Gromyko Mends Egyptian Fences

CAIRO (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko flew into Cairo today on a major fence-mending mission and called for the immediate resumption of the Geneva Middle East peace talks.

He arrived from Damascus, where he held talks with Syrian President Hafez Assad and Palestinian leader Yasir Arafat and signed an agreement providing Soviet aid to Syrian irrigation and fishery projects. No figures were announced.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy welcomed Gromyko at Cairo airport and members of the Soviet Embassy staff lined the tarmac to greet him.

Gromyko reaffirmed that his government's view on settling the Middle East was based on complete Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab lands, achievement of what he called the legitimate rights of the Palestinians, "and finally the immediate resumption of the peace conference in Geneva to discuss matters related to a settlement."

The Soviets are anxious to blunt the step-by-step diplomacy advocated by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who will visit Egypt later this month to continue his peace-making efforts. At the Geneva peace talks all Israel's Arab adversaries would be represented and the Russians would play a major role.

President Anwar Sadat told Egyptian newsmen Sunday he would "listen carefully" to Gromyko.

Sadat said if Kissinger, when he visits the Middle East later this month, brings proposals for another Israeli withdrawal in the Sinai desert, "it would be treason" not to accept them even if they don't include Israeli pullbacks on the Syrian and Jordanian fronts.

"There is no contradiction between our rejection of separate solutions with Israel and any movement on the Egyptian front," Sadat said. "Strengthening Egypt's position enhances other Arab fronts."

But the Egyptian leader added he did not expect any agreement to be reached immediately. (See GROMYKO Page 6A).

American Jesuit Priest, 30 Others Killed In Philippines Airline Crash

MANILA, Philippines (AP)—An American Jesuit priest was among 31 persons killed and another American was critically injured today when a Philippine Airlines plane crashed and burned in an open field.

The British AVRO turboprop was on a flight from Manila to Iligan City and Cagayan de Oro when one of its two engines caught fire. It went down near a housing project under construction three miles south of Manila airport while trying to return to the airport.

Roger Collins, 51-year-old manager of Maranal Timber Industries in Lanao del Sur province, was the only survivor from a flight from Manila to Iligan City and Cagayan de Oro when one of its two engines caught fire. It went down near a housing project under construction three miles south of Manila airport while trying to return to the airport.

Dr. Joseph S. Sarmiento, a real estate agent, said she found Collins crawling about 70 yards from the wreckage of the plane and drove him to the hospital.

The airline spokesman said those aboard the plane were 26 adult passengers, one infant, one security guard and four crew members.

He said the pilot, Edwin Bulseco, 32, had radioed moments after takeoff that one engine was on fire and had been told to return.

Family Grocery Bill Declines Slightly

By LOUISE COOK, Associated Press Writer. Sugar prices tumbled during January, reflecting a buildup of supplies at refineries, and the decreases helped cut the family grocery bill in the first month of 1975, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows. The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the prices on March 1, 1973, in a supermarket in each of 13 cities and has rechecked at the start of each succeeding month. The survey showed that the bill went down in January in seven cities and up in six. The average decrease was 3 per cent; the average increase was 1 per cent. Over-all, the bill decreased a little less than 1 per cent during January.

The pattern was the same during December, when sales on beef and a leveling off of sugar prices brought shoppers an end-of-the-year bonus with marketbasket declines in seven cities. The marketbasket bill was up in every city over the 12-month period that ended Feb. 1. The average increase was 20 per cent. Soaring sugar prices throughout 1974 brought record profits to refineries and caused consumers to seek alternative sweeteners. Supplies built up and the refineries started cutting the prices they charge supermarkets; some refineries have had to close plants temporarily because of an oversupply of sugar.

Despite the January declines, eggs was down in every survey city except Providence, R.I., of February was well above where the cost remained the same. The average drop during January was 10 per cent. Over the year, eggs were down in every city, with an average 12-month decline of 19 per cent. There were a few meat bargains with sales on chopped chuck reflecting increased supplies of beef. But pork chops went up during January in 11 cities, rising an average of 8 per cent. A look at the overall number of items in the AP survey showed there were more increases and more decreases.

Ford Budget Plea Depicts Gloomy Economic Outlook

By R. GREGORY NOKES, WASHINGTON (AP)—Painting his bleakest picture yet of the nation's economy, President Ford asked Congress today to vote a record peace-time budget deficit of $52 billion for 1976 "to restore economic growth and energy self-reliance."

Other grim forecasts in the budget report were for a 11.3 per cent increase in the cost of living this year, higher even than last year's 11 per cent, and a 3.3 per cent decline in the nation's Gross National Product, following a 2.2 per cent drop last year.

'Difficult Decisions' Budget Director Roy L. Ash told newsmen at a budget briefing that the nation's economy is "changing at a faster rate" than at any time in his experience, and added that Ford may be facing "some very difficult decisions" because of the worsened unemployment outlook.

He said that although the recession should end in mid-year, as previously forecast, it will be a long time before the economy regains enough strength to hire back all jobless workers.

The proposed $52-billion budget deficit is $5 billion greater than Ford had predicted in his State of the Union address on Jan. 15, and is second only to the 1943 war year deficit of $54.8 billion.

The total spending for fiscal 1976, which begins July 1, of $349.4 billion and revenues estimated at $297.5 billion compares with estimated expenditures in fiscal 1975 of $313.4 billion and revenues of $278.8 billion.

The back-to-back deficits for the two years would total $86.5 billion and raise the total federal debt to $905.9 billion, equal to $2,840 for every American.

Ford told Congress he has always opposed budget deficits, but said they are needed in the current recession because "if the economic recovery does not begin soon, the Treasury will lose anticipated receipts and incur even larger deficits in the future." He also said that, if Congress fails to approve the $17 billion in spending cuts which he is asking, the budget deficit could soar to $70 billion, which would be a record.

Ford told Congress his budget provides "decisive action to restore economic growth and energy self-reliance."

Energy Program Included It includes $10 billion in tax cuts, which Ford had announced previously, on top of $6 billion for 1975—part of his package to stimulate the economy by giving people more money to spend.

It also incorporates his $30 billion energy-price-increase program—to be offset by an additional $30 billion in tax cuts—and provides $18.8 billion for

He also proposed a $9-billion increase in defense spending, to $94 billion, which he said is the minimum needed to maintain the nation's defense posture, including a "credible strategic deterrent."

Social Security Cut But Ford urged Congress to act favorably on $17 billion in spending reductions he proposed previously, including his programs to limit Social Security increases to 5 per cent and to raise the cost of food stamps.

It is likely Congress will disapprove of some of the cuts, especially the Social Security limit, meaning the 1976 deficit could be pushed above $52 billion and even past the nation's (See FORD Page 6A)

One Family Gets Away From Cloud

DENVER CITY, Tex. (AP)—Nine persons trying frantically to outrun death almost made it as leaking gas from an oil well stalked through the fog and drizzle to kill them.

Tom Merrill, who saw death coming, gathered his wife and two sons and miraculously escaped.

Eight of the dead were found outside a residence Sunday morning about 50 yards from the Merrill home and 200 yards from the leaking wellhead. The ninth victim, an oil field worker sent to investigate the leak, was found in his pickup truck.

Dressed In Bedclothes They were dressed in assorted bedclothes and caught running through the peppering rain to safety. Five were found in one car, two were in a pickup truck and the eighth was under the truck.

"The house showed all the way through desperate efforts were made to leave," one witness said. "Chairs were overturned and beds rumpled." The dead were identified as J. C. Patton, 45; his wife, Glenda, 36; their daughter, DeeDee 17; Clara Peevey, 14, a friend of the Patton girl; Pete Amerson, 48, and his wife Edith, 40, of Portales, N.M.; J. R. May, 57; his 56-year-old wife, and Eugene Sparger, 19.

Mrs. May was the mother of Mrs. Patton and Mrs. Amerson. Experimental Well Cas Windham, area supervisor for Atlantic Richfield, which owns the well about three miles from Denver City, said the hydrogen sulfide and carbon dioxide fumes leaked from an experimental injection well in which Atlantic Richfield was using gas instead of water to recover more oil.

Sparger, employed by Atlantic Richfield, apparently drove into the area and was overcome attempting to leave, Windham said.

Gaines County Coroner D. H. Henry said, "It looks as if he (Sparger) realized what happened and put the truck in reverse, tried to back out but couldn't." The truck was found in a roadside ditch.

Essie Merrill, awakened by the smell, nudged her husband awake. Merrill, a Shell Oil Co. employe, knew what the smell meant. He called next door to the Pattons who had a "house full of company." Then he notified Atlantic Richfield about the leaking lethal gas.

His telephone rang. Glenda Patton told him her husband had gone outside, then (See 9 KILLED Page 6A)

Groundhog Says Spring Has Arrived

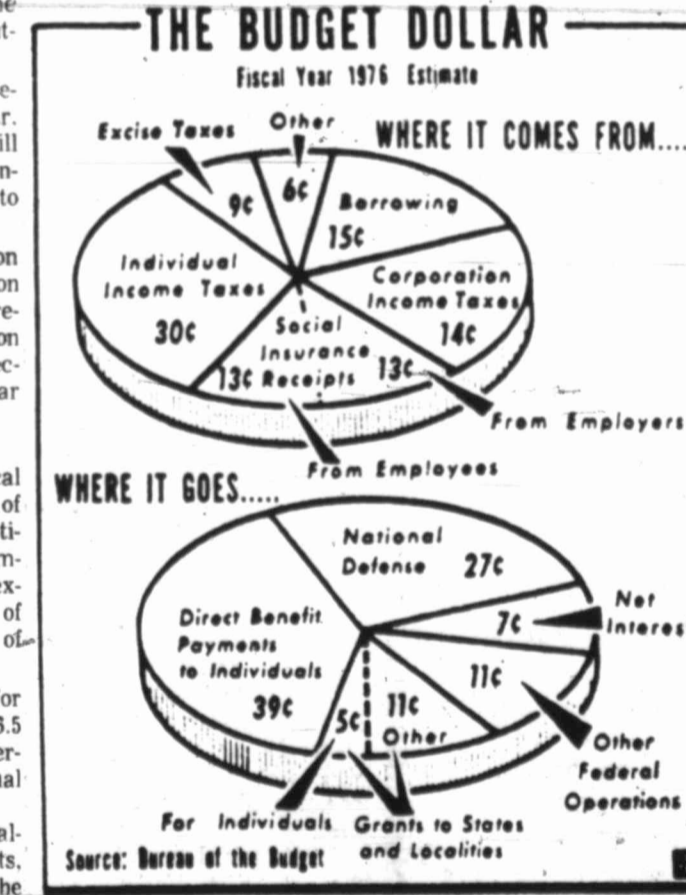

The groundhog didn't see his shadow Sunday—groundhog day—at Punxsutawney, Pa., not in Midland—meaning that spring is supposed to be upon us. If the weather-forecasting animal had seen his shadow, the country would be in for six weeks of winter weather, according to devotees of groundhog.

In the Tall City, cool weather and occasional precipitation will continue through Tuesday.

The National Weather Service at the Midland Regional Air Terminal recorded a high of 49 Sunday and predicts the mercury will reach 46 today, with tonight's low near 40. The low this morning was 42.

Precipitation for the Midland area was recorded at .44 to Sunday midnight and a trace of precipitation was recorded from midnight to 8 a.m. today by the Weather Service.

Precipitation for other areas included 4 inch for Andrews from early Sunday to late afternoon and still overcast this morning; Big Lake recorded .38 Sunday and is still getting light drizzle; Big Spring is foggy with (See UB, ABOUT Page 6A)

HINTS FROM Heloise

Don't Get Into A Scrap — Save Them!

Dear Heloise: We are learning more ways to love the earth, to maintain a delicate balance, and to return what we are given and be thankful. In this connection, here is a little ecology tidbit for anyone who sews. If you have ever wondered what to do with all those odds and ends of fabric left over after cutting out a garment, don't throw them in the wastebasket or put them up and never use them. Recycle them! There are many clubs and organizations that would be glad to get them to make into quilts, etc., or they can be taken to a rag processing plant if you have access to one. They eventually end up being made into a variety of things we use everyday.

Dear Heloise: Just discovered a tip I'd like to share with you and your readers! You know how, when you've browned the chicken, and are ready to add a bit of water for steaming, you're liable to have your hands sprayed with hot grease? Try an ice cube! By the time it melts, the lid is safely on your hands are in no danger, and you're smiling smugly for being so smart!

Dear Heloise: Do you have someone important to you who calls and chats for an hour daily? I do! Here are some tips to keep those calls from bringing your household to a standstill. Have a nine or ten foot coiled receiver cord attached to your kitchen phone — the cost is negligible — so that you can reach most any spot in your kitchen while chatting. I save my morning dishwashing for her calls, then I dig right in. Seems the chore is done in no time. If you finish and she is still talking, polish the silver, clean the stove, cabinets, or refrigerator. You guessed it — my kitchen is by far the cleanest room in the house.

Pepper Hint Drop a few peppercorns into your pepper shaker. They keep holes from clogging and freshen the taste of pre-ground pepper.

Bakers Today Use Ethnic Specialties

Copley News Service forgotten the ethnic specialties of their grandmothers. Stollen with its colorful red and green candied fruit makes a perfect holiday entree: GERMAN STOLLEN 1 pkg. dry yeast or 1 cake compressed yeast One-fourth cup water 1 cup milk, scalded One-half cup butter or margarine One-fourth cup sugar 1 tsp. salt One-fourth tsp. ground cardamom 4 to four and a half cups all-purpose sifted flour 1 slightly beaten egg 1 cup seedless raisins One-fourth cup currants One-fourth cup chopped mixed candied fruits 2 teps. grated orange peel 1 tsp. grated lemon peel One-fourth cup chopped blanched almonds Glaze Soften active dry yeast in warm water (110 degrees) or compressed yeast in lukewarm water (85 degrees). Combine milk, butter, sugar, salt, and cardamom; cool to lukewarm. Stir in two cups flour, beat well. Add the softened yeast and eggs; beat well. Stir in fruits, peels, and nuts. Add enough of the remaining flour to make a soft dough. Turn on a lightly floured surface. Knead till smooth and elastic (about eight to 10 minutes). Place in a greased bowl, turning once to grease surface of dough. Cover and let rise in a warm place till double (about one and three-fourths hours). Punch down; turn out on a lightly floured surface. Divide in three equal parts. Cover; let rest 10 minutes. Roll each of the three parts to a 10x6-inch rectangle. Without stretching, fold the long side over to within one inch of the opposite side; seal edge. Place on greased baking sheets. Cover and let rise in a warm place till almost double (about one hour). Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) for 15 to 20 minutes or till golden brown. While warm, brush with glaze. Makes three loaves. Top stollen with additional pieces of candied fruit. Or, if desired, make holly leaves and berries from citron and bits of cut-up candied cherries. Another time make flowers, using halves of blanched almonds for petals. A bit of red candied cherry for the center, with citron or a bit of green candied cherry for leaves. To make glaze: combine one cup sifted confectioners' sugar, two tablespoons of hot water, and one-half teaspoon butter. Brush over stollen.

1. Four large eggs constitute a full cup. Four medium eggs constitute three-fourths cup. If a recipe calls for eggs but does not specify their size, use large eggs. The extra yolk adds to the pretty golden color so much desired in quality baking. 2. Buy only the best ingredients. If a recipe calls for butter, use butter. Do not substitute. 3. Avoid metal utensils. Wooden spoons and wooden bowls (if you're lucky enough to have these treasured items) make the difference between a good batter and a superb one. 4. Use a glass measuring cup for liquids and a dry measure (one which you can level) for dry ingredients. Modern bread bakers claim that a cozy kitchen with low ceilings, few doorways and no drafts or children breezing their way through furthers their chances to produce a bread equal to their grandmothers'. And even though they use modern methods, they have not.

WHAT IS THE TRUTH? "Thy Word is Truth" (John 17:17) by Bryan Best To get rid of evil is not enough. Sin and bad habits must be replaced by something good if progress is to be made. How frustrating it is to try to quit a bad habit when there is nothing good to take its place. How easy it is to turn from evil when we fill our lives with good and pure things. This is the lesson that Jesus taught in Matthew 12:43-45. Jesus warns, "The last state of that man becomes worse than the first" when reformation does not include incorporating what is good and right. For example, do you have a problem of thinking wrong thoughts? When you say, "I'm not going to think of that anymore," what happens? That's all you can think of. However, fill your mind with good, pure thoughts, and there will be no room for what is bad. The only lasting way of getting rid of what is bad and replacing it with what is good is to commit our lives to Jesus Christ. When we find ourselves giving such love and loyalty to Jesus that he comes first, we shall find that evil things have lost their power and their place in our lives. Dear Abby

Jacksonville Dentists Out To Silence Her?

DEAR ABBY: I have never to be a husband, but can't, he should see a doctor. If he just plain doesn't want to, you should see a lawyer. DEAR ABBY: I would like to share a comforting thought with you and with anyone else it might help. Recently, my aged mother died. Near the end, as I sat at her bedside, knowing there wasn't a thing I could do to help her, I thought of all the things I wished that I had done for her — but hadn't. I wrote to a dear friend in a distant city expressing those feelings to her. That friend had recently lost her husband, who had been ill for a long time. She had held down a job (just as I had) and cared for her ailing husband, just as I had cared for my mother. In answering my letter she wrote: "After John died, I blamed myself for not having been as patient and understanding with him as I could have been, and I found myself feeling terribly guilty. Then I suddenly realized how useless such thoughts were, and I said to myself, 'All my life I have forgiven others, and now it's my turn to forgive ME!'"

DEAR CANT: It's highly unlikely that the dentists of Jacksonville (or any other city) are conspiring against women, but if you feel that you have been unfairly treated, take the matter up with the grievance committee of your county dental association. DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a healthy young man, married one month, who says to his bride: "I won't bother you very often for sex. I want a pal, not a sweetheart!" And he lived up to it, too. NOT BOTHERED

DEAR NOT: He may be "healthy," but your marriage is sick. Tell him that you didn't get married to live with a "pal" — and unless he tries to fulfill his role as a husband, as far as you're concerned, the marriage won't work. If he wants

Ethiopian Jets Blast Rebels As Fighting Tempo Increases

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Ethiopian air force jets have flattened two Eritrean rebel villages in a major escalation of fighting between government troops and Moslem insurgents bent on secession, diplomatic sources reported today from Asmara, capital of Eritrea province. No other details were immediately available.

The Ethiopian army was reported in control of Asmara after beating back an attempt by the guerrillas to re-enter the country's second largest city. Reports from Asmara, 450 miles north of Addis Ababa, said at least 75 rebels and civilians have been killed and 200 wounded in heavy fighting since Friday. There were no reports of army casualties.

Ethiopia's military government issued no information about the fighting in the country's northernmost province and blocked the roads to Asmara so that foreign correspondents could not go there. But informed official sources gave these reports of the Eritrean Liberation Front's most serious challenge to rule from Addis Ababa in the 12 years it has been fighting for Eritrean independence.

Battling from house to house, the army drove the guerrillas out of the city of 200,000 on Saturday. The rebels counter-attacked early Sunday, and there was hard fighting at a naval headquarters near the U.S. Consulate.

Fighting At Airport
Fighting was also heavy at the Asmara airport, and it was not known which side held the field. The air force's two American F5A jet fighters attacked a suspected rebel base 10 miles north of the city, but there were no air attacks on Asmara itself.

Asmara was put under a dusk-to-dawn curfew. Late Sunday night the government moved in tanks, armored cars and troop reinforcements.

The U.S. Consulate reported that the 300 Americans living in Eritrea were all safe and their evacuation had not been ordered. But they were told to remain indoors.

Former Italian Colony
Eritrea was an Italian colony from 1890 until the British took it in World War II. The United Nations ordered it federated with Ethiopia in 1952, and 10 years later Emperor Haile Selassie annexed it, giving Ethiopia a coastline on the Red Sea.

The Eritrean Liberation Front was formed then by Moslems opposed to the rule of the Coptic Christians in Addis Ababa.

GOD AND COUNTRY AWARD — Alan Warwick, left, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Warwick, recently received the God and Country Award presented by Dr. L. L. He is a senior patrol leader and is working on his Eagle Scout Award.

Injured Boy Doing Well

HOUSTON (AP) — A doctor says a 9-year old boy whose left arm was surgically reattached is progressing satisfactorily.

Gerry Villarreal's arm was twisted off near the shoulder last Friday when it became caught in a washing machine.

Dr. K. L. Mattox, deputy chief of surgery at Ben Taub Hospital, said Sunday vital signs in the boy's arm were encouraging.

Gerry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfredo Villarreal, underwent the operation by a team of surgeons moments after the accident.

"The arm is looking good and circulation is fine right now," Mattox said. "It's going to be difficult to evaluate but so far everything is fine."

Mattox said whether or not the boy regains use of the limb depends on rehabilitation and that's "down the road a bit."

Nacogdoches Searches Flood Debris For Possible Victims

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (AP) — Searchers were sifting through the debris and mud today for possible victims of the flood although officials have accounted for all those reported missing. Rain fell again Sunday and flash flood warnings were posted through the night.

More than 13 inches of rain had fallen since Friday afternoon. Three bodies have been recovered since walls of water swept through the town in the predawn hours Saturday after two normally dry creeks broke under torrential rains.

Police Chief M. C. Roebuck said Sunday evening, "There is a possibility there could be more in the creek bed. There could be people we don't know about."

The body of Bobby Glenn Rector, 35, was recovered Sunday not far from where he disappeared Friday night when a boat capsized. The body of a woman in the boat, Birtie M. Johnson, 78, had been recovered Saturday.

Katherine M. Corely, 20, of Marshall, drowned Friday night and her body was recovered Saturday. She was a student at Stephen F. Austin University in this East Texas city.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe signed a proclamation Sunday naming Nacogdoches County and 31 others eligible for state disaster relief if conditions warrant. Nacogdoches county, the hardest hit, already qualifies for the aid, Mike Cooper, an aide to Briscoe, said Sunday.

A state survey team will inspect the town early this week to help polish its image, the network says.

The GOP had asked each of the three major networks to sell it one half-hour of prime time in May, June and July.

The CBS network refused to sell the time slot on the ground that it has a policy of allowing only political candidates to buy air time for political broadcasts. The ABC network has not yet replied.

The cost would be between $90,000 and $100,000, he said.

to determine if federal disaster relief aid should be sought, Cooper said.

Mayor A.L. Mangham, who said the city will seek federal relief, estimated damage at $5.5 million.

At the flood's height, about 800 persons fled their homes but by Sunday evening, 100 persons had their homes destroyed. Others moved back in to see what could be saved from the mud and silt.

Thieu Closes Five Saigon Newspapers

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The South Vietnamese government closed five opposition newspapers today and arrested 19 of their officials and staff members as "Communist infiltrators."

It was the harshest press crackdown in the 10 years President Nguyen Van Thieu has been in power.

Editions Banned Earlier

Earlier, the government banned publication of the Sunday editions of the five newspapers and four others because they were planning to publish charges of corruption and malfeasance in office made against Thieu by Father Tran Huu Thanh, head of the Roman Catholic Anti-Corruption Movement.

Officials said those arrested included one publisher and a number of reporters.

The Thieu government has recently charged its opposition in Saigon with being Communists. The opposition denies the charges, and the government has never presented any evidence to support its accusations.

War On Buddhist Sect

The newspapers whose licenses to publish were suspended were Dien Tin (Telegram), Dong Phuong (Orient), Song Than (Tidal Wave), But Thep (Steel Pen) and Tia Sang (Light Ray).

The government also kept up its war on the private army of the Hoa Hao Buddhist sect. It reported the army killed one Hoa Hao member and wounded another during the weekend in a roundup of draft dodgers and deserters in the southwestern Mekong Delta.

Senator Dances With First Lady, Pays $50 Penalty

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., got a dance with the President's wife, but ran afoul of the Secret Service and ended up paying $50 for the honor.

Just before entering the hotel ballroom in Washington for the Louisiana State Society's Mardi Gras ball Saturday night, Long reminded those with him of the $50 fine for anyone taking off his mask, a spokesman for the senator said Sunday.

Masks are a traditional part of Mardi Gras balls and parades, and Long had laid down the rule during his former reign as captain of the Kouisians Krewe, one of many private Mardi Gras organizations.

"I asked Betty Ford to dance," Long said. "But a Secret Service agent said, 'Nope' gotta take the mask off. Security.' So I unmasked and danced."

Long was fined $50 by the society.

Presley Suffers Intestinal Block

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Elvis Presley is reported resting comfortably at a hospital where he is undergoing treatment for what his doctor says is an intestinal blockage.

A spokesman for Baptist Hospital said Sunday that Presley, 40, was to undergo more tests today, and may be discharged by the middle of the week.

Dr. George Nichopoulos, the singer's physician, has said Presley probably would require several weeks of further treatment after he leaves the hospital, but that his illness would not interfere with his schedule of upcoming appearances, starting March 18 with a two-week engagement in Las Vegas.

Matron Denies Royal Romance

LONDON (AP) — The wife of a wealthy landowner admits she danced with Prince Charles but denies she is romantically involved with the heir to the British throne, a London newspaper says.

"It's really too ridiculous—he's a friend of both my husband and myself, nothing more," the News of the World quotes Rosalind Ward as saying.

Mrs. Ward, 28, told the mass circulation newspaper that she and her husband, Gerald, have known the 26-year-old prince for about eight years.

TIA Pretrial Hearing Delayed

DALLAS (AP) —The pretrial hearing on an airlines employees union suit against Texas International Airlines has been moved from Tuesday to Feb. 11.

U.S. District Court Judge William M. Taylor made the change at the request of TIA. The airline said the Tuesday date conflicted with resumption of negotiations in Washington between the striking union and TIA.

The Air Lines Employees Association claims in the suit that the airlines has not been pushing for a settlement because of aid it receives from the other airlines while it is grounded.

The union struck Texas International Dec. 1 and the pilots honored the pickets Dec. 4.

Oklahoma Judge Plans To Enforce Blood Test Law

DURANT, Okla. (AP)—An Oklahoma judge will start enforcing a law which will have the result of making it tougher for Texas couples to get a quick marriage here.
 District Court Judge Sam Sullivan says he plans to begin enforcing the law requiring a blood test taken in Oklahoma and supervised by an Oklahoma doctor.
 Many Texas couples drive across the border to this southern Oklahoma city to get married, and they bring blood test results signed by Texas doctors. About 95 per cent of the marriage licenses issued in Bryan County go to out-of-state residents.
 "The law plainly says that in order for the court clerk to issue a marriage license, the blood test must have been supervised by a licensed Oklahoma physician," Judge Sullivan said.

 Injured were Kelly Clyde King of Roundrock and Roland Lisle of Hobbs, N.M., drivers of two of the vehicles.
 Department of Public Safety Officer David Hancock said the King car was crossing U.S. 80 and stalled in the middle of the west bound lane. He said the other cars involved started taking evasive action and were in collision. No one was thrown from any of the cars.

 Drivers of the other vehicles involved included Norma Hillerbrand, 4709 Commanche St.; J. C. Brown, 1306 McKenzie St.; Jose Luis Mesa, 3704 Tanner St.; Earl James Davis, 1700 W. Illinois St.; and a pickup driven by Bobby Lee Murray, 417 E. Oak St.

Transition Period

The period will be the transition time between a shift in the government's fiscal year from July through June, to October through September, which Congress has directed beginning with the 1977 budget.

Ford's increase in defense spending would help equip three new Army combat divisions, raising the total from 13 to 16, and also would provide increased spending for tanks and warships. And he asked Congress to approve $975 million more for fiscal 1976.
 Military aid to Israel would total $650 in 1976, down slightly from $680 in 1975. Overall military aid in Ford's budget is expected to total $2.8 billion, an increase of $700 million.

Ford spent a considerable portion of his written budget message defending the 5-per cent ceiling on increases in Social Security and other federal income-distribution programs for 1976.
 He said that even with the ceiling, outlays for Social Security would total $70.1 billion in 1976, up from $54.9 billion two years earlier.
 But the ceiling would reduce total outlays by about $1.5 billion from what otherwise would be paid out under automatic cost-of-living increases and many members of Congress have said this would be unfair to low-income persons already suffering from the effects of recession and inflation.

 But Ford said the nation cannot go on increasing benefits for income-distribution programs as it has in the past.
 Other provisions of the Ford budget include:
 —A $786-million increase in

Cleveland Whitfield, Time Claims FBI Provided LBJ 'Juicy' Reading

NEW YORK (AP) — Time magazine says the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover supplied his "hottest files on important people," including details of their sexual activities, to satisfy the late President Lyndon B. Johnson's "voracious appetite for gossip."

Time said in its edition published Sunday that Johnson listened to tapes about the late "Martin Luther King's bedroom activities ... that even had the noises of the bedsprings."

Other reports included one from a Chicago brothel madam on the "inky sex" of an unnamed Republican senator, Time said.

The magazine reported that Johnson took delivery of these files from Hoover's deputy, Cartha D. DeLoach, who "became a courier to the White House of juicy gleanings from the FBI."

DeLoach, reached at his Greenwich, Conn. home, said he had no comment to make on the Time story.

Time said Johnson tried to arm himself with secret knowledge because "I don't trust anybody but Lady Bird, and sometime's I'm not sure about her."

Texas Senate Panel Denies Patman Request

AUSTIN (AP) — A Senate committee refused today to allow Sen. Bill Patman to cross-examine witnesses supporting a bill that Patman calls the "granddaddy" of all "loan shark bills."

Sen. W. T. Moore, D-Bryan, the bill sponsor, objected to such questioning and the other committee members upheld his objection.

Moore criticized a weekend newspaper article that disclosed he owns stock in eight financial institutions which would benefit from the bill. The article suggested sponsoring a bill to raise interest rates and maintaining such holdings might violate the conflict of interest law.

The stock holdings were listed in the secretary of state's office, and Moore said, "I've improved my status in life since those holdings were filed."

He said, "I do not intend to be intimidated by the press of a 'demagogue'—a term he has used to describe Patman."

Moments later bright lights were flicked on in the room for television photographers, and

Woman Loses Civil Lawsuit

A civil jury in 142nd District Court Friday denied plaintiff Dorothea M. Allred judgment in a $50,000 suit in which she alleged injuries in a two-car mishap here in November 1972.

She had filed suit against Jon Percy Tate, 17, and alleged negligence on his part.
 Instead, the jury decided in favor of Tate and indicated Mrs. Allred had failed to maintain a proper lookout at time of the accident.

Man Charged Here In Holdup, Kidnap

Charles Edward Alsbrook, 26, 2703 W. Kentucky St., has been charged with the late Saturday robbery, kidnaping and impersonating of a federal officer at Midland's Park Place Halfway House.

Dist. Judge Perry Pickett set a bond of $10,000 in the case. Alsbrook was out on bond today.

Law enforcement officials had the man in custody only minutes after the incident. He was captured at a roadside park east of the city on U.S. 80.

Chuck Warren, resident manager of the halfway house, said Alsbrook had identified himself as an FBI agent while brandishing a "big revolver."

He said the man "forced about 10 of us in the kitchen area to line up against the bar. He told us to put our wallets on the bar and then he pointed out two hostages," Herman Mason, halfway house director, and John Baker, to leave with him.

Warren said the man then forced the two hostages at gun point into his late model car. Another client at the halfway house wrote down the license number of the car as it left.

Jobless, Alcoholism Rates Said Tied

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Dr. Malcolm Todd, president of the American Medical Association, says there's a very definite correlation between rising unemployment and increased alcoholism.

"When people respond to stresses that are adverse, particularly financial and unemployment, there is a reason for alcoholism to increase," he said in an interview.

Todd was at Brown University here during the weekend for a conference on ways medical schools might better prepare future doctors to treat alcoholism.

Officials Decide To Let Oil Tanker Fire Burn Self Out

MARCUS HOOK, Pa. (AP) — Officials have abandoned hope of stopping the four-day fire aboard an oil tanker that exploded early Friday at its mooring here.

They say they are letting the blaze aboard the tanker Corinthos burn itself out because the fire will consume the ship's oil cargo that otherwise would seep into the Delaware River.

Three persons are known dead, with another 25 missing and presumed dead, making it one of the worst water disasters on the Delaware. Twelve persons were killed when the tanker Elias exploded here last April.

Spilled oil from the Corinthos has already sent slicks over a 50-mile area of the river.

The 754-foot Corinthos was unloading crude oil at a British Petroleum (BP) refinery when it was rammed by the American tanker Edgar M. Quency, sparking massive fires on the Corinthos.

The cause of the collision has not been determined.

Jose Feliciano Positive Thinker

Copley News Service
HOLLYWOOD — Singer Jose Feliciano is a firm believer in positive thinking.
 "Anyone can do anything if they will only put their minds to it," he said in an interview.
 Feliciano is a good example of his philosophy works. Blind since his birth in the rural town of Laredo, P.R., he was the second of a dozen children.
 Before his father, a Puerto Rican farmer, moved the family to New York, three of the children died of childhood illnesses.

Feliciano's early childhood in New York's Spanish Harlem was spent in the family's crowded three-room apartment or in school where he took special Braille courses.
 Because he couldn't play with the other Spanish Harlem kids Feliciano sought another outlet for his energies. This outlet was music, but his first instrument was a secondhand accordion instead of a guitar.
 He spent hours picking out chords and following tunes on scratchy records his mother bought. The extremely agile left hand he displays today while playing the guitar he credits to the hours he spent learning to play the accordion.
 Feliciano, 28, made his first public appearance at the age of 9 at the El Teatro Puerto Rico in the Bronx. It won him his first, but not last, standing ovation.
 By this time Feliciano had graduated from the accordion to the guitar—his first purchased by a friend for $10.
School Dropout
 "I began imitating the vocal styles of Sam Cooke, Ray Charles, Elvis Presley and even Frank Sinatra by listening to them on the radio," Feliciano recalled, adding that his musical roots encompass not only pop but jazz and Latin music, too.
 As he grew older, Feliciano started singing in Greenwich Village coffeehouses in order to sustain himself and take some of the burden off his father, who was then a longshoreman.
 "By the time I was 17 I'd gotten my first real break," Feliciano said. "I became a regular performer at the Cafe Id. The job meant I had to drop out of school, but at the time it was a matter of survival."
 The job at the Cafe Id had special importance to Feliciano because it was while singing there that he met an attractive psychology and medical student from the City College of New York, who three years later became his wife.

Rapid Rise
 "Janina has helped guide my career ever since we married," he said. "She's stabilized me and helped me with the writing of many of my most popular songs, like 'Hard Times in the Barrio' for the 'Chico And The Man' show, 'Stony Heart' and 'Listen To The Rain.' She also handles all the administrative things."
 In 1964, an RCA executive stopped into Gerde's Folk City in the Village, where Feliciano was performing, to hear another singer. The executive left after signing Feliciano to an exclusive contract.
 The years of struggling were suddenly behind him and Feliciano's star began to rise rapidly, characterized by performances at the Newport Jazz Festival (1964), the Mar del Plata Festival near Buenos Aires (1966), SRO engagements at the Waldorf-Astoria's Empire Room, Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas, the London Palladium, the Greek Theater in Los Angeles and New York's Philharmonic Hall, and sold-out concert tours throughout the world including the Iron Curtain countries in 1974.
 And there have been awards. In 1968, the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences gave Feliciano two Grammy Awards; as Best New Artist and Best Male Vocalist of the Year. In addition he has garnered 31 gold albums and sold a total of $90 million worth of records since 1964.

Young Artist Wins Second Time

ODESSA — The National Young Artist Competition, sponsored by the Midland-Odesa Symphony, came up with a "first" in its 13-year history Saturday night as six young musicians were named winners in the competition finals held in Odesa College Auditorium.
 Among the winners was pianist Ann Christensen, a 21-year-old junior at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah. As a high school senior,

Miss Christensen won the secondary school piano title in the 1972 National Young Artist Competition in Midland.
 It was the first time in the history of the competition that a contestant has been declared a winner in both college and secondary school divisions.
 Other winners named near midnight Saturday after two days of competition involving about 80 college and high school musicians were:
 Miryo Park, originally from

Seoul, Korea, who now studies at the Juilliard School of Music in New York, secondary school piano.
 Young-Chang Cho, 16-year-old cello student at the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia, Pa., secondary school strings.
 Ernest Gross, clarinetist from El Paso and a senior at Baylor University, college division woodwinds.
 Carol Webb, 23-year-old violinist who is in the masters program at Juilliard, college division strings. (Miss Webb is married to Richard Sortomme, a performing winner of the 1972 competition here.)

 James Piper, baritone, a student at the University of New Mexico, college division voice. Piper won this year's Metropolitan Opera auditions for the West Texas-New Mexico area.
 Of the six winners, Miss Park, Miss Christensen, Miss Webb and Piper were selected by the judges as performing winners. This means they will return March 10-11 as soloists in dual concerts with the Midland-Odesa Symphony.
 The winners and finalists will share in award money contributed by Mrs. Raiford H. Burton, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Bradford and Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Ross, all of Midland, and Mr. and Mrs. William F. Noel of Odesa. Operational funds for the competition came from a grant provided by the Beal Foundation of Midland.
 Other secondary school division finalists were pianist Catherine Mills of Highland Park High School in Dallas, flutist Karen Longenecker of Anderson High School in Austin, and cellist Karen Mendius of Los Alamos, N. M., High School.

 Other college division finalists were pianist Elizabeth Cox of the Juilliard School, flutist Brian Taylor of the University of Texas, violinist Barbara Barber of Texas Tech and tenor Eddy Quillin, a Texas Tech senior.

AMUSEMENTS

Afro-American History Game Show Scheduled

By JAY SHARBUTT
NEW YORK (AP) — Public television's "Black Journal," which recently took on a "Tonight" show look, complete with an 18-piece band, now plans to serve up what may be public tv's first game show this week.
 "It's called 'Can You Dig It?'" But the digging isn't for the thousands of dollars commercial game shows dispense each day. The most anyone can win on this show is approximately $300 worth of books.
 The aim of the program is to broaden public awareness of black history and culture in America, according to Tony Brown, host and executive producer of "Black Journal," currently seen in only 42 cities.
 "Instead of asking what was Beethoven's first sonata, for example, we'd ask, 'What is Duke Ellington's first composition?'" he says. "The main point of 'Can You Dig It?' is what we say at the start of it."
 "The biggest prize of all that anyone can win on this show is knowledge of ourselves." The idea is to use an entertainment vehicle to teach.
 "If we turned all the school systems in America over to 'Password' and 'Jeopardy' and 'Concentration,' we'd do a better job educating kids than we do right now because they'd have more fun in learning."

 Brown, 41, a former dean of communications at Howard University in Washington, D.C., says his game show has two preliminary rounds and an elimination round in which the contestants — both black and white — are quizzed on Afro-American history and culture.
 The final survivor plays a "bonus round," picking questions from a panel on which there are 12 numbers. One number hides no question, just the word "busted," which means the game is over.
 Brown says the contestants aren't typical in that they're chosen from the acquaintances of the show's staff or the show's mailing list of viewers and they're all better-educated than most contestants.
 They're also given a list of books from which questions will be drawn and allowed to bone up two weeks before they appear on the show.

Radio City Music Hall Spikes Rumors It's Folding

By WILLIAM GLOVER
NEW YORK (AP) — The Radio City Music Hall the answer is emphatic.
 "We are preparing schedules for the next several years," says a spokesman.
 In other words, the last showcase of an almost vanished era of opulent showbiz isn't about to be turned into chic shops, branch banks, discotheques or an exotic aquarium.
 Those are just some of the fates recurrently rumored for the entertainment shrine that occupies a choice chunk of Rockefeller Center.
 Scotching the rumors, in fact, has been a regular management chore since rising prices and changing public tastes began 15 years ago to turn all its rocco rivals into rubble.

43 Years Old
 The Music Hall is now 43 years old, a longevity already far greater than such vanished competitors as the Roxy, Paramount and Capitol. As they went, so did the ornate palaces in other cities that combined lavish stage spectacles with the latest Hollywood epics.
 Programming flexibility is a key factor in keeping the 6,200-seat theater from turning into another white elephant. Since it is a private business, however, management declines to disclose profit and loss figures.
 "We never set out to be a motion picture theater exclusively," is how Patricia Robert, the public relations director, justifies recent survival developments.
 "Programming Changed
 "We go with the times, to provide entertainment for all segments of the populace."
 Art shows, rock concert engagements and closed-circuit television championship fist-cuffs are current additions to the steadfast cycle of film-plus-stage shows that prevailed for many years.
 Programming change set in with decline of general New York tourism in 1969. Family fare continued the dominant staple but an occasional movie geared to more sophisticated taste was booked.
 From a peak annual pace of 5 million people, the audience for several years has hovered around 3 1/2 million.
Alternate Fare
 A midnight benefit in 1971 attracted enough spectators to trigger management to consider other diversions to pep up attendance during spasms of traditional dip, after Labor Day and after the midwinter holidays.
 For 1975, the alternate fare schedule has been increased to two seven-week spans. One started in mid-January with Sly and the Family Stone and continues into March with the second Art Deco Exposition, a mélange of mid-1920s modes. Then comes the Jackson Five.
 Next is the Easter Show, a perennial staple, followed by the standard film-stage format through the summer. A second series of what management refers to as "special presentations" fills the calendar bloc from September until the crowds start swarming in early November for the Christmas show, an unending jackpot. Last Dec. 7, a record one-day attendance of 24,000 paying $78,932 clocked through the turnstiles.

Cutting back on the traditional format of organ music, symphony orchestra, specialty acts and dance wasn't accomplished without anguished disputes between management and craft unions. The Corps de Ballet has gone, the orchestra has been cut in half to 50, but the renowned Rockettes continue their high-kick precision routines undiminished. Instead of the former 600 workers there are now about 500 engaged under contracts which permit periodic layoffs for guest events.

Bill Bailey's Bar Falls To Progress

By KENNETH L. WHITING
SINGAPORE (AP) — The Grove Bar in Cuppage Road has been torn down in the name of urban renewal but not before a last round of reminiscing about its legendary American proprietor, Bill Bailey.
 The late saloonkeeper and vaudeville star is established in local lore as THE Bill Bailey, the guy-whom-generations-of-singers-beseched.
 "Won't you come home Bill Bailey, won't you come home?" "You've been away much too long."
Talkative Host
 Bailey came to Singapore to stay in the mid-1930s. He died here more than six years ago at 80, in his sleep, the kind of finale he told foreign correspondents he would prefer.
 Snappy stories and songs accompanied by banjo or ukulele were his stage specialties. He is said to have been a medium size star in the firmament that was ten-a-day vaudeville.
 Oldtimers recall Bill as a talkative host with a generous pouring hand who spun yarns about his early show biz cronies.
 He rubbed shoulders with W. C. Fields, Al Jolson and Mae West, he said, and the Great Houdini gave his career a boost. Bailey recollected when Cary Grant was selling hand-painted ties in Greenwich Village. He swore that he beat Bing Crosby and Bob Hope at golf in the long ago.
High Society In Place
 Bailey started trouping around the Pacific in the 1930s when vaudeville faded back home. He played Singapore for a while in 1935 before joining his wife, Jean, in opening a successful seaside nightspot called the Coconut Grove.
 "Its dance floor was built over the sea. The Grove was the IN place for people of high society," a local artist remembers.
 Tin miners, rubber planters, military officers and royalty from Malaya joined the swinging Singapore set at Bill's place before World War II.
 Tourists dropped in to ask the inevitable: why wouldn't he go home?
 Bailey's reply apparently depended on his mood but, when pressed, he would point out that the tune was written in 1872. "Goddammit, I wasn't even born yet."
 Japanese bombing destroyed the original Coconut Grove in the early days of World War II. T. F. Hwang recalls that there would still have been time for

Bill to escape and make that fabled trip home before Japanese forces occupied Singapore. Instead he and his wife were interned at Changi Prison for three years.
 Bill emerged to establish a new bar in a large Chinese-style mansion in Cuppage Road on Christmas Day 1945.
 The postwar Grove attracted a different clientele, said Hwang, "less influential and less affluent. The uninhibited sportsmen liked the place. One former rugby player described his first visit with a pal:
 "We saw Bill there. He was the soul of generosity. All drinks were on the house. We felt indebted. From then on we and our rugger mates patronized his bar in a great way."
 This went on religiously for many seasons. Till the mid-1950s when we saw less and less of the onetime vaudeville trouper.
 The Grove went downhill after his death, despite efforts by a successor, Madam Chee Sow Ying, to keep it going in competition with newer, air-conditioned watering holes.

New Car Shopping

New car sales are said to be up considerably in Midland and vicinity and, to a degree, in other parts of the country. This is great news, and it speaks well for the economy...

He said he walked into one dealership and started looking at the cars on the floor. Finally, he continued, an "order-taker" came over and told him the price of the car and, after much questioning on the part of the shopper, he explained the difference between two models as to wheelbase.

"Not once did he open the car door and show me the interior," the letter continued. "He made no mention of giving me a demonstration ride. He made no attempt to sell me a car."

At another dealership, the potential car buyer told an attendant that he was interested in looking at a particular car. The attendant accompanied him to the lot where several of the cars were on display, but they were locked and no offer was made to unlock any one of them.

From there, he went to another dealership where finally one of three attendants seated on a couch approached him and asked, "Do you want to buy anything?" When told that he didn't intend to buy at the moment, the attendant walked back and joined his companions.

The next day the rather persistent shopper visited yet another dealership, with more or less the

Gov. Jerry Brown's New Departures

SACRAMENTO — There's great stirring here over the fierce pace set by the new governor as he works to bring his New Spirit to this nation-state. Will he make it?

Jerry Brown's mind spins constantly. He runs his staff past midnight. Restless and energetic, this heretical young man is the most exciting governor in the republic at this point.

Much of what he says and promises runs counter to the irrational, routine liberalism here, practiced by rote, and ultimately rejected by the citizenry. Still, Brown wears the liberal stripe in urging new departures.

He speaks of "crime and punishment" as though he were probing the human essence. "People who break the law should be punished," he declares. "I have a dim view of so-called theories of rehabilitation other than enabling people to get a job."

"The idea that crime is a sickness—I don't know who thought it up, 20, 30 or 50 years ago—I don't accept it. There are duties and responsibilities for people. The idea of putting lawbreakers in a room and talking about what their mother treated them or what society did to them is no good."

Brown feels that "group therapy" in prisons is coercive, a cruel form of punishment, because it denies the prisoner his precious free will.

"When you say people don't intentionally do wrong and they're not responsible, you are denying their dignity as human beings. There's a tyranny involved, and I don't like it."

This could be tonic for tired liberal blood, but Brown's views on education could generate an even stronger response. California's education complex was lavished with money, even during the Reagan years. Now comes Democrat Brown, son of generous "Pat," to offer a modest 4.6 per cent increase in aid for primary and secondary schools and to warn the enormous University of California system that more money doesn't necessarily mean improved education.

"When I see schools that are permeated with violence, boredom and irrelevance," Brown cries out, "I begin to see something is wrong. The solution isn't adding to the Byzantine system of educational finance—a complicated pipeline which I cannot understand."

Heresy, heresy, The National Educational Assn. and the California Teachers Assn. will fall ill and swoon. Brown says when schools feel a money pinch, the answer is not "an end-run to the governor's office." Instead, find the financing at the local level, if you really believe in the need.

As for "professional" educators, Brown is skeptical, of, perhaps opposed

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By JACK ANDERSON With LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — When Gerald Ford tried to impeach Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas five years ago, Ford used secret data that had been slipped to him from the files of the FBI and probably the CIA.

Ford was then the House Republican leader, a loyal party man, who sometimes played a rough game of politics.

In 1969, President Nixon wanted to clean the liberals out of the Supreme Court so he could appoint conservatives in their places. With this in mind, his friend Ford began a campaign to get impeachment hearings going against Douglas.

For ammunition, Ford went to John Mitchell, who was then the attorney general. Mitchell agreed to put someone in contact with Ford.

Not long afterward, in December 1969, Asst. Atty. Gen. Will Wilson showed up at Ford's office with derogatory data about Douglas. It was based on secret intelligence reports developed by U.S. agents in the United States and the Dominican Republic from 1956 to 1964.

One suggestion, wholly false, was that Douglas had ties with the Mafia. But the reports focused on a visit by Douglas to the inauguration of Dominican President Juan Bosch on Feb. 27, 1963.

Douglas was accompanied, the agents reported, by the head of a foundation paying Douglas $1,000 a month and by a lawyer "who had represented racketeers."

To hide the source, the information was typed on plain paper with no letterhead. Ford later borrowed entire sections from the smear sheets and used to, "consultants, grantsmen and grantswomen, experts, with their little black boxes that they control." He adds, "The first principle of education is learning. Can students read and write, add, subtract, multiply and develop the skills that will allow them to walk with dignity in our society?" Brown's bottom line on education: "We're not going to talk money without talking performance."

A bigger budget this year? Hell no, says Brown. "Better government does not always require more spending."

He cuts his own staff expense and salary, insists on riding in a medium-price car and foregoes the $1.3 million mansion built for him by the Reagan administration. A tax cut? Unlikely.

As a single man who learned discipline in a Jesuit seminary and who goes until 2 a.m. when he's onto something, Brown is a bit strong on the work ethic.

"People need to be put to work," he told me. "There are millions in this country who work hard and pay taxes for others who are only filling jobs and not working hard."

In his quick look over California government, Brown found inertia and concludes: "Certain groups think, and things carry on, and I feel it is my job to re-examine those things and give them a fresh start. Sometimes that means we'll spend more money. Sometimes it means we'll spend less."

He can be fierce. He required his top staffers to fill out a form — on a confidential basis — asking questions on sources of income and investments (to avoid an Agnew situation?).

INSIDE REPORT

First Round Goes To The President

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Although a final decision in the great war of politics between President Ford and the huge Democratic majority in Congress is far distant, Democrats in the House have now handed the President a lethal weapon to be used against themselves with potentially damaging effects.

Indeed, the controlling Democrats overrode some of their own best political strategists and unwittingly played into Mr. Ford's hands when they insisted on linking their 90-day ban on higher oil tariffs to the bill raising the debt ceiling.

When that bill gets to the President's desk, as seems highly probable, Mr. Ford now plans to veto it, perhaps with a fireside chat accusing the divided, uncertain and leaderless Democrats of playing politics with the energy crisis, the nation's worst dilemma since the Great Depression. Without a higher debt ceiling, he will paint the grim picture of payless paydays for government workers, the threat of default on government bonds and the specter of military and foreign commitments threatened by partisan politics.

First likely result: sustaining of the veto and congressional passage before the debt ceiling is actually reached late next month of a separate bill giving

SEX SNOOPS

For years, we have been reporting on the snooping practices of the FBI, CIA, Secret Service and other government agencies. We have written dozens of columns laying out the facts that now belatedly are making front-page headlines.

As evidence that government gumshoes were abusing their investigative powers, our sources provided us with secret FBI files, CIA reports and Secret Service records on prominent Americans. Among them were members of Congress, black leaders, newspapermen, movie stars and football players.

We have noticed that the government agents spend a great deal of time observing and reporting on the sexual adventures of a wide variety of noncriminal Americans. From the quantity and detail of information, we suspect there was as much voyeurism as sleuthing in the investigations.

Yet the sex lives of celebrities, quite obviously, should be none of the government's business.

Ten years ago 1,000 young bla rested during the White House, simply "neglectful" to vote four Republican proxies in the crucial, cliff-hanging 15-14 committee vote last week. That vote attached the 90-day ban on higher oil import fees (due to start next Saturday at $1 a barrel) to the debt ceiling bill. If voted, those four proxies would have defeated the move by the committee's liberal Democratic majority, over the opposition of chairman Al Ullman of Oregon, to use the debt ceiling bill as a Christmas tree and force him to sign it into law with the ban on higher oil tariffs. This Democratic strategy, devised by committee liberals, is based on the rising national clamor against Mr. Ford's approach to the energy crisis: reduce the consumption of fuel by raising its price across the board, including home-heating fuels, instead of concentrating on the vast waste of gasoline. What makes the strategy dubious is not its underlying political truth, which even Ford energy strategists privately agree on, but the transparent political tactic of unfairly forcing the President's hand. Indeed, quite apart from the controversy building up over Mr. Ford's approach to the energy crisis, the mere fact that he finally produced a tangible program after endless months of inaction has given him his first chance to take the political offensive. Thus, the President is telling both Democratic and Republican congressioal leaders in long White House chats that he knows his program may be flawed. He insists he is ready to make generous compromises with the Democratic majority. But first, he says, the Democrats have to know exactly what they are for— not what they are against, and they have not begun to tell him because they don't know. A confidential letter from Sen. Hubert Humphrey to House Speaker Carl Albert last month conveyed just such a warning about the political dangers of the huge Democratic majority having no economic or energy program. "We simply must have someone who can call the shots and give a sense of direction," Humphrey wrote Albert. "There is no single congressional Democratic leadership program to which the public can point or on which we can place our emphasis. . . . Once the Democrats have agreed on what they want to do and where we want to go, then we should sit down with the President and his administration and see if we can't come to some understanding." Humphrey's proposal: that Albert "take the lead" in designing such a program. Until that happens, presidential advisers, on the sound theory that the Democrats can't beat something with nothing, are convinced that Mr. Ford will hold the upper hand. That's what the veto strategy now being shaped in the White House proves. But if and when it does happen, the Democrats may find Mr. Ford in a mood for surprisingly generous compromise. Army Copter Rescues Pair After Crash

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — An Army helicopter rescued two men Sunday afternoon from their Beechcraft D18 which crashed about 10 miles inside Mexico.

The two men aboard were identified as Edward M. Gerstein, 29, of Ponto Brook, Ill., and Frederick S. Solheim, 32, of Boulder, Colo.

Gerstein suffered a compound fracture of the leg and Solheim suffered a fractured pelvis. Both were listed in fair condition at William Beaumont Medical Center at Ft. Bliss.

Long Wait For Permission
The helicopter crewmen were notified of the crash about 11:45 a.m. and flew to Tommy's Town, a service station complex southeast of El Paso between Fort Hancock and Sierra Blanca. There they waited until 4:15 p.m. for permission to enter Mexico.

The Flight Service Center at the El Paso International Airport said no flight plan had been filed by the aircraft. A supervisor at the center said a telephone query from the "Denver area" had been made about the downed plane.

Locator Transmitter
The aircraft was located through an emergency locator transmitter operated manually by one of the victims.

Although the plane's point of origin and its destination were not released by the military, the plane appeared to be headed in a southerly direction.

One helicopter crewman said the Beechcraft crashed in a mountainous area and apparently veered at the last moment in an attempt to avoid collision with a mountain side.

First Lt. Rachel Martinez at Beaumont Medical Center said immigration and narcotics officials had been notified.

Bill Would End Dorm Living Rule

Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — College students 18 years of age and older won't have to live in dormitories any more if legislation by Rep. Jim Mattox of Dallas passes.

Many state colleges and universities require students under a certain age, usually 21, to live in on-campus housing. Mattox's bill would change this so that only students under 18 may be compelled to live in a dormitory. Persons 18 and older are adults under the law.

Car Sales Rebound Forecast By 1980

DETROIT (AP) — The president of the United Auto Workers union says car sales will rebound to the record levels of 1973 before 1980, but he forecasts a slowing down in the auto industry's growth rate.

Leonard Woodcock also said that laid off workers at Chrysler Corp. and General Motors will exhaust their company-paid jobless benefits this spring, bringing "substantial suffering" to some communities.

In a wide-ranging interview, Woodcock said there are indications General Motors disregarded its profit formula on new model cars in order to keep the cost within reach of most consumers.

"It's quite obvious they can't meet the profit target they once had. Those days have got to be behind us," Woodcock said.

"The 1973 sales volume (11 million cars) was said to be about 1.5 million over the long-term trend line," said Woodcock. "That's borrowing sales from the future. With the slowing of the population growth, the rate of growth will be substantially modified."

He said gas rationing, when it comes, and higher gasoline prices, "have to have an impact on the family with two or three cars."

"And cars are going to last longer... financing is already being extended from 36 to 48 months. These are all anti-growth factors."

Nevertheless, Woodcock said he foresees the number of cars sold before the end of the decade will rebound completely from the present depressed levels.

Committee Named To Select New UTPB President

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A 10-member committee to select a new president for The University of Texas-Permian Basin was named Friday by UT System Regents Chairman Allan Shivers.

The post was vacated by the resignation Dec. 21 of B. H. Amstede following reports of unauthorized spending of state money on such things as a three-hole golf course at the Odessa campus.

Under regents' rules, Chancellor Charles LeMaistre will serve as chairman of the selection committee.

Shivers appointed the other nine members:

Regents Joe Nelson of Weatherford, Tom Law of Fort Worth and Ed Clark of Austin; Deputy Chancellor E. D. Walker; Dr. William Knisely, assistant to the chancellor for health affairs; Dr. Harry Ransom, representing the academic affairs office; President Wendell Nedderman of UT-Arlington; President Arleigh Templeton of UT-El Paso, and Dr. Drene Rogers, acting president of UT-Austin.

Shivers said he would add a faculty representative and a student representative to the committee as soon as V. R. Cardozer, acting president at UTPB, makes recommendations to LeMaistre on the nominees.

LeMaistre said earlier there also will be a faculty-student advisory committee to assist in the selection process.

Senior Citizens Will Tour Midland College Friday

A tour of Midland College facilities Friday will mark the end of a week's launching of four short courses for senior citizens, all coordinated by the Community Services Program for Senior Citizens.

The college tour, set for 2 p.m., begins with introduction to the administrators, according to Jan Reed, project director.

Dr. David Norton, assistant to the president for research and development, will conduct the tour, and Camal Dakil, dean of students, will brief the group on services the college provides.

According to Mrs. Reed, a Spanish-speaking interpreter will be present for the tour, and transportation will be arranged for persons attending.

The Community Service Program for Senior Citizens is a consortium project of Midland College, Odessa College and Howard College at Big Spring.

The program also is responsible for offering four Midland College short courses at the Senior Citizens Center which are not open to the general public.

Oil painting begins Tuesday, taught by Margaret Grace, and is scheduled from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Arts and crafts will be instructed by Pauline Watson. It is scheduled to begin Friday and will run from 10 a.m. to noon.

Beginning Thursday is an acrylics class set for 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. June Crosby is the instructor. Today marked the beginning of a sewing class from 10 a.m. to noon, with Mrs. Vernice Highley instructing.

The sewing equipment to be used in the class has been supplied for the senior citizens at the Midland Community Action Agency, with Mrs. Myrtle Hay serving as volunteer teacher.

A continuing education course on retirement, the only one open to the public, will be taught in March by Dr. Berlie Fallon, associate dean of the College of Education at Texas Tech University.

Dr. Fallon, whose theory for the class is based on a belief that all persons have creative potential that can be developed through disciplined use of leisure time, will teach March 6, 13 and 20.

Persons wishing to take the college tour may contact Mrs. Reed, 684-7851, extension 114. Those needing transportation may dial the Midland Community Action Agency, 682-2822, or Casa de Amigos, 682-9701.

Senior citizens who plan to take the short courses may register at class time.

Girl Bull Rider's Winning Formula 'Get On, Hang On'

SPENCER, Okla. — Lisa Martin of Quinlan, a freshman at Sam Houston State University in Huntsville is holder of one of the coveted national championships of the Girls Rodeo Association (GRA).

"My winning philosophy is simple," said the petite 18-year-old. "Get on and hang on."

However, Miss Martin's philosophy is not that easy. She won her GRA title in bull riding. In the past three years, she has entered 50 rodeos to ride bulls and has won 10 times, pocketing more than $3,000.

She has never been injured, although the Brahma bulls she rides outweigh the 115-pound physical education major by as much as 1400 pounds.

"The less thinking I do, the better I ride," she said. "I'm always afraid, but who wouldn't be? It's just a matter of instinct, hanging on for dear-life."

Miss Martin admits her bull riding causes problems when it comes to dating.

"I try not to mention it, but when I do my dates are embarrassed because I'm doing something they wouldn't even consider," commented Lisa. "I think it offends the male ego."

Offer To Sell Eye Withdrawn

GRASS VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — Herbert Gibboney placed a newspaper ad last week offering to sell one of his eyes for $35,000 so his wife could have an operation.

The offer is now canceled.

Indiana Wins 23rd Straight

By The Associated Press
Fred Taylor got a close look at the nation's top-ranked basketball team and didn't like what he saw.

Indiana had a 33-34 lead, the Hoosiers broke open the game with an 11-3 spurt with less than five minutes to play to give them a 68-61 lead.

Scott May led Indiana with 25 points and Buckner and Steve Green each contributed 14 points to the Hoosier offense.

Arnold Palmer One Stroke Off Pace

HONOLULU (AP) — "Just in today, one shot back of young Forrest Fezler going into the rain-delayed final round of the $220,000 Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament.

Palmer, a struggling non-winner for the last two years and trying to make a comeback from 1974, his worst season ever, twice had a share of the lead in third-round play but had to be content with a three-under-par 69 and a 205 total, one shot back of Fezler, who carded a 68.

"It wasn't a bad round, but it wasn't a good one," Palmer said. "I made some mistakes I shouldn't have made. But it's better than I've been playing. And I have a little more confidence in what I'm doing."

WANTS REMATCH WITH AUSSIE—

Connors Tops Laver During Hard Match

By DON HORINE
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — "This is the toughest game I ever played in my life."
With that tribute following his 6-4, 6-2, 3-6, 7-5 victory Sunday over Rod Laver, Jimmy Connors began thinking about more $100,000 matches.

Laver finally began getting his first serve in during the third set and that made a difference. He won his first four service games at love. The crowd cheered him on and he broke Connors' serve for the first time in the sixth game, forcing three errors.

Laver easily won the third set and broke Connors' serve in the first game of the fourth on two drop shots and two errors.

Always a slow starter, Laver played tentatively in the first two sets. He served poorly and hit shallow shots. Connors drilled them deep and raced to the net for put-away volleys. He also lived up to his reputation as perhaps the strongest returner of second serves in the game.

In the second set Connors made more errors on ground strokes but Laver got in only 17 of 45 first serves. Then Laver made a change. He went to the net on Connors' second serve and on the few openings Connors gave him in rallies. But Connors passed the two time Grand Slam winner or hit the ball so hard that Laver made volleying errors.

From that point the two left-handers played their best tennis. Both attacked with abandon and banged their ground strokes.

Laver got in only 17 of 45 first serves. Then Laver made a change. He went to the net on Connors' second serve and on the few openings Connors gave him in rallies.

The game will feature the two teams which have taken the best advantage of a SWC decision to drop the 30 second clock.

Texas A&M Leading Torrid SWC Chase

By The Associated Press
Although there's a heavy round of Southwest Conference basketball action Tuesday night, all fans are pointing with high interest to Saturday afternoon's regionally televised showdown between leader Texas A&M and the challenging Arkansas Razorbacks.

The slowdown game doesn't help much when the other team shoots 61 per cent like Baylor did Saturday night in stunning road-tired Arkansas 73-69 in Waco. Baylor was hotter than Coach Carroll Dawson's feverish forehead. Dawson climbed out of a hospital bed where he had been since Tuesday with the flu to inspire the Bears.

"We couldn't play much better," said Dawson.
Coach Eddie Sutton of Arkansas said his team will be happy for some home cooking after three straight games on the road.

"I thought we were pretty flat," Sutton said. "There was a lot of standing around. Part of that was because this was our third road game. We're pretty weary."

Arkansas hosts winless Texas Tuesday night while Texas A&M entertains Southern Methodist, 76-67 victor over Rice. In other games, TCU is at Rice and Baylor is at Texas Tech.

Arkansas and Baylor are tied for second with 3-1 records behind the perfect 4-0 Aggies, who now have defeated Rice, Texas Tech, and Texas on the road.

"I'm real proud of our guys," said Tech Coach Gerald Myers. "You've got to hand it to TCU—they got physical. But our guys hooked it up when they had to."

Johnny Swaim, TCU Coach, said "After all we went through it boiled down to this—if we make the free throws later we win—if we don't we lose."

That could be the way the race will be going until the first week of March.

Gervin Sparks Spurs To 119-100 Victory

By The Associated Press
George Gervin committed murder in broad daylight Sunday.
"Gervin just killed us," said Indiana's George McGinnis after Gervin scored 44 points to lead the Spurs to 119-100 victory over the Pacers.
It was Gervin's best performance of the season and overshadowed a fine night by McGinnis, the American Basketball Association's leading scorer, who had 34 points.
"I don't think he did anything wrong all day," said McGinnis of Gervin. "He was just unbelievable. Once he gets hot, you can't stop him."
In the other ABA games, the Virginia Squires beat the Spirits of St. Louis 109-101; the New York Nets beat San Diego 126-90; The Kentucky Colonels whipped the Utah Stars 96-86 and the Memphis Sounds drubbed the Denver Nuggets 120-103.

The Pacers held leads of up to 11 points in the first period before the Spurs made a comeback behind their star. San Antonio took the lead for good at 50-48 on a pair of free throws by Rich Jones with 1:51 left in the half.
They built the margin to as much as 23 points several times in the final period, coasting to victory as Jones added 29 points and James Silas 27.
Squires 109, Spirits 101
Virginia's Rod Robbins hit a layup and a foul shot with 25 seconds left to nail down the Squires' victory over St. Louis.

Nets 126, Q's 90
Larry Kenon and Julius Erving combined for 52 points to power New York past San Diego. The Nets' seventh straight victory kept them in first place in the ABA's East Division.
Colonels 96, Stars 86
Dan Issel and Louie Dampier led a fourth-quarter rally that pushed Kentucky past Utah. The victory was Kentucky's 25th in 26 home appearances.
Sounds 120, Nuggets 103
Chuck Williams scored 29 points to propel Memphis over Denver.

Celtics Bomb Milwaukee With White Paving Way

BOSTON (AP)—Dave Cowens, sidelined with a broken foot as the Celtics started with a 9-8 record, dominated both ends of the court as the Celtics posted their 16th victory in 17 games and the 19th in the last 21, raising the team record to 35-14. He scored from in close, on drives and on bombs from the outside.
Cowens did his thing magnificently in the nationally televised game, scoring 24 points and grabbing 22 rebounds while playing just 36 minutes in the run. Abdul-Jabbar managed 23 points, but only six rebounds before going to the Milwaukee bench.
A deadly shooter since joining the Celtics in 1970, White, who got 20 points, finally is assuming the role of court general as backcourt partner Don Chaney plays out a contract before joining the Spirits of St. Louis of the rival American Basketball Association next fall.
In the other NBA games, the New Orleans Jazz defeated the New York Knicks 118-114; the Cleveland Cavaliers whipped the Detroit Pistons 116-96; the Kansas City-Omaha Kings defeated the Golden State Warriors 127-101; the Chicago Bulls subdued the Washington Bullets 97-80; the Philadelphia 76ers stopped the Houston Rockets 90-77; and the Seattle SuperSonics turned back the Los Angeles Lakers 119-112.
Jazz 118, Knicks 114
Pete Maravich scored 33 points and added 12 assists to lead New Orleans over newlook New York.

St. Mary's Holds Big State Lead

By The Associated Press
St. Mary's keeps taking all the fun out of the Big State Conference basketball race.
The Rattlers, defending champions, are rolling along toward their almost certain 1975 title wondering who they will get in the small college play-offs.
St. Mary's, 7-0 in the BSC race and 15-4 overall, ripped East Texas Baptist 80-57 and St. Edward's 110-87 last week. The Rattlers' tonight in San Antonio.
Texas Lutheran has tried to keep pace. The Bulldogs are 5-2 and 12-6 overall.
Perhaps the best individual performance in the league last week came on Saturday night when LeTourneau's Terry Loyd set a school rebounding record with 33 cars in an 85-70 victory over Trinity.

HAPPY WINNER—Donna Caponi Young holds a big check that she received for winning the initial LPGA event of the year Sunday in Miami, Fla. She finished eight under par to win the tourney. (AP Wirephoto.)

Houston Aeros Defeat Blades In WHA Action

By The Associated Press
The travel-weary Baltimore Blades finally made their debut before the home folks and were warmly greeted by an impressive crowd of more than 9,000 fans at the Baltimore Civic Center.
Blades' Coach Johnny Wilson searched for the appropriate phrase to mark the occasion. "The emotion of the crowd created excessive palpitations of the heart," decided Wilson.
The Houston Aeros were not impressed. They skated past the Blades 5-2, handing the club its seventh straight loss, six of them coming since the World Hockey Association shifted the franchise from Michigan to Baltimore.
"This has been a tough weekend," said Wilson after the

Goddard White Wins Tournament

Goddard White polished off San Jacinto Green, 59-55, in the finals of the City 8th Grade Basketball Tournament Friday evening in the San Jacinto Gym.
Merritt and Cook paced the victory with 11 and 10 points while high for S-J was John Leede with 13 and Robert Montgomery with 11.
In the third place game, Alamo Scarlet posted a 70-63 win over Goddard Red with Bryson scoring 35 points for the winners. Big gun for the losers was Jay White with 15.
Alamo Grey outgunned San Jacinto White, 68-60, for the consolation trophy. High men were Garcia and Martinez with 18 points each. Neswick was high for the losers with 17.

SFA Tops Loop

By The Associated Press
The Lone Star Conference may have a basketball champion in exile this year.
Stephen F. Austin, who is on probation and ineligible for playoff or post-season play, has compiled an 8-1 conference record. The Lumberjacks whipped Southwest Texas State 83-73 Saturday night in San Marcos while flood waters in Nacogdoches reached the backboard in SFA's gymnasium.
The field is just about set for the first LSC Championship Tournament in Brownwood, Feb. 23-25.
The top three teams in the West and East Zones will compete in the playoff with the first place team in each zone getting a first round bye.

NHL ROUNDUP—

Bruins Topple Flyers By 5-1

By The Associated Press
"The puck went in for a change, that's all," explained Boston Coach Don Cherry after his slumping Bruins whipped the mighty Philadelphia Flyers 5-1.
"We didn't go out to make it 10-0 and then let them rap some in," he added, explaining the Bruins' close-checking game plan. "Four was enough to win. There was no way we were going to open up."
Bobby Orr, as usual, was the big man for Boston Sunday night. Orr scored one goal and assisted on the other four as the Bruins picked up only their third victory in the last 10 games.
It was another frustrating visit to Boston Garden for the Flyers. Philadelphia beat the Bruins in Boston the first time they played there, on Nov. 12, 1967. But that was the last time they've won in Boston, going 0-17-3 since that time.
Elsewhere in the National Hockey League, Montreal ripped California 5-1, Buffalo bombed Kansas City 8-1, Atlanta topped Minnesota 5-3, New York Rangers tied Detroit 5-5 and the New York Islanders tied Chicago 1-1.
The Bruins struck for three goals in the first period and coasted home. Johnny Bucyk collected his 23rd of the season. Phil Esposito added his 47th and Gregg Sheppard got his 16th. Orr made it 4-0 with a 40-footer in the second period, his 31st goal of the season. Orr now has 91 points on the year, just five behind Esposito's league-leading total.

Louisville Leads MVC Basketball

By The Associated Press
Missouri Valley Conference teams have been presented clear evidence that the still game won't work against Louisville, the nation's third-ranked college basketball team.
New Mexico State and North Texas State tried the delay tactics last week, and the Cardinals came away with some of their most impressive — point-wise — victories to date in the Valley.
Coach Lou Henson yelled for his offense to "freeze it" last Thursday at Louisville. That strategy worked for a bit and the Aggies tied Louisville 15-15 midway of the first half. But the Cardinals took a 25-19 halftime lead as reserve Danny Brown came in and hit all three of his field goal attempts. The rest of the game belonged to the Cardinals.
Only the scoring margin was different Saturday night when North Texas State tried to repeat the stall. Led by Allen Murphy, the Cardinals ran away with the game in a 112-67 romp. The reserves put up 56 points in the second half while Murphy, high point man with 23, sat out most of that time.
The home court victories by Louisville brought the Cards back from their first league loss two weeks ago with a firmer hand. Three of their four victories in the opening games of the season had been won by two-point margins and two of those came in overtime.
The Cardinals stand 6-1 in the league and 15-1 in all games. Behind Louisville in the standings are New Mexico State at 6-3 and Bradley at 4-3. Drake and Wichita State share fourth place with 3-3 records while North Texas State is fifth at 2-3. Tulsa is 2-5 and West Texas State is in last place with a 1-6 record.
Louisville goes on the road this week with what appears to be two assured victories. The Cardinals hit New Mexico State on Thursday and then travel to Tulsa for Saturday's contest.

Officials Continue Search For Houston Plane Crash Cause

HOUSTON (AP) — Federal officials continued to sift through the wreckage of a private plane today in an effort to determine the cause of the crash that killed five occupants and injured 11 others.

Two of the passengers injured in the early Saturday crash have been released from hospitals.

The twin propeller DC3 crashed during dense fog and light rain as it attempted to land at Houston International Airport. The plane's left wing clipped a power transmission tower and it tumbled over in a muddy pasture about 2.5 miles from the end of the runway. There was no explosion or fire.

The plane, owned by Horizon Land Development Corp., was en route to Huntsville, Tex., but was diverted to Houston because of bad weather. The flight originated in Tulsa, Okla., and was taking prospective buyers of land to the firm's Waterwood resort community on Lake Livingston, about 100 miles northeast of here.

Killed were James Matthews, 45, Dallas, pilot; Thomas T. Parks, 55, Dallas, copilot; Richard L. King, 27, Lawton, Okla., a Horizon Corp. salesman; Thomas Carl Haven, 41, and his wife Jamie, 39, of Tulsa.

Dale Hardzog, of Lawton, a district manager for Horizon, was released from a hospital Sunday. Mrs. Roy Little of Sapulpa, Okla., another survivor, was released Saturday.

Mrs. Bryan Smith of Tulsa was listed in fair condition in intensive care and Mrs. Gloyd Bruce of Tulsa was listed in serious condition in intensive care.

Other survivors all in fair condition, include Lloyd Bruce, Tulsa, David King, Tulsa, Mrs. David King, Tulsa, Melvin Little, Sapulpa, Mrs. Melvin Little, Sapulpa, Bryan Smith, Tulsa, and Roy Little, Tulsa.

Federal Aviation Administration and National Transportation Board officials probed the wreck but they gave no indication when they would release a statement.

Adviser To Simon Explains Why Ford Rejects Rationing

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Ford rejected fuel rationing in favor of higher petroleum taxes "because no one really believes that Americans are prepared for at least 10 years of rationing," a counselor to Treasury Secretary William Simon says.

Sidney L. Jones told a national meeting of Realtors on Sunday that proponents of rationing to conserve petroleum envision only two or three years of rationing.

At Least 10 Years "We face at least a decade in which we must overcome, through conservation, our growing dependence on foreign oil. Rationing will not lead to increased supplies; it will not be supported by the American people," Jones said.

He made the remarks while discussing President Ford's economic plan which includes the higher petroleum tax and short-term and long-term tax cuts.

Jones gave a list of causes of recession which included too much government spending, bad monetary policies, sacred cow government jobs, crop difficulties, energy shortages, international manufacturing competition for raw materials and past wage and price controls.

Great Public Fallacy "There is a great fallacy in our country that the government can identify, solve and, best of all, pay for all of the problems of society," Jones said.

"This is a false expectation which has gotten us more government than we need, more government than we want and obviously more government than we are willing to pay for," Jones said.

That is the day the Treasury Department expects the federal debt to hit the present limit of $495 billion. The requested increase would set the ceiling at $531 billion.

Ford ordered the oil tariff increase, starting with a $1-a-barrel increase effective last Saturday, as part of his effort to cut U.S. fuel consumption and lessen dependence on foreign oil.

The tariff would go up to $2 a barrel next month and then $3 a barrel in April. The White House estimates the $3 increase will drive fuel prices up about 10 cents a gallon.

In an effort to make its 90-day blocking action veto-proof, the Ways and Means Committee attached it to a federal debt limit increase that Ford must have by Feb. 18.

That is the day the Treasury Department expects the federal debt to hit the present limit of $495 billion. The requested increase would set the ceiling at $531 billion.

A spokesman for the firm, which has 1,240 supermarkets in 20 states, said the two-month program that put a lid on prices of 1,100 items has been "an increasingly costly plan."

Bill Introduced To Require State Bilingual Elections

AUSTIN — Bilingual election materials would be mandatory in counties with more than five per cent Spanish-speaking residents under provisions of a bill introduced by Sen. Jack Ogg of Houston.

Individual precincts with less than five per cent Spanish-speaking inhabitants would be exempt from the requirement.

Ogg's bill provides for furnishing of election materials in English and Spanish at each polling place. Bilingual materials include instruction cards, operating explanations, ballots and ballot labels and all affidavit forms signed by voters.

CRITICIZED, PICKETED—Dean May Cancel Speaking Tour

CHARLOTTEVILLE, Va. (AP) — John W. Dean III says term for his confessed role in the Watergate cover-up.

Dean told his student audience that while he questioned the timing of the pardon granted Nixon he never doubted that Nixon should go free.

"I for one never want to see a former president, no matter who he is, go to jail," he said. If Nixon were agreeable, Dean said he would like to meet with him to tell the former president of what Dean said were the many positive achievements of the Nixon administration.

Dean said his motive was to speak out so that "others might profit from what I learned about my own blind ambition of yesterday."

As Dean's audience filed into the Virginia fieldhouse they were greeted by about 25 pickets urging a boycott.

They carried signs saying "Four Thousand Pieces of Silver," "Do You Really Think He'll Tell The Truth Tonight?" "The Bigger the Crime the Bigger the Payoff," and "Who Says Crime Doesn't Pay?"

In deciding whether to continue the speaking tour, Dean said he wants to find out if the critics are saying "Let's punish this guy harder," or are they saying "We don't want to learn what John Dean has to say."

Dean said while he has $30,000 in outstanding bills and unpaid loans, he is nonetheless "opposed to commercializing Watergate."

Dean is expected to gross $175,000 from the speaking tour. He has a $300,000 advance for a book, which he said is paid only as he produces parts of a manuscript.

Rees To Leave Government Post PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Albert Rees, director of President Ford's Council of Wage and Price Stability, says he will resign from his administration post in August.

Rees, 53, a Princeton economics professor, said Sunday he will become provost of Princeton when he leaves the administration.

"I've been somewhat of a maverick within this (the Ford) administration, and that has put a strain on all of us," Rees said.

Two Ford Actions Face House Tests This Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration's boosts in oil import tariffs and food stamp prices will be tested in Congress this week.

House Democrats also are expected to clear the way for creation of a select House committee to investigate alleged improper CIA and FBI surveillance. The Senate already has created such a committee.

And members of Congress are expected to devote some study to President Ford's $349 billion budget, proposed today for the next fiscal year.

The House is to vote Tuesday on blocking Ford's increase of the price of food stamps and Wednesday or Thursday on blocking his oil import tariff hike for 90 days.

The White House has indicated Ford would veto the bill suspending his action to cut down American oil consumption by forcing a price hike.

Ways and Means Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., has said Congress could not muster the two-thirds vote needed to override a veto.

The White House has not said whether Ford would veto the measure to block the hike of the cost of food stamps.

Stamp costs would go up to 30 per cent of recipient families' net incomes from the present average 23 per cent, effective March 1.

The House bill would block the increase by freezing food stamp prices.

The House move to block Ford's boost of oil import tariffs for 90 days is designed to give Congress time to come up with its own energy program. The House leadership has appointed a task force to draft such a program within a month.

Ford ordered the oil tariff increase, starting with a $1-a-barrel increase effective last Saturday, as part of his effort to cut U.S. fuel consumption and lessen dependence on foreign oil.

The tariff would go up to $2 a barrel next month and then $3 a barrel in April. The White House estimates the $3 increase will drive fuel prices up about 10 cents a gallon.

The 575,000 kilowatt Unit #1 at the new lignite coal-fired Monticello generating station is now in operation. Right behind it and still under construction is Unit #2, which will have the same capacity.

Introducing Monticello: The newest in a whole new generation of power plants.

The first 575,000 kilowatt generating unit at the new Monticello power plant near Mount Pleasant, Texas, is now in service.

Monticello is the second lignite plant Texas Electric has built in cooperation with two other electric companies. The first, Big Brown, is near Fairfield and has been in operation for three years now.

These lignite plants are an important part of Texas Electric's system. We're building them because new supplies of natural gas and oil, our traditional fuels, are hard to get and extremely expensive.

In 1975, about 20% of our total generation will be fueled by lignite coal. By 1980, we'll add two other units at Monticello and four at a new site near Martin Lake. Lignite will then account for almost one-half of our total generation.

Power plants that use lignite fuel are much more costly. But lignite itself is less expensive than other fuels. Its use will help us keep the price of electricity from increasing as much as it would if we tried to depend on expensive new supplies of natural gas and oil.

At Texas Electric we're continuing the orderly development of our power system so that you'll continue having the electricity you need. New lignite plants like Monticello are helping do the job.

East won the first trick with the king of diamonds and then led the ace of diamonds. South ruffed and led a trump to dummy's king.

When West discarded a heart on the first round of trumps, South detected an irresistible force just a few inches away from his right ear. There was no way to stop East from winning two trump tricks.

South could avoid the loss of a club trick only by skillful dodging. It isn't easy to see the right line of play, so you might have some fun looking for it before you read on.

Ruffs South began by ruffing another diamond. Then he took three rounds of hearts, cashed the top clubs and led dummy's last diamond.

By this time East was reduced to three trumps and the queen of clubs. South had three trumps and a low club.

If East discarded the queen of clubs instead of ruffing, South would ruff dummy's diamond. That would be his ninth trick, and the ace of trumps would supply the tenth. East would get his two trump tricks, but he'd capture South's losing club with one of the top trumps.

The Rockefeller Commission is one of two, and possibly three, panels looking into CIA abuses. A Senate committee is investigating a wide range of government intelligence operations, including the CIA and FBI, and formation of a similar House committee is expected to be recommended Tuesday by the House Democratic Steering Committee.

Allegations about CIA improperities were broadened over the weekend with disclosure of previously unpublished congressional testimony linking former agency Director Richard M. Helms with orders to withhold documents from Watergate investigators.

Howard J. Osborne, onetime CIA director of security, told a House intelligence subcommittee that Helms ordered the information withheld despite a Justice Department subpoena to supply it.
