Actions of Pedestrians Resulting in Deaths From Automobile Mishaps

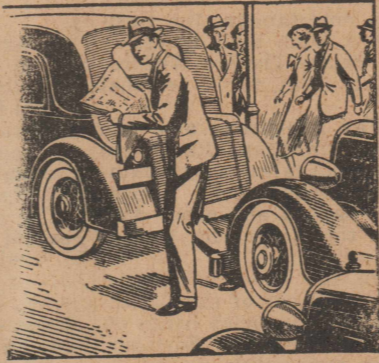

Crossing in middle of block and against signals—34%

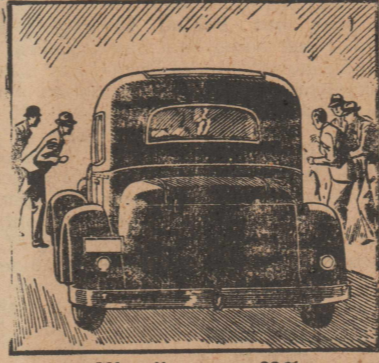

Children playing in street—11%

Walking along road—17%

Coming from behind car—9%

Miscellaneous—29%

Many pedestrians seem to regard their lives of less importance than the few seconds' time that may be saved by crossing streets without regard to hazardous conditions, although it is true there are many drivers who take advantage of pedestrians.

In 1934 nearly half of all the persons killed in automobile accidents were pedestrians, it is shown by the annual figures compiled by the Travelers Insurance Company. The total number of pedestrians killed was 15,950, while nearly 270,000 pedestrians were injured.

Five out of every eight pedestrians killed, it is shown, were involved in accidents while crossing streets in the middle of the block, crossing intersections against signals or diagonally, darting out into streets from behind parked cars, or while walking along rural highways.

It has been pointed out that pedestrians run across streets in the middle of the block or against signals because many feel that little if any more protection is given them at properly designated crosswalks or when they wait for signals. Many pedestrians know that it is dangerous to walk along rural highways, but since paths or walks have not been provided, the question often is raised, "what else can pedestrians do along rural highways?" Of course it is good advice to walk facing traffic.

Pedestrians may well pause to consider the fact that in 1934 the rate of death per pedestrian accident was 45 per cent worse crossing in the middle of the block than at intersections, and was 74 per cent worse crossing against signals than with signals. At the same time, however, the driver is warned to "be tolerant with the pedestrian, since the latter's faults are not crimes punishable by death."

OUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND, Director, Physical and Health Education, New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

Learning Health For A Purpose

The idea is not new, but it took an ingenious teacher to put it into effect.

The place was a small high school. To make up standard teams nearly every student had to participate. Their opponents, the larger schools, had the advantage in numbers and facilities. But the spirit was there, so they set out to make up for their shortcomings. And they did it by making a thorough study of healthful living.

The principal of that school told me that every pupil knew and observed the rules of nutrition. Smoking was taboo. Dances and parties were shortened, more study was done at school, and the radio was turned off at a stated hour when the importance of sleep was learned. Candy and sodas were definitely out. Colds received early care. In brief, it was just a case of common sense application, without overemphasis. Anyway, it worked.

Next week Dr. Ireland will discuss the large subject of playground accidents and how to avoid them.

NEW EXPERIMENTAL NURSERY STOCK

College Station—Seedling peaches, plums and other fruits that have unusual quality but that have not been named yet are being budded to nursery stock for experimental purposes by the Texas Extension Service and the Agricultural Experiment Station in cooperation, according to J. F. Rosborough, Extension horticulturist.

Anyone having unusual seedlings, or knowing of anyone who does, should get in touch with Rosborough giving the name and address of the owner. Shipping tags and other necessary material will be sent the owner so that the Extension Service and the Experiment Station may get buds for the test plots.

The budding work was started last year, when buds from almost 100 different seedlings were budded onto nursery stock. The trees were then transplanted to various experiment stations in the State for a five year test.

The object of the experiment is to make available to the people of the State the best of the new seedlings which otherwise would not be perpetuated, Rosborough said.

O. A. Lefevre, of Chandler community, was attending to business matters in our city Monday.

CLUB NEWS

COMMITTEE MAKES REPORT

"If the 125 foundation patterns made this year have been used only once they saved their owners more than $50.00," said Mrs. J. L. Hagins, Duck Creek, in commenting on the wardrobe report she gave in the Commissioners' Court Monday afternoon. "And one can't depend on a perfect fitting dress from a commercial pattern as from a good fitting foundation pattern," she added.

Mrs. F. B. Crockett, chairman of the county home demonstration council gave a summary report of the demonstrations being conducted this year in the women and girls' home demonstration clubs. Every six months the Education Committee of the County Council makes a report to the court.

REPORT OF WARDROBE DEMONSTRATION

Nine wardrobe demonstrators class I and six class II demonstrators completed their work with all records turned in. The average expenditure for the nine class I women was $22.29 per person and $200.64 for the group. Twenty cooperators kept a record of their clothing expenses dating from August 1, 1934; they spent $522.13 or an average of $26.10. The six class II demonstrators and two former demonstrators kept a record of the clothing for their families which totaled 25 people. For these 25 people $647.50 was spent for clothing or an average of $25.90 per person. But in reality the eight women spent $281.46 or $35.18 on an average on their own clothing. Reports from demonstrators and cooperators show that 30 new clothes closets were built and 23 others were improved. That makes a total of 94 closets built and 164 others improved during the wardrobe work the past three years. Fifty-nine sleeve ironing boards were built this year; 45 shoe racks made this year added to the 67 made last year make a total of 112 in the county.

A total of 125 foundation patterns were fitted this year. That makes a total of 502 foundation patterns made the past three years.

The club women exhibited 73 dresses and slips in the recent county clothing contest though the records from 97 women show that 79 dresses had been made. A total of 279 dresses have been exhibited by the women in the county contests the past four years.

COMMENTS FROM DEMONSTRATORS

"Knowing how to care for my clothes without fear of fading them, is almost indispensable knowledge that I gained from Mrs. Barnes demonstration when she was here in May," says Mrs. Roy Johnson, wardrobe demonstrator class I from the Espuela home demonstration club.

In selecting material for dresses, one should first determine how much you expect to pay for it, and then proceed to select the material most appropriate for the purpose. What is to be worn constantly must be of a material which will stand laundering and pressing. Color and design should be considered, and chosen according to the use intended and to the individual who is to wear them. It is not so much the money invested or even the material selected which accounts for the pretty dress but rather the color and design and the style in which the dress is made," Mrs. L. B. Jones of the Red Top club has learned as a result of her wardrobe work this year.

Mrs. Donnie Pace of the Friendship club is very proud of the improvements made in her clothes closet which are three hat racks and a shoe rack.

"I have improved my wardrobe by buying clothes that could be worn with the things I already had," says Mrs. D. G. Simmons, Duck Creek.

RELIGION IN OUR HOME

We should practice our religion seven days a week. We should take our children to Sunday School but not expect the Sunday School teacher to teach them all they should know about the Bible," were some of the points brought out in the round table discussion of religion in the home following a study of Job in the Duck Creek home demonstration club Wednesday afternoon when it met at the home of Mrs. H. A. McLaurin.

Mrs. J. L. Hagins was elected delegate from the club to the State Home Demonstration Association which meets during the annual Short Course Club members present were Mrs. D. G. Simmons, Mrs. O. L. Driggers, Mrs. J. L. Hagins, Mrs. C. R. Bennett, Mrs. E. E. Hagins, and Mrs. H. A. McLaurin. —Reporter.

TWIN WELLS CLUB MEETS

At the meeting of Twin Wells home demonstration club Friday, July 7, to which Mrs. Tom Gilmore was hostess, members gave hints on canning of fruits and vegetables.

The club made final plans regarding the quilt which will be given away at Campbell's Furniture Saturday, July 20 at 5 p. m.

Those present at this meeting were Mesdames Tol Merriman, Don Merriman, A. G. Dunwoody, Ella Hooper, Preston Hooper, L. B. McMeans, Sr., Misses Elizabeth Williams, Gladys McMeans, Minnie Fae McMeans and the hostess, Mrs. Guy Merriman was a visitor. —Reporter.

A HAPPY MEDIUM IN THE ADJUSTMENT PROGRAM

In the study of the AAA program, the Red Top club ladies learned it was necessary for the American people to choose wisely the path we would travel and all must work together or cooperate in thinking and choosing which path we are to follow, international or national, or the middle path between. The Red Top ladies decided more thought was required by all last Wednesday at the meeting with Mrs. Garrison, acting secretary.

A report of finances was called and members voted on to see who the club would send to short course, result was Mrs. Garrison, Mrs. McArthur and Miss Carrie Childress will go if enough money can be raised or they finished out the amount required, and club make it up later.

There were five members present, Mrs. R. F. Harrell, Mrs. J. C. Childress, Mrs. Jim McArthur, Miss Carrie Childress and hostess, Mrs. Otis Garrison. Mrs. Buran Jones sent in her vote. —Reporter.

MRS. DYCHES DIES AT LUBBOCK

Mrs. A. J. Dyches, 53, died in a Lubbock sanitarium about 7:20 o'clock Friday morning after several days of intense suffering from a thyroid gland infection. Funeral services were held at Rule Saturday at 11:00 o'clock, Rev. J. O. Haynes, Presiding Elder of Amarillo District of the Methodist Church, being in charge. He was assisted by Rev. Addison, pastor of the First Methodist Church at Amarillo. Both of these men had been pastor of the Methodist Church at Rule while Mrs. Dyches lived there. The deceased is survived by the husband, A. J. Dyches; three daughters: Mrs. B. F. Overstreet of Dickens, Mrs. O. L. Yarbrough of Rule and Mrs. Mann Young of Dickens; three sisters: Mrs. C. H. Myatt, Bob Myatt, Charlie Myatt, Archie Myatt and Joe Myatt of Nugent, and Frank Myatt of Abilene; and a step-mother, Mrs. W. H. Myatt, Sr., of Nugent.

Mrs. Dyches had been engaged in the cafe business at Benjamin for the past three years. She had many friends both in Dickens County and in King County as well as in Haskell and Knox Counties where she had lived formerly. A very large number of people at Rule attended the funeral services and several cars attended from Abilene where she had lived when just a girl.

Mrs. Dyches made a profession of the Christian religion when just a girl and became affiliated with the Methodist Church. She lived a devoted member and Christian life until her death.

MAY USE AAA CONTRACT LAND FOR SHELTER BELT SERVICE

College Station—Acres taken out of basic crop production under AAA contracts may be used by the Forest Service in its shelter belt program according to an agreement with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The shelter belt zone, which is about 100 miles wide, extends northward about 1,100 miles from Childress county in Texas through Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, South and North Dakota, to the Canadian border. The main purposes of the shelter belt project are to check the sweep of winds, to conserve soil moisture, help prevent soil erosion and offer shade and protection for human needs.

Two phases of the shelter belt project involve AAA cooperation. They are strip planting and farmstead planting.

For the duration of the AAA contracts, landowners would continue to receive AAA rental payments on acres taken over by the Forest Service, according to the agreement, the Forest Service would take over the land and make lease-option agreements to insure control of the land by the Forest Service after expiration of the crop adjustment contract, and to provide for purchase at a stipulated price at a time selected by the Government.

Should Texas Vote Old Age Pensions

By C. A. JAY Executive Vice President of Texas Industrial, Commercial, and Agricultural Conference

On the 24th day of August a special election will be held in Texas to vote on several constitutional amendments. The first amendment which will appear on the ballot will be the one to authorize the Legislature to pay a pension of $15 a month to all persons who have reached the age of 65 years, except those who are now inmates of State-supported institutions or who are habitual criminals.

The voters of Texas have never before been called upon to vote on a constitutional amendment more far-reaching in its effect. In determining whether or not this amendment should be written into the fundamental law of the State we should consider the present financial status of State and local government, the burdens which the taxpayers are now carrying, and the possible increase if this amendment is adopted.

For the biennium which closed August 31, 1935, the Legislature appropriated eight million dollars for the support of all State charitable institutions. If this amendment should be adopted, it would make possible the payment of more than $80,000,000 in pensions for those 65 years of age or older, ten times as much for this one item as the State is now spending for all of its various charities combined.

Until we begin to go into all the facts and assemble all the information, none of us realize the extent to which we have already gone in increasing public obligations through the process of taxation. Texans in the number of 213,000 are at present employed in government service. This includes those in Federal, State, and local government. If you assume that each government employe represents a family of three, then 639,000 persons in Texas live off of income derived from government salaries. Approximately 900,000 persons in Texas are now on the relief rolls. If the relief rolls be added to those in government service, the two total 1,539,000. This is the total number of people in Texas who derive their income from tax funds; this does not include, however, persons drawing compensation from the Government on account of war disabilities nor does it include the wards of the State in the various charitable institutions. Excluding these, 25.6 per cent of the total population of the State draw their means of support from taxes.

The outstanding debt of local units of government in Texas, excluding the State debt and our portion of the Federal debt, amounts in round numbers to 750 million dollars. According to statistics of the United States Treasury department the combined net income of individuals and corporations in Texas on which a Federal income tax was paid in 1932 totaled $320,391,000. For the same year 1932, the cost of operating State and local government in Texas, according to the Federal bureau of the census, was $311,104,000, only $9,000,000 less than the taxable incomes of all individuals and corporations in the State.

These facts should certainly serve as a warning to the citizens of Texas that within the field of public expenditures we are fast approaching the limit beyond which government cannot go in approaching the income of its citizens through a process of taxation. They show also that local units of government have already gone beyond conservative debt limits.

Just what possibilities for additional governmental expenditures on the part of the State would the adoption of this amendment open? According to the Federal census of 1930 there are 232,459 persons in Texas 65 years of age. If a pension of $15 per month is paid to each of these, the total actual cost to the State would exceed 40 million dollars per annum, and would exceed 80 million dollars per biennium.

There may be those who will say that if this amendment is adopted the Legislature would not use the power which the amendment would confer to tax and spend for the purpose of pensions; that the total which the Legislature would actually authorize spending would fall substantially under the amount which it would be possible for them to spend under the provisions of this amendment. The question of what the Legislature actually would spend is, of course, open to opinion and discussion. But of one thing we may be certain: If we adopt an amendment to the Constitution of this State authority to pay pensions to the aged, then we should at the same time write into the Constitution reasonable limitations on the power we have granted. It is one thing to provide for the payment of old age pensions to persons who have attained the age of 65 years who are indigent and whose families are not able to support them, but it is an entirely different proposition to write into the Constitution as proposed in this amendment blanket authority to the Legislature to spend 40 million dollars or more every year for this purpose. If we are to have an old age pension amendment in the Constitution, then let us have one that is possible to be carried out.

During the last few years various groups have brought forward and urged their plans for a sales tax, an income tax, or a natural resources tax. In each case most of the leaders and their followers have considered their tax scheme as a substitute for the present ad valorem tax. All of these proposals will very possibly be adopted if the old age pension amendment passes. But, if the State undertakes to pay old age pensions on as broad a basis as this amendment permits, not only is it probable we shall need all these new sources of taxation, but very likely the State will be forced to progressively increase its ad valorem taxes in the years to come.

There is, of course, a school of liberal thought this day and age who believe that all constitutional limitations should be very broad in their nature. But the fact is that the very object of a written constitution is to restrain. And the difference between an amendment which would permit payment only to those who are indigent and who have no other means of support and an amendment which would open the gate wide, runs into so many millions of dollars that the amendment in its present form would be in fact no limitation at all.

It is also imperative that serious thought be given to the increasing per cent of old age in our population. We now have in Texas 232,000 people 65 years old or more. But the research committee working for the Federal government (on the plan for social security legislation) has shown that whereas today 5.4 per cent of the national population is 65 years of age within thirty years 9.3 per cent of the population will fall within that classification.

There is possibly no other man in the United States who stands higher as a scientist or who has done more intensive study on the problem of pensions for the aged than Dr. Henry S. Pritchett, former president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and now president emeritus of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. In discussing the fundamentals of the problems involved in granting pensions to the aged, Dr. Pritchett said:

"Society cannot pay the price of endowing a man with a living after he has come to the age of retirement. There is not enough money coming from wages, salaries and interest on investment to insure men's lives or provide old age annuities in a lump sum. . . . The only method by which an old age annuity can be provided is through small weekly or monthly accumulations begun in early life and continued to the retiring age. The monthly payments to provide an accumulation for an old age annuity should come from joint payments of employer and employe.

"To carry out this program the necessary machinery must be set up, either by the Government or by the interested groups, to handle the funds and carry on the business of paying the annuities as they fall due. Where governments cooperate they usually furnish the necessary supervision and pay the overhead expense of conducting the business. This is all the expense a government should assume.

"There is no other way than this by which human society can pay for old age pensions. Any government that takes on an old age pension load at its own cost will land either in repudiation or bankruptcy.

"The world is filled today with discontent. The causes are partly political and governmental, partly emotional. Those who have proposed new devices for dealing with these conditions that contravene the teachings of human experience will do well to take to heart the advice posted at one of the entrances to the Santa Barbara National Forest at the beginning of the dry season. It reads: 'This is God's country. Don't set it on fire and make it look like hell.'

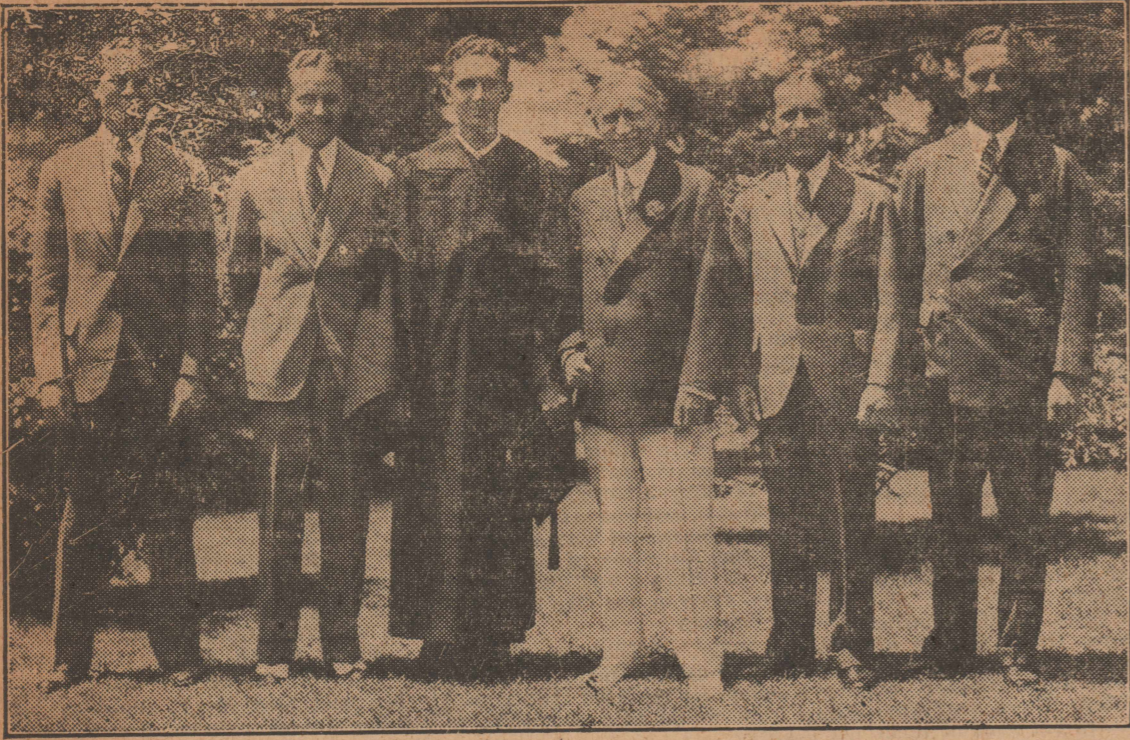

Without doubt, those who believe that there is merit in the idea of providing old age pensions limited to the indigent whose families are unable to care for them should consider the matter seriously before they vote for the proposed constitutional amendment. If we are to provide for the aged through a system of state pensions, then let us do it through a constitutional amendment which is so clear and definite in its restrictions that the question would be taken out of the field of practical politics in order that such merit as this type of proposition may have will not be destroyed by ill-advised legislation which might seek to accomplish the utterly impossible. —C. A. JAY.

Listen, my children, the whole I croon
The fate that's befallen the lovely prune.
Once hated, rejected, consumed with detaste.
The prune is now greeted with relish and haste.
And children now clamor, now beg,
now implore,
"Oh, please, let us have just a little bit more!"

MARSHMALLOWS and dried prunes are two of the best confections in the world for children, so when a dessert contains both prunes and marshmallows it should be a children's specialty. Prune marlow comes up to these specifications, and the reason marshmallow ice cream has a special name of its own—marlow. It is so completely unlike ordinary ice creams made in a mechanical refrigerator that to call it just "ice cream" would hardly do it justice.

Besides all its other advantages, Prune marlow is so easy to make that if your child is a would-be cook she might be allowed to make it herself as a special treat. There is no time like childhood to learn the delight of making with one's own hands, for company, a dish which is sure to be exclaimed over and stowed away with the most flattering alacrity.

PRUNE MARLOW

- 1/2 cup prune pulp
- 1/2 cup prune juice
- 20 marshmallows
- 1 teas. lemon juice
- 1/2 pint whipping cream

First of all, rub the cooked dried prunes through a puree sieve. (The dried prunes should be prepared by washing them carefully the night before they are to be used; soaking them overnight in cold water to tender in the same water, without sweetening.) Put the prune juice and marshmallows together in the top of a double boiler, and steam them over boiling water until the marshmallows are entirely melted. Add the prune pulp and lemon juice, and set aside to cool, until slightly stiffened and quite cold. Then whip the cream until stiff and fold in carefully to the marshmallow-prune mixture. Pour into containers and freeze without stirring either in an ice cream freezer or mechanical refrigerator. An ordinary mold may also be used, with an ice-salt pack. Be sure the mold is tightly covered and sealed with adhesive tape.

being frozen, it is highly acceptable to any child.

The prunes are present in the ice cream to give it flavor and to bring up its food value by leaps and bounds, so rich are they in iron and vitamin B. The marshmallows are there to make it smoothly smooth and creamy, because that is the effect marshmallows have on ice cream; and that is which, by October 1, 1934, had brought first rental payments of $3,726,395.44 to producers.

The average local cost of handling this work in Texas was 1.2 cents per bushel. For the United States as a whole the cost was 1.42 cents.

Parker county with a cost of 4.2 cents per bushel, Ellis with 4.3 cents, Fannin with 4.6 cents, and Hockley with 5 cents, are the highest for the State.

Sherman is lowest with a .7 cents cost per bushel. Next are Bell, Briscoe, Jack, Knox, and Ochiltree counties with costs of .8 cents per bushel.

Close to them are Grayson, Hemphill, Lipscomb, Roberts and Runnels counties with a .9 cents.

Texas has handled AAA programs in which the aggregate payments amounted to about one-seventh of the total for the United States.

Texas expenses in connection with this amounted to only one-thirteenth of the total expense for the United States.

"Cut out the old dewberry and blackberry vines now," says J. F. Rosborough, Extension horticulturist. "Leave three or four of the new canes and when they get about three feet or a little better, top them," he says. "All this makes for increased production next year. Also, picking will be easier."

Tomatoes are suckering too much, due to recent rains, Rosborough states. The thing to do is to pinch back all except three or four suckers, and when these have set a cluster of fruit pinch their tops off so all the strength of the plant will go into development of quality tomatoes.

Old railroad ties for posts with two strands of wire run between two and four feet above the ground doubled the yield of berry vines owned by Manco Morrow in Marion county. The berries were trained to grow on the wires. Morris has been able to sell all that he grew and is increasing his patch to an acre.

If the rows of her garden were laid end to end and 334 more feet were planted, Hilda Thielman, second year club member of the Lamar Girls' Home Demonstration Club in Fort Bend county, would have to hoe one mile to garden. She has reported 366 feet of dewberries, 488 feet of tomatoes, 1026 feet of leafy vegetables, 2478 feet of other vegetables, and 488 feet of peanuts, making a total of 4846 feet. To date she has gathered 44 pounds of fresh vegetables and 21 gallons of berries for use at home.

WHEAT FOR RELIEF; GROUND BY TEXAS MILLS

Approximately half a million bushels of wheat from the Pacific Northwest will be converted into flour by Texas millers, according to an agreement between the millers and C. Z. Crain, head of the commodities distribution department of the Texas Relief Commission, acting as agent for the Federal Surplus Relief Corporation.

Some 30 milling houses in Texas will grind the wheat on a toll basis, receiving all the offal, irrespective of present or future prices, as payment for the work. Milled flour will be delivered to the Texas Relief Commission in 12-pound paper bags and 24-pound cotton sacks for distribution to relief families in the state.

Crain said some wheat already has been bought and that first shipments were expected to be received in Texas soon.

State Wide 4-H Bed Room Improvement Contest To Close

College Station—Throughout the State in Texas farm homes, 682 4-H club girls are sleeping in light, airy, recently improved bedrooms as the fourth year of the Girls' Bedroom Improvement Contest draws to a close.

These girl bedroom demonstrators represent 83 counties. Local judges picked county winners, who were then judged according to Extension districts. Mrs. Bernice Clayton, Extension specialist in home improvement, says that there is a noticeable improvement in farm home because of the influence of the bedroom demonstrations.

In 1932, the first year of the contest, there were 662 bedroom demonstrators entered representing 52 counties, plus 8,895 4-H club girl bedroom cooperators. In 1933, there were 611 bedroom demonstrators from 72 counties with 11,567 cooperators. The following year, 625 girls entered the contest representing 75 counties. This year the numbers continued to increase slightly with 682 girls from 83 counties deciding to improve their rooms. More than 11,000 4-H club girls cooperated in making a few changes in their bedrooms, such as improving their beds, building larger clothes closets, making dressing tables, adding curtains, linens and pictures.

"The greatest changes are seen in more comfortable beds and more adequate closets," Mrs. Clayton said.

Three State winners will be chosen from the nine district winners. Places will be announced the night of July 29 during the Farmers' Short Course at A. and M. College at a banquet honoring all bedroom demonstrators.

Government By Mail

Long, Coughlin, and Townsend Fill Mail-Boxes and Ballot-Boxes

SENATOR HUEY P. LONG, of Louisiana, with his "share-the-wealth" program; Father Charles E. Coughlin, of Royal Oak, Michigan, with his National Union for Social Justice; and Dr. Frank E. Townsend, of Long Beach, California, with his old-age pension plan, account for much of the mail which travels over the country each day, reports The Literary Digest.

Most Senators occupy three rooms in the Senate Office Building. But Huey Long has five rooms. When his staff overflowed the normal Senatorial quarters, Senator Long moved some of his clerks into the corridor. As a result the Government allotted him, without extra charge, two more rooms.

Long Expands

At the peak, in April, Senator Long employed twenty-two clerks on the day-shift, and fourteen at night. The mail averages 60,000 letters a week.

Doctor Townsend had a paid force of fifty in the main office at Long Beach last winter. One thousand two hundred dollars a day was spent on postage-stamps. Father Coughlin hires 217 clerks.

POSTPONE LICENSE HEARING

College Station—A scheduled series of public hearings on a proposal to license dealers in wool and mohair has been postponed, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration has announced. As Texas ranks first as a wool producing state a meeting was planned for San Angelo on July 29 and 30.

The movement for a license which concerned only fair trade practices and charges had been initiated by growers of wool and mohair. Action on the proposal has been deferred until final Congressional action on proposed amendments to the Agricultural Adjustment Act establishes the status of wool and mohair under the Act.

Dudley South In Charge Of Texas Industrial Survey

Preliminary work of the Texas Industrial Survey got underway this week after conferences between Governor James V. Allred, Dudley P. South, Director of the Survey, and members of the executive committee. Endorsement of the survey by the Texas State Planning Board, by unanimous vote, was given Monday after Hull Youngblood, Vice-Chairman of the Planning Board and member of the executive committee of the survey, gave an analysis of the purposes and methods to be employed.

W. M. Basse, President of the Fort Worth National Bank and Chairman of the State Planning Board, concurred with Mr. Youngblood in recommending the endorsement which was given unanimous approval on Monday by Wilbur C. Hawk, publisher of the Amarillo Globe-News. Mr. South explained to the Planning Board that the purpose of the survey is to promote permanent re-employment of idle Texans.

With the endorsement of the Planning Board and Governor Allred, request is being made for the use of about one thousand Texans who are now on relief rolls in gathering data for the survey. In the event Federal funds are obtained, it is planned to use the services of these persons and at the same time to provide training for them in clerical and statistical work. In discussing the survey before the Planning Board, Governor Allred stressed that the survey will devote its first efforts toward expanding private employment.

"This will be a forward step in keeping with the Democratic state platform," the Governor said, "which advocated an accurate survey of the state's industrial possibilities and markets for industrial products. It follows, of course, that should industrial development result from the information to be gathered and disseminated by the survey that more employment would be provided.

"The survey is not to be considered as a cure-all for the ills of Texas industry. Rather it is to be an efficient means by which we may brush aside the cobwebs hiding the idle machinery, uncover markets and the tremendous possibilities latent in our natural resources, and thus focus the attention of ourselves and the nation upon the industrial opportunities of Texas.

"Let us become industrially-minded and if, through this survey, we may make the country industrially conscious of Texas while gainfully employing many Texans now on direct relief, then the survey will have achieved its purpose."

Dudley P. South of Houston, who is in charge of the survey, comes from a distinguished line of educators and has crowded into his 37 years an amazing amount of practical experience in operating large and varied enterprises. He holds a number of important positions—such as managing the Gulf Gypsum Company, Trans-Gulf Lines, Inc., and many others. The precept, "if you've got a job to do, give it to a busy man," finds him a living example.

He thinks and talks rapidly, advancing enough facts within an hour's interview to set the interviewer's head spinning. He radiates activity and energy; yet his feet are on the ground and he has developed his own enterprises so successfully as to warrant a practical approach to business problems.

Mr. South told the Planning Board that the survey would seek to aid enterprises which are dormant because of limited contacts or lack of industrial research.

He was born in Austin. His grandfather, W. S. South, came to Texas from Kentucky in 1840 and taught school for several years in Bandera County. His father, W. H. South, was a member of the Texas A. & M. College faculty and organized and coached the first A. & M. football team in 1896. H. W. South now is head of the Spanish department at Sam Houston High School and bursar of the University of Houston.

Dudley South left Rice Institute during the war and enlisted voluntarily in the Signal Corps. He went overseas as a private and came back with the rank of first lieutenant, Signal Corps. Returning to Rice, he obtained his B. A. degree, then joined the Texas Company doing work in geophysics research. A year later, he was employed by important financial interests in New York to make industrial surveys and thus began a successful career as an industrial engineer.

He is a member of the Houston Engineers Club, the Houston Club, St. Paul's Methodist Church, and Theta Tau engineering fraternity. He is married and has two children.

Mrs. James McCormick, of Jayton, was here the last of the week to be with her father, G. Brown, who has been confined to his room on account of illness.

Mrs. Dona Locke, of Miami, was here the last of the week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Ellis of the 24-Ranch community. She had attended the Cowboy Reunion and stopped here for a short visit.

Judge A. J. Hagins, of Jayton, was in our city Saturday greeting old friends. Judge Hagins once represented this district in the State Legislature.

MRS. COOPER PASSED AWAY WEDNESDAY

Mrs. M. C. Cooper, 69, died at her home at the corner of Third Street and Miller Avenue about 5:30 Wednesday afternoon of last week. She had been confined to her bed about ten days as a result of a paralytic stroke on the left side of the body. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at three o'clock at the First Methodist Church, Rev. E. L. Yeates, the pastor, reading the funeral rites. Interment followed in Spur cemetery, Bill Kinney acting as funeral director.

Mrs. Cooper was born in the state of Mississippi December 30, 1865, and would have been 70 years of age next December. She came to Texas in the early days and has lived at Spur the past 16 years. She became converted many years ago and became affiliated with the Methodist Church.

She is survived by eight children, three daughters and five sons. Mrs. Jessie Toombs of Houston, Mrs. Norta Nutts of San Angelo, Mrs. Ada Atkins of Los Angeles, Calif., Charlie Cooper of Sonora, Oscar Cooper of Wink, Ocho Cooper of Crane, Virgil Cooper of Lawn, Billie Cooper of Santa Fe, N. Mex. There are some brothers and sisters but none of them were able to be present. Mr. Cooper, who is ill at Sonora, was not able to attend the funeral services.

Happy In Refrigerator

In their icy quarters with private swimming pool, a dozen Antarctic penguins are ready to give a chilly greeting to President Roosevelt as Admiral Byrd and his ship come home.

PREENING their feathers and splashing merrily in their icy private swimming pool, more than a dozen Antarctic penguins last week prepared to receive a greeting from President Roosevelt as Admiral Byrd's supply ship steamed up the Potomac to Washington.

Their greeting was necessarily a chilly one for their room and bath aboard the vessel were specially refrigerated to keep them comfortably cold during the long voyage from Little America.

The birds are Imperial penguins, and are half as tall as a man. They are the first of the Antarctic breed ever brought back alive to the United States. So cold are the temperatures in which they thrive that the ship's regular refrigerator room could not be depended upon to keep them healthfully chilly.

Even in the cold of their special air conditioned room with its salt water swimming pool, more than half the birds died. Ironically, they were stricken with pneumonia, autopsies revealed, indicating that at least they were protected from the heat while the ship was in the tropics.

Quarters for the penguins were installed aboard the ship in New Zealand before it started for Little America last January to pick up the expedition. A tank was built in the floor and the most efficient type of refrigerating equipment installed to keep both the air and salt water at low temperatures. To keep out heat, particularly in the tropics, walls, ceiling and floor were insulated with dry-zero, a high efficiency material developed for use in household electric refrigerators. Oddly enough, this material, depended upon to keep the penguins cold and alive, was also used to keep Admiral Byrd warm and alive in the hut he occupied during his solitary antarctic vigil last year. It was also used in all the houses at Little America.

Whether the penguins must be kept permanently under refrigeration remains to be discovered. Other varieties live in the tropics. In fact, the vessel stopped at the Gallapagos and picked up a collection of the smaller penguins that thrive there. It is this type that are now seen at zoos and aquariums.
