Chamber of Commerce Doing: Highway Association Plans to Meet Here

The Broadway to the Big Bend Highway association is making tentative plans to meet in Spur with the board of directors of the Spur Chamber of Commerce, according to recent correspondence with Senator Kilmer Corbin, president of the association.

The chamber board will meet this morning to discuss this meeting and it is believed that the board will set a definite date on which to invite the association.

Both Senator Corbin and Charles W. Roberts, secretary of the association, have agreed to call the next meeting of the group at Spur. This meeting will be preparatory for the meeting with the State highway officials in Austin late in June.

The section of the Big Bend highway vital to Spur citizens is the stretch between Spur and Post. Such a road will cut the distance between the two cities in half and will offer rural families road facilities to both and between the two cities.

One of the main difficulties in running this proposed highway is the terrain between the two cities. The area to be crossed will necessitate the construction of expensive bridges across forks of the Brazos river and creeks. The main purpose of the coming meeting in Austin is to appeal to the state officials for extra appropriations for such construction.

Patrons' Cooperation Praised By Cook

We have closed a very successful school year. The patrons have been very helpful to the teachers and principals, superintendent and school board. This is something that must be in order for any school to be the kind of school that the people demand. I am not sure that everything that has been done this year has been right, but I am sure that everything has been done with the best intentions. I hope that we will have the same interest and help next school year; if we do, we will have another successful year.

We have some teachers that are not to be here next year, and we are sorry, but we are going to secure the best teachers that we can possibly employ.

I have enjoyed my stay in Spur very much. The people have been good to me and my family. I am going to do my best to be the best superintendent I have been since my employment here. I will be happy to have any criticism that will help the Spur school system; I will also be happy to discuss any school matter with any one that will come to me for such information. I will be in Spur all summer, and my office will be open. I will be happy for you to visit with me.

We have bought three new buses to replace the old ones, and we shall always try to give the best of service to the children that ride our buses. Repairs will be made on the buildings this summer, especially the junior high school and band building.

The senior diplomas are in Mrs. H. P. Gibson's office. I will appreciate it if all seniors will call by and get their diplomas. There are several high school annuals that have not been picked up. I will appreciate it if you will pick them up.

Signed C. F. Cook.

Red top cemetery will be held at Red Top cemetery on June 6, announced Dock Love, president of the association. The public is asked to bring tools and basket lunches. A program will be presented during the afternoon, states Love. Mrs. Susie Hinson is secretary of the organization.

Six Artaban chapter members supervised the construction and decoration of a western float which was presented in the rodeo parade in downtown Spur yesterday. On the float committee were Ella Copeland, chairman, and Gayle Reese, Peggy Reid, Ada Lou Chambliss, Nell Hopkins and Betty Lou Arnold.

In addition to the local church faculty numbering 22, special teachers from out of the city included W. R. Smith, Abilene Christian College; Mrs. Luther G. Roberts, Clovis, New Mexico; Walter A. Brown, Crosbyton, and Floyd Davis, Matador.

Willis G. Jernigan, resident minister, was the school director.

Boosters Make Trips Monday, Tuesday

Boosters of the Spur Cowboy Jubilee invaded neighboring cities, towns and communities Monday and Tuesday of this week telling the people about the Spur Cowboy Jubilee.

Lester Garner, chairman of the Booster Trips, states that much good will be spread by the groups and that he feels that the trips will be directly instrumental in making this year's rodeo the biggest and best yet.

Able assisted by Bill Gregory, Grady Elder, Van North and Sheriff C. C. Kimmel, the group visited Post, Claremont, Jayton, Peacock, Swenson, Aspermont, Guthrie and Dickens on Monday. The Tuesday trip took them to McAadoo, Crosbyton, Ralls, Floydada, Matador, Roaring Springs, Glenn, Afton, and Dickens.

Although unable to make the trips, Edge Caudle offered his services as sign painter.

Sound equipment for both trips was made available by the Baldridge Bakery.

Large Crowds Thrill To Opening Of Rodeo Wed.

Big Parade Opens Festivities Wed.

The largest and most colorful rodeo parade ever held in Spur proudly marched up Burlington yesterday afternoon to open the 1951 Spur Cowboy Jubilee.

Over 200 cowgirls and cowboys, from one to 75 years old joined in the big parade, led by the Spur high school band in its western regalia. The band and large array of cowhands were followed by block-after-block of floats, displays, and new automobiles and farm implements.

The Spur Volunteer Fire Department's trucks were ably manned by Cub Scouts in the parade. A Future Homemakers of America float featured a camp fire scene of singing cowgirls.

The parade marked the official opening of the Jubilee and was followed by the first performance last night. Another parade will be held Saturday evening at 6:55 p. m. to precede the final performance of the rodeo and the crowning of the champions.

RECORD ENTRY COMPETING FOR OVER $3000.00 IN PRIZE MONEY

The 1951 Spur Cowboy Jubilee officially opened yesterday with a big down-town parade followed by the initial performance last night in Jones Stadium.

A record attendance and record entry on the opening night indicated that the 1951 rodeo is destined to be the best ever held in Spur and will maintain the Spur show's reputation as one of the fastest, most colorful all-amateur shows in West Texas.

Nestled behind the hill in Swenson Park, the natural rodeo arena makes a perfect setting for the annual Spur Jubilee.

Eric Swenson stated late yesterday that the entry list for this year's show far exceeds any previous year. Late Wednesday, over 175 entries had been received. Indications are that over $3000.00 will be given in prize money, plus three championship saddles and three silver belt buckles.

Stock for the Spur Show is furnished by Goat Mayo who is known throughout the West as having the wildest and fastest rodeo stock available.

Another big parade will be held in down-town Spur Saturday starting at 6:00 p. m. to open the final night of festivities to be climaxed by the crowning of the champions.

Performances will be held tonight, Friday and Saturday starting at 8:00 p. m. each night. Admission for the rodeo is $1.50 for adults and .75 for children, plus tax. Reserved seats near the chutes are available.

State Fair Plans Rural Youth Day

The State Fair of Texas has set 90,000 as its attendance goal for Rural Youth Day at the 1951 fair, James W. Aston, chairman of the fair's Rural Youth Committee, has announced.

More than 75,000 Four-H Club boys and girls, Future Farmers and Future Homemakers from 225 Texas Counties attended Rural Youth Day last year, Aston said. Rural Youth Day this year will again be on the opening day of the fair, Saturday, Oct. 6.

"This is one of the most important days of the fair as far as the educational aspects of the exposition are concerned," Mr. Aston said. "This program—by far the largest annual event of its nature in the country—has commanded nationwide attention to Texas and to the state fair.

"The youngsters will be admitted free to the fairgrounds and will be served a box lunch at noontime at a king-size picnic that for sheer magnitude will rival other spectacular events at the fair. Two hundred Boy Scouts will do the serving. Dallas business leaders will be hosts and the Dallas Chamber of Commerce and Junior Chamber of Commerce will assist," he said.

More than 1800 vocational agriculture and homemaking teachers and more than 200 county agents and home demonstration agents will cooperate in the rural youth program, Mr. Aston said.

The kids will come from every section of Texas to see the highlights of the 1951 fair, including the Pan-American National Hereford Show, Aberdeen-Angus, Brahman and Shorthorn cattle shows and other outstanding livestock shows. They also will see the "Story-Book of Texas Agriculture," a dramatic new presentation of Texas farming with exhibits from each of 14 extension districts from the Panhandle to the Rio Grande Valley.

An innovation this year will be a dinner-dance Friday night, Oct. 5, at which Honor Award Medals will be presented to 24 outstanding Future Farmers and Homemakers and 28 top-flight Four-H Club boys and girls.

The total number of sheep in Texas in 1950 was about 2,800,000 fewer than the 1939-48 ten-year average.

Coccus Germs Cause Food Poisonings

Coccus germs cause a wide variety of diseases, some of which are distinguished by intestinal eruptions and some by skin eruptions, states a report by Texas Medical association. One kind of food poisoning is called staphylococci food poisoning; the skin eruption known as impetigo is sometimes caused by staphylococcus germs and sometimes by streptococcus germs; and another skin disorder known as erysipelas is caused by "strep" germs.

The "staph" germs that create the terrific sickness at the stomach known as food poisoning are usually brewed up in such foods as cream puffs, eclairs, salad dressing, gravy, cold meat or dairy products that have been too long away from refrigeration. They hit suddenly about three hours after eating, usually with a strange feeling of excessive watering of the mouth, then the vomiting and diarrhea following closely and persistently along with stomach cramps for the next 24 hours.

Staph food poisoning strikes the quickest, lays you out the fastest, and lets go of you the soonest of any of the brands of food poisoning. A very similar type called salmonella food poisoning, is actually an irritation of the digestive tract caused by germ growth in the food. Spoiled meat is the most common food to cause salmonella food poisoning.

Salmonella takes longer than staph to get started and nearly always creates a fever which is not present with food poisoning. It takes from 12 to 24 hours for salmonella food poisoning to make you wretched; it usually starts up with a cold chill, followed by a bad headache, and then the vomiting and diarrhea.

Botulism, the other kind of food poisoning, is the very dangerous type that originates usually with improper canned food. Staph and salmonella food poisoning rarely ever causes death, though the person suffering from them is usually sure he is going to die. Botulism is frequently fatal; it takes longer to start working and may just be a collapsing-kind of sickness without the upset stomach.

Both staph and salmonella food poisoning may be mistaken for appendicitis because of the cramps that accompany the disease. If it were food poisoning instead of appendicitis, though, usually someone else is suffering, too, from the food, so a check with others who ate the same food is sometimes the quickest way of eliminating the possibility of appendicitis.

The best treatment for sudden, acute attacks of food poisoning is staying in bed as much as the symptoms allow and waiting for the sickness to go away. You usually have no appetite, anyway, and unless the vomiting and diarrhea are so excessive as to create a serious loss of body fluids, you're best off just sticking it out. If the symptoms persist beyond the first 24 hours, you require further medical attention. You'll be rather weak for a couple of days after an attack of food poisoning.

Erysipelas is the kind of disease that usually starts up when you're already weak, probably from some chronic illness. This balloon-like red blistering, which usually breaks out on the face, most often attacks older people. An itching eruption accompanied by high fever, it may be a serious disorder, aside from the discomfort and temporary disfiguring. The antibiotics have proved very effective in the treatment of erysipelas.

At the other end of the age scale, impetigo is the coccus-caused disease that seems more prevalent among youngsters. In infants and children weakened by other diseases, impetigo may assume serious proportions but in normal children the most serious aspect is the marring of a little face with the ugly sores. It may occur on other parts of the body besides the face.

Impetigo starts up as blisters which open and form dark scabs while other blisters pop out nearby the sore. It is highly contagious and a child with impetigo should not only be kept away from other children but his wash-rag, towel, comb and brush should be put away where others aren't likely to come in contact with them.

Small Retail Stores
Given OPS Option

Hundreds of small retail stores in the Far West Texas district of the Office of Price Stabilization will be given the option of continuing to price under the general ceiling price regulation, rather than under the retail regulation, CRP 7, the Lubbock district office announced.

The office said many small retail stores with limited bookkeeping facilities and clerical help would get this option under the amendment which was scheduled for issue early this week.

The Office of Price Stabilization in announcing that the amendment was forthcoming, reminded that all other retailers selling items controlled by CRP 7 and its amendments must file their pricing charts by May 31 if they want to continue to sell legally after that date. There will be no extension of that deadline, OPS emphasized.

The amendment, according to advance information, will provide that stores selling housewares, notions, sporting goods, silverware, china, glassware, jewelry, watches and clocks may elect to price these particular items under the GCRP under either of two conditions:

1. The first provision, designed to help the smallest stores, gives the election for these items to any retailer whose overall net dollar volume of sales of everything in his store is less than $100,000.

Total dollar volume for this purpose, OPS emphasized, is figured on the sales not only of the housewares, notions, etc., but of the store's entire stock of goods.

2. The other provision, which will meet the situation of the store doing a relatively small volume of business in housewares, notions, sporting goods, silverware, china, glassware, jewelry, watches and clocks gives the election to price those articles under GCRP to any retailer whose net dollar volume from sales of those items is less than $60,000 annually, irrespective of his volume of sales in other lines of merchandise, and even though his total volume of sales is over $100,000.

A third provision, which retains a principle incorporated in CPR 7 as first issued, gives the option to any retailer whose sales of apparel, apparel accessories, shoes, beds and bedding furniture, yard goods, floor coverings, lamps, radio and television sets, phonograph records, musical instruments, luggage, etc., (all CPR 7 and a few amendment 2 items) are less than $20,000 annually in net dollar volume.

The expanded soil testing service of the A. & M. College can handle and analyze up to 100 soil samples per day. The charge for the analysis is small but the recommendations from the laboratory may save farmers, ranchers or gardeners and others much expensive fertilizer. Low yields are not always caused by low fertility.

New Law to Remove Unsafe Vehicles From Texas Highways

AUSTIN, May 24 (Sp)—Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, has announced that preliminary plans are under way for the administration of the State's new Motor Vehicle Inspection Act.

Recently passed by the 52nd Legislature and signed into law by Governor Allan Shivers, the act, which is designed to enhance traffic safety by removing unsafe motor vehicles from the highways, will become effective 90 days after the adjournment of the 52nd Legislature.

According to Garrison, an additional period of about 60 days will be required to complete the organizational details of the inspection division which, by law

Farm Wage Rates Explained by USDL

Wage rates for farm workers in Dickens county and throughout the nation may go up to 95c an hour or the equivalent to that amount at piece rates without becoming the concern of the Wage Stabilization Board.

That is the gist of General Wage Regulation 11 which the Wage Stabilization Board in Washington unanimously adopted last week, it was said today by William J. Rogers, regional director of the Wage-Hour Division of the U. S. Department of Labor here.

Wage-Hour offices of the Labor Department all over the country have been designated as field contact offices for the National Wage Stabilization Board.

Under Regulation 11, farm wage rates below 95c an hour or the piece rates paid for farm operations may be increased to 95c an hour or the equivalent monetary wage without approval of the Board. However, in those instances in which wage rates paid during the base period of 1950 were greater than 95c or the equivalent an hour they can be increased only 10% without Board approval.

The base rate is the wage rate paid during the applicable crop season of 1950. For example, if cotton is picked during September on a particular farm, then wages paid in September 1950 would be the base for any increases above 95c an hour.

Increases may also be given to regular farm workers paid by the month. Where only a cash wage is paid, the wage can be $225 a month. Where the year-round use

GIRARD MAN, SON ESCAPE INJURY IN TRACTOR WRECK

George Smith and his son Douglas, 5, narrowly escaped serious injury recently when the tractor on which they were riding turned over. Smith states that he was turning in deep sand when the accident happened. The tractor allegedly turned up-side down with the man pinned underneath. The boy was thrown clear. "The butane tank mounted on the front of the tractor and the levers on the implement kept me from being crushed," says Smith. Douglas' first remark following the mishap was "I'm shaking just like you, daddy!"

At the end of 1950, 19 cooperative health centers and nursing staffs along with necessary equipment were in operation in Texas.

A delicately balanced system of efficient farming, public relations farming and political farming is very important to American agriculture.

Farming Programs Are Modernized

The economics of agriculture is an increasingly recognized factor in the thinking and planning of operators of Texas farms and ranches. As never before they are conscious of the determining influence of such forces as international trade relations and price and income policies upon agricultural production and marketing.

Dr. Tyrus R. Timm, economist for the A. and M. College Extension Service, in 1950 conducted a series of group meetings with county agricultural agent personnel represented, to study the Extension work being done in agricultural policy. At the same time opportunity for more work in this field was considered.

The importance of American agriculture having a delicately balanced system of efficient farming, public relations farming, and political farming was emphasized at another group of meetings for farm and business leaders and county agricultural agents. Along with this discussion, expected changes in agriculture during the next 25 years was pointed out.

The most intensive program for tying public policy work with other phases in economics was in the case of cotton "outlook" meetings. In addition to participating in five district discussions, the economist spoke upon the place of cotton in public policies before the State Cotton Production Committee. Instead of following the usual practice of considering only the supply and demand factors directly associated with cotton, the discussions were placed in a broader context. Other topics considered included: The fact that farmers and ranchmen do well during wartime but as an important economic group suffer sooner and more severely than other major groups afterward; the dollar shortage abroad; the government support mechanism.

Other discussions with county agricultural agents involved how farm families fared since the end of the Office of Price Administration and since the war in Korea commenced. The Agricultural Act of 1949 and the Defense Production Act of 1950 also were considered.

The economist considers the inauguration of the first in-service training graduate course for county agricultural agents called "Government and Agriculture" as perhaps the most important development in the Extension Service's year program in agricultural policy. Fourteen agents and four Extension staff members enrolled.

During the year the Extension economist prepared an outlook statement periodically called "Economic Facts and Opinions." This was primarily for the information of county extension agents. He served as a member of the National Agricultural Policy Committee sponsored by the Farm Foundation and as a member of the subcommittee for the Southern region. He also appeared before the economic section of the Southwestern Social Science Association of Chambers of Commerce Executives, as well as civic bodies and agricultural organizations within the state.

Farmers should review their insurance needs in light of present day building costs and make needed adjustments.

Health Officials To Study Civil Defense

Involved in civil defense will come under five days of intensive study at a short course to be conducted at the State Department of Health in Austin beginning June 11, State Health Officer George W. Cox has announced.

Radiological hazards result from atomic bombing, being one of the bomb's most dangerous aspects.

Designed primarily to indoctrinate supervisory personnel in the essentials of radiation defense so they can conduct training programs in their own communities, Dr. Cox said the course would be held each month during the summer for a different class of participants.

The health officer said the study is open to:

Representatives of counties or cities where radiological defense is not vested in local health departments; representatives of state departments engaged in civil defense work; fire and police training officers or instructors; and members of industrial medical or safety departments contemplating in-plant programs.

Dr. Cox, chief of Texas health and emergency medical services, summarized the course as covering:

Where radiological defense fits into overall civil defense activities; definition of radiation language and units; radiation physics; theory and application of instruments; atomic bomb phenomena; area and personnel monitoring (checking for radioactivity); uses of radiation and radioisotopes, radiation protection and decontamination; psychology of disaster; and organization of local committees for radiological defense.

WARNS OF NEW INFLATION . . . Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston tells annual meeting of U.S. chamber of commerce in Washington, D.C., that federal controls may be lifted in two years but warned a new wave of inflation will hit the country before Christmas.

He said additional courses would be held as "necessity demanded." No tuition will be charged. Applications should be submitted to Dr. Cox at the State Department of Health in Austin, and include education and background of applicants. Trainees are expected to arrange their own travel and living conditions while attending the course.

Highway Funds Are Increased In April

County and State highway funds were enriched by more than $82,500.00 during the month of April, according to the monthly activities report just released by Kent Odom, Chief of the Department of Public Safety's License and Weight Division.

The report shows 2,147 truck owners paid fines during the month for overloading, operating under-registered vehicles, using unsafe and faulty equipment on the highways and for miscellaneous offenses. There were 1,973 arrests during the month of March, 1951.

Since September, 1950, the beginning of this fiscal year, 16,086 arrests have been made by the Public Safety Department's 33 license and weight inspectors and more than $668,000.00 in fines and additional restriction fees have been collected. Over $228,000.00 of this amount was collected from truck operators for carrying more weight than the truck had been licensed to haul.

D. C. Greer, State Highway Engineer, recently told the South Texas County Judges and Commissioners in convention at Laredo, that the State and Counties of Texas were losing approximately six million dollars a year because truck operators would not pay the registration fees on their equipment for the full carrying capacity up to the then 48,000-

pound gross weight limit.

The Legislature recently increased the gross weight trucks can haul upon Texas highways to 58,420 pounds, which could produce approximately $90.00 more per vehicle in license fees each year, if truck operators could be compelled to register for the full amount of the weight they carry.

As a means of raising badly needed State and County revenue, the County Judges and Commissioners unanimously adopted a resolution asking the Legislature to look into this practice of truckers evading the payment of full registration fees.

Cotton is classed by the Abilene office for farmers in the following counties: Andrews, Baylor, Brown, Callahan, Coke, Coleman, Concho, Dickens, Fisher, Glasscock, Haskell, Howard, Jones, Kent, Martin, Midland, Mitchell, Nolan, Runnels, Schleicher, Scurry, Stonewall, Taylor, Throckmorton, Tom Green.

Matejowsky emphasized that every cotton improvement group should file application for Smith-Doxey services as soon as all the farmers in the group have planted their cotton.

Forty-five farmer cooperatives were organized in 1950, not including health centers, cooperatives hospitals and R. F. A. association.

Taxes on Texas farm and ranch real estate increased in 1950 for the fourth straight year. The average increase for the state was four percent.

Coccus Germs Cause Food Poisonings

Coccus germs cause a wide variety of diseases, some of which are distinguished by intestinal eruptions and some by skin eruptions, states a report by Texas Medical association. One kind of food poisoning is called staphylococci food poisoning; the skin eruption known as impetigo is sometimes caused by staphylococcus germs and sometimes by streptococcus germs; and another skin disorder known as erysipelas is caused by "strep" germs. The "staph" germs that create the terrific sickness at the stomach known as food poisoning are usually brewed up in such foods as cream puffs, eclairs, salad dressing, gravy, cold meat or dairy products that have been too long away from refrigeration. They hit suddenly about three hours after eating, usually with a strange feeling of excessive watering of the mouth, then the vomiting and diarrhea following closely and persistently along with stomach cramps for the next 24 hours. Staph food poisoning strikes the quickest, lays you out the fastest, and lets go of you the soonest of any of the brands of food poisoning. A very similar type called salmonella food poisoning, is actually an irritation of the digestive tract caused by germ growth in the food. Spoiled meat is the most common food to cause salmonella food poisoning. Salmonella takes longer than staph to get started and nearly always creates a fever which is not present with food poisoning. It takes from 12 to 24 hours for salmonella food poisoning to make you wretched; it usually starts up with a cold chill, followed by a bad headache, and then the vomiting and diarrhea. Botulism, the other kind of food poisoning, is the very dangerous type that originates usually with improper canned food. Staph and salmonella food poisoning rarely ever causes death, though the person suffering from them is usually sure he is going to die. Botulism is frequently fatal; it takes longer to start working and may just be a collapsing-kind of sickness without the upset stomach. Both staph and salmonella food poisoning may be mistaken for appendicitis because of the cramps that accompany the disease. If it were food poisoning instead of appendicitis, though, usually someone else is suffering, too, from the food, so a check with others who ate the same food is sometimes the quickest way of eliminating the possibility of appendicitis. The best treatment for sudden, acute attacks of food poisoning is staying in bed as much as the symptoms allow and waiting for the sickness to go away. You usually have no appetite, anyway, and unless the vomiting and diarrhea are so excessive as to create a serious loss of body fluids, you're best off just sticking it out. If the symptoms persist beyond the first 24 hours, you require further medical attention. You'll be rather weak for a couple of days after an attack of food poisoning. Erysipelas is the kind of disease that usually starts up when you're already weak, probably from some chronic illness. This balloon-like red blistering, which usually breaks out on the face, most often attacks older people. An itching eruption accompanied by high fever, it may be a serious disorder, aside from the discomfort and temporary disfiguring. The antibiotics have proved very effective in the treatment of erysipelas. At the other end of the age scale, impetigo is the coccus-caused disease that seems more prevalent among youngsters. In infants and children weakened by other diseases, impetigo may assume serious proportions but in normal children the most serious aspect is the marring of a little face with the ugly sores. It may occur on other parts of the body besides the face. Impetigo starts up as blisters which open and form dark scabs while other blisters pop out nearby the sore. It is highly contagious and a child with impetigo should not only be kept away from other children but his wash-rag, towel, comb and brush should be put away where others aren't likely to come in contact with them.

Small Retail Stores
Given OPS Option

Hundreds of small retail stores in the Far West Texas district of the Office of Price Stabilization will be given the option of continuing to price under the general ceiling price regulation, rather than under the retail regulation, CRP 7, the Lubbock district office announced.

The office said many small retail stores with limited bookkeeping facilities and clerical help would get this option under the amendment which was scheduled for issue early this week.

The Office of Price Stabilization in announcing that the amendment was forthcoming, reminded that all other retailers selling items controlled by CRP 7 and its amendments must file their pricing charts by May 31 if they want to continue to sell legally after that date. There will be no extension of that deadline, OPS emphasized.

The amendment, according to advance information, will provide that stores selling housewares, notions, sporting goods, silverware, china, glassware, jewelry, watches and clocks may elect to price these particular items under the GCRP under either of two conditions:

1. The first provision, designed to help the smallest stores, gives the election for these items to any retailer whose overall net dollar volume of sales of everything in his store is less than $100,000.

Total dollar volume for this purpose, OPS emphasized, is figured on the sales not only of the housewares, notions, etc., but of the store's entire stock of goods.

2. The other provision, which will meet the situation of the store doing a relatively small volume of business in housewares, notions, sporting goods, silverware, china, glassware, jewelry, watches and clocks gives the election to price those articles under GCRP to any retailer whose net dollar volume from sales of those items is less than $60,000 annually, irrespective of his volume of sales in other lines of merchandise, and even though his total volume of sales is over $100,000.

A third provision, which retains a principle incorporated in CPR 7 as first issued, gives the option to any retailer whose sales of apparel, apparel accessories, shoes, beds and bedding furniture, yard goods, floor coverings, lamps, radio and television sets, phonograph records, musical instruments, luggage, etc., (all CPR 7 and a few amendments 2 items) are less than $20,000 annually in net dollar volume.

The expanded soil testing service of the A. & M. College can handle and analyze up to 100 soil samples per day. The charge for the analysis is small but the recommendations from the laboratory may save farmers, ranchers or gardeners and others much expensive fertilizer. Low yields are not always caused by low fertility.

New Law to Remove Unsafe Vehicles From Texas Highways

AUSTIN, May 24 (Sp.)—Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, has announced that preliminary plans are under way for the administration of the State's new Motor Vehicle Inspection Act.
 Recently passed by the 52nd Legislature and signed into law by Governor Allan Shivers, the act, which is designed to enhance traffic safety by removing unsafe motor vehicles from the highways, will become effective 90 days after the adjournment of the 52nd Legislature.
 According to Garrison, an additional period of about 60 days will be required to complete the organizational details of the inspection division which, by law

Farm Wage Rates Explained by USDL

Wage rates for farm workers in Dickens county and throughout the nation may go up to 95c an hour or the equivalent to that amount at piece rates without becoming the concern of the Wage Stabilization Board.

That is the gist of General Wage Regulation 11 which the Wage Stabilization Board in Washington unanimously adopted last week, it was said today by William J. Rogers, regional director of the Wage-Hour Division of the U. S. Department of Labor here. Wage-Hour offices of the Labor Department all over the country have been designated as field contact offices for the National Wage Stabilization Board.

Under Regulation 11, farm wage rates below 95c an hour or the piece rates paid for farm operations may be increased to 95c an hour or the equivalent monetary wage without approval of the Board. However, in those instances in which wage rates paid during the base period of 1950 were greater than 95c or the equivalent an hour they can be increased only 10% without Board approval.

The base rate is the wage rate paid during the applicable crop season of 1950. For example, if cotton is picked during September on a particular farm, then wages paid in September 1950 would be the base for any increases above 95c an hour.
 Increases may also be given to regular farm workers paid by the month. Where only a cash wage is paid, the wage can be $225 a month. Where the year-round use

George Smith and his son Douglas, 5, narrowly escaped serious injury recently when the tractor on which they were riding turned over.

Smith states that he was turning in deep sand when the accident happened. The tractor allegedly turned up-side down with the man pinned underneath. The boy was thrown clear.

"The butane tank mounted on the front of the tractor and the levers on the implement kept me from being crushed" says Smith. Douglas' first remark following the mishap was "I'm shaking just like you, daddy!"

"Good health in hot weather may be largely a matter of personal choice," according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, as he called for Texans to take life as it comes in summer and live with it as comfortably as possible.

"Therefore, Dr. Cox continued, "a few common sense practices will help us to live with summer and like it. Texas summers are hot and the hottest part is still ahead, so one needs to remember certain things that are good hot weather practices.

At the end of 1950, 19 cooperative health centers and nursing staffs along with necessary equipment were in operation in Texas.

A delicately balanced system of efficient farming, public relations farming and political farming is very important to American agriculture.

Farming Programs Are Modernized

The economics of agriculture is an increasingly recognized factor in the thinking and planning of operators of Texas farms and ranches. As never before they are conscious of the determining influence of such forces as international trade relations and price and income policies upon agricultural production and marketing.

Dr. Tyrus R. Timm, economist for the A. and M. College Extension Service, in 1950 conducted a series of group meetings, with county agricultural agent personnel represented, to study the Extension work being done in agricultural policy. At the same time opportunity for more work in this field was considered.

The importance of American agriculture having a delicately balanced system of efficient farming, public relations farming, and political farming was emphasized at another group of meetings for farm and business leaders and county agricultural agents. Along with this discussion, expected changes in agriculture during the next 25 years was pointed out.

The most intensive program for trying public policy work with other phases in economics was in the case of cotton "outlook" meetings. In addition to participating in five district discussions, the economist spoke upon the place of cotton in public policies before the State Cotton Production Committee. Instead of following the usual practice of considering only the supply and demand factors directly associated with cotton, the discussions were placed in a broader context. Other topics considered included: The fact that farmers and ranchmen do well during wartime but as an important economic group suffer sooner and more severely than other major groups afterward; the dollar shortage abroad; the government support mechanism.

Other discussions with county agricultural agents involved how farm families fared since the end of the Office of Price Administration and since the war in Korea commenced. The Agricultural Act of 1949 and the Defense Production Act of 1950 also were considered.

The economist considers the inauguration of the first in-service training graduate course for county agricultural agents called "Government and Agriculture" as perhaps the most important development in the Extension Service's year program in agricultural policy. Fourteen agents and four Extension staff members enrolled.

During the year the Extension economist prepared an outlook statement periodically called "Economic Facts and Opinions." This was primarily for the information of county extension agents. He served as a member of the National Agricultural Policy Committee sponsored by the Farm Foundation and as a member of the subcommittee for the Southern region. He also appeared before the economic section of the Southwestern Science Association of Chambers of Commerce Executives, as well as civic bodies and agricultural organizations within the state.

Farmers should review their insurance needs in light of present day building costs and make needed adjustments.

Health Officials To Study Civil Defense

Involved in civil defense will come under five days of intensive study at a short course to be conducted at the State Department of Health in Austin beginning June 11, state Health Officer George W. Cox has announced.

Radiological hazards result from atomic bombing, being one of the bomb's most dangerous aspects.

Designed primarily to indoctrinate supervisory personnel in the essentials of radiation defense so they can conduct training programs in their own communities, Dr. Cox said the course would be held each month during the summer for a different class of participants.

The health officer said the study is open to: Representatives of counties or cities where radiological defense is not vested in local health departments; representatives of state departments engaged in civil defense work; fire and police training officers; instructors; and members of industrial medical or safety departments contemplating in-plant programs.

Dr. Cox, chief of Texas health and emergency medical services, summarized the course as covering:

Where radiological defense fits into overall civil defense activities; definition of radiation language and units; radiation physics; theory and application of instruments; atomic bomb phenomena; area and personnel monitoring (checking for radioactivity); uses of radiation and radioisotopes; radiation protection and decontamination; psychology of disaster; and organization of local committees for radiological defense.

Lectures will be supplemented by laboratory exercises and demonstrations, Dr. Cox said, and time will be spent on review of physics, chemistry, and the mathematics required for calculations.

"We're going to put on a really worthwhile course," he indicated. "The army is going to help us."

He said additional courses would be held as "necessity demanded."

No tuition will be charged. Applications should be submitted to Dr. Cox at the State Department of Health in Austin, and include education and background of applicants. Trainees are expected to arrange their own travel and living conditions while attending the course.

Highway Funds Are Increased In April

County and State highway funds were enriched by more than $32,500.00 during the month of April, according to the monthly activities report just released by Kent Odum, Chief of the Department of Public Safety's License and Weight Division.

The report shows 2147 truck owners paid fines during the month for overloading, operating under-registered vehicles, using unsafe and faulty equipment on the highways and for miscellaneous offenses. There were 1,973 arrests during the month of March, 1951.

Since September, 1950, the beginning of this fiscal year, 16,006 arrests have been made by the Public Safety Department's 23 license and weight inspectors and more than $668,000.00 in fines and additional restriction fees have been collected. Over $228,000.00 of this amount was collected from truck operators for carrying more weight than the truck had been licensed to haul.

D. C. Greer, State Highway Engineer, recently told the South Texas County Judges and Commissioners in convention at Laredo, that the State and Counties of Texas were losing approximately six million dollars a year because truck operators would not pay the registration fees on their equipment for the full carrying capacity up to the then 46,000-

pound gross weight limit.

The Legislature recently increased the gross weight trucks can haul upon Texas highways to 58,430 pounds, which could produce approximately $20.00 more per vehicle in license fees each year, if truck operators could be compelled to register for the full amount of the weight they carry.

As a means of raising badly needed State and County revenue, the County Judges and Commissioners unanimously adopted a resolution asking the Legislature to look into this practice of truckers evading the payment of full registration fees.

Under the Smith-Doxey Act, area farmers who belong to organized groups for cotton improvement can have their cotton classed without paying a fee. Also, they can get USDA cotton quotations mailed to them without cost.

Cotton is classed by the Abilene office for farmers in the following counties: Andrews, Baylor, Brown, Callahan, Coke, Coleman, Concho, Dickens, Fisher, Glasscock, Haskell, Howard, Jones, Kent, Martin, Midland, Mitchell, Nolan, Runnels, Schleicher, Scurry, Stone-wall, Taylor, Throckmorton, Tom Green.

Matejowsky emphasized that every cotton improvement group should file application for Smith-Doxey services as soon as all the farmers in the group have planted their cotton.

Forty-five farmer cooperatives were organized in 1950, not including health centers, cooperative hospitals and R. E. A. association.

Real Estate Taxes Show 1950 Increase

Taxes on Texas farm and ranch real estate increased in 1950 for the fourth successive year. The average increase for the state was four percent, compared with 15 percent for 1949.

Total taxes levied averaged 26.6 cents per acre. This is about 50 percent higher than the 1936-46 average of 18 cents per acre. A record high of 29 cents was levied in 1931.

Taxes ranged from an average of five cents per acre in the Trans-Pecos area to $3.41 in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. This variation reflects the wide differences in Texas agriculture and the intensity of governmental development, according to Robert G. Cherry and L. P. Gabbard, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station economists, who made the 1950 tax study.

In recent years schools have increased their share of the total tax bill, while the proportion from county levies has declined. In 1950 school districts accounted for 50 percent of the farm and ranch real estate taxes, counties for 29 percent, the state for 14 percent, and other districts for 7 percent.

The extension of levies to most land by the Glimmer-Aikin school laws has been a contributing factor to the growth of school taxes, report the economists.

Although assessments per acre were higher in 1950, taxes were easier to pay than in 1949. The relative rise of taxes was less than the rise of prices over 1949. The tax-price ratio declined in 1950 from 1.03 to .97, which is slightly less than the base year 1913.

The experiment station economists expect the upward trend of taxes to be halted, at least temporarily, in 1951, since 1950 was the last year in which the state will levy a property tax for general revenue purposes. However, the possible tax load has not been greatly diminished—because counties may now levy an additional 30-cent rate.

In promoting his years plan of work the specialist contacted 303 county Extension agents through training meetings and educational conferences. Basic information relative to cooperative principles, analysis of need for cooperative effort and sound organization plans were supplied. Five area cooperative clinics of the question and answer type and attended largely by directors and managers of coops also were held. Problems and questions from the audiences were discussed and answered by a panel of which the Extension specialist was a member.

Other meetings held with organized groups discussed principles, objectives and benefits of both general and commodity types of farmer organizations. Cooperative laws, regulations and other

Texas Co-ops Mark Best Progress Yet

The 46 farmer cooperatives organized in Texas in 1950 did not include health centers, cooperative hospitals and R. E. A. associations set up during the year, since the latter are not chartered under the agricultural marketing act. Yet the organizational and cooperative marketing specialist for the A. & M. College Extension Service, M. C. Jaynes, characterizes 1950 as "probably the greatest year for general farm organizations recorded in Texas."

Farmer cooperatives and organizations, he observes, displayed ability to adjust their operations to trends and conditions and are alert to adapt their affairs to future changes. During 1950 meetings of directors and managers were held to consider needs not only for modernizing their machinery and other facilities, but for bringing their legal and financial structures up to date. As a consequence, many cooperatives revised their legal papers and others are preparing to do likewise.

Throughout, the Extension Service lent active cooperation in this constructive work.

The new organizations, which numbered one less than in 1949, were designed to operate in the fields of production, processing, storage, packaging, buying and distribution, marketing, and artificial breeding of dairy cows. Especial interest was apparent in marketing of poultry and poultry products, production and distribution of planting seed, and of fresh fruit and vegetables. The Rio Grande Valley Citrus Exchange, for example, is progressively expanding its membership and services.
