Vocational Ag. Judging Contests Set for April 18

Will Be Conducted at Texas A. & M. College for Inexperienced Secondary Students

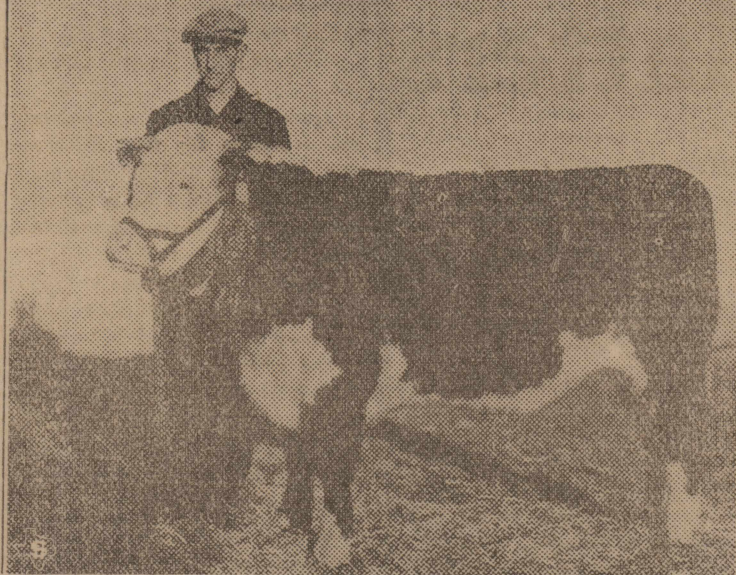

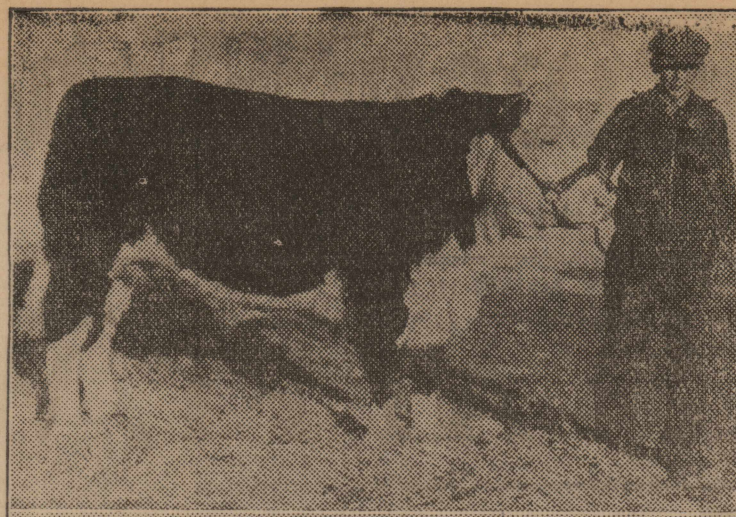

College Station, Tex., Mar. 9.—The fifteenth annual Texas State Judging contests in vocational agriculture will be conducted at Texas A. & M. College April 18 by the schools of agriculture and vocational teaching of the college in co-operation with the state board for vocational education, E. R. Alexander, professor of agricultural education at the college, who is chairman of the rules and regulations committee of the Smith-Hughes contests, has announced. At this time state representatives for three national vocational agriculture contests will be chosen.

Entry in the contests is open to students regularly enrolled in vocational agriculture in high schools and secondary schools of Texas provided that they have never taken part in these contests in previous years; that they never have taken part in an interstate contest; that they never have practiced judging on animals belonging to A. & M. College; that their scholastic standing in high school is as high as is required for competition in athletics.

The three-man livestock judging team from Dublin high school, which was winner of the 1931 Texas contest, also won first place in the national contests the past summer. Between 1,200 and 1,300 boys representing 148 schools entered the 1931 Texas contests.

Seven counties, including those in livestock judging, poultry and egg judging, dairy cattle judging, farm shop work, soil conservation (terracing), entomology and plant production, are held annually. Representative three-man teams to enter the national competition will be selected in the livestock judging.

John Garner Wins at Amarillo!

If precedent means anything, John Garner, Texas' speaker of the U. S. House of Representatives should be a winner, because his namesake (pictured top) John Garner, is grand champion steer calf of the Tri-State Fat Stock show at Amarillo last week. With him is his youthful owner, Jim Farley of Groom, Texas. Below is "Chubby," steer which won the junior championship in the same class. With him is J. C. Cordill of Plainview, his owner.

Grave Fannin's Men May Be Near Goliad

Bone Found By Pre-Med Student Is Thought to Indicate Site

When William B. Bennett, jr., of Goliad, a sophomore and pre-med student at the University of Texas, stumbled upon a charred bone in the loose earth thrown up by gophers two miles southeast of Goliad, and when his father, a dentist, identified the bone as a portion of the human jaw bone, the two men marked the spot with a cross, as the probable burial spot of 331 men brutally massacred by Mexican troops on the morning of March 27, 1836.

For several decades all tracks of the Goliad massacre were lost. Marks of fire on the bone fragment tally with the story of the execution, which is as follows:

Colonel Fannin and 330 men surrendered their arms after the battle of Coleta. After being held prisoners for nine days in Bahia Mission, they were ordered to march, and told they were being sent home on parole as promised. Under heavy guard, they were marched half a mile. The Mexicans suddenly turned and fired. Those not killed by bullets were bayoneted. The bodies were gathered in three groups, wood from a brush fence piled upon them, burned, and the remains left unburied.

Three months later General Thomas F. Rusks returned and buried the remains he found.

The post near Goliad on which bone fragments have been found corresponds roughly to a map and diary of Dr. Joseph H. Barnard, assistant surgeon of Fannin's army, one of the few who escaped the massacre, and also to other documentary evidence recently secured by County Judge J. A. White.

The city of Goliad has bought and presneted to Texas for a state park about 207 acres of land two miles southeast of Goliad along the San Antonio River, which tract included the grave, the Mission of La Bahia, property of the Catholic Church and ruins of the College of Aranama. A road through the park, linking State Highway 19 and 12, has been proposed.

The park will be inspected this year by a state commission from Austin, which will examine the evidence and documentary proofs of the grave of the Texas heroes. Goliad citizens plan to ask for a state monument to be erected on this site.

Nudist Flappers Choose Clothes

Leader Makes Fortune Settling Disputes Over Dressing

Matrons of Western Canada's quaint Doukhobor colony, who accept nudity as part of their religious practice appealed to Peter Verigin, high priest of the sect, to convert their flapper daughters, who refused to take off their clothes, and the priest has collected about $180,000 a year in complying with their requests.

On a recent visit to Saltillo and Mexico City in the hope of arranging a deal to establish a colony in Coahuila or Chihuahua, Mexico, the nudist leader failed to tell how he brought the mothers and daughters to an agreement on the question of going without clothes, but admitted that his rulership has netted him $720,000 in the past four years. He said, "Most of the $720,000 was given to me by members of the Doukhobor communities because they liked me."

Coming back from Russia four years ago to take over the Doukhobor high priesthood after his father, Peter the Elder, was killed in a mysterious bomb explosion aboard a Canadian National railway train, thought to have been brought about by dissatisfied Doukhobor extremists, Young Peter found the Doukhobor colony of some 15,000 members torn by strife.

The proposition that clothes are a sin and that nudity is a sign of a simple, Christian life didn't appeal to Doukhobor flappers, while placid Doukhobor matrons used to nudity were annoyed with their daughters.

Other Doukhobors were refusing to pay their taxes and to send their children to school, according to the Canadian government's regulations.

The rebellious Doukhobors got much publicity by taking off their clothes on the public highway when Canadian "mounties" swooped down upon them, and thereby shocked not only all good citizens but His Majesty's government as well.

Verigin, with what appears to have been genius, straightened out all the trouble. He converted the flappers and consoled the mothers.

The colonization project in Mexico is being studied by the federal department of agriculture in Mexico City.

HEALTH NOTES

Health Nurse's Requirements

The Public Health Nurse must be a graduate registered nurse who, in addition to her hospital training, has had a supplementary course in theoretical and practical public health nursing. The value and necessity of the supplementary training cannot be overestimated.

The nurse while in the hospital is fundamentally taught and engaged in how to nurse sick people back to health. She has at all times only a limited number of individuals under her care, and her greatest interest during this time is to apply nursing methods most effectively and so aid the individual to regain health. In organized public health nursing, her greatest aim and ideal is to prevent people from becoming ill.

She must know public health and methods of prevention, and must know how to impart this knowledge to other people. Instead of a few individuals to serve, as in the hospital, she has perhaps a city or part of a city, a community, or a whole county, and consequently she must know how to organize and correlate, not only her own resources, but also those of the county or community.

She must know how to work through organizations and groups, as well as through individuals. She must know how to teach, and she cannot satisfactorily do so unless she has had some special preparation.

Organization of Work

There are certain well-defined duties for the public health nurse. She should (1) teach health, (2) organize and take part in clinics and conferences, (3) assist in the physical inspection of school children, (4) make home visits and do "follow-up" work, and (5) keep accurate records of work done.

Texas Government Cost Each Citizen $12.12 in Year 1930

U. S. Census Figures Show Surplus for State—Total Collections $111,408,561

Washington, D. C., March 10.—The Bureau of the Census announces a summary of the financial statistics of the state of Texas for the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1930. The per capita figures for 1930 are based on an estimated population of 5,815,000.

Expenditures
The payments for operation and maintenance of the general departments of Texas amounted to $70,505,710, or $12.12 per capita. This includes $29,778,460, apportionments for education to the minor civil divisions of the state. In 1929 the per capita for operation and maintenance of general departments was $12.00 and in 1917, $4.59. The interest on debt in 1930 amounted to $213,601 and outlays for permanent improvements, $38,057,085. The total payments, therefore, for operation and maintenance of general departments, interest, and outlays were $108,776,396. The totals include all payments for the year, whether made from current revenues or from the proceeds of bond issues.

Of the governmental costs reported above, $46,769,396 was for highways, $12,562,865 being for maintenance and $34,207,131 for construction.

Revenues
The total revenue receipts were $111,408,561, or $19.16 per capita. This was $40,689,250 more than the total payments of the year, exclusive of the payments for permanent improvements, and $2,632,165 more than the total payments including those for permanent improvements. This excess of revenue receipts is reflected in purchase of investments, not shown in this summary. Property and special taxes represented 26.9 per cent of the total revenue for 1930, 29.7 per cent for 1929, and 56.6 per cent for 1917. The increase in the amount of property and special taxes collected was 117.9 per cent from 1917 to 1930 and 6.8 per cent from 1929 to 1930. The per capita of property and special taxes collected was $5.16 in 1930, $4.92 in 1929, and $3.10 in 1917.

Earnings of general departments or compensation for services rendered by state officials, represented 3.6 per cent of the total revenue for 1930, 4.4 per cent for 1929, and 16.7 per cent for 1917. Business and non-business licenses constituted 42.5 per cent of the total revenue for 1930, 44.6 per cent for 1929, and 12.5 per cent for 1917.

Receipts from business licenses consist chiefly of taxes exacted from insurance and other incorporated companies, of occupation taxes, and of sales tax on gasoline, while those from non-business licenses comprise chiefly taxes on motor vehicles and amounts paid for hunting and fishing privileges. The sales tax on gasoline amounted to $30,514,976 in 1930 and $16,006,660 in 1929, an increase of 90.6 per cent.

Indebtedness
The total funded or fixed debt outstanding Aug. 31, 1930 was $4,397,200. The net indebtedness (funded or fixed debt less sinking fund assets) was $4,372,267, or $0.75 per capita. In 1929 the per capita net debt was $0.77 and in 1917, $1.07.

Assessed Valuations, Tax Levies
The assessed valuation of property in Texas subject to ad valorem taxation was $4,328,212,712; the amount of state taxes levied was $29,864,668; and the per capita levy, $5.14. In 1929 the per capita levy was $5.03 and in 1917, $3.86.

Austin—Contract let during recent two days for improvement of 304 miles of highway, construction of 12 bridges and 21 concrete culverts estimated to cost $2,642,000.

Oldest Native of Texas Died Sunday

Mrs. Martha Woodward, 89, Known as Senior Living Texan

The death of Mrs. Martha Woodward, 89, Sunday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bob Holland, where she had resided for 25 years, marked the passing of one who was known before her death as the oldest living native Texan.

Mrs. Woodward was born at Lindon, Cass county, May 22, 1842, while Texas was still a republic. She and Mr. Woodward, who died 48 years ago, came to Coleman county in 1878, settling on a farm in a country abounding in buffaloes and other wild game.

Mrs. Woodward often recalled that the pioneers had the desperadoes that roamed West Texas to fear more than the occasional Indians.

Funeral services Monday afternoon were jointly conducted from a chapel by the Rev. J. Grady Timmons and the Rev. Paul Reese. Mrs. Woodward had been a member of the First Methodist Church.

Surviving are seven children, about 20 grand children, and eight great grandchildren. The children are Judge J. O. Woodward, Austin;

D. J. Woodward of Arizona; S. P. Woodward, Junction; J. W. Woodward, of Louisiana; and Mesdames Holland, Squire Boone, and J. E. Brown, all of San Angelo. All of the children except Judge Woodward and J. W. Woodward, were present for the funeral.

Right-of-way deeds needed in widening Orange-Beaumont division of Old Spanish Trail, 14 miles west of Orange, secured.

Mrs. Murphy Attends Funeral
Mrs. Clara Murphy attended the funeral of her friend, Mrs. Martha Woodward, whose death occurred Sunday in San Angelo, at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon in Angelo. Mrs. Murphy returned to Sonora Tuesday in company with S. P. Woodward, a son, and Mrs. Woodward, who were enroute to their home in Junction.

Sheep and Goats—

Chamber of Commerce was discussed, but action was deferred because of limited finances.

A resolutions committee consisting of E. S. Mayer, chairman, Fred Earwood, Stanton Bundy, Lee Drisdale, Will Hill and E. K. Fawcett was named by the president.

Mr. Fawcett discussed the status of the effort to secure parasite aid from Argentina in combatting the prickly pear. No action has been taken yet, though efforts will be continued by the association. A request for a $25,000 federal appropriation for research was denied recently.

Bailey Jones, secretary of the New Braunfels chamber of commerce, asked indorsement of the association of the projects his city is trying to develop in the way of a wool and mohair mill. The endeavor has been given endorsement of the American Angora Goat Raisers' Association. Opposition on the part of railroads has been met by the New Braunfels group. With Mr. Jones appeared Col. W. E. Talbot, Dallas, who gave a short talk on industrial statistics and possibilities in the state. Jim McDowell, manager of a textile mill now operating in New Braunfels, spoke at length on the desirability of such a mill for Texas.

Fred Earwood read a message received from L. W. Elliott Wednesday announcing the sale of 5,000,000 pounds of accumulated adult inferior grade mohair to two carpet mills. The surplus was thus reduced about one-fourth, and the way was greatly cleared for sale of this spring's clip. The transaction, planned for weeks by the National Wool Marketing Corporation, will remove the entire amount of hair from competition in the regular trade channels. It will be used by the two mills, alone, and only for the purpose of carpet making.

In addition to this sale, Earwood reported other favorable signs on the mohair horizon. He said that the spring clip was going to be smaller than was expected a few weeks ago, and a consequent strengthening of price is anticipated.

Will Hill, who served as chairman of the association's bitterweed committee, asked for a report by Dr. Conner. Although the weed has been scarce and has done little damage thus far this season, Dr. Conner reported considerable advance in the experimental work which has been underway since last fall. A parasite which infests about 30 per cent of the seed heads has aided in the fight. Too, spraying has been found effective when calcium chloride is used. The cost of an effective spray, about $1.25 an acre, was declared prohibitive for the general range land, but was said to be quite practical for treating thickly infested areas about water holes and in low lands scattered about ranches. The spread can thus be stopped.

This year's small growth offers an excellent chance to get the weed under control, said Dr. Conner. Since tests have shown that the seed has a short germinative life, and by controlling the seed this year, there will be few which will germinate next year.

Cut worms have attacked the plant in the San Angelo area.

Livestock and wool and mohair freight rates were discussed by Mr. Kincaid and others. Plans to finance the organization's activities were also talked.

A bountiful chuck wagon dinner, prepared by Tom Bond and a corps of assistants, was served at noon. The meal consisted of fried steak, frioles, hash, dried fruit and plenty of coffee, and about a hundred people feasted.

Immediately after dinner, the program of dedication of the bitterweed laboratory was begun, with Dr. Conner presiding.

Mr. Kincaid spoke briefly, and expressed the confidence of the association in the Station. He was followed by Dr. I. B. Boughton, veterinarian who is a member of the local staff. Dr. Boughton told of the methods used in scientific investigation and assured his hearers that the men at the station were eager to co-operate with the sheep and goat men of the entire Edwards Plateau region.

Judge James Cornell, association attorney, and former Sonora man, told of the reasons for the establishment of the local station. Judge J. A. Whitten, on behalf of the Texas Sanitary Livestock Commission, praised the work of the station and stressed the need of such work.

Dr. T. O. Walton, president of A. & M. College, made an interesting talk of acceptance for the college extension service. He pointed out the great possible value that the station has in the future, and spoke highly of the type of West Texas men who have co-operated in making the work of the station a success.

Following the dedication program a brief business session of the association was again called.

35 YEARS AGO

The Devil's River News for Saturday, Sept. 11, 1897, was full of items relating to the proposed organization of a bank in Sonora, some of which were as follows:

"An informal meeting of citizens of Sonora was held at the courthouse Sept. 3rd, for the purpose of discussing the prospects of establishing a national bank in Sonora. The promoters believing it would be to the best interest of the proposed bank limited the number of shares to not more than 50 to one party and even on this basis about $25,000 was subscribed. Another meeting will be held at the courthouse on Sept. 20th to give others an opportunity to subscribe to the stock. It is the desire of the promoters to have as many resident business men and stockmen subscribe to the stock in order to make the Sonora National bank a home institution. There is considerable inquiry for stock in the new institution and there will be no trouble in placing surplus shares with non-residents."

Headed "First National Bank of Sonora," the following extract from the San Angelo Standard was reproduced:

"A message came over the telephone yesterday evening from Sonora, announcing that a meeting of merchants and stockmen was in session in Sonora and that the preliminary steps toward organizing a national bank was in progress."

"Among the principal stockholders and promoters are R.F. Halbert, O. T. Word, and Hagerlund Bros. & Co. The two former will each take stock in the institution to the amount of $15,000 cash. The bank will probably be capitalized at $50,000, with John Hagerlund as president. Viva la Sonora."

Another San Angelo item was of interest:

"Sol Mayer passed through town Sunday on his way to Sonora. He is going to start a private bank. Two banking establishments in a town Sonora's size shows that the people down there mean business and intend to catch the prosperity wave at its ebb."

Regarding the Sonora school was the following article:

"The Sonora public school has accommodation for nearly 300 pupils and the school opened Monday for the session with five teachers. The attendance is so large that it will be necessary to shut out the overs and unders in order to accommodate those legally entitled to the free school."

Stock news included the following stories:

"Geo. S. Allison bought from Monroe Risinger 600 dry ewes, at $1.50; wool off."

"W. A. Glasscock sold to Irve Ellis of Sonora the Graham stock of cattle about 150 head at $13 a head everything counted."

An addition to the town's institutional building was hailed as follows:

"By untiring and self-sacrificing efforts, the Episcopalians have finished a beautiful little church edifice, complete in all its details, and certainly a credit to the town, as well as to the members—for their membership is small. They wish to thank publicly, all who have kindly assisted toward its erection. Services will be held regularly every fourth Sunday in the month; and a Sunday school will soon be organized. Everyone is cordially invited to attend."

W. M. S. PRESENTS REMARKABLE EXHIBIT AT E. E. SAWYER HOME

Unparalleled in Sonora within recent months, for novelty and charm, was the delightful afternoon affair sponsored Thursday afternoon of last week by the Woman's Missionary Society of the Sonora Methodist Church, when it received from 3:00 to 5:00 o'clock at the home of Mrs. E. E. Sawyer, where a large number of visitors viewed a remarkable collection of beautiful old and new handwork, and enjoyed tea attractively served in the dining room.

The Sawyer home, which had been literally thrown open for the occasion, was decked both upstairs and down with articles of ingenious handwork, either quaint though modern, or fragile with age—but all exhibiting the present-day trend toward the beauties of other days.

Presiding at intervals during the afternoon at the tea table, which was lovely with its Madeira cloth over pink satin, its bowl of pastel-colored sweet peas, flanked by slender pink tapers, and dainty sandwiches made from pink and white bread served on china carrying out the same color scheme—were Mesdames J. D. Lowrey, A. J. Smith, George B. Hamilton, and W. J. Fields. Mrs. Lowrey was wearing an exquisite lace shawl 150 years old, which had belonged to Mr. Lowrey's great grandmother.

Assisting in the dining room were Mesdames J. C. Stephen, C. H. Evans, G. H. Davis, and P. J. Taylor, all attractively gowned in colonial costumes.

A charmingly appropriate program was rendered during the afternoon, with especial comment being made upon the quartet composed of Mesdames E. P. Neal, W. E. Caldwell, J. C. Stephen, and J. W. Trainer, accompanied by Mrs. M. G. Shurley—all of whom were quaintly dressed in styles which were the height of fashion many years ago. Appearing twice upon the program, the quartet rendered "When You and I Were Young," and "Silver Threads Among the Gold," as a first group; and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny," as a third number.

Mrs. George B. Hamilton, wearing a white dress and an old-fashioned shawl, and holding a picture at which she gazed in semblance of motherly affection, posed during the singing of "Little Mother of Mine," by Miss Marie Watkins, accompanied by Miss Helen Joiner.

Mrs. A. L. Smith entertained with a musical reading, "Hats," accompanied by Miss Marie Watkins. Three Boy Scouts—Wesley Sawyer, Marion Elliott, and Stanley Mayfield—posed around an improvised campfire with a lifelike glow, while the Misses Dora Petmecky and Helen Joiner sang "Tenting Tonight."

Miss Elizabeth Caldwell gave a beautiful piano number.

The largest number of entries placed by any one person was by Mrs. Alfred Schweining, who entered eight very beautiful quilt tops. Seventy quilts and tops were entered, in all.

Awarding of ribbons was done by the vote of all visitors at the exhibit, who were provided with pencil and paper and who voted by number, since no names appeared upon competing articles. Since such a large number of miscellaneous articles was included, crochetted spreads and similar articles were not voted upon, and only quilt tops and quilted quilts were considered, though much admiration was evoked by the two beautiful yo-yo quilts entered, respectively, by Mrs. Hi Eastland, whose quilt was of silk, and Mrs. Arthur Stuart, whose quilt was of cotton pieces.

According to vote of the visitors, the Lone Star quilt made by Mrs. O. L. Richardson, done in numerous shades, varying from rose to red, received the ribbon for "prettiest quilt." "Prettiest quilt top" was awarded to a top made by Miss Vivian Ball, which was a French Bouquet pattern exquisitely pieced in countless tiny hexagons in pastel shades, on a white background.

The oldest article entered was a coverlet belonging to Mrs. Rena Trainer, for which the thread was spun, dyed and woven, into the spread by her great grandmother, who made the spread when she was 14 years old, and who lived to be 106 years of age. The spread was estimated to be about 200 years old.

The oldest quilt entered was an 80-year-old one belonging to Mrs. M. E. Holland, which was made by her mother, Mrs. Asa Pullen, in the year 1852. Mrs. Pullen also corded the cotton and spun the thread for quilting the lining, and wove the lining. Mrs. Holland also had on exhibit her mother's "going-away" dress, for which Mrs. Pullen picked the cotton, corded and spun the thread, and wove the dress which she wore on July 4, 1850, when she was married.

The exhibit, which almost defied detailed description, contained, among many other interesting articles, the following:

A crocheted wool bedspread and

Adult Health Club Urges Dental Care

Group Studies Proper Feeding for Tooth Building at Meeting

Only 4 or 5 children examined in Sonora schools last year were without dental defects, and most of those few had just received the proper attention a short time previous to the examination, according to a survey made recently by the Adult Health Club.

Miss Loreen Moursund, teacher of home economics in the high school, showed, in a talk on "Vitamins," what special diseases were brought about by the lack of these important food essentials, at a meeting of the club Monday afternoon at the high school.

Miss Moursund also took up the matter of proper food for good teeth, and was followed by Mrs. Lois Landrum, who spoke on "Diseases that Bad Teeth Can Cause." Mrs. Landrum named, among other effects of unhealthy mouths, deafness, weak eyes, heart weakness, "growing pains" or rheumatism, and general sluggishness.

Plans toward establishment of a dental clinic in local schools are under way by the club.

"UNCLE" BASH MASSEY, 84, OLDEST ACTIVE COWBOY IN TEXAS, LEADS GRAND ENTRY, FT. WORTH SHOW

After travelling all night without sleep, "Uncle" Bash Massey, Floydada, 84, arrived in Ft. Worth Friday afternoon as spry as a boy, and thoroughly gratified at being chosen Texas' oldest active cowboy for appearance at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, at which he led the grand entry into the arena Friday night.

Uncle Bash's appearance at the show was the first time that he had been in Fort Worth in 15 years, and the second time he had ever attended the show—the first visit being in 1908. Sixty-eight years of active life on the range won for him the honor of being chosen the oldest cowboy.

On Wednesday Uncle Bash and his stepson, W. R. Cline, of Crosbyton, spent the morning rounding up yearlings and that afternoon they dehorned 378 animals. Uncle Bash was anxious to find his employer, Thomas Montgomery, owner of the T-M Bar Ranch in Floyd and Crosby counties, who had arrived in Fort Worth a day or two preceding the old man, so that he could report accomplishment of the task.

When a telegram arrived at the ranch late Thursday evening of last week, notifying Uncle Bash of his selection for the show, he was so delighted over the honor that he declined to lie down and get a few hours' sleep while Cline was having repairs done to the car.

They set out at midnight from the ranchhouse, 15 miles southeast of Floydada, and shortly after 3 o'clock Friday afternoon they drove into Fort Worth. Mrs. Massey, who is visiting her grandson, R. L. Cline, of Fort Worth, accompanied them.

During his stay in Fort Worth, Uncle Bash was the guest of the Fat Stock Show and was given a room at one of the larger hotels, provided with a big car to ride about in, and honored with a private box at the rodeo.

"Yes, I ride every day," said Uncle Bash. "Hurt one leg about a year ago but I'm all right when I get in the saddle."

Massey, born in St. Louis county, Missouri, remembers exciting days as a youth when his home was in the territory ravaged by the guerrillas during the Civil War while his father was fighting in the Confederate Army.

The first cowpunching experience that he had was on a ranch in Madison county, Ill. Half a century ago he came to Denton county, and vividly recalls Sam Bass, who soon afterward became one of the most noted "bad men" of the Southwest.

Several times Uncle Bash saw prairie fires sweeping toward him and on one occasion it cost him a furious three-mile ride to circle the flames.

Uncle Bash disclaims that he has had an exciting life, and says his only fight was when a fellow 25 years younger jumped on him when he was past 70. He says he won the fight.

Uncle Bash first visited Fort Worth when it was just a small town and out in West Texas "there was nothing but prairie dogs and coyotes," he said.

Once he had "a little outfit" of his own up in the Cherokee Nation, but sold it and came back to Texas, and for twenty-five years he has been in charge of Montgomery's ranch.

Floydada citizens, pleased with the old man's selection, wired: "Tell Uncle Bash to 'ride 'em, cowboy!'"

No Economy in Closing Forts

Texans at Washington Say Hurley
Admits Plan Not Economical

A strong protest was lodged with Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley and the chief of staff, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, by Senator Tom Connally and Congressman R. Ewing Thomason, El Paso, the latter member of the Military Affairs Committee of the House, against the abandonment of four border army posts in Texas because of President Hoover's economy program.

Senator Connally, after being closeted with Hurley and MacArthur for more than an hour, said the secretary was obliged to admit that the abandonment of these protective border posts would not effect any appreciable economy since additional quarters would be required elsewhere for the troops now stationed at them.

Senator Connally and Congressman Thomason were told by Secretary Hurley that the War Department had given up its plan to include Fort Clark, at Brackettville, in the group to be abandoned. Fort Brown will be kept for the present, as will Fort McIntosh at Laredo, the Texans were also informed. The question of Fort D. A. Russell at Marfa, which only a few years ago was made a "permanent" army post, caused a heated discussion, after which Hurley would not agree that the post be kept.

Every effort is being made by Congressman Thomason to block a bill introduced by the chairman of the Military Affairs Committee of the House authorizing the Secretary of War to sell the property occupied by the Texas posts in question.

Plans underway for completion of Highways 79 and 120 to Throckmorton county line and contracts for hard-surfacing expected to be let at early date.—Graham Leader.

You Control Your Electric Rate

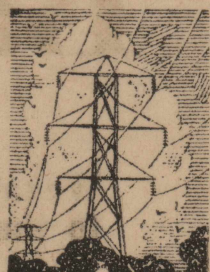

YOUR average cost per unit of electric service (a kilowatt-hour) is determined by yourself! It actually is within your power to control the price you pay for service . . . and you can make it 10 cents or less than 4 cents per kilowatt-hour!

Your electric rate schedule is so arranged that the average cost per kilowatt-hour becomes less as your use increases. Thus, the more you take advantage of the comforts and conveniences of electric service, the cheaper your average unit becomes.

Customers reaping the benefits of complete electric service employ many time, money and labor-saving Electrical Servants at unbelievably low rates—and profit by many unusual savings and economies.

Your actions, in putting electricity to work for you, govern the cost of your service. Electricity is your cheapest servant—why not let it assume your tiresome and arduous household tasks? A trained employe will be happy to explain the many benefits of complete electric service—and show you how you can save money and control your own electric rate. Don't you think it would be wise to investigate?

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule . . . and adds only a small amount to your total bill?

pillow made by Mrs. Estelle McDonald McConnell, of 51 different shades of yarn coming from several different countries. Of 318 blocks in the bedspread, no two were identically alike. Mrs. J. E. Grimland exhibited a woolen spread very similar in appearance to Mrs. McConnell's.

A 50-year-old dress of handmade roset lace, which was worn by Mrs. S. T. Gilmore as a child, and which was exhibited in company with a picture of Mrs. Gilmore as a little girl wearing the dress.

Some beautiful pieces of roset lace made by Mrs. R. K. James.

A diminutive and much-worn two-piece red woolen dress trimmed with braid, which was worn by deputy sheriff J. L. Cook in 1872, and which "went through" the Concho flood of 1906. Also an interesting little dress worn by P. J. Taylor, at the age of three years.

Two exquisite handmade lace collars, one knitted, and 53 years old; the other tatted, and 175 years old—entered by Mrs. Ed Glasscock.

A pair of old-fashioned white embroidered shammies, and a white spread which has been in constant use for 60 years, entered by Mrs. J. W. Trainer.

A 75-year-old quilt entered by Mrs. J. W. Mayfield. The second oldest quilt in the exhibit.

An embroidered pillow sent during the war to Mrs. Fritz Morris by her son, Roy, whose landlady in Berncastle, Germany, made it for him when he was ill at her home. The pillow bears the name of the town, in embroidery.

A crocheted baby cap, with very wide blue ribbon strings a yard long, which was made 70 years ago and kept in the family of Mrs. G. H. Davis, who wore it as an infant.

Two white cotton crocheted spreads entered, respectively, by Mrs. W. L. Aldwell and Mrs. George Baker.

Several interesting hooked rugs entered by Mrs. Odom and Mrs. Jim Kiser.

A "picture" of a bowl of flowers, made of cut-out prints on a black background—entered by Mrs. George Baker.

Cut-out patterns for many of the quilts on display were sold by the members of the society in marked envelopes, at 10c per pattern, and may still be obtained, it was stated.

The committee on arrangements for the tea consisted of Mesdames E. E. Sawyer, George B. Hamilton, and J. D. Lowrey. A silver offering was added to the society's treasury through the affair, and the committee expressed great appreciation for all assistance and all entries which were contributed.

Queen of "Fish"

Let's all go to sea! That's the way we feel about it after learning that this beauty is going to reign as Freshman Queen at the "Fish" Dance to be held soon at Texas Technological College, Lubbock. She is Miss Mary McMurray of Spearman, Texas, and the poor fish who doesn't fall for her is just cuckoo!

Velvet Hammer

(By Harvey Walker)

Our knowledge of national or international affairs is about equal to our ability to understand a Chinese laundryman when he tells us that he has not done our washing, and Hoover is doing such confusing things to us of the common herd that a stampede is likely to take place at any time.

Along several months Hoover announced that we needed a Moratorium to avert poverty and to even bring prosperity, but told no one what a Moratorium was so a farmer might conclude that it was some new farming implement, a merchant, a sales plan, a rancher a new breed of goats, or the Republican party a new platform, and the worst of all is that we still do not know what it is or how to use it.

The Germans said that this Hoover Moratorium will make Uncle Sam forever safe for Democracy and the Gold Standard, will quiet Tom Heflin and insure a Republican majority in the next election so they declared a holiday and spent all their marks for pretzels and beer and then told the French, English and Belgians that they would have to use a stomach pump to get their War Indemnities.

Now, it seems that the French and English got tired waiting for Disarmament Conference along about 1914 to 1918 and bought up all the shooting irons the Venerable Uncle Sam possessed and when the time came for paying up they found that their pockets had holes in them and Hoover was forced to find some excuse so he unsacked this Moratorium and now we do not know what we have nor how to use it to satisfy the appetites of the hungry unemployed, though Hoover claimed it a panacea for empty stomachs equal to Al Smith's proposed repeal of the 18th Amendment.

Ordinarily we accept Webster's definition of words, but when he says that a Moratorium is a legal postponement of debts he undoubtedly is sitting on the wrong perch, because we have never legally postponed any of our debts, but have consistently postponed them by lying like sin, but of course, we have followed the precedent set by Congress in promising relief and the candidates for office as to reforms and lower taxes.

When we elect John Garner President next November perhaps he will see that all the Moratoriums are kept on this side of the ocean, if there is any good to be found in them, and prove to us that the Democrats are at least second cousins to the American people, instead

Texas Caverns Will Be Hunted for Bones

Smithsonian Archeologist Seeks Proof of Ice-Age Humans

Frank M. Setzler, noted archeologist of the Smithsonian Institute, has recently left Washington as a "one-man expedition" into the maze of underground caverns of Western Texas, in search of bones of ice-age humans.

Mr. Setzler will explore this subterranean region to procure evidence which will shed more light on a primitive race, contemporaneous with extinct animals, and which thrived during the closing centuries of the ice age.

Scientists have been led to believe that the race was the forerunner of the earliest basket makers, though identity of this ancient people has long been a mystery in the annals of American archeology.

Principally through the discovery last fall of signs of early basket of being such close kin to the Germans, French, English and other nations.

maker culture in the Texas cave region, the search was led there. A spear head four feet below the stratum associated with the basket maker age was also discovered, and is regarded by archeologists as conclusive proof that a race existed antedating the earliest basket makers.

Setzler's work will take him through the Southern part of the Big Bend region in Texas, near the Rio Grande, and then north to Pecos toward the Guadalupe Mountains.

The McCamey News, published by Garland Adair, is the older publication.

It's Got to BE GOOD to Be

ADVERTISED

All the king's horses . . . and all the king's men cannot make a success out of a bad product. No amount of advertising will create a market for it. The more it is advertised, the more its defects become known.

But a good product well advertised grows as swiftly and naturally as a healthy plant. People try it and like it. They tell others. They like it. Soon that product is everywhere . . . and its name, spread abroad by advertising, is on every tongue.

When you see something widely and consistently advertised, you can be pretty sure it is well worth having. If it were not . . . if it did not represent an honest and worthy value . . . the maker could not afford to advertise it.

Meet "Mr. Advertiser"

Look over the advertisements in this paper. Some of the names you know. Others perhaps are newcomers, potential friends bringing some new comfort or convenience. But all are entitled to your trust . . . all are here because they have something real to contribute to your advantage . . . your service . . . your happiness.

quate fire protection to that part of town.

The company is taking under advisement a reduction of the minimum rate for residences, or else an increase in the gallonage now allowed for that rate. It was suggested by the commission that the company seek to educate and satisfy its customers through advertising and discussing methods of saving water with them. Mayor Roy E. Aldwell suggested that each time a customer's bill was larger than usual, that the company mail a card announcing the fact, and suggesting that an inspection be made to determine the cause of the increased consumption, or loss of water.

All customers of the company are now served through a meter with the exception of 26.

Bills were approved and ordered paid. A report on the dump ground improvement made by city manager George E. Smith revealed that the work had been done at a total cost of $445, only $256 of which was cash outlay. The balance was credited to the taxes of men employed in the work.

The city passed resolutions prohibiting the placing of stop signs or other hindrances to traffic on the routes of Federal highways through Sonora.

The need of additional funds for the city's operation was stressed, and tax payers were urged to make every effort to pay city taxes promptly.

Mr. Aldwell stated definitely that he could not be a candidate for reelection as mayor.

Lions Entertain—

Smith, prospects for a winning crew are very, very bright. Mr. Smith also asked the support of the Lions Club and all Sonora people for the baseball team now being organized by high school students.

Mr. Morgan's talk was designed to show the relative wealth of all American people today in comparison with those of other nations. Mr. Morgan stated that there was no justification for a depression in America, since she enjoyed the highest price scale and the most unlimited natural resources in the world. Her scale of pay was contrasted with that of Nigeria, in central Africa and with that of Spain, where common laborers are paid 50 cents a day and skilled labor, even in the building trades, gets only one dollar.

Mr. Morgan served for 20 years as architect to the king of Spain, Alfonso, who was dethroned and exiled in an uprising last year. Mr. Morgan's greatest project was the designing and supervision in construction of the Queen Victoria Garden city.

Winners in an essay contest sponsored by the Lions Clubs of the entire nation in high schools in their communities, were announced for Sonora. R. S. Covey as chairman, W. E. Caldwell and George Baker served as Lions Club committee of judges.

Plans for entertaining the winners of the seven best essays at Monday's luncheon next week, were made. The winning essay will be read at this time. It was written by Alice Sawyer. Dee Trainer's essay was judged second; while that of Clovis Neal was third.

Miss Sawyer's essay will be sent to district governor N. H. Pierce, Menard, where it will be compared with others from the entire district, with the best one of this group going to New York to compete for the national prize, a trip to the international convention in Los Angeles next summer.

The topic of the essays was "What the Lions Club Can Do to Help Sonora." Its purpose was to suggest new ideas which could be used as projects by the local group.

Mrs. Birdie Rutledge and Miss Addah Miers drove to Eldorado Sunday afternoon.
