Bulldogs Trample Paducah Dragons To Tune of 51 to 7

Pups Score in Every Quarter; Draper Star Player, 3 Long Runs

Spur's high flying Bulldogs scored in every quarter on their own field Friday night, Nov. 10, to defeat the outclassed Paducah Dragons, 51 to 7, in a district conference game.

The Bulldogs' scoring got under way in the first period with three touchdowns and continued in the second with one, in the third with two and in the fourth with another pair. Paducah managed to shove across its lone score in the second period against the Bulldogs' second team.

Bulldog Tailback Jimmie Draper was the star of the game with three long runs of 65 to 70 yards for touchdowns and passed for another. Calvin Holloway, Bulldog right half, also stood out in the backfield for winners. One of the features of the game was furnished when Larry Towles, tackle for Spur, intercepted a Paducah pass and ran 80 yards to score. Donald Delisle and O. E. Byrd in the Spur line were outstanding.

Proctor probably played his last home game for Spur high school before entering the Armed forces.

The Bulldogs will play the Slaton team at Slaton on Friday, Nov. 17. Remember the district championship game—Floydada vs. Spur—at 2:30 p. m. Thursday, Nov. 30, at the Charles A. Jones Memorial stadium. Don't fail to back the boys! Come out Thanksgiving day and watch the Bulldogs again win district championship!

Lineup of each team will appear in next week's issue of The Texas Spur.

Eight From County Attend District Meeting in Lubbock

Farmers from nineteen counties met at Lubbock, Nov. 9, to elect district officers and discuss need of organization.

Those attending from Dickens county were J. R. Speights, Byron Haney, Charles Taylor, S. L. Benefield, Ellis Draper, Floy Watson, Cleston Pritchett and Dewie Watson.

R. G. Arnold, southern organizer from Auburn, Ala., spoke briefly on the two desires of farmers. First to produce a good crop, second to get priority price at the market place.

To produce and harvest a good crop, he stressed the need of adequate machinery, material and labor. To get a fair price for agricultural products, Arnold stressed the need of organization.

Following Arnold's talk, as a most pleasant surprise to the group, Rep. George Mahon made an appearance and gave a talk stressing the importance of the need of agricultural organization as all other groups are organized.

Mahon pointed to the fact that he was in Washington most of the time, and was therefore unable to know the wishes of the people whom he so desires to serve and please. "Organization," said Mahon, "gives a broader view of a situation than individuals."

"I have great faith in the future," he said. "Although there are some things which do not look so bright, there will be great progress made in agriculture. Many problems will confront the farmers, but there is no problem that we cannot solve by working together by organization."

Speakers in the afternoon were M. C. Jaynes, Cooperative specialist of Texas A & M, who expressed their willingness to aid farm organization. He also stressed the need of organization.

N. C. Forrester of Austin spoke briefly on the merits of the Blue Cross plan of hospitalization, which is available to all Farm Bureau members.

State Farm Bureau President, J. Walter Hammond of Tve, presented the challenge to the American farmer.

"The farmer must be considered in the distribution of wealth after the war," he said. "Industry is grooming the public for higher priced articles so that they may pay labor higher wages. At the same time, they tell the farmer he must produce cheaper to meet foreign competition."

Hammond gave some achievements of Farm Bureau, $5.00 per bale on cotton, improved farm credit system, fair cash prices instead of subsidies, continuation of soil conservation, rural electrification and numerous other activities after the war.

Wilson expresses the thanks of the American Legion to the public for their generous support of their annual poppy sale.

And You Couldn't Eat Over a Dozen Of 'Em For Lunch

W. O. Formby has something even followers of Ripley might gasp over. It's a radish, produced in his garden here in Spur weighing 18 inches in length and nine inches around.

The seed was planted in early August, and has had little irrigation since. The radish is of the sweet variety and firm in consistency. When bigger radishes are grown, Mr. Formby will grow 'em!

WAVES Solve Jig-Saw Puzzle to Aid Navy's Fighting Men

These WAVES are working on a jig-saw puzzle—the most important jig-saw puzzle imaginable. On duty at the Navy Hydrographic Office, they are helping construct a chart by use of aerial photographs. In its finished form the chart will guide the Navy's fighting men in operations in the Pacific zone. In existence two years, there's still a need in the WAVES for thousands of patriotic young women—20 to 36, without children under 18—whose starting pay, counting food and quarters, will be $141.50 a month, plus many "extras" and post-war advantages.

NO TRUCE WITH THE GERMANS

Emil Ludwig, German-born historian, comes to the defense of the "unconditional surrender" clause and denies the theory that fair promises will make "good" Germans in return for the defeat and chastisement of "bad" ones.

Asserting that lives can be saved and the war shortened by a compromise peace with the Germans, the historian says "it would also result in hastening and making possible the beginning of World War III which in 20 years would in turn cost millions of lives."

Ludwig says that the "unconditional surrender" clause is the only one which impresses the Germans who will interpret as cowardice every bit of consideration shown them. He adds that "if you offer a German a present, he will declare it his due and demand twice as much."

According to this German writer, the Germans will change only after experiencing a defeat without limitation and when they realize that, instead of being the master race, power in the world. Consequently, Ludwig praises General Eisenhower's proclamation to the Germans, beginning: "We come as conquerors."

Ludwig does not believe that the topography and social structure of Germany makes a protracted guerrilla warfare possible. Consequently, he believes that only a few weeks or months will intervene between Germany's condition and unconditional surrender.

He praises the act of General Eisenhower, who had a village near the German frontier burned to the ground, because several Americans had been killed there, saying that the act immediately established throughout Germany a respect for the American soldier which previously had been completely lacking.

Moreover, "the destruction of Aachen and other towns in the future will not embitter the Germans but rather induce them to rally around the victor as the strong one." He says that the name Eisenhower fills the Germans with respect because, in German, it means "iron beater."

We are inclined to agree with the reasoning of Emil Ludwig. While the "unconditional surrender" policy may prolong the war for a while, and this a serious matter to Americans whose sons are fighting in Europe, the long-range gain, which includes the prospects of destroying the superman myth, outweighs the short-range benefits.

The Germans have taken to the sword in an aggressive, brutal and demoralizing warfare. They have wantonly disregarded the rights of every other people and their lust to conquer is based, fundamentally, upon the acquisition of loot and booty.

They must be taught the hard lesson that aggression does not pay and that a policy of brutality, even in warfare, brings back upon the German people stern and just punishment, inevitable and inexorable. The lesson may be difficult to administer but the peace of the world demands that it be taught.

GREAT POST-WAR OPPORTUNITY

In last week's Thursday edition of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram there appeared, in the feature "Short Shots" by Robert Quillen, this thought: "There will be great post-war opportunity, but it will be for those who want independence and adventure, not for those who want pay every Saturday."

As the beginning of the end draws nearer, with the tremendous Allied gains in all theatres of operations, the promise of a bright post-war future won by relentless struggle, human suffering, courage and determination, is in sight. A post-war future that in almost three years of war have cost more than a half million American casualties—dead, wounded, missing or prisoners. Americans who have learned independence and adventure the hard way. For love of America they fought to insure us these freedoms. May we deserve their sacrifices!

Independence. The power to exercise an individual will or judgment without the guidance or control of others. Self reliance. Capable of standing alone. Adventure. The determination and action to back up that independence. To enter fresh fields and seek its gain.

To work to give—not receive. That is a post-war plan to bring personal reimbursement to all who would seek independence and adventure.

The reports that German mental specialists are examining Adolf Hitler indicates a surplus of manpower in Germany.

Planning is important, both in the lives of individuals and the lives of nations. Never let anybody fool you about this matter.

Our own idea is that low wages are a curse to any area and the higher the income of workers the greater the current prosperity.

No government is unjust that serves the common interest and the general welfare but no government can be just when it serves the interests of special minorities or privileged favorites.

POWER RESOURCE

Personal confidence is one of the world's really great power resources. When two individuals become acquainted, after they have more or less dealing with each other, confidence (or a noticeable lack of confidence) always results. This is no part of high-brow psychology. It is a practical experience that comes to every human before he knows enough words to tell about it.

The power contained in this commonplace, human relationship is too big to calculate. How many times have you known insolvent business firms to rise above ruin and fight their way to prosperity because a banker believed personally in somebody? More than once I have seen "defeated" ball teams build victory from nothing anybody could see but the hopeful grin of a respected coach.

Of Practical Use

Nowhere in mortal experience is the power of personal trust so obvious as in a hospital. Patients get better when the doctor comes. Pain seems to lose its edge, fever actually subsides, confusion gives place to calm when the physician enters. It is a positive curative, a definite part of physical treatment. It is a thing too useful and effective to be lightly discarded.

There is a concerted movement on foot in political circles to break up this relationship between doctor and patient. It is spoken of as "instituting socialized medicine." By no means have the details of the plan been worked out, but the early steps have been charted. It adds up to putting all doctors on the government's pay-roll and assigning them their patients.

It's Regrettable

To Mr. Average Citizen it means that he can't choose his physician. If he gets sick or a member of his family encounters accident or ill health, he must complain to a bureau and accept the doctor picked by the bureaucrat in charge. He probably will be obliged to go somewhere and fill out a blank first. If the case calls for hospital service he will be so informed and a hospital selected for him.

Boosters for socialized medicine claim it will improve the entire nation's well-being. They say it will make doctors anxious to keep their communities well, make them zealous of disease prevention. I doubt it. Making doctors salaried government men can't help but make a lot of them lazy and indifferent. It might reasonably cost many lives and it would certainly pile administrative cost to the sky.

A Labor of Love

Professional services, by their very nature, are personal services. In large part they are confidential. A man who is not at liberty to pick his own confidants is not a free man at all. Doctors admit that they, on the average, might earn more money in fewer hours of work under socialized medicine. Nevertheless doctors oppose it and it is not their moral credit.

Doctors oppose shorter hours at better pay; why? Because in getting these "goodies" for themselves they would cause their patients to pay more, suffer more and perhaps die sooner. The physician's work would be no longer personal. In their vital and delicate services doctors would have to get along without personal confidence, the most helpful of all medicines.

F.D.R. Wins Personal Victory G.O.P. Prospects For 1948

The election of 1944 record for the fourth time the personal popularity of President Roosevelt, who managed not only to secure his reelection for a fourth term but pulled into the Houses of Representatives a working Democratic majority and helped Democrats to win doubtful races for Governor and Senator.

The result of the balloting must be accepted as the third vindication of the President's policies, both domestic and foreign. While many of the millions who voted for him do not approve his position on all public issues, they put aside their minor disagreements in favor of enthusiastic endorsement of the bulk of the Roosevelt program.

The Democratic Party will erroneously conclude that it makes a tremendous mistake if it voters have given anything like blanket approval to the Party itself. Everyone is aware that the Party is badly divided, with an irreconcilable clash between big city and Southern elements. Moreover the Party, like other political aggregations, has its conservative as well as its liberal contingents.

The Republications continue to exhibit considerable political power. Against any other candidate except Mr. Roosevelt, the probability is that Governor Dewey would have taken office in January. The GOP possess fundamental strength in the support of substantial business elements and while it is badly split between Isolationists and Internationalists, the chances are that this issue will fade from the political scene before the presidential election of 1948.

Many political prognosticators will attempt to explain the election upon various theories. They see very plainly, now that the election is over, certain shifts drifts and trends. In our opinion these exist in the fanciful imagination of the writers and commentators. The explanation of the voting this month is to be found almost exclusively in the personality of President Roosevelt.

The reelection of the President must be taken as an endorsement by a majority of the people. When one considers that Governor Dewey also aligned himself of his strong foreign policy, with an international point of view, it becomes plainer than ever that the overwhelming majority of our people have renounced Isolationism and favor American participation in a world organization that can effectively maintain the peace of the world.

The same observation applies to most of the domestic policies inaugurated by President Roosevelt. Despite the conclusions reached by some of his opponents, that the election does not constitute an endorsement of domestic policies, it is difficult to would have interpreted, in enemy countries and in some friendly areas, as indicative of a weakening of American resolve.

While there will not be general acceptance of Governor Dewey's assertion that the Republican party has been "revitalized" by the campaign just concluded, few thoughtful students of the political future doubt that the prospects of the GOP in 1948 will be brighter than in 1944.

Obviously, the Democrats will be without the candidacy of President Roosevelt and there is the distinct possibility of a bitter inter-Party war. This will rebound to the advantages of the Republicans, who, on domestic issues, will probably be able to present a more united front than their opponents. While it is too early to predict what will happen in 1948, it may be safely assumed that the next presidential campaign is already underway.

The results of an election, like the verdict of a jury, is interpreted differently, accordingly to self-interest.

If the American people are too optimistic about the war they have been misled by headlines and adjectives.

Calvin Holloway: "No, sir."
Officer: "I'm the Colonel of this outfit."

Calvin: "Oh-oh! Are you gonna catch it! The sergeant's been looking for you all day!"
Alone: "That's the sort of man I've been looking for all my life."

Lois: "Me too, but you go ahead dear, you've been looking longer than I have."

Miss Noack: "Now remember that thinking is said to draw the blood to your head."

SCANDAL

Madame Swan—Sees All, Hears All, Knows All, and Tells All!
In a way Aury Nell and Susie profited by Roy Lee and Wendell's visits to Dallas. The new jewelry they're wearing is really something. However, on the other hand, those trips will make the girls awfully lonesome in a few weeks, Charmian is another lonesome-to-be.

Dot Karr was stepping out with Boyd's cousin, James Gray.

Voneta and Elmer are getting along swell; they make a darling couple.

David Jr. is getting a little above the rest of us. She's a pretty Jr. girl.

Tillie! Didn't you realize you were in the middle of the football field? By the way, the Stooges were in an awful hurry, weren't they?

Forestine Mecom is attempting to regain her old steady, Calvin Holloway. What does Cecilia Fox think about that?

Donna Jean Wright and Pete Adcock are getting along perfectly swell.

I suppose everyone knows who the two football captains want for queen. Don't you?

It seems as though Dennis Bingham and Imogene Bilberry are pretty good chums. Who knows?

Ned still wants someone to wear his F.F.A. ring. It seems to be Wanda Ruth now.

Imogene Rogers was seen with that cute Dickens boy, Billy Overstreet.

Gwen McAlpine sure was happy Thursday. I think it all had to do with a certain telephone call.

Inez Sizemore and Wendell George have been seen together quite a little bit.

Those Taylor girls . . . what do they have that Spur girls don't?

Elesse Petty is after all the boys, especially Billy Hale, but it looks like she has a little competition.

The Rickels twins seem to like the Senior girls as well as the Freshmen, and it seems the Seniors think they are wonderful, too.

What is this we hear about Mafai and Jr. Fry?

Barbara Ford is going to be lonesome soon because Dale is leaving.

Dub Rumfield has Chichi so much on his mind that he can't work on the Rowel.

Glen (Wolf) Williams really gets around, we hear.

The mysterious Steve is still foremost in Marjorie Randall's mind. I'll be seeing you. —M. S.

Song Hit of the Week ALWAYS

Everything was wrong, and the days were long,
'Till I met you.
For a little while, I forgot to smile,
Then I met you.
Now that my blue days have past, now that I've found you at last,
I'll be loving you, always.
With a love that's true, always.
When the thing you planned,
Need a helping hand,
I will understand, Always, always.
Days may not be fair, always,
That's when I'll be there, always.
Not for just an hour, not for just a day, not for just a year,
But always.

Tell THIS To the Marines! ...and the Army and Navy, Too!

- We cheered their heroism, their daring, their never-say-die spirit at Wake Island, for example.
- Over and over in conversation, editorials, speeches, and every other form of verbal bouquet we told them how fine we thought they were. And how solidly we stood behind them.
- But now comes the time when we've got to tell all that to the Marines and the Army and Navy in something more substantial than mere words.
- Demonstration—not conversation—is called for now!
- So it's your move now, Mr. and Mrs. America. That fountain pen you sign your check with is a machine gun today. Will you start shooting? It's War Bonds for the 6th War Loan Drive!

We used to ride a lot

Wistful young America may not be able to understand why those long, lovely rides in the country are now only a memory.

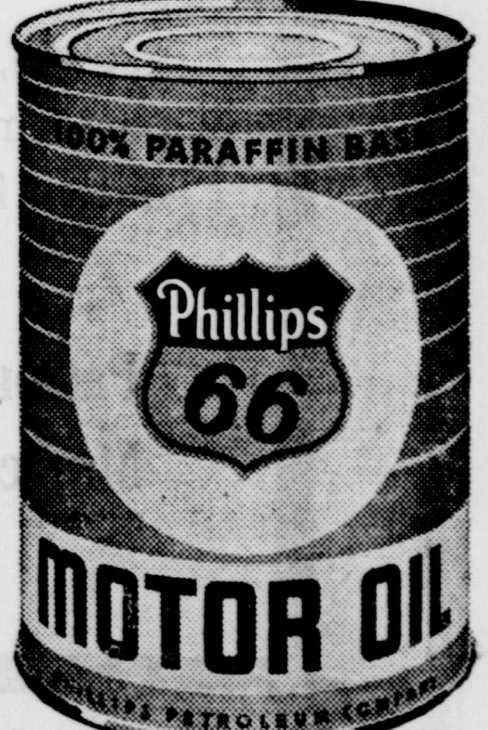

But their patriotic fathers, meeting the necessity for conserving gasoline and for prolonging the life of tires and cars, have reduced their driving to a minimum. They know that "Care for your car—For your country" is more than a slogan, that such care is important lest the nation face a wartime crisis in domestic transportation.

So now, more than ever, they want a quality oil to preserve and protect their motors. Their only question is: How can I tell which are the quality oils?

Here is one easy answer, in a very frank statement by Phillips: If you want our best oil, remember we specify that Phillips 66 Motor Oil is our finest quality . . . the highest grade and greatest value . . . among all the oils we offer to average motorists.

Experts recommend changing oil every two months. Especially, don't neglect the seasonal change this fall. Get rid of contaminated, summer-thin oil. Drain and refill with a quality lubricant. Ask for Phillips 66 Motor Oil.

Spanish Rice Is Point Saver

Meatless dishes full of rich, meaty flavor are popular these days when we are all short on points. Spanish rice is one of these dishes, hearty enough to satisfy and full of flavor because of its combination of rice, tomatoes and cheese.

Rural and suburban homemakers who use butane or propane ranges will find that Spanish rice bakes evenly so that each grain of rice is fluffy and tender, and the flavor of tomatoes and cheese is thoroughly developed. The heat which they have in a "bottled" or "tank" gas oven will brown this dish quickly and evenly without drying it out.

Spanish Rice (Serves 4)
 2 cups cooked rice
 1 large onion, chopped
 1 green pepper, chopped
 1/4 cup celery, chopped
 2 cups fresh cooked tomatoes
 2 tsp. fat
 1/2 tsp. salt
 1/2 tsp. pepper
 Dash of paprika
 1/2 cup grated cheese
 1/4 cup buttered crumbs
 Cook tomatoes, onion, green pepper, celery and fat for 15 minutes. Add rice and seasonings. Mix well and pour into a greased casserole. Cover with buttered crumbs mixed with cheese and bake in a moderately hot (375° F.) oven 30 minutes or until crumbs are browned.

THREE WMU CIRCLES MEET MONDAY; YEAR BOOKS ARE DISTRIBUTED

The WMU met in circles Monday, Nov. 13. The Bagby circle met with Mrs. W. B. Francis Sr. with five members, including the hostess, present. They were Mmes. Thurman Morrow, chairman; Henry Gruben, R. C. George, Whitwell and Francis.

The Lockett circle met with Mrs. J. A. March, chairman. Four members present. They were: Mrs. Jerry Ensey, Mrs. E. L. Smith, Mrs. L. W. Langston and Mrs. J. A. March. Three members of the Lockett circle—Mrs. Self, Mrs. Herman Coe and Mrs. B. F. Moore—left Spur in the forenoon for San Antonio where the annual State WMU convened this year. Others from Spur attending were: Pastor Herman Coe, Mrs. Alva Smith and Mrs. O. R. Cloude, president of the local WMU.

The Spur delegation planned to attend the Baptist General convention of Texas following the WMU and Brotherhood meetings. Congratulations to the Lockett circle on having three members sufficiently interested to attend the state meeting.

The Mildred Smith circle met with Mrs. T. J. Seale with eight present including one visitor, Mrs. J. C. Moore, daughter of Mrs. Jake Jones. Other than Mrs. Seale, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Jake Jones, those present were: Mmes. John Stokes, chairman; Glenn Havens, Albet Bingham, Dozier and Miss May Bell Thornton.

Mrs. Albert Bingham was supplied with a number of Year Books which she distributed to the members present. These booklets are quite attractive in appearance and informative in content. Thanks to the women who planned them and to Bro. Coe and Mrs. Jerry Ensey who produced them in booklet form.

TRI-COMMUNITY HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB MET WITH MRS. E. W. SMITH

"We made it ourselves," was the theme of the demonstration given by Mrs. Agnes M. Marrs, county home demonstration agent, Nov. 9, when the Tri-Community H. D. club met with Mrs. E. W. Smith.

Mrs. Marrs displayed a small chest of drawers made from dried fruit boxes and painted white, which will be used for storage in the bathroom. An old trunk, enameled cream and gold, and lined with cedar paper, makes an attractive and useful storage for the bedroom. She also displayed a very compact and complete sewing box made of a cardboard box and lined with cedar paper.

A demonstration, showing the advantages in color, texture and flavor of meat wrapped in oil paper and sealed in cellophane bags over meat wrapped in commonly used paper before storing in lockers proved beneficial.

During the business session the following officers were elected: Mrs. Pete Gannon, president; Mrs. Lee Parker, vice president; Mrs. Loyd Johnson, reporter; Mrs. Garvie Boothe, council chairman; Mrs. E. W. Smith, secretary-treasurer.

Delicious refreshments of orange cake and coffee were served Mmes. Loyd Johnson, Garvie Boothe, Arner Watson, Pete Gannon, Agnes Marrs, Lee Parker, and the hostess, Mrs. Smith.

The club will meet at 2:30 on Nov. 23, with Mrs. Garvie Boothe.

EXCHANGE SEWING CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. LEO PETTY

S. map by plane, gifts were exchanged and refreshments served to members Georgia Barrett, Charlene Wright, Vesta Jones, Nellie Meu Moore, Gertie Moore, Nellie Carlisle, Bessie Payne, Dessie Mae Benson, a guest, Mrs. Sullivan and the hostess, Edelle Petty.

GAS tronomy— BRAISING BEST FOR UTILITY BEEF

You can have your steak and eat it, too, if you braise the meat. Recent record production of beef has placed large quantities of unrationed "utility" or lean beef on the market. When cooked with slow, moist heat, it can be fork-tender and delicious.

To braise means to dredge meat in flour, salt and pepper, brown in fat and then cook at a low heat, with moisture, until it is thoroughly browned and tender. With a propane or butane gas range, braising is easy because the flame can be set at high to brown the meat quickly and then lowered quickly and easily so the meat will cook slowly. These fuels, known as "bottled" or "tank" gas, are used in off-the-gas-main residences.

The best cuts of meat to use for braising include beef round, chuck, ribs or plate. The meat is a deep cherry red in color with no fat marbling through it but a thin layer of fat on the outside.

For Swiss steak at its best, dredge one of the above cuts with 1/4 cup flour mixed with 2 teaspoons salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. If possible, pound in the flour mixture with a mallet. Brown it quickly in 1/2 table-spoons fat, and then add 2 cups of canned or cooked tomatoes. Cover tightly in kettle or skillet and cook with a very low heat 2 1/2 to 3 hours until meat is tender and easily pierced with a fork.

Then, stirring, add flour, sugar and ginger. Drop by small portions from the tip of a spoon on a greased inverted dripping pan, 2 inches apart. Bake 155 minutes in an oven 300 degrees. Cool slightly, remove from pan and roll over a handle of a wooden spoon while warm.

Greengage Plums with Coconut Custard Sauce

1 No. 2 1-2 can greengage plums
1-2 cup coconut milk, drained from 1 can of milk pack coconut
1 cup milk
2 eggs
1-4 cup sugar
Salt
1-2 teaspoon vanilla
Chill plums in the can. Scald the coconut milk and milk in top of double boiler. Beat eggs slightly, add salt, sugar, and vanilla. Add hot milk to the egg mixture. 5 slices fresh bread
1-4 cup melted butter

Remove apple mixture from heat, add cinnamon, nutmeg and marmalade. Pour mixture into bread-lined mold and bake 15 minutes in an oven 350 degrees. Serve warm with unsweetened whipped cream.

2 cups milk
3 tablespoon butter
1-4 cup sugar

Duck Creek Soil Conservation District NEWS NOTES

RILEY WOOTEN, Chm. OSCAR McGINTY, Sec.
WILL WRIGHT TOM MURDOCK A. A. FRY

W. C. Quisenberry of the Grass-burr Conservation group in Garza county, has combined his trial plantings of Chinese Red peas. They proved to be good producers, yielding about 500 pounds on one-half acre of land. "Even then we only harvested about half of them because of the difficulty in combining in the extremely sandy land," said Mr. Quisenberry. The Chinese Red peas harvest easier than most peas because the pods stand up straight enough to be combined.

Will Wright of Garza county was re-elected supervisor for Zone 1 of the Duck Creek Soil Conservation district at a meeting held at the city hall of Post, Saturday, Nov. 4.

R. N. Clark of Salt Flat Conservation group in Stonewall county reports that he has already noticed an improvement in his production per acre after only one year of farming with the level terraces which were constructed on his place last year.

W. H. Hindman of Conservation group 27, west of Dry Lake, reports that he has the best crops on his newly terraced land that he has had on this land in 12 years. He said he did not know whether it was due entirely to the terraces but it was unusual. However, Mr. Hindman has practiced conservation measures other than terracing. He built all of his terrace fills and also filled in the worst gullies between the terraces with a Freshno, and has made an almost complete crop rotation of this terraced field.

A stock pond was staked and work started on Cliff Bird's ranch this week.

In Italy, 1st Lt. Dan Cunningham, 22-year-old native of Corsicana, received the Air Medal for his exploits aboard a Flying Fortress. And back in Texas, Mrs. Shirley Quillen of Taylor received the Distinguished Flying Cross during ceremonies at Bergstrom Field. The coveted decoration was won by her husband, Maj. Monroe B. How would you like to discover a 14-foot snake beside you, while flying a plane many thousand feet in the air?

That happened to a Texan, Lt. Bob Wicker of Slaton—and the situation was further complicated by the presence of Jap planes, too. Wicker was flying over New Guinea when he discovered the big snake in his cockpit. It was a python.

Needless to say, the Texas flyer landed quickly and disposed of his uninvited passenger.

But it's not all bad luck, at that, for the latest news is that he is recovering and expects to be back in the scrap again soon. It takes a lot to stop a Texan!

Practically everyone around Gatesville knows Bob Cross, the former high school football star. After seeing Canada, Scotland, England and "practically all of France," the son of Judge and Mrs. R. B. Cross of Coryell county is now fighting his way into Germany.—With the help of other Texans, of course.

Another Texan isn't inside Germany yet, but he has been busy above Hitler's "superland". He is Lt. Van Chandler of Waxahachie. Recently Lieutenant Chandler downed a much-touted Nazi jet plane, and helped another pilot chase a second "jettie" right back into its hanger. And "wa out in the Pacific, two Pampa brothers were united last week. They were Seaman First Class C. H. "Chuck" Barrett and Seaman Second Class Floyd Lee Barrett. The two sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Barrett met accidentally in a chow line on a tiny Pacific Isle. Neither had known that the other was in the area.

So Texas men still are getting around—and still walloping the enemy wherever he dares stick his head up! And at home their brothers, sisters, fathers and mothers are keeping the home-fires burning and the home-front going. That's the Texas way—never to quit until the job is done!

Deep in the Heart of Taxes

You've heard the song "Deep in the Heart of Texas." Most people today are deep in the heart of taxes. A bad pun to make a good point. Last year America's tax-paying electric light and power companies footed a tax bill of more than seven hundred million dollars. One-fourth of the electric dollar goes for taxes of one kind or another.

Still, taxes are necessary in modern war, and seven hundred million dollars or any fraction thereof will buy a lot of planes and guns, medical supplies, tanks and ammunition.

The business-managed companies which pay the taxes are glad to contribute to this fight for freedom. But a lot of people say: How can the electric companies pay these increased taxes and other wartime costs and still keep the price of our household electricity so low? For the truth is, if you're the average user of home electricity, you're getting about twice as much electricity for your money as you were getting, say, fifteen years ago. To do this takes the utmost operating efficiency and economy, and constant engineering research under sound business-management. You can be sure that experienced business management will keep your electric service dependable and low-priced.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

CHRISTIANITY IN A DEMOCRACY

International Sunday School Lesson for November 19, 1844

GOLDEN TEXT: "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ."—Galatians 6:2.

Lesson Text: Mark 12:13-17; Romans 13: 8-10; I Peter 2: 13-17

As suggested last week, this lesson is a continuation of a consideration of our relationship to our country, from a more personal angle. Suppose, as a beginning, we ask ourselves, "What do I, as a Christian, owe my country?" It might be a good idea to take paper and pencil and, with this question in mind, jot down your thoughts on this subject.

Jesus stated definitely that man has a two-fold obligation as a citizen—that of rendering unto the government (Caesar) the things that are due it and unto God the things that are due unto Him. It is interesting to note the circumstances under which Jesus explained these obligations.

In Palestine, at the time of Jesus, there were two sects: the Pharisees, who represented the religious power in Palestine and who were strongly opposed to the Roman rule and the Herodians, who were Jewish supporters of the line of Herod. The Herod family, though Jewish in origin, had received grants and appointments from Rome. So the dependants of and the sympathizers with the Herod family would

NOTIONS ABOUT YOUR DOG THAT AREN'T SO

The country dog does not live longer than the city dog

Three popular misconceptions about canines are here debunked by the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City.

The country dog does not live longer than the city dog. As a matter of fact, the exact reverse is true: The lifespan of the average city dog is two to three years longer than that of his country cousin.

Chief reason for this is the better care city dogs receive, particularly in the matter of feeding. City dogs, of course, are not exposed to the natural hazards encountered by country dogs.

A dog that bolts his food is not undernourished. It is natural for a dog to wolf or gulp his meals. The trait is believed a carry-over from primitive days when dogs ran in packs and each had to eat fast to get his share of captured food. Another fact: The structure of the dog's mouth and throat is unlike that of most domesticated animals. You cannot tell a purebred dog by his black-roofed mouth. The mouths of many cross-breeds are black as midnight. The black tongue is peculiar to the Chow Chow, and some authorities hold that a black or partially black tongue is an indication of Chow blood somewhere along the line even though a given animal may have no other hint of Chow resemblance or characteristics.

naturally be in favor of Roman domination in Palestine.

It was natural, then, that the Pharisees and the Herodians should despise each other. However, in their common hate of Jesus, they combined their forces to do what was possible to do away with Jesus. Seeking to trip him, or, as we would say today, "Put him on the spot," they asked Jesus a tricky question. If he answered it in the negative, he could be accused of treason to the Roman Government; if he answered it affirmatively, he would displease the Pharisees and the Jewish people.

Realizing their motive and their hypocrisy, Jesus asked, "Why tempt ye me?" and then proceeded to outwit both groups by declaring that all men should "render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's."

our duties as Christian citizens, in part, as follows: "We have a duty to the city in which we live. It is our duty to do what we can—be it much or little—to uphold the ideals of honor and of truth, which no city can neglect without disaster. It is our duty to see to it that our municipal representatives are first and above all men of honorable life, whose word is as good as their bond, whose fair fame cannot be impeached.

"We owe duties to the State. The state is probably the medium through which Christians may best express themselves in their services to humanity. We say 'probably' because some will be inclined to give the Church prominence in the opportunity it offers for service. It is not necessary to argue the question; certainly we shall not decry the Church as a medium for doing good. The point that needs emphasizing is that Christians have not yet apprehended the magnificent opportunity for service they have in the State. They have not yet heard, much less heeded, the call of God to carry their Christian ideals and Christian power into their life as citizens. They have been too ready to acquiesce in the dictum of worldlings, that religion has no place in politics. That is a worse than pagan sentiment, for religion has always been a powerful formative force in the making of government of States, and Christians will fail far short of the duty and their privilege if they do not make their religion the controlling force in the States of which they are citizens."

"In the long run, national recognition of religion depends on the extent to which individuals live the religious life. If all good citizens were to cultivate the life of prayer, living in daily fellowship with God, they would make a far greater contribution to the national life than is commonly realized. The same is true of attendance at public worship, a decline of which generally indicates a waning of religious interest on the part of the community—A good deal could be done, after wise and bold experiment, to facilitate a recovery of the lost habit of attendance at public worship on the part of the mass of the people.

"Yet attendance at worship is in danger of becoming a mockery if it is not accompanied by an effort to know and to do the will of God. The one ultimate proof of the national recognition of religion is the doing of God's will. 'By their fruits ye shall know them' is written of nations as well as of individuals.

God still works today, as in the past, through the select few—the minority of men and women, in all walks of life, who seek to live wholly consecrated lives. The surest way of advance to the national recognition of religion is by adding to the number of the Remnant. The only witness which is ultimately effective is that of lives which demonstrate in the daily round, that human nature can be changed by the power of Christ. If the world were constrained to say, "See how these Christians live, we should not long to wait for a revival of religion."—Condensed from an editorial in The Methodist Recorder, on "Render to God the Things that are God's."

Dog's Exercise

Regular Walks Will Keep Him And Owner In Shape

Coordinate your own exercise with that of your dog and you'll both be the better off for it, advises the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City.

The dog's health requires sunshine and fresh air as much as yours does. Swimming or jumping is wonderful for him if he enjoys it, but regular walking will keep him in good condition. Regularity in exercising is most important. It is far better to take him half a dozen blocks each day than half a dozen miles on Sundays. Extended walks should not be undertaken immediately after meals, and he should always be taken out on his leash. If he tends to put on weight, reduce his food intake or step up his exercise. If it is impossible for you to give him daily walking exercise, a device like that shown in the illustration will provide it for him in complete safety.

Not only your dog's size, but his temperament and the food he consumes have a bearing on the amount of exercise he should have. In primal days the dog was forced to take a tremendous amount of exercise merely in finding his food. Under today's domesticated conditions he cannot possibly digest either the quantity or quality of food that he could in his wild state. More and more authorities are leaning to the belief that today red meat alone is not a suitable diet for the dog. Far better for him are the prepared, well-balanced high quality dog meals, rich in all essential food elements, to be found on the shelves of the corner grocery. A dog fed on such food receives complete nourishment and requires nothing else save water.

DR. SOPHIA BRUNSON

NEW TREATMENT FOR BURNS

Many useful discoveries are made accidentally.

When the German submarines were sending so many of our ships to the bottom, our men were often hurled into the water which was covered by burning oil. Sometimes they were submerged in the sea for hours.

At Dunkerque, many of the British who were evacuated remained in the water for a long time. Numbers were severely burned and yet they healed rapidly. Capt. William Kirkman said that it was observed that the burned men who were rescued from the ocean got along better than did those who had not received the salt water immersion.

The reasons are not far to seek. The sea salt is stimulating and mildly antiseptic. Every cell in the body is always bathed in a slightly saline solution. Even our tears are salty. This natural fluid is soothing, healing and gently antiseptic. All wounds must be kept clean, and immersion in the briny deep cleans and soothes them.

The favorable results observed in the healing of burns on men so long submerged in the sea, led physicians to resort to the use of salt water in the treatment of burns.

Since the above discovery was made, a hospital in San Diego, Calif., is successfully using salt water in the treatment of burns. Their method is as follows: The salt water which they use is a double strength solution made up in the laboratory. The doctors claim, however, that in an emergency on shipboard bucketfuls of sea water could be used. They heat it to destroy bacteria.

In San Diego is the Navy's 11,000-bed hospital, the largest in the world. They use salt water exclusively for the treatment of burns of a superficial nature.

Tannic acid which has been extensively used is not found to be as effective as salt water.

The salt water solutions are applied by saturating dressings with it and laying it on the burned skin. They must be kept moist. The very badly burned men are often submerged in salt baths. This keeps them comfortable and enables the new skin to grow under the damaged cuticle without molestation by changing the bandages.

It is difficult to apply grafts on skins on which grease has been used. It is not hard when the surface of the body has been kept clean and not smeared with greasy applications.

Kirkman said the salt water cure was the only surface treatment given to 50 Marines who suffered frightful burns in a forest fire. They all made good recoveries.

Tire News

Here's a Paragraph From the Weekly Newsletter Sent Out By the NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF TIRE DEALERS Washington, D. C.

"WPB released a story last week which gave the impression that A book holders would be eligible for new tires before the first of the year. We have constantly urged against such optimistic press releases. We have conferred with both OPA and the Rubber Division of WPB. The nearest guess as to when A book holders will be eligible for new tires is April. This is also on condition that passenger tires be produced at better than 2,000,000 per month for three consecutive months. There is positively no chance for tires becoming eligible for any new class of drivers before next spring. As a matter of fact, many B and C card holders are not receiving tires for which they have secured certificates."

When Victory Is Won... AND JOHNNY COMES MARCHING HOME... JOBS WILL BE WAITING FOR OUR FIGHTING MEN!

● There will be no walking the streets for our fighting men this time—we'll not struggle through another heart-breaking depression—not if we buy War Bonds to the limit. There will be savings to spend for the new and finer things this nation is now planning for peace-time production. Work will be plentiful—American living standards will go up—not down.

● The fighting man you know today is on the alert for battle—but even he has time to dream. And his thoughts turn to home—they turn to his job. The one he left—or perhaps a new one that wartime training has fitted him for.

● The finest welcome we can give our fighting forces is a chance to work. To carry on in making America a better place for all of us to live in.

● That is why it is up to us—here—every day—to buy War Bonds. To invest in the future security of ourselves and our fighting forces.

GAS tronomy GLAMORIZE YOUR VEGETABLES

Shelves overloaded with home-canned vegetables offer excellent opportunities for serving many versatile dishes. Try different combinations to make them a real asset to the meal.

The range, whether burners or oven are used, is most important in the preparation of the vegetables. Those who live beyond the city gas mains and have their range serviced with propane or butane—the "bottled" or "tank" gases—will find the cooking of vegetables simplified. Easily regulated low flames are excellent when you don't want to overcook the vegetables. The moist heat of gas ranges will brown and cook vegetables evenly.

Mix a can of your corn, with eggs and milk, and bake in a buttered casserole, topped with buttered crumbs. Try your peas heated with bits of crumbled bacon or pearl onions. Green beans can be scalloped, that is, layered with white sauce and topped with buttered crumbs or cheese.

Home-canned beets take on glamour when orange juice and find or orange sauce is added. Carrots are delicious when baked with a table-spoon or two of honey and sprinkled with chopped parsley.
