The scheduled tilt between Spur and Floydada Tuesday night has been postponed and tentatively reset for Monday, February 17. Five inches of snow in the Floydada area necessitated that the game be played at a later date.

Spur fared no better in the third period as they scored 6 points while Tahoka dumped in 17. At the end of the third period the score read Tahoka 45, Spur 18.

In the final quarter Spur came to life scoring 13 points to Tahoka's 6. The defeat virtually eliminated Spur in the conference race, giving the Bulldogs a 5-4 record. Tahoka has won 8 and lost 1, as has Floydada.

Boy Scouts Due To Take Over City Duties Saturday

Mayor Reece McNeill has proclaimed the week of February 7-14 as Boy Scout Week, and on Saturday, the Scouts will "take over" the city and assess "fines" for various violations.

According to scout officials, the Scouts will try to make the people of Spur "Safety Conscious" by invoking small fines for jaywalking, crossing on a caution light, running stop signs, etc.

The fines will be used to buy scouting equipment such as tents, compasses and cooking equipment. It is not compulsory to pay the fines; but it will be considered a donation.

However, the scouts will take over the "bench" at the Justice of the Peace office, and an all Scout jury will stand by to "try" offenders.

Scout officials have asked the cooperation of the people of Spur in this fund raising campaign.

Dean Watson is Scout Master troop 194, and Tommy Kissinger and John Reifenberg head troop 193.

In proclaiming this week Boy Scout Week, Mayor McNeill issued the following proclamation:

WHEREAS: The Boy Scouts of America have consistently contributed to high standards of personal and community conduct throughout their long history; and WHEREAS: The week of February 7 through 14 has been declared National Boy Scout Week, and nationally set aside to honor Boy Scouts, I, J. R. McNeill, Mayor, do proclaim this week Boy Scout Week in Spur, Texas, for the purpose of expressing community appreciation to Scouts and adult leaders and advisers.

Whitmire Says County Vehicle Inspections Lag

Captain Alan Johnson, Service Commander of Motor Vehicle Inspection of Region No. 5 of the Texas Department of Public Safety, announced today that only 30 per cent of the registered vehicles in this Region have been inspected to date for the year, 1958.

Captain Johnson pointed out that motorists are subject to a fine of one dollar ($1.00) to two hundred dollars, ($200.00), if they are apprehended operating a vehicle without a valid Safety Inspection sticker.

J. R. Whitmire, Motor Vehicle Inspection Patrolman for Dickens County, advised that out of 2975 vehicles registered in the county, only 1050 have been inspected to date. This represents only 40 per cent of the total vehicles in this county.

Whitmire stated that improved Inspection Stations are located in Dickens County and that motorists should have their vehicles inspected as soon as possible in order to avoid a last minute rush to meet the April 15 deadline.

CHAMBER DOINGS...

Election, Trade Program, To Highlight Chamber Activities

Approximately 20 businessmen met with Chamber of Commerce officials last week to discuss a city-wide program designed to hold business in Spur.

Several plans were presented and discussed. The plan chosen will be called "Spur Trades Day" and will be designated as the first Thursday of each month. Businessmen and merchants plan to cut prices on seasonal, current merchandise in order that more consumers will be attracted to Spur.

George Gabriel, Rex Holder, Louis Arnold and Grady Lackey were appointed on a committee to complete final plans for the program and present it to the merchants.

In other Chamber activities, the annual banquet is now being planned and March 20 has been set aside as the date.

Four new directors will be elected by Chamber members within the next few days. They will take office in March.

The Chamber is presently taking listing of rental property. "Several new families are moving to Spur. If your apartment has been listed and rented, please call the office and take it off the list," says Betty Kearney, Chamber secretary.

P.T.A.'s to Celebrate Founders Day

11-Million Members Mark Organization's 61st Year

On February 17 the world's largest voluntary service organization will celebrate its 61st birthday.

This is the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, whose nearly eleven million members are active today in P.T.A.'s throughout the 48 states, the District of Columbia, Alaska, and Hawaii. They will mark the organization's Founders Day with a variety of activities aimed at strengthening and expanding parent-teacher work in their own communities.

Mrs. Rollin Brown, of Los Angeles, president of the National Congress, points out that these 43,000 P.T.A.'s have set the pattern for parent-teacher associations in areas where U.S. armed forces have established American communities overseas. And parents of school children in other nations have sought help from the National Congress in forming similar groups to promote education in their countries.

Founders Day activities, scheduled for February 17, will honor two women whose imagination and concern for children planted the seed for this still-growing organization.

It was in 1897 that Alice McLellan Birney and Phoebe Apperson Hearst conceived the idea of a National Congress of Mothers to promote the health and welfare of children by helping their parents learn more about how to fulfill a child's physical and spiritual needs.

They worked hard to interest other women in their aims and approached the date they had set for the organizing meeting with hopes of seeing a hundred or so delegates arrive at Washington's Arlington Hotel. But "if only twenty-five are there," admitted Mrs. Birney, "I shall be satisfied."

More than two thousand men and women turned out!

Their enthusiastic reception of the aims, as outlined by the founders, and of the lectures, discussions, and conferences that made up the first meeting set the pace for a great national movement. Soon state congresses were founded, and before long the original "mothers' congress" was broadened to include the concept of parents working with teachers.

Since that founding meeting, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers has written an impressive record of achievement. It includes these activities in behalf of children:

Donated hundreds of thousands of dollars in scholarships to students planning to enter the teaching profession.

Initiated a program for the service health appraisal of well children from birth through high school—an extension of the Summer Round-Up campaigns under which nearly three million pre-school children have received physical examinations.

Promoted successfully thousands of school building projects, including preliminary surveys, educational campaigns, and school bond issues.

Alerted the public to violations of child labor statutes, stressed the need for improved juvenile detention facilities, and supported sound adoption laws.

Helped establish child-care centers for children of working mothers and worked to raise the standards of all child-care establishments.

Established and supported public kindergartens until public support could be secured.

Pioneered in establishing and maintaining thousands of hot school lunch programs long before the public in general became aware of their importance.

Helped to keep the schools open during the years of war and depression—an achievement for which it received a special citation from the National Education Association.

The first Board of Managers of the National Congress of Mothers (the National Congress of Parents and Teachers since 1925). Left to right, seated: Mrs. John R. Lewis, vice-president; Mrs. Adlai Stevenson, vice-president; Mrs. Theodore W. Birney, president and Founder; Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hearst, vice-president and co-founder; Mrs. William L. Wilson, chairman of the Reception Committee; and Mrs. F. Benjamin Johnston.

Standing: Mrs. Henry J. Finney, chairman of the Press Committee; Mrs. James H. McGill, chairman of the Entertainment Committee; Mrs. A. A. Birney, chairman of the Committee on Arrangements; Mrs. H. W. Fuller, chairman of the Transportation Committee; Miss Mary Louisa Butler, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Harriet A. McLellan, chairman of the Literature Committee.

Headquarters of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers stands today at 700 North Rush Street, in Chicago. The building, dedicated in 1936, won an award from the Chicago chapter of the American Institute of Architects and the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry for excellence in architecture.

Mrs. Rollin Brown, president, uses giant thermometer to illustrate how membership in the National Congress has more than doubled since 1947.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
A public service offering of the State Bar of Texas

Half a Loaf May Be Worse Than None

You've heard the old saying that half a loaf is better than none. But when it comes to written contracts, that isn't exactly true.

Oral contracts with some exceptions are perfectly enforceable in court. You make many such contracts in your daily living. When you drive into a filling station and say "Fill 'er up!" you've made an oral contract obliging you to pay for the gasoline the attendant puts in your tank. Every auction results in many oral contracts of sale. Millions of people are employed on oral contracts.

The trouble with an oral contract is the difficulty of proving its terms if a dispute arises. The court will listen to your version of the contract and to the other fellow's version and then try to reach a decision.

It is best then to put a contract in writing. But here is the danger—be sure you put it all in writing. If the written contract does not contain all of the elements you believed to be in the agreement, the court will not even listen to your version of the agreement. Thus, half a written contract may be worse than none.

For instance, you buy a stove which the salesman says you may return if you don't like it. You sign a conditional sales agreement that does not mention your right to return it. In fact, the fine print on the form says that you agree that no representations have been made about the stove except those written in the contract. If you find you don't want the stove, you will have no right to return it, and you can be sued if you fail to pay for it.

For your own protection, read your contracts before you sign up and insist on writing in any promises the seller makes to you but does not put in the contract.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Little change is likely in total meat output in 1958, says John McHaney, extension economist. There may be a slight reduction in the number of cattle and calves slaughtered but an expected increase in hog slaughtering may offset any drop in cattle processing. Too, he says, heavier carcass weights for cattle will also help maintain the output.

JUDGE ASKS . . .

Do Children Who Attend Church Regularly Become Delinquents?

What is the Role of the Church in Combating Juvenile Delinquency
By Judge Sarah T. Hughes

(Ed Note:—This is another in a series of articles on the state's growing problem of juvenile delinquency by one of Texas' foremost authorities on the subject, District Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas, who has handled more than 25,000 juvenile and family relations cases, along with an even greater number of civil cases in 23 years on the bench. "Family law is probably the most important phase of the law," says this internationally known jurist, whose work has been honored in the U.S. and in Europe and whose name was put in nomination for the vice-presidency of the United States in 1952. A discussion of a different aspect of the problem appears every week.)

I am frequently asked by people concerned with the role of the church: "What is the effect of church attendance on delinquency?—Do boys and girls who go to church regularly become delinquent?"

The question is difficult to answer. In fact, there is no single answer. The part the church plays in the development of children depends upon many factors—the individual child, his parents and home situation, and the type of church program and its leaders.

Here are some statistics, however, which I think will be of interest.

What the Studies Show

A study made of 105 delinquents and 105 non-delinquents showed that 46 of the delinquents were regular church attendants and 64 of the non-delinquents (only 18 more) attended regularly.

Another study of 761 delinquents in New Jersey revealed that 54 percent attended regularly, 21 percent occasionally, and only 25 percent never attended.

Recently Elaine Holcomb, wife of the pastor of the Lakewood Baptist Church in Dallas, made a study of 200 boys and girls in the Texas schools for juvenile offenders. Two-thirds claimed actual church membership and slightly over three-fourths claimed to attend church and Sunday school.

The study also revealed that at about 12 years of age there was a decline in church interest and that the youth activities of most of the churches of the delinquents made little appeal.

Must Be Affirmative

From the findings in these and other studies it would appear that somehow many of the churches are falling down in their responsibility to young people. Despite attendance and membership in church and Sunday school, surveys reveal that much too large a percentage becomes delinquent.

Church Attention to Problem

One religious leader has said that the church must "re-examine its program and re-direct its activities so as to make religion function as a dynamic force in the home and early life of the child."

An official of the religious education department of one of our large church groups said that "the rising tide of juvenile delinquency shocks the church into taking account of the fact that here is a great need towards which the church could well direct a greater amount of attention than it has in the past."

Church Leaders Tell How

What then can the church do to meet the challenge of today's most pressing problem—juvenile delinquency? Here are some suggestions from church leaders who have given consideration to the problem:

1. Religion must be presented to young people in such a manner that it can be applied to life situations as they meet them each day.

2. Church and home must work together in a program in which the home becomes a laboratory and the parents partners with the church's teachers in the training of children.

Give Feeling of Significance

3. There should be many more church-sponsored activities which will appeal to young people and will give them a sense of significance in the life of the church. Discussion groups with right leadership can be popular as game and recreational activities. Giving a child a creative role to play in a church group can be the means of channeling him into such roles in worthwhile non-church activities also.

4. The relationship of the minister with the youth in his community must be more than derived in an occasional contact at a youth meeting and his relationship with their families must be more than a mere handshake after services or a conversation about the weather and crops during a pastoral visit.

Personal Relationship of Minister

The minister who takes the time and makes the effort to know and understand the members of his congregation may not only spot trouble but can act in solving the problems that life brings to every family.

The church can and should be a potent factor in the developing of children and in preventing delinquency.

Whether it is or not depends upon church leaders—ministers and lay people as well. It requires work, time, effort, and vision.

Spur Will Get New Creamery

That Spur will have a creamery is an assured fact at this time, as will be noted from the advertisement of the Spur National Bank this week. This institution has spent no little time and money in securing this business for the farmers of Spur country.

The machinery is being ordered now, and will soon be installed. It is the hope that the plant will be ready for operation within the next forty or fifty days and that the farmers will have first class market for their cream. The creamery is to run in connection with the Spur Cream and Bottling Works which now has adequate power and housing facilities. These will only speed the time when the new plant can be put into operation.

Roy Stovall will have charge of the new business. He has already secured a first class creamery man and butter maker who is a graduate of A&M College and has had several years actual practice in the work.

Now Farmers, this plant is what all of us have been wishing for a long time. It is going to meet strong opposition from cream companies who wish to buy your cream as cheap as possible, but now will offer you fancy prices in order to freeze-out this home factory. Do not permit yourselves to be caught in the trap. Patronize the home plant which will stabilize your cream market and bring you hundreds of dollars. If other companies can pay you a big price for your cream now, why have they not been doing it all the time? The home plant will be paying you good money all the time and it will deserve your patronage.

We understand there is to be a method of delivery worked out which will be of great benefit to the farmers. See Mr. Stovall and talk the business over with them, get his plan, then co-operate with him, and it will not be long until Spur will be the cream center of the West. Big institutions come from small beginnings, and you farmers can be the means of a big cream industry in our country.

It has been through your cooperation in the past that this business is being established. You have worked and wished and now your wish has come true. Stay with it, and get the most out of it you can.

BUYS GROCERY STOCK
M. E. Landers, of Ulysses, Kansas, has purchased the grocery stock and leased the building of the Drive-In grocery and will take charge so on.

Mr. Landers is an experienced business man and expects to conduct a high classed mercantile business in our city. Just the extent of business he will have is not known, but it is assured that he will stock a first class grocery department and will probably add other lines.

George S. Link and W. R. Lewis are in the east this week visiting the different factories and buying a train load of groceries for Spur's new wholesale grocery. Just how long they will be away is not known, but they expect to ship back several cars of groceries for the new business.

Tasty Potato And Corn Chowder For Appetizing Family Meal

This delicious potato and corn chowder with sausage dumplings is a real treat to serve your family because it's high in eye-appeal, highly appetizing and offers lots of nourishment and extra nutritive values. Especially timely now when top quality potatoes from Washington State's green mountain valleys are being harvested and some 25,000 refrigerated cars are moving into markets all over America. You'll find good supplies of the tender, reliably Red Rose varieties and the Long Whites which are known as the aristocrats of the breakfast table as well as the all-purpose Washington Russets, so popular for baking.

POTATO AND CORN CHOWDER WITH SAUSAGE DUMPLINGS

3 large Washington State Long White potatoes
3 large onions
1 1/2 tsp. salt
3 tbsps. butter or margarine
1 milk
1 (No. 2) can cream style corn
1 pound country style pork sausage
1/2 cup dry bread crumbs

Peel and slice potatoes. Skin and chop onions. Put in medium sized kettle and add enough water to cover. Add salt and cook until potatoes are tender (about 15 minutes). Meanwhile, combine sausage with bread crumbs and shape into small balls. Fry until browned on all sides and cooked through. Put potatoes through ricer or strainer. Add butter, corn, enough milk to make desired consistency and add meat balls; heat through. Season with additional salt and pepper if needed. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

dine Westerman were the only ones that could carry five peanuts on a knife across the room without dropping any of them. Many more interesting games were played with the assistance of Mrs. Vanover.

The birthday cake was brought in and each girl made a wish of good cheer to their little hostess.

Lovely refreshments were served to the following: Winifred Gower, Julia Jo Reed, Blanche Harvey, Sybil Schrimcher, Mary Bell Ensey, Mary Wooten, Oma Ray Skelton, Myra Moore, Mary Ellen Boyd, Wanda Watson, Betsy Wilson.

PULLET MANAGEMENT
Bob Griffin, extension poultry husbandman, reports that regardless of whether pullets for egg production are reared in confinement or on the range, the producer must still watch his management practices very closely, because the replacement cost is second only to feed in the overall cost of producing eggs.

Social Security Applications Can Be Speeded Up With Records

Persons applying for social security benefits can speed the payment of their claims by bringing the necessary records with them according to John G. Hutton, manager of the Lubbock social security office.

Wage earners and the survivors of deceased wage earners should furnish a copy of the Form W-2 "Statement of Wages Paid" for the preceding year. In addition they should supply the information regarding earnings for the current year.

Self-employed persons or their survivors should be prepared to furnish a copy of Schedule C (or Schedule F for farmers) and other supplementary schedules with their income tax reports for the preceding year. They should also furnish the cancelled check or other evidence that the tax has been paid. The estimated earnings from self-employment for the current year should also be furnished.

No person should delay contacting his social security office, because he lacks any of these records, Hutton states. Delays in filing claims may mean a loss in benefits. However, if all the records available are taken to the social security office when an applicant seeks to file a claim it will assure the earliest possible payment of benefits.

A representative of the Lubbock Social Security Office will be in Spur on February 19, 1958 at 9:30 a.m. at the Office of the Justice of the Peace and will be glad to assist in all matters pertaining to Social Security.

promises to bequeath and on account of mistake induced by fraud of her said husband and coercion; and it is claimed that a fraud was also practiced by such decedent on this Court, and that the proceedings did not comply with Article 2624a.
It is further claimed in such suit that all or substantially all property in decedent's name at the time of such settlement and at the time of his death was community property, and that had the wife received these properties awarded to her in such settlement, such were greatly less than her share at such time, and such contract was grossly unjust and disadvantageous to her, but that there was further material fraud and deceit practiced on her as to those properties which it was recited she was to receive under such settlement because of failure of title and of consideration in material part and inability to deliver and failure to deliver personal property of the kind and value which it was represented such wife should receive.
