NUMBER 41

Whoa, Now!

By Gandy Leaky

There's going to be three very sad youngsters around our house this week and when they come home from their grandmother's to find out that their little puppy has been killed.

One just can't explain to a three-year-old, a two-year-old and a one-year-old about such things. We don't want this column to sound too much like a classified advertisement, but if someone around here has a cute little pup that might help ease the hearts of three youngsters and the mind of one father, please call 123 before Saturday noon and we'll sure come a looking.

We hope that our readers will take advantage of our new subscription "drought rates" which become effective today. Because of the drought, several of our readers have let their subscriptions expire recently but we just didn't have the heart to drop them. However, Uncle Sam says that subscriptions must be paid in advance. But since he doesn't say how much has to be paid, we want to give everyone a chance to stay on our mailing list for just a fraction of the regular subscription rates.

Since we'll be losing money on every one we sell for $1.50, we know you'll understand why we will have to go back to the regular rates when it rains.

We'd like to apologize to the ladies of the Dickens Council HD Council who prepared the attractive and clever float for the big parade last Wednesday. Readers will notice that we are publishing a picture this week of the second place float and not one of the first place winner.

The reason for it? Don't ask me, I'm just the publisher of the paper.

Friend Homer seems to like to tell jokes on folks at the weekly gathering of Lions. Here's one we heard on him and doubt if he's liar enough to deny it.

Soon after his marriage, his mother-in-law came to visit them only to find Mrs. Hindman at home alone and crying her little heart out.

"What on earth is wrong and where is your husband?" asked the bride's mother while trying to comfort an obviously broken heart.

Between sobs the young wife managed to explain "Homer has gone out to shoot craps and I don't know how to cook them!"

Jackson East Talks To Rotary Thurs.
Jackson East, local businessman, was the guest speaker of the Rotary Club Tuesday who spoke on "How To Make Money In A Drought". The speaker did not hesitate in saying that legal money could not be made during a drought and that whoever thought up the subject was crazy. Mr. East did make a very interesting talk though.

Oscar Kelley was acting chairman of the day, Fike Godfrey songleader and the invocation was given by Walter Gruben.

Chamber of Commerce Doings . . . NORTON BARRETT TAKES OVER AS MANAGER, COOPERATION URGED

Your Chamber of Commerce board of directors would like to announce that they have hired Norton Barrett as manager. We feel that since Norton has been raised here and knows everyone and everyone knows him, he should make a good man for the job.

Norton is a very civic minded man and has always boosted for Spur and the Spur trade territory. To all farmers and ranchers in the territory, we would like to say, when you are in town and have a little time to spare, go up to the office and visit with Norton some. He would appreciate it and you might be able to help him with some good suggestions.

We hope everyone will help us to make the Spur Chamber of Commerce a medium of service that will be of help to everyone. (signed) D. J. Dyess, president.

TO THE CITIZENS OF SPUR.
As you know, I have had no experience as manager of the Chamber of Commerce, but I do feel that I have one outstanding qualification for the job. That is, I have always been and will always be a booster for making Spur a better place in which to live.

I want to pledge my best efforts to make Spur a more desirable and attractive place in which to live and do business.

MEMORIAL FLAG TO BE USED IN CEREMONY AT HOSPITAL OPENING

The flag which adorned the casket of Sgt. Corbett E. Robertson, killed in action in Italy in World War II, will be used in the flag-raising ceremony at the opening of the Spur Memorial Hospital on Sunday, August 16.

Sgt. Robertson was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Robertson of Spur. He was a graduate of Spur High School and joined the Air Force on November 21, 1943. As a member of the 450th Bomb Group, 721st Squadron, he was killed in action in the tall gun position on a bombing mission over Italy on January 24, 1944.

The body of Sgt. Robertson was returned to the states after the war and was buried in the Spur Cemetery. Military funeral rites were conducted at that time by the local American Legion post.

The parents of Sgt. Robertson have given the flag used to adorn his casket on its return to the states to be used for the opening of the hospital and on other special occasions.

FARMERS BEAT ALL-STARS

The Farmers softball team invaded Jones stadium Tuesday night of this week to wallop the Spur All-Stars 22-2. Ashley pitched for the visitors and held Spur to two hits in five innings. His teammates shelled three Spur pitchers for numerous hits.

About mid-way in the game, Spur's left fielder, Jimmy Greer, injured his ankle by stepping in a hole in the outfield. Dr. Joe Alexander reports that the ankle bone is cracked and that Jimmy will be on crutches about four weeks.

Miss Eunice Denson of San Antonio visited in the Ott Denson home last week.

Pool Is Still Open; Cook Is Manager

Recognition Offered To Donors, Workers

The cowboys tossed their gear into their duffle bags, a trio of riders brought the stock into the loading pen from the far end of the arena, and the fans filed out to their automobiles with a feeling of satisfaction within as the sixth annual Spur Cowboy Jubilee came to a close here last Saturday night.

And now that it's all over and everyone has had a good time, let's look over the various phases and individuals and businesses that helped make this year's show another success.

Posse Is Host To Visiting Riding Clubs

By "Woody" Woodward
The Baroque last week for the visiting riding clubs was a very successful adventure. About 150 persons were fed and every body had a grand time. It is only through the cooperation of the various other organizations of the town that we were able to put on this feed and make it the success that it was. We are grateful to those who helped us to render this service to our visitors.

The rodeo was very colorful and our visiting riding clubs helped to make the first night the success that it was. Let us try to make the next years show and parade the success that this year has set the pattern for.

All members, both riding and associate are urged to attend the regular meeting this Friday night at the Lions Hall, where, if the past is any indication, we will be served with a very excellent meal and be entertained with a program by one of the members.

Some new parade formations were tried out at the local rodeo and every member of the posse carried a flag in the grand entry which were dipped to the colors and during the playing of the national anthem.

It will be decided at our next regular meeting if and when we will accept any of the numerous invitations to attend any more rodeos this summer and also some minor uniform changes will be discussed. This organization is always ready to hear any constructive criticism for its betterment.

STEEL HILL CHURCH TO BEGIN GOSPEL MEETING

A Gospel meeting will begin at the Steel Hill Church of Christ August 14 and will continue through the 23. The evening services will begin at 8:15 and the Sunday morning services will be at 10:30. Kenneth Avery will be the speaker and everyone is invited to attend these services.

HISTORIC ALAMO INSPIRES HEROIC SCREEN ADVENTURE

MAN FROM THE ALAMO (28)

"The Man From The Alamo," Universal-International's rousing Technicolor adventure story which opens Sunday at the Palace Theatre, will reward all audiences with a sweep of heroic action and suspense that never flags from its memorable opening through the smashing climax at the fadeout.

To Glen Ford goes one of the greatest roles of his career, and he tackles with vigor and virility the character of John Stroud, the only man to leave the Alamo alive. His co-star Julia Adams, the fiery frontierswoman who alone believes he is no deserter, gets a fine boost up the scale of stardom with her portrayal of Beth Anders.

Taking its inspiration from a great chapter in the stormy history of early Texas, "The Man From The Alamo" opens with the last-ditch defense of the historic fortress as Jim Bowie, Davy Crockett and their comrades await Santa Anna's onrushing armies.

Chosen by lot to slip out of the Alamo and save Ox Bow from impending disaster, Stroud is almost lynched by the aroused people of Franklin because the only ones who know of his mission have now been massacred. What happens when Stroud undertakes to lead the wagon train, evading Franklin through the lines of a ruthless renegade American band makes for as tense a sequence of motion picture drama as the screen has shown in years.

Chill Wills as an unforgiving Franklinites, Victor Jory as a turncoat, and Hugh O'Brien as a martinet officer, head an excellent supporting cast and help make "The Man From the Alamo" a dramatic piece of dramatic history and theatre entertainment.

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Production and Marketing Administration

206 Burlington

Spur, Texas

August 4, 1953

Dear Wheat Producer:

The wheat marketing quota referendum will be held August 14, 1953 at the following places: McAadoo Co-op Gin, Afton Co-op Gin, The building south of the Courthouse in Dickens, and the PMA office in Spur, according to Chairman Joe Rose of the Dickens County PMA Committee. Each place will be in charge of a local referendum committee of wheat growers appointed by the county PMA Committee.

To be eligible you must be a wheat grower and have an allotment of 15 acres or more and vote in the community in which you live. Under the laws of Texas your wife is eligible to vote also.

Chairman Joe Rose urges every eligible wheat grower to vote, since the outcome of the referendum will materially affect the price farmers will receive for their 1954 wheat, he points out that if more than two thirds of the voters favor marketing quotas, wheat loans at 90% of parity will be available for those who plant within their allotments.

If marketing quotas are rejected by the growers, quotas will not be in effect and the support rate on 1954 wheat will drop to 30% of parity to those who stay within their acreage allotments. Acreage allotments will be in effect for the 1954 wheat crop regardless of the outcome of the referendum. The difference is a guarantee support price of 90% of parity or 50% to those who are eligible. The State allotment is some 20 to 25% less than the 1951 or last allotment year, therefore, the county is in line with most of the counties in this area.

Remember the polling places are McAadoo, Afton, Dickens and Spur and the hours are from 8 a. m. to 7:00 p. m., August 14, 1953.

Yours very truly,

W. H. Eason, Secretary

Dickens County PMA

FALL GARDENS - -

(By Mrs. Joe Jeffers)

In Dickens County the drought made it impossible to grow a satisfactory garden this past spring and because of this condition efforts should be doubled for a fall garden.

Some helpful hints for the gardener who irrigates:

1. Plant just what you care for and water plentifully.
2. Use about 25 more seed than in spring planting and treat seed before planting.
3. Soak the furrow with plenty of water, plant as soon as water is soaked in and then cover with dry soil and pack lightly with hoe.
4. Thin the plants early, leaving only about 40 per cent to 50 per cent less than in spring.
5. Irrigate by letting water run down middles and have beds high enough to let water soak the roots good.
6. Cultivate to shallow depth, following each irrigation or shower. Do not let the ground crust over.
7. Keep sharp lookout for insects.
8. Irrigate slowly, giving water ample time to soak in to a good depth.

Some vegetables that may be grown very successfully in the fall garden are green beans, mustard, radishes, lettuce, squash, turnips, carrots, beets, cabbage and black eye peas.

Fall and winter garden bulletins may be secured from your county HD agent.

and just everybody who enjoyed the show, say thanks.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

Socialistic waste. That's what Congressman Ralph Gwinn of New York terms the Tennessee Valley Authority, or TVA.

But many hold whether or not TVA is waste by socialism, blunt business standards condemn it.

Government needs to reduce both public indebtedness and taxes.

While no one seems to know just how much has been poured into TVA, there are strong feelings.

In mid-thirties TVA was started to provide irrigation, power, and to control floods, although Army Engineers claim the Tennessee Valley will not flood more than once every 500 years.

The efficiency of TVA as a source of hydro-electric energy is held open to question, too. Congress is asked to build a total of 9 steam generating plants, presumably to meet greater needs for electricity.

There is evidence in Washington that administration may come to grips with the TVA question in order to justify its billing as a businessmen's administration. But there are many smoke screens of emotion and false promises to cut through.

Besides the cry of Socialism, there is the argument that the tax free TVA doesn't pay the taxes of private utilities.

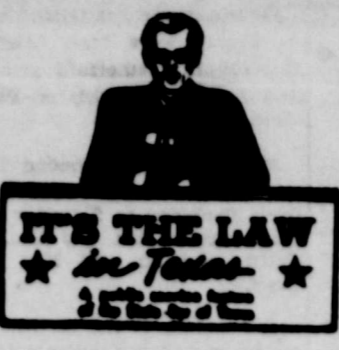

This last argument is probably a half-truth as there is credit.

The regular monthly social at the Foreman Chapel was enjoyed Friday night. The meeting was opened by song and prayer and then Miss America Contest was held. The judges elected Alan Kissinger as the prettiest lady.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Fowler and Brownie of Fair Oaks, Calif. visited in the John Head and R. L. Benson homes over the week end. Their son, Kenneth Fowler, of El Paso, was also with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy J. Wilson of Olney visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Anglin and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johns over the week end and attended the rodeo.

If you drive a car long enough the chances are you will bump into a lot of interesting people.

DEFENSE COUNSEL OFTEN UNJUSTLY CRITICIZED

One of the cardinal principles of American law is that a man is considered innocent until proven guilty by proper legal proceedings. Practically everyone pays lip service to this ideal, but may fail to realize that the right to be represented by counsel is a logical and essential corollary of that theory of justice.

Should lawyers defend in court persons whom they know or have good reason to believe are guilty of the crimes charged against them? The recent Incident Survey of the attitude of the public in Texas toward lawyers and law problems shows that more than half of all persons interviewed thought it was wrong for a lawyer to defend such a person.

Such an attitude on the part of the public is rather startling to thinking people. Surely the guilt, best criminal has a right to a fair trial by the law of the land. Such a trial he cannot have without a competent attorney to see that a fair jury is selected and that only lawful evidence is introduced against him.

With reference to this feeling on the part of the public, District Judge James K. Ewalt, of Dallas, who served eighteen years as a prosecuting attorney before his election as District Judge, recently offered the following comments:

"The result of this survey is no surprise to me, in that during my eighteen years of prosecuting, this feeling has been made known to me by hundreds of persons.

"The feeling on the part of the general public in this regard is brought about to a great extent by the sincere efforts on the part of the defense counsel to see that his client receives the benefit of every legal safeguard to which he is entitled. This legal maneuver is often misunderstood by the layman as an unethical effort to defeat justice, by delay of the trial, and by taking advantage of certain defenses that to the layman appear to be trivial technicalities.

"Attorneys are the only ones who can correct the erroneous feeling of the general public regarding the defense of one who appears to be guilty as charged. We attorneys should emphatically state to the inquiring person that it is one of the cardinal rights of the individual in a democratic society to be considered innocent until his guilt is established beyond a reasonable doubt by legal and competent evidence.

"The public must be brought to realization that all who are charged with crime are entitled to the expert counsel and aid of an attorney, and that the sworn duty of such attorney is to see that each protective legal right, to which the accused is entitled, is afforded him."

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform-not advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

You Can Do Something About This!

If the roads you drive on are worn out, dangerous, and inadequate for today's traffic—chances are it's partly your fault. And you can do something about it.

That was the opinion of most of the 41,000 Americans who submitted essays in the recent General Motors Better Highways Awards Contest. GM sponsored the contest to stimulate nationwide thinking and discussion about the seriously deteriorating condition of our road system.

Competing for a total of $124,000 in cash awards—as well as a chance to do their bit for better roads—contestants in every state of the Union and the District of Columbia sent a board of judges their ideas on "How to Plan and Pay for the Safe and Adequate Highways We Need."

The thousands of ideas submitted ranged all the way from putting a Secretary of Transportation into the President's Cabinet to requiring drivers to wear illuminated gloves for signaling turns in the dark. But most of the contestants agreed on these three points:

1. There is no quick and easy solution to the highway problem.
2. We need continued and intensified research into highway matters.
3. Most important of all, we'll never get better roads without public support.

As Hazlow H. Curtis, president of General Motors, has said: "Highways are built by public authorities. But it's a great deal easier for the public authorities to act in response to informed public support."

The contest demonstrated that there are bound to be honest differences of opinion as to how to plan and pay for better roads. Some contestants thought the federal government should have more power over our highway network; others feared any encroachment on prerogatives of the states. Some favored higher taxes; others said the necessary money would be available if we would end diversion to non-highway purposes of taxes collected from highway users. One contestant suggested raising money for roads by putting the government into the toothpaste business.

Differences can be resolved. The competition showed how deep and widespread is the concern over our highways. And in the opinion of the contestants themselves, it's up to all of us to translate that concern into better roads.

The club women made a quilt for a family whose home burned and sent a box of linens. They have sent birthday and get well cards to members and friends.

This club has had five new members and 21 visitors this year and it also invites any woman interested in being a member to come to the meetings.

"Hi There, Yank"

Happy as a lark and just as cute as they come anywhere, this little Indian smiles a greeting to an American visitor. Indians gather at most of the regular train stops along the north Ontario lines of the Canadian National Railways' transcontinental route to stare at the travelers and to be stared at and photographed in return.

Want to be nimble, smooth and quick?

TT Dynaflo* does the trick!

WE have just the place for you. If such is your desire. It's at the wheel of a 1953 Buick with Twin-Turbine Dynaflo. And we suggest you hold on to your hat and your heart when the action starts—for here's what happens: You press the pedal and, from a standing start, you're up to a legal 30 mph before you have time to breathe but twice. Or, you're in the thick of traffic—moving smoothly, easily, quietly. Then, when it's safe to do so, you move instantly into the clear with the greatest of ease—in one progressive build-up of velvet acceleration—without a single gear shifted or a clutch pedal pushed. That, sir, is the big thrill command you get in any 1953 Buick SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER with new Twin-Turbine Dynaflo. For this fully automatic drive now has two turbines where one did the trick before. Two turbines for instant getaway response—with whisper quiet—and with infinite smoothness through all ranges. Of course, a lot of able power goes with this smooth, quick getaway—the highest horsepower and compression ratios, Series for Series, in all Buick history. And so does big room. And the supreme comfort of the Buick Million Dollar Ride. And the superb handling ease of finely balanced weight. Even Power Steering* is at hand to make parking and turning still easier. Why not drop in on us soon and sample one of these great new 1953 Buicks with TT Dynaflo? It's an experience—and a value story—too good to miss. *Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

ARTHRITIS? I have been wonderfully blessed in being restored to active life after being crippled in nearly every joint in my body and with muscular atrophy from head to foot. I had Rheumatoid Arthritis and other forms of Rheumatism, which deforested and my ankles were set.

Limited space prohibits telling you more here but if you will write me I will reply at once and tell you how I received this wonderful relief.
