Plane Attackers Flown To Iraq

10 Hostages Go Free After Orly Airport Ordeal

PARIS (AP)—Three Arab terrorists flew to Iraq today in a French-supplied plane after an attempt to attack an Israeli jumbo jet, a gun battle with police and an overnight siege during which they held 10 persons hostage in a restaurant at Orly Airport.

Air France said the plane was still on the ground in Baghdad two hours after touchdown.

The Israeli plane was not damaged in the attack at Orly Airport and the hostages were released unharmed. But 21 persons, including one of the terrorists, were reported injured in the gunfight that raged for 15 minutes Sunday afternoon in a crowded concourse of the airport terminal. Eight of the wounded were reported in serious condition.

Stockings Mask Faces

Previous reports said there were two terrorists and from three to seven hostages. But witnesses at the airport said three terrorists and eight hostages came out of the restaurant, the gunmen with stockings masking their faces and the hostages with bandages covering their eyes.

Two other hostages, a French woman and her 3 1/2-year-old daughter, were freed earlier this morning when the terrorists began negotiating with the Egyptian ambassador to France, Naguib Kadry, as intermediary.

Identity Still Unknown

The identity of the gunmen was still unclear. Police at first said a note in which they demanded an escape plane was signed "Mohammed Boudia Squad," named for an Algerian militant murdered by Israeli agents in Paris in 1973. Later reports said the note was unsigned.

In Beirut, Yasir Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization condemned the attack, and the organization's representative in Paris, Ezzedine el Kadak, said the gunmen would be punished if they were handed over to the PLO. But Israel's ambassador to France, Asher Ben Natan, brushed aside the PLO denial, saying: "These organizations change their names, but they are all the same people. Sometimes they call themselves Black September and sometimes the revolutionary Arab Youth and sometimes the Mohammed Boudia Squad. But they are all the same."

Second Try Within Week

It was the second attempted attack on an Israeli plane at Orly within a week. Two men fired two bazooka shells at an El Al jetliner as it was departing last Monday but missed and hit a Yugoslav jet and an airport building. Three persons were wounded. The gunmen escaped and later the Mohammed Boudia Squad claimed it had made the attack.

El Al's flight 418 from Paris to Tel Aviv had just pulled away from the boarding area Sunday afternoon with 222 persons aboard. One of the terrorists emerged onto a terrace of the building.

The trial was moved here from Belton on a change of venue.

Charged with capital murder are Larry J. Ross, 20, and Selwyn Gholson, 20, both of Ft. Sill, Okla. The pair is accused of shooting to death Texas highway patrolman Hollis L. Tull, 38, following a robbery at the Walburg State Bank last September.

Senate Sends $5-Million Jobless Bill To Governor

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas senators rushed a $5-million unemployment compensation bill to the governor today and adopted another measure boosting 130,000 state employees' salaries by approximately $93 million.

The pay bill was changed to reduce proposed salary increases for employees making over $20,500 a year.

Sen. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, said that would save $7 million. The original bill, by Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, would have cost $100 million. Retained on a 31-0 vote, however, were provisions raising salaries for employees making under $10,500 by 14.2 per cent and for those making between $10,500 and $20,500 by 10.5 per cent. The unemployment compensation bill will entitle 25,000 jobless Texans to an extra $5 million in federal benefits. After today's legislative sessions, attention will shift to inaugurate activities, sharply curtailed this year because of the economic conditions.

At 7 p.m. the Texas Democrats' "victory dinner" will be staged in Austin Municipal Auditorium, for those presenting a $35-a-plate ticket. Profits from the steak dinner will go to the Democratic party.

Dinner speakers will include Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Lt. Gov. (See SENATE Page 2A)

Ribbon Ceremonies Mark College Campus Opening

By LUANNA CROW
The drone of heavy machinery continuing the business of building a college this morning provided an appropriate setting for ribbon-cutting ceremonies at Midland College.

An estimated 150 persons turned out for the brief dedication which marks the end of a five-year effort to obtain a campus for the college.

Dr. Al G. Langford, Midland College president, made the opening remarks at the dedication, held at the east entrance of the administration building.

Full Dedication Takes
He told the audience he and his staff were "thrilled" to see students on a permanent campus today, the first day of spring semester classes. The president said "full dedication ceremonies for all seven buildings" are scheduled around Oct. 1.

Bill Mewhorter, Midland Chamber of Commerce president, proclaimed this to be "a proud day for all Midlanders." He thanked Sen. Pete Snelson, Rep. Tom Craddock, the board of trustees, Dr. Langford and his staff, and citizens of the Tall City for the work and support rendered on behalf of the college.

Great Investment
Reminiscing on the college's history, Mewhorter said the result of the five-year span is "certainly a great investment to Midland."

Representing the city government, Mayor Ernest Angelo said the opening of the campus is "a long-held dream of all of us" and reflects the 'can do' attitude of Midlanders.

Midland County Judge Barbara Culver touted the institution's new campus as "another living example that Midlanders think big and expect the best of everybody."

Remarking on the quality of the structures, she said Tall City residents "want things done well. They have high standards and want things done right."

Reagan Legg, president of the college's board of trustees, told the crowd, "We hope you like it, and we hope you're proud of it."

Echoing the other speakers' appreciation to the public, Legg said, "We have the greatest community in the world, and we know it, and we have the finest people in the world, and we know it."

He noted Midland College has enjoyed the help from many agencies from local through federal levels.

"This is a time for celebration, and this is a time for appreciation," he said, mentioning (See COLLEGE Page 2A)

Chou Predicts New World War Based On U.S.-Soviet Rivalry

TOKYO (AP) — Premier Chou En-lai, in a major address to the Chinese people, has predicted that U.S.-Soviet rivalry "is bound to lead to world war some day."

In the speech delivered to the fourth National People's Congress Jan. 13 and broadcast tonight by Peking radio, Chou also said that Chinese-American relations have "improved to some extent," but China's feud with the Soviet Union worsened.

Chou declared: "The two superpowers, the United States and the Soviet Union, are the biggest international oppressors and exploiters today, and they are the source of a new world war."

Chou's speech, broadcast by the official Hsinhua news agency, called on people of all countries to prepare for war.

He added, "Whether war gives rise to revolution or revolution prevents war, in either case the international situation will develop in a direction favorable to the people and the future of the world will be bright."

The ailing premier, reappointed to his post by the congress last week, said the Chinese "should ally ourselves with all the forces in the world that can be allied with to combat colonialism, imperialism and above all superpower hegemonism."

Turning to China's relations with the superpowers, Chou said Chinese-U.S. relations have "improved to some extent" in the past three years despite "fundamental differences." "The relations between the two countries will continue to improve so long as the principles of the Chinese-American Shanghai communique are carried out in earnest," he said.

The Shanghai communique, the result of former President Richard M. Nixon's visit to China in 1972, set guidelines for normalization of U.S.-China relations. (See CHOU Page 2A)

Howling Winds Propel Norther Across Texas

Gusty and sometimes damaging winds abated today after propelling a chilling norther across Texas and into the Gulf of Mexico.

Early morning temperatures dropped to freezing or below as far south as usually warm San Antonio as skies cleared across the state except for a few lingering clouds in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Winds gusting above 50 miles per hour raked one area after another, hitting last at the Galveston Bay area for several hours near midnight.

Weather prognosticators are calling for fair and warmer conditions in the Tall City today, but the mercury should drop Tuesday.

Sunday's high temperature hit the 54-degree mark, and today's high should reach the middle 60s. The mercury stood at the 54-degree mark at noon today.

Weathermen are calling for windy conditions across the Permian Basin, but not quite as harsh as the high winds that hit the Dallas-Fort Worth and Texas Coast areas over the weekend.

Tonight's low was predicted to dip into the low 30s after an overnight low recorded Sunday of 26. High temperature Tuesday should be in the middle 50s. Damage was placed at $8,000

Rockefeller Panel Quizzes McCone

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former intelligence chief John A. McCone appeared before the Rockefeller Commission today as the blue-ribbon panel resumed its hearings into CIA domestic spying.

Former CIA Director Richard M. Helms was expected to appear later in the day before the eight-member panel headed by Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller, for a second round of questioning on the agency's domestic activities.

The lead-off witness for the second day of hearings was Patrick Coyne, former executive secretary of the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board, a panel on which Rockefeller once served. The board is a group of 11 private citizens appointed by the President to evaluate the nation's intelligence needs.

Coyne would give the commission a background briefing on intelligence operations, a spokesman said before his appearance.

Coyne appeared briefly in news reports last year when he denied an allegation that he had told Rockefeller in the fall of 1969 about wiretaps on the phones of government officials and newsmen suspected of involvement in leaks of classified information.

During his confirmation hearings, Rockefeller denied ever having known of the taps, and the House Judiciary Committee dismissed the allegation as unsubstantiated.

Senate Democrats were expected to decide whether to create a special committee (similar to the Watergate panel) to investigate allegations of CIA wrongdoing. The Democratic caucus is scheduled to vote on a resolution by Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., that would set up an eight-member panel.

Helms, now U.S. ambassador to Iran, appeared before the Rockefeller commission at its first meeting last Monday and presented a brief statement.

David W. Belin, staff director of the commission, indicated Sunday night in a telephone interview that the Helms statement was identical to his testimony that Helms gave to a Senate panel later in the week and subsequently made public. In that testimony, Helms acknowledged that a CIA counter-intelligence unit gathered information on American radicals in an effort to uncover a foreign influence behind disturbances at home. But Helms, who headed the agency from 1966 to 1973, denounced published reports of illegal domestic surveillance as "irresponsible" and "ruinous."

High Court Upholds Tape-Pirating Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today let stand a lower-court decision barring unauthorized taping of recorded musical performances even when the taping company offered to pay royalties to the composition's copyright owner.

The court let stand a decision by the U.S. Circuit Court in Denver that such tapes are copyright infringement.

The case involves the copying, on magnetic tape, of recordings made before 1972, when musical recordings were brought under copyright protection.

Edward V. Marks Inc., a leading music publisher, sued Colorado Magnetics Inc., for copyright infringement because of tapes made by Magnetics.

Marks owned the copyright to the compositions although the performances themselves were not copyrighted. In other action today, the court: —Agreed to review a decision striking down an ordinance against topless dancing in North Hempstead, N.Y. —Refused to hear the appeals of five men convicted in three separate cases of violating laws banning the display of obscene material. —Let stand a lower-court ruling upholding a Greyhound Lines, Inc., rule against hiring bus drivers over the age of 35.

HACKENSACK, N.J. (AP) — Authorities here said they would file a formal complaint today against a Philadelphia shoe repairman suspected in the slaying of a nurse in nearby Leonia.
Bergen County Prosecutor Joseph C. Woodcock Jr. declined to specify the nature of the charge. But he added that his office was preparing to present the case of the stabbing death of 21-year-old Maria Fasching to a grand jury.
Until the grand jury acts, he said, filing formal charges would permit a detainee to be placed against the suspect, who was being held in Harrisburg, Pa., in lieu of $100,000 bail in another case.
"If they (Pennsylvania authorities) set him free for any reason they will detain him to allow us to attempt to get him," Woodcock explained.
"When and if he is indicted then we will ask for extradition."
The suspect, Joseph Kallinger, 39, was arrested at his home in Philadelphia Friday night on robbery and kidnaping charges in the Harrisburg case. Apprehended at the same time was Kallinger's 12-year-old son, Michael.
Woodcock said a bloodstained shirt found in a park after the Jan. 8 murder of Miss Fasching led them to suspect Kallinger.
Seven other persons inside the Leonia home the day Miss Fasching was killed described the intruders as a man and a boy. Police said Miss Fasching was stabbed to death, apparently after refusing to commit a sex act.

Ford Schedules News Conference Tuesday Afternoon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford will hold a nationally broadcast news conference at 1 p.m. CST Tuesday, his first such session in more than six weeks, the White House announced today.
Press Secretary Ron Nessen said the President would not have an opening statement and would answer questions.
"Questioning is expected to center on Ford's economic and energy proposals, as well as such foreign issues as detente with the Soviets and continued fighting in South Vietnam."
Officials said the Tuesday session would be made available for broadcast by the national television and radio networks.
The President also has a broadcast interview scheduled for Thursday. NBC has announced that it will televise an exclusive live interview with Ford at 9 p.m. CST.

Official Rules Alford Died From Blow On Head

ODESSA — Justice of the Peace Jan Brooks has ruled that Kenneth Ardin Alford, an Odessa salesman died "about Jan. 10" from brain injuries received in a blow to the head by a piece of pipe.
The ruling came after a bloodstained piece of oilfield pipe suspected to be the murder weapon was found in the front yard of a residence about a block from where Alford's body was found.
The pipe was found by Mrs. Consuelo Gonzales of Odessa who told officers she found the pipe when she went to get her mail.
She said she called officers when she noticed some red spots on the pipe Friday morning.
Results of an examination of the pipe by the Department of Public Safety laboratory in Austin are expected sometime this week, according to deputy sheriff Elton Faught.
Brooks said that he would have to make an "educated guess" that Alford had been dead since Jan. 10, the day he was first reported missing.
However, the length of time the body had been in the open, and the severe weather in the area the weekend after the disappearance, made determining the exact time of death impossible, Brooks added.
Brooks said they have no other leads in the case.
Alford's bloodstained pickup truck was found in the parking lot of the Inn of The Golden West shortly after noon Wednesday, when an employe of the hotel told police the truck had been there several days with no sign of an owner.
A pair of bloodstained glasses, a billfold and a man's belt were in the front seat, detectives said. There also were several open and unopened cans of beer.

A policeman saw the gunman and opened fire with a submachine gun. The Arab rushed back into the terminal, throwing two grenades behind him to delay the pursuit. New Week Begins Better Than Last For Beleaguered U.S. Auto Industry

DETROIT (AP) — The nation's beleaguered auto industry begins its third full week of production in 1975 with 11 assembly plants closed and 236,000 workers on layoff.
The new week began as an improvement over last week, when the auto makers reported 23 plants closed and 232,000 hourly employes on furlough because of declines in retail sales.
Only American Motors, the smallest of the Big Four, will be in full production this week.

General Motors will operate without four plants, Ford Motor Co. will have three plants closed and Chrysler Corp. is extending another week of shut-downs to four plants.
Ford and Chrysler will offer new car buyers factory rebates of up to $500 again this week in hopes of boosting sales, which have been in the doldrums for 16 straight months. It is the longest auto slump in 30 years.
Chrysler's rebate program, now in its second week, offers up to $300 in company checks to buyers of specified models, and a $100 bonus if specially designated models are traded in on the sale. The program ends Feb. 16.
Ford begins the first full week of a similar plan which provides up to $500 in rebates for the purchase of small Ford models. The promotion ends Feb. 28.
General Motors has not launched a rebate promotion.
GM will have 10,455 workers on temporary layoff this week.

— in addition to 100,000 on open-ended furlough — as it closes car plants in Leeds, Mo.; North Tarrytown, N.Y., and South Gate, Calif. The company also is shutting its huge GMC Truck & Coach plant in Pontiac, Mich., for the week.
Ford is closing car plants in Wixom, Mich.; Lorain, Ohio, and San Jose, Calif., along with five manufacturing plants this week in moves that will leave 21,750 workers on temporary layoff. Ford also has 33,350 employes on open-ended layoff.
Chrysler is keeping car plants in Hamtramck, Mich.; Newark, Del., and St. Louis, and its St. Louis truck plant closed again this week. About 13,750 workers will be on temporary layoff because of the closings. Chrysler also has 49,900 workers on indefinite layoff.
With 28 car plants closed last week, auto production was off 41 per cent from the previous week to 68,000. It was the smallest output for the period in recent memory, industry observers said.

He charged that the Soviet Union "conducted subversive activities against our country and even provoked armed conflicts on the border."

Law Suit Filed Over Dog Bite

A $10,000 suit, stemming from a dog's alleged biting and clawing of a bicyclist, has been filed in 142nd District Court here.
The petition says the cyclist, Dorian R. Lamont Jr., was attacked by the dog Jan. 17, 1974, as he was riding along a utility road near the Don Olson Exxon Service Station at 3301 Interstate 20.
Olson is defendant in the suit, which states he was owner of the dog and that no signs were posted to warn passerby of a "vicious" dog in the vicinity.

Former WWII Driver For Eisenhower Dies

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Kay Summersby Morgan, driver for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in London during World War II, died today of cancer in Southampton Hospital. She was in her late 60s.
Mrs. Morgan, who lived on Park Avenue in Manhattan, took a cottage in this Long Island resort town two weeks ago. She entered the hospital Saturday.
In 1973, it was reported that Eisenhower once wrote Gen. George C. Marshall that he was considering getting a divorce to marry Miss Summersby. Both Marshall and President Harry Truman told him it would be foolish, the report said.
The letter was reported in a book about Truman by Merle Miller. A former aide to Truman, Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan said he thought the letter had been sent by Truman to Marshall for his personal files, but so far as is known it has never been located.
During her time on Eisenhower's staff she became a lieutenant in the American Women's Army Corps.
In 1948, her war memoirs were published in Look magazine, and later in book form.
In 1952 she married Wall Street broker Reginald H. Morgan. They were divorced in 1958.
In recent years, she had done stage and costume designing for the Broadway theater.

Saudi sources said they also discussed a summit meeting to be held in Riyadh, Saudi's capital, by Egypt, Syria, Jordan and the P.L.O.
Other Middle East developments: A five-hour Red Cross cease-fire allowed 1,200 Lebanese villagers to return to Kfar Chouba, two miles north of the Israeli border, to salvage what belongings they could after a week of Israeli shelling. The village was reported a heap of rubble.
The Israeli government said it has invited Kissinger to Jerusalem, indicating he might conduct a new round of shuttle diplomacy. It was not known if Kissinger had accepted.
According to the Lebanese newspaper An Nahar, diplomats in Baghdad said Iraq has signed its biggest arms agreement ever with the Soviet Union, but they gave no figures. The same sources said France has agreed to supply Iraq all the tanks and other armored vehicles it needs.

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren

Where's Guy To Appreciate Her 'Best Qualities'?

DEAR ABBY: I am an attractive female divorcee who recently retired after a long, distinguished career as a university English professor.

Now that I have a great deal of free time, I would like to find suitable male companionship.

Although I receive numerous offers (the loggers in this town are practically beating my door down), I don't know how to meet men who could appreciate my best qualities, such as the art of conversation.

There must be some other retired women in small towns with similar problems. Have you any suggestions?

IDLE BUT ANXIOUS IN IDAHO

DEAR ANXIOUS: Enroll in an adult education class and do a lot of listening. Conversation could be considered "desert," and since man cannot live on dessert alone, are you prepared to provide some meat and potatoes?

DEAR ABBY: I just had to write to defend the woman who writes notes to her husband to remind him of things. I've been doing it for years.

First of all, that letter couldn't have been written by my husband because he doesn't believe in communication, and note-writing is a form of communication.

This wooden Indian I'm married to might send up smoke signals if he could find his lighter, but on the other hand, fires within the city limits of Dallas are frowned upon.

Anyway, I say three cheers for that note-writing wife. I sure wish my husband would write me a note once in a while. It would confirm the fact that he's still breathing.

IGNORED IN DALLAS

DEAR IGNORED: Your problem is far more serious than you realize. The ultimate in humiliation, women confide, is not in being belittled, berated, or even beaten. It's being ignored!

DEAR ABBY: I recently visited a friend in his New York apartment. We hadn't seen each other for 15 years. While he was in the kitchen mixing us drinks, I noticed that he had a splendid library. Then I noticed that he had a few books that I also owned.

I don't know what made me do it, but I took those books down from the shelf and turned to the fly leaves, and sure enough, my name was there!

He had borrowed those books from me years ago, and neglected to return them.

I put them back before he returned, and said nothing. Since then my irritation has grown.

Should I now tell him that I want my books back?

IRKED IN INDIANA

DEAR IRKED: Certainly. No wonder your friend has such a "splendid library." He's a "collector."

DEAR ABBY: This is to encourage the 52-year-old woman whose husband wants a divorce. Let him have it, then sharpen up some of your old skills and get out on your own.

I was 47 when my husband entered his second childhood. He wanted a divorce to marry a younger woman. I fought and wept and begged! I thought my life was over. I finally came to my senses and let him go. At age 48, I went to work as a secretary, married my boss two years later, and couldn't be happier.

A 52-year-old woman can do anything a younger woman can do except maybe have a baby. And what 52-year-old woman in her right mind would want that?

What's All That Clutter In Your Kitchen Drawer?

Dear Folks: Let's discuss the kitchen drawer, where we all keep our daily clutter accumulated.

This is the drawer, ordinarily next to the kitchen stove, where we keep our favorite knives and spoons and no telling what else.

While you are reading this, think to yourself, "Now, what is in that drawer?" (Bet you can't make a complete list before you look!)

How much of it is really necessary? What do you actually need? Can you find your favorite knife immediately? And spoon?

When you clean the drawer, do you just remove all the "stuff," get the crumbs out, line it with paper and replace everything and let it go?

Don't! You will be right back where you started — still having to knock everything aside to find that favorite spoon or knife.

Put some newspaper down on the drainboard and literally pour out everything in the drawer onto the paper.

Just look at all that excess junk and clutter! Whatever do you need all this mess for? You have only two hands! There are umpteen spoons and only four burners on the stove. How could anyone use umpteen spoons at one time?

Wipe out the drawer and line it, whether it be with newspaper, a paper sack or bag, a adhesive-backed paper, cardboard, foil, wax paper, etc.

Now don't throw all that stuff back in the drawer. Stop, look and think, "What do I really use every day?"

Pick out your favorite butter knife, paring knife spatula, egg turner, can opener and no more than four spoons. Replace these in your drawer.

Where you will probably have your downfall is when it comes to the spoons. Just how many spoons do you have in that cluttered drawer? Six or eight, perhaps.

Now, you are going to say, "But I have had these spoons for years and can't throw them away." You don't have to. If they have sentimental value, get a paper bag and put all these excess items in it. Test yourself.

Put the bag with all these excess items in the garage or closet. If you don't go into that old kitchen grabbag within a week, then it's a fact that you can do without those extra gadgets. If you decide later you must have a certain item, it's always there.

How many bottle openers do you have? About six? You can open only one bottle or can at a time. We keep them because we think someday one might not work. We can still open only one bottle or can at a time so pick out the best two and put them back in the drawer.

Go through all your equipment this way.

What you can do without, you don't need. Get rid of it so you can find something quickly. Saves your time and nerves. Eliminates excess cleaning, clutter, etc.

Don't faint when you see how little will be in this favorite drawer after this cleaning. It pays off.

You will have a glorious feeling tomorrow when you open the drawer and find what you are looking for immediately. Simplicity is the answer to our problems.

WHAT IS THE TRUTH?

"Thy Word is Truth" (John 17:17)

by Bryan Boet

The beauty of Jesus Christ and Christianity can be seen in so many ways. One way is the manner in which Christians treat other people. Christians deal with others in the way they would like to be dealt with.

The most common way for people to treat others is just to react. If a person is nice to you, you are nice to him; if a person is mean in his dealings with you, you have every right to be mean to him. On the human level this is a just way of acting and is accepted as good daily behavior. However, in direct contrast to this way of dealing with people, Christians operate on the higher plane as outlined in the teachings of Jesus. He said, "So whatever you wish that men would do to you, do so to them" (Matthew 7:12). Christians look out for the best interests of others and act toward others only in the way that they themselves want to be treated. Instead of just reacting, Christians act in a positive way for the good of others.

Indeed, Jesus Christ gives the true way to live.

Panel Recommends General Financing Of Social Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — An official government advisory panel has called for a "substantial infusion" of general revenues instead of higher Social Security taxes to pay for increasingly expensive retirement benefits.

The recommendation, announced Sunday by the Social Security Advisory Council after months of study, represents a turnaround from its earlier tentative recommendation that Social Security taxes be increased. That recommendation was that the tax be levied on the first $24,000 of every worker's wages compared with the first $14,100, which is the present level.

Hike For Self-Employed

The council did recommend higher Social Security taxes for the self-employed, however, and reaffirmed its suggestions that benefits be liberalized for those already retired but be restrained for future retirees.

The recommendations of the 13-member council of prominent citizens are not binding on the government but are considered highly influential.

The panel, headed by W. Allen Wallis, chancellor of the University of Rochester, was appointed last year by the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

The new recommendation

Bell's New Texas Boss Wants To Tell Other Side Of Story

DALLAS (AP)—Charles Marshall, Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.'s new boss in Texas, says the company wants the opportunity to tell its side of the story concerning its publicity in recent months.

Marshall, who came here from his job as vice president of suburban operations for metropolitan Chicago, said newspaper coverage of Bell's problems have been "sensational beyond what the facts would allow."

"Our plea is that we are given the opportunity to tell our side of the story," he said.

Service, Budget 'Strong'

Marshall said Bell's Texas service and budget are "strong," but did admit officials were forced to borrow 1,000 employees from other states last year to assist the floundering Houston system. He said that figure is now being "worked down."

Customers have cause to doubt Bell's system because of the recent publicity which broke when Bell's former Texas chief, T. O. Gravitt, committed suicide and charged the massive telephone company in illegal rate setting and political contributions, he said. The company gained additional headlines when a dismissed Bell executive, James Ashley of San Antonio, and the Gravitt family filed a multimillion dollar libel suit against Bell.

"Allegations, no matter how distorted, make good copy," Marshall said. "You can use words such as 'said to have' but it's like someone showing you a painting."

"He can tell you all about the painting, but the first thing you're going to do is look at the painting."

"The reader will always go to the emotional phrase. And the denial always comes after the allegation."

"The coverage has been extremely heavy," Marshall said. "But I don't resent or fear investigation. We started this one ourselves."

He was referring to the internal Bell probe shortly before Gravitt's death.

Despite the geographic size of Texas, Marshall said, "Rates in Texas for local service are very comparable to those of Illinois Bell over equal distance and equal calling areas."

"It's in the same ball park," he said.

Trouble Dogs Pilot Postal Tests

KOKOMO, Ind. (AP) — A pilot program set up here to develop standards for mail carriers is being muddled by cross charges of sabotage, mass layoffs and talk of a nationwide postmen's strike.

The U.S. Postal Service says the study was ordered "to establish fair and adequate work standards" for mailmen and to develop foot and motor routes "with equal annual workloads."

But President James H. Rademacher of the National Association of Letter Carriers says 15,000 jobs will be eliminated by the program, which has become known as the Kokomo Plan.

Ronald Takacs, president of Letter Carriers Local 533 here, declares, "They want to put 20,000 to 30,000 carriers out" of work.

But Postmaster Richard P. Gerhard says no one even knows whether there would be a net reduction in jobs nationwide if the plan were implemented.

Gerhard adds, "There is a no-layoff clause in the agreement with the letter carriers. So if there were a reduction, it would be done by attrition."

Postal executives here say the program is not being given a fair chance and talk privately of pressure being exerted by "big (letter carrier) unions in the East" to make sure the plan does not work.

Asked if the union is conducting a slowdown, Takacs gave an emphatic "no," adding that the carriers are "giving their full cooperation."

"The plan is not working," Takacs said in an interview. "We're using more overtime. I don't think anybody is getting done in eight hours. They're all working nine and 10 hours."

The plan, called Letter Carrier Route Evaluation System, was drawn up under contract with Lester B. Knight & Associates, a Chicago engineering firm. Postal officials have not discussed costs.

Gerhard said in an interview Friday that a postman's "average salary is $14,000 and we have a right to demand a fair day's work out of him."

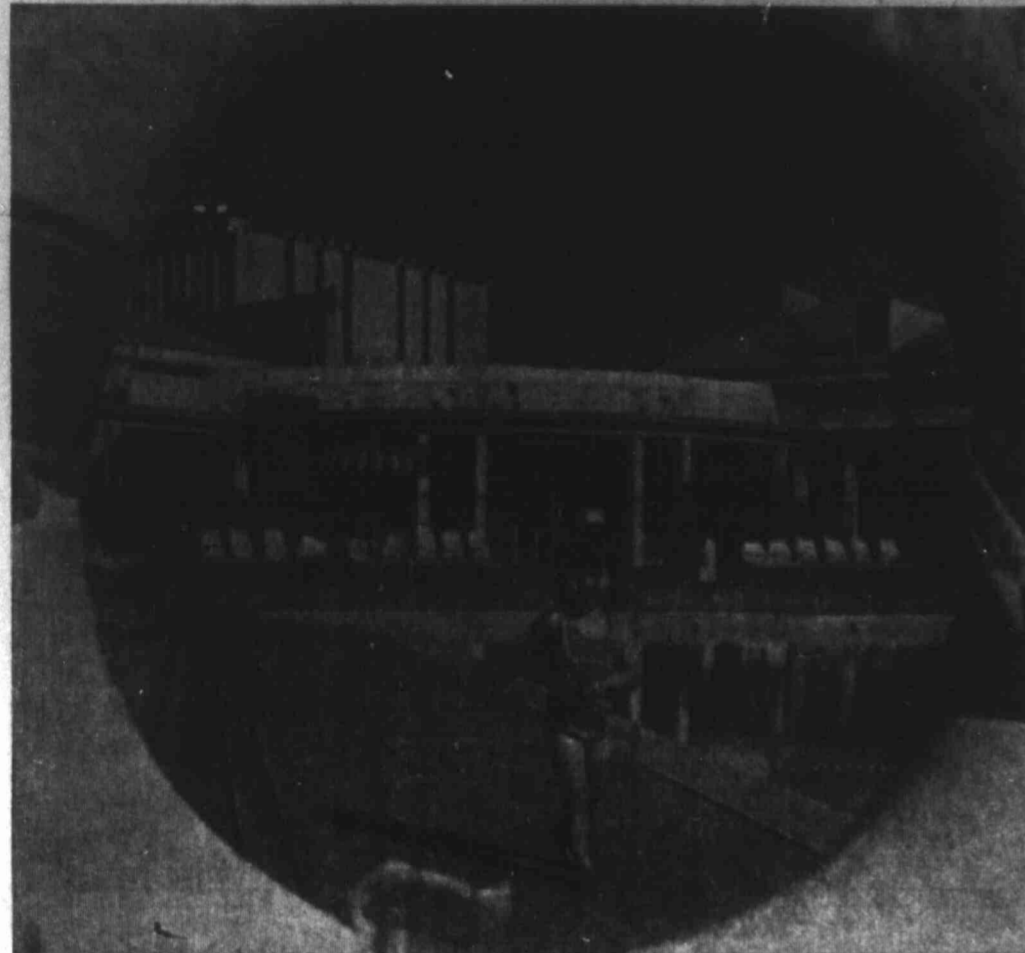

Gerhard, a postal employee 30 years and son of a lifetime letter carrier, said, "My father was 5 feet 2 and 120 pounds, but this program wouldn't have bothered him a bit."

But the letter carriers aren't convinced. Takacs said, "They gave us a brainwashing that this was to benefit the carriers. Now they have eliminated routes at the South Branch and three carriers lost their jobs."

"I don't want a strike," Takacs said, "but if it stays like it is now, we have no choice." A strike was authorized at the letter carriers convention at Seattle last August, if work standards from the Kokomo Plan go into effect.

Bargaining is to begin in April for current contracts which expire in June.

Home Builders Predict Upturn By Mid-Spring

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
DALLAS (AP) — The president of the National Association of Home Builders (NAHB) says he believes enough mortgage money is being pumped into the housing industry to bring it out of a major slump before the middle of this year.

Lewis Censer of Atlanta, head of the 77,000-member organization holding its annual convention-exposition for some 50,000 members here this week, said in an interview Sunday, "I'm encouraged that money is flowing back to savings and loan institutions. When enough mortgage money gets back to lenders, the housing industry will come back quickly, maybe by mid-spring."

Censer said he believes the housing slump has hit its low point and the bad times might persist for only another 75 days.

Pianist Kibben Climbs Mountain Riding Unicycle

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — "Because it was a nice day," pianist James Kibben said when asked why he rode a unicycle up and down Flagstaff Mountain.

Kibben claimed a world record for his 2½-hour, 9½-mile ride Sunday up the 2,500-foot mountain and back down again. He's challenging all comers to try and outcycle him.

Guinness' Book of World Records has no listing for unicycle riding. But the 27-year-old Rapid City, S.D., native who plays the piano with a local band said he plans to submit his feat to the Guinness publishers.

Community Action Agency Here Assured Of Funds

AUSTIN Bureau — Gov. Dolph Briscoe has announced that the Midland Community Action Agency will receive federal poverty funds to continue operations through March.

Briscoe said he had waived his 30-day review for $3,967,807 in new federal grant funds for 47 Texas community action agencies and seven limited purpose agencies. The governor's move will expedite the processing of these Economic Opportunity Act funds to the agencies.

Midland's agency will receive $8,250. The Community Action Agency of Pecos County in Fort Stockton will receive $6,711.

Winds Fan Cotton Blaze At Childress

CHILDRESS, Tex. (AP) — It is believed a bale of cotton already smoldering when it was brought to the Farmers Co-op gin started a fire that caused an estimated $100,000 to $200,000 in damage here, fire officials say.

The fire burned about 150 cotton-filled trailers Sunday as firemen battled winds gusting to more than 50 miles per hour. It took 19 hours to control the blaze.

Fire Chief Merrell quoted a spokesman for the gin as saying 700-750 bales of cotton—averaging 500 pounds each—were lost in the fire which began about 2:30 a.m. Several trailers were saved, Merrell said.

A frame house was destroyed when winds carried flaming cotton to it. The occupants escaped without injury, Merrell said.

Merrell said his own four-man department was helped by about 30 members of the volunteer fire department of this Northwest Texas town plus about 25 to 30 firemen from Memphis, Paducah, Wellington and Quanah.

One fireman was overcome by smoke but not hospitalized. The fire chief said each trailer contained about five bales of cotton. Farmers use the trailers to bring their cotton to the gin.

Merrell said most of the area's cotton had already been ginned.

Free Double May Be Costly

"Please say a few words about the free double," requests a reader. "My husband likes to double the opponents at high contracts whether he can beat them or not. He says that he isn't doubling them into game, so his doubles are free. "Here is a double he perpetrated last night:

"Declarer ruffed the opening spade lead, led a trump to dummy's seven and finessed with the queen of diamonds. He next cashed the ace of diamonds, led a trump to dummy's queen and ruffed a diamond.

"South then led a club to dummy's ace and discarded two clubs on the good diamonds. He took all 13 tricks, scoring 300 below the line and 950 above the line.

"According to my calculations, this double cost 600 points. Is this what experts call a free double?"

No, ma'am. Experts have many words for this kind of double, but "free" isn't one of them.

Bad Risk
It's a bad risk to double a high contract just on general principles. If the double succeeds, you usually score 200 points instead of the normal penalty of 100 points. All you gain is 100 points. If the double goes sour, you usually lose more than twice as much. In this case, East lost six times as much as he stood to gain.

It may be sensible to take the short end of the odds when you're sure of what you're doing, but not when you're backed only by a vague hope. Doubling a high contract may win or lose a large number of points, but it is never "free."

Daily Question
Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S-K Q 8 7 3 H-6 D-8 4 C-J 10 7 6 2. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid four spades. This jump to game promises very strong trump support, usually five or more cards, a singleton or void, and not more than 9 points in high cards.

Noted Artist Thomas Hart Benton, 85, Dies

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Thomas Hart Benton, whose paintings bore a rugged flavor about America that won him world renown, is dead at 85.

Three months short of his 86th birthday, Benton was taken from his studio by ambulance to a midtown hospital late Sunday night where he was pronounced dead.

A friend of the family quoted the artist's widow, Rita, as saying that Sunday afternoon he had completed a mural depicting the origins of country music. The mural had been commissioned by the Country Music Foundation in Nashville, Tenn.

After dinner in the home the couple owned here for 45 years, Benton returned to his studio, which is set up in a carriage house behind the residence. Mrs. Benton found her husband on the floor. He apparently had fallen from a chair.

When he started the Country Music mural nearly a year ago, he said it would be his last. However, little weight was given to the statement by his many followers, who recalled that he issued the same warning 14 years earlier. Then he was commissioned by the Harry S. Truman Library in Independence, Mo., to paint a large mural for the library's lobby, depicting the nation's pioneer spirit. He said then that the mural was to be his last, because "I'm just too old to do all that climbing of ladders."

THREE AREAS CITED— McGovern Says He Was Right In 1972

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than two years after his overwhelming defeat for the Presidency, Sen. George McGovern is more convinced than ever that he was "right from the start" about the nation's major problems.

And with the United States in its worst economic slump in four decades, the South Dakota Democrat says, "I really believe that the ideas I stood for in 1972 have now arrived as far as the American people are concerned."

In simplest terms, those ideas are a sharp cut in military spending, fundamental tax reform and major public employment programs to guarantee every American a job.

McGovern hopes for action in all three areas by the new, heavily Democratic 94th Congress despite what he feels is an "inadequate program" proposed by President Ford.

Beyond that, he says the Democrats must as a party take an uncompromising stand on major economic and social issues in order to recapture the presidency in 1976. That was the theme of his recent speech to the party's Kansas City miniconvention, where McGovern received a rousing reception, and of his comments in a relaxed, hour-long interview in his Senate office here last week.

Load Off His Shoulders The senator said his relaxed mood these days stems from his decision against another attempt at the presidency.

"Just making a decision not to run for anything gets a great burden off your shoulders," said McGovern, who won a third term by about 15,000 votes last November to climax a six-year stretch marked by two Senate races sandwiched around his four-year effort to win the presidency.

"I don't think that we can beat Ford with somebody who is afraid to take a strong stand on central issues," he said. Concerned, Discouraged

"I was both concerned and somewhat discouraged to see a number of Democrats trying to find the center of the road at Kansas City," he went on. "If that's what we're looking for, let's leave Ford in. He's a cautious, prudent man."

"The big question is whether we can move with enough force and enough imagination to solve the nation's basic problems."

Noting that Ford had said "the state of the union is not good" after six years of GOP rule, McGovern said, "I think we're going to go into a major depression unless we adopt bold strategies — perhaps even a second New Deal — to get this country out of its problems."

Syria Frees AP Newsman

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syrian security agents released Associated Press correspondent Nicholas Ludington today after holding him for three days, the United States Embassy in Damascus reported.

The Embassy said Ludington left for Beirut. Ludington, a 40-year-old American based in Beirut, and Louis Fares, a Syrian employed part-time by the AP in Damascus, were arrested Friday in connection with stories Ludington wrote last week during the visit of King Faisal of Saudi Arabia to Damascus.

Fares was released Saturday.

Midland College Board To Discuss Nurses Program

Action on an agreement with Odessa College for a registered nurses program will be taken Tuesday night by the Midland College board of trustees.

MC President Al G. Langford said registered nurses' training is new at Midland College.

The agreement calls for the Midland school to provide "all academic training and Odessa College to provide the technical course" because sufficient clinical facilities are unavailable in Midland.

The meeting, scheduled for 7:30 p.m., will be the first held in the board room on the new campus.

Also on the Tuesday agenda are release of bonds, appointment of a chamber of commerce representative and review and evaluation of Langford's contract.

Trustees at the meeting will, in addition, learn the details of a final visit by an accreditation team, scheduled April 8-11.

A construction report, approval of new personnel appointments and presentation of the tax office's error and correction list also are on the agenda.

Odessa S&L Firm Names New Chief

ODESSA — Emil F. Beck has been named president of First Savings and Loan Association here.

He will replace Dr. Haskell E. Hestand, who served as president of the association for 17 years. Hestand will continue to serve as director emeritus.

Beck joined the savings and loan association in 1958.

MILITANTS DEFIANT— Moderates Hopeful Of Truce In Ulster

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Moderate Protestants generated cautious hopes today for the resumption of the cease-fire in Northern Ireland following the start of negotiations between British officials and political representatives of the Irish Republican Army.

However, Protestant militants denounced the peace talks and vowed to "destroy" the IRA and its Roman Catholic supporters.

"The process of salvaging the cease-fire has now begun, but much more groundwork has to be done," said the Rev. William Ahow of the Church of Ireland, who sat in as an observer at the first peace parley Sunday.

The Rev. Stanley Worrall, a Methodist with access to IRA leaders, said: "We are fairly convinced that the cease-fire ended by accident rather than by design. We think it was through lack of communication and we believe that both sides wanted to keep it going."

They were among the Protestant clergymen who helped negotiate the IRA's Christmas cease-fire that ended last Thursday.

The meeting Sunday brought together high-ranking British civil servants and two members of Sinn Fein, the political arm of the IRA's Provisional faction. The meeting was held in a house in a Belfast suburb and the Sinn Feiners were Maire Drumm and Billy McKee.

As they talked, more than 25,000 Irishmen on both sides of the border prayed publicly for peace. An estimated 12,000 attended a service at Belfast City Hall led by Protestant and Roman Catholic clergymen. In the Irish Republic, about 15,000 persons gathered around the main Dublin post office for prayers.

The Ulster Defense Association and other private Protestant armies in Northern Ireland accused the British of betraying the province's Protestant majority.

"We have now reached the point of survival or extinction," the UDA said in a statement. "We intend to survive. We intend to destroy the enemy and all those who support it."

Khmer Rouge Threaten Cambodian Naval Base

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Khmer Rouge captured an island in the Mekong River north of Phnom Penh, posing a threat to the government naval base at the junction of the Mekong and Tonle Sap rivers, field reports said today.

About 100 insurgents drove government forces from Oknha Tei island Sunday night, and thousands of refugees fled across the river. Field reports said landing craft took about 100 government troops to try to recapture the island.

Refugees said the Khmer Rouge moved to the island by motorized canoes from the east bank of the Mekong, where they occupied a large stretch seven miles northeast of the capital.

Other Khmer Rouge forces threatened Prek Pheou, a district town seven miles north of Phnom Penh. The insurgents advanced to within 300 yards of the town's military fuel depot and overran a small outpost nearby, field reports said.

Four rockets were fired into the center of Phnom Penh early today, and police said they killed four civilians and wounded eight. Fifteen rockets were reported fired into the Phnom Penh airport and surrounding villages, killing five persons and wounding 16.

In South Vietnam, more small attacks were reported around Saigon.

The South Vietnamese command said the Viet Cong blew up a bridge on a secondary road six miles southeast of the capital and a larger bridge 95 miles southwest of the city on the main highway from the Mekong Delta.

Traffic was suspended on the secondary road near the city but continued over a parallel bridge on the other route.

The Viet Cong have blown up more than 60 bridges in South Vietnam in three months.

Area Residents Place In Tourney

Three area residents placed in events Saturday in the Taff City Invitational Speech Tournament at Lee High School, jointly hosted by the speech and drama squads of Midland's two high schools.

Taking a second prize in girls extemporaneous speaking was Christie Lawrence of Odessa High School. The team of Joe Carroll and Richard Edgell from Andrews High School garnered a second place in cross examination debate.

None of Midland's speech or drama students competed in the weekend events.

Plane Crash-Lands Near Roark Ranch

KERMIT — A twin-engine Cessna 411 enroute from Odessa to Kermit crash-landed in a pasture approximately a mile north of Winkler County Airport and burned Friday.

The pilot, George M. Campbell, escaped with only minor injuries.

Campbell belly-landed the aircraft on pasture land near the Roark Ranch after the plane experienced engine trouble.

The crash is under investigation by the Federal Aviation Administration.

Units from the Kermit Volunteer Fire Department extinguished the blaze.

R-T Treasurer Elected To Group

Harland D. Valiquette, treasurer of The Midland Reporter-Telegram, has been elected to membership in the Institute of Newspaper Controllers and Finance Officers.

Formed in 1947, the institute is the international press association for financial, accounting and business management. It has 900 members in the U.S., Canada and abroad.

Americans pictured riverboats on the Mississippi, farmers scything hay, Jesse James slaying a holdup, Ozark hill people and black share-croppers. Diminutive — he was five feet tall — Benton offered a fiery individualism that haunted him sporadically through his long artistic career, yet carried him to heights he never could have imagined.

He made no effort to conceal his lifelong love affair with his home state of Missouri. The rural flavor to which he was born and the early influences of urban centers was translated in the 1920s and 1930s into a school of art he developed with fellow Midwesterners John Steuart Curry of Kansas and Grant Wood of Iowa. The concept, becoming known as Regionalism, had the artists mirroring America's image of itself.

His family was well-established in Missouri. He was the namesake of Thomas Hart Benton, a great uncle who served in the U.S. Senate for three decades.

Among his widely known works are "Modern America," painted with Mexican muralist Clemente Orozco for the New School for Social Research in New York; "Boomtown," at the Rochester Museum and "Cotton Pickers," at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York.

He lived in New York for 23 years. Rita Piacenza, a student at the Chelsea Neighborhood Association, where he taught, became his wife in 1922. They had two children. Their daughter, Jessie P. Lyman, now lives in Los Angeles, their son, Thomas P. Benton, lives in Boston.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Miller Wins Crown By Nine Strokes

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — He's almost too good to be true. He's tall, slender, blond and good-looking enough to serve as a male model.

He's polite, courteous and soft-spoken. He's a non-drinker, a non-smoker, an elder of his church and possessed of a vocabulary in which "heck" and "damn" are the strongest expletives.

And, right now, Johnny Miller may be playing the ancient game of golf better than anyone has every played it before.

His recent accomplishments are the stuff of legends.

"I like setting records," Miller said Sunday after an astonishing, 11-under-par 61 gained him still another runaway victory, this time in the $200,000 Dean Martin-Tucson Open golf tournament.

"That's what records are for — to be broken.

"But it's getting to be a problem. When you set records you have to live up to them. I want to keep on improving, keep on progressing. How am I gonna top this? How can I keep on like this?"

Of course, he asked the same questions a week ago, when he won the Phoenix Open with a 260 total, the lowest 72-hole score in 20 years of tournament competition. He was 24 under par for that tournament.

But he found a way to top it. He went 25 under par in winning Tucson, composing an artistic, 11-under-par effort in the final round over the Tucson National Golf Club course, at 7,200 yards one of the longest layouts the touring pros play all year and a course that had been toughened and strengthened this season by the addition of water on three holes.

His total was 263. He won by nine strokes, compared with victory margins of 8, 7 and 14 strokes in his last three previous individual starts.

In completing an unprecedented second consecutive sweep of the two Arizona tournaments, this year the kickoff events on the pro tour, Miller has led or shared the lead in every round and has had scores of 67, 61, 68, 64, 68, 67 and 61 for a season stroke average of 68.4.

Bill Walton Wants To Break Contract?

MILWAUKEE (AP) — If Bill Walton is trying to break his estimated $2 million contract with the Portland Trail Blazers, the celebrated rookie center isn't saying. In fact, Walton's new counsel, Black Panther Party attorney Charles Garry, is denying it.

Walton confirmed Sunday he had severed his relationship with longtime associate Sam Gilbert, who helped the 6-foot-11 former UCLA center negotiate his original National Basketball Association contract, in favor of Garry.

And Gilbert claimed it was because Walton didn't want to play with the Blazers. And he said the only reason Walton returned to the Blazers after suffering with a bone spur above his left ankle, was that he couldn't break the contract.

It was too cold in Portland, Gilbert said Walton had told him, and his feet hurt.

Walton had no faith in the team physician, Gilbert said he was told, and some of the players were getting down on him.

But asked whether the subject of breaking Walton's contract had ever come up, Garry said: "Absolutely not. The contract never came up in any of our discussions."

Garry said he didn't even really know why Walton had hired him. He said Walton told him "he wanted someone he could trust, would look after his own interests and be comfortable with."

"The only thing I've done is read his contract to understand it and familiarize myself with his work," said Garry.

Walton, a vegetarian and naturalist, said after Portland's 122-108 defeat at Milwaukee Sunday: "Garry is my lawyer. Also a friend of mine." It was Walton's third game following the 18-game absence.

Asked about Gilbert's contentions that he wants to be traded to another club, Walton said, "I deal in the world of reality. I don't know anything about it. I can only deal with what I know."

Asked if he wanted to remain with Portland, he said, "I like to play basketball."

"Basketball is basketball," he said. "I wouldn't come to Milwaukee for my health. I'm here today. I'm going to Kansas City tomorrow."

"You're asking me to comment on society," he said. "You know, I'm trying to get dressed, man."

Walton, toweeling his shoulder length red hair, wore a T-shirt which proclaimed, "Be kind to animals. Don't eat them."

ABA ROUNDUP— Nets Post Win

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — It's lucky 13 for Coach Kevin Loughery of the New York Nets.

His players assured him that he would coach the East Division in the American Basketball Association All-Star Game at San Antonio, Tex., by beating Virginia 113-91 Sunday. The coach whose team was in first place through Sunday's games was automatically made the all-star coach. The Nets' victory made certain they would remain in first ahead of Kentucky.

"It's a great honor for me," said Loughery. "I've been around pro basketball for 13 years. And I might add I never deserved it." He spent 10 years as a player and a half year as coach in the National Basketball Association. He is in his second season as coach of the Nets.

In other ABA games Sunday, Kentucky clobbered Denver 114-101, Memphis defeated San Antonio 101-94 and Indiana crushed San Diego 106-91.

Loughery will be joined in the All-Star Game by three of his players — Julius Erving, a first-team forward and the only unanimous selection, and Billy Paulz, a second-team center, and Brian Taylor, a second-team guard.

Forward Larry Kenon finished fourth in the voting but didn't make the team because of the rule which says every team must be represented. Stu Johnson of Memphis was placed on the squad as the only representative of the Sounds.

Kenon certainly played like an All-Star Sunday, scoring 23 points and grabbing 13 rebounds.

Colombes 114, Nuggets 101 Kentucky's Artis Gilmore's 34 points and 19 rebounds paced the Colombes as they handed Denver only its fifth loss in the last 35 games. Dan Issel scored 17 of his 19 points in the first half for the winners, who led at halftime 58-50.

Sounds 101, Spurs 94 After San Antonio, with James Silas putting on a one-man scoring show, pulled to within one point at 95-91, Tom Owens scored five straight points as Memphis out-scored the Spurs 9-3 in the game's waning moments.

Silas scored 18 points in the final 12 minutes, including 10 in a row, and finished the game with 33 points.

Pacers 108, Q's 91 A 34-point performance by Billy Knight gave Indiana its victory over San Diego, dropping the Q's a full game behind Utah in their battle for fourth place in the Western Division.

Caldwell Jones scored 29 points and Dwight Lamar had 20 for San Diego, but the Q's played without their leading scorer, Travis Grant, out with a knee injury. And guard Warren Jabali saw action for only a few minutes because of a pulled muscle.

Pistons 100, Cavaliers 98 Detroit posted its 10th triumph in 12 outings behind its guards. John Mengelt scored 23 points and Dave Bing had 21, with 12 coming in the fourth quarter, including six of the Pistons' last eight.

Suns 100, Kings 97 Charlie Scott scored 28 points for Phoenix before being ejected from the game early in the fourth quarter.

Braves 117, Jazz 112 Buffalo's Bob McAdoo outscored New Orleans' Pete Maravich 43-40 as the Braves posted their fifth straight triumph. McAdoo had 20 points in the third period, when the Braves outscored New Orleans 32-2.

Alabama looked like a conference champion Saturday when taking apart LSU on the shoot-out of Charles Russell and Charles Cleveland. Kentucky, meanwhile, almost broke under the strain of a Mississippi rally before winning.

"We definitely had a let-down," said Kentucky Coach Joe Hall, whose team was perhaps looking ahead to Alabama.

Elsewhere in college basketball Saturday, top-ranked Indiana buried Northwestern 82-56; No. 2 UCLA walloped California 102-72; third-rated Louisville nipped Drake 55-53 in overtime; No. 4 North Carolina State defeated No. 14 North Carolina 88-85 in overtime; No. 5 Maryland turned back Navy 87-73; Stanford upset No. 6 Southern Cal 67-66; No. 13 Arizona defeated Texas-El Paso 69-57; 15th-ranked Providence defeated Massachusetts 86-74; No. 16 Minnesota downed Michigan State 82-71; Lafayette upset No. 17 Rutgers 72-66; No. 18 Tennessee whipped Florida 59-56; Michigan beat Iowa 75-70; and South Carolina, ranked No. 20, trimmed Davidson 85-68.

Alabama started slow but picked up steam behind Russell and Cleveland, who combined for 48 points. The Crimson Tide broke open the game by outscoring LSU 16-2 late in the first half. They led 43-24 at halftime and Newton substituted freely in the second half.

Kevin Grevey and Mike Flynn combined for 49 points and Jimmy Connor added some clutch baskets late in the game as Kentucky held off Mississippi. The Wildcats led most of a 16-point lead before pulling it out.

Indiana Wins Kent Benson's 20 points led Indiana past Northwestern in a Big Ten game that extended the Hoosiers' winning streak to 19 over two seasons, longest in the country among major colleges. The Hoosiers led by 10 points at the half and poured it on after intermission, racing to a 29-point advantage at one time.

UCLA built a 54-33 halftime lead and breezed by California behind Richard Washington and Dave Meyers, who divided 34 points.

Andre McCarter scored 16 and three other UCLA players were in double figures. Carl Bird scored 18 points to lead Cal, but didn't get hot until the Bruins led by 25 points.

Louisville kept its record perfect at 12-0, with a little luck against Drake. The Cardinals were given a reprieve when Drake's Ken Harris missed a shot at the end of regulation, then went on to win in overtime as Wesley Cox hit two free throws with nine seconds left.

Overtime Win A free throw by Kenny Carr with 17 seconds left in overtime gave North Carolina State its victory over North Carolina. The triumph continued the Wolfpack's combination over the Tar Heels the last few years.

North Carolina State has beaten North Carolina nine straight times dating back to the 1971-72 season.

John Lucas scored 20 points in just 26 minutes, leading Maryland to its easy victory over Navy.

Stanford completed a sparkling weekend by beating Southern Cal as Rich Kelley scored 30 points. The victory was just that — phenomenal. "Without doubt, it was the greatest round of golf of my life," said Miller, who now has shot 61 — within a single stroke of the lowest competitive round in four history — on three occasions, including twice within the last two weeks.

"It could have been the greatest round I'll ever shoot," he murmured, a touch of awe in his voice and speaking just above a whisper.

Tom Watson lost the battle for second to Mahaffey by a single stroke. Watson had 67-274. Don Iverson held a 50-60 foot birdie putt on the final hole to tie Mike Hill for fourth at 276. Each had a last round 68.

Abdul-Jabbar Super Outshines Walton, Scores 50

By The Associated Press Amidst all the controversy surrounding Portland's rookie center, Bill Walton, and his desire — or lack of same — to play pro basketball, Milwaukee pivotman Kareem Abdul-Jabbar ran a clinic for Walton, a sellout crowd of 10,938 at the Milwaukee Arena and a national television audience on what the pro game is all about.

In one of his finest performances, Abdul-Jabbar poured in 50 points, grabbed 15 rebounds, dished out 11 assists and left little doubt as to who is the dominant force in the National Basketball Association, leading the Bucks to a 122-108 decision over Portland Sunday. The win put Milwaukee over 500 for the first time this season at 22-21.

Abdul-Jabbar was overwhelming, sinking 18 of 30 shots — skyhooks, driving flips, lay-ins, jumpers and tap-ins. He completely outplayed Walton in the first regular season meeting of the former UCLA star.

Elsewhere in the NBA Sunday, the Atlanta Hawks beat the Seattle SuperSonics 117-109, the Boston Celtics nipped the Philadelphia 76ers 102-100, the Detroit Pistons defeated the Cleveland Cavaliers 100-98, the Phoenix Suns topped the Kansas City-Omaha Kings 113-97 and the Buffalo Braves beat the New Orleans Jazz 117-112.

Abdul-Jabbar did it all in helping the Bucks erase a 14-point first quarter deficit and break away from a 77-77 tie in the third quarter with a 13-2 spurt.

Walton, meanwhile, played 21 minutes in his third game after an 18-game absence, blamed on a heel spur. He scored seven points, had six rebounds and seven assists, but was no match for Abdul-Jabbar.

Afterwards, Walton confirmed he has retained attorney Charles Garry, who has represented the Black Panther Party, but said little else about reports he is trying to break his estimated $2 million pact.

Garry, meanwhile, said he has "absolutely not" been hired to help Walton break his contract.

Meanwhile, Blazers Coach Lenny Wilkens said, "There have been stories like that all year long. I can't worry about those things. I know he's here and he's playing — that's all I care about."

Hawks 117, Sonics 109 Tom Van Arsdale's 32 points led Atlanta to its eighth consecutive victory over the struggling Sonics, who have dropped five of six games on an extended road trip without the services of star forward Spencer Heywood, who is sidelined with pneumonia.

Celtics 102, 76ers 100 Two free throws by Dave Cowens with one second remaining gave Boston its 12th consecutive triumph over Philadelphia in Boston Garden. Only seconds earlier, JoJo White tied the game for Boston with a jumper.

Pistons 100, Cavaliers 98 Detroit posted its 10th triumph in 12 outings behind its guards. John Mengelt scored 23 points and Dave Bing had 21, with 12 coming in the fourth quarter, including six of the Pistons' last eight.

PACK FACES BRONCHOS IN ODESSA—

Lee-Permian Showdown Set

By BOB DILLON
The Midland Lee Rebels, sporting a 4-0 District 5-4A basketball record and a 15-game winning streak, face the first of three tough opponents Tuesday night when they tangle with the Odessa Permian Panthers in the Lee Gymnasium.

Eagles served notice when they surprised Midland, 64-51, on the Bulldog home court no less, last week. So the big shootout this Tuesday has to be the Lee-Permian battle and both have been impressive. Permian's only loss in district play has been to Coach James Cagle's Bulldogs, 62-52, in the Permian Fieldhouse.

ing 10.2. In all four loop games, four of the starting five has been in the double figures and the Rebs are averaging 74.5 per outing. Cobb is joined by another 6-5 senior in Donnie Roberts, who is the other Bulldog in the double digits with a 13.2 average in loop play for the Pack. Midland (15-6), takes on Odessa High (2-19) and (0-4) in the OHS Fieldhouse Tuesday while in other league games, Big Spring is at Abilene Cooper and Abilene at San Angelo.

Bulldogs, who play the Rebels in the MHS Gymnasium Jan. 28. After Lee takes on Permian Tuesday, the Rebs face dangerous Abilene in the Lee Gym Friday before the big Tall City shootout the following Tuesday with the Pack. Abilene and Abilene Cooper sport 2-2 loop marks and could still cause some problems along the way during the first half race for the title.

Willie Lanier Plays Final Game Tonight

MIAMI (AP) — The answers to pro football's problems lie with "reasonable men sitting down and working out sensible settlements reasonably," one of the game's retiring stars suggests. "We cannot continue to live in discord," added linebacker Willie Lanier of the Kansas City Chiefs who will be pulling on a jersey for the last time in tonight's Pro Bowl game at the Orange Bowl.

The game, matching all-star teams of the American and National Conferences, will have a 8 p.m. CST kickoff. It will be televised nationally by ABC-TV. Lanier, 29, a graduate of Morgan State and a defensive titan in the National Football League for eight years, will play with the favored AFC squad, which will feature the quarterbacking of Ken Stabler and Bob Griese, the running of such stars as O. Metcalf Likes Tech

Hull Sparks Ice Victory

By The Associated Press

Bobby Hull was given added duties Sunday, and he immediately responded by breaking out of a scoring slump.

"Changing the face of the coach may get the team back on track," said Bob Graham, president of the World Hockey Association Winnipeg Jets. So he named the 35-year-old Hull to immediately take over the game-to-game coaching duties, replacing Rudy Pilous.

Down 4-2 going into the final period, Winnipeg slammed home seven goals to crush the Cleveland Crusaders 9-4. Hull's 38th goal of the season and the second of the night tied up the contest, 4-4, at 5:54 of the third period.

The newly-installed coach also handed out two assists as the Jets snapped a four-game losing streak.

In other WHA games Sunday, Minnesota defeated New England 3-1, Quebec stopped Chicago 5-2 and Vancouver downed Indianapolis 5-1.

Hull had been Winnipeg's player-coach during the team's first two seasons, but yielded the coaching duties to Pilous at the beginning of this season. The hiring of Pilous was generally regarded as one way of reducing Hull's workload.

The hockey superstar himself had said that he wasn't effective coaching and playing at the same time.

Anders Hedberg led the Jets, scoring four goals, three in the third period, and assisting on both tallies by Hull.

Sabres Blank Scouts

By The Associated Press

For his 25th career birthday, Buffalo's Gary Bromley got the Kansas City Scouts. For their 44th career National Hockey League game, the Kansas City Scouts got nothing.

"Come the third period I was really hoping for a shutout," Bromley said after the Sabres blanked the expansion Scouts 5-0 Sunday night. "It's a good way to celebrate a birthday. I heard the fans singing 'Happy Birthday' in the third period and I had to make sure I didn't lose my concentration."

While the fans were serenading him with "Happy Birthday," the Scouts' tune was "Stand Up, Stand Up." They certainly didn't make Bromley go down very often, managing only 20 shots as the goalie posted his fourth shutout of the season. The Scouts have a 9-31-4 record.

Elsewhere in the NHL, the Boston Bruins whipped the Toronto Maple Leafs 6-3, the Los Angeles Kings trounced the Montreal Canadiens 6-3, the Chicago Black Hawks downed the California Seals 3-1, the Pittsburgh Penguins edged the Washington Capitals 3-2 and the Minnesota North Stars and Detroit Red Wings battled to a 4-4 tie.

Buffalo's offensive fireworks came from Jim Lorentz, who scored twice; Rick Dudley and Jerry Korab, who both scored a goal and added a pair of assists, and Pete McNab, who tallied one goal and helped set up another.

Bruins 6, Maple Leafs 3

Boston's Carol Vadnais and Don Marquette both scored their 100th career goals as the Bruins snapped Toronto's three-game winning streak.

Vadnais blasted a 40-foot power play drive past Dunc Wilson and Terry O'Reilly followed to give the Bruins a 2-0 lead in the first period.

Marquette got his goal on a breakaway pass from Bobby Orr in the third period.

Kings 6, Canadiens 3

Spearheaded by Bob Nevin's fifth career three-goal game, the Los Angeles vaulted over Montreal into first place in Division

3. The victory, ninth in their last 10 road games, gave the Kings 64 points, one more than Montreal.

Black Hawks 3, Seals 1

Power play goals by Jim Pappin with 40 seconds left in the first period and John Marks with 10 seconds remaining in the second paced Chicago's triumph. Pappin notched another goal 'fore an empty-net 14 seconds before the end of the nationally televised game.

Penguins 3, Capitals 2

Colin Campbell's first NHL goal — a second-period breakaway — helped Pittsburgh reach the .500 mark. The Penguins, who also got goals from Steve Atkinson and Tom Williams, have dropped only one of their last 11 games.

North Stars 4, Red Wings 4

Marcel Dionne's 24th goal of the season with 58 seconds left gave Detroit a tie and extended Minnesota's winless streak on the road to 22 games.

Dallas Baptist Captures Two

By The Associated Press

Dallas Baptist is making waves in the Texoma Athletic Basketball Conference the size of whitecaps you see on big Lake Texoma along the Texas-Oklahoma border on a blustery winter day.

Rated behind Midwestern and McMurry before the season started, Dallas Baptist outgunned Midwestern 95-84 Thursday night then turned to a good defense to nudge McMurry 63-61 Saturday night.

Dallas Baptist and surprising Oklahoma Christian share the league lead with 3-0 ledgers. Oklahoma Christian downed Lubbock Christian 67-61 to keep pace.

Midwestern is 3-1 while Bethany Nazarene and Lubbock Christian stand 1-1 in the early going.

The key game this week is Saturday night when Dallas Baptist is at Oklahoma Christian.

Tonight, Bethany Nazarene hosts American Christian and Phillips is at Northern Colorado.

Rebel Junior Varsity Wins Seminole Cage Tournament

SEMINOLE — Coach Jack Stephenson's Midland Lee junior varsity topped the Seminole JV, 64-47, in the finals of the Seminole JV Basketball Tournament Saturday night.

Billy Ray Ennis sparked the Rebel attack with 14 points while Carl Davis had 11 for the Indians.

The victory gives the Rebs a 17-5 season mark and more important, they stand 4-0 in District 5-4A competition. Stephenson's sophomore unit has posted a 9-1 mark and both teams hopes to improve on their records Tuesday night when they tangle with the Odessa Permian sophomore and JV units in the Lee Gym.

Ennis was named to the all-tourney team along with teammates Brent Huckabay and Barry Blake. Rusty Maroney of the Midland High sophomore team, was also chosen on the all-tourney team.

Third Term Starts Today For Wallace

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — George C. Wallace, no longer the symbol of segregationist resistance, prepared to begin today a third term as governor of Alabama. It was perhaps the prelude to another race for president.

Wallace was scheduled to take the oath of office about 11:30 a.m. (CST) from his brother Jack, a circuit judge from Clayton, who swore him in for both his previous terms.

The 55-year-old governor, paralyzed in both legs from an assassination attempt during the 1972 presidential campaign, discarded the traditional inaugural parade and the inaugural ball because of the lagging economy and the energy shortage.

Instead, he arranged for music by a National Guard band and a choir from predominantly black Alabama State University. In the past, Wallace had banned black schools from taking part in his inaugural ceremonies.

It was in marked contrast to Wallace's first inauguration 12 years ago, when he vowed "segregation forever."

SALES & SERVICE — Smitty's Radio Lab, 3408 Thomason, specializes in sales and service of electronic equipment for home and auto.

Smitty's Radio Lab Specializes In Electronic Sales & Service

Smitty's Radio Lab, 3408 Thomason, has been serving Midland since 1955 with electronic equipment. Partners in the firm are Richard R. Stubblefield and Henry Pudlo. The company specializes in sales and service of electronic equipment for home and auto.

Among the brands of electronic equipment handled are Akai and Sony Superscope recorders, cassettes and speakers; Davis Brothers (DBC) speakers; Pioneer home and auto units; Garrard and Glenburn Changers, plugs and adapters. Also Garrard power plugs and adapters for 8-track units can be found at Smitty's.

Smitty's carries a good line of auto power packs for 110 volt AC connectors, record car products, Sony accessories, cassette and 8-track recording tapes. They also carry 45 RPM adapters for Garrard and BSR.

Pudlo cautions people when buying electronic equipment. A bargain is not necessarily a bargain because it's cheap.

Many times equipment cannot be repaired. Buy electronic material at a reputable dealer where well known brands are sold. Also when buying electronic equipment service is important. Smitty's can service the equipment sold.

Akai products for the American market are 110 volt 60 CPS for AC. These units are unpacked and tested at the main office to check to meet all conditions stated on the brochure received with units. All units received by Smitty's are factory sealed.

There are two Pioneer companies in the USA. Smitty's deals with Pioneer Electronics of America. This company also sees that its electronic equipment is 110 volt 60 CPS for AC. Pioneer Electronics of America is not to be confused with U. S. Pioneer Electronics Corp.

Pianisth needles can be found at Smitty's. They carry a complete line of both foreign and domestic needles and have the most complete line of foreign needles anywhere. Pudlo and Stubblefield keep up with developments in the electronic field and any new items are quickly available.

In the future, Pudlo said, Sony recorders will be known as 'Superscope.' The name Sony on recorders is being phased out and Superscope alone will be on all recorders by 1980. Smitty's also handles Motorola Universal Mount Radios, positive and negative grounds.

Pudlo is a factory trained technician with Voice of Music, for phonographs, tape recorders, stereo components and record changers. He also recently attended Superscope and Akai technical training classes. Stubblefield has attended Delco and Radio schools to update his technology.

For confidence in buying and service for your electronic equipment, Smitty's Radio Lab, 3408 Thomason is the place to go. For more information call 694-4351.

Carter Launches Campaign Today

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter kicked off his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination today with an address to a joint meeting of the Louisiana legislature.

Stops in seven cities in four states were scheduled for the first five days of what Carter said would be a hectic campaign schedule.

Carter completed his term as Georgia's governor last week. After the Baton Rouge, La., stop, Carter planned to move on to New Orleans, Houston, Tex., Albuquerque and Santa Fe, N.M., and San Francisco and Sacramento, Calif., news secretary Jody Powell said.

12,300 Out In Current Oil Strikes

DENVER (AP) — The president of the oil workers union says contract negotiations with the nation's oil companies are on a "wrap-up basis" despite current strikes by more than 12,300 union members.

A. F. Grosipron, president of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union, announced Sunday settlement of contracts with Mobil and Cities Services oil companies.

Nine Contracts Signed
He said at a news conference those agreements were similar to earlier contracts which gave union workers 26.8 per cent wage increases over two-year periods. He said nine national contracts have been signed, covering 30,000 of the union's 60,000 members.

Oil workers made about $5.95 an hour under their old contracts. Despite the new contracts, Mobil, Gulf and Texaco were negotiating to end strikes at refineries in Texas. More than 9,300 workers were on strike over local issues at refineries in Beaumont and Port Arthur, Tex.

Union, Continental
A strike of 2,000 union members against Union Oil Co. refineries in Texas, California and Illinois appeared "no closer to resolution," a union spokesman said.

And Grosipron said a strike by 1,100 members against Continental Oil Co. in five states won't be settled until Continental "quits trying to be so cheap and chiseling" on its pension plan.

The union president announced strike deadlines against Marathon Oil at Texas City, Tex., Sloely Oil at Dorado, Kan., and Husky Oil in Utah and Wyoming. He said he will call strikes against those companies if contracts are not signed by noon Tuesday.

Strike notices for the same time were ordered earlier against Phillips Petroleum refineries in California, Montana, Utah, Texas, Kansas and Nevada, with 1,475 union members affected.

Shell On 'Back Burner'
Negotiations were to resume today with Standard of Ohio after strike deadlines against the company expired Saturday without walkouts. About 675 union members are employed at Standard of Ohio's four refineries.

Grosipron said negotiations with Shell, the nation's second largest refiner, and Standard of California, the fifth largest, "remain on the back burner." Shell employs almost 5,000 union members. Negotiations with that company "are a bit edgy because we've struck them two times in recent years," Grosipron said.

The negotiations with Standard of California have been delayed, and Grosipron said that is because "we don't have much strength — many members — with them."

Nickel Car Carnival
Continues Savings Sale
In coordination with the factory Nickel Chrysler-Plymouth-Dodge, 3705 West Wall, is having a great savings in its Car Clearance Carnival continuing for several more weeks.

Nickel Chrysler-Plymouth-Dodge, 3705 West Wall, is joining the national promotion, Car Clearance Carnival, that started January 12 for five weeks, in coordination with the factory.

Owned by Milton Nickel, the dealership began with E. E. Hawkins and Nickel as partners in January 1960 at 1310 Rankin Highway, on older model cars. In April 1963 at the same address, 2810 West Wall, the Chrysler-Plymouth agency was started. The company moved into the old Century Furniture building, 3001 West Wall in June that year. As there was no Plymouth dealer from 1960 to 1963 in Midland, they took the dealership.

Plymouth-Dodge is now expanding the service department. Used car lots are located at the corner of Florida and Main and 2810 West Wall, Midland plus the 3600 block of Montana in El Paso. Prior to entering the automobile business, Milton Nickel taught school at Midland High School.

LONG-RANGE OUTLOOK STILL DISCOURAGING—

U.S. May Have More Oil Than It Knows

By STAN BENJAMIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States may have four times as much oil as it already knows about, and the Interior Department wants to find out for sure through its offshore leasing program.

But even if those additional reserves are found, the nation could fill its own demand at present levels for no more than 20 years at best.

The United States is scarcely an oil-poor nation, with proven reserves estimated at some 45 billion barrels by the U.S. Geological Survey. This is about 7 per cent of the world total, by government estimates. But the nation consumes about 6.5 billion barrels a year or more than 30 per cent of the world's annual oil production.

That is clearly a formula for trouble, which made its point last winter when the world's major oil exporting nations temporarily reduced their shipments and simultaneously raised their prices.

For the immediate future, the United States must continue to pay the high price for foreign oil, under the constant threat of yet another embargo.

In the short range, both the administration and the oil industry agree that domestic oil production can not be quickly increased very much.

Ford has asked Congress to allow commercial oil production from the Naval Petroleum Reserve at Elk Hills, Calif., and estimated this could add about 160,000 barrels per day in 1975 and about 300,000 barrels daily by 1977.

Ford also said he would end federal price controls on domestic crude oil. The White House estimated this would increase production about 500,000 barrels a day over the next three or four years by allowing higher prices for oil which now is unprofitable to produce.

Ford also has asked Congress to allow exploration and production in Naval Petroleum Reserve No. 4, a vast, frozen area next to the big Prudhoe Bay oil field discovered seven years ago on the northern slope of Alaska.

And the Interior Department has proposed to open for exploration the previously untouched offshore areas along the Atlantic Coast, and areas off California and Alaska.

How much oil these areas really contain will not be known until they are explored with drilling rigs, but the U.S. Geological Survey has estimated that the nation may have 73 to 146 billion barrels hidden away in addition to 45 billion barrels of proven reserves, for a total supply as high as 191 billion barrels. This would be enough for about 22 years at current consumption rates.

If the United States does strike oil again within its own boundaries, that will not bring back cheap oil.

Government and industry officials agree that oil produced by drilling rigs standing in hundreds of feet of water offshore will be more costly than oil drilled on land or in shallow waters.

The Federal Energy Administration estimates that the government may have to support the price of oil at around $7.70 per barrel to protect the investments it will take to produce new offshore oil.

At $7.70 a barrel, offshore oil would be a bargain compared with current world prices, but it's nowhere near "the good old days" only two or three years ago when $3 oil was considered expensive.

John Eisenhower Says Nixon Wasn't 'Innocent Victim'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Richard M. Nixon was not "an innocent man hounded out of office by a vitriolic press," says John Eisenhower, son of the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"He admitted his own complicity — at least I feel he did — in accepting the pardon, and in his resignation statement," Eisenhower, 52, said in a story published in the Philadelphia Sunday Bulletin.

"Of course it was a little self-serving, saying what he'd done was just to be too kind and lenient and so on. But for me that was sufficient," Eisenhower said.

"I do feel that if he had been popular with the media and with the intellectual community he would have been treated with more charity.

"But I don't subscribe to all those clichés of the last-ditch party line about his innocence and persecution.

"There's no doubt that very bad mistakes were made in the White House. I'm quite sure it wouldn't have happened in my dad's time. The mistake Nixon made was to let these people run their own show — and they weren't equipped for it."

Eisenhower, whose father picked the then-Senator Nixon as his vice presidential running mate in 1952, is retired from the Army and living in suburban Phoenixville. He said he hasn't talked with Nixon since the resignation.

Eisenhower's son David is married to Nixon's daughter Julie.

He said he agrees with the resignation and with the pardon issued by President Ford.

But he said, "I prefer to think that he (Nixon) was done in by the people working for him."

Daily Texan Urges Ouster Of LeMaistre

AUSTIN (AP) — The student newspaper at the University of Texas called today for removal of Charles LeMaistre as university chancellor.

The Daily Texan said the "final strike" against LeMaistre was the recent accusation by a teacher that LeMaistre pressured her into giving his son a make-up final examination.

"LeMaistre does not know, or care, what the phrase 'academically oriented' means," the Texan said in an editorial.

"Maybe the best definition we can offer is a University of Texas system without Charles LeMaistre as chancellor."

Congress Expected To Get Into Major Business Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — The work of Congress, including action on new measures to fight inflation, recession and the energy crunch, will get under way after the lawmakers complete their housekeeping duties this week.

The congressional Joint Economic Committee will open hearings Thursday on President Ford's economic proposals. Opening witnesses will be economists Gardner Ackley, Paul McCracken and Charles Schultz.

The joint committee has no legislative authority, and bills to put Ford's policy in effect will have to originate in the House Ways and Means Committee.

Among the organizational tasks, the Senate still must decide whether the New Hampshire seat vacated by retiring Norris Cotton belongs to Republican Louis Wyman or Democrat John A. Durkin.

The Senate, which took today off, has delayed a decision on the contest until Jan. 27 at the earliest.

The House met only perfunctorily today before adjourning until Thursday when the Democratic caucus hopes to finish the reorganization process.

Gas Well Blazes Near Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Like a giant cigarette lighter, flames from a leaking gas well shot 125 feet in the air and lit up the southwest end of the San Fernando Valley.

The 10-foot-diameter blaze was expected to burn "until someone figures out what to do with it," said a spokesman for the Los Angeles City Fire Department today.

Southern California Gas Co. officials said they called in legendary oil well firefighter Paul "Red" Adair of Houston. He was expected to arrive today.

No injuries were reported and no structures were threatened.

The gas leak began early Sunday morning and efforts to plug it were unsuccessful, Marshall said. It caught fire about 3:30 p.m., but the cause was unknown, he added.

House, Senate Planning To Probe FBI Activities

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional investigation of the FBI is being planned in the wake of charges that the agency kept personal files on Senate and House members, including information on lawmakers' girlfriends and drinking habits.

Rep. Robert W. Kastenmeier, D-Wis., said Sunday he will call former and current FBI officials before the House Judiciary subcommittee he heads within the next three weeks to testify about the allegations.

Kastenmeier called the practice as "insidious as Watergate" and said he will call such witnesses as FBI Director Clarence Kelley and former acting Director L. Patrick Gray III.

Two former high-ranking FBI officials, Cartha D. DeLoach and Louis B. Nichols, were quoted by The Washington Post Sunday as saying the agency began compiling files on members of Congress while the late J. Edgar Hoover was director.

The report quoted a senior FBI agent as saying the bureau continues to gather such information.

DeLoach was assistant to Hoover until 1970, and Nichols was a Hoover aide until 1957.

They said the information did not result from direct surveillance unless members of Con-

Bay Area Transit Train Collision Kills Worker

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — One worker was killed and two others injured when a Bay Area Rapid Transit test train collided head on with a service vehicle, a BART spokesman reported.

The nine-car train, which was carrying no passengers during Sunday night's test run, had been given clearance to run northbound on a southbound track after the maintenance vehicle reported to central control that it was out of the way, BART information officer Dave Kelsey said.

"The maintenance vehicle was supposed to be working on the northbound tracks and he reported himself there, but was on the southbound moving south toward the train," Kelsey said.

"The driver of the train had sufficient time to see it, hit the stop button and flee the cab," Kelsey said.

A spokesman at Highland Hospital said Arthur Briggs, 46, of Richmond, was dead on arrival with extensive injuries to the head. The other men hurt were identified as Billy Moore, 24, Jimmy Coppoge, 23.

The maintenance vehicle — sent out to clean the tracks and caulk the tunnels — was an engine-operated truck which can run on streets or rails.

House Ways and Means Committee.

Among the organizational tasks, the Senate still must decide whether the New Hampshire seat vacated by retiring Norris Cotton belongs to Republican Louis Wyman or Democrat John A. Durkin.

The Senate, which took today off, has delayed a decision on the contest until Jan. 27 at the earliest.

The House met only perfunctorily today before adjourning until Thursday when the Democratic caucus hopes to finish the reorganization process.

Contests To Be Settled

On Wednesday, the caucus will settle contests for the chairmanships of four committees following action by change-minded newcomers that jeopardized four incumbent chairmen last week.

House Banking Committee Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., will be seeking to retain his job against a challenge from Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., who originally was selected by the Democratic Steering Committee but then was rejected by the caucus of all House Democrats.

The battle for the chairmanship of the Banking Committee was turned into a three-way race when Robert G. Stephens, D-Ga., announced his candidacy last week.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, chairman of the Administration Committee, was rejected by the Steering Committee on Friday.

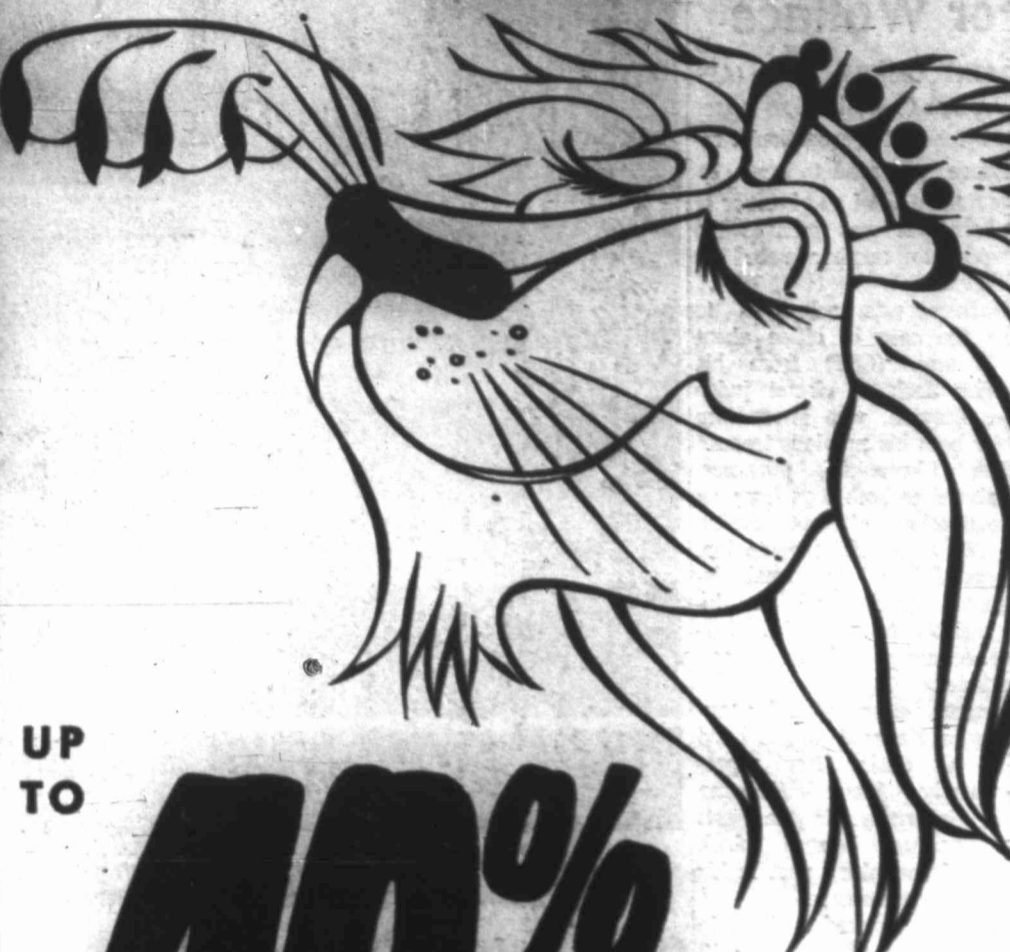

Committee Assignments

The steering panel also nominated replacements for the chairmen of the agriculture and armed services committees, whose incumbents were rejected by the caucus.

In the Senate, reorganization is being held up by decisions on which Republicans will be assigned to various committees. That job may be completed by Tuesday.

The Senate is expected to spend part of the week debating whether to make it easier to shut off filibusters.

'Giant Step' Indeed

Midland College is for real . . . at long last!

It now has its own campus, with beautiful new buildings and other facilities which go to form the real thing, as they say.

The new college campus burst into bloom, for all practical purposes, this morning, immediately following a colorful ribbon-cutting ceremony which officially opened Midland College and its campus as a full-fledged institution of higher learning.

The historic occasion also marked the first day of classes for the college's spring semester—in the first buildings to be completed on the spacious campus overlooking the Tall City from the north.

The ceremony was attended by civic leaders, college trustees, administrators, faculty members and students, along with a large number of other interested persons—all proud of and pleased with the brand new campus.

It was a great and meaningful occurrence, as was pointed out by the ceremony participants.

No one can visualize really what Midland College can and will mean to this community in years to come, but, needless to say, the impact will be tremendous in many and varied avenues.

When Midlanders really get behind something, they go all-out in making it the very best . . . and this undoubtedly is what will happen to Midland College as residents of the district give it their wholehearted support. They already have shown strong support, financial and otherwise.

It's exciting, isn't it, the opening of a new college campus? It is something of a once-in-a-lifetime happening, and it took place here in the Tall City of Midland on this very day.

It is true, yes, that Midland College has been in operation the last several years, using borrowed or leased facilities while awaiting construction of initial phases of its own campus. Interest and enrollment have been surprisingly high during those formative years . . . and now both interest and enrollment are expected to really soar.

This morning's function marked the occupancy by the college of its first three buildings, with another to be completed this spring.

Today's events actually were a prelude to full-scale opening ceremonies scheduled for next fall when all seven of the Phase I and II buildings will be completed.

That really will be a giant celebration. But today marked the beginning of classes, on campus, at Midland College.

As Dr. Al G. Langford, president of the institution said, "We think this is a giant step in the development of Midland College. The entire staff is thrilled and pleased to be on our new campus."

It is a giant step, indeed, not only in the development of Midland College but also in the growth, development and betterment of the community as a whole.

All Midlanders join in saluting Midland College, its trustees, administrative staff, faculty members, students and others on this great and most significant occasion.

More Than Wayward!

The big wind which hit Midland early Sunday was considerably more than wayward. It was real "pushy" and downright demanding . . . and disturbing!

And the tumbleweeds and trash in general moved right on into the mainstream with it.

Bible Verse

Do not love the world or the things in the world. If any one loves the world, love for the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh and the lust of the eyes and the pride of life, is not of the Father but is of the world. — 1 John 2:15, 16.

Downtown Midland, or certain parts of it, was a "sight" to behold. Tumbleweeds filled the entranceways to several places of business, while trash collected in gutters and on the sidewalks. Fortunately, the overflowing trash container seen the previous Sunday, had been emptied.

Here's hoping every effort will be made to clear the weeds and trash from the scene as quickly as possible.

Older People Left Out In Economic Plan

WASHINGTON — President Ford, with his new economic plan, sets up a Christmas tree modestly adorned with goodies, attainable if people will accept a bit of sacrifice and discipline.

A first look makes one conclude that our older people will have to sacrifice and will get few goodies. The majority of our 21 million people over 65 are long accustomed to discipline. Despite substantial efforts to make life better for our elders, their condition isn't good.

One feature of the Ford program having direct impact on older people is the limit put on cost-of-living increases to Social Security beneficiaries to 5 per cent. This reasonable provision, on which former President Richard Nixon and Congress agreed, would have had its first effect this year in June Social Security payments. It was expected to provide a 10 per cent cost-of-living increase, based on the price index.

Since the average Social Security payment for a retired worker in 1974 was $187.71, this meant there would be an additional $18.71 in that June check. But now it will be around $9.35. The difference means plenty to people on low, fixed incomes. Try it sometime.

As for that income-tax rebate (a goodie), less than 40 per cent of older people make enough to pay income taxes, and even those don't have to pay much.

Therefore, the tax cut is a morsel for those older people getting it. Actually, the inflationary impact of such a massive tax rebate to the under-65 segment would hurt older people.

Many people retire before 65, and that explains why some 38 million Americans get regular cash payments on U.S.-sponsored retirement programs. Another 1.5 million get payments from state employee retirement systems. Altogether, the federal, state and private retirement programs dispense about $100 billion annually, a whopping figure.

Distribution and equity are real problems. Many people have paid large amounts into private retirement programs and certainly shouldn't be penalized for it. Others benefit from unusually generous programs under union contracts (some are truly exorbitant) or through the largesse of systems enacted for federal or congressional employees. But many private retirement programs are skimpy and make life threadbare.

One woman I know receives a total of about $23,000 annually from a collection of widow's compensation, retirement and Social Security programs. She and her late husband worked a lifetime. But another woman I know, who also worked a lifetime, as did her late husband, collects a total of $2,700 annually.

The first woman lives nicely in retirement.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By JACK ANDERSON with LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — While the spotlight is on the CIA, its Soviet counterpart, the KGB, has been making quiet gains in this country. The detente has brought some 400 Soviet students and professors, for example, to American campuses.

Unimpeachable sources, who have kept up with Soviet spy operations, have described to us how the Russian academics are lined up as part-time informants before they ever come to this country. The unspoken penalty for refusing to cooperate, our sources say, would be retaliation against their families at home.

Scholar-spies are required to report their observations to their Soviet "controls," who usually are located in Moscow and debrief the returning scholars.

But some dedicated academic agents report regularly to "controls" in the United States. These are located in Soviet diplomatic and other offices in this country and are called "Residentura," a KGB term roughly equivalent to "Resident Big Shot."

Although no one in the U.S. government would talk with us on the record about the scholar-spies, most of them in scientific studies, their connection with the KGB is well known to American officials. It is only their campus classmates and colleagues who are kept in the dark.

Other reason for the official silence: Whether the scholars remain in academia or slip over into full-time intelligence work, the U.S. government feels their understanding of America's free way of life will do more overall good than harm.

Another reason is that American intelligence agencies also attempt to debrief U.S. students and teachers returning from Communist lands. In fact, say our sources, the CIA has tens of thousands, perhaps as many as 100,000 such reports on file. The difference is that American scholars can refuse to cooperate with our intelligence interrogators.

NEWSLETTER RACKET: By our calculations, more than 148.5 million newsletters are mailed out from Capitol Hill each year. Most of them are spiced with political propaganda, which is intended to impress the voters how noble their respective congressmen are.

This dubious political instruction costs the taxpayers millions of dollars, an expenditure that amounts to a special subsidy to help keep the incumbents in office. For few prospective challengers can afford regular mailings to keep their names before the voters between campaigns.

Two of our reporters, Sarah Larson and Tom Martin, surveyed more than two-thirds of the members of the House to find out how the newsletter racket operates. Here are the results:

— Most congressional newsletters are written by staff members, where salaries are paid by the taxpayers. By disguising the political content a little, congressmen also are able to mail their newsletters under the franking privilege, which permits them merely to sign their first-class mail. This free postage for newsletters costs the taxpayers an estimated $15 million every year.

— The taxpayers, however, don't pay the paper and printing costs, which run around $1.5 million a year. Most

Mayor Rizzo Proves Law, Order Yet Count

By ROWLAND EVANS, ROBERT NOVAK

PHILADELPHIA — Detested and feared by powerful leaders of his own party, Democratic Mayor Frank Rizzo, the super-tough ex-cop who ran Richard Nixon's informal campaign here in 1972, is proving that law-and-order still counts for much despite the party's national Democratic tilt to the left.

The fact that Rizzo has survived at all in a national era of reformist big-city government which has made mayors out of blacks, accounting experts and city planners is surprising enough. Far more so is the fact that, only four months before the Democratic primary election, Rizzo is clearly the man to beat. Law-and-order is not dead.

A private poll taken last month by two nationally-known polling organizations for Rep. William Green, Jr., a liberal Democrat who lost to Rizzo in 1971, would disappoint leaders of Philadelphia's political and business establishment who want desperately to send Rizzo back to South Philly. The unpublished citywide poll, ending any chance of Green's running against him, showed Rizzo with an immovable, hard-core political base of 42 per cent of registered Democrats.

Only slightly less polarized, but against Rizzo, were 40 per cent of the city's registered Democrats. Rizzo's parlay is simple arithmetic: using his sney patronage powers, add to his 42 per cent some 50,000 fence-sitters out of the expected 600,000 turnout (including a possible record number of pro-Rizzo Republicans and independents the mayor expects to register as Democrats in time to vote for him in the May 20 primary).

Evans Novak

Easier still for Rizzo would be a third entry in the primary to take votes away from the still-unknown Democratic regular to be selected as party standard-bearer late this month. One such fringe candidate has already announced he will run.

To Rizzolites, the mayor's basic appeal is the cocksure confidence of a street-wise political primitive fighting the entrenched powers—the press, the business establishment, the political elite and "the liberals" (Rizzo guffaws as he spits out the hated word).

When he and well-muscled followers from the building trades unions physically broke down the doors of the Democratic party's big annual dinner last May and demanded a seat for the mayor at the head table, his arch-enemy, city Democratic chairman Peter Camiel, feared bloodshed between the 4,000 party faithful and Rizzo's tough little army. Rizzo called it "the greatest day" in his life.

Camiel bitterly laments his own decision to accept then-Police Commissioner Rizzo as the party's endorsed mayoral candidate four years ago. He broke with Mayor Rizzo the next year. Their sizzling feud climaxed in August 1973, when Rizzo accepted a Camiel challenge to take a lie-detector test over an alleged bribery charge. Rizzo flunked the test.

Despite that public humiliation, despite 20 murders here in the first eight days of 1975, and despite his emotional defense of the disgraced Richard Nixon, Rizzo's base remains firm. In the words of one political expert: "What really shows that strength is the fact that most of those pious Italian mamas and papas stayed with him despite the lie-detector test."

Camiel emphatically disagrees. The shrewd political boss of one of the last effective big-city organizations, Camiel has licked Rizzo time and again in party confrontations: he defeated, better than 2-1, Rizzo's bid last June to take over the party organization; he outgated Rizzo by naming his own choices for Democratic candidates in the 1973 city elections; he carried his city for George McGovern in 1972 against Rizzo, who was on a first-name basis with Nixon.

Camiel and his lieutenants claim Rizzo is far weaker in his former middle-class Jewish strongholds of the northeast, angered by continuing high crime rates and inadequate school funds. They claim Rizzo has alienated older Catholic ethnics and is even weaker with black voters than he was in 1971.

But that very fact — fear of Rizzo by low-income blacks — may explain his strength with working-class whites and prove that law-and-order is not a vestigial issue.

Adding greatly to that strength is the lack of an opposition candidate today. An opponent will be selected by a unique citizens' "policy committee," hand-picked by Camiel, later this month. With charismatic, big-name Democrats in short supply, Camiel will have only three months to build up the consensus choice against the most famous—or notorious—political name in Philadelphia since the great reform era of Richardson Dilworth and Joseph S. Clark nearly a generation ago. (Copyright 1975 Field Enterprises, Inc.)

Our 'Real' National Pastime Revisited!

NEW YORK (NEA) — "Hey, Billy, who's your favorite baseball player? Hank Aaron? Babe Ruth? Johnny Bench? Tom Seaver?"

"Oh, come on, Johnny, you know better than that. My favorite player is the great right-hander Dogfish Huntley, of course."

"Right, I forgot. He's the one who started out his career with the Brutes, then went to the Noblemen, the Aardvarks, the Loopholes, the Sapsuckers, the Profiteers, the Eels and the Kangaroos before signing last week with the Capitalists. He got $118 million, a nomination to the U.S. Senate, three dates with Raquel Welch and an option to buy Upper Volta, I think. How long has he been in the majors, again?"

"Two seasons. What a competitor! I remember when he first came up they said he had all the tools: electronic calculator, New York agent, Swiss bank account, investment counselor, degree in fiscal policy from the London School of Economics. I remember how glad the Brutes' owner, Farley O. Chinley, was when he signed Huntley. He said it would mean a sure pennant for the Brutes but he hadn't figured Huntley would jump after two games. That's baseball, though. The game is never over until all the players show up."

"I guess I still don't understand exactly why you've been so faithful to Huntley and think he's so cool. Was it because he restored your faith in our old national pastime?"

"Exactly."

"It's great, Billy, that you still have such faith in baseball."

"Who said anything about baseball? He restored my faith in that old national pastime, greed."

Profit Taking, Uncertainty Help Keep Mart In Retreat

NEW YORK (AP) — Profit taking and uncertainty over pending government plans to deal with the recession helped keep the stock market in retreat today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down 4.53 at 640.10. Losers more than doubled the number of gainers in quiet trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said it looked as though the market was going through a period of retrenchment while investors considered whether the optimism of the first two weeks of the year was justified. A key question, they noted, was the eventual shape and impact of the economic measures now in the works in Washington.

Southern Co. was the most active issue on the NYSE, down 1/4 at 104. An 83,900-share block traded at 104.

Large Bank In New York Changes Hands To Avert Probable Failure

By TERENCE HUNT Associated Press Writer

Faced with "probable failure" and a lack of "public confidence," the Security National Bank of Long Island, 53rd largest in the nation, has been sold to another New York bank.

Security National of Hempstead, N.Y., said in a statement Sunday that its troubles resulted from a loss of investor confidence, which the bank said stemmed from the general economic decline and the failure of another Long Island bank, the Franklin National, last year.

Damaging News Stories "This gave rise to rumors and speculative, damaging news stories about the bank which caused substantial withdrawals of deposits and serious impairment of the bank's ability to obtain borrowings from its normal sources," Security National said.

Banking sources said Security National had suffered losses in loans to builders on New York's Long Island, where the construction industry is declining following a building boom during the 1960s.

Franklin National's failure followed heavy foreign exchange losses. Franklin National at one time was the nation's 30th largest bank and its failure was the largest in the nation's history.

Snow Warnings Fly In North, Northeast

By The Associated Press

Travel advisories stayed up for much of the Northeast section of the country today as snow continued to fall from the east part of the Ohio Valley through the northern and central Appalachians into southern New England.

Heavy snow warnings were issued for portions of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New York, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

Heavy rain and thundershowers dampened areas from New Jersey south through the Middle Atlantic states to the Central Gulf Coast. Thundershowers were also falling along the South Atlantic Coast and tornadoes were sighted near Jackson in Southeast Louisiana and near Poplarville in southern Mississippi.

Elsewhere clear weather extended from the Middle and Upper Mississippi Valley through the central and southern Plains into the Southwest. Light rain fell along the North Pacific Coast.

High wind warnings were in effect for much of eastern Colorado and the Upper Yellowstone Valley of Montana. Gusts ranging up to 60 miles per hour were expected during the day.

Temperatures early today ranged from 14 at Marquette, Mich., to 75 at Key West, Fla.

Slumping Prices Result In Wheat Plow-Up Threats

WRIGHT, Kan. (AP) - Some farmers are threatening to plow up their winter wheat because of plummeting grain prices.

"We are no different from the auto industry," Don Crane, vice president of the National Association of Wheat Growers and a wheat and cattle farmer here said Sunday. "If we overproduce we would regret it."

Crane, back from a NAWG meeting at Amarillo, Tex., said the association feels manipulative practices by the federal government and four or five major grain concerns are responsible for the sharp drop in wheat prices—from $4.21 a bushel just after the first of the year to $3.37 in some western Kansas points at the close of the market last Friday.

Leon Turline, president of the Ford County Wheat Growers Association, said:

"We cannot afford to cut production when the world needs the grain. From all indications the demand should still be there, so for humanitarian purposes we would regret plowing up any of the planted grain."

Both men said wheat growers understandably are nervous about the specter of $2 wheat at a time when it costs that much or more to produce the grain.

Standard Seeks To End Operation At Elk Hills

LOS ANGELES (AP) - An official of Standard Oil Co. of California has confirmed that the firm is trying to end its agreement with the Navy to operate the Elk Hills Naval Petroleum Reserve, partially because of criticism of the company.

Dick Schlect, a assistant to Standard's president, said the firm has submitted a letter to the Navy asking its comments on how best to sever the relationship before the nine month's notice required by a contract with the government that expires June 30, 1976.

Schlect said Sunday in a telephone interview that there were two reasons for the termination.

The company has been accused of "raiding" the Navy's reserve by pumping from its own adjacent fields. Last year a government suit charged the company with doing "irreparable damage" and a federal judge ordered Standard to stop pumping on its Tule Elk holdings next to the Navy reserve.

Schlect said the company "also felt we were better able to serve the national interest if we concentrated all our manpower and equipment outside the reserve to develop and produce oil."

In his State of the Union message Wednesday, President Ford asked Congress to enact legislation within 90 days to permit commercial oil production at the field. The proposal to tap Elk Hills, second only to Alaska's North Slope as the nation's largest oil reserve, was part of Ford's plan to end American dependence on foreign oil by 1985.

Strong Earthquake Kills At Least 36 Persons In India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) - A strong earthquake that shook the Himalayas Sunday killed at least 36 persons in India and caused extensive damage and loss of life in Chinese-ruled Tibet, reports reaching here said today.

Witnesses on the Indo-Tibetan border said they saw Tibetan hillfolks crumble into piles of debris.

Unconfirmed reports said that some members of a unit of Indo-Tibetan border police were buried under bunkers that caved in.

Officials said the earthquake was centered in a region about 225 miles northeast of New Delhi.

The tremors were felt along a 500-mile arc stretching from Islamabad, the capital of Pakistan, up to the Tibetan border and down to New Delhi, where buildings trembled during the initial 30-second shock.

Indian seismological officials said more than 50 tremors had shaken the area since Sunday afternoon.
