Chinese Governor Arrested

Failure to Effect Halt of Japanese Charged by Chiang

SHANGHAI, Jan. 13. (AP) — Chinese sources reported today that General Han Fu-chu, governor of Shantung province, had been arrested by order of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek for alleged failure to halt the Japanese invasion of his province.

The same sources said the generalissimo flew to Suchow today to direct an attack on Japanese threatening the Lunghai railway, China's east-west lifeline.

The Japanese-dominated provisional government at Peiping already was making plans to extend its control over Shantung as fast as Japanese forces advance.

The Peiping regime, according to reports through Japanese channels, was ready to assume collection of taxes in the province of 34,000,000 population and take over customs at Tsingtao.

Chinese, admitting the loss of Tsingtao, 120 miles south of Tsinan, said their forces were advancing along the Tsinan-Pukow railway near Yenchow, threatening to isolate Japanese at Tsingtao.

Chinese also reported their troops in eastern Anhwei Province had attacked Japanese lines along the railway, 20 miles northwest of Pukow capturing three towns and scattering enemy forces.

Two Japanese-held towns were reported in a counter-offensive in Chekiang Province, Chinese said. Japanese were reported rushing reinforcements to Hangchow, Chekiang Province capital, in an effort to stop the drive.

Chinese declared 2,000 Japanese troops were killed and many wounded in desperate fighting before capturing Tsingtao, Shantung province, Wednesday.

Japanese sources made no comment on reported casualties but declared their columns were pushing swiftly southward through China's "sacred" province.

Bodies of 10 Are Recovered After Mine Explosion

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 13. (AP) — The tenth body was recovered last night from the Harwick Coal company's mine which was damaged by an explosion earlier in the day.

E. W. Judy, vice president and general manager of the Duquesne Light company, which owns the mine, said the last four bodies discovered by the rescuers were so badly burned they could not be identified immediately. Another mine also was unidentified.

He identified the other victims as:

Thomas Keffer, 38; Joseph Koprivnikar, 41; Frank Harpster; Joe Presnick and Matt Anderson, 59, mine foreman.

Judy said one more man still was unaccounted for, making the possible death toll 11.

Hundreds of residents of the little mining village of Harwick, located about 20 miles east of Pittsburgh, milled about the tippie during the long hours a masked crew of 30 men fought its way through fumes and debris below.

Scenes at the mouth of the mine, operated by a subsidiary of the Duquesne Light company to supply coal for its power plant, were similar to those of January 25, 1904 when a blast tore through the mine, killing 182. Only one man escaped that explosion.

John N. Garner is too good a politician to offend any Democrat for the sake of a hat, but he isn't going to let anyone walk off with his new kelly if he can help it. Hence the warning that careless hat selectors found attached to the inside band when they picked up the vice president's hat to look for identifying marks: "Like hell it's yours! Put it back!"

Ranch Sale of $135,680 Is Closed by Roy Parks

Marking the first major ranch sale to have been reported here in several months, Roy Parks yesterday consummated the sale of his 26 1/2-section "Jones place" to J. H. Tippet, San Angelo capitalist and ranchman. The consideration was reported to have been $135,680 per acre.

The ranch joins the Parks headquarters place on the south and was formerly the old O. P. Jones headquarters, also known as the Ragsdale home place. Parks bought it last April from the First National Bank of Fort Worth.

Although the ranch is situated in an area being used for sheep grazing, it has not yet been fenced for sheep. Parks said, however, that the new owner plans to fence it sheep proof immediately after he gets possession next June 1.

The deal does not affect the ranches which Parks has owned for several years and on which the bulk of his cattle are run.

Mayor Tells Rotary Club of Problems Outlook for City

Mayor M. C. Ulmer addressed the Rotary club today in a program devoted to civic and municipal problems. J. Luther Tidwell was in charge of the program, introducing the speaker.

Forecasting continued growth of the city and crowded housing conditions, the speaker said he was advising all who expect to be here with a degree of permanency to build their own homes. He expressed the belief that over a period of years, the investment is sound; that the city has much growth in store for it.

The spirit of the citizenship here, in willing itself to new people and visitors, was praised by mayor Ulmer. He said several oil men had told him that Midland was the first town in which they had actually wanted to own homes, and not just the financial advantages, but also because of the citizenship with its high moral integrity and its spirit of friendliness.

The speaker urged his hearers not to lose sight of the fundamental principles of making themselves interested in the problems of others and in doing all possible to make them feel at home and satisfied in their location. He praised the citizens of San Angelo who are outstanding for their good treatment of visitors and new citizens.

Another phase of his talk was devoted to making the best of regulations or restrictions which have to be worked out for the good of the majority or to meet emergency conditions. Many people have put in so much time knocking the government and its policies that they have overlooked their individual opportunities, he said. He declared that it does no good to kick at what cannot be helped and declared that most restrictions are made because of emergency conditions. He guaranteed against criticism without save judgment.

He referred to civic problems and declared that the tax payers of Midland soon will have an opportunity to decide upon a large program of street paving. He said the city council believes strongly in the need for such a program but will put the proposition up to the citizenship as a whole for united action.

Referring to the recent emergency action by the city council to protect the public health against unlikable fever, he expressed regret at the necessity for loss financially by those who have had to sell cows at a loss to clean up local dairy herds. He praised the cooperation which has been accorded the city, however, and declared that what is being done is entirely for the protection of the public health.

Visitors at the Rotary luncheon included E. K. Buffington of Fort Worth, W. W. Lackey and C. T. Vichelle of Midland and Rotarians Herbert Voelcker of Wichita Falls and Floyd Boles of Littlefield.

Deep Delaware Sand Discovery To Swab Today

By FRANK GARDNER. Barnett Petroleum Company No. 1-A Johnson, Loving county wildcat indicating production from a point approximately 140 feet below the contact of the Delaware black lime and sand, was scheduled to be swabbed today. It was believed agitation would cause the well to flow.

Having failed to develop commercial production in the pay zone of the Mason pool, two and one-half miles to the southeast, in which pay is found at and slightly below the lime-sand contact, No. 1-A Johnson drilled ahead, finding a slight show from 3,841-44. Testing at that point showed only a scum of oil. However, in the next two feet, from 3,844-46, it encountered pay in a new sand, filling 500 feet the first two hours, 2,000 feet in 12 hours and started flowing by heads at the end of 24 hours. Heads were small, being estimated at only one to two barrels each. It made six heads from five o'clock Tuesday afternoon to 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The last three heads were only one hour apart. Since then, the well has not headed. Driller reported 100 feet of cavings in the hole, and this was believed to be receding flow. Gas is estimated at 100,000 cubic feet.

Location of the prospective strike is 2,200 feet from the north, 440 feet from the east line of section 12, block 56, township 1, T. & P. survey. With elevation of 3,044, it topped Delaware lime at 3,675 and the sand at 3,704.

C. R. "Smilo" Mallison No. 1 H. L. Brown, Delaware wildcat west of the town of Pecos in Reeves county, is drilling anhydrite at 2,360 feet.

Honolulu 1-6 Parker Dr., Honolulu No. 1-6 J. E. Parker, Andrews wildcat, is being plugged and abandoned at total depth of 4,806 feet, in lime. It encountered three-fourths of a barrel of sulphur water hourly from 4,793 to 4,800 which increased to two barrels per hour from 4,803 to 4,806. Location of the failure is in section 6, block A-44, public school land. It is one-half mile west of the town of Andrews and a mile and three-quarters north of the discovery producer in the Honolulu-Parker area.

In the Seminole area of Gaines, Amerasia No. 1 Robertson, less one mile east of production, is drilling at 3,610 feet in anhydrite and red rock, while the company's No. 1 Riley, offsetting the discovery well to the north, is drilling at 3,580 in anhydrite. Ohio No. 2 Avertit is drilling at 3,240 in anhydrite.

Shell No. 1 Cox, southeast Washington, fished out packer and is now balling at the rate of one barrel of fluid hourly, half oil and half water. It has been plugged back to 4,950 to shut off bottom-hole water.

Shell No. 1-C Baumgart, mile and a quarter east outpost to the Denver pool in Yorkton, is drilling at 1,208, in red rock.

Eschbom Oil Corporation No. 1 Munger & Nix, west of the Fuhman pool in Andrews, is drilling red rock at 1,690 feet.

Fugitives Caught In Houston Jail

HOUSTON, Jan. 13. (AP) — Surrounded by G-men armed with saved-off shotguns, Hugh Gant and Alva D. Hunt, the desperadoes most recently topped from the nation's public enemy roster, started back to Florida Wednesday night to face a bank robbery indictment.

Captured as they drove into town, apparently from their Jackson, Miss., hideout, Hunt and Gant, brothers-in-law, tonight were eliminated as suspects in the $25,000 Guthrie, Ky., postal robbery and slaying of a negro postal messenger.

The destination of the two was Pensacola, Fla. Mrs. Aileen Bledsoe Hunt, 20, who said her former home was in Malvern, Ark., was not in the party that headed east. She was in the automobile with Gant and Hunt when they were captured and said she was Hunt's wife.

In Florida, agents said, Hunt and Gant have been indicted in one bank robbery and are suspects in seven other bank raids.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, classed the gunmen as "twice as dangerous as John Dillinger." Dillinger, former public enemy No. 1 was killed by agents in Chicago.

Hoover, in Washington, disclosed that G-men had found a hideaway maintained by Hunt and Gant at Jackson, Miss. He described the hideaway as "a veritable arsenal."

The chief G-man said evidence gathered by agents indicated Hunt and Gant had operated in Florida, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas, making it a rule to stay in one place no longer than a week. The trap that resulted in their capture was set a week ago.

Dalhart Rancher's Wolf Dogs Always Ready for Action

Roy Mullins of Dalhart, here with Cooper on a business trip, does not leave home without his three trained wolf hounds. He drives a Dodge coupe which is fitted with a special pick-up body to carry the three dogs. They stay constantly in the automobile until told by their owner to get out, and then they get out with the speed of the proverbial cats which required three holes in the door to be used when their owner said "coak."

The Mullins dogs are out of a common greyhound and sired by a registered racing hound. They possess the speed of a racer and also the fighting proclivities which make it a quick job of killing a coyote.

Mullins drives through a pasture and when he sights a wolf he turns the car nose across the brush he might be on an open highway. On nearing the coyote, he slows up slightly, knocking on the side of the car and out go the dogs. It is merely a matter of business for them to overhaul the wolf quickly, one dog grabbing his throat and the other two taking hold at lower places on the anatomy. The dogs neither bark nor howl.

Remains of Boat Brought To Pago Pago

Hope Is Abandoned For Recovery of 7 Bodies From Ocean

PAGO PAGO, Samoa, Jan. 13. (AP) — Clear indication that the flying boat Samoan clipper and its crew were destroyed in a fire and explosion was brought here today by the mine sweeper Avocet.

Every item recovered 12 miles off Pago Pago showed signs of internal explosion. All were charred and covered with aluminum powder.

No hope was held for the recovery of the bodies of Captain Edwin Musick and the crew of six from the shark-infested waters.

President Juan T. Tripe of Pan-American Airways said Trippe developed as the 21-ton plane was dumping its gasoline in attempt to make an even-keel emergency landing near Pago Pago.

The disaster, first in the history of Pan-American's nearly three years of Trans-Pacific flying, put at least a temporary end to operation of the recently inaugurated line between the United States and New Zealand.

It also marked the third major American airplane crash in a week and the loss of two top ranking American aviators.

Nick Mamer, pioneer northwest flier, died along with nine other persons in the crash of his Northwest Airlines plane near Bosman, Mont., Monday. Last week six naval fliers perished when their bombing plane plunged into the sea off southern California.

The navy mine sweeper Avocet found the Samoan clipper wreckage in a tangle floating patch of lubricating oil on the ocean surface.

"Identification satisfactory," the Avocet's radio station here.

The fragments were floating at the place where Samoans yesterday sighted a column of smoke rising above the ocean.

Musick was known as one of the most methodical and conservative fliers ever to negotiate an ocean, with more than 1,000,000 miles of sea flying to his credit and never a serious accident.

He had just taken the Samoan clipper out of Pago Pago harbor for an 1,806-mile non-stop flight to Auckland, N. Z.

About 38 minutes after the take-off Musick reported an oil leak in one of the plane's four motors. He stopped that motor, set the brake on its propeller and turned back toward Pago Pago.

Gymnasium Bids May Be Advertised as Plans Perfected

Architect Herbert Voelcker of Wichita Falls is here this afternoon to confer with school board members on the high school gymnasium for which funds recently were appropriated.

Financed by a bond issue of $40,000, the bonds selling to the state educational department to draw only three per cent interest, the Works Progress Administration has appropriated an additional grant up to $35,000. Although the exact amount to be used has not been worked out, a school board member said today the total probable cost would not exceed $75,000. Preliminary plans have been worked out by the architects, Voelcker & Dixon, and it was expected that advertising for bids would be started soon after today's meeting.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. — The plugging grimly to get another wage-hour bill out of the committee without delay. As the administration also moves to get action on a measure of nearly as possible like the Senate bill of last year, the outlook is considerably more hopeful than it seemed after the House had buried the committee bill by a vote of 216 to 196.

Events since Christmas have pepped up the wage-hour congressmen progressives, New Dealers and White Houseers to a point approaching co-existence. They're all set for a drive to get out another bill and then, if the House rules committee again sits down on it, to start again on the task of obtaining 216 signatures to force the bill to a vote.

Holiday blasts by Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson and Secretary Ickes, despite the heavy return fire, have been hailed as evidence that the New Deal is fighting back against its detractors.

Roosevelt's message, reiterating his previous aims, thrilled the so-called congressional left-wingers. Everyone who had supported Roosevelt in his battle with the Supreme Court greeted the retirement of Justice Sutherland with delight.

Finally and most of all, the victory of Congressman Lister Hill in the Alabama senatorial contest brought new hope and cheer to the liberals. Not well known in Alabama, campaigning on a 100 per cent Roosevelt platform, and strongly endorsing the wage-hour bill, Hill won two to one over ex-Senator Tom Heflin.

Exposure of the wage-hour bill in such a southern state as Alabama had been considered to mean political suicide. Alabama is agricultural and its labor unions predominantly A. F. of L.

Hill himself was badly worried until the end.

Wage-hour enthusiasts believe Hill's victory can be used to change some southern votes. Congressman Luther Patrick of Alabama, who voted for recommitment, was one of the first to hit the trail. Going down home to campaign for Hill, he found his vote was unpopular, and he says he's still busy explaining.

Other congressmen say they found during the holidays that although local A. F. of L. union leaders had obeyed President William Green's instructions to wire protests against the bill, the bulk of union members appear to favor a wage-hour law.

Significance of these testimonial may be exaggerated, but they're stirred up plenty of optimism.

For the first time, bets are now being laid that Assistant Attorney General Jackson will be the next governor of New York.

Postmaster General Jim Farley has told friends that he would not be a candidate, although Roosevelt would have supported him.

Farley needs to make money, he says. That being true, Jackson, who is Roosevelt's favorite, becomes the outstanding possibility.

It is reported that Farley, who is chairman of the New York state as well as the National Democratic committee, would prefer to have Senator Robert F. Wagner run, but it is practically certain that neither Farley nor Wagner will stand in the way if Roosevelt tells them he wants Jackson, and second, that Roosevelt will tell them just that. Wagner prefers the Senate, anyway.

Selection of Jackson to appear as chief speaker at New York City's Jackson Day Dinner was engineered by the White House. Jackson's hard-hitting speeches against monopoly and the New Deal's Big Business opponents will be held against him in some places, but he will be promoted as the small business man's friend and crusader.

His background in Jamestown, N. Y. is partly that of a lawyer for "little business" and by once battled successfully for a small local telephone company threatened with extinction by the giant A. T. & T.

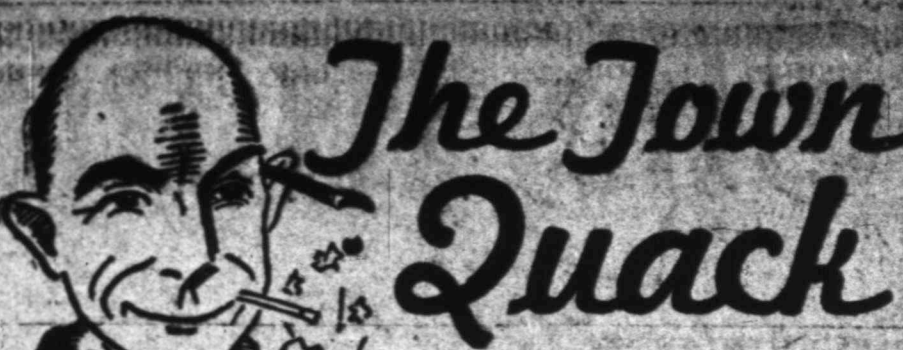

Aggies Will Play Out of Conference Quintet This Week

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Jan. 12. —With two Southwest Conference cage games behind them, and posted on the wrong side of the books, Texas Aggie cagers will play a return engagement with the Magnolia Dealers, of Houston, Thursday evening, January 13, on the floor of Memorial Gymnasium here.

The need of another "lightener" game was demonstrated by the Cadet play in the Aggie-Bearcats games last week so Coach H. R. McQuillan lost no time in booking a second game with the Dealers, who defeated the Cadets here early last week, 49-39.

The Magnolia Dealers have such players as R. T. (Tally) Eaton, 1935 Rice Owl cage captain, and Joe Bisbey, former Aggie star, on their roster and the team has a style of play closely resembling that of Southwest Conference teams. Other stars on the team include: Hal Albright, Wesley Croucher and "Woody" Greathouse, the latter a former Sam Houston Bearcat player.

McQuillan probably will start his normal first-team lineup but probably will make early substitutions to give his reserves more experience.

The late Dr. Samuel Palmer Brooks, president of Baylor University, used to inspire the students during chapel hour by telling them they could accomplish practically anything they set out to do, but he didn't overlook public opinion. He had this favorite quotation, which was his own:

"What men think you can do, you can do."
He didn't say you had to depend on public opinion to accomplish something, but he presented the principal of taking advantage of opportunities which the world offered.

The quotation, "what men think you can do, you can do," has no reference to the first paragraph about Marshall Crawford.

There is a cowboy in this country who has a good voice and he does a lot of singing out on the range. One day he got thrown off by a bronc and, as he walked back to the ranch house, the boss heard his singing: "Give A Man A Horse He Can Ride."

Redskins, Bears Get Warm-Up Games In Texas, Calif.

DALLAS — The Washington Redskins and Chicago Bears, the nation's foremost professional football teams, who hook up in the Dallas Cotton Bowl Jan. 23, will engage in warm-up contests next Sunday.

The Redskins clash with an all-star aggregation in San Francisco, while the Bears are skirmishing with a similar outfit in Houston, both preparatory workouts for the "grudge" fight here.

The Bears have been "after" the Redskins and more especially their passing phenom, Texas' own Gillingham Sam Baugh, since the Washington eleven beat them, 28 to 21, for the National Pro League title in the east-west play-off in Chicago on Dec. 12.

"Without Baugh, I am confident we are 40 per cent stronger than Washington," George Halas, shrewd coach of the Bears, says.

This is taken as an indication of the plans of the Chicagoans for their Cotton Bowl encounter with their enemies. They are expected to shoot both barrels at the Slinger in an effort to get him on the sidelines as quickly as possible.

However, Baugh will have plenty of protection, with such pals as Ernie Pinckert, bruising 215-pound blocker; Turk Edwards, 240-pound all-American tackle from the University of Washington, and Cliff Battles, 195-pound running and blocking ace from West Virginia Wesleyan, surrounding him as he takes dead aim at his receivers.

Tickets for the game may be obtained by mail from the office of John Moroney, promoter, at Room 1102, Adolphus Hotel, Dallas. Prices are $3.50 for mid-field seats; $2.50 for locations between the goal lines and 40-yard stripes, and $1.10 for duets behind the goal lines. These figures include federal tax. However, 25 cents additional must be enclosed for return mailing.

Facial Cream Makers Recommend The "High Heels" Way to Skin Beauty

BY ALICIA HART, NEA Service Staff Writer.

Unless she goes regularly to a beauty shop for professional attention, every woman ought to treat her complexion to a complete facial once a week. Day in and day out cleansing, toning and nourishing routines are wonderful, of course, but it takes these plus a special treatment to keep the average skin fresh and youthful looking.

One of the most efficacious home treatments makes use of cleansing cream, tonic, a rich emollient, a special throat cream and, of course, foundation lotion, and make up. And step-by-step directions lay stress on lying down during the fourth step. On the theory that a gentle rush of blood to the face and throat tones the complexion, the makers of the various creams urge one to lie down, with feet higher than the head, while the nourishing cream is being absorbed.

Cleansing is the first step in any facial, professional or otherwise. Smooth cleansing cream on throat as well as face. Remove it with soft tissue. Pat skin with cold tonic. Using upward and outward strokes, smooth nourishing cream on your face. With thumbs and first fingers, pinch along jawbone from chin to ears. Gently pat the horizontal lines across your brow and the vertical ones between your eyebrows until all are less obvious. Pat the expression lines from corners of mouth to nose. Then pat quantities of the cream—or a special throat cream, if you have it—on neck and shoulders.

Now lie down on your bed with no pillow under your head, two pillows under your hips and your feet on the footboard. Stay in this position for ten minutes. When you get up, notice how much more vivid your coloring. Remove the nourishing cream, pat again with cold tonic.

If you like to use a mask, simply cleanse face and throat thoroughly, put on the mask instead of night cream and lie down, with feet higher than the head, for twenty minutes or until the mask is dry. Pat on cream. Or you can sit up while the mask dries, then apply cream and lie down for ten minutes. Unless your skin is exceptionally oily always use cream after a mask.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF MIDLAND, TEXAS:

Section 1. That hereafter it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to sell or offer for sale any milk or milk products within the corporate limits of the City of Midland, without such person, firm or corporation first makes application to and receives a permit from the City Health Officer to sell such milk or milk products. The City Health Officer shall issue or revoke such permits in accordance with the requirements and conditions hereinafter set forth; provided he may revoke or refuse to issue a permit, if in his judgment any milk is unfit for human consumption.

FCA Closes Out Biggest Year Yet

HOUSTON, Jan. 12.—Closing nearly $9,000,000 in loans in 1937, the Federal Land Bank of Houston ended the year with loans outstanding totaling $265,058,143.61. These figures were presented by A. C. Williams, president of the bank and general agent of the Farm Credit Administration of Houston, in a message to members of National farm loan associations attending the annual meetings being held at points in all sections of the state Tuesday. Many of the National farm loan associations, together with the Federal Land Bank of Houston, celebrated their twentieth anniversary of service to Texas agriculture in 1937.

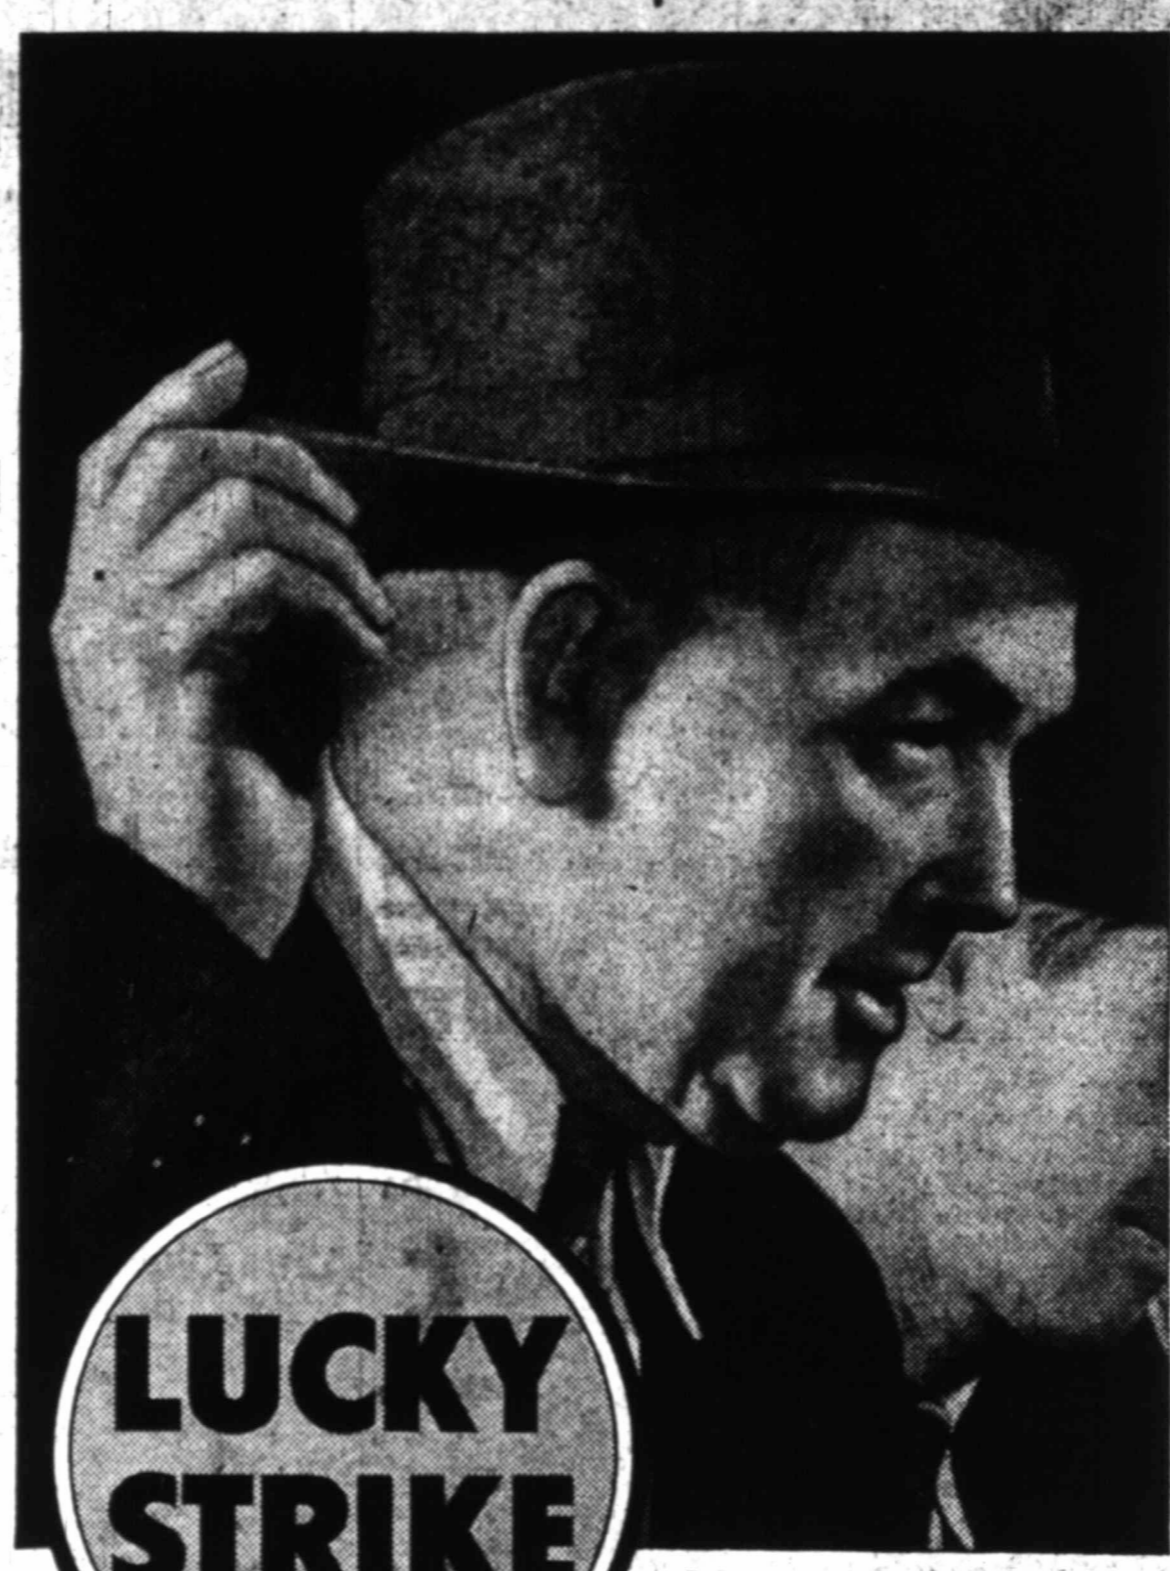

"At the close of 1937, the unpaid balances for outstanding Land Bank loans made in the state of Texas aggregated $211,102,152.27," Williams said. "The unpaid balances on commissioner loans closed by this bank aggregated $53,956,011.34. Following the depression period of 1933 through 1935, many private lending agencies making farm mortgage loans returned to the lending field from which they had withdrawn temporarily. Despite the renewed lending activities of these institutions, a total of 3,747 loans aggregating $8,915,600 were closed by the bank during 1937, acting for itself and as agent for the land bank commissioner. All of the Land Bank loans in this state were made through and endorsed by National farm loan associations and all commissioner loans were closed by the associations as local correspondents for the Land Bank commissioner."

Williams stressed the necessity for each individual borrower to keep his loan in current condition, pay his taxes, and protect his farm against erosion.

"The Federal Land Bank system was founded," said Williams, "on the principle that farmers and ranchers, through their cooperative efforts and organizations, could successfully enter the money markets of the world on even terms with those engaged in commercial and industrial lines of business, and obtain ample credit at reasonable cost, repayable on terms suitable to their needs. That the plan was sound is evidenced by the record. Those seeking sound investments have shown their confidence in the stability of the system by their continued purchases of Land Bank bonds.

"The continued success of the cooperative Land Bank system," he continued, "depends largely upon the confidence of the investing public and the preservation of the integrity of the Federal Land Bank and the National farm loan associations. In turn the preservation

STILL "TOPS"... after 31 Years As a Tobacco Auctioneer

Veteran Jim Edwards tells why tobacco experts prefer Luckies 2 to 1...

"I recently sold 489,000 pounds of tobacco in one 6 1/2 hour day," says Mr. J. N. Edwards of Farmville, North Carolina.

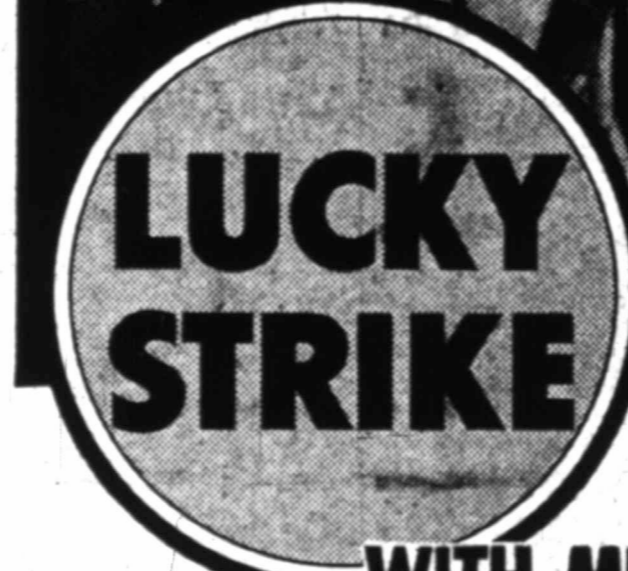

"There was a buyer, naturally, for every one of those 489,000 pounds... But there was as much difference between the best grades and the inferior, as between a pretty girl and a homely one.

"At auction after auction, I've seen Lucky Strike go after the prettiest lots of tobacco. It's no wonder Luckies taste so good. I've smoked them since 1917.

"And another thing... even after yelling out tobacco bids all during a seven hour day, Luckies are still just as easy as ever on my throat."

Only Lucky Strike offers you the finest tobacco plus the throat-protecting of the exclusive process "It's Toasted". This process takes out certain irritants found in all tobacco—even the finest.

Men who know tobacco from A to Z—experts like Mr. Edwards—are surely good judges of cigarettes... Sworn records show that, among independent tobacco experts, Luckies have twice as many exclusive smokers as have all the other cigarettes combined.

Section 8. Repeal and Date of Effect. All ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict with this ordinance be hereby repealed; and this ordinance shall be in full force and effect immediately upon its adoption and its publication, as provided by law.

the Bank until the maturity date of future installments, and borrowers will be allowed a reasonable rate of interest on such advance payments. It is expected that many borrowers will take advantage of this provision and will deposit their surplus funds to be held in trust by the bank as a safeguard against unexpected contingencies in the future.

Mountain Face Suggested.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y. (AP) — An upstate newspaper editor has proposed carving a likeness of Gov. George Clinton on the slope of Pok-o-Moonshine Mountain, in the Adirondacks, as a "lasting memorial" to New York State's first chief executive. Clinton was elected in June, 1777.

of this integrity depends upon the proper administration of the affairs of the Bank and the association, their adherence to sound lending and collection policies and the manner in which borrowers live up to their obligations. Experience has shown that stress must be placed upon the necessity for each individual borrower to keep his loan in current condition, pay his taxes when they become due and to protect his farm against erosion. Loss of fertility, and deterioration from improper farming methods. Likewise, stress must be placed upon the maintenance of a sound lending policy whereby borrowers will not be granted loans for more than they reasonably can be expected to repay. A constructive service is not rendered to a borrower if he is granted a loan for more than he is able to repay from the earnings of his farm. Where excessive loans are granted, trouble may be anticipated.

The message also pointed out the need for strong, efficient associations. Of this Williams says, "The Federal Land Bank of Houston has always advocated the maintenance of a strong National farm loan association system. The associations in this district have justified this position by the loyal and conscientious manner in which most of them have lived up to their obligations as endorser of loans made to their members—shareholders. This attitude has been a contributing factor to the successful operations of the Bank.

"The associations have been encouraged to build up reserves to meet unexpected contingencies and to impress upon their members the desirability and the necessity of keeping their loans in current condition. The associations have found that a firm collection policy is the most effective means of rendering a helpful service to their members. Some of them have learned the fallacy of a policy which permits a borrower who is in position to pay to allow his delinquencies to accumulate to a point where he is unable to regain his former position."

In discussing the Farm Credit Act of 1937, Williams mentions one provision which should be of particular interest to many. Under its terms, borrowers may now make advance payments to be held by the Gibbins and Heasley Inc. of there.

Impressions of Overseas Veteran on Visit To Europe After Interval of 20 Years

By W. H. HOFFMAN

Editor's Note: The following installment continues the story of an American Legionnaire's trip through Europe last summer. It is written by W. H. Hoffman, chief draftsman of the Humble Oil and Refining Company here, an over-seas veteran and commander of the Woods W. Lynch Post, American Legion, who was a member of the Foreign Pilgrimage. The account of his trip will appear serially in The Reporter-Telegram.

Costly Monuments And Poor Populace

We stayed in Rome three days and were greatly handicapped in our sight seeing by reason of the rainy weather. However, we chartered a horse drawn cab and managed to see most of the important sights in spite of the inclement weather. We visited the beautiful and impressive monument to Vittorio Emanuele II, where the Italian unknown soldier is buried. This colossal monument, built entirely of marble, with huge bronze statues scattered over the top, is by far the largest and most magnificent that we had seen on the entire trip, and no doubt must have cost an enormous amount of money. The Italian flair for erecting costly monuments to satisfy the vanity of their leaders who are still alive was further demonstrated at the colossal Mussolini Forum. This huge project is still in the process of construction and when completed will be the greatest as well as the most costly arena and sport center in the world. Around the top of the arena which is built entirely of the finest marble are hundreds of huge statues depicting every phase of human sports. It was here that Mussolini had hoped to celebrate the 1940 Olympics.

We could not help but think that the huge sums of money being spent here might be used to better advantage in feeding the poor and starving people of Italy. In the afternoon, we visited the Flavian amphitheatre, known as the Coliseum; the extensive ruins of the Roman Forum; the aqueduct of Claudius and the Appian Way. We also descended into the catacombs where the early Christians concealed themselves and where thousands of them are buried.

The following day, we visited the castle of St. Angelo, an ancient ruin rising majestically above the Tiber River on whose banks, it stands. It dates from 135 A. D.

In the spacious and pigeon infested square of St. Peter, we visited the cathedral of the same name. This is probably the most beautiful and extravagant church in the world. Inside, the walls and ceilings are decorated with beautiful paintings, and colorful mosaics executed by the old masters. On leaving the cathedral, we entered the Vatican which has a wonderful museum and library. This library is perhaps the largest and most complete in the world, housing as it does more than 300,000 volumes and 86,000 manuscripts. It was founded in 465 A. D.

The Glory of Rome—Past, Present, Future

Prominently displayed upon a wall under the Palatine Hill in Rome are a series of relief maps cast in plaster. Each map covers the same territory—England, Europe, part of Asia and the northern part of Africa.

Italy's possessions are shown in white and the balance of the map in black. The first map depicts the old Roman Empire as it existed under the Caesars, showing England, all of Europe, part of Asia and the entire north coast of Africa in white.

The next map shows the empire dwindling until the time of Napoleon when the empire consisted only of the City of Rome which is represented by a tiny white dot.

The next map shows the empire gradually growing until 1937 when we see the Italian peninsula, islands in the Mediterranean and a large portion of northern Africa (Ethiopia and Lybia) in white.

There is room for another map on the wall and the inference is plain that Italy is on the road to re-establish the old Roman Empire of the Caesars.

Leaving Rome and the weeping heavens behind, we hastened to Naples, where we were scheduled to board the Conte di Savoia on November 11. We arrived in Naples on November 7 and the following morning, accompanied by a private guide, we set out to explore the ruins of Pompeii.

As we entered the city by the marine gate, our guide tells us that the sea once touched this gate, but since the eruption of Mount Vesuvius in 79 B. C. which destroyed the city, the sea has receded a distance of two and one half miles.

City of a People Dead 2,000 Years

The streets of the city are built of heavy cobblestones, worn smooth by centuries of travel. At street intersections, huge stepping stones were placed so that pedestrians could cross the street during heavy rains. These stones were placed far enough apart to enable the high wheels of chariots to pass between. In the pavement between these stones deep ruts have been worn by the wheels of countless chariots passing through the ages.

There is a fine museum here displaying objects from practically every phase of the lives of the former inhabitants of the city. There are kitchen utensils, surgical instruments, jewelry, scales, even petrified leaves of bread found intact in an oven. Here we saw the skeletons of some of the former inhabitants, petrified and wonderfully preserved. We even saw the skeleton of dogs, all drawn up and conorted showing the awful agony they must have suffered when death overtook them 2,000 years ago.

There are some fine examples of paintings and mosaics here, however, the most important and valuable objects have been removed to the museum in Naples. Some of the most important ruins are: the Temple of Apollo, Temple of Jupiter, the Forum and the Amphitheatre

NO GOLF WIDOW

Audrey Karnes of Hot Springs, Va., has the best method of protecting herself from golf widowhood. She takes lessons. And what better teacher could there be than Sam Snead, with whom she was photographed at Miami Beach, where the current star of the winter circuit rested briefly before departing for California tournaments. The couple have been seen together frequently for three years. Friends suspect romance.

(20,000 seats), with its small arena in the rear where the gladiator were schooled before entering the arena. Here we saw the tall dais from which Nero watched the performances and later saw the bronze seat inscribed with his name which was found intact on top of the dais. This seat is now resting in the museum in Naples.

Many of the ruined houses have beautiful paintings and mosaics on the walls, their brilliant color giving no indication that they lay buried under sixty feet of lava for 2,000 years.

Mt. Vesuvius Still Awe-Inspiring

After lunch we set out to Mt. Vesuvius, whose white plume of smoke was constantly visible hanging against the blue sky in the distance. The hard surfaced, toll road only ascended the mountain so the half way point and from here it required an hour of hard climbing to reach the rim of the old crater. Vesuvius had originally been cone shaped, but in the eruption which destroyed Pompeii, the entire top had been blown off, leaving a crater some two miles in diameter.

In the center of the old crater, a new cone is being built up and at the present time it is some 100 feet high. The floor of the old crater is a jumble of old lava flows. Here and there, scattered about the floor of the old crater, small cones emit a whistling noise occasioned by the escaping smoke and gas. Long fissures, the edges colored yellow, attest to the sulphurous gases being emitted and from the side of one of the small cones, a constant stream of lava about two feet wide pushes it way along the floor of the crater. We ascended a small knoll about 50 feet from the base of the cone and managed to get some good pictures of the volcano while in eruption. These eruptions occur at intervals of from three to five minutes and are preceded by a rumbling noise in the crater. Then a white plume of smoke and gas shoots into the air, followed by great splashes of red hot lava. The scene is very beautiful at night, a constant red glow being reflected against the white plume of smoke hanging above the crater.

Sightseeing in the Famous Blue Grotto

Early the next morning, we rode to the Marina Grande and boarded a steamer bound for the Isle of Capri, where we arrived about noon. Here we visited the famous Blue Grotto. The entrance to the cave is so low that we had to lie down in the small boat in order to get through the opening. Inside, the cavern widens out, allowing space for about 40 boats in a circle. The water is a beautiful deep blue due to the growth of blue coral underlying the entire area. The reflection from the water bathes the entire cavern in a subdued blue light making a very lovely picture. A funicular railroad carried us to the village above. Here are located beautiful villas and modern and up to date hotels. The wine of Capri is considered to be especially fine.

The following day we visited the museum where we saw the important and valuable objects taken from the excavations at Pompeii. We also visited the large and interesting aquarium.

The next day was November 11 and Vittorio Emanuele's birthday and we were told that they would be celebrating by a big parade. We thought no more about it until ten

Longhorns to Get Test of Strength With Frogs, Ponies

AUSTIN.—Having jumped from the conference depths to possible first-division rating by virtue of a successful practice season and an opening victory over Texas Christian, the Texas Longhorn basketball troupe will have something to work for when it goes on the road this week-end.

Games are scheduled with Southern Methodist at Dallas Friday night and Texas Christian at Fort Worth Saturday before the Steers return to Austin for a date with Baylor Jan. 18.

The Longhorns looked anything but potential champions as they jerked through their conference opener here last Saturday, but the fact that they won rather easily from Mike Brimbelow's scrapping Frogs, 33-21, indicates they will have an even chance against most conference opponents save perhaps Southern Methodist and Artansas.

Wee Willie Tate, Texas' towering 210-pound forward, abandoned his usual scoring role to concentrate on Slim Mabry, and with some assistance from Farlon "Too-Tall" Jones he held T. C. U.'s ace to three points. Meanwhile Warren Osborne and Henry Chovanec, senior letterman, blossomed out with a flock of baskets. Although Osborne has played only one game, his 18 points showed him up among the conference scoring leaders.

The Texas defense, featuring the stick-tight guarding of Capt. Don White and the aggressive hustling of Sph Bob Moes, pleased Coach Jack Gray, as T. C. U. was able to score only four field goals. These five will comprise the starting lineup against S. M. U. and T. C. U. this week-end.

o'clock when we attempted to step out of the hotel.

Foiling the Fascisti

—By the Kitchen Route Here we found the boulevard being patrolled by the Black shirted Fascist guard. These told us in no uncertain terms to get back into the hotel and stay there. To our plea that we had to board the Savoia by 11:00 o'clock, they turned a deaf ear. All they knew was that we were not allowed on the streets. The hotel clerk was worried but shrugged his shoulders indicating that there was nothing he could do about it.

Finally in desperation, we grabbed our baggage and passing through the kitchen found ourselves out in the alley. Here we found a horse drawn cab into which we piled ourselves and baggage and told the driver to make haste for the docks. It was now past eleven and the Savoia sailed at noon. At the first street intersection a Fascist guard held up his hand barring the way. After the driver and guard had gone into a huddle, the black shirt pointed in another direction and the driver turned around and proceeded in the direction indicated only to find another guard barring the way.

Here the same procedure took place as at the previous corner. After proceeding up alleys and driving miles out of our way, we finally arrived at the docks just at twelve o'clock. The boat was still at the dock and fortunately the custom officers did not inspect our baggage, however, there was the usual passport inspection and the money declaration and in a few minutes we were safely aboard our boat.

To Be Continued. Without diving suits, the best divers can remain under water about one and one-third minutes; with a diver's suit, the diver is able to work under water from five to six hours.

Waitress Gets Awards
Tripped by Peg Leg

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (AP) — An unusual variation of the apparently endless theme of mishaps has befallen Margaret Marvin, 32-year-old waitress, who was awarded five weeks compensation for tripping over a diner's wooden leg "in the course of employment."

The woman, in following instructions on a compensation court form to "state in the patient's own words how the accident occurred," wrote:

"I was tripped by a man with a wooden leg. I fell and he fell over me, striking his wooden leg against my left knee joint and scratching my right elbow."

"Bigger Than 'Cavalcade'" Director Frank Lloyd Says of "Wells-Fargo"

"It is bigger than 'Cavalcade'." The statement is Frank Lloyd's, voiced while discussing "Wells Fargo," epochal film of the story of the development of transportation in America which he produced and directed for Paramount, which opens next Saturday night, prevue, at the Yucca theatre.

Lloyd should know whereof he speaks, for he was the director of "Cavalcade," film which won him the Academy award, a picture that was impressive, measured by any standard, as a film undertaking of exceptional proportions.

"Cavalcade," Lloyd explained, utilized a greater number of people in some of its scenes than we present in the major sequences of "Wells Fargo." In every other respect, "Wells Fargo" is a more expansive production than "Cavalcade." And the greater scope of the background of "Wells Fargo," its subject matter and various other elements entering into the project more than compensate for this single point.

The elements in "Wells Fargo" to which Lloyd refers include a cast topped by fifty names roles and extra talent numbering up to 2000 persons in some sequences.

Heading the cast of "Wells Fargo" are Joel McCrea, as a young express messenger of 1844 who attains greatness with the development of transportation; Bob Burns as plains man whose chore it is to bias the trail westward for communications and Frances Dee, daughter of an aristocratic Southern family who becomes McCrea's bride and mother of his two children.

Then, too, there are Lloyd Nolan and Porter Hall, express and banking partners of early San Francisco;

Ralph Morgan and Mary Nash, as the parents of Miss Dee; Henry O'Neill, characterizing Henry Wells of Wells Fargo and Company, forerunners of the present-day Railway Express Agency, and John Mack Brown, who in the story's beginning is Miss Dee's fiance and later a captain of Confederate cavalry.

Hardin-Simmons Professor Enters 36th Year on Job

ABILENE, Texas, Jan. 13. — Dr. Julius Olsen, dean of the college of arts and science, professor of physics, and the senior faculty member at Hardin-Simmons University, is beginning his thirty-sixth year at H-SU, though when he came to Abilene in 1902, he planned to stay only one year.

Dr. Olsen is a native Illinoisan, reared in Kansas, where his family later moved. His father wanted him to study law. His own ambition was to do research work. He came to the Hardin-Simmons College, in September, 1902, after graduating from Yale University, where he received his Ph. D. degree.

Dr. Olsen planned to spend a year in the Southwest, then return to the east, but the Texas climate, the hospitality of its people, and a growing attachment for the school, bound him to Abilene, where he has stayed to make his home, to marry, and to rear and educate a family.

Today, a daughter, Miss Ollie Lena Olsen, an alumna of H-SU and of Smith College, is a member of the English faculty, and a son, Julius, is a sophomore here.

In 1902, Simmons College had little equipment for chemistry and physics, and Dr. Olsen ordered nearly all of it for the two laboratories. Dr. O. H. Cooper was president, serving until 1909, when Dr. J. D. Sander began a period of university service, now in its twenty-ninth year.

Dr. Olsen has served Hardin-Simmons continuously except for a year of sabbatical leave for study abroad, and has declined attractive offers to go elsewhere. Today, his former students hold many responsible positions, in educational and business ranks.

'Inspired Printer' Exhibits Calendars

AUSTIN, Texas. — A series of calendars printed by Hal Marchbanks, who rose from a job as printer's devil in an Ennis, Texas, printing shop to fame in the publishing world as an "inspired" printer, are being exhibited in the library at the University of Texas.

"With his own press in New York City, in an age when good taste in printing was just beginning to emerge, the simple, direct, inevitable style of the things he turned out shone like a 'good deed in a naughty world,'" Ernest Elmo Calkins, a fellow-printer and friend of Marchbanks, wrote soon after his death in 1944.

Marchbanks, who at his death was president of the Marchbanks Press, became interested in the printing art when only eight years old. When a young man, he began work in the publishing houses of New York City, and in 1917 organized his own firm. The Marchbanks Press specialized in the publishing of trade journals and limited editions for the rare-book collectors.

Hoover to Make Trip to Belgium

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13. (AP)—Friends of former President Herbert Hoover disclosed last night he had accepted an invitation from the Belgian ambassador at Washington to visit the field of his famous war-time relief activities and would sail from New York Feb. 8.

Paul C. Smith, general manager of the San Francisco Chronicle and personal friend of Mr. Hoover, will accompany the former chief executive.

The Hoover home said the visit to Belgium would have "no political implications."

In extending the invitation Ambassador Robert von der Straeten-poulsen said the Belgian people wished "to have this opportunity to express to you their sentiments and to assure you of their unalterable attachment."

Named as participating in the invitation were the Universities of Brussels, Ghent, Louvain and the Colonial University, as well as engineering schools and civic organizations.

A familiar pine tree, was found in an old congealed lava bed between the volcanoes Mauna Loa and Hualalai. The mile-high lava expanse is reported to be one of the least explored sections of the territory of Hawaii.

Car Registrations Show Slight Gains

AUSTIN, Texas. — Registrations of new passenger cars in Texas during December were moderately above those of November but sharply under those of December, 1936, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Reports to the bureau from 13 counties representing all sections of the state show total registrations for December of 4,462 new passenger cars, an increase of 6.8 percent over the preceding month but a decline of 38.2 per cent from the corresponding month last year. Aggregate sales during the entire year 1937 in twelve of these counties were 60,761, compared with 66,122 cars during 1936, a decrease of 8.1 per cent.
