Memorial Service To Miss Ball at School Tuesday

Curtain Dedicated to Memory of One Who Taught in Sonora Seven Years

"When love and skill work together, expect a masterpiece." — John Ruskin.

Quoting the above thought of the nineteenth century English author, L. W. Elliott, president of the school board Tuesday afternoon paid tribute to the memory of Miss Vivian Ball at a dedication service in the auditorium of the elementary school.

Miss Ball, who died in the summer of 1934, was for seven years teacher and principal of the school. Through the cooperation of the Parent-Teacher Association and the school board a curtain for the stage was recently bought. The dedicatory service followed the regular meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Program Precedes Tribute Seated on the stage with Mr. Elliott and Preston C. Lightfoot, school principal, were Peggy Gilmore, Wesley Sawyer, Mrs. Velma Shurley, president of the Parent-Teacher Association, Mrs. Preston C. Lightfoot, Miss Rena McQuary and Miss Elizabeth Francis.

A piano solo, "Largo," played by Peggy Gilmore was followed by a vocal duet, "Our Yesterdays," by Mrs. Lightfoot and Miss McQuary, accompanied by Miss Francis. Wesley Sawyer read "The Reaper and the Flowers," a Longfellow poem.

Mr. Elliott, in speaking of Miss Ball, whose mother, Mrs. W. H. Ball, and grandfather, Mr. McGruder, were present, said that he interpreted Ruskin's words as meaning that when a life is directed by love and skill a masterpiece will likely result.

"Woman is the highest creation of God," Mr. Elliott declared, "and woman guided by love and skill will certainly produce a masterpiece of life. Such a woman, such a life was the life of Vivian Ball."

"Her Work an inspiration . . . Her life was one of skill, love and service to mankind. One must work to attain a fullness of life. She did not choose a life of ease but one of work. She had love for her chosen work as a teacher. She will ever be remembered by her pupils and by others fortunate enough to know her.

"She will live on and on in the hearts and minds of her pupils and all of the community. Her work was an inspiration and it is fitting that we have this curtain as a memorial to the love and skill that was hers."

Miss Wanda Watson of Ozona, a friend of Miss Ball, and Mrs. Fred Ball, wife of her brother, were also here for the service.

SERVICE STATION BEING OPERATED BY C. C. SMITH

Operation of the Texas Company filling station was assumed Tuesday by C. C. Smith, proprietor of Sutton Motor Co.

Mr. Smith has for the last few months conducted a sales office for Dodge, Plymouth and Chrysler sales in the Eaton Building. Recently he secured Sutton county sales work for International products.

Mr. Smith said Wednesday that he will continue the selling of the automotive products while operating the service station. He was previously in business in the Clarkson Building and in the Stites Building.

Floyd Dungan who has been operating the business, a company-owned station, has not announced his plans for the future.

FATHER AND SON LOSE BY FIRE SUNDAY MORNING

Fire early Sunday morning almost destroyed the sedan of John McClelland and damaged the garage and workshop of Mr. McClelland's father, J. T. McClelland.

The cause of the fire is unknown. Insurance was carried on the automobile but not on the building.

Bucks Change Hands Monday Eleven horned Rambouillet bucks were sold Monday by W. L. Davis to Hillary Phillips. The animals were yearlings and brought Mr. Davis $20 each.

RAIN

Friday, May 8, 1936
Rain measuring 1.2 inches in Sonora and varying from one-half inch to that much in the county fell early Friday. At the Experiment Station, southeast, the precipitation was .97 of an inch.

"A good rain" was the report from the Ed Mayfield Ranch. "Close to an inch" was the estimate at the Roy Hudspeth headquarters place.

Sutton Voters Favor Burial Park Project

Votes in Three of the Five Sutton Precincts Favor Issue

By a vote of 101 to 33 Sutton county voters Saturday voiced their approval of a plan to establish the cemetery in Sonora as a "Sutton County Burial Park."

Largest plurality of votes favoring the measure, which is to levy a tax not to exceed five cents on the $100 valuation, was in Sonora. There the vote was 89 to 5 for the levying of the tax.

In other precincts the vote was as follows:

Precinct 2: For, 1; Against, 0.
Precinct 3: For, 11; Against, 5.
Precinct 4: For, 0; Against, 15.
Precinct 5: For, 0; Against, 8.

The movement to establish the cemetery as a county-maintained institution originated several months ago at a meeting of the board of directors of the Lions Club. The organization's members approved the project and a petition asking for an election was circulated.

Although funds for the upkeep of the cemetery property as a burying park will have their source in the county tax monies supervision is to remain in the hands of the Cemetery Association which has had charge for a number of years.

Fantasy and Cowboy Sketch Entertain Friday Evening

Many Elementary School Pupils in Two Operettas Directed by Teacher and Pupils

Lovers of entertainment as produced by school children had both the fanciful and the real presented them Friday night in the operetta "Prince Sunshine's Party" and the camp sketch "Home On the Range" in the high school auditorium.

Directing the two plays, one participated in by boys and the other by girls, were Miss Rena McQuary, elementary school instructor, Doris Keene and Mildred Cross.

The boys' production, in which twenty-two took part, had a camp setting with Rastus (Ted Wright), the negro cook, as the central character. "Real beans," as one youngster expressed it, were served the "cowboys" by the cook. Ranch foreman was Rex Merriman.

Dancing and songs by "Blossoms," "Sunbeams" and "Raindrops," serving as supplementary characters to Fairy Queen and fairies, Prince Sunshine, Godmother, Bonnie Bee, Butterflies and Robin, comprised "Prince Sunshine's Party."

The acting of Geraldine Meckel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Meckel, was especially commendable inasmuch as she "learned her lines" in only a short time. She took the place of Billy Cartwright who was ill and could not play the part of "Robin." Frances Jo Lancaster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lancaster, one of the "Raindrops," was ill the week of the performance but recovered before the night of the operetta.

One person in the audience remarked that the boys' production was a happy solution to the problem of the reticence of boys to take part in a fantastic production in which girls are the chief characters. An amusing cartoon, published recently, was recollected, showing small boys "revolting" against being "daffodils" and "buttercups" in a school entertainment.

HOW BURIED NOVA SCOTIANS RECEIVED FOOD With one man dead, the two survivors received liquid food through this 5-inch hole driven into the mine gallery by a diamond-drill. For three days prior to their rescue the two were too weak even to reach this slender supply.

Sonora Team Loses To Ozona But Gets Two Last Sunday

Two League Games Here with Eola Sunday Afternoon; Local Team Leading League

A dizzy pace set Sunday when Station A Sonora team humbled Ellis Parts in two games in San Angelo could not be maintained this week and Ozona took the long end of a 3 to 1 score Wednesday afternoon when the Sonora team played there.

The games Sunday, won by 10 to 2 and 1 to 0, gave the Sonora nine the lead in the Concho Basin League race.

White pitched the first game in San Angelo, allowing eight hits while Peoples, pitching for San Angelo, was found by the Sonora players for thirteen "wallops." Smith worked in the second and allowed only four hits.

In the first game Brown connected for a home run, and Nobles hit a two-bagger. Nobles repeated his performance in the second game.

At Ozona Wednesday Ozona scored first in the third inning and added runs in the sixth and seventh. Three plays, each one of which was accounted for by a "Brown to Gardner" combination, put three Ozona players out quickly in the first inning.

Sonora's run came in the fifth when Mitchell, formerly of Brownwood and playing for Sonora for the first time, scored on Brown's hit to left field. W. McLeod, behind him on second, was left on base when Ratliff's infield fly was caught, making the third out.

The game in Ozona was marred to an extent by being called at 4:30 instead of four and by a number of differences between players of the two teams.

Summarized record of the games Sunday and Wednesday is as follows:

First Game—May 3

TEXAS HISTORY WILL BE DEPICTED IN PAGEANTRY

Eighty pupils in costume will depict Texas history tonight at 8:15 in a pageant at the L. W. Elliott School.

A. L. Baker, school principal, said this week that the pageantry would portray the various peoples that have come to the Lone Star State and would give scenes in the life of each group since they came to this country.

Music will be typical of the various historical periods which are being outlined by the adolescent actors. There will also be music between the scenes.

"We Are Texas" is the name that has been given the pageant which was written by a Texas woman and has been produced only a few times in the state.

A small admission is to be charged and the money used by the Parent-Teacher Association in work for the school.

Former Sonora Boy in Play

"King of Eglantine" was the title accorded J. T. Shurley, son of Ira Shurley of Sonora in a May fete Tuesday evening at San Angelo College. The production, an outdoor one, bore the name "The Kingdom of Eglantine." Shurley was formerly a student in Sonora high school.

College Executive From Abilene Will Speak To Seniors

Graduation Program Arrangements Announced For Week of May Seventeenth

With the dread (to most pupils) "finals" scheduled to begin next week the 1935-1936 school year for Sonora and Sutton county school children is rapidly drawing to a close.

First of the "end of school" events will be that known as the baccalaureate service, set this year for Sunday, May 17. At that time members of the 1936 senior class will be seen for the first time in the cap and gown significant of their graduation from high school.

The Rev. T. O. Rorie, pastor of the Methodist Church, will speak to the graduates. No decision has been made regarding the place that the baccalaureate service will be held.

Abilene Man Will Speak

One of the youngest senior college executives in the United States—Don H. Morris, 33-year-old vice-president of Abilene Christian College, will be the speaker at the commencement service Friday night, May 22, when the seniors will be given their diplomas and their scholastic ranking announced.

Mr. Morris has been vice-president of the Abilene institution, where he was graduated in 1924, for the last three years.

A native of southern Dallas county where his great-grandparents settled before the Civil War, Mr. Morris was graduated from Thorp Spring Christian College, taught two years at Red Rock and completed his bachelor's degree work at Abilene Christian College when he was only twenty-one.

Won Recognition As Debater

For four years he was history and public speaking instructor at Abilene high school. While in college he had been a debater for four years and had the distinction of never having lost a decision in the debates in which he took part. While a high school debating coach his team won the state championship for high school students.

Mr. Morris is popular as a speaker before civic and educational groups in the Abilene section. In addition to his administrative duties Mr. Morris is instructor in public speaking at his college. Although he does not have a regular pulpit he is a preacher in the Church of Christ and usually preaches in a pulpit somewhere near Abilene on Sunday.

Young Students' Program May 21

The commencement program for children who are to be graduated from the elementary school into the high school will be Thursday night, May 21—the evening before that of the seniors. The program will begin at eight o'clock in the high school auditorium and the principal address will be by the Rev. T. O. Rorie.

Awards for scholastic excellence of the pupils will be given at the commencement program each night. The Lions Club will give sterling silver medals to those who excel. One medal will be given to the boy—and another to the girl—who has done the best work this year in the high school, in the elementary school and in the L. W. Elliott School.

A graduation program for Mexican students at the L. W. Elliott School will be held the evening of Wednesday, May 20. F. T. Jones, high school principal, will speak to the graduates.

MOTHER'S DAY SERVICE AT CHURCH IN MORNING

Mother's Day will be observed in Sonora Sunday morning with church service at the Methodist Church, beginning at 10:50.

The Reverend Mr. Rorie urged this week "that many attend to pay tribute to the mothers of the world and that all wear flowers—red for mothers who are living and white for those who are no longer with their children.

Texas Ranchers Using Wild Hogs as Watchdogs

Fort Worth, Texas.—Javelinas, speedy members of the hog tribe that for centuries have been hunted for sport and thrills, have come into their own not as subjects for the lance of a mounted huntsman but as "watchdogs."

Ranchers in the Brasadas, wild, bushy country between the Nueces and the Rio Grande, have found a use for these vicious saber toothed wild hogs that roam the area.

M. B. Burks, who recently brought several carloads of hogs into the Fort Worth market, says the javelinas are not, as popularly supposed, vicious to those whom they know.

"Catch them while they're pigs and keep them around the ranch house and they'll become as attached to any family as a watchdog," he explains. "The trouble is they're too good as watchdogs. They're faithful to their masters, but will charge a stranger without warning and without provocation. Those grinding teeth and two inch tusks are mighty dangerous."

The javelina does not sound a warning as it charges. There is no grunt or bark to warn the uninitiated stranger. A sudden rush, accompanied by the fearful grinding of teeth, and before a man can sidestep or jump to safety his leg is ripped from ankle to knee by needle-like tusks. Even the heaviest boots are not proof against the knifelike thrust of the javelina's tusks.

Social Credit Ideas Are Old Stuff With Eskimos

Edmonton, Alta.—Eskimos are years ahead in social credit ideas, according to R. A. Learmont, factor of the Hudsons Bay company's post at King William Island.

"If social credit means sharing with the other fellow, Eskimos have been doing it for years," he said when he reached here recently after a 1,700-mile air journey from the Arctic.

The trip was Learmont's first taste of civilization in seven years.

"These stream-lined automobiles and fresh peaches look pretty good to me," he commented.

"But from what I have been hearing of this depression of years, I think we're much better off in the Arctic."

He said constant contact with world news was maintained by radio and that Arctic dwellers were keenly interested in the Italo-Ethiopian situation.

Fliers' "Square of Fame" Destroyed by Accident

Melbourne, Australia. — The "Square of Fame," a wall in the Brickmakers' hotel, near Melbourne's chief airport, on which were written many famous names in aviation, has been destroyed. The wall crumbled during renovations.

About 1,000 pilots had written their names on the wall and drawn a line near their signatures to indicate their heights. Names which figure largely in the history of aviation in Australia that were inscribed include those of Sir Charles Kingford Smith, Flight Lieut. C. T. R. Ulm, Col. Roscoe Turner, Bert Hinkler, J. H. Mollison and Amy Johnson.

NEW BRITISH LINER GROOMED FOR SPEED

Clydebank, Scotland. — Queen Mary, giant new flagship of the British mercantile marine and pride of the British nation, is nearing completion in her fitting-out dock here.

On March 24 the mammoth new 80,000-ton ocean greyhound, which was launched and named by Queen Mother Mary of England here September 26, 1934, will be gently maneuvered into the narrow Clyde river and will proceed to sea under her own power en route to Southampton to be drydocked preparatory to her final speed trials and official commissioning.

Two months later, on May 27, she will point her bows westward out of Southampton on her maiden voyage to New York. Her distinguished passengers on this voyage are expected to include one or more members of the British royal family, probably the Duke and Duchess of York.

Speed a Secret.

Details of the vessel's potential speed are being kept a jealously guarded secret, and the most that is admitted is that her engines will develop approximately 200,000 horsepower and will get her to New York in five days or under.

Unofficially, the British feel no doubt that their latest marine wonder will develop around 34 knots on her trials, and everywhere there is official confidence that she will easily wrest the Atlantic blue ribbon from the French colossus, Normandie.

The most rigid precautions are being taken by the builders aboard the vessel to insure that the engineering secrets of their child will not be prematurely disclosed. A request to be permitted to inspect the sealed engine room was bluntly refused.

Potential Winner.

A close examination of the new vessel, of the delicate streamlining forward, the beautiful proportions of the hull and superstructure and the realization of the unprecedented space given over below to the powerful oil-fired propelling machinery led to the conclusion that in the Queen Mary the British have a potential Atlantic winner.

Despite her vast dead weight bulk, she sits the water as gracefully as a smart light cruiser. Her razor-like bows, obviously built for high speed, are like those of a crack destroyer. Her lines forward are reminiscent of those of a yacht, and nowhere is there evident the clumsiness and bulkiness usually associated with vessels of big tonnage. Everywhere the impression is gained of speed and power.

Only on mounting to the bridge, high above the waters of the Clyde river, and looking forward to the bow is the observer able to realize the monstrous proportions of the new liner. Her space forward from the bridge appears to be easily as big as the total length of many liners of average size.

Michigan Indians Guard Privilege of Swimming

Traverse City. — Willow Point farm, on the east arm of Traverse bay, is probably the most sought-after single piece of land in the state—by Indians who have settled rather thickly in the vicinity. They get such enjoyment from a stretch of bathing beach on the farm that they watch to learn when it changes hand so that they may go to the owner and obtain permission to swim there as did their forefathers.

Canada Boils Currency, Then Sells Pulp Paper

Ottawa, Ont. — The Canadian government "boils" its old bank notes instead of burning them. Last year $50,000,000 in common bank notes were dumped into a huge vat and boiled to a pulp, which was sold to papermakers. Burning of old bills was abandoned as "wasteful" and because of the possibility of scraps of notes, partially burned, being carried through chimneys to the outdoors.

American Esquire Is "Just a Mongrel"

Washington. — The nation's capital lists in its telephone directory of 175,555 names only one with the mark of the old school, "Esq." behind it. The esquire is Paul R. Russell, distinguished in the news although he holds a responsible government position.

Russell was not home when the telephone company representatives called to get information from subscribers, but an elderly gentleman who lived with him was, and gave the necessary information.

Printers followed copy on the name and when the book was published Russell became a unique figure.

"I know of no reason why it should have happened," said Russell when interviewed, "I am just a mongrel American, as aren't we all?"

SEVEN MILLION RECEIVED FOR FLOOD RELIEF WORK

The generosity of American people accounted for more than seven million dollars for the relief of flood sufferers, according to a letter from Cary T. Grayson, chairman, American Red Cross, to Mrs. A. J. Smith of Sonora.

Mr. Grayson stated in his letter that three million dollars was asked for originally. When the need became greater he asked American people everywhere to continue their giving. They did—with an unusually large amount of money being received for the work.

Only benefit programs already scheduled are to be continued as a direct means of securing funds for flood relief work. Active solicitation work is to be stopped in any sections of the country where it may be in progress.

CHILDREN SHOULD BE ENCOURAGED BY CROWDS AT "PROGRAMS"

A community may well be judged by the interest it shows in the welfare and education of its children.

That Sonora — and the Sutton community as a whole — does well in this respect needs no argument. That fact is proved time after time.

For the next few weeks — the "end of school" days — pupils will demonstrate to their elders something of what they have learned during the last nine months.

It behooves good citizens to encourage school children to greater endeavor by attending the various "programs" which will be presented. The spirit of the "trouper" that is in the youngster will be heightened if there are many in the audience to encourage both by kind words and by applause.

TEXAS ORES TO BE SHOWN BY COLLEGE OF MINES

El Paso, May 6.—A southwestern metal exhibit for the Texas Centennial is being collected by the College of Mines and Metallurgy here, a branch of the University of Texas, in cooperation with the El Paso Chamber of Commerce.

Every mining company in the southwest has been asked by Dr. H. E. Quinn of the College of Mines, for two ore samples from southwestern mines. One of the ore samples will be sent by the chamber of commerce to the Centennial exposition. The other will be retained by the College of Mines for its own exhibit, now one of the largest in the United States.

Prophecies Fulfilled

Washington, D. C., May 6. — Seven years ago Mayor Miguel Mariano Gomez of Havana, Cuba, visited Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt at Albany, N. Y. "You ought to be something more than the governor of a state," he said in admiration of Mr. Roosevelt's personality. Politely, the latter thought Cuba must have a bigger job for the mayor of its capital city. The two compared notes during the week at the White House. Havana's ex-mayor had become president-elect of Cuba; his ex-governor host was moulding ammunition for his second race for the presidency.

Amarillo Ready For Visitors at WTCC Meeting Monday

Horse Races at Tri-State Fair One of Attractions of Plains City Next Week

Amarillo, May 6.—After weeks of preparation Amarillo is ready to play host for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention which opens Monday.

Jed Rix, convention manager, reports there have been more advance reservations, more entries in the contests, more sponsors selected and more advance registrations by the host city than for any other convention of the organization in recent years.

"Indications now are stronger than ever that the eighteenth annual meeting in Amarillo will be one of the largest ever held by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce," he said.

Races May Be Attended Daily

For the convenience of turf fans among the visitors and delegates the daily convention business programs will be concluded each afternoon at 3 o'clock. The spring meet of the Tri-State Fair will be in full swing here during the convention. Thoroughbreds from Arlington Downs and other tracks will race.

The convention pageant, in which a score or more of West Texas beauties will compete for the title of queen, will be staged Monday and Tuesday nights in the municipal auditorium. Admission to the pageant and revue will be by identification badge, given at the time of registration.

So many entries have been made in "My Home Town" contest that school pupils from over West Texas will be speaking here almost continuously throughout the three days of the convention, with the finals on the last day.

Prominent Men To Speak

Among the speakers and group conference leaders at the convention will be Congressman Marvin Jones, Col. Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Tech. at Lubbock, Dr. W. C. Holden of the archeological department at Texas Tech., Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth publisher, Billy Rose, New York producer, John L. McCarty of Amarillo, R. L. Thornton of Dallas, Senator Clint Small, Ray Nichols of Vernon, WTCC president, and D. A. Bandein, WTCC general manager.

The last general assembly of the convention at which the next convention city will be selected, officers elected and awards made will be Wednesday forenoon, May 13.

Monkey House

"Look at that one—the one staring at us through the bars. Doesn't he look intelligent?"

"Yes. There's something uncanny about it."

"He looks as if he understood every word we're saying."

"Walks on his hind legs, too, and swings his arms."

"There! He's got a peanut. Let's see what he does with it."

"Well, what do you know about that! He knows enough to take the shell off before he eats it just like we do."

"That's a female alongside him. Listen to her chatter at him. He doesn't seem to be paying much attention to her, though."

"She must be his mate."

"They look kind of sad, don't they?"

"Yes; I guess they wish they were in here with us monkeys."—Everybody's Weekly.

MILBURN McCARTY

When the NEWS asked Fred Post, publicity director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, for pictures of men prominent in the regional body's activities he very kindly obliged.

Busy as he is he took time to send newspaper cuts of D. A. Bandein, manager, R. H. Nichols, president, C. M. Caldwell, first vice-president and Milburn McCarty of Eastland who is one of the directors. Accompanying the cuts was the following information about the men pictured above:

"The picture of Mr. Bandein is new, the pose never having been used anywhere. Only you and the Fort Worth Star-Telegram get one at this time.

"D. A. Bandein, general manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, is a research engineer.

For twelve years prior to becoming general manager of WTCC he was connected with the El Paso Chamber of Commerce. He will be here Thursday, May 7, to remain until after the convention.

"Ray Nichols is a Vernon publisher, has been district governor of Rotary International and now is a lay reader for the Northwest Texas Methodist conference. His term as president ends with the Amarillo convention. "C. M. (Cliff) Caldwell of Abilene is first vice-president and as such is next in line for election as president at the Amarillo convention.

"Milburn McCarty is an Eastland attorney and director in the WTCC. He was the first of the large directorate to make reservations for the Amarillo convention and is being groomed by friends for one of the offices."

"BLIND SPOTS" IN DRIVING

Did you ever think about the "blind spots" in your traffic vision? Regardless of how well your rear view mirror is adjusted, there are two very definite places where it is impossible to see what is going on in the rear.

One of these is immediately behind to your left. The other is just to the rear, to the right. And there's plenty of room for a speeding auto to be concealed in either of these traffic "pockets."

The traffic officers usually choose one of these two spots when they creep up for an arrest, because they know they cannot be seen.

But what is more important from the safety standpoint, a motorist may be creeping up on either side. He may not sound his horn and the driver in front, of course, does not know he's there. Then when the front driver finds it necessary to make a sharp turn he may fail to signal. In such cases both parties contribute to the cause of the crash.

Remember it is not only what you see in traffic that counts; often it's what you fail to see.

King's Physician Arrives
New York City, May 6. — Sir Thomas J. Horder, Physician-in-Ordinary to King Edward VIII, president of the National Birth Control Association and founder of the Anti-Noise League, will tour America in support of anti-noise campaigns and to attend medical gatherings. Asked about lengthening span of life, he said: "Don't people live long enough? How to live more happily would be more to the point. What is the use of living longer if we are not happy, with economic conditions as they are, and the infernal noise of cities and with machinery we have created running away with us?"

Nothing in Advance

IT HAPPENED when Streaky Finnegan and Speed Geesey were tops in the racing world. Leading jockeys of the American turf, there was never a bit of professional jealousy between them.

Until Isabelle Mahoney came along to upset everything. Isabelle was a blond and good to look at. She had admirers at every track, including Streaky and Speed.

Then Hot-Tip Hank came along. Hot-Tip would single out a prosperous looking gent and hand him a hot tip on a horse. If the horse won, Hot-Tip Hank would be around for his cut. If the horse lost, he simply made himself scarce for a while. He was what is called a "tout."

"The same race ruined both of us," Streaky told me. The race he was talking about was at Jefferson. There was big money in it. But it came off right at a time when both Streaky and Speed wanted to marry Isabelle.

"I love you both," she said. "I just can't make up my mind."

There was a horse running that was a long shot because there were two others that were rated much better. All the dough was down on those two, and Streaky and Speed were riding them. The long shot was called Stargazer and was owned by Abe Levine of New York, a big gambler.

Abe Levine knew of Hot-Tip Hank, and a couple of days before the race he looks up Hot-Tip. "I know my horse is good," he says. "I'd like to bet some real dough on him. But with them other two in the race we won't have a chance. Got any ideas?"

Hot-Tip always had ideas. Of course he knew Isabelle and about her affair with the two jockeys. Hot-Tip was no ladies' man himself but he knew a thing or two about them. "Sure I got an idea," he says. "What's it worth if the two favorites lay down so's your horse will have clear sailing?"

"Thirty per cent of the win," Abe says. "It's just the same as fixed right now," Hot-Tip says and hurries off. First he goes to the refreshment stand and engages Isabelle in conversation, then he drifts off to the barn and hunts up Streaky. After a little confab he goes away and locates Speedy.

"It's all fixed," Hot-Tip told Abe a little while later. "But don't say a word to either Finnegan or Geesey, hear? If you do, it will upset the apple cart."

Streaky tells me that all Hot-Tip says when he comes over to see him, is, "How's things? Nice weather, ain't it?" and later he says the same thing to Speedy. "He sure didn't fix no race with me. You couldn't call that fixing no race, could you?"

What Hot-Tip had to say to Isabelle at the refreshment stand is also now known. All he said was, "Give me a sody, Bright Eyes."

"But didn't Hot-Tip Hank say anything?" I asked Streaky, my own curiosity aroused. "Anything more, I mean?"

"Sure he did, about a half hour before the race. "Well, I started pulling up right before the turn," Streaky went on. "I was pretty sure Speedy was far enough ahead so's he'd have clear sailing. I didn't want it to be too plain that I'd pulled up—"

"You mean to say that you deliberately threw the race?" I cut in. "Sure I did. I didn't want to win. But imagine my surprise when I rounded the turn and saw Speedy loafing along right up in front of me. You would have thought that nag of his had lead in his feet. And away up ahead was Stargazer. He was five lengths ahead of Speedy and about ten ahead of my horse."

"Wasn't that Abe Levine's horse?" I asked, surprised. "Sure—the long shot. And he won, too. Speedy's nag was second and mine third."

"When Hot-Tip Hank came over to see me half an hour before the race, he says he has just been talking to Isabelle and she hands him a hot one. She tells him she wouldn't marry any man she couldn't feel sorry for, so she has made up her mind to marry the one that loses, meaning of course that if either Speedy or I wins, she'll marry that one that don't."

"Yeah?" I says, seeing the light. "Yeah, then the rat goes over and hands Speedy the same line."

Well, that's the story, only Isabelle had bet her dough evenly on both and the result was she never spoke to either of them afterward.

"Oh, well," Streaky says by way of ending the story, "she married Hot-Tip but I always said he got her on the rebound, so what the heck!"

My Error

"My dear sir, you flatter me by lingering to hear the remainder of my tale when the other passengers dashed away at the sound of the dinner bell," said the long-winded tourist to his one remaining listener.

"What! Has the dinner bell rung?" asked the other, as he jumped to his feet and dashed toward the dining room.

TINIEST OF STARS IS NEAREST EARTH

Newly Discovered Body Only Third of Mile Across.

Cambridge, Mass.—The smallest heavenly body known to astronomers, only one-third of a mile across, has been photographed by the Harvard college observatory, according to an announcement by Dr. Harlow Shapley, director of the observatory.

The body, only 1-25,000th as large as the earth, was discovered February 12 by a European astronomer.

The tiny body when first observed was within two or three million miles of the earth, which, with the exception of one or two comets, is closer than any other such object has ever come. Harvard astronomers estimate its weight to be 300,000,000 tons, or about that of a small mountain.

The Harvard photographs were taken by Dr. F. L. Whipple and Dr. L. E. Cunningham at the Oakridge station in the town of Harvard. The object was located and identified through calculations by Doctor Cunningham, based on observations by the discovered, Dr. E. Delporte of the Royal observatory, Brussels, Belgium.

Astronomers are not sure yet whether the object is a comet or an asteroid, but whatever it is, it is speedily moving away from the earth. It is now visible only through the most powerful telescopes and is expected to be well beyond the range of science's instruments soon.

Through a study of the object, the astronomers believe they may be able to discover many hitherto unknown characteristics of such small particles. Also, because it is so small, the object is expected to be affected greatly by the gravitational forces of the planets Venus and Mercury, which it is expected to pass very closely, thus permitting the most accurate estimates ever made of masses of these planets.

Scientists also hope to determine the body's orbit so that they can predict if and when it will return. From preliminary calculations, Doctor Cunningham believes the object has an orbit on the same plane as that of the earth.

Its closest approach to the sun is about half the distance from the earth to the sun, while its greatest distance, his figures show, is equal to about one and one-half times the earth-to-sun distance.

Only Farmer-Controlled Railroad in U. S. Quits

Atlantic, Iowa. — Because they couldn't compete with trucks and automobiles, no trains are running on the Atlantic Northern, only farmer-owned railroad in the United States. Permission for the tiny, 17-mile line to close was given by the Interstate Commerce commission after directors announced its owners, the farmers, found it cheaper to ship their produce by truck.

A co-operative venture, the Atlantic Northern was built in 1907 at a cost of $350,000. It was financed by thrifty Danish settlers of Elk Horn and Kimballton, Iowa, who made it a source of outlet for their products. At that time, hard-surface highways were unknown in Iowa and automobiles were a rarity.

A. M. Pederson, ticket agent for the road, said, "The farmers just found it cheaper to buy an automobile. For one thing, if they wanted to ship live stock, it was more convenient to have a trucker call for it than to bring it to the railroad."

Mounted Police Inspire Respect, Chicago Finds

Chicago.—The mounted policeman is maintained in Chicago because he commands more respect from the motorists, according to Capt. David I. Flynn of the traffic division. "Get a man on horseback out in the street and people instinctively slow up," the captain maintains. That's why there are 96 mounted men in his division.

"And for restoring order in a riot," he said, "there is no substitute for a plunging, rearing horse in the hands of an expert rider. From the high elevation of his saddle a policeman intends to be obeyed, and no back talk."

Locomotive Heats Plant

Kokomo, Ind.—A huge railroad locomotive furnished the steam for heating a new industrial plant here while the permanent heating system was being installed. The locomotive was run on a siding alongside the plant and fittings were made for the temporary heating system.

100-Year-Old Clock Acts as Barometer

Shelbyville, Ind.—Will it be cold or warm tomorrow? Miss Minnie Molder, of this city, has a Seth Thomas clock more than one hundred years old, which in the 75 years she has had it never has failed to tell her what tomorrow's weather will be. The old clock "drags" at striking time if the weather is to warm up, and strikes deep, clear and resonantly if it is to remain cold or turn colder.

An accomplished horsewoman, Miss Yount will exhibit several of her finest mounts at the Texas Centennial Exposition. $25,000,000 World's Fair opening in Dallas June 6.

Week by Week in TEXAS HISTORY

Week of May 3

1824—On May 7 by the second article of a decree of the Constituent Mexican Congress, known as the "Constitutive Act," Coahuila and Texas, not being sufficiently populous to form each a state, were united into one state, known as the state of Coahuila and Texas.

1828—Texas law (May 5) provided that contracts made in foreign countries between emigrants or inhabitants and servants were valid, which included contracts with slaves to work for stipulated wages.

1840—Martin Van Buren was nominated for president at the first democratic convention held in Texas on May 5.

1845—On May 5 Anson Jones, president of the republic, issued a proclamation announcing the proposition of the United States to annex Texas as a state in the Union, and the conditional proposition of Mexico for the admission of the independence of Texas.
