Irrigation Pays; Bumper Crops Prove The Facts

R. J. Clark who lives on the T. E. Millen farm in the Y L Community has proven to the world, that irrigation pays big dividends when a little judgment and business methods are applied.

One of the outstanding crops on this farm is a 10 acre patch of onions planted on sod land. The rows are about 12 inches apart and a border is run every 15 or 20 feet, then he floods between the borders. The crop is perfectly clean and a wonderful stand over the field. The yield is going to make the public take notice.

Mr. Clark's other crops are all fine, perfect stand and retaining a beautiful dark green color. Irrigation in the Shallow Water Valley of Muleshoe is going to put this country on the map in a big way, when we get more farmers like Mr. Clark on the land.

O. B. Robinson and family, of Mangum, Okla., arrived in Muleshoe last Wednesday and visited with his son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Robinson for a few days. On Sunday they left for Throckmorton, accompanied by his son and wife and Ira Robinson. They are going to hold a family reunion at Throckmorton on the creek where they expect to eat fish and enjoy themselves very much together. Mr. Robinson expects to have all of his children together. There is eighteen of his own children and a large number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Aldridge entertained four tables at bridge in their home on Monday night. There were the members of the Club and five guests: J. M. March and wife, Mrs. W. A. Milligan, Mrs. Seiber, of Crosbyton and Robt. A. Sone. At twelve a delicious ice course was served.

THE STORMING OF THE GATES

This picture is typical of many such scenes enacted daily at the main gates of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia where the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence is being celebrated. To the left can be seen one of the capitols of the Palace of Liberal Arts and Manufactures which covers nearly eight acres of grounds and which houses some of the finest exhibits ever seen. The Exposition will continue until December 1.

Melons From 300 Acre Field Start To Market Wed

T. H. Chandler who lives about six miles south of Muleshoe, near Mill Switch started loading Tom Watson melons from his patch of over 300 acres Wednesday of this week. The melons that are going on the market at this time weigh from 40 to 50 pounds, and are as fine as you ever cut. The smaller melons find a ready market around the San Antonio country for the Mexican trade.

Last year Mr. Chandler planted 110 acres, the results were satisfactory so he planted over 300 acres this season. Due to the lack of rain during June and July his crop will be cut short to some extent.

Cettinje Continues Its Monotonous Life.

Cettinje, Montenegro.—While all the other capitals of Europe have been growing at a rapid pace, Cettinje, once the stronghold of King Nicholas' picturesque Montenegrin kingdom, has slumbered in an atmosphere of medievalism and oriental self-complacency.

Situated in the heart of the "Black mountain" district, the natives live the same precarious, monotonous lives they did centuries ago when they fled from the Turks.

But the "littlest of Europe's capitals" still retains all that color, romance, animation and oriental fascination which gave Franz Lehar, the Austrian composer, his inspiration for writing "The Merry Widow."

The spot where he wrote that lively operetta is still pointed out to visitors. The great oak tree under which the re-louatable King Nicholas carried tribute from his subjects still stands, the object of intense curiosity of all tourists.

The inclusion of Montenegro in the kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, while conferring many benefits on the hardy mountaineers, has changed the outward aspects of Cettinje but little.

One American visitor characterized Montenegro as a "land of tombstones." Left to itself, the country would starve, for such small arable land areas as exist produce only about one-third the population's food requirements.

Yet in this primitive, poverty-ridden land, women do all the work. It is an adage as old as the country itself that "man is the warrior, and woman the worker."

Samoans Fear Native Oath More Than Bible

Apa, Samoa.—White men who introduced the system of plotting land and the surveyor's methods of defining boundaries, brought with them to Samoa the white man's method of administering oaths.

So, officially, the native Samoan places his hand upon the Holy Bible to swear that title to a certain piece of land belongs to him.

While the old manner varied in the different villages, the common rite was to take a bunch of grass and lay it on a stone or other object that represented the family or village god.

CHESAPEAKE REGION A MAGNIFIED VENICE

Section Full of Charm and Historic Interest.

Washington.—Agitation to save Fort Hunt and Fort Washington as historic sites turned attention to the lower Potomac, an historic region which seldom makes any considerable ripple in the world's news.

"School histories tell how tobacco planters of colonial Virginia depended on rivers for transportation; and, in 1923, the lower Potomac and Chesapeake bay country still is in the river transportation stage.

"Representative of the numerous tiny steamers that carry bath passengers and freight in this region is one line which plies from Washington to Baltimore. It makes a trip 300 miles by water in 63 hours.

"The standard bay steamer is a screw propelled boat 100 to 150 feet long. It carries one or two decks of cabins and draws from 8 to 12 feet of water.

"On its leisurely way down the Potomac on the way to Baltimore, the steamer touches history nearly every time it puts in at a landing in Maryland or Virginia.

"Northern neck is the birthplace of Presidents and Statesmen. From Northern neck came George Washington, James Monroe, Robert E. Lee, Thomas Lightfoot Lee, and Richard Henry Lee.

"The dependence of this historic Virginia shore on water transport is typical of the whole Chesapeake bay country. Northern neck is the birthplace of Presidents and Statesmen.

"There are numerous villages in Tidewater Virginia that are three and four times farther from a railroad than any town in Illinois, Iowa or Ohio. Even modern auto truck service cannot help them much.

"One of the most historic of the Potomac landings is St. Mary's. The steamer winds up between the narrowing banks of the St. Ingoes creek, a sunken creek mouth like all the Chesapeake bay rivers.

"The charge that America is cursed by the speed of modern life cannot be made to include the Chesapeake bay country. Life there takes its pace from the soft, sunny climate and the inhabitants at each landing watch the arrival and departure of their 'Argosy to the Outside World'.

"The visitor's growing conception of river traffic's importance to this region is enforced at places like Coan's Landing, which is about 200 feet from the next stop, Bundick's wharf.

Beats Storm by Using Kite for Sea Fishing

Pacific Beach, Wash.—Joseph Phelan, deep-sea fisherman, recently devised a method to defeat the heavy surf which often prevents him launching his dory at high tide.

Flying the kite in the strong wind accompanying the turn of the tide, it carries out the lines a quarter-mile or more.

"The visitor's growing conception of river traffic's importance to this region is enforced at places like Coan's Landing, which is about 200 feet from the next stop, Bundick's wharf.

GLACIER CUTS DOWN MOUNTAIN IN PATH

Vast Alaskan River of Ice Changes Its Course.

Cordova, Alaska.—Henry Glacier has changed its age-old course and is now literally pushing its way over the top of a mountain to reach the sea.

What was first thought smoke issuing from the top of a peak near here later developments show to be great clouds of dust caused by the breakup of the soil under the pressure of the ice river.

Henry Watkins, soundough, who has traveled over a large part of the territory investigating geological freaks, visited the scene and inspected the glacier's actions.

Due to the tremendous pressure resulting from the slow progress across the mountain, the glacier has buckled and mammoth cracks crosswise are noticeable.

This is forty times greater than the personal allowance made by Bulgaria to King Boris, and about five times in excess of the yearly income of King Ferdinand of Rumania.

But out of his $1,000,000 a year Alexander must maintain a huge palace at Belgrade, another at Topchider, near Belgrade, a third at Bled, in northern Slovenia.

Improved Uniform International Sunday School Lesson

Lesson for August 22 THE TEN COMMANDMENTS—DUTIES TO GOD

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:1-11. GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, with all thy soul and with all thy strength.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Commandments About God. JUNIOR TOPIC—How to Serve God. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Loving and Honoring God.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—God's Claims to Loving Service.

The Ten Commandments furnish us with the greatest moral code that the world has ever seen.

I. The Preface to the Decalogue (vv. 1, 2).

The Ten Commandments are based upon the truth set forth in the preface. Two great thoughts underlie this. What the Lord is and what He did.

1. His all-sufficiency. All that He is and does centers in Himself.

2. His sovereignty. There is no being equal to Him, nor above Him. He is outside of and above every being in the universe.

3. His unchangeableness. The "I am that I am" (Ex. 3:14) may be expanded into "I am what I was," "I will be what I am," "Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today and forever" (Heb. 13:8).

II. The First Commandment (v. 3). "Thou shalt have no other gods before Me" means literally, "Thou shalt have no other gods before My face."

1. By living for one's self. If one's activities gather around himself he worships himself and is therefore an idolater.

2. By making pleasure the goal of our lives and spending our time and money for sensual enjoyment.

3. By being covetous (Col. 3:3). Every man who is greedy for gold breaks this commandment.

III. The Second Commandment (vv. 4-6). The first commandment is directed against false gods. The second is directed against the worship of the true God with false forms.

1. By resorting to the use of crosses and images in our worship.

2. By putting into the place of Christ the pope and following after priestcraft. It should be observed that this commandment is accompanied with a warning and a promise.

IV. The Third Commandment (v. 7). The Hebrew word translated "vain" in this prohibition against taking the name of God in vain means lying, deceptive, unreal.

1. By profanity.

2. By perjury.

3. By lewdity and frivolity.

4. By hypocrisy, which is professing to live for God when living for self.

V. The Fourth Commandment (vv. 8-11). The essential principle embodied in this commandment is work and rest.

1. By living in idleness.

2. By working on the day set apart for the worship of God.

3. By making it a day of feasting.

THOUGHT MALARIA STILL IN SYSTEM

Until Dodson's Liver Tonic Drove Out Quarts of Sour Bile and Other Poisons.

There are entire sections where everyone seems to think they have malaria. Others believe they never fully got the malarial poison out of their systems.

Arnold Whitson says: "For years I took calomel for the aches, biliousness, headache, constipation and the deathly feeling associated with what we believed to be malaria."

"Last year I heard about Dodson's Liver Tonic and bought a bottle for a few cents. Man, man, what a Godsend. In the morning I drove out quarts of black, sour bile. I got back my appetite for food, braced right up and haven't had a sick spell since.

"Whenever I feel a little bilious or the stomach gets sour, one dose of Dodson's Liver Tonic is all I need. It is surely a blessing." Hundreds of others tell the same experience.

Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tonic tonight and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach.

One Way to Get Them

Little Bobby was absorbed in playing marbles with his childhood pal, Jack, on the front veranda.

"Bobby," she interrupted, "stop your playing for a minute. I'm going to put some lemon juice on your face to take the freckles off."

"Honest, will his freckles come off?" wide-eyed Jack questioned. Bobby's sister assured him they would.

"Then," said Jack with a determined air, "I'm going to stay here and catch them when they fall off."

DEBONAIR VAGABOND FELTS; BEACH WEAR IS PRACTICAL

THAT something new in millinery, always due to appear for late summer, has arrived this year in force. Shop windows and promenades are full of gay emigrants from Paris—newly arrived and very captivating, light felt hats, to be worn with the lightest day dresses and sports clothes and probably destined to reappear in darker colors, or brighter ones, for fall. These are the "vagabond" hats with which summer is ringing down the curtain on the best performance in millinery for several years. They are only successful in fine qualities and are made with narrow or medium-wide, floppy brims in light tans, gray, pale rose, pinkish tan, ivory, putty color, and other delicate shades. Usually they are trimmed with ribbon but they cannot be described as simple, for the trims are intricate and the ribbon sometimes a bit gorgeous, when gold or silver metallic patterns are used.

The group of late summer hats shown here includes four felts of the vagabond type and one French sailor in straw. Both the smooth, creamy felts and the rougher "scratch" varieties are shown in the new shapes. The group leads off with a narrow-brimmed model that flares upward across the front and left side. The crown is draped with ribbon collar and ornament which is placed at the right side. The French sailor, in natural straw color, has its brim edge bound with narrow gilt braid, and this binding is repeated on the ribbon collar and buckle made of ribbon. A berized silk (including rubberized moire) or those of cretonne or terry cloth. The silks are shown in gay colors or quiet ones, and in many novel, futuristic designs. Gray is the favored solid color but there is far more demand for bright-colored patterns. Whatever the cape or robe may be made of, fashion approves a choice of colors that will harmonize with the bathing suit and show some relation to it. A new idea is a beach blanket of terry cloth that does double duty, serving as a wrap as well as a blanket. Capes are the most popular wraps for beach wear and all of them may be passed up for the "slicker." Even the cap must follow the lead of the suit and wrap in color, if it is to register smartness. There is considerable variety in this water millinery, with the helmet-shaped affair a great favorite. Rubber slippers or satin shoes dispose of the footwear question.

Boxes that look like undersized hat boxes, with rubberized lining, serve to carry beachward all bathing needs, but amusing bags of rubberized silk that simulate queer dolls and conventional bags of cretonne outnumber them. Very pretty beach pillows are made of colored cloth.

Practical Wear for the Beach.

A similar shape with two ridges in the crown is content with a flat ribbon collar finished with groups of plaits at the side where two small cabochons made of strips of felt are placed.

It does not take long to tell the story of that most essential article of beach wear—the bathing suit. It is brief in every particular. Apparently all the world that goes to the beaches

1 in every 4

DURING the first six months of 1926 one in every four buyers of new automobiles bought a General Motors car. During 1925 the proportion was about one in five. During 1924 it was one in six. This steady addition of new friends for the products of General Motors has a double significance.

1. It is proof that the grouping of strong companies in one big family is economically sound. Large scale operations do make possible important economies; and these economies do benefit the buyer, in greater value. The public has recognized this principle and profited by it.

2. Increased public patronage involves increased obligation. General Motors is directly responsible for the welfare of its 152,000 employees and their families, its 20,000 dealers, and indirectly for the six thousand companies which furnish it with supplies and materials — at least a million men, women and children to whom its public good is a very personal concern.

As the volume of production increases there must be a corresponding increase in the values offered. The new series of cars just presented does embody larger values; it is a direct reflection of the fact that more than 1,075,000 General Motors cars were sold at retail during the year just closed. The added quality has been built in where its presence counts most in comfort and safety and long life.

With great pride we invite you to inspect these new General Motors cars.

Had Jimmy Worrying

Jimmy, an unusually brilliant freshman, was the star history pupil of his class.

The teacher asked: "Jimmy, can you explain to the class about underground railways?"

Jimmy replied, "The underground railways were methods of escape used by slaves in their escape to the North."

"Very good, Jimmy," He hesitatingly took his seat. A worried expression enveloped his youthful countenance.

"Certainly," the teacher thought, "I have never seen him act this way before. It couldn't be the lesson that is bothering him."

Jimmy slowly raised his hand with an uncertain motion.

"Yes?" said the teacher. "How did the railroad operators burrow under the Ohio river?"

Jimmy was absent the next day.

Work of Saint Patrick

The appellation "the Apostle of Ireland" is sometimes given to Saint Patrick, who is supposed to have introduced Christianity into Ireland. He labored for 20 years among the Irish people, and, according to some of his biographers, founded 365 churches, baptized with his own hands 12,000 persons, and consecrated 450 bishops. The Irish, and English-speaking generally, observe March 17 as Saint Patrick's day.

Be it Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. That Section 3, Article 7, of the Constitution be so changed as to read as follows: (creating new Section.)
