STANTON'S ACHIEVEMENT

Martin County, in West Texas, is one of the "small" counties of the state—that is, small in respect to population; in area it is as big as most. Five thousand people would be a generous estimate for the population of the whole county, and Stanton the county seat, numbers only about a thousand. Yet this town of 1,000 averaged $100 per capita in raising a fund for the promotion of agricultural development in the county. In a recent effort to obtain the location of a powdered milk plant, Stanton citizens put up $100,000 to finance it. The town did not get the plant, a survey demonstrating that there was not enough milk production to support it, but this ostensible failure is not important.

Stanton has found itself. It has gained an increase in self-confidence. It has shown that it can do things even though in this case it has no monument of brick and stone to point to. But, given the things which Stanton has—community spirit, public cooperation, enterprise, and capacity—the concrete exhibits of progress will come. Stanton can get a milk plant, or any other kind of plant it wants and is suitable to the region, any time Stanton wants it. Stanton has shown the world it can do things. More important, it has shown itself.—Star-Telegram.

A Sweeping Success
because it offers Big Car Qualities for only $745

The New Pontiac Big Six is a sweeping success—an even more pronounced success than its famous predecessors. And it owes its success largely to the fact that it offers big car qualities at low prices. Oakland produced this car to enable progressive people to step up in motor car quality without leaving the low-priced field. And the very people for whom it was created have made it an impressive sales success.

Pontiac Big Six, $745 to $895, f.o.b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Bumpers, spring covers and Lovejoy shock absorbers regular equipment at slight extra cost. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values. . . Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only reasonable charges for handling and for financing when the Time Payment Plan is used.

KINDNESS TO ANIMALS TAUGHT

As a tribute to the work that the Boy Scouts of America are doing in promoting kindness to animals throughout the United States and to in a more effective way, impress upon the minds of the people of Pennsylvania, the need for proper treatment and care of domestic pets and other animals, the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has constructed at the new $100,000 camp of the Chester County Council of the Boy Scouts of America a large building dedicated solely to the purpose of educating the youth of the state in kindness to animals. The building was erected largely through the efforts of J. Gibson McLlvain, President of the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, who is also Scout Commissioner.

The building, which will be put into use during the camping season, this summer, is the first building of its kind to be constructed at a Boy Scout camp in the United States. Already, because of the interest created in the erection of this building, the Society is making plans for the erection of a similar building at the camp of the Delaware and Montgomery County Council of the Boy Scouts in Pennsylvania.

Recognizing the program and aspirations of the Boy Scout Movement as outstanding in promoting kindness to animals, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals proposes, from time to time, to erect at the respective Scout camps, within the state of Pennsylvania, buildings devoted to the purpose of instruction in kindness to animals and the prevention of cruelty. The building at the Chester County Council Scout Camp, states Mr. McLlvain, is to be a place where the boys of Pennsylvania may study various forms of animal life and the building will be open at all times to representatives of the Society for the purpose of lectures and other forms of humane education.

CONGRESSMAN JONES STILL FIGHTS FOR THE FARMER

That Marvin Jones, Congressman from the 18th Texas District is in deep sympathy for the farmers' success is proven in a radio talk made recently. On June 7th Congressman Jones went to the people by radio with a nation wide hook-up and told the world why he was in favor of debenture plan is to make the tariff effective on products of the farm and Mr. Jones spoke in part as follows:

The purpose of the debenture plan is to make the tariff effective in products of the farm and ranch, just as it is now effective on manufactured articles. It would do this by taking a part of the money collected on foreign goods brought into this country and with that fund pay an export premium on surplus crops shipped out of this country.

Its immediate effect would be to increase the price of all wheat in America 20 cents per bushel which would mean millions in increased prices to the cotton growers of the South.

This has been the effect in every country that has tried it. The whole domestic price level of the commodity immediately rises the amount of the debenture.

As an independent proposition no one would advocate it. But as a part of a system no one can deny its logic and justice. It is merely restoring to the surplus farmer what is now taken away from him by force of law in the form of increased prices on tariff laden articles.

Let any farmer compare the prices he now pays for his farm wagon, his tools, his clothing, his furniture and his supplies generally with the prices he paid for the same commodities in 1914. Much of this increase in the price of the supplies which he must use is due to the tariff system.

The railway rate on steel from Chicago to San Francisco when intended for export is 40 cents per hundred. When intended for domestic use the rate is $1.00 per hundred. This difference is a direct export bounty on steel for the purpose of stimulating world trade. Just why is an export premium on steel sound and an export premium just why is one a subsidy and the other good business? What peculiar charm is there about steel? Is it somebody's pet? Understand, I do not say that an export premium on steel in the form of reduced rates as a stimulus to trade is unwise. The rate structure of this country is a tremendously intricate one. But, if it is justified on steel, why is it not justified on cotton or wheat?

The farm problem is the nations problem. For years we have thru chambers of commerce, through trade journals, through booster we may become over-industrialized. We cannot crowd all our population into the smoke laden cities. But important as this is, talks, encouraged the building of cities. Our great surplus crops constitute our raw material supply and margin of safety. Without them our smokestacks would rust in idleness. The one cannot permanently prosper without the other.

CHEVROLET COMPANY HAS NEW HEAD

Executive promotions recently announced by W. S. Kundsens, President and General Manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, bring into front line positions in the Chevrolet organization an able group of officials who have played prominent parts in the successful direction of Chevrolet affairs for several years.

The appointments come about as a result of the recent election of R. H. Grant, and E. O. Hunt to Vice Presidencies of General Motors and at the same time are in recognition of prove ability. Mr. Kundsens explained, Mr. Grant was formerly vice president in charge of Sales and Mr. Hunt was Chief Engineer.

Succeeding Mr. Grant is H. J. Klingler, who becomes vice-president and general sales manager. This promotion places at the helm of the Chevrolet selling organization of more than 35,000 people a merchandising leader of demonstrated ability. In addition to his long association with Mr. Grant, in the sale of more than a million automobiles annually, Mr. Klingler has had the advantage of broad experience in selling and advertising.

Charles F. Barth, for many years vice-president in charge of manufacturing becomes vice-president and general manufacturing manager. Mr. Barth is one of the outstanding veterans of the automobile business and is regarded as an expert particularly on production methods and factory management.

M. E. Coyle, for years closely associated with Mr. Knudsen in the direction of the company's financial affairs, has been elected vice-president and general auditor. He is also a veteran in the automobile business and has been identified with General Motors for more than seventeen years.

J. M. Crawford, formerly assistant chief engineer, becomes chief engineer and brings to his new post thirteen years' experience in the automobile business, the last three of which were with Chevrolet. While associated with Mr. Hunt, much of the experimental and development work on the new Chevrolet six, was done under his direction.

Working with Mr. Crawford and assisting him in the direction of the extensive engineering department which Chevrolet maintains will be Leroy Cham, formerly engineer at the Chevrolet factory in Flint and now assistant chief engineer with headquarters in Detroit.

Mrs. H. L. Killgore and little daughter, Katherine Lea, are in our city this week, the guests of Mrs. Killgore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Lea, and her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Lea.

ESPUELA NEWS

Mrs. Murphy, of Espuela, had to make another trip to Lubbock for treatment. Her friends, who are many, are very sorry to hear of her misfortune and wish for her a speedy recovery.

Riley McMahan motored to Spur one day last week to attend to business affairs. He says he believes bumper crops are in store for all of us this year. Well said, Mr. McMahan, always look for the best and forget the rest. That is what keeps business going and the world turning.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Karr were in town one day last week doing some trading with our good business men of Spur.

Mr. and Mrs. Benefield were in Spur Saturday on business and greeting friends. It is reported that they are going to their farm near Spur and build a new modern home with all conveniences.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris visited the city one day last week. Mr. Harris is having his teeth taken out.

Mr. Howell was in Spur Saturday looking after business affairs.

Mr. Newton Bingham and Miss Allen were united in marriage a few days ago. We people of Espuela wish them a long, happy life together.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Gragson were in Spur a few days ago. Mrs. Gragson was shopping with our business men while Mr. Gragson greeted friends and attended to business affairs.

Mrs. John Gragson and Mrs. Wade spent a happy evening with Mrs. E. J. Bilberry and Mrs. Smith last week. They enjoyed themselves by discussing the topics of the day, modern house keeping, our Holy Bible and bobbed hair.

Mr. Cager Wade entertained a large crowd Saturday night with an old time dance.

Mr. Elmer Bilberry and wife spent last Sunday with his father, Mr. E. J. Bilberry. The men went for a swim in the afternoon while the women discussed—oh, well, probably we shall never know what all.

Crops sure are looking fine in Espuela district. Lots of cotton is putting on the third leaf. So let's hope for no hail.

Dairy cattle are doing very well at present, but we people of Espuela wonder why a certain cow named Brownie keeps her head tied to her foot. Very likely she jumps E. J. Bilberry's fence and takes dinner on his early corn and other feeds.

Mr. Luther Bilberry, of Dickens, spent last Friday in Spur doing some trading with our business men. Spur is the home of bargains, real first class merchandise at the lowest prices possible. And we are glad to see people come for miles around, and from other towns. Spur is our business center, so let's keep it in Spur.

We Espuela people don't boost but we are still on the map. We invite neighboring districts to look us over. So, altogether, "Hurrah for Espuela."

Often we have heard people say, "Oh, yes, I believe the Bible, but just can't do every little thing it says. I just simply can't love my neighbors as myself." Well, folks, listen, you can at least do by him as you would like to have him do by you. Now we will take this example. If your neighbor falls into a mud hole, don't do as so many have done, put your foot on him and push him down deeper but all together, reach him a hand, all together pull hard and out he comes. All right, brush some of the mud off his clothes, and nine times out of ten he is a better man than he was before. You have at least won his friendship and treated him in a way that you would like for him to treat you. So folks, let's all live like neighbors, we people in Espuela do.

What's Doing In West Texas

ANSON is doing a great deal of building. A theatre with a capacity of 450 on the main floor and 100 in the balcony is to be erected by Knox Pittard. The plans call for a modern theatre front, three entrances, the foyer of tile. Floor will be of cement and tile. The dimensions will be 30 by 20 feet.

HEREFORD celebrated the opening of a new $80,000 Baptist church by starting a revival in it. All precedents in church construction were broken in the decoration, seating architecture of the distinctive church. One thousand auditorium or theatre chairs are in supply. The rose colored roof, eaves, and circular-topped windows suggest the Spanish motif.

The DE LEON Free Press recently celebrated its 4th birthday. It was established late in June in 1889, eight years after the establishment of the town, and has published continuously ever since.

O'DONNELL Methodists are spending $3,500 remodeling their church. Seven Sunday School rooms will be built, besides other improvements. When completed, this will be a splendid edifice and up-to-date in every respect.

TAHOKA is to have a new business block. C. A. Hill of Lamesa has announced that he will erect a brick building 50x125 in size to house a chain grocery store and an automobile agency. The old Howell building, one of the first garages erected in this section, will be razed for the new structure.

A BIG SPRING building is nearing completion. It is the $55,000 Read building which contains seven stores on the ground floor, and a 25 room hotel on the second floor. It extends the business district one block on East Seventh. Other buildings nearing completion are the Alta Vista apartment house, Studebaker plant and six-story Petroleum building.

SILVERTON'S new High School building will cost $80,000, and will be complete by August 15. The school board will make plans to organize both a Junior and a Senior High School, according to C. D. Wright, president of the board.

BROWNFIELD is rushing its street paving. At a meeting of the city council recently, a Wichita Falls firm was employed as engineers on street paving with instructions to start actual construction as soon as possible. It is thought that the proceeds of the bonds recently voted will provide for the paving of several additional blocks.

The COLEMAN Chamber of Commerce recently elected Sim O'Neal to serve another year as secretary of the civic body. Elmo V. Cook head of the agricultural department and teacher of agriculture in Coleman High School, tendere this resignation to accept a position as agricultural agent in Bosque County.

BORGER, the world's largest carbon black manufacturing center, has ten plants now operating or nearing completion, with 63 units, consuming 325,000,000 cubic feet of residue gas daily. Four hundred and seventy-five thousand pounds of carbon black for tires, etc., are made every day.

The WICHITA FALLS cheese plant is buying 27,000 pounds of milk a day from farmers and dairymen in the area, which means an income of $600 daily and $20,000 monthly from a source that was non-existent only a few months ago. Other creameries and purchasers of milk in that city swell the total considerably.

PERRYTON will soon have a modern three story hotel. It will contain 41 rooms and will supplement another good hotel under construction containing 26 rooms. Paving of 14 1-2 blocks in the business district is under way and a $50,000 theatre, equipped with vita phone is nearing completion.

put your Telephone on Half-pay during Vacation

You'll save money... and spare yourself inconvenience when you return.

The Rumseys are going vacationing. The milk's been spoiled, the ice man has been called off, and the Man Who Delivers the Newspaper has been instructed to bring no more until further notice.

But the telephone will be left at home, drawing full pay in an empty house! Something should be done about this!

Vacation rates for idle telephones

One solution (provided you're planning a vacation of 30 days or more) is to place your telephone on vacation half-rates while you are away.

It's a convenient way to save money. And—this to folks who sometimes have their telephones taken out—it spares you inconvenience on your return. That's because:

1. You pay just half the regular rate.
2. Service is reconnected quickly after you return—usually within 24 hours after you notify us.
3. You keep your present telephone number. (You'd lose it if you had your telephone removed.)
4. Your name remains in the telephone book.

"Something should be done about this."

If you wish, while you are away we will refer your calls to another telephone—that of relatives, for instance.

Vacation rates are available for periods of more than 30 days, but not over four months.

To obtain them, mail the coupon or telephone the business office.

BELLE H. BENNETT MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

On Monday afternoon, Mrs. Gordon Barrow was hostess to members of the Belle H. Bennett Missionary Society in a social meeting.

A contest is being waged among the members, with the different sides having the names "Blues" and "Pinks." These colors were used effectively in the decorations, and again in the dainty refreshments served to the guests.

During the afternoon a dress-making contest was held with materials being newspapers, pins and scissors. Mrs. D. H. Stack and Mrs. Jack Rector were fortunate in designing the most attractive costume and were presented with dainty pink and blue kerchiefs.

Other guests were: Mesdames Mac Tidwell, A. O. White, David Burns, H. O. Everts, and Miss Willie Mae Abbott, of Slaton.

C. A. LOVES WRITES FROM OKLAHOMA

Dover, Okla. June 1st, 1929.

Larry Burrows, Spur, Texas.

Dear Burrows: How is our plant getting along and how many customers have you got. I am hoping for 75 per cent by July 1st. People in Spur should certainly stand shoulder to shoulder for their plant. While I am not with you in person, I am heart and soul, for you men and Spur. I hope to visit you many times. It took me over thirty days up here to get my electric range connected up. The local man here wanted $70.00 for the job. I made several trips to Enid and finally got a man sent out here that wired me in, but have got any bill, so don't know just what they will charge me. But their rates here are: first 24kw 12 1-2c the next 24kw at 8c; then all goes on a 3 1-2c rate. So you see Spur beats even the big Oklahoma Power Plant for rates, and I know you can give as good service.

Lots of rain up here; 6 inches yesterday. We are enjoying good health and send greetings to all friends and wish them every joy, health and plenty. Give Johnson and Ned my best wishes, and tell Johnson to stay on the job as well as my friend Twaddell.

Yours, C. A. LOVE.

Experiment Is Proving Success

While advocating the advantages of having good cows on the farm, Mrs. C. L. Martin, city, gave her experience recently with cows. She stated that nearly two years ago she purchased a cow somewhat in opposition to her husband's wishes, paying $55.00 for the cow and calf. The calf was not of the kind to keep, hence they converted it into beef later in the year and stated it was worth about $15.00 for that purpose. Then within a few months Mrs. Martin purchased another cow without her husband's knowledge. This cow and her calf cost $55.00 and the calf was sold for $15.00. This left Mrs. Martin with two cows at a total cost of $80.00.

With these two cows Mrs. Martin furnished the family with all the milk and butter they could use and was able to sell quite a lot of milk on the side. Soon she was able to purchase another cow with the money saved from selling milk. She bought all the clothing that she and her children needed, and now and then purchased clothing for her husband. Then she set in to supply her home with modern equipment. She sold milk and cream and with the money purchased a refrigerator, an electric washing machine, electric sweeper, and all other electric appliances needed in the home, all of which cost more than $1000.00.

After equipping the home with all these conveniences, she invested the remainder of the money in another cow. Today she has sixteen head of fine Jersey cows and calves, and according to her husband's estimate, they are worth easily $2000.00. Then that husband began to come alive. He saw what his wife had accomplished with just three or four cows within a period of about two years. When talking of her work he set up the throttle to his cob pipe and said, "Today she has three cows in our lot that are netting her around $2.00 per day each. She keeps account of what she spends for feed for these cows, and this is deducted from the gross earnings. Then we have all the sweet milk and good butter we can use which means a great deal off in the grocery bill of our family. I don't see what we would do were it not for those cows."

Then he gave that cob pipe an extra heavy draught and said, "From what I have seen her do, we have started a little experiment on a place just south of town. Do you have time to run out there with me? I want to show you what we are trying to do." We got into his jitney and were off and within five minutes pulled up at the front gate of a 168-acre farm. He explained that they had just drilled a well and had plenty of good water. Then we went to the lots where he exhibited some very fine looking heifer calves, some of them registered. They were sleek, gentle little fellows and a good promise for future success. We walked around on the other side of the barn where he showed us some fine registered gilts, stating that he figured they would lead the hogs to go along with the cows. There were a number of these gilts in a dandy looking pigs that showed good build and promising outcome.

Then he said, "Come here," pointing to a nice flock of big turkeys. He stated that from these birds they were setting around 150 eggs and expected to have a good shipment for the fall markets. Then we crossed the lot to another part of the place and thought we had run into a frustrated flock of quails, but at once discovered they were baby chicks. Of these there were about fifteen hundred in all. Many of these were not of true blood, but were healthy looking little birds that were growing as rapidly as chickens could be expected to grow.

Then he drew on that pipe good and strong and said, "we have added these to our program as by-products to the cows." We went on up to the pasture and found around twenty eight of fine cows, some registered, some just straight bred cows, all Jerseys, many of which were worth $150 to $200 of any man's money. Here is where he made the fog fly from that pipe again, and in addition he straightened up as if he was in military dress attention.

"We have tried to make balanced farm program for this place this year. We have not expected to realize anything from our investment as soon, but strange to say we will make good interest on our money the first six months. We will realize around $3000.00 from our work this year. Then with the increase in our herd of cows for another year, and with no further outlay in capital we will get back next year all that we have put into this stuff this year. I am not going to be a cotton farmer any longer."

Then came another fog of smoke that resembled the explosion of a stick of dynamite, and he added, "Why, if we get this program to going by next year, not even a drought could break us. We can ship in feed enough to take care of these cows, they will give enough milk to take care of the calves, chickens and the pigs. We can sell enough cream to pay all expenses, then we can sell enough hogs, chickens, turkeys and calves to give us a nice little income. I just believe we can make some money with this program. After this year, we expect to keep enough feed in the lot to take care of this stuff one year at least, and we don't have many droughts that last more than one year at a time."

In speaking of the crop program Mr. Martin stated that they expected to have just enough cotton to take care of the little expenses and pay the man on the farm. "After this year there will be very little cotton raised on this place." Program looks to be good—There will be a daily income on this farm. There will be eggs and cream to sell every day. Then two or three times per year there will be hogs to ship out. In the fall there will be a small amount of cotton to sell. The best part will be no great debts to pay every fall. We are interested in watching the program on this farm develop, and we are going to see if farming, real well balanced farming in this country will pay.

SCOUT TRAFFIC POLICE

What police authorities say is the only all Boy Scout Junior police traffic squad in service in the state of Massachusetts, is functioning every day at Newton, where twenty Scouts are on duty.

The group of twenty Newton Boy Scouts were selected early in the year and a three-day course of instructions was given in school traffic work by Patrolman Kiley at police headquarters. The Scouts are equipped with white belts, badges and stop signs, working under their own youthful executives and the police. The work of the twenty this year has been so successful, say police authorities, that the plans will be extended to include all of the Newton public schools in the autumn.

TARZAN THE MIGHTY

Novelized by ARTHUR B. BEEVE, From an original Serial produced by UNIVERSAL PICTURES CORPORATION, by special arrangement with EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS Author of TARZAN OF THE APES, THE CAVE GIRL, etc.

Mary smiled and nodded yes. Again he searched the chest and this time drew out a picture of Lord Greystoke in his uniform with the family crest on the photograph.

"Yes, this is a man, like you Tarzan," answered Mary. "And here it says Lord Greystoke and here is the crest like that carved on your knife!"

It did not interest Tarzan much now. "Tarzan a man—he?" He snatched his great chest. Mary smiled. "You a woman—she?" Again Mary smiled acquiescence. "You Tarzan's she?"

Mary smiled, a bit fearfully, raised herself on tip-toe and impetuously pressed her lips to his face. Tarzan drew back bewildered. He rubbed his lips, a strange smile on his face. "It is like honey that the King People hide in the trees!" he cried in the emotions of his first kiss.

He took a step closer to Mary. She hesitated, frightened by the giant emotions she had aroused, then again she raised herself on tip-toe, again she put her lips to his, and Tarzan's mighty arms closed tightly around her.

Tarzan was like a big child, now. Mary felt her power over him. Yet she feared his physical power over her. Besides, she was tired. She wanted rest. Slowly she made him understand that she wanted to rest alone in the hut. She knew that he would not leave her now, but would stand on guard through the night. Besides there was the bird call if she should need him. Gradually she got the idea into his head to leave her alone in the hut through the night.

Outside Tarzan saw the moon now with new eyes. He swung himself through the trees in sheer joy of being. "Ho!" he roared up at the moon. "King of the night—it is Tarzan, King of the Jungle, defend you! Come down and fight! I will conquer you, give you as a present to Tarzan's she!"

Refreshingly along in his delirium of love Tarzan made his way through the trees making a wide circle of the hut in the clearing.

All through the night Black John had kept Bobby a prisoner close. He knew that Bobby knew where Tarzan's lair was. But Bobby was dumb.

"No," he steeled to it tearfully, "I won't tell you where Tarzan sleeps."

"You won't!" Black John snatched down a big bull whip from the wall. "This will make you tell!"

Bobby cringed back with terror. So it was that in the middle of the night Black John gathered four of his boldest spirits. "Tarzan has stolen the woman who would be our queen. Come with me."

Through the jungle the dark five made their way, until on the edge of the clearing they found the hut. Black John could hear Tarzan in the distance following his love-defiance of the moon-god, Goru. It was an opportunity. He posted the four on guard and crossed quickly to the hut.

Mary was just about to retire on an old broken cot, had started to unfasten her scant robe when she was startled by a noise as the door opened with an unseen hand. "Don't make a sound!" came a thick, hoarse whisper.

She recoiled in terror as Black John crept into the room confronting her menacingly. "No ape-man shall have the woman I want!" he hissed.

"But I loathe you," she cried bitterly, retreating from him. Black John grinned in ugly triumph. "I have laid plans to get you out of the jungle when I have located a vast treasure I know of that will make you richer than the richest woman in the world!"

Mary shook her head. Black John sneered. "You won't?" I hold the winning card—your brother, Bobby. Young woman, be at the village before dawn—or you will never see him alive again!"

"You—monster!" gasped Mary. Nearer could be heard Tarzan's jungle call. Horrified, Mary was weakening at the thought of Bobby. "If he finds me here with you—" smirked Black John.

"All right. I promise. Now go quickly. Tarzan is coming!" Black John made a hasty exit, covering up his fear. Mary, filled with dread, turned to the old cot again.

She was apparently asleep when Tarzan entered, covered by an old blanket and a leopard skin she had snatched up from the floor. A moment he stared at her, then reached over and touched her soft shoulder with his big hand gently. Mary, tense on the cot, was pretending to sleep. Inwardly she was full of apprehension. He reached over and picked up the leopard robe she had caught up from the floor. She did not move. Then he vanished through the door to sleep in the open with his covering.

In the morning, full of renewed energy, Tarzan swung himself down to the door of the hut and opened it. His heart stood still. Mary was not on the old cot. He called her name, searched the room, then dashed out of the hut.

Tarzan was indeed a wild man. The honey of that first kiss had turned to bitterness. The beasts and the birds of the jungle went two by two. Must Tarzan walk alone—always alone? Tarzan the mighty was swiftly turned again into the ruthless killer of the jungle. He uttered a bull-ape cry, uprooted a sapling and flung it from him, as he strode along.

In the village they heard the echo of his cry. "Tarzan!" the natives cried. "Tarzan is calling to his jungle people again! He comes to kill!"

In Black John's cabin Mary hugged Bobby closely to her breast and smiled. She had heard the call faintly echoing; now she heard the shouts of fear of the villagers, as they scattered. It filled her with joy. Help was coming.

Her joy was short-lived. Through the door of the cabin shouldered Black John in rage. He strode over to a small trap door in the wall. He indicated to her to get through. With Bobby clinging to her Mary obeyed. The trap door slid back behind them and Black John who had quickly followed.

There beside them was a lion pit. In it snarled a ferocious specimen. Horrified Mary shrieked Tarzan's name. The lion let out a terrific roar.

Just an instant Tarzan hesitated in the village as he heard his name called. It was Mary's voice—and it came from Black John's cabin. His rage changed instantly to worry. Another moment and Tarzan leaped to the door of Black John's hut.

Again the lion roared and Mary screamed. Tarzan entered quickly. Suddenly the door slammed behind him. Black John had thrown a heavy bar. With the other hand he reached for a lever. He pulled it, opening another trap.

Snarling the lion charged through the trap as Tarzan crouched to meet the tawny leap of the infuriated beast.

Chapter VII. FLAMING HATE

Crouching with his knife ready as the lion emerged blinking from the shadows set to spring, Tarzan quickly straightened himself up to his full height, uttering a peculiar hiss. Still snarling the lion shrank back as though in subjection. He knew and feared Tarzan.

Black John had not been prepared to see the king of beasts slink away from Tarzan. But with a low order of cunning the renegade caught met the emergency. Under cover he rushed Mary and Bobby into another of the huts.

Through the village reverberated the bull-ape roar of Tarzan. "Tarzan! Tarzan!" screamed Mary, answering. "Tar—"

Black John's grimy hand over her mouth smothered Mary's cry. She broke from the renegade, crouching back. "You thought to trap Tarzan. But even the beasts of the jungle are his best friends—and fear him!" She suddenly recoiled, gave the shrill bird call.

Rampaging through the village Tarzan heard. He scattered the natives like so many leaves in the wind. From hut to hut he tore until suddenly he heard the muffled bird-call issuing from one of them. He hurled himself headlong against the thatched wall of the hut. As he crashed through, arms tensed, the fury of battle in his eyes he confronted Black John.

Whatever he might be Black John was no coward. With desperate courage he met the attack of Tarzan. But he was no match for the giant strength of the infuriated jungle king. Tarzan lifted him bodily like a log and flung him to the ground. Before the crumpled villain could even begin to get himself together Tarzan had leaped after him, planted his foot on his neck and drawn his knife prepared to dispatch him as he had hundreds of jungle enemies in winning his kingship.

MRS. T. V. SHOCKLEY DIED MONDAY MORNING

Mrs. T. V. Shockley, of the Soldier Mound community, died at a local sanitarium about two o'clock Monday morning. Septicemia poison was the cause of her death.

Mrs. Shockley's maiden name was Davis, being a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Davis. She was born in Cherokee County, Alabama, March 21, 1895, and was 34 years, 2 months and 20 days old at the time of her demise. She came with her family to Texas several years ago and had spent most of her life in this section of the country. At an early age she was converted to the Christian religion and became a member of the Baptist Church. She was active in church work and lived up to her convictions, serving as Sunday School teacher on church committees and in many other ways.

She was married to Mr. T. V. Shockley, June 20, 1928. She lacked ten days of having been married one year at the time of her death. She and her husband made their home in the Soldier Mound community where she assumed her duties in the home, and also continued her work in the church.

Mrs. Shockley leaves her husband, baby, four step-children, five sister and one brother to mourn her going. Her brother, J. M. Davis, was in business in the Red Mud community for sometime. Her sisters are: Mrs. J. A. Abernathy of Tulsa; Mrs. T. M. Law of Floydada; Mrs. A. F. Pope of Levelland; Mrs. W. H. Lewis of Eden; and Mrs. R. M. Lambright of Panhandle.

Funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church, this city, Monday afternoon at four o'clock. Rev. P. A. Stokes, who for many years, was Mrs. Shockley's pastor, delivered an address, emphasizing the many virtues in her life. Probably Rev. Stokes knew more about her life as a Christian than any other minister in this country. Interment was made in Spur Cemetery. W. S. Campbell acting as funeral director.

The Times join with the many friends in extending sympathy to the bereaved ones.

Mr. and Mrs. Chancellor, who live just north of town, arrived back home a few days ago from Dallas, where they had been visiting. Since coming home Mr. Chancellor has been on the sick list but we are glad to report that he is able to be out again.
