Taxpayers Petition Commissioners To Designate Road

Caretaker For Courtyard Begins Work This Week; Power Mower Bought

Action was deferred this week by the county commissioners on a petition for a new county road from a point near the Sol Kelly ranch gate, through the Bryson place and on to the W. A. Miers pasture.

A petition signed by Mr. Miers and twelve other property owners of the neighborhood was presented to the commissioners. The minutes of the commissioners' meeting indicate that consideration will be given the matter at their next meeting.

Yard work on the recently improved Sutton county courtyard will be done by Pete Andrews, son-in-law of D. Q. Adams, who was hired by the commissioners this week. He began work Wednesday. The courtyard is presenting an unusually attractive appearance since the grass has grown as a result of the water given it by a sprinkler system. A power mower was bought by the commissioners this week from the Gilmore Hardware Company.

The Sutton county treasurer, Mrs. A. J. Smith, was ordered to pay C. H. Jennings, game warden, $30 as the amount of fines paid to the county for trespassing offenses in which he was the arresting officer.

The report of Floyd Dungan, formerly justice of the peace, was examined but final approval was withheld until the report is presented in complete form. The tax collector's report for June was approved with the exception of one item which, it was pointed out, should have been credited to the Cedar Hill School District.

The account of B. W. Hutcherson of $124.85 for the compiling of delinquent tax rolls was approved by the commissioners' group.

NEW TRUCKING COMPANY MAKES LINE EXTENSION

The trucking privilege of Ponton Truck Line has been acquired by Alamo Freight Lines of San Antonio and the line has been extended from Ozona to Fort Stockton.

The Ponton line, operated by J. S. Ponton of Junction, has been offering service from San Antonio to Ozona several times a week. The new owners are offering daily service between the Pecos county town and San Antonio, one truck going through here to Fort Stockton each morning and another going from Fort Stockton to San Antonio during the night.

I. A. Goolsby, traffic manager, and A. O. Lawler, general agent of the company in Houston, were through here the latter part of last week calling on potential customers and making arrangements for the freight service.

The San Antonio company offers freight service to Brownsville, Harlingen, McAllen, Corpus Christi, Alice, Laredo and Houston.

WOMAN STATESMAN

Mme. Irene Joliot-Curie, first woman to be made a member of the French cabinet. The daughter of the co-discoverer of radium, she has accepted the post of undersecretary of scientific research in the new "popular front" government of Premier Leon Blum. Following the appointment of Mme. Curie, two other women, Mme. Suzanne Lacorre and Mme. Cecile Brunswig, were named for the cabinet.

WORK WANTED FOR SCOUTS OF SONORA TROOP NO. 19

Appointment of F. T. Jones as Court of Honor chairman and N. T. Pondexter as assistant Scoutmaster, Troop 19, Sonora, was the principal business at a meeting of the Scouters group Monday night.

Jack Stone, assistant Scout Executive, of San Angelo, met with A. W. Awalt, Roy E. Aldwell, John Eaton (Scoutmaster), and Joe Berger. W. R. Nisbet of Bryan, a former member of the group, was a guest.

Efforts are being made to interest Sonora Scouts in both the Camp Fawcett and Centennial Tour projects.

A. W. Awalt, assistant Scoutmaster, said Wednesday that anyone who has yard work, or other type of work, which a Scout might do should call him. A number of the boys need work in order to take part in the Centennial Tour and camp propositions.

Mr. Awalt said that he will see that a boy reports promptly to anyone having work which he might do.

U. S. and Texas Dove Season May Be Same

Federal Agency Expected To Alter Dates To Those of Texas

Dove hunters this coming season are likely not to be troubled by a conflict of season limits as set forth by the U. S. Biological Survey and by the state game, fish and oyster commission.

That was the announcement this week by C. H. Jennings, game warden, as he told of a meeting in Austin Saturday of the commission. It is expected that an announcement from the federal agency will be made within the next few weeks.

If such a ruling is made, dove shooting can be done in the north zone in which Sutton county is located, from September 1 to November 1. In the south zone the open season will be from December 1 to Jan. 16—the same period as that when quail shooting may be done.

Mr. Jennings attended a meeting of game wardens in Austin for three days last week. Don Gilerist, director of the U. S. Biological Survey for Arizona, New Mexico and Texas, was the featured principal speaker. Demonstrations were made by a number of the wardens of how they trap wild turkey, quail, deer, beaver, mountain lions and coyotes.

SONORA MAN'S BROTHER DIED TUESDAY MORNING

Death came early Tuesday morning to Curtis Lightfoot, a brother of Preston C. Lightfoot, Sonora school principal. The funeral was held Wednesday in Gorman.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston C. Lightfoot and daughter, Marjorie Ann, had left here Monday morning to spend the summer with relatives in Abilene and Gorman. Although details of the death of Mr. Lightfoot were not received here this week it is thought that when the family left here they did not know of their relative's illness. He died in Abilene.

Western Railroads Stressing Value of the Industry

Sonora Mayor Designates "Railroad Week" As Observed in the Western States

Released steam early Monday morning sounded 18,000 train whistles throughout the western United States to usher in "Railroad Week," being observed this year for the second time, from July 13 to 18.

Although no official observance of the week was scheduled in Sonora, P. J. Taylor, agent, Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway, called attention to a number of facts regarding railway operation as it is in the year 1936. Among these are:

—New swift streamlined trains dot the West. Air-conditioned passenger equipment has become commonplace on virtually every road. New trains flash brilliant challenges to time as they clip travel schedules between terminals.

—More than 750,000 men and women are employed either by the railroads or their kindred industries throughout the western United States.

—Railroads are pushing on to new frontiers with faith in their own capacity for still greater service to this country and with faith in the country itself.

A bulletin sent Mr. Taylor by the Western Association of Railway Executives of which H. G. Taylor is chairman, describes "Railroad Week" in this fashion: "... some 500 cities and towns throughout the West will hold their individual observance of this period, which has been set aside to celebrate a year of achievement unparalleled in the one hundred-year history of the 'iron horse.' All in all it has been a year of achievement that more than justifies 'Railroad Week's' prime purpose of telling the traveling public that the railroads have come back with a bang."

Roof work and general repairs are being made this week by G. E. Ellis on the five-room residence on the five-room residence which he recently purchased across the street from the J. T. McClelland residence.

The property was bought recently from F. J. Wood, Sonora business man, who acquired it recently. It was formerly owned by Finis Hamby.

Mr. Ellis and his sister, Mrs. Nellie Allen, will live in the house as soon as the construction work has been completed.

REPAIR WORK BEING DONE ON G. E. ELLIS PROPERTY

RIGHT MEASURES WILL DO AWAY WITH MOSQUITOES

Mosquitoes may be eliminated in Sonora, according to Dr. J. Franklin Howell, county health officer, who told Tuesday of means of ridding premises of the insects.

His suggestions were:

- Dope pit toilets with kerosene or crankcase oil which has been drained from an automobile.
- Cut weeds and grass.
- Haul off tin cans and clean out all garbage cans.

Sonora Ball Team Ends Season Half At Top of Heap

Veribest Falls Before Four-Run Scoring Attack of Station A Players Sunday

Triumphantly ending the first half of their 1936 Concho Basin League season the Station A Sonora team Sunday afternoon defeated the Veribest team by a score of 4 to 2 in a 7½-inning game halted by a downpour of rain.

Victors for the first half of the season the Sonora players will meet the Miles team here Sunday in the first two games of the second half. Unusual interest should be manifest in the games because of Miles' victory over the Station A team in a double bill there several weeks ago. It was the only defeat, in league play, for the local team in more than forty games.

Regulars Out of Line-up

Playing errorless ball behind "Lefty" White the Station A players' work Sunday was started by W. McLeod in the first inning when he got on first and was followed by F. McLeod. A Ratliff hit scored P. McLeod while W. McLeod was thrown out at third. Ratliff made another run in the fourth.

Neither Brown, shortstop, nor Gardner, first baseman, was in uniform Sunday, the first base sack being held down by Mitchell who put nine men out there, and the second position being filled by Ratliff whose place at third was handled by W. McLeod. Ohlenburg, manager, was in left field.

Manager Gets 2-Base Hit

Barber, playing right field, and Ohlenburg connected for two-base hits. White struck out eleven of the twenty-four batters who faced him. Schiller, Veribest hurler, struck out one.

The schedule, announced this week, for the second half of the Baker of the Camp Allison community when he was here on his way to Monahans, where Mrs. Baker has been visiting their daughter, Mrs. J. W. Hutcheson. Mrs. Hutcheson is improving. The Bakers returned from Monahans this week.

Lions Committees Named For Work of Group This Year

President of Civic Organization To Leave This Week For International Conyention

Discussion relative to the appropriating of more than $100 toward the expenses of sending the president of the Lions Club, W. R. Cusenbary, to the Lions International convention in Providence, R. I., was the chief business of the program at the Tuesday luncheon of the club.

W. E. Caldwell, a past president of the Sonora group, suggested that transportation and necessary expenses be borne by the club rather than the furnishing of a flat sum of $100. George H. Neill expressed approval of Mr. Caldwell's suggestion.

Mr. Cusenbary is leaving this week for the convention. He's planning to make the trip eastward by railroad and to return by boat to New Orleans or Houston.

Information regarding contractors' bids on the cemetery entrance was given by W. C. Warren who asked that any other bids which might be made be presented at once so that his committee may act.

Explanatory remarks about Lionism and its purposes were made by Mr. Cusenbary to John Irvin King, new member of the organization.

Two two-piano numbers were played by Edwin Sawyer, club member, and Troy White. W. E. Caldwell read a letter inviting Sonora to send a representative to the dinner which will open the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial tomorrow. It was suggested that anyone knowing someone who is to attend be given the courtesy pass which was sent to Sonora.

Lights of New York

Meanderings and meditations: The glitter of Fifth avenue shop windows . . . They should shine since they receive a bath and polish every morning . . . Seven dollar neckties . . . and custom-made shirts at twelve dollars a copy . . . That reminds me that a maker of shirts now numbers many women among his customers . . . But a beauty shop has just been opened for men . . . So that makes it fifty-fifty or something . . . That mid-west town restaurant that specializes in gefulte fish . . . With a customer list that is mostly Hibernian! . . . Then a mid-town establishment that caters to cocktail chasing women who always have dogs with them . . . The hat check girl picks up a tidy sum on the side by caring for the pooches . . . She keeps them happy with dog biscuits . . . and says they really are no trouble . . . Helen Hayes and her seven-year-old daughter . . . Who is her best pal and severest critic.

That dingy old red brick building at 29 East Thirty-second street . . . Said to have been once the home of Canfield, the gambler . . . Came into prominence because of the elevator operators' strike . . . It's union headquarters . . . Rubinooff carrying his violin into the Paramount building . . . In addition to being a Kentucky colonel and possessing other titles, he is now a real Doctor of Music . . . Third avenue sign reported by Vic Erwin: "If you can swallow your pride, you can swallow our five-cent whisky." . . . But what would you use for throat lining afterward? . . . The view of roof tops from a high-up Chelsea apartment . . . With tenement mothers hanging up washings . . . While children cling to their skirts . . . And a glimpse of big ships resting at their piers.

A fat cat slumbering in a fur store window . . . A shriveling bald-head struggling under a heavy load of men's suits . . . Gesticulating groups hurrying earnestly . . . Razor blade peddlers three to the block . . . Workers hurrying into tall loft buildings . . . A whirl of power machinery . . . New York's famous garment center . . . Where the nation's fashions originate . . . Bundle-laden messengers entering the Times Square station of the post office . . . Heavy parcel post business there . . . Why should I be thinking of that island way down in the West Indies . . . Where one may have a bungalow on a beach, food, clothing and two servants for a mere $20 a month? . . . Probably be longing for a glimpse of old B'way after the first fortnight.

A wisp of conversation on the Main Stem: ". . . and may my coffee be forever cold if I ain't telling the truth." . . . Andre Roosevelt and Cyril Von Baumann, all set to sail for that big adventure in South America . . . They tell me they won't take any weapons with them. . . They figure that firearms would be useless . . . Because, in event of an attack, no matter how many wild Indians they killed, there would always be more . . . So they are depending on magical illusions. . . Magnesium that will burn on water . . . Carbide and other commercial products well known to civilization . . . But strange to savages. Everything except card tricks. . . A bum draining a beer keg into a can . . . The first time I've seen that in N'awk.

A striking blond with lilies-of-the-valley pinned to her coat . . . They used to grow beside the front porch at home . . . But they cost a lot in this man's town . . . An ancient sandwich man who once was a chorus boy . . . and who calls the Shuberts "Take" and "Lee." . . . A pale, shabby woman looking at chickens broiling in the window of a rotsisserie . . . A boot-black retrieving a discarded tulip from the gutter . . . and sticking it in his ragged cap . . . A policeman dismounting from his sleek steed to help a bewildered blind man.

Signs of the times: On numerous gasoline filling stations: "We do not serve intoxicated drivers" . . . In a Madison avenue tea room: "The quality of mercy is not strained but our tea is." . . . Brooklyn confectionery window: "If you have a penny, come in. Otherwise don't waste your time and mine." . . . Tenth avenue barber shop: "Keep your eye on your hat and coat. We'd do it for you but if we did, you might get it in the neck."

Tippler Asks Court for 30 Days—and Gets 90

Pawtucket, R. I.—Michael J. Hurley, forty, with a hopeful countenance, pleaded guilty to a charge of over-tipping and asked for 30 days in jail, adding he thought he would "have my health back then." "I think 90 days will do you a lot better," said Clerk Treanor of the Tenth District court. "Thirty will be plenty," said Hurley, a bit alarmed. "Ninety days," repeated Clerk Treanor.

CAVELL RECALLED BY PARIS TEACHER

Cell of Martyred English Nurse Now a Shrine.

Paris. — Louise Thuliez, French war heroine who was condemned to death by the Germans in 1915 for engineering the escape of allied prisoners, is living a quiet life as head of a school for young girls in a Paris suburb. The colorful days of her past have been revived recently with the liberation from prison of Gaston Quien, who was charged with the betrayal of the English nurse, Edith Cavell, Mlle. Thuliez and others who conducted an underground railway for the escape of war prisoners. Quien has been freed, due to insufficient evidence against him, after almost 20 years' imprisonment.

Mlle. Thuliez, who knew Quien slightly during the war, refuses to commit herself as to his guilt. "I know that Miss Cavell was under surveillance by the German secret service for some time before she was arrested, and I am inclined to believe that my own arrest was an accident," said Mlle. Thuliez.

Prisoners Are Moved. "We had all been working in the same organization, taking war prisoners by night from one place to another until they escaped over the Dutch frontier. I spent most of my time in Brussels and often arranged for the stop-over of prisoners at Miss Cavell's home there. One afternoon I called on a friend, likewise under surveillance, and we were both arrested.

"Quien had been sheltered by Miss Cavell and although a Frenchman he was said to be in the pay of the German secret service. When 35 of us were arrested and five were sentenced to death, Miss Cavell was not permitted to defend herself in court. She and a Belgian, Philippe Bauco, were put to death before the official notice of the sentences imposed was published.

Germans Were Bitter. "Miss Cavell died because the Germans were particularly bitter against the English. They pretended that she was the head of our organization, but in reality we were all volunteers working together. Miss Cavell's home was made into headquarters in Brussels and she planned many of the midnight trips from town to town until the border was reached. She and Bauco were killed unjustly."

Mlle. Thuliez and the two other prisoners condemned to death had their sentences commuted after the intervention of President Wilson, the Marquis de Villal-Lobar, Spanish ambassador at Brussels, and the pope. The rest of the band had been sentenced to hard labor. Some worked in a brick factory, others made buttons which were marked "Made In England," and Mlle. Thuliez was set to work embroidering clothes to be sold in German stores. Three days before the Armistice was signed, Mlle. Thuliez and the others were released by German revolutionists.

The cell which was occupied by the English nurse is no longer used for the confinement of prisoners. The prison of St. Giles is visited as a show place and the solitary cell, always filled with fresh flowers and bearing the portrait of Edith Cavell and the English flag, is considered a tourist attraction.

"Safety First" Charged With Traffic Violation

Los Angeles. — Into Municipal Judge Carns' traffic court went a man charged with a traffic violation. "What's your name?" demanded the court. "Safety First, your honor," the defendant answered. "I didn't ask you for a traffic slogan," Judge Carns returned with some asperity. "I want your name." "Safety First," said the man firmly. "Say, are you trying to kid me?" the court exploded. But Safety First wasn't kidding, though it took him some minutes to convince Judge Carns his name really is Safety First.

He was cited for driving an automobile with a defective windshield and, when he failed to appear in court, was taken in on a warrant.

Judge Carns gave Mr. First a $2 suspended sentence with the admonition that he "pay attention to the traffic regulations hereafter and live up to your name."

Bull's-Eye Camera Traps Pickpocket in Naples

Naples.—The camera doesn't lie. Which makes it tough for Vincenzo Salleno—pickpocket.

It happened this way. Walter Simonazzi, private in Mussolini's army, went to a rifle range where, as an attraction to customers, there is a special camera that snaps a picture of a marksman if his bullet hits the bull's-eye.

Simonazzi hit the bull. But when he went to pay for his cartridges he found his pocket had been picked. The picture did the rest. When he showed the photograph to the police they recognized a man beside Simonazzi as he fired as Salleno a known Naples crook. Now Salleno is under arrest.

Building Business

BACK OF THE BUSINESS STANDS THE NEWSPAPER

Across most business lies the shadow of an individual. Maybe that of the founder, a loyal employee, a farsighted executive. It is the shadow of the man who had the courage to build well.

Visions, foresight, ability . . . all are familiar terms in the descriptions of these men. They are the characteristics looked upon as inherent in an individual, as gifts with which he is endowed.

Below are given fourteen reasons why newspapers stand at the top as aids to Better Business Building.

- 1.—Newspaper reading is a universal habit. Newspaper advertising, therefore, reaches virtually all who read and buy.
- 2.—A newspaper advertisement can always be seen by the reader.
- 3.—The newspaper advertisement, as part of the complete paper, goes into the home as a welcome guest.
- 4.—The newspaper advertisement can have as much reader interest and news value as the news item.
- 5.—The amount of text used in newspaper advertisements is dependent only upon the size of space.
- 6.—Newspaper advertising is flexible.
- 7.—Newspaper advertising is quickly controlled.
- 8.—Newspaper advertising may be adjusted to different conditions.
- 9.—Newspaper advertising enables manufacturers and dealers to state where their products may be bought.
- 10.—Newspaper advertising is inexpensive. Merchants have learned that it covers more families for less money than any other form of advertising.
- 11.—Newspaper advertising results may be checked.
- 12.—Newspaper circulation is known and is comparatively unaffected by daily changes.
- 13.—Nearly all of a newspaper's circulation is concentrated in its own market.
- 14.—Newspaper advertising reduces selling costs because it entails no waste of circulation. This helps reduce costs for the consumer.

Fort Worth Ready for Gala Opening

The Last Frontier—Pioneer Palace—Jumbo—Casa Manana—Nude Ranch! Marvels of entertainment will go on parade in Fort Worth Saturday, July 18, when the Texas Frontier Centennial opens its gates to the world. But mere gates, closed during rehearsals, have not kept out the crowds. Bess Harris, for instance, boldly traveled the "Sunset Trail" in a modern covered wagon, mustering into service Mr. Star, a young man whose Hopi reservation is on the Centennial grounds. ... for refreshment at an old pump presided over graciously by the Yellow Spider. And below is Nikki Allen, who takes a break during rehearsals at Sally Rand's Nude Ranch to furnish a good view for the crowds in the bottom photo.

Fort Worth Display of "Whoopee" To Open Saturday as Centennial Year Attraction

Fort Worth, July 15.—Preparations for the entertainment of the largest crowd in the history of the city at the opening of the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial, Saturday, are being made.

The various shows as well as all structures have already been completed.

The galaxy of song, dancing and novelty stars, showgirls and musicians assembled in Fort Worth for final rehearsals on the four major shows of the Frontier Centennial made the town look like Forty-second and Broadway this week.

Paul Whiteman and his orchestra arrived Friday to go into the final week of rehearsals with the 250-member cast of the Casa Manana Revue, spangled with such names as Everett Marshall, baritone star of Ziegfeld's "Follies," Sally Rand of the fans and bubbles, Ann Pennington of the "Follies," the Lime Trio of "Life Begins at 8:40," Walter Dare Wahl of vaudeville and the "Follies" and young Gareth Jopelin of the movies, will last for a little over an hour.

Stage A Floating One

Between shows in the cafe-theater, the 130-foot revolving stage floating on water, will be moved forward to a level with the terrace so that the guests may dance.

Other major shows include Billy Rose's "Jumbo," moved down from the New York Hippodrome and installed in a breath-taking new version of an old-fashioned indoor circus building, and "The Last Frontier," a wild-riding cowboy, Indian, cavalry and square dance spectacle. Capt. Irving O'Hay, New Mexico soldier of fortune dubbed the "Connoisseur of Wars" by Irvin S. Cobb, will be announcer for the old-West mele. Picturesque figure who has rushed to every war in the world since the Cuban insurrection, he was broken in as an after-dinner speaker by the late Will Rogers.

West Texas exhibits and a room containing the ranch and old West collection of Will Rogers have been installed in the old-fashioned railroad station. Other mementoes of the Southwest, including rooms set with furnishings of the early pioneer, are arranged in buildings on Sunset Trail, the pioneer village street.

Colorful characters will enliven the section of a frontier town with lusty goings-on of an outpost village. On the little street called Sunset Trail, Broadway and the Old West will join hands for four months of fun.

The Fort Worth Frontier Centennial was described last week in the Christian Science Monitor, Boston newspaper with international circulation, in this manner:

"... Within a log stockade dusty streets are laid out, and the pioneer type of wooden building with low porches and plank sidewalks are nearing completion.

... a stagecoach will dash

"Cowboys from Texas ranches will loll near the hitching posts, some of them fiddling old tunes, some of them singing. For excitement, a stagecoach will dash toward the village at intervals, pursued by whooping Indians—Texas Rangers will ride in and save the day. Fort Worth, capital of West Texas, and today the trade center for the cattle country in Texas, is the appropriate setting for such a show.

"The first national horse show ever to be held in the Southwest is also included in the many-sided celebration which Fort Worth is planning. Entries received for this show indicate that it will be the largest ever held in the country. The horse show and international livestock show and rodeo will start Oct. 2, the latter being the most ambitious stock show and rodeo ever staged in a city for many years the scene of important stock expositions and Wild West rodeos."

Sonoran in Del Rio Hospital Treatment was received at a Del Rio hospital last week by Leonardo Virgen, brother of Theodore Virgen, Sonora business man. Virgen suffered a leg injury in a wreck recently when his son, Leonardo, Jr., received injuries from which death resulted. The truck in which they were riding at the time of the accident, ten miles from Sonora on the Del Rio highway, was wrecked.

Improvements on Merck Property The building of an additional room, plastering of the interior and stucco work on the outside is under way at the home of Earl Merck, Sonora contractor, who lives near the Tom Driskell residence. CAN YOU MATCH IT?

T. D. Newell, foreman of Hose Company No. 1, called out his men for practice Tuesday evening. Twelve of the fifteen responded. They attached the hose to the hydrant at the postoffice corner and running out 150 feet of hose had the water on in two minutes after the alarm had been given. They also attached another section of hose to the Allison hydrant and showed the efficiency of the waterworks by throwing the water over the highest building in town.—News item in The Devil's River News, April 11, 1896.

At that time Sonora boasted two fire companies, No. 1 headed by Newell, who also owned the waterworks, and Hose Company No. 2, captained by Felix Vander Stucken, which was known as "The Night Hawks." The same issue of the NEWS carried a clipping from the San Angelo Enterprise, as follows:

"Steve Murphy, the denizen of Sonora's Devil's Retreat, is in the city. Steve belongs to the No. 2 'Night Hawks' Hose company and seems to think that nothing can top Sonoras' fire department. How about a Fourth of July competition drill?"

There is quite a contrast between the man-drawn hose reel of the early nineties and the modern gas-driven fire-fighting equipment used in Sonora today.

Competitive drills in the long ago were just as keen as those of today, and probably entered into with more zest as physical prowess and the stamina of race horses were deciding factors.

Today companies ride the fire-truck to and from the scene of contest, being fresh for the fray, eager to show the quickness of trained hands in making couplings in the shortest possible time. In the old days contests, too, settled around the time limit of couplings, but the boys, by main strength and awkwardness, had to wag the fire equipment to and from the scene of activities.

Sonora's fire-fighters of today are second to none in the West, but when it comes to getting things

SONORA'S BUILDING NOW CLEARLY SHOWS THE TOWN'S ACTIVITY

A Kansas City manufacturer of floor sweeping compound has a slogan, "Business Is Good," which he uses in good times and bad. "Business Is Good," in Sonora now.

Proof of that fact can be readily seen if one will only pay heed to the sounds of hammer and saw.

Repair work and new construction, both in the residential and business sections, is more in evidence now than at any time for months. Not always is the work being done of an extensive nature. That isn't important but it is vital that WORK IS BEING DONE.

The value of building work as an index to the general prosperity, or lack of it, in a community has been established for many years. A town that is busily building must be a town in which people are doing well, at least well enough to give thought to the matter of investing in new property or in maintaining properly the property which they already own.

Glance about as you go about your daily business in Sonora. That sidewalk there, the new stucco residence in the next block, the business building on the highway—each represents the work of some Sonora citizen who believes that now is the time to do such work.

You'll be surprised at the amount of WORK that is going on in Sonora now.

LARGE NUMBER OF BOYS TO GET SCOUT TRAINING IN CAMP

Nearly a half million boys will enjoy camping privileges in Boy Scout camps this summer, according to the national camping service of the Boy Scouts of America. For most Scouts it will be training for the first national Scout Jamboree, to be held in Washington, D. C., next summer.

Camping has been one of the principal year-round activities of the Boy Scouts since inception of the movement in 1910. There are some 542 permanent summer camps maintained by local Boy Scout councils. These camps occupy a total area of more than 54,000 acres that Scouts may truly call their own—an area larger than Rocky Mountain National Park. In addition there are hundreds of temporary camp sites offered through the generosity of private owners or on permits from state, county and national park officials.

Swimming is conducted under the supervision of experts in all the Boy Scout camps. Non-swimmers are taught in shallow water and usually they have become proficient in swimming before they leave camp. Last summer 16,290 Scouts were taught to swim in council camps alone, bringing the total in the past twelve years to 216,038 taught in summer council camps.

Scout camp leaders are men selected from colleges and universities who have had previous Scout experience and have shown their ability to lead boys.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

NO PASSENGER LOST BY RIGID AIR LINES

All Landed Safely Even in Zeppelin's Early Days.

Washington.—Since Count Zeppelin began to carry passengers in crude small craft, around the turn of the century, no single passenger has been lost in commercial airship service and about 800,000 have been carried, including those on short sight-seeing hops here and abroad. An airship, the Graf Zeppelin, has circled the world in 21 days, and another, the Norge, crossed the North pole.

On the debit side of the ledger stand the spectacular losses of huge military and experimental ships.

The British started on an ambitious airship construction program of their own. The ZR-2, which had been purchased by the United States, fell into the Humber river, just as it was about to be delivered in August, 1921, causing the death of 34 persons. The R-34, which had electrified the world by her crossing the North Atlantic in July, 1919, under command of Major G. H. Scott in 63 hours, to blaze that trail for lighter-than-air craft, was blown to pieces in a gale while moored at her mast at Howden, in January, of that year. Fortunately, no one was on board.

Crashed into Hill. The R-100, first of two proud 5,000,000 cubic foot ships to fly for England, made the North Atlantic round trip in 1930, crossing to Canada and return. In October of that year her sister ship, R-101, crashed into a hill at Beauvais, France, when on a demonstration flight to India and 46 British officers and men, including some of the aviation leaders of the empire, were killed.

In December, 1923, the French suffered the loss of 52 lives in the crash of the Dixmude off the Sicilian coast while she was on her way to Africa.

The Italia, carrying General Umberto Nobile and fellow-explorers, fell during a flight to the North pole in May, 1928, and eight persons were killed.

In the United States the record of losses has been even greater. The Roma, built in Italy but assembled in this country and under test for the United States army, dived out of control when a rudder cable broke at an altitude of 1,000 feet, fell into high-tension wires and 34 lives were lost in the resultant fire.

In September, 1925, the ZR-1, the Shenandoah, in commission for the navy, broke in two during a squall near Caldwell, Ohio, and 14 were killed.

Akron and Macon. The Akron, first of the two 6,500,000-cubic-foot airships built for the navy by the Goodyear Zeppelin corporation at Akron, in the world's largest building, was christened August 8, 1931, and commissioned October 27. On April 4, 1933, caught in severe squalls off the New Jersey coast, she broke in the sea and was lost. There were only three survivors.

Less than three weeks later her sister ship, the Macon, made her maiden flight, staying up 12 hours and giving an excellent account of herself. But on February 12, 1935, she too was lost at sea, going down in the Pacific off the California coast. Fortunately, only two of its company were lost.

On the favorable side of the account stand many fine flights by rigid airships, however. Both the Akron and the Macon, while in commission, made long flights, crossing the continent and flying along the coast lines in all sorts of weather.

Meantime, abroad, the Graf Zeppelin has been chiefly responsible for the abiding faith which German experts and many American authorities hold in lighter-than-air craft.

Skeleton Keeps Vigil Over Old Wagon Trail

Pratt, Kan.—Keeping a silent and solitary vigil over the old Cannonball trail used by wagon trains 50 years ago, the skeleton of a soldier was unearthed near here recently.

The skeleton was at first thought to be that of an Indian as it had been buried in an upright position, as braves were interred. A crumbling metal badge about two inches in diameter together with patches of uniform cloth, however, identified the owner as a soldier.

It is believed tribesmen, in tribute to his bravery, accorded him the burial reserved for braves.

CONFINE YOUR BIRD HUNTING TO CAMERA

Is Appeal of United States Biological Survey.

Washington.—If you must shoot birds, shoot them with a camera, youthful nimrods are being asked by the United States biological survey. One reason for this appeal is the thinning population of birds, partly due to the use of guns and sling-shots in the hands of young, inexperienced hunters.

"One of the birds that has caused such an appeal is the pileated woodpecker," says the National Geographic society. "This 'dandy' of bird society is slow of flight, big, noisy and conspicuous, therefore a first-rate target.

"Muffled ax blows, that make tree lovers cry 'woodman, spare that tree!' may often be traced, not to a man, but to the noisy pileated woodpecker. When tracked down, this dressy grub-eater is usually found chopping away at some dead stub or branch. Digging deep, he extracts and devours thousands of larval enemies of live trees, but does little damage to green wood.

"At rest against a tree trunk in the upright posture characteristic of woodpeckers, pileatus (to use his more convenient Latin name), seems clad in black, except for his brilliant scarlet crested skull cap and red stripes (absent in Mrs. P.) along the cheeks. But in flight, white underparts and spots and streaks on wings, neck, cheeks, and throat, flash out in contrast to black plumage as he swoops along.

Noisy in Mating Season. "Pileated woodpeckers are particularly noisy during the mating season and after their children are off their hands late in the spring. Their cackling call resembles that of the flicker, but it is louder, more ringing and often more hesitant.

"Special adjustments in the brain of pileatus protects it from the terrific shock of constant wood-chopping. Large as a crow and, next to the now almost extinct ivory billed, biggest of all the woodpeckers, he packs a punch that recalls the action of a compressed-air drill in breaking up paving. With his long, tough bill, this hard-hitting flyer may peel off long strips of bark to simplify his search for food. Chips of wood six or eight inches long and as wide as a man's hand, have been hewn from some trees.

"Like the holes in the posts of a rail fence, pileatus' excavations in tree trunks are squarish and mortise-like; not round as are those of some other members of the woodpecker tribe. Of course, he chops out the entranceway to his nest, but then again he may cut holes with no other apparent aim than to search for wiggy worms, or just for the fun of it. Occasionally the cavity he chops in one direction will meet one projected from another.

Insects for Every Course.

"Pileatus deserves every bit of his high reputation for a tree surgeon. He 'gets under the skin' of trees and hauls out destructive wood eaters. Ants and woodborers, which together inflict enormous damage on timber, make up 61 per cent of his diet. Another 11 per cent is composed of miscellaneous insects, spiders, and millipedes.

"A barbed, horny-tipped tongue helps him to lap up scattered bugs. It is true that in the fall and winter, when he has a struggle to find food (he never migrates north or south with the seasons), he eats considerable vegetable food, but most of this is wild fruits, nuts, and seeds. The farmer need fear no injury to crops or farmyard trees from him.

"Apparently not in any hurry about nest building, a pair of pileated woodpeckers often take a month to prepare the cavity in their chosen tree. Sometimes the mother bird lays eggs before the interior decoration is complete. Muffled knocking in the tree, days after eggs are laid, tells of trimming and remodeling still in progress.

"Pileatus nests usually in a dead tree, 15 to 50 feet from the ground. The actual cavity, in which the eggs are laid on a nest of fine chips, may be as much as three feet long. Two exits are not uncommon, so that when an enemy enters by one, pileatus and family may slip out by the back door.

FLYERS TO TRY NON-STOP FLIGHT TO PARIS, START IN DALLAS SATURDAY

Dallas, July 15.—Fifty times around the world—1,250,000 miles in the air—that's Clyde S. Pangborn's record.

Those flying miles, accumulated through 20,000 hours or more in the air, should stand as a challenge to anyone anywhere.

Now he's ready to settle back into a cockpit again and try for another record, a non-stop commercial airmail flight over the Atlantic to Paris with Monty G. Mason in the Texas Sky Ranger. The flight will be under the sponsorship of the Texas Centennial Exposition.

To Fly at 3 to 4 Miles

Pangborn and Mason plan to leave Dallas Saturday for New York, stop several days during which radio equipment will be installed and then hop for Paris. They will fly the plane at an altitude of from 16,000 to 22,000 feet.

Clyde Pangborn's flying life reads like a dime thriller. World-girdler, ocean-spanner, army aviator, instructor, barnstormer, commercial flier—he has been through it all in his 19 years of flying.

Pangborn gained the world's limelight in 1931 when he flew around the world with Hugh Herndon, and figured as principal in a sensational spy trial in Japan.

Many Feats For Pangborn

Today this unassuming, quiet aviator is the last living member of an all-star cast of three pilots who flew planes around the world. Wiley Post and Kingford Smith are dead, victims of plane accidents. Pangborn is credited with making the longest trans-oceanic fight in history, Japan to the United States in 1931 and he has flown both oceans.

Clyde Pangborn was born in Washington state and educated in the public schools of Washington and Idaho and spent two years in the University of California.

He enlisted as a flying cadet in 1917 and attended the School of Military Aeronautics at the University of California. He did his primary aviation at Eberts Field, Lonoke, Arkansas, and his advanced flying at Love Field, Dallas. Later he served as an instructor at Ellington Field, Houston. He was discharged from the flying service in 1919.

One of First Aviators

Back in "civvies," Pangborn purchased the ninth airplane to be sold to a civilian and flew the first civilian plane up the Pacific coast through Oregon, Washington and Idaho on a barnstorming trip.

Later he organized a flying circus, barnstorming through the United States and working in 2600 towns during which his planes carried over 1,000,000 persons. Pangborn flew with over 200,000 persons personally without an accident. Never in his flying career has he had a serious crack-up.

In 1932 Pangborn became interested in air express work and established the first overnight air express from New York to Los Angeles.

He flew in the London to Melbourne International Air derby in October, 1934, with Roscoe Turner, finishing in third place.

Pangborn was awarded the Harmon Trophy in 1932, the Japanese Imperial White Medal of Merit for the Pacific Flight and the International Federation Aeronautic gold medal in 1933. He is a lieutenant in the United States aviation reserve.

Siamese Twin Will Be Married Saturday

Cleveland Man To Marry One of San Antonio Sisters

Dallas, July 15. — Perhaps the strangest wedding ceremony ever performed will be solemnized at the Texas Centennial here on Saturday night, when Miss Violet Hilton, of the famous Siamese twin Hiltons, will be wed to James Moore, of Cleveland, Ohio. The ceremony will take place in the Cotton Bowl and the public is invited to witness this strange wedding rite.

Refused licenses in many parts of the country, this young couple finally turned to Texas, the home of the bride, and County Clerk Ed Steger of Dallas county, could find no law to forbid his issuing a license to the couple.

Violet and Daisy were born in England, but were raised in San Antonio, which they still claim as their home. They have recently completed a tour of Continental Europe.

Following the wedding ceremony, a complete stage show will be presented and will be headed by the famous twins. Music for the show and the dance to follow will be provided by Dale Stevens and his WLW orchestra.

GARNER HOPES GOVERNOR OF TEXAS IS RE-ELECTED

Uvalde, July 14.—Vice-President John Nance Garner broke his traditional silence on political matters here today with a brief statement endorsing Governor James V. Allred and expressing a hope that the governor will win re-nomination in the first primary without the necessity of waging a run-off campaign.

The vice-president was interviewed just before he left for a two-weeks' fishing trip with a party of his old Uvalde cronies.

"I never talk about national affairs," he said; "I leave that to the boss. But I still vote in Texas, and have a right as a private citizen to my own preference."

"I don't mind the world's knowing that I think Allred has made a fine governor and I hope he is re-elected in the first primary."

"Of course, I am just talking like I fish—in the capacity of a private citizen, and not as vice-president."

MANY VITAMINS YET TO BE DISCOVERED

Dr. Funk Emphasizes Need for Diversified Diet.

Paris.—"There are many vitamins yet to be discovered, and the present conception of a perfect diet is by no means the final word in the matter."

This was the statement of Dr. Casimir Funk, American biochemist who in 1912 advanced the vitamin theory, when interviewed here concerning recent findings of the health committee of the League of Nations on the eating habits of the world.

"I will say, however," he added, "that a report such as the one made by the league experts is something that I have been advocating for 25 years."

Doctor Funk is famous also for his theory that there are four different kinds of vitamins—"an anti-beriberi vitamin, an antiscorvy vitamin, an antipellagra vitamin, and probably also an antirickets vitamin."

"Dr. Leslie Harris, the English scientist, in his new book, 'Vitamins in Theory and Practice,' credits Sir Frederick Hopkins and myself with being responsible for most modern nutritional ideas," continued Doctor Funk, "but I really claim these are due chiefly if not entirely to my propaganda of the vitamin theory and the experimental work done for many years which for a greater part justified that theory."

"I am not only a vitamin expert, but also a hormone expert," he said, "and I believe a more diversified diet is what is to be desired today—especially since it is certain there are some vitamins which remain to be discovered."

"The progress in the use of knowledge of vitamins is increasing rapidly. Most vitamins are not the mysterious substances they used to be, but are quite well known, and some are even being produced artificially in laboratories."

Doctor Funk is now conducting several experiments both with hormones and vitamins at the laboratory, Casa Biochemica, Rue 11 Malmaison, near Paris.

Famous Songs of Foster to Gain Favor Abroad

Washington. — Stephen Collins Foster, most famous of North American composers, is to be introduced to music lovers abroad as result of inter-American musical enthusiasm fostered by the Pan-American union.

Foster is the best loved of American song writers because of his four great songs which reflected kindly sentiment of old plantation days in the South and inspired American pioneers in their trek into the western plains and deserts.

Among dozens of songs which he wrote prior to his death at New York in 1864, those best known are "Way Down Upon de Swanee River," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Massa's in de Cold, Cold Ground," and "Old Black Joe." Another of his hits, "Oh! Susanna," attained modern popularity as the theme song in the western pioneer epic of the films, "The Covered Wagon."

Through the talent of Luiz Guzman, a Colombian by birth, now member of the United States Marine band, 20 of the best Foster melodies have been selected and arranged for concert band.

As result of the beneficence and enthusiasm of Josiah Kirby Lilly, manufacturer of Indianapolis, Ind., 500 sets of the "Stephen Foster Melodies," for 17 piece bands, are about to be circulated to musical organizations throughout Latin America.

Dog Saves Young Master From Freezing to Death

Elmington, Ill. — "Ruffian," a shepherd dog, is the hero of the little farming town of Cooksville, eight miles east of here, because he rescued his ten-year-old master from freezing to death.

The boy, Harlan Spencer, son of Edward Spencer, tumbled from a hay mow and cut a deep gash in the back of his head. The blow knocked him unconscious.

"Ruffian," who was playing with his master, took the boy's coat between his teeth and dragged his master home.

The temperature was nearly 15 degrees below zero.

TIME TO CHANGE TO Cool
Cookery

Overheated summer kitchens are a thing of the past with "Miracle Cookery." Thick insulation keeps heat in the oven, where it belongs. And, in surface cookery, Hotpoint Calrod coils concentrate all heat on the utensil and do not diffuse it into the air of the kitchen. With electricity as the fuel, immaculate cleanliness is possible. Even the bottoms of pans do not become blackened.

Imagine spending all day away from home—then arriving just before dinner time to find the entire meal perfectly cooked, ready for serving. In the morning you can make the food ready for cooking, put it in the oven, set the temperature control, set the "Chef's Brain" (automatic timer) for the time it is to begin cooking and the time it should be finished—and then forget it until dinner is to be served.

See the new Hotpoint Electric Ranges today.

HOTPOINT CALROD
What Mazda means to light, Calrod means to cookery. Calrod is the name given to Hotpoint's hi-speed sealed-in metal cooking coil which has revolutionized electric cookery. It brings new speed, new cleanliness and new economy to the kitchen.

SHE WINS ALIENATION SUIT IN CHICAGO COURT

Helen Hayes

Victor in a $100,000 alienation of affections suit in Chicago was actress Helen Hayes. She was charged by Carol Frink, former wife of Charles MacArthur, present husband of the actress, of having alienated the affections of MacArthur. The case attracted a great deal of attention because of the prominence of the principals — MacArthur being a playwright, Miss Hayes a motion picture star and Miss Frink a writer.

George Thomas and daughter, Billy Jean, of Phoenix, Arizona, visited Mr. and Mrs. Sam Thomas this week.

HEREDITY IDEA IS REFUTED BY TWINS

Professor Studies 120 Sets in 10-Year Project

Chicago.—Twins may look as much alike as two peas in a pod, but unless they've been reared in the same environment the chances are the similarity will end with their physical characteristics, Dr. H. H. Newman, University of Chicago biologist, has concluded.

He based his opinions on the results of a ten-year study, in which he observed 120 pairs of twins, scattered throughout the United States. The importance of environment and heredity was studied in each case.

"While our data showed us many surprising and conflicting things," Doctor Newman said, "we are able to say that environment has the most effect on temperament and some on intelligence. It has the least effect on physical characteristics."

Heredity Is Discounted.

"Heredity accounts for only about 30 per cent of the temperamental and emotional aspects of our twins, we discovered through application of standard tests of 20 pairs of identical twins, whose heredity is, of course, identical, and who were separated in infancy and reared apart."

Many differences in twins, Doctor Newman and his associates found, were not consistent with differences in social environment. For instance, he said:

"Two of our boys, Tom and Dick, were alike in many outward respects. But Tom, who had been adopted by a poor family whose moral standards were not high, was manly, independent and pleasantly aggressive."

"His brother, who lived for 12 years with the family of a wealthy physician, had not developed these pleasing characteristics. Of course these differences may even out in time."

In the case of Edith and Helen, identical twins who are now twenty-seven, Edith, who was reared on a farm, is boyish, athletic and aggressive, said Doctor Newman.

Helen, who had a softer, urban life, is ladylike, to an exaggerated degree, teaches music and dislikes athletics. She has a slightly higher intelligence quotient than her sister. The pair showed the widest differences in every way, Doctor Newman said.

Education Greatest Factor.

"Differences in identical twins," Doctor Newman said, "seem to be about 50 per cent due to education, 15 per cent to social environment, 10 per cent to health, and the rest to causes we cannot classify."

Mental differences of 11 years were found in the case of twins who, although endowed with the same mental capacities, had had different educational advantages.

"The case of Fred and Ed was our most celebrated one," Doctor Newman related. "It was almost like a Gilbert and Sullivan opera. These boys had been adopted from an orphanage when they were infants by families in widely separated parts of the country."

"But both had become electricians. They were married the same year; each had a boy child and each had a fox terrier named Trixie. Both worked for the Bell Telephone company. Fred so often was mistaken for Ed and vice-versa by employees shifted throughout the organization that each began an investigation which brought them together."

Four Perfect Hands Dealt in One Round of Whist

London.—A player at a whist drive at Lydney, Gloucester, in a round where diamonds was trump found he had been dealt the complete suit of diamonds. The three other players at the same table all had complete suits.

The cards had been well shuffled and cut. The players thought they had established a world's record but they hadn't. At least two previous cases of four players each having 13 cards of the same suit have been recorded.

The odds against this happening, however, have been estimated as 635,000,000,000 to one.

Heirs to $2,500,000 Are Sought in Vain

London.—The county courts of England are waiting and eager to give away $2,500,000, but they cannot find anyone to take it.

For a year courts all over the country has been trying to find the rightful owner of hundreds of thousands of dollars which have remained unclaimed in their possession for nearly a century. The money is made up of sums paid under the trustees relief act, equity cases and nonclaimed dividends under administrative cases. The amounts range from a few dollars to thousands.

Before the county court act of 1934 was passed this money remained in the court's custody indefinitely. Now under the new act, after a year's notice, all money paid into court more than 15 years ago is to be handed over to the national debt commissioners.

Cripples Ask Aid of Hopkins

Protesting against what they declare to be "discrimination" and an "unsympathetic attitude" on the part of WPA officials, a delegation of 33 New York cripples, representing the League for the Physically Handicapped, journeyed to Washington in an open truck and besieged the office of Federal Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins, to plead for jobs. He told them they would be treated justly.

Sonora Truckman Makes Bond
Examining trial was waived and bond of $500 furnished Thursday morning by Robert Askew, Sonora truckman, on a complaint signed by Cashes Taylor, deputy sheriff, charging him with assault with intent to murder Eddie Franks. The offense is alleged to have occurred Wednesday. Mr. Askew was held for action of the grand jury at the September term of court after the complaint was filed in the court of George Barrow, justice of the peace acting as magistrate.
