Old Equipment Gives Way To Power Farming

"Whattamibid! Whattamibid! for this perfectly good brindle four-cylinder cow," cries the auctioneer, "delivered to you fully equipped with the 75 distinct new improvements which feature the 1930 model (pause) Speak up, zien, this ain't no hop joint."

"Twenty dollars!" answers a bewildered son of toil from a group of stern-faced farmers facing the auctioneer. And then aside to his companion, "By gad I been layin' off to buy a cow fer some time, and I think I can use this one."

"Twenty-five dollars!" shouts someone from the other side of the group. "Twenty-five dollars! Twenty-five dollars Who'll say thirty?"

Day after day, week after week the public sales in Bailey county go on. Auctioneers and their staff, barber shops, cafes and telephone poles remind one of the days preceding a circus: newspapers look like bill-boards, and linotype operators, who deserve no pity, can name every article used on the farm from the old gray mare on down to the milking stool.

To the unsophisticated newcomer it appears that the country has gone to the bow-wow with apologies to W. K. Henderson and that the whole of Bailey County is being placed on the block to be knocked down at public auction, and to you who are entertaining ideas to this effect, get a load of this:

"But what," you ask, "is the meaning of all these public sales? There's old Bill Jones—just came to the Plains two years ago—seems to be selling out look, stock and barrel. Has he gone busted? Bud Jenkins over there—worked two sections last year—seems to be dumping everything he's got on the market! Is he giving it up?"

Not on yer dinty, brother! Bill Jones gone busted! Bud Jenkins givin' it up! Not enough so you could tell. Old Bill sold enough cream and eggs 'last year to pay his running expenses, and he's pulling the old farm wagon out to the auction block to make room for a brand spanking new motor truck he's bought; and the horses—he won't need 'em now since he bought two tractors. The old 290-egg incubator was all right in its day, but he won't need it now that he's got one with a 500 egg capacity. What about the cows, you say? Yes, sure I was about to forget the cows! Old Bill's been reading in the farm paper that he'd make more money if he would just sell off the old mixed stock and put in some pure-breds, and he's going to try that this year. He's just passing all that stuff on to the newcomer who can't afford to buy a section and a new outfit of equipment this year.

Bud Jenkins givin' it up? Well, not this year at least. He sold off a section last fall and he won't need all that equipment. He is going to try working a smaller acreage more intensively.

—and so we have a part of the story. The country is not going to the dogs; we're not chasing a phantom—we're facing, here on the Plains of Texas, the greatest era that ever confronted the farming industry.

So, get rid of it, Bill—do your staff, auctioneers — We know it means PROGRESS!

FIRST 1930 MARRIAGE APPLICATION FILED THIS WEEK

The first notice of intention to marry was filed here this week at the Clerk's office. Mr. Robert E. Dyer of Lubbock and Miss Wilma de Griffith of Tula were the first to apply for marriage license here.

Since the new marriage law went into effect last year this part of Texas has lost heavily in the sale of marriage licenses. This has been the source of much discussion in recent months and many people favor a change in the law.

South Plains Gins One Tenth Of Texas Cotton

One-tenth of the cotton production of the state of Texas prior to January 16 was produced on the South Plains and lower plains region, according to a report of ginnings made public Tuesday by the United States Department of Commerce through the Bureau of Census. Lamb County, with a ginning total of 49,302 bales and Lubbock county with 45,045 bales, led the region.

Other high producers are: Dawson, 32,327; Hockley, 29,515 and Lynn, 29,646.

With ginnings continuing in a number of points over the region, the total is expected to increase at least five thousand bales, gin men estimated today.

The report by counties follows: Lubbock, 49,302; Bailey, 7,537; Briscoe, 6,663; Cottle, 22,317; Crosby, 24,807; Dawson, 32,328; Hockley, 29,515; Hale, 18,480; Garza, 5,582; Gaines, 4,598; Ford, 14,489; Floyd, 16,383; Dickens, 13,317; Lamb, 49,302; Lynn, 29,646; Nolan, 10,579; Terry, 22,049; Scurry, 14,420.

Drive For New Legion Members Last of Week

A drive for new Legion members will start the last of this week, according to Adjutant Connie Gupton. Not only does the Adjutant want new members but some of the old ones must "shake down" with some dues. Judge Adams and Sam Goodson have been appointed as a committee to give wayward members the third degree if necessary in order to collect these dues. Just as well come in and give up, fellers.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY, M. E.

The Ladies' Missionary Society of the M. E. church met at the home of Mrs. Faulkner with eleven members present. The meeting was opened by the president reading the 12th Chapter of First Corinthians, followed with prayer by Mrs. Haney.

The business part of the meeting was taken care of then the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Arnold Morris who had charge of the study program. Each one enjoyed the lesson very much.

W. M. U. QUILTING

The W. M. U. Ladies met at Mrs. Danner's Wednesday for the purpose of quilting. During the course of the day there were some 15 ladies who dropped in for an hour's chat and quilting. There were seven or eight ladies who came early and stayed late and also enjoyed a lovely dinner brought by different members assisted by Mrs. Danner. All enjoyed the day immensely and hope to have more affairs of like manner. Those who quilted all day really think the price should be raised, judging from their expressions.—Reported.

TWO TEXICO-FARWELL BASEBALL PLAYERS TO LEAGUE

Two Texico-Farwell baseball players who have been seen in action in Clovis a number of times are going to get their chance in the "big league." "Red" Langston, 21 years old, has signed a contract for a try-out with Shreveport, in Texas League. While with Las Vegas, the Central League, in 1928 Langston batted 370 per cent in his last six games. His fielding average was 100 per cent; at bat in those six games he smacked out two home runs, one 3-base hit, two 2-baggers; assisted in 19 putouts, and made 12 putouts himself.

J. H. Hiner, the 18-year-old Farwell player, who played with the Clovis city team and was with the Canyon Normal team for two seasons, will go to Dallas Steers to try out for a fielding position. Hiner is one of the most persistent hitters and fielders ever seen in action on a diamond in this city.—Clovis News-Journal.

TATE PLEADS NOT GUILTY; TRIAL TO BE FEBRUARY 10th

Trial of Vernon Tate, charged in the information with the slaying of G. C. and Carl Bohannon, father and son respectively, was set for Monday, Feb. 10th, at 9 o'clock, a. m., by District Judge Harry L. Patton, at 2:45 Monday afternoon.

After the court had granted the defense permission to later change pleas, pleas of not guilty were entered in both cases by Carl A. Hatch, of the council for the defense.

While the state, through J. C. Compton, district attorney, announced as ready for trial on the date set. Defense council informed the court that motion for a continuance might be filed with the court Tuesday.

During the arraignment, Tate, brought into the court room by Sheriff R. M. Witherspoon and deputies, with hands behind him holding his hat. His face betrayed none of his feelings, whatever they might have been, and he gave no signs of recognition of anyone among the small crowd of spectators.

Bailey County Schools Will Run Full Term

There has been quite a bit of worry here the past week over the problem of school being handicapped on account of State aid. An injunction was filed recently against officials spending any more of the rural state aid money, but Judge J. E. Adams stated Monday of this week that patrons in Bailey County need not be alarmed. This county has already received $6,690.00 from the fund and that will be sufficient to carry on school work for the full term.

The injunction against state officials spending any part of the $5,000,000 rural school aid fund was suspended pending final disposition of an appeal Saturday by the fourth court of civil appeals.

Judge R. B. Minor of the 57th district court granted the injunction against the state and the petition of Miss Mae Mumme, a student of the Peach Tree school in Medina county, and her mother, Mrs. Louise Mumme, a taxpayer of the county, and he held the act of the last Legislature authorizing the fund to be in violation of both state and federal constitutions.

Chief Justice W. S. Fly announced the court would take the injunction under advisement as to whether it would uphold the lower court or would reverse the decision.

Six More Weeks Of Winter, Mr. Groundhog Says

The weather is always a good subject to discuss when something better is lacking. So it has been here since Sunday, for on that day Mr. Groundhog crept from his winter home and pronounced the forecast as very bad. Legend has it that if this little animal comes out on February 2, and sees his shadow it is a sure sign of continued cold, snow and rain for at least six weeks.

Last Sunday was one of the nicest days experienced here in several weeks. However, there is considerable argument as to what time of day Mr. Groundhog comes out. Some suggest that he might have made his appearance on the shady side of a hill, early in the morning, while some say that it is always at noon. Who knows for sure? At any rate we have had perfect weather so far this week, and it begins to look as though there will have to be a good ally raked up so that Brother Groundhog may hold his reputation as a floyer prophetic.

Will Hold Power Farming School Here February 14

The E. R. Hart Lumber Company has completed all arrangements for its extensive power farming entertainment to be held at its place of business in Muleshoe on Friday, February 14th. They have made arrangements with the speakers, secured the motion pictures, and made arrangements for an appetizing lunch to be served at noon.

That part of the program dealing with the care of the tractor will be in charge of the International Harvester Company and will be thoroughly practical in every way. The men in charge have been handling tractors many years, and not only know the tractors from the standpoint of theory, but can operate them and give you the benefit of their practical experience. They will be anxious to answer your questions.

Several reels of motion pictures will be shown. These pictures will bring to the people the latest methods of farming in other sections of the country. The pictures will be shown at the Lone Star Theatre from 3:30 to 4:30 p. m.

Farming today is dependent on volume production—that is, the producing of more per person on the farm. By increasing the volume per person the cost of production is materially decreased. One of the objectives of this entertainment will be to bring through pictures and otherwise, experience of the outstanding farmers of the present day.

Tractors and other present-day equipment will be on display to offer a first-class study of the various mechanical features. Several new machines have been introduced in the past few years, some of which are making their appearance in our neighborhood for the first time. Come and see for yourself how these machines operate and what their effect will be on crop production.

Do not forget the date—every progressive farmer should be there. Make your plans now, bring the entire family, and spend the whole day. Program will open at 10:30 a. m.

He served as an officer during the World War, and since has been active in the American Legion.

MAKE 'EM OR BUY 'EM SMOCKS ARE THE THING FOR HOME AND OFFICE

Buy 'em or make 'em, smocks are the things for home and office wear. The new smocks are as gay as the flowers of spring and as modern as "lines" that are different can make them. And their materials! Well, here's mentioning a few of the swankest—wide wale pique in pastel colors, also printed pique, basket-weave cottons, washable flat crepe, rayon alpaca, printed broadcloth as well as plain, printed batiste, rayon pique, honeycomb weaves, sponge, cotton eggs, printed dimity, rayon shantung both printed and plain, cretonnes, of course, and there are others too numerous to mention in one brief paragraph.

However, if you insist on a lengthier list compile it yourself by putting this and that together, for fabric combinations make up a considerable part of the smock program this season. That two materials are better than one, is evidently the opinion of the designer of the smock in the picture. In this instance pale green rayon pique is trimmed with printed shantung. A slightly fitted-in waistline, double-breasted fastening, a flared hemline, are three outstanding style items which enter into the fashioning of this charming model.

It seems that solid colors in pastel tones are preferred for smocks this season with flowery and modernistic prints used in a trimming way. It is along these lines of using contrasting materials that the most novel and charming smocks are being developed.

Refreshing style appeal also creates a new interest for washable daytime frocks. Such intriguing details concern dresses made of fascinating cottons and rayons as capelet collars, short-puff sleeves or no sleeves at all, sashes of self-material tied in big bows at the back, tiers of circular ruffles, peplum flares at the hipline, and so on and so on.

Very smart, indeed, for daytime wear is the suit of black cotton or rayon pique. These are made up with as much care and observance of style detail as the more pretentious woolsens or silks. A highly colorful printed pique tuck-in blouse adds the final touch of chic.

The H. C. of Hose

Some time ago a contest was started in which working girls were asked to submit budget plans for incomes of $15 to $35 a week. And the plans submitted to date have shown that, despite a summer given over to the bare-leg fad, stockings are the most important items in a girl's expenditures. One girl earning $15 a week submitted a budget calling for fifty-two pairs of hose a year. However, another girl who earns $35 said she needed only eight pairs a year. The majority of the contestants put their stocking needs at from twelve to thirty pairs. The controlling factor in all the budgets is the amount a girl has to pay for room and board. If she lives with her family she has a greater surplus than if she lives alone, and invariably all that remains from food and lodging goes into clothing.

THE BARNSTORMER

The airplane is one of science's greatest contributions to mankind. From the crude flying machine of a few years ago, most of us have watched its development to the giant transport of today, which has placed New York and San Francisco less than 36 hours apart. Still it is in its infancy, but it is no longer a novelty.

There was a time when business ceased, school turned out and a holiday declared when a city was favored with a visit by one of these contraptions, but times have changed. It is now just another, faster means of transportation, one that has grown in such proportions in recent years as to necessitate regulation, as has become necessary to do in regard to other common carriers.

Air traffic has been placed under regulation in many cities over the nation, and foremost among the regulations is a law to the effect that a pilot shall not fly his ship over corporation limits at an altitude of less than 2,000 feet; an altitude aimed to enable any pilot to maneuver his plane outside the city limits in case of a forced landing. This is one of the most sensible and reasonable regulations ever imposed upon anyone, for in many instances have human lives been lost and property damage resulted from airplanes crashing in urban centers. Beyond a doubt every sensible pilot in the United States cannot help but endorse these laws.

It is true that many cities, dozens of times larger than Muleshoe, do not have a law to this effect because the necessity for it has not as yet been impressed upon them. Still we feel that when a barnstorming pilot comes to a town, skims over the housetops at the ridiculous altitude of about 150 feet, he is violating in spirit every law of common decency in regard to the rights of his fellow man.

We have reference to our visitor of last Saturday who arrived in the Ford tri-motored plane. If it had been just his own neck that was endangered as he soared just overhead in an effort to attract prospective passengers for a ride with him, we would have little complaint to make, but human lives were endangered, a risk of property damage was run, all for the sake of bravado.

We are not advocating an ordinance regulating the altitude of airplanes that fly over our city, but think it over. Did our barnstormer friend play fair with us?

Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Robinson have just returned from Eastland, Texas, where they attended the funeral of Mrs. N. J. Burton. Services were held at the Merriman church, Rev. O. Hurst officiating.

The dairy industry is going ahead, too. Metzger's of Dallas are building a $100,000 plant at Houston. Swift creamery and poultry packing plant at Paris, costing a half million, will be in operation in a few weeks. Crosby County creamery at Ralls will soon be handling 4,000 pounds of butter a day. Foremost Dairy Products Co., with which Southwest Dairy Products of Dallas, recently merged, will spend $500,000 in Texas for improvements, new construction, acquisition of new properties and establishment of demonstration dairy farms. Bureau of business research shows 242 dairy plants of all kinds in Texas. Yorum shipped 1,875,000 pounds of milk in 1929, not to mention 28 solid cartons of poultry and eggs.

Lazbuddie News

The increased enrollment in all grades since the first of January has made it necessary to hire another teacher to finish the year. We feel that we were especially fortunate in getting Miss Georgia King of Canyon, Texas. Miss King holds a degree from the teacher's college in Canyon, has had nine years' experience and comes to us very highly recommended.

All of the requirements of the state department for the classification of our high school have been complied with. We are asking for affiliation with the state and of course are hoping that we may meet with partial, if not complete success this year.

The school board is to be highly commended for its liberality in properly equipping the libraries and the science laboratory. Both have been adequately furnished to meet the requirements of the State.

The high school basket ball teams played several games last week. The boys defeated Progress 26-6 but lost to the strong Farwell and Bovina teams 25-15 and 29-24 respectively. The girls lost to Farwell 14-7. However two of the regulars on the girls' team were unable to go to Farwell. Both teams will be in the County Tournament in Bovina Friday and Saturday. Friday night is the regular time for the meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association.

The Parmer County singing Convention which was to be held here the second Sunday in February has been postponed by the officers of the convention until the second Sunday in March. Remember the date and everybody come.

Supt. and Mrs. Haskins and G. C. Foreman attended the Parmer County Teacher's Association in Friona last Saturday week.

There are quite a few absences from school due to the mumps. We trust all of these will soon be able to be with us again.

Miss Faye Cheyne was a business visitor in Lubbock last week end. Miss Christine Shaw of Lubbock spent last week with Miss Cheyne. They were childhood school mates and have always been very close friends.

Reporter

Judge J. H. Aldridge of Farwell was looking after business matters here Wednesday.

Mrs. E. H. Wood who has been in the hospital at Lubbock is reported as not doing so well this week.

PROGRESS SCHOOL NEWS

School has progressed nicely for the past week with an average attendance of 78. At present we have an enrollment of 90—the largest enrollment in the history of this school. Since Christmas there has been an approximate increase in attendance of 46%.

Improvement of the general equipment on the ground is being made. The furniture in the building is being reconditioned.

Progress boys played a game of basketball with West Camp Friday. The scores were 13-12 in favor of Progress. The boys played Lazbuddie the same day but lost the game.

There has been some sickness in the school work, but not very serious. Everybody will be over their bad colds in a few days. The general health has been above the average considering the bad winter.

Everybody and especially the patrons are invited to pay the school a visit and in that way really find out just what is being done down here. The school needs your assistance and help, so remember you are welcome at any time.—Reported.

AIR MAIL GROWING

In 1929 about 7,000,000 pounds of air mail was carried over the 25 domestic air routes—nearly double the amount flown in 1928.

The total length of the mail airway—14,387 miles—was very little more than the year before, but the total number of miles flown by the mail pilots reached nearly 15,700,000, which was almost double the mileage of the previous year. This big increase of flying over the same routes is accounted for by the new, lightning equipment over many of the routes, which makes night as valuable as day for flying.

In addition to our domestic flying several new airways were opened to Mexico, South America and the West Indies. The present outlook is that these will be rapidly extended. There are also new domestic routes planned for the near future, including a new Southern transcontinental service from Los Angeles to Atlanta.

Paul Revere, of Famous Ride, Born 195 Years Ago

The one hundred ninety-fifth anniversary of the birth of Paul Revere, Revolutionary hero, was celebrated on January 1, 1930, by many patriotic organizations. In this illustration the upper photograph shows a scene in a re-enactment of the famous midnight ride in which Revere stirred the Minute Men to action as he warned them of the coming of the British. On the lower left is the St. James Episcopal church, Cambridge, Mass., which still summons its congregation with the dulcet notes of the bell on the right, one of the sixty church bells cast by the hero-artist. In the lower middle is an artist's visualization of the ride.

NEW LAND IN ANARCTICA

Two Norwegian aviators, Erliser Larsen and Lutzw-Holm, announce that they discovered hitherto unknown land in the antarctic between Kemp Land and Enderby Land. The Two flyers took off from the "Norvegia," which lay 100 miles offshore on the opposite side of the antarctic continent from the Ross Sea where Admiral Byrd has his headquarters. According to the usual procedure recognized by international law the Norwegians, after bringing down their seaplane in a stretch of open water and making their way on skis to land, unfurled the flag of their country and took formal possession of the territory in the name of Norway. Both flyers are members of the royal Norwegian air force and their base ship belongs to a large whaling firm which has granted its use for exploration and research in the antarctic since 1926. The explorers stated in their report that the continental coast in that region seems to be very mountainous.

PEACHES PLAYED A PRANK ON HIM

Bailey County, Texas, Farm and Ranch:

I notice in your paper where someone speaking about grafting grape vines, claims it to be a new discovery. I am sure it is something new to practically all people at this time, but it recalls to my mind that when I was a small boy, my uncle, M. F. Greenwood, who died about a year ago at the age of 90 years, grafted several of the wild mustang grapes, and I remember those vines spread all over the large trees by which they grew, and bore immense crops every year. I don't know what variety of graft was used, but the grapes were slightly oblong, and a little lighter in color than the native mustang. The grapes were of very fine quality, and many times since I have wondered why people failed to make general use of the wild vines all around them. After some twelve or fifteen years the vines died, a characteristic of most of the nursery stock vines.

My uncle also originated several varieties of peaches and plums, some of which proved to be very good fruit. Being just a boy at the time, I gave it little or no attention, thinking it a matter of common knowledge among the settlers.

I am seeking someone's opinion on the pranks my peach trees played last spring. These trees are four years old and should have borne a fairly good crop of peaches last year as many of the neighbor's trees produced above average, but our orchard didn't even bloom. A few of the trees had one or two dozen blooms, while others failed to show but one or two flowers to the tree. These trees are large and vigorous for four-year-old trees, some of them being 4 inches in diameter, with a top spread of 10 to 13 feet. The buds did not freeze, as they were not there to freeze. The trees simply failed to produce buds preceding fall.

The only way I can account for this strange behavior is that the late summer and fall of 1928 were quite wet for this western country and the tree made heavy growth. The rains continued well up into winter, and the first freeze to appear, while not a severe one, was sufficient to kill all vegetation, and deaden the leaves on the trees, although they did not fall off for two or three weeks.

But this seems not to have been the cause, as other orchards, only a few miles away produced nice crops. I am putting this question up to Joe E. Fitzgerald. I read many of his articles in the papers, and he seems to be one of the best practical fruit men in the State. W. M. POOL

Greater Beauty - Finer Performance

Never has a Chevrolet car won greater praise for its appearance than the new Chevrolet Six. Its new Fisher bodies reveal in every detail the artistry that has made the Fisher name famous throughout the motor car world. In beauty of line and color, in balance and harmony of design, they represent one of the greatest style triumphs in Fisher history. And the promise of this exterior beauty is more than fulfilled when you look inside the car. Upholsteries are richer and more durable. The instrument panel carries a new and more attractive grouping of the control instruments. Seats are wider and deeper. In fact, not a single feature has been overlooked that would add to the comfort and convenience of both driver and passengers.

In addition to its new beauty, the new Chevrolet Six represents a remarkable advance in every phase of performance. Its improved six-cylinder valve-in-head engine has been increased to 50 horsepower—giving faster acceleration, greater reserve energy and more comfortable high speeds. Steering has been made safer and easier by a new front axle assembly. Four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers provide exceptional riding comfort. Fully enclosed, internal-expanding, weather-proof brakes give positive braking control. And numerous structural improvements add to the car's dependability, endurance and long life. Come in today and see this car. And remember, it is now available—

Russians Store Wheat in Churches

While the saints in this Russian church at Petrovsky look down benignly, peasants bring in their wheat crop, have it duly recorded by a commissar and then take it to the huge mound of wheat in the nave. So great is the crop this year that ordinary means of storing it have been exhausted. Officials were forced to use churches.

CENSUS WILL BE COMPLICATED

In the various branches of the census it will be necessary to ask nearly 20,000 questions regarding individuals, farms and manufacturing and commercial enterprises. The enumerators will be furnished with about 40,000,000 printed copies of the various schedules of inquiries.

Growth and compilation of America's economic life has made it necessary to measure it in one dimension after another and now the census takers find it necessary to add the measurement of distribution as a corollary to the more familiar problems of production.

This will mean an enumeration of the outlets through which the products of industry must move into consumption. In this connection the enumerators must secure such pertinent facts as sales, inventory, number of persons employed, salaries, rent and other expense items.

In a recent statement Secretary of Commerce Lamont urged that the census taking not be considered either coercive or a meddling interference in private affairs. It is performing a function necessary and beneficial to all, collectively and individually.

Among the most important of the new questions to be asked in the 1930 census is one concerning the value of a home if owned or the monthly rental if rented, making it possible to classify families according to economic status or buying power. Another new question of importance asks for the age at first marriage. This will determine the relative age at marriage of persons in different racial and economic groups and make possible the tabulation on important data on the size of families, based on the number of children in the families of women who have been married a stated number of years.

Another question on radio sets will determine the size of the potential radio audience. Other important items will be the classification of manual workers according to occupation, the listing of women doing housework in their own homes or who supervise their servants as home makers in addition to whatever occupation they might be credited with in the occupation column.

For the first time this year the Government is making a census of unemployment in the United States. This, added to the new feature of "manufacture and distribution," is expected to be the basis for a sounder economic survey of the United States than has been possible in the past.

Much preparation and schooling on the part of the prospective enumerators and others who will be engaged in the census taking task are necessary. The 544 supervisors, 29 of whom are located in Texas are being put through a special training course this month under the direction of Stewart. A two-day census institute for the Texas Supervisors will be held in Dallas Thursday and Friday. They will be given the latest plans of the national bureau for the mustering of enumerators and supervision of the census work in each district.

First census was in 1790.

today by S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of schools.

Marrs pointed out that an appeal from the injunction granted by a district court in San Antonio last Saturday will be filed Wednesday with the court of civil appeals there. If that court dissolves the injunction the necessary legislation can be had in the last two weeks of this session. If an appeal to the supreme court has to be made, another session will be necessary he said.

He will make a formal appeal tomorrow to teachers in the schools affected to remain at their posts until March 1. If the injunction is upheld these teachers will be dependent on citizens of their communities, and not the state, for their salaries, he said.

Means of meeting the emergency created by the injunction were considered today by the house educational committee. Marrs appeared before it as did Assistant Attorney General D. F. Whitehurst. Whitehurst expressed the belief that if the injunction is upheld it will be impossible to draw a new bill eliminating objectionable features.

Marrs told the committee that unless some relief is hit upon, between 200 and 250 rural schools of Texas must close the end of next week.

Whitehurst advised the committee to wait several days on the higher court's action before attempting to make any appropriation to the special rural school fund.

He explained that the most serious objection to be met in overcoming the injunction was the one raised by the court that the legislature is prohibited by the constitution from making appropriations from the general fund for school purposes except to the available school fund. The bill enjoined made an appropriation for a special fund.

FIND 9-FOUND METER ON AN INDIANA FARM

ROCHESTER, Ind.—A nine-pound piece of meteor was being exhibited here following its discovery on a farm a mile south of Richland Center, Ind. Austin Burkett, a farmer, found the meteorite chip in a field where it apparently had been turned up by a plow. The meteorite is four inches long, six inches high and is shaped like a human foot.

Miss Margaret Burgess, a local high school science teacher, examined the meteorite and gave it the acid test. The result showed that the chip was almost solid copper. Burkett hopes that a huge meteor of solid copper may be imbedded somewhere on the farm.

MEDAL TO OPERATOR 11,000 MILES AWAY

Malcolm P. Hanson, With Byrd Near South Pole, Hears Tribute.

One of the most striking methods of making an award of merit ever devised was the recent presentation of the Veterans Wireless Operators' Association medal in a speech by David Saroff in New York to Malcolm P. Hanson, radio operator with Byrd, listening by radio in the Antarctic wastes near the South Pole.

Mr. Saroff, Executive Vice-President of the Radio Corporation, praising Hanson, mentioned also the fertility of the wife of the operator, who had consented that her husband go on the hazardous expedition for the sake of science. After she had received the medal for safe keeping, Mrs. Hanson, deeply touched, spoke to her husband across the vast distance. Within a few minutes Hanson's reply came by radio telegraph through the receiving station of R. C. A. Communications, Inc. at Riverhead, Long Island. In addition to thousands at the Radio World's Fair, where the presentation was made, an uncounted throng heard the tribute over the network of the National Broadcasting Company.

"It is my privilege," Mr. Saroff said, "to pay tribute tonight to a man who has made an unusual contribution to science and civilization. Although he is 11,000 miles distant from this glass-enclosed room in Madison Square Garden, where I now stand, he is nevertheless able, through the instrumentality of Radio, to listen to the sound of my voice. That fact alone is worthy of commemoration, even in this day of extraordinary progress in science."

"Malcolm P. Hanson, as Chief Radio Operator of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition, you have been awarded the annual medal of the Veterans Wireless Operators' Association, for the most distinguished contribution, by a radio operator, in 1928, to wireless communication. As a member of that association, with some knowledge of its maritime traditions and standards of service, I feel that the award is well earned and well deserved."

Mr. Saroff related how Hanson planted his slender steel towers on the edge of the great ice barrier, cheered his comrades with news from home and gave the world for the first time a thrilling daily account of a polar expedition. Those things alone would have been a contribution to history, he said, but Hanson added to radio knowledge by testing signals against the polar sky, observed the phenomena of the Aurora Australis and made a record of radio behavior under conditions hitherto unknown. To Mrs. Hanson, Mr. Saroff said:

P. H. Wood has bought land near Goodland and has moved here from Sylvester.

Highway construction continues in Texas. Crockett County with $375,000; Haskell with $935,000; eyes with $105,000; Lubbock with $901,000 are recent road bond issues. Cameron has ordered issued another million of the six voted for road building campaign. The State Highway department let contracts in 1929 for more than 32 million dollars, and Texas counties have voted over 200 million dollars for better roads in the past fifteen years. Cattle expects to spend $1,200,000 (Federal, State and County) on good roads this year.

You can sit down, stand up or change "short" as you choose. The controls are conveniently placed. The steering gear is very fast. The front wheels respond quickly to the slightest turn. All in all the tractor is remarkably easy to operate.

You will be as enthusiastic about this tractor as we are. Come in and let us tell you more about it.

Cage Meet At Morton Last Week

In the Interstate Basketball tournament just closed at Morton, Texas, Bailey County was well represented by two of the best teams in the tournament—Watson and Bula.

Fighting an uphill game throughout, playing the hardest schedule of any team in the entire meet, the team representing Watson fought its way into the finals for championship, where it played a game under a handicap that would have caused many teams to let down in their fight, playing with their great center and one forward nearly too ill to be on the court, this game team fought Meadow to a standstill and lost the game that decided the championship by one point. In their first game, Watson played Loveland.

When Watson came on the court to warm up, they could see two full teams warming up under the Loveland goal. Watson won the game 20-14.

Next Watson met Bula, one of the strongest teams in the meet. This game was exciting and close. Watson got away to a flying start and ran up a score of 16-1 before Bula got started. Then Bula came on with a rush, but Watson tightened up to win 18-14.

In the third game, Watson and Morton put up a desperate battle. Watson finally winning out.

This placed Watson in the finals with Meadow, a team representing a 10-teacher school near Lubbock.

This team was big, fast and had 13 men to play on.

Before a crowded house, this last game was the closest, most exciting game of the meet, Meadow finally winning out, 17-16 in the last minute of play.

The Watson team represented the smallest school in the meet and used only five men throughout, met teams which had many subs to fall back on, but who dared use only five.

They made less fouls than any team in the entire meet in proportion to the number of games played, and left the meet with a good word and best wishes from those present.

To the Loveland team, we wish to extend our thanks for its clean sportsmanship and the good game it played us.

To Bula we wish to say that they have a good, fast team that gave us a royal battle, a team that will extend anyone to beat.

To Morton, who gave us really our hardest fight, we wish to thank for their royal treatment throughout the entire meet, a good team and a hospitable bunch.

To Meadow: There are no cleaner sports, no harder fighters, no one more deserving to win.

To them we extend our best wishes and congratulations on winning the championship of the meet over our heads. Loveland won the consolation trophy and Shallowater won the trophy for third place.

Teams represented were: Meadow, Watson, Shallowater, Morton, Sudas, Cobeland, Sundown, New Home, Bula, Texas, and Rogers, N. M. Reported.

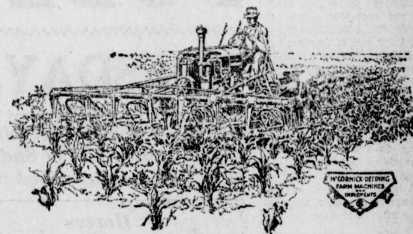

Thank You

I wish to thank the many people of this territory who were my customers when I was local agent for Phillips Petroleum Company for the fine patronage extended me.
