Tonsil Clinic Held Sunday November 6th

Another tonsil clinic was held. Dr. Crawford of Lubbock did the operating. This service is much appreciated by the people of Bailey county.

This clinic was held especially for school children and there were 7 operations. Those having operations were:

Alamo School—Two children of Mr. Gross.

Watson School—Two children of Mr. Williamsen, 1 child of A. E. Baker.

Fairview—One child of Mr. Field, 1 child of Mr. Beene.

Following is a report of the October work of Miss Wentland: Infant and preschool work—Sixteen individual conferences, 4 new cases, 4 cases examined, 1 case sent to dentist, 1 nutrition class, 6 in attendance, 12 home visits.

School work—Four new schools visited, 122 students examined, 200 defects found, 86 children defective, 7 children corrected, 40 children under weight, 6 health talks given, 1 nutrition class, 12 members, 4 cases sent to dentist, 10 nursing case visits, 9 general case visits, 1 social service visit, 3 home demonstrations, 4 surveys, 3 birth registrations, 1 official meeting attended, 184 individual conferences, 5 public talks given, 52 hours spent in maternity and infancy work, 8 hours spent on reports, 32 hours spent in travel, 140 hours spent in school work.

Summary—Active cases, prenatal 6, natal 4, postnatal 4, infant 8, preschool 12, school 14, general 6. Total of active cases 52. Dorothy Wentland.

George M. Clark Dies at Bluffdale

George M. Clark, about 22 years of age, died at the home of his adopted parents at Bluffdale, Texas, Sunday night. Besides the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee A. Clark, deceased leaves a wife and two small children. Mr. Clark was married to Miss Virgie Mae DeBord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. DeBord, who resides north of town. He was well known in Muleshoe, having learned the printing trade under Editor Boyle of the Journal. Mr. Clark had been in bad health for some months. He was a young man of sterling character and well liked by all who knew him. The Journal joins with the entire community in extending sympathy to the bereaved family.

New Fire Alarm Installed Saturday

The Muleshoe Fire Department added to their equipment Saturday by installing a new and modern siren. The new siren is mounted on the standpipe tower and is operated electrically. It is the double siren type with a five horse motor. At an early date alarm boxes will be placed at convenient places over the city so that there will be no delay or confusion in turning in an alarm in case of fire. The Department is to be congratulated on this very modern improvement.

Muleshoe Defeats Littlefield to the Tune of 39 to 27

On Friday evening, Nov. 4, the Muleshoe Hi School girls went to Littlefield for the first basket ball game of the season. The game was a thrill from start to finish. Both teams were fighting every minute of the game. Both teams showed excellent work and lots of fight.

The Muleshoe lineup for the start was Forewards, Velma McDorman and Catherine Scribner, center; May Goodson and Ruth Harden guards; Ina Mae Glasscock and Ina Harden, McDorman and R. Harden were the only return players from last year's squad. The new members proved equal to the task, however, and played an excellent game. Glasscock and I. Harden played well together as guards, passing was good, footwork also.

Gordon at jumping center easily got the tipoff and R. Harden was at the proper place to receive the ball and make a quick pass to the forwards for a goal.

Scribner worked well at forward. She was good at passing and fairly accurate in hitting the loop for points. At the end of the first quarter the score stood 8 to 8 tie.

At the beginning of the second quarter Opal Morris was substituted for Scribner at Forward. Morris is a veteran player from last year squad but has been on the sick list for the past two weeks with cold and throat trouble. She showed excellent fight, however, and was good to work with her old partner, McDorman, in placing the ball through the hoop.

No further substitutions were made for the Yellow Jackets during the game.

Only one substitute was made by Littlefield.

The second quarter ended with Muleshoe 16, Littlefield 20. Third quarter, Muleshoe 27, Littlefield 20. The game ended Muleshoe 39, Littlefield 27.

Littlefield had excellent players at every position. Their guards were the strongest Muleshoe had, found in some time. Their forwards and centers were also good. Had their right forward I mean to throw two point goals the possibility is that Littlefield would have won. Due to the excellent guarding done by Glasscock she was only permitted to make overhead throws, which counted 1 point. Good sportsmanship was shown by all the rooters from Muleshoe. They had lots of pep, good yells and put things over. The team greatly appreciated the yells and support given them by the pep squad. We wish to take this means thanking those who furnished cars for the Littlefield trip. Reporter.

Brooks Theatre Will Show Big Pictures

The Brooks Theatre will show a new picture from one of Zane Grey's latest stories. "Forlorn River" is the name of the new play and is full of real action and is one that will be well liked.

This is the story of Nevada, an outlaw and fugitive from justice, but with a loyal friend and a brave and gallant man. At the opening of the story, Nevada, wounded, in flight from a sheriff's posse with his companion, Bill Hall, is heartlessly deserted by the latter and left to die on the range. He is rescued by young rancher, Ben Lido, who has a love affair dating from school days with Ina Blaine, daughter of a neighbor rancher.

Through his rescue by Ben Nevada is thrown in contact with Ina. The girl soon discovers that she loves the outlaw and not Ben. Although Nevada reciprocates her love, his loyalty to Ben and his own dark past prompt him to send the girl away. While returning to her home, Ina falls into the clutches of Bill Hall, now heading a band of rustlers. Associated with Hall is Les Setter, who has been posing in the Forlorn River country as an honest cattleman, but who is in reality the rustler boss. Furthermore he has long had evil designs with regard to Ina.

This picture will run Friday and Saturday.

The new serial picture, "The Mystery Pilot," is also making the regular run and patrons are assured of full value for their money.

Progress News

School is progressing fine. The examinations are over and the pupils made good. They made better grades this month than last.

The school is putting on a program Friday night, Nov. 18. Everybody is invited.

Audie Myers and Myron Hillock are absent from school this week helping with the threshing.

Miss Lucile Magness spent the week-end with homefolks.

Mrs. John Gregory is recovering from the measles very rapidly.

Mrs. Ruby George from Inez, N. M., spent last week with her mother, Mrs. E. C. Tucker. Edward and Fern Gross had their tonsils removed last week. They are reported doing nicely.

October Warmer and Drier, Report

October on the Plains was a warmer and drier October than we have had in many moons, a report issued by the local weather observer indicates.

The average temperature during the month was 62.6, above the normal average by 2.2 degrees. The highest temperature was 79.8 degrees and the minimum was 45.9.

Only six one-hundredths of an inch of moisture fell for the month making it one of the driest Octobers ever seen here. In 1905 no moisture fell and in 1903 only five one-hundredths of an inch fell. It was below the average October rainfall by 1.48 inches.

The month was also a period of perfect weather, for there were 29 clear days, one cloudy and one partly cloudy. —Plainview News.

Second Number of Lyceum Course Friday Night

The second number of the Lyceum Course, which is sponsored by the local Legion Post, will be next Friday night. This number will be a lecture by Mr. Geo. Emerson Francis on "The Jazz Jungle."

It is said that Mr. Francis is one of the most brilliant speakers on the American stage today. His talk will be of special interest to the young folks of the town and community and the Legion hopes that every boy and girl will hear him. Season tickets may still be purchased, and at the very low price of $1.50. School children admitted Friday night for 25 cents. The boys have put forth every effort to secure the very best in entertainment and it is to the interest of all the people to attend these programs. You will miss something worthwhile while if you fail to hear Mr. Francis.

From Canyon

Last Saturday was the annual Fall Homecoming for ex-students of the West Texas State Teachers College here and hundreds of visitors poured into town from all parts of the Panhandle.

Four special events were arranged to make the day noteworthy for the former college men and women. An assembly program in which all the organizations to which they had once belonged took part, was the first event of the day. At this time President J. A. Hill and 1145 students joined to welcome all who came.

In the afternoon W. T.'s grandchildren were seen at the annual baby show and Billie Neil Dixon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dixon of Amarillo, was declared winner in the class of younger babies, and George Shannon Black, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Black of Canyon carried off the honors in the older class.

Later the Canyon Buffaloes met the A. C. C. Wildcats in football, the score resulting in a 13 to 6 win for the West Texas State Teachers College. The follies of 1927, which was all fun, was the last event of the day.

Large delegations of exes came from Tulia, Panhandle, Friona, Bovina, Farwell, Silverton, Memphis, Spearman, Perryton and dozens of other towns.

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Lathy and R. L. Brown were in Plainview Monday.

Watch Muleshoe grow!

George Emerson Francis

Mr. Francis will help to make our Lyceum course one long to be remembered by the boys and girls as well as their fathers and mothers. His lecture on "The Jazz Jungle" is a brilliant, eloquent plea for finer thinking and better cultural standards; an appeal to invest your time now where it will pay the best dividends all through life. Don't fail to have the boys and girls hear Mr. Francis.

American Legion Will Hold General Meet Armistice Day

There will be a general meeting with election of officers for the coming year at the American Legion Home, Friday, November 11th, at the noon hour. Cards have been mailed to members, and all are urged to be present. Dinner will be served at the Home and everyone is asked to bring a basket of eats. There will be no special program this year, with the exception of the get-together meeting Friday and a dance Friday night. Music will be furnished by Gus Stevenson and his Rhythm Aces and a real good time will be had. Any ex-service man in the town or community is extended a cordial invitation to be present, whether he is a member of the Legion or not. Let's all be on hand and put both numbers over with the proper spirit.

Armistice Day

To a great number of people Armistice Day is merely another day in the week. To some, it's another holiday. But to some of the others it has quite a different meaning. It is a day that will be remembered as long as their lives last, no matter what other holidays may come.

To the ex-service man, and especially the one with months of foreign service, pictures of the past flash through his mind of days gone by. These pictures are many and varied. There were good days and bad days, however we will not attempt to put any definite per cent on the good days. There were days when it seemed that the road would never end. Days of heavy packs and "slim feeds." Days of rain and cold, with water-soaked clothes and blankets. The night marches, or maybe a truck convoy. The roads jammed with supply trains, artillery, infantry and all the things it takes to make a war. There was the "big push" coming on. You talk everything over with that best Buddie. The artillery, friend of the Doughboy, is doing it's stuff. Rockets and flares are in the air. Machine guns with their wicked purr. Daylight—and Over. You looked for that best Buddie. He was like a brother. Probably it was the last day, but he's Gone West. Yes, to some, Armistice Day is more than a Holiday.

Dr. J. E. Steele Encounters a Bad Collision

Dr. J. E. Steele, who recently located here in the practice of medicine, was making a trip to his former home in Robertson county, had the misfortune to come in collision with a truck, which knocked his car into a twelve foot ditch completely demolishing it and injuring him. He writes us as follows:

"Please mail my paper to Paducah, Texas. Coming out from Matador, about 6 miles on the Paducah road, a truck struck my car, knocking me into a ditch about 10 or 12 feet deep. It ruined my car—can't tell for sure whether I am hurt much or not."

Only a "Main Street Town"—It Became Famous Over Night

Not all great events take place in metropolitan centers.

History is full of the records of little towns which were unheard of until something happened in or near them to give them wide-world fame. It may have been a battle, a great disaster or some other event to bring them into the newspaper headlines and focus the attention of the world upon them.

In the cases of some, public interest soon died and then lapsed into obscurity again, but for others the passing years have brought deathless fame. How many such towns can you remember? Make out a list of them and then compare it with the names of those listed in the feature article, "Famous Over Night" by Elmo Scott Watson in this issue of the Journal. You'll be surprised to see how many "famous over night" towns you have already forgotten even tho' their names were once a part of your daily speech.

W.N.U. SERVICE

CHAPTER X

The New Year's festivities and the trade were over at Elkwan. The dance in the steeplehouse, for which Etienne, seated high on a sugar barrel, provided the music from an ancient and scathed violin, had passed without compelling the interference of the factor as peacemaker. The customary present of sugar and flour, tea and pork, had been given to each family of hunters by the Cree and had been doled out to their hearts' content, obligations of bitter moons to come on far-trip lines when, if game were hard to find, their children would whimper with hunger. The last of the dog-teams had flung up the river trail or down the delta bound for Akimiski. Thanks to Souci it had been an unheeded trade which had come to the little post. Not only had he brought across the ice the Elkwan Cree but some from Kapiskau and Attawapiskat, as well. A good joke on Graham and Boucher.

For a week Garth and Etienne were busy sorting and pressing the furs, which was to go by sled immediately to Albany.

"Twenty-eight thousand dollars," said the factor as he finished checking his list. "Our little trips inland after Souci and over to the island were rather worth while, my friend."

Etienne grinned. "No lette post lak dis evair mak' dat trade on dis bay. De you see you bigger place soon. You lak Etienne Savanne wid you?"

"Take you with me, you old villain? How could I get along without you? You're responsible for this catch of fur, and you know it."

Savanne grumpy shook his head. "Get was you with de chance on de river to tin' Souci. Wen we go to Albaine I tell dem peopl' dat de new man at Elkwan ees nah on catch de fur."

Garth stopped to laugh at the serious half-breed. Of the loyalty of his head man, who had taught him practically all he knew about pelts, he had had ample proof.

Down the coast over the sea-ice traveled the sled loaded with the Christmas trade. At Kapiskau, where the early January dusk evoked them, they turned up the delta to the post to pass the night with the surprised Boucher, whose Indians at Akimiski had left him to make the winter.

Starting the following morning under the stars, before the light died, the sled from Elkwan sighted the buildings of Fort Albany.

As Garth and Etienne entered the trade room, Cameron, curious of the result of their mission, called: "Well, well, what the news from the island? Did you get across the ice?"

"Yes, we got across a week before Christmas, but had a tough time," Guthrie dissembled gravely, nudging Etienne.

"Didn't see how you could do any good going over there. Your man failed to hold any of the Elkwan pelts, then?"

"Well, Mr. Cameron," drawled the factor of Elkwan, "I've got half of it out on the sled, then."

"What?" Cameron stared stupidly into the twinkling eyes of the man before him. "Thought you said you didn't—half of it? What d'you mean, half of it? Half of what? Spattered the panned trade?"

"Why, half of the Akimiski trade. We got a hundred skins."

"You got a hundred?—Why, man, you said you didn't hold 'em—your people, are you crazy, Guthrie?" cried the excited Cameron.

Unable to contain his mirth, Etienne exploded at the far end of the trade counter, as Garth replied: "You took it for granted that we failed. I didn't say we fell down," chaffed Guthrie.

"For heaven's sake, man, stop your fooling and tell me the truth. You mean to say that you've got a hundred fox from Akimiski on that sled out there?" demanded Cameron.

"I do."

"Well—I'll be—skinned alive!" And the dazed trader stood, fists on hips gazing at the grinning Garth and Etienne.

"How in Jehoshaphat did you do it? You got 'em, after all, with Souci?"

"Souci and Etienne, here, scared 'em to death."

Then, when the fur packs had been response. "When a man comes home with a couple of foxes on a face that he isn't justified in killing both his wife and the man she turns to. Put yourself in his place, Cameron. Even the children on the streets must have mocked him as he passed. Think of the hell he lived through—then see, his refuge and his anchor—falls him."

Again Cameron felt that the man championing the unknown McDonald was making the case his own. That Guthrie was sensitive of his scoured cheek already was aware and that irritated the older man into blurring outright: "Guthrie, don't take offense at what I'm going to say, but it seems to me that you'd be vain as a girl to have that scar always on your mind. Why, man, you're handsome enough to carry a dozen scars. Nobody ever thinks of it, except to envy your war record."

Guthrie's mouth curled slightly in answer: "Man, I've forgotten all about that scar, but I can't forget the men who were not so lucky."

But as Cameron's hand left the shoulder of the factor of Elkwan, he was sure that the furrow across the cheek of the younger man had played its part in a personal tragedy.

As Guthrie left the trade house to seek his room at Cameron's hospitable quarters and make himself presentable for the supper on which Mrs. Cameron would spare no effort, he turned for a short instant toward the clearing. He was approaching the mission when the fur-hooded figure of a woman passed him at a short distance on a parallel path. The face in the hood was turned from him but the swinging stride of the moccasined feet aroused his curiosity. The white woman residents of the post could be seen at the Mission office has got the idea that this free-trader, McDonald, may be the man wanted in Nova Scotia for a murder committed about three years ago. A red-headed legionnaire struck and killed a man supposed to be his wife's lover. He was traced to Newfoundland. According to McDonald, because of a red-headed legionnaire of the soldier's tallies with the appearance of this laughing McDonald, I have written Montreal that the schooner is bringing on this coast. I expect the provincial police will show up here soon to investigate."

"Now, what if you think of that?" demanded Cameron of the man whose thoughts were centered on the homecoming of a soldier with a disfigured face—a face repulsive, unbearable to the woman whose weakness had caused the murder.

"There must be ten thousand men in Canada with scoured faces, Cameron. Because of a red-headed legionnaire happens to have one doesn't make him the murderer."

Cameron sensed that the reply had a personal tinge—was in the nature of a defense of the man whose legionnaire and said quitted: "No, of course not, but this McDonald sailed out of St. John's, didn't he? Should be the bird they're after."

"How many police will they send on this case?"

"Oh, more than two."

"I'm sorry for them, then. They'd never come back. Do you think that two men can go to that schooner in Seal Cove and get McDonald, if he's the guilty man? He wouldn't be taken alive—and I've a notion that he isn't worth much to McDonald."

"Why, you seem to sort of sympathize with this pirate who's stealing our trade," objected the other.

"The gray eyes of the factor of Elkwan held those of Cameron in a penetrating look, as he said: "I do. You've just left Mrs. Cameron, and knew of your arrival with that fabulous amount of fur. Congratulations on your defeat of Laughing McDonald."

"You—wintering at Albany," he continued, "and you never told me!"

"The color rose to the dark hair on the forehead. "I found a job. You see they needed a nurse terribly at the school." Her eyes avoided his searching look now. "My brother returns in the spring. So I decided to wait for him here."

"But when I left, you were leaving in a day or two for Moose," he retorted. "And you were with me on Christmas letter and never told me you were only ninety miles away," he uttered reproachfully.

"I couldn't interfere with the—your fight for the fox trade," she replied weakly.

"Well, the fact is, Miss Joan Quarrer," he said with a laugh, "that

"It sure grinds me to think of that McDonald coming in here," counted on the fingers of a hand. It was a stranger—a new missionary teacher at the orphan Indian school, doubtless. At the mission the palmy met, and Guthrie turned with a "good evening," as the woman in the fur cap came abreast, to gasp, with a furiously pounding heart, as he looked into the laughing eyes of Joan Quarrer.

"You're here?" he exclaimed, gazing at the upturned hood as if at a ghost. "Welcome to Albany, Mr. Exile," she cried, extending a mitted hand. "I've just left Mrs. Cameron, and knew of your arrival with that fabulous amount of fur. Congratulations on your defeat of Laughing McDonald."

"You—wintering at Albany," he continued, "and you never told me!"

"The color rose to the dark hair on the forehead. "I found a job. You see they needed a nurse terribly at the school." Her eyes avoided his searching look now. "My brother returns in the spring. So I decided to wait for him here."

Devise to Measure Molten Metal's Heat

No thermometer could ever be expected to record the temperature of furnaces or of great masses of molten metal, although the development of science along these lines has made it very necessary to determine the degree of heat in furnaces and contained in masses of metal, such as huge steel billets and great cubes of iron.

The discovery that two different kinds of metal welded together produced a current of electricity was the means of inventing a means whereby energy could be determined in terms of heat, no matter how intense. The current is measured by the voltage and certain temperatures produce certain values in electrical strength, and that is the way the amount of heat is measured in degrees of heat.

The principle is applied in a device known as the radiation pyrometer. It can stand at a considerable distance from the furnace or mass of molten metal that is being tested and it will record the internal heat conditions accurately. It is an aid to better steel and iron products, and as the world progresses it has become a requisite of the great agencies of man to enable him to delve into the mysteries of nature's laboratories.—Washington Star.

The Poor Man's Sport

Track athletics, especially distance running, is the poor man's sport. He does not need shoes, his cheap running suit and a place to stretch a leg. Most distance men have no trainers, and must prepare themselves until they can make a reputation. They usually work hard all day, either in shops or at desks, and must perform their leisure for training.—Herbert Reed in the Outlook.

Cause Injury to Trees

Gasoline and oil have been known to injure and cause the death of trees. If such substances come in contact with the bark, particularly in the case of the roots, says a writer in the Washington Star. The oil apparently penetrates to the cambium region, which is a particularly sensitive and actively growing tissue, injuring it beyond repair. It is not necessary that there be toxic substances in the mixtures and it is still a laughing matter.

 Building Quality into Used Cars

Unusual facilities for re-conditioning automobiles...
 In the first place, we can tell exactly what needs to be done to a car without long and expensive experimenting. Our mechanics are thoroughly equipped with special tools, they accomplish a given task in the minimum time. Furthermore, we use only genuine parts for replacement purposes. As a result, our reconditioned cars simply cannot be matched for value.

The Conversion of "Doc" McGee

When first she came, some time ago,
 Of course folks did't really know
 Just what and how sich nurses do,
 Exceptin' maybe just a few.

For instance, Deacon Ezra Frost
 Allowed 'twas so much money lost,
 "Hard cash for jist a passin' fad,
 A wicked waste--too bad, too bad."

Miss Gable said as how she knew
 An interestin' thing or two,
 "I don't speak names, but jest you mind
 Somebody's got an ax to grind."

Josiah Hinkson sort o' laughed
 An' guessed it was a doctor's graft
 The way them 'nurses go about
 Proclaimin' "Git your tonsils out."

One day I asked old Doc McGee
 To let us in on his idee,
 And, sakes alive, but he was sore!
 He ceased a streak and walked the floor.

"What I advise will be ignored;
 She'll drive about in that new Ford.
 Directin' what to drink and eat,
 She'll boost for milk and knock on meat."

"She'll weigh the kids and scan their tongue,
 Most likely listen to their lungs,
 She'll plant a lot of fool idee
 About consumption, Bright's disease,
 Arthritis, rickets, mumps and flu.

And no doubt tell 'em what to do."
 At last old Doc, he sez, sez he,
 "By heck! she can't dictate to me."

One day when passin' old Doc's door
 I noticed there at least a score
 Of people waitin' for their turn.
 It made me curious to learn
 What caused the run on nux and squills
 And other cures for human ills.

Just then Jo Hinkson's wife and four
 Of Jo's five kids came through the door;
 Sleeves rolled up and left arm bare,
 And so were others waiting there.

It sure was old Doc's busy day,
 Some sixty odd or more, they say.
 Next day I met Doc on the street,
 Sez he, "I've got some crow to eat."

He told me then about the case
 Of smallpox down at Jones' place.
 The nurse had found the kid in school,
 "By heck!" says Doc, "She sure was cool.

By exercise of common sense
 She saved this town big expense,
 A smallpox epidemic, too,
 By knowin' what and how to do."

She took him home--just round the block
 And told the folks to send for Doc.
 "She didn't tell 'em what it wuz
 (They say a real nurse seldom does)"

"You see," said Doc, "our schools ain't closed,
 We vaccinated all exposed.
 It's better, don't you see, by far
 To know right where them youngsters are."

Two years ago no decent home
 Would be without a fine-tooth comb,
 A box of ointment for the itch,
 And ear drops, clove oil and sich.

But since she got 'em goin' chores
 And brushing teeth and keeping scores,
 They don't have lice nor seven year itch,
 And school goes on without a hitch.

That Elkins boy they called a fool,
 Who used to run away from school;
 Since fixing up his throat and eyes
 They say that boy is a surprise.
 She's been with us a year or more

And if you want to hear a roar,
 Just criticise the County Board
 For paying upkeep of her Ford.
 Or say, as once did Deacon Frost
 That "nurse's pay is money lost."

Written by a doctor as a tribute
 To a county public health nurse.

Methodist Conference at Big Spring

The Northwest Texas Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South is being held at Big Springs, Texas. Bishop John M. Moore of Dallas will preside over all the business sessions. It will be the first time the Conference has ever met in that city. There are five Annual Conferences in the State. All of the territory west of Putnam in Callahan county to Midland on the T. & P. railroad and north from Putnam and Midland to New Mexico and Oklahoma is embraced in the Northwest Conference. It is understood that there will be a change in the pastorate at this place, however there is no definite information to be had to date.

Good weather for the past few days has been very beneficial to the harvest of the feed crop. According to reports movements are steady with the price fairly good.

To Close Armistice

Quite a number of the business houses in town are preparing to close at noon on Armistice Day. As far as is known there will be no special program, but some wish to visit other towns where there will be celebrations. However, the public is asked not to forget the Lyceum number Friday night, and be on hand. Also, if possible, try to arrange to get your groceries and other needs Friday morning. It was impossible for the committee to see everyone in town as to the closing, so it is not known definitely about some of them.

Know Texas

Texas is the second ranking in honey production with an annual output of about 5,000,000 pounds. Census report shows between 200,000 and 300,000 bee hives in the state.

All cattle in Texas are not on farms. The latest census report shows more than 200,000 head of cattle within incorporated towns and cities.

Texas produces almost 200,000,000 gallons of milk a year and the value of her milk, butter and cheese products is more than $35,000,000 a year.

Texas usually ranks first among the states as a winter cabbage producer.

What Dr. Caldwell Learned in 47 Years Practice

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It cannot harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not grip. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell, M.D.
AT AGE 83

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic purges and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

See Possibility of Tapping Earth's Heat

The possibility of tapping down boreholes four or five miles apart over the land areas of the globe to utilize the earth's internal heat for many purposes was discussed in a paper read to the engineering section of the British association by J. L. Hodgson, a civil engineer. Mr. Hodgson said the heat stored in the hot rocks of the earth's interior was immense—at least 20,000,000 times the heat reserves in the world's coal supply. Only the heat available down to a depth of, say, 20 miles under the land area was likely to be of interest to engineers during the next few hundred years, but even this was ten times the heat contained in the world's coal reserves, and if it could be used, would provide the heat required by mankind for many thousands of years. He declared that exploitation of this heat seemed to be on the border line of practicability.

HATS AND WRAPS OF METAL CLOTH; FAVOR SNUG FELTS AND SOLEILS

AT THE gathering of the social club of opera and other midwinter formal functions, the pomp and glory of clothes display will proclaim to the world that so far as dress is concerned this is indeed an era of elegance.

The outstanding feature of this season's evening modes is the emphasis placed on luxurious simplicity. If one may so express it. To illustrate—the picture and evening wraps in this address are innocent of garish orate-

Not all metal wraps are shawls, however, for many are made in loose graceful dolman fashion. The coat at the top in the illustration is handsomely made with flowing sleeves and rich fur trimming. Young girls are having this gold and silver "tulle" made up in coats of slim silhouette, quite like the street cloth models.

Sail, sail, sail! goes the scissors in the fashioning of the cunning felts which are "all the rage" for street and sportswear. It is a fact a ness, yet because of the gold and silver fabrics of which they are fashioned, they are almost breathtaking in their magnificence and beauty. The same that is true in regard to evening modes pertains to fashions throughout—the important part that fabrics play in achieving versatility and elegance in the style of the season.

In Magnificent Formal-Attire.

Wraps made of metal cloth are the "last word" this season. They are usually accompanied by a little fitted skullcap or toque of glittering gold or silver cloth or lace.

Many of the wraps are nothing more or less than huge squares of gold or silver brocade or of plain weave metal cloth. To be sure they felt hat nowadays is not eligible to the modish class until it has undergone a major scissor operation from which it emerges a new "creation" flaunting fascinating eccentricities both of crown and of brim.

All this individualizing of the hat to its wearer has led to an interesting innovation in some of the shops, where expert modistes are employed to cut and pin the hat on the head. The way you do it is this—you choose the foot hood you like best. After which you are ushered to a seat before a large mirror, where a milliner is in waiting with scissors by hand. Just for all the world like going to the barber for a "bob"! Only instead of bobbing your hair the milliner bobs your hat, cutting away a superfluous part here, giving it a deft crease there and so on, until presto! you step forth snarply and becomingly habited in a model individualized to your type. Not a bad idea! eh? Especially for the woman of large head size who welcomes an opportunity to be fitted with a hat that is up-to-the-minute in youthful styling.

Concerning the chic little felts graced in this picture, they are charming examples what a pair of scissors in the hand of the "milliner hand" can achieve in the way of smart headwear. The cunning soft ripple-brim effect shown to the left at the top, also the smart toque in this collection are two supreme soloist types—

A Mother, Her Child, and One Dime!

Easy to Keep the System Sweet at Any Age

Many people who never have to take a laxative eat a candy cacauret now and then. Do you know why? They have found that cacauret sweetens the whole system—brings an immaculacy of person that means everything. It prevents bodily chemistry from ever making one unconsciously offensive to others. And what a perfect regulator of the bowels!

Salts affect the lining of the bowels. Mineral oils have a coating that the blood must carry off through the pores. How much better to cacauret the system, and cause the bowels to expel everything by normal muscular contraction! To say nothing of the cleaner, sweeter condition that lasts for days—a wholesome condition that makes the use of cacaurets quite unnecessary in January or July! Men and women whose years have brought on sluggishness often find that a cacauret only once a week is all the tonic they need. Cacauret is splendid for children, too, and they love the candy cacauret which every druggist has for 10c and 25c.

MOTHER A Cross, Sick Child is Constipated! Look at Tongue

No matter what ails your child, at gentle, thorough laxation should always be the first treatment given.
If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look! Mother's Tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that the little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bits gently move out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mother can rest easy after giving this harmless, "fruity laxative" because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

The Muleshoe Journal

C. S. HOLLAND, Editor

$1.50 per year

Farewell

We have come to the place where we must say goodbye as the editor of the Muleshoe Journal.

Almost two and a half years ago we came to Muleshoe and decided to cast our lot with you.

In coming to Muleshoe we wanted not alone to make a financial success, but to win your confidence and respect.

We wanted to print a Journal that the entire family would enjoy reading. The Journal hasn't been as large a paper as we would like to make it; it hasn't been as thorough in its work as we would have it; but it has been all that we could give you with the volume of advertising received.

Since we have entered into the bargain and will leave the editorial duties of the Journal, we have found that we had a place in your community life—a place we didn't know of before.

We have been just as liable to err in the conduct of our business as others, because we have an unusual amount of human frailties, and for all mistakes and errors in judgment we hereby humbly make amends.

We have sold the Journal equipment, mailing list and our good will to C. S. Holland of Chillicothe. He has leased the building from us and the plant will remain in the same location Mr. Holland has spent some years in the newspaper game, and will give you a good paper.

We trust that every business and professional man in Muleshoe will carry an ad in the paper all the time.

By the time you read this article we will be in Plainview, where we will make our home.

To the Citizens of Muleshoe and Community

There has probably been a time in everyone's life when he said to himself: "I will go to a new country and cast my lot with the people there, taking part in the upbuilding of it the very best that I know how."

So it is with us as we come among the good people of Muleshoe and community. We come with an earnest desire to be of real service. With the wish to help in any way possible the carrying out of the ideals and ambitions of this little city.

C. S. HOLLAND.

The telephone girl's "thank you" when you give her a number is in the wrong in the right direction, but there is still room for improvement in the phraseology concerning wrong numbers.

SHERIFF'S SALE

THE STATE OF TEXAS County of Bailey

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain Alias Execution issued out of the Honorable District Court of Bailey County, on the 9th day of June, 1927, by C. C. Mardis, clerk of said court, for the sum of Twelve Hundred and Fourteen and 25-100 dollars and costs of suit, under a judgment in favor of E. R. Hara certain cause in said court, No. 186, and styled E. R. Har- vs. R. L. Brown. Said execution, placed in my hands for service, I, H. A. Douglass, as sheriff of Bailey County, Texas, did on the first day of November, 1927, levy on certain Real Estate, situated in Bailey County, Texas, described as follows, to-wit: Lot 17, Block 12, the same being in the town of Muleshoe, County of Bailey, State of Texas, and levied upon as the property of R. L. Brown, and that on the first Tuesday in December, 1927, the same being the 6th day of said month, at the Court House door of Bailey County, in the town of Muleshoe, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., by virtue of said levy and said alias execution I will sell said above described Real Estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said R. L. Brown.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Muleshoe Journal, a newspaper published in Bailey County.

Witness my hand, this 1st day of November, 1927.

H. A. DOUGLASS, Sheriff, Bailey County, Texas.
