State Oil Unitization Bill Sent To Panel

AUSTIN (AP)—A Senate committee rejected an attempt today to move a compulsory oil unitization bill to the Senate floor for debate.

The motion to approve the bill failed 4-4 in the Natural Resources Committee with the chairman, Sen. Max Sherman, D-Amarillo, not voting.

A motion to send the measure to a subcommittee was then approved 5-4 as Sen. Bill Patman, D-Gamado, arrived late to cast that deciding vote. Dozens of oilmen stood around the committee table in the Senate chamber watching the vote, which climaxed four hours of testimony Wednesday and today.

The crucial 4-4 vote went this way: For: Sens. Tom Creighton, D-Mineral Wells; Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls; Grant Jones, D-Abilene, and Glenn Kothmann, D-San Antonio.

Against: Sens. Peyton McKnight, D-Tyler; Kent Hance, D-Lubbock; Walter Mengden, R-Houston, and Lindon Williams, D-Houston.

The same proposal was defeated two years ago when proponents failed by four votes to get the necessary 21 to bring the measure up out of turn.

Leading the fight against it in 1973 was McKnight, who told reporters then he was prepared to filibuster it if he had lost that vote.

Wednesday, McKnight said he wouldn't need to block the bill from coming up for debate. "The difference is this time I've got the votes on the floor," he said.

Testimony Given Backers of the bill testified Wednesday it is needed in a time of energy crisis because it increases production two and even three times through injection of water or gas into a reservoir. And they said they would rather the state regulate unitization than the federal government.

Opponents said they wanted no forced unitization from either the state or federal governments.

"No American likes to be forced to do anything that he don't like," said C. Y. Jacobs of Yoakum.

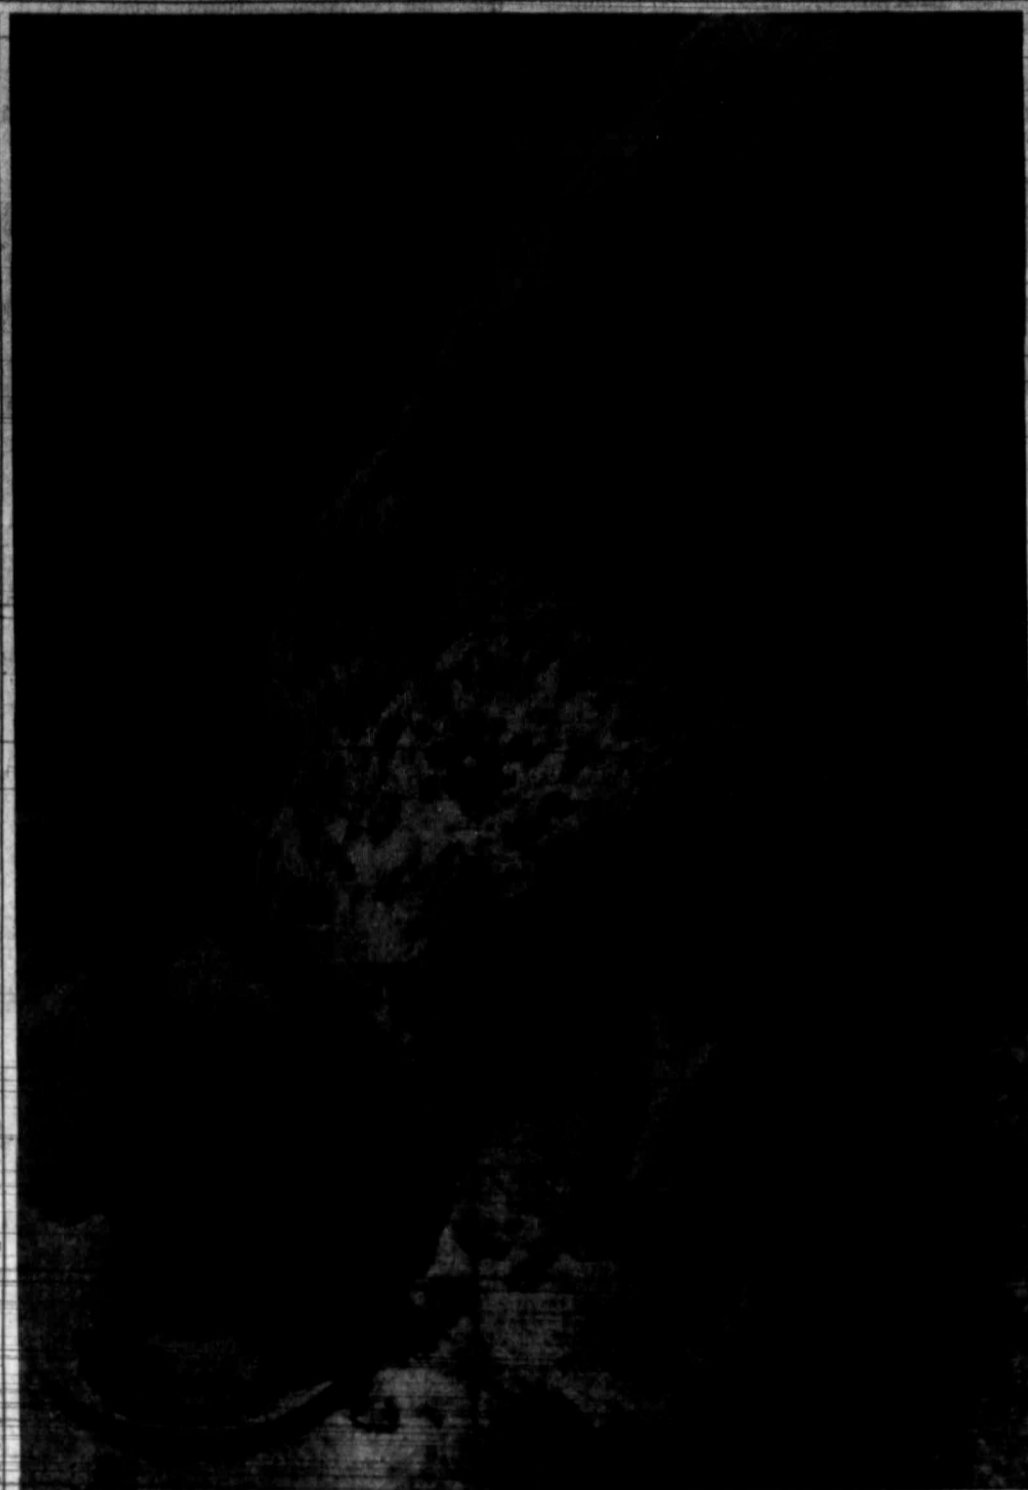

Geologist Disagrees A Texas Tech University geologist disagreed. "The present energy situation no longer permits us the luxury of indulging rugged individualism in refusing to permit the unitization that makes unit operation possible," said Dr. Frank Conzelmann.

The bill would require only 75 per cent of the producers' interest and 75 per cent of the royalty owners' interest to agree to unitization. Under present law, the Railroad Commission calls a hearing when 85 per cent of the producers' interest and 65 per cent of the royalty owners' interest has agreed. If all other requirements are met, the field is unitized, but any operator who wants to may stay out.

McKnight said Texas had more fields unitized under Texas voluntary program than all other states combined.

Wesley West of Houston said the big oil companies told the legislature in 1973 that 107 fields needed to be unitized. Since then, 49 have been unitized under the voluntary approach, he said, including the Hawkins Field in Wood County, which the big companies said would be impossible to bring under one operation without compulsion.

Planning Commission Okays Runway Extension Project For Air Terminal

By GEORGE MASSEY A $5-million runway extension project for Midland Regional Airport received approval by the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission's Board of Directors Wednesday.

The city is requesting more than $3.8 million to be funded by the Federal Aviation Administration for the 2,600-foot extension to the north end of runway 16R-34L.

The city's share of the extension project would require $1.2 million, which is in-hand from past bond issues for airport development.

The project is the second step listed under the Stage I Airfield Area improvements as scheduled in the Midland Regional Airport Master Plan, published in October 1974.

Strengthening of runways and taxiways is now under way.

The extension project has been proposed by airport management and consultant services to meet future needs at the air facility for landing aircraft heavier than the Boeing 727 and 200 series, and allows for non-stop flights from the coastal states.

The board also stamped its approval on the preliminary environmental impact statement necessary for the extension project.

The statement, compiled by Arnold Thompson Associates, Inc., said, "It is the consultant's opinion that based upon the information . . . the completion of the proposed development will, in no significant way, adversely affect the airport's impact upon the environment."

The Community Action Agency of Midland received approval by the PBRPC board for a $33,000 grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity for continuing its general community programming activities.

The action agency has been in operation since 1965, and serves as a referral and information agency. The agency assists other community organizations in identifying causes of poverty and finding solutions to those problem areas.

Currently the agency operates three neighborhood centers and provides emergency transportation for poverty level persons and senior citizens.

A budget breakdown for the Community Action Agency operation shows a total yearly cost for personnel, including the executive director, bookkeeper, three center directors and two outreach workers, amounts to $25,388.

Federation Sought By Leaders

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Leaders of the Turkish Cypriot community proclaimed a separate Turkish Cypriot state in northern Cyprus today but said they wanted to federate it with a Greek Cypriot state.

The proclamation was made jointly by the council of ministers and the legislative assembly of the "Autonomous Turkish Cypriot Administration," meeting in joint session in the Turkish Cypriot quarter of Nicosia.

The proclamation came seven months after the Turkish invasion of Cyprus. It ended in Turkish occupation of the northern 40 per cent of the island and the de facto partition of Cyprus.

Hundreds of Turkish Cypriots in the main square of their sector of the divided capital cheered as the proclamation was read over loudspeakers.

Rauf Denkash, the leader of the Turkish Cypriot community and the vice president in the long-defunct Greek-Turkish island government, was unanimously chosen head of the new state by the joint session, the loudspeakers said.

Partnership Seen The proclamation made it clear that the new state was envisaged as a partner with a similar Greek Cypriot state, provided the Greek Cypriots went along with such a settlement of the Cyprus problem.

In Ankara, Premier Said Ince said today's proclamation was not a move against the independence of Cyprus. "There is no question of partitioning the island of realizing Enosis"—the union of each sector with Turkey or Greece, he said. "This point was reached because of the historical developments in Cyprus."

Obstructions Claimed Turkish Cypriot leaders released a statement saying they issued the proclamation because the Turkish Cypriot community had been "continuously obstructed by the Greek Cypriots from exercising its rights under the constitution" and was "forced to live for years under unbearable conditions deprived of all economic rights and means under threats of oppression . . ."

In view of these factors, the proclamation said today's joint session concluded "there is no possibility of (Turkish Cypriots) living together with the Greek Cypriots, cofounders of the republic of Cyprus."

There was no immediate reaction to the proclamation from the Greek Cypriot community.

Refinery Workers Set Vote On Pact

PORT ARTHUR (AP)—Striking members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers (OCAW) Union at the main Texaco refinery here scheduled a vote today on what the company called its final offer of a new labor contract.

Members of the union workers' committee were expected to submit the proposal to members without recommendation.

Some 4,500 employees of the Texaco refinery here have been on strike since Jan. 8.

President To Nominate Woman For HUD Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Ford will nominate Carla A. Hills, an assistant attorney general, to be secretary of Housing and Urban Development.

White House sources and Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said the announcement would be made today. The Associated Press reported Wednesday that Mrs. Hills was being considered for nomination.

Proxmire, chairman of the Senate Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee, said the appointment has virtually no merit.

"While Carla A. Hills is obviously an able and intelligent person, she has absolutely no known qualifications, experience or background to become secretary of HUD," Proxmire said.

Mrs. Hills, 41, is in charge of the Justice Department's civil division. If confirmed, she would be the third woman cabinet member in the nation's history. Others were Frances Perkins, secretary of Labor in 1933, and Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare in 1963.

Mrs. Hills would succeed James T. Lynn, who has become director of the Office of Management and Budget. Her appointment would make her the top-ranking woman in government.

Mrs. Hills, a prominent lawyer from Los Angeles, has been serving as head of the civil division since last April. Married to attorney Roderick M. Hills, she is the mother of four. She was a practicing attorney specializing in federal and anti-trust law before former President Nixon picked her for the Justice post in 1974.

Oil Ownership Issue Stalls Offshore Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interior Department says its offshore oil development program could be delayed up to four months by the withdrawal of invitations to oil companies suit over ownership of the oil resources in the Mid-Atlantic. Hughes commented Wednesday after announcing that the department had been "pre-mature" in asking oil companies Tuesday to submit nominations for offshore areas they would like offered for leasing.

Byrne said that under a 1971 agreement with New Jersey the government promised not to seek nominations until the oil ownership suit is settled by the Supreme Court.

The court has scheduled a Feb. 24 hearing, and the Justice Department has requested a prompt ruling—at least before the court recesses for the summer June 30.

The government filed the suit in 1969 against Maine and 11 other coastal states to settle the issue of whether the federal government or the states own oil and gas resources beyond the three-mile offshore limit. In a statement issued through Hughes, Interior Department Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton said that when he requested nominations he was "unaware that representation had been made by the federal government to the Supreme Court that the Department of Interior would not call for nominations before the court's determination in the case . . ."

Morton had said two weeks earlier that the nation's pressing need for oil compelled him to disregard the agreement, which was made before a time of serious oil shortages. Meanwhile, two Ford administration officials said Wednesday that unless the United States becomes more independent of foreign oil, a future Arab oil embargo could "strangle" the United States.

Commerce Secretary Fredrick B. Dent said, "An oil embargo like the one in 1973 would strangle us, because we would have become even more dependent on Mideast oil than we were in 1973."

Dent said he did not intend any connection between his remarks on possible economic strangulation and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's recent statement that the United States might consider using force against oil-producing nations if there is "some actual strangulation of the industrial world."

Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb said another embargo would result in "a serious disruption to the economy, a lot more serious than we experienced the last time." He also agreed that future embargo would amount to "strangulation."

As part of the U.S. goal of lessening dependence on foreign oil, the Interior Department plans to accelerate the leasing of oil and gas rights, opening up previously untouched areas of the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf of Alaska for bidding and eventual commercial production.

Midland, Odessa To Press For New TIA-Union Parleys

By JAN WILLIAMS

Midland and Odessa city officials have agreed to apply whatever pressure they can in an effort to get Texas International and the Air Line Pilots Association (ALPA) back to the bargaining table after a break-off in negotiations Feb. 5.

Representatives of the Air Line Pilots Association (ALPA) met with Mayor Ernest Angelo, City Councilman Bobby Holl, City Attorney Joe Nussle, Wilson Banks, director of the Aviation Department for Midland, and two Odessa city councilmen to ask for the two cities' help in putting pressure on the airline and the striking union in an effort to settle the 2½-month strike.

Capt. Harold B. Hood, central air safety chairman for Texas International, said the ALPA is not taking sides and that its only interest is in getting both parties back to the bargaining table.

A federal judge Wednesday denied TIA's request for a temporary injunction against ALEA which would have prohibited the association from forcing all Texas International pilots to honor another union's picket line.

Hood said the ALPA had gone to great efforts to expose irregularities in collective bargaining between the two parties involved. He also said the airline had no real incentive for resuming negotiations.

Currently, 26 cities affected by the strike are completely without airline service.

Balloon Bash Competitors To Double As Mail Pilots

Sending a letter by air mail will take on a new connotation in Midland this weekend, as approximately 46 hot air balloons convert to mail carriers.

Members of the Midland Balloon Club will carry the special cancellation mail during the 2nd annual Midland Balloon Bash Saturday and Sunday.

Each of the hot-air envelopes taking off at a signal from the balloonmaster.

Choucalas said that no free flight takeoffs would be allowed in the competition, and that each of the aerobats would have to await the command of the starter before releasing his hoddowns.

One of the objectives of the balloon race is to attempt a landing in exactly the spot where a balloon being chased touches down.

Henry Jackson, D-Wash., to W. Dillard, both of Midland, and Joe B. McShane of Monahans testified before the committee on behalf of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association with headquarters in Midland.

McShane is a past president of the organization.

Redfern said proponents of unitization had presented "no substantial fact" that compulsory unitization would accomplish anything which voluntary unitization would not.

Carl Hyde of the Midland Post Office said the special cancellation will be available for stamped envelopes handed to window clerks or mailed to the post office requesting that the envelope be carried aboard one of the balloons. They will be stamped Feb. 15.

The cancellation will designate the event, place and date. After the flight the envelopes will be placed in the regular U.S. Post Office mail and will be delivered as addressed.

Gusty winds in Northwest Texas promised to be about the only blot on the state's weather pattern today.

Today's high temperature is expected to reach the middle to upper 70s, the mercury stood at the 66 degree mark at noon today.

Midland's low early today was 40, and the low tonight is expected to be near 40 once again under fair skies.

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger concluded "very positive" talks today with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat on an Israeli withdrawal in Sinai and flew here seeking Syria's support.

Gusty Winds Offer Only Blotch On Weather Menu

In addition to the special cancellation, clouds over South Texas, and the Midland Balloon Club is further warming was promised.

The same sort of weather sent temperatures climbing into the 60s and 70s at many points Wednesday. Top marks for the afternoon ranged from 76 degrees at College Station down to 56 at Texarkana.

Readings near dawn today went as low as 29 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle and 32 at Tyler in East Texas.

Forecasters held out prospects for more warm afternoons and cool nights.

The National Weather Service at Midland Regional Air Terminal is calling for continued sun.

Blakemore Discusses Land Bill For DAR Members, Guests

The Col. Theunis Dey Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution entertained recently with a dinner meeting at the Midland Country Club.

William B. Blakemore, director of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, was guest speaker for the occasion. His subject centered on the Land Use Bill, which is expected to be re-introduced in this session of Congress.

The bill, according to Blakemore, presents very serious and critical problems for the nation. He said he feels grave concern over this due to the erosion of powers of Congress, and the use of bureaus rather than Congress in formulating such activities.

Blakemore further stated that the philosophy of those who are attempting to create this land use bill is totally different from the usual philosophy in this country, Blakemore said. "It is their general theory that the land does not belong to individuals—but to the Federal Government, and the individuals can serve only to operate this land. Under this philosophy the government can remove individuals from the land, and there have been court decisions bearing out this thinking, which can only lead to total control by the government. Stewardship? Yes, but the earth is the Lord's—not the Federal Government's. We are stewards, but only to God."

Blakemore further stated that the Environmental Protection Agency, said Blakemore, apparently has assumed it has the power for some land use management, but he went on to say that "bureaus are created to correct problem areas, but with theorists in control of such bureaus, this cannot be achieved to any marked degree."

Blakemore warned that inaction on the part of the individual citizen is the main problem, and he very strongly emphasized that this legislation this legislation can affect the oil industry on surface lands; so it evolves that the Permian Basin should be interested in this from the view point of ranch land as well as other industries.

Physical Exam Is Given For Hair

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Preventive hair care may become one of the newest trends in beauty, predicts Paul Mitchell of New York whose salon is into foiling some of the aging traps in hair and skin.

"We are really taking a paramedical, scientific approach," explained Jason Paul, 34, director of the salon, as he showed off machines and concoctions used in diagnosing the health of hair and skin.

These aren't gimmicks, he quickly explained. He has spent the last 12 years studying hair and skin health, much of it with experts at a California laboratory where the science of beauty is being explored, he says.

And where many beauty products used in salons are prepared. In addition to this affiliation with Mitchell, he has his own hair clinic in Long Island.

In treating hair, the inner and outer person is considered because it can't all be done merely by rubbing something over the scalp, he emphasized, as he showed bins containing yeast, vitamins, nucleic acids, essential fatty oils, blackstrap molasses, sea water and the like which are used in various ways. "They have found that nucleic acids can line up with amino acids in about 45 seconds," he was saying, "and it can now be put into the hair quickly."

Many teen-agers have gray hair, which he attributes to nervous tension, processed and other foods "with nutritionally empty calories" that lack B vitamins.

"They don't manufacture good hair because they don't eat properly. We give them suggestions for vitamins which they can discuss with their own doctors and they are told what kind of shampoos they require."

The hair won't take a good haircut or anything else until it is nourished, he points out. For starving hair he goes the panthenic acid, paba (para amino benzoic acid) route often recommended by doctors, and he has found "a certain amount of protein can stop hair from falling out."

Blackstrap molasses is touted as the food that can help return the sulphur bond in hair.

Pampering the hair begins with a diagnosis at a meter which indicates the hair's tensile strength and stress quotient. After that recommendations are made for scalp treatment, shampoo and a diet which is not given to correct personal health problems, he insists, "only those relating to beauty."

Paul Mitchell, an Englishman who had worked with Vidal Sassoon in England, opened the salon less than two years ago with a friend, Robert Pierson, after he had been "surprised to see American women with plastic-looking hair that had been damaged by spraying, rolling and teasing." His aim was to recondition hair and concentrate on better cuts.

Mitchell has organized a hair cutting club of hairdressers who visit the salon and attend seminars on hair cutting and hair health given by Jason Paul.

Meanwhile, Robert Pierson is supervising the hair finishing room where orange and white decor is punctuated by mobile carts and barber-like chairs with contoured seats of clear plastic that may be raised and lowered as one's hair is treated and cut. Overhead infra-red lamps can be pulled down to assist in brush drying.

Porch Can Be Converted Into Lanai With Decorating

By BARBARA NARTUNG
Copley News Service

Q. I have a porch I wish to convert into a lanai. I have some old rattan furniture I can use to furnish it. The floor is wood and needs covering or refinishing. Windows across one side look out into a garden so privacy isn't a problem. Please suggest some gay color scheme and tell me how to go about putting together an exciting room. — W. T.

A. First I'd shop for a splashy print with perhaps a spring green, hot pink and maybe pale yellow on a white background. Do generous tieback draperies at the windows that won't interfere with your garden view but merely soften the windows. Paint the walls a crisp spring green and lacquer the floor in hot pink.

Lacy Straw Rug

Top the hot pink with a lacy Portuguese straw rug. Paint the rattan frames white if they need refinishing and cover cushions to match the draperies. Toss about soft, comfortable pillows, some in pale yellow and add a pale yellow afghan for relaxing in winter.

Q. We moved into our new home and I need help decorating the living room. This room has gold carpeting, a light olive green velvet sofa and matching loveseat with painted walls an off-white. The coffee and end tables and etagere are a combination of smoked glass, walnut and chrome. I need another chair, draperies, lamps and toss pillows. Please tell me what colors they should be. I like the new look in window dressing using sheers and drapes. Also I have some paintings to hang mostly in dark brown, beige and black. — J.A.S.

Exciting Pattern

A. If you have no pattern in your room, you just might find some exciting. You might like to cover a chair and have your draperies done in a matching print. If you like the idea, you might search for something with green, gold, off-white and some other color or colors in it.

For a more subdued look you might find something in green, gold, off-white, blue and brown. Not only are there good-looking florals and geometric designs but there are also beautiful combinations of colors in tapestry designs that you might like. With the patterned draperies and chair you could do sheers to match your walls.

Use accent pillows in colors taken from the print — such as pale yellow and lavender in the former example or blues and browns in the latter.

You might look for a very handsome mirror and do the frame in one of those lovely accent colors.

Soft Nighties

Those old T-shirts make soft nighties for small children. Simply insert a drawstring at the neck, and sewing up and cutting off the sleeves the required amount. These gowns are easy to launder and do not require ironing. They are roomy, do not bind, and are soft to sleep in.

Hints from
Heloise

Address Yourself To A Difficult Problem

Dear Heloise: Just recently we experienced a death in our family and many lovely flowers were sent. They had great meaning and we appreciated everyone's thoughtfulness. Now, we are sending out thank-you cards, and are having a very difficult time in locating addresses for some of the wonderful people who sent flowers. We have had to resort to the local phone book, other relatives, etc., for this information.

We thought how very much easier in a time of grief it would be for the one sending out the thank-you cards, if all flower shops, florists, etc., would just simply write down the address of the one sending the sympathy expression of gifts of flowers on the back of the little card enclosed. How much help this would be to the family of the deceased and how simply and easily it could be done.

We are writing to you, Heloise, hoping you can help us spread the word.

strictly a big No-No, yet I see many do this.) When the store and aisles are rather crowded, do you try to push your cart through to the far end just for one item? It's lots easier to push your cart to one side, and walk through. Try to practice the Golden Rule when shopping. It'll be happier for yourself, as well as others.

Grandma

Dear Heloise: It happened again! Another mother of teenagers complaining about the hair-shampooing! Towels! Towels! Towels! These towels are used to dry clean hair. They are not dirty, just wet! Throw them over the shower rod — anyplace. Use them the next day.

Same with bath towels. They are drying clean bodies. Invest in decent towels and personal towel hangers. Use them an extra day or two. Less laundry — less energy.

Dianne Harrison

Regular Reader I agree wholeheartedly, and am only too happy to oblige. Bless you.

LETTER OF THOUGHT Dear Heloise: How many of your readers have noticed, or even been guilty of, the following when shopping? Do you stay in the center of the aisle, while you select what you want, regardless of how many are waiting patiently for you to move your cart to one side? Do you stop to chat with another person, carts side by side? Do you squeeze the tomatoes, etc., for freshness? Do you place your purse in your cart and walk away to select something else. (That's

Dear Heloise: My sister put me wise to this hint. When you bring home those lovely, golden bananas, put them in a plastic bag and store on a cool shelf. You'll be surprised at how much longer they keep.

Mrs. P. A. Fleming

She's right as rain, folks! If you don't believe it, try putting two bananas on a shelf in a cool place — one in a plastic bag, one unwrapped. You'll be convinced, honey pots — I was!

Heloise

Dear Heloise: For women of growing families who are tired of waxing the end tables in their living rooms, and trying to get glass rings off, here's a solution. I bought a flannel-backed table cloth, turned the table upside down on the flannel side, and drew around it with a pencil. Cut it out about one inch outside the penciled line. Turn this down and stitch, making a casing. Run the elastic through the casing and you have an attractive table covering that wipes off easily. For company or special occasions, just take them off and your wood is nice and unstained.

Still Stained Sometimes a stain on the carpeting seems to have been removed but is still present. The stain will darken with age, but the continuing increased soiling of the carpeting will continue to hide it. Then, when the rug is cleaned and the soil removed, that forgotten stain becomes quite apparent. This problem can sometimes be corrected by having the carpet professionally redyed.

Airlines Hostesses Stronger, Better

By KETI HUDSON Copy Editor Service Airlines stewardesses are getting slightly taller and slightly stronger. And the public's image of stewardesses is getting slightly better, according to officials and stewardesses of some of the nation's busiest airlines. The size of stewardesses is changing because of the new generation of aircraft. Some modern jets fly with the forward part of the plane three degrees higher than the rear. They were designed that way. But it means that stewardesses are pushing and pulling heavy food and beverage carts uphill half the time. On a five- or six-hour flight, that can be pretty strenuous. "The larger girls also have an easier time with the overhead racks," commented James Kissel, employment supervisor of Miami-based National Airlines. The public image of stewardesses is a more complex, more controversial topic.

But there is general agreement that the public, despite occasional magazine and book features to the contrary, has a somewhat different view of the girls than that they are high-flying sex symbols. The airlines are persistently careful to avoid talking publicly about the real reason stewardesses are aboard airlines—to evacuate the plane within 90 seconds regardless of how many passengers there are in case of an emergency. Occasionally Do It They can—and occasionally do—do it. Federal Aviation Administration regulations require that they be trained, and retrained annually, in safety procedures. Airlines don't talk much about this part of a stewardess' duties because "flying is still an anxious experience for a lot of people," says United Airlines' Sheldon Best, vice president of inflight services in Chicago. "We're not in business to scare people off," National's Kissel said. But the airlines do talk about how they want to project an image of friendliness, personality, warmth, service, efficiency, appearance and things like that in connection with their stewardesses.

Jelly side down
By NANCY STAHL
Last night, finding myself in possession of what promised to be a smashing good spy novel, I retired to bed at 8:30 to read. At 8:45 the telephone rang. The caller said that he would like six egg rolls, beef suiy, and pork fried rice. I replied that I would, too. It turned out that he thought that I was the Jade Palace. He apologized for his error. I apologized for not being the Jade Palace.

I returned to my book only to discover that I had completely forgotten whether Irving Asbury was the high-pressure used-car salesman, the struggling but proud artist, or the CIA agent. I began again at page one. At 9:00 the telephone rang again. A lady inquired whether I would like to subscribe to "Popular Mechanics." I told her that I was sorry, but this was the Jade Palace. I took her order and hung up. I attempted to return to Irving Asbury, who I had determined was neither the high-pressure used-car salesman, the struggling but proud artist, nor the CIA agent, but actually Martin Borman posing as an Avon Lady. Unfortunately, I could think of nothing but egg rolls. After taking stock of the contents of the refrigerator, I concluded that I could have half a cup of mashed potatoes, two tablespoons of curried hollandaise sauce, one tomato slice, or a generous helping of what I imagined were once baked beans. The rest "was inedible." After wolfing down a mashed potato sandwich smothered in soy sauce, I decided that since it was nearly 10:00 I might just as well watch the late news on tv. I tuned in just in time to watch the end of a special report on the squandering of leisure time by adults. It seems that they never read.

Center Schedules Sale, Bazaar Plans for a bike sale and bazaar were discussed during a meeting held recently by the board of directors of Lancaster Garden Center-Museum of the Southwest. The fund-raising event will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. March 19 in the center. Mrs. Edwin White is general chairman. A handmade patchwork skirt, a Mola and an oil painting will be offered, along with oil paintings by the late Mrs. Naomi Lancaster. The sale will be open to the public. The directors' next meeting will be March 17, with Midland Garden Club as hostess group.

Valley View HD Club Has Meeting Mrs. L. J. Howard, 2300 Terrace St., was hostess to a recent meeting of the Valley View Demonstration Club in her home. She presided during the business session. Mrs. Cliffs Hogue, chairman of the Bicentennial committee, presented ideas for members to consider for the celebration. A slide program on a trip to Austria was presented by Mrs. Gene Shackelford. She accompanied the Lee High School choir to the festival in Vienna. Mrs. E. A. Voliva was a guest.

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren

It Never Happened, So We'll Keep Gifts

DEAR ABBY: Last month my boyfriend's best friend got married. As weddings go, not one rule of etiquette was followed. For example, I received my wedding invitation the day before the wedding, and many others said they were invited by phone because there weren't enough invitations to go around. About three weeks after the wedding, the bridegroom had the wedding annulled on the ground that his wife was mentally unbalanced. (I think they both are!) The bridegroom said that he wanted an annulment instead of a divorce because with an annulment, it is as if the wedding never happened, and he preferred this because he didn't want to be labeled a divorced man. He said it looked bad on job applications, etc. My boyfriend and I had pooled our money and bought a very expensive wedding gift for this couple. Now we're told that if they had been DIVORCED, the gifts would have been returned. However, since the marriage was ANNULLED, the wedding never happened, so they don't have to return the wedding gifts! Are there any rules of etiquette to cover this situation? STUCK IN BOULDER

DEAR STUCK: Yes, the wedding gifts should be returned. But since your friends don't believe in observing the rules of etiquette, I suspect it probably won't faze them.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a very intelligent, well-read, informed man, but whenever we are out socially and the conversation turns to politics, he always gets into a fight with somebody. We are on the verge of losing all our friends because most of the people we know are on the other side of the fence. I have told my husband time and again to please stay off politics, but he doesn't pay any attention to me. He gets so worked up in these political arguments that before long he's in a shouting match. How can I get him to stay off politics? LOSING FRIENDS

DEAR LOSING: It won't be easy for a man who's as passionate about his political persuasion as your husband seems to be. A lively political debate can be healthy (and fun), but a shouting match accomplishes nothing. Tell your hubby to cool it, and try to practice the art of disagreeing without becoming disagreeable.

DEAR ABBY: We are the proud and fortunate parents of two healthy daughters. We thank God for their whole and healthy bodies, and their normal, wholesome minds. This letter is for people who think that the only perfect family is the one that is comprised of an equal number of each sex. I have actually had people say to me, "Oh, isn't it a pity you had two daughters? It would have been nice if you had one of each!" Others, upon hearing that we have two daughters, have said, "Oh, I'm one of the lucky ones. I have one of each." Yes, they are lucky. And so are we. BLESSED IN PORT ARTHUR

DEAR BLESSED: Those who make such thoughtless remarks don't mean to be cutting. They are simply assuming that given a choice, most parents would prefer a boy and a girl, which I think is a fairly good assumption.

PTA Sets Special Session

Also, 2 life memberships will be awarded and new PTA officers elected. Refreshments will be served following the meeting in the cafeteria.

Drink Can Be Dessert, Dessert Can Be Drink

By SUSAN DELIGHT
Copley News Service

The drink can be a dessert and the dessert a drink — depending on how coffee is served.

At a recent party a variety of flavored instant coffees were served as the dessert course. There was a parfait accented with mint-flavored coffee and coffees laced with cognac and liqueurs with toppings of whipped cream and slivers of lemon peel. Others were paired with creme de menthe and chocolate. Even those who ordinarily bypass desserts were intrigued into partaking.

At your next party you might like to serve one or several coffee-based creations as the dessert offering.

CAFE CORDIAL PARFAIT
(Makes Four Servings)

Three and one-half level tps. (or three individual serving packets) cafe de menthe instant coffee
1 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. hot water
3 (two-thirds cup) jiggers coffee-flavored liqueur
1 pint coffee ice cream
1 pint mint chocolate-chip ice cream
1 pint vanilla ice cream

Combine first four ingredients in small bowl and stir until sugar and coffee are dissolved. In chilled parfait glass, starting with ice cream, alternate one scoop of ice cream and one tablespoon sauce. Top with sweetened whipped cream and sprinkle with grated chocolate or chocolate curls.

COMFORT CORDIAL
One and one-half tps. (or individual serving packet) orange and spice instant coffee
2 tps. sugar
One-half cup boiling water
1 tsp. Southern Comfort
In coffee cup, combine coffee and sugar; stir in boiling water and Southern Comfort. If desired, garnish with lemon peel. Individual serving.

CAFE GRASSHOPPER
1 level tsp. (or individual serving packet) chocolate-flavored coffee
One and one-half tps. sugar
Three-fourths cup boiling water
1 tsp. creme de menthe
1 tsp. heavy cream
In coffee cup, combine coffee and sugar; stir in boiling water, creme de menthe and heavy cream. If desired, serve with a peppermint stick. Individual serving.

CAFE SUNSET
One and one-eighth tps. (or individual serving packet) apricot-flavored instant coffee
One-half cup boiling water
3 tps. orange-flavored liqueur
In coffee cup, dissolve coffee with boiling water; add liqueur and stir. If desired, sprinkle with grated lemon peel. Individual serving.

Weight Loss Pills Dangerous

By SHIRLEY BRIGHT BOODY
Registered Dietitian
Copley News Service

Being overweight may be preferable to some of the methods used in taking off weight. In all my lectures and writings I emphasize the importance of a healthy weight loss. I would never suggest taking off weight at any cost. As unhealthy as overweight may be, it is safer than some of the schemes used by unscrupulous practitioners.

Let's examine the pills which are handed patients by doctors who specialize in weight reduction. These doctors call them harmless. Let's see what you call them after we discuss them.

Anorexic, or appetite depressant pills, are prescribed to be taken a short time before a meal. These will probably contain a drug — usually amphetamines.

Amphetamines stimulate the central nervous system and act as an "upper." The reasoning being that the mood of depression is elevated and the attendant eating to relieve the depression will subside.

Elevate Pressure
In addition to temporarily suppressing the appetite, however, they also elevate the blood pressure, increase the heartbeat and cause a dryness of the mouth.

Benzdrine and dexidrene are the most common uppers used as appetite depressants.

National narcotic agencies, a few years ago, issued the result of a survey that showed a high percentage of youngsters using uppers, had their first experience from those found in their mother's medicine chest.

"Tranquilizers" or "downers" are also frequently given to the obese to "quiet their nerves" while trying to battle their food neuroses. As a matter of fact, the uppers and downers are usually used in tandem.

This is the way the drug addict uses them, too.

Water Pills
The third category of pills used in weight reduction is the diuretic or water pills. Its function is to stimulate the kidneys to excrete more water, thus causing the scale weight to go down very rapidly. Through this method people are often fooled by a "quick" weight loss, not realizing that they have only depleted their body of fluids, but have not lost any fat. The scale returns and scale weight goes back up.

Dehydration will never cause a permanent weight loss. Steam baths, plastic clothing, and sauna forms of heat, all cause a temporary water loss.

It is important to understand that it is the accumulated fat and the harm it can cause, that needs to be removed from the body.

It is fat that causes our skin to stretch into lumps and bumps and to remove these the fat must be removed.

The above medications — amphetamines, tranquilizers and diuretics — have a proper place in medical treatment as prescribed by ethical doctors; however, they were never meant to remove weight and their use for this purpose is a dangerous practice.

(Feb. 14)
GENERAL TENDENCIES: You need the love associated with St. Valentine's day — avoid some really good and calculating attitudes that can push others away from you, or you away from them. Don't neglect to show kindness and express friendliness.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Study plans you have in mind and don't start anything until fully prepared. Enjoy social and friends you've not seen recently.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Keep plans quiet. Don't bother with that romantic matter unless you're serious. Avoid one who has strange notions about you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Enjoy amusements with good friends. You can gain some personal aim easily that means much to you. Retire early tonight.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Although you think a harve has given you the runaround, do not voice the opinion or you can get into trouble. Happy p.m. with loved one.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 31): Make sure expression is in the right direction to avoid trouble. A new acquaintance needs scrutiny, but is intrinsically okay.

VIRGO (Aug. 32 to Sept. 23): Check institutions against good judgment before acting on them. Use practical sense in dealing with loved one, not emotion alone.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Change your methods somewhat to get better results with partners now. A good day for improving some affair of the heart.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21): Get work on a firm foundation and cooperate more with fellow workers for good results. Take the right health treatment for greater productivity.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Plan short trips that will bring fine results. A good day for doing something a little risky. Get out of boring job.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Put good ideas to work to improve home conditions. Check on the new project, can be helped by some fine new idea.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You are thinking cleverly now and can put practical ideas to work for greater efficiency. Put friends to work who are able.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Use practical common sense to increase assets. Pay bills. Listen to suggestions of clever business expert. Get to bed early.

Bell Gets Tentative OK To Hike Rates In Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Telephone rates for Southwestern Bell Telephone customers in Missouri would go up about 10 per cent under a tentative agreement reached Wednesday.

Southwestern Bell reached a settlement with its rate case intervenors that would chop its original rate hike request from $2.3 million to $30.5 million.

The settlement would stop state Public Service Commission hearings that started Monday on Bell's request while the commission decides whether to accept it.

The original Bell request would have hiked phone rates about 15 per cent. But the settlement still would double the cost of phone installation from $12 to $24 and hike the cost of a local pay phone call from a dime to 20 cents.

Members from accepting anything from utilities that is not offered to the public.

But company officials have described the trip as only one between long-time friends.

Members Summed Kansas Gov. Robert F. Bennett announced Wednesday he is summoning members of the Kansas Corporation Commission to discuss "questions of propriety" surrounding a trip to Las Vegas at Bell's expense last fall.

Dale E. Saffels, chairman of the Kansas commission which regulates utilities in that state, said he regrets the free trip to Las Vegas but he has no intention of resigning.

Saffels said the Las Vegas trip was one day of a three-day trip to visit plants in Denver and Phoenix of the Western Electric Co., the wholly owned manufacturing subsidiary of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. The U.S. Justice Department has filed an antitrust suit seeking to break up AT&T and Western Electric.

Fund Disclosed A former Southwestern Bell officer, James H. Ashley, recently disclosed the existence of a political fund and said certain company officers were required to contribute to it. The utility denied the charge, saying its political fund was legal and did not involve company money.

Ashley, former general staff manager in the St. Louis area, said that top officers were given salary increases, sometimes as much as $1,000 per year, for the express purpose of donations to favored political candidates.

He is a co-plaintiff in a $29.2 million libel suit in Texas against Southwestern Bell.

Missouri's PSC staff found no evidence of a political fund in a three-month investigation of that the rate increase sought by Bell was "not authorized by law" and was excessive and unreasonable. He indicated recent scandals and civil suits involving Bell have caused city councils throughout the state to delay action on proposed increases in local rates.

On another matter, an AT&T spokesman confirmed last week that portions of a number of long distance phone calls were recorded from the end of 1965 to the beginning of 1970.

The spokesman said the calls, involving several cities including St. Louis, were made to detect toll fraud.

Request Held Up North Carolina's Public Service Commission has held up a similar rate request as in Missouri to investigate charges of an alleged political fund.

In Texas, state Atty. Gen. John Hill has won a temporary restraining order to keep Southwestern Bell from putting into effect a $45 million rate increase for long distance calls scheduled for March 1.

Hill contended in a petition

Citizens' Constitution Convention Urged

AUSTIN (AP)—A num-way to insure submission of a document to the people and to get its adoption is to have the constitutional revision say a new job done by a citizens' convention is the only way.

William R. Clark, a former PSC chairman and a member of the commission for nearly a decade, resigned last week to avoid any appearance of a possible conflict of interest in the case.

Clark said he was a guest of Southwestern Bell officials on a Texas hunting trip in 1969. State law prohibits commission

Hearings May Resume

If the commission rejects the settlement, hearings on the original rate request will be resumed. If the commission accepts the accord, the rate hike could go into effect next month.

The Bell system has come under fire in several states for providing free trips for state utility regulators and maintaining alleged political funds.

Kerr Won't Run Again

Ted M. Kerr, a two-term member of the board of trustees for the Midland Independent School District, has announced he will not seek a third term in the April 5 elections.

"I thank the people of Midland for having given me the opportunity to be a school board member during the past six years," he said.

"It has been a great and rewarding experience for me and I appreciate it very much."

Attorney Says 'There's Myriad Of Malpractice Going On' In America

By LEW SCARR
Copley News Service

An attorney who specializes in malpractice cases says large court verdicts and settlements protect the public by preventing good doctors from practicing poor medicine and by forcing incompetent doctors out of the medical profession.

The attorney, George Goldberg, is a partner in the Los Angeles law firm of Cheren and Goldberg, which negotiated a $4.5 million settlement for its client in a case against UCLA Medical Center. It was among the largest awards of its kind in the history of California.

Goldberg said in an interview his client, Mrs. June Walker, is expected to be in a coma for the rest of her life and "is not going to enjoy one dime of that $4.5 million."

Regents Agree To Pay

In the Walker case, UC regents, faced with charges ranging from unnecessary surgery, falsification of records and failure to monitor the patient, agreed in a negotiated settlement to pay the patient's daily medical fees for as long as she lives.

Goldberg said the Walker case "has opened my eyes. There is a myriad of malpractice going on," he added.

"I feel that people through the years have, in essence, been conditioned by the AMA (American Medical Association), by doctors in general, not to question physicians. That, 'What we do, we being doctors, is right.'"

"Don't question us, regardless of what mistakes we make."

"They have set themselves up on this pedestal. We will take care of our own profession," they say, but it is obvious they haven't done that."

Goldberg said in the last 10 years, fewer than 2,000 physicians in the United States have been disciplined by medical licensing agencies.

20,000 Incompetents

"No one can tell me," he said, "that there are only 2,000 instances of malpractice. There are more malpractice suits filed in a year in the state of California alone."

Goldberg quoted a New Mexico medical examiner as saying that 20,000 of the 400,000 physicians practicing in the United States are incompetent.

Goldberg said he wants to make it clear that most doctors practice a high standard of medicine.

"A lot of people feel that just because medical results are bad that malpractice has been committed on them," he said. "I am only talking about those 20,000 doctors who are incompetent."

He said a doctor specializing in the field of each case coming to his office reviews it, "and if he says 'yes,' we go ahead."

He said his firm turns away nine out of 10 cases offered it because malpractice has not been committed.

Goldberg was asked about the contingency fee system in malpractice cases, wherein the plaintiff's attorney gets up to 50 per cent of the award. In the Walker case, he said his firm's fee was $445,000.

"On a contingency basis," he said, "I stand to lose as much as I gain. In the Walker case, for example, close to $50,000 came out of our pockets for preparation, expert witnesses and the cost of keeping Mrs. Walker alive pending the trial."

He said that if an hourly fee were charged, as is customary in most legal work, the client would have been charged in advance.

"Many clients can't afford it and they would have no way to obtain legal representation except on a contingency basis," he said.

Goldberg said an attorney working on a contingency basis, in effect, working under an incentive program.

"If you take away his incentive," he said, "I think it could be detrimental to the client."

He said he recognizes that malpractice insurance premiums are high.

"But, frankly, I cannot feel very sorry for some people who pay $20,000 in premiums but whose income is $500,000 a year," Goldberg said. "To them $20,000 is a drop in the bucket."

Now you can get one that is.

SANCAP® It's made specially for your sandy soils. It's made for cotton on your land.

You can forget about experimenting with rates to adjust for sandy soils. Just follow the recommendations, and you'll get weed control you can depend on—without injuring your cotton.

You'll get control of the most troublesome weeds in this area—carelessweed and Russian thistle.

And you can forget about moisture loss due to incorporation. Just apply Sancap at planting, or within two days after.

Then watch your cotton come through, clean and healthy. No more experiments. No more mistakes.

Because now you've got a herbicide for sandy soils.

Cardiologist Says Public To Lose If Research Funds Cut

THE MIDLAND REPORTER-TELEGRAM, THURS., FEB. 13, 1975—1B

HOUSTON (AP) — A California cardiologist says proposed federal fund cutbacks could cause important heart disease research to be shelved and force young researchers to seek other employment.

"The real loser will be the American public," said Dr. Elliot Corday of Los Angeles. In an interview during the American College of Cardiology's 24th annual meeting here Wednesday, Corday said "the unfortunate and untimely cut-back in research funds" recommended by President Ford and being considered by Congress will "thwart the biggest push we've seen in heart research in many years."

Corday, a past president of the cardiology organization, said many researchers are on the threshold of applying new scientific information which he said could greatly reduce the numbers of cardiovascular deaths.

Dr. Theodore Cooper, deputy assistant secretary for health in the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, disagreed with Corday's claim that heart research would be stymied by federal fund cutbacks.

Cooper, a director of the National Heart and Lung Institute for six years prior to being appointed to his current HEW post last April, said Congress "has many hard choices" in the economically tough times.

"We're not asking the heart investigators to stop work, but merely to defer some projects and select those with the highest priority ... and I believe they can do that," Cooper said. Corday said one of the most exciting research areas involves efforts to reduce the amount of dead muscle incurred by victims of myocardial infarctions, commonly called heart attacks, which claim 700,000 American lives each year.

Laboratory and early clinical evidence suggests that in perhaps thousands of patients the size of the infarct or amount of dead heart muscle could be reduced with quick intervention steps, he said.

"And at least 75,000 myocardial infarction patients can now be saved each year because they have access to specialized coronary care units, of which there are some 7,000 in hospitals across the nation," Corday said.

"But we have to go much further—we're sort of at the tip of the iceberg now—without funds."

Cooper, a director of the National Heart and Lung Institute for six years prior to being appointed to his current HEW post last April, said Congress "has many hard choices" in the economically tough times.

One Killed As Car Crashes Into Store

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — A woman was killed and four other persons injured when a car crashed through a window of a coffee shop in a Sears store here Wednesday night.

The car, driven by a 76-year-old woman, crashed through the window, traveled approximately 50 feet into the store and finally was stopped by a series of freezers in the store, police said.

The victim was identified as Mary C. Riley, 40, a Sears employee.

According to police, the driver said she started her automobile in the parking lot. The car then jumped a curb, hit a parked car and smashed through the window.

Several other persons were injured slightly by flying debris.

Tower Has Kind Words For Bentsen Presidential Try

HOUSTON (AP) — Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., believes his Texas Democratic counterpart, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, would make an attractive Democratic presidential candidate in 1976.

He said Wednesday Bentsen is an intelligent, well-appearing man with both political and business experience and would be "the best man" the Democrats can nominate.

"Perhaps so much so, maybe the Democrats won't have enough sense to nominate him," Tower said in a news conference.

Tower declined to pursue the topic of who the Democrats might nominate, saying "right now, the Republicans really can only play parlor games on this."

He said he expects President Ford to be the Republican nominee and added that a GOP ticket of Ford and Vice President Nelson Rockefeller could "certainly" carry Texas if Bentsen is not on the Democratic ticket.

Convicted Deserters, Evaders Continue To Sign Up For Amnesty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sign-up of convicted deserters and draft evaders by President Ford's Clemency Board has continued at a brisk pace since he extended the program 12 days ago, the board says.

But the sign-up of unconvicted draft evaders by the Justice Department and deserters by the Pentagon has slackened recently.

Joan Vinson, speaking for the presidential board, said 6,962 have applied to the board. This compares with 5,047 at the end of last month, when Ford extended the deadline another month until March 1.

Small Part
However, the 6,962 remains only a small part of the 120,000 eligible for board action. Mrs. Vinson predicted that the end of February figure will be about 15,000.

In mid-January, when the board launched an intensive publicity campaign, less than 2,000 had signed up.

Meanwhile, the board has sent to Ford the names of about 40 men recommended for outright pardon or conditional clemency. Mrs. Vinson said. So far he has approved the board's recommendations for 24 pardons and 45 grants of conditional clemency.

Those who get conditional clemency have to serve up to 24 months in public service jobs, although the board has given no more than 12 months so far.

4,584 Processed
Pentagon spokesman John Recher said 4,584 of the 12,500 eligible unconvicted deserters have been processed for the military part of the program at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind. This compares with 3,608 on Jan. 31.

However, compared with 186 who arrived at Benjamin Harrison on Jan. 31, 149 on Feb. 3, the daily arrivals have dropped, ranging from 33 to 7.

Justice Department spokesman John Russell said U.S. attorneys have signed up 425 unconvicted draft evaders, compared with 351 on Jan. 31 and 385 on Feb. 1. There are 6,220 eligibles under this part of Ford's program.

3,526 Report
Of the nearly 12,000 who have signed up for the three phases of the program, only 3,526 have reported to draft offices for job assignments. However, they don't have to report until 15 days after entering the program and are given 30 days after sign-up to find jobs.

But, with jobs scarce in the face of growing unemployment, only 751 are in jobs.

The Clemency Board is continuing to campaign to try and get word about the program to all the 120,000 eligible for board action.

FBI Chief Says Kennedy Inquiry To Remain Closed

DALLAS (AP) — FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley says the FBI will not reopen the investigation into the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

His comment was made after a news conference during his visit here for a speech and was quoted in the Dallas Times Herald.

Kelley was also quoted as saying the FBI believes that E. Howard Hunt, the convicted Watergate conspirator, is not the man shown in a picture taken in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963, the day of Kennedy's assassination.

Storm Leaves Up To 9 Inches Of Snow On Atlantic Coast

By The Associated Press

A fast-moving storm that walloped parts of the Eastern Seaboard with up to 9 inches of snow swirled out over the Atlantic today while a new storm hit the opposite end of the country with flooding rains.

Light snow lingered over northern New England, a remnant of the storm that snarled traffic and closed schools and businesses Wednesday afternoon from eastern Pennsylvania to Rhode Island. The snow ranged from 5 inches in Pennsylvania to 9 inches in lower New England.

For New York City, the 6.3-inch snow was the heaviest in four years. Many businesses closed early. The New York and American stock exchanges quit for the day an hour and a half ahead of the normal closing bell. Commuters jammed bus and rail terminals at early afternoon.

Airport Closes
La Guardia Airport closed Wednesday afternoon and crews at Kennedy Airport struggled to keep one runway open.

The storm's impact was lessened somewhat by the Lincoln's Birthday holiday. State and city offices and many banks were closed.

A seven-truck pileup on Interstate 70 in eastern Pennsylvania killed one man and tied up traffic for nearly 15 hours Wednesday. Seven persons were overcome by toxic styrene gas fumes from a tank truck, but all were revived with oxygen.

High-water warnings were posted for virtually every major river in the northern half of California late Wednesday. The rains were expected to continue at least through the forenoon hours.

Gale warnings for winds in excess of 45 miles an hour flew along the northern California coast. Winds with gusts to 76 m.p.h. raked Reno, Nev., during the night.

Snow Piles Up
The rains turned to snow in the mountains. Near-blizzard conditions swept the Sierra. Heavy snow piled up north into the Oregon Cascades. Parts of Idaho and Montana were alerted for heavy and blowing snow.

Light snow sifted eastward through the northern Rockies and into the Plains.

Arctic cold crept into the midcontinent behind the eastern storm, dropping temperatures near or below zero across the northern Midwest.

Fair skies prevailed over most of the southern half of the country and sections of the Midwest.

Beef Packing Firm Says Four Months Needed To Make Plan To Pay Creditors

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — American Beef Packers, Inc., says it wants four months more to formulate a plan for paying creditors.

Douglas Reno, a lawyer who represented the firm at Wednesday's first creditors meeting since American Beef filed its limited bankruptcy petition Jan. 7, said the packing firm needs that much more time to gather funds through sales of assets, operational profits or new financing.

Federal Bankruptcy Judge David Crawford did not approve the request, but instead set April 16 as the date for filing such a plan and said he would consider motions for a possible extension.

A court officer first told the overflow crowd of about 300 that no standing in the aisle would be allowed and those without seats would have to leave. Crawford later decided to allow standing in the center aisle. The crowd still spilled out into the ninth floor hallway outside the courtroom.

100 Lawyers Appear
Nearly 100 lawyers showed up to represent some of American Beef's approximately 8,000 creditors.

The court appointed the official creditors' committee. Crawford made the appointments after a brief delay which resulted when several creditors in supply industries claimed they were not adequately represented.

The 11 members are Herb Albers Jr. of Wisner, Neb.; William Chapman of Omaha; Jerry Corey of Lytton, Iowa; J. R. Hamm of Garden City, Kan.; Woody Taylor of Amarillo, Tex.; Howard Kenyon of Dallas; Joe McCool of Fort Morgan, Colo.; Marv Ford of Bridgewater, Iowa; J. Gordon Roberts, former owner of Roberts Dairy in Omaha; Glen Tappenden of Chicago; and Robert Hill of Park, Tex.

President Not There
American Beef President Frank R. West was not at the hearing.

Reno, however, said any corporate officer would be made available for questioning.

As Thomas J. Clark, vice president of finance, prepared to testify, U.S. Atty. William Schaphorst requested that all witnesses before the court stipulate they were testifying voluntarily.

Schaphorst said testimony "given under compulsion" cannot be used in any criminal proceeding. "I don't say this to even hint that there may be a criminal prosecution," Schaphorst said.

Clark agreed to waive any immunity by stipulating that his testimony was voluntary.

Funds Diverted
Clark admitted to participation in a system of "diversion" of funds to American Beef which normally traveled from the packer's buyers to General Electric Credit Corp. (GECC), American Beef's major creditor.

He said he knew this was not included in the terms of American Beef's contract with GECC but that the money was returned to GECC after five or six days.

In reply to a question, Clark said he felt the temporary diversion was a violation of American Beef's contract with GECC.

Clark said West had taken a 50 per cent salary cut, from $150,000 a year to $75,000, but other company executives continue to receive the same annual salary as before the Jan. 7 filing.

Among them are Robert Lee, vice president, $50,000; Clark, $28,000; and three other executives whose annual salaries totaled $85,000.

Most of the lawyer's questioning was directed at learning how American Beef plans to pay the $112 million in debts which it listed in papers filed with the court. The firm listed assets of $131 million.

Clark said the firm believes the Oakland, Iowa, plant can generate between $300,000 and $500,000 in profits monthly; offers are being entertained on all American Beef properties and new sources of financing are being sought.

May Cut Production
The Oakland plant has the capacity of killing 1,500 animals daily, Clark said, but this number may have to be reduced, thereby lessening profits, unless more financing is found than the agreed-to $7 million from GECC or unless the packer is paid more swiftly for its product.

A frequent complaint by American Beef officials is that federal law requires the firm to pay for cattle it buys within 48 hours but it has to wait an average of 14 days to be paid for those same animals after slaughtering, processing and shipping.

The next meeting of the creditors committee is scheduled for May 2.

Suit Against Briscoe Moved To Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Half of a $2.5-million campaign violation suit against Gov. Dolph Briscoe has been moved to 191st District Court here.

The suit filed by Frances Farenthold originally named Briscoe, Jess Hay and Briscoe campaign manager Joe Kilgore defendants. An amended version of the suit naming the "Face of Texas Dinner Committee" and Hay as defendants was filed here Wednesday.

Travis County Judge Herman Jones ordered the suit split and part of it moved to Dallas County on a motion by defendant Hay, who is a Dallas resident. The rest of the case will be heard in Travis County.

"The Dallas case will probably be the principal forum in which the issues in the case will be decided," said Terence O'Rourke, Mrs. Farenthold's lawyer.

He said the transfer does not change any allegations against Kilgore or the governor.

'Farina' To Be Installed Sunday In Black Filmmaker's Hall Of Fame

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — 300 comedies made for Hal Roach, MGM, Warner Brothers and 20th Century Fox, the last released in 1938, will take his place in the Black Filmmaker's Hall of Fame here Sunday.

But Allen C. Hoskins, now 54, doesn't feel much kinship with his old role any more.

"I stayed buried for a long, long time," he said Wednesday. "I don't look over my shoulder. I look ahead."

Hoskins has come a long way since playing Farina in about 1938. He built a pretty good reputation in the rehabilitation field. Give me the rejects. I work with people who are nobodies. I love these people."

Hoskins is due to be inducted into the Oakland Museum's Hall of Fame at the Paramount Theater of the Arts along with Ruby Dee, Eartha Kitt, Quincy Jones, Eddie "Rochester" Anderson, Abby Lincoln and Frederick O'Neal.

The former actor said he decided to acknowledge his past when his parents died a few years ago, leaving behind scores of old 35mm films, publicity photos and old "Our Gang" scripts.

Hoskins rejects contentions that his "Our Gang" role perpetuated racial prejudices and stereotypes.

"The message, I think, was that we're all just people, sometimes good, sometimes bad," he said.

Mid-West Texas Area Art Show Opens Soon

SAN ANGELO — The annual Mid-West Texas Area Art Show, sponsored by the San Angelo Art Club, will open March 22 at the San Angelo's Kendall Memorial Art Gallery, continuing through March 30.

Entry dates are Feb. 21 and 22, according to exhibits chairman Vernell Leach. The show will be open to all artists living and working in an area bounded roughly by Snyder and Stamford on the north, Odessa on the west, Kerrieville on the south and Comanche on the east, Mrs. Leach said. Entrants must be 16 years of age or older, and each artist may submit three entries produced within the last year. Copies and works done in class or under supervision will not be eligible. Dr. Clarence Kincaid of the Texas Tech University art department will be the juror for the competition. He will recommend cash awards, including purchase prizes, for winners in the competitive show.

Entries must be hand-delivered between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. on Feb. 21 or 22, and created works must be shipped prepaid to the Kendall Gallery, 119 W. 1st St., San Angelo, to arrive between Feb. 16 and 19. Entry fee is $5 for each painting or drawing entered, Mrs. Leach said.

A brochure on the show may be obtained by writing to Mrs. Leach at P. O. Box 3362, San Angelo, 76901.

The 1974 Mid-West Texas Area Art Show drew 176 entries from 21 cities in the area, with 61 chosen for exhibition. Artists whose are accepted for this year's show will be honor guests at an opening tea 2.5 p.m. March 2.

Piano Students Win At Festival

Students of three Midland piano teachers were among winners in the annual Pauline Slator Bach Festival held last weekend at Odessa College under sponsorship of the Odessa Music Teachers Association.

The competition drew keyboard students from numerous area cities, including Lubbock, Brownfield and Abilene, in addition to Midland and Odessa.

In various contest categories and events, first places were won by Midlanders Lisa Howe, Lourdes Torres and Peter Schweinfurth, all students of Mrs. W. H. Maitland, and John Heard, who studies with Mrs. Hans Roweck.

A second-place winner was Emily George, student of Mrs. Jeff George. Third-place winners included Walter Paul Miller and Teddy Schweinfurth, both keyboard students of Mrs. Maitland.

NEW DIRECTOR — Sam H. Grove is the new director of Midland's Museum of the Southwest, assuming duties last week. Grove comes here from Chicago, where he had been associated with the Field Museum of Natural History.

'Stardust Ballroom' Gets Reviewer's Nod

By JAY SHARBUTT

NEW YORK (AP) — A freshly widowed, middle-aged grandmother from the Bronx tries ballroom dancing to cure her acute case of the lonelies. She meets a stout, middle-aged man at the ballroom and they fall in love.

Soap opera? Kind of. But don't let that stop you from watching Maureen Stapleton in "Queen of the Stardust Ballroom" tonight on CBS. It's an uncommonly sensitive show with an unconventional approach.

It includes six songs, the themes ranging from lonely anguish to the joys of dancing, which Miss Stapleton or her lover (excellently portrayed by Charles Durning) sing during the two-hour show.

"Queen" isn't a musical by any means, but rather a well-acted, well-written drama in which happens to feature musical solos by the two lead characters as part of the story development.

It starts at a hospital, where Bea Asher (Miss Stapleton) is told an operation to save the life of her husband has failed. From there, it follows her through the first lonely months of a widow's life — an empty house, grocery-shopping for one, the efforts of well-meaning relatives to ease the pain of her loss.

She opens a pop antique store to keep busy, having rejected an offer to live with her married daughter's family and having learned her married son is moving to Los Angeles to teach at UCLA.

But her sadness doesn't wane until a middle-aged waitress friend, also a widow, persuades her to join the folks at the Stardust Ballroom, describing it as a "terrible place for old girls like us who are young at heart."

And off she goes to a poignant world of middle-aged practitioners of the cha-cha, waltz, foxtrot and tango, a world of lonely, smiling souls who annually elect their own queen of the Stardust Ballroom.

After a hesitant start, she hooks up with Al Green (Durning), a shy, uncertain mailman who in succeeding weeks of courting becomes her lover — only to tell her after the initial love-making he's married.

"I don't want to talk about it — ever," she says, startled but willing to accept the situation and even discuss it candidly before her shocked daughter and her tolerant son.

To the horror of her daughter, she ditches her widow's weeds, changes her hair color from dull natural gray to artificial red and generally blossoms amid her gentle romance with the postman.

Their happiness peaks during the ballroom's annual crown-queen contest, but unexpectedly ends on a tragic note.

So much for the grief news. Now for the cheers, which go to the show in general and in particular for the music composed and arranged by Billy Goldenberg (with lyrics by Alan and Marilyn Bergman).

The music doesn't overpower the show, but instead gives it a powerful assist which rarely intrudes. Goldenberg should get an Emmy for his effort and, if there's any justice, probably will.

'West Side Story' Opens At Globe Theater Feb. 21

ODESSA — "West Side Story," the compelling musical that combines the terror of a switchblade thrust, the tenderness of first love and all the poignancy of youthful heartbreak, opens at the Globe of the Great Southwest a week from Friday.

The production, which will continue into early March, is the opening attraction of the Globe's 1975 season, a season which also will offer two other musical productions, "The Wizard of Oz" and "Dames at Sea," two Shakespearean plays; an original religious drama, "The Life of Christ," and a contemporary comedy, "Season Tickets, offering theatergoers considerable savings over the cost of admissions purchased singly, are now on sale at the Globe box office, 2308 Shakespeare Road.

"West Side Story," with book by Arthur Laurents, music by Leonard Bernstein, lyrics by Stephen Sondheim and dances conceived by Jerome Robbins, is a magnetic and timely theater piece which successfully bridges the centuries from Renaissance Verona to the teeming, squalid ghettos of Manhattan's upper West Side. The play subtly embraces Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" theme of star-crossed lovers caught up in warring factions.

The Globe's version of "West Side Story" is being staged and directed by Globe producer-director C. D. McCally, with Wayne Stacker as technical

Ford Travels To New York

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is traveling to New York to talk with securities analysts about the economy and to join in a tribute to Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Ford planned to deliver a speech this afternoon to the New York Society of Security Analysts and hold a brief question and answer session with society members.

Later, the President will address a Republican-sponsored dinner honoring Rockefeller.

Lions Sweetheart Dance Scheduled This Saturday

The Tall City Lions Club will sponsor a Lions Sweetheart Nomination Dance at 9 p.m. Saturday at Soul City.

Each person who attends the dance will have a chance to vote for a candidate that the club will enter in the queen contest to be held in conjunction with the Lions District Convention here May 9-10.

Pre-sale admission to the dance is $3, with tickets at the door to cost $3.50, a spokesman for the Tall City Lions Club said. Tickets can be purchased at Unipac Liquors or from members of the club.

Net proceeds of the dance will be given to the Lions Crippled Children's Camp at Kerrville.

Music will be furnished by the "Under Pressure" musical group from North Texas State University at Denton.

Recital Will Feature Both New, Old Works

New and relatively-unknown works for organ as well as those from the standard repertoire will be presented by the eminent organist Frederick Swann when he plays a recital here a week from tonight.

Swann, director of music and organist at New York City's famous Riverside Church, will present his program in the sanctuary of First Presbyterian Church, beginning at 8 p.m. next Thursday. Admission to the event will be free and the public is invited.

The recital is sponsored by Midland's West Texas chapter, American Guild of Organists.

In addition to standard organ works by Cesar Franck and J.S. Bach, Swann has programmed a dramatic new work titled "The Despair and Agony of Dachau," by contemporary composer-organist Paul Sifler. The composer currently is organist and choirmaster at St. Thomas Episcopal Church in Hollywood, Calif.

Psalm 22, which begins "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken me?," envisions the tragedy of the World War II concentration camp at Dachau, and phrases from the Psalm have been suggested in this dramatic and deeply-moving composition. The "mighty roar" suggested by the composer is descriptive of the holocaust in the great furnaces. The scurrying of rats and barking of dogs are among the traumas depicted.

Sifler has noted that one of the reasons for composing "program music" of this type, and then performing it, is surely the same as that expressed by the men and women who have turned the dreaded concentration camp into a museum and memorial — to provide the largest bonus to the Veteran's Administration, North Dakota's ranking will never again be $1,600 is the highest state bonus involved in such an atrocity.

Playhouse Comedy Near End Of Run

ODESSA — Final performances of "How the Other Half Loves" are scheduled this weekend at Permian Playhouse here.

The closing performances of the British comedy farce will be at 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday. Seats for the performances may be reserved by telephoning the theater box office, 362-3229.

According to the Veteran's Administration, North Dakota's ranking will never again be $1,600 is the highest state bonus involved in such an atrocity.

'Das Rheingold' To Be Broadcast Saturday Afternoon

NEW YORK — "Das Rheingold," the introductory work in Richard Wagner's monumental four-opera "Ring of the Nibelung" cycle, will be heard Saturday over the Texaco-Metropolitan Opera Radio Network. It will be aired for Permian Basin listeners over station KCRS in Midland, Tex., beginning at 1 p.m.

Subsequent operas in the "Ring" cycle will be broadcast on March 1, 15 and 29.

Singing principal roles in Saturday's "Rheingold" will be mezzo-soprano Mignon Dunn as Fricka, mezzo-soprano Lilli Chookasian as Erda, soprano Mary Ellen Pracht as Freia, baritone Donald McIntyre in his Metropolitan debut as Wotan, tenor Glade Peterson in his Met broadcast debut as Loge, baritone Marius Rintzler as Alberich, bass Bengt Rundgren as Fasolt, bass John Macurdy as Fafner and tenor Ragnar Ulfing as Mime. The eminent Swedish conductor Sixten Ehrling will be on the podium.

Since "Rheingold" is in four continuous scenes without intermission, the radio audience will hear a pre-curtain "Opera News on the Air" feature. John Culshaw, music director of the British Broadcasting Corporation of London, will talk about "Rheingold" as the "prelude" opera in the four-opera "Ring" series.

Farmers, Ranchers Need To Eye Tax Deductible Expenses Now

COLLEGE STATION — With the March 3 income tax deadline for farmers and ranchers rapidly approaching, particular attention should be given to various deductible expenses. "Each year agricultural producers pay extra income taxes because they fail to deduct certain legitimate business expenses," points out Dr. Wayne Hayenga, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Every dollar of business expense not deducted will result in a higher income tax bill." The Texas A&M University System specialist lists a number of commonly overlooked expense items: — Allowance for space in the home used as an office. — Items in the home used for business — calculator, typewriter, paper and record books, to name a few.

— Postage. — Meals for hired labor. — Bank charges and interest on charge accounts. — Tax preparation fees. — Bookkeeping fees. — Cost of purchased livestock that was lost, stolen or died during the year.

— Auto and truck expenses, such as licenses and insurance, according to the portion used for business. — Costs of utilities, telephone service and other service charges that pertain to the farming and ranching business. — Subscriptions to farm and ranch and related magazines. — Farm organization dues. — Expenses incurred on business trips, and that portion of vacation travel that related to business. "The key to preparing an income tax return that most correctly reflects your farming or ranching operation is to have a good record-keeping system," emphasizes Hayenga. "Such records should indicate all items purchased for business. These items should be paid-by check whenever possible to have a record of payment."

SWC Acts To Control Violence At Basketball Games

Ice-Throwing At Tech Triggers Warning

TIMBER! — Manuel de Jesus arches over backwards, the victim of a fourth-round knockout punch delivered by Ike Hooks in welterweight bout at Miami Beach, Fla. (AP Wirephoto.)

DALLAS (AP) — The Southwest Conference office is quietly turning the crank to hold down crowd violence at basketball games.

Cliff Speagle, executive secretary of the SWC, told The Associated Press Wednesday that several "conversations" had been held with member schools about controlling the home crowds.

Texas Tech, Texas Christian and Arkansas are three schools which have been involved in ice and money throwing incidents at SWC games which Speagle terms "nothing less than violence."

Ice Dangerous
"Throwing something hard on the court like ice is an act of violence," Speagle said. "You could put an eye out. This is a game and the crowd should be there to cheer the teams on not to injure someone through an act of violence."

Speagle was on hand Tuesday night in Lubbock when some Texas Tech fans pelted Southern Methodist players with ice, paper cups, pennies and miniature red plastic basketballs.

Coach Bob Previtt of SMU and Tech Coach Gerald Myers exchanged heated words over the incident.

Worst Instance
Myers admitted "This is the worst case we've had. We're

The Midland Reporter-Telegram

making an effort to catch these people and get it stopped."

Speagle spoke with both Myers and Athletic Director J.T. King. Tech officials said they planned to get the word out through announcements over the public address system and through stories in the newspaper.

Objects were hurled on the floor during last Saturday's regionally televised game between Texas A&M and Arkansas at Fayetteville. A&M Coach Shelby Metcalf even moved his team across the floor from in front of a group of Arkansas supporters called "The Mad Hatters."

Black Hit
Lou Mayset, sports editor of the Austin American-Statesman, said in a column this week that Texas Tech had been cursed by the "Mad Hatters" and Texas Coach Leon Black was hit in the head by a quarter tossed from that section.

Metcalf, who recently received a doctorate in philoso-gy after a thesis on crowd behavior at SWC basketball games, told Mayset: "They (The Mad Hatters) didn't come out there to cheer their team. They just came out to harass us."

Speagle said he had been assured by Arkansas Athletic Director Frank Broyles that the "Mad Hatters" would be "brought under control."

Finley Will Accept Arbitration Medicine

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Arbitration setbacks — unless out of baseball," Finley de- Oakland A's owner Charles O. catcher Ray Fosse is one of the Finley promises to be a winning players. gracious loser in any salary ar-

"If I lose that case, I'll get He brought up the Fosse case — though not identifying the catcher by name — in an impromptu luncheon news-conference which followed the opening arbitration hearing of 1975, in which pitcher Ken Holtzman requested a $19,000 raise to $112,000.

"We pay our players well," the owner of the world championship club said, adding that the A's payroll "has increased 155 per cent in the last five years."

Finley is out to hold the salary line in the cases of Holtzman, offered the same $93,000 contract won through arbitration last year, and several other front-line players including Fosse, whose case is scheduled to be heard next Wednesday.

Joe Rudi and Vida Blue were scheduled for hearings today, but outfielder Rudi and catcher Gene Tenace settled with Finley Wednesday night. Presumably they were given raises over the salaries they got in 1974 after losing in arbitration — a reported $55,000 for Rudi and $46,000 for Tenace.

Reliever Paul Lindblad agreed to a Finley offer out of court Tuesday, so only 10 of the 13 A's cases originally filed for arbitration were left. Holtzman should hear today whether he won or lost.

Finley said: "One player who didn't even hit .200 last year asked me for a $25,000 raise and he was really sincere. To make it even funnier, he took me into arbitration." Finley added that "the player didn't even play a full season."

It could only be Fosse, who batted .196 in 69 games. Finley didn't mention the reason for Fosse's inactivity — a back injury suffered when he tried to break up a June clubhouse fight between teammates Reggie Jackson and Bill North.

Fosse has lowered his aim to an $18,500 raise, Finley said, and the owner is offering the same money as last year after at first offering the catcher a $5,000 raise.

The owner also said Wednesday that: —Reggie Jackson recently called from Hawaii asking if Finley would sell him to another club for $1.5 million to $2 million if Jackson could find a buyer and that Jackson unsuccessfully sounded out Los Angeles Dodgers executive Al Campanis on the idea.

—The A's made a profit last season "That was so small I'd be embarrassed to tell you what it was," when they drew just over 800,000 fans despite winning a fourth straight division title.

—Despite the loss of 25-game winner Catfish Hunter, "We may have enough pitching right now to win again" and that his goal is six straight world titles to beat the record held by the New York Yankees of 1949-53.

Fordham Picks Rice
NEW YORK (AP) — David Rice, head coach at Western Connecticut State and a former assistant at Columbia, has been named head football coach at Fordham University. Rice, 34, succeeds Dean Locks who was fired after a 3-5-1 season.

For Bullets, There's No Place Like Home

By The Associated Press

Home cooking suits the Washington Bullets but it didn't do much for the National Basketball Association division title hopes of the Detroit Pistons.

It wasn't easy but the Bullets captured their 15th consecutive game on the boards of the Capital Centre in Landover, Md., Wednesday night, hanging on to defeat the Milwaukee Bucks 112-106 in overtime.

The Pistons, chasing Chicago in their division, figured they had an edge, facing the Bulls in Detroit. Chicago hadn't won there since Nov. 18, 1973. But the Bulls pulled a surprise, winning 109-93.

In other NBA contests, Cleveland whipped Philadelphia 115-102, Kansas City-Omaha surprised Boston 109-102, Phoenix took Buffalo 108-96 and Seattle nipped Houston 104-103.

Bulls 103, Pistons 93

"It was time to talk about some facts of life," said Piston Coach Ray Scott, who held a 45-minute meeting after his club lost to the Bulls. "It's getting to the point where we're consistently not a factor in the game and it's time to worry."

Norm Van Lier's 26 points paced Chicago, which moved three games up on Detroit. Jerry Sloan added 19 and Bob Love 17 for the Bulls.

Bullets 112, Bucks 108, overtime

Elvin Hayes scored 35 points including a pair of free throws with three seconds to play in overtime that gave Washington its fourth straight victory over Milwaukee this season.

Hayes also had the Bullets' last six points in regulation time including the game-tying basket with 30 seconds to play.

Phil Chenier added 34 for the Bullets and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar had 28 for the Bucks.

Pearson Inks Letter With Texas Tech

O'DONNELL — David Pearson, 6-4, 215-pound running back for O'Donnell's Eagles last fall, signed a pre-enrollment letter to attend Texas Tech on a football scholarship.

A three-year letterman in football, basketball and track, Pearson has been clocked in 10 flat for the 100, 22.8 for the 220 and steps a 4.6 second 40-yard dash.

Cavalliers 105, 76ers 102

Cleveland beat Philadelphia for the sixth straight time behind 28 points by Bobby Smith. Billy Cunningham led Philadelphia with 24 but had a key basket disallowed with 36 seconds left when he was called for a charging foul.

Kings 103, Celtics 102

Kansas City-Omaha scored 11 straight points in the final 3½ minutes and then Jimmy Walker made a clutch steal in the final seconds as the Kings beat Boston.

Nate Archibald led the Kings with 33 points and Walker whose steal from Jo Jo White with seven seconds left clinched the victory, had 27.

Suns 108, Braves 96

Charlie Scott pumped in 25 points and Curtis Perry added 17, leading Phoenix past Buffalo.

Bob McAdoo's 34 led the Braves, who had a three-game winning streak snapped.

Sonics 104, Rockets 103

Spencer Haywood scored 31 points and Fred Brown added 24, including two on a jump shot with 48 seconds to play that gave the SuperSonics their triumph over Houston.

SAN ANGELO SEEKS THIRD STRAIGHT WIN— Golfers Tee Off Today

Some 90 golfers representing 18 high school teams teed off today at Ramothland Hills Country Club as the three-day Tall City High School Invitational Tournament got underway.

Friday the scene shifts to Midland CC and Saturday the golfers will finish at Hogan Park. Tee-off time both days is 8 a.m.

High Snyder, Andrews and Port Wadley Paschal.

Coach Dale Biggs' Midland Lee golfers placed second at San Angelo and ninth at San Antonio and will be led by Chris Brown who was No. 2 medalist at San Angelo and only two strokes back of Waterhouse at San Antonio.

Coach Robert Young's

Bulldogs took a 12th at San Antonio last week.

"We're young and getting better each week. This week, who knows what will happen," says Young.

Kirk Branson was medalist San Angelo two weeks ago and he and Greg Ludke finished in the top 10 at San Antonio.

While the boys are competing at Hagan, Midland and Midland Lee girls will be at the San Antonio Invitational, where both are expected to be strong contenders.

In the only action in date for the girls, Midland placed second and Lee third at Hogan Park as Amarillo made off with the first place trophy.

Miller Favored Again

Winning Exhausting, Says Weary Johnny

SAN DIEGO (AP) — It would seem that winning suddenly comes easily to Johnny Miller. But that's not entirely true.

"Playing crummy is easy," said Miller, winner of three of his past four starts and a heavy favorite in the $170,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open Golf Tournament that begins today.

"Playing good and winning is tough," said the youngster who has won 11 titles in the past 14 months and has become golf's new golden boy.

"It takes a lot out of you. It puts pressure on you. You get tired more quickly. If I'm playing bad, I can play 40 weeks in a row and not get tired. Nobody bothers you.

"But if you're playing good and winning, there's a lot of demands on your time. People are always around you. They want to talk with you. There are television interviews and newspapers and everything.

"Then, if you don't win,

there's the letdown. You always have a letdown.

When he started on the pro tour in 1969, Miller was a shy, withdrawn and extremely quiet. He's still quiet and soft-spoken. But he's no longer shy and withdrawn. He's one of the most articulate men on the tour. He isn't afraid of controversy.

5-4A Begins Telltale Run Down The Stretch

Midland Lee's fate, and for that matter that of the Midland Bulldogs, hangs in the balance over the final three games of the District 5-4A basketball season.

The Rebels face the toughest and most demanding portion of their schedule, starting Friday night against Permian in Odessa, and only one of the three vital games is at home.

Next Tuesday, Coach Paul Stuecker takes his Maroon Raiders to Abilene, where Lee has won just twice in 13 years. After that, the Rebels close out at home against Midland High.

However, Lee has it within its power to avoid the redepate at the finish and can start Friday by beating Odessa Permian. That won't be easy. Permian, with a 3-1 second-half record, is balancing on the precipice of oblivion and will be fighting desperately to avoid the eliminating second defeat.

Leafs Goalie Put On Waivers

TORONTO (AP) — Goalie Dunc Wilson of the National Hockey League's Toronto Maple Leafs has been placed on irrevocable waivers and will be available for the $30,000 waiver price until Saturday.

Both Permian and Abilene are in the thick of the battle for the second half title with Lee, which shared the first half crown with Midland.

However, if the Rebels survive it all with either an outright second-half title or a share of it, Lee will have its second straight district title.

In the first meeting, the Panthers forced Lee into overtime before bowing, 48-45, at Lee.

Lee takes a 26-2 record into the game while Permian is 26-5.

Leafs General Manager Jim Gregory made the announcement following the Leafs' 2-2 tie against Montreal Wednesday night. Gregory said he has tried without success to trade Wilson, who hasn't played since the team returned from a poor West Coast road trip last month.

While Midland High, which entertains Odessa Friday, is out of the running, Lee's fate is tied closely to the Bulldogs' playoff future.

After Tuesday's 45-43 loss to San Angelo, Midland languishes at 1-3 in the second half and their only hope is that Abilene and Permian share the title or one of the two wins it outright.

Odessa gave Abilene more trouble than expected in losing to the Warbirds, 64-57, Tuesday night.

In other action, Abilene will try to maintain its unblemished record in the second half, but will have to do it against a San Angelo club that also is harboring second-half title aspirations of its own. The Bobcats, after Tuesday's win over Midland, is 3-1 in the second half and, like Permian, still very much alive.

Operators Plan 12 Prospectors, 124 Development Tests For Basin

One hundred and thirty-six petroleum projects were slated in the Permian Basin last week. The count includes 12 prospectors and 124 development wells.

Two weeks ago, when 86 projects were filed with the Texas Railroad Commission and the New Mexico Oil Conservation Committee, there were 12 prospectors and 74 field wells planned.

The Midland RRC office processed applications for 62 field wells and four wildcat permits. The Lubbock office of RRC, supervising the petroleum activities in the South Plains, accounted for 35 field tests.

The east side of the Basin was the leader in scheduled exploration, with five wildcat applications filed with the San Angelo office of RRC.

Dwindling Swedish Prison Population Causing Joblessness

KUMLA, Sweden (AP) - The new Swedish prison system, often described abroad as a crook's "luxury pension" while assailed by inmates for inhumane concrete bunkers, is beset by a new problem - a steadily dwindling number of inmates that is forcing closing of cell blocks and creating employment difficulties for guards.

On the other hand close to 20,000 persons - conditionally sentenced, parolees and youthful offenders - are on the outside under control of the correction board. This is a trend that will be even further marked in the future, according to prison board director-general Bo Martinsson.

Open Correctional Treatment The large central prisons are being reserved almost exclusively for hard-core habitual criminals while practically all first offenders and lesser lawbreakers will receive more or less open correctional treatment. There are, however, no special prison institutions for first-timers. The relatively insignificant number of female criminals have their own prison.

Crime Rate Rising Although the crime rate is tending to rise in most categories, the number of inmates in Swedish prisons has been on the decline, at a recently accelerating rate, for about 25 years. Prisoners currently average 3,500 or slightly fewer at a time, a very low figure by international comparison for a country of more than eight million people.

Of the 9,963 persons sentenced to imprisonment in 1973, more than 35 per cent were convicted of drunken driving, 22 per cent of larceny, 12 per cent of violent crimes. Only about 3 per cent were convicted of drug offenses, although the number of drug addicts among prison inmates sometimes runs around 20 per cent.

Foxy Play Fulfills Bad Contract

When you can't make your contract by straightforward means, it's perfectly legitimate to make it by guile. Add the fake finesse to your arsenal and use it when you want to steal one trick from under an opponent's nose.

West opened the deuce of hearts, dummy played low, and East finessed with the ten. East could have played the ace of hearts and his top clubs, but he couldn't tell that his partner had a trump trick. West might be leading from Q-x-x, in which case the finesse with the ten would give East two heart tricks.

the queen of hearts, but was still not out of the woods. He hoped to discard his remaining heart on dummy's fourth diamond, but he couldn't afford to lead all the diamonds without drawing trumps. It was just as bad to draw trumps, for then the defenders would take their four tricks.

Compromise Plan

At the second trick, South led the ten of spades toward dummy. West played low, hoping that South was planning to finesse. If East held the queen of spades, South might make the wrong guess.

There was actually no trump finesse. When South's ten of spades won, he ran the four diamonds. These all got by safely, and South was able to discard his losing heart. He could then draw trumps and claim his contract.

Dealer, at your right, opens the bidding with one heart. You are next, holding: S — A Q 5 3 2 H — A 5 3 D — 10 6 3 C — 8 7. What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass. Avoid overcalling on a suit that has no "body." A spade bid at this point might go for a bad ride even if the opponents have no game.

Think back on your childhood when Valentine's Day meant white sacks lined up on the window sill, homemade Valentines, school time taken out for a party of cookies, punch, and candy hearts and, best of all, getting to chew gum during class.

We all know how we celebrate St. Valentine's Day in the United States, but other countries celebrate February 14 differently. In Italy a feast is held, people in Denmark send snowdrop flowers to special friends; in Great Britain special songs are sung. In one English town a young man secretly leaves a basket of gifts on his loved one's doorstep and then knocks on the door and runs away. How many of you guys have tried this one? Most Valentine's Day customs are concerned with romance or the choice of a mate. Single girls have many ways of learning the identity of their future husbands.

TIA Scraps Plans To Resume Partial Flight Schedules

DALLAS (AP) — Texas International Airlines has scrapped plans to resume partial flight schedules in Texas and Louisiana today but says it will continue attempts to resume operations in spite of a strike by ground workers. The airline's plans to begin flying again were frustrated Wednesday by federal court denial of a temporary restraining order requested by Texas International against the Air Line Pilots Association (ALPA). The company went to court to keep ALPA from interfering with Texas International pilots willing to cross picket lines set up by the striking ground workers, members of the Air Line Employees Association (ALEA).

Talks Break Down
Ground workers went on strike Dec. 1 and the airline was paralyzed Dec. 4 when pilots refused to cross ALEA picket lines. The union and Texas International have been negotiating a new contract since then under federal supervision, but talks broke down last week. After the denial of the temporary restraining order, the airline announced that "the unwillingness of flight crews to return to work without any legal protection from penalties that could be imposed by their national labor union" forced cancellation of the flights. The airline placed the blame for its inability to resume operations on ALPA leadership. It said ALPA "has demonstrated for the second time in as many months that it would rather see Texas International crippled by a strike and existing on Mutual Aid Pact benefits than flying again."

It added the company is giving "serious consideration to other ways to resume limited flight operations." When Texas International said it would resume flights, airline officials indicated that they had talked to pilots and ALEA members who were willing to return to work. That was the reason Texas International went to court seeking the restraining order against ALPA. In denying the request for a restraining order, U.S. District Court Judge William Taylor said ALPA had a right to honor pickets of a sister union. He added his ruling conflicted with decisions handed down by the 8th and 9th U.S. District Courts of Appeals but said no legal precedent existed in the 5th U.S. Circuit where Taylor sits.

Appeal Planned
Texas International immediately announced that it was appealing to the 5th Circuit Court in New Orleans, but officials said a decision would take several weeks. Airline officials said Wednesday the ruling on the restraining order would have effect on a $3 million suit filed by the Texas International against ALPA for honoring ALEA's picket lines. O'Donnell said the company would seek an additional $10,000 for each day ALPA refuses to let its pilots return to work. The unions have filed two suits against Texas International charging it receives $100,000 daily from the Mutual Aid Pact, an agreement between airlines that allows a struck company to receive a percentage of its operating expenses while its employees are on strike.

No Hearing Date Set
No date has been set for a hearing on the unions' suits. The unions claim that the strike fund money keeps Texas International from bargaining in good faith with labor representatives. Airline officials have said the company receives about $83,000 daily in strike assistance and that sum is far below its profits during normal operations.

Policeman Using Radar Equipment Provides Tiny Town With Funds

HARTSBURG, Ill. (AP) — A part-time policeman using radar equipment provides this tiny central Illinois town with its biggest single source of income. Drivers speeding through Hartsburg, population 363, were fined $18,996 in 1974, more than half of the amount Mayor Fred Ritterbush said is needed to run the town for a year. "Everybody seems to think we're out for the money, and we aren't," Ritterbush said in an interview Wednesday. "Our prime concern when we hired the radar patrolman was to make the street safe for the schoolchildren who have to cross it, for churchgoers and for the farmers taking their grain trucks to the elevator." "The street" in Hartsburg is a half-mile stretch of Illinois 121. The speed limit in town is 45 miles per hour, but Ritterbush said patrolman Roger Shane generally allows drivers a 10 m.p.h. leeway. This means drivers going the legal maximum of 55 m.p.h. on Illinois 121 could sail through Hartsburg without slowing down. Ritterbush said Shane works irregular hours and is paid $15 an hour. "We could put a man out there 24 hours a day and make even more money. But that's not what we are interested in. We just want to make the streets safe," Ritterbush said. Town Clerk Wayne Coffey adds, "We had a few accidents where people were pretty mangled because someone decided he wanted to fly through the town. There hasn't been a major accident since Shane was hired."

South Korean Ruler Wins Election But Support Declining

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — President Chung Hee Park today termed the referendum endorsement of his policies "a valuable decision on the part of the people." But the voting returns showed a drop of more than 20 per cent in public support for Park's authoritarian rule. The government said returns from 98 per cent of the ballots cast in Wednesday's referendum showed 9,710,589 in favor of Park's major policies, 3,328,739 opposed and 231,523 ballots invalid. Sizable Drop
About 80 per cent of those eligible voted, so the total in favor of the president represented about 58 per cent of the 16.7-million electorate. This was a sizable drop from the results of the 1972 referendum which endorsed Park's revision of the constitution to prolong his hold on the presidency and enlarge his powers. The vote in his favor then was 12,863,468, or more than 80 per cent of the electorate, with 1,087,965 opposed and a 90 per cent turnout. The president's victory statement was conciliatory in tone. But a spokesman for the National Congress for the Restoration of Democracy, a coalition of political, civic and religious bodies, predicted a crackdown on opposition leaders that he said would show the "dictatorial nature" of the government. Nonpartisan System
Park said he would develop a "nonpartisan national political system on the basis of a national consensus. . . . There must be no victors nor any losers in the referendum. . . . It was the choice of the majority of the people on the basis of democratic principles." The first federally funded highway in the U.S. was begun in 1811.

West Texas Lingo

F. J. Spencer may be a native of India and he may reside in Houston, but he speaks the language of West Texas when it comes to describing the federal government and some of the people in it.

He addressed the Midland Desk & Derrick Club's Industry Appreciation Banquet last Friday night and the convention of West Texas-Panhandle Bank Women here Saturday night.

It is unfortunate that more people could not have had the opportunity of hearing the distinguished speaker in his Midland appearances.

He got off to an exceptionally fine start with his Friday night audience by describing Washington as "the Disneyland East of the Potomac," much to the delight of his listeners.

But then he came right back with his oil-oriented listeners as the target.

"The complacent attitude," he said, of the men and women in the oil industry is making it possible for the "jailhouse lawyers in Washington to tiptoe over the bodies of the oil people."

And he was absolutely right in his comment. There is ample evidence in Midland and other area cities that many persons in the oil business are indifferent to the Washington situation. Others are willing to let the other fellow fight their battles for them.

The Permian Basin Petroleum Association sounded the call recently for members to join a delegation going to Washington to tell the true story of petroleum to members of Congress. Approximately 30 Midlanders responded. At least 130 should have answered the call.

This is what Spencer was talking about.

"If we don't change our complacent attitude in a hurry, we are going to mumble, fumble and grumble until we let government plug and abandon the oil industry," he warned.

This was putting it in terms oil patch listeners could understand.

Spencer went on to say that the real culprits in the energy problem are the penny-ante politicians in Washington.

Recognition of this fact was the No. 1 step offered in his version of a way out of the energy problem.

"Next," he said, "get free enterprise going again. Let the business of business run the industry. Total decontrol at the wellhead needs to become a reality so the free market place again can be established."

Spencer called attention to the fact that "it was right here in Midland in 1952 in the Permian Basin settlement (Phillips) case," that the first government control of the industry began.

"Then, the men and women in the oil industry are going to have to remove their blinders," he said. "By this I mean each segment of the oil industry is going to have to learn everything there is to know about the industry so that each one of us will know what the other person is doing. If we do this, we can talk with one voice in Washington."

He urged industry people to regain their independent spirit, which was lost somewhere down the line, so that they may express outrage "at what is happening to us."

"Unless we get these things back, and stop letting George do it, we are going to continue to be in the shape we are in now."

He said there is no real knowledge of the oil industry in Washington, "Scoop or no Scoop." (Again, loud applause.)

Yes, F. J. Spencer, the Houston oil and business executive, speaks the language of West Texas . . . telling it like it is for one and all to hear.

Ron Ziegler's Suppression Ridiculed

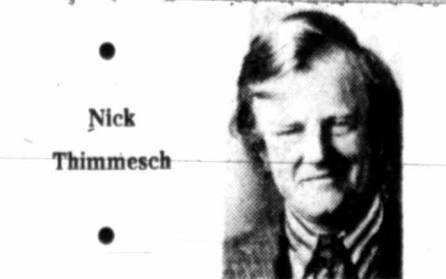

WASHINGTON — What many folks of the liberal persuasion need is not a trip to the woods but a good civics lesson. This was dramatized in the mindless conduct of John Wicklein, dean of the school of public communication at Boston University, who bullied students to renege on a speech date set for Ronald Ziegler, one-time presidential press secretary.

The record shows that Ziegler was scarcely appointed to that post back in December, 1968, when I wrote a column judging that move was a mistake, because Ziegler didn't really know what the press was all about. In subsequent writings, I awarded no Oscars to Ziegler.

But does Ziegler have the right to earn a paycheck speaking on campuses about his experiences in the White House? He sure does. And for universities to suddenly regard him as a leper is pharisaical to say the least.

Now Dean Wicklein, with his long work history at The New York Times, CBS, ABC and at PBS, certainly can impress his students. Those students did, indeed invite Ziegler to speak for a fee of $2,500, a bit high at Boston University.

But in years gone by, various campus groups have invited and paid (from $400 to $2,000) such speakers as Daniel Ellsberg, who pilfered the Pentagon Papers; Father Daniel Berrigan, who did some prison time for his antiwar violence; Jerry Rubin and Abbie Hoffman, the ripoff artists of New Left radicalism; Rep. Bella Abzug, liberalism's most obnoxious loudmouth; Bill Baird, the pro-abortion zealot; Tom Hayden and Jane Fonda, Hanoi's best friends in the United States; and Ralph Nader, who naturally rates $2,000 because he believes in maximizing fees and profits.

With that as background, what did Dean Wicklein do? He sent a telegram to the president of the student group sponsoring Ziegler and declared it was "morally wrong" for them to pay such a fee, or "any amount of money," to Ziegler for a speech.

Dean Wicklein declared that Ziegler "knowingly lied to the press" and "did his best to subvert the First Amendment guarantees." He said it would be a "travesty" to reward Ziegler for "his dispicable contempt for the Constitution." Then, in authoritarian terms, Wicklein urged the student government, "in strongest terms," to rescind its decision

WASHINGTON — The irascible Soviet ambassador to the United Nations, Yakov Malik, is active behind the scenes in Soviet espionage.

U.S. intelligence files tie him to the Soviet spy network at the United Nations. "The activities of both 'legals' and 'illegals' have passed over his desk," intelligence sources tell us. "Legals" are spies with formal diplomatic status; "illegals" are clandestine operatives.

Only once during his U.N. years, the files reveal, has Malik shown his hand. This was an impulsive, imprudent reaction to a 1971 New York Times story identifying a popular U.N. secretariat official, Vladimir Pavlichenko, as a "veteran officer" of the Soviet secret police.

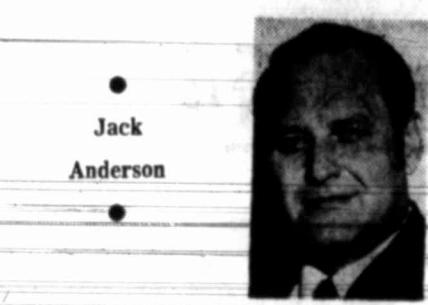

Pavlichenko was not only a valuable Soviet agent but a close associate of Malik. The files contain detailed accounts of Pavlichenko's KGB activities while he was posing as a U.N. employee.

The New York Times revelation caused Malik to overreact, recalled a source with direct knowledge of the case. Angrily, Malik fired off two protests to the State Department and also got U.N. Secretary-General U Thant to complain. Not long afterward, Pavlichenko, his usefulness impaired, was discreetly called home. The Soviets were far more successful with a prominent Bolivian envoy to the U.N., the files show. The diplomat was recruited by the KGB in Bolivia, wangled an assignment to the U.N. and then, as a paid KGB agent, helped to enlist other Latin Americans in the Soviet spy apparatus.

All Soviet citizens who are employed by the U.N. are prepared for the job and regularly debriefed by the KGB. Some are merely informants, but others are actual KGB agents and "co-optees" in the intelligence community's term for contract spies.

The Soviet agents and informants at the U.N. are handled on a day-to-day basis, we are told, by the top KGB official in New York City who is called the "residentura." But Malik has a formidable, overall role.

The world's most tangled espionage web has the Kremlin at its center. The Soviet spy system is, in effect, a dizzy geometric design of spy rings within spy rings. The emphasis, of course, is upon deception.

It is difficult, therefore, to trace Malik's spy career. The intelligence files show he began as a stool pigeon for the Soviet secret police, the NKVD, in the mid-1930s when he attended the Institute of Diplomatic and Consular Employees.

He reportedly remained an active agent of Soviet intelligence as he moved up in 1937 to become the deputy press chief of the Commissariat for Foreign Affairs. Two years later, he was dispatched to the Soviet embassy in Japan with the diplomatic rank of counselor. But American agents quickly spotted him, according to our sources, as an intelligence specialist.

Promoted to ambassador, he remained in Japan during World War II and immediately after the war. Then he was brought home to Moscow where in 1947 he became an operational espionage official. The files show he was appointed deputy chairman of the Komitet Informatsii, or the KI as it was called, which was the parent head of both the KGB secret police and GRU military intelligence.

Malik gave up his formal KI post in 1951, the files affirm, which places him in the center of the secret police terror during some of the bloodiest years of the late dictator Joseph Stalin.

While Malik was still a top man in the KI, he was transferred to the U.N. as the Soviet delegate in 1948 and remained until Stalin's death in 1953. He served thereafter as ambassador to Britain and then deputy foreign minister in Moscow, although the files indicate he actively kept up his in-

Back Stage Dilemma For President Ford

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — A piece of paper wending its way through the labyrinth of the White House bureaucracy toward President Ford's desk restates a question which has repeatedly confronted him during six months in office: how much and how often must he appease the Republican right?

Unless short-circuited before it reaches Mr. Ford, the piece of paper will recommend that the President nominate a young technocrat named Eric R. Zausner as the government's top energy policymaker. But conservative Republicans on the Senate Interior Committee, mainly Westerners, are fussing and fighting to keep his name from ever being submitted to the Senate.

Zausner, a 30-year-old computer whiz out of the Wharton Business School, is being boosted as deputy administrator for policy of the Federal Energy Administration (FEA) by both his boss, administrator Frank Zarb, and Rogers Morton, secretary of the Interior. But the Western senators have bluntly informed the White House Zausner is too liberal, too rude, too inexperienced (topped off by unfounded innuendo about his patriotism). What is really wrong with Zausner, however, is that he is too independent of oil interests.

Thus, while publicly indicted by liberal Democrats for being big oil's patsy,

Mr. Ford privately is convicted by conservative Republicans for offending the party's old friends. Those oil friends have now cranked up a campaign against Zausner which will be a symbolic test of the industry's influence in the Ford administration.

But beyond energy questions, the Zausner problem underlines Mr. Ford's need to solidify the Republican minority support for him in an overwhelmingly Democratic Congress. Surely, then, the head of a middle-level bureaucracy is not too much to ask in return for the support of Republican senators on difficult votes to come. But how often shall Mr. Ford have to change policy and decisions to satisfy conservative Republican demands?

A Federal Energy official since the summer of 1973, Zausner is described by one associate as "a workhorse, a driver who kicks tails." A rough gem, Zausner has shown insufficient deference to U.S. senators in personal contacts.

Nevertheless, precisely what the senators have against him is not entirely clear — and certainly not always justified. One administration official was recently asked by a Republican senator: "Do you really want to embarrass Jerry Ford by having him nominate a conscientious objector?"

The "conscientious objector" charge, widely circulated on Capitol Hill, turns out to be a canard. Upon getting his master's degree in 1968, Zausner enlisted in the U.S. Public Health Service, fulfilling his military obligation by two years service there. At no time did he file as a conscientious objector.

More relevant but perhaps just as inaccurate is the charge by one Senate Republican that Zausner is "a regulator who believes in the government stepping in and doing it all." In truth, ardent free marketers inside the administration say Zausner is a team player who follows the Ford line.

What's really wrong with Zausner is found in the senatorial complaint that Zausner is "a computer man" who just doesn't know enough about the oil industry. That means he is not responsive enough to oil. "When an oil lobbyist comes into Eric's office with a problem," one administration official relates, "he runs into hard questions instead of an understanding smile."

Lobbyists do get an "understanding smile" from another young official in FEA, Duke Ligon, 33. Oklahoman Ligon, who left Continental Oil Co., to become then Treasury Secretary John B. Connally's oil adviser, is the industry candidate to be deputy administrator. A petition boosting him for the post began circulating on Capitol Hill last week.

telligence associations.

In 1958, he was named permanent U.N. envoy, which provides sheep's clothes for one of Russia's most sharp-toothed wolves. He is fond, this graduate of Stalin's secret police apparatus, of taking the U.N. podium and branding his international adversaries as "murderers and gangsters."

The files list Malik's closest associates in the intelligence world. Among them are the top woman operative, Y.D. Modzhinskaya, once assistant chief of Russia's overseas intelligence-gathering directorate, and her husband who was lieutenant colonel in the assassination department, variously called "Special Bureau Number One," "Department 13" and "Wet Affairs."

MONEY MATTERS—

Price Controls Talk Promotes Inflation

By DONALD C. BAUDER Copley News Service

Politicians and economists who continue to threaten industry with price and wage controls are almost certainly keeping the fires of inflation burning.

List prices are not falling as rapidly as demand-supply conditions would warrant, and some prices and wage demands are probably rising as a direct result.

And fear of a new round of wage-price controls may well be behind the auto and appliance industries' decision to give cash rebates — instead of lowering list prices.

Interviews with economists, businessmen and business journalists suggest that the above phenomena are directly related to the specter of controls — which, many economists feel, was a disaster eventually leading to more inflation when put into effect August, 1971, to April, 1974, by then-President Richard M. Nixon.

"The way we read it, everybody is holding on to list prices, and engaging in price shading, rather than lowering the list price," said Jack O'Connor, editor of Purchasing World, which will have a special takeout on the problem in its March issue.

"It appears current price indexes (such as the Consumer Price Index and Wholesale Price Index) are overstating inflation. Off-list pricing is becoming again a way of life.

"A sampling of 200 purchasing executives suggests that prices are being reduced from 5 to 9 per cent through various shading techniques," O'Connor said.

The practices are showing up in electronics products, paper, chemicals, motors, castings and fasteners, among industrial groups, he said. "Vendors regard the glutted market as a temporary phenomenon, and also fear price and wage controls. They feel if they lower prices now they may not be allowed to raise them later," he said.

"People are still very jumpy about the prospect of controls," said O'Connor, who estimates that industrial prices will continue to rise 5 to 8 per cent this year, "which is still better than the 26 per cent for 1974." In the areas where price shading is occurring, prices would be about level on the year, he said.

Officials Believe Average Smoker Now Wants To Quit

By WILLIAM STOCKTON WASHINGTON (AP) — The crowd of irritable, nervous, hungry people stood on tiptoes and lifted arms into the air, stretching as if to touch the ceiling.

Their thoughts were on cigarettes.

Oh, for just one. Sucking smoke through the throat, down into the lungs. Letting it slip slowly back out, chest and shoulders relaxing, tension melting away.

But they had come to stop smoking, a solitary goal as noble for some as lashing on Sunday or shedding 20 pounds of fat.

"All together now. Reach high, high, high and take three deep breaths," exhorted a beaming man standing before the crowd, lifting his arms.

Noisy sighs and gasps filled the room.

"Doesn't that feel great?" he shouted.

The night before, everyone had tossed away his cigarettes and begun cold turkey withdrawal, agreeing to a 24-hour fast broken only with fruit juice.

They were back for the second of five nightly meetings now, counting upon a communal bond with fellow sufferers to sustain a conviction the pain might be worth the reward.

Each had paid $3 to attend the stop-smoking clinic, this one conducted by the Seventh-Day Adventist Church.

Hundreds of similar clinics are conducted in cities across the country by various groups and organizations.

It has been 10 years since a panel of scientists and doctors advising the U.S. Surgeon-General published an unpretentious brown booklet that startled America's smokers and sent the tobacco industry to the ramparts.

The advisory committee minced no words.

"On the basis of prolonged study and evaluation of many lines of converging evidence, the Committee makes the following judgment: cigarette smoking is a health hazard of sufficient importance in the United States to warrant appropriate remedial action."

Subsequent reports have broadened the concern until smoking now is implicated in lung cancer and other respiratory diseases, peptic ulcers, arteriosclerosis and coronary heart disease. Smoking by pregnant women has been linked to low weight babies and stillborn and newborn infant deaths.

Marking smoking as a major public health problem, the government in 1965 formed the Clearinghouse on Smoking and Health, which has spent $20 million since then educating adults and teen-agers about the health effects of tobacco.

Private health agencies like the American Cancer Society have spent millions more.

Last month, an article in the Journal of the American Medical Association called for an end to federal subsidies to tobacco growers. The AMA, on several occasions, has encouraged the government to act against smoking.

More than 50 million Americans still smoke. They will spend close to $15 billion this year — about $200 for a pack-a-day smoker.

In the mid-1950s when the public was just learning about potential hazards, 40 per cent of all adults smoked. In 1970, after 16 years of growing con-change, just tremendous change," said Dr. Horne, a pioneer in smoking and health studies. "We're dealing with a different smoker now, one who basically wants to quit."

Evidence against smoking is largely epidemiological — statistical studies comparing death and disease rates between smokers, ex-smokers and non-smokers. The statistical studies are buttressed by research with animals.

But many doctors expert in epidemiology and the diseases implicated with smoking believe the evidence still isn't persuasive.

The issue is complicated by lack of knowledge of how cigarette smoke might produce cellular or biochemical changes in the human body to initiate the disease for which smoking is blamed.

"If you ask me what relationship smoking has to arteriosclerosis, I have ample epidemiological evidence to show you," said Dr. Gardner McMillan of the National Heart and Lung Institute.

"But if you ask me how smoking causes arteriosclerosis, then I will have to tell you I don't know."

The strongest data is found in a half dozen or so major studies since the 1950s that involved large groups of people. The longest running study to date, now completed, followed 300,000 veterans for 16 years, noting when they died and the cause of death.

The results, published by the National Heart and Lung Institute, found cigarette smokers had a 55 per cent greater mortality rate than non-smokers when the age of death was adjusted to allow valid statistical comparisons.

The Tobacco Institute, a Washington lobby and information arm of the industry, agrees there is a statistical association between smoking and low birth weight babies, between smoking and lung cancer, and that smokers statistically appear to have lower blood pressure.

"We are careful not to make representations that it is perfectly safe to smoke," said William Kloepfer, the Institute's senior vice president.

"We feel those who make flat assertions about its harmful effects are abusing scientific knowledge."

From A.C. Marple's vantage point, the problem is simply breaking the cigarette habit patterns that have become an intimate part of the smoker's life. Marple, chaplain at the Seventh-Day Adventist Hospital in Washington, periodically runs a five-night stop smoking clinic.

"We can break the addiction in the week we're together,"

Chaplain claims 50 per cent success rate for the 18,000 who have attended his stop-smoking clinics

Marple said. "But the habit patterns, the psychological aspects, take weeks and months sometimes."

Marple packs the hospital's auditorium with anxious smokers for every clinic. It blends sympathy, exhortation, praise and communal fellowship with sobering presentations by hospital doctors. Participants can vent their frustrations to each other.

Marple, who never smoked, has cheered on 18,000 people in 13 years. He claims a 50 per cent success rate.

"Stopping smoking is not an easy thing. It's a terrible battle. But anybody can stop if he really wants to," Marple said.

"We try to motivate them to take control of their own lives again."

He passes out cards that declare, "I CHOOSE not to smoke."

FBI Director Calls For Citizens' Help In Crime Fight

DALLAS (AP) — Citizen participation is the key to combating crime, says FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley.

"No amount of progress — no degree of sophistication — will ever raise law enforcement beyond the need for citizen support and assistance," he told the Greater Dallas Crime Commission at a luncheon Wednesday.

Kelley also advocated mandatory sentences for persons convicted of crimes involving handguns.

"Assailants using handguns were responsible for nearly 72 per cent of all the officers slain during the period between 1964 and 1974," he said, adding that handguns were involved in more than half of the murders committed in 1973.

Kelley said he was not opposed to the "legitimate and proper" use of handguns but "more must be done to keep these lethal weapons out of criminal and irresponsible hands."

In a news conference before the luncheon Kelley said he is not aware of any "special favors" the FBI might get from the Bell Telephone System.

"There is no special or undisclosed relationship between us which might be subject to some suspicion," he said. "We don't get any special favors from any of the telephone companies ... that I know of."

Statements from a Houston lawyer and other sources to the Associated Press alleged that Southwestern Bell security officers have routinely provided federal, state and city law enforcement agencies information needed to conduct illegal electronic surveillance.

Kelley said he did not "condone" the swapping of information between the FBI and Bell, adding, "If we get information from them which is obtained in a legal manner, we can open a case and proceed with it."

He later said a provision in the Omnibus Crime Act of 1968 makes it illegal for the FBI to "proceed with information obtained from its inception."

Although he favors "regular" reporting by the bureau to Congress, Kelley said he opposes the establishment of a civilian review board to oversee activities of the FBI.

The FBI still does not know the whereabouts of fugitive newspaper heiress Patty Hearst, who has been missing for more than a year, he said, but "we sincerely feel we will find her."

A separate group of agents in Los Angeles and San Francisco is assigned to investigate the case, he said, and "leads about her are given their primary attention."

Midland Student In Cast Of Play At Missouri School

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. — Kathleen Turner of Midland, Tex., is a member of the cast of "Oh Dad, Poor Dad, Mama's Hung You in the Closet and I'm Feeling So Sad," one of two student theater productions currently being presented in repertory at Southwest Missouri State University.

Miss Turner, a junior majoring in speech and theater at SMS, is the daughter of Mrs. Allen R. Turner of Midland. In addition to her role of Rosalie in "Oh Dad, Poor Dad," she has appeared in past SMS productions, including "The Death of Bessie Smith," "A Touch of the Poet" and "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Last October she was starred in the comedy, "The House of Blue Leaves," which was the first major production at SMS of the fall season.

"Oh Dad, Poor Dad" is an absurdist farce by Arthur Kopit, who also wrote the acclaimed play, "Indians."

Disbarment Suit Filed At Monahans
MONAHANS — A suit seeking the disbarment, suspension or reprimand of Monahans attorney A. R. Archer Jr. has been filed in 143rd District Court here.

The suit, filed by District 17-B Grievance Committee of the State Bar of Texas, charges the former district attorney with action and conduct constituting fraudulent and dishonorable practices in violation with ethics of the profession.

The grievance committee heard evidence against Archer and then each of the panel's five members signed the complaint.

Members of the committee include Terry K. Dook and Joel Locke, both of Odessa, Richard Naylor, Pecos, L. A. Cullison, Fort Stockton, and D'Ette Fowlkes, Marfa.

Attendants said Jeanne Davis was suffering from frostbite, abrasions and an undetermined back injury and Wendie Davis from frostbite, abrasions and a dislocated elbow.

The women were rescued Wednesday morning from the wrecked plane, which crashed Sunday morning about 9,000 feet up a mountain near Eagle Nest.

Wendi's husband, W. E. "Bill" Davis, 28, who was the pilot and his brother, James Davis, 26, who was Jeanne's husband, died of injuries suffered in the crash.

Wendi Davis, interviewed in her hospital room Wednesday, said it happened so quickly they were unable to pick a spot to crash-land the plane.

"The warning buzzer came on," she said, "and the plane stalled twice before we hit the ground."

"It nosedived in and then Angel Fire Ski Basin. They were Wendi Davis, 21, of Duncan, Okla.; at Northern Colfax County Hospital in Raton, and her sister-in-law, Jeanne Davis of Vidor, Tex., transferred to Presbyterian Hospital in Albuquerque from the Raton hospital late Wednesday.

Snelson Bill Would Update Voter Registration Records
Snelson says, "Now failure to vote won't mean disqualification." He said the legislation would "retain the simplicity of registration" and be an effective means of keeping voter lists accurate.

The bill also calls for a master list to be kept with Secretary of State Mark W. White.

Another provision of the legislation would have the voter's registration certificate stamped with party affiliation each time he votes in a primary election. White says this would insure a person doesn't vote in two primaries, or vote in one primary and another runoff election.

Snelson says, "A voter will actually be getting a new certificate every two years." The new certificates would also include a "tear-off" portion for a voter to return to his county tax assessor-collector when moving.

The legislation would also increase from 30 to 60 days the length of time in which a person can live in an old precinct and live in a new one. White called this provision "a very healthy thing." The secretary of state says additional expenses to the state won't be that great, but local county government would be required to pick up a heavy additional mailing expense.

New Mexico Air Crash Survivors Said In Good Condition After Cold Ordeal

RATON, N.M. (AP) — Hospital officials said two women who survived two freezing nights huddled in the wreckage of a plane that crashed in the mountains of northern New Mexico were in good condition today.

They are Wendi Davis, 21, of Duncan, Okla.; at Northern Colfax County Hospital in Raton, and her sister-in-law, Jeanne Davis of Vidor, Tex., transferred to Presbyterian Hospital in Albuquerque from the Raton hospital late Wednesday.

Attendants said Jeanne Davis was suffering from frostbite, abrasions and an undetermined back injury and Wendie Davis from frostbite, abrasions and a dislocated elbow.

"The warning buzzer came on," she said, "and the plane stalled twice before we hit the ground."

"It nosedived in and then Angel Fire Ski Basin. They were Wendi Davis, 21, of Duncan, Okla.; at Northern Colfax County Hospital in Raton, and her sister-in-law, Jeanne Davis of Vidor, Tex., transferred to Presbyterian Hospital in Albuquerque from the Raton hospital late Wednesday.

As approved by the House and Senate, the pay proposal would: —Raise legislators' salaries, including the Speaker and lieutenant governor, from $400 to $600 a month.

—Provide a daily expense allowance of $30 while the legislature is in session. Legislators now get $12 a day for the first 120 days of the 140-day session and nothing for the final 20 days.

—Raise from 10 cents to 16 cents a mile what legislators may collect for using their own car on state business.

"In this recession and with rising unemployment, it's an extremely poor taste and poor timing for the legislature to be running a pay raise at this time," said Sen. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena.

His attempt to rub out the pay raise portion of the proposed constitutional amendment—leaving in the expense increases—failed, 6-23.

U.S. Slates New Southeast Asian Naval, Air Cutbacks

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will have fewer aircraft-carriers in Asian waters next year than at any time since the outbreak of the Korean War in 1950.

Meanwhile, U.S. air power in Thailand will be cut to a fraction of what it was during the American involvement in the Southeast Asian war.

These moves reflect the steady waning of a U.S. military presence that once was felt strongly in countries along a wide arc of the western Pacific. American forces have been scaled down significantly in Japan, South Korea, Taiwan, the Philippines and Thailand, as well as being withdrawn from South Vietnam.

National disenchantment over the Vietnam war set this trend in motion. It has been helped along by budgetary pressures, rising operating costs and cutbacks in U.S. conventional forces, particularly the fleet.

Reduction of the Navy's total carrier force from 15 to 13 ships next year will mean that two instead of three carriers will be deployed in the western Pacific. With one 7th Fleet carrier sent into the Indian Ocean on a fairly regular basis, the cutback could leave the United States with only one carrier in the western Pacific at times.

At the height of the American involvement as many as six aircraft carriers were on the line, most of them within striking range of North Vietnam, South Vietnam and Laos.

Before that war, throughout the years dating back to the Korean War, the United States normally maintained three carriers with the 7th Fleet. One ship usually cruised in the Japan-Korea area, a second patrolled the Taiwan Straits, and the third prowled the South China Sea and other waters in that area.

In Thailand the U.S. Air Force still has more than 180 fighter bombers and 17 B-52 bombers in position for combat after that.

As the airpower in Thailand goes down, so will U.S. military manpower. American armed strength will be cut to 10,000 from the present 25,000. Three years ago, there were 49,000 American servicemen in Thailand.
