SOME POTATO

You have heard the old saying "old and wrinkled and as hard as a rock"—well, this Irish potato is just that. Twenty-five years ago it changed hands. Joe North sold it to R. E. Taylor. It was just one potato among a sackful, yet it wasn't a potato in the sense of being a food, although at one time you could have eaten it.

The incident happened when Vernon Hamilton's father, George B. Hamilton, and Joe North were in the grocery business in Sonora. R. E. Taylor purchased a dime's worth of Irish potatoes from Mr. North; took them home for dinner. When the sack was emptied into a dishpan, Mr. Taylor noticed that when this particular potato hit the tin it gave out a sound like throwing rocks through an iron boiler.

He picked it up and examined it—and sure enough it was a rock—petrified beyond "cookability." When he "kidded" Mr. North about putting rocks in his groceries to make them weigh more, Mr. North couldn't believe such a thing possible and when Mr. Taylor showed him the rock potato, he immediately offered him three times the weight of the phony in good ones. Naturally, that would have been some spuds.

For twenty-five years the freak potato has served Mr. Taylor as a paper weight. No doubt he has realized its value by this time, but not as a food.

Speaking of potatoes reminds us of whiskers. For several weeks a former Broncho football star has been displaying a lovely set of whiskers of the goatie variety. Yesterday we saw him and the "chin lollies" were missing. He hadn't lost them on a bet he said, "just wanted to see how long a beard I could grow." He said he thought they had reached the limit because the ends had begun to curl.

And that brings on another story.

Dropped in at the Friendly Store to chat with Mr. Trainer and asked him about his trip to Mexico. Mr. Trainer said he had a fine time there, but on one occasion was very much embarrassed by a member of the Sonora Lions Club. Asked as to the nature of the offense, Mr. Trainer gave the following account of the incident:

Quando estaban el Sr. Juan Eaton en la capital de Mexico en junta con los Leonos Entertionals, Juan entro en una tendia unde vendien cocanos y le pregunta al merchanta: "A coma papas con la barbara?"

And now that the mosquitoes have succeeded in destroying the inhabitants of Sonora, they have started killing the chickens. Sounds funny, don't it? "Mosquitoes Kill Flock of Hens!" What a swell headline that would make.

Out on the Alvis Johnson ranch, just south of Sonora near enough that a myriad of mosquitoes would not exhaust themselves in getting out there from town—Mrs. Johnson operates a poultry farm. Her flock of 250 White Leghorns was thinning out, hens all sick and droopy. Mrs. Johnson thought that some kind of epidemic had hit the flock. "What! No eggs for breakfast!" Well, it was just too bad. The hens had refused to lay. A thorough examination revealed no disease of any kind. Conditions puzzled Mrs. Johnson so she set about finding the trouble. And she did. She found that the mosquitoes were killing her hens.

Every town has one—but Sonora thinks hers is best. Reference is made to the unofficial greeter, handshaker or welcomer. He's the fellow who is accommodating and buttbling over with hospitality. Never sees a stranger, wouldn't know what one looked like. He's a source of information; knows everybody, what they do and where they live. Not only knows the location of everything, but will, if you happen to be too dumb to understand directions, go with you and show you the place. Everybody in the country knows him, in fact, next to Buzzy Stokes, he is the best known man in the "Stockman's Paradise."

Strangers often mistake his identity. "There's the sheriff, he should know, let's ask him?" A large fellow, big hearted, happy-go-lucky sort of a chap—only don't tell him I called him a "chap"—wears a ten-gallon hat, boots and spurs. May be mistaken about the spurs, anyhow you'll know him by the description given. And he does look like a real honest-to-goodness West Texas early-day sheriff—friends call him Pete.

It is just such friendliness as this man displays that acquaints the world a town of this kind exists. Not so long ago a man and his family were in a car wreck near Sonora. And, like the Good Samaritan, friendly Sonora cared for them. The owner of the wrecked car stated that no where in his travels had he ever found a place where the people treated him as nicely as did Sonora.

That's because of our greeters, handshakers and welcomers. Without them who would give a—like to have used one of Two-Gun Ike's favorite expressions—hoop whether the came through Sonora or went the other way.

Charles Brent Allen has just returned from a trip west where he drove his father and mother for a visit. Charles says that he is always glad to get back to Sonora, for it "is the best town in which I ever lived and I'm never so happy as when I get back from a trip," he said.

This issue of the NEWS terminates the Dreamer's responsibility of playing at editor. Robert W. Jacobs, editor, owner and publisher is back on the job. By the time you read this I will be far, far, f a r, away—maybe as far as Juno or Vinegarone, or maybe "Six Shooter Junction," who knows.

Colonel Esaias Izadias Whiffletree, Two-Gun Ike, Alex Shivers, Hasty Batter and 'Squire Blitz will accompany me. The Lone Goat Ranch, Headwaters Dry Devil's River, will be in charge of Ol' Man Wilkins, and the Widow Squint and her son. Epus Peepus, Mrs. Felix Bull and daughter, Goidie, will visit in-laws over on the Ridge.

It is our hope that you have enjoyed the Devil the past two weeks, as edited in our feeble, untutored way. And you are assured the Dreamer appreciates your sympathetic friendliness, your co-operation and assistance in helping publish the paper.

The "couplet" heading this column expresses my wish. My young friend, Edgar Saunders recited it at the Lions luncheon. It's worthy a sermon, but that will have to wait. So—Adios, Amigo!

THE MYSTERY OF THE MISSING TROUSERS OR A DOUBLE IN PANTS

"There are some things utterly inexplicable; embarrassing, too, they may prove," said a Sonora business man the other day.

"Take for instance, the time an employee delivered the wrong pants to my residence. I had two pairs of the checked variety—well, I don't know that they could be called 'checked,' exactly, but they were a dark grey with a small stripe, my favorite color and style.

"The pants had been sent to the cleaners and had been delivered. So, when my wife said she had accepted an invitation to visit a neighbor and wanted me to go along, I thought of putting on a clean pair of trousers. Going to the clothes closet I got out a pair and put them on. After running my hands into the pockets I discovered one of them had a hole in it.

"Calling to the wife and acquainting her with the fact, she said that the cleaners had left two pairs and to try the other one. I did, and although the waist line seemed to have stretched a couple of inches, nothing was thought of it; perhaps I had 'slimmed up' a bit.

"The next morning being Sunday I wore the trousers to church. After returning home my wife called my attention to the fact that there seemed to be a 'kind of puckering' in the back; said she noticed it as she followed me down the church aisle. Yod know how pants will wad up around the waist when they are too large and you draw the belt tight to hold them up.

"On Monday morning while sitting at my desk trying to clear away Saturday's business, the telephone rang. A lady's voice answered my 'Hello.'

"My husband's trousers," she said sweetly, 'haven't been delivered. He took them to your place last Friday.'

"I'll see about them right away," I said. "Can you describe them?" "Well, they are a kind of check, that is, not exactly a check, but a dark grey with a small stripe. My husband bought two pairs. The other pair is here at home."

"All right, I'll have one of the boys look them up and get them out right away, I said.

"After a thorough search of the shop the whereabouts of the missing pants still remained a mystery, so I called the lady and asked her to come to the shop and to bring the other pair of pants for identification.

"Well, she drove down here and her sister was with her. I went out to the car and she showed me the trousers. Taking a good look at the color and feeling the texture of the cloth, I turned to enter the store. Just as I stepped upon the sidewalk I heard the lady exclaim: "Look, sister. Joe has on Jap's trousers.

"Oh, well," sighed Joe Trainer, "mistakes will happen. And too, a fellow may do most anything when he's just back from Mexico City. Now you take the case of—"

Just then a customer came along and Joe stepped in the store to wait on him. Some day the story he started to tell may be told—and then what?

"LIVE AT HOME" PLAN KEEPS HIGH COSTS DOWN

With the good rains falling in Sonora beginning in early spring and continuing at intervals through the summer, many vegetable gardens have flourished in back yards and garden spots.

One of the best among the many is the garden belonging to Mr. and Mrs. R. K. James, who, as the old saying goes have "been living at home."

With a plentiful supply of string beans being produced in her garden, Mrs. James has put away a number of quart jars to be used this winter, or as long as the supply holds out.

In addition to the amount of green beans used and put away for winter, the Jameses have furnished a number of neighbors with the "good things" from the family garden.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND
Director, Physical and Health Education

Summer Meals

The same old essentials go unchallenged. Oh, a little less meat perhaps, and for the overweight child a little less bread and butter, bacon, and potato. All children can do very well without candies, pastries, and, especially, soda pop or so-called "tonic." By the way, don't let that name "tonic" mislead you. It's far from being anything of the sort. Instead, try a drink of pure cold water or cool milk. There's real refreshment.

Pass up your old beliefs about summer diets. Most of them were only superstitions without a grain of scientific backing. The needs of the body don't change so very much with the seasons. Heat isn't necessary as it is in the winter, therefore the suggestions to reduce sugars and starches. But the energy and health requirements don't change.

The same quart of milk is needed, although good ice cream may account for a part. Green vegetables, fresh fruit, tomatoes, a little meat or fish, some egg, some bread and butter, and there you are, winter or summer.

Planning a Scout trip is exciting, important; Dr. Ireland will give some advice about it in his next article.

BUILDING NOTES

It isn't everyone who appreciates music, good or bad, but there is one harmonious sound which is sweet music to the ears of all. That is, the hum of a saw, the rattle of the hammer and the clank of the concrete mixer.

Leonard Caldwell and crew of workmen are nearing completion of the 5-room residence being built for Mrs. M. S. Davis. West Texas Lumber Company is furnishing the material on this job.

Joe Yanish, better known to Sonorans as "Dutch," has completed the painting and decoration job in the office of Dr. Tom White.

F. T. Maxwell, contractor, and crew of workmen are busy on a 5-room residence for Mr. and Mrs. Paul Turney on their ranch thirty miles south of Sonora. The building will be finished with rock veneer. Wm. Cameron & Co., Inc., are furnishing the materials.

Work started this week on a paint job at the home of Sheriff and Mrs. B. W. Hutcherson. The exterior of the dwelling will undergo a thorough painting and some of the interior will be refinished. Joe "Dutch" Yanish is head man.

Several rock fences have been completed in Sonora.

In concrete work G. W. Archer and sons are now building a garage for Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wallace at their town home.

Work on the large garage on the Kirkland ranch has been completed and Mrs. Kirkland is now occupying it. Six men under J. T. McClelland, contractor, are engaged in tearing down the old Kirkland home. Work will begin immediately on the $10,000 residence on the site of the old house. The new building, when completed, will be another fine home in keeping with a number of other modern ranch homes in Sutton county. W. E. Caldwell, manager West Texas Lumber Co., said the Kirkland residence is to be similar in design of the Authur Simmons ranch home nine miles west of Sonora.

W. C. Warren, manager of Wm. Cameron & Co., Inc., accompanied by Mrs. Warren, made a hurried trip to and from Oklahoma this last week. Mr. Warren went to Oklahoma to spend a two week's vacation. Arriving at Brinkman, home of their parents, one day, a message called them back the next. Mr. and Mrs. Warren left Brinkman at 7:30 Sunday evening and arrived in Sonora at 4 o'clock Monday morning. Claude Draper, bookkeeper for the firm had received a message calling him out of town on business that required immediate attention, hence the curtailed vacation of the manager. Mr. and Mrs. Warren will resume their vacation around Christmas time.

Lights of New York

By L. L. STEVENSON

Fred G. Walthier, maitre d'hotel of the McAlpin, has a scrap book that throws a lot of light on the eating habits of various gentlemen whose names appear in the history books. For instance, Louis XIV ate, on an average, eight hours a day: Charlemagne liked cabbage and prized his cabbage patch so much he showed it only to his closest friends. Napoleon was mighty fond of cold chicken. It is a little known fact, the owner of the scrap book revealed, that those who were invited to dine with Napoleon fortified themselves with a meal beforehand, since the emperor finished his food in five minutes, and got up from the table. Naturally, as a mark of respect, everyone else had to get up along with him, no matter how far behind he happened to be.

Old Louis Philippe was the first man to institute the custom of paying for banquets, according to the scrap book which Mr. Walthier has been building up during 22 years. Louis charged a dollar for a small banquet and two dollars for a big one. He called the charge a "forfeit," and it had to be paid whether or not the guest attended. Charles V of Spain was extremely fond of pickled herring—so fond, indeed, that he frequently visited the grave of William Bakeld, the Fleming who first pickled herring.

In the old days, members of the nobility actually engaged teachers to coach their children in the proper method of dining. Mr. Walthier holds that such schools might be a good thing today. He, however, is not in favor of the manners of King Monroe of the early Celts. Monroe had two meals served him at every banquet. One was placed with the guests, the other behind the king. When the king didn't like the company, he merely turned around and ate with his back to his guests.

Hotels go away back to the days of Nebuchadnezzar, the first having been in Nineveh. It was run by royalty, but it seems that didn't help the service much. The Romans were the first to have chain hotels. Travelers, however, had to bring their own food. As late as the Seventeenth century, travelers brought their own beds.

The Walthier scrap book reveals also that the old custom of serving a few drops of wine to the host first, instead of to the ladies, had a highly sensible beginning. There was a time when, if the host drank first, the appetites of the others at the table improved because in those days a guest didn't know whether he was invited to be dined or poisoned.

Speaking of wines, it seems that another custom of the past is being revived. In pre-prohibition days, wine agents boosted their sales by paying waiters 25 cents for each champagne cork returned to them—provided the cork was the right kind. Now they are trying the plan again, but not with much success as yet. As for corks, it is said that a wine connoisseur can judge wine more accurately by the condition of the cork than by tasting the contents of the bottle.

The Municipal court of the city of New York is being moved from Thirty-fifth street to Lafayette street. Not only will the job take two months, but it is complicated by the fact that the court must be kept going. Commercial cases and civil suits are heard and the Municipal court is held to be the busiest in the world. The 63 judges and seven referees handle 700,000 cases a year.

A HITCH-HIKERS ADVICE

The motorist who picks up a hitch-hiker runs the chance of being knocked on the head, robbed and left on the highway as the robber makes away with his car. Advice to drivers to be wary of this danger has been broadcast, but none of it seems more effective than that published in the Henderson Daily News and reprinted by the Houston Post. It is a warning from the hitch-hiker's side.

The Henderson paper published an account of an occurrence near that city in which a woman driver who picked up a thumber on the road, and on hearing the man's story of hard luck offered to lend him a dollar. The man accepted and, when a town was reached, got out of the car. A few days later the woman received a letter from the hitch-hiker saying that it was his intention to knock her on the head and steal her car, but that her kindness dissuaded him. The letter ended with this advice:

"Never pick up any hitch-hiker unless you know the party personally. Never stop your car to help anyone that is apparently injured at the side of the road, unless you see tangible evidence of the wreck that caused the injury. Never pick up a girl hitch-hiker, an old man, or even an old woman. They are all often simply decoys. The road is tough. There are thousands of young fellows who have had experiences that have turned them into the worst sort of criminals. You can't afford to trust any of them, regardless of their experiences, and I know anyone is a sucker to trust me."

The man most likely is wrong in his implication that any large number of hitch-hikers have criminal intentions as they give passing motorists "the thumb." But there are enough of this class to give reason for the motorist to suppress any impulse of generosity toward the ride-beggar.—Fort Worth Star Telegram.

WILL ROGERS

(An Editorial)

San Diego, Aug. 17.—No matter where he is now, he still will be Will Rogers and not anybody else and not any imitation of anybody else. He was Will Rogers in the wide western places where you could lose the state of Rhode Island on the cow pasture between two ranch houses, and he was Will Rogers in Manhattan and in Washington and in Hollywood. Even beyond this last river, he'll surely stay something like the same.

The thing he did best of all was to laugh at people if they were funny, no matter how big they were. And in a way, he still will be doing that right now. He left a lot of that kind of laughter going the rounds, and nothing will stop it. His laughs were gentle against everything except meanness or the downright stupidity that hurts other people—when a Big Name stood for something like that, Will Rogers didn't kid him, he demolished him. But he gave all of us lief to laugh at stuffed shirts of every kind, even the biggest, and we will keep on doing it.

Even in the sweet everlasting light of Paradise there must be foolishness to laugh at, and a place for somebody that knows how, and they will not ask Will Rogers to be an angel or a blessed spirit or a saint. They will want him to stay Will Rogers. But maybe, to please him, they will pretend that they do want him to act different up there and put on a little front, and then they will let him spend all eternity kidding them out of it. Just to make him feel at home.—San Diego Union.

Securities Act Designed to Protect Populace From Slick Grafters

There's this much you can say for a rattlesnake—at least he warns before he strikes!

As much cannot be said for the stock promoter and seller of the blue sky and boundless sea. By the confidence of his victim, subtle means, fair or foul, he gains fleeces him or her of every available dollar and is gone again.

That's the method of operation of the Securities racketeer, according to Secretary of State Gerald C. Mann, administrator of Texas new Securities Act, designed to drive out of Texas the sellers of spurious securities.

Stocks, bonds, certificates of interest in oil and gas properties, and many other forms of commercial interest are defined as securities under the law.

The new law became effective May 23rd of this year. Today a few of the tangible results may be summed up as follows:

Two sets of operators are under indictment awaiting trial for violation of the law. Other cases are pending. The operations of one of these parties extended from coast to coast and Canada to Mexico, with headquarters in San Antonio. He is known to have received as high as $5,000 daily from the investing public, most of whom were not able to afford the loss. The promoter and his associates lived in royal luxury and ease.

In El Paso a gang that has mulcted some $300,000 or more from credulous investors in the past four years, folded their tents and departed shortly after the arrival in that city of an investigator from the Department of State. It is impossible to compute the saving thus afforded. In another Texas city a stock salesman returned $4,000 to one of his victims when apprised that the State Department was investigating the matter.

"But the job has only begun," Secretary Mann declares. "Our objective is to rid this state of these racketeers, so far as is humanly possible. It can be done only with the assistance of the people of Texas. No purchaser should buy any form of security without first determining if the seller is registered and licensed by the Department of State. We should likewise be apprised of cases of fraud. The time has come in Texas when the securities racketeer must take his rightful place alongside the convicted murderer, hi-jacker and common thief—behind the prison bars."

To California

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Mayfield and son, Stanley, and Miss Elizabeth Martin of Del Rio left Sunday for San Diego, Calif. They plan to visit the Exposition while there.

GETTING OFF RELIEF

It is a healthy sign of the times when jobs become so plentiful in any part of the country that the relief rolls can be "purged" of able-bodied men who are now able to find work. That this condition should have been reached first in the wheat-growing states is not surprising. South Dakota began it, by dropping 19,000 heads of families from the dole, because of the great demand for harvest workers in the wheat fields. According to reports from Washington, it is expected that at least 100,000 men who have been on relief will be dropped from the rolls in the principal wheat states.

Naturally, some of these are not going to like it. After a man has been getting money for doing nothing, it is hard to go back to work, especially if he gets no more for working than he did for loafing.

The disgruntled few who prefer idleness to work are already beginning to make a loud noise about the "injustice" of taking them off relief. Some of the reports which we have seen in the big city newspapers especially in the East, are calculated to give the impression that practically all of the recipients of relief in the wheat states are sore because a way has been opened to them to earn their living instead of subsisting on the public bounty. We do not believe that this is true. We are not convinced that the moral fiber of the average American has deteriorated that far.

We can understand the reluctance of a man with a family to being dropped from relief when he has no assurance of getting back on again if his job turns out to be a temporary one as jobs in the harvest field necessarily are. But we understand that Washington has given assurances that in such cases it will not be such a long and difficult process to get back on relief as it was to get on the rolls in the first place.

Sooner or later, the whole relief program must end. The money and the taxpayers' patience will give out. We are looking hopefully for a start on all fronts of the $4,000,000,000 Work Relief plan. Also, we are looking hopefully for an important speeding up of the wheels of private industry.

The situation in the wheat country is, however, encouraging as far as it goes.—Nolan Co. News.

WEST TEXAS HOLDS GREAT OPPORTUNITY

"Go west, young man" was a slogan of years ago, but there is no greater opportunity today than right here in West Texas. There truly is "Gold in them thar hills" of West Texas, and the surface hasn't even been scratched. Faith has built the West Texas of today... faith will continue to build it. Alexander Maclaren said, "Given a man full of faith, you will have a man tenacious in purpose, absorbed in one grand object, simple in his motives, in whom selfishness has been driven out by the power of mightier love, and indolence stirred into unwearied energy." —Edgar Hinrich in Eastland Telegram.

MARY AT AGE OF 77

THIS A BOY WAS THE FIRST MAN TO SPEAK INTO THE PHONOGRAPH AND HE RECORDED THE WELL KNOWN VERSE, 'MARY AND ALITTLE LAMB' THESE WERE THE FIRST WORDS EVER RECORDED AND REPRODUCED IN THE PHONOGRAPH IN THE EARLY PART OF 1877.

THE MARY OF 'MARY LAMB' FAME WAS MISS MARY ELIZABETH SAWYER OF STERLING, MASSACHUSETTS. SHE WAS BORN MARCH 22, 1854. JOHN CALSTON'S IMMORTALIZATION WAS AN ACCURATE ACCOUNT OF HIS VISIT AS A STUDENT TO THE SCHOOL WHICH MARY AND HER LAMB ATTENDED. IT AMUSED AND IMPRESSED HIM SO MUCH THAT HE WROTE THE POEM WHICH HAS SINCE BECOME SO POPULAR. MARY WAS 11 YEARS OLD AND JOHN 12 YEARS WHEN THE POEM WAS WRITTEN.

MARY DID HAVE A LITTLE LAMB!

MARY'S LITTLE LAMB ITS FLEECE WAS WHITE AS SNOW AND EVERYWHERE THAT MARY WENT IT CALLED HER TO SCHOOL AND TO PLAY AND TO SEE THE LAMB AT SCHOOL AND ABOUT THE HOUSE TILL MARY DID APPEAR.

MARY WENT UP TO RECITE. SHE HEARD A CLATTER, CLATTER ON THE FLOOR AND SHE KNEW IT WAS THE PITTERING HOOPS OF HER LAMB.

New Destroyer Is Commissioned

Scene at the Brooklyn navy yard as the United States flag was raised on the U. S. S. Dale after this newest destroyer was placed in commission. The vessel, of 1,500 tons displacement, 341 feet long and costing $4,000,000, was turned over to Commander William A. Corn.

A YOUNG MODERN CHOOSES SMART
FELT HATS FOR FALL WEAR

Denton, Aug. 21.—With dips in front, flowers and fruit for decoration, tassels on the side and queer-shaped crowns, chapeaux which the Young Moderns plan to don this fall rival the hats of all generations in their novelty. Style in this season's headgear consists in each hat having a single touch in decoration or cut which distinguishes it from all others.

Youthful heads must be careful in their choice of hats, considering the variety of shapes and sizes available. Each person ought to study her own facial characteristics, and, still more minutely, her hair. If she plans to wear the tricky bonnets now in vogue, she should cultivate bangs, either of the tiny, demure type or of the tussled, vagabond style. With a smart felt that comes down squarely over the forehead and darts up to a pointed crown in back, curls at the nape of the neck or a fancy swirled curve create the necessary hair interests. Bangs both in front and back are nicely suited to close-fitting turbans, but must be kept sleekly curled.

Summer permanents have a way of looking so dried up at the end of a long summer that they are scarcely a credit to any hat; Young Moderns at Texas State College for Women find a solution to this problem in the barber shop. Straight-haired Misses can coax their locks into swirls, and cut child-like bangs to achieve a clever ingenu effect. For evenings, the too-sporty appearance of shorn hair can be remedied by a band of poppies, grapes, or other exotic flowers and fruits placed in a low curve around the back of the head.

Speaking of mohair prices Mr. Halbert said: "Prices are going to be good this fall—35 cents and 40 cents for grown hair, 45 cents to 55 cents for 'Baby-kid Mohair' is our guess."

Still another candidate for the title of the merchant's biggest pest comes to our attention. This one is recommended by the manager of one of Pampa's largest department stores.

He nominates the woman who came into his store and was particularly fussy about getting a correct fit in the shoe department. After she had tried on shoe after shoe in various styles, and seemed perfectly content (at last) with the fit of a certain shoe, she asked what size the shoe was. When he told her the correct number, she thanked him very nicely for his care in fitting her and explained that the reason she was so particular about learning the exact size, was so that she might order her shoes from a mail order house!—Pampa Advocate.

Covers were laid for forty-six members. The five banquet tables were arranged around a large star with a centerpiece formed of zennias in the chapter colors.

After the program the members went to the Masonic Hall for the regular stated meeting.

1,000 People, Symphonic Band, 250-Voice Choir to Feature Historical Pageant

Austin, Texas, Aug. 21.—A prelude to the Texas Centennial will be a gigantic historical and religious pageant portraying "The Spirit of the Church in America" in music, song and story which will be presented here by the John B. Rogers Producing Company, under the direction of John W. Hutchings, pageant master, at the University of Texas Memorial Stadium for a two nights' performance, August 25-26.

Dedicated to the memory of the pioneers who laid the foundation of the nation, one thousand characters will re-enact dramatic scenes in history from the beginning of time to the present, including the colorful events of American history, the romantic periods of early Texas history and the religious background of all churches and their influence throughout history. This unique drama will surpass anything of its type ever attempted in Texas and will be the largest all-community affair held in Austin, its sponsor, St. Martin's Lutheran Church, announced.

It will be staged during the course of the International Lutheran League Convention in Austin, August 23-28, when hundreds of delegates from all the states of the Union and Canada will gather in the capital city of Texas.

"On a huge stage 200 feet in width, 150 feet in depth, the cast of one thousand people, fifty horses covered wagons, a symphonic band of forty pieces, and a choir of 250 voices will depict a series of episodes in rapid shifting scenes picturing the dawn of creation, followed by the birth of Christ, leading up to the period of 1492, when Columbus planted the flag on American soil and Luther appeared before Charles V at Wormes, which marked the birth of Protestantism," it was explained.

"Quickly the incidents will change in kaleidoscopic scenes to the Danish, the first Lutherans who landed at Greenland, to the early American Indians, the Swedish Lutherans and the Puritans, to the memorable ride of Paul Revere, picturing the spirit of '76 and Henry Muhlenburg, minister and patriot.

"The westward trend of civilization and religion is to be revealed in the early wagon trains, trappers and traders, including migration into Texas.

"Depicted in tableau will be the outstanding event which established the Republic of Texas in 1836—the signing of the Declaration of Independence at Washington-on-the-Brazos. Next, an old-fashioned wedding will enhance the brilliancy of the panorama in a typical southern setting.

"The Masque of Nations with America as the melting pot for all stirring drama, ending in a finale of super-grandeur, symbolized by the American flag, the Lone Star Texas flag, and the Cross."

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. James and daughter, Faye, left this morning for Austin and Houston where they will visit relatives until Tuesday of next week. Mrs. James and daughter will visit in Austin while Mr. James goes on to Houston.

The MAIL BOX

Below the NEWS publishes an article from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. The comments following the outline of each amendment are opinions based on studies by WTCC officials as regarding the best interests of West Texas.

This open letter to the president and directors of West Texas chambers of commerce is published for the benefit of NEWS readers who are interested in the activities of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. The publication of the comments do not necessarily reflect the editorial opinions of the NEWS.

To President and Members, West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Gentlemen:

As chairman and vice-president of your Taxation and Public Expenditure Commission and in line with previous declarations and policies of the West Texas Chamber, we are reporting and recommending herewith relative to the constitutional amendments being voted upon the fourth Saturday in August as follows:

(1) Free Textbook and Apportionment Amendment, S. J. R. No. 24: This amendment abolishes a provision in the constitution which ever since 1891 has required our public school funds to be distributed on a scholastic population basis. The scholastic population method of distributing school funds has severely penalized West Texas. Our native white population is 16 per cent greater than the rest of the state, and having but little negro and Mexican population our scholastic population is proportionately less and our enrollment and average daily attendance is proportionately greater than the rest of the state. A complete analysis shows that West Texas has around 29 per cent of the scholastic population of the state, while West Texas has from 32 per cent to 35 per cent of the school enrollment and average daily school attendance of the state.

If the funds were allotted on an enrollment and daily attendance basis West Texas would secure from 3 per cent to 6 per cent more money than we have been securing for over forty years. On the basis of a thirty million dollar available school fund this means that the West Texas schools would secure from $900,000, to over $1,500,000, per year more than she has been securing. This amendment enables overcoming a forty year West Texas discrimination and the securing of more funds for our public schools and should be vigorously supported by West Texas.

There might be some misgivings about the free textbook provisions of the amendment inasmuch as it enables the giving of free textbooks to private or sectarian schools. It is a fact, however, that this will not add to the cost of free textbooks as the present law requires books to be purchased in accordance with scholastic census. Since all children, regardless of color or religion are placed on the census rolls, whether they attend the public schools or not, it, therefore, appears that this provision will not result in the purchase of additional books. Furthermore, if any one has religious scruples about books being furnished to parochial schools, the fact still remains that our State Board of Education will always approve and prescribe the books. There need be no fear that parochial schools will receive per capita allotments because the amendment states that no part of the available school fund shall ever be appropriated to or used for the support of any sectarian school. We see nothing in the free textbook provision that should keep West Texas from militantly voting for this amendment in order that we may do away with the discriminatory scholastic census basis of allotment.

(2) Old Age Pension, H. J. R. No. 19: This amendment enables the Legislature to make a payment of $15.00 per month to every citizen of Texas over the age of 65, excluding only criminals, inmates of state institutions, etc. There is nothing in the amendment limiting the payments to indigents and persons without means of support, and under the provision of the amendment a millionaire is eligible for the pension. The amendment makes no provision as to the total cost to the state or as to how the revenues are to be raised.

If a pension of $15.00 a month is to be paid to the 232,459 persons in Texas over 65 years of age, the total annual cost to the state will be over forty million dollars. This is more money than is appropriated to our schools and is equivalent to the total cost of our state government, excepting highways.

Already 25 per cent of the people of the state draw their means of support from taxes and these taxes, according to 1932 figures, consume 97 per cent of the net income of the individuals and corporations of Texas. In fact, the total tax bill consumes all of the net income of the people of Texas excepting nine million dollars. It, therefore, seems impossible that this proposed new tax burden can be consumed by taxes on income.

To place the new burden on property and raise the revenue from ad valorem taxes would be still furthered beyond all reason and possibility. Already these ad valorem taxes are confiscating the property of West Texas and leaving in its wake bankruptcy and destitution. On an average ad valorem taxes are consuming 99 per cent of the net returns from property.

We would favor and support an old age pension plan if the needy were assured of its benefits. Under the provisions of this new amendment, however, it is inconceivable to think that West Texans can support it at least until proper restrictions are placed in the amendment and until the present tax base is broadened and property taxes are relieved. We recommend that our organization vigorously oppose this amendment.

(3) Abolishing the Fee System, S. J. R. No. 6: This amendment abolishes the fee system in all counties with population of 20,000 or more and enables the commissioners courts in counties of 20,000 or less to abolish the fee system and pay for such services on a salary basis. Long have we opposed the pernicious fee system as one which tends to develop inefficiency, injustice and additional costs to the taxpayers. We believe that this amendment should be supported and adopted.

(4) Commitment of Insanity Patients, H. J. R. No. 39: This amendment would make it possible to commit to an institution alleged-ly insane persons without trial by a jury. The limit of temporary restraint for observation and treatment of patient is ninety days. The purpose of the amendment seemingly is good, but there is nothing on our previous declarations and policies which justify a chamber of commerce on this measure.

(5) Suspended Sentence Amendment, H. J. R. No. 46: This amendment grants the courts having original jurisdiction of criminal actions the power, after conviction, to suspend the imposition or execution of sentence and to place the defendant upon probation and to reimpose such sentence. We likewise pass this amendment as one not within the purview of our chamber of commerce activity.

(6) Mode of Amending the Constitution, H. J. R. No. 48: This amendment, if carried, will enable special sessions of the Legislature to submit constitutional amendments. At the present time constitutional amendments can be submitted only by the regular legislative session. We likewise have no conviction on this amendment and see in it no West Texas issue.

(7) Prohibition Repeal, S. J. R. No. 3a: This issue has in no way been a part of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce program and we think it inadvisable as an organization to take a position either for or against it.

Yours very truly,
JAMES D. HAMLIN, Chairman, Taxation and Public Expenditure Commission, West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

H. C. CUSTARD, Vice-Chairman, Taxation and Public Expenditure Commission, West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. S. T. Gilmore, who for years was president of the sixth district Parent-Teacher Associations; life member of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, and at present honorary vice-president of the sixth district, has the following to say regarding one of the proposed amendments to be voted upon tomorrow—Amendment No. 4, titled "Submission of Amendments at Special Sessions of Legislature":

"The amendment to be voted on tomorrow, listed as amendment No. 4 on the ballot, gives the legislature the right to submit constitutional amendments at special sessions in cases of extraordinary emergency affecting the state as a whole.

"The amendment, it has been pointed out, will prepare the way for Texas participation in grants authorized by the Social Security Bill, giving aid to the state's 10,000 widowed mothers and their 32,000 dependent children, 24,000 dependent heads of families over 65 years of age, and 20,000 heads of families physically or mentally handicapped from earning a living.

"As the Federal Emergency Relief Administration is rapidly chocking off its program, and no definite provisions are in sight for such unemployables as are included for aid under the Social Security Bill, the advantage of paving the way for Texas participation can be clearly seen," Mrs. Gilmore concluded.

Watch Food During Hot Summer Months Advises Health Officer

Austin.—It is a matter of vital importance, particularly during the warm summer season, that sanitary measures be applied to prevent the contamination of perishable foods, stated Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer. Various intestinal disorders result from food which has in some way been rendered unwholesome. Summer diarrhea or "summer complaint," affecting old and young, is a serious type of stomach and bowel condition. So called "ptomaine poisoning," in nearly all cases, is none other than a food infection due to the presence in food of harmful bacteria or germs.

Perishable food, if contaminated, endangers human health. This hazard is greater in warm weather, because germs or their products multiply or develop more rapidly at high temperature. Some of the most valuable foods are of perishable nature. Such foods demand the exercise of safeguards. Among well known precautions, which need to be used if perishable foods are to be kept wholesome, are the following:

1. Some form of modern refrigeration or cooling is necessary to preserve food from day to day. Lack of an effective cooling process causes meat to spoil and milk to contain a dangerously large number of bacteria.
2. Resort to thorough cooking or boiling is the simplest and yet most useful method of preventing illness of food-borne character. This precaution applies especially to food prepared for infants and children.
3. Contamination of perishable food is avoided through the constant exercise of cleanliness on the part of those who handle food.
4. Pastries and other food products make a far greater appeal to the consumer or patron if there is an entire absence of flies. Adequate provision for screens and application of every known means of fly and insect extermination are worthwhile.

The rewards of improved sanitation include tangible assets in good health and sound business.

Acc Pitcher "Throws" a Shoe
Bud Smith, of the Station A Sonora ball team, has been hobbling around this week as a result of a peculiar accident. While chasing a cow down the side of a hill, Mr. Smith's left shoe came off. The hill was steep and rocky and speed of the sprint so swift, he could not stop. After covering a few rods of rocky ground barefooted Mr. Smith found that his foot had been badly bruised and torn.

The Rev. Frank Nixon returned this week from Sherwood where he has been engaged in a revival meeting. He assisted the Rev. W. E. Brown, pastor of the Baptist church at Merton. Mrs. Nixon and children visited in the Henry Mund home at Bailey Ranch during Mr. Nixon's absence.

MOTOR ACCIDENTS TAKE 15,200 LIVES

First Six Months Rolls Up an Alarming Total.

Hartford, Conn.—Approximately 15,200 persons were killed and more than 300,000 injured in street and highway accidents the first six months of this year, according to state reports analyzed by the Travelers' Insurance company.

Eight thousand of the total of 15,200 deaths have been pedestrians. Nearly 3,100 persons have been killed in collisions between cars. Almost 500 persons have been killed in the collisions of automobiles and trains. The percentage of deaths of pedestrians and persons involved in collisions between cars as well as in automobile-train collisions have been greater this year than for the corresponding part of last year.

Fatal Collisions.
More than 1,500 have been killed in the collision of automobiles with fixed objects and nearly 1,500 also have been killed in non-collision accidents, both of which are less in percentage than the first six months of last year.

Deaths from automobile accidents have been around 2 per cent less than the casualties for the corresponding period of last year, but it is possible that this decrease will be more than wiped out by complete and revised figures yet to be reported by all states.

During the last four years deaths from automobile accidents have been 34 per cent greater in the last half of the year than the first, and if this should hold true this year, the total number of casualties would approximate 35,000. With more cars being in use than last year, the number of persons who will be killed this year is likely to exceed the present estimate which will be subject to an increase because of upward revisions in state reports in keeping with the trend of fatalities.

Drunken Drivers.
Available records for the first half of the year show an increase of almost 13 per cent in the number of drivers under the influence of liquor who were involved in accidents, as well as an increase of 10 per cent in the number of pedestrians under the influence of liquor who were involved in automobile accidents.

Automobile-pedestrian accidents continue to be extremely serious, present figures show, as the records available for the first half of this year indicate that about 40 per cent of all personal injury automobile accidents involved pedestrians, but the deaths of pedestrians comprised more than 50 per cent of all automobile accident fatalities. Although automobile-train collisions the first six months of this year account for half of 1 per cent of all personal injury accidents, the deaths resulting from such mishaps were in excess of 3 per cent of the total of 15,200.

Non-collision accidents accounted for less than 50 per cent of the accidents, but the deaths from them totaled almost 10 per cent of all fatalities.

Boy Declared First to Discover Gold in West

Danville, Calif.—George Van Gordon, ninety-year-old rancher and horse breeder, arises to say John Marshall was not the first person to discover gold in California.

"It was a ten-year-old boy, John Wimmer," recalled Van Gordon. "His father worked for Gen. John A. Sutter at Coloma. John gave the nugget he found to his father, who gave it to John Marshall, who gave it to Mrs. Wimmer, and she boiled it in the soap kettle. I've heard the Wimmers tell the story many times."

Van Gordon perhaps knows. He came to California in 1846, remembers how everyone abandoned his work and rushed to the gold fields. He remembers Lola Montez, the dancer; Joaquin Murietta, most vengeful and dashing of American bandits, and the Vigilantes.

Complex Rules Govern Sale and Use of Oleo

Mobile, Ala.—If you have a boarding house, don't serve oleomargarin. But if you do, don't mix coloring into it yourself. To do so will subject you to a manufacturer's license—if Uncle Sam finds it out. And such a license costs $600.

These and other warnings have been issued by the internal revenue bureau. A grocer who sells oleo may give the coloring for it, but if he shows the buyer how to mix it, he can be made to pay the manufacturer's license.

Iowa Pig Has Two Mouths and Eats Well With Both

Oelwein, Iowa.—C. A. Cummings, farmer living four miles northwest of here, has a pig he would like to sell to a museum. The freak porker has an oversized head, three eyes and two perfectly matched snouts and noses.

The pig can eat with either mouth, Cummings said. Physically, it is perfect, except for the superabundance of noses and snouts, according to its owner.

MILLIONS LOST TO BONDHOLDER RING

Receiverships Said Bring Returns.

Washington.—Evidence disclosing the existence of so-called "chain committees" of bondholders centered in Chicago and New York and controlling millions of dollars' worth of defaulted realty bonds was made public by Congressman A. J. Sabath, chairman of the house committee investigating receiverships.

Evidence concerning the operations of the committees and their affiliates is continuing to be uncovered with the result that prosecution may be requested for violation of a number of federal and state laws, Sabath declared.

The chain committees, he declared, control from a few issues up to as many as 400 issues of realty bonds aggregating in par amount from a few million upward of $200,000,000.

The chain committees, the congressman said, form but one aspect of a "national racket" through which 20,000,000 citizens have been affected. Nearly $3,000,000,000 of outstanding realty bonds are in default, he reported.

Control or administration of the chain committees is nationwide, the congressman reported.

Sabath said he had found instances where the so-called "protective" committee destroyed the value and income of the property involved to enable the house of issue to purchase back the bonds "for a song." He added:

"We have discovered instances where committees have taken bonds sent to them and posted them as collateral for loans to pay expenses and big fees—5 per cent to the protective committee, 5 per cent to a management committee, 5 per cent to the lawyers, and so on down the line.

"They are resourceful and determined to get away with everything they can."

Missouri Towns Boast Odd Names, Guide Shows

Jefferson City, Mo.—Using names of towns as a standard, Missouri is well equipped for almost anything. A state postal directory shows.

A "Sentinel" to watch over it, "Speed" and "Swift" at its command, Missouri has little to retard its progress. Even "Success" is within the state.

Trick names are plentiful. For the booster there's "Brag City," and for the peace-seeker, "Amity."

An "Annapolis" is boasted by the state, but the best that can be done toward West Point is "Cadet," a Washington county hamlet.

The state has a "Bachelor," but no spinster; a "Day," but no night; a "Bendavis," but no apple; "Joy," but no sorrow; and a "Shamrock," but no St. Patrick. Seventeen other varieties of "saints" are listed.

For the traveler, an extensive tour is provided within the bounds of the state. He may jump from "Mexico" to "California," then to "Delaware." Then he has his choice of the "Klondike," "Louisiana" and "Nevada."

"Alley" was remembered with a "Rat," but "Pochahontas" in Cape Girardeau county, was not given a John Smith.

"Puzzled Office Girl" Finds Job She Wanted

Cleveland, Ohio.—A young lady who wrote to a newspaper and signed herself "Puzzled Office Girl," because she couldn't find a job where the employer didn't want to hold hands, found one quickly.

W. B. Wilhelm, general manager of the Cleveland Time Clock company, said he could give her a job as a stenographer, and she would be just that.

"We don't hold hands around here, and we're pretty sure our wives understand us," Wilhelm said.

"Puzzled Office Girl" had written "Unto me the millennium will have arrived when and if I find a job that pays NRA wages—and where the employer loves his wife."

Gold in Petrified Wood

Fallon, Nev.—Black petrified wood containing gold has been found near here. Eye Cox reported that many petrified logs have been ground in mortars and the gold extracted. Approximately 40 sacks of the ground wood have yielded gold, he claimed.

Chain System Used to Circulate Books

Madison, Wis.—A chain idea started more than 15 years ago by John L. Meyer, secretary of the Inland Press association, is perpetuated monthly when he purchases a new book and starts one traveling from his library. With each book he sends a note saying:

"Please accept this with my compliments. Some time please pass it along to someone else you think will be interested in it."

He sends his books to friends and acquaintances who are in newspaper work, but does not specify that they must be relayed to persons similarly occupied.

Welfare Survey to Be Completed Soon

Involved Checking 140,000 Homes in 170 Counties

Austin, Texas, August 21.—A child survey of the state of Texas, which has involved the counting of every child in Texas who is disabled or whose father is a war veteran, or whose parents are on the relief rolls, will be completed in the early fall. This project, started by the Texas Relief Commission about a year ago, was abandoned in the fall of 1934 by that organization and was resumed by the Bureau of Research in the Social Sciences of the University of Texas.

Collection of material was completed during the winter and spring and a special investigator, Miss Grace E. Benjamin from the American Public Health Association, was employed this summer to make a number of special surveys and to write the report of the project, with particular attention to an analysis of some of the facts shown by the statistics accumulated.

This study has involved the checking of 140,000 homes in 170 counties of Texas, and represents actual case histories of more than five hundred thousand children. Results of this study have already become of use, according to Dr. W. E. Gettys, university professor of sociology and chairman of the research bureau in charge of the study. For one thing, cards containing case histories of disabled children in all of the counties contained in the survey have already been turned over to J. J. Brown, director of vocational rehabilitation in the State Department of Education.

Legislative apportionment has made available for this division considerable funds for the 1935-36 fiscal year and immediate steps can be taken after September 1 to provide vocational training for these disabled children.

Miss Benjamin pointed out that this study is the most comprehensive and the most significant child census ever taken for any state, and the published report is expected to be immeasurably valuable as a handbook for use in remodeling the state's laws governing child delinquency.
