Interest Increases in Queen Election For Stunt Night

Misses Wilma Hutcherson and Elizabeth Francis Lead Three Other Girls

The joy (for young and old) of "something for nothin'" was added this week to the growing program that will be presented Friday night, Nov. 15, as a Stunt Night, all proceeds of which will be used to buy hot luncheons for needy school children in Sonora.

A "country store" with gifts of all kinds from many Sonora business firms is being arranged. A similar "store," unique in that the admission price at the door is the only "cost" of the gift from the "store," was very popular at the Lions Club carnival last year.

Heightened interest in Stunt Night has been noted this week as a result of the friendly competition engendered by those seeking to make their favorite candidate "Sutton County Queen" at the Stunt Night program. Too, the address of Mrs. Violet B. Greenhill, chief of the division of child welfare, state board of control, impressed upon those who heard her the need for work with children.

Seven Days More To Vote
Preston C. Lightfoot, chairman of the committee in charge of the queen contest, announced Tuesday

ELECTION BULLETIN!

(6 p. m., Thursday, Nov. 7)

Elizabeth Francis	17,730
Wilma Hutcherson	14,620
Bobbie Halbert	12,060
Nina Roueche	8,390

night that two major changes had been made in the handling of the contest.

A number of people urged that the committee continue the contest without eliminating the three candidates with the fewest votes at six o'clock Tuesday. It was thought that more money for votes—for children's hot luncheons—would be secured if all five candidates remained in the contest. The committee decided to adopt that policy.

Ballots may be cast until six o'clock Friday, Nov. 15, said Mr. Lightfoot.

Proof of the interest aroused in the election is manifested by the buying of 38,000 votes ($38.00) Tuesday—the day elimination of candidates was scheduled. The night before only $14 had been spent for votes; Tuesday night about $52 was "in the pot" to provide luncheons for needy children. The standing of contestants Tuesday night, in order of votes cast, was:

Elizabeth Francis, 17,210; Wilma Hutcherson, 14,240; Bobbie Halbert, 11,280; Nina Roueche, 6,410; Allie Halbert, 4,450.

Models Being Selected

Plans for the various stunts being arranged to amuse and to entertain the many Sonora and Sutton county people who will attend next Friday night are progressing at rapid rate. Models for the revue which will show the latest in bathing attire are being selected this week by F. T. Jones of the Lions Club committee in charge of

Llano Pastor Will Serve Methodists Here Next Year

The Rev. W. S. Ezell To Be in Charge of Work at First Methodist in Laredo

Pastoral work at the First Methodist Church in Laredo will be started Sunday by the Rev. W. S. Ezell who for the last twelve months has been minister at the Methodist Church here.

The Rev. Mr. Ezell, Mrs. Ezell and their daughter, Frances, left Thursday noon for the border city to make their home. Their son, Kelley, is a student at Weatherford College in Weatherford.

Preaching his first sermon here Sunday will be the Rev. T. O. Rorie who has been a Methodist pastor at Llano for two years. The Rev. Mr. Rorie will come here tomorrow. He was formerly in charge of congregations at Victoria and Laredo.

The Rev. Mr. Ezell came here from Junction after the conference last fall. He had previously served in Sterling City. Educated in Dick White College in Tennessee, his native state, the Rev. Mr. Ezell's ministerial training was in Texas. He was a student at Southern Methodist University and Southwestern University, Georgetown. He has been in the ministry since 1920.

While here the Rev. Mr. Ezell has taken an active interest in civic affairs. This year he has been a member of the Attendance Committee of the Lions Club, serving there with J. D. Lowrey and W. A. Carroll. Mrs. Ezell has taken an especial interest in young people's work in the church.

The Rev. Frank Nixon, pastor of the Baptist Church, announced yesterday that there will be no night service at their church Sunday in order that members may attend the second service of the day at the Methodist Church.

Announcement of the new posts of the two pastors was made in San Antonio Sunday. Among those from here who attended various sessions of the Methodists' meeting in San Antonio were:

The Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Ezell, Mrs. A. E. Cusenbary, Mrs. J. D. Lowrey, Mrs. J. M. Puckett, E. D. Shurley, W. E. Caldwell, Mrs. George B. Hamilton.

PIGGY WIGGLY WORKERS TO BE IN NEW STORE

Mr. Richey's nephew, H. L. Richey, who grew to manhood in Coleman county, will manage the store here. Mr. Richey has been working with his uncle in Eldorado two years.

Mr. Williams is a former legislator and is now president of the Texas Wool and Mohair Company in San Angelo. At present he is making addresses on Masonry in West Texas towns.

The Rev. Mr. Nixon is well known here as a result of his Lions Club activities while he lived in Del Rio. He is a brother of the Rev. Frank Nixon, pastor of the Baptist Church here.

Social Adjustment of Child Subject of Lions' Speaker

Mrs. Violet B. Greenhill Chief of Texas' Child Work Last Three Years

"You must take away the causes of child 'hurts' in order to accomplish permanent good in a preventive program. To do this you must have real vision of what is behind children who have been wronged in one way or another."

That, in short, tells a great deal of the work of the division of child welfare, state board of control, according to Mrs. Violet B. Greenhill, chief, who was in Sonora Tuesday. The quotation is from her address to members of the Lions Club at noon.

Mrs. Greenhill has been chief of the division for three years and before that was in similar work for private institutions. Mrs. Greenhill was introduced by Mrs. S. T. Gilmore, a member of the Sutton County Welfare Board, members of which met in conference with Mrs. Greenhill after the luncheon.

Workers Try To "Adjust"

When the division first started its work, Mrs. Greenhill explained, it had no one to plan for the children with which her division is concerned. Now it has social workers who work in the various state institutions in a capacity which might be termed "planners for children." These people try to solve the problem of adjusting the child to the social environment it will meet outside of the institution.

In one year, Mrs. Greenhill said, one of these workers established a record of returning 137 children to their own families and also secured the removal from the

NEW MOTOR CAR BEING SHOWN PUBLIC THIS WEEK

Advances in styling, engineering and performance are boasted of the new Chevrolet models, introduced Saturday the nation over and a coach of which is being displayed by McKnight Chevrolet Co. of which F. B. Williams is manager.

Solid steel turret tops are being used this year on the standard line as well as the "master" group. An interesting feature of the coach model Mr. Williams is showing is that the front seat is a one-piece one with the back divided so that it may be moved forward to facilitate entering the car.

H. C. Howard, zone manager of the company, in Dallas, said this week that many dealers in the half of Texas included in his territory reported a number of sales on the first day the new model was shown.

Sutton People Lagging in Gifts To "Will Rogers" Memorial

Sonora and Sutton county citizens are lagging in their contributions to the Will Rogers Memorial Fund. There is a reason, however, so those in charge aren't alarmed.

Since the campaign opened Monday, Will's birthday anniversary, only $7.25 has been contributed at the NEWS office and the First National Bank, where the money is being handled by C. H. Allen. Thirteen men, women and firms have given that amount to help build a lasting memorial to perpetuate the memory of Will Rogers, humorist who gave laughs to millions.

But, as was said above, there's a reason.

Interest in the Sutton County Queen election has been intense and people have been thinking of that rather than of the Will Rogers Memorial Fund. It is believed that in the coming week many more will step into the bank—or into the NEWS office—and say: "Here's my contribution—I certainly want to help in such a work."

Here are the names of the first men, women and firms in Sutton county to "chip in" to provide

ENTIRE MOHAIR CLIP SOLD AT 50-60 CENTS TUESDAY

About 200 ranchmen in this vicinity whose mohair clip was in Sonora Wool & Mohair clip was in house profited Tuesday with the completion of sale negotiations which brought fifty cents a pound for the old hair and sixty cents a pound for kid growth.

The entire lot amounted to about 330,000 pounds and was bought by Tom Richey of A. W. Hilliard and Son, Boston.

W. J. Fields, Jr., warehouse manager, said Thursday noon that the sale this week will remove practically all of the clip accumulation of recent months.

KISER INFANT BURIED IN SONORA MONDAY

Services were conducted at the grave in Sonora Cemetery Monday afternoon for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Kiser.

The baby was born Sunday night and died early Monday morning. The funeral was conducted by the Rev. Frank Nixon, pastor of the Baptist Church. The Kisers have three other children—two girls and a boy.

The Kisers live on the Roy Hudspeth Ranch where he is employed. The grandparents of the deceased baby are Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Kiser of Sonora.

L. W. Elliott School, Honoring Official, Dedicated Sunday

Program in Auditorium Pleases Many Who Come To See $28,000 Building

"If we maintain our state and nation—and a republican form of government—it will be necessary that we maintain and develop an educational system that will grant every child, regardless of race or creed, the privilege of gaining knowledge."

So declared L. W. Elliott, president of the board, Sonora Independent School District, in an address Sunday afternoon as part of the program officially opening that structure as a unit in Sonora's school system.

In his address Judge Elliott said, in part:

"Thomas Jefferson considered it a greater honor to have founded the University of Virginia than to

"My efforts in seventeen years as a member of the board have been fully rewarded when these children sang 'America' a few minutes ago in English. It is, indeed, a happy day for me and I consider it the greatest achievement of my life that other members of the board saw fit to name it 'L. W. Elliott School' in honor of my services . . .

"Education opens wide fields for improvement of the faculties. Our Mexican friends will be better citizens because of this building. We dedicate it today to the enlightenment and education of our future Mexican-American citizens."

Eight girls of the school and eight boys, one a Boy Scout with an American flag, opened the program by singing "America" from the stage. All but the Scout were dressed in white and the girls wore red, white and blue streamers. The invocation was by the Rev. Frank Nixon.

Teacher Translates Address

B. H. McLain, superintendent, expressed appreciation of the Mexican people's patience and cooperation and urged them to care for the building properly. He suggested that they do as other people who have come to America—give up their loyalty to their old home, cherish and maintain the best of their former home and adjust themselves to their new residence.

Mr. McLain's address was translated into Spanish by Miss Leta Ray, formerly of Fort Worth, who recently became an instructor in

1936 Master De Luxe and Standard Chevrolets are Replete with New Features

New Master De Luxe and Standard Chevrolets for 1936 show marked advances in appearance and in engineering. Either Knee-Action or conventional springing may be had in the Master models. The illustrations show: Top left, the Master De Luxe sport sedan, with built-in trunk; top right, the re-styled, deeply moulded radiator grille, used on all models; lower left, the simple arrangement of Chevrolet's perfected hydraulic brakes, all models; and, lower right, a Standard sedan.

EXPERT SAYS SALT WILL NOT KILL CATTLE GRUBS

Washington, Nov. 6. — Some stockmen have long believed that salt treatments—either dry salt or brine—are effective in killing grubs or warbles in the backs of cattle. But a scientific test of salt applications showed that they were virtually if not entirely ineffective.

J. Stotchik, of the United States Department of Agriculture, tested a strong brine rubbed over the hair of several animals and found that it did not kill grubs. He injected brine into the holes in the hide and the grubs survived. And he rubbed brine repeatedly over the humps in the back of a steer from which the hair had been clipped.

His conclusion was that the frequent brushings were more effective in killing grubs than the brine.

As a result the Bureau of Animal Industry is not recommending the simple salt "cure" for grubs. It is simple enough, but it does not cure.

Huge Oak's History An Interesting One

Camp Wood Settlers Think Tree Dates Back To Ark

A sturdy oak tree said to be fifty-two feet high and to have a body girth of fourteen and a half feet, growing in Camp Wood, is described in a bulletin to the NEWS from L. J. Dean of that section.

Mr. Wood describes the natural growth of his section in these words:

"In some of our Sunday editions in Texas there are stories of a movement to beautify our state and national highways. To do so in many localities this beautification will have to be provided and cared for.

"But this is different in the hills and valleys north and west of San Antonio, especially between Rock-springs and Uvalde along Highway 55, now designated as a by-pass for U. S. 83.

"It has beautiful natural growths of pecan trees, oak and cedar timber . . .

"The supposition is that the large oak I mention came by way of Noah's Ark, starting from an acorn carried by one of the ravens sent out. The tree is worth driving many miles to see. It now stands as a sentinel and background for the beautiful natural park at Camp Wood."

THE REV. AND MRS. F. M. BRASIER HERE THIS WEEK

RAISES SHEEP FOR FUR, NOT FOR WOOL

Texas Rancher Makes Success of Karakul Species.

Dunder, Texas.—Raising sheep that bear fur, not wool, constitutes the hobby of Alex Albright, seventy-three-year-old Archer county stock breeder, who owns the only herd of karakul sheep of commercial consequence in the whole United States. And from that herd of Asiatic sheep he each year sends to Eastern markets thousands of dollars' worth of fine fur.

The history of this unusual industry dates back thousands of years. The karakul-fur bearer is an ancient member of the sheep family. History recounts that conquering tribes came into the independent kingdom of Bokhara, bordering on old Russia, thousands of years ago, bringing their sheep with them. Archeologists have dug up mummies buried for 3,000 years that were found to be wearing this lamb's fur—in perfect condition.

Regard Sheep as Sacred.

The breed takes its name from the little town of Karakul, not far from the Aral sea, in Turkestan, Asia. For centuries the fur of the sheep grown in this little primitive community was known to traders and furriers the world over as the finest to be obtained. The pure karakuls were found only on the ranches of the Bokharan noblemen. Mixed breeds are found throughout that part of Asia, the Afghans, the Astrachans and the Krimmers. The Mahometan tribes of Bokhara have a sacred regard for these full-blooded karakuls. They guard them zealously, and this fact, together with the knowledge that the karakul breed is rapidly becoming extinct in their domain, caused extraordinary difficulties when it was first proposed to transplant a flock of the sheep to America.

The flock which Dr. C. C. Young brought to Texas in 1908 was the first full-blooded karakul sheep ever taken out of the Province of Bokhara and out of Russia. That flock of 15 head was brought to Holiday, Texas, also in Archer county, not far from Mr. Albright's present ranch. Doctor Young's personal knowledge of the people with whom he was dealing went a great way toward his ultimate success in carrying out his plans.

Albright Takes Hold.

Doctor Young did not continue his experiment long, and Mr. Albright took up the project of raising the fur-bearing sheep. It was 25 years ago that Alex Albright made his first effort to import karakul stock into the United States in order to bring new blood to his then small flock. He, too, found that he must overcome the import laws of his own country first, then break down the shyness of the herdsmen of Bokhara, who recoiled from the idea of allowing their sheep to be taken to foreign lands.

"When I say that raising karakul sheep is the most profitable industry the stockmen could enter I have only to state a few facts," Mr. Albright said. "Ordinary wool is now bringing around 20 cents a pound, and has not greatly varied from that figure in a year. As my invoice shows, last June 15, I sold on the New York market fur pelts from 280 karakul sheep at $2,346.12 net to me. That alone clearly substantiates my claim that 100 good fur-producing ewes can show more profit than a thousand head of any other breed of sheep. Karakul lamb pelts for fur must be taken the first three or four days after birth."

Farmer Curses Storm; Lightning Kills Him

Weimar, Texas.—Benny Hubbard, tenant farmer, stood under a tree, cursing because a thunderstorm prevented a trip to town.

"Don't do that," his young son said. "Something's liable to happen to you."

Hubbard continued cursing. A bolt of lightning struck the tree. Hubbard was killed and the boy injured seriously.

Penny Wedges Wedding Ring; Hammer Is Used

Mansfield, Ohio.—A hammer and chisel were part of the equipment Rev. Hayes M. Baker, Mansfield, used at a wedding. The minister asked for the ring, and a nervous bridegroom brought it forth, only to find a penny tightly wedged in it. The ceremony was delayed while Rev. Baker got a hammer and a chisel to knock the penny loose.

Hummingbirds Keep Zoo Workers Busy

New York.—Three Venezuelan humming birds, weighing, collectively, about three ounces, are keeping attendants at the bird house in the Zoological gardens in the Bronx earning their salaries.

The birds have to be fed every 15 minutes, as the constant flapping of their wings wear out the small amount of energy their tiny rations of food produce.

LUBRICATION EXPERT TO BE HERE FOR TWO DAYS

The scientific lubrication of motor driving is to be demonstrated for cars as a preparation for winter in Sonora today and tomorrow by O. B. Collie, representing the Magnolia Petroleum Co.

Mr. Collie's headquarters will be at Sonora Motor Co., operated by Sam Hull, wholesale agent for Magnolia products here. The company is stressing the importance of "winterizing" seven vital points of the automobile and by so doing secure the utmost service during the colder weather.

Mr. Collie will be here today and tomorrow.

W. C. Gilmore and his father, S. T. Gilmore, went to Fort Worth Sunday—W. C. Gilmore returning Monday and his father remaining in Fort Worth.

CAR RIVEN BY STUDENTS OVERTURNED FRIDAY NOON

When the pickup car of Wesley Sawyer and the sedan driven by Mrs. O. L. Richardson came together near the Mr. Fred Berger residence shortly after noon Friday the lighter, Sawyer car overturned in the ditch.

Young Sawyer and his companion, A. W. Awalt, Jr., crawled from under the car when it was lifted. A severe hand injury was suffered by Sawyer and a bruised foot was Awalt's share of the day's "casualties."

The pickup top was crushed as well as the sideboards, the latter of which served an excellent purpose in holding the car off the boys, thereby saving them more serious injuries.

AMERICANS EVERYWHERE SHOULD REMEMBER WELL ANOTHER DAY'S LESSON

Perhaps in no year since the signing of the armistice ending the World War have the American people had more cause for thinking seriously of world affairs than on Monday—the seventeenth observance of that Anniversary.

The noise, singing and what not of that first Armistice Day, seventeen years ago, is gone. The unrestrained joy of that day will long be remembered. It would be well if Americans could remember as well the lesson the 1914-1917 conflict should have taught.

Today the world is watching with a great deal of interest the battle between two nations far away as one struggles to "civilize" the other. Newspapers, magazines, conversation reek, and the word is used advisedly, of the onslaught of one nation upon another.

Yes, America should think seriously at this Armistice Day season. To view two nations battling is a horrible thing. To see our own nation drawn into that same conflict for any cause but that of self-protection would be far more horrible.

The tom-toms of war, the spirit of martial music, the hot words of any misguided ones . . . all should be carefully guarded against by a people who would do well to remember the misery of another day.

Presidential Nominee in 1936 ?

COLONEL FRANK KNOX
Publisher, The Chicago Daily News

Foe of "New Deal" A Crusader --Defender of U. S. Constitution

In a letter to the NEWS last week, Colonel Knox said. ". . . I, of course, don't know just how far this current gossip associating my name with the Republican nomination for the presidency will go, and while it makes life pretty strenuous, indeed, for me, it is very interesting."

"Trust-busting" will assume a major part in the Presidential campaign next year if some of the G. O. P. leaders carry out their threats. Only this week Senator Borah asked Col. Roosevelt to bolt the present Republican leadership and conduct the 1936 drive against the "reign of monopoly."

Col. Frank Knox is a bundle of energy. He has been on the go since before the Spanish-American War. At 61 there seems to be no stopping him.

Failure to redistribute wealth according to the creed of the medical have-nots will not cause any threats of revolution in this country, says Col. Knox. But he does believe the people should have a greater share in Uncle Sam's stock. He is an inveterate crusader against the greedy and rapacious and long ago sounded his tom-tom against this group to avert any demands for a socialized state with its restrictions on liberty and freedom "won through centuries of struggle."

He prefers concrete, corrective remedies to the dictatorial ideas of the professors. To increase employment he would speed up production at a lower unit cost.

He sees no reason for changing the Constitution.

His substitute program for the New Deal:

- 1. Immediate and drastic reduction of governmental expenses.
- 2. Maintenance of national credit by annually balancing the budget.
- 3. Preservation of sound currency at all costs.
- 4. Enforcement of the policy of restricting agricultural products.
- 6. Unemployment and old-age insurance under state laws.

Spanish-American Veteran Born in Boston, Col Knox went to school in Michigan. Joined Teddy Roosevelt in the Spanish-American War. Became a star reporter for the Grand Rapids Herald, then shifted to the weekly field at Sault St. Marie. In 1912 he and his partner, John Muehling, sold the paper, purchased another, the Manchester Leader in New Hampshire. A year later they took over the Manchester Union.

William Randolph Hearst made him editor of the Boston American in 1927 and soon after he became general manager of all Hearst newspapers. He left Hearst in 1930 and, with the late Theodore Ellis, bought the Chicago Daily News.

His homes are in Manchester and Chicago. He is married. Plays golf and rides when not busy publishing his paper, or deflating the New Deal.—Newsdom.

Consider the Pedestrian

Let us not forget that pedestrians have certain rights, the most cherished one of which is the right to stay alive.

Motor vehicles today are bigger and tremendously faster than they were a generation ago. But the speed of the pedestrian has not increased at all. He plods along today at exactly the same old pace as he did at the dawn of human history.

The United States Supreme Court has decreed that once a pedestrian has started across the street with the "go" light, he cannot be charged with contributory negligence for failure to observe light changes while crossing. The obligation rests upon the motorist to wait until the crossing is clear and failure to do so constitutes negligence on his part.

Give pedestrians every chance and show them the same courteous consideration that you yourself would expect if you were walking instead of driving.

Last year about 45 per cent of all the 35,500 traffic deaths were pedestrians. Even more striking is the fact that in the cities between 60 and 65 per cent of all traffic fatality victims were on foot.

SONORA POSTAL BUSINESS DECREASES IN OCTOBER

Postal receipts in Sonora in October showed a decrease of $145.24 from those of the same month last year, T. C. Murray, postmaster, said this week.

The volume for this October was $455.35 while in October, 1934, Sonora and Sutton county people paid $600.59 for postoffice department services of one sort or another.

Parcel post business has increased greatly, Mr. Murray says, in the last few weeks and with a good November and December the total for the year should compare favorably with that of last year.

PLANES AID IN WAR UPON LIQUOR SHIPS

Rum Runners Now Transfer Cargoes at Sea.

Washington.—Customs officials are mapping plans for a decisive campaign against the latest ruse of rum runners who have shifted their bases to the high seas.

Stripped of their former bases by co-operative moves of the United States, France, Newfoundland, British Honduras and Guatemala, smugglers are now chartering vessels to transport liquor cargoes from Europe for delivery to smaller ships at sea.

This was disclosed in reports from customs officials to executives of the Treasury department.

A large fleet of planes is operating from seven scattered coastal points, spotting doubtful vessels 50 miles out at sea. These planes are in constant touch with revenue cutters and land stations.

Tightened restrictions on Atlantic islands which previously had based large numbers of rum running boats, have driven the smugglers to bold measures. Some in recent months have even run small liquor vessels into large American ports, on the chance they would slip by.

One by one the choicest operating bases of the rum runners have vanished. Mariel, Cuba; Belize in British Honduras, Puerto Barrios in Guatemala, St. John's island in Newfoundland and the French colony, St. Pierre et Miquelon, each has been closed under agreement with their governments.

Within the next two months, it was indicated, the drive against the chartered ships is expected to be felt. Though the campaign may later be extended to Pacific ports, rum smuggling on that coast does not appear so heavy.

All Readers "Go Blind" on Every Line of Type

Minneapolis.—The eye "goes blind" at least three times while reading a line of type. Tests made with a camera developed by Dr. M. A. Tinker, of the University of Minnesota, showed that the average person's eye made about five little hops over each line and that the eye was blind for a fiftieth of a second between the hops. The best readers make three or four stops twelve times in covering a line of type.

Pupils and Teacher Show P. T. A. How Geography Taught

Mrs. W. L. Davis Speaks of Position of Home in Teaching Citizenship

Sixteen children of Miss Rena McQuary's fifth grade showed parents and friends Tuesday afternoon the way the modern generation receive geography instruction.

The demonstration was a part of the Parent-Teacher Association program when the general subject was "Geography As a Basis For World Citizenship."

Miss McQuary explained that methods of teaching geography changed continually and that at present the unit method was in use. Students are instructed as to one particular phase, the work is rechecked, re-tested and before the class goes forward the teacher must be certain that unit essentials have been mastered.

The pupils, who volunteered to "stay after school" to show the grown-ups, displayed enthusiasm in the subject, "Ethiopia," selected by Miss McQuary. Questions were asked them as the teacher displayed Ethiopia pictures in a scrapbook.

Mrs. W. L. Davis Makes Address Centering her thought around the quotation of an authority who says that—"the earlier the child sees himself as a part of society the more quickly he will adapt himself to that society"—Mrs. W. L. Davis spoke to the members on "The Responsibility of the Home in Teaching Citizenship."

Citizenship was described by Mrs. Davis as character functioning in civic affairs. She gave three reasons for the belief that the home is the "most potent" place in which to teach citizenship. They were:

- a) The home usually consists of a small group.
 - b) Family ties are close and permit more efficient teaching.
 - c) The pre-school child has been subjected to no other influence.
- Mrs. Shurley To State Sessions
Mrs. Velma Shurley, president, was authorized to represent the Sonora association at the state meeting of Parent-Teacher delegates in El Paso Nov. 18. Mrs. S. T. Gilmore, a member of the association and honorary vice-president, sixth district, also plans to attend. Sixty-six now belong to the Sonora group, according to an announcement by Mrs. J. W. Trainer, second vice-president. The fifth grade was credited with having the most parents or friends in attendance. At the study class preceding the meeting the ladies heard Mrs. Violet B. Greenhill, chief of the child welfare division of the state board of control.

Social Adjustment

institution's "waiting" list of 137 children who might be kept in more properly adjusted homes.

U. S. Aid a Possibility
Poverty alone, Mrs. Greenhill pointed out, should not constitute a reason for the child's being taken from the family and put in an institution. An improved home is to be preferred for there the child may have desirable influences which cannot be secured in the best of institutions.

In concluding her address Mrs. Greenhill said:

"I urge all of you to use your influence to see that Congress allocates to Texas in January the $72,000 indicated in the Social Security Bill that this state might have for children's work. We are building a program for boys and girls . . . spending much, if you please, to pick up little wrecks and big wrecks, improve them and put them back into society.

"It's a building program for boys and girls, yes, that's true, but men and women are the backbone of it all and if communities understand home conditions they can do much to eliminate and to help destroy the causes of mal-adjusted children."

Gus Miller One of Guests

Mrs. S. M. N. Marrs of Austin, former president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, accompanied Mrs. Greenhill to Sonora. She and Mrs. M. O. Britt were also guests of the Lions Club. In the afternoon Mrs. Greenhill spoke to the Study Class of the Parent-Teacher Association.

The club voted that it was its sentiment that the contest for Sutton County Queen should continue until Stunt Night, Nov. 15, without the elimination of any of the candidates of the five organizations.

Other guests of the club were Ira Shurley and Gus Miller, the latter of whom was instrumental in the forming of the Sonora club. He lives in San Angelo, is a representative of the Collector of Internal Revenue, traveling in this territory.

Nut Meats Should Be Diet Supplement

Concentrated Foods, They Have Wealth of Fat Elements

Washington, Nov. 6.—There are plenty of nuts this fall. The total production of English walnuts, pecans, almonds and filberts is about 39 per cent greater than last year, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

Pecans make up about 88 million pounds of the total, and the English walnut and filbert crops are unusually large.

Nuts are concentrated foods. They contain little moisture and much fat, protein and carbohydrates. They are especially high in fat. The way to use nuts, says the Bureau of Home Economics, is to supplement other foods with them, particularly foods lacking in richness, and to add nuts for flavor and texture, but not to serve them in large quantities.

People used to think they could depend on nuts in place of meat and other animal proteins. The Bureau says that although nut proteins are of good quality, to get enough nut protein at a meal it would be necessary to eat too much fat along with it.

This is because common nuts, such as almonds, Brazil nuts, cashew nuts, filberts, hickory nuts, peanuts, pecans and walnuts contain roughly from 45 to 70 per cent fat. Their protein ranges from 10 to 25 per cent and their carbohydrates from 7 to 25 per cent. The proportion of mineral matter is small, but unblanched almonds, hazelnuts, walnuts, pecans and hickory nuts are good sources of iron.

In general, nuts are rich sources of phosphorus and poor to fair sources of calcium. Most nuts are rich sources of vitamin B, but poor sources of vitamin A.

Mrs. Sam Hull entertained the Monday Contract Club Monday at her home. Mesdames Mike Murphy, Will Wilkinson and W. D. Wallace were present. Mrs. Wilkinson won award for high score.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL
By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND
Director, Physical and Health Education
New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

Three R's Plus

I visited a school recently where the teacher departs radically from the usual idea of the three R's. And as in all such instances, he is immensely popular with the children.

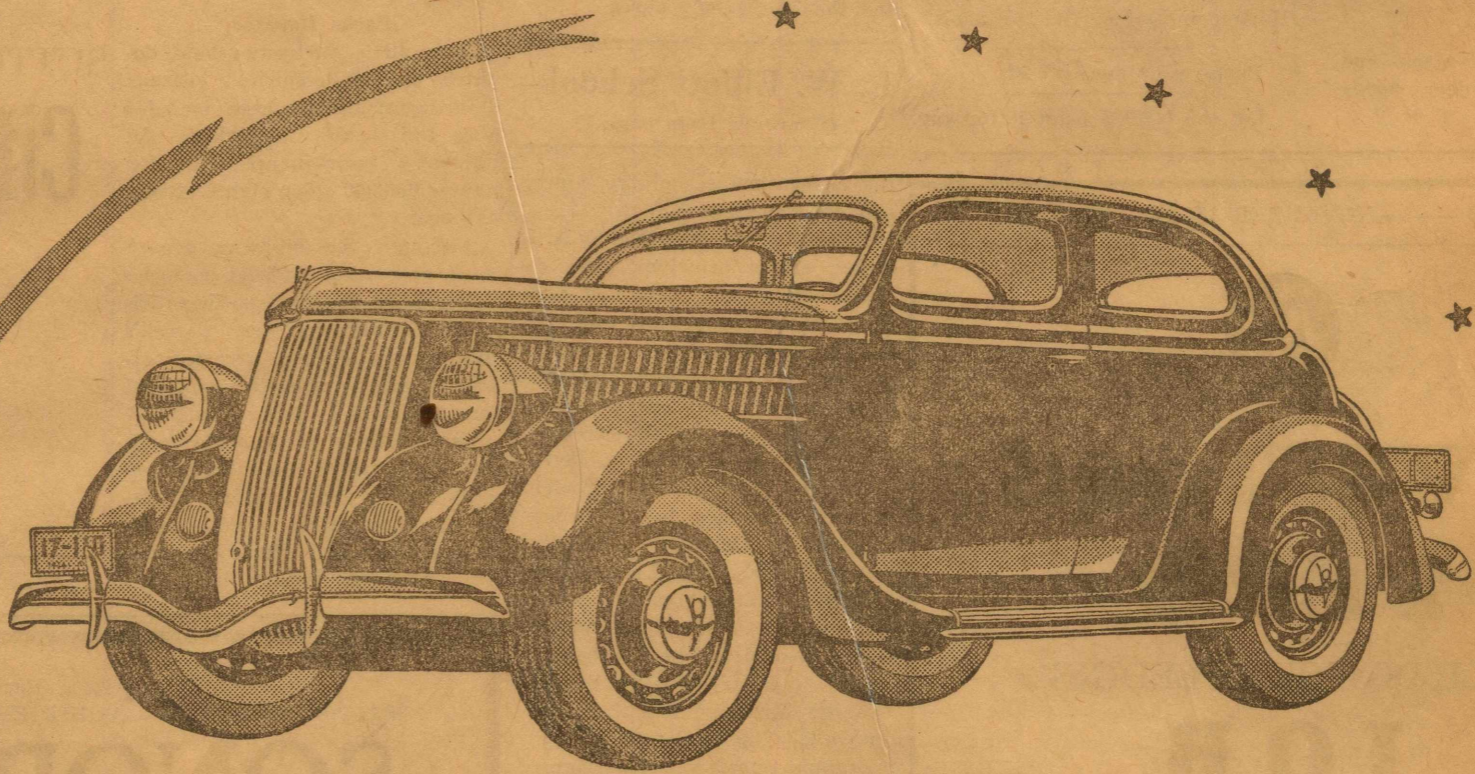

He had only to speak and his slightest wish was carried out. This is mentioned only incidentally but with unusual talent it is true the teacher does command the respect of children.

This teacher's particular flair is fishing and hunting. In the summer he is a guide for hiking and camping parties. At the time of my visit he was teaching the art of tying flies to lines.

In the words of slang the boys were "eating it up." They loved it. Perhaps they couldn't express their feelings, but they knew this teacher was a great and good man because he could do well the things in life that count among men. With them the struggle of man for existence was not submerged. And here was a teacher who could lead them in that instinctive struggle for the conquest of nature. Primitive appeal? Yes, but very much a part of the culture of the human race for nobody knows how long.

It was good education and a good school. I approved, perhaps a little wistfully, for I envied those boys.

Milk is the most important food for growing folk, and school youngsters are learning it, observes Dr. Ireland in his next article.

Cattle Men Are Aroused as Rustling Increases

Des Moines.—Iowa cattle men, faced with the loss of valuable stock from increasing night raids by modern cattle rustlers, are contemplating formation of bands of vigilantes to combat the thieves.

Rustling—on a larger scale than Iowa has experienced since the turn of the century—has broken out recently and appears to be on the increase. Records at the state bureau of investigation disclosed that 133 head of cattle have been purloined from Iowa farms during the first eight months of the year.

In the pioneer days of the state, the rustler was a daring figure who operated on horseback in large bands.

The modern rustler uses a light, fast truck and takes a minimum of chances. His booty, aided by processing taxes and scarcity of beef, daily grows more valuable.

Operating with a "finger man," the modern rustling crew spots herds which graze in pastures far away from the farm house.

In the night stillness the crew, usually composed of only two or three men, slip an opening in barbed wire fences and drive their truck through. Then they herd the cattle into their truck and speed away.

As yet no offender has been lynched and it is not believed such an extreme would be resorted to if a vigilante organization were formed. But if the menace continues, Glen Schmidt, chief of the investigation bureau, said there is a "distinct possibility farmers will take the law into their own hands and mete out some kind of punishment."

State Official One Time Paper Carrier

Orville S. Carpenter, Auditor, a Methodist and Shriner

Austin, Nov. 5.—Lawyer and certified accountant, 36-year-old Orville S. (Dick) Carpenter left a successful private auditing practice in Dallas when Governor Allred appointed him State Auditor last summer. Carpenter took the oath of office August 1, 1935; during part of July, 1935, he served as acting state auditor.

He has been in the accounting business since 1922. For five years before his appointment, Mr. Carpenter lived in Dallas where he was associated with the Everts Drilling Company and at the same time had a private accounting practice. In July, 1935, he was admitted to the Texas bar.

The state auditor was born in Elwood, Indiana, Sept. 2, 1899.

His first job was carrying papers for the Evening Star, Independence, Kansas. He was only eight years of age and received $1.00 a week.

"It sure seemed like a lot of money," he recalled recently.

When the World War ended, he was in training in an R. O. T. C. unit at Meridian College in Mississippi. In 1919 he left this college and came to Wichita Falls as an employee of a window-glass company.

He was married Sept. 4, 1926, to Miss Mary Evans, daughter of Mrs. J. B. Evans, one of the early settlers in Wichita county. They have one child, a daughter named Mary Evans Carpenter, now 3 years of age.

Mr. Carpenter is a member of the American Institute of Accountants, the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants, Masbat Shrine Temple in Wichita Falls and the Methodist Church.

the elementary school for American children here.

Education was described by A. I. Baker, school principal, as a development of the individual mentally, morally, physically and spiritually. He pledged that he and his teachers will carry out that definition as best they can to develop well-rounded, educated citizens.

Del Rio Superintendent Here Gilberto Cerda, superintendent of San Felipe Schools for Mexican children in Del Rio, urged that "Anglo-Saxons and Latin-Americans cooperate to break down race and creed prejudices." His address was in Spanish and he later repeated a portion of it in English. Eduardo Gonzales of Del Rio accompanied him to Sonora.

Antonio Garcia was chairman of the program and was assisted by Ernest Virgen.

The program by the school's pupils was particularly interesting as many of the children had learned difficult parts that required a great deal of preparation. The program included:

Six boys and six girls, all in white, in flag drill and song; story, "Appreciation of Education," by Ismel Castro; eleven girls, perfectly arranged as to height, in drill and song, "Gloria Eterna Las Ciencias Y Letras." (Eternal Glory to Science and Letters);

Dialog, two girls; vocal trio, "Isle of Capris," two girls and boy; song, eight small girls dressed in pink and boasting pink hair ribbons jauntily tied to coal-black hair; solo, "Lady in Red," two girls; dialog, schoolboy telling other one flying kite of value of education; recitation, small girl busily at work with embroidery.

Piano accompaniment for the vocal numbers was by Miss Gertrude Babcock, one of the teachers at the school.

Boston Newspaper Tells of Texas' and Texan's Work to Beautify Highways

'San Antonio, Texas.—So successful has been a state-wide citizens' movement for highway beautification in Texas that its leader, Mrs. Frank W. Sorrell of San Antonio has been publicly honored.

A state highway bridge over the San Antonio River was dedicated to Mrs. Sorrell Oct. 25. On the $85,000 concrete span is a bronze plaque saying it is "in recognition of her devoted and unselfish services as chairman of the Citizens' Organization for Highway Roadside Improvement and Beautification."

Although much of Mrs. Sorrell's time since her appointment two years ago has been devoted to organization work, substantial achievements already have been attained in making the travel arteries more attractive. Hundreds of thousands of trees and shrubs have been planted along the roads. Approximately 800 small wayside parks or "turnouts" have been established. Private property entrances on highways and approaches to various cities have been beautified. Unsightly spots along roads have been removed or converted into attractive places. Owners of private property have been encouraged to remove signboards which obscured the view from highways, and to keep rubbish out of sight.

Voluntary Organization

While her organization's work is done as a voluntary, civic project, Mrs. Sorrell has created roadside improvement districts—25 in number—corresponding in area with the official highway department divisions. Each has a woman division chairman of highway beautification. Within each division are county chairmen, some of them men.

Each community is encouraged to plant trees, shrubs and flowers which thrive best in that particular locality. Many concentrate on a single distinctive flowering plant. One section, for instance, is noted for its red buds while another features the crepe myrtle. Still others favor a colorfully blended selection that impresses travelers with Texas' varied flora.

The wayside parks, though they do not offer extensive recreation facilities or overnight camping accommodations, have an advantage beyond making attractive the highways they touch. They break the monotony of long travel—provide restful places to tarry along the way. They range from three quarters of an acre to three acres in area.

Parks Donated

These little parkways were donated by public-spirited citizens. Other contributions have included trees and shrubs, of which the highway maintenance division planted 600,000 along rights-of-way last year.

Although the highway department and other official agencies cooperate in the roadside beautification movement, Mrs. Sorrell's organization directs greatest efforts toward arousing interest among private property owners.

These efforts are bearing fruit, not only in urban and suburban regions but in rural sections. A distinctive city entrance, with artistic archways and attractive landscaping, is no novelty, but ornamental entrances to farm premises, with well-kept shrubbery-bordered drives leading far back from main highways to rural dwellings, also are becoming more common.

There is a greater tendency, too, to keep farm and ranch utility buildings out of sight, or at least with vines or hedges between them and the highways. Public edifices with attractive grounds are increasing in country and city alike. The rural schoolhouse and church along the highways receive special attention in the roadside beautification program. Even the inevitable filling stations are putting on a better front.—Christian Science Monitor.

The Common Scold
By GRACE T. SHAVER
© McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service.

MY ATTENTION was caught at once by her open, obvious efforts to attract his notice. Can you imagine any male taking a second look at such a plain little brown thing? Or such an insignificant appearing creature having the ego to dare a flirtation?
If he pretended any interest in her at first he would certainly drop her should a more brilliant female come along. In my opinion she was only laying herself open to future heartache.
Yet she did attract him! And he appeared very attentive for some time. A serious mind is often entertained by frivolous beauty, but here was a case of frivolity unsupported by loveliness holding some mysterious glamour.
From day to day as I watched their romance I wondered how long he would continue enamored. I could not dream that he would never weary of her even after she had become a household drudge and the worst of all companions, a common scold!

True, I have seen fine husbands, fathers of families, take a great deal from weary wives because they were the mothers of their children. Men will excuse much in women for whom they are unable to provide such service and luxury as they in youthful hope have led them to expect. But he who weds with one that is obviously a scold and a busybody deserves small sympathy.
Love goes where it is sent, they say. He married her and brought her to live in the little house next door and from day to day my wonder at his devotion increased.
No housewife was ever more fond of excess furnishings than my little neighbor. Heavy pieces quite out of keeping with the size of their abode were lugged in with as much labor as piano movers exert when hoisting "uprights" through the windows of small high apartments. Why do young wives feel that they need so much unnecessary equipment for comfortable home making?
Sometimes I would admit to the neighbors, who could not forbear to discuss the couple, that she was a "cute little thing." But certainly just being cute was no excuse for her shrewish behavior. Nothing he could do ever appeared to suit her!
She would meet him at the door and scold until you could have heard her a block away. When he brought things home they never seemed to please her and she would tell him so in sharp unbridled language. I couldn't understand exactly what she was saying, but her actions were unmistakable. I have actually seen her go so far as to carry some of his gifts out and toss them into the yard. No husband could be expected to put up with such performances very long.
Did he come quietly home and sit down on the porch, out she would pop and give him such a harangue as would have sent any other husband post haste to Reno! I was quite sure that he would soon desert her.
And now I began to sympathize a little with the foolish wife. She was about to become a mother. It is a condition in which all things are excusable. Mothers are compelled to sit quietly at home and for longer and longer periods, are left alone.
Occasionally I would watch him sitting on his front porch. How disgusted with life he now looked! He should have married perfectly well that such an unattractive little creature as he had wed would try motherhood as the consummate tie to bind him when all else failed.
However, his life seemed a little more peaceful now. For days I did not hear his wife's sharp tongue. Perhaps she had learned her lesson and would not criticize him so caustically now.
I do not know just when the babies came, but one of the neighbor's children ran in to tell me that the mother was bringing them out on the porch for an airing, and I hastened across in neighborly fashion to offer my congratulations. I had already heard that she had twins or triplets, but I was quite unprepared to learn that she was rivaling the Dionne record. The little house was running over! How had they ever kept them inside this long?
And then, just as I was gazing in pleased astonishment, the tragedy occurred. One of the baby wrens fell off the tiny porch! Right down on the cement driveway at the side of the house. Its little life was crushed out of it forever by the fall.
Frantic sorrow and motherly care are of no avail when the brood is ready for flight. Happy the parents who can see some strong offspring take safely to wing while they nurse the younger and weaker ones yet a little longer, as did my neighbors in the little house over the garage.
I know now that their understanding of life and each other is a well nigh perfect thing.

Framed Washington Picture in School
Mexican Students Attend Well in New Building

Pupils and teachers, according to A. L. Baker, principal of the L. W. Elliott School, are appreciative of the gift this week of a framed picture of George Washington.
Donor of the portrait, one by the artist Stuart, was Mrs. W. P. McConnell, Jr. of Station B.
The picture has been hung in the room serving seventh and eighth grade pupils, who are studying American history. Mr. Baker said Tuesday that the walls of the new building seem a bit bare and that any citizens who see fit to make gifts of pictures will have the sincere thanks of all associated in school work there.
One hundred and seventy students were in attendance Monday. There are about 210 enrolled. A number were absent, Mr. Baker said, on account of cotton picking or whooping cough illness. The enrollment Tuesday was not affected greatly by the inclement weather although when the students were studying in the old, frame building many were absent when the weather was bad.

Bronchos To Stalk Ozona Lions There Monday Afternoon

Sonora Team Greatly Outweighed Fights Well Against Heavy Team Here Saturday

Seventeen hundred and fifty-seven pounds of ponderous Rock-springs football players Saturday afternoon overwhelmed 1,528 pounds of Sonora lightweight players to secure a victory over the Bronchos by a score of 19 to 0.

Although outweighed twenty pounds to the man the Sonora team displayed excellent football playing and made things extremely interesting for the invaders from Edwards county.

In the first 10 yards of play Francis Archer, Sonora halfback, suffered a broken collar bone which will keep him out of football the rest of the season. The bone was set and Archer returned to the sidelines to watch his teammates fight valiantly throughout the game. Archer has played an exceptional game this year and was the featured player in the game at Menard when Sonora played its outstanding game of the season.

Jim Taylor Working Well
Neither team scored in the first quarter when the ball was in Sonora territory most of the time, with Taylor, midget Sonora quarterback, carrying the load of Sonora offensive work. A pass, Taylor to Trainer, end, was good for 5 yards, and Monte Earwood, Rock-springs quarterback with 186 pounds of power, made a neat end run for 20 yards.

Quickly after the second quarter opened Rock-springs Bulldogs unleashed an attack which ended with Brown, left halfback, going over for touchdown. Trainer, Sonora end, was hurt on the first play of the quarter while trying to stop Earwood's run for 15 yards. Trainer returned to the game later, was on crutches Sunday, but was back for practice this week.

Elliott Runs 40 Yards
Rock-springs threatened near the close of the half which ended with the ball 6 inches from the Sonora goal line.

Two touchdowns were made by Rock-springs in the third and the try for point was good after the last one, completing their 19 points of the afternoon.

In the fourth period, after faking a punt, Marion Elliott, Sonora half-back, darted around end for a badly needed 40 yards. Roueche, whose playing throughout the game was excellent, followed his teammate's example and made 10 yards on a pass. A bit later he received another pass from Taylor and made 7 yards. Brantley, Sonora full-back, played his usual hard, driving game, counting for much on the defensive.

Pneumonia Causes Death of Small Boy

Five Other Children and Mother Ill at J. R. Caldwell's

Pneumonia resulting from the ravages of whooping cough claimed the life Sunday of Eddie Lynn Caldwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Caldwell.

Eddie Lynn was two and a half years old. He had been ill only a short time. His four sisters—Katherine, Hazel, Mary Jim and Betty Sue—as well as his brother, J. R. Jr.—are also ill but were improved Thursday morning.

Services were conducted Monday afternoon by the Rev. Frank Nixon, pastor of the Baptist Church. Burial was in Sonora cemetery. Pallbearers were the following high school students: L. M. Roueche, Jr., Kenneth Babeck, Curt Schwiening, Alfred Schwiening, Jr.

The condition of Mary Jim became so serious Monday that she was taken to San Angelo Tuesday morning. She was better Wednesday and Thursday and it is thought that she will be well enough to be brought home today.

Mrs. Caldwell has been ill along with her children but was considerably improved yesterday.

Mr. Caldwell is a ranchman and a brother of W. E. Caldwell, manager of West Texas Lumber Co.
