No Need To Miss Voting

If you are going visiting, taking a vacation, going fishing or expecting to be away at market there is no need for any one to miss the opportunity of casting your ballot for the July Primary. The period of absentee voting began last Sunday and will extend until Tuesday, July 19, during which time any qualified voter in Texas who expects to be away from home on election day may cast an absentee ballot. See the County Clerk of your county and get a ballot, make out your ticket and get the County Clerk or any Notary Public to certify to it for you, and deposit the ballot with the County Clerk who will turn it over to the election judge of your voting precinct at the proper time.

You must give your age, time of residence in the state, and in the county, and name your voting precinct. When you have done that, scratch off the names of the candidates you do not want to vote for, let the County Clerk have your ballot and go on fishing and stay over until after election day if you want to. You cannot cast an absentee vote after Tuesday, July 19, in the first Primary.

Rotary Club Meets Today

The Rotary Club at Spur holds their regular meeting at the Spur Inn at twelve o'clock, noon, today. New officers were installed at the last meeting and a new president will preside today. The program will consist of these officers being able to give the best excuse possible why they were elected.

The membership is asked to be present and visiting Rotarians always have a welcome at Spur Club. Come and hear the new officers tell what they feel they should do during the next year.

Pension Revision Gains Supporters

Thomas E. Boorde, president of the General Welfare Federation of America, said today that 102 members of the House had agreed to support revised legislation for old age pensions over 60 years of age.

The new bill contains amendments offered by Representative Boileau of Wisconsin, calling for a gross income tax of 2 per cent to finance the pensions, Boorde said. He estimated the pensions would average $50 monthly.

EVANGELIST

Rev. George Dale, Evangelist, who will do the preaching for the meeting starting at the First Baptist Church Sunday, July 10.

To The Voters Of Precinct Two Dickens County

Dear friends: Although my health is much improved and I am feeling better than I have for several months, it is going to be impossible for me to see each and every voter of this precinct personally and I am, therefore, taking this opportunity of soliciting your vote for commissioner of Precinct Two.

When I became your commissioner nearly ten years ago, I had little to work with, having only five fresnos and no machinery. Now, I have in this precinct a maintainer and a tractor and grader. The tractor and grader are paid for and only a little is due on the maintainer. I have tried to maintain your roads when they needed it, at the same time I tried to be as saving with your money as I could. Your taxes have been materially reduced since I have first become your commissioner and during the past few months all our road work has been on a cash basis.

I believe it will be possible, if economy is urged, to keep this precinct on a cash basis in the future. This I will attempt to do, because Dickens County can always get its dollar's worth better by paying cash instead of issuing warrants as we used to do.

I hope each of you will give me your careful consideration when you go to vote on July 23rd. If you think I have made you a good commissioner and a good hand, I'll appreciate your vote.

Thanking you for all favors bestowed on me in the past and soliciting your vote in the coming election, I am,

Faithfully yours,
E. N. (Nuge) Johnson
Candidate for Commissioner, Pre. 2.

Bond Jones, Et Al, No. 1 Spudded In Last Thursday; Supper Was Served To Visitors

Baptists To Start Meeting Sunday

The members of the First Baptist Church will begin their annual meeting with the services next Sunday morning. Rev. George Dale, of Tahoka, has been secured to do the preaching in the meeting and Clyde Hamilton, of Plainview, will be in charge of the song services. The evangelist and singer will not arrive until in time for the services Monday evening. The pastor and local people will carry on the services Sunday.

Services will be held at ten o'clock each morning and the song services will begin about eight o'clock each evening. The church extends an invitation to all Christian people of the community to join them in this revival campaign. Those who have never made any profession of religion are requested to attend the services. In speaking of the meeting the pastor of the church said, "This meeting is for those who have never recognized Christ as their personal Savior. We want those who have never made a profession to be with us in this meeting."

Hairgrove Hatchery To Have New Building

The old building which has housed the Hairgrove Hatchery for several years, has been wrecked this week and moved off the lot to make room for a new building. The business of Hairgrove's Hatchery has grown until new and larger accommodations had to be arranged for.

The new building is to be 40 feet by 100 feet and will be an oval shape. The outside walls will be of metal and the inside will be ceiled with sheet-rock as far as is needed.

The buildings will contain an apartment for the large incubators, a brooder, and a regular feed store. In addition there will be a large warehouse at the rear for the purpose of storing feed.

The construction work on the building started yesterday and is under the supervision of Bill Eubanks. It will require several days to complete the work even with several men working on the job.

For the present all feeds and other merchandise for the Hairgroves Hatchery is being stored at the Crouch Mill where people may secure the merchandise they want.

Former Dickens County Girl Wins Honors

Lucy Laverne Bural, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Bural, was first place winner in the timely topics contest of the Future Homemakers in Love County held at Marietta, Oklahoma, recently. Lucy Laverne gets a trip to the Oklahoma A & M College at Stillwater where she will be from August 8 until August 13 as a student in Homemaking work.

She was born, and has spent most of her life in the Duck Creek community until a year or two ago when her parents moved to Wilson, Oklahoma. She attended the schools at Girard and had a very fine record. She is a granddaughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. B. Bennett of Spur.

Mr. and Mrs. Truett Hutto and Mrs. G. W. Hutto, left Wednesday for Elk City, Oklahoma, where they will visit for several days. Mr. and Mrs. Truett Hutto will also vacation in different parts of Oklahoma and New Mexico, before returning to Spur.

Cecil Addy and Miss Ruth Meeks spent the week end in Sulphur Springs. Miss Meeks visited with her homefolks and Mr. Addy visited his father, who has been ill for several months suffering from a stroke of paralysis.

A great number of Dickens County citizens were present Thursday afternoon when the Bond Jones, et al, No. 1, Ford, was spudded in. The spudding of this well is thought to be another great step toward the development in Dickens County, and everybody is in accord that the well will be a producer.

The well is being drilled by the Saulsbury Oil Corporation with headquarters at Amarillo. Mr. Jones and Mr. Lawrence, the promoters, will be on the job consistently to see that everything goes all right. Both of them are experienced oil men, Mr. Jones having spent several years with the Phillips Petroleum Company.

The rig being used is first class. There is a 96-foot steel derrick, a 97-horse power oil pull engine, and other equipment to correspond. They have started for a 5,000-foot test and they say they are going down or get the golden liquid. They set a 22-inch conductor and expect to go on with a 20-inch bit which will give them a hole large enough to go below 5,000 feet should it be necessary.

Many of the citizens of Dickens prepared a nice supper which was ready just before the well was spudded. Families joining in this work were: D. J. Harkey and family, Jim Baker and family, Cecil Meadow and family, O. C. Thompson and family, Ben Overstreet and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Arrington, Frank Speer and family, Paul Stanford, Sam Koonsman and Mrs. Leo Petty. A number of families of the Afton community joined those of Dickens in preparing the supper. The names of those families could not be secured, but the good people of Afton showed fine spirit in joining with Dickens in preparing the first supper for the drillers who spudded in the well.

After the supper had been served the drillers went back to the rig, hitched up the line, hooked on the crowfoot and the drill started into action. Just enough was spudded to enable the conductor to be set as it was nearly eight o'clock in the evening, and all the men had worked overtime in order to get spudded in.

Young Business Men's Club Plans Entertainment

The Spur Young Business Men's Club held a meeting Tuesday night to hear a report of the Committee on Business Betterment Conditions. The report was made in proper order to the extent that Spur should have at least one day each month as a special business day. The recommendation was that First Monday in August should be the starting point.

It was decided that a day of entertainment would be the proper thing. Therefore, it was decided that the children of the community should have an opportunity to make some money and bicycle races is to be part of the program. Just what the program is to be about the bicycle races is yet to be worked out by the committee and further reports will be given out.

Other types of diversion will be outlined for the day. There is recommended that a treasure hunt be held during the day. Just what the plans of that will be is yet to be determined. But it is to be very amusing and all people are supposed to have a chance to take part in it.

The Young Men's Business Club is trying to work out some measures whereby they can be of more service to the community. The Day of Entertainment will give people an opportunity to get together and talk over old time, give ideas about the government, tell how they won their man in the first primary, how much milk their best milk cow is giving and many other things.

People are invited to get ready for Monday, August 1, for a good time in Spur. Bring all the children and enjoy the day.

SINGER

Clyde Hamilton, Singer, who will be in charge of the song services for the meeting at the First Baptist Church starting July 10.

Justice Court Moves To New Location

Justice of the Peace G. B. Jopling has moved his office from the second floor of the Cowan building to the Ritter building first door east of the Postoffice. Justice Jopling stated that on account of his health that he could not go up stairs and had to move to a ground floor office. He is arranging his office this week and soon will have everything in proper condition for the next regular term of court.

The Justice Court has more space and probably will have some conveniences in regard to room. However, the main thing is to make conditions more in accord with the health of Judge Jopling who has just returned home from the sanitarium after a sickness of about two months. Constable Shepherd will be found most of the time at the office of the Justice of the Peace when he is not on duty in the precinct somewhere.

Final Plans Announced For Old Settlers Picnic

The people of Dickens have completed final arrangements for the Old Settlers picnic and annual get-together, July 21-22. Each division of entertainment will have a supervisor and every one in charge will be held responsible for his work.

The following have charge of the various departments:

M. Dobbs manager of the soft ball tournament. Games both days.

Cecil Meadows manager for the Old Timers Dance. Both days.

Judge Formby will be in charge of the program and amateur nights. Programs both nights.

Cecil Stanford will be in charge of the parade and the bicycle races.

Charlie Hawley has the responsibility of seeing that there is plenty of ice and water.

Milt Good will be in charge of the goat roping contests.

Arrangements are being made for a new and larger floor for the Old Timers Dance. This is one feature that the early settlers enjoyed.

The committee stated this week that people may attend the annual picnic and be assured there will be plenty of entertainment. The Dudley Shows have been secured and there will be plenty of rides for everybody who enjoy them.

Copy Of July Ballot Printed This Week

A copy of the ballot for the First Primary is to be found in this issue of The Times. We are publishing this ballot to give people an opportunity to search out about the people they expect to vote for in the First Primary. Most everybody knows about the county and precinct candidates, but there are far more in the State and District offices that we should learn about. Hence, any one may write to some friends, if in doubt about a candidate, and get a very fair opinion relative to their qualifications.

Honesty and ability should be the main things when voting for a candidate for office. If we elect people of good records in all probability our state government will be run on an honest and economical basis. If we elect some one just because they are popular we may get the worst of the bargain, and the people have to pay for all the mistakes in government.

New York State Out Of Red First Time In 7 Years

Jack McClung spent the Fourth with his relatives in Sylvester.

Broad-shouldered and handsome, Charles Starrett popular Columbia western star, was never handed a tale fraught with so much blood-stirring action as his present film, "Call of the Rockies," which will be shown at the Palace Theatre Saturday. Roaring adventure is coupled with soft, beautiful range songs to make the new film one which will please all who see it. When the old west was young, hard-riding, straight shooting cowboys battled it out with gun-toting rustlers and bandits and the latest Charles Starrett starring film rekindles the excitement and spirit of those pioneer days.

HOME TOWN

(By M. L. Hart, Agent Burlington Railroad, Provo, S. Dak.)

Sadly, the little teacher locked up the books, carefully put out the fire and gave a last look about the neat little schoolroom. Today was the last day of school, though it was but mid-February. On her desk lay a letter from the chairman of the school board which said: "Due to the abandonment of the Northern and Southwest Railroad, and the resultant decrease in tax revenue, this district will be unable to continue. Effective at once, you will notify your pupils that the term is ended. We are studying plans for continuance next year but the solution is not yet in sight."

Ten little children, still too young to understand what it was all about, bade their teacher good-bye, their education sacrificed to the short sightedness of their elders. The teacher debbed her eyes as she watched them trudge toward home.

"It won't make much difference," commented the village postmaster, as he read the official notice that hereafter, all mails would be carried by motor stage, following abandonment of the Northern and Southwest Railroad. And so it proved, for months on end. Busses and trucks roared through the valley, business went on as usual, the mail arrived with clocklike regularity. In a year, folks almost forgot the time when screaming whistle and clanging bell signified "mail time."

"No mail today," the postmaster grumbled, "Road too bad." It happened again and again. On days when the stage did get through, it was hours late. All through the spring rains, busses and trucks plowed and slid, drivers cursing. People complained, blamed county officials, wondered why somebody didn't "do something." Finally, someone wrote the inevitable letter to the commissioner. His reply, arriving on a day-late mail stage, cheered them but little: "Due to the sharp decrease in tax revenues last year when the railroad was abandoned, our highway budget, along with all other activities, had to be pared to the limit. There is no money for major road repairs this year. We have applied for Federal assistance, but so far have been unable to meet the requirements."

"This is my last trip," announced the trucker as he set a box of groceries in the doorway of the village store. "These roads have ruined two trucks for me already, and I can't make no money that way."

"What am I going to do?" queried the storekeeper, hopelessly. "Dunno, that ain't none of my worries," replied the driver as he mounted his cab, and as his motor roared, called back: "Get yourself a truck, I guess," and he laughed at the look on the old fellow's face.

For several minutes, the grocer stood in the open door, gazing reflectively at the grass-grown stretch beside the rotting water tank, where once a screaming whistle and clanging bell had announced the coming of the "local."

"WHAT," the housewife fairly screeched, "THIRTY CENTS for peas,—why, I used to pay you twenty for the same brand."

"Yes ma'am," answered the storekeeper wearily, "But that was before

Flea Hopper Tests Being Made Over Several West Texas Counties Since 1937

The cotton Flea Hopper was heavy in Northwest Texas in 1937, and from reports of farmers all over the region there was considerable damage done to cotton. W. S. McGregor, an Entomologist from College Station was assigned to the Spur Experiment Station to study this insect and to develop practical methods of control. He arrived at Spur early in July 1937 and a series of experiments were started. The Flea Hopper population was reduced but there was no significant increase in cotton yields. It is assumed that control methods were started too late.

Flea Hopper infestation comes in two ways (1) from eggs laid on weeds by adults in the fall of the year and hatching the next spring. (2) By migration of adult Flea Hoppers from some other region.

In the fall of 1937, 100 plants of Solanum elaeagnifolium, a plant which is commonly called the "white weed", "ground cherry", and "clinch weed", and is one of the plants chosen by the Flea Hopper to lay eggs in the fall for spring emergence, were selected at random in Dickens, Jones, Scurry and Taylor counties. These weeds were placed in incubator cages at the Spur Station. Up to June 25th, 77 Flea Hoppers had hatched from the weeds collected in Dickens County, 133 in Scurry County, 141 in Jones County, and 50 in Taylor County, according to counts made by C. E. Fisher at the Spur Station.

Since Flea Hopper infestations seem to be sufficient importance for detailed study Mr. McGregor and Mr. Griffiths of the Division of Entomology.

A & M College, arrived at Spur on June 11th to study the Flea Hopper during the summer months. In 500 sweeps taken at random between Spur and Lubbock on June 14th, 38 Flea Hoppers were found. In sweeps taken at the same place a week later on June 21, 96 Flea Hoppers were caught. From the emergence in the incubators and the counts made at random over the country it now appears that there are sufficient Flea Hoppers in the region to develop a heavy infestation by the time cotton starts to square freely.

Two hundred rubber balloons inflated with hydrogen gas were released at Jayton, Roby, and Spur on June 22-23 to secure information pertaining to air currents in connection with the migration of the Flea Hopper. People finding these balloons should mail the attached franked Federal tag at once.

The best indication of the presence of the Flea Hopper is the absence of little squares on cotton plants at the time when squares should appear. Close examination of the buds and leaves of the cotton plant will be necessary to find the small pea green insect about the size of a flea. This immature flea stings and kills the square when the square is not as large as the head of a match. Dead squares will be found where fleas appear.

The Spur Experiment Station will appreciate the report of presence or absence of flea hoppers in the different regions of West Texas, and the cooperation of cotton farmers in the study of this insect.

ENJOYED VISIT FROM BROTHERS

C. W. Robinson and family, who live on North Parker Avenue, enjoyed a visit from three of his brothers last week. The brothers were: Mat Robinson and family, George Robinson and family and J. P. Robinson, all of East Texas. It was the first time any of them had been together in four years, and the first time the four brothers had been together since Mr. Robinson moved from Oklahoma.

The brothers and their families left the last of the week. Mr. Robinson stated that he hoped it would not be so long before they could get together again. Mr. Robinson celebrated his seventieth birthday anniversary Wednesday of last week, and his brothers were guests on the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Mayfield and Ivan Mayfield, were in Spur Friday night of the past week to attend the Home Coming of the Spur High School Class of 1934, of which Ivan was a graduate.

"I had to buy a truck to get 'em here." "Time I pay my driver, buy tires, buy license, buy—buy—buy—lady, you have no more cause to kick than I have," and he trudged to the back room to count the eggs his customer had brought.

In a moment he was back, and placing the empty basket on the counter, began a bit apologetically, "Can't pay but sixteen cents today, Missus,—they're worth twenty-two in town, but 'time I truck 'em up there, I can't no more'n break even now." The lady stamped indignantly out of the store. "And the store used to be over there," said the hunter, as he pointed to a fallen-in shack whose windows, devoid of glass, stared vacantly toward the patch of tangled weeds beside the pile of staves and iron hoops that had once been the Northern and Southwest water tank.

"Your mother and I lived there", indicating a stone foundation, with only charred sticks and ashes to mark the remains of an erst-while home.

"They're all gone now,—there used to be over a hundred people lived here, but now,—just look at it!"

The man seemed suddenly to have aged, as he turned misty eyes away from the depressing scene in the valley below. With a last backward look at the deserted village the younger man hurried to catch up with his father, who was striding away.

"Why, Dad?", he asked, "What happened,—why did everybody have to leave this pretty little valley? The soil looks fertile, the water is great, why is it deserted and forgotten?"

And far down the canyon below the village, an eerie sound reverberated from crag to tree. True, it was not a sound for human ears,—not living humans at least, but a sound meant for the ears of the generation gone before. It would have answered the young man's query more eloquently than his father could have answered it. It was the voice of a ghost, not a spoken word but all the more enlightening for that. It was the ghostly echo of a screaming whistle and a clanging bell!

The need for accident insurance is more urgent now than it has ever been. Everyone is exposed to hazards at home, on streets and highways, and while at work.

Local Postal Reports Show Increase In Business

According to reports made by the local postal authorities to the U.S. Postal Department at Washington, D. C., the local postoffice has enjoyed a material gain in business during the year closing June 30, 1938. The amount of business reported at the close of the fiscal year 1937 which closed June 30, 1937, was $12,925.20. The amount of business reported for the close of the fiscal year, June 30, 1938, was $15,335.36. This was a gain of $2,412.16, or 19 per cent.

This gain is largely the result of the increased service given by the local employes in the postoffice. Every employe in the office is ready to go farther than their outlined duties to help the public. Also, with the addition of three extra mails out each day affords people who are in Spur from other places an opportunity to secure the very best of postal service. As a result traveling men can remain over in Spur any night or during the week end and have as good postal service as can be found in the larger West Texas cities. All of this has added to the gain in postal receipts the past year. Also, it has added influence to the town of Spur.

Miss Beth Blackwell, a Spur student at Texas State Teachers College for Women, is now on the faculty of the Denton Public Schools. She is gaining practical experience as a part of her work toward a degree.

W. E. James Candidate State Superintendent Visited Dickens County

W. E. James, now of Austin, was in Spur Tuesday meeting the voters in the interest of his candidacy for the office of State Superintendent of Schools. Mr. James had planned to speak to the people in the county at different points during his trip, but the sound system on his car went out on him and he could not make any talks. However, he met a number of the voters, and also, a number of old friends.

Among the things that Mr. James is telling the people are the following:

"The people of Texas are entitled to all the facts concerning the character qualifications and platform of a man seeking the important office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

I am a native Texan, born and reared on a farm in Van Zandt County, and am a graduate of North Texas State Teachers College, Baylor University and Texas University. I have taught in the public schools of this State, have served as County Superintendent of Williamson County, have taught in each of the three institutions of which I am a graduate, and have served eight years in the State Department of Education, four years in the Rural Aid Division and four years as First Assistant State Superintendent.

I feel that my varied experience in school work in this state has given me a broad understanding of the educational problems which confront us today, and I am basing my campaign upon a constructive platform for the betterment of our Texas School System.

I firmly believe that one of the first steps necessary to a more efficient administration of the affairs of the State Department of Education is a reorganization in the office to effect economy and the fixation of responsibility. The combining of certain divisions where duties are now overlapping will not only save the taxpayers' money, but will promote efficiency and provide for a more accurate dissemination of information from that office.

I also favor the placement of all fees collected by the State Department of Education in the State Treasury to be disbursed only upon warrants signed by the proper authority.

I am unalterably opposed to the present policy of employing fifty to seventy-five extra employees in the State Department of Education during the summer to check the census rolls, while regular employees are granted leaves of absence with pay.

I believe also that the State Superintendent has no right to make promises of Rural Aid to the Rural Schools today.

I stand for equal pay for teachers of equal qualifications and I consider the practice of paying grade teachers smaller salaries than are paid high school teachers of equal qualifications unfair, unprofessional and discriminatory.

The appalling number of accidents in Texas each year makes it imperative that a vitalized course in accident prevention be included in the curriculum of our schools. As State Superintendent, I shall consider it my duty to see that such courses are added as well as courses dealing with the principles of good citizenship.

While the present teacher retirement law is not perfect, it is a good beginning, and I, therefore, favor development of the system and to equate state support to insure the pro-

Nobody's Business

By Julian Capers, Jr.

W. Lee O'Daniel, the Fort Worth flour broker and his hill-billy band, still held the center of the political stage in Texas this week, continuing his trek through South Texas, and drawing extraordinarily large crowds. O'Daniel, demonstrating his sound knowledge of advertising methods, has worked out a routine that gets people out to hear him, and he shrewdly lets it ride, making virtually no changes in his speech or his program. He has borrowed from the technique of the old-time tent evangelist. He works his crowd up to a high emotional pitch by tricks that are familiar to students of psychology, and even his severest critics admit that he is a master showman. His stunt of circulating his children through the audience with miniature flour barrels, in which his listeners are asked to throw in nickels and dimes to "help finance his campaign", is clever use of the old principle that if you sell a man a little interest in a movement, he becomes a convert. Also, his clever sarcasm, when he creates a symbolical figure of the old age pension inspector, and the professional politician, and then literally demolishes them before his audience's eyes, while the crowd howls, is reminiscent of the evangelist casting the symbolical figure of the devil back into the sulphurous pit. And when O'Daniel calls for a show of hands on who is going to vote for him, it reminds the political analyst of Aimee Semple McPherson, in her palmist days, calling for those who carry out the will of the people as expressed in the recent constitutional amendment.

The time has come when unselfish, patriotic men and women should be called around the council table to help those in authority to build a system of public schools in Texas that will meet practical educational needs. I, therefore, favor the creation of a general advisory educational council, the members to be selected by the various groups which they represent, and to serve without compensation. Their purpose shall be to advise and cooperate with the State Superintendent in developing a program which will more adequately meet the needs of our schools.

I believe that the business of the schools of this State should be run in a business like manner, and I pledge myself to an honest, efficient and professional administration of the affairs of this office."

have "the true faith" to stand up. He Could Go Far

Opinion among the experts here is divided. Many, including some of the shrewdest political thinkers in Texas, believe that a fire that burns as fiercely as the O'Daniel flame must burn itself out before election time. Others suspect that a fire that hot may set the political woods afire and land the flour broker in first or second place.

The lack of a poll tax payment by O'Daniel, who has educated his three children at the expense of taxpayers and hasn't contributed the $1 a year that goes to schools from the poll-tax has been the toughest circumstance that O'Daniel has tried to laugh off so far. His frank admission, too, that he doesn't know a thing about running the State government, has also set some voters to thinking.

Other Races Warming Up
There is every prospect of an interesting runoff election this year, with second choice contests in view for several major races besides that of Governor. The list of possibilities includes Lieutenant Governor, where Coke Stephenson and Senator G. H. Nelson appear now to be leading contenders; Attorney General Walter Woodul and Jerry Mann as the best prospects for a second heat; Land Commissioner, where Morris Browning of Amarillo, a practical land man and civil engineer has been gaining strongly, and may get into a runoff with Commissioner Bill McDonald. In the Railroad Commissioner's race, Chairman C. V. Terrell is virtually sure of a second campaign, with John Woods and Bob Stuart both pushing hard for a place in it. Stuart has been speeding his campaign vigorously recently, having made 54 speeches in seven days on one foray into West Texas.

Wise-Cracks
The O'Daniel boom has brought on a crop of wise-cracks around the Austin lobbies and headquarters. Bob Barker, genial secretary of the Senate, started a fad of putting an "O" before everybody's name. He introduces himself as "Bob O'Barker", and half the people in Austin were putting the "O" before their names.

Will Pace, Tyler's able Senator, brought a new one from East Texas. He sized up the situation there by declaring it is: "Ernest O. Thompson, Lee O. Daniels, and Oh, Oh, Crowley."

When Joe Lewis knocked out Schmeling in short order, the politicians went around cracking that "it looked like Schmeling didn't have any poll tax."

No Session Seen
Likelihood of a special session of the Legislature this fall seemed small, as Claude Teer of the Board of Control, issued figures to show that the present scale of old age pension payments could probably be maintained until January 1 without additional state financing. Incidentally, Teer dropped a warning, pointing out that candidates who promise $30 a month for everybody are promising something that would deprive the State of Federal contributions, and on which even the State's $15 payment would total around 45 millions of dollars a year—which is over four times the present State revenue available for pensions.

Mann Says Racketeers Must Go From Texas

Pledging a constructive administration and a finish fight on rackets existing in Texas, Gerald C. Mann, Dallas attorney and former secretary of state, brought his campaign for attorney general here in a speech Thursday morning.

"Too long have many of those in public office played at the game of politics and given little attention to the business and science of government. It is time we gave study to the problems facing the state today and seek solutions to them," he said.

As one constructive step, Mann proposed the establishment of a division in the attorney general's office to assist the legislature in drafting laws. This can be done at no additional cost, he pointed out, and would reduce to a minimum inconsistencies, ambiguities and conflicting provisions in legislative enactments.

"I am opposed to all rackets but the most insidious, the one most damaging to our state, is the political racket," Mann declared. "The political racketeer in the self-styled politician, the influence peddling lawyer, the fixer. When I am attorney general those schemers will no longer sit enthroned. I want to make our capitol a symbol of justice where any man may go and get what he is justly entitled to without the aid of any racketeer."

Mann said he was proud of his record as an assistant attorney general, secretary of state and Washington representative of the Texas Planning Board.

He told how he coordinated federal and state projects at Washington to secure millions of dollars in federal funds for the state. Among the projects were a two and a half million dollar state wide tax survey, an educational survey, a mineral resource survey, and others, "all of which gave employment to thousands of people and will continue to benefit the state in coming years."

Mann reviewed his battle against fraudulent stock brokers and racketeers while secretary of state when he exposed gangs of swindlers operating in the state and as a result secured passage of the present Texas Securities Act.

"Texas now is as free as any state of fraudulent stock brokers and racketeers because of the stringent regulations of the present law," Mann said.

"I whipped the racketeers then and I'll do it again."

On a strenuous state-wide speaking tour that will carry him into every section of Texas before election day, Mann reached here from Lubbock. His itinerary Thursday called for seven speeches.

Henry Alexander and Mrs. Gertrude Brotherton left Sunday for Gunnison, Colorado for a short vacation. They will join Mr. Alexander's brother, Fred Alexander and wife, who with a party of friends are spending the summer at Gunnison. They were accompanied as far as Amarillo by Miss Julia Hickman, who will take the plane from there for Kansas City and other points and Miss Dorothy Young who will visit in Amarillo and Liberal, Kansas.

Mrs. Roy Howard and Miss Marjorie Howard, of Crosbyton, spent the last of the week here visiting with Mrs. Howard's mother, Mrs. Kate Senning and other relatives and friends.

Mrs. B. F. Hale and daughter, Miss Helen, spent last week in Greenville, visiting with relatives and friends.

Bert Shepherd, of Austin, spent the Fourth here visiting with his father, A. M. Shepherd and sisters.

AFTON AND ROARING SPRINGS METHODIST CHURCHES

Eugene L. Naugle, Pastor.
On one occasion, during a season of revival, a friend was praying for a certain unconverted neighbor. After this manner he prayed:
"O Lord, touch him with thy finger; touch him with thy finger, Lord!" The petition was repeated with great earnestness when something said to him:
"Thou art the finger of God. Hast thou ever touched thy neighbor? Hast thou ever spoken a word to him on the subject of salvation? Go, thou, and touch that man and thy prayer shall be answered."

It was a voice from the throne. God's servant arose from his knees self-condemned. He had known the man as an impenitent for many years, yet he had uttered not a word of warning. Hundreds of opportunities had come and gone, but the supreme question of life had been set aside for such topics as "the weather", the latest news "politics", "trade" and other things of a passing nature. His first duty as a Christian had been left undone.

"As we, therefore have opportunity, let us do good unto all men."
Next Sunday is the regular preaching day at Afton. Will you be in your place? Pray for your pastor, that he might bring just the message best suited for the occasion.
