R. E. Wall, son of E. I. W. Wall the Franks Defeat stockman, farmer and discoverer of the Walls' well, in the now G. W.
 Morris pasture or at least from whom it took its name was in Sonora Wednesday.

W. T. O. Holman who has been at Mineral Wells for the past six weeks returned Wednesday. After being a few days at the wells he was joined by his daughter Miss Clyde and son Archie. On the return Miss Clyde stopped off at Talpa to visit her sister Mrs. Day and Archie returned with his father. Mr. Holman looked better and admitted being much benefited from his trip.

R. E. Taylor who ranches on the Orient survey about 12 miles south of Sonora was in town Tuesday. Mr. Taylor said grass was short, but that was better than no grass and if the News man would happen to stop at his place he would feed his team and himself.
 And judging from Eli's smile he is looking on the bright side of things and expects to top the yearling male market.

M. B. Atkinson Dead.

The News extends its sympathy to the widow and survivors of the late M. B. Atkinson whose death occurred at his home at Estancia, N. Mex., on Monday September 19, 1910, aged 69 years.

Deceased was for many years prior to 1908, a respected and valued citizen of Sutton county.

At the time of his death he was treasurer of Tarrant county, Tex.
 Mex. and the Estancia News says his funeral was one of the most largely attended in the history of that place. He was born in Washington county, Texas in 1841 and is survived by his widow and eight children.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Yaws of the Middle Valley country were in Sonora this week the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Max Vander Stucken.

J. R. Robbins and W. B. Olendennen were in Sonora Saturday from the Robbins ranch on the North Llano trading.

Dock Simmons was in from the ranch Tuesday. He says cattle do well on short grass, if not too short.

Nick Shurley was in Sonora Monday trading from his ranch in the Franks Defeat country. Mr.
 Shurley expects their stock to go into the winter in good shape.

Arthur Stuart was in from the ranch a couple of days this week.
 T. J. Stuart has not recently sold any cattle but has some heavy weights.

W. L. Souther, owner of the John Martin ranch in West Sutton was in Sonora Tuesday. Mr.
 Souther is stoking the ranch with steers and is kept busy receiving them but finds his auto a great time saver.

We had the pleasure of seeing 13 Angora billies, raised by John A. Ward and sold to Geo. S. Allisson Monday. The wagon stopped at the office so we could take an other lesson in the wealth producing Angoras.

 the grass on Mr. Evans ranch is sure fine.

John Bryden whose ranch is 12 miles West of Sonora was in town Wednesday. John says the feed is fine and the clip he sent to Charlie Hobbs should top the market. He is not a non resident now.

Ed Glasscock who ranches in the Beaver Lake country was in Sonora Monday on a visit to his mother Mrs. W. A. Glasscock.
 Ed says he thought a short time after he had bought down there it was sorry, but now he thinks Juno and the Juno country the best ever.

W. R. Clendennen says he had a four mile chase after an "outlaw" wolf one day last week. Bill was riding a good horse as usual and the dogs jumped the wolf within 100 yards of him. "May be I didnt flank that horse" says he, but gives the credit of the scalp to Will Words hounds and "Harriman" ad...

The irresistible O. T. Word and wife and daughter Minnie, returned from the State Fair at Dallas Wednesday. Mr. Word enjoyed his visit to the Dallas Fair where he met many of the old friends from Greenville, his old home.
 "O. T." as his friends and rivals alike, call him has an eye to business all the time but enjoys life where-ever he goes. He attends the Dallas Fair almost annually but says this was the greatest ever.

CARPETS AND RUGS AT WHOLESALE

From the Mills to the Customer

Buy your Rugs, Carpets, Curtains, Draperies and Furniture at Mill Prices this fall, and keep one-third to one-half of the regular retail store prices in your own pocket. When you buy house furnishings in the ordinary retail store remember that the price you pay not only carries a profit to the manufacturer, the jobber and the retailer, but also all the cost of traveling salesmen, railroad fares and hotel bills, clerk hire, high rentals, and the hundred and one other expenses of the ordinary method of retailing. When you buy house furnishings goods from us you get the brightest goods, the newest styles and patterns, the highest qualities direct from the largest mills and factories at about the price equal goods bring at wholesale. This means such a big saving to you that you can't afford to buy a carpet, a rug, a pair of curtains, a piece of furniture of any kind until you have first seen our catalogue with its big stock of house furnishing goods at wholesale prices.

Write for a Free Copy of Our Rug, Carpet and Furniture Catalogue

Just a postal card saying "Send me your new Rug, Carpet and Furniture Catalogue," with your name and address, will get this fine catalogue by return mail free and postpaid. It shows thousands of articles: everything almost that you can think of to add to the comfort and convenience of the home; wide varieties, ranging from the most inexpensive for the homesteader on the west-em claim to the finest articles for the best city homes, and at prices you can't equal anywhere else, quality considered. This complete catalogue of more than 100 pages of house furnishing goods, splendidly printed, profusely illustrated, now ready to send to anyone who will write for it is easily the most valuable book of the kind ever published. If you intend to buy anything in Carpets, Rugs, Curtains, Draperies, Furniture and House Furnishing Goods this fall we urge you to write now for a copy of this free book. ### THE TRAINED NURSE.

She Was So Very Different From the Old Time Natural Nurses.

The subject on Mrs. Pry's mind was the "independence" of the young woman who had nursed her in a recent illness. "Not a thing would she do outside the sickroom; 'it wasn't customary,' she said when I asked her if she wouldn't take hold with the washing. And she had to have her three meals regular, and never once did she offer to eat 'em in the kitchen, or say, 'No matter; I'll stand up in the pantry with the rest of you,' not even when I was the sickest, and she knew Maria and Emily had it all do."

"She never went into the kitchen except to cook what little I ate and to 'sterilize' everything she could lay her hands on.

"'Good land!' I said one day when I saw her grabbing up things I'd barely touched and starting for the kitchen. 'I haven't got anything catching!'

"Do you s'pose she stopped cap, a toss and started.

"And if I ever said I couldn't swallow my medicine she'd go right on measuring it, then under my head her arm would go, up it would come, and before I could shut my teeth down the medicine would go and I'd be back on the pillow! All without a word—that's what made her so exasperating.

"And when she did say anything it was generally impudent. I could not sleep nights I was in such pain, and when I wasn't I was lonesome and wanted to talk.

"Well, one night, long towards morning it was, I was telling her about Uncle Ezra Whiting courting his second wife—my mind kind of run on the past—an' how his children held out against it, and he had to be so sly about it that he didn't dare unlatch her gate going or coming, but stepped over the fence so's not to make a mite o' noise, an' how she never saw him to the door or anything like that. I thought Miss Ames was mighty quiet, and I turned my head, and there she was—'a-sleep!'

"I thought you were a trained nurse!" I said.

"I am not trained to keep awake night and day!" said she, like a wisp.

"What do you think of that?" demanded Mrs. Pry.

A sympathetic murmur ran round the room, but there was no direct reply to her challenge.

"And we paid her," added Mrs. Pry, "821 a week! We used to pay old Mrs. Rogers five and her fare both ways. And she'd take right hold anywhere—sewing, preserving, anything that came up, and if anybody died she'd stay on through those first heart-breaking hours, and you felt that warm, soothing hand o' hers holding you up. And as for a thermometer and 'taking your temperature,'" concluded Mrs. Pry in a peevish phrase, "she left that to the doctor, like the natural nurse that she was."—Youth's Companion.

Men's Slack Education.

Consider for a moment who patronizes the institutions in this country which make for mental and ethical culture. The vast majority of churchgoers are women. It is women almost exclusively who patronize art exhibitions, symphony concerts, libraries, theaters and the opera. These things make for culture, and men are far in the rear. It is probable that the average of education in this country is higher than in Great Britain, but the British who is at all educated is a man of better culture, wider perspective and better sense of proportion than is the American. The moral is for American men to use the advantages at their doors.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

SOME MORE STATISTICS.

The News takes pleasure in presenting for your enjoyment, comment and enlightenment the following list of resident tax payers whose renditions show them to be worth or are paying taxes on $5000 or more. There are many others who are not enumerated in this list because of $5 or less in their renditions and at the same time the full value may not have been rendered. It shows about 100 resident tax payers of Sutton County paying on $5000 or more property values.
