Products From Every State Used In Making Of Beer, Survey Shows

PRODUCTS, employment and public revenue in every state in the Union shared in the brewing industry's contribution to business and government last year, according to the 1940 issue of the economic survey, "Beer and Brewing in America," edited by Standard Statistics Co., Inc.

Rapid expansion of the industry's program of alignment with the public interest to promote moderation in drinking and to insure high standards of beer retailing was another feature of the year's developments.

In the seven years since beer's re-legalization, the re-born industry has resumed its important place in the economic structure of the nation," the survey states.

"It is an industry rooted in agriculture, through the use of brew grains. From every State in the Union, it draws materials and ingredients for some 600 breweries, and small, it returns its finished product again to every State through a vast network of thousands of wholesalers and hundreds of thousands of retailers.

"From the local outlet, a large portion of the money spent for beer flows back into local business channels through the retailer's purchase of innumerable commodities in his own community.

"Outstanding indices of the industry's far-reaching economic significance are visible in:—

- "1. Wide-spread employment and large-scale utilization of farm products.
- "2. Stimulation of the productive activity of scores of the nation's major industries which provide needed equipment and materials.
- "3. Heavy contributions to Federal, State and local revenues."

Originally prepared by the late Warren Milton Persons, statistician, author and professor of economics at Harvard University, the material in "Beer and Brewing in America" has been thoroughly edited and brought up to date for the 1940 edition. It is published by the United Brewers Industrial Foundation.

COLOR PLAYS IMPORTANT PART WITH INDIVIDUALS AND HOMES, MANY TIMES CAUSING BIG DIFFICULTY

A very charming maiden lady of considerable prominence in Muleshoe remarked to a Journal representative a few days ago if she had to live her life over again every light in her parlor would be tinted a light blue.

In the years gone by she had learned that colors have much to do with one's temperament and actions and that light blue was a good setting for a bashful beau who might have home difficulty in popping the question. Alas, it is apparently too late for this particular woman who now seems to have little but platonic appreciation for the masculine.

Scientists have in recent years been making explorations into the realm of colors and have achieved some important discoveries. They are unanimous in stating that bright red is nerve-racking, and many a man has been driven to drink or the divorce court because Friend Wife persisted in wearing it. Blue light, however is, conducive to romantic emotions. Yellow, orange, red, purple, draperies and other furnishings—and in five minutes time one can generally and quite accurately get the tempo of that residence. Wise, also are the wives who in selecting a dress or a bonnet, pick one with plenty of green, blue and yellow shadings commingling in it in some manner. A prominent scientist not long ago declared that color was so important in life that if properly used the divorce courts would in time go out of business. Perhaps an exaggeration; but a modicum of truth!

The same color idea often applies in homes. Go into many homes where the reds, yellows, oranges, purples, draperies and other furnishings—and in five minutes time one can generally and quite accurately get the tempo of that residence. Wise, also are the wives who in selecting a dress or a bonnet, pick one with plenty of green, blue and yellow shadings commingling in it in some manner. Review Of Country Lawyer Features Study Club Meet

Members of the 1939 Study Club met in the country home of Mrs. R. L. Hobbs, Thursday evening of last week with Misses Elizabeth Harden and Helen Jones, co-hostesses.

Snap-dragons, the club flower, lent their beauty to enhance the attractiveness of the entertaining home.

Mrs. John Farley reviewed the book, "The Country Lawyer." She being a capable entertainer, held her audience spell-bound as she made the characters live by her clever imitations of dialogues.

A social meeting will close the year's work at the home of the president, Mrs. Ray Griffiths, Thursday of next week, at which time the club members will entertain their husbands or a friend with a dinner and entertainment.

Mrs. Griffiths closed the evening's program with a lovely tribute, in verse, to the club members.

A delicious refreshment plate consisting of pimento cheese and tuna fish sandwiches, olives, potato chips, cakes and ice tea were served to the members and three visitors, Mrs. York, Miss Mary Sue Osborn and Mrs. Catherine McNeese.

Individual corsages of beautiful givestly pansies were presented each guest.

Planting Of Grains Now In Full Swing Prospects Good

Following numerous climatic attempts and their accompanying setbacks, Spring has, apparently, actually arrived for this year and farmers everywhere throughout Bailey and adjoining counties are taking advantage of the new season in beginning seed plantings on land previously prepared.

Some cotton has already been planted by the more ambitious and more will be going into the ground this year and to be quite satisfactory, so there is not much re-planting anticipated from that source. Cold ground for early plantings and lack of moisture, however, may be another important question, for May rains have not yet arrived in general in this county and some farmers are already complaining of dry conditions.

Several farmers of this area already have sown planted and its growing has progressed rapidly, good stands being reported that will soon be ready for pastur. Crops to be produced by irrigation are reported in flourishing condition. Some tomato and other truck planting has already been done, while numerous gardens are already flourishing, some "garden sars" having already reached the stage where it is gracing dining tables.

There was considerable planting of hegarl, kafir, corn and milo seeds of different kinds last week, and this week a much larger acreage will go into the ground. Irrigated alfalfa is flourishing and first cuttings will be ready this week. Nearly all the spring crop of Irish potatoes has already been planted.

SENIORS HONORED WITH 2-COURSE BREAKFAST

Friday morning of last week, Mrs. Lela Barron, Mrs. Joe Damron, Mrs. W. B. Harlan and Mrs. W. B. McAdams were hostesses at the Barron home to the Senior class, Muleshoe High school, with a very delightful and colorful breakfast.

Members of the class assembled on the front porch of the Barron residence at 9:30 a. m., before being ushered into the rooms where the tables were laid. The guests found their places by names on tiny white diplomas tied with gold ribbon, and were seated at 11 different tables placed about the living and dining rooms, on which were centered white sweet peas in pottery bowls. The tables were laid with variegated colored pottery on lunch cloths with symbols of little red school houses, which idea was also carried out on the napkins.

The first course was clusters of fresh pineapple, topped with powdered sugar and strawberries, to be followed by delicious fried Virginia ham, baked eggs on toast, browned whole new potatoes, hot biscuits and butter, orange marmalade and coffee.

Music was played throughout the breakfast, after which the class went in a body to the skating rink, where they indulged in that pleasure for an hour, chaperoned by their hostesses and sponsor, Mrs. J. A. Lumsden.

Thirty-five seniors, also Superintendent W. C. Cox and Mrs. Lumsden enjoyed the delicious breakfast.

More than 250,000 "lucky charms" are sold every year in New South Wales. Nine out of ten people in all walks of life are wearers of charms, one dealer said. They go out of fashion like women's hats, and new charms are manufactured to take their place.

FOLKS MAILING LETTERS, PACKAGES CAN NOT BE TOO CAREFUL ABOUT ADDRESSES, SAYS POSTMASTER

"Be sure you have enough postage on your letters and parcels when they are dropped into the post office receiving box," is the courteous advice of A. J. Gardner, local postmaster.

The suggestion applies, of course to everyone patronizing the Muleshoe postoffice; but especially to newlyweds, proud parents and others who become enthused over some particular event in their lives and when writing others about it, forget to supply Uncle Sam with sufficient internal revenue to pay for its travel to point of desired destination.

Shortage of postage occurs nearly every day, said Mr. Gardner, and sometimes several times in a single day, frequently necessitating a delay of important matter for several days or perhaps a week or more, for Uncle Sam doesn't carry mail on a credit, nor will he be satisfied with third class postage on an envelope that is designed to go first class.

Written announcements, whether sealed or unsealed, Gardner pointed out, take the first class rate. Printed forms with names, dates, etc., filled in with writing, also take a similar rate—one cent for local mailing and three cents if sent to another post office. Printed forms, such as birthday announcements carrying the signature written with pen or pencil go at the first class rate. First class mail delivered within in Bailey county may go for two cents.

Keeping check on third class mail matter does not merely occur on Christmas and other holiday occasions; but is a year 'round job, every day every piece of mail entering the post office must be scrutinized carefully to determine if it comes within the province of its peculiar classification. On holiday occasions or other special events people frequently place a one and a half cent stamp on a greeting card when they should use a two or three cent stamp. This is a frequent infraction innocently made of the postal laws and should be carefully watched, the Postmaster suggested. Cards, such as Mothers change Pollyanna gifts at such time.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. G. T. Maltby May 21 to test pressure cooker gauges. Everyone is invited to bring their cooker and come to this meeting.

Clubbers Study Hot Rolls
Breads that are interesting as well as good to eat, was the demonstration given by Miss Lillie Gentry, when the Progress H. D. club met with Mrs. Jim Cook, Tuesday last week.

Miss Gentry made three kinds of rolls. She told how each was mixed and what different ingredients were used. She made Parker house rolls, Cloverleaf rolls, and Butterfly rolls. All rolls were made with milk to make them more nutritious. "If the tops of the rolls are brushed with cream before baking, the crust will be more tender," she said.

The club planned to have a social every three months and to ex-

Napoleon of Italian Descent
Napoleon, the great French leader, was not a Frenchman by birth but was of Italian blood and descent, says Pearson's London Weekly. Both his father and mother were Italian, and they lived on the island of Corsica, which had long been Italian before Napoleon's birth but became annexed to France in 1768.

7 MAIN REASONS WHY-

"I'd rather have a Ford"

Built in Texas by Texas Labor

1 GOING POWER

—the kind of power that only the V-8 engine can give me—instant response, lightning acceleration, marvelous economy, and swift, smooth, faithful performance. 6,000,000 Ford V-8s—more than all other Eights combined—say this is the power plant for me!

3 SMOOTHNESS

Not only in amazing power does the Ford V-8 engine excel, but in the smoothness that gives velvet quiet. Why should I do without the supreme luxury of 8-cylinder smoothness which no car of fewer cylinders can match?

5 POWER TO HOLD THE ROAD

No car in any price field excels in roadability—in keeping "all 20 feet on the ground"—under all riding conditions. This means a

2 STOPPING POWER

The big hydraulic brakes of the Ford V-8 are far and away the biggest in the low-priced field—a safety factor I've got to have in the new car I buy.

4 COMPLETE ECONOMY

The combination of low price, low cost of operation, high trade-in value and more extras at no extra cost, makes the Ford the great Economy buy for 1940.

6 STAMINA

In staying power, there's no car that can take the rough with the smooth like Ford. There are more Fords on the highway than any other make of car! This sturdy Ford is made to take it.
