Bronchos in Tussle Today at Del Rio with H. S. Group

er and Martinez Report for practice with Schoolmates This Week

h a team averaging 153 as the Sonora Bronchos this noon will battle the Del Rio in Del Rio in the first game of the 1934 season.

n P. Adams, coach, and seven-club boys left here this morning for Del Rio. They traveled in private automobiles.

Ex-students of Sonora High School last Friday afternoon proved to be stiff competition for the boys who will represent the school this year. However, O. P. Adams said this week that the boys did very well considering the inexperience of several on the team. He said that all had played well in the game and that he was far from disappointed in their efforts.

The former students took the game by a 12 to 0 score. One touchdown was secured in the first quarter and the other in the third. Neither kick for goal was successful. The game was valuable for the team as well as for the coach who discovered a number of weaknesses which he has attempted to correct this week.

Ex-students who played were: Clifford Archey and L. D. Hollmig, ends; Wilburn Glasscock and Jesse Green Barton, tackles; Edgar Rees and Ed Glasscock, guards; Ernest Smith, center; Harold Friess and Herbert Fields, halfbacks; George Ory, fullback; G. W. Archer, quarterback. Pete Taylor substituted for George Ory when he was slightly hurt and had to leave the game.

More Out for Practice

Interest in football is growing and this week two new candidates were out. They were Francis Archer and Sesario Martinez. This makes twenty men who are coming out regularly. Monday they were busy developing their offensive ability as it may be helped by pushing on the "sled." Louie Smith, who has been ill of a neck injury and tonsil trouble is not yet back in school and on the field each evening.

Interest Shown in National Housing Act Opportunity

Sutton Organization Work Will Be Directed by W. C. Gilmore; Organization Planned

General chairmanship of the varied activities necessary for the successful use of the National Housing Act provisions by Sutton county people was accepted Tuesday night by W. C. Gilmore at a meeting in the First National Bank.

A general discussion preceded the selection of Mr. Gilmore in which various phases of the Act and its administration were discussed by these ten citizens who attended: W. E. Caldwell, Mrs. B. W. Hutcherson, R. S. Covey, W. C. Gilmore, George E. Smith, R. D. Trainer, L. H. McGhee, O. W. Rankhorn, W. C. Warren, J. T. McClelland.

The trend of the discussion was that for citizens to reap the most benefit from the program an educational campaign must be put into effect to tell them what can and what cannot be accomplished by taking advantage of the Act.

The First National Bank has announced that it will loan money to property owners who can qualify under the terms of the Act as they apply to owners of real property who want money for improvements or modernizing. It was stressed at the meeting Tuesday night that ability to repay the money borrowed is, after all, to be the chief requirement of borrowers.

Applications Considered Quickly Property owners who sign their "Property Owner's Credit Statement" may expect to have their application acted upon by the bank immediately—quite likely within three days. Building material firms, (Continued on page 4)

Now, these little ones receiving; Fold them in Thy gracious arm; There we know, Thy word believing Only there secure from harm.

After the singing of a hymn of which the above words were a part five Sonora babies Sunday morning received from the Rt. Rev. W. T. Capers, bishop, of San Antonio, the design of the cross upon their foreheads, the kiss of the clergyman and each had been christened by baptism with the name he, or she, will carry through life.

The combined ages of the five young citizens of this section is thirty-seven months. The service was a special early morning one at nine o'clock.

"Senior" member of the group receiving the sacrament was Anne Marie Karnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Karnes. She first saw the light of day in San Angelo Oct. 17, 1933. Her uncle, Fred Simmons, and aunts, Miss Nan Karnes and Miss Alice Karnes, were godparents.

The name Diana Jo was bestowed upon the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Wood, who is nine months and five days old. Diana Jo was born in San Angelo Dec. 16 last year. Her name was by agreement between parents—her mother wanting her named Jo and the father Diana. Godparents were R. S. Covey, Mrs. S. T. Gilmore and Mrs. Preston C. Lightfoot.

Third in succession—considering their ages—was the young man who rules the household of Mr. and Mrs. Miers Savell. Billy Bryan was born in San Angelo Jan. 15 this year. His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Theo Savell, and his uncle, Bryan Hunt, were sponsors.

John Stanley Hamby was the name selected by Mr. and Mrs. John Hamby for their child born in San Angelo March 14 this year. He is the fourth "John" in three generations of his family. His grandfather, father and mother have the same name. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Morrow, his uncle and aunt, and Raymond Barker, his father's business partner, were godparents.

Most recent arrival of the five babies is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Morrow. James Carl's birthday is the 4th of each month. He is the only one of the five truly a native of Sutton county, he having been born in Sonora in June. Next month he will be four months old. His uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Hamby, and Bryan Hunt were sponsoring godparents.

John Hamby, one of the fathers, and Raymond Barker, a godparent, were christened by baptism, during the same service.

As soon as he arrived at the institution he began associating with the other boys who were roller skating and playing on the swings and other playground apparatus. School began Tuesday.

Wesley Sawyer read a statement regarding the constitution of the United States, written 147 years ago this week. Throughout the nation this week is being observed as "Constitutional Week." A greater understanding of the document and its full purport was stressed as being essential to the maintenance of it and a realization of its importance.

Explanation of various phases of the National Housing Act by which home owners, properly qualified, may borrow money at an attractive rate of interest, were discussed by W. C. Warren and Jack Neill. Both attended a recent San Angelo meeting when the plan was discussed in detail.

Preston C. Lightfoot, principal of the Mexican school, was a guest of the club. N. S. Patterson, elementary school principal, and Dr. J. F. Howell were announced as new members. W. C. Gilmore spoke briefly of the recent meeting of Lions in San Antonio and stated that he had taken notes from which he would speak more in detail at another meeting.

ARIZONA MAN RECALLS WORK HERE 20 YEARS AGO

Twenty years is a long time in anyone's life but the pleasant memories of an association last far longer than that.

This was demonstrated last week when the Rev. Hugh D. Smith, Presbyterian minister living in Flagstaff, Ariz., stopped in Sonora for a few minutes on his way to San Antonio. When he was a young man, about twenty years old, he preached on alternate Sundays in Sonora. When he came to town he stayed at Hotel McDonald and while renewing his acquaintance with Mrs. Josie McDonald, owner of the hotel, last week he wrote in the register this testimonial of his recollection of Sutton county people:

"Glad to be back after 20 years. Best people on earth here."

Mrs. Stuart Here for Few Days

Mrs. Louie Stuart who has been visiting her mother in Jewett for several months has returned with her son. She will return next week to be with her mother who has been ill. Recently Mrs. Stuart visited relatives in Memphis, Tenn., and made a trip to Muscle Shoals, Shiloh Park and other places of interest in that section. Mr. Stuart is sorter in the government's sheep program in Sutton county.

Sheep Being Bought from Ranchmen in Eastern Section

Sutton County "Live" Quota Set at 4000 Each Week; Pelts Go to R. E. Taylor

Figures in the county drouth program office indicate that Sutton producers want to sell a total of approximately 114,000 sheep and goats. These are divided in the following manner—with number of producers offering in parenthesis:

Ewes owned 289,793
Ewes to be sold (148) 92,205

Nannies owned 47,290
Nannies to be sold (94) 21,699

With an increase in weekly shipment quota from 3000 to 4000 Sutton county machinery in the sheep purchasing program swung into action Monday in the eastern part of the county. About forty-five ranchmen are being served this week.

Fred Simmons, office manager for W. R. Nisbet, county director, said Thursday morning that probably 12,000 sheep would be "handled" or "disposed of" this week. This includes both the 4000 which may be bought for shipment and those condemned and skinned on the ranch. Three skinning crews with about fifteen or twenty men in each were at work and it was expected that additional ones would be at work in the next few days.

Louis L. Stuart and Tom Bond are sorters in this county. Dr. John M. Fitte, formerly of Carrizo Springs, joined the staff of the local office Monday morning. He is a veterinarian assigned to the cattle purchasing program. He was formerly located in Hereford, Texas. Cattle buying by the government has been halted and no date has been given for its resumption.

Pelts Received by R. E. Taylor Green pelts of condemned sheep are received by Mr. Taylor, county relief administrator, at the Taylor place, occupied by the John Jackson family. The ranchman is responsible for delivery to this point. Work there is in charge of Pete Taylor who has three relief workers. (Continued on page 4)

"OLD FAITHFUL" IS GIVEN BACK SEAT

'Beehive' Steals the Spotlight From Famous Geyser.

Yellowstone Park, Wyo.—For the first time in history, Old Faithful geyser was literally robbed of the spotlight recently when the Beehive geyser went into eruption just as the light beacon was to be played on the ten o'clock eruption of Old Faithful.

Carle Towle, bellhop at Old Faithful inn, was at his post beside the spotlight on the roof of the inn, focusing on the old reliable geyser, when he learned that the Beehive was in eruption. For a second he was in a quandary. Hundreds of persons all over the formation had their eyes glued on Old Faithful to see the first spurts of eruption. Would they understand if he suddenly pulled the beacon away?

Then he recalled that the Beehive had not played during the past four summers, and only a few persons had witnessed recent winter eruptions. He knew that the Beehive, with its 200-foot ribbon of steam and water shooting straight up in a narrow column, would provide a more spectacular show than Old Faithful. With his decision made, he swung the huge beacon around and across the Firehole river to the peculiarly shaped cone of the Beehive. All eyes followed the triangle of light, and although few knew which geyser they were watching, they stood in amazement at the remarkable display.

The spotlight then flashed between the Beehive and Old Faithful, which was now in full eruption. The contrasts between the two shafts of steam and boiling water was striking. Old Faithful, with its plumed fan, shoots skyward 150 feet. The Beehive, with a cone that readily explains its name, sky-rockets like an arrow straight into the sky with a ball of steam flaring out like a sunburst at the very top.

Royal Mounted Police to Study Wild Birds

Quebec, Que.—Fabled in fiction and fact as friends of the Indian, protectors of frontiersmen and relentless foe of the criminal, Canada's Royal Mounted police again are laying saddle and bridle aside to serve their government as naturalists and scientific explorers.

A detail of the famous scarlet-coated troopers have left Quebec city aboard a steamer carrying officers of the department of the interior on an ocean tour of several months which has for its objective an intensive study of the rare wild bird life on the north shore of the St. Lawrence river and gulf as far as Blanc Sablon, where Labrador adjoins eastern Quebec at the west end of the Strait of Belle Isle.

Frequent stops are to be made for inland journeys to the haunts of the feathered inhabitants of Quebec's rugged and picturesque coastal areas.

Year-round patrols of the "Mounties" have been established for some time in the provinces of Quebec to guard Quebec's many hunting preserves. It is the duty of these patrols to prevent the slaughter of Quebec's bird life, which is now achieving international fame, especially in the Gaspé peninsula, where at Perce Rock and Bonaventure island more than 200,000 rare wild birds, including gannets, murrens—relatives of the now extinct flightless great auks—and many others form what is said to be the most densely inhabited bird sanctuary in the world.

Boston Tea Party Pitcher Is a Family Souvenir

Parsons, Kan.—A small glazed pitcher, taken during the Boston tea party as a souvenir, is owned by George Weightman. Weightman's mother's aunt received it from her sweetheart, who participated in the raid. It has been handed down from generation to generation to the female member of the family named "Anna," the original owner's name.

Find Chinese Carvings in Fiji Island Cavern

Suva, Fiji Islands.—A startling discovery of incalculable historical and archeological value was made known here by Arthur Vogan, famed archeologist, who revealed that he has located an immense cathedral-like cavern on the Fiji islands of Yasawas, on the walls of which are carved Chinese inscriptions of 2000 B. C.

Underground River Abounds With Fish

Harmony, Minn.—Fish which may never have seen the light of day are thriving in turbulent underground channel waters of the recently discovered scenic wonders cave near here.

The source of the underground river remains undiscovered. The stream rushes through a 300-foot rock-lined chamber and, piercing a stone abutment, crashes 60 feet down to lower cave regions not yet explored.

The fish species, though unverified, are held to be common varieties.

English Black Shirts Protect a Farmer

Trenches were dug, barricades erected and a contingent of Black Shirts was on duty to prevent any sudden raid on the farm of R. H. Rash, at Wortham, Suffolk, England, which had been impounded for tithes. The photograph shows Black Shirts guarding the entrance to the farm while farm implements block the way to the piggeries. The Black Shirts are followers of Sir Oswald Mosely.

VACUUM CLEANER SERVES AS HORNET EXTERMINATOR

Charles S. Phinney of Brockton, Mass., has a new idea for getting rid of hornets, and it might interest others so afflicted as well as salesmen for vacuum cleaners.

The hornets, hundreds of them, planted their nest in the masonry of his home near the rear porch, and all kinds of tricks, even to the use of a garden hose, failed to lodge them.

Finally, almost in despair, Mr. Phinney attached the long nozzle connection used for draperies, to his vacuum cleaner, cautiously pushed the nozzle up to the nest and in a few seconds the whole flock was inside the cleaner.

Whether it was curiosity or anger that brought about their doom Mr. Phinney does not know, nor does he care, for he bagged them all.—The Boston Globe.

First September Aid Nearly Two Million

Relief Cases in First Two Weeks of Month 265,000

Austin, Sept. 20.—Relief checks, representing allotments to Texas counties for the first half of September, were being mailed a few days ago.

Total money sent the counties in this allotment will be a little less than $200,000, an allocation for the care of 265,000. This number represents an increase of more than 10 per cent over the August load.

State Director Adam R. Johnson had written a letter to accompany the checks in which he told county administrators that "this exhausts all available relief funds until additional state funds are obtained through action of the legislature or until the federal government comes to the rescue.

"You are therefore very definitely instructed to conserve these funds, but at the same time people should not be allowed to suffer. Every effort should be made by your clients to obtain seasonal employment so as to relieve our loads to that extent.

These funds cover all your costs, work relief, direct relief, administrative costs and all special projects with the exception of rural rehabilitation. Please be governed accordingly in the administration of relief funds in your county."

Rural rehabilitation funds are contributed by the federal government entirely and are mailed to county administrators separately from the checks for other types of relief.

Maltese Dog May Be Most Ancient of Toy Variety

Efforts have been made to acclimatize the Maltese dog in the United States, but the American climate seems unsuited to long-haired dogs, whose coats and general beauty deteriorate, according to an authority in the Los Angeles Times.

Pampering and cooing for centuries caused him to be considered merely an ornament, a "meet play-fellow for mincing ladies" . . . the favorite of great ladies of imperial Rome. Aristotle alluded to him, three hundred years before Christ, establishing him as the most ancient of all toy breeds. He is shown, always with ladies, but not always complimentarily, in the work of many Venetian painters. Veronese portrayed him in two of his most famous paintings. "The Presentation of His Own Family to the Madonna" at (Dresden) and "The Queen of Sheba Before Solomon" (at Turin). Of three islands bearing the ancient name Melita, now called Malta, it is generally believed he came from the Adriatic, rather than the Mediterranean or the island off the coast of Sicily. There is no doubt that he is of European origin.

Born smooth-coated, he does not show signs until four months of the profuse coat, that at maturity completely covers his short cobby body of less than ten pounds. The texture is silky and preferably straight, often likened to the consistency of spun glass. He is not to be confused with the Toy French Poodle of like proportions, that has a shorter kinky coat.

Dragon Was Busy Animal in Yellow Man's Belief

The dragon is the most important creature of Chinese mythology. A fearsome creature, indeed, for ancient writers tell that it was a mixture of camel, stag, demon, cow, snake, clam, carp, eagle and tiger! Yet the dragon did not spend his time in wrongdoing, but had a very busy life. To begin with, it was the "rain lord," and so controlled the weather.

Five dragon gods had charge of the seasons and the divisions of the world. A green or blue dragon presided over the east and spring, a black dragon over the north and winter, a white dragon over the west and autumn, while two dragons, red and yellow, had charge of the south and summer. The red dragon presided over most of the season, but the yellow one took charge for the last month.

The dragons regulated light and darkness, and were life-givers in two ways. They saw that there was a sufficient food supply, and also provided herbs as cures for different diseases.

Highboy's Origin

The highboy, a chest of drawers on legs, is a contribution of the William and Mary period, but its name is French from the words haut (high) and bois (wood). These interesting items of furniture design usually had four legs in front and two in the back, all connected by a run-around, flat, curved stretcher. They were straight, and often an inverted cup of the solid wood was part of their structure. The inverted cup leg is a sure indication of the William and Mary period of furniture history. So, also, is the double hood, or double curve which graced the lower fronts of highboys, tall grandfather clocks, mirrors, etc. Slant top desks and chests rested on heavy, round, almost globe-shaped feet, and often the drawer fronts displayed outlines made by moldings, a different design for each pair of drawers. The latter was typically Flemish. The characteristic drawer pulls were the pear drop handles.

It Changes Color

The ermine, whose fur is so highly prized and priced, is only white in the winter; in the summer it is reddish brown above and white beneath—and we know it as the stoat. This prized little animal changes the color of its coat for the cold weather, presumably so that it shall be less easily seen against a snowy background, and the further north it lives, the whiter its fur becomes. It is found in the Arctic and temperate regions of both Europe and North America; but the eagerly sought purest white pelts are only obtained in the extreme North.—Answers Magazine.

Hard on Teeth

The Eskimo woman's teeth are conspicuous by their absence. They are practically worn down to the gums because she chews the skins before sewing in order to soften them and to have waterproof seams. The tough hide files the teeth down slowly but surely. An ivory splinter, whittled down to a fine point, is used as a needle. Filed teeth are not considered a drawback in Alaska, since it is a foregone conclusion that a woman without teeth is never a lazy woman.

Talked with a young man whose profession is denoted by a green carnation. He's a gigolo. Makes his living by dancing.

Gigolos are investigated carefully before they are employed. Their records have to be clean.

It doesn't do anyone any good to ask a gigolo his name. He will give one. But it is merely one he has adopted.

Getting back to tips. They run from a half dollar up. The biggest tip my informant ever got was $10.

Leaving gigolos and taking up newspaper men. The wife of an assistant city editor continually impressed on her two daughters that they were never to marry newspaper men.

Interest Shown

contractors and others can tell the interested property owner quickly whether or not he is qualified reasonably to expect granting of a loan for which he may apply.

As provided in the regulations, the maximum amount of charges that a financial institution is permitted to make for an insured modernization loan is based on $5 discount for each $100, on a one year note to be paid in equal monthly installments.

Canvass of Town Planned

Information secured by these inquiries is to be available to all. Owners who want loans will be considered, it was tentatively decided, by a committee who will advise with them and state whether a loan would likely be approved if application were made.

The program is in line with the objectives of Title 1 of the National Housing Act, passed by the 73rd Congress as one of the most important pieces of recovery legislation since the National Recovery Act.

Under the terms of the Act, private financial institutions are enabled to make investments having the same degree of security and liquidity as is possessed by their best collateral loans.

A National Need

Private industry and public officials alike agree that property modernization in the United States constitutes a national need.

The federal government, through the Housing Administration, will insure lending agencies against 100 per cent of all losses, provided the total of such losses does not exceed 20 per cent of the aggregate amount of funds advanced for property improvements.

If it's printing, see the NEWS.

Here's the Answer to "What's This Housing Act All About Anyway and Can I Use It?"

Here, in a nutshell, is the plan for borrowing modernization funds under the Federal Housing program.

A modernization loan is solely for the purpose of repairing, altering or improving your home, shop, farmhouse, store or other building.

It cannot be for less than $100 or more than $5,000. The borrower must have a bona fide source of income equal to at least five times the annual payments.

3. It can be made for terms up to three years, but may be paid in full earlier than the maturity date if the borrower desires.

4. Maximum charges, including interest and fees, cannot exceed an amount equivalent to $5 discount per year per $100 original face amount of the note.

5. To get a modernization loan,

Insurance Signs at Banking Institution

First National Displays Official Notice of Protection

The First National Bank recently received from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation at Washington official signs which have been hung at all receiving windows as visible evidence that the depositors of this institution are insured.

The bank, according to Jack Neill, cashier, is one of more than 14,000 licensed banks in the country which are receiving these signs.

A statement by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation follows:

"The purpose of the signs is to let depositors know which banks are insured. Heretofore, although 90 per cent of the licensed banks are insured, depositors have had no easy means of identifying them.

"If, by any unforeseen circumstance, an insured bank should suspend, the Insurance Corporation would begin paying off the depositors just as soon as a receiver was appointed for the closed institution. The depositors would receive their money in a few days instead of waiting months or years as was the case in the former method of liquidation. This is not only a benefit to the depositors, but it saves the community from a terrific economic and social blow. When the depositors receive their insured accounts they assign their claims to the insurance corporation. Thereafter liquidation proceeds on a business-like basis with the maximum chance of the corporation and other creditors being paid in full."

WORD ORIGINS

Originally the Word CANDIDATE

Meant One Clothed in White! In Latin, candidus means "glittering," "white." Among the ancient Romans, a man campaigning for office wore a white toga and was called candidatus, "one clothed in white." Directly from this origin comes our word candidate. It is interesting to note that from the same source comes our adjective candid, meaning, literally, "white," and applied figuratively to a mental quality unclouded by dissimulation or bias.

Tells of Hat Tilts

Berets of Any Type Captivate As Do Novelty Trimmings

Denton, Sept. 20.—Did you ever watch an artist chipping away at a cake of soap? Smoothing off the rough edges, chopping away here, rounding out there, and all of a sudden an exquisite little statue shows up. Well, that's exactly what happens when you go to select your hats!

A tilt over the right eye lends a certain note of sophistication to your entire being while one of those little "off the face" hats that proved so popular this summer seem to accentuate the girlishness and bursting enthusiasm of your individual personality. Variety is the spice of personalities and every hat you try on expresses a different one.

Students at Texas State College for Women believe that the "truly smart" always start off with a new hat that reflects the fashion mode. It doesn't seem to matter if one has to build her wardrobe from last season's clothes, because the hat must be new and up to date. And although advance news on fashions, as on anything else is apt to be upset any minute, there are certain hat trends for which to watch.

Crowns of street and sport felts deeper in the back, but still shallow at the front seem to vie for first place with the wider brimmed hats turned up at the back and worn slanted over one eye. The classic small felt with a pointed or boxy crown is an addition to the fall mode. Then the berets! Whether stiff, formal or crushed like a pancake on the side of the head, these "little reflectors of personality," will captivate you as will the new clips, feathers, bands and bows used so discreetly as trimming.

Society Editor on the Job When Fire Story Breaks

Leap from Ship Brings to End Vacation Trip to Havana

IN SEA SIX HOURS

Miss Agnes Prince and Sister Separated for Time

(Special to Editor & Publisher)

Pottstown, Pa., Sept. 19.—Agnes M. Prince, society editor of the Pottstown Mercury, who was the only newspaper writer aboard the ill-fated Morro Castle, survived the disaster by leaping overboard and swimming six hours until picked up, and then wrote the story of her lifetime, packed with harrowing details of her experience.

Paul L. Diefenderfer, editor of the Mercury, issued an extra at 1:15 p. m. Saturday, after he ascertained that his society editor, her young sister, Ruth, and another companion on a vacation tour to Havana, Evelyn Hendricks, were safe.

Miss Prince wrote her "biggest story" for the Mercury on the way home Sunday with her brother and sister. She made the trip also in a pair of shoes three sizes too large, an oversized coat and a dress loaned by friends. She was near exhaustion when picked up at sea Saturday, but overnight regained her strength and composure.

Her signed story was prominently displayed.

Story of a Lifetime

Miss Prince agreed today in relating her experience to Editor & Publisher's correspondent that "it was some story."

"No movie, no story I have ever read or heard, has quite caught the actual feeling, the real dread of such an event," said Miss Prince. "It was a harrowing experience, the horrors and thrills of which will remain forever. I wanted to scream out to Sunday's sightseers that my sister and I are survivors. It was a marvelous feeling."

Miss Prince and her sister were just falling asleep about 3 a. m. Saturday when they smelled smoke. They called the ship's operator on the phone and learned there was a fire aboard, but he didn't know how serious it was.

Donning life preservers, the Prince sisters "wanted to play safe" and tried to go to the fore part of the ship to reach a lifeboat, but smoke and flames stopped them. They ran back through hallways filled with fear-crazed men and women passengers, hoping to reach a lifeboat aft, but in the confusion were unable to reach one.

Scene a Tragic One

"Men, women and children were on their knees, praying for God to save them," Miss Prince wrote in her vivid account of the tragedy. "Many were kissing rosaries. Mothers who had left little ones at home were hysterical with the thought of leaving them forever. We heard people screaming: 'Oh, God, save our lives.'"

"Some few were calm and were telling others not to worry, that everything would turn out all right, that the boat was heading for shore, and 'for God's sake, don't anybody jump.'"

But Miss Prince and her sister did jump. Shifting winds carried the flames nearer and there was no other alternative.

"Throughout the ordeal," she related, "I kept thinking what a story it would make, so I wanted a last birds-eye view of the whole thing. A huge flame came close, striking the rail on which I stood. I knew I'd better jump right away. With a prayer on my lips and my eyes closed, I jumped off backwards.

"Oh, that feeling of going down, down, down. The dread of wondering—what in the world was going to happen. Finally, I hit the cold water and felt myself going under. After what seemed years I came up again and was amazed at the buoyancy afforded by the life belt. Gee, what a thrill to feel my head above water!"

Sisters Call for Each Other

"I was too dazed by the horror of it all to call for Ruthie at first, nor did I hear her call me. I seemed to be racing away from everybody at a dizzy, breath-taking speed. The waves were mountainous and a stiff wind and heavy, stinging rain made it necessary to forget everything but just trying to keep my head. Flames were leaping 50 feet into the air from the ship and I could see people going over, some alone, some holding dear ones. I could hear screams as they jumped. It was horrible.

"I called my sister, but heard no answer. I called again. Still no answer. All the time I was trying to get away from the boat. Suddenly I heard my name above the sound of the waves. It was Ruthie. I thanked God and answered. I couldn't see her because it was pitch-black and waves separated us.

"Almost until dawn we swam this way, calling back and forth, but we were unable to reach one another because of the rough sea. Once in the distance we saw the light of what seemed to be a ship. We could see the lights of Asbury Park plainly, though we didn't know what shore it was.

"Dawn began to break and we could distinguish dead bodies floating with us on the waves. They were face downward and they seemed mostly to be women. We tried to swim away, but the bodies followed us wherever we swam. It was gruesome.

"As we swam, others began joining us, and soon we could see a ship in the distance, surrounded by three or four other large boats. We hoped and prayed they'd send out lifeboats to us. But none came. We frantically asked one another why they didn't come.

Seaplane Buys Spirits

"When some of us became too worried or too seasick, others of us helped to keep up the morale. We kept telling one another to 'keep your chin up.' We sang once or twice. Ruthie talked Dutch. We told ourselves they'd see us sooner or later. But still no one came. And the sight of those dead bodies was sickening.

"A ray of hope came when we saw a seaplane coming over the water. But it, too, seemed not to see us. But then it flew overhead and we were so happy we started screaming for help and waving our arms. What a thrill when we saw them wave back. But the plane roared back to shore and still no one came.

"We tried to swim to shore when it seemed no one would get us. But we couldn't make any progress in the heavy seas. We were too weak.

"Suddenly, out of the rain, we saw a small fisherman's schooner near us, picking up survivors. We called frantically and tried to swim in its direction. We waved and they waved back! We fervently thanked God again. Soon they were heading for us. They threw ropes and a life preserver. The tired rescuers, who had already picked up 50 or 60 passengers, dragged us aboard one by one. Most of us were too exhausted to move when we finally got on to the boat."

While at Spring Lake the Prince sisters were befriended by a newspaper woman, Mrs. Edna Helm, of Belmar, N. J., who also is a Red Cross Worker.

Miss Prince, who is 29, has been society editor of the Pottstown Mercury since 1931. Before that she was employed in a Pottstown shop.

CRIMEAN COAST IS SOVIET PLAYGROUND

Former Watering Place of Imperial Russia.

Washington.—The Crimean coast, playground of royalty, has become the most popular vacation land in Soviet Russia. It is the Soviet Riviera. Along the southeast coast high mountains slope steeply to the shores of the Black sea. Rough peaks of the Yailadagh protect these shores from northern winds that sweep over the inland steppes. Sea breezes are warm and gentle, spring follows autumn, and flowers bloom perpetually.

"Many of the Crimean palaces of princes and grand dukes have been turned into sanatoriums and rest houses for Soviet workers," says the National Geographic society. "They are supported by social insurance and public health funds, and are administered by the government.

"Livadia, favorite estate of Tsar Alexander III, has become a vast convalescent home. The magnificent white palace and its adjacent buildings accommodate 1,500 patients at a time. Workers from every part of the Union are sent for rest cures and special care. The shaded park, gardens, and terraces of the estate are on a hillside above Yalta, best known of Crimean resorts.

Hothouse of Moscow.

"Yalta with its broad promenade, wide bathing beach, and gay cafes was the most fashionable watering place of Imperial Russia. The sea baths, sun baths, and mud baths that attracted Petrograd nobility now are in even greater demand through the energetic Soviet campaign for public health. High mountains surround the resort on three sides, making it a favorite center for climbing—a Cannes and Chamonix combined.

"Leaving the cypress, magnolia, and mimosa of the coast, one climbs through luxuriant acres of fruit trees and vineyards. For centuries the Crimea has served Moscow as hothouse and wine cellar. Figs, olives, pomegranates, cherries, apples and pears are shipped to northern markets. Crimean wine is unexcelled. Two of the largest wine cellars are at Massandra, a few miles from Yalta; one stores 375,000 gallons and the other 2,000,000 bottles.

"The higher mountain slopes are forested with pine and birch and fir. Here, 1,800 feet above Yalta, is Dolossy—Soviet tuberculosis sanatorium. Between 300 and 500 patients are in residence summer and winter. "An excellent motor road connects Yalta with neighboring resorts along the coast. To the east are Artek, where there is a large camp for Young Pioneers (the Boy Scouts of Russia), and Sudak, famous Genoese citadel of the Thirteenth century.

Endless Warfare

"Still farther east are the ancient cities of Kerch and Theodosia, stern fortresses of Greece and Rome. Since the dawn of history a succession of conquering peoples have occupied the little peninsula, no larger than Vermont. Wealth of natural resources, safe harbors, and a strategic position on the great trade route between Europe and the Orient have doomed Crimea to endless warfare.

"Scythian hordes conquered the ancient Cimmerians. Greek colonists dotted the shores with their cities, and Mithridates made Kerch the capital of his Bosporan kingdom until Julius Caesar declared it a Roman province. Following destructive raids by Huns and Goths, Venice and Genoa fought for possession of the important harbor cities, and finally came the Tatars to stay. "Seventy-five years after Russia won the Crimea from Turkey she was forced to defend it against the allied forces of England, France, and Turkey in one of the most futile wars in history—the Crimean war (1853 to 1856). Sevastopol remembers other bloody battles of more recent years. In the revolution of 1905 Sevastopol harbor was the scene of the mutiny of the Black sea fleet, and in the revolution of 1917 it witnessed bitter struggles between the reds and the whites."

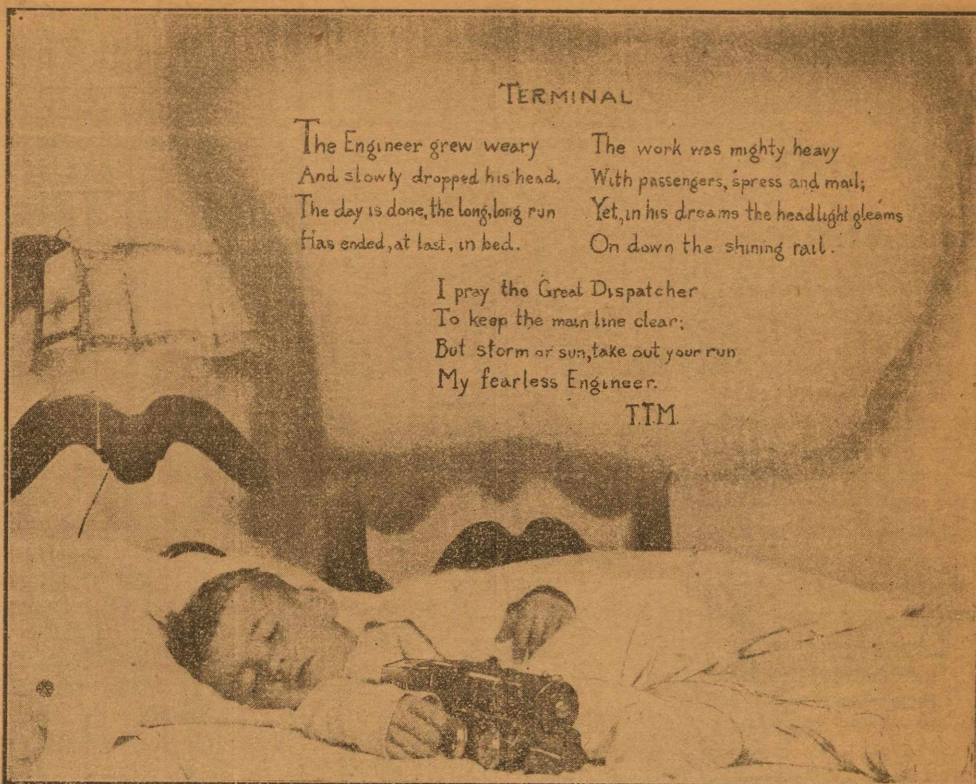

Woman Angler Has Novel Alibi for Lack of Luck

Yellowstone Park, Wyo.—Here's a novel alibi for fisherman's lack of luck. A woman angler, returning from an afternoon on Yellowstone lake, complained about her luck to Jack Cronie, superintendent at the boat dock. "What was the matter, didn't they bite?" inquired Cronie. "Oh, yes, they bit all right, but I had to throw them back." "Were they too small?" "No, but they were alive," answered the luckless feminine angler. The veteran guide explained that of course they'd be alive. "But I didn't have any place to keep live fish, so I had to throw them back," was the final plaint.

Warning Issued by Director of Relief

Spurious' CWA Checks "Afloat" But Last Payments in April

Austin, Sept. 20.—State Relief Director Adam R. Johnson today moved to protect the public against spurious CWA checks, which, he said he had been informed by government operatives, had been stolen from some of the county relief offices in Texas.

Johnson instructed county administrators to destroy all remaining blank CWA checks in the presence of witnesses after making a complete record of the serial numbers of these checks, which he said will be forwarded to him at once.

Civil Works administration projects were halted March 29 and final checks to clients were made out April 1. Scattered claims for material and equipment have been made since that time, but these all have been paid from Washington.

"Merchants and the public generally should not cash checks represented as having been received in payment for work done on CWA projects," Johnson said.

MOTOR COMPANY'S AUGUST LARGEST IN FIVE YEARS

Detroit, Sept. 20.—The largest August production for five years, totaling 74,437 units for all plants, is reported by the Chevrolet Motor Company. This total includes domestic, export and Canadian production.

For the first eight months of 1934 production totaled 692,477, and exceeded by 66,200 the 1933 twelve months' total, which was passed early last month.

Retail sales reported by dealers took a decided upward turn in the last ten days of August. The reported deliveries in the United States exceeded the domestic production.

RELIEF GROUP GRAZING MORE THAN 10,000 CATTLE

Austin, Sept. 20.—Nearly 100,000 acres of grazing land for drought stricken cattle have been leased by R. L. Montgomery, Texas Relief commission representative of the Federal Surplus Relief corporation, he announced today.

The land will graze 10,600 head of cattle and was leased at the rate of 50 cents per head, Montgomery said. Government leases are now in effect in Brazoria, Matagorda, Bexar, Jackson, Calhoun and Hidalgo counties and cattle from nearby counties will be moved to these ranges to remain there for approximately eight months.

A federal grant of $50,000 for land leasing was made to Texas.

Texas Longhorns
Start "New Deal"
Fight This Week

Jack Chevigny Out to Instill New Style of Play in Orange and White Eleven

Austin, Sept. 20.—First advance into the enemy's territory will be made Saturday by the forces of what the University of Texas authorities term "the New Deal in U. T. Football." The Longhorns play the Texas Technological college eleven at Lubbock in a non-conference tussle.

Chief of the New Deal is Jack Chevigny, affable head of the football "brain trust" which intends to do big things for Texas. Dynamic personality and great qualities of leadership in Chevigny are pointed to as sterling qualities which will stand him in good stead in his work. These qualities were shown in spring training activities when students, alumni, enthusiasts and Athletic Council found that they had a real New Dealer at the helm of their machine.

Notre Dame Play to Be Used Chevigny is to introduce Notre Dame football play to University of Texas eleven. The University of Texas teams, it is said, will be showy and flashy with deception, speed and fight as outstanding qualities.

Re-birth of alumni interest in Longhorn athletics is a goal of Chevigny. Youth, with its enthusiasm, vigor and energy, tempered with experience and knowledge of football fundamentals will always be on top. The 1934 Texas players—win, lose or draw—will be an aggregation of fighting men from gun to gun.

Before the Notre Dame game at South Bend Oct. 6 the regulars will clash with Bill James' freshman squad. A week from this Saturday will be this warm-up contest between the varsity and frosh.

Twenty Lettermen Return

Stellar performers come and go every year—as they did last year. But twenty men who made their "T" last year are back in school. Charlie Coates, co-captain and All-Southwestern tackle last year, will be Chevigny's mainstay. He was described recently as "one of the scrappiest and brainiest pivot men ever to don the Orange and Gold." Bill Hughes of Van Alstyne will be his mate. Guard positions will be hard fought for by these lettermen and a number of "B" squad and freshman aspirants: Harry Mayne and Joe Smart, Austin; Marshall Pennington and Woodie Weir, Georgetown; Res Phillips, Amarillo. Clayton Wyman of Dallas completes the half dozen out for guard positions.

All are small but the Notre Dame system requires small, fast men.

Other candidates from whom great things are expected are: tackles, Fred Beasley and Frank Hubbell, Junction; James Tolbert, a Farmersville husky; Glen Mellenbauch, San Juan; Clint Small, Amarillo; Louis Oliver, Port Arthur; Ends: Jack Gray, Wills Point; H. Van Zandt, Fort Worth; Johnnie Maxson, Dallas; Phil Sanger, Waco; Jack Collins, six-foot, four-inch giant from Denton who is a punter of real promise.

Quarterback Position Troubles

Buster Baebel of Sealy is the only letterman back for signalling work. Ney (Red) Sheridan, former Sweetwater star, and Jack Huddleston, of Gladdwater must be reckoned with, however.

Bohn Hilliard, co-captain whose home is in Orange, will bear the brunt of the left halfback position. Others out for halfback are: Buster Jurecka, Robstown; Vin Glibreath, Wellington; Bill Pitzger, Breckenridge; Ed Tigner, Houston. Two 190-pound line plungers of experience, Ray Laurence of Thornton, and M. Preibisch of Sealy turned in good performances last year and will be after the post this year. Hugh Wolfe, 190-pound sophomore from Stephenville, will be a rival for the job.

The Texas schedule this year is as follows:

- Sept. 22: Texas Tech at Lubbock.
- Sept. 29: Texas Freshmen at Austin.
- Oct. 6: Notre Dame at South Bend.
- Oct. 13: Oklahoma at Dallas.
- Oct. 20: Centenary at Austin.
- Oct. 27: Rice at Houston.
- Nov. 3: S. M. U. at Austin.
- Nov. 10: Baylor at Austin.
- Nov. 17: T. C. U. at Fort Worth.
- Nov. 23: Arkansas at Fayetteville.
- Nov. 29: Texas A&M at Austin.
