American Home Building Shows 25% Increase In Decade

Fort Worth, Jan. 2—American homes have increased in number by 25 percent during the decade just ended, according to Joe Driskell of Fort Worth, president of the Texas Association of Home Builders.

"This period marks ten years of production and progress in home building never before equalled," Mr. Driskell stated, in releasing a study of population and housing based on 1950 census figures.

In 1949, for the first time in history, the homebuilders put up more than a million homes in a single year, Driskell said, and they topped that figure in 1950, adding nearly nine million homes during the decade. At the time of completion of the 1950 census, the study showed a whopping total of 46,151,000 dwelling units available for the estimated 43,468,000 households. The census, Driskell pointed out, includes only a small portion of the estimated 1,300,000 homes built during 1950.

While the population was growing 14.3 percent, from 131,669,000 to 150,556,000, the number of homes grew 23.6 percent during the same ten years. Starting with 37,325,000 homes in 1940, the homebuilders completed more than 7,826,000 during the following decade.

Texas stood high in homebuilding achievement during the year just completed, Driskell said, with some estimates of new homes in the state running close to a quarter million during 1950.

A year-by-year record of how the homebuilding industry has met the challenge of America's population growth shows:

1941	708,100
1942	356,000
1943	191,000
1944	141,800
1945	208,300
1946	670,500
1947	848,000
1948	831,000
1949	1,225,000
1950	1,300,000 (Est.)

This outstanding building record, the study pointed out, was made during the 1940-50 decade despite the greatest war in history

GM Unveils Futuristic Test Car

An experiment in the automotive future is the low, sleek Le Sabre, a custom built sports car General Motors has unveiled in full-size model form. When completed this spring the actual car will be a "laboratory on wheels" to test advanced design and mechanical features for possible future use on production models. Only three-feet high at the cowl, the Le Sabre has a standard 6-inch ground clearance and ample passenger leg and head room. Magnesium and aluminum alloys are substituted for steel on the body and engine of the car, thereby greatly reducing its total weight. Harley J. Earl, GM vice president in charge of styling, shown with the car, said that it has been under development the past four years. The dramatic, sweeping lines of jet aircraft are incorporated in its styling theme.

which brought homebuilding down to a minimum for several years. The report indicates that the government-set target of from 800,000 to 850,000 new homes during 1950 would fall short of meeting the still-unsatisfied demand for domestic housing.

Polio Poster Boy Coming To Texas

"The farm lad whose cheery face graces 1951 March of Dimes campaign posters is coming to Texas. The boy, twelve year old Larry McKenzie, will visit Houston the first week in January to take part in the buildup for the 1951 March of Dimes in Texas' largest city.

Larry, Kuckville, N. Y., 4-H club boy, has told his Houston hosts that he would like to get away from big city activities during his Houston trip to get out into the country to visit with some typical Texas farm boys and girls. Improvement of the young fellow, who was stricken with the bulbar type polio in August, 1949, has been remarkable, according to physicians.

For weeks Larry was desperately ill. His arms, legs, throat, chest, and even his eyes were affected. But thanks to the care financed by contributors to the March of Dimes he has rallied so well that he has already been able to dispense with his left-arm splint. He confidently expects to be back doing his share of the farm chores.

Young McKenzie's infectious good nature so impressed members of the Orleans County (N. Y.) Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis that he was successfully sponsored as the 1951 MOD poster boy. Now with both arms outstretched, his good left extended more than his splinted right, Larry's grateful, confident face presents a smiling symbol of the thousands who look to the March of Dimes for aid when polio strikes.

Larry's visit is counted on to remind Texans of the countless benefits from supporting the 1951 March of Dimes, January 15-31, especially since Texas has felt the full impact of polio the last three years and thus has incurred a large financial deficit. His pending trip also prompts the reminder that a little Texas girl, Wanda Wiley, of Austin, was the 1950 March of Dimes poster subject.

Good grass is the cheapest and best food for a dairy cow. Grazing must be supplemented with hay and silage to supply all the forage that cows will eat every day of the year.

Since about 90 percent of all farms in Texas now have electricity, there is little excuse for farmers to do their chores in the dark.

Dry Lake Community News

Most members of the community feel better now that a starter of moisture has fallen. Everyone enjoyed to the fullest their Christmas holidays, in one way or another.

The Coy Dopson family spent Christmas Day with his father, and all members of the family were present for a day of fun and real turkey dinner at noon.

The Bill Calvert family enjoyed a visit from most of the family members during the holidays. Mrs. Ethel Ballards children spent Christmas Eve and Christmas Day with their mother.

Homer Hill and son, Don, spent Sunday night and Monday with Mr. Hill's mother and father in Brownwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gordon were hosts to several of his relatives last Saturday night and Sunday. Visiting in the Gordon home were his father, W. B. Gordon, of Sudan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nickels and sons, Suden; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gordon and children, Lubbock; Chester Gordon, Alice Gordon, Nan Boyd and Jacqueline, Lockney; Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Smith of Spur. Other guests were Mrs. Nickels, mother of Charles Nickels, and three daughters. This was the first time all had been together in 5 years. Only one of Gordon's sisters was absent. She is Mrs. Bill Sampson of Detroit, Mich.

Community residents are reminded not to forget the community program on January 10. Anyone who wishes to have their drinking water tested, are requested to see Coy Dopson or Mrs. Jack Gordon, or be present at the

RESEARCH INCREASES LIFE OF RAILROAD CROSSTIES

The railroads' annual bill for crosstie replacement runs at the staggering rate of $250 million. To pare this figure down by increasing the life, the National Lumber Manufacturers Association of American Railroads have teamed up to develop more efficient methods of using wood for crossties.

Austin, Tex., Jan. 4—Let's have a little quiz program.

Can you name your governor? If you said Allan Shivers you're past the first test. Let's go on to the next one. Who is your lieutenant governor?

Some of you were eliminated by that question, but many Texans recall that Ben Ramsey of San Augustine defeated Pierce Brooks of Dallas for this office in a campaign last August. Let's have a hard question.

Who is the man most likely to be named Speaker of the House of Representatives?

The answer is Reuben Senterfitt of San Saba. His election is assured by the pledges of other members of the House and by the fact that he has no opposition. The Speaker, you know, is elected by his fellow-representatives, and not by popular vote. He is one of the most powerful men in the state government; his influence compares with that of the governor and lieutenant governor.

What kind of a man is Reuben Senterfitt, who will occupy this important position in the Legislature which begins its session this month?

He is a native of San Saba County, where his grandparents settled a hundred years ago. He has two brothers and five sisters.

As a boy, he lived on his parents farm-ranch and went to a two-teacher school. Later, at San Saba High school, he developed into a good scholar and graduated as class valedictorian.

He received various honors at the University of Texas, where he earned a law degree. He went back to San Saba to practice his profession and was elected to the Legislature the first time he ran.

Senterfitt has continued to serve his district in the House of Representatives. Once he was elected while serving overseas in the Navy.

He became known in the Legislature for his intensive work on important committees and served as chairman of some of them. He was House sponsor of legislation that established the veteran's land program.

Senterfitt is a sober, serious, hardworking man, but he has a sense of humor and a pleasant, slow, sincere smile. He is not likely to do anything before he has thought it all out first.

During the legislative session he and Mrs. Senterfitt and their three adopted children will live in the Speaker's apartment in the Capitol.

Senterfitt believes that the word "politician" should not be used scornfully—that responsible people must serve in public office if this state is to have good government. He sees hopeful signs. In a recent speech he said, in his somewhat classic language:

"It should appear wholesome to us, and quite reassuring... that out of the expansion and enlargement of our state government in recent years have come men of character and stature capable of rising the old label of politician. Their conduct, contributions, integrity, and abilities in many instances have restored public confidence. . . . As you read account of the legislature's activity, you will frequently see Senterfitt's name perhaps, after having read this sketch, you'll feel you know him.

Forrest conservation means the wise use of the forest for the greatest good of the greatest number of people for the longest time. It does not imply stopping the harvest of timber nor does it recognize unnecessary waste.

WOOD REPLACED STEEL IN LAST WAR

World War II placed big demands on the lumber industry. Metals were in critical supply; they had to be replaced by wood whenever it could be adopted. Truck bodies, radio antennas, tubing, airplane bodies—these and numerous other items were manufactured from wood.

SPEAKING OF SACRIFICES
by George Peck

The President has declared a national emergency. He has called on the American people to make sacrifices. Any sacrifice essential to giving this nation the strength to win a third world war, the American people will cheerfully make. Their performances in the past make that a certainty.

But controls and rationing not necessary, such as many that were imposed during World War II, they are not prepared to take. They have an unpleasant recollection of the non-bread slicing, no-cuffs-on-trousers and other asinine regulations of the last war. The Administration will do well to bear in mind that controls just for the sake of pushing people around will never again be tolerated.

Unfortunately, the President made no mention of any sacrifices to be made by the Administration. Perhaps he has some in mind but just forgot to mention them. Could it be that he plans to give up a yacht or so, an airplane, perhaps even an automobile or two? Maybe he has even highly resolved, in the emergency, to write no more nasty notes to Congressmen and critics.

If the President is planning to give up his luxurious notion of foisting the Welfare State upon us, he overlooked mentioning it. Surely, he must know that this definitely is not the time to increase governmental expenditures by one single penny except for actual defense requirements.

Is the President willing to abandon the idea sown by the Socialists, the Planned Economists and the Anti-Business Group that anyone who earns his way honestly and by thrift achieves more worldly success than his less industrious and less provident neighbor, must have done so by thieving and to the detriment of his fellows?

Is the President figuring on clearing the industrial atmosphere by having the Department of Justice withdraw its unwarranted suits against certain large industries? He must know that the Department of Defense and other war agencies now need the fullest cooperation of these industries and that they cannot expect to get this fullest cooperation while another department of the government persecutes and threatens to destroy big industries.

The President did say that he plans to cut non-military expenditures to the bone. Does this mean he is planning to release hundreds of thousands of unnecessary government employees now working in departments other than war agencies? I hope so, as he must know that this would lighten the tax burden; that these employees can be shifted to expanding war agencies, or made available to war industries where there is bound to be a terrific shortage of manpower as more and more men are drafted into the armed services.

It is the President at long last willing to risk the embarrassment of chopping off a few heads, by encouraging rather than discouraging a sweeping investigation to get rid of the communist rats that he and everyone knows infest our government departments? Surely, he must realize that this is no time to have communist sympathizers in key government positions where they can sabotage the defense effort.

The foregoing are just a few of the sacrifices the Administration can make and thereby set a shining example to the rest of the nation. Here is a golden opportunity for the Administration to exercise real leadership, a leadership that has been woefully lacking for much too long, a leadership that we must have if we are to prevail against the forces that seek to destroy America.

the same basic principles apply for the control of flu in swine as in human beings.

If good shelters are not provided, hogs are in great danger of contracting flu when cold damp nights follow warm days. Hogs, like human beings, need a warm, dry place in which to sleep.

At this time of the year, all hogs should be inspected daily for symptoms of flu. Once swine influenza appears, it spreads rapidly through the entire herd.

Infected pigs become listless and go off feed. Their breathing is labored and jerky and they cough and usually have high temperature. They appear to be very sick. The animals usually recover rapidly after five or six days of sickness.

HEALTH NOTES

AUSTIN, Jan. 4, 1951—what do you know about your heart? do you know that the three major kinds of heart disease are: Rheumatic heart disease, high blood pressure, and coronary heart disease?

One of childhood's most dangerous foes is rheumatic fever, declares Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. A child is most likely to develop rheumatic fever when he is less than 10 years of age. However, the disease is not confined to children. "In World War II, about 40,000 men in the American forces developed attacks of rheumatic fever." This disease may damage the heart valves and muscle. Any child who has rheumatic fever should have the best of medical care, plenty of rest, a special diet, and be free from anxiety or worry. Just because a person has rheumatic fever, is no sign he will have rheumatic heart trouble. But it's important to keep in close check with the family physician.

Coronary heart disease strikes those from middle age groups and up, more than other forms of heart trouble. And, it strikes men more often than women. Moderation in daily living is very important, for if a person worries too much, works too hard, exercises too frequently and hard, and eats too much his heart is overworked. Yes, one of the best checks against over burdening the heart is moderation in all things—and plenty of rest. High blood pressure is another important cause of death. Natur-

All in all, here is new lustre for the Cadillac name—and a far higher standard for the automotive world. . . . ### Farm Safety Urged At End Of Harvest

Farmers in most sections of the state have either completed the job of harvesting or will soon do so. Chances are good that some time will be available now for doing jobs that have been neglected and one of these should be a clean up campaign that centers around the barn. During the winter months, most of the farm chores center around barns and they should be made safe.

The first step in the clean up campaign should be to go over the barn with a critical eye and locate the accident hazards and inconveniences. The second step is to correct them.

Here are a few things that should be on your check list. Watch out for loose objects or obstructions that might cause falls. High door sills, abrupt changes in floor levels, weak boards, protruding cleats or other tripping hazards should be removed. Better check the floors, and be sure they are all solid and in good shape. The alleyways and work areas in the barn should be given a good cleaning and should always be kept clear of obstacles.

There is little excuse for farmers to do their chores in the dark since about 90 percent of all farms in the state now have electricity. Farmers are urged to light up the dangerous corners, the alleyways and especially the rooms where pitchforks and other equipment is stored. A well located light in the barnyard will make the night trips to and from the barn or other outbuildings safer.

The loft doors, feed chutes and ladders should be carefully checked for a weak rung in the ladder can be the cause of a serious accident. Heavy loads should not be carried to or from the loft of the barn by way of a ladder. A well built stairway that is hand-railed and kept clean should be used. Feed chutes and elevated platforms should be constructed with guard rails.

All farmers should remember that their barns and other outbuildings will be safe and convenient only if they are constructed with these items in mind, and then only if they are properly maintained and cared for.

Go to church Sunday

'Broken Arrow' Is Truly Great Movie

Distinguished as much by its theme as by its talent, as much by its action as by its beauty, "Broken Arrow" leaves no line of merely superior motion pictures that enhance any given movie year and finds its natural place in that circle of excellence that is reserved for the perfection of any craft.

Its greatness is in some measure explained by its elements. "Broken Arrow" is a movie that is outspoken in theme and forthright in the courage of its convictions. Telling of war and hatred typifying the bitter Indian-white relations in Arizona of the 1870's, it describes how an adventurer with a conscience, named Tom Jeffords and portrayed ruggedly by James Stewart, defied the conventions of his time to form a lasting friendship with the renowned warrior chief Cochise, magnificently enacted by Jeff Chandler. It is this friendship that comes to serve as the basis for a new concept of Indian-white affairs, truly reflective of the American traditions of justice, tolerance and dignity for all men.

In the midst of this historic adventure, Jeffords encounters a lyrical love affair with a sensitive Indian girl, Sonseahray, tenderly played by Debra Paget. This poignant, idyllic romance culminates in a heartbreaking scene that will surely rank among the great interludes of screen romance.

Skillfully, "Broken Arrow" combines the pageantry and the poetry that make up its serious, right-minded presentation of a vital chapter in our history. Its greatest virtue is that the theme is always interpreted through action, through the drama inherent in the adventures of Jeffords and Cochise, adventures forged in fire and resolved in reform.

There is no soft underplaying of the terror of Indian war, and no movie fan accustomed more to skirmishes than battle will miss the spectacle of full-scale engagement. When peace comes, and old enemies shuffle menacingly but peacefully by one another, the new civilization of Indian-white relationship takes on its full meaning.

Yet theme and action combined do not tell the full story of "Broken Arrow." There is also the beauty and power of its visual effects to consider. No saga of the great American outdoors, from "Ramona" and "Sequoia" to the present day, has eclipsed the achievement of the Technicolor cameras in filming the grandeur and natural beauty of the West. Quietly sensitive during the Indian marriage ceremonial rites and dances, interperately thrilling during tribal rampages, "Broken Arrow" is a radiant fusion of the movie arts, a sensic impact on the moviegoing senses.

It took a wealth of talent to make this rare film. It has been brilliantly directed by Delmer Daves, importantly produced by Julian Blaustein, intelligently scripted by Michael Blankfort from Elliott Arnold's novel "Blood Brother." It is superbly acted by Stewart, Chandler and Miss Paget, supported by Basil Ruysdael, Will Geer, Joyce MacKenzie and Arthur Hunnicut.

Twentieth Century-Fox has brought to the Palace Theatre a motion picture of rare distinction, one that moves freely and pulsatingly between pastoral loveliness and fighting fury, enveloping our heart and spirit, at once confronted with a "Broken Arrow," one can only suggest the origins of its greatness through a statement of its parts always remembering that its total triumph is something even more than the sum of those parts.

Comanches, Rustlers In Stock Show Act

Fort Worth, Jan. 4.—The skill and daring which the Comanches and rustlers displayed when they made a raid and rode off on the settler's best horses will be re-enacted in a new even in the rodeo of the Southwestern Exposition and Fair Stock Show, Jan. 26 through Feb. 4.

This contest, announced today by President-Manager W. R. Watt, will be a wild horse race.

It is much different from the event of the same designation which you may have seen at a few other rodeos where two men rope and hold a horse and throw a saddle on him for one to ride.

This is a noisy affair in comparison to the Cowntown version. Here's how it will go:

There will be a bunch of wild Mexican and Choctaw ponies in the arena. Twenty cowboys will run in, drive the mustangs into a corner and they climb aboard by grabbing a mane—(there will be no saddle, no bridle; it will be Indian style). This is not a team or pair event but it's strictly every individual for himself and while a cowboy is trying to get a horse in position to get on, another cowboy may take the advantage of the situation and climb on the horse himself.

After a contestant has succeeded in getting on an animal, he rides alongside of another horse and jumps over to his back. The cowboy who changes from one horse to another the most times and puts on the best all-round riding exhibition will be the winner. That will give you a "rough" idea—and we do mean rough! It will be an event filled with action every moment.

The ponies for the wild horse race are already at the Stock Show grounds.

The second annual Texas Fertilizer Conference will be held in the Memorial Student Center on the campus of Texas A. M. College on January 10 and 11.

Unless good shelters are provided, hogs are in great danger of contracting flu when cold nights follow warm days. Hogs, like human beings, need a warm, dry place in which to sleep.

A well located electric light in the barnyard will make night trips to and from the barn and other outbuildings safer.

Jesus' New Year

Lesson for January 7, 1951

SCRIPTURE: Mark 1:1-2
DEVOTIONAL READING: Isaiah 41:1-10

THERE is no room in this one thin column for a commentary on the whole Sunday school lesson each week. If the reader is interested, he will first study the Bible passages themselves, with whatever aids his own denomination furnishes him. The Sunday school teacher or Bible student who wishes to do really thorough work will need a Bible Dictionary and at least a one-volume commentary on the entire Bible. (Dummler's [Maxmillan Co.] and the Abingdon Commentary [Abingdon Press] are among the best of these.) As a background for the studies of the next three months, the student should read me or more good "Lives" of Christ. Write to your own church bookstore for suggestions.

When is New Year's Day?

EVERY day is a New Year's Day for somebody. The legal holiday that goes by that name seldom comes at a real turning-point in any man's life.

The real occasion is when some momentous change occurs, so that after that day life never flows in its old channels. In this sense, a very important New Year's Day for Jesus was the day when he was baptized in the Jordan river.

Before that day he lived as a carpenter in one village after that day, as a public man, indeed THE public Man of all times. The pattern of his life completely changed.

Decisions

NEW YEAR'S is a good time to review three things: your decisions, your life's work, and your friendships.

Have you put off a decision for a long time? Now is the time to face it. Have you been making "unfortunate" decisions, choices you regret? Now is a good time to look into these and see why you have been taking the wrong road too often. Have you any bed-rock principle on which you have all your decisions? - Jesus' New Year was marked by certain decisions made once and for all.

To begin with, there was his baptism. One thing it surely meant: Jesus that day decided deliberately to be counted among those who need repentance rather than among those who think they don't. Not everybody came down to the Jordan to be baptized. Some came only to criticize. Jesus sided with the sinners, not the critics. It was a life-long decision. He became known as the "Friend of sinners."

There were also the further decisions in the wild country where he went through his temptations. Each temptation faced Jesus with a choice; each time his choice was on God's side.

Life's Work

THERE is a great thrill in getting T out on the work one is going to do for the rest of one's natural life. Out of the harbor traffic on to the open sea! Jesus now becomes a preacher, and this was his work for the rest of his life. His carpentry has long since rusted to dust; his preaching and teaching are immortal.

But suppose Jesus had been a slipshod, inefficient, careless carpenter? Would he have ever become a great teacher and preacher? It is quite true, the products of his shop have vanished, but there was something taking shape in that shop which did not vanish: his character.

Your choice about your future and final life's work may still be in the future; your best work may not yet have begun. But the way you do what you have to do, today, will help set the pattern for every choice and every work in your life.

Friendships

NEXT after Jesus' life-work came his choice of friends. No doubt he had known Simon and the others before, and Mark simply records in his abrupt way the climax of a long story, in telling how Jesus "called" them.

We cannot imagine Jesus without his disciples. It is not exaggeration to say that even the Son of God would have been a failure, as a man, had he won no friends. There would have been no Christian religion if Jesus had had no friends.

Around New Year's time it is well to ask oneself the question: Am I as careful in selecting my friends as Jesus was in selecting his?
