Haile Opens Campaign In Spur Sat.

With a very large crowd present, Fred C. Haile, Dickens County candidate for Congress for the 19th Congressional District formally opened his campaign here Saturday afternoon. With few exceptions Mr. Haile stuck to the issues confronting the people of today and outlined the importance of the next Congressman staying on the job in behalf of the common people. The following is an extract of his address:

"I am opening my campaign here among friends. I am not ashamed to stand up and tell you I am in the race for I am proud of it. I want your confidence. It is unnecessary for me to say that I am just an average man, and I am coming to you as an average working man. I do not boast of any virtues or of my ancestors. I am coming before you as a Democrat, standing for the same principles as those of Washington. I come before you seeking the support of the average man, not to seek glory or fame, but to offer my service in Washington in your behalf and not that of my own. I do not come to you representing any lodges, churches, or any other organization. I come to you just a plain man trying to take my place as a citizen in your community, asking you as individual voters for your support and confidence.

"I am not asking favors of any particular organization. I have no powerful or political institution financing me. I must do that myself. I have no powerful syndicates to laud me. I am reminded of Joe Bailey as he stood before his audience speaking in a dignified and forceful manner. There were two colored men in the edge of the crowd and one said to the other, 'Who is dat gentleman?' The other replied, 'I don know, but he sho do recommend hisself mos' highly.' I say to you that I am running as a free born Democrat, free from all political bosses. I am paying my own campaign expenses out of my own pocket and not from my insurance business. In that connection, I have heard little whispers that people have said that I was collecting money from my life insurance business in excess to take care of my campaign expenses. You may tell the next person who says that, that he is badly mistaken as our books are audited by a State auditor every six months.

The right man for Congress should be above reproach. The man who is elected to Congress should be unquestionable as to his integrity, and the rights of every individual should be protected, keeping the welfare of the average man at heart, knowing his needs and having the backbone to stand in the face of lobbyists and hold up for the rights of the average man. I think of myself as one of you striving for recognition. I want your support and pledge my support to the present Democratic platform and say that if I am elected to the United States Congress I will still back that administration just as long as that organization should be of service to the individuals of this District and the Nation.

"I am here to say that so far as platforms are concerned the platform of every candidate would be to serve

Forgotten Men vs. Hollywood

"Forgotten Men," sponsored by the American Legion will be shown at the Ritz Theatre Thursday and Friday, May 17-18 in Spur. The local post obtained this vivid World War picture as an educational feature depicting actual scenes of warfare in France in 1917 and 1918. Matinees will be shown each day for the school children of the county.

Out of Hollywood have come numerous motion pictures attempting to portray exciting fights and wild shootings. Some have attempted to depict war scenes with their paper-mache helmets, blank cartridges and plaster of paris guns manned by slick haired heroes. Others have shown a heroic cowboy mopping up a saloon floor with the vile villain to the accompaniment of rolling eyes and soul-sizzling moan on the part of the heroine.

But at the Ritz Theatre, there are fights in which human being fall like flies; in which human life is placed at the lowest possible valuation, and which have placed a gigantic blot of

Sheriff Goes After Thief In California

Sheriff W. B. Arthur left the first of the week for Stratford, Calif., to bring back Horace Bridges, who has been held there for stealing a saddle from Clayton Bridges some time ago. An article in last week's Times was in error in regard to the names and we are glad to make the correction. Mr. Bridges offered a reward of $25.00 for the return of the saddle and is very much pleased over the efforts of Sheriff Arthur in apprehending the thief.

Interest On Credit Loans Reduced

H. P. Gibson, secretary-treasurer of the Spur Production Credit Association has just received word from Governor W. I. Myers of the Farm Credit Administration in Washington, D. C., that the interest rate on new loans from production credit associations has been reduced from 5 1/2 to 5 per cent.

According to Mr. Gibson the new 5 per cent interest rate became effective immediately on all new loans and advances made by the association and will be applicable until further notice.

"The new interest rate of 5 per cent will not affect loans already advanced," Mr. Gibson said. "These will continue to bear the rate of interest prevailing at the time the loan was made. The interest charges on loans from the association are collected when loans mature. The Spur Production Credit Association is now making loans on acceptable crop and chattel security to farmers in Dickens, Kent, Motley and King counties.

"The reduction of the interest to 5 per cent on new loans," Mrs. Gibson continued, "is made possible by a recent sale of Federal intermediate creditbank debentures to investors at an unusually low rate of interest. The association gets money to lend farmers from the Federal intermediate credit bank of Houston, Texas.

"The lowering of the interest rate on new loans to 5 per cent is the second reduction in two months, the rate having been reduced from 6 to 5 1/2 per cent on March 16.

"According to Governor Myers," said Mr. Gibson, the Federal intermediate credit bank is passing on immediately to farmer-borrowers from production credit associations the savings made possible by lower cost of getting money. The confidence of the investors in the security of the intermediate credit banks has been such that the banks are able to get money to lend at the lowest discount rate in their history. Governor Myers says that the resulting low rate of interest on production credit association loans is enabling farmer-borrowers to save thousands of dollars on the cost of their farming operations this year. If the associations make sound loans, and loans that are collectible, an adequate supply of low cost money will continue to be available."

Off To W. T. C. C. Convention at Angelo

Dewey L. Granberry, secretary of the Spur Chamber of Commerce, and Clifford B. Jones were in San Angelo the first of the week attending the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Convention. Mr. Jones is a director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and is chairman of the Highway Committee of the local organization.

Mr. Jones called back to Spur Tuesday evening and reported that the Spur Chamber of Commerce poster in the Progressive Program contest won first place. The poster was designed by Edwin Earl Hight, a high school boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hight. It represented the various opportunities of the Spur Country and featured mostly the farming advantages. Also it set forth the assets of Spur.

In the local contest last week a number of young people took interest. Edwin Hight won first honors, Polly Clemmons won second honors and R. D. Holmes won third honors. All three posters were good, and probably any one of them might have been a winner at San Angelo.

Music Week Is Observed Here

A very fine program by the citizenship of the town was held in the auditorium of the First Baptist Church Friday evening in honor of national music week. The idea was suggested by Mrs. P. H. Miller and the program was taken in charge by F. G. Collier, choir director at the First Methodist Church, and M. D. Ivey, choir director at the First Baptist Church.

A very nice program was arranged. The orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Perry gave some selections, both the junior and senior quartettes took part in the program. Misses Nedra Hogan, Julia Jo Reed and Kathryn Curby gave piano selections. The program was made more varied by a violin duet by Matthew Gruben and Clifford Hunter, piano duets were rendered by Mrs. Webber Williams and Mrs. Dewey Granberry and Mrs. J. W. Henry and Mrs. Clifford B. Jones. Vocal solos rendered by F. G. Collier, Mrs. J. W. Henry and Mrs. W. D. Starcher were much enjoyed.

Mrs. Weaver gave a very instructive talk on music and its influence on a people. She outlined the history of the various types of music and showed how each found their way into the minds of the public.

It was voted to make this an annual event and music week will be observed in Spur each year. The various study clubs of the city have agreed to foster the occasion and probably there will be a full week of programs next year.

Palace Has Exceptional Week End Pictures

Once in a blue moon there zooms across the horizon a picture which combines perfect production, perfect story and perfect acting to stand head and shoulders above its predecessors. Such a picture is "The Private Life of Henry VIII," showing today and tomorrow at the Palace.

Not in years has such a lavish praise been accorded a motion picture following its preview. On every side critics are already according it a place among the "Best Ten" of the year. And when you see the picture, you'll know why!

For there is no dull historical drama, but a lusty, exciting tale of a king and his six wives! It's packed with laughs that come right from the abdomen! It's filled with beautiful women as stirring as a bevy of chorus girls! And it's got a performance by Charles Laughton that you will talk about for weeks!

Zane Grey's "Last Trail," with George O'Brien and "On Your Guard" with Richard Talmadge are the two pictures on the double program slated for Saturday, beginning at noon. Included in this program will be a serial, comedy and cartoon, all for one admission price.

The latest Laurel and Hardy feature-length comedy head the program Saturday Midnite and Sunday matinee.

When the two wife-bedeveled husbands, Laurel and Hardy, find that they must attend their lodge's convention in Chicago, despite the strenuous objections of Hardy's wife, the latter invents a fictitious illness. With the assistance of a friendly horse doctor, who poses as an ethical physician, a trip to Hawaii is prescribed as a sure cure with the pair leaving for Chicago instead.

The resultant story-telling brings about a series of embarrassing situations, which with the assistance of Laurel and Hardy and Charley Chase, as the latter's brother-in-law, becomes a mirth-provoking film that should make "Song of The Desert" the comedy hit of the year.

Monday and Tuesday, Matinee and Nite, the Palace screen will be graced with Katherine Hepburn in "Little Women."

When sixty-five years ago, Louisa M. Alcott began writing "Little Women" she had no idea that it would become one of the most celebrated stories in the world and that its dramatization in 1933 would prove a super-production task for the movies.

No sooner had RKO-Radio Pictures decided to make a screen feature of "Little Women" than the studio found itself facing the most gigantic task of research, set construction, casting and gathering of period properties of its entire history. This does not except "Cimarron."

The studio was "set upon its ear," so to speak. With so much work to do one hardly knew where to begin. On top of production problems came another which for some time completely tied the hands of the executives.

From all parts of America and the British Empire came thousands of letters, each one demanding one of two things, first that the story should be modernized, and second, that it should be presented absolutely in the spirit and settings in which it was written.

When these letters mounted into figures well over 200,000, studio officials were in a quandary. Fandom had set itself up as an arbiter. Vital research work was temporarily abandoned.

Finally, after careful tabulation of the letters it was discovered that approximately 59 per cent desired Louisa Alcott's "Little Women" just as Louisa Alcott wrote about them. It was difficult decision to make, for to have modernized the story would have eliminated the tremendous expense entailed in research and the recreation of places and spirit of the past. But the clamor of the fans was the voice of the box-office, and "Little Women" has been filmed in its true atmosphere of the book.

Board Elects Teachers For Next Year

The Board of Trustees of Spur Independent School District met last Thursday evening and selected teachers for the 1934-35 term. The selections were made by the board after a conference with the superintendent and principals.

The following were selected: R. B. Neilson, Pauline Buster, David Sisto, Ila Lassiter, Julia Maxwell, Sarah McNeill, Thad Murley, F. F. Vernon, Mrs. L. B. Tillotson, Mrs. A. O. White, H. C. Foote, Rachel Langston, Mabel Johnson, Theima Hogan, Mrs. F. O. Kelley, Ella Mae Hogan, Mrs. F. G. Collier, Mrs. D. H. Zachary, Alice Wright, Annie Mae Lassiter, Mrs. Sam Clemmons, Charlie Hayes, Jane Douglas Wilson, H. T. Haynes and Theresa Goldstein.

Mrs. Alton B. Chapman was elected some time ago to the position as home economics teacher, but declined another term. C. B. Middleton was re-elected vocational agriculture teacher at the same time.

J. R. Laine has been elected bus driver of the north route. The other bus drivers will be selected at a later date depending on residence and routing of the buses.

All teachers who do not have degrees were elected with the understanding that they attend school at least six weeks this summer and make six semester hours of work on their degrees and with the understanding or warning that they complete their work for their degree within the next three years.

At present there are two vacancies which are officially open: viz. Math-teaching position and home economics. One other teacher has expressed her desire to discontinue teaching, but has given no official notice.

Fred Haile to Speak In Haskell Saturday

He will speak first to the voters at Weisner, then Haskell, Rule and Rochester. Mr. Haile has the largest number of followers in this section of the district than anywhere else in the district outside of his home county. It is predicted by those familiar with the territory that Mr. Haile will receive three-fourths of the votes from these eastern counties which will insure leading the ticket in the first primary.

J. E. Johnson Dies In Dallas Saturday

J. E. Johnson, 70, for many years a citizen of Spur, died at his home in Dallas at 2:45 o'clock Sunday afternoon. He had been suffering about two years with a malignant tumor which proved fatal. Preparations were made and the body was taken to Austin, his old home, where funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon.

Mr. Johnson was born September 26, 1864, and would have been 70 years of age next September. He spent his boyhood days in Austin and was married there. He moved to Belton in 1885 and became manager of the telephone exchange serving that city many years. For ten years he was representative of the Westinghouse Electric Company traveling over the states of Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma territory and Texas. During that period he was founder of a number of light and power plants in the territory. His headquarters were in Dallas during his work with the Westinghouse people.

He moved to Stamford in 1907 and built the light plant in that city. Later he built light plants in Anson and Hamlin. He sold these plants to the Utilities Company. In the fall of 1910 he came to Spur and purchased a location and the following spring built the plant of the old Spur Light & Power Company. In this work his partner, G. E. White was associated with him. This plant was sold to Lea & Stovall in 1922.

In addition to building the light plant here Mr. Johnson built a number of cotton gins. Also, he built the Red Ball Gin at Roaring Springs in 1925. He sold his last gin to Mr. Goodwin last year.

He was elected a member of the City Commission of Spur in April, 1927. He assumed the management of the water department, sinking a number of wells and was largely responsible for Spur's Million gallon per day water plant. It was largely through Mr. Johnson's influence that Spur's city light and power plant was built. His extended experience in that business enabled him to show other members of the Commission the value of this plant when erected. Everywhere Mr. Johnson has ever lived he made his influence felt in favor of public improvement and community progress.

He is survived by his wife and three children: Mrs. Mowat, of Dallas; Mrs. W. O. McCrary of Baileyboro, and a son, Herbert Johnson, of Philadelphia, Pa. The elder son passed away in 1924.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Foley of Abilene arrived in Spur Sunday to make their home here. Mr. Foley is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Foley of Valentine, former residents of Spur country and will be employed at the Safeway store.

LIGHTING AT THE WORLD FAIR

What is described at the greatest electrical installation ever made in a single building—a lighting, power and amplifying system which will require 100 miles of electric wiring—is now under construction at the Ford Exposition Building in Chicago, the largest individual exhibit at the 1934 World's Fair. This was the statement made today by Godfrey & Smart who have just been advised about this unusual electrical installation.

One of the most sensational lighting effects ever achieved will be a torch of light 200 feet broad at its base, which will spring from the parapet of the open court on the building, rising under proper atmospheric conditions to a height of one mile. The powerful beam will be developed through the use of 24 thirty-six inch projector searchlights, resulting in a 30,000,000-candlepower display.

Lighting plays an important part in the scheme of the new Ford building, which is being designed to demonstrate the scope of the Ford World Empire. The building itself will be 900 feet long by 215 feet wide, terminating at the south end in a circular court, 204 feet in diameter. A mammoth lighting scheme is being constructed in the outer edge of the court, designed to develop tints and shades never previously produced with electric lights. One lighting effect will show how pure white light can be produced when blue, green and red lights are all turned on at full intensity. Dimming equipment for the entire mobile lighting installation weighs twelve and one-half tons and requires 20 miles of wiring.

The entire Ford project, extending over eleven acres of the Fair Grounds along the Lake Michigan shoreline, will require a load of 6,000 kilowatts, or more than a third of the total electric capacity of the entire World's Fair in 1933. Engineers estimate that 4,000 kilowatts will be required for handling the power for the building and the 21 exhibitors allied with Ford who will present displays in the mammoth Ford Building.

An amplifying system, designed to carry word pictures of the many exhibits, as well as musical entertainment from various sections of the building and from the symphony shell which will be placed in a large landscaped court, will require 250 master loudspeakers, and probably 500 more auxiliary speakers. A new system of amplifiers at one amplifier will not hear a different program being carried from an amplifier a few feet from them. The amplification will be so designed that no one will be conscious that the music he hears is being amplified from loudspeakers.

With all the modern enterprise in electrical effects at the Ford Exposition Building, a contrasting display will be some of the earliest experimental models from which were developed the electrical devices of today. These models will be brought from Henry Ford's museum at Dearborn, where they were placed by Thomas Edison, life-long friend of Mr. Ford.

Ordinarily an eight month's job, the electrical work on the huge Ford project in Chicago is providing new problems for the electrical engineer in the matter of speed. The work is being rushed to completion by May 26, the opening date of the 1934 Fair. Engineers working on the project said that about 600 men would be given employment over the course of the installation.

TEXAS CENTENNIAL FEATURED "TEXAS FULL HOUSE" SPECIAL

Dale Miller, of Texas Weekly, in Address Over WOAI, Talks About Approaching Texas Celebration.

We in Texas should continue actively in furthering the progress of our State, especially during the months and years just ahead. We have a great project for the immediate future, through which our cooperative effort can be directed. I refer, of course, to the Texas Centennial. It was this project that represented the third mission which the Texas "Full House Special" tour was designed to fulfill. The plans for this great exposition were told the entire nation in a broadcast over the NBC network from New York a week ago. Mayor La Guardia welcomed the Texans at a luncheon and speakers on the air outlined the plans for this promising Centennial celebration.

It is this Texas Centennial, if properly supported by the people that will really usher in the great development of the future. All Texas needs is to attract the eyes of the nation in a tangible way, and certainly no other State could offer a more colorful and spectacular exhibition.

Texas, for example, represents the connecting civilization between the Anglo-Saxon and Latin races who contested through many centuries for domination of the New World. It was here—across this broad frontier—that France yielded to Spain, Spain to Mexico, Mexico to the free Republic of Texas, and Texas to its great sisterhood of States. The only State in the union to have a sovereign Republic, the only State to have served under six distinct flags, Texas has indeed a unique and fascinating history.

Centennial's Continental Importance

Another attraction that Texas can offer to the nation is its geographic location as the gateway to Mexico and Central America. Moving to swift completion now is the great Pan-American highway that will connect the two Americas. Mexico is becoming more and more the mecca of thousands of American tourists, and a comprehensive Texas Centennial celebration just two years from now will prove an added attraction to this great army of pleasure-bound Americans. Mexico, of course, will join with Texas in celebrating this Centennial. It may be surprising to many folks up North, but it is an actual fact, that although the war for Texas independence was one of the most sanguinary and bitterly fought struggles in history, no trace of enmity between the two countries exists today, and the relations between Texas and Mexico are friendly and sympathetic.

The main point in regard to the coming Texas Centennial trat was emphasized by the delegates on the Full House Special was that this celebration is not something in which Texans alone would be interested, but is an observance of a period that profoundly altered the destinies of our entire country. When Stephen F. Austin—who, by the way, was languishing in a dungeon in Mexico City, exactly one hundred years ago—first crossed the Sabine in 1821, from that date on, the story of Texas is the story of the march of American civilization westward to the sea. The Texas war for independence, and the Mexican war just a decade later, changed the entire map of the United States, and won for the American people a new and greater empire. It is because of these effects of the war for independence, and because the heroic patriots who won our freedom were adventurers from many of the older States of the Union, that the Texas Centennial in 1936 is an event of national and even international importance.

The Texas Press Full House Special, then can be said to have been an ambitious undertaking. In carrying a word of good cheer to our President, it served to keep vitality alive the hope and confidence in our nation's future. In carrying the story of Texas progress to the nation, it laid the foundation for future development. And in heralding our coming Texas Centennial, it brought to the American people the most inspiring message that can spring from the hearts of a patriotic people.

C. I. A. REGENTS APPROVE BOND SALE CONTRACTS

Approval of the bond sale contracts covering $220,000 loaned by PWA officials for the erection of a dormitory and hospital was made recently by the Board of Regents of Texas State College for Women (C. I. A.) Of the total sum $66,000 was an outright gift to the college.

5 Six-Footers... and not a cramp in a Carload!

FIVE big men can relax in utter comfort on the deep cushions of the Ford V-8. Wide seats keep elbows out of ribs. Ample leg room keeps legs from being cramped.

Why? Because Ford measures roominess in terms of usable body room. Not in terms of the distance between bumpers, which means nothing when you come to analyze it.

The Ford V-8's very engine construction gives you more body room, as the diagram explains. Cylinders are "doubled-up" saving space, not strung along in a line to waste it.

FORD V8 "THE CAR WITHOUT A PRICE CLASS"

See how much less space is occupied by the V-8 engine as compared with the ordinary "six" or "eight." Less space for the engine means more space for the passengers.

The Ford V-8 front seat is adjustable. It quickly and easily adapts itself to a six-foot-two husband or a five-foot-two wife. It ends forever that source of strife.

Before you buy any car at any price, drive the Ford V-8.

CHEVROLET FOUNDRY SETS NEW RECORD

The Chevrolet gray iron foundry, largest in America, has set a new all-time record by pouring in a single day 2,152 tons of molten metal in the making of castings for Chevrolet passenger cars and trucks, it was announced today.

During the last month, the average daily tonnage poured has been 1,787, and the hourly tonnage is being further stepped up to meet the increasing demands of car and truck production, which totaled over 110,000 in April.

Shipments of castings for cylinder blocks, platens, clutch and transmission housings, carburetors, and other foundry products, in March alone, totaled 32,752 tons. The castings are hipped from Sagniauw to be machined into finished units at the Chevrolet plant at Detroit, the motor plant at Flint, the transmission plant at Toledo, and the Bay City (Mich.) plant, where castings for carburetors and other small units are finished. The foundry is now working day and night, with two batteries of 12 cupolas in action. The heavy duty machinery, such as the conveyor lines on which the moulds progress from start to pouring and on through the cooling period, is installed in duplicate to provide for continuous pouring; this arrangement permits full production to be kept going constantly, since the maintenance and care of each set of machinery can be carried out while the duplicate equipment is in use.

LIVE INSIDE OUR MEANS

If one can't be a late Jay Gould, One need not be a self-made fool. And let our pride our purse control And in the end condemn our soul.

If one can't be a late Jay Gould We need not be the sire of mule And have the saying come to pass That all our young turned out to grass.

If one can't own a new Ford truck Why that's no sign others had hard luck Maybe if you'd rose by Honay's clock You'd have a lot of surplus stock.

If one can't fly right from the start Just drive one horse and two-wheeled cart. Our granddads played a right good part We're just as good as oh thou art.

If one can't buy a stetson hat High collared shirt and silk cravat And strut about like some tom cat Just let it stay right where it's at.

Our granddads wore a coonskin cap Tanned cat hide for strings and straps Was just as happy—more perhaps Than all we modern big-headed chaps.

Our granddads wore a home-spun gown And dyed it black or blue or brown 'Twas long enough when sitting down It did cause the men to frown.

They wore it morning, noon and eve And in the same their guests received It had a skirt and waist and sleeve And was not just a make believe.

If one can't buy and wear fine clothes High-heeled boots with boxed toes And bloom out like a summer rose You're just as good as him who does

So hoist your head and show your pluck

And buy a suit of good blue duck It's in the man and not mere style That after all is really worth while. When I take into consideration the situation of our country and the cause thereof, as I see it, the above suggested itself.

TREATMENT OF COTTON ROOT ROT EXPERIMENT

Claude Hope, graduate of Texas Technological College in 1929, now connected with the Bureau of Plant Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture in Sacaton, Arizona, prepared the following paper on cotton root rot for the Southwestern Division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science which met at Texas Tech recently.

An experiment was begun at the Sacaton Field Station in 1921 to determine the value of organic manures applied in deep furrows for controlling the cotton root fungus Phymatotrichum omnivorum (Shear) Duggar. Since that time each year corral manure has been applied to three plots and alfalfa hay to one. Five plots were used as controls. The effectiveness of the treatments was immediate and increased slightly as they were prolonged. Root rot killed 7,172 plants during the season of 1933 on the control plots and 424 plants on the manured plots.

It was thought that microbiological factors might explain the control of root rot by manure. The amount of carbon dioxide evolved from the surface of large cylindrical cores of soil removed intact from each manured and control plot was measured. The apparatus employed gave results believed to closely represent field conditions. Consistently the manured plots evolved carbon dioxide in greater amounts than did the control plants. In some comparisons of adjacent plots, 40 per cent more carbon dioxide was evolved from the manured soil. "Direct microscopic comparisons of the densities of microfloral populations in the alternate manured and unmanured plots indicated that the bacteria and actinomycetes were more abundant on the manured plots. Phymatotrichum omnivorum was the only fungus which appeared more abundant on the control plots. This study suggests that the dense populations of soil organisms engaged in breaking down the organic materials developed a soil condition that was temporarily unfavorable for the root rot fungus.

Now we ask you to

WHY do you suppose Chevrolet keeps repeating, in all of its advertising, "Drive it only 5 miles"? Here's the reason: Chevrolet engineers have tried out all the various makes of cars in today's low-price field. And they have proved to their complete satisfaction, the same things that hundreds of thousands of Chevrolet owners are proving in their daily driving: How much more smoothly a car travels with genuine, fully-enclosed Knee-Action. How much more comfortably it handles, with shock-proof steering. How much more restfully you ride, in a Fisher Body car. How much more safely you drive, with cable-controlled brakes. And how much finer performance and better economy are secured from an overhead-valve Six! In other words, Chevrolet engineers know for sure that the Chevrolet ride simply can't be matched by any other in the low-price field. They know it—thousands of owners know it—and now we want you to know it too, before you make your final choice of a low-priced car. CHEVROLET MOTOR COMPANY, DETROIT, MICH. ### Ford V-8 Takes First Six Places

Oakland, Calif., May 6.—Battling for a cash prize of $1,500, Lou Meyer, a leading contender for the 500-mile sweepstakes at Indianapolis Decoration Day, took first place in a Ford V-8 in the 250-mile stock car race at the Oakland Speedway this afternoon from a field of 20 entries.

Meyer's time for the race, which was supervised by the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association, was 3 hours, 13 minutes, 4.6 seconds, and his average speed for the course 77.68 miles per hour.

Sam Palmer, also driving a Ford V-8, took the second prize of $750, and also hung up the fastest time for a single mile lap of 81 miles per hour. Denny de Paolo, Ted Horn, Mel Kenealy and Al Gordon, all in Ford V-8's, took the next four places in the event. Eight of the 20 entries were Fords, the other 12 being of four other makes.

"I won the race," said Meyer at the finish, "because my Ford V-8 had tremendous pick up, power and speed and was able to keep going at high speed for the entire 250 miles. It's a great car to drive and I ought to know because I now have won two tough races in Ford V-8's this year."

Twelve thousand persons turned out for the race which was run on the Oakland banked-curve oval under a brilliant California sun. No accidents of any nature marred the event.

Throughout the grind, Meyer drove a steady cautious race. In the early laps the race appeared to be between Palmer and Gordon, but just after he had caught up with Palmer in the 108 lap Gordon lost time in the pits and Palmer streaked ahead.

Soon afterward Meyer, who had been trailing up to this point, took the lead and never was headed. From the halfway mark the race settled down into a three-cornered battle between Meyer, Palmer and Paolo, with only a few seconds separating the three during most of the latter half of the race. Nearing the finish all three contenders opened their throttles, averaging more than 80 miles an hour for the last six laps.

Throughout the race the leaders thrilled the crowds with the way in which they guided their cars through the traffic of slower cars on the track, the quick acceleration of the Ford V-8 giving them several precious seconds each time it was necessary for them to slow down.

Kenealy, fifth-place winner, set a refueling record when he appeared at the pits for his first refueling after 161 miles.

MEN OF BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL ENJOY BARBECUE

The men of the Senior-Adult departments of the Sunday School of the First Baptist Church enjoyed a barbecue at the Fair Park Monday afternoon. The occasion was in honor of the Sunday School Superintendent, M. D. Ivey, who has been very faithful and zealous in the interest of the Sunday School and who has been largely responsible for the increased growth in the school the past few months.

Cal Martin was chief cook and furnished one of the best barbecues enjoyed in West Texas. There was added pickles, coffee, slum an dother good things which make a barbecue complete. W. F. Godfrey took quite a part in furnishing this barbecue and others assisted in the work.

The different teachers of classes in the two departments were asked to say something in behalf of the Sunday School. W. R. King, teacher of the Baraca class, stated that he had enjoyed his work greatly and had received many blessings while teaching. Judge Campbell in the absence of the teacher of the Business Mens' Class, stated that he hoped to see the Sunday School grow and that the business men would do their best in this growth.

L. E. Berry, teacher of the Bible Class, stated that he could talk, but that as a teacher he got much pleasure out of reading the Bible and in trying to tell the members of his class the great truths found in the Book. David Sisto was pinch hitter for John A. Moore, and stated that it is difficult to tell the influence of a Sunday School.

Rev. Ewton, the pastor, in his remarks stated that the Sunday School was living beneath its privileges, and he hoped to see the attendance reach the 500 mark before many months.

M. D. Ivey, the Superintendent, then stated that a great Sunday School is built through great classes. If the various classes would increase their number that the Sunday School attendance would be increased accordingly and in no other manner.

Several expressed their belief that an occasional barbecue would help increase interest and probably attendance at Sunday School.

MRS. JOE W. GRACE DIES IN BAYLOR HOSPITAL, DALLAS

Mrs. Joe W. Grace, of Dallas, passed away at the Baylor Hospital at 7:40 o'clock last Saturday evening. She had been ill as a result of colitis for about three years, but from last September until March, she seemed to be greatly improved in health. March 11 her condition became worse and she was taken to Baylor Hospital where everything possible was done to save her life.

She was born in 1903. She and Mr. Grace were married in November, 1921. Two sons, John Robert 7, and Joe Bill, 4, came to live with them. Mr. Grace is a son of Mrs. J. H. Grace of Spur.

Besides her husband and two sons, Mrs. Grace is survived by her mother, Mrs. J. T. Baebel of Longview; two brothers, R. H. Floyd of Longview, and Junius Floyd of Flatonia.

Funeral services were held Monday morning from the Weiland Funeral Chapel, Dr. L. N. D. Wells, pastor of the East Dallas Christian Church, read the funeral rites. Active pall bearers were members of the firm of the Austin Bridge Company with whom Mr. Grace has been associated for several years.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sore and sunk and the world looks puny, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a quick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes these good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware of substitutes. Best drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

SCHOOL CLOSING

Most of the schools of Dickens County are closing Friday, June 1. Possibly there has never before been so much uniformity in their closing before. Every school in the county except one will have from an eight to a nine month's term. Eight schools are running nine months, and some of the others eight and one-half.

Teah almost ten thousand dollars of federal aid that our schools are getting coupled with State Aids and a good tax collection made possible these terms.

In many cases the schools were divided into a summer and a winter session thereby greatly increasing attendance. The lowest attendance in Dickens County this year was around seventy per cent. This was in two rather large districts that did not have transportation.

MADGE D. TWADDELL, County Supt. of Schools.

FERA PLANS FOR RELIEF OF RURAL FAMILIES

Hundreds of thousands of rural families in the Nation who are on relief rolls are without a cow, and that is one of the reasons, authorities say, that they are on relief. Although the Federal Emergency Relief Administration is moving to make cows available to these families, probably half of them are not now in position to receive a cow, because they have no pasture of tilable land on which to raise feed.

Yet cotton, wheat and tobacco growers have much more land lying idle than is necessary to supply land to these landless relief families. Many of these growers would allow relief to use the acres they have taken out of cash crops under Government contract. But acres rented to the Government may be used only by the landlord or tenant and none other.

In decisions announced recently by the FERA, a way out has been pointed, which will give these rented acres great usefulness in solving the problem of the landless relief family. The landlord or tenant has been growing food or feed crops on some other portion of his land, and not on the land rented to the government, which has been in cash crops. If he now shifts his food and feed crops to the acres rented to the Government, he will have room for a relief family or families on the non-rented acres.

The relief family that uses these non-rented acres from which the landlord or tenant has shifted crops will be allowed to grow only food or feed and may not sell that. The landlord may not charge them rent. These regulations are made to save the purpose of the acreage-control legislation, which is aimed to prevent the sale of crops from the rented acres.

GAS TAX SHOWS 20% INCREASE IN FULL YEAR

Austin, Texas, May 16.—The new Texas gasoline tax enforcement law rounded out its first full year of operation with a smashing 20% increase in revenue to the state during the first quarter of 1934, the Texas Good Roads Association announced today from quarterly figures of Comptroller George H. Sheppard.

Combined gasoline tax collections for the months of January, February and March exceeded the total for the same period last year by $1,269,872, the comptroller reported. This brought the full 12 months' recoveries to more than $4,250,000 above the previous period.

It was on March 21, 1933 that the potent new law was written onto the statute books as an emergency measure. Scores of remote refineries were humming day and night, turning out motor fuel of which the taxing authorities had no knowledge. Thousands of tank trucks were radiating out on the very highways whose income they were stealing, carrying bootleg, tax-free gasoline to every corner of Texas.

Every gallon of it which was sold deprived the common school fund of one cent, the bond-refunding fund of one cent and the highway fund of two cents.

A new law was proposed, making bootlegging a felony and giving the comptroller adequate funds for enforcement.

The Texas Good Roads Association and the Texas Gasoline Tax Committee, which backed it, voiced the belief that this lawless traffic was costing the taxpayers of at least $4,000,000 yearly. Actual recoveries have exceeded this figure. During the nine months it operated in 1933, the law "picked up" more than $3,000,000.

Look for Better Flavor With Electric Cooking

You wouldn't believe that Electric Cooking could make so much difference in flavor! Meats and vegetables cook to melting tenderness in their own juices—with the addition of practically no water. And in the electric oven the heat rapidly sears, roasts, and prevents excessive shrinkage. Baked foods are deliciously and uniformly browned. Grilled steak has the flavor of charcoal broiling!

Electric Cooking retains so much more of the nourishing elements of the food that you can actually buy less meat or vegetables and still have just as much to put upon the table!

Electric ranges cook food with a speed and economy which compare favorably with any other kind of fuel! Let us demonstrate our new ranges. Of course, there is no obligation—and attractive terms can be arranged.

This is the "Electrical Age." A Hotpoint range will be another step to your All-Electric Kitchen.

the people. I am promising no man anything as an individual. I have promised no jobs. I am promising the people of this district only fair representation and service. If it is left up to me to make appointments, I shall make appointments to serve to the best of the good of the people. If I am elected to the Halls of Congress, I will ever be mindful of the votes I bring home and in that way I will serve you, not because of votes, but because it will be my duty to serve you. After all is said and done, your congressman is the "go-between" of the people and the departments of the government.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, as to my stand on the cotton control. It is merely an experiment; that is likely to fail, just as it has always failed when the government has tried to force the people to produce something based on new theories and principles. It is a new era in the history of the country. Ladies and gentlemen, the trouble at this time, and has been the trouble since the close of the Civil War, is that we have been lawed to death. I am opposed to legislation until we get back on a more normal basis. I want to convince you that a business man is the man for the job. The government is in business, it has its finger in every business in the United States. Are you going to permit a business man to be your representative, or are you going to send another lawyer to Congress? Up to now we have had nothing but lawyers in Congress.

I advocate the preservation of the new home ownership plan, protection of land owners and cattle owners. I would like to see these plans materialize, as then the burden could be shared by these organizations and the government alike.

I am now past 33 years of age. I have traveled the islands of the South Sea, in Central America, in South America and the West Indies. I have some idea of the conditions of the people of these countries—the people to whom we must look if we extend our foreign trade. Any representative in Congress should know of these conditions in order to be able to serve the people of the Great United States correctly. I feel that I can better serve you after having visited these countries.

Again, I know the life of the farmer, the stockman and the small business man. The laws passed by the next Congress will mean much to these three classes of citizens. It will depend on what Congress does whether you get five cents for your cotton or ten cents, whether you sell cattle at three cents or six cents per pound, whether the small business is given an opportunity with the big corporation or not. Don't you think a man from the ranks of these will better serve your interests than the man from a big corporation?

Wall Street is no longer the arbiter of business. The nation's financial capitol has moved from the banks of Wall Street to the banks of the Potomac. Wall Street is still a power, of course—but its sway is passing. It is what goes on in Washington that will determine the up and down of business in the future, far more than any schemes of the "money changers" who used to sit in the seats of the mighty.

It is not the market that you need to watch today. It is the Capitol. It is not the froth of speech-making. It is the quiet planning that is going on behind the scenes. That is where history is being made. That is where the future success of your business, your farm markets and your investments is being determined. You can wait for the news reports of these plans, but it will be too late. You need a Congressman with a keen business acumen to attend to your affairs at the national capitol.

It is for your welfare and my welfare that the average man should come back into his own, and if an average man is elected to Congress it will be more to the advantage of the average man. I assure you that if I am elected, I will serve my people to the very best of my ability."

"FORGOTTEN MEN—"

blood on the history of mankind. In the motion picture "Forgotten Men" is shown a concise and accurate record of the World War from its very beginning to the signing of the armistice. The film was obtained from the archives of the 14 warring nations and is absolutely authentic.

There is no love in "Forgotten Men." It is not motivated by a concocted sex or love theme. But there is the passion of nations at war. There is the thrill of seeing the horror and brutality of a struggle that brought misery and tragedy not only to fighting millions but also to homes behind the trenches all over the world. There are no heaving "buzums" but bodies tossing in the throes of death. There are no searing stares on the part of a love-sick hero, but the searing flames of liquid fire—no inconsequential verbiage, but poison gas dissolving human lungs—piercing bayonets, not piercing eyes—fights to the death, not until the end of the scene after which hero and villain walk off arm in arm.

"Forgotten Men" is the World War. Eight World War veterans, representing seven nations, explain the foreign sequences in "Forgotten Men" which is a truthful record of the war, presenting the sides of all the warring nations. It begins with a scene showing the Kaiser and King George together just a few months before the outbreak of the war. Then comes Sarajevo and the assassination which resulted in a world aflame. The official order of mobilization by the Kaiser is seen next and then the war. The audience is taken to the front line trenches, to European waters, where huge ships are sunk by submarines and hundreds of men are drowned like rats and into the clouds where airplanes fight stirring duels.

Awful? Horrible? Of course! But it is history, and as a result may stand as a true indictment of war and all its misery, its brutality and its stupidity. 3 matinees each day for school students.

Built Like an Automobile You have never seen a mower like this It is Really New and Different

Come in and go over the entire mower. You'll agree that you have never seen anything like it.

McCormick-Deering No. 7 Enclosed-Gear Mower

WE are anxious to have all of our friends see the New McCormick-Deering No. 7 Enclosed-Gear Mower. We think it is one of the finest pieces of farm equipment we have ever sold!

Everybody who has seen it says they never had any idea that a mower could be built as this one is.

For example, the entire operating mechanism, including drive gears, differential, and countershafts, is assembled compactly in an oil-tight gear housing and runs in a bath of oil. There are four high-grade roller bearings. Operation is so smooth and noiseless that you can scarcely hear the light hum of the sickle!

Special oil seals at the ends of the main axle and fly-wheel shaft, and the oil-tight gear box prevent leakage and protect all working parts against the entrance of dirt and other abrasive materials. Floating action of cutter bar provides ample play without disturbing knife registration.

This compact nest of enclosed gears runs in a bath of oil—a full gallon. The cover, B, makes the gear case dust-proof and oil-tight. Clutch is thrown in and out by lever, A.
