

Positive Thinking

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

To Be Happy, Appreciate

Many years ago I was riding on a railroad train one wild winter evening. So thick was the driven snow on the car windows that one had only fleeting glimpses of stations along the way. Indeed, they seemed almost buried in huge drifts. This was in upstate New York, and winters like that used to be quite common.

On this particular night, I was going to leave the train at the town of Hornell, and then drive over to Canisteo, three miles away, where my mother and father lived. I got into conversation with a fellow passenger and mentioned that I was getting off at Hornell to spend the night with my mother and father. "Oh," he said, "you have them both?"

He was quiet a moment, and then rather sadly, I thought, remarked, "How fortunate for you. When I was a boy, I was a pretty terrible kid. But now I sure wish I had my mother and father. Actually I'd give most anything if I could get off at some station and spend the night with them, but that can't be for they've gone on now."

I drove over to Canisteo through the early winter evening and sat before a roaring fire, drinking cider, eating doughnuts and enjoying a wonderful talkfest with my folks. I appreciated that visit even more, I think, because of my chance conversation with that lonely man on the train.

Well, that wintry night was a long while ago, and now I can no longer be with my father and mother in the flesh. They have journeyed on into that other country from which no traveler returns.

The art of appreciation is one of the most important skills a human being can develop. Sadly enough, most of us may be accounted deficient in gratitude, the practice of which can be so great a source of joy. When you lose the faculty of appreciating the values and blessings in our lives, living can become a pretty dreary business.

Perhaps nothing adds to the enjoyment of life so much as a keen sense of appreciation.

Perhaps this rather unique prayer by the great English bishop, Lancelot Andrewes (1555-1626) may give you a new slant on life's values.

"O Lord my God, for life and reason, nurture, preservation, guidance, education; for Thy gifts of grace and nature, for Thy calling, recalling, manifold recalling me again; for Thy forbearance, long-suffering, and long long-suffering toward me, even until now; for all from whom I have received any good or help; for the use of Thy present good things; for Thy promise, and my hope of good things to come; for all these things, and for all other, which I know, which I know not, manifest or secret, remembered or forgotten by me, I praise Thee, I bless Thee, I give Thee thanks, and I will praise, and bless, and give Thee thanks, all the days of my life."

Conferees Get Tax-Cut Measure

By EDMOND LEBRETON WASHINGTON (AP)—Final efforts to enact the largest tax cut in the nation's history got under way Saturday with both houses of Congress assigning conferees to work out a compromise.

White House officials, repeating Ford's goal of a "clean tax-cut bill," left open the possibility of a veto. "I wouldn't close the door," said one official.

In response to inquiries, White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen repeated what he had said previously—that Ford would delay his planned Easter holiday in Palm Springs, Calif., until Congress completes action on the tax-cut measure. By the time the Senate passed the bill early Saturday it provided, among other things, that most individual taxpayers would get rebates of $120 to $240 on their 1974 taxes, those for which returns now are being filed, and a $40 cut in 1975 taxes.

An optional tax credit would help families with less than $20,000 income who itemize deductions. A special "work bonus" up to $400 would apply to low-income working families. Each Social Security benefit recipient would get a one-time $100 bonus.

The House bill provides a smaller 1974 rebate and a special tax break for single persons and couples too poor to pay income taxes. Staff specialists for the tax-cut conferees on Saturday began analyzing the numerous amendments the Senate made to the House-passed tax-cut bill. The conferees themselves go to work Monday morning, trying to produce a version on which both chambers can vote by Wednesday, the target day for beginning the Easter recess.

Leaders in both chambers said they think the deadline will be met. With little debate, the House voted 281 to 18 Saturday to set up the conference, already requested by the Senate.

U.S. Secretary Calls It Quits, Returning Home

JERUSALEM (AP)—Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger Saturday night broke off his whirlwind shuttle efforts to win a Middle East peace because of "irreconcilable" differences between Egypt and Israel.

Kissinger had held two sessions with Israeli negotiators before calling it quits after 16 days of intense negotiations. State Department spokesman Robert Anderson told a news conference that Kissinger would return to Washington. Other U.S. officials said he planned to leave the Mideast this morning.

Anderson made the brief announcement after last-ditch efforts by Kissinger to bridge the gap between Israel's demand for a peace pledge by Egypt and Egyptian insistence on an Israeli withdrawal in the Sinai desert.

"Unfortunately, the differences on a number of key issues have proven irreconcilable," Anderson said. He added that a reassessment "is needed so that all concerned can consider how best to proceed toward a just and lasting peace."

It marked at least a temporary defeat for the American secretary of State after a string of diplomatic triumphs.

In Washington it was announced that President Ford would meet with Kissinger tonight. Ford's press secretary, Ron Nessen, read a statement saying, "The President regrets the suspension of the talks that have been taking place over the past two weeks in the Middle East." It added while the parties were unable to reach an over-all agreement, Ford "reaffirms the commitment of the United States to continue its efforts to assist the parties in reaching a just and lasting peace."

Israeli Defense Minister Shimon Peres told newsmen, "It was an important week. Israel remains a country with her face turned toward a peaceful settlement."

Kissinger left the prime minister's office with Peres. He patted Peres on the shoulder, waved to the press and entered his black limousine. There was a smile on the secretary's face, but it appeared forced. He said he would make no statement.

A brief Israeli government communique claimed the talks collapsed because Egypt rejected two proposals for Israeli withdrawals in the Sinai in exchange for gestures of peace by Cairo.

It said Egypt first refused a proposal for Israel to withdraw from the Abu Rudeis oil field and the strategic Mitla and Gidi mountain passes for a non-belligerency pact. A modified offer under which Israel would pull out of the oil field and turn over the western reaches of the passes to the United Nations also was turned down by Cairo, the statement said.

Anderson's announcement was broadcast live over the state radio, and many Israelis spoke of a turn toward renewed warfare.

"That's it," said a hotel waiter, "If Kissinger can't do it, who can?"

In Aswan, an Egyptian resort city on the upper Nile where Kissinger had met frequently with President Anwar Sadat, government leaders blamed Israel for the failure. Presidential spokesman Tahseen Bashir told a news conference that if the collapse leads to "tension or war," Israel is to blame. He added that Sadat would return to Cairo today to restudy Egypt's position.

Palestinian sources in Beirut, Lebanon, said the end of Kissinger's mission had been expected. (See KISSINGER Page 4A)

One Killed, Another Hurt In Construction Accident

A 52-year old factory representative for an elevator lift company was killed and a 44-year-old Odessa worker was injured seriously here early Saturday at The Midland National Bank construction site.

John Howard Quist of Denver, Colo., was killed when a personnel elevator broke loose from its rigging and dropped almost three stories.

Justice of the Peace Robert Pine pronounced Quist dead at the scene. Burl Teston, an iron worker who was assisting Quist on the construction of the personnel elevator, was in satisfactory condition with multiple injuries late Saturday.

Lee Powers, project manager for Harvey Construction Co., said he was walking toward the construction office trailer on the northwest side of the building under construction when he saw the elevator hit the ground.

Powers said Quist was trapped from the hips down beneath the elevator cage. He said Teston was under Quist's shoulders, but not trapped by the elevator.

The project manager said his crew pushed the cage off Quist only minutes after the accident. Powers said the two men were riding on the cage of the personnel hoist with Quist inside the cage and Teston on top of it. He said it was a normal method of handling the elevator while installing it for use.

He said the hoist had been rigged to approximately 35 feet above the ground. Powers said Quist told him a few days ago he had installed more than 100 personnel hoists similar to the one that caused his death.

Powers said the elevator apparently went over the top of its vertical railings and toppled to the ground. Services for Quist are pending at Thomas Funeral Home.

Denton Says Asian Scene Sickens Him

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Rear Adm. Jeremiah A. Denton Jr., who led the return of American prisoners of war from North Vietnam two years ago, said Saturday that renewed warfare in Southeast Asia and the American people's apathy toward it "sickens me."

Denton, who set the tone for the return of the POWs with his "God Bless America" speech as he stepped off the first plane from Hanoi on Feb. 12, 1973, also predicted serious morale problems in the military and a loss of American credibility overseas if the United States does not take urgent action.

"I trust and respect the right of Congress to reflect the opinions of the American people," Denton said. "With respect to Southeast Asia, I think that opinion is wrong."

Denton spent 7 1/2 years in a North Vietnamese prisoner of war camp and was awarded the Navy Cross for resisting extreme torture. He now is commandant of the Armed Forces Staff College here.

"The present requests and policies of the President and secretaries of defense and state require urgent action," Denton said, adding that the current North Vietnamese advance into South Vietnam and resulting apathy on the part of the American people "sickens me and it's causing me a great deal of loss of sleep."

Palm Sunday To Feature Cantata, Music Dramas

Cantatas and music dramas will be presented in several Midland churches today as highlights of Palm Sunday observances. All will be open to the public.

Fannin Terrace Baptist Church, 2800 Mogford St., will present the musical drama, "Celebrate Life!," during the 11 a.m. worship hour today. The performance, under the direction of Robert Bailey, minister of music and youth at the church, will have mezzo-soprano Elaine Hines as the featured soloist. In the roles of the disciples Matthew, Mark, Luke and John will be Matt Morrison, Mark Carr, Bob Glenn and Chris Whigham.

An Easter cantata, "The Crucifixion," will be presented by the Chancel Choir of St. Paul United Methodist Church, 4501 Thomason Drive, during the evening worship hour beginning at 7 o'clock. The performance will have several members of the choir in solo parts.

The First Baptist Church, Louisiana and Garfield streets, has scheduled a special dramatization of the famous Theodore Dubois cantata, "The Seven Last Words of Christ," for 7:30 p.m. today.

The presentation by the Sanctuary Choir of FBC, backed by a full orchestra, is directed

Need A Doctor? You May Have Problem

By JAN WILLIAMS Getting a physician in Midland can be about as difficult as getting a membership at the country club. Both are in short supply and both carry a certain amount of prestige locally.

It seems that being the patient of a certain physician can carry as much social clout as being a member of the country club. It also seems to be the general consensus that the most popular doctors are the best doctors, professionally speaking.

However, to the dismay of many, the most popular doctors in town either have closed practices or such long appointment lists that new patients are discouraged from waiting.

Therefore, the big problem in getting to see a physician in Midland seems to be in getting to see the one you want to see.

Many Midland physicians and Midland residents agree it is sometimes difficult to get an appointment with a physician, regardless of whether he is included among the "most popular."

New residents often have difficulty establishing a doctor-patient relationship because of the heavy patient load most area physicians are carrying. The indigent also have difficulty in acquiring a "regular" physician because of an inability to pay.

In an effort to help alleviate the physician shortage here, Midland Memorial Hospital has intensified its medical recruitment program with the help of the Midland County Medical Society and the Midland Chamber of Commerce.

"The only real answer to the problem," said Dr. William P. Trotter, "is to get more physicians."

The recruitment committee consists of seven area physicians and Wayne Ulrich, Midland Memorial administrator. The physicians actively recruit prospective new physicians, while the chamber handles such things as housing arrangements and transportation.

Both Ulrich and Trotter agree that the chamber has been immensely helpful in the recruiting program. "Our problem is that most physicians want to stay in the big cities," Trotter said. "But I think the trend is beginning to change nationally."

Trotter said 12 new physicians have looked at Midland this year and so far three of them have decided to stay. He said the recruitment period is mid-January through mid-April and the final results won't be known until early summer.

Trotter said Midland recruited three new physicians last year, which was considered the worst year. The best year was in 1970, with seven new physicians coming to Midland.

"We may not see a significant increase this year," Trotter said. "But I feel by next year, we'll begin to get into the swing of things."

Ulrich said Midland also has the highest percentage of women physicians in West Texas, and possibly the state, with 13 per cent of the total number of physicians here being female.

Trotter said many local physicians not on the recruitment committee are also actively involved in the program.

"This is one of the few places where I've seen physicians actively recruit other physicians," Trotter said.

"They are aware of the shortage and they believe all people should be able to see (See FINDING Page 4A)

Reds Capture Ninth Province

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—Communist-led troops using the biggest guns in their arsenal wrested their ninth province from South Vietnam Saturday, solidifying their control of the central highlands and putting them in a position to cut the country in two.

The fall of Quang Duc was the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong command of the huge swath of territory from Kontum in the northern highlands 200 miles southward through Phuoc Long province and to within 50 miles of Saigon.

From this springboard they could launch a drive eastward to the South China Sea, a decades-old strategy, slicing South Vietnam in half. Field reports said civil servants were evacuated from Quang Duc before the final assault, but Saigon command spokesman Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien said the fate of 36,000 civilians in the province was not known.

Legions of other refugees continued their trek toward coastal havens from other fallen provinces in the western central highlands.

Anderson's announcement was broadcast live over the state radio, and many Israelis spoke of a turn toward renewed warfare.

"That's it," said a hotel waiter, "If Kissinger can't do it, who can?"

In Aswan, an Egyptian resort city on the upper Nile where Kissinger had met frequently with President Anwar Sadat, government leaders blamed Israel for the failure. Sheinwold On Bridge

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Kaufman Biography Well Worth Reading

The new biography of the late George S. Kaufman by Scott Meredith will tell you not only about the great playwright but also about literary and show business life in the United States over a 40-year period before and after World War II. Bridge players will find the book especially interesting because Kaufman was one of the best amateur bridge players of his day (if you rule out such tournament stars as Harold S. Vanderbilt and Waldemar von Zedwitz), much as Omar Sharif is the outstanding amateur of recent years.

It was Kaufman who once asked at New York's Cavendish Club for a review of the bidding "with the original inflections." Once, after being persuaded to play a few rubbers with Herman Manickiewicz, Kaufman remarked: "I know you learned the game this afternoon—but what time this afternoon?"

Modest Bridge Player
Despite his well-deserved reputation as an expert, Kaufman was the most modest bridge player I have ever known. One afternoon he was watching a low-stake game at the Regency Club in New York to pass the time until enough of his cronies arrived to make up a table. After a short time I strolled over and asked "George, do you want to play some three-cent bridge?"

"I wish I could," he replied wistfully. "But I'll be happy to play some tenth-of-a-cent bridge with you for three cents a point."

On another occasion at the Regency Club, Kaufman arrived while a rubber was in progress and rapped on the table to indicate that he wanted to take a hand at the end of the rubber. Just then, my partner made a fruity overall of two diamonds and went for a penalty of 800 points.

He Came To Play
The rubber dragged on and Kaufman cast a restless glance at some of the other tables, but morbid curiosity kept him with us as both sides overbid and went down on hand after hand. After almost an hour of this, my partner again bid two diamonds and was again clobbered to the tune of 800 points.

Kaufman had come there to play, but he couldn't resist the situation. "This is where I came in," he announced dryly. And he repeated the finesse or took the ace of diamonds and gave up the third diamond to the king.

Physician Group To Meet April 4-6

FORT DAVIS — The Texas Academy of Family Physicians, Permian Basin Chapter, will have its spring seminar April 4-6 in Indian Mountain Lodge at Davis Mountain State Park in Fort Davis.

A scientific session will be on April 5 with such topics as advances in obstetrics and gynecology, rheumatology, pulmonary, cardiovascular surgery and cardiology. This will be followed by a tour of the McDonald Observatory in the afternoon and a dance in the evening with music supplied by a Mariachi Band.

All physicians and medical personnel are invited to attend. There is a $25 registration fee for physicians. For registration information contact William Bart Pate, 202 North Second Street, Alpine, Texas 79830.

LETTER SUBMITTED IN CUEVAS TRIAL—

Prison Officials Warned About Escape Attempt

HOUSTON (AP) — Prison officials were warned months in advance that Fred Gomez Carrasco was planning to attempt a prison break out, but the convict was still able to stage an 11-day siege that eventually claimed the lives of four persons.

50 Per Cent Success Rate In Cancer Treatment Seen In Next Five Years

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The president of the American Cancer Society says doctors may be saving the lives of half the nation's cancer victims within the next five years.

Dr. George P. Rosemond told a society seminar for science writers Friday that the predicted 50 per cent success rate could come within five years but is by no means a sure thing.

"It might not be one in every two, but it should be better than one in three," he said. The society says doctors currently save one of every three patients stricken with cancer. The society has been criticized recently in a variety of published reports charging that it has juggled statistics to generalize optimism about the government's multimillion dollar war on cancer.

Science journalist Daniel S. Greenberg wrote in articles for The Washington Post and for Columbia Journalism Review that the society is correct in saying that there has been substantial progress in cancer treatment since the 1940s. But he maintained that most of that progress was made before 1965.

Since then, survival rates have reached a plateau and have even worsened in some cases, Greenberg wrote. Survival rates are based on the percentage of cancer patients who live five years or more after discovery of the disease. Reports such as Greenberg's prison officials were warned by federal authorities of the possible escape try.

A letter submitted in evidence Friday at the capital murder trial of Ignacio Cuevas, the only survivor of a trio of convict-gunmen who engineered the siege shows that Texas prison officials were warned by federal authorities of the possible escape try. Defense attorney Will Gray entered the letter into evidence over the objections of prosecutors.

The letter, sent to Texas Department of Corrections director James Estelle, was from the Drug Enforcement Agency of the U.S. Department of Justice.

"The San Antonio office of the Drug Enforcement Agency had reason to believe that an escape attempt will be made by Fredrico Carrasco," the letter said. It added that the information came from "four separate informants, all extremely reliable and part of the Carrasco organization in the past."

Carrasco, who once headed a drug organization in San Antonio, planned to be a "model prisoner" up until the escape was attempted.

Despite the letter, Carrasco was permitted to serve as a janitor for the prison chaplain, Roman Catholic priest Joseph O'Brien, and was given access to the prison courtyard and to the library.

The letter was received by Estelle on April 4. On July 24, Carrasco, Rudolfo Dominguez and Cuevas took over the prison library with a group of hostages.

The letter was introduced Friday during the testimony of Father O'Brien.

O'Brien testified he was aware of the letter, but that Carrasco continued to work in the chapel as a janitor.

The priest also testified of seeing a lawman whom he identified as Winston C. Padgett shoot into the tangle of bodies lying on a ramp outside the library after the siege ended in a shootout.

Father O'Brien said he, three women hostages and the three gunmen moved from the library sheltered by a crude shield made of portable chalkboards and law books.

He said the shield was hit by water and later turned over and he found himself, wounded, lying on top of several bodies.

The priest said he then saw two men wearing helmets and flak jackets advancing toward him. Father O'Brien said he recognized one as FBI agent Bob Wiatt and the other, he later found out, was Padgett.

Father O'Brien said he mentioned toward Dominguez, who was lying in the tangle of bodies, and that Padgett fired a pistol. He said he did not see where the bullet hit.

Then, testified the priest, Padgett asked "Carrasco?" and Father O'Brien said he pointed where he thought the gunman was. Padgett then again fired his pistol.

The four-week-old trial recessed Friday afternoon and will resume Monday with the continued cross-examination of Father O'Brien, a key witness for the state.

Cuevas is charged in the death of Mrs. Julia Standley. She and another hostage, Mrs. Elizabeth Beseda, were killed in the shootout. Carrasco and Dominguez also died, but Cuevas was unharmed. Father O'Brien was seriously wounded.

Selling West Texas As Vacation Area Object Of Map

ABILENE — Selling West Texas as a primary vacation destination is the objective of the 1975 edition of the "Wonderful West Texas" Fun and Adventure Map just released by the Tourist and Travel Development Department of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Sixty-seven points of interest throughout West Texas are featured in the second edition of the publication, each number keyed to a travel map designed to assist the prospective visitor in planning an entire vacation or a weekend outing in "Wonderful West Texas."

The full-color publication utilizes pictures and written descriptions to call attention to the diversity of attractions, points of interest, museums and colleges and universities located within the 132-county area served by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The Fun and Adventure Map serves as the foundation information medium for the West Texas Chamber's development efforts. It enables the WTCC to answer inquiries on a volume basis with more than 100,000 scheduled for distribution.

The promotion will utilize a total program of distribution including the Texas Highway Department Information Centers, travel shows, travel bureaus of major oil companies, by the participants, and by direct mail. The map is free to the traveling public.

Many vacationing families will include college age young people considering where they will go to continue their education and, while on vacation, many will have the opportunity to visit one or more of the 42 colleges and universities located in West Texas. Many of the colleges also have superb tourist attractions on campus.

117 Vote Absentee In School Election

Absentee voting in the Midland Independent School District's April 5 trustee election reached 117 ballots cast by 5 p.m. Friday.

Balloting absentee began Monday and will continue through April 1.

Five contenders are vying for two positions on the district's board of trustees.

Seeking election to Position 4 in the election are incumbent Roger Robles and Don Sparks. Running for Position 3 are Johnny Warren, Jerry Pitts, Steve Scott and Mrs. Peggy Redmond. The post is being vacated by two-term trustee Ted M. Kerr.

Shooting Victim Treated, Released

Henry Sanchez, 19, of 1905 Jacotte Circle was treated and released from Midland Memorial Hospital shortly after 5 p.m. Friday after he suffered a gunshot wound to his right arm during an argument at an eastside service station.

Police said Sanchez and another man apparently were having an argument immediately prior to the shooting incident.

No arrest had been made in connection with the shooting late Saturday. Police said Sanchez had been injured from a shotgun blast.

Several Items Are Added To List Of Bicentennial Projects Here

The board of directors of Midland's American Revolution Bicentennial Commission added several projects to the list of approved official projects for Midland's participation in the national Bicentennial at its monthly meeting held March 17.

Included in the list were an official Midland County Bicentennial medallion, a permanent Midland exhibit for the Museum of the Southwest, a sundial for the Planetarium at Haley Park, and a Bicentennial Plaza on the Midland County Courthouse square.

The Midland Jaycees presented a design for a Midland medallion to be struck in bronze, silver, and gold-plated silver. The first offering of the limited edition of the Midland Medallion is scheduled for July 4, 1975. Proceeds from the sale of medallions will be used for Bicentennial approved local projects.

The Junior League of Midland, Inc., in cooperation with the Museum of the Southwest and the Midland Independent School District, plans to provide a permanent exhibit showing the settlement of Midland from the time of the Comanche warrior to the coming of the cattlemen. Portions of the "Why Midland?" exhibit will be incorporated into the permanent exhibit, which will be coordinated with the public schools' social studies and history programs.

Baptist Pastor Moving To Rankin

RANKIN—The First Baptist Church's new pastor will move, with his family, into his Rankin home during the Easter weekend.

The Rev. Ray Singleton replaces the Rev. J. C. Tankersley who is moving to a Texoma, Okla., pastorate. Rankin's new pastor is the former director of missions for the Odessa Baptist Association.

which owns the land, and the Museum of the Southwest, which owns the Planetarium.

The Midland County Commissioners Court also submitted a "Horizons '76" project. The County plans to construct a plaza on the southeast corner of the courthouse square, approximately 60 x 40 feet, with eight to 10 benches, a lighted and glassed-in bulletin board, trees and landscaping. The plaza would include a descriptively illustrated map of Midland with directions to important sites of interest.

Commissioner John Thomas said, "This is our city square. I visualize people relaxing in the Bicentennial Plaza at lunch time, as well as visitors at our community bulletin board."

Other projects approved Monday were two "Heritage '76" school pageants to be presented April 15 at Emerson Elementary and April 11 at Pease Elementary.

"The community and its organization's are beginning to respond to the idea of getting involved in Bicentennial," stated Joe Dominicy, local chairman.

"We plan to begin actively working on project ideas now through 1976. We hope to have a major celebration this July 4th to really kick things off," he said.

In other business the Bicentennial board elected a new vice president, succeeding Charles F. Henderson, whose term had expired. Elected was Edward B. Weyman, vice president with the First National Bank. Henderson continues as a member of the Commission and the board of directors.

LA Paper Says CIA Didn't Recover Russian Warheads

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Central Intelligence Agency did not recover two nuclear warheads from a Soviet submarine that sank in the Pacific Ocean, the Los Angeles Times reported Saturday.

The Times quoted unnamed sources as denying published reports that the nuclear warheads had been recovered in a clandestine salvage operation.

The salvage operation, which was financed by the CIA, used the Glomar Explorer, a sophisticated ship built by billionaire Howard Hughes' Summa Corp. for the project.

"From the remains of what was recovered, there is clear evidence that two nuclear-tipped torpedoes were aboard," the Times quoted an official source as saying. "But the warheads were not recovered."

The existence of the nuclear torpedoes was established through an analysis of residue on the recovered fragments, the Times said.

The Washington Post, which published the reports of the recovery of the warheads, also had said persons linked to the recovery operation north of Hawaii last July maintained that the entire Gold-class submarine was salvaged in pieces. The Times sources denied that report, as well.

The Times said the CIA reportedly intends to pursue the salvage operation this summer. And the paper said it had learned that work to modify and repair equipment used in the operation has been going on almost around-the-clock for about a month in Redwood City harbor.

Elect LARRY S. MELZER Councilman, Place 3 April 2, 1975 (Absentee thru March 27)

Larry S. Melzer offers mature leadership demonstrated over 29 years of involvement in city affairs.

Larry S. Melzer has held positions of responsibility not only in the Geological Society, but on the Library Board, his Memorial Christian Church, The Center for Mental Health and Mental Retardation, Scout organizations, the Fine Arts, Junior Baseball and Midland Cubs. He is familiar with a broad spectrum of Midland Activities, with both their problems and their opportunities for greater service to the community.

At age 59, Larry S. Melzer has been a self-employed geologist and engineer for 19 years. Experience has taught him to undertake only one major commitment at a time. He has cleared the decks and is free to devote all of the time needed to be the voice on the City Council available to all segments of our population.

CHRISTMAS IN APRIL TARGET — Homes in Midland such as this one will receive needed repairs during the Human Relations Council "Christmas in April" program scheduled April 26.

Christmas For Some Here Will Arrive April 26

Christmas for some Midlanders will arrive on April 26, this year, and Santa Claus will be the Human Relations Council of Midland.

"Christmas in April" is a community project, coordinated this year by the Human Relations Council, in which organizations and individuals repair sub-standard homes.

Homes must have defects which cause discomfort or pose health hazards to the occupants. Recipients of help must own homes, must be living at poverty level, and must be unable to furnish the money, materials or help necessary to effect repairs.

Work will be done by volunteers from churches, civic and service clubs, business firms and individuals. All funds are donated by the community and are used to buy materials, or when necessary to hire contract work. Some organizations, however, purchase their own materials.

October, 1973 and April, 1974 resulted in the repair of 47 homes at a total cost of $7,600 plus funds furnished by organizations directly.

At present, funds for the program are depleted. Contributions may be sent in care of the Human Relations Council, 2101 W. Wall, Suite 5, Midland.

Y Appoints Askins Day Camp Director

Gary D. Askins has been named director of the YMCA's summer day camp, John McVickar, Central YMCA program director, announced.

Askins received a B.S. degree from the University of Houston and a masters degree in education from the same institution. He spent several years in the Air Force where he attended schools on survival and paramedics. Askins' recreational and outdoor programming experience include duties as a Teacher Corps recreational director with the Office of Economic Opportunity and a city parks recreational director at Houston. He also was a youth counselor for the community action program at San Antonio. Askins currently is a sixth grade teacher at Pease Elementary School.

"His enthusiasm for youth work and his understanding of what is needed to produce a quality day camp program will make him a valuable addition to the YMCA's summer staff," McVickar said.

ETHICS IN ADVERTISING

When you conduct a real estate transaction with a Realtor (a member of the National Association of Realtors) you can be assured that you will be in good hands. The Realtor subscribes to a strict code of ethics in all areas of real estate functions. There's no way we could touch on all of them in this space—but I would like to mention just a few in the area of advertising.

In his advertising, a Realtor will present a true picture and will neither advertise without disclosing his name, nor permit his salesmen to use individual names or telephone numbers, unless the salesman's connection with the Realtor is obvious in the advertisement.

A Realtor does not submit or advertise property without authority and in any offering, the price quoted will not be other than that agreed upon with the owner as the offering price.

Car In Hearst Case Investigation Found

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — A day with a statement that he had never met Miss Hearst. Jack Scott, sought for questioning in the Patricia Hearst case, has been found in a junkyard in northeastern Pennsylvania.

But FBI agents refused to confirm speculation Friday that the car may have been used to bring the fugitive newspaper heiress and two Symbionese Liberation Army companions to a farm hideaway they reportedly used in nearby South Canaan last summer.

The Scranton Times said it located the wrecked and partially stripped down 1968 Volkswagen in West Naticoke.

An FBI spokesman participating in the Hearst investigation here said the car "doesn't mean a thing to us," even for fingerprints. "It's been so man-handled and ripped apart there's nothing left to look for."

Miss Hearst and William and Emily Harris reportedly spent part of last summer at the South Canaan farmhouse, which the FBI says was rented by Scott's wife, Micki Scott, who has not been charged in connection with the Hearst case, is a native of Scranton.

The New York Times said Saturday's editions that Scott had telephoned a reporter

It said Scott told the reporter that he met twice with federal agents before his disappearance last month and that he and his wife were subjected to wiretaps and surveillance by the FBI.

"We have done nothing wrong. We have not disappeared. We have simply taken a vacation from FBI harassment and provocation," the Times quoted Scott as saying.

Of Miss Hearst and the Hearst family, Charles Bates, FBI special agent in charge of the Hearst case in San Francisco, said, "We don't know where they are now."

Miss Hearst, the daughter of Randolph A. Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner, was kidnapped Feb. 4, 1974, from her apartment in Berkeley, Calif., by members of the SLA, a small terrorist group.

She later renounced her family and said she had joined her captors. She and the Harrises are wanted on a variety of state and federal charges, including kidnaping and bank robbery.

New Mexico Senate Kills House-Passed Illegal Aliens Bill

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — The New Mexico Senate voted 20-19 Friday to kill a House-passed bill that would have outlawed the hiring of illegal aliens in New Mexico.

Opponents then forced a reconsideration vote against the bill, 21-19, apparently assuring it can't be brought up again Saturday, the last day of the current session.

The vote was part of a string of losses by organized labor in the state.

Earlier Friday, the Senate voted 23-19 to leave the public employees collective bargaining bill on the Senate table, although a motion to kill it outright failed 20-22.

Chances that a renewed effort to bring the union bill to a vote appeared dim as the session turned to the logjam of financial bills.

The Senate did pass the labor-backed bill increasing the state minimum wage from $1.60 an hour to $2 an hour for non-service employees, but only after approving a Finance Committee amendment that would allow crediting of tips for restaurant and other employees at up to 50 per cent of the minimum wage.

All three labor bills had passed the House earlier in the session.

Sen. John Rogers, D-Los Alamos, who carried the bill in the Senate, argued it would help provide more jobs for New Mexicans. It had been amended in the House to exclude agricultural and domestic employees.

Rogers cited statistics showing thousands of illegal aliens enter New Mexico from Mexico each year. Of 3,700 apprehended in an 18-month period in Albuquerque, nearly all were employed and some had skilled jobs.

Senate majority leader C.B. Trujillo vehemently opposed the alien bill on the basis it would work a hardship for the 40 per cent of New Mexico's citizens who have what he called "the semblance of aliens."

Senate president pro tem I.M. Smalley of Deming opposed the bill on the basis that hiring of aliens in this country is helpful to international relations.

Some, he said, "will walk 80 miles to get a meat."

The House bill would have imposed a fine of $100 to $1,000 for any employer except farmers and ranchers and domestic employees who knowingly hired an alien.

Wallace, Reagan Discount Talk Of Alliance In 1976

CULLMAN, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace and former California Gov. Ronald Reagan joined hands in a mutual admiration agreement Friday but discounted talk of a deeper alliance that might put them on the same presidential ticket next year.

Nevertheless, the appearance of Wallace, a Democrat, and Reagan, a Republican, at a Chamber of Commerce meeting and earlier in a private session in a motel room intensified speculation about the party they may play in the 1976 election.

The one-time movie star flew to Cullman to speak to a sell-out audience of 1,600 and Wallace welcomed him to the state and introduced him to the crowd.

Likely Candidate
The Alabama governor, who is regarded as a likely candidate for President again next year in the Democratic primaries, said he didn't care what Democratic Party leaders thought about his meeting with Reagan. The "hierarchy" of the party as he called them, "don't like me very well," he said "and they can worry or not worry, I don't care."

Wallace, admitting that "for once I don't know what to say," finally did say during their motel room meeting that "nothing is inconceivable." That came in response to a question from reporters about possibly teaming up with Reagan.

The former California governor was more explicit. He said at a news conference earlier that he foresaw little chance of the two men running on the ticket together because, he said, he is actively trying to rebuild the Republican Party and Wallace is taking an active part in the other party.

Two Aides
But with Wallace in Cullman were the director of his national campaign, Charles Snider, and two members of Snider's staff.

Snider said there was no political significance in his appearance, but he seldom accompanies the governor on his speaking trips.

In his speech Friday night, Reagan urged businessmen across the nation to take the offensive in defending the free enterprise system and said the best weapon in such a campaign is the simple truth.

Without free enterprise, he said, people will have no freedom.

Reagan said business and industry in the United States are "in deeper trouble than they've ever been" and are more regulated by government than in any nation which has any semblance of free enterprise.

Danger Cited
One reason for the danger to the free enterprise system, Reagan said, is a widespread lack of understanding among the people about how it works and what it means. He challenged businessmen to tell their story and he urged the news media to undertake "some investigative reporting to show how free enterprise works."

Wallace told the former California governor that "you're among friends" in Alabama and that for himself he has a "great deal of respect" for Reagan. He said Reagan was a "great governor" during the eight years he held office and "I'm glad to have him in Alabama."

Reagan, a member of the Rockefeller Commission investigating the Central Intelligence Agency, said the disclosure that atomic weapons were found aboard a Soviet submarine that the CIA attempted to retrieve from the Pacific Ocean justified the recovery operation.

But he deplored the publicity given to the disclosure because, he said, it "let the Russians and two members of Snider's staff know what we were doing."

Alleged Kidnap Victim Returned To Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Police said Friday night a teen-aged Illinois girl, allegedly abducted at gunpoint after she and a male companion hitchhiker were given a ride through Texas and Arkansas Thursday night, had been returned to Jacksonville.

Police said the girl, Christine Tina Taylor, was returned to Jacksonville by her abductor. They said her parents were on their way to pick her up.

The whereabouts of her alleged abductor is unknown, police said.

Apparently Runaway
Sheriff Billy R. Hasley of Clark County, Ark., said Miss Taylor, about 15, apparently was a runaway. He said Miss Taylor and Andre Solis, about 25, of Jacksonville, Tex., were hitchhiking from Jacksonville to Illinois when they were picked up about 10 miles outside Dallas by a man driving a pickup truck.

"They rode 30 or 40 miles with him. Then, he said he had to check on some cows and he let them out," Hasley said.

The couple then caught a ride in a tractor-trailer rig for several miles, Hasley said.

About 50 or 60 miles south of Texarkana, they again were hitchhiking when the same man in the pickup pulled up and offered to take them to Little Rock, the sheriff said.

Checked Cows
Again saying he had to check on some cows, the man turned off Interstate 30 on to Arkansas 51 near the Clark County line and drove to an area near Okolona. Hasley said the man drove to Okolona, then came back and stopped in an open field. He then got out of the truck, took a flash light and gun from the rear of the truck and told Miss Taylor to tie up Solis.

"He then drove off with the girl, evidently at gunpoint," said Hasley. Solis freed himself and went to a house about a quarter a mile away and called authorities.

"We've got some pretty good information that they're back in Texas," said Hasley.

Solis Returned
Clark County sheriff's deputies said Solis returned to Jacksonville on a bus Friday night.

"The boy had known her for five or six years," said Hasley. "She apparently had gone to his home in Jacksonville. He supposedly was on the way to take her home."

State Police said the man driving the pickup was described by Solis as about 6-foot-2, 225 pounds, with blondish hair. He was wearing western clothes and cowboy boots, offered to take them to Little Rock, the sheriff said.

Boston Area Colleges Will Have Some Part In Judge's Desegregation Plan

BOSTON (AP) — A Boston public school desegregation plan requested by a federal judge will place some administrative duties in the hands of area colleges and universities.

The plan, drawn up by four court-appointed masters for approval by U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity, was made public Friday.

The proposal also calls for a realignment of school districts and the busing of 10,000-15,000 now being bused under the current partial desegregation plan ordered last September by Garrity.

The busing program has been marked by periodic violence and a boycott by some white pupils since it went into effect. Under the permanent action,

"Phase I" plan, 17 area colleges and universities would adopt specific schools and lend their expertise in developing curriculums, overseeing instruction and offering special programs.

The over-all monitoring of desegregation would be shifted from the Boston School Committee to a Citywide Education Council. The School Committee would retain administrative powers such as hiring and firing.

Dr. Asa S. Knowles, president of Northeastern University who was named spokesman for the colleges and universities, said the masters they would not enter "into the governing structure of the Boston school system."

Effects Of 'Reform' Legislation Is Said Being Threatened Now

AUSTIN (AP) — The effects of the "reform" laws of the last legislature are being threatened by proposed legislation, says a spokesman for Common Cause.

John Hannah, chief counsel for the self-styled people's lobby, said Friday two bills would "impair the integrity of the legislature."

Hannah said at a news conference that measures by Rep. Dewitt Hale, D-Corpus Christi, would return the legislature to the "business as usual" days that existed before the "reform" acts of the 1973 legislature.

Hale's bills would allow legislators to accept up to $100 without reporting it and also would permit lobbyists to talk to legislators when not in session without registering with the secretary of state's office.

"For an example of how much money a legislator could receive, under Hale's bill all 68 lobbyists registered against utility commission legislation could give $100 to each legislator," Hannah said. "Each legislator could receive $5,000 without having to report it."

At a House committee meeting earlier this week, Hale defended his gifts bill by saying it was impossible for a legislator to accept even a lunch without possibly violating the law.

Hannah said Friday the so-called "trivia" gift section of the current law might better be defined without attaching a dollar amount to it.

"The only thing elected officials should receive is campaign contributions and that money should be spent on campaigns," Hannah said.

The last session of the legislature was marked by new laws restricting activities of lobbyists and requiring disclosure of the finances of elected officials.

Answer to Friday's and Today's Puzzles on Second Page of Classifieds.

Pistol-Packing Judge Gets Offers Of Help After His Life Threatened

DURANT, Okla. (AP) — A district court judge who began carrying a gun because of threats against his life has received offers of help from citizens who say they'll use guns, dogs and posies to protect him.

Sam Sullivan says he has received five death threats in the last five days, the latest threat telephoned to a local radio station on Friday.

Authorities say they believe the threats stem from a drug raid last weekend which resulted in nine arrests.

"I signed the search warrants," said Sullivan, 65, flashing one of several pistols he carries or keeps in his home and car.

"This is a .38-caliber hammerless," he said, explaining that he carries the hammerless weapon so it "won't hang up when I pull it out of my pants pocket."

An elderly man, one of a number of citizens who has offered to help protect Sullivan, suggested that he could stand watch with his shotgun at the Bryan County Courthouse where the judge presides.

And two sisters, Pauline Pitts and Sybil Miller, wrote Sullivan that "if threats on your life continue, we will get on our horses and ride to your rescue. Accompanied by our dogs and the posse, we can gather en route, your safety is assured. Have no fear. We helped elect you and we plan to keep you in office. Depend on us."

"IS YOUR CASTLE INVIOLEATE?"

A man's home is his castle, right? What then if somebody wants to take his home from him.

"Men do," you say? Well, you are right in most cases, but wrong when it is government who wants the property, "for the general good of society."

Then, under certain conditions, the law of Eminent Domain supercedes a man's right to this exclusive right to his home.

Naturally, the "general need" must be great (some recent "needs" are highway construction, urban renewal, construction of public buildings) and proper legislation must be compiled with. In addition, the property owner whose home is taken must receive fair compensation for it, as determined, if necessary, by a jury trial.

Still in all, that castle may not always be as secured as you think.

Always consider location when buying a home.

Four Veteran Journalists Win Awards

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Four veteran journalists, Fred Graham, Marilyn Baker and Julian Goodman, were among 25 recipients of 1974 George Foster Peabody Broadcasting Awards announced Saturday by the University of Georgia School of Journalism.

Stern and Graham were recognized for their work on the Watergate controversy. Stern, NBC news correspondent, was cited for "exceptional journalistic enterprise during a time of national crisis."

Graham, legal reporter for CBS News, was honored for "thoroughly professional and consistently penetrating reporting during a time of national crisis."

Miss Baker, now a reporter with KPIX-TV in San Francisco, was recognized for her work as an "investigative reporter of the highest order." She was honored for her reporting, while a staff member of KQED-TV in San Francisco, on the disappearance of Patricia Hearst.

Goodman, chairman of the board of NBC, was chosen for "his outstanding work in the area of First Amendment rights and privileges for broadcasting."

The 14-member Peabody awards board made the selections at its recent annual meeting in New York City.

The awards are given each year to honor distinguished and meritorious public service by radio and television programs, stations, networks and individuals. Formal presentation of medallions and certificates for the 1974 winners will be made May 7 in Washington, D.C.

The awards were established in 1940 by the University System of Georgia Board of Regents in memory of the late George Foster Peabody, a native Georgian who became a successful banker and philanthropist.

Ballet Extends Its Garage Sale

Midland's Permian Civic Ballet Association is extending its big garage sale through this afternoon. Funds raised by the sale will be used to help meet expenses of Permian Civic Ballet's annual "Spring Gala" dance production scheduled here in late April. The gala will feature a production of the famous "Swan Lake" ballet. The sale is being held in the former Bottle Mart building at 702 Andrews Highway. Today's hours will be 1:30-4:30 p.m. Still available to the public for browsing and buying are trinkets, treasures and trivias of many kinds, plus such unconventional garage sale items as a pedigreed English Sheep Dog. There are also many decorative and furniture items, books, cooking utensils and clothing items for people of all ages, shapes and sizes.

MCT Show Ends Soon

A matinee at 2:30 today will initiate the final week of performances of Midland Community Theatre's current attraction, "Drink To Me Only."

The farce-comedy, the second production of MCT's new season, will have additional performances at 8 p.m. Thursday and 8:30 p.m. Friday, with a final presentation scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Saturday. Telephone the Theatre Centre box office, 682-2564, for seat reservations.

The box office will be open this afternoon an hour in advance of curtain time for matinee ticket sales.

"Drink To Me Only" is a zany courtroom comedy revolving around a young attorney who must consume two quarts of whisky in 12 hours' time to disprove a medical expert's claim in court that such a feat is humanly impossible. Adding to the merrier is a Moroccan belly dancer, a millionaire playboy and his soon-to-be ex-wife, three panic-stricken lawyers and an incorruptible matron who is the official witness to the young man's prodigious bout-with-the-bottles.

The sale of MCT season memberships will continue through the current week's run of "Drink To Me Only." Several categories of membership are available, all offering considerable savings per ticket over the price of admissions purchased singly. Additional information on types of memberships available may be obtained by contacting the MCT box office.

One-Man Exhibition Opens At Dallas Fine Arts Museum

DALLAS — A one-man exhibition by Dallas artist David McManaway has opened at the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts, to continue through April.

This is the first in a planned series of "Projects" exhibitions under the direction of DMFA's curator of contemporary art, Robert M. Murdoch, which will focus upon works particularly created for the DMFA's Gallery A on the ground floor. Unlike the conventional one-man show which involves the exhibition of existing pieces, the projects concept emphasizes the process of an artist making a work for a given situation.

The main feature of the new DMFA exhibition is a long wall of styrofoam panels on which McManaway, working in the gallery over a period of approximately two weeks prior to the opening, created an assemblage of found objects and ephemera, as he does in his studio. For the exhibition, McManaway virtually moved the thousands of individual (and often-minute) pieces of trivia that constitute his art, from his studio to the museum. The resulting temporary installation is both a new piece in itself and a document of the creative process in McManaway's work. McManaway's art is based on chance discovery and accumulation of various objects over a period of time and — with his particular sensitivity to objects — assembling them in a different context. The artist has said about his work: "I seem to have an eye that is forever finding things. . . I could say that sooner or later I will use everything — or hope to. My source is simply going out through the front door. I bring the things I find into the studio and hang them on the wall or stand them on shelves; these objects fill my studio with visual ideas and they become objects with extended meanings over and above their obvious intent."

The new show also includes 30 completed works which have not been previously shown in Dallas, and a large "Jomo Board" of objects on which McManaway has been working for over a year.

McManaway is recognized both as an artist of national reputation and as a consistently productive element in the Texas art scene. Born in Chicago in 1927, he studied at the Studio School of Chicago and at the University of Arkansas. He first came to Dallas in 1959 and became part of the circle of artists associated with the Dallas Museum for Contemporary Arts, now merged with DMFA. He has been in numerous one-man and group exhibitions including shows at the Contemporary Arts Museum at Houston and the Whitney Museum of New York.

Cathy Hays, David Zepeda To Present Recital Today

A former recipient of the Wallace Wimberly Memorial Scholarship—presented annually by the Midland Music Teachers Association—will return here today to present a special piano recital to benefit the scholarship fund.

Cathy Hays, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Hays of Midland and now a senior student in applied piano at Texas Tech University, will be joined in the recital by her fiancé, David Zepeda, a graduate student and teaching assistant in the Tech music department. The recital will begin at 2 p.m. today in the Gardens Assembly of God, 2901 W. Kansas St., near Andrews Highway.

The dual recital will be open to the public without charge. However, donations to the Wimberly Scholarship funds will be accepted at the door, said Mrs. Hermann Williams, MMTA scholarship chairman.

Miss Hays has programmed works by J. S. Bach and Franz Schubert for her keyboard recital, and she and Zepeda will join in presenting Robert Schumann's "Liederkreis" as chamber music. Miss Hays received the Wallace Wimberly Memorial Scholarship in 1971, the year of her graduation from Midland High School. She is a former keyboard student of Mrs. Wayne Matthews and Mrs. James Finley, both of Midland, and Jack Hendrix of Odessa College.

Community Concerts Ends Member Drive

Midland Community Concerts Association concluded its annual membership campaign here Saturday, fully optimistic that its 1975-76 Bicenennial season will be a sold-out success.

At the close of the drive, more than 1,600 subscriptions for the upcoming season had been officially inscribed on the membership rolls, and leaders of the organization expect the total membership to top the 2,000 mark by the time campaign workers' reports are all in.

Five entertainment attractions have been booked by the association for the coming season which will begin next fall.

At a subsequent annual meeting of the MCCA Saturday afternoon, new officers were elected for the coming year. They are Dorothy H. Perkins, president; Tom Jonson, first vice president; Mrs. George Goebel, second vice president; George W. "Bill" Smith, third vice president; Mrs. Graham Bevel, secretary, and George DeHart, treasurer. Named as directors were Russell Stipp, Mrs. Ralph Viney, Mark Schweifarth and Luke O. Thompson, who is the outgoing president.

Bluebonnet Trail Art Show Slated

MARBLE FALLS—The annual Bluebonnet Trail Art Show, sponsored by the Highland Arts and Crafts Guild of Marble Falls, will be held here April 5-6 and 12-13. More than 50 artists and craftsmen from throughout the region will exhibit works in the popular show, which will be a feature of the annual Bluebonnet Trail arts emphasis being held in numerous Central Texas communities during the two weekends. Other communities exhibiting art and crafts exhibitions will include Kingsland, Buchanan, Llano, Burnet, Mason and San Saba. The exhibitions will be open from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. daily on each of the weekends and will be free to the public.

San Antonio Ballet Coming To Odessa

ODESSA—The Festival Ballet of San Antonio will be featured in a pair of performances here this coming weekend, sponsored by the Odessa Ballet Association and the Globe of the Great Southwest. The presentations are scheduled for Friday and Saturday at the Globe. Tickets have gone on sale at the Globe box office and will be available there up to performance time each day. The Festival Ballet is under the artistic direction of Ronald Sequoia, who also serves as artistic director for Odessa Ballet Association and a choreographer for the Globe and dance instructor in the Globe Academy.

Arts, Crafts Competition Announced

ODESSA — Odessa's Presidential Museum is announcing an arts and crafts competition which will be open to all persons throughout the Permian Basin and adjacent areas.

The April 28 exhibition is one of numerous events planned in Odessa during the annual April fine arts emphasis here, and is additionally in celebration of the Presidential Museum's 10th anniversary. Entries in the contest must relate to, or be concerned with, the presidency of the United States. Entries may pertain to a specific president's political or presidential accomplishments, some facet of his personality, private life or environment, or they may pertain to the challenges and responsibilities of the presidency in general.

All entries must be either original in concept and execution or else a replica of an historical original. Pre-designed work will not be acceptable. It is not necessary that an entry be recently completed. Any medium of expression may be used, including paper mache work, candles, porcelain painting, jewelry, carvings, decoupage work, stitchery, leather work, sculpture, quilting, drawings and paintings in all media. Entries will be accepted in five categories: Professional, adult amateur, senior high school, junior high school and grade school. The entries will be received at the Presidential Museum on April 22 and 23, between the hours of 4 and 8 p.m., and judging will take place on April 25. The show will open to the public on April 26, to continue on view through May. Additional information on the competition is available from the museum, 332-7123.

'Ring' Cycle Series Ends With Broadcast Saturday

NEW YORK—Climaxing the Metropolitan Opera's current series of broadcast performances of Richard Wagner's monumental masterwork, "The Ring of the Niebelung," will be Saturday's presentation of the fourth and final opera in the cycle.

"Gottterdammerung," or "The Twilight of the Gods," will be aired over the Texaco-Metropolitan Radio Network. Permian Basin opera fans may hear the broadcast over Station KCRS in Midland, Tex., beginning at 11:30 a.m. CST.

Acclaimed Swedish diva Birgit Nilsson will again be heard as Brunhilde. Joining the soprano in the performance will be tenor Jess Thomas in the role of Siegfried, mezzo-soprano Nell Rankin as Gutrune and the Third Norn, mezzo-soprano Anna Reynolds as Waltraute and the Second Norn, mezzo-soprano Lili Chookasian as the First Norn, baritone William Dooley as Gunther, bass Bengt Rundgren as Hagen and baritone Marius Rintzier as Alberich. Sixten Ehrling will conduct the performance.

Fort Worth Figures Worth Of Mouse

FORT WORTH (AP) — How much is a mouse worth? The city of Fort Worth figures 25.8 cents. Parks and Recreation Director Charles Campbell said Friday he needs 40,300 of the little creatures, and the price of them, like everything else, is going up. The $10,400 load of mice will go to feed the snakes at the city zoo.

FORT WORTH — Certain to be of widespread interest among Texans is a photographic essay on the vast King Ranch which goes on exhibition Friday at the Amon Carter Museum in Fort Worth.

Titled "The King Ranch, 1930-1944," the photographic display consists of more than 100 enlargements of the work of famed photographer Toni Frissell.

Perhaps best-known for her innovations in fashion photography, Toni Frissell visited the South Texas ranching empire many times during the years 1930-1944 on invitation from the Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Kleberg Jr. During those years she made thousands of pictures depicting life on the ranch. Her entire collection of 40,000 color transparencies of 270,000 black and white negatives have since been presented to the Library of Congress, and the upcoming Amon Carter Museum show has been assembled from that collection. The exhibition is being presented in conjunction with a book of the same title, published by Morgan & Morgan of Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., in cooperation with Amon Carter Museum.

Containing more than 100 photographs from the exhibition, the book includes captions and an introduction by Holland McCombs of Dallas, a former special correspondent for Time, Life and Fortune magazines, who spent nearly five years in research for Tom Lea's two-volume definitive work, "The King Ranch."

"I have taken some of the world's greatest photographs to the King Ranch," McCombs observes in the introduction. "And they have all taken great pictures. But even with the photographic limitations of that time, in picturing the work and life on the King Ranch, Toni Frissell has made the most complete coverage of all. She has an extra dimension, an artistic grace which comes through in her pictures."

Toni Frissell began her photographic career in 1932, soon becoming noted for her work in Vogue and Harper's Bazaar. She was the first to pose models in the open air, and in "natural" settings. Later sent on world assignments by Life, Look and Sports Illustrated, she made portraits of many famous people. Her portrait of the late Winston Churchill, made at Blenheim Palace, is among Lady Churchill's favorites.

In the summer of 1939, Toni Frissell met Robert Kleberg Jr. and his wife at the track at Saratoga, N.Y., and accepted an invitation to visit the ranch. At that time, few pictures had been made of the ranch. She asked, and was granted permission, to bring her cameras. She returned for many working visits during the next five years.

"Always, as I drove toward the ranch, my heart beat a little faster in anticipation of the various experiences I was to encounter and record," she recalls. "There was never a greater 'studio' that a time, in picturing the work and life on the King Ranch, Toni Frissell has made the most complete coverage of all. She has an extra dimension, an artistic grace which comes through in her pictures."

Founded by Capt. Richard King in 1853, the ranch was expanded to a half million acres before his death in 1885. Under the administration of his son-in-law, Robert Justus Kleberg, the ranch grew to 1,250,000 acres and became a leader not only in cattle and horse breeding, but also in the cultivation of cotton, citrus and vegetables in the Rio Grande Valley. Yet, under the administration of his son, Robert Kleberg, Jr. (1918-1974), the ranch made perhaps even greater strides, developing a special breed of cattle adapted to the land and expanding operations to Australia, pre-Castro Cuba, Brazil, Venezuela, Argentina, Morocco and Spain.

The exhibition will continue here through May 11. After a year-long tour to selected museums in the state, the photographs will go on permanent display at the King Ranch headquarters.

MCT Tryouts Scheduled Today

The first of three tryouts will take place this afternoon to fill parts in Midland Community Theatre's brand new comedy, "The Last Meeting of the Knights of the White Magnolia," which will open in late April.

If it's not straight from Broadway, "Knights" is, at least, brand-new from Dallas. The play is one in a recently-completed trilogy of stage works by Dallas Theater Center playwright-in-residence Preston Jones, and MCT's version will be one of the first major productions of the comedy outside Dallas.

"Knights" and the two companion plays have been hailed as possible new American classics by The Atlantic Monthly in the magazine's recent survey of the arts in Texas, while "Knights" has been termed by one metropolitan newspaper critic as "simply the best comedy set in Texas up to now."

The plays in Jones' trilogy are set in the fictional town of Bradleyville (population 6,000) in West Texas, somewhere between Abilene and Big Spring.

The cast list for "The Last Meeting of the Knights of the White Magnolia" calls for nine men, each with his own special West Texas personality and aura — and this will be one show where a West Texas "twang" will be considered an asset.

Newcomers to the city and surrounding area, as well as MCT "veterans" will be welcomed at the tryouts, scheduled for 2 p.m. today and for 8 p.m. Monday and Wednesday at Theatre Centre, 2301 W. Indiana St. Copies of the "Knights" script will be available at each of the audition sessions.

DCO Season Planning Already Well Under Way

DALLAS — The opening of Dallas Civic Opera's 1975 season is still more than six months away, but planning for it is already well advanced.

The new season will open Oct. 31 with a production of Offenbach's "Les Contes d'Hoffmann" (The Tales of Hoffmann) for which three sopranos have been signed to sing the roles of Hoffmann's three loves. They are Mady Mesple who will sing Olympia, Carol Nebbett who will be heard as Antonia and Joy Davidson in the role of Giulietta.

Contest Winners Announced Here

First place winners in the annual sonatina-sonata-concerto contest held here recently included keyboard students of 22 Midland music teachers as well as those from Monahan, Big Spring, Odessa, Snyder, Brownfield, Lubbock and Hobbs, N.M.

Reavis, Gretchen Koch, Kerri Schults, Shelly Baldwin, Mark Piland, Scott Morris, Debra Steele, Suzanne Fisher, Stephanie Lucas, Lordos Torres, Kent Cook, Kelly Schuetzberg, Sharon Scroggins, Lyn Erwin, Jimmy O'Neill, Jalene Brown, Ann Fullinwider, Alesa McCright, Clay Anthony, Craig Brown, Morgan Brown, Dabney Tompkins

Offenbach's hero, Hoffmann, will be sung by lyric tenor Alfredo Kraus, who was featured in DCO's "I Puritani," which closed the 1974 season last December.

The annual contest is sponsored by the Midland Music Teachers Association. There were almost 250 participants in this year's event.

Also Julie Griffith, Kalee Gormley, Kevin Sitz, Nichole Morgan, Allyson Andrews, Walter Paul Miller, Gladden Duff, Patricia Moreland, John Heard, Lori Westbrook, Marla Francis, Rachal Pearson, Mark McKenna, Tracy Williams, Lance Bingham, Teresa Brown, Jean White, Ruth Gibson, and Katherine George, Kathi Burk, Penny Strah, Gayla Moss, Gina Gilliland, Ellen Christensen, Darlene Dot, Susan Beck and Alicia Torres.

DCO's 1975 season will be the first with Nicola Rescigno at the helm of the organization as general director. Rescigno, formerly longtime artistic director and conductor for DCO, was named to the general directorship several months ago to replace the late Lawrence Kelly, founder of DCO in 1957, who died last September.

The top winners were Leanne Speed, Leigh Ann Runyan, Carrie Hall, Fuller French, Alison

Also set for presentation by DCO during its upcoming season are productions of Puccini's "Madama Butterfly" with Marina Krivovici in the title role; Donizetti's "Anna Bolena" with Renata Scotto, and Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde" which will feature Jon Vickers.

DCO 1975 season tickets have gone on sale at the opera offices, 505 N. Ervay St., Dallas 75201.

Rehearsals Begin For 'Wizard Of Oz'

ODESSA — Casting has been completed and rehearsals have begun for the Globe of the Great Southwest's next production of the season, a musical version of the beloved "The Wizard of Oz."

Stage after only a brief respite from their acting assignments in the Globe's season-opener, "West Side Story."

Performance dates are April 18, 19, 20, 25, 26 and 27. The Globe's production of this delightful musical fable, based on the Frank Baum "Oz" books, is designed for the young-heart of all ages, says Globe producer-director Charles D. McCally.

Diane Toomey, who won audiences of "West Side Story" with her portrayal of the fiery Anita, stars as Dorothy, the wistful little Kansas farm girl who, quite by accident, travels to a magical fantasyland over the rainbow. There she makes some charming and delightful friends who become her companions on the adventure-filled journey to the Emerald City to meet the great Wizard of Oz. Miss Toomey also is serving as the assistant choreographer for the production.

Several of the pivotal cast members in the new production will be returning to the Globe

Other pivotal cast assignments have gone to Ann Jordan as the Wicked Witch of the West, Rick Lancaster as the Scarecrow, Sid Williams as the Tin Woodsman, Dale Jenkins as the Cowardly Lion, Kitty Kern and Lucy Foreman alternating as the Good Witch of the North and Richard Miller as the Wizard of Oz himself.

SGH others in the cast include Tommie S. Cochran, Joe Durham, Richard Nichols, Bob Gibson, Hiram Flores, Craig Cooper, Norman Nelson, Sabrina Green, Diane Jordan, Steve Smiley, Cheryl Hodges, Dee Muela, Shelly Jacobs, Brett McCally and Jo Ann Gibson.

Backing these featured players will be a large cast of singers and dancers made up of Globe Academy students and talented townspeople.

Midland Letter Carrier Cited By Postal Service

Clifton Eugene Hewitt, a Midland letter carrier, has been cited in a recent U.S. Postal Service publication for having been commended by postal customers for courteous and efficient service and extra efforts to satisfy the needs of customers.

The citation was in the Southern Regional Bulletin, published at Memphis, Tenn.

Hewitt, assigned to the Graves Station, is a long-time Midland postal employee. His route extends into the northwest part of the city.

Midland Postmaster David Hoister said an individual carrier or clerk is seldom cited by the regional headquarters,

Easter Basket Grass Flammable

WASHINGTON (AP) — Artificial grass used to line Easter baskets poses a possible fire hazard and should be kept away from flames, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission cautions.

Most manufacturers have turned to slow-burning polypropylene for the synthetic grass, but consumers may not be able to tell whether the grass is made of highly flammable shredded cellophane and waxed paper instead, the commission said Friday.

TIA Board Votes To Pass Dividend

HOUSTON — Texas International Airlines' board of directors voted not to pay the 1975 cash dividend on Series A Preferred Stock totaling $206,250.

The board's decision was based on the adverse financial effects of the airline's recent strike, and the difficult post-strike recovery facing Texas International during 1975. In making their decision, the airline's directors also cited the carrier's need to preserve maximum cash levels for 1975 operations and debt repayment obligations.

Texas International flights have been halted since early December, when a strike by ground workers began. Tentative agreement on new contract terms was reached last week, and service resumption is now awaiting negotiation of satisfactory back-to-work agreements with each of the airline's five union groups and

Suspect Cleared By Fingerprints

DALLAS (AP) — A woman held in Maumee, Ohio, is not fugitive Liz Carmichael, sheriff's officers said Friday after comparing fingerprints of the two women.

Mrs. Carmichael is sought on fraud charges in connection with her Twentieth Century Motor Car Corp. promotion of Texas International flights what she called planned production here of a revolutionary December, when a strike by ground workers began. Tentative agreement on new contract terms was reached last week, and service resumption is now awaiting negotiation of satisfactory back-to-work agreements with each of the airline's five union groups and

Construction Total $4.9 Million

Thirty-three construction permits were issued by the city inspection department last week and new home construction took the major portion of a $674,300 weekly total.

Total permits issued this year by the inspection department amount to $4.6 million with more than $3.5 million of the overall total going toward new home construction.

Last week's home construction total amounted to $666,500 on the strength of 13 applications.

The permits were issued to Tom A. Mallan for two $40,000 homes to be located at 2509 and 2511 Maxwell St.

Midland Savings and Loan Association was issued five of the new home permits for single family units to be located in the 2400 block of Emerson Court. All of the homes range in construction costs from $37,000 to $41,000.

Permits for two $75,000 homes to be located at 1606 and 1608 Seaboard St. went to G. H. Lawless.

R & B Construction Company was issued a permit amounting to $50,000 in construction costs for a duplex unit to be located at 2321-23 Steta Lane.

A permit listing construction costs of $75,000 was issued to the Exeter Corporation for a new home to be located at 2511 Sinclair St.

Wayne Culp was issued a new home permit amounting to $35,000 for construction of a single family unit at 5303 Sinclair St.

A permit listing construction costs of $25,000 was issued to the National Building Center for a home to be located at 4301 W. Storey St.

One new commercial building permit was issued during the week amounting to $3,500 for a new warehouse facility in the 2000 block of the Garden City Highway. The commercial permit was issued to Tommy White.

Commercial alteration and repair permits amounted to $16,500 on the strength of three applications. Those permits went to Continental Bus Lines, 703 W. Wall St., $3,500 for interior remodeling; J. S. Flemming, 2030 W. Cuthbert St., $10,000 for remodeling of doctor's office; and Midland Trucking Company, south Midkiff Road, $3,000 for installation of two gasoline storage tanks.

One permit was issued during the week for a Federal Housing Administration project amounting to $1,800 for repairs to a home located at 1909 Jacotte Circle.

Residential alteration and repair permits issued during the week amounted to $39,000 on the strength of 15 applications.

Measure To Give Big Spring Land

AUSTIN — The Senate has passed a bill to permit the city of Big Spring to take over a 71-acre tract of land owned by the state hospital there.

The measure was passed on a local and uncontested calendar of bills and sent to the House.

Big Spring officials plan to use the tract for a softball park. If the land should be used for anything but recreational purposes, the bill provides that the property would revert to the state.

Hospital Supt. Preston Harrison testified earlier on the bill and said, "the land was just in excess to our needs. The bill will allow patients to go to games on the park and use the baseball diamonds."

Permian Basin OIL & GAS LOG

Adobe Completes Gas Producer in Andrews Sector

Adobe Oil Co. No. 120 University, assumed fifth Yates gas producer and 1/4-mile northeast extension to that pay in the south side of the Block 12 field of Andrews County, was still testing at last report.

On the latest flow gauge, it recovered 1.6 million cubic feet of gas per day, through a 12-64-inch choke and perforations at 2,839-2,845 feet.

The test spots 1,960 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 26, block 12, ULS, 18 miles west of Andrews.

DST Under Way At Lea Explorer

NRM Petroleum Corp., operating out of Midland, was running logs, in preparation to take a drillstem test at its No. 1-4 State, scheduled 8,500-foot Lea County wildcat.

On a 170-minute drillstem test from 6,030-6,220 feet, it recovered 50 feet of oil and 250 feet of heavily oil-cut drilling fluid.

Sample chamber recovery was 800 cubic centimeters of oil and 200 cubic centimeters of oil-cut drilling fluid.

Project site is 860 feet from south and 990 feet from east lines of section 4-17a-30e, five miles south of Lovington.

West Texas Areas Gain Three Testers

Three West Texas counties gained wildcat sites.

Charles B. Renaud, operating out of Midland, staked No. 1 Viola, a 5,200-foot wildcat, 1/2-mile southeast of Canyon production in the Pecan Station field, of Tom Green County.

It is also 1 1/4 mile southeast of the depleted Strawn line opener and lone producer in the field.

Located 10 miles south of San Angelo, it spots 660 feet from south and east lines of section 7, block 25, H&TC survey.

Barnals Tests
The Barnals County venture is W. Boone Goode, Dallas, No. 1 Irene Kahlig, et al. It is 1 1/2 mile southwest of the H & B-Hovarrack (upper Cappa) gas field, which produces at 3,540 feet.

It is also a west offset to a scheduled 4,300-foot wildcat.

Slated to 4,500 feet, it spots 3,300 feet from north and 600 feet from east lines of F. Scholer survey 141, abstract 428, six miles south of Ballinger.

The 4,300-foot venture, Geo-Tech Petroleum Management Corp. No. 1 E. Block, et al. is still a location.

Cancho Explorer
North American Exploration Co. has filed an application, with the Texas Railroad Commission, to drill No. 1 Tom Gentry, as a 4,000-foot probe, 12 miles northwest of Eden, in Cancho County.

Drillite is 1,960 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 2, block 4, H&TC survey.

Oilers Complete In Runnels Pool

The Briley, Southeast field of Runnels County gained two Dog Bend producers, with the recompletion of two former lower Gardner producers by C. B. Edgar, Abilene.

The No. 2 E. B. Ranch, second and a 1/4-mile northeast extension, was finished pumping 20 barrels of oil per day, gravity not reported, plus 10 barrels of water. Gas-oil ratio measured 2,000-1.

Production was through perforations at 3,788-3,798 feet, which had been washed with 250 gallons of mud acid, and fractured with 10,000 gallons and 10,000 pounds.

Wellite is 1,820 feet from south and 5,384 feet from west lines of J. T. Hardeman survey 267, eight miles northeast of Winters.

Also eight miles northeast of Winters, the No. 3 W. J. Yates, third producer and 1/4-mile east extension, was completed on the pump for 10 barrels of oil and four barrels of water, daily.

Gravity of the oil was not reported. (Continued On Page 2B)

Midlander On Program For Tech Short Course

LUBBOCK — Geology, computer technology, chemistry and engineering applications to the problems of lifting petroleum from the ground will highlight the 22nd annual Southwestern Petroleum Short Course at Texas Tech University April 17-18.

More than 350 members of the petroleum industry are expected for the two-day short course sponsored by Tech's Department of Petroleum Engineering.

Some 45 technical and general interest presentations are scheduled during the short course, according to Program Chairman Jim W. Culp, administrative assistant, TUCO, Inc., fuel subsidiary of Southwest Public Service Co., Amarillo.

Presentations are scheduled in seven categories including Drilling and Well Completions; Stimulation and Workovers; Well Logging; Reservoir Operations; Artificial Lift; Production Handling and General Interest.

Registration for the course will begin at 8 a.m. April 17 in the Texas Tech University Center. Presentations will begin at 10:05 a.m. on several topics concurrently in the Electrical Engineering; Petroleum Engineering; Civil and Mechanical Engineering; and several temporary buildings on the campus.

Bob Smith Lewis of Big Spring, is scheduled as luncheon speaker April 17. His topic will be "Tumbleweed Smith's Tales of the Oil Patch."

Concurrent sessions will be held throughout the day April 18 beginning at 9:15 a.m. Warren Quinlan, president, Warren Quinlan Associates, Midland, will speak on "Triple Threat Communication" at the Friday luncheon.

The annual meeting was begun in 1963 at the West Texas Oil Lifting Short Course. As the program grew and the depth and scope of the technical content of the course increased, its name was changed to Southwestern Petroleum Short Course.

Proceedings of the course are

New Amoco Head To Begin Duties

BROWNFIELD — James N. Newton will become area administrative supervisor for Amoco Production Co.'s office in Brownfield, Monday.

He replaces Richard G. Tucker, whose retirement was announced recently.

Newton is a native of Baird and joined Amoco as a roustabout near Longview in 1951. Later than year he was named staff assistant for Amoco in its Andrews office, and in 1964 he moved to Midland as senior staff assistant. He was transferred to Brownfield as assistant administrative supervisor in 1968.

He is secretary-treasurer of the South Plains chapter of the American Petroleum Institute.

Ramsey Promoted By Gulf Oil-U.S.

HOUSTON — Lewis A. Ramsey, former president of Mene Grande Oil Co. of Venezuela, has been named an executive vice president of Gulf Oil Co.-U.S. He succeeds Eugene Hordorf, formerly of Midland, who retires May 1.

A 1950 petroleum engineering graduate from the University of Texas, Ramsey joined Gulf in 1962 as a drilling engineer with Mene Grande, the company's principal Latin American subsidiary.

Ramsey has served in management positions with Gulf Oil Co.-Latin America in Bolivia and with Gulf Oil Co.-Eastern Hemisphere in London. He was president of Iberian Gulf Oil Co. in Madrid, then served briefly as staff adviser for Gulf Oil Corp. at Pittsburgh before becoming president of Mene Grande in 1972.

Ramsey is a member of the North American Association of Venezuela and the American Chamber of Venezuela.

Oilmen Label Repeal Of Depletion Serious Blow To Capital Structure

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP) — Oilmen say repeal of the 22 per cent depletion tax allowance would be a serious blow to the capital structure of the industry.

Some companies already have reduced their 1973 budgets and others say the loss of depletion would certainly mean curtailment of exploration and development programs.

In his annual financial report to stockholders, Maurice F. Granville, Texaco Inc. board chairman, said a planned $2.1 billion budget for 1973 capital and exploratory expenditures has been reduced to $1.8 billion.

"Actions by governments throughout the world to increase taxes and cradle oil costs are adversely affecting the company's ability to generate capital and have caused these reductions in planned investments," Granville said.

"Even this reduced level of investment will require substantial outside financing, and any further erosion of profit margins by the imposition of additional foreign or domestic taxes or for other reasons would require even greater U.S. production," Liedtke said.

"The loss of depletion will be such a serious blow to the capital structure of the industry that any additional tax would make it very difficult for us to perform the job that we all want to do."

Liedtke views percentage depletion as a special form of investment credit designed to increase supplies of oil and gas. "If the depletion allowance requires revision to make it more effective and equitable, such revisions should be made rather than to eliminate this credit altogether," he said.

Z. D. Bonner, president of Gulf Oil Co.-U.S., says repeal of depletion could reduce by 20 per cent Gulf's planned $600 million budget for domestic oil and gas exploration and development.

"The reduction in profit and thus in spending will virtually eliminate any possibility of energy independence," Bonner said.

Harry Bridges, president of Shell Oil Co., said the industry needs adequate incentives to support the level of capital development.

Trinidad Guides Oil Distribution

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP) — The government took over distribution of gasoline to government agencies today as a strike went into its second week at the U.S.-owned Texaco oil refinery.

Prime Minister Eric Williams met Friday with cabinet officials and the national security council and ordered a takeover of oil distribution and storage facilities at the Texaco complex to insure deliveries for essential services.

Police, defense forces and hospitals were to get the first deliveries of gasoline.

Offices and schools are closing early since public transportation has been reduced. Long lines of cars are parked at gasoline stations waiting for the next deliveries. About 90 per cent of the island's gas stations are closed.

Residents report that a gallon of gas which normally costs 45 cents is going for $4 on the black market.

A tax department official said the strike has cost the island economy more than $30 million.

WASHINGTON OIL— Depletion Far From Settlement On Capitol Hill

By CLYDE LA MOTTE
Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent
WASHINGTON — The fate of percentage depletion is still hanging in the balance. The outcome will not be determined until Senate and House conferees iron out the differences in the over-all tax bill to which the depletion issue has been attached.

There is no question that the long-standing percentage depletion provision will be ended for the major oil companies, but what remains to be determined is whether the independent producer will be exempt from the death decree and what strings will be tied to any such exemption.

The prospect at week's end was that even the independent is not going to fare very well.

The best he apparently can hope for at this stage is that the exemption will apply to 2,000 barrels a day of crude oil production and 12 million cubic feet of natural gas production.

Plowback Provision Likely
Furthermore, there likely will be a plowback provision that in some instances could reduce the actual tax benefit of 22 per cent of gross income on those 2,000 barrels to far less than that amount.

Because the application of the 22 per cent of gross income is restricted to 50 per cent of net-income, the plowback could reduce the gross to the extent that the net limitation would come into play, thereby reducing the 22 percentage figure.

This latest Senate version, adopted late Thursday, was a blow to independent producers because it was far less than an earlier amendment proposed by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen (D-Tex.).

The Bentsen plan would continue percentage depletion for production of up to 3,000 barrels daily of crude oil and 18 million cubic feet of natural gas — that is, the producer could apply depletion to both.

However, even though the amendment was approved at one point, it later got unstuck.

'Clean' Bill Passed
This came about when Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) alarmed that the basic tax cut bill was being dressed up like a Christmas tree with all sorts of amendments, proposed a "clean" bill covering only the tax reductions. All other amendments, including treatment of percentage depletion, would have been eliminated.

However, as soon as the (Continued On Page 2B)

Seltzer Opens Landman's Office

Bill "Bro" Seltzer recently opened his office as an independent landman at 506 Petroleum Building offering consultation in all phases of oil properties.

Previously, Seltzer was associated with Perry R. Bass Inc., having 24 years land experience in the West Texas — New Mexico area.

He is a graduate of Texas Christian University and Southern Methodist University School of Law. Seltzer is a member of American Association of Petroleum Landmen, Permian Basin Landmen's Association and the New Mexico Landmen's Association.

Area Landmen To Meet Tuesday

The Permian Basin Landmen's Association will meet Tuesday at Midland Country Club.

A social hour will begin at 6:30 p.m. with dinner and the program slated for 7:30 p.m.

R. B. "Buddy" Hyde, president of Oilfield Products Division of Dresser Industries, Inc., will be the speaker. His subject will be "The Other Crisis."

Permian Basin Rig Count Stands At 252 For Week

The rig count for the Permian Basin Empire of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico decreased slightly last week. According to Reed Drilling Equipment's weekly survey, the count for last week was 252 units.

Although a decrease of 11 active rigs from the count for two weeks ago, it is an increase of seven units over the 245 reported in a comparable week last year.

Eddy County, N.M., is still leading in the rig count, with 23 active rotaries; Pecos County is second with 22 and Lea County, N.M., has reported 21 rigs working in that area.

Hearing Slated On Gas Priority

WASHINGTON (AP) — A scale, in keeping with an FPC decision, That decision reduced natural gas for irrigation from a "non-interruptible essential" classification to "interruptible industrial."

The FPC also told El Paso not to curtail delivery of gas to irrigators until the hearing process and appeals process are completed.

U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici, R-N.M., said the FPC action Friday was "a victory."

"They are finally going to take a look at what the ruling means to farmers," Domenici said.

The FPC also said it would defer a decision on a petition by Las Cruces to receive more gas until El Paso files tariff information as ordered Dec. 19.

Las Cruces had been given a limited volume of natural gas, and had to impose a moratorium on new gas hookups, even for residences.

The city also had filed a separate petition challenging the FPC decision on irrigation gas priority, along with a variety of farmer and rancher groups.

Washington Oil—

Mangfield proposal had been passed overwhelmingly, the senators then went right back to offering amendments again.

One of the amendments was to provide an exemption for up to 1,000 barrels a day of crude oil and 6 million cubic feet of gas. Bentsen came back with his original amendment, but it was voted down. Then the compromise of 2,000 barrels a day was approved.

All of this was a part of a flood of parliamentary and other maneuvers that made the Senate floor resemble a performance of Barnum and Bailey Circus, currently also playing in town.

A "liberal" faction of the Senate, headed by Sen. Ernest Hollings (D-S.C.) and Sen. Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.) stressed the amount of profits oilmen are making, especially as a result of the big jump in the price of oil.

Production Issue Downplayed. Not much was said about what course would most likely increase domestic energy production, although some senators tried.

For example, Sen. Carl Curtis (R-Nebr.) had this to say: "Now, we have done some queer (things here on the floor. Does anybody contend that what has been done here will increase the production of oil and gas? Is that not our first objective?"

"Are we to go on headed for a 50 per cent dependence upon other countries for energy, the thing that makes our economy go?"

Curtis said at another point that he was not worried about the oilmen but the consumers.

"They (oilmen) are pretty sharp operators," he said. "They can get out of the oil business and go into something else. But I am concerned about the farmers in Nebraska who cannot get enough fertilizer because we are short of natural gas. I am concerned about the security of our country. . . . Our first objective should be production of more gas and oil."

Trend Criticized
Sen. Dewey Bartlett (R-Okla.) said the Senate is concentrating so hard on hitting the petroleum industry with more taxes it is losing sight of its responsibility for seeing that the nation has adequate energy supplies.

"I think it is important that we face up to the American people and say that this body has done next to nothing to increase the production of natural resources in this country in the last two years plus that I have been in the Senate—the American people want energy sufficiency and the American people are willing to pay for it."

Sen. John Tower (R-Tex.) charged that senators advocating an end to percentage depletion will not stop there but will advocate other legislation aimed at the petroleum industry. He cited as an example a move to extend the regulatory powers of the Federal Power Commission (FPC) to include intrastate gas as well as interstate gas.

Furthermore, Tower said, there are efforts to bring "new" crude oil prices under federal control. ("Old" crude is already under a price ceiling.)

The theme of Kennedy and other depletion foes was that price is all the incentive that the oil industry needs and that even the small independents never had it so good before.

So went the depletion battle in the Senate in Washington last week.

Erskine Leasing Offers Rebate On Lease Cars

Erskine Motor Leasing Co., 223 E. Illinois St., has announced that on all cars which they purchase for lease to customers, any rebate from factory will be passed on to Erskine's lease customers.

In a recent survey by Automotive Fleet it was found that intermediate, compact and middle priced car sizes showed a gain in preference by leasers while low priced cars dropped 10 per cent in popularity with high priced cars down by one percent.

More and more people are finding that leasing is neither difficult nor sophisticated. It is simply another way to get the car of your choice and, for many people, it is the more convenient way. Also, by leasing, a person can project the total car expenses for the next two years and keep accurate tax records at the same time. Leasing gives all the advantages of ownership, without the responsibilities.

Over a half million people leased their new cars in 1974, according to Stanley M. Erskine, owner of Erskine Motor Leasing. Of all the people in the market for a new car this year, over 500,000 of them won't buy. They'll lease instead. Is this year your year to lease, too? No matter what make of Witnesses said they heard the roar of the explosion and then saw an immense column of flame light up the sky. The Salamanca fire brigade brought the fire under control in an hour.

A spokesman for Pemex, the government oil monopoly, said the amount of damage and the cause of the blast were still unknown. He said work will be halted for two weeks at the factories which produce paraffin and automobile lubricants.

reported. Gas-oil ratio was 1,900-1.

It was finished through perforations at 3,720-3,728 feet, after the section had been washed with 250 gallons of mud acid, and fractured with 10,000 gallons and 10,000 pounds.

It is 500 feet from south and 5,555 feet from west lines of T. J. Hardman survey 267.

The Dog Bend owner, Edgar No. 1 Yates, was completed in 1967, for 77 barrels of oil per day, through a 15-64-inch choke and perforations at 3,837-3,942 feet.

Goen Discovery Takes Potential

Rumels County gained a Goen oil discovery, with the completion of No. 1 J. P. Davidson by WLK Properties, Inc., of Midland.

It is ¼ mile south of the one-well Paul Thomas (Goen) field and ¼ mile northwest of the Fennell multiphase field.

On a 24-hour potential test, it flowed 60 barrels of 40.1 gravity oil, no water, per day, with gas-oil ratio measuring 340-1.

Completion was through a 10-64-inch choke and open hole section at 4,413-4,417 feet.

On ground elevation of 1,956 feet, the following tops were picked: Valera, 1,367; Saddle Creek lime, 2,607; King sand, 2,984; Reef, 3,000; Palo Pinto, 3,944 and Goen, 4,413 feet.

Separated from the two fields by failures, it spots 467 feet from south and east lines of B. M. Walker survey 401, five miles west of Winters. Operator has suggested field designation of J.P.D.

Crockett Well Third In Field

Thomas & Kidd Oil Production Co., Denver City, has completed No. 7 Joe Bean, a third San Andres gas producer and a location south extension to that pay, in the Donham multiphase field of Crockett County.

Calculated, absolute open flow was 1.210 million cubic feet of gas per day.

Production was natural from open hole at 1,200 feet, where 4½-inch casing was set, and 1,213 feet, total depth.

Production site is 2,650 feet from north and 1,900 feet from east lines of section 48, block UV, GC&SF survey, 14 miles northwest of Ozona.

Bradley's Condition Critical
 LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gen. Omar N. Bradley, the nation's highest ranking military officer, remains in critical condition, but his condition continues to improve, an Army spokesman says.
 The 83-year-old five-star general suffered a stroke Monday.

State Pushing Probe Of Denver City Deaths

AUSTIN BUREAU
 AUSTIN — Railroad Commissioner Mack Wallace says that "top priority" has been put on getting a staff report on what happened at Denver City to cause a leak of hydrogen sulfide gas which resulted in the death of nine people.
 Wallace said decisions on whether to request legal action by the attorney general against Atlantic Richfield Co. (ARCO) won't be made until after the report is submitted. The legal action would involve a penalty for allowing the leak.
 The deaths occurred on Feb. 5, and the Texas Air Control Board (ACB) was presented a report Feb. 21 from its staff on what happened. Bill Stewart, deputy director of the ACB, has testified at a Railroad Commission hearing that a violation of State air pollution laws occurred at Denver City.
 Cecil Bradford, director of the ACB Compliance Section, says he will recommend that a suit be filed against ARCO for violation of the state's pollution laws.

The recommendation has to go to the legal division of the Air Control Board, then to Stewart and finally to Board executive director Charles Burden.
 If Bradford requests suit, the matter will be given to Atty. Gen. John Hill. Bradford says it takes some time to prepare the paperwork for his recommendation to be made to the legal division.
 The Federal Occupational Health and Safety Administration already has levied a fine against ARCO, for failure to have proper monitoring devices in the buildings where the people were killed. The fine was $1,100.
 Commissioner Wallace said he doesn't know when the Railroad Commission report on the disaster will be completed "but I'm not thinking in terms of weeks," indicating he wants it in days, at the most.

MC To Occupy Learning Resource Center Monday

Midland College will have moved another milestone in its relatively brief history when Monday it begins moving into its Learning Resource Center.
 The center, which features multi-media library facilities on the first floor and classroom areas on the second, is located at the center of the college campus.
 Dr. David Norton, assistant to the Midland College president, said Saturday equipment for both the library and classrooms will be involved in the move.
 The school's previous library is located on the old campus, 4007 Andrews Highway, in an inconspicuous area universally referred to as "the pit."
 The new Learning Resource Center offers a sharp contrast to "the pit" both in its scope

Haldeman Wants All Tapes Made Public

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
NEW YORK (AP) — The Watergate tapes should have been destroyed once it appeared that Richard M. Nixon could not keep them private, says former White House chief of staff H. R. Haldeman. But now, he believes, the rest of the White House tapes should be made public.
 In a paid-for interview to be telecast by CBS today, Haldeman said that while the Watergate scandal was unfolding he recommended the tapes should be kept because he thought they would aid Nixon in knowing what had been said in his office.
Enormous Damage
 "I never, stupidly, did really think the thing through to the point of realizing... the enormous damage that would be done to me and to Richard Nixon," he said.
 "I should have realized that, as a practical matter, that the release of the tapes was not good. And when it got to the point of having to release them, or of having even to consider the possibility of releasing them, they should have been, in my opinion now, should have been destroyed."
 The tell-tale recordings eventually were instrumental in unseating Nixon and in Haldeman's conviction on cover-up charges.
Disastrous Thing
 "Morally, I would say that given what we now know, and what's happened, it was a disastrous thing to have done," Haldeman said of the taping system. But he insisted that use of the system was Nixon's idea, contrary to a statement recently attributed to Mrs. Nixon, who is said to have blamed Haldeman.
 "He wanted them for the purpose of recording and preserving for his use, his personal use, all of what was said by him and by others," Haldeman told interviewer Mike Wallace.
 "That's the only reason?" Wallace asked.
 "That is absolutely the only reason."
Halt Never Ordered
 "Did he ever say, 'Bob, get rid of them?'" Wallace asked.
 "No, he didn't."
 Haldeman said, "I was not told either to stop the taping or to destroy the tapes at any time. Had I been told to do so and had failed to do so, that failure could easily have been remedied."
 He resigned as White House chief of staff on April 30, 1973, after John W. Dean III and Jeb Stuart Magruder went to prosecutors with details of the cover-up. At that time only Haldeman and a handful of other White House people knew there was an automatic recording system. That fact was made public in July 1973 at the Senate Watergate hearings.
 Later in the interview, Haldeman said, "If I were asked today, and if Nixon or anybody who asked me had the option to do it, should the tapes now be destroyed? My answer would be absolutely not."
 He reason: "We have not heard one-tenth of one-thousandth of 1 per cent of the tapes and they're pretty bad. I would like to have the other 99.99 per cent of the tapes available...

 "There are areas in those tapes that would be enormously valuable to the American people to have... to know the great things that Richard Nixon did, the great, strong, incisive and decisive leader that he was 90 per cent of the time."
 Haldeman was interviewed by Wallace at his home in the fashionable Hancock Park section of Los Angeles on March 4 and March 5. The interview took more than 6½ hours and was cut to one-hour showings for today and March 30.
 CBS admits it paid for the interview but won't say how much.

Slaughter Named Waddell Manager
George W. Slaughter
FORT WORTH — George W. Slaughter has joined Southland Royalty Co. as manager of Waddell Properties. The post is a newly-created position.
 Southland Executive Vice President Alton Goodrich said Slaughter's responsibility will be to head up and supervise Southland's Midland Waddell Group in all activities relating to the company's interests in the Waddell, Goldsmith and Keystone leases in Crane, Ector and Winkler counties. The leases will revert to Southland in July and August 1975.
 Goodrich, in announcing Slaughter's appointment emphasized the importance of the Waddell producing properties to Southland Royalty Company and Southland's intent to assure optimum economic performance and to assure maximum monetary contribution to Southland's stockholders.
 Slaughter began his oil-industry career with Texaco Inc. after receiving his B.S. degree in petroleum engineering from Texas Tech University in June 1966. His 18 years' experience with and service to Texaco has spanned varied and responsible engineering, drilling and production supervisory assignments. He resides with his wife and two children at 2814 Auburn in Midland.

Bernadette Back In Irish Politics With New Beliefs

By COLIN FROST
BELFAST (AP) — Bernadette McAliskey is back in politics with a new struggle and a new set of beliefs.
 Six years ago, as Bernadette Devlin, she became the youngest woman ever to sit in the British Parliament, elected after leading Catholic civil rights marchers to the barricades against the Ulster government.
 She lost her seat in 1974, and since then she has been reorganizing her political beliefs, and raising her 3-year-old daughter, born before her marriage to schoolteacher Michael McAliskey.

New Party Formed
 Fifteen weeks ago she formed the Irish Republican Socialist Party with Seamus Costello, who had been expelled from the "Official" Marxist Irish Republican Army. Now Mrs. McAliskey's new party and the "Officials" are in hot dispute over the future course of troubled Northern Ireland.

Mrs. McAliskey said she fears that she might be harmed.
 Despite these fears, she cheerfully brewed coffee during an interview in the kitchen of her cottage home at Derryloghan, a sprawling County Tyrone village of the kind the Irish call a townland.

The house stands at the end of a dirt road composed largely of potholes. Concrete blocks form stepping stones to the door.
 Mrs. McAliskey is 26 now but physically the same pocket dynamo who emerged from student politics to international headlines. Only her ideas have changed, she explained.

The blazing row with the "Officials" is basically a row between Stalinism and Trotskyism, she said. Her Irish Republican Socialist Party is on the Trotskyite side.

'Officials' Rapped
 This is the first time she has totally identified herself with one political group. Previously she was a political freelance, speaking on the political platforms of both the "Official" leftist and the "Provisional" nationalist versions of the IRA. She ran for Parliament as an independent.

She said she supports the "anti-imperialist" struggle of the "Provisionals" against the British Army — a struggle in abeyance since the Feb. 10 ceasefire.

But the Provos, she insisted, are politically bankrupt and devoid of ideas as to what to do once the British leave Northern Ireland.

The "Officials" she accused of abandoning all struggle. They have observed a ceasefire since May 1972, believing that armed anti-British action is counterproductive.

Four years ago she was calling herself a Marxist while admitting she had never read Marx. The deficiency has been remedied with surprising results.

"Karl Marx as an individual," she said, "was a bad-mannered pig. I can't stand self-styled Marxists who think they have to accept not just his ideas but imitate his arrogance and lack of patience."
 "Marx is not God. Intellectuals who preach his theses have never tried them out on the ground or at the factory gate. The task is to relate his analysis to what's happening now."

Flexibility is her new watchword.
 "I started out from a liberal position, demonstrating and agitating for reform," she said. "But I discovered the system was incapable of reform. I had to look elsewhere, to read and learn. I may change again. People who never change their politics are either fools or some kind of robot."
 She has a similar attitude toward her religion.

Religious Beliefs Changed
 She would no longer call herself a good Roman Catholic — "But traditions are born in us and given us by history, and religious persecution is part of our history."
 "Overall I am not an atheist. I'm not prepared to say there is no God. But I do say that the Church propagates a lot of nonsense, like the sacred nature of property, in its acquiescence in law and order, its opposition to the struggle of the present generation."

Some estimates have put the strength of Mrs. McAliskey's new party at around 700. She believes 300 would be nearer the mark but says she's not worried by numbers. Discipline and political awareness are more important than size, she said.

She looked back over six years to the idealism of the civil rights movement and its fight against the now officially admitted injustices against Roman Catholics in Northern Ireland.
 With more than 1,150 dead, has it been worth it?

"Yes," she said. "Some people accused the civil rights movement of moving too fast. Some said it went too slow."
Injustices Cited
 "But the injustices were there. The side effects, the shootings and bombings, would have been the same whichever way we played it."

"The idealism is still there, too. People talk about war weariness. But that's a concept I don't believe in. Some will go on fighting."
 Her instructions for returning by car to Belfast had an Irish flavor: "Get back to the bottom of the road and there's a signpost for Portadown. That's the road to Belfast. The signpost points the wrong way."

Ad Agency Will Continue To Promote Army Recruiting

By RICHARD PYLE
WASHINGTON (AP) — An advertising agency whose previous contract award is under investigation will continue to promote the Army's recruitment program.

Army officials disclosed Friday that it had chosen N.W. Ayer AHB International of New York over three other agencies for a new $40 million contract for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Ayer had held the contract on a yearly renewal basis since 1972 until last fall when the Army, motivated primarily by controversy over alleged contract award improprieties involving senior Pentagon officials, opened it to bidders.

Some observers had expected the new contract would not be assigned until after the Justice Department's criminal division ended its probe into charges that were first raised by Army Criminal Investigation Division investigators nearly a year ago.

A Justice Department spokesman said Friday that all but one aspect of its inquiry has been closed, with "nothing found that was prosecutable." He refused to say what portion of the case remains under investigation.

The Army investigators discovered what they regarded as evidence of possible criminal misconduct, including wrongful influence by top officials, in connection with the 1972 recruitment promotion contract.

They said that "certain unusual relationships" among the individuals should be investigated further. The case subsequently was referred to the Justice Department.

Individuals named in the investigation division's report included former Secretary of the Army Robert F. Froehke, William H. Kraus, an insurance business associate who was a member of the contract selection board; Ayer board chairman Neal W. O'Connor and others. All have repeatedly denied there was any impropriety in the award.

Friday's announcement at the Pentagon triggered a celebration in the New York offices of the Ayer company, for whom the recruitment promotion contract is the largest single account, according to senior Vice President Thomas Maxey. Employees decorated their desks with small American flags in what Maxey said was "a symbol of the way we feel."

The other three agencies in the competition were Ogilvy & Mather, and Needham, Harper & Steers.

GREATER SAVINGS PLAN

The Greater Savings Plan is designed to permit you to take full advantage of the higher interest rates available with longer term deposits. The minimum deposit required is $25 and add-on deposits may be made in any amount of $25 or more.

There are THREE Greater Savings Accounts available to you under the Greater Savings Plan at Midland National; you've only to choose the one that suits your needs.

Savers who follow interest rates know a good deal when they see one, and this is one. It pays 5 1/2% for savings left on deposit for 90 days. Just tell us in advance that each deposit will stay in the bank for 90 days or longer. You may deposit as little as $25 each time.

Monthly Deposit	1	2	3	4	5	6	7

It's easy to see that you earn higher interest the longer you save at Midland National. For example, your savings can earn 6% in this plan if you simply tell us in advance that each deposit will stay with us for one year or longer. Your initial deposit and add-on deposits may be as little as $25 and still qualify for this higher rate.

Monthly Deposit	1	2	3	4	5	6	7

INTEREST COMPOUNDED/PAID DAILY. Interest is compounded daily and paid daily. You'll probably want to let your interest pile up, but if you prefer, we'll be glad to mail your interest check quarterly on March 31, June 30, September 30 and December 31.

WITHDRAWALS. Federal law and regulation prohibit the payment of a time deposit prior to maturity unless three months of the interest thereon is forfeited and interest on the amount withdrawn is reduced to the regular savings rate.

YOUR FUNDS ARE INSURED. Like all deposits at the Midland National Bank, each Greater Savings Plan account is insured up to $40,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

AUTOMATIC TRANSFER. To help you start a regular savings habit, just tell us how much you wish to save and we'll automatically transfer that amount each month from your MNB checking account to your Greater Savings Account.

WHAT YOU CAN ACCOMPLISH. No savings plan ever got off the ground without a start, and you can't expect to save a bundle overnight. Patience and persistence are the key. Refer to the interest charts and see what you can do starting now, with a consistent savings program.

Man Endangering Wild Flowers

THE MIDLAND REPORTER-TELEGRAM, SUN., MARCH 22, 1975 - 31

By JOHN BARBOUR
Now, man's shadow falls upon the wild flowers.

In the 50 states, nearly 3,000 kinds of native higher plants are endangered, threatened or recently extinct, over 14 percent of the nation's floral heritage.

This is the sum of a report to Congress by the Smithsonian Institution's National Museum of Natural History.

About a third of the plants on the critical or dead list are on the islands of Hawaii — nearly 30 percent of that state's native flora.

The rest are isolated in small island islands of the continental United States, locked in by quirks of nature, while man's heavy feet and his penchant for precious blooms are not locked out.

'Other Illinois'
One such island is southern Illinois, short of where the glaciers that wiped out thousands of plants stopped their southern invasion. They call it "the other Illinois" because it is more like the southern coastal states than it is the cornbelt and industry to the north. They grow cotton there. And the bald cypress endures.

There is a flower that grows in southern Illinois, called French's shooting star. It is a small plant, nestling under sandstone ledges, pretty little pink flowers looping out of the green heart, accustomed over the centuries to the shadows of crack and crevice. Its existence is threatened.

The common shooting star, a larger cousin, grows nearby, in the sunlight, sometimes only feet away from its fragile relative. It grows in many places and in proliferation.

Only In Recesses
Yet the delicate flowers of French's are seen only in the cave-like recesses of this part of Illinois and similar habitats in Arkansas and Kentucky. Something happened to it long ago to limit its living capabilities to these conditions. It even has a different number of chromosomes from the common shooting star.

"It's in the primrose family," explains Dr. Robert A. DeFilippis, coordinator of the Smithsonian study. "It has a nice little pink flower and people collect it."

The road to extinction is paved with ignorance, avarice, and sometimes only the conflict between man's domesticated useful world and the not-so-useful world of the wild flower. A field is plowed to grow tomatoes in Florida and wild plants die. Collectors dig up delicate orchids and bizarre plants and the world of the wild is diminished.

The Smithsonian is recommending that these special areas where plants live in the wild be preserved, and urging that the thriving business of hunting and selling orchids and cacti be curtailed.

It is hard to believe, but some people are willing to pay up to $500 for some rare species of cactus. A more common price is $25, and they are dug up and shipped by the truckloads, threatening their survival. The very people who treasure these remarkable creations of nature are helping decimate them.

To aid efforts of preservation, the Smithsonian intends to back up its list with maps, locating the small islands of living plants. It even does that with some trepidation. "We hesitate to publish maps," explains DeFilippis, "because while it alerts people to the fact that plants are endangered in a given area, it also flags them to certain other people who might hunt them out. Many plants die, even when they are uprooted with care. Roots are broken and in some permit the entry of fungal infections."

Maps Locked Up
In Great Britain where conservationists have long ago bought out endangered species of plant life and earmarked them for protection, location maps are actually locked away in a safe.

The Smithsonian study, aided by state studies, shows a number of things about green America. For instance, California, Texas, Florida and to some extent the Appalachian Mountains have the greatest number of native plants of the restricted and rare variety. Also, in four states — Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana — DeFilippis says very little is known about local flora and there is much survey work to be done.

Yet these four states have some of the richest vegetation in the United States. Georgia was home for the Franklinitia alabamica, which was first recorded in 1790, and was last seen in the wild in 1803. It grew along the Alabama River, a member of the Camellia family, with fragrant white flowers and dark green leaves. Extinct in the wild, it is preserved by horticulturists. In fact, three of the shrubs grow in front of the Smithsonian's natural history building on Constitution Avenue in Washington.

Again, its own beauty was the reason for its demise. It was overcollected to grace the gardens of early America as far north as Philadelphia. Today it graces a U.S. postage stamp.

It is only one of the some 365 plant species listed as extinct. The Smithsonian lists contain the names of 20 species of orchid and large numbers of cacti. These are the most prominent of the plants falling before the shoehorn of collectors. They are more than an American heritage. They are a world heritage.

Cacti, for instance, grow only on this hemisphere, in the deserts of the West, Mexico and South America. There are other deserts of the world. But no other cacti. In Africa, nature imitated the cactus, creating succulent plants that look like them. But they are members of the spurge family, descended oddly from the same line that brought forth the poinsettia.

It is not an idle concern either. Each plant, like each living creature, represents a certain collection of genes, devised by evolution in an attempt to answer the severe questions asked by nature. In a sense, every living thing is an on-going experiment.

All together, they represent the pool of genes that belong to earth.

As S. Dillon Ripley, secretary of the Smithsonian, observes: "All animals are dependent on plants for food and survival. Once a species of plant is extinct, the potential contained in that gene or gene pool is lost forever."

But beyond, there are esthetic considerations, for beauty, too, can also be lost forever. And as the world fills up with men and the works of men, there are few havens left where "full many a flower is born to blush unseen, and waste its sweetness on the desert air."

Man must be careful where he walks.

Government Ends Ethiopia Monarchy

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — The leftist military government has abolished Ethiopia's 3,000-year-old monarchy, which began with the Queen of Sheba and ended with 82-year-old Emperor Haile Selassie.

Selassie was deposed Sept. 12 and his eldest son, Asfa Wossen, 58, was named crown prince.

But the government said in a brief statement broadcast Friday that Wossen's appointment has been annulled and all royal ranks abolished.

The ruling military advisory council promised Ethiopians they will soon be given the opportunity to select their own form of government and to elect a new head of state, but the council provided no details.

Selassie, who reigned for 30 years, has been under house arrest in the royal palace since the coup. He apparently is in good health but experiences mental confusion at times, Western sources report.

Once an old-fashioned, absolute ruler of a backward, obscure African nation, Selassie fell to young military officers who toppled him in a slow-motion coup that took about six months.

As they drove him from his splendid palace to a military barracks, subjects who had grown up worshipping him lined the streets to jeer, shout curses and throw stones.

Selassie's decline in popular esteem has been attributed in part to his public indifference to widespread suffering by his subjects. His land was bypassed by the modernization that spread through the rest of Africa.

In early 1974, after several years of drought killed at least 100,000 Ethiopians, military leaders trained in the United States began agitating for better pay, and later for a new government.

They arrested many of Selassie's court and held mass executions of former officials.

The new military rulers began propaganda campaigns against the ousted emperor as an exploiter of his countrymen.

Patrick's Kin Wasn't Invited

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Patrick Henry's great-great-grandson wasn't invited to the 200th anniversary observance of his ancestor's famed "liberty or death" speech.

Since he hasn't been invited to watch the by-invitation-only re-enactment of the speech at St. John's Church Sunday, James Marshall Henry III says he'll pay $1 to attend a re-enactment later the same day at the Richmond Coliseum.

Henry says he didn't ask for an invitation to the 30-seat church where Patrick Henry asked for "liberty or death" on March 23, 1775, and a spokesman for the sponsoring Richmond Independence Bicentennial Commission said "there was no conscientious effort" to invite descendants of Patrick Henry to the event.

He added there would be no way to reach all of the descendants.

Warning Unheeded!

Yes, America's free enterprise system very definitely is threatened by Congress with its half-cocked efforts to punish the oil and gas industry.

This was the feeling expressed by oil and gas executives in visiting with members of the Texas Railroad Commission Thursday at Austin.

One wonders how long the free enterprise system can survive under such constant attack.

Harold Berg, executive vice president of Getty Oil Co., hit the nail on the head with his comment, "If this nation is ever to become self-sufficient in energy, we have got to get the government off our backs and get the show on the road — they're too big a load to carry."

And Richard Palmer, senior vice president of Texaco Inc., followed with, "The state of the industry is not good. We are under attack by those in our own land who either by ignorance of our economic system or through intent advocate programs which can only lead to the destruction of private industry."

The oil depletion allowance and what is happening to it in Congress is an excellent example of just what the industry leaders are talking about.

As it now stands, the House and Senate conference committee apparently will determine the fate of the allowance... and the odds are against the petroleum industry, which is and long has been striving diligently to overcome the energy shortage. Yet, this is the very industry which Congress is determined to punish.

As you know, the Senate last week accepted Sen. Lloyd Bentsen's amendment ending the allowance for the major companies but keeping it for the independent operators (3,000 barrels a day).

This was not pleasing to some oil state congressmen who said that instead of saving the allowance for independents, the amendment actually may hasten its final elimination.

Anyway, the Senate, after considerable manipulation, approved another amendment which repealed the depletion allowance for major companies but retained it permanently under certain conditions (?) for independents.

INSIDE REPORT—

U.S. Not Consulted By Thieu On Gamble

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — U.S. officials were neither consulted nor alerted by President Nguyen Van Thieu before he suddenly pulled South Vietnamese troops out of the Central Highlands, so that policymakers here were stunned along with the rest of the world.

Had they been asked, most U.S. experts would have given cautious approval to Thieu's gamble (though one Vietnamese specialist here privately considers the withdrawal "precipitous" and bearing grave risks). The fact that they were not asked completes the end of Washington's tutelage over Saigon but also carries more sinister connotations: resentment in Saigon that Congress has doomed South Vietnam to destruction.

Thieu abandoned three highlands provinces in hope that the accelerating Communist offensive by North Vietnamese regulars might be contained if Saigon constricts its lines. Behind that hope is the reality of reduced U.S. military aid now and into the future. Indeed, North Vietnam's offensive was clearly prompted by the mood on Capitol Hill. Just as presidential intervention saved South Vietnam from the Communists in 1965, congressional disengagement may deliver the country over to Hanoi in 1975.

Today's South Vietnamese army (ARVN) bears no faint resemblance to the demoralized rabble saved from destruction by President Johnson a decade ago. Sen. Henry M. Jackson's attempt to justify his new dovishness with his astonishing statement that the ARVN will not fight is unanimously re-

The House previously had voted to do away with depletion entirely. What the conference committee will do is anybody's guess.

There is no doubt the industry — and the nation — will suffer as a result of the action.

E. D. Bonner, president of Gulf Oil Co.-U.S., perhaps spoke the sentiments of the majors in his telegram sent to Senator Bentsen saying that advocacy of depletion repeal for major companies is most unfortunate for the nation and for Texas. He said further that elimination of oil's depletion tax allowance would reduce Gulf's exploration and development expenditures at least $100 million a year. The consumers will be the ones who really will suffer as a result thereof. And the Congress must accept full blame for the unfortunate situation.

Bonner also called attention to the fact that the industry's profit levels already have begun to fall drastically.

It is a confusing, frustrating situation. Severe future shortages are threatened as a result of the congressional action. But a majority of the members of both House and Senate refuse to recognize or heed the warning. They have but one thing in mind... bring the petroleum industry to its knees.

Sen. Adlai Stevenson III, D-Ill., did not even sit in on the testimony of Jim C. Langdon of the Texas Railroad Commission before Stevenson's subcommittee on oil and gas.

And this is the way it is in Washington today, insofar as the petroleum industry and the free enterprise system are concerned. Disgusting, isn't it?

It Happened Here—

Forty Years Ago (Mar. 23, 1935): March 30 was set as the final day for signing of cotton contracts for 1935.

jected by first-hand observers. The British military authority, Sir Robert Thompson, came through Washington recently after a Vietnamese visit declaring Saigon's best outfits — marines, airborne, the 1st and 2nd ARVN divisions — better than any Western troops today, including Americans. Dovich Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr., of California, a Marine infantry officer in Korea, was surprised by the high caliber of ARVN units he visited this month.

Thus, Thieu's pullout is not comparable to the inglorious retreats of Chiang Kai-shek's non-fighting Chinese divisions in 1949. Rather, it is an under-supplied army trying to counter its fully supplied foe by concentrating forces. Such an in-gathering was privately predicted to Assistant Secretary of State Phillip Habib when he accompanied visiting congressmen to Vietnam two weeks ago.

But neither Habib nor any other official was prepared for Thieu's move, so out of character with past attitudes in the presidential palace. Gen. Thieu formerly rejected sound recom-

WASHINGTON — A bizarre scheme to combat drug smuggling by assassinating the international ringleaders was drafted but rejected at secret, inter-agency meetings during the Nixon years. Under the proposal, the Central Intelligence Agency would have arranged the assassinations in such smuggling centers as Burma, France, Lebanon and Turkey.

One participant in the planning sessions, none other than White House plumber G. Gordon Liddy, was so taken by the assassination idea that he recommended going ahead with it not only overseas but in the United States.

These are the recollections of sources with intimate knowledge of the secret meetings, which began in 1969. Attending were representatives of the State, Treasury and Justice Departments, the CIA and federal drug agencies.

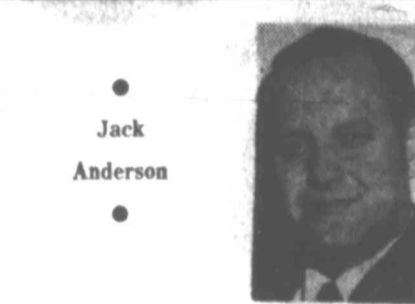

This inter-agency working group rejected out of hand Liddy's plan to murder drug traffickers in the United States, our sources say.

One member of the group remembers, incidentally, that they were disconcerted by Liddy's habit of packing a gun at the meetings.

But contingency plans were prepared to assassinate international narcotics over-lords in their faraway lairs. Under one plan that reached the drafting stage, the CIA was supposed to form an assassination squad complete with "sterile" helicopters and weapons that couldn't be traced.

This squad was going to swoop down on opium traffickers in Burma's northern mountains, slaughter them, destroy the opium and flee.

In the end, all the assassination plans were scrapped. But the discussions continued on other desperate measures. In April, 1971, for example, a secret meeting was held in Bangkok attended by foreign service officers, military brass and U.S. narcotics agents from Hong Kong, Honolulu, Manila, Phnom Penh,

Jack Anderson

Rangoon, Saigon and Vientiane.

Under State Department auspices, they discussed plans to send criminals into the smuggling areas to destroy opium labs, to bribe foreign officials to enforce the drug laws more strictly and to flood the market with harmless heroin substitutes, according to the secret minutes.

The planning at the lower levels was superseded eventually by higher-level, inter-agency meetings. On Sept. 7, 1971, President Nixon set up the Cabinet Committee on International Narcotics Control.

Headed by Secretary of State William Rogers, it included the heads of the Defense, Justice and Treasury Departments, CIA and U.S. Mission to the United Nations.

As far as we can determine, all thought of the CIA's Mission impossible assassination teams had been dropped by the time the Rogers unit was formed.

The Bureaucrats' Relief Act Of '75?

WASHINGTON (KFS) — If Israel has a Masada complex, then Ninety-Fourth Congress Democrats have a Franklin D. Roosevelt complex. They have launched a whole series of bills bearing the same "Emergency" labels that did so much yeoman service in 1933-35.

But unfortunately, the new legislation is just a pale, 40-years-later imitation of the New Deal's creativity in tackling the national crisis of 25 per cent unemployment.

Consider the new $5.9 billion emergency jobs legislation passed by the House of Representatives in early March. There is nothing innovative about it. Instead, the legislators frantically increased spending for existing (and often ineffectual) federal programs. And as opponents of the program charged on the House floor, the whole package was thrown together overnight. One Minnesota congressman charged that "its principal elements were assembled by calling every agency on the telephone and asking what it wanted. That's like sending a drunk into a saloon with an unlimited credit card. No wonder the public has no confidence in Congress."

Opponents exaggerate in terming the program a fraud because there are useful elements in it. Even so, too many of the bill's provisions succor the very bureaucrats who did the blueprint.

Consider the provision to spend $43 million purchasing 121,000 new automobiles and other vehicles for the General Services Administration, Postal Service and several other agencies. Rep. George Danieson (D-Calif.) called this "a food stamp program for the automobile manufacturers." Other congressmen pointed out that the GSA — which maintains official auto fleets — couldn't possibly buy its authorized 65,000 new cars. Of their present 73,000 cars, only 19,000 are old enough to meet the statutory criteria for replacement. If more than 19,000 are actually purchased, every petty bureaucrat in the federal government will have taxpayer-financed wheels.

Then there is the $780 million in new money — besides new vehicle funds — for the U.S. Postal Service. Much of this will be spent on improvement of postal buildings and facilities, but only a few thousand new jobs will be created.

Anyone getting the impression that bureaucrats and public employes may be the principal beneficiaries will be convinced further by the biggest item in the bill — $1.6 billion for public service jobs to create 180,000 additional man-years of employment. Unfortunately, Labor Undersecretary Richard Schubert recently told a House Committee that the jobs program now has a declining impact on unemployment because cities are increasingly using federal funds to recall laid-off city employes — and governmental employes have one of the lowest unemployment rates in the nation (4 per cent). So far, we have accounted for almost $3 billion of the $6 billion. The legislation also includes $642 million in the agricultural area for the construction of roads, buildings, water facilities, sewers and waste disposal facilities. However, these projects typically require long lead times, and will not provide much immediate employment. Another $375 million for the Economic Development Administration does focus on public work jobs, but as Rep. Robert Michael of Illinois warned: "We were not able to use funds effectively in 1962, and cannot do so again now."

That makes $4 billion out of $6 billion. Next, we can list $530 million for nine-week summer youth employment and part-time employment for college students. Gain, hardly a major factor in the job market.

As a last major item, the bill includes $465 million for the General Services Administration to undertake immediate construction, repair, alteration and improvement of public buildings across the country. Pardon my cynicism, but alteration of public buildings often mean fancy new offices for government bureaucrats.

So there it is. Five billion of the $5.9 billion authorized in the so-called "Emergency Employment Appropriations Act of 1975." Most of the benefit will go to youngsters and government workers. It is easy to understand why the various federal bureaucrats were so anxious to sell this approach to Congress. But it is embarrassing to think that Congress is so desperate for policy that they would rest their reputation on this hurried fabrication. In contrast, the Emergency Relief Appropriation Act of 1935 — which funded Roosevelt's WPA — was a jewel of serious planning.

Paramedics Needed

To The Editor: Has the time come for Midland residents to realize the need for Emergency Paramedic Units...

It seems reasonable to assume that the site will be rejected again. In fact, it is a pretty safe bet that HUD will reject the entire application.

By refusing to seek alternatives which might be agreeable to both Midland and HUD, the mayor and the City Council will be denying Midland the chance to utilize the $4.7 million which is being made available to it to complete very necessary paving, drainage and housing rehabilitation projects.

As a life-long taxpayer myself, I feel that I and the 40,000 residents of Midland are being cheated by their elected officials of the chance of seeing a small portion of our tax dollar coming home to be used locally for the community good.

What does it take to shock a complacent community into taking action and saving a life later? Does one life lost here and one there solidify a community into taking steps? Evidently not!

Opponents of the Equal Rights Amendment are frequently condemned as "being against everything." In view of this, it was most interesting to read in a recent newspaper article about National Organization for Women president Karen DeCraw that "for her part, she wants radical change."

Volleyballers Ignored?

To The Editor: Why does one fine athletic group from our high schools receive consistently poor coverage from the sports section?

When this group has experienced a perfect winning record, they don't seem to receive half the coverage of others, particularly photographic coverage. Even the baseball teams, whose records are not quite that impressive yet have a page one article.

This group receives little recognition from their school and from their fellow students, but it's outrageous that such talented young people don't get full recognition from the hometown newspaper.

Taxpayers Cheated?

To The Editor: It was with the greatest dismay that I learned of the latest episode in the continuing battle between the Midland City Council and HUD concerning Midland's application for funds under the Housing and Community Development Act.

The mayor's proposed application (which was essentially the same as that previously rejected by HUD) will not include the HUD requirements for a rental assistance program or low-income housing. The Midland Housing Authority's proposed low-cost housing project for the elderly (at Big Spring Street and Scharbauer Drive) will be resubmitted in the application, but since HUD rejected that site previously, it

ERA Backers Blasted

To The Editor: Opponents of the Equal Rights Amendment are frequently condemned as "being against everything." In view of this, it was most interesting to read in a recent newspaper article about National Organization for Women president Karen DeCraw that "for her part, she wants radical change."

In other words, the feminist movement wants to change our society in a drastic manner. And the ERA, by destroying all laws which make a distinction between men and women, is their chosen weapon.

Texans no longer have to stand by helplessly and watch all this happen, however. Those of us who do not want our society radically re-structured by militant feminist pressure groups can write our state representatives in Austin to support House Concurrent Resolution 57, which would rescind Texas' ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment.

Thank You, Midland To The Editor: There is no way to express the gratitude of my family for the help and good will we received during our recent time of stress.

When our home burned several days ago, we were overwhelmed by the kindness and diligence and faith of the firemen, who certainly went beyond the call of duty; our great neighbors, who literally got us through that awful day and our many friends who have not yet stopped helping in so many ways.

We just wish to say a special open thank you to everyone who helped, thought of us, or prayed for us, and to say, "God bless you all."

To The Editor: Yes, indeed. It is time again for rattlesnake roundups. However, preparation began many months ago. "Brave" men began collecting rattlers last fall for the shows. Many Accidental Deaths Among Children Being Labeled As Suicides

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Some young children really are attempting suicide in many of the incidents blamed on accidental poisonings, says the director of a Pennsylvania prison center.

Dr. Richard W. Moriarty of Pittsburgh said in an interview Friday that accidental poisonings of youngsters who swallow medicine or household cleansers still occur frequently.

But during the past year in Pittsburgh, he said, "a fair number" of six, seven and eight-year-old were involved in poisonings "that were not accidental ingestions. Frankly, I would call these ingestions suicide attempts."

Moriarty estimated that "about 80 per cent of our calls in the 5-to-11-year-old age group probably involved intentional ingestions."

He also cited an increasing number of children poisoned by adults "as a form of child abuse."

Business Interests Fight Over Bill

By STUART LONG Austin Bureau AUSTIN — You sense when you walk into the committee room that this is not an ordinary sort of technical insurance bill.

All the chairs in the House committee room are filled with well-dressed banker types.

And what it was after all was just a fight between your friendly neighborhood insurance agent and your friendly downtown mortgage banker.

Briscoe Asked To Hold Talks On Water Import

AUSTIN—Gov. Dolph Briscoe is requested to talk with other states on bringing water to Texas under a resolution introduced in the House.

The resolution, referred to the Natural Resources Committee, says that Texas is working to insure that "all its surface and ground water resources are developed to the fullest extent and on the most environmentally sound basis."

But, it continues, "the results of extensive studies indicate that this action alone will be insufficient to meet the state's future needs and that the importation of water from outside the state will be necessary."

Accordingly, Briscoe is urged to "initiate discussions and negotiations with other states relative to the possible importation of their surplus water to Texas."

The resolution also asks Briscoe to keep the legislature informed of the talks and advise of "any legislative action required to implement an importation program deemed essential to the long-range interests of Texas."

Wildcats Snap 34-Game Win Streak By Hoosiers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Since its third game this season, Kentucky has been a team with a mission. The Wildcats accomplished it Saturday in dramatic style by snapping Indiana's 34-game winning streak to advance to the semifinals of the NCAA's college basketball tournament.

"Indiana is a great ball team but I think we wanted this one a lot worse than they did," said Rick Robey, one of the Wildcats' two 6-foot-10 freshmen centers who were so instrumental in the 92-90 Kentucky victory over the nation's top-ranked team.

"This game is everything we've been working for since that loss," Robey said of Indiana's 99-74 romp over Kentucky last December. The avenging victory sends the fifth-ranked Wildcats, 25-4, into the NCAA semifinals next Saturday in San Diego against Syracuse.

It was Robey and fellow freshmen center Mike Phillips who did much of the damage with 10 points each and rugged board work. But they were still not able to contain the pressure of Indiana's 6-11 Kent Benson, who scored a game-high 33 points, had 23 rebounds and was named the Most Valuable Player of this Midwest Regional tournament.

However, Benson and Steve Green, who had 23 points for the Hoosiers, could not compensate for a balanced Kentucky attack led by senior guards Mike Flynn and Jimmy Dan Conner, who had 23 and 17 points, respectively. Forward Kevin Grevey also had 17.

"Our bench just wore them down," said Kentucky Coach Joe B. Hall. "Then we switched from a 1-3 zone to a man-to-man defense, and it destroyed their confidence."

Hall said he instructed his guards to take quick shots in order to deny Indiana's sticky defense any chance to get set up. "We wanted to be loose offensively," said Hall, whose team hit nearly 57 per cent of its field goal attempts in the second half.

The victory ended a victory string for Indiana which began after a loss to Michigan last year in the Big 10 playoffs. "The better team just won. That's all I can say," said Indiana Coach Bobby Knight.

For Flynn, the Kentucky mission had taken longer than mere months. He and the other seniors in a highly-touted draft class made up for three years of frustration when they were picked to win and didn't.

Marques Johnson Paces Bruins Over Sun Devils

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Sophomore Marques Johnson tossed in 20 of his game-high 38 points in the first half Saturday, leading UCLA to an 89-78 romp over Arizona State in the West Regional playoffs and giving the Bruins a berth in the NCAA basketball tournament's semifinal round for the ninth consecutive year. UCLA, which had its record string of seven straight NCAA crowns snapped by North Carolina State in last year's semifinals, will meet Midwest regional winner Louisville next Saturday at San Diego in half of the semifinal doubleheader.

East champion Syracuse faces Kentucky, the Midwest winner, in the other semifinal matchup. Johnson, a slick 6-foot-6 1/2 forward, was all over the court in the first half, as UCLA coolly handled Arizona State's pressing defense and jumped to an early lead.

With All-American Dave Meyers battling a variety of leg injuries, Johnson handled the bulk of the Bruins' offense. He repeatedly converted steals and rebounds into baskets as UCLA rushed to a 14-point bulge at 46-22.

Johnson, who had averaged 10.5 points during the regular season and had never scored more than 22 points in his two varsity seasons, stung Arizona State early and often: He had 13 points in the game's first 10 minutes, as the Bruins shrugged off State's press to take charge.

His 35 points was the second highest total ever by a UCLA forward. Meyers holds the school record for that position with a 39-point game.

Once UCLA moved in front, Arizona State seemed to get rattled and began committing turnovers. UCLA quickly built a slim early lead into its comfortable 46-26 halftime, dominating the backboards with 6-9% Rich Washington and 7-14% Ralph Dellinger helping the Bruins to a wide first-half rebounding edge.

Arizona State managed to convert only two of its eight first-half free throws.

Johnson continued to blister the Sun Devils as the second half started and with Washington blocking shots and grabbing rebounds, UCLA broke the game wide open. Soon the lead was 20 points, at 64-44, and the Bruins were thinking about San Diego.

State, led by Lionel Hollins and James Holliman, tried to stay with the Bruins and at one point, the Sun Devils shot the lead to 13 at 70-57. But Dellinger came off the bench to sink two key baskets and with Meyers helping Washington on the backboards, the Bruins soon had restored their big margin.

With less than 10 minutes left to play, Arizona State made one more run at UCLA. The Sun Devils shaved the lead to nine points at 76-69 and Coach John Wooden rushed Johnson back into the game.

Johnson quickly scored a basket and then soared high over the defensive rim to grab a rebound. Washington spun off two straight layups and the Bruins were home free after that.

Washington finished with 16 points for the game. The victory ran UCLA's record to 26-3. Arizona State finished at 25-4.

Edwards Looking Forward To First Year With Cubs

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz.—Like many successful coaches and managers, Howard "Doc" Edwards believes it takes defense to win and that's where he will begin with the Midland Cubs in spring training.

The new skipper of the Chicago Cubs' Texas League entry feels defense can make up for a multitude of offensive shortcomings and provides the consistency necessary to win.

"I firmly believe in defense," says the Red Jacket, W. Va. native, I believe in it in any sport. I think football, basketball and baseball success is keyed on defense.

"A good defense can lighten the load on your offensive output. Instead of needing eight runs to win, if they know two, three or four runs can do the job, it takes some of the pressure off."

Edwards goes on, "I like good pitching, good defense and speed. Give me that and we'll play all day long. And I like to make things happen with the hit and run, bunt, steal. If you get the big inning out of it fine. If you don't we'll try to win with what we get."

Coming from West Haven, Conn., of the Eastern League, Edwards is looking forward to his first Texas League season.

Although both circuits are AA classification, Doc feels Midland is a step up.

"For example, in the Eastern League, we just had two days off all season, at the all-

Battle Scene

By Ted Battles

star break. Here we have 12. We had eight scheduled and thanks to Stoney (Midland GM Stoney Peeney) we have four more as a result of scheduled doubleheaders.

Edwards adds that the Eastern League is all bus travel. "Here I think we have seven flying trips. It makes it a little more classy operation. In fact, it's comparable to AAA ball, particularly the International League. AAA clubs are busing now except for the long trips."

Doc doesn't know much about the TL playing fields, except from hearsay, but is confident that they will be better than those encountered in the EL "where just four fields were good. The rest of them are brutal. The lights are poor as were the playing surfaces and we frequently had light towers right on the playing field."

Hackett, a 6-foot-9 senior forward who facially resembles Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, had four points in overtime and combined with Jim "Bug" Williams on the critical play at the end of regulation to seal Kansas State's fate and end the Wildcats' season with a 20-9 record.

"We've been the underdog in every tournament we've played," Hackett said. "I was a little worried when we went into the game 3/4 point favorites. We like to play the role of the underdog."

Hackett's tying basket was shot at the buzzer after a feed from Jim Williams, five seconds after another Williams—Kansas State's Chuckie, this tournament's Most Valuable Player—had given the Wildcats a 76-74 lead.

Chuckie Williams, who scored a game-high 35 points to give him 87 in two games, had hit from 20 feet in the final seconds after Kansas State had held the ball for a minute to play for the final shot.

But Hackett and Jim Williams had other plans. The little Williams took the ball out of bounds and sped down the court, feeding to Hackett in the lane.

Hackett said he juggled Bug Williams' pass. "The ball was getting kind of slippery... but fortunately I was able to recover," he said. "Jimmy was telling me if he got the ball, he would get it into me. So I was expecting it."

"I saw it all the way and just turned around and put it into the basket. It was a set play to get the ball and throw it inside. I wasn't certain I had beat the buzzer. I couldn't hear it."

The shot appeared to leave Hackett's hand just at the buzzer. "When he (Hackett) bobbed it I thought time would run out," Jim Williams said. "He scared me."

The final five minutes of regulation was an incredible see-saw battle which Chuckie Williams seemed to have ended with his 20-foot shot with five seconds left. But that was before Hackett's heroics.

Orangemen Cop Upset In Finals

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — "There's somebody up there who loves us," said Rudy Hackett. And the way Hackett's Syracuse Orangemen keep winning, there just might be.

Hackett scored 28 points, two of them on a left-handed shot over his head at the buzzer which sent the game into overtime, as upstart and unheralded Syracuse, 23-7, won the NCAA's East Regional championship 95-87 over Kansas State here Saturday.

The victory, which nullified a Kansas State effort that seemed to have given the Wildcats a ticket to the NCAA finals, sent Syracuse to San Diego instead. The Orange play the winner of the Kentucky-Indiana game in the national semifinals.

Lee Second, MHS Third In El Paso

EL PASO — Midland Lee's string of track victories ended at four straight here Saturday in the Yleta Relays as El Paso Burgos pulled out a narrow 101-96 1/2 victory over the Rebels.

Midland High was third with 40 points while El Paso Irvin finished fourth with 36 points in the mammoth 17-team field. Midland High also finished sixth in the sophomore competition while Lee did not field any sophomores in the meet.

Otis Butler had a good day for the Rebels, winning the 440 with a 50.2 and ran well on the anchor leg of the winning mile relay team with his best time of the year at 49.4.

Lee posted a fine 3:22.2 in the mile relay with David Shelton running a 51.5, Tim Parker a 51.0 and Earl Evans a 50.3. Evans gave Lee a good lead and Butler raced home with the fast time.

Milton Jones won the shot again, but failed to break the 60-foot barrier with a 57-10. He was third in the discus with a 158-10. Midland High's Sam Zachery was second in the shot for the third week in a row.

Larry Munson lost his first 330 hurdle race of the year as a Bulldog despite a 39.3. Curtis Collier of Burgess had a 38.6 in the prelims and a 39.0 in the finals.

Robert Johnson had a second in the 220 and a fourth in the 100 for a fine effort and Shelton had a 1:57.2 in the 880, but finished second.

Midland High placed second in the 440 relay and Lee was third.

Midland High and Lee will participate in a triangular meet at Odessa Permian Thursday and will then enter the San Angelo Relays the following week.

Louisville Advances

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — Third-ranked Louisville conquered Maryland's press and rode the hot hand of guard Phillip Bond to a 96-82 victory Saturday in the finals of the NCAA Midwest Regional basketball playoffs.

Louisville, now 27-2, blew to its biggest bulge of the game after eight minutes of the second half when the Cards took a 71-55 lead on a bucket by sophomore Danny Brown.

Maryland made one more charge, cutting Louisville's lead to an 82-78 margin with 4:20 left in the game. But Louisville, with baskets by William Bunton and Bond, pulled back ahead and stilled out the final 2 1/2 minutes.

Allen Murphy supported Bond in the scoring with 20 points for Louisville. Bridgeman and Bunton finished with 13 each.

Wesley Cox, recovering from a hamstring injury, was a big addition to Louisville's lineup. Cox played briefly Thursday night against Notre Dame, scoring three points and getting two rebounds. Against Maryland, Cox finished with 10 points.

The Terps were led by John Lucas, who hit 27 points, and Owen Brown, who scored 19. Tom Roy scored 16 and Steve Sheppard 10.

Maryland, which used its press so effectively in whipping Notre Dame, opened against the Cardinals with the same tactic, but experienced Louisville had it diagnosed and solved it from the start. Louisville hit 67 per cent from the field in the first five minutes of the game while Maryland hit 38 per cent.

The game was tied at 6-6 and 14-14 before Louisville took charge behind Bond. The Cardinals' biggest first-half lead was 40-30 with 3:05 left on a basket by Cox, who scored 10 of his points before intermission.

The fourth-ranked Terps finished their season with a 24-5 record.

Cincinnati beat Notre Dame 96-87 in the Midwest consolation.

Walker Goes Into Tennis Finals Today

HOUSTON (AP) — Second-seeded Ross Walker of Houston and fifth-seeded Bill Matyastik of Trinity University advanced Saturday to the finals of the Rice Invitational Collegiate Tennis Tournament.

Walker defeated fourth-seeded Terry Moor of Northeast Louisiana, 1-6, 6-3, 6-2, in one semi-final match and Matyastik ousted seventh-seeded David King of Trinity, 7-6, 6-3, in the other one.

Trinity and Houston also will determine the team champion today. Trinity had 17 points after the semifinals and Houston 16. Southern Methodist was third with 12 but cannot overtake the two leaders.

The doubles finals will pit Walker and Dale Ogden of Houston against George Hardie and John Muller of SMU.

Ogden and Walker advanced to the finals by defeating SMU's Clint Hufford and Dave Bohrnstedt, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4, in one semifinal doubles match while Hardie and Muller took out Matyastik and Jim Timmons of Trinity, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Walker, whose home is in London, got off to a shaky start against Moor, a lefthander, but finished strong.

He blamed his bad start on adjusting to play the southern.

"I was generating the pace and he was knocking me off the floor," Walker said. "Then I stayed in the backcourt, played a defensive game and let him generate the pace. I was just too aggressive early."

High Winds In Arizona

Midland Cubs Open Play Today

By TED BATTLES
SCOTTSDALE, ARIZ. — It went unappreciated, but Arizonians in this valley of the sun went out of their way Saturday to make a visiting West Texas feel at home... with wind gusts up to 35 miles per hour.

Whitley Lockman, Chicago Cubs vice-president, seeing the "Oh, no," look on the visitors' face, assured that it was the coolest (66 degrees) since spring training opened a week ago.

Actually, the high winds didn't hit until after the Chicago farm hands had finished off their last day of drudgery at noon.

The drudgery is the week of throwing, batting, exercises and drilling on fundamentals with no game type action to break the monotony.

"We like to get the muscles in shape and avoid the risk of pull and strains," advised Viedle Himsel, director of Chicago player personnel, "but it's boring, no doubt about it."

The boredom ends today when Midland's Texas League Cubs face their AAA brothers, the Wichita Aesop of the American Assn. at 11 a.m.

There weren't too many familiar faces loosening up when we arrived Saturday outside of outfielder Joe Wallis, back after a season at Key West and pitcher Donnie Moore, a pitcher from Lubbock Monterey.

Then after the team returned from the instructional slide show, on pickoff, rundowns and such, catcher Steve Clancy (Texas) and Grant Collins, back from Key West, shortstop Mike Sember, outfielder Earl Chew, who looked good in camp last year before being shipped to Key West, infielder Joel Green, and outfielder Joe "Pope" Ortiz were spotted.

Lockman said he wouldn't be able to make it to Midland for the Milwaukee-Chicago exhibition game April 6. "Because we have to get the Midland club set early in the season since they open earlier than our other farm clubs."

Whitey was impressed with the way Midland manager Howard "Doc" Edwards is running the Midland camp.

"I really didn't know too much about 'Doc' except I played against him and knew he was a competitor and had a good knowledge of baseball."

Whitey said, "We had several applicants for the AA job, but after I checked them all out, 'Doc' ranked the highest. He received an excellent recommendation from Clyde Klutz of the New York Yankees organization, who hated to lose him."

"I like the way he keeps moving around among the players, talking and offering instruction. I think he will do a good job."

Cub Briefs: With former Texas League players on most of the Arizona club rosters, it's like one big family. Friday night at Phoenix, I chatted with pitchers Dave Heverlo and Slick Stedlki before the Milwaukee-San Francisco game. Heverlo, who sported a Kojak hair-do, turned in two hitless innings of relief and nailed down the 4-1 win. He also pointed out that John Montefusco had picked up where he left off with the Giants after reporting from Amartillo last August. "He pitched four innings of one-hit ball last night."

Triple Bogey Ruins Palmer In Jacksonville Competition

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer was blasted out of the lead by a triple bogey and obscure Mike Morley emerged as the pacesetter after Saturday's third round of the $150,000 Greater Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament.

Palmer, the 45-year-old living legend of the fairways, had come from three strokes off the pace and held the lead all alone until he hit his tee shot out of bounds on the par-three 11th hole. He wound up with a horrendous six.

It dropped Palmer out of the top spot, and threw the tournament into a multiple-man scramble which was finally solved by the skinny Morley.

Morley, never a winner and never even an exempt player in five years of tour activity, matched the record on the 7,143-yard Deerwood Country Club course with a brilliant seven-under-par 65.

His 54-hole total was 208, eight under par.

Palmer, grimly determined to break the longest victory (amine of his fabled career, was one shot back after a struggling 73.

He was tied at 209 with Tom Shaw, Jerry McGee and surprising Jerry Pate. Pate, a 21-year-old Alabama native and current U.S. amateur champion who is competing against touring pros for the first time, had a 71. McGee shot the same score in the mild, hazy weather. Shaw was tied for the lead until he bogeyed the final hole for a 72.

Princeton Cops Close NIT Tilt

NEW YORK (AP) — Armond Hill's two free throws with 1:21 left gave Princeton a tense 58-57 victory over Oregon Saturday and advanced the Tigers into the final of the 36th National Invitation basketball tournament.

The Tigers earned a spot in today's championship game against surprising Providence, which earlier beat St. John's 85-72 as Gary Bello drilled in seven straight shots and led a second-half rally.

The red-hot Ivy League won their 12th game in a row in the nightcap of the nationally televised doubleheader at Madison Square Garden, but not before some tense moments at the end.

The teams never were more than five points apart during any time in the game. The Ducks had a 55-52 advantage after a foul shot by Mark Bergwig with 6:37 remaining before the Tigers shot ahead 56-55 on a pair of field goals by Mickey Steuwer and Hill.

Greg Willard connected for Oregon with 2:09 left, giving the Pac-8 team a 57-56 lead, but that was the last time the Ducks were able to score.

Hill, driving for a basket, then was fouled by Ron Lee. The Tigers' 6-foot-4 guard converted two free throws for the game's final points.

Princeton's tough defense then did the rest of the job. The Ducks had several opportunities to score in the last 25 seconds, but were unable to get off a good shot.

With 13 seconds to go, Princeton's Ian Ramati missed the first half of a one-on-one foul shot situation, giving the ball to Oregon. The Ducks called time out twice in the last 13 seconds.

WITH 11-HIT ATTACK— Lee Raps Bobcats

By BOB DILLON

Midland Lee waited until late in the game to flex their muscles, but did so Saturday afternoon to whip the San Angelo Bobcats, 9-4, in a District 5-4A baseball game at the Lee diamond.

Trailing 3-1 going into the bottom of the fifth inning, second baseman Rusty Laughlin hammered a two-run homer over the fence in left-center with pinch-hitter Will McMillan on base to tie the game, 3-3.

Angelo came right back to go ahead, 4-3, in the top of the sixth inning on a double by shortstop Kenny Perez, but Lee erupted for six big runs in the bottom of the sixth to ice the victory.

Lee joins Odessa Permian, Abilene Cooper and Big Spring with 2-0 loop marks to date, to share first place.

Alan Neal started off the Rebel sixth with a double and Greg Howard was safe on a fielder's choice when Bobcats pitcher threw to third too late to get Neal. Rusty Buchanan bounced a double over the fence in left-center to tie the game, 4-4.

Robbie Porter laid down a perfect bunt down the third base line to squeeze in Neal and Laughlin followed with a run-scoring single for a 5-4 lead. Javier Torres walked and Robert White singled in a pair of runs and the Rebs added three more runs to bring their season mark to 5-9.

Lee has pounded out 27 hits in two loop games and takes on Pecos in Pecos Monday and then faces Abilene Cooper in Abilene Tuesday.

Laughlin, Torres and White led the Rebel attack with two hits each for Coach Ernie Johnson's crew.

Lee had scored one run in the third when Kenneth Nix, starting pitcher walked and pinch-runner Scott Meadows scored on Brett Baskwell's single.

Walks by Nix got the junior pitcher in trouble in the second inning when the Bobcats posted a 2-0 lead without benefit of a hit. Nix issued four walks and a passed ball by Torres which gave San Angelo its 2-0 lead.

San Angelo is now 7-4 on the year and 0-3 in district play. Bobby Stevens was the winning pitcher.

STATE SWIMMING— Rebels, Midland Finish Seventh

AUSTIN — The Lee boys and the Midland High girls both managed seventh place finishes in the AAAA state swimming meet here Saturday afternoon and brought home three high school All-American consideration times.

Houston Bellaire won the boys' competition with 50 points while the Lee tankers were seventh with 11 points. Midland High posted three points.

Austin Anderson posted 32 points to win the girls division while Midland High had 10 points for seventh place. Lee scored two points.

It turned out to be an exceptionally competitive meet since 14 new state records were set and two national standards also fell.

Huckabay Sets High Jump Mark

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Texas Tech won five of 15 events Saturday, including a meet record by Bryant Huckabay of Midland in the high jump in the 12th annual Texas Tech Relays.

No team point totals were kept in the meet, but Tech dominated with three relays victories in addition to Huckabay's 6-foot-10 high jump and Marc Taylor's victory in the discus. Tech's relay triumphs were in the two-mile, mile and distance medley.

West Texas State and A&M won three victories apiece. The Buffaloes won the 800 relay, the shot put and the pole vault. Angelo captured the 400 relay, the javelin and the 100 yard dash.

The only other record in the meet besides Huckabay's was the 4.0 second performance in the 440 intermediate hurdles by Larry English of Lubbock Christian, which tied the record of David Nelson of Cisco in this year's junior college division.

Quarry, Norton Battle Monday

NEW YORK (AP) — Ken Norton, the fourth-ranked heavyweight, and Jerry Quarry, ranked No. 5, meet at Madison Square Garden Monday night in a 12-round bout that could be the turning point in their careers.

Their fight will serve as the closed circuit television appetizer for the Muhammad Ali-Chuck Wepner title fight in Cleveland.

After Norton and Quarry finish their work, a giant four-sided screen will be lowered and the Garden fight crowd will watch Ali defend his crown against Wepner in a scheduled 15-round bout at the Cleveland Arena.

Both Quarry and Norton figure their fight could lead to a possible future date for the championship with Ali or, should he score the upset, Wepner.

And upsets have a way of occurring in the heavyweight division.

Norton owns one of boxing's biggest stunnings, a 12-round decision over Ali two years ago. Ali suffered a broken jaw in that bout, one of only two losses in his career. Norton lost a split decision in a rematch. Ali's first big step on the road to winning back the championship from George Foreman in Zaire five months ago.

Norton has won his last two bouts after being knocked out in a title match against Foreman. In his last fight, he knocked out Reco Brooks last month in Oklahoma City for his 25th career KO. He has won 32 of 35 career bouts.

Monday night's fight will be Norton's first in the Garden, a familiar working spot for Quarry, who has fought there nine times before.

A Californian like Norton, Quarry has a 50-7-4 career log including 29 knockouts.

Lee's Brad Swendig two top efforts time with a 1:56.94 and a second place finish in the 200 free. Miss Dowdle also had a fourth finishes in the AAAA state swimming meet here Saturday afternoon and brought home three high school All-American consideration times.

Houston Bellaire won the boys' competition with 50 points while the Lee tankers were seventh with 11 points. Midland High posted three points.

Austin Anderson posted 32 points to win the girls division while Midland High had 10 points for seventh place. Lee scored two points.

Red Raiders Sweep Pair From Owl Nine

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Bryan Cowan knocked in six runs Saturday as Texas Tech swept a Southwest Conference baseball doubleheader from Rice, 9-5 and 11-10.

sacrifice fly and a bases loaded walk in the opener for Tech as the Raiders came back from a 4-0 deficit after three innings. Tech had six runs in the fifth inning, climaxed by Tom Haley's three-run homer.

to give him seven RBIs in the doubleheader. Jerry Lee and Kim Hunter got the pitching victories for Tech.

Washington Coach Resigns His Post

BOSTON (AP) — Washington Capitals Coach George Red Sullivan resigned Saturday night after guiding the team through 47 games.

In the second game, Cowan had three hits and four RBIs, including two triples. Kim Nikkel also had four RBIs in the second game for Tech with a three-run homer and a bases loaded walk.

The Red Raiders are now 10-10 for the season and 4-5 in SWC play. Rice dropped to 11-11 and 4-8.

TCU Topples Baylor Twice

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Gene Burton's solo homer iced Texas Christian comeback in a 3-3 first game baseball victory over Baylor Saturday, and the Horned Frogs stopped a Bear rally in the second game.

with a bases loaded doubleplay to win the nightcap 8-7. TCU trailed 2-0 early in the opener before exploding for four runs on five hits, including Burton's homer.

The Steers now sit on top of the 5-4A heap with a 2-0 loop mark and increased their season standing to 6-5. Midland, on the other hand, fell to 9-8 and 0-2 with the loss.

Rankin Takes Golfing Lead

RANKIN — The Rankin Red Devils captured a 10-stroke lead with a fine 305 team score here at the Rankin Country Club Saturday as District 6-A opened the loop's golf chase.

In the nightcap, the Horned Frogs nearly blew a seven-run lead built in the first three innings by two-run hits from Tommy Crain and John Shelley and seven Baylor errors. Baylor responded with two runs in the fourth and four more in the sixth frames, with the Bears' Mike Johnson clouting a homer during the rally.

MTC Finals Set Today

The Midland Tennis Club's mens doubles tournament advanced to the semifinal round Saturday. Finals are set for 3:30 p.m. today.

Coronado Wins

ANDREWS — Lubbock Coronado blasted the Class AAA Snyder Tigers, 12-0, in the finals of the Andrews Invitational Baseball Tourney Saturday.

TCU is now 17-5 for the season and 8-4 in Southwest Conference play. Baylor dropped to 17-7 and 6-6.

Master Derby Winner Claims Louisiana Purse Victory

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Master Derby charged past eleven other 3-year-olds at the Fair Grounds Saturday to claim the winner's purse in the $100,000 Louisiana Derby and leap a big hurdle on the way to the Kentucky Derby.

Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland may be the next contest for her victorious colt. "We have him entered in the Arkansas Derby at Oaklawn in two weeks, but we may skip that for the Blue Grass," she said.

The 1 1/4-mile Blue Grass Stakes is considered one of the last major prep races for the Kentucky Derby. Trainer W. E. Adams said jockey Darrell McHargue piloted the Golden Chance Farm colt according to instructions.

Mrs. R. E. Lehmann said the colt may be the next contest for her victorious colt. "We have him entered in the Arkansas Derby at Oaklawn in two weeks, but we may skip that for the Blue Grass," she said.

Viva La Viva Captures Victory At Aqueduct

NEW YORK (AP) — Viva La Vivi, the 4-5 favorite, easily won the $55,900 Correction Handicap for fillies and mares before 31,968 fans at Aqueduct Race Track Saturday.

Carrying top weight of 122 pounds and ridden by Jorge Velasquez, the invader from California took the lead in mid-stretch and drew out to win by three lengths over Ordination in 1:00 2/5 for six furlongs.

where she had campaigned with success. She broke fourth at the start, as Charming Renee, Celestial Lights and Flo's Pleasure raced in front of her until Velasquez set her down around the bend into the stretch. She had no trouble passing the leaders and drawing out to win easily.

Permian, Cooper Post Wins In District 5-4A Baseball Play

Odessa Permian and Abilene Cooper kept pace with Midland Lee and Big Spring by posting District 5-4A baseball victories Saturday afternoon.

Wells was charged with the loss after giving up eight hits and six earned runs in his three-and-a-third innings of work. He did strike out seven Steers, however, but was tagged with some hard hit balls.

It was Viva La Vivi's third victory in six starts this year. She earned $33,540, raising her 1975 winnings to $37,240. For her career, in three years of racing, she has earned $155,210, with 11 victories in 24 starts, plus six seconds and two thirds. She did not race as a 2-year-old in 1972.

Stuck Leads At Sebring Over Field

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — A pair of fleet little BMWs from Europe held command of the Sebring sports car endurance race Saturday as top contenders began to fall by the wayside.

Hans Stuck, Jr., 24-year-old son of a pre-World War II driving ace from Germany, quickly put one of the BMWs into the lead after the 11:01 a.m. EDT start and at the three hour mark held a commanding margin over a dwindling field that originally numbered 67 cars.

Stuck and co-driver Sam Posey of Capistrano Beach, Calif., had completed more than 400 miles around the bumpy, 5.2-mile Sebring Airport course at an average speed of just over 107 miles per hour.

The other BMW, driven by Britisher Brian Redman and Australian Alan Moffat appeared to be just as strong as its sister car. But it seemed content to cruise easily in the runner-up spot.

Among the early casualties were the Porsche Carrera of Peter Gregg and Hurley Haywood, the defending team in this 12-hour race, and the $100,000 Corvette of John Greenwood of Troy, Mich., who also is the promoter of the race.

The Gregg-Haywood entry was eliminated when it was struck by a Corvette driven by Burt Greenwood, also of Troy, Mich. and brother of John Greenwood. The Porsche was running third at the time.

John Greenwood's car, third fastest among the starters, was felled by transmission problems.

Gregg and Haywood, seeking to complete a two-year, successive sweep of the Daytona and Sebring endurance races, had been solid pre-race favorites because of the noted durability of their car.

Al Holbert and Elliott Forbes-Robinson had their Porsche Carrera in third place, with other Porsches massing up behind the first three runners.

Stuck, a lean, tall driver just two years out of the amateur ranks, had started his blue and white BMW in the front-row pole position. He had confidently predicted victory.

"If the car holds together, it really should be easy," he said. "If I can get a lap on the other cars, we'll just settle down and cruise the rest of the way."

He and Posey were alternating in the cockpit at two hour intervals.

Named New AD

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — Jerry R. Callahan, a life insurance agent and former high school football coach, was named director of athletic development Saturday at Colorado State University. Jack O'Leary, CSU athletic director, said Callahan will be responsible for handling fundraising for the athletic program.

Laver, Ramirez Win In Net

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Australia's Rod Laver and Mexico's Raul Ramirez captured their World Championship Tennis Blue Group semifinal matches of the $60,000 Alcatraz Tennis Classic in Caracas Saturday.

Laver lost the first set, then came back to crush Jeff Borowiak of the United States 4-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Wade Gains Finals In Brinker Tourney

DALLAS (AP) — Britain's Virginia Wade reached her third straight final of the Maudrean Connolly Brinker Women's Tennis Tournament on Saturday, defeating Francoise Durr of France, 6-1, 6-3.

Eyovone Goolagong met Martina Navratilova of Czechoslovakia in the other semifinal Saturday night.

Mias Durr held service only one time in eight service games and Miss Wade effectively used drop volleys.

Wade also handled Durr's strong return of service with quick volleys and groundstrokes.

Wade won this event in 1973 before it became a part of the women's tour and was a finalist last year when Chris Evert won.

keeping Laver pleased to the baseline with high lobs. The strategy worked until Laver changed his style of play, and then the momentum began to swing. The change was slow in the second set, but avalanched as The Rocket won the third set easily with two service breaks.

"After I lost the first set, I decided to go for the lines," Ramirez squeaked by Rosecoe Tanner of Lookout Mountain, Tenn., 6-4, 7-5 in the other semifinal match. The victory for Ramirez, his third straight this season over Tanner, was highlighted by his ability to neutralize the hard-hitting Tanner's power.

Ramirez broke Tanner's serve in the first game of the first set, then held his own throughout the set. In the second set, each player lost his service once to send the set into the WCIT tie-breaker. The tie-breaker was won by Laver, who had not won the 15-point tie-breaker as Ramirez held on to win 7-6. Laver and Ramirez will now meet for the second time in a Blue Group championship.

Rangers Lose In 10th To Montreal By 2-1

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Larry Lintz stole four bases and scored both Montreal runs as the Expos defeated the Texas Rangers 2-1 in 10 innings in exhibition baseball Saturday.

Lintz, who stole 50 bases as a rookie last year, started Montreal's game-winning rally in the 10th frame with a single off Steve Foucault and promptly stole second. Rich Coggins then lined a single up the middle to score the speedy Lintz with the winning run.

Ramirez broke Tanner's serve in the first game of the first set, then held his own throughout the set. In the second set, each player lost his service once to send the set the Rangers to just two hits with the victory going to Jim Warden, who worked the final two innings.

Denis Blair started for Montreal and worked five innings, allowing both Ranger hits and a run in the fourth as Jeff Bayroughs singled and pinch runner Joe Lovitto later scored on Mike Hargrove's single. Ernie McNally followed and worked three hitless innings.

The victory raised the Expos spring record to 11-4 and the Rangers fell to 5-7.

Astros Cut 21 Players From Roster

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — Twenty-one players, including pitcher Scipio Spinks, have been chopped from the Houston Astros' major league roster, team officials announced Saturday.

Spinks who was dealt to the St. Louis Cardinals in 1972 by Houston and then retrieved this winter by the Astros, was among those moving to the Astros minor league camps.

The other included pitchers Carlos Alfonso, Romualdo Blanco, Dan Larson, Mike Nagy, Russ Rothermel, Ron Belak, Jose Sosa and Charles Taylor, catchers Rod Boone, Bob Didier, Manuel Lantigua, John McLaren, and Bill Melendez, infielders Ramon Perez and Alex Taveras, outfielders Jesus de La Rosa, Kevin Drake, Arthur Gardner and Ignacio Javier.

SPIKES BALL—Cindy Pulte (44) of Midland, spikes ball at Abilene player during action Friday in Key City as the Purple Pack won their 25th volleyball victory in a row. The Bulldogs downed the Eagles, 15-8 and 15-1, and take on Crane Tuesday in the MHS Gym.

GIRLS WIN 25TH STRAIGHT—Midland Rips AHS

ABILENE — The Midland Bulldogs posted the season's 25th victory to remain undefeated Friday and upped their district standing to 7-0. The Pack defeated the Abilene Warbirds 15-8 and 15-1.

The MHS girls spiked the ball to the hardwood floor 32 of 33 attempts with the Abilene team coming away with only one block.

Again the consistency from the serving line was one of the biggest offensive weapons. The MHS'ers kept the Eagles off balance with their hard to handle serves and hit on 41 of 43 attempts.

The Bulldogs completely stalemated the Abilene attack as the Purple Pack threw 16 blocks at their opponents and not a single Eagle spike hit the Bulldog court.

Tracie Chandler was the Bulldog peak performer as she handled the ball 43 times during the entire contest without a bobble. Miss Chandler also walked away with the serving honors by hitting on 18 straight knuckle balls without a miss. Handling the spiking chores was Midland's Sara Moore as she rifled the ball to the floor on 10 of 11 efforts. Tammy Helton was in hot pursuit by clobbering 7 of 8 spikes. Rounding out the team's spiking game was Carolyn Wolf with 3 of 4, LaRhetta Poole hitting on 2 of 3, Cindy Pulte claiming 4 straight, and Miss Chandler smacking 3 hot ones.

Directing the Pack's spiking game were the 3 ace Bulldog sets. So well were the sets executing that Anita Wilson, Kim Martin, and Ellen Tubb earned a combined impressive 94 percent average.

The Bulldogs will take on Crane, the defending Class AA state champs next Tuesday night in the Bulldog gym. The Pack has met them twice previously and have experienced great competition from a good ball club.

The MHS J.V.'s nailed down their 17th straight victory by handling their opponents 15-2 and 15-9. Mary Raschke, Amy Grimes, Karen Graham, and Linda Winberly led their team as they rifled 23 of 26 spikes at the Eagles.

Tish Madison and Jean Huestis teamed up on their setting to direct their team to victory.

Helms Fractures Finger

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — Houston Astros infielder Tommy Helms suffered a fracture of the little finger on his right hand Saturday during an exhibition game between the Astros and Los Angeles Dodgers. Helms suffered the injury when he was struck by a pitch from Andy Messersmith, the starting Dodger pitcher. Helms returned to Houston for treatment.

In another incident in the game which Houston won 2-1 in 10 innings, Maury Wills, the Astros' specialty coach on base running, was ejected from the Houston dugout in the 10th inning. Wills was ejected by umpire Nick Colosi for apparently arguing about two balks called against Astros pitchers.

Battling Brothers UNIONDALE, N. Y. (AP) — The battling Bobick brothers, Duane and Rodney of Bowling, Minn., have been assigned new opponents for their 10-round co-feature heavyweight bouts at Nassau Coliseum Apr. 4.

Robinson Leads Bowling Tourney

Bowling

Jay Robinson of Los Angeles leads a five-man field by 36 pins going into today's final round of the $80,000 New Orleans Open Bowling Tournament.

Robinson, 31, won his only pro bowling title in 1973 and was seventh when the field of 192 was cut to 24 after 18 games. He later dropped to 18th, but powered his way to the top Friday, coming out with 9470 pins for 42 games . . .

Boxing

Herbert Muhammad said Friday that a Muhammed-All-Joe Bugner fight is a possibility for June but one deal which would have put the bout on home television has fallen through. . . .

Car Racing

Nick Craw, who gave up the leadership of the Peace Corps to become a full-time race driver, won a three-hour event for compact sedans at Sebring Friday.

Craw driving a BMW, completed 265.2 miles at an average of 87.21 miles per hour during the time limit. . . .

Horse Racing

No Advance, owned by Everett Lowrance, came out of the pack at midstretch and nosed out the favored Perfect Aim at the wire to win the $12,500 featured race at Oaklawn Park Friday. The winner covered the six furlongs of fast track in 1:10.25. . . .

Tennis

Top-seeded John Alexander advanced into the semifinals of the World Championship of Tennis Memphis Classic Friday with a 6-3, 7-5 victory over seventh-seeded Bob Lutz. . . .

Baseball

An agent for several Los Angeles Dodger baseball players was arrested Friday on drug possession charges after police found him passed out in his car.

Police say they have arrested Herbert Wilford Osmond, 33, of Newport Beach, Calif., and charged him with possession of marijuana, hashish and failure to have his motor vehicle under control. . . .

Basketball

Jim King, coach of the Athletics in Action, was named basketball coach at the University of Tulsa Friday. King, a popular player at Tulsa in the early 1960s and later a professional player, will replace Ken Hayes, who submitted his resignation earlier this month.

Football

Former All-American tackle Jerry Sismore was arrested on a drunken driving charge Friday after allegedly drinking three gallons of beer and, as he put it, was hurrying home to avoid hurting anybody.

Police Sgt. John Ross said Sismore told why he had been drinking and why he was in a rush to get home.

Those striped bass at Lake E. V. Spence seem to just keep getting larger and larger. Last week, Bill Matthews of Andrews landed the largest striped bass to be boated by a fisherman at the lake when he took a 20 1/4-lb. specimen off a trotline. This was only 13 1/4-lb. less than one caught in a survey netting by a Texas Parks and Wildlife biologist, and was well above the previous fisherman record of 18-lb., 11-oz. by Maurice and Bubba Duncan last November.

Almost every place at the lake reported striped bass, but there was a sprinkling of black bass and crappie.

Midlanders had good outings at Spence's Wildcat Fish-A-Rama including Mike Lawrence, 3-lb. striped bass;

Dwayne Beard, 3-lb. stripster; T. E. Armstrong, 3 1/4-lb. stripster, and Odessans Lyn Avis, 14-lb., 2-oz. stripster; Owen and Pete Jackson, four blacks to 1 1/4 lb. . . .

Fishermen also reported good catches at Oak Creek Lake. Andrews' Richard Palmer took a limit string with a 4-lb. bass the top fish. Don McNeil of Port Arthur caught six fish from 2 to 4 1/2-lb. and Ike Pate of the lake caught five bass with a 4-lb., 2-oz. catch the best. . . .

Warm weather has brought on a change of fishing technique to Amistad Lake near Del Rio. Bass are beginning to drift from the deep holes on the border lake to shallow water regions.

Fishermen are now beginning to put up their minnow buckets and plastic grubs and have begun to sharpen the hooks on spinner baits, and ready for the expected surge in shallow water fishing. . . .

A survey of bald eagle nests made in February by wildlife biologist John Smith revealed an additional nesting pair of eagles on the Louisiana border, which brings the statewide total to five pairs of nesting adult bald eagles.

The five nests contained seven fledgling eagles and this is the best reproduction of eagles in Texas in the last eight years. Two nests are located in the Victoria area, and two more in the Houston area, with the new nest found in Orange County. . . .

A new Texas state fish record for sandbar shark has been set, bettering the old mark by some 21 pounds. Joey Vermeulen of Corpus Christi landed a 160-lb., seven-foot, two-inch sandbar five miles out of Port Aransas. The shark had a girth of 41 inches.

Campers who use tents this spring are asked to be careful. A lantern or stove in a tent for heat can turn it into an inferno in seconds.

Unfortunately, according to officials, most tents are neither flame resistant nor flame retardant. In fact, most tents are dangerous since the substances used for waterproofing are highly flammable.

Longhorns Sweep Pair From SMU

DALLAS (AP) — Keith Moreland hit home runs in both games as Texas swept a Southwest Conference baseball doubleheader from Southern Methodist Saturday, 6-4 and 5-0, to give the Longhorns 12 straight league victories.

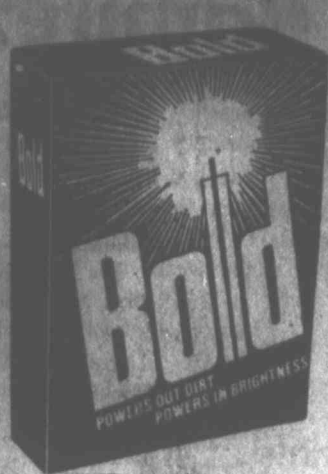

Moreland's two-run homer in the sixth inning of the first game gave Texas a 6-0 lead, but SMU made the game close with a run in the sixth and three in the seventh. Richard Wortham of Odessa got his seventh straight victory of the season in the opener.

In the nightcap, Longhorn pitchers Martin Flores and Terry Ray shut out the Mustangs on six hits and struck out 14 SMU batters, 11 of them by Flores in five innings.

NTSU Captures Track Victory

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — North Texas State, led by John Gifford's double win in the long jump and triple jump, won 11 of 17 events to overpower Southern Methodist and McNeese State in a triangular track meet Saturday.

The host Eagles had 93 1/2 points to 59 for McNeese and 24 1/2 for SMU.

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — Passport and visa problems have delayed former world heavyweight boxing champion George Foreman's trip to South Africa by three days, sources here said Saturday night.

He was due today but now is not expected until Wednesday.

Foreman was scheduled to make a public appearance at a boxing tournament in Durban Monday night. Instead, world light heavyweight champion Victor Galinder of Argentina, who will defend his title in Johannesburg against Pierre Fourie of South Africa April 5, will give a four-round exhibition bout.

Foreman was also due to give an exhibition bout in Cape Town April 16 during a so-called multi-racial tournament. This means black and white fighters will box each other before a segregated audience of blacks and whites.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bombay Duck, a Triple Crown nominee owned by Roland Aristone Sr. and ridden by his son Menotti, won the $28,650 Hirsch Jacobs Stakes at Pimlico Saturday.

Paying $7.00, $3.40 and $3.60 as the second favorite, Bombay Duck won by a head over Robert Horton's Gallant Bob, the favorite, which paid $3.90 and $2.40.

Mason Sherr's Ben S., who set the pace on the first half mile, finished third, four lengths further back, and paid $5 to show.

Menotti Aristone, who has ridden many stakes winners for his father, attempted to run the colt along the rail and was successful until the top of the stretch when the opening was closed by Ben S.'s rider, Jack Kurts.

Gallant Bob held on gamely, but Bombay Duck took over just before the wire, posting a winning time of 1:11.4.

The Hirsch Jacobs Stakes, Pimlico's newest stake, was Bombay Duck's second start of the year.

The Kentucky-bred horse has now won six of 12 starts and Saturday's purse of $18,622 increased his total earnings to $150,115.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The New York Mets obtained veteran relief pitcher Ken Sanders from the California Angels Saturday in exchange for catcher Ike Hampton in a minor league trade.

Sanders was assigned to the Mets' Tidewater farm club in the International League and Hampton will join the Angels' Salt Lake City club in the Pacific Coast League.

Sanders, 34, has pitched for Kansas City, Boston, Oakland, Milwaukee, Minnesota, Cleveland and California, compiling a 27-42 career record. He was the American League's Fireman of the Year in 1971 when he made 83 appearances out of the bullpen for Milwaukee.

Bruno Sparkles In Owl Drills

HOUSTON (AP) — Third string quarterback Mike Bruno connected on nine of 14 passes for 155 yards Saturday during a Rice University spring training football scrimmage.

Two other quarterbacks looked good. Tommy Kramer hit on nine of 15 for 114 yards and Claude Reed connected on eight of 13 for 109 yards.

Blak Kern, a freshman, scored a pair of touchdowns, both on short runs, and Nick Spillone, a converted defensive back, ran 24 yards for another.

Austrian Wins Dual Ski Crowns

CORTISEL, Italy (AP) — Austrian Monika Kaserer survived a thrilling race to win the dual slalom on parallel courses ever experimented in World Cup skiing.

Miss Kaserer, 22, beat Italy's Claudia Giordani in the thrilling final of an event which proved highly spectacular for fans but dangerous for skiers.

Nine out of 30 women fell. They seemed to be more concerned with the opponent sking at their side than of the gates.

Saturday's race, which marked Miss Kaserer's lone victory of the season, was sort of a rehearsal for the men's dual slalom, the last Cup race which will decide the title Sunday.

It will be an exciting duel to the very last gate among Italy's triple Cup winner, Guslavo Thoenl, Swedish rising star Ingemar Stenmark and Austrian downhill super ace Franz Klammer, all tied at 240 points in the standings. Thoenl and Stenmark, slalom specialists, appeared to have better chances for victory.

But Saturday's race proved dual slalom is very risky and open to upsets. Some of the best slalom women were soon out of the competition owing to spills. Klammer therefore has reason to hope for a turn of good luck.

"The main problem in dual slalom is that you can't concentrate as much with your opponent running at your side. You can hardly resist the temptation to look at her or him. This can cause falls or mistakes," said Cindy Nelson of Lutzen, Minn., who was out of Saturday's event in the elimination round.

The other American girls in the race, Linda Cochran of Richmond, Va., and Abigail Fisher of South Conway, N.H., were also eliminated on their first runs.

Annemarie Moser-Proell, the Austrian wonder who this year took the World Cup for an unprecedented fifth straight time, placed fifth in the dual slalom behind third-placed Fabienne Serrat of France and Marie Therese Nadig of Switzerland.

She restated that this would be her last World Cup as she was putting an end to her fabulous career to devote more time to her husband and raising a family.

Playing the end low-key, the Austrian girl said after crossing the finish line: "This was my last race. I do not plan to keep on until next year's Olympic Games at Innsbruck. My husband agreed on my decision to quit."

Stenmark, the 18-year-old Swede who has a chance to score the first-ever big Scandinavian success in alpine skiing, said he did not like dual slalom and that he would have preferred a traditional race to decide the Cup.

Thoenl also disliked the idea to put a whole season at stake in a race never experimented before.

"However I think the slalom specialist could emerge anyway and that final victory should be an affair between Stenmark and myself," he said.

Roberts Gains Tourney Lead

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP) — Sue Roberts shot a four-under-par 68 and gained a two-stroke lead after the first round of the $48,000 Bing Crosby-San Isidro Ladies' Professional Golfers' Association Tournament Friday.

The 26-year-old Miss Roberts, of West Palm Beach, Fla., more than overcame three bogeys with seven birdies.

"I missed several sure puts," said Miss Roberts, who lived up to her reputation of being one of the longest hitters on the tour by missing only two greens. "I used just about every club in my bag," she said.

Susie McAllister of Beaumont, Tex., fired a two-under-par 70 and was in second place in the chase for the first prize of $6,400.

Vivian Brownlee, Mary Mills and Sandra Post were tied for third place with par 72s.

COACH OF YEAR — Sonny Allen, Old Dominion University basketball coach, was named AP's College Division Coach of the Year today. Davis looks over NCAA Division II trophy won by his team last week in Evansville, Ind. (AP Wirephoto).

AP COLLEGE DIVISION HONOR— Allen Is Named Coach Of Year

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — As Old Dominion Monarchs win early as when he was playing the NCAA Division II South Atlantic Region tournament and a berth in the Division II national championship at Evansville, Ind.

"I was looking at my high school yearbook and it said my ambition was to be a basketball coach. I always liked sports when I was a kid," Allen said Saturday after being named college division basketball coach of the year by The Associated Press.

The honor came just two weeks after Allen celebrated his birthday by watching his team give Allen the national title in the form of a 76-74 victory over New Orleans.

The national championship was the climax of a 10-year career at Old Dominion in which the Monarchs have posted a 181-94 record under the Marshall University graduate. His 1971 team went to the national finals, only to lose to Evansville's hometown Purple Aces.

This year's 25-6 record included a 19-1 mark against college division foes, a 6-5 ledger against Division I teams and victories over six clubs which in the past had won national championships of one kind or another.

At the time of his birthday, Allen said "I'd have settled for the regional." The feeling didn't last long—just six days.

"That's what every coach looks forward to, a national championship," Allen said. "I think it's great to win that championship and then win coach of the year. I think they ought to wait until the season is over to pick one."

Ironically, Allen twice has been named coach of the year in District 3 by the National Association of Basketball Coaches in seasons he didn't win the regional title—1970 and 1974.

The district award this season went to Paul Webb of Randolph-Macon, who compiled a 27-3 record with two of the losses to Old Dominion.

Old Dominion last year announced plans to move up to Division I in 1976-77, but Allen said "it's not definite. We're making an effort to get into the Southern Conference and we'd go Division I if we were admitted."

"We're going to review the possibility of going Division I as an independent if that doesn't happen, but we'll definitely be Division II next year."

That's bad news for other Division II teams because Allen already has said next year's team—with three sophomore starters back—could be as good as this year's squad, which he finally admitted was the best he's ever had.

But Allen wouldn't rule out the possibility he'd leave Old Dominion "if the right opportunity presented itself."

On that subject he said: "I'm always looking to better myself. I'm happy here, but if something turned up in the next few weeks, I'd certainly listen to it."

Durr, Navratilova Take Net Victories

DALLAS (AP) — France's Francoise Durr and Martina Navratilova of Czechoslovakia advanced to the semifinals of the Maureen Conolly Brinker women's tennis tournament here Friday with victories over American opponents.

Second-seed Evonne Goolagong met Julie Heldman of Houston and fourth-seed Virginia Wade played No. 5 Olga Morozova of Russia in other quarter-finals matches Friday night.

The eighth-seeded Miss Durr defeated Terry Holladay of La Jolla, Calif., 6-3, 6-0 and Miss Navratilova, seeded third, nipped Sue Stap of Deerfield, Ill., 7-5, 6-4.

Miss Durr returned service superbly in stopping Miss Holladay, who was ahead of top-seeded Margaret Court when the Australian retired because of injury Wednesday night. Durr has lost just 14 games in six sets during the tournament.

Navratilova lost service four times in her match with Stap, who hit several winning returns of serves. But Stap double faulted 10 times and was broken in six games to lose the match.

Chicago Is Looking For Top Pitchers

B-T Correspondent

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. — The Chicago Cubs' three minor league affiliates start their exhibition season today and hope, for them, it will be the Year of the Pitcher. If you'll pardon borrowing something from the Chinese.

Obviously, many among the 23 right-handers and southpaws working out here never will make it to the big time. But there is a general feeling among the Cub people that this new generation of Cub pitchers is an omen of better things. It's an axiom that pennants come from superb pitching.

If a minor league camp ever had a theme, the one here doubtless would be: "Let's Pitch It." This, of course, can't match the lyrical quality of the yearly prediction of Ernie Banks, the perennial Cub, who now is going around and exclaiming:

"The Cubs will live in '75." Vedio Hines, the Cubs' veteran director of scouting, cautiously suggests that pitching may be in the ascendency.

"We're looking for some pleasant surprises among the young men here," said Vedio. "We hope it is significant that our pitching staff at Bradenton, Fla., had the best earned run average in the Gulf Coast Rookie League. Later on in 1974 our pitchers had a combined 2.53 average in 58 games to lead the Arizona Instructional League."

One of the top lads in the New Generation is Bruce Sutter, 21, a right hander who was promoted from Midland of the Texas League to the Cubs' Spring training roster. Bruce enjoyed these three phases in 1974: 1.35 ERA with Key West in 40 innings; 1.44 with Midland in 25 innings; 0.90 in 30 innings in the Arizona Instructional League.

Sutter, with only 68 professional innings, excluding the Instructional League last year, was an apt pupil of Fred Martin, the Cubs' minor league pitching coach and a former St. Louis Cardinals' pitcher.

Martin has introduced two new deliveries — the off-center slider and the split finger fast ball. The terminology is Fred's. In the split finger fast ball the index and third fingers cradle the ball, but the spread isn't as wide as with the old fork ball. As a result, asserts Fred, the pitch has more velocity and abruptly sinks from 6 to 3 inches.

The pitching coach declares that the off-center slider prevents wear and tear on the arm, eliminating the twisting motion of the traditional slider. A right-hander grasps the ball to the right of center and delivers with the same motion as with a fast ball, producing results as gratifying, if not more so, than when the twisting technique is used. Most of the Cubs' minor league pitchers now are working on this version of the slider.

Wichita's Aeros and the Midland Cubs are opponents here today in one of the exhibition inaugurals. In the other one, the Key West Conchs of the Florida State League are matched against Theford Mines, Class AA affiliate of the Milwaukee Brewers. Identity of the Theford Mines club, a mystery for several days, finally was solved after a close study of the North American map.

Theford Mines, it was revealed, is a tiny city northeast of Montreal, in the province of Quebec, and a new member of the Eastern League.

Dodgers Get Boost

For Winning NL Pennant In 1974

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's nice that management could see clear to help Dodger players stave off the specter of inflation with cost of living raises.

Since it comes to more than $15,000 a man, it means the players will be able to order crackers with their soup this year.

It stands to reason that the numbers are the biggest where the odds are shortest, and the Dodgers are 9-5 on the morning line to win the National League pennant.

With a pennant behind them, not to mention the third largest attendance figure in baseball history, the Dodgers might be the only team around that can pay the salaries they have signed to pay and still operate at a profit.

Where the Dodgers drew more than 2.5 million customers in 1974, the world champion Oakland A's brought in fewer than a million.

Maybe that has something to do with management losing its only arbitration case and having to fork over $56,000 to third baseman Ron Cey.

Still, Cey can't feel overly triumphant in view of other reported salaries on his club. He did hit a modest .252, but he drove in 97 runs and was one of the leaders in a first-half-of-the-season charge that left the challengers far behind.

By comparison, a reserve outfielder named Tom Paciorek, who hit .240, will receive $32,000, more than the Dodgers' arbitration offer on Cey ($27,000).

Other Dodger salaries look like they're five years ahead of the inflation rate.

They are unofficial because that's the way the Dodgers try to play the money game, quietly. And maybe it's none of our business, anyway.

But Bill Russell gets $70,000, according to reports; Bill Buckner, $75,000; Steve Garvey, $90,000; and Jim Wynn, $105,000.

Garvey's raise is 100 per cent, proving once again it's nice to be named the league's most valuable player.

Four pitchers, two of them representing the unsigned list, are stories in themselves.

Tommy John, unsigned, is being offered $70,000. He wants $90,000 even though he might not even be able to pitch following an operation on his left arm. He had a 13-3 record and a 2.59 earned run average before the injury last season.

The Dodgers are in the strange position of being asked to pay him the equivalent of

Stapler Sparks Lee Volleyball Team To Victory

The Lee girls volleyball team polished off Big Spring, 15-10 and 15-4 Friday behind the strong offense showing of Susan Stapler, a junior spiker and Julie Nagle.

Coach Linda Weikel's Rebels played well and got strong play from Ann Higgins, a senior and sophomore Zelma Moseley.

Donna Hollans and Cynthia Lane played well on defense for Lee which is 3-3 in loop play with two of those victories coming in the second half of action.

The Lee junior varsity raised its record to 5-1 in loop play by posting a 15-13, 15-6 victory over the Steers.

They came from a 9-1 deficit to win the first set, according to Miss Weikel.

Lee's next action will be Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. when it entertains Abilene High in a JV game with the varsity contest to follow.

Lee faces undefeated MHS either Thursday or Friday in the Midland Gym. Both Miss Weikel and Jo Ann Martin have not agreed on the day since the spring vacation break comes at this time.

Armstrong 1974 NFL Rushing Champion

NEW YORK (AP) — It's official now. Ote Armstrong really did dominate the individual rushing charts during the 1974 National Football League season.

Armstrong, Denver's 196-pound running back, won the individual title by gaining 1,407 yards during the season, according to official statistics released Saturday by the NFL. He is only the fifth player in league history to top the 100-yards-per-game average. The others are Jim Brown, Jim Taylor, Jim Nance and O. J. Simpson.

Armstrong also had the best average with 5.3 yards for each of his 263 attempts and the best one-game performance with 183 yards on 31 attempts in a Dec. 8 game against the Houston Oilers.

With Armstrong as anchor-man, the American Conference took four of the top five spots in individual rushing. Don Woods of San Diego was No. 2 with 1,162 and a 5.1 average on 227 attempts and Buffalo's Simpson was third with 1,125 and 4.3 on 270 attempts. Lawrence McCutcheon of the Los Angeles Rams was fourth overall and No. 1 in the National Conference with 1,109 yards and a 4.7 average on 236 attempts. The AFC's Franco Harris of Pittsburgh was the only other 1,000-yard rusher. He finished fifth with 1,000 yards and a 4.8 average in 208 attempts.

Dallas took the rushing crown with 2,454 yards on 543 attempts and a 4.5 average. Pittsburgh won the AFC rushing title with 2,417 yards on 545 attempts and a 4.4 average.

Armstrong's teammate, Jon Keyworth, scored the most touchdowns on the run for the AFC — 19 — but Philadelphia's Tom Sullivan led all rushers with 11.

New England's Sam Cunningham and St. Louis's Terry Metcalf shared honors for endurance. Both ran 75 yards for touchdowns, Cunningham against Buffalo on Oct. 29 and Metcalf against Washington on Sept. 22.

Kansas State In Track Win

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Kansas State completely dominated the distance events Saturday to nip Texas 69-66 in a dual track meet here.

Despite the loss, Texas set school records in the shot put and discus, with Dana LeDuc posting a 66-foot, 8 inch standard in the shot put and Jim McGoldrick sailing the discus 202 feet, 3 inches.

Each team won eight first places in the meet, but the Wildcats gained the advantage when Jeff Schemmel, Ted Settle and Chris Perez finished 1-2-3 in the two-mile. Then Perez and Schemmel took first and second in the mile.

Texas kept the meet close by winning both sprint races and both relays.

Southwark Star Captures Irish Sweepstakes Win

DONCASTER, England (AP) — Southwark Star, an untested black mare, took advantage of a sloppy track and won the Irish Sweepstakes Lincoln Handicap Saturday and enriched a half-dozen sweepstakes ticket holders by $120,000.

Prizes of $48,000 go to those who drew the second horse, Flying Nelly, in the sweepstakes, and $34,000 to holders of Dawlish, who was third.

If all the Irish Sweepstakes ticket holders had watched the race, their hearts would have been in their mouths as the 24 runners jostled in a bunch over the first half of the one-mile course. It was anybody's

Then jockey Richard Fox urged Southwark Star, a 33-1 outsider, forward. She went into the lead with Flying Nelly chasing her and suddenly the race was between these two mares.

Southwark Star finished 1 1/2 lengths ahead of Flying Nelly, a highly fancied 9-1 shot. Dawlish, running at 11-1, was another six lengths behind.

The newly-cit half-dozen can raise a glass to Southwark Star, the first mare to win the race since 1963, and can thank their lucky stars for the changeable English weather.

LEE FALTERS TO TRAIL BY 21 STROKES—

Permian, Angelo Lead

SAN ANGELO — Odessa Permian climbed into a tie with San Angelo here Friday at the San Angelo Country Club as the District 5-4A golf race ended second round action.

Permian managed a 288 Friday to wipe out a four-stroke

San Angelo lead and now both teams hold a firm lead over third place Midland Lee with a 618.

Lee, also four strokes back heading into the action, could manage only a 314, to fall 21 strokes back of the leaders, but still kept third place.

San Angelo No. 2 moved into fourth with a 649 total and Midland High climbed from sixth to fifth with a fine 310 round Friday for a two-round score of 650.

San Angelo's Randy Waterhouse kept the lead in the medalist race with a 70, but Permian's Vince Vines cut 12 strokes off his first round last week with a 69 to move within three strokes of the lead.

Lee's Chris Brown, who was just one-stroke of the medalist lead, fell into a tie for fifth with San Angelo's Bill Dodd. Both own 154. Permian's Hilton Chancellor and teammate Len Peemster own third with 153.

Kirk Branum leads Midland High with a 180, but Greg Lutke had the best round Friday with a 75 and stands at 162.

Brown led Lee with a 76 and Windall Fallin had a 77. The next tournament on the tour will be in Abilene Friday with action scheduled for a 9 a.m. start.

Expos Need More Hitting

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Dave McNally is now pitching for the Montreal Expos and he'll soon find out that it's not like pitching for the Baltimore Orioles.

The Expos have strengthened their pitching staff with the acquisition of Baltimore's 20-game winner, but at the same time have weakened their hitting.

During the off-season, Montreal General Manager Jim Fanning made several trades and methodically destroyed the Expos' offense in the process—leaving only Mike Jorgensen (.310, 59 RBI) and Bob Bailey (.280, 20 home runs, 73 RBI) as the only legitimate bats in the middle of their lineup.

Gene are such run-producers as Ken Singleton, Willie Davis, Ron Fairly and Ron Hunt. The Expos also rid themselves of other well-known local names including Jim Lytle, Boots Day and Ron Woods, leaving a lot of openings on the roster.

The swing this season at Montreal is to youth—and springtime optimism.

"We really don't know who's going to make our ballclub this year," says Fanning. "It's easier now to see the players coming and we're at that stage in our organization where they're coming fast."

"We've made room for them in that we've cleared out a lot of other players and pretty well told them the door is open. If I were a young ballplayer in this camp, I'd believe I had a real good chance to make the team."

One of those players admirably assured of positions. With McNally aboard, the pitching isn't bad—but it'll have to be better than that to win with this team. The starters are McNally, Steve Rogers, Ernie Renko, Dennis Blair and Steve McNally. Dale Murray, Chuck Taylor and John Montague will be in the bullpen and they'd better be ready because the starters aren't going to get much with which to work.

Along with Carter, pitcher Don Stanhouse, infielder Pete Mackanin and outfielder Rich Coggins are results of the Expo youth drive. And there'll be plenty of other eager young players looking for jobs, since only Bailey in left field, Jorgensen at first base, Tim Foli at shortstop and Barry Frier behind the plate appear to be virtually assured of positions. With McNally aboard, the pitching isn't bad—but it'll have to be better than that to win with this team. Mackanin came from Texas in the deal for Davis and will get a shot at third base. He batted .291 at Spokane last season. Hunt's replacement at second base will probably be Larry Lintz, with Jim Cox and Pepe Frias also available.

San Antonio Gets WFL 11

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — San Antonio has a franchise in the World Football League for the coming season, the San Antonio News has reported.

But the News said such a franchise is surrounded by a large number of "ifs" No. 1 on the list of "ifs" is "if" the World Football League will have a coming season.

It won't be until April 11 that the league's future is really known. If eight or more franchise owners come up with the necessary cash by that date, an official announcement will be made in New York, the News quoted league officials as saying. Chris Hemmeter, newly appointed WFL president, met with a dozen or so San Antonio and Bexar County leaders Friday, the News said. Hemmeter said the league has worked for months to get together a "solid and safe" plan that should insure the future of the WFL and provide a different foundation and image than the league displayed last season.

Before leaving San Antonio for a meeting, the newspaper said, Hemmeter assured San Antonio businessmen Norm Bevan and Harry Lander, a former high school football coach here, that a world football league franchise is theirs.

Steve Rogers ... Expo hurler

HONOLULU (AP) — National Football League owners gave evidence here they will be just as tough as their employees when negotiations resume soon with the NFL Players Association.

Payments into the pension fund, normally made annually on Mar. 31, will not be made this year until agreement is reached in collective bargaining, a spokesman said.

That could take several months with negotiations not expected to start until mid-April at the earliest. Management paid $4.43 million into the fund for the year ending Mar. 31, 1974, but the spokesman said no payment will be made this Mar. 31.

"As I see it, payments will be made when there is a new contract," Commissioner Pete Rozelle commented as the owners' annual meeting ended here Friday.

UTEP Sweeps Pair From Denver Nine

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Roy Stringer's run-scoring single in the first extra inning gave Texas-El Paso a 2-1 victory over Denver in the first game of a college baseball double-header Friday, and the Miners also went on to win the second game 16-2.

The first game was tied 1-1 after the regulation seven innings before Stringer slapped a single to score Glenn Villarreal. Villarreal and Keith Rushing led the Miners at bat in the second game, getting three runs-batted-in apiece.

Expos At A Glance

1974 finish—Fourth in the National League East. Strengths—Strong starting pitchers, headed by former Baltimore ace Dave McNally; speed on the bases and plenty of young, eager players. Weaknesses—No hitting punch, questionable defense and questionmarks at many starting positions. New faces—McNally, one-time 20-game winner for Baltimore, is the best of the newcomers and should hold a starting spot; Ernie Renko, a starting pitcher, is expected to supply some of the hitting punch lost with the trades of Ken Singleton and Willie Davis.

NFL Owners Are Tough Customers

Payments for the past year are considered by management to be a matter of negotiations, but the owners fully expect the pension segment of the 1974-75 period to be covered when and if a new labor contract is signed.

John Thompson, executive director of the NFL management council which negotiates for the NFL, said the four-year sum offered last fall was $25 million—an increase of $6 million over the aggregate for the previous four years.

In a letter to the NFL Players Association, Thompson said: "Clearly, the 1970 agreement did not establish a continuing or surviving obligation for pension contributions in any specified amount beyond March 31, 1974. Accordingly, the clubs intend to make a pension contribution as soon as we have negotiated a new collective bargaining agreement."

Pensions constitute the largest of the money problems facing the negotiators. But the largest stumbling block remains to be the so-called Rozelle Rule for compensating teams which lose men who switch clubs after playing the option year of their contract.

Whichever club signs such a player generally must give up a player or draft choices to the other club. The players claim this inhibits free trade and have gone to court on the issue.

Snyder, Coronado In Tourney Finals

ANDREWS — Snyder and Lubbock Coronado advanced to the finals of the 11th annual Mustang Invitational Baseball Tournament with victories Friday.

Snyder came from behind to defeat defending 2-AAA champ Pecos, 7-5, while Coronado edged by Lamesa, 5-4, with two runs in the seventh inning.

In the loser's bracket contests, Kermit tied Seminole 5-5, but won a coin flip after the time limit rule to earn the right to play for the consolation title against Artesia, N.M., who defeated host Andrews, 7-1, in the other loser's game.

Lamesa and Pecos will meet in the third place game.

Association, Thompson said: "Clearly, the 1970 agreement did not establish a continuing or surviving obligation for pension contributions in any specified amount beyond March 31, 1974. Accordingly, the clubs intend to make a pension contribution as soon as we have negotiated a new collective bargaining agreement."

Management believes the compensation rule must be part of collective bargaining. A year ago, a players strike ended in an impasse with no contract and no agreement. Players did go back to work in a truce following the second preseason game.

In final action here, the owners approved the preseason 1975 slate with individual clubs to make their own announcements.

Put off until a spring meeting in May or June at New York were such items as renewing the contract for the annual college All-Star game at Chicago following this fall's contest, player limits, the Pro Bowl city for 1976, and a possible substitute for coin flips before games to decide which team kicks off or receives.

Gideon Throws No-Hit Jewel At SMU Nine

DALLAS (AP) — Jim Gideon hurled the 11th no-hitter in University of Texas history Friday to give the Longhorns a 6-0 baseball victory over Southern Methodist and push the Longhorns' Southwest Conference record to 10-9.

Gideon, a junior with a 7-0 season record, struck out 11 Mustangs and was kept from a perfect game only by a hit baseman in the sixth inning and a walk in the seventh.

Texas went into the game with a .338 team batting average in conference play, but the Longhorns were held to five hits by Mustang pitchers Mike Hall and Randy Johnson.

Keith Moreland blasted a two-run home run in the seventh inning to lead the Texas attack.

The victory was Gideon's first no-hitter as a collegian, and Texas' first since Richard Wortham beat Texas Tech in 1973.

Texas now has a 21-3 season record.

TCU Takes 9-7 Victory

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — TCU exploded for six runs in the seventh inning, highlighted by Gene Burton's bases-loaded single and Tom Rioridan's two-run double, and the Horned Frogs went on to a 9-7 Southwest Conference baseball victory over Baylor here Friday.

TCU took a 3-0 lead in the first inning on back-to-back homers, a two-run blast by Danny Twardowski and a solo clout by Tommy Crain.

Baylor came back with a run in the third on a homer by Pee Wee Serna and a four-run sixth inning climaxed by Duncan Shanklin's two-run double.

After TCU's big seventh inning, Serna hit a two-run homer for Baylor in the eighth frame to cut the final margin to two.

Chad Utley got the victory for TCU in relief. Dub Kilgo lost his first decision of the season after six straight victories.

Both teams are now 6-4 in conference play. TCU is 15-5 for the season and Baylor 17-5.

Bowley Hits Two Homers In Tech Win

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Mike Bowley hit two homers and knocked in nine runs Friday as five Southwest Conference baseball records were broken in a 20-7 victory by Texas Tech over Rice.

Winds gusting to 43 miles per hour broke the back of the Owls, whose pitchers had seven wild pitches and walked 17 Red Raiders.

Bowley's performance broke the old conference RBI record of eight. He had a grand slam homer, a solo homer, a three-run double and a bases-loaded walk.

Other records set by Tech were most runs by a team (9) and most team RBIs (25). Gary Ashby, who knocked in five runs and had four hits, tripled three times to tie the league record.

Mike Macha had four RBIs and four hits, including a homer, to lead Rice hitting.

Jon Davidson went all the way to pick up the victory for Tech although he allowed 11 Rice hits. James Emmens, the first of four Owl pitchers, was the loser.

Baylor came back with a run in the third on a homer by Pee Wee Serna and a four-run sixth inning climaxed by Duncan Shanklin's two-run double.

After TCU's big seventh inning, Serna hit a two-run homer for Baylor in the eighth frame to cut the final margin to two.

Chad Utley got the victory for TCU in relief. Dub Kilgo lost his first decision of the season after six straight victories.

Both teams are now 6-4 in conference play. TCU is 15-5 for the season and Baylor 17-5.

West Texas Motocross Set

The Midland Westside Optimist Club's giant West Texas $10,000 Motocross, set for March 29-30, is already off to a fast start.

More than 490 riders have already entered the event with Motocross officials reporting more than 15 entries coming in per day.

Over 30 of the world's top riders have already entered the affair with entries coming from Holland, Finland and most of the states in the United States.

The two-day affair will be held 3 1/2 miles west on Highway 80. Action begins at 11 a.m. Saturday and noon on Sunday.

Three divisions of competition will be held with beginners, juniors and intermediates.

This will be the largest motocross race ever held in West Texas and is one of the highlight motocross events in the state.

The expert riders will receive a guaranteed $10,000 purse with approximately $3,000 worth of trophies going to the Beginner, Junior and Intermediate riders.

The Lee Booster Club will show a color film of the triple overtime Lee-Kashmere semifinal basketball game at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Lee cafeteria.

Any one who is interested in viewing the color presentation is invited to attend.

Lee dropped a 52-47 triple overtime game in the Rams in the first round of the Class AAAA state tourney two weeks ago and it was their 7th straight win. Kashmere went on to win state and rack up a 46-9 record.

"This team is maturing and has a goal, to be the best team in baseball," explained coach Tom Lasorda. "This team has plenty of talent, plenty of hitting and it's matured. They've proved what they can do, with one exception. That's why we have a goal. They haven't gotten lax and they won't until after the World Series is won."

Boston's only hit against St. Louis was a leadoff single by Jim Rice off Forsch in the fifth inning. Moore issued three walks in the ninth but induced Danny Cater to bounce into a game-ending double play.

Enos Cabell drilled a run-scoring double and scored on Bob Watson's single as Houston's other squad jumped on Minnesota's Dave Goltz for all three runs in the first inning. Cincinnati broke a tie against Detroit with four runs in the sixth inning with the help of secutive exhibition triumph.

Second baseman Derrel Thomas collected three hits in San Francisco's victory over Milwaukee, their sixth consecutive exhibition triumph.

Goodrich Service Center Wins Basketball Crown

Goodrich Service Center won Clyde McLaughlin sparked the Men's Basketball League Tuboscope with 20.

Goodrich finished the season with a 10-1 record while Tuboscope is runnerup with 9-2 mark.

The Park Center YMCA finished third behind Goodrich and Tuboscope with an 8-2 record according to Dave Maddox, Superintendent of Recreation.

Angels Down Cubs, 6-4

Dodgers Showing Plenty Of Muscle, Determination

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Cubs refused to use a rule which applies to us during the season."

Elsewhere, the day was a disaster for the New York Mets beleaguered pitching staff and a boon for some former Mets.

While the red-hot Los Angeles Dodgers were cuffing three Met hurlers for 15 hits en route to a 13-5 rout, ex-Met Nolan Ryan and ex-Met farmhand Hudson yielded one run in six innings in California's victory over the Cubs, ex-Met Tommy Moore combined with Bob Forsch to pitch a one-hitter as the St. Louis Cardinals blanked the Boston Red Sox 3-0 and ex-Met star Gary Gentry limited a split Houston squad to two hits in four innings as the Atlanta Braves defeated the Astros 5-1.

In other games, the rest of the Astros blanked the Minnesota Twins 3-0, the Cincinnati Reds downed the Detroit Tigers 5-3, the Philadelphia Phillies edged the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3 in 10 innings, the Oakland A's beat the San Diego Padres 4-2, a split Kansas City squad thumped the New York Yankees 8-4 while the rest of the Royals blanked the Chicago White Sox 3-0, the Montreal Expos nipped the Texas Rangers 6-5 and the San Francisco Giants bopped the Milwaukee Brewers 4-1.

Gentry, a hard-throwing right-hander who underwent arm surgery last July, blanked the Astros over the first four innings to run his scoreless string to nine innings this spring. He walked two and struck out three.

"He's been consistent, good stuff and velocity and he's made a remarkable comeback from two operations," said Manager Clyde King.

"He threw pretty well," said Houston second baseman Tommie Helms. "It's not like he was with the Mets, but he was throwing good, especially coming off an operation like that."

The Dodgers ran their winning streak to seven in a row—10-4 for the spring—as Ron Cey slugged a two-run homer and Bill Buckner and Tom Paciorek each tripled. Randy Sterling, Harry Parker and Jeff Groat were the luckless Met pitchers.

The Dodgers apparently have something to prove after being blown out in five World Series games by Oakland.

"This team is maturing and has a goal, to be the best team in baseball," explained coach Tom Lasorda. "This team has plenty of talent, plenty of hitting and it's matured. They've proved what they can do, with one exception. That's why we have a goal. They haven't gotten lax and they won't until after the World Series is won."

Arkansas Trips Texas A&M

Arkansas scored three runs in a bizarre second inning Friday and went on to beat Texas A&M 4-1 in a Southwest Conference baseball game.

Texas A&M grabbed a 1-0 lead in the second inning on a triple by Mike Schraeder and an infield out.

Arkansas had scored one run on an error and had two men on in the bottom of the second when second baseman David Wood singled, but got caught in a rundown. During the rundown, the second run scored. The Razorbacks added another run on a single by Bill Montgomery.

Arkansas added an insurance run in the sixth inning as Ralph Bradbury singled home Tyrre Dunlap.

Arkansas is 4-1 in the SWC and A&M is 4-3 in league play.

Class AA state champion George West placed 8-10 forward Evelyn Troell and 5-11 guard Susan Doebbler on the first AA team and 5-6 guard Cheryl Pugh on the second squad.

Hrebec Upsets Cox In Meet

MEMPHIS (AP) — Unseeded Jiri Hrebec of Czechoslovakia, still looking for his first tour victory, breezed to a 6-3, 6-3 upset of Mark Cox Saturday afternoon to advance to the finals of the World Championship of Tennis Memphis Classic.

Hrebec will meet the winner of Saturday night's match between top-seeded John Alexander and fifth-seeded Harold Solomon in today's nationally televised final of the $64,000 tournament.

Hrebec, a 24-year-old right-hander, combined a strong forehand with crucial drop shots and hit flawlessly on long volleys to whip Cox, a 31-year-old Briton who won the Red Group title last Sunday in Washington, D.C.

Here's Tire Quality Designed To Meet Inflation Head-On

$15.50

878-13 blackwall plus $1.88 F.E.T. and old tire

All-Weather 78

The all new All-Weather 78 gives you honest quality in every detail. The bias-ply body is built with polyester cord that is first tempered in an exclusive Goodyear process to set the cord at optimum strength and resilience. The wide 78-series tread is "reverse molded"—a technique borrowed from race tire production—to help assure full flat contact with the road. The rib-type tread is well-grooved and exposes plenty of traction edges for a decisive grip. Why settle for a retread or a blem when Goodyear now the quality is so competitively priced. Get the All-Weather 78. It's available now in sizes to fit most cars.

Funk, Stevens Top Card In Ector County Coliseum

ODESSA — Dory Funk Jr. and Ray Stevens battle in the big headline at the Ector County Coliseum Tuesday to start a spicy wrestling card in the main event.

Scott Casey and Bobby Jagers battle in another top bout while in a tag team match, Black Gordon and E; Gran Goliath take on Echief Big Heart and Jerry Kozak.

Promoter Pat O'Dowdy also has the Lawman and Golden Hawk on tap to battle in a one-fall match.

First bout begins at 8:30 p.m.

Ringside seats are $3, general admission $2 and children $1, according to O'Dowdy.

Atlanta 500—Petty Seeking Another Crown

HAMPTON, Ga. (AP) — Richard Petty, taking advantage of a clock malfunction that cost David Pearson the fastest lap of the day, steered his Dodge into the pole position Friday for today's Atlanta 500 stock car race.

Petty, still seeking his first victory in this 500-mile spring event at Atlanta International Raceway, toured the 1.53-mile asphalt oval at 159.029 miles per hour.

Pearson, driving a Mercury, was clocked unofficially at 159.836 m.p.h. but the official timing devices failed to print on that lap and the Spartanburg, S.C., veteran had to take his second lap speed of 158.285 m.p.h.

Track officials allowed Pearson to change to a new set of tires for another lap, but he didn't even approach his speed posted earlier in the time trials.

"That's my luck here," mumbled Pearson, who will start fourth in today's $121,000 event.

Pearson said there was no way the second set of tires made the effort equal to the first, "because we had already picked out the best set we had the first time. Besides the car got hot, everything got hot."

The Allison brothers, Bobby and Donnie, both clocked Pearson at 159.836 and Petty had him at a slightly slower speed, but still faster than the pole-winning time.

"He just didn't stick as good the second time," Petty said of Pearson's extra lap. "He just flat missed the groove in the third and fourth turns."

Petty was asked if he could have run faster had Pearson's fastest time been recorded. The all-time stock car racing king smiled and said, "I would have had to run faster than I did."

Asked if he could have, Petty replied, "I have. Let's just say it's a good thing the (timer) missed Pearson, isn't it?"

Allison earned the second spot in the front row, qualifying his Matador at 159.923 m.p.h.

The second row includes Buddy Baker, who drove a Ford to a 158.806 clocking, and Pearson.

The third row spots went to Lenzie Pond in a Chevrolet at 158.102 and Johnny Rutherford, last year's Indianapolis 500 winner, in a Chevrolet at 157.632.

Donnie Allison claimed the seventh position at 157.253 in a Chevrolet and Jody Ridley was next in a Ford at 156.826.

Daytona 600 winner Benny Parsons claimed the ninth place in a Chevrolet at 156.755 and will line up beside the A. J. Foyt Chevrolet which was qualified at 156.504 by Jackie Rogers.

Tourney Winners — Mrs. Tom Welch, left, and Mrs. Ken Sewell posted a 133 Thursday at the Midland Country Club to win the Women's Hi-Low Golf Tournament.

Mrs. Tom Welch, left, and Mrs. Ken Sewell posted a 133 Thursday at the Midland Country Club to win the Women's Hi-Low Golf Tournament.

Friday's Fights

MILAN, Italy — Ramon Mendez, 1954, Argentina, outpointed Tony Licata, 1954, New Orleans, 10.

SAN DIEGO — Rudy Hernandez, 136, Los Angeles, stopped Gene Pruden, 135, Vera Cruz, Mexico, 9.

Trinity Netter Stages Big Upset

HOUSTON (AP) — Seventh seeded David King of Trinity University upset top seeded George Hardie of Southern Methodist Friday to advance to the semifinals of the Rice Invitational Collegiate Tennis Tournament.

King toppled Hardie, the defending singles champion, 6-2, 6-3, in a quarterfinal match.

Other favorites came through Ross Walker of Houston, Ross Walker of Houston, fourth seeded Terry Moor of Northeast Louisiana, and fifth seeded Bill Matyastik of Trinity all winning their two matches.

Walker defeated Jim Timmins of Trinity, 6-2, 6-4, in the quarterfinals; Moor beat Dennis Maddern of Oklahoma City University, 7-5, 4-6, 6-3; and Matyastik ousted Gary Flock of Texas, 6-4, 7-6. Flock had eliminated third-seeded Steve Wedderburn of Oklahoma City in a Thursday upset.

Trinity players won all their matches Friday and took over the team lead with 16 points. Houston was second with 14 and SMU third with 11.

Other team scores included OCU 7, Northeast Louisiana 6, Texas 5, Oklahoma and West Texas State 4, Rice, Texas A&M, TCU, Pan American and Mary Hardin-Baylor 3, Texas Southern and Arkansas 1.

There is a Difference

Only the best eggs qualify for "M"System's Circle "M" and Silver Platter Brands.

All "M"System Circle "M" and Silver Platter eggs are produced in Texas, especially for "M"System by young, healthy hens on a specially controlled diet that enables them to produce the finest quality high protein eggs that money can buy, eggs with a rich golden yolk and a delightful flavor for your eating pleasure.

From the time the egg is produced until it leaves our stores, each Circle "M" and Silver Platter egg is kept at a controlled temperature, is individually washed, weighed and candled for purity and freshness.

You'll find them in different sizes, but all grade "A". Oh yes, we sell other grade eggs, and they're A-O-K, but they just didn't quite make the grade for Circle "M" and Silver Platter — Grade "A".

Hospital Blood Program Open To All Midlanders

The Midland Memorial Hospital Blood Bank again reminds Midlanders of the Blood Assurance Program now available through the hospital.

To join the Blood Assurance Program, an individual must give only one unit of blood every six months. This ensures the donor and members of his immediate family of as many units of blood during the following six months as might be needed at no cost for the blood.

If a person is unable to give due to health or age restrictions, coverage may be purchased but the hospital prefers blood donors. This keeps an adequate supply readily available whenever the need for it arises, a hospital spokesman said.

The MMH Women's Auxiliary provides a speaker's bureau with trained speakers available for any club or civic group wishing a program on the blood assurance plan. The volunteers also assist with scheduling donor appointments and with record keeping.

There is no substitution for fresh, whole blood. Blood assurance programs ensure all participants of readily available blood, regardless of the type or even where in the United States the person might be when the blood is needed.

In West Texas, the average cost for one unit of blood is $45. Under the Blood Assurance

IRS Aide Gives Tips On Checking Returns For Errors

With less than a month remaining until April 15, the annual deadline for filing individual income tax returns, the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) is cautioning taxpayers to watch out for the last-minute mistakes that can delay refunds or, worse, cost money.

Gene McCleskey, administrative officer in charge of the Midland IRS office, said that a disproportionately large number of taxpayers traditionally wait until the final days of the filing season to send in their returns. One result of this, he said, is that thousands of returns come in with simple mistakes that can only be attributed to haste.

"We can't do much with a return that shows up without a taxpayer's name on it, which is not as uncommon as you might think," McCleskey said. "The same goes for unsigned returns and those on which there are no social security numbers. But these things and the frequent math errors that crop up mainly just cause delays in processing. The sadder thing is the money taxpayers lose because of rushing."

The tax official said that when people are hurrying and trying to get the return in the mail by the deadline, they frequently overlook legitimate deductions which could save them tax. They may forget that trip to the dentist or doctor that the insurance did not cover, or the interest paid all year on their revolving charge accounts.

If you're working up your return now and want some advice, the IRS has experts answering toll-free phone calls from throughout North Texas at 800-492-4830.

Midland Day In Austin Set April 7

Midlanders will visit State of Texas legislators and other officials in Austin on April 7. The project is being arranged by the Legislative Committee of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, under the chairmanship of Harry W. Clark.

More than 100 Midlanders are expected to be in Austin that day, many of them flying to the capitol city during the morning. Airline bookings have been made by the chamber office.

Persons interested in participating in "Midland Day in Austin" may obtain more information by contacting the chamber office. Cost is $100 per person, including round-trip air fare or $60 per person for those who provide their own transportation.

During the day, Midlanders will visit with all state legislators plus other officials. Oil well core paper weights, topped with small oil derricks, will be presented to senators and representatives.

Monday evening, Midland will host a reception in the Driscoll Hotel's Crystal Ballroom. More than 110 state officials already have indicated they will attend the reception.

The group will return on Monday evening by commercial airline.

A CIGAR FOR THE WHOLE CITY—L. G. Langley, the proud papa of a baby girl, has apparently shunned more traditional means of announcing the event. Besides, painting the fence lets everyone know! The Langleys, who reside at 3228 Fannin St., are heralding the arrival of Alicia Gayle, their first child.

Roy Davis, 79, Dies In Lamesa

LAMESA — Roy Davis, 79, a Lamesa area resident since 1917, died Friday in a hospital here.

Services will be at 2:30 p.m. today in the Second Baptist Church of Lamesa, with the Rev. Cecil Tune of Midland officiating. Interment will be in Lamesa Memorial Park directed by Branon Funeral Home.

A Collin County native, Davis was a farmer and had been a Baptist for 41 years. His late wife, Cora B. Davis, died in September 1974.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Helen Hodges of Big Spring, Mrs. Jasper White of Lamesa and Mrs. Ruth Bailey of West Monroe, La.; two sons, L. T. Davis of Lubbock and Clyde Davis of Lamesa; three sisters, Mrs. I. T. Graves of Stanton, Mrs. Lemmie Teague of Lubbock and Mrs. Dena Davey of Ennis; a brother, Doyle Davis of Ackerly; 17 grandchildren, and 11 great-grandchildren.

Naomi Reeves Dies; Rites Today

Naomi Irene Reeves, a Midlander since 1942, died Friday night in a nursing home here following a lengthy illness.

Services will be at 3 p.m. today in the Bellview Baptist Church with the Rev. Elbert Smithen, pastor, officiating and the Rev. Doyle Darwin, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, assisting. Interment will be in Greenwood Community Cemetery directed by the Newbie W. Ellis Chapel.

Born Jan. 30, 1917, in Marysville, Miss. Reeves was a member of Bellview Baptist Church. Surviving are her mother, Mrs. Lillie M. Reeves of Midland; three brothers, A. C. Reeves of Midland, Leon Reeves of Broomfield, Colo.; six sisters, Mrs. Dean Pearson of Fullerton, Calif., Mrs. Viola Pond of Glen Cove, Mrs. W. D. Powell of Santa Ana, Calif., Mrs. Albert Stewart of Midland, Mrs. Clarence L. Hardin of Odessa and Mrs. Ray F. Cole Jr. of Fort Worth; and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be Miss Reeves' nephews, Leroy Reeves, Marshall Reeves, Guy Stewart, Bobby Reeves, Willburn O'Neill and Jerry McGee.

Joint Congressional Panel Writes Own Recovery Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The congressional Joint Economic Committee proposed on Saturday a program of more public service jobs and federal grants to reduce unemployment that could push the federal budget deficit past $75 billion.

President Ford's policies, the committee said, will increase the jobless rate from the most recent 8.2 per cent to 9.2 or 9.5 per cent by the end of 1976.

The committee's proposals were in its annual report, issued as Congress prepared to compromise on tax cuts to stimulate the economy.

Among major proposals were a quick tax cut of $32 to $36 billion, about the size of the tax cut bill which passed the Senate. The panel also proposed creating up to one million temporary public service jobs.

It proposed recession grants to states and local governments that would total about $1 billion for each percentage point by which the unemployment rate exceeded 4 per cent.

States and localities with the most serious unemployment would receive greater help under the plan.

Humphrey Explains Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., committee chairman, told newsmen the proposals would reduce unemployment to about 6.5 to 6.8 per cent by the end of 1976.

"In terms of jobs, an estimated two million to 2 1/2 million more people would be working at the end of next year under the committee's program than the President's," said Humphrey.

Among Ford's proposals have been a tax cut, $2 billion for the public service jobs program and a cutback of some federal expenditures.

No Attack On Ford At a news briefing on the report, all present said no political attack on President Ford or his economic proposals was intended.

But Republicans present did not contradict Humphrey when he said, "I believe it is fair to say that the overwhelming majority of the committee found the administration's economic recovery program inadequate."

Republicans and Democrats disagreed, however, on the size of the federal budget deficit that would result from efforts to stimulate the economy.

Humphrey said Democrats believe that adequate programs will result in a federal budget deficit in 1975 of at least $75 billion.

He said that is less difficult to accept than continued high unemployment and other symptoms of recession.

Some Republicans critical of the deficit in due to the breakdown of the economy," Humphrey said. Several Republicans said that too much pump priming might create a deficit of some $120 billion next year and said that might cause a new surge of runaway inflation.

Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., said, "All agree that we're in a very profound recession that could develop into a depression and therefore emergency measures are vital, including the acceptance of an important federal deficit."

The report said it is not expected that the spending proposals will overburden the economy. "If heavy government borrowing does drive up interest rates it will be caused by the Federal Reserve System's failure to make available sufficient credit, not by the financial system's inability to handle the flow," the report said.

The report was sharply critical of Federal Reserve policies which it said are not acting to expand the money supply and

Jackie Onassis To Pay No Tax On Inheritance

By E. GREGORY NOKES WASHINGTON (AP) — Jacqueline Onassis may move into a higher tax bracket as the result of her inheritance from her late husband, but she won't have to pay any tax on the inheritance itself.

The U.S. government does not have an inheritance tax, although it does have an estate tax which would apply to property in the United States owned by her late husband, Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis.

But whatever the estate tax due, it would be paid by the Onassis estate from the wealth of the estate. Mrs. Onassis would pay no tax on her inheritance. And Athens officials said she would be free from Greek inheritance taxes since she is not a Greek citizen or resident.

The inheritance Mrs. Onassis may receive from the estate may be close to $120 million, family sources say, which would make her one of the richest women in the United States. A trust fund of $15 million each has been arranged for the two children of Mrs. Onassis, John Kennedy Jr. and Caroline, whom she had by her first husband, the late President John F. Kennedy.

The main inheritor of the Onassis fortune, estimated at $600 million, apparently will be Onassis' daughter, Christina, 24, which would make her one of the world's wealthiest women. The wealth is primarily in three shipping companies and substantial real estate, including the Greek island of Scyros.

Three MC Staffers To Attend Meeting

Three Midland College faculty members will attend the Southwestern Social Science National Convention in San Antonio Thursday through Saturday.

Making the trip will be Robert Hollmann, lecturer in the political science department; Larry Lee, coordinator of the law enforcement department, and Choice Shofer, lecturer in the social science department.

Hollmann and Lee will present a paper titled "A Comparison of Police Attitudes in Several West Texas Cities" Friday to a panel on "Measuring the Impact of Public Policy on the Criminal Justice System."

Their paper evaluates police attitudes in the areas of administration of the department, the public, their job and the court system.

Animal, Change Missing From Zoo

A pet ferret and a small amount of change are missing from a storehouse at the Midland zoo at Cole Park, Joe Haussecker, an employee of the zoo, told police.

Haussecker said about $4 in change was taken from the coin box of a soft drink machine. He said the ferret was a pet but was kept in a cage in the storehouse.

John J. Weston Dies In Oklahoma

DRUMRIGHT, Okla. — John J. Weston of Cushing, Okla., formerly of Midland, Tex., died Friday in a Drumright hospital. He was 68.

Services tentatively are set for 2 p.m. Monday in the Church of God in Stroud, Okla. Interment will be in Stroud Cemetery.

Survivors included the widow; one sister, Mrs. Lela Patterson of Cushing, Okla.; and three nephews.

Midlander's Kin Dies; Services Held

CISCO—Bud Dawson, 74, of Cisco, father of Dock Dawson of Midland, died Thursday in his home after a long illness. He was 68.

Services were held at 4 p.m. Saturday in East Cisco Baptist Church. Interment was in Oakwood Cemetery.

Other survivors include the widow, a son, a daughter, Mrs. Brad Lambert of McCray; two nephews, seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Dawson was a retired Eastland County constable.

Mrs. Gregory Dies In Odessa

ODESSA — Mrs. H. (Julia Reece) Gregory of Odessa, mother of Mrs. A. L. Russell of Midland, died Thursday in an Odessa nursing home following a lengthy illness. She was 83.

Services were to be at 10 a.m. today in the chapel of Hubbard-Kelly Funeral Home in Odessa, with interment in the Desdemona Cemetery, Desdemona.

Mrs. Gregory was born April 11, 1891, in Texas and married Herbert Gregory in Desdemona in 1909. She came to Odessa from Desdemona in 1947 and was a member of the Parkview Baptist Church.

Other survivors include two sons, W. A. Gregory of Odessa and Dean W. Gregory of Lantanch; three sisters, Mrs. Jo Palmer of San Benito, Mrs. Opal Hallard of Stephenville and Mrs. Ella Miller of Baltimore, Md.; a brother, Tom Nelson of Lubbock; and six grandchildren.

New Surprise

Try a new surprise on your family for a breakfast treat. Warm a jar of strained peaches from baby's food shelf. Serve over pancakes or waffles as a sauce. This is delicious, easy and inexpensive.

Patti Sue Curtis, Mobley Marry In Midkiff Church

MIDKIFF — Patti Sue Curtis and Randall Lee Mobley were married here at 8 p.m. Saturday in the First United Methodist Church. The Rev. Hubert Frederick officiated for the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Curtis, Star Route B, Midland and Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Mobley of Midkiff. Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white Lutsong edged at the neckline and sleeves with gathered Chantilly lace. The bodice featured a fitted midriff covered in lace. The A-line skirt formed the train and the waist-length veil was crowned by a lace headpiece outlined with pearls. She wore a pearl necklace and carried a bouquet of yellow daisies and orange carnations accented with baby's breath.

Mitzl Owens of Barnhart was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Janet Guess of Big Lake and Marlene Mobley of Midkiff, sister of the bridegroom. Flower girl was Lori Dawn Wauson of Midkiff.

Best man was Robby Mobley, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Danny Curtis of Midland, brother of the bride, and Joe David Kessler of Big Lake, brother-in-law of the bride. Randy Braden of Midkiff and Steve McSpadden of Rankin served as groomsmen. Michael Joe Kessler of Big Lake, nephew of the bride, carried the rings.

Bridal attendants were attired in yellow crepe dresses patterned after the bride's gown. They wore yellow floppy hats with satin ribbon and carried yellow daisies, orange carnations and baby's breath.

Mrs. Charles Mobley, organist, and Mrs. Omer Cook, soloist, provided wedding selections.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Sharon Black presided at the guest registry, and Mrs. Joe David Kessler, Mrs. Danny Curtis and Mrs. Hubert Sullivan served.

Following a trip to Ruidoso, N.M., the couple will reside at 906 Cliche St., Big Lake. The bride is a 1974 graduate of Reagan County High School at Big Lake. Mobley attended Angelo State University and is employed with Northern Natural Gas Co.

Parents of the bridegroom hosted a rehearsal supper in the Recreation Hall of the El Paso Natural Gas Co.

Mrs. Randall Lee Mobley

Father Is Attendant For Turner-Williams Marriage

George Calvert, minister of the Main Street Church of Christ, officiated for the double ring ceremony held at 3 p.m. Saturday at The Christian Church of Midland uniting in marriage Deborah Lynne Turner and Robert Michael Williams.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Alton E. Turner of Stanton and Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Williams of Richardson.

Baskets of spring flowers and greenery decorated the scene of the wedding. Paul Bruton was the organist and Beverly Carter was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose to wear a formal gown fashioned of ivory sata peau and Venice lace featuring a high neckline above a sheer yoke and long bishop sleeves. Tiny self-covered buttons adorned the front of the gown. She wore a matching lace trimmed picture hat and carried a nosegay of white daisies centered with yellow Sweetheart roses and accented with baby's breath.

Sheila J. Williams, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Tracy Leath and Anne Freitag, both of Lubbock, were bridesmaids. Flower girls were Shannah Williams and Michelle Williams, both nieces of the bride.

Mr. Williams served his son as best man. Ushers were John Williams of Richardson, brother of the bridegroom, and Jim Anderson, of Garland. Mike Taylor of Dallas, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Wesley W. Williams of Midland, brother-in-law of the bride, were groomsmen.

The matron of honor wore a floor-length blue crepe dress fashioned with a bodice and sleeves overlaid with floral silk organza, and a V-neckline. She carried a daisy nosegay in shades of pink, yellow, blue and white. The other attendants were dressed identically to the matron of honor, except one wore pink and the other yellow.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Akens, Mr. and Mrs. Benny Polston and Mr. and Mrs. John L. Bruton, all of Midland, and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Brown of Stanton served in the house party.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted Friday by the parents of the bridegroom at Ranchland Hill Country Club.

Quick Muffins

To make quick cheese muffins, stir in one cup grated cheese into your favorite whole wheat muffin batter. Pour into small buttered muffin pans and bake as usual. These are very tasty and especially delicious with salads and cream soups.

Mrs. Robert Michael Williams

Grandma Is Law In Iowa Town

WAUCOMA, Iowa (AP) — Edna Paschal has become what is believed to be Iowa's first woman police chief.

Mrs. Paschal, 40, who has just become a grandmother for the first time, also is the town's first police chief.

Mayor Robert Streit said he decided to appoint a police chief because the town "got a terrible situation with wild dogs running loose" and he thought Mrs. Paschal was the woman to handle it.

The new police chief's solution to the dog problem is direct and to the point. "They are going to have to be shot. There's no way to catch them. They are too wild," she said.

Mrs. Paschal said she has so far "worked at just about everything. I drove a truck, worked in the city laundry, in a produce shop, tended bar and even ran my own tavern in town for a while."

Since the town has no police station, she said she will work out of her home where people can call her anytime.

Santa Arrived Early This Year?

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — It was months away from Christmas, but sure enough down the chimney came Arizona with a bound.

She wasn't dressed in a Santa outfit. She was wearing her play-clothes and they were all tarred with ashes and soot.

Arizona, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wagner, had fallen into the unadorned chimney of her home while playing with other children.

Firemen and police broke the bricked-up bottom of the chimney and rescued the little girl. She was taken to a hospital where she was cleaned up, treated for minor scrapes and released.

Becker-Lunson Wedding Reported

Gary Clark Lunson married Jane Elizabeth Becker in a garden ceremony at 4 p.m. Saturday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Becker, 3229 Fannin St. The bridegroom is the son of Mr and Mrs. Clifford Lunson of Miami, Fla., and is the grandson of Mrs. Ona Brown of Midland.

Dr. Timothy W. Guthrie of the First United Methodist Church performed the double ring ceremony. Music was provided by Ois-Hifheock organist.

Mrs. Steve A. Becker of Andrews, sister-in-law of the bride, was the matron of honor.

Deeg Becker, brother of the bride, was the best man. Steven J. Becker of Andrews, nephew of the bride, was the train bearer, and Steve A. Becker of Andrews, brother of the bride, and Robert Lunson of Houston, the bridegroom's brother, were the ushers.

A vine-covered arbor over the patio was decorated with yellow jasmine and chrysanthemums.

Mr. Becker presented his daughter in marriage. She wore a candlelight gown in A-line silhouette with a Sabrina neckline embroidered with seed pearls. The bodice and sleeves had an overlay of imported French Chantilly lace. The skirt was enhanced with lace and seed pearls. The train of the gown was attached at the shoulder line and also was accented with matching lace and lace motifs. She carried a crescent bouquet of apricot-colored glameillas.

The matron of honor had an emerald green formal gown with full skirt, scooped neckline with ruffled collar and long sleeves. She carried a crescent arrangement of yellow glameillas.

After the ceremony, a reception was held. Serving in the house party were Susan Lunson and Linda Lunson, of Miami, twin sisters of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Ed Heath, Mrs. Phillip Becker, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Pat Balmbridge of Austin and Susan Askey of Wichita, Kan.

The couple plans to reside at 2218 23rd St. in Lubbock after a trip to Santa Fe, N.M. The bride attended the University of Oklahoma and will be graduated in May from Texas Tech University. She is a student teacher and is studying graduate work at Tech. The bridegroom attended Miami Dade Junior College and Texas Tech. He is employed by Abbott Construction Co. in Lubbock.

Out-of-city guests for the wedding and reception included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lunson of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hair of Odessa and Mrs. M. R. Gordon and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Ward of Big Spring.

The bride was honored with a shower and rice bag party recently, with Mrs. Ed Heath as hostess. The gift table was decorated with an apricot and yellow rice bag tree and yellow umbrella.

Phillip S. Hollabaughs Take Wedding Trip To Colorado

Phillip S. Hollabaugh and his bride, the former Linda Lynn, will reside at 1902 28th St., Lubbock, following a wedding trip to Colorado.

The couple was married in a double ring ceremony at 4 p.m. Saturday in the First Baptist Church here, with the Rev. Gary Bell of Lubbock officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer S. Lynn of 2808 Lockwood St. She is a graduate student at Texas Tech University. Mrs. Bill Suggs of Abilene and Stephen S. Hollabaugh of Tulsa, Okla., are the parents of the bridegroom, who also is a student at Texas Tech.

Mr. Lynn presented his daughter in marriage. She chose a traditional gown of Oriental silk and Venise laces. The fitted Empire bodice featured a sunburst of Venise laces yoke which flowed into the waistline. The lace applique ring neckline and full bishop sleeves were detailed with lace appliques which formed the cuffs and held a self-ruffle edged with lace above the hand. The white skirt was trimmed in the hem with a large circular skirt flowing into a full chapel train. She carried a semi-cascade of Spanish sun roses and stephanotis.

Terri Lynn, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Wendy Trammell was the flower girl. Serving as bridesmaids were Susy Cox of Houston and Anna was the best man and groomsmen were Wayne Hollabaugh of Tulsa, brother of the bridegroom, and Neil McWhorter of Roby. The ushers were Larry Lynn, brother of the bride, Zeph Pogerson of Greeley, Colo., Dale Holliman of Lubbock and Kandy Stansland of Lubbock.

Lynn of Lubbock. Brian at bridesmaids were identical floor-length yellow gowns in a soft-flowing A-line silhouette with long, slip sleeves and a sheer yoke of Venise lace with ruffled neckline, and white picture hats with ribbon streamers. They carried nosegays of flowers and blue mums accented with blue satin streamers.

Doris Bruce was the organist and Mrs. John Greer was the soloist.

A pair of rainbow candelabra with jade foliage and white tapers formed the background for the ceremony. They were flanked by a pair of spiral candelabra, also entwined with jade foliage and white tapers. A memory candle burned the focal point for the ceremony. The reception was held in the church parlor. Home party members were Mrs. Alan Bligham, Mrs. Jack Pogerson, Rhonda Lacy, Katrina Woodruff and Mrs. Donald Wunthaupt.

Serving as business were Mrs. Dean Cox, Mrs. Richard Klemmner and Mrs. Earl Whitson. Debbie Bishop, Suzanne Klenck and Rana McCain passed out rice bags. Pre-nuptial parties for the bride included a rice bag party and a mini-reception.

given by Mrs. Tom White, Robert Johnson and Mrs. John Owen; a bridesmaid luncheon at Midland County Club; Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Bligham and a luncheon for bridesmaids in the home of LeFlore Jr. serving as best man.

Twister Venison. Place a strip of venison fat side down over a venison roast during the last hour cooking. This makes the venison much tastier for it adds moisture.

The church altar was decorated with two-7 branch candelabra flanked with arrangements of white and lavender flowers accented with greenery.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a formal gown of silk organza featuring a frosted lace bodice with a full skirt merging into a semi-cathedral train. Ruffled crystal pleating edged with mini pearls framed the scooped neckline.

lance Bishop sleeves, skirt flounce and the back panel of the skirt and train. The self corded waistline closed in the back with a large self-bow. A picture hat of matching lace and ruffled pleating dressed with a large bow of silk illusion completed the ensemble. The bride carried a cascade of white roses, daisies, carnations and spider mums.

Maid Of Honor

Phyllis Breegle of Lubbock was maid of honor and Terri Compton of Lubbock and Sheryl Compton of San Angelo, both sisters of the bride, and Anita Knight of Midland served as bridesmaids. Larry Massey was best man. Ushers were Kenneth Stokes of Midland, cousin of the bridegroom, and Terry Jones of Waco. T. R. Weeter of Bixby rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at Ranchland Hill Country Club.

Several pre-nuptial parties honored the bride, including a bridal display shower given by Mrs. Jack Barnes, Mrs. Carol Bowman, Mrs. Eldon Herndon, Mrs. Don Hunt, Mrs. Wanda Knight, Mrs. Francis McDonald, Mrs. Wayne Potter, Mrs. Bill Prude, Mrs. Ben Sides, Mrs. Gene Shrode and Mrs. Dick Stone. The honoree, her mother and the bridegroom's mother were given corsages of pink daisies.

Also, a spice and recipe shower was given by Diane Rhoden. Decorations were in yellow. The bride, Mrs. Compton and Mrs. Bizzell had corsages of yellow daisies.

A third party, a wedding day brunch, was given by Mrs. Neolan Carter, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Joe Roper and Mrs. Johnny Jones at Ranchland Hill Country Club. Out-of-city guests were Mrs. Dave Compton, Mrs. J. C. Carter, Mrs. W. D. Stokes, Rana Parrish, Mrs. Cythia Bowman, Phyllis Breegle, Terri Compton, Sheryl Compton and Marcia Carter.

All bridal attendants wore carpet-length pink floral chiffon gowns fashioned with scooped necklines, Empire waists and flared skirts. They carried nosegays of lavender daisies, pom poms and carnations.

A reception was held in the church's Fellowship Hall. In the house party were Rana Parrish and Cythia Bowman, both of Perryton; Robbie Barnes, who registered guests; Marcia Carter of Lubbock and Heather McDonald of Midland.

Couple Wed. In Double Ring Rites

The First United Methodist Church was the scene of the marriage between Lisa Dolberry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee A. Dolberry, 3406 W. Louisiana St., and Jerry Brown McCullough of Arlington, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. McCullough of Eastland, at 7 p.m. Saturday, with Dr. Timothy Guthrie, pastor, officiating for the double ring ceremony. George DeHart, organist, played wedding music.

The sanctuary was decorated with two gold candelabra, accented with white gladiolus and tangerine carnations.

Escorted down the aisle and presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight organza over peau taffeta designed with a Victorian neckline, sheer bishop sleeves with deep buttoned cuffs and a cathedral train. Organza tucks edged in Belgian lace formed a front panel of the gown. Belgian lace also accented the neckline, cuffs and train. Her headpiece of candlelight pure silk illusion formed a picture hat banded with matching grosgrain ribbon and velvet forget-me-nots. She carried a bouquet of white roses, yellow roses, tangerine carnations and white stephanotis.

Becky Peyton of San Antonio attended the bride as maid of honor. Mrs. Robert G. Lankford of Asheville, N.C., served her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaid was Dottie Brothers of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Joe L. Cooney of Odessa was bridesmaid. Shelley Blanchard of Midland was the flower girl.

Best man was Billy Johnson of Dallas. Ushers were Robert G. Lankford of Asheville, brother-in-law of the bride, and Mickey Carter of Littleton, Colo., also brother-in-law of the bride. Eddie Priese of Dallas, Rodger Terrell of Eastland and Greg Cornwell of Carrollton were groomsmen.

The matron of honor was attired in a formal gown of voile over taffeta in shades of green and designed with a fitted bodice, bishop sleeves and a full gathered skirt. She carried a cascade of yellow carnations. Other attendants were attired in gowns identical to the matron of honor. Each carried a cascade of tangerine carnations.

The reception was held in the church parlor. House party members were Mrs. Fred G. Brown of Midland, Mrs. Johnny Foster of Odessa, Mrs. Michale Carter of Littleton, sister of the bridegroom, and Michale Carter and Kelley Carter, also of Littleton, nieces of the bridegroom.

The couple will be at home at 3917 Harvest Hill Road, Apt. 128, Dallas, after March 30. The bride attended Southwest Texas State University. McCullough is a graduate of North Texas State University, where he was a member of Delta Sigma Phi fraternity. He is employed with General Motors Acceptance Corp., Dallas.

Pre-nuptial courtesies included a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Jack Parkins in her home, 3206 W. Illinois St. Also, Mrs. W. H. Nelson and Mrs. A. D. Bond honored the bride in the Bond Home, 3407 W. Louisiana St. and Mrs. W. L. Peyton and daughter, Becky, entertained with a bride's luncheon on the day of the wedding in the home of Mrs. Peyton, 3417 W. Ohio St.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at the Elks Lodge.

Mrs. Rodger Lewis McCuiston

Cynthia Lambeth Bride Of Rodger L. McCuiston

Cynthia Ann Lambeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gordon Lambeth, 1808 Neely St., and Rodger Lewis McCuiston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gary McCuiston, 2507 W. Shandon St., were married at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Elbert Smithen officiated for the double ring ceremony. Doris Bruce was the organist, and Jerry Purkale of San Angelo, Ginger Sue Frank of Midland and Linda Cox of Lubbock were the vocalists.

Mr. Lambeth presented his daughter in marriage. She wore a formal gown of candlelight old English lace fashioned with a high neckline and waistline accented with pink rosebud lace trim. The full lantern sleeves had wide cuffs and the skirt had ruffled laces at the hemline. She carried a nosegay of bridal pink roses, stephanotis and gypsophila accented with pink satin streamers.

Rebecca Sue Lambeth was her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Mary Lynn Lambeth, sister of the bride; Rebecca Ann McCuiston, sister of the bridegroom; Barbara Ellen True of Andrews and Susan Gay Frazier. Madee Boler was the flower girl, and Brad Hanlan was ring bearer.

Robert Patt McCuiston, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. The groomsmen were Gary Dean Bolding and Jeffery Alan Neujahr. Purkale and James Michael Markgraf ushered the guests.

Attendants' Gowns: Attendants to the bride wore Empire-styled gowns of printed voile with ivory lace trim. They carried bouquets of dusty rose carnations.

The church was decorated with a pair of rainbow candelabra with jade foliage and white tapers. These were flanked by a pair of spiral candelabra, also with jade foliage and white tapers.

The reception was held in the church parlor. Members of the house party were Mrs. T. F. Andrews of Lubbock, Mrs. Everett Travis of San Antonio, Mrs. Herman Brown of Lubbock, Mrs. Gene Porter of Brownwood, Mrs. Louis Webb of Lubbock, Elizabeth Peacock, Mrs. Kent Hanlan, Mrs. Cecil Davis, Mrs. James True of Andrews, Kathy Rautis of Vernon, Mrs. Tom Walters of Hamilton, Ohio, Mrs. L. R. Newman of Garland, Mrs. William Cain, Mrs. Ronny Dodd and Mrs. Jimmy Cooper.

Following the reception, the couple left for a skiing trip to Keystone, Colo. They will reside at 2117 9th St., Apartment 10-East, in Lubbock.

Wife Manages Unusual Household

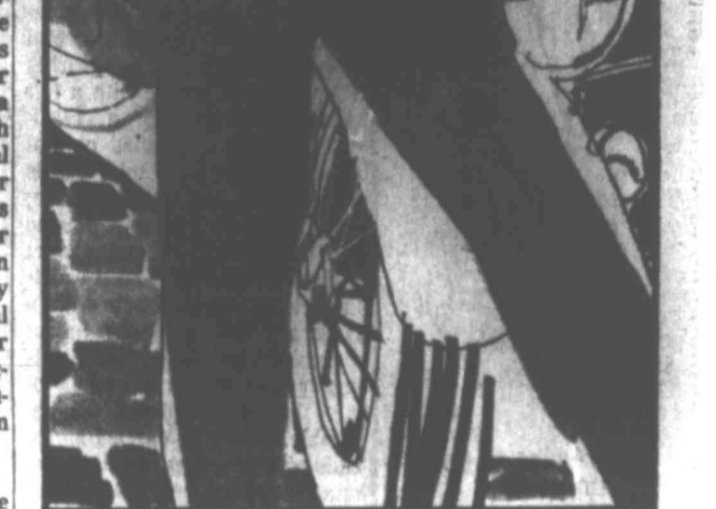

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Donna Karl has a rather unusual household to manage. The wife of a hotel manager, Mrs. Karl lives in a series of connected rooms on a hotel's 10th floor with her husband and four of their five children.

Each room opens into another and each room has its own bathroom, telephone, television set and "front door."

"It's like living in a bunch of railway cars," Mrs. Karl said. "The Karls have been married for 21 years and have moved 12 times, each time living in a hotel."

She said she likes the idea of having her husband working near home.

"He can come up for lunch if he works and when something happens I know about it," she said. "And there's no commuting. John takes the elevator to work."

Beautifully geared to the fashion route - anywhere in the world: the sleek lines of Bylee's polyester blazer and matching pants, accented by a polyester shirt in a high-powered print. Think of the mileage you'll get out of that! All imported from Europe by Hooper Associates.

Mr. and Mrs. McDaniel presented their daughter in marriage. She wore a gown with a fitted bodice of candlelight organza trimmed with lace. The skirt was candlelight Chantilly lace over satin with a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of tulle was held by a pearl and crystal encrusted cap. She carried white rosebuds with crystals and white streamers.

The maid of honor was Patty Hendrick of Dallas. Denise Melton of Blooming Grove, sister of the bridegroom, and Teresa Campbell of Ringgold were the bridesmaids. The candle lighters were Paula Melton of Blooming Grove, sister of the bridegroom, and Tom McDaniel, the bride's brother.

Brent Melton of Corsicana, cousin of the bridegroom, was the best man. The groomsmen were Dale Jackson and Mark Melton, brother of the bridegroom, of the Blooming Grove. The ushers were Scott McDaniel and Tom McDaniel, brothers of the bride.

Birds Of Midland County Texas Club Program

Mrs. Frances Williams, head librarian for Midland County Public Library, was guest speaker on the subject "Birds We Find in Our Garden Today" at a meeting Thursday of the Texas Garden Club.

An avid "bird watcher," Mrs. Williams used slides to describe some of the 338 different species of birds seen throughout the year in Midland County. She indicated that 33 types of birds make Midland their permanent habitat; that 30 different species summer here, 65 winter here and another 200 types migrate through Midland County. Mrs. Williams was introduced by Mrs. Richard Stovall.

Gardening Program Subject Of Club

Mrs. Tom Wilmeth spoke on Tom's Tree House about gardening for members of St. Ann's Pre-School Mothers' Club when they met recently in the Reddy Room of Texas Electric Service Co.

A business meeting and a social hour followed the guest speaker.

Hostesses were Mrs. Ralph Evans, Mrs. Carl Fisher, Mrs. Enrique Farias and Mrs. Chuck Van Heel.

Chapter Plans To Attend Church

Members of Tall City Chapter No. 22 of Parents Without Partners and their children plan to attend church services at 11 a.m. today at St. Ann's Catholic Church. Following the services, the group will have lunch at 12:45 p.m. at Furr's Cafeteria.

There will be Spanish lessons at 7:30 p.m. Monday at 3600 Godfrey Court for members and their families, and a newsletter folding session will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at 706 N. Colorado St.

A "Let's Talk" session for adults will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at 705 N. Colorado St. Mrs. Helen Lee will be the moderator for a discussion on astrology, positive thinking and ESP.

"Coffee and Conversation" will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday at 1000 S. Midkiff St., Apartment 128. An Easter egg hunt will be held for families at 2 p.m. Saturday at Tidwell Park.

Mrs. Ira Reavis Named President

The Xi Alpha Phi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi elected Mrs. Ira Reavis president during a recent business session held in the home of Mrs. Dick Borch, 265 Standish St. Presiding was Mrs. Pat McNeil.

Other officers named were Mrs. Jerry Morris, vice president; Mrs. Ghad Butler, recording secretary; Mrs. Jim Cartwright, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Stephen Montgomery, treasurer, and Mrs. McNeil, Mrs. Reavis and Mrs. John Holmes, representatives to the Beta Sigma Phi City Council.

Mrs. Sam Black, social chairman, announced plans for a wine tasting party to be held Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Holmes, 3310 Standish St. Members of the Beta Delta Chapter will be guests.

Mrs. Bill Shover was named chairman of Girl of the Year arrangements. The winner will be announced at a Founder's Day luncheon to be held in April.

The program was presented by Mrs. Bob Young of the Midland Council for Retarded Children.

Winner of the hostess gift was Mrs. Roy Henderson.

Agent Presents Garden Program

Charles W. Green, Midland County extension agent, presented a slide program on "Gardening for the Table" for a meeting Thursday of the Midland Woman's Club.

Green showed slide pictures of gardens grown by his family and those of other Midlanders. He stated that a 30 by 30 foot plot of ground can produce vegetables for a family's table, as well as for the freezer and canning.

He also presented members with bulletins on soil preparation, planning a vegetable garden and drip irrigation.

Presiding was Mrs. J. Howard Hodge. Mrs. Ellison Tom and Mrs. Walter B. Smith were the hostesses.

Mrs. I. W. Hynd presided at the refreshment table, which was centered with an arrangement of fruit blossoms.

Guests were Mrs. Richard Denham and Mrs. Robert L. Brown.

Following the program, Mrs. Hodge and Mrs. Walter Putnam discussed the club's spring pilgrimage to visit gardens in Brownwood April 10-11. The pilgrimage will include a visit to the Douglas MacArthur Academy and a fish fry at Brownwood Lake. There also will be a coffee in the home of Mrs. Herman Bennett and a luncheon in Sid Richardson Hall at Howard Payne University. Mrs. Grover Pitts will be hostess to a tea and there will be a dinner in Veda Hodge Hall at HPU.

St. Ann's Mothers Hold Easter Party

The St. Ann's Pre-School Mothers' Club held recently an Easter party for members' children in the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Children played "pin the tail on the rabbit." They also colored Easter eggs.

Mrs. Frank Kieffer, Mrs. Dan Miller and Mrs. Robert Ott, hostesses, passed out Easter baskets containing jelly beans, and punch.

To prevent kitchen scissors from rusting, wash and dry them carefully after using them for any culinary duty.

Mary Jimenez Bride Of West

The Emmanuel Baptist Church was the setting for the marriage of 11 a.m. Saturday of Mary Ellen Jimenez daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jose M. Jimenez, 403 E. Elm St., and Leonard L. West III, son of Mrs. Olive West of Oklahoma City, Okla.

The Rev. M. R. Jimenez performed the double ring ceremony. Doris Bruce was the organist, and Jerry Terrell and Mary Jimenez were vocalists.

Presented in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a formal-length gown with an Empire waistline in ivory silk organza over peau de soie. The sweetheart neckline was enhanced with organza applied lace daisies which also bordered the gown and cathedral train.

French lace and applied daisies trimmed the long butterfly sleeves. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a cluster of pastel pink, blue and yellow orange blossoms and daisies. She carried pastel pink, blue and yellow orange blossoms and daisies trimmed with green leaves and crystal flowers.

Attendants Listed
Mrs. David E. West of Oklahoma City was the matron of honor and David E. West was the best man. The maid of honor was Mary Jimenez. Bridesmaids were Bertha Jimenez, Adelaida Jimenez, Isabel Garza, Rosalba Jimenez, Elida Hinojosa, Janet Just and Leticiaendon of Midland and Elvira Jimenez of Seguin. Ella Ocho and Gabriela Garza were the junior bridesmaids. Hermilinda Jimenez was the flower. The train bearers were Joe Anthony Jimenez, a son, Magda Orunday, Roberto Merino was the usher. The groomsmen were Jose Jimenez, Ramon Jimenez, Jose Jimenez, Frank Jimenez, Raymond Hinojosa, Glen Gutierrez and Don Spence of Midland and Manuel Jimenez of Seguin.

The bride's attendants wore formal gowns with high-rise waistlines and sweetheart necklines with short-tucked sleeves. The matron and maid of honor had dresses of white crepe with colored floral prints. Blue, pink and yellow were the colors of the bridesmaids' dresses. The junior bridesmaids' dresses were in the same styling in lime crepe.

The reception was held in the Park Center YMCA, before the couple left on a wedding trip to Houston. They will reside at 6115 North Davis Highway, Apartment 19-A, in Pensacola, Fla.

The bride attended Midland College and is a graduate of Commercial College of Midland with an executive secretarial diploma.

The bridegroom has a degree in engineering from Oklahoma State University and is employed by Exxon Co., U.S.A.

WOMAN'S CLUB SCHOLARSHIP — Mrs. William N. Sands, scholarship chairman of the Midland Woman's Club, presents a scholarship from the club to Sherri Lyn Bassett, a journalism student at Lee High School. Miss Bassett will use the scholarship to attend the first environmental-writing workshop to be held June 22-27 at Southern Methodist University.

Luncheon Held By Woman's Club

Mrs. Yale E. Key, president, presided during a luncheon meeting of the Midland Woman's Club held Thursday in the Hogan Park clubhouse. Members of the Woman's Wednesday Club were hostesses.

The invocation was given by Mrs. John E. Terry. Woman's Wednesday Club members serving as hostesses were Mrs. Key, Mrs. R. T. German, Mrs. Robert M. Turpin, Mrs. Alan B. Leeper, Mrs. Terry Erle Payne, Mrs. G. E. Ramsey Jr., Mrs. C. W. Chancellor and Mrs. William L. Kerr.

Mrs. J. S. Knaur, program chairman, introduced Mrs. John Hammett Jr. and her accompanist, Mrs. Henry F. Page. Mrs. Hammett sang several selections.

Mrs. D. L. Coleman, who was introduced by Mrs. Knaur, reviewed the book, "He Leadeth Me" by C. L. Stiemming.

Decorations included Bibles with red satin ribbons and a white carnation flanked with tall red candles in crystal holders.

Presiding at the punch service for the social period prior to the luncheon was Mrs. German.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Any Sophisticated School Systems

DEAR ABBY: I am a 28-year-old school teacher. (Female.) I teach 10th grade students in a public school. I love my work and wouldn't want to do anything else.

I also feel that I am entitled to live the kind of lifestyle I feel is right for me.

Now, my problem: I have fallen in love with a man, and we want to live together. Neither one of us wants to get married right now — or maybe ever.

I dislike lying but I doubt that I could continue my teaching job in this city while living with a man who is not my husband.

Do you know of any community that is sufficiently sophisticated to permit their school teachers the freedom to live as they wish?

NAMELESS, PLEASE

DEAR NAMELESS: No. But that doesn't mean there isn't one. We have come a long way in the last 60 years. As proof, I submit a quote from Quote magazine. I hope you are able to read it without cracking up. I couldn't.

"Truly, the life style of a school teacher has changed radically in the last 50 or 60 years. For example, a 1915 teachers' magazine listed the following rules of conduct for teachers of that day:

1. You will not marry during the term of your contract.

2. You are not to keep company with men.

3. You must be home between the hours of 8 p.m. and 6 a.m. unless attending a school function.

4. You may not loiter downtown in ice cream stores.

5. You may not travel beyond the city limits unless you have the permission of the chairman of the board.

6. You may not ride in a carriage or automobile with any man unless he is your father or brother.

7. You may not smoke cigarettes.

8. You may not dress in bright colors.

9. You may under no circumstances dye your hair.

10. You must wear at least two petticoats.

11. Your dresses must not be any shorter than two inches above the ankle.

12. To keep the school room neat and clean, you must: sweep the floor at least once daily; scrub the floor at least once a week with hot, soapy water; clean the blackboards at least once a day; and start the fire at 7 a.m. so the room will be warm by 8 a.m."

DEAR ABBY: This is for "G" in Long Beach, who allowed herself to be photographed in various stages of undress by a total stranger, who subsequently disappeared with all the pictures and some of her money.

The chances are that the photographer was some kook who got his kicks from just watching the girl pose; or he may be keeping the pictures for his own use. It's doubtful that her picture will ever be published in any important girlie magazine, but it might be sold to a cheap underground publication that will print anything.

Unless "G" signed a model's release, authorizing the photographer to use those pictures, he cannot make any commercial use of them. And if he does, and "G" finds out about it, she can sue the pants off him.

P. R. IN L.A.

DEAR P.R.: "G" was not a professional model, and from her description of the photographer, he wasn't a professional either. The moral of that story was plainly: "Girls who pose without any clothes have their brains in their nose."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "P": I would certainly not be in any hurry to marry a man who positively refused to take a blood test. Instead of trying to find out where a couple can be married without a blood test, find out why he is so opposed to taking one.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this newspaper. Enclose $1 a m p e d , self-addressed envelope, please.

Dirt, Squirt and Quirt

FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS

By CHARLES GREEN
Midland County Agent

A bad windstorm last week further increased erosion problems on cropland in the area. Many fields have begun to blow after this month's windstorms, and very little can be done to stop it unless enough moisture is received to allow tillage. Some irrigation has been started on land where water is available. Small grain acreage is responding to the warmer weather and making good growth. Acreage is up in Midland County this year due to fall and winter moisture. Some spring wheat was sown in January on a trial basis and is being watched with interest. This could be a good crop for irrigated cotton producers to use in a rotation program.

Texas Agricultural Extension Service specialists will hold a meeting on swine production and management and give demonstrations on home butchering of pig and beef Tuesday, at the St. Lawrence Community Hall.

Midland producers are invited to attend. The meeting will start at 9:30 a.m. and will consist of short lectures by the Extension specialists. Swine herd health will be discussed by Dr. William B. Thomas.

Increasing efficiency of swine production at today's prices will be handled by Dr. Gilbert Hollis. He also will discuss a new swine marketing system. Dr. Bill Thomas and Woodrow Bailey will work together on selecting breeding stock for modern production.

Bailey, who is an extension livestock and meats specialist, will have a home butchering demonstration after lunch. He will cut a pig carcass and a beef carcass into the wholesaler and retail cuts and show the proper wrapping procedures for the home freezer. There will be a cut-out demonstration showing the desirable and undesirable, or overfat carcasses. A catered barbecue lunch will be available at noon.

Area beef cattle producers have been experiencing some death loss in cows, calves and yearling on native ranges in recent weeks. The problem appears to be related to the lush growth of winter weeds which has constituted a large part of grazing animals' diet while the grass is still dormant.

George Stallemeier, area extension range management specialist at Fort Stockton, has determined from chemical analyses that some weeds growing on area rangeland have tested as high as 24 per cent protein. Grazing this type forage brings on similar problems that cattle would have grazing lush alfalfa. Bloat is indicated in most of the deaths.

There have been some cases in which blackleg type organisms have been suspected. However, it may be an interrelated problem. The problem will probably correct itself in a few weeks when grass comes on.

One weed which has been strongly suspected of causing the problem is bladderpod mustard. This yellow-flowered weed is quite dense on some Midland rangelands. It is not toxic as such but very high in nutrition and bloat-causing factors. Feeding a pellet containing poloxalene with a consumption regulating salt mixture that is available from some commercial feed formulators will reduce bloat problems if daily consumption of 1/3 to 1/2 pound per head per day can be achieved.

A major turfgrass insect pest in Midland is the white grub. The species Phyllophaga crinita causes severe damage to bermuda and St. Augustine. Controlling these grubs is complicated by the fact that this species has become resistant to insecticides. Treatment in the early spring is especially ineffective due to the fact that only large overwintering adults are present at this time. The adult beetles of Phyllophaga crinita are about 1/2 to 3/4 inch long and light brown in color. They emerge from the lawn in West Texas during the last two weeks in June. The beetles mate and the females lay eggs in the soil for 25 to 35 days. The female adults lay eggs at night in turfgrass areas. When the eggs hatch and the young are in the first stage of development is the best time to apply insecticides for control. This will be about the first week in August.

For insecticide control of grubs, diazinon has been the most reliable material. The granular form of diazinon is easier to apply and easier to work into the soil than spray formulations. The key to control of white grubs is getting the insecticide through the grass to the root zone where the grubs are feeding. Suggested rates of diazinon granules for white grub control are: 2 to 4 pounds of the 14 per cent granules or 12 to 15 pounds of the 2 per cent granules per 1,000 square feet of lawn. To aid in movement of the insecticide through the grass to the root zone, turfgrass should be mowed before application of granules. One inch of irrigation water should be applied immediately after application. Treatment with diazinon at this time of the year likely will result in less than 20 per cent control.

The Red Experience: A bell-ringer recently described ethnic experiences and cultures in the great Southwest thusly: If you are white, you are right; if you are brown, hang around; if you are red, you are dead; if you are black, get back. Perhaps humorously put, but the phrase contains much truth.

As Nene Foxhall put it recently: "The American Indian in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Mississippi, California and many other parts of the nation, is caught. He is caught between a fierce determination to cling to his identity and culture, and the necessity to survive in a country which seems every day to demand that he give them up."

Perhaps the largest concentration of Red Men in an American city in the Southwest is found in Dallas, where there are more than ten thousand, representing more than 52 tribes. They have left behind the almost certain poverty of reservations and rural areas of the Southwest. One estimate puts the number of Indians in the North Texas area at approximately 22,000. Federal figures are lower. Most of these "Red Men" hope to leave behind a life characterized by an average lifespan of 44 years, an infant mortality rate three times the national average and a suicide rate 10 times the national average. According to Foxhall, they come to the city looking for better jobs, education for their children and a chance just to survive.

"Instead many find a strange and sprawling city, completely alien to their culture, ill-prepared for city life, confusion and loneliness. They find a way of life they don't understand and few people who understand them."

Many of the Indians have come to Dallas and other cities in the Southwest under the auspices of the Bureau of Indian Affairs Relocation Program, begun in 1967, with Dallas a key relocation city.

West Texas Schools Face U.S. Court Probe: In spite of the small proportion of blacks, as well as browns, enrolled in many West Texas schools, U.S. Dist. Court Judge John H. Pratt has ordered the federal government to investigate for possible violations of federal civil rights laws a number of school districts in Texas, including cities and towns like Amarillo, Cleburne, El Paso, Hereford, Morion, Pampa, Pecos-Barstov, San Antonio, Vernon, Monahan-Wickett-Pyote, Plainview, Brownwood and Sweetwater, all in West Texas. It also is reported that some of these districts in West Texas do not report any black teachers on the faculty, although black students are enrolled. Masons To Observe Maundy Thursday In Temple Here

An estimated 100 Scottish Rite Masons from Midland and nearby communities will assemble at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Masonic Temple here for the annual Maundy Thursday ceremony.

The ritual, always held during the Easter season, observes the anniversary of the Last Supper and commemorates the martyrdom of Christ.

Bill Auburg, program chairman, has made arrangements for Norman Miller, secretary of the El Paso Scottish Rite Consistory, to attend the meeting as a special guest speaker.

All Midland area Scottish Rite Masons are urged to attend for the ceremony as well as the evaluation of a new scholarship program which the board of directors of the Midland Scottish Rite Association plans to present to the members.

More Talk Seen On Grain Back Grain Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new report about farmers cutting hog production this year could put further downward pressure on grain prices and stir more agitation among grain farmers for voluntary cutbacks in crop production.

But Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz says such talk about farmers voluntarily trimming acreages of corn, soybeans and other crops is "a lot of rhetoric" without factual substance.

The situation Friday was this: the Agriculture Department said March 1 surveys of farmers in 14 major hog states showed that producers have trimmed their breeding herds more sharply than indicated early last winter.

During the first three months of the hog marketing year, which began last Dec. 1, producers had 1.8 million sows give birth to litters, down 21 per cent from farrowings in December to February a year earlier, USDA said. Last December the department said a 1 1/2 per cent cut was indicated.

Similar hog production cutbacks were shown for the spring and summer months, meaning that pork output through all of 1975 will be down from last year more than previously expected.

The effect, although not mentioned in the USDA report, will be that less corn and other feed will be required by hog farmers than had been expected. Thus, more grain will be left on the market for other buyers, meaning prices will be additionally depressed.

Meanwhile, according to another March 1 survey of major crop producers, farmers have indicated they will plant enough acres to grain this spring to assure record corn and other feed crops if they get normal weather.

But grain prices have tumbled in recent months and some farmers, particularly in the Midwest, are seeking a grassroots movement to reduce plantings voluntarily so that market prices can be boosted by harvest in time later in the year.

Secretary Butz, an advocate of all-out production and minimum government control, says the talk of voluntary acreage reduction is not logical and that farmers who say such things secretly hope their neighbors will cut back so they can plant as much as they want.

"There is no economic incentive to cut back," Butz said Friday. "There are no government payments this year (for idling land) and the only incentive out there is to produce."

Butz also said he will urge that President Ford veto a House-approved farm bill calling for higher government support and target prices for key crops, a measure he says will lead to surplus production at taxpayer expense.

Senate, House Due To Hold Final Foreign Aid Votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate and House are expected to hold final votes next week on a $3.67 billion foreign aid appropriation bill for the fiscal year ending June 30.

The long-delayed measure, $2.2 billion under administration budget requests and $2.1 billion below last year, was approved by Senate and House conferees Friday.

The last of regular appropriations bills for fiscal 1975, the bill was delayed by failure to enact the controversial annual authorization for continued foreign military and economic assistance programs until last December.

Funding has continued since last July 1 under temporary authority expiring March 25. The bill includes $475 million for military assistance to 53 countries and $300 million for military credit sales to Israel.

Economic assistance includes $200 million for food and nutrition projects and $112 million for population control programs.

In support of the Middle East peace negotiation efforts of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, the bill provides $224 million of economic aid for Israel, $200 million for Egypt, $77.5 million for Jordan and $100 million for an unallocated special requirements fund which might be available for Syria.

The bill allocates $440 million for Indochina postwar reconstruction, $77 million for the Peace Corps and annual contributions to international development banks and United Nations organizations.

Circuit-Riding Bureaucrat Navigates Red Tape Maze

EDITOR'S NOTE — Murrey Fuller is a circuit-riding bureaucrat, hired to help five small towns unravel a maze of state and federal paperwork. His steed is a 1963 sedan which takes him along the rainy roads of southwest Washington.

By CRAIG SMITH
ELMA, Wash. (AP) — In the days of rough and tumble law and order there was the circuit-riding judge. In today's world of red tape, forms in triplicate and instruction booklets four inches deep, there's a new breed: the circuit-riding bureaucrat.

Meet Murrey Fuller, 57-year-old city manager of five southwestern Washington towns whose combined population comes to 8,200 souls. His problems are not exactly Klasingeresque. He helps the small towns figure out ways to get money from county, state and federal governments. He listens to the Montesano City Council debate whether or not teen-agers should be permitted to dance around the juke box at the town pool hall. And, perhaps most important, he tries to stay out of small town politics.

It's a recent Monday evening in Elma — population 2,300 — and Fuller is on the slightly elevated platform with the City Council members. The white room, adorned with three American flags, large pictures of four American presidents and smaller photos of the town's mayors since 1890, is the kind of place Norman Rockwell would have liked.

Fuller gets up to make his announcements: application forms for federal grants under the Community Development Act haven't arrived; the state doesn't know if it can fund the town for comprehensive planning, and a grant application for a new tennis court will be submitted soon.

Not exactly heady stuff, but necessary.

Fuller was hired in an 11-month experimental program, serving the Grays Harbor County towns of Elma, Montesano, Oakville, McCleary and Westport. It is hoped he will tangle through the increasing maze of state and federal regulations and paperwork and snare more grants for civic improvements.

"Here you have part-time people as mayors and council members and they get stuff this thick (gesturing four inches of paper) from the state that they are supposed to read and understand," he says.

Fuller has helped some of the cities write master plans to comply with the new state Shorelines Management Act. Westport is a fishing city on the Pacific. The other towns are located on rivers.

"You couldn't build a chicken coop without a permit under the act," he says. He is also trying to get Oakville — the tiniest of the five communities with a population of 500 — exempted.

The next day begins with telephone calls to find out how to fill out federal flood insurance for Oakville. One call produces the exact number of a state law, another turns up the name of a state flood official needed for yet another form, and another call to the Corps of Engineers produces information that it has no studies of the Oakville area of the Chihalla River.

Again, not heady, just necessary in a world with more forms than people.

Fuller jumps into his 1963 sedan and heads for Oakville. There the problems of small town politics await him. The city's manual labor force — he's Al Brant — is thinking of resigning. It seems the big, pleasant, aw-shucks fellow has been stung by an allegation he's incompetent. Nobody made such a charge before in the 19 years that Brant has been town marshal and has handled street and water maintenances.

But Brant is caught up in a recall movement to sack the mayor and council members. Brant's wife, Vera, the interim town clerk, is hopping mad.

"He's just tired of getting dumped on," she tells Fuller.

They talk in an old one-room building that is the town hall, the library and the courtroom. During a recent council meeting, they had to turn the furnace off. It was making too much noise.

Rather than discuss the politics afoot, Fuller gets Brant into an innocuous conversation about the number of people living in a certain section of town.

"Let me see, McDouglas have four..." and Brant goes on, identifying every household's progeny. Fuller smiles. He knew Brant would know.

Fuller says he tries to stay out of politics.

"These little towns sure get emotional sometimes," he says. He sees his job as an adviser and feels immersion in local political or day-to-day operation of the cities would reduce his effectiveness.

Next stop: McCleary, 17 miles away and scene of another recall effort.

Fuller first stops by the city hall, perhaps the only city hall in the country with a statue of a black bear perched atop it. That's because the town's annual shindig is the Black Bear Festival featuring bear stew.

Fuller is conducting a power rate study for the town, but finds the figures haven't arrived yet, so he heads back to Montesano. There he picks up the legal description of property being eyed as an industrial park.

After dinner, Fuller is to brief the Montesano Planning Commission on the Community Development Act and the work the commission will have to do to get the federal grants. Fuller is a bit of an evangelist about the Act and is excited about the meeting.

Alas, no one shows up. Rival basketball teams are battling each other on this night.

Fuller's circuit-riding program started in mid-July and seems to be well received.

Elma Mayor Ralph Frederick says, "Each one of the council members and I have to work for a living and we don't have time to deal with the federal and state grants we need. We are relying on Murrey more and more."

Westport Mayor Bill Wade feels the same. "Government has grown so far out of proportion that the right hand doesn't know what the left hand is doing. He has been a real help to us."

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Sunday, March 23, the 82nd day of 1975. There are 283 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: In 1775, Patrick Henry made a plea for American freedom in a speech before the Virginia provincial convention in Richmond. He declared: "Give me liberty or give me death."

On this date —

In 1534, Pope Clement VII declared valid the marriage of King Henry VIII of England to Catherine of Aragon.

In 1868, the impeachment trial of President Andrew Johnson began in Washington.

In 1909, former President Theodore Roosevelt sailed from New York on an expedition to Africa.

In 1919, Benito Mussolini founded a new political movement in Italy.

In 1942, during World War II, the program of moving Japanese Americans from their homes on the West Coast to inland camps was begun.

In 1956, Pakistan became a republic but retained membership in the British Commonwealth.

Bird Program Slated Tuesday

Midge Erskine will present a special program entitled, "The Care and Feeding of Wild Birds" at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Community Room of Commercial Bank and Trust.

Mrs. Erskine, a Midland resident, is an authority on birds and holds a federal permit to care for wild birds.

Sponsored by the Humane Society of the Permian Basin, the program will be open to the public free of charge.

Micronesian Tropical Slums Not Likely To Improve Soon

By STEVE WILSON
SAIPAN, Mariana Islands (AP) — The far-flung islands of Micronesia have remained a tropical slum since World War II and the prospects appear dim for much improvement as self-government approaches.

The islanders have done little on their own to raise their income and most of the money they get comes from United States taxpayers who give Micronesia about $70 million annually.

The overwhelming majority of Micronesians exist in ramshackle wooden huts with rusting tin roofs and unsafe water systems. Per capita income is about $650 a year.

There are about 114,000 Micronesians living on 2,000 islands spread out over a vast area of the Pacific between Hawaii and the Philippines.

Many of the people enjoyed comparative prosperity before World War II when the Japanese poured in money and men to create an economic and military stronghold. Washington has been running the islands for the last 30 years under a United Nations trusteeship.

The Mariana islands in the northern part of Micronesia are headed for a commonwealth status, like Puerto Rico, with the United States. The rest of Micronesia is negotiating for a looser "free association" with the United States. This would give them internal self-rule while retaining an American subsidy. Washington would conduct their foreign affairs.

"There are two economies in the islands," said William Stewart, an industrial economist working at the Micronesian government headquarters on Saipan.

"We have a subsistence economy in the outer islands where the only cash comes from selling copra (dried coconut meat). And then we have the district center economy." In the latter most of the money comes from the government, Stewart said.

The latest figures show that only about 15,000 Micronesians work regularly at any job, public or private. The rest live by a little fishing and by collecting breadfruit or other things in their gardens.

For a long time the U.S. government neglected Micronesia, but about 10 years ago the U.S. subsidy increased sharply to build roads, schools and hospitals.

One unfortunate result of this flood of dollars has been the creation of an economy addicted to imports which the islanders cannot pay for from their own earnings. Imports reached $29.2 million last year, but the people earned only $12.6 million from exports and tourism.

The United States supplied about 85 per cent of the Micronesian government's budget of about $75 million in fiscal 1974. The problem now facing the islanders is to find some way to earn a living as U.S. aid declines.

Washington's negotiators have proposed a subsidy of around $40 million after the U.N. trusteeship ends in a few years. That is just over half the present aid level and eventually the U.S. subsidy would be cut much more.

Experts say economic growth is being held up in part because of the islands' remote location, lack of natural resources, high shipping charges and a thinly spread population.

Cards Outnumber People In Ireland

KANSAS CITY (AP) — St. Patrick's Day cards sent this year by Americans outnumber the people in Ireland by more than three-to-one, according to industry sources.

Dennis Burns of Hallmark estimates the green paper blizzard at some 11 million cards, propelled through the mails by the 30 million Irish-Americans in the U.S.

Ireland itself has only three million inhabitants.
