New Farmers Are Flocking To South Plains Country

LUBBOCK, Texas, Dec. 9.—Two million dollars of new money has been brought into the South Plains section by new farmers since August 1, a check with real estate dealers, lumber yards and other sources, reveals.

This figure represents initial expenditures of some 800 new farmers who have purchased new homes on the South Plains this fall.

The fact that land sales are far above what they have been since the busy days of 1925 is conclusive proof that the advertising being carried in farm journals by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce under the name of South Plains, Inc., is bringing the desired results to an even greater extent than was anticipated.

A check with leading land agents of Lubbock and a number of South Plains towns shows a total of approximately 800 new farms sold to new comers since August 1. These farmers pay at least $800 cash on a quarter section of land, many have paid cash for the entire tract. The minimum on that number of farms is $640,000. They are spending an average of $1,000 for their initial improvements which totals $800,000. Necessary tools, furniture and other supplies will easily bring the figure to the two million dollar mark. The grocery bill for these new families this year will be approximately $160,000.

Eight hundred farms may not sound like a big number but taking the average number of five, this means an increase of population on the South Plains of 4,000, which is the same as the total population of the entire city of Lubbock ten years ago when the last Federal census was taken.

While the marketing of farm lands has been remarkably brisk during August, September, October, November, and the first part of December, January, February and March are the best months for selling land, so many, many more families are expected to move in on the South Plains land before planting time.

Over 5,000 inquiries have been received from every state in the nation and from foreign countries in response to the advertising and many visitors have called at the Chamber of Commerce office personally when they came to see this section. Land dealers say that there are from fifty to one hundred per cent more prospectors visiting here this fall to see the South Plains section than ever before.

Muleshoe Faces Best Year Merchants Say

Muleshoe and its trade territory faces one of the best years in the history of this section, according to opinions of business and professional men here. Inquiry made the past week finds practically all these men enthusiastic over the outlook at the beginning of January, and some of the statements are quoted in part.

A. V. McCarty, druggist—"Having been here for the past six years and seeing conditions both good and some not so good, it is my opinion that 1930 will see conditions far better than in any previous year."

Neil Rocky, Ford dealer—"I believe that the year 1930 is to be the best in the history of Muleshoe and its large trade territory, in business, farm improvements and immigration. Our business in 1929 was very satisfactory but from all indications the coming year will be far above the average."

E. R. Hart, lumber and hardware—"The outlook for 1930 is above normal. Barring droughts or other misfortune, which any community must risk, the coming year should be exceptionally good."

Connie Gupton, grocer—"At present prospects are better than for 1929, which was a good year from all standpoints."

T. E. Arnold, grain dealer—"The general outlook is exceptionally good for the coming year. Fortunately, we are situated in a section of the Plains which is adapted to the growing of all kinds of grains as well as cotton. This makes diversification easy and is being practiced more each year. The shallow water belt here is attracting more people each month and 1930 should be a banner year."

Farmers Urged To Plant Less Cotton, More Food Stuff

Stating that the farmers in the cotton-growing states should diversify to a greater extent, the Federal Farm Board urges that less cotton be planted in 1930. More food and forage crops will greatly benefit the cotton market, according to the Board. The statement concerning the 1930 crop is as follows:

"Nothing but crop failure in Texas in 1929 prevented a total yield of 16,000,000 bales in the belt. That is more American cotton than the world will take at a fair price."

Had there been a yield in 1929, such as was produced in 1926, it is declared the crop would have been 15,500,000 bales, while a 10 per cent reduction in the 1929 acreage, even with the yield in 1926, would have given a crop of but 15,750,000 bales while with the average yield the crop would have been but 13,500,000 bales.

Stress is laid on the fact that whereas the 10,000,000-bale crop of 1923 sold for $1,600,000,000 that the eighteen million-bale crop of 1926 sold for less than a billion dollars. Thus it is urged although they picked and ginned eight million more bales during 1926 than they had in 1923, the farmers of the south not only did this work for nothing but paid six million dollars for the privilege of doing so.

Continuing the statement says: "Some cotton farmers think that because the Federal Farm Board has been lending to co-operatives at an average of 16 cents a pound on middling seven-eighths-inch staple of the 1929 crop, the board means to see to it that the price will be at least that much for the crop of 1930. This is not so. The Federal Farm Board can not protect farmers when they deliberately over-plant. What the board will do to help in marketing will depend upon what farmers do at planting time."

"If Southern farmers should raise their own food and feed and, in addition to that should raise the food that Southern city people eat so far as the climate and soil will let them, there would be small danger of any cotton surplus or of an unprofitable price."

"The Federal Farm Board recommends that Southern farmers plant no cotton next spring until they have first provided acreage for a reasonable supply of home-raised food and feed. The board further recommends that no land be planted to cotton which has not produced at least one-third of a bale per acre on the average of the last five years."

Marvin Jones Will Have Opposition In Coming Race

LAMESA, Jan. 7.—Judge Thomas S. Christopher, vice-president of the Dawson County Bar Association and prominent in State and National politics for the past several years, Monday announced his candidacy for Congress, opposing the incumbent, Marvin Jones. His statement follows:

"Yielding to the demands of my many friends throughout this section, and to the impulse to serve our country in its National Congress, I have consented to become a candidate for Congress. When I consider some of the problems confronting our government, I feel that possibly I may be able to render a patriotic duty."

"Business competition and national prosperity are receiving death blows in mad mergers of money and concentration of commerce. The time calls for a national body to watch over, guide and veto combinations that destroy competition in business or create monopoly of money necessary to enterprises. Such mergers are now going on in increasing numbers without a single voice of protest by the Attorney General, charged with the duty of enforcing our Anti-Trust Laws, or by the committee named by President Hoover on law violation, such mergers are going on not only with no voice of protest from the President of the United States, but with his apparent approval."

"I cannot here discuss the many questions which will enter into the coming campaign, but I could not refrain from referring to a few important problems, but as the campaign progresses I shall make known to this people in plain and unmistakable language some of the outstanding problems which must receive consideration and solution, and my position on each and every question. I appreciate the encouragement and tender of loyal support from my many friends and it would be a pleasure to me to know that the people of this district are thinking about some of our great national problems."

Requests for demonstration rides in the new Model A Fords have been swamping our telephone since the new bodies were shown to the public of Muleshoe for the first time Tuesday of last week," said Neil Rocky, local Ford dealer.

"We are glad to accommodate any resident of this city who may wish the experience of a trial ride in the new bodies that now adorn the Model A Ford Chassis.

"It is an experience that we have not enjoyed yet ourselves," continued Mr. Rocky. "So great is the interest of the public in the beautified Model A that the types on display in our show-rooms have been too busily occupied holding the center of attendance to permit of their being taken off the floor for the time being."

"However, note is being made of requests for demonstrations, and, as soon as we are in position practically to satisfy such requests, we shall be more than glad to give our friends the pleasure of riding in this car."

Returns Must Be Made On Income Tax March 1st

DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 8.—Abuse by taxpayers of the privilege of securing an extension of time in which they may file their income tax returns will no longer be tolerated, according to orders issued by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue and announcements made in this district by Collector Geo. C. Hopkins.

Heretofore, tax experts, with a long list of clients, have been in the habit of asking and securing extensions, chiefly on the ground that they have more clients than they can physically attend to around March 15.

"The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has authorized me to advise all taxpayers and all representatives of income taxpayers that only in those cases shown to have genuine merit will extensions of time for filing be granted," said Collector Hopkins today.

"The records show that for several years the extension privilege has been abused, and that in many cases taxpayers or their representatives have habitually requested extensions year after year so that delayed returns have been the rule rather than the exception. It is believed, therefore, in these, as well as in many other cases, the delay was occasioned primarily by undue exercise of the privilege afforded taxpayers of securing extensions of time rather than by meritorious cases. Hence the recent instructions to all collectors to grant extensions only upon the showing of a good and sufficient cause. In other words, extensions will be granted only in those cases in which, by reason of the circumstances involved, the taxpayers could not have filed timely returns through the exercise of ordinary diligence.

Cold Wave Brings Snow And Sleet Over Panhandle

Ending several weeks of springlike weather, a cold wind from the north which caused the temperature to drop to 15 above zero swept over this section Wednesday morning. Late Wednesday afternoon flurries of snow began to fall and by night was coming down in a business-like way. Thurs. day morning better than four inches of snow covered the ground at Muleshoe with the temperature at 11 above. Reports from north of town were to the effect that the snow was somewhat heavier, ranging from five to seven inches. Farmers and cattlemen are rejoicing as the added moisture will be beneficial to ranges and wheat.

County Court in Session Here During January

County Court is in session this month with Judge Adams presiding. Quite a number of cases are to come up, most of them being Civil, however, there are some four or five criminal cases due for hearing at this term. Many out of town lawyers are here this week attending to business concerning this term of Court.

Growth of West Texas is indicated by the fact that the West Texas Utilities Co., serving that section, has found it necessary to construct more than 225 miles of high-lines, bringing its total mileage to 2,300 miles.

TEN RULES FOR SAFE DRIVING

The conscientious observance of ten simple rules for safe driving prepared by one of the nation's foremost authorities would reduce the number of traffic and highway accidents in the United States, and at the same time result in a decidedly more efficient use of our motor cars. The ten pointers which it is believed motorists should always bear in mind whether driving in the city or in the open country are:

1. Keep your car in sound condition.
2. Keep your car under control—it is dangerous if you cannot stop in the assured clear distance ahead.
3. Keep your eye on the road;—one second's inattention may mean an accident.
4. Never fight for the right of way;—the only real utility of right of way is at inquests or damage suits.
5. Go along with the procession;—you have no more right to "drag" traffic than you have to jeopardize your-

- self and others by unnecessary "cutting in."
6. Be as courteous on the road as you are in your own home;—give other drivers and especially pedestrians a fair chance.
7. Know your local traffic rules and obey them exactly;—they are the motorist's safety code and book of etiquette combined.
8. Take a pride in your driving skill;—if normal people are nervous to ride with you, something is wrong with your driving.
9. Don't mix liquor, worry or anger with your gasoline.
10. Study local maps and experiment for shorter and less congested routes; you may be surprised at the time you will save.

Island's Short Life

A submarine volcano may pile up a bank or form a new island. The standard example is Graham Island, 30 miles southwest of Sicily; a ship passing thereby on June 28, 1831, felt a shock as if she had struck a sandbank, and by July 10 an eruption had begun which raised a new island that was at one time 200 feet high and three miles in circumference; after the close of the eruption the island was soon swept away by the waves, and it had been worn down to sea level by October in the same year.

truck and trailer owners, the legislature changed the law governing the registration of such vehicles. Under the old law you had to your licenses the last day of each year, but as it was impossible to issue them in one day, they were changed, giving them thirty days to come in and get their licenses. It was not the intention that you wait until the last day of January to get in and register. If they all wait the same rush will prevail as has under the old law. So if you wait until January the 31st and come in and it is not possible to wait on you, it is going to be your bad luck, for there will be a 20% penalty added February the 1st.

To The Users Of Goodyear Tires

To you who have been using Goodyear Tires for years—to you who started to use Goodyear Tires in 1929—and to new car buyers who, this year, are obtaining Goodyear Tires on their cars—we address this message:

Your judgement, which caused you to select Goodyear Tires, has been echoed throughout the world by the most convincing tribute to the superior worth of a product that has ever been paid.

In 1929, although Goodyear was already building millions more tires than any other company, Goodyear still further increased its lead in sales.

One of These Goodyear Toy Zeppelins FREE With Each Set of Goodyear Double Eagle Tires.

Although it has been true since 1915 that "more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind," a greater number of people swung over to Goodyear Tires in 1929 than in any previous year.

These tremendous increases in popularity, year after year, permit Goodyear to produce by reason of lower costs, the finest quality in tire history at the lowest prices on record.

You may depend, therefore, on getting even more in value for your money this year when you again select Goodyear Tires.

HELPING TO BUILD TEXAS

With an inexhaustible supply of clays and shales, there is increasing interest in the industries using those for their basic supplies. Most of the Texas clays used go into bricks, but there are several tile factories, a new one being that at Natalie, Medina County, recently completed at a cost of $145,000.

With a fast-growing interest in cheese factories in Texas, it will be of interest to note that the American dairy and cheese industry, doing a business of five million dollars a year, far outranks the automobile industry whose total output is valued at four billions. There are nearly 3,000 cheese factories, 5,000 creameries and over 300 condensaries and evaporated milk plants in the United States, according to the National Dairy Council figures.

A pecan grove is one of the best horticultural properties a man can leave as an estate, in the opinion of President McHatton of the National Pecan Growers' Association, and interest in the pecan industry, on a commercial scale, is increasing in many parts of the state. A 25-year-old pecan orchard is a dependable income producer, as more and more Texans are finding, and the amount of grafting and planting and top-working of new trees of improved varieties is almost amazing, looking at the State as a whole.

An interesting feature of the government's helium plant near Amarillo is the tank cars that are now being built in which to transport the gas to the aeronautical fields. Each car will carry three huge cylinders, firmly tied in pyramid shape to the cars. They will be filled under a pressure of 2,000 pounds to the square inch, and the three cylinders will transport, at this pressure, 200,000 cubic feet of gas. The cylinders are tested to 3,300 pounds of pressure before being put into service.

GOOD YEAR IS PREDICTED FOR POULTRY RAISERS

Profits from farm poultry were higher in 1929 than in any recent year, a compilation of figures by poultry authorities indicates, and conditions point to a profitable season during the coming year. Egg prices are up, and it looks as if they were going to continue at a good level during the entire season.

There are several reasons for this. One is the fact that hatcheries this year have increased their capacities due to annual increase of business over the past few years. These hatcheries, paying higher prices for hatchable eggs, will take a larger percentage of the egg yield than ever before.

Cold storage figures indicate that the beginning of the year will find a shortage of eggs in storage, and this shortage will be made up, to further make inroads upon the egg supply. As a result, fall and winter prices in 1930 should be high. At the same time, grain prices are reasonable, and conditions point to a profitable year from poultry for those farmers who take their flocks seriously and give them the attention which they must have if a profit is to be derived.

One sure way of realizing profit from farm poultry is to increase the egg production of the entire flock. Figures indicate that the hen which lays 180 eggs a year has a labor income of almost three times as much as the hen that lays only 125 eggs a year. By securing good stock to replace the old hens this spring, the productivity of the entire flock can be increased.

Youthful Lovers Made Victims of Unkind Fate

One of the minor executives in a large New York office and one of the secretaries had been carrying on a secret romance for some time, although no one in the establishment was aware of it.

Being an up-to-date young man, the executive, who shall be known only by his first name, Phillip, to save embarrassment, carried on his courtship in a modern manner. Instead of writing her letters in the preliminary stage of his campaign he conceived the idea of waiting until the rest of the office had gone home and then speaking a few words into the dictaphone she used.

The next morning she would put on the ear phones and hear something along this line: "This is Phillip, sweetheart. Don't forget I love you."

But one day the secretary was ill and could not report to work. The result was that her substitute, starting to transcribe the letters on the cylinder, heard the love message and burst into laughter.

Phillip was unable to stand up under the razing he received daily thereafter and soon found another position.—New York Sun.

Process of Leavening Bread Is Ancient One

Leavened bread, or bread which is made from distended dough, has been made since very early times. In fact, the leavening of bread was a practice known to the ancient Egyptians. They, in order to cause the new dough to rise, used to add a portion of dough which had been allowed to become sour. This old dough was called leaven, and gave the name to this process of breadmaking. This leaven evolved carbon dioxide gas in the dough and resulted in the formation of innumerable cells within the dough. These were distended by the heat of baking and the leaves formed presented an infinite number of minute honeycombed gas pockets. The same is the case when yeast is used. At the present day, thanks to research, more scientific methods of introducing carbon dioxide to dough to make it rise have been made available. Bakers have the choice of three—1, mechanical aeration; 2, use of yeast; 3, use of baking powders.

TONES OF GRAY REGISTER AMONG FASHION'S EXCLUSIVES

If yielding to temptation is sin, then there's sure going to be a vast amount of sinning committed in the name of fashion, this season, for the new suits and ensembles styled of intriguing, worsteds are positively irresistible.

This is indeed an hour of triumph for the cloth suit and ensemble. No autumn or winter wardrobe can be truly modish which omits one or more of the cloth masterpieces, such as the smart set is wearing on most outdoor occasions.

It is thrilling role which these ensemble costumes of "nifty" worsteds are playing. Because of the versatility of the wooten weaves employed in their making, because of their "snappy" styling, their artful coloring and their delightful unusualness suits and ensembles are receiving the homage of the style-world.

There's simply no use resolving to be economical when it comes to buying one of the swagger suits as fashion presents them this season. The cloth costumes which are laying siege to the heart of all fashionable womanhood are not built on the economical plan. The fur trimmings are a revelation. Not only do furs on the tweed and novelty cloth suits grow more lavish, but their entirely new handling captures the eye at every turn. One of the smartest entrants into the suit arena is the beaver or seal-trimmed model.

Sometimes an ensemble omits fur only to intrigue in some other artful way. The distinguishing feature about the heavy mannish cloth ensemble in the picture is its circular-flared cut and the fact that it is developed in tones of gray. While it is true that gray is not being exploited in a popular way, with fashions sleek, gray hats, gray furs, and gray ensembles are often first choice. In the instance of the ensemble pictured even the chic printed silk which lines the finger-tip length jacket and makes the blouse is printed in varied gray tones.

In this model the circular flare of the coat takes its cue from the circular-cut skirt, this related movement being a characteristic feature observed throughout costume design.

Movie Studio Fire in Which Ten Perished

Ten persons were burned to death and others badly injured in a fire that destroyed a movie studio in New York. This picture of the conflagration was sent by telephoto.

Dropped Into Sea Lingo
Here is a story about a Nantucket Quakeress who was a very superior feeling person. On a visit to New Bedford the young woman was invited to a tea party and expressed a fervent hope that she would not use any sea phrase while there.

Keeping a close watch upon her words she got on all right until, as they started to leave the table, a man away up at the far end asked her how her father was doing. Every face was turned to her and every ear listening for word of the sick man.

Flustered by having the attention so suddenly focused on herself, she said: "Thank thee, but he rather goes eastern." Then she was overcome with confusion, for she had lapsed into the sea lingo she had determined to avoid.
—Brockett Enterprise.

Speed in Reading
Prof. Walter B. Pitkin of Columbia university stated that there are great differences in the speed of reading in different classes of society. Young newspaper men catch with one glance of the eye 47 words, while experienced editors take tags many as 72 words, which is more than the ordinary newspaper line. On the other hand, engineers can deal with things rather than words, have an average eye-grasp of only 33 words. The engineers are credited, however, with retaining the meaning in a passage of 100 words better than the men of any other group.

Organisms of Sponge
Little is known of the life history of the commercial sponges. In some species, if not all, the sexes are distinct, the female preponderating. The young produced from the eggs are free-swimming organisms and are still of very small size when they settle and become permanently attached. This must be a critical stage in their life history, for they are so minute that a very thin stratum of silt would be sufficient to engulf and smother them. As much of the sea bottom is covered with soft or shifting deposits, the mortality at this period must be very high.

Smart Dogs Die Young
"Ten thousand white ones and sixty black ones! Go round 'em, Shep!" This command was supposed to have been given to a certain sheep dog in Montana, and presumably he thereupon rounded up the sheep and counted them. But the poor dog's dead now; brain fever, no doubt. It is strange that when anyone tells a tale of some extraordinary animal, he it dog, horse or cat, he usually adds as an afterthought, "He's dead now, poor fellow." In fact, some one with time to spare ought to make a study of the high mortality rate among canine and other animal wonders; and after satisfying himself on that point, he might turn to a closely allied topic, the regrettable longevity of cheerful hares.—From "Sheep," by Archer B. Coulter.

"Passion Play" Life of Small Bavarian Village

The Passion play, a dramatization of the sufferings in the life of Christ, takes place in the little village of Oberammergau, nestled in the Bavarian Alps. And this play has been going on every ten years since the plague of 1033. During that year the citizens of Oberammergau vowed that they would enact the piece every ten years as a thanksgiving offering for having been delivered of the plague.

The original text and arrangements were probably made by the monks of Ettal. The music was composed by Michael Dederl, schoolmaster of the parish in 1814. The production is given in the open air and stands are constructed to accommodate 5,000 spectators. Seven hundred actors are employed in the play, all native villagers. The proceeds go for the public good after the expenses have been defrayed and a small remuneration made to each actor.

The play is a stupendous manifestation of religious worship and the moral character of each actor is considered as well as his histrionic ability. The principal parts are hereditary. The whole village lives for this production. The inhabitants spend their time at fashioning crucifixes, rosaries and images of the salutes to sell to the tourists who flow through their quiet little city year by year.

Ancient British Law Demands Long Bows

London.—Another peril of over legislation was turned up here when it was discovered that householders are liable to fines if they have too few long bows in the house in case it becomes necessary to defend the hearth.

Under an old law, never repealed, the Bowyers company still has the right to search houses within three miles of London and demand of the occupants that all long bows on the premises be produced.

The company of Bowyers is one of the smallest and oldest of the many medieval guilds that still exist in London. The date of its establishment is lost in antiquity, but it is known that it was in existence long before 1371. At that time it separated from the Fletchers (arrowmakers), perhaps because of disagreement on the reform effected at that time which shortened the workman's hours of labor. The reason that bows could not in any manner be as well or as profitably made for the King and his people by night as by day.

The present members of the Bowyers company are descendants of the old bowmakers, but they pursue their ancient calling no longer, despite modern interest in archery. The company offers a prize each year at the Royal Toxophilite society's competition, but the ancient cup of the old company is now contested for yearly at Aldershot with modern rifles instead of bows and arrows.

LAZBUDDIE STUDY CLUB

The Lazbuddie Study Club met in the beautiful modern home of Mrs. John Steinbock, December 19, with 13 members and eight visitors present.

After a short program officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: Mrs. C. E. Merriott, president; Mrs. R.

L. Bledsoe, vice-president; Mrs. W. S. Menefee, secretary-treasurer. The other officers and standing committees are to be appointed by the president at a later date.

This day was set aside for our Gift Day and our hostess had prepared a lovely tree in her dining room, both room and tree being beautifully decorated in true Christmas motif. Each member brought a gift and names of members were written on each package. Names written on slips of paper were inserted in envelopes which corresponded to the names written on the packages, and the envelopes were strung on ribbons and hung on the tree. Each member snipped the ribbon holding an envelope, and the name it contained designated whose package she was to receive. This afforded the guests a great deal of pleasure.

The hostess served delicious chicken sandwiches, cake, peaches with whipped cream and coffee.

All departed thanking the hostess for a delightful time.—A member.

The theatrical district is the happy hunting ground for panhandlers, who ply their trade in the side streets during theater intermissions. Persons who have spent $10 or $12 on tickets for a good time on themselves rarely refuse a dime to a passing tramp.

But what I started out to tell was the story of a beggar who passed the steps of a very expensive hotel in the theater zone. A guest was standing on the steps, watching the crowd mill by, and the beggar asked him:

"Can you give me $2 for a cup of coffee?"

The man was amazed at such cheek. "Why," he said, "when I want a cup of coffee I get it at the Automat for a nickel."

"Then," asked the beggar, "what are you doing at this expensive hotel?"

Proper Costume

He's a high pressure salesman. He cheerfully and callously admits that the stocks he sells may not be so good, but he doesn't care.

"The people I sell to," he told me frankly, "aren't widows and orphans. They are well enough off to take a flyer once in a while—and if I don't sell them, some one else will."

Mining and oil stocks are this gentleman's specialty, for he has discovered that he is a splendid figure in boots and a four gallon hat. After making an appointment with a prospector, he fishes a beautiful pair of hand tooled boots and a huge sombrero out of his office locker, and puts them on. Then he goes after his customer. An assumed Texas drawl and the western clothing carry more weight than uninteresting data concerning dividends, earnings and what not.

Nothing is so nerve wracking as talking pleasantly to a man who's leading up to a request for a loan.

Radio Messages First Sent During Civil War

While Marconi generally is credited with being the inventor of wireless telegraphy, the first radio messages were sent during the Civil war, says C. Francis Jenkins, veteran inventor.

"Although Prof. Joseph Henry, in 1832, discovered that electrical oscillations could be detected a considerable distance from the oscillator, it remained for a Washington dentist, Dr. Mahlan Loomis, actually to send the first radio messages," Mr. Jenkins said.

"In 1865 he built an oscillating circuit and connected it to a wire aerial supported by a kite. One station set up on Bear Den mountain, Va., very far from Washington, and duplicate station was set up on top of Catactin spur, 15 miles distant.

"Messages were sent alternately from one station to the other by dot and dash interruption of a buzzer spark circuit. Reception was attained by deflecting a galvanometer needle at the receiving point."

In 1869 a bill was introduced in congress to incorporate the Loomis Aerial Telegraph company. Nobody would buy the stock and it remained for others, years later, to reap the reward of radio broadcasting, Mr. Jenkins says.
