustrated by these official records of the bureau of identification of the Dallas police station:

Mar. 3, 1932—Wanted at Dallas for robbery with firearms, burglary.

April 4—Wanted at Hillsboro for the murder of J. N. Bucher during a robbery with firearms.

May 5—Wanted at Lufkin for robbery with firearms.

Aug. 8—Wanted at Abilene for robbery with firearms.

Aug. 13—Wanted at Joplin, Mo., for the murder of City Detective Harry McGinnis and assault on murderer Constable J. W. Harryman.

Wanted in Phoenix.

Aug. 11—Wanted at Sherman for the murder of Howard Hall, grocery clerk.

Aug. 15—Wanted at Atoka, Okla., for murder and assault on local officers.

Aug. 30—Wanted at Wharton, Tex., for assault to murder a deputy sheriff while making escape in a stolen automobile with Bonnie Parker and Raymond Hamilton.

Dec. 5—Wanted at Temple, Texas, for murder of Doyle Johnson.

TENTH ANNUAL CHAMPIONSHIP GOLF TOURNAMENT OPENED TODAY AT B. S.

BIG SPRING.—Golfers from all parts of Texas assembled here today for four days of competitive sport and as many nights and days of entertainment that has been planned to leave no idle moment on the hands of those who register for the 10th annual championship tournament of the West Texas Golf association.

At noon Wednesday a total of thirty-three players had posted qualifying scores, including nine out-of-town golfers.

Thirty-Three Quality
Qualifiers up to noon Wednesday: C. W. Cunningham, 86; Lib Coffee 79; Joe Kuykendall 81; Hayden Griffith 83; Cecil Wasson 85; Monroe Johnson 83; A. E. True 84; E. O. Blington 84; Dr. G. H. True 80; E. Richardson 76; Ira Thurman 83; E. Notestine 89; E. V. Spence 97; Grady Newman, Colorado 74; E. C. Nix, Colorado 79; Ben Coats, Colorado 78; F. E. McClary, Colorado 88; Ross Nixon, Colorado 35.

Tobe Taylor 87; Fred Stephens 82; Shirley Robbins 79; W. D. Wilson 83; V. W. Larson 82; Ohio

Word came Wednesday morning that Charles Wilson, diminutive Abilene golfer who won the West Texas championship from Jimmy Phillips of Ranger last year at Wichita Falls, will not defend his title here. Wilson felt it impossible to leave his job for the four-day period of the tournament.

Abilene golfers that will likely enter are: T. J. Willis, Budley Raines, Shanty Hogah, Lee Henry, Bill Parker, Jerry Creswell and Mantly Hanks.

Abilene held the government up for profits which ranged from 56 to 800 per cent of the capital stock of individual companies.

But how about peacetime? In 1914 Secretary of the Navy Daniels reported that an armor plate "trust" was dividing the world into non-competitive spheres and holding up prices. He told how, years earlier, Bethlehem had sold armor plate to Russia at $249 a ton and to this government at $618. Besides various government estimates gave average pre-war cost of armor plate per ton at $247.14, whereas the average price that came from the taxpayers' pocket was $440.04.

Brother Slain
Jan. 14, 1934—Wanted at Crockett, for assisting five convicts, including his companion, Raymond Hamilton, in escaping from the Eastham Prison Farm. Two guards were fatally shot during the break.

April 1—Wanted at Fort Worth for the murders of State Highway Patrolmen E. B. Wheeler and H. D. Murphy, who were slain by a man and woman whom the officers sought to question near Grapevine. Bonnie Parker, Barrow's cigarette smoking companion, also was charged in the slayings.

April 6—Wanted at Comanche, Okla., for the slaying of Cal Campbell.

Aside from the crimes with which Barrow officially was credited on

Munition Makers

Bethlehem's 1915 income of 25 millions rose to 62 millions in 1916 and its gross earnings in 1918 were 488 millions.

Du Pont's sales of powder rose from 2,285,000 pounds in 1914 to 399,000,000 in 1918 and a post-war congress learned that we had paid about 49 cents a pound for powder whose estimated production cost was 36 cents.

The copper industry held the government up for profits which ranged from 56 to 800 per cent of the capital stock of individual companies.

Bristow 76; H. P. Liberty 89; Theron Hicks 72; Bob Levander, Lamesa 94; Frank Rose, Lamesa, 71; Bill White, Lamesa, 77; Jim Edmiston, Lubbock, 77; N. C. Bussey, Lubbock, 73; George Norman 78.

E. C. Nix, Colorado, still holds the lowest qualifying card with a 70, but Frank Rose, the Lamesa Sand Belt golfer, was close behind with a 71. Theron Hicks turned in the lowest score for local golfers, a 72.

Seventy local people had signed up for tourney play, Fred Stephens reported Wednesday morning. An entertainment feature of the tournament will be a dance to be given at the country club house Friday night.

Word came Wednesday morning that Charles Wilson, diminutive Abilene golfer who won the West Texas championship from Jimmy Phillips of Ranger last year at Wichita Falls, will not defend his title here. Wilson felt it impossible to leave his job for the four-day period of the tournament.

Abilene golfers that will likely enter are: T. J. Willis, Budley Raines, Shanty Hogah, Lee Henry, Bill Parker, Jerry Creswell and Mantly Hanks.

Enjoy your MEMORIAL DAY TRIP on this GREAT TIRE!

Here's what you get in Goodyear's new "G-3"! You get the broader road contact of a flatter, wider All-Weather Tread. You get quicker-stopping and the greater road grip of more non-skid blocks in the center. You get the easy steering and smooth travel of wider riding-ribs. You get the slow, even wear of closer-nested non-skid blocks and ribs. You get more rubber in the tread—an average of two pounds more per tire. —all of which adds up to 43% MORE NON-SKID MILEAGE at no extra cost to you!

Goodyear has licked problem that baffled the tire industry—with the new "G-3". See it here!

IT TAKES a better tread to keep its grip on modern high-speed highways—with faster cars, quicker get-aways—more powerful brakes. All these strains grind away ordinary treads too fast. But now we've got the answer! A tread that keeps its grip 43% longer—gives 43% more non-skid mileage. Grueling, grinding road tests show that it keeps its grip twice as long as competitive tires!
